THE JUNCTION EAGLE

Volume XLII.

Junction, Kimble County, Texas, Friday, August 23, 1924

Number 19.

MIRIAM A. FERGUSON NOMINATED BY BIG MAJORITY OVER KLAN CANDIDATE.

Ferguson Stages the Greatest Come-Back in History of Texas Politics, and Assist His Wife in Being First Woman Nominee for Governor of State.

With only about 50,000 votes to be accounted for by the Texas Election Bureau, Mrs. Ferguson is still gaining on Felix D. Robertson, and it is estimated that her majority will be around 100,000 when the final count is made.

Saturday ended one of the hardest fought campaigns since the days of the Hogg-Clark campaign. "Me for Ma," and "No Ma for Me, too Much Pa," were amusing campaign slogans that were displayed by poster and hat cards over the State. There is not a doubt now that "Pa" was a powerful factor in assisting "Ma" in rolling in the heavy majority. Whatever else may be said about Jim Ferguson, even his severest critics must admit that he has an unlimited perseverance, and in this last primary, staged the most notable come-back ever known in the political history of this, or any other state.

At 1 p. m. Tuesday, with returns from 240 counties, 181 of which was complete, Mrs. Ferguson's lead was 98,852 with 780,990 votes accounted for.

The following tabulation shows the standing of the State candidates Tuesday afternoon:

Governor—Ferguson 439,921, Robertson 341,069.

Lieut. Gov.—Edwards 352,023; Miller 368,588.

Attorney Gen.—Moody 495,758; Ward 227,077.

Comptroller—Baker 239,425; Terrell 462,903.

R. R. Commissioner (6-year term)—Gilmore 402,602; Weaver 244,962 (4-year term)—Nabors 294,076; Smith 372,560.

Chief Justice State Supreme Court—Cureton 387,128; Wear 279,556.

LON A. SMITH COMING HERE FOR VACATION.

A letter to the editor of The Eagle this week from Lon A. Smith asks that we thank the voters of Kimble County for the fine vote of over three to one, favoring him for Railroad Commissioner.

Mr. Smith has held a number of public offices during the past few years, and the efficiency which he has shown in handling the work in a large measure is responsible for his gradual rise to one of the most important offices in the State. He was one of the department heads at Austin who operated his department on less money than the Legislature appropriated for him.

In his letter he stated that he was going to bring his family here in a short time and spend a few days camping and fishing. He has been here before and knows this is the best country for a real vacation.

According to a recent issue of the Fort Davis Post, which has just reached us, Louis Loeffler, who is attending Sul Ross at Alpine, received the highest grades obtainable in the term reports in all subjects taken. Louis is a son of Emil A. Loeffler of Junction. Mrs. Loeffler and the two boys are living at Alpine where the boys are attending school. Louis is a student of the Sul Ross Normal, and from the above it is evident that he is continuing the splendid record which he made while a student of the Ft. Davis high school from which he graduated last year.

COUNTY FAIR DATES SET: ARRANGEMENTS MADE.

The executive committee met Wednesday and again went over their plans for the Kimble County Fair, the date of which has been set for September 24th and 25th, at Schreiner Park.

It was decided at the first meeting last week that cash prizes would be offered for first and second, on practically all lines of livestock, poultry and home work. The list of exhibits on which prizes will be offered will be announced by next week if possible, and every person in the county is urged to enter something in the exhibits that will add to the interest of the occasion.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Directors Monday night, it was decided that this organization would build another building, larger, but less expensive than the one now in the Tourist Park, which will be ready for use for exhibits that come under the home work department.

The committee at its meeting Wednesday, went to the park and checked up on the extra pens that are to be provided.

The following committee and section heads were named by this executive committee, and are urged to co-operate in every way towards making the Fair a success:

President, J. N. Hodges; vice presidents, Oren C. Reid and M. C. Reese; secretary, H. G. Perry; treasurer, C. T. Holekamp. Department committees: Cattle, Jim Moore, J. B. Randolph and Dug Nance; crops, W. Z. Miller, Sayers Farmer and O. T. Pearl; sheep, R. W. Fisher, E. M. Burt and Carl Wolf; goats, Jack Turner, Seaton Prentice and Marvin Skaggs.

poultry, Roy Skaggs, Misses Stella Whittle and Dorothy Mudge; home work, Mesdames Wharton, W. M. Keen, George May, R. C. Nethery and Miss Cora Fisher; entertainment, Weaver H. Baker, Walter Buck and Mrs. Jim Moore; amusement, C. T. Holekamp, A. W. Loeffler, John Phillips, Boy Hodges and N. H. Skaggs; grounds, Oren C. Reid, M. C. Reese and H. O. Denman; advertising, F. E. Garrett, H. H. Lawler and H. G. Perry.

Executive Committee: N. H. Skaggs, chairman, Jim Moore, John Phillips, M. C. Reese, A. B. Hodges, Fred Mudge and C. Tipton.

The first named person under each committee assignment is chairman of that committee and is supposed to call the committee together at the earliest possible date and make full arrangements for that department.

The executive committee will secure judges from A. & M. college for the poultry and home work exhibits, if possible. Other judges are to be selected by the different committees.

Those who expect to exhibit, are requested to notify the committee under which they will enter their exhibits, at the earliest date possible so arrangements can be made to care for all exhibits.

Mesdame John L. Jones and George Braley are in the Davis Mountain country this week, having made the trip there Tuesday with some friends from San Antonio.

COPPERAS RANCHMAN SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Gully Cowsett was seriously injured Sunday afternoon at the Cowsett ranch on Copperas, when a shot gun which he was carrying in the car was accidentally discharged, the load of number 4 shot passing through the left side of his right leg, about half way between the hip and knee, and lodging in his left arm.

He was on his way from a well in the pasture to his home, when the accident happened. He was able to walk to the house, and with his wife returned to the car and came to Junction. He was suffering considerable pain and was weak from loss of blood when he reached Junction and was advised by the local physician who dressed the wound to go to Kerrville.

He was taken to Kerrville Sunday night and placed in the Secor Hospital and was reported resting very well Tuesday when Jim Moore, who had accompanied him, left to come home.

Forty-two shot were taken from his arm after he entered the Kerrville Hospital and a number of stitches had to be taken both his leg and arm.

Mrs. R. C. Nethery recently returned from a visit with relatives in Corpus Christi, Mission and San Antonio, and was accompanied home by her nephew and niece, Morton and Miss Ernestine Johnson of San Antonio, who will be her guests for a while.

HEAVY VOTE CAST IN ALL BOXES IN SECOND PRIMARY LAST SATURDAY.

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson Carries Kimble County. Largest Vote Polled in District and County Clerk's Race. Hodges Defeats Skaggs by 102 Votes.

While the total vote of Kimble County did not reach the number of 1,435 cast in the first primary, the number, 1,150, was much larger than was anticipated.

Even with nearly three hundred votes less, it is interesting to note that there were more votes cast for Governor than in the first, the total being 1,100 and 1,115. Another interesting fact shown by the tabulation of the Kimble County vote, is that every State candidate that carried Kimble County, also carried the State, except one, that of Lieutenant Governor.

The large majority for any State candidate was cast for Lon A. Smith, almost 4 to 1.

Only one county office was at issue in the second primary—County and District Clerk, which was won by L. R. Hodges by a majority of a little better than 100.

PARENT-TEACHERS HOLD INTERESTING MEETING.

The Parent-Teachers' met in regular session Monday, August 25, at the Baptist church, with Mrs. Reid acting as president in the absence of Mrs. Riley, who was delayed.

It was decided to have an exhibit at the Fair, letting the pupils display their best work; prizes to be decided later.

The program committee, composed of Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Loeffler and Miss Austin Durst and Mrs. Miller, will plan an interesting entertainment for the public as soon as school is in readiness.

The second grade had the greatest number of parents present. After the meeting adjourned, the members spent a pleasant hour visiting the new school building.

The next meeting will be held September 22nd, in the new school auditorium.

Every one come!

JUNCTION SCHOOL TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 15.

School will open in Junction September 15th. Owing to the delay in finishing up the building and installing furniture, the opening date has been delayed.

The first two months will be charged for at the rate of $2.50 for children in the grades, up to and including the sixth; those in the seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh grades, $3.00.

Tuition for the first two months is absolutely necessary, as the banks have been carrying a deficit of $2,000 for several years, and we are extremely anxious to start out a clean slate.

Help us keep it that way. Don't delay coming the first day and keep it up. Those coming late will not be classed with the grades they were promoted to last spring. Therefore, for your interest, begin to make the necessary arrangements to start the first day and stay with the school the entire nine months.

Your hearty co-operation is earnestly solicited.

The Trustees.

Miss Flora Eckert who has been spending the summer in Austin, has returned to Fredericksburg where she will be a member of the faculty in that city. This is her third term in this school, a fact that shows she is a very capable teacher.

KIMBLE COUNTY'S OLDEST CITIZEN DIED SATURDAY.

John J. Smith, familiarly known to hundreds of people throughout this section of the State as "Uncle John," died at his ranch home three miles south of town about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, August 23, after an illness of only a few days.

Deceased was born in Washington County, Illinois, March 24, 1822, according to information furnished The Eagle by his surviving wife, and came to Texas about 1855.

Just before coming to Texas he married Miss Elizabeth Kountz, and to them were born six children. Shortly after the Civil War his first wife died and in 1873 he married a Miss Norris of Hunt County. To them were born three children, one of whom survive him. Two years after the death of his second wife in 1878, he married Miss Mollie McGuire who only lived a few years.

In 1881 he came to Kimble County, where he resided until his death. In 1887 he married his present wife and to them were born four children.

For more than forty-five years Mr. Smith had been a member of the Christian church. He was also for many years a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge. Just before the outbreak of the Civil War he served a while as a Texas ranger. In 1861 he joined the Confederate forces and served throughout the war.

His wife and several children survive him.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. E. Parker, and interment made at the Junction Cemetery Sunday morning at eleven o'clock.

LIGHT RAINS FALL IN SOME PARTS OF COUNTY.

For the first time since the first of June, several parts of this county received varying amounts of rain Tuesday. While only a light shower fell at Junction, more than an inch fell at London and beyond, and from London north and northwest, along Saline and even as far as Menard, a good rain is reported.

Southwest of Junction, in the neighborhood of the W. W. Allen ranch, from an inch to an inch and one-half fell.

While this amount will do a considerable amount of good in the localities where it fell, a general rain of several inches will be necessary to relieve the results of the several weeks' drought. Additional showers fell over most of the county night before last, and in some places amounted to as much as an inch.

The election is over and cotton is coming in right along. It would be a lot better for us all if we had more cotton and less election excitement. While this has been an extraordinary dry summer, cotton is producing better than expected, and those who have a few acres of cotton now have some ready money. Kimble County is well adapted to cotton raising, along with our many other resources, and more cotton ought to be planted next year. As long as the price is anything like it is at present, cotton proves a very profitable crop here.

RED CREEK "RALLY."

Several people of Red Creek are attending church services at Little Saline. Brother Kelly, Christian Evangelist, is holding the meeting.

Jim Gentry is at Glen Rose, Texas where he went to secure medical treatment for his wife and baby.

Hon. M. E. Blackburn, of Junction, spoke at the community hall at London Friday night, in the interest of "Ma" Ferguson, for Governor. Everett Stewart portrayed the merits of "Tammy" D. Robertson.

Cotton picking is becoming more common each day at Red Creek now. Cummins Massey has cut six bales to date.

Denis Davis and family, of Yates, and Oran Stewart and family of Red Creek, visited at the Dan Gephart home Sunday.

Saturday was another exciting day for us all in politics. We had the opportunity of voting our sentiments once more, and all feel happy over the results. The officers chosen are our officers, and we believe that they will work with us toward making our State a better place in which to live. Let us all try to be well informed so that we may vote intelligently in November. What liberties we have in America's Land.

We vote our best judgments, both woman and man; How sacred this right should be to us all.

Let's guard it to see that it never does fall. Let's cling to the ideas our forefathers had.

"Let Democracy triumph, call all others bad."

Stand true to the Union, stand true to your friends. Then all will be bettered by having no friends.

LONDON LOCALS.

Miss Ila Chandler has returned home from California, where she has been with her brother the past year.

Mrs. Florence McDonald of San Antonio is spending a few days with homefolks this week.

Miles Everett and wife and Clarence Massey left last week for California where they expect to make their home.

G. Lewis, John Rush, French Cummins and Edgar Furr went to Fredericksburg Sunday. They attended the Gillespie County Fair at that place and report a very enjoyable time.

Miss Thelma Barrett is visiting in Paint Rock this week.

Miss Lola V. Cummins was the guest of Misses Ila and Florence Chandler during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Dunk and daughters, Misses Pearl and Annie Mae, passed through London Saturday. They were enroute from their home at Segovia to Brady.

Claude Weaver made a business trip to Junction Monday.

Rev. Kelly held services on the street here Saturday.

London gin is running every day now. The cotton crop is turning out better than was expected some weeks ago.

A CORRECTION.

In making our announcement in our last week's ad, we should have stated that we were now exclusive selling agents for the Holeproof Hosiery in Junction for women and children only.

The men's line is sold by the Junction Tailor Shop, and bought by them the same way we buy ours, direct from the makers.

Attorney J. B. Randolph was in San Antonio on business last week.

Miss Leona Merhand is a guest at the A. P. Urban home this week.

NOTICE:

In last week's issue of The Eagle there appeared an advertisement of a local merchant in which he gave the names of several brands of merchandise for which he was the exclusive agent in Junction, and the advertisement further stated that any one else selling any of these goods were buying them second handed.

Among the merchandise mentioned was Holeproof Hosiery. I wish to inform the buying public that the Junction Tailor Shop has been handling Holeproof Hosiery since about 1914, and is still handling these hose for men, and is receiving new hose all the time, and we have never received any Holeproof Hose other than direct from the factory in Milwaukee, Wis.

I sold my stock of ladies hose to Phillip Joseph; however, the hose that I sold Mr. Joseph was all good clean merchandise, most of which was only a few weeks old, and some had never been unpacked.

Yours for clean merchandise, and clean competition,

Junction Tailor Shop,
Cleve Stephens.

LOVE THEM FOR THE ENEMIES THEY MADE.

Nothing will appeal more, and nothing is more commendable of the candidacy of Coolidge and Davis to the decent constructive thought of the nation than opposition of political demagogues.

When Tammany was snorting and raving at Grover Cleveland because he refused to promise the spoils of office, it was General Bragg, who, pointing an accusing finger at the Tammany grafters, proudly said of Cleveland: "We love him for the enemies he has made."

So it is with Coolidge and Davis. The decent, constructive and patriotic citizen in either party will love them, have increased confidence in them, because of the opposition of political sharpers and charlatans.

The American people have faith in their government. They are not yet willing to turn it over to the Lenines and Trozkies or their American cousins, who, while pretending to safeguard the public welfare, are secretly scheming to undermine this country and its institutions, so that through the back door they can more easily drag in socialism and bolshevism—the concept of disordered minds.

The American people can forget and forgive their enemy across the seas, but as a measure of national political prudence and safety they cannot forget slackers at home. In extinguishing the flame of war, let us not make the mistake of extinguishing the beacon light of patriotism, but keep it for the dual purpose of honoring those who endured the tortures of militant strife and for maintaining the ideals of our democratic form of government free from the inroads of socialism, paternalism and officialism.

ROCKSPRINGS TO BECOME INCORPORATED.

The town of Rocksprings became the City of Rocksprings Wednesday of this week; when with a vote of 129 to 29, the citizens decided to incorporate the town. And now we will have a municipal government.

Probably not in the history of the town has anything been done to bring Rocksprings to the forefront more than incorporating.

The next on the local program will be an election for city officers. Attorney I. A. Williams informs us that the judge of the election has ten days in which to make his return on the election to the County Judge—he can do so in less time. Then the county judge has twenty days in which to order an election—he can do it any time after receipt of returns from the election judge. This election will be for a mayor, five aldermen and a city marshal. Thirty days must elapse between time of ordering the election and election day. The Leader was unable to see Judge Allison before going to press to get a better idea as to what was going to be done.—Edwards County Leader.

OLDEST MASON VETERAN CIVIL AND INDIAN WAR.

Major David Doole, who platted the National Cemetery at Fort Sam Houston, a veteran of the Civil War, the Indian Wars and the Mormon Rebellion, the oldest Mason in Texas in point of service and for half a century a resident of South-west Texas, died Saturday morning at his home in Mason, at the age of 91 years and 8 months.

Major Doole was born in Belfast, Ireland, November 25, 1832, and came to the United States with his parents when he was 8 years old. The family settled in New York state where he grew to manhood.

At the age of 18 he enlisted in the army and served through out the war as a member of the Union forces. After the close of the war he was sent to Arizona, where he participated in some of the early fights with the Apaches and other tribes of the Southwest. He also aided in subduing the Mormon Rebellion.

Later he was discharged from the army and was made post trader at Mason. He held this place for two years and later opened a general merchandising establishment at Mason, which he operated until his retirement from business 20 years ago. Since that time he has directed his energies to civic and fraternal enterprises.

Major Doole became a Mason in 1853, while serving in the army in New York state. Since coming to Texas he has played a prominent part in Masonic work of the State. He was a member of the Master Masons and also the chapter and for many years was district grand master.—Mason County News.

One of our contemporaries, "Fire-cracker Johnnie," of the Brady Sentinel, had a long article of lamentation in a recent issue of his factional newspaper criticising us in particular and the Texas Press Association in general, for endorsing a clean business man for governor, and incidentally casting a number of insinuations at us for exercising the same right he claims for himself in supporting any candidate, which he has a right to do, for a man who runs a newspaper for the apparent purpose of stirring up strife and discord among his neighbors is expected to do a good deal of insinuating.

We have been too busy the past few weeks to reply, and even now we doubt if we ought to impose on the intelligence of our readers by using our space to try to set this editor right, for such a thing is doubtless impossible.

Referring to us he says: "This editor goes on to say something about the politician who has never made a success, (a thing about which he ought to know)..."

Now Fire-cracker Johnnie, we admit what you mean to insinuate, that we have not made much of a showing in piling up goods of this world, but we doubt seriously if you are in a position to judge any man's success. At any rate we have been in this little town for three years, and the results are fairly satisfactory; while during this time you have been in four different locations, and from the business your paper seems to be handling you may be moving again ere long.

In the issue carrying the attack on us, your paper carried, excepting foreign and dealer advertising, the magnificent total of 26 per cent advertising; while The Eagle for that week, with the same kind of exception carried nearly 50 per cent. Our curiosity was a little strong, so we took occasion to check up the week of August 10th, and found that The Sentinel, notwithstanding the fact that on the front page is printed "Best Advertising Medium in McCulloch County" a statement which we very much doubt, carried less than 20 per cent advertising as noted above, while The Eagle, in a town about one-fourth the size of Brady, carried over 45 per cent.

Of course, we admit we don't carry as many long-winded editorials as you do, and we are not trying to array one part of our community against the other; neither do we claim that we are in your class as a financier, as we have not been so fortunate as to have a bunch of fanatics supply us with $4,000 on which to operate a business in the interest of those furnishing the money, but on the other hand, we have never failed to meet an obligation when due, never allowed one of our linotype installment notes to run past due, (we are thankful they are all paid), and no one has threatened to sue us on past due obligation. Can you say that?

We support candidates for office, as we have a right to do, and do not call those who disagree with us such names that we have to take back in a subsequent issue. Fortunately, in the last primary and the runoff, enough people saw things as we did, to give our candidate for governor, the leading vote, while if you are to judge a newspaper's influence, as you infer in your paper, by the way it lines up its readers, your own fell far short of your desire, in the recent run-off, McCulloch showing a large majority, nearly two to one, for the candidate against whom you wrote so many long-winded, hair-raising editorials.

No wonder you are trying to clear up statements in your paper for the benefit of those who honestly accuse you of distorting the truth in reporting news items!

Miss Mary Jane Burleson teacher of expression, will begin her class with the opening of the Public school. Will have class in school building. 18-3tp

WHAT IS NEWS?

"A citizen met the editor of a paper on the street one day. 'Why don't you publish the news?' he asked, with a disapproving frown.

"Young J. got into a brawl and beat up another boy and you didn't say a word about it in your paper. Such things should be given full publicity in order to suppress rowdiness," he resumed. A few weeks later his own son was rounded up in a juvenile scrape, and he hunted up the editor in a hurry. 'Don't say anything in the paper about that little escapade of the boys,' he pleaded. 'It was only a lark, and boys will be boys, you know.' It makes a difference whose boy it involved.—Exchange.

The above is typical of the experience of the average newspaper man, especially in small country communities, like our own, where everybody knows everybody else. A little incident occurred recently at Prices Camp about which nothing was said in this paper, yet a few took occasion to criticize us for not getting the news. We knew all about the details of the two boys stealing the articles of clothing and the money, but we didn't publish it. One of the boys' mother is a widow, working hard to support this boy, who leads a life of ease, and several other children. The other boy's mother was at one time in a serious condition in a hospital in a neighboring town.

We could have published the facts and held these boys up as thieves before the community, but they are young and rather than predict that they will continue such acts as this, we hope they will get a lesson from this experience with the sheriff while they are young and that some home discipline will turn them from a desire to pursue such acts in the future.

An editor and a merchant were discussing the virtues of road sign advertising. The merchant contended that more people read the road sign than the newspaper. After a lengthy conversation in which neither man would give in, the merchant came tearing down the street to the newspaper office wanting to know why the obituary of his wife's mother was not in the paper, especially after he had seen that a copy was taken to the newspaper office. "Well," said the editor, "I knew you wanted the obituary read by the people, so I took it out and nailed it up on your big sign-board."

Personal to Robert Jr.

IT CAME Addressed "personal" to Robert, Jr.—a letter from the bank where he had deposited from time to time, money earned at mowing lawns, shoveling snow, and running errands. A letter, in the life of little folks is quite an event, and Robert was duly impressed.

Opening it, he studied its contents quite closely, slowly reasoning his way through the message it bore. Finally a smile of delight spread over his face. Right then was character made; the first molding of a trait which perhaps would influence his whole life. A lesson had been taught. He had learned that income could be had through the practice of thrift.

The letter was nothing more than a credit slip for interest on his money deposited in a savings account. To Robert, it was an unexpected deposit, money which he had not had to earn. His money was working for him. His incentive to increase his account was accelerated ten fold.

Ben. Franklin said: "Instill Thrift; instill it young." Is your boy or girl being encouraged in such worthy effort?

CHASING THE MURDER-ERS OF ISAAC KOUNTZ.

(By Uncle John A. Miller.)
I have been requested by a few of the Old Timers to give some of my experiences with reference to the Indian raids that were made into Kimble County in the early days.

The first one I shall mention is the raid made in December, 1876, and during which Isaac Kountz and a son of Dr. Spears were both killed.

I came to Kimble County and settled at the mouth of Johnson Fork on December 24, 1874. My first work was to build a small log cabin for my wife and three children. It only had one room and a dirt floor. The roof was made out of clap-boards which I split myself from pecan, elm and white oak trees. I lived in this with my family for some two years and later on built a better log house out of split logs which was a considerable improvement over the first one.

The Indians did not bother us very much the first two years. Early in the year 1875, my brothers, George and Frank Miller, saw a bunch of eight Indians just across the creek from where I lived. As the boys were coming to the house they met two more. These Indians did not molest us in any way, but a few hours after they left, some five or six cow boys from South Llano came along following their trail. The Indians had stolen their saddle horses and the cow boys followed them in order to recapture the horses. They did not go much past my house, however, until they decided the Indians had too much the lead and they turned back.

On December 24, 1876, which was just two years exactly after I settled at the mouth of Johnson Fork, we were notified that the Indians had made another raid and killed Isaac Kountz and the Spears boy. Isaac Kountz was the son of Dr. Kountz, who lived at that time on South Llano about two miles above where the court house in Junction now stands. Four out of our settlement left to follow the Indians; they were Jerry Roberts, Dan Baker, Bill Estes and myself. We started as soon as the news came to us, and got as far as where Junction now stands, when we met Dr. Kountz and old man Patterson and Patterson's nephew. There was no town where Junction now stands, but we met these three men in the mesquite flat and that made seven in our party. We turned over on North Llano to the Spears house and saw the Spears boy after he had been laid out. We decided then to notify the rangers who were camped up on Bear Creek. We went as far as Billie Wait's house and there met Billie Gilleland and a man named Lemons, and Gilleland and Lemons said they had already notified the rangers. They also told us that the Indians had turned back east and were going down the river, and as my family was down at the mouth of Johnson Fork, I became very much alarmed that the Indians might double back there and attack our folk at that place. Gilleland and Lemons also said that the rangers had packed up and started, with six men and the Lieutenant, and told them they had plenty of force with them. They then decided to go with us and old Billie Waits also went along. That made ten men in our party.

We turned back down Bear Creek in order to get to the river valley. The snow was deep on the ground and the day was cold and disagreeable, with the snow still falling. We thought we could trail the Indians in the snow, however, and we pushed on. We rode all night before we struck the trail. About daylight the next morning we struck the trail right where the London and Mason road now crosses Gentry Creek. It was almost as plain as the big road for they had a big bunch of horses which they had stolen from the settlers up and down the rivers. We thought the snow was deep enough that they would be unable to travel very fast and that we could catch them. Before we left Gentry Creek, however, Dan Baker and Bill Estes decided to turn back and protect our little settlement at the mouth of Johnson Fork. Baker had a store at that time at the mouth of Johnson Fork and Estes hauled his goods for him from San Antonio. This was the only store in the country at that time.

When Baker and Estes turned back, this left only eight men in our party and we set out in hot pursuit of the Indians. At about 9 o'clock we came to where they had butchered a roan horse. This was down below the mouth of Red Creek. We roasted part of the roan horse and had breakfast. We knew we were not very far behind the Indians and we did not tarry very long. Then we pushed on expecting to overtake them right away, but we rode all day without seeing anything of them. By this time we were down in Mason County and night came on. It was bitter cold and we had been riding all day and all the night before, so we decided to camp for the night. We all turned out to hunt wood, and after a while old man Patterson and Dr. Kountz came in with a big log on their shoulders; the other boys asked where they got the log, and they said off of a little sycamore cabin down in the flat. We had thought when we left that old man Patterson and Dr. Kountz would not be able to go far, as they were both well up in years. So was Billie Waits. But it turned out that they were fully as able bodied as we younger boys, and they stood the hardships just as well as any young man in the bunch. It wasn't very long before we had a good many logs off of the little sycamore cabin, and had a good fire burning. We placed a big log on each side of the fire and used these for seats. The snow was an inch deep and it was very cold and disagreeable. We left our horses saddled all night because we didn't know whether the Indians were close enough to us to see our camp fire and might attack us.

Next morning by daylight we were off again and had only ridden about two or three miles when we caught up with the six rangers and the Lieutenant. That made a pretty good bunch of us all together and felt very brave at that time. The ran-

U.S. Royal Cords

BALLOON ~ BALLOON-TYPE ~ HIGH PRESSURE
Built of Latex-treated Cords

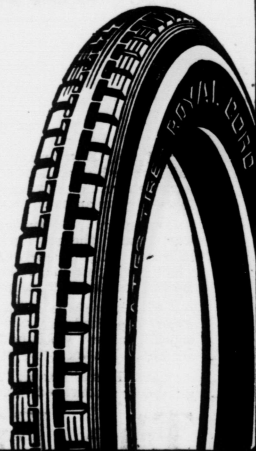

TIRE building took a big step forward when the makers of United States Tires invented the Latex Process.

The added strength and wearing quality given by Latex-treated cords is something that the user of Royal Cords can tell you about from his own experience.

Royal Cords are the standard of value in cord tire equipment—even more certainly today than ever before.

And this holds good whether you are considering a High-Pressure Tire, a Balloon-Type Tire to fit your present wheels and rims, or a Balloon Tire for a 20 or 21 inch wheel.

gers were all packed up ready to go when we reached their camp. We went pretty fast and about three miles further on we came to the Indian's camp where they had spent the night before. The sign was plain where they had the horses corralled and there appeared to have been about forty head of the horses. Nine Indians had slept around their fire with a bunch of grass under each one's head for a pillow, and a bunch under the hips for a bed. We knew we were close to them, for they had not been gone but a little from their camp. We thought we could catch them, as they had horses to drive and we did not. We pushed on rapidly and in about three or four miles came to where they had killed a big fat cow. They cut out the best part of the cow to eat and left the rest. We were satisfied they would roast this meat before they had gone far, and we pushed up a bit and sure enough, in about three or four miles further we saw a smoke. We knew that was the Indians, and it excited our boys very much, but Lieutenant Moore held us all together and would not let us advance too rapidly. When we reached the top of the ridge where we had seen the smoke coming from, we found about fifty pounds of fresh roasted meat. We knew then that the Indians had seen us coming and had left in a hurry.

Until this time the Indians had been going in an easterly direction, keeping to the north of the Llano river, but they turned after seeing us and went due south. Our boys were very much excited, but Lieutenant Moore held us back and kept us all together. We were trotting on at a good gate but the boys wanted to go much faster. Lieutenant Moore, however, said it was foolish to rush too rapidly, as we might rush into an ambush. The boys said we had twenty miles of open country to catch them in and if we didn't catch them in the twenty miles we would not catch them at all. Moore said we could catch them anyway, if we would all stay together, and it seemed like we could do so; they had forty head of horses to drive and we had none, but we didn't go fast enough, after we had gone ten miles we began to find horses that had given out and had been left behind by the Indians. About 17 horses were captured by us and we found about that many dead horses. Lieutenant Moore detailed two men to bring these horses back home, and the rest of our bunch went on. Gilleland and Lemons brought the horses back.

It was very exciting at this time as we were so close to the Indians, and we felt sure we would catch them any minute. By this time, however, we were reaching the breaks of the Guadalupe, and the Indians were gaining on us after we reached such rough country. The trail, at this time showed that there were about three or four Indians on horses and the rest were on foot. We finally stopped and didn't know what to do. We were all sick at heart because we had let the Indians get away, and were all nearly starved and frozen to death. Our horses were very tired and we turned down in the settlement. Old man Patterson saw a house and some people moving about and said, "Let's go get something to eat."

We had no further thought about Indians at this time, but when we got to the house the man had his horses tied at the doors and he said, "didn't you see the Indians?" We had seen some folk stirring around the house at the time old man Patterson first sighted it, but we didn't think they were Indians. The man at the house said they had tried to rope his horses and had run them into his yard. He had gotten his gun and was preparing to fight them off the best he could when the Indians broke and run. He was satisfied they had seen us coming and said he believed if they hadn't seen us coming they would have gotten his horses, and possibly killed him and his family. Old man Patterson told him that we had been following these Indians two days and two nights and had eaten nothing and that we were all getting dreadfully hungry. The man told us to wait until his wife could cook some bread and said they had plenty of dried beef. We went back in about an hour and she had a whole sack of corn dodgers and one dried beef for us. We camped that night separate from the rangers and all kept watch for some sign of the Indians. We knew they were stealing horses all along the Guadalupe above Kerrville, and we could hear the dogs barking all night long, but we could not locate any of the Indians.

Next morning in going down the valley we saw men in every direction armed and on the lookout. They said the Indians had stolen all their horses the night before and by and by we struck their trail again, but they were now mounted on fresh horses, while ours were tired and jaded, so we decided to turn back home. The rangers went on about four or five miles further and then they turned back and went on down to Kerrville. Our Kimble County boys were very much disappointed over the chase. We had gone so far and rode so hard and were so close to the Indians that it seemed a pity that we failed to get them.

We came on back home without any further adventures and it was not until some six months later that we had another Indian raid. I will write about that, however in another chapter.

What is

Many people are not acquainted with the trade name "Vico". This is a name applied to distinguish a very high grade aluminum product from the ordinary kind offered the public.

After you have examined it you cannot help seeing the superior quality, and after you have used it for one, two, five, or ten years, you will see why we prefer to handle this superior grade and why we can afford to recommend it highly to our customers. See the excellent display of "Vico" at our store.

IT RUNS IN OIL!

No burned out bearings because the oil runs short. No expensive repairs from worn out bearings. All bearings of this Wonder Mill run in oil. When the mill is erected, fill the case with oil and forget it for 14 months. It will take care of itself in a storm, too.

CHAMBERLIN - HOLEKAMP

The marriage of Miss Doris W. Holekamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Holekamp of Junction, and Mr. Lucian S. Chamberlin of Galveston, was solemnized Saturday, August 23rd at the St. Marks Episcopal church in San Antonio.

Her cousin, Miss Sophie Heberer of San Antonio was bridesmaid, and Mr. Guy Williams of Houston was best man.

The service, including the ring ceremony, was conducted by Bishop J. S. Johnston.

The bride was dressed in a brown canton crepe with accessories to match and wore a corsage of pink carnations and ferns. The bridesmaid was dressed in pink voile with a large picture hat to correspond, carrying an arm bouquet of pink carnations.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Charles Heberer, for the wedding party and immediate family, the wedding cake and fruit punch being served.

Soon thereafter the bridal couple left for a short honeymoon, and will be at home to their friends after September 1st in Galveston, Texas.

The Secret Fear

In the back recesses of every mind is the secret fear that the day will come when through accident, breakdown, or illness, the ability to earn a living will be gone. It isn't often any of us bring out this fear for a close inspection and mastery, but it exists nevertheless, and no better time than NOW will ever be available.

The defeat of this fear is easy. It requires only strength of will to hush fear for all time. A systematic plan of saving—regularly putting aside a portion of what you earn—is the way. Then later, maybe an investment in first mortgage bonds—a guaranteed investment—which we have available. Maybe today you want to invest in such securities?
