Second Administration Loss Apparent In California As McAdoo Is Trailing

(By The Associated Press)

South Carolina voters, renominating Senator Ellison D. Smith for a sixth term by a 25,000 majority, rebuffed President Roosevelt today in his first attempt to unseat a Democratic member of congress.

California's Democratic primary held the possibility of a second administration defeat, Senator William G. McAdoo—thrice praised by the chief executive—was trailing

WAS "EPIC" CANDIDATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31 (AP) — Sheridan Downey, the 52-year-old eloquent attorney who rolled up such a commanding lead over Senator W. G. McAdoo in yesterday's primary balloting, came into political prominence four years ago as the running mate of Upton Sinclair of "EPIC" program fame.

Sinclair sought the governorship of California, and Downey tried for lieutenant governor as the Democrat candidate. The production-for-use wave was not high enough, however, to carry them to victory.

Sheridan Downey, $30-a-week pension champion, in returns from nearly half the state.

Senator Smith, who long ago won the nickname "Cotton Ed," won over Gov. Olin D. Johnston, self-styled "100 per cent New Dealer." Although Mr. Roosevelt did not mention names during their furious primary campaign, he referred to Smith as one who "thinks in terms of the past."

The race between Smith and Johnston was regarded by most politicians as a direct test of New Deal strength in South Carolina. This factor was complicated, however, by the personal opposition to Johnston of Edgar A. Brown, another New Dealer, who withdrew from the contest Saturday. The two men long have been at odds in state politics, and there was speculation as to how many of Brown's followers voted for Smith.

Senator Smith was the fourth foe

Oil Confiscation Controversy On

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 31—A burning controversy over state confiscation of hot oil crackled on several fronts today, bringing these developments:

Attorney General William McCraw announced he would not dump all existing illegal oil production on the market.

Jerry Sadler, nominee for railroad commissioner, offered his services without pay as a special prosecutor for the Travis county district attorney "to stop oil confiscation."

Governor James V. Allred in response to questions said he was "deeply concerned over the threatened loss through confiscation suits to the state and to the welfare of the oil industry."

State Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, and Senator Joe Hill of Henderson, members of a general investigating committee which once inquired into the process of disposing of confiscated oil met with Governor Allred and Sadler.

Renewal of the pro and con of confiscation arguments came after postponement yesterday of trial of four suits involving nearly 400,000 barrels of oil. Trial was set for Friday.

McCraw pointed to a joint agree-

Finger Put On Hines By Dixie Davis Today

'Kid Mouthpiece' Of Schultz Mob Says He Paid Tammany Leader Numerous Times

BY E. C. DANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, 32-year-old "kid mouthpiece" of the multi-million dollar Dutch Schultz policy racket, today "put the finger" directly on Tammany district Leader James J. Hines by testifying that he paid Hines $2,000 in October, 1932.

The Tammany boss is on trial as the accused "political front" for the racket.

PAID HIM $40,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP) — J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, 32-year old "kid mouthpiece" of the Dutch Schultz policy racket, testified today in the conspiracy trial of Tammany District Leader James J. Hines that he paid Hines approximately $40,000 as political "fixer" for the mob between October, 1932, and July, 1935.

Schultz," the witness swore, "and later went to see Hines with Leo Rosenthal."

Rosenthal was a Hines aide at his Monongalela Democratic club.

"I told Hines I heard he needed money, so I gave him $2,000."

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey had Davis describe a series of "social" trips he took with Hines, and the witness added:

"Hines asked me for 'numbers' game money any number of times."

"How many times?"

At Least 15 Or 20 Times

"At least 15 or 20 times, at irregular intervals, from November, 1932, to the end of 1933." Davis replied.

Davis blandly conceded, under questioning by Dewey, that he had committed perjury "many times" in the past, declaring as to one specific instance:

"I may have told the truth, but I can't recall."

Spectators laughed.

Davis said he met Hines at the Tammany leader's home in October, 1932, shortly after Dutch Schultz

Texan Is Promoted By Security Board

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31. (AP)—The Social Security board appointed Oscar M. Powell of San Antonio, Texas, today to succeed Frank Bane as executive director of the federal security organization.

Powell will take office November 1, effective date of Bane's resignation. Since organization of the board in 1936 Powell has been a regional director.

Bane resigned to become executive director of the council of state governments with headquarters in Chicago. Powell, a native of Louisiana, has resided in San Antonio for more than 20 years.

Officers Tracing Crime Trail Of Two Texas Convicts Killed

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 31 (AP) — Federal agents, state police and county detectives traced back today the crime trail of two Texas convicts shot to death by deputy sheriffs here just over five weeks after they escaped from a state prison farm in an officer's automobile. The men were identified tentatively as John Bowman and Tilgham Van Acker, trusties who fled from Wynn state prison farm at Huntsville, Tex., last July 24 in the car of Capt. R. H. Baughn.

Three deputy sheriffs shot them at dawn here yesterday. The gunmen opened fire with pistols as the deputies drew up to their taxicab.

Their identities were learned through fingerprint classifications telegraphed to the federal bureau of investigation at Washington, D. C.

GUNMEN GET $100,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 31. (AP)—Three bandits held up the Fifth Avenue jewelry store of Rimler and Horning, inc., today, escaping with loot estimated tentatively by police at $100,000. The gunmen spent 25 minutes in the store, then got away through streets packed with lunch hour traffic.

Rep. Dies Raps Miss Perkins

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—Chairman Dies (D-Texas) of the house committee on un-American activities said today Secretary Perkins had taken the "astonishing action" of "practically dropping" deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges, West coast CIO leader.

Dies, en route to Texas, telephoned his statement here after the committee received from the secretary of labor a blunt rejection of its demand that Bridges be deported because he was a Communist.

"It is laughable for a member of an executive department, especially Miss Perkins, to complain that a congressman was trying to usurp the functions of a government department," Dies said. "All that I am asking as a member of congress is that she enforce the law in the Bridges case, which she has not done to this date."

Miss Perkins wrote Chairman Dies:

"The fact that Communists are unpopular, and I agree in this, does not justify us in placing within that category every other unpopular person, nor in deporting them without a scrupulous regard for the due process of law, the clear and uncertain ruling of the courts and the facts in the case.

"Perhaps it is fortunate that Shirley Temple was born an American citizen and that we will not have to debate the issue raised by the preposterous revelations of your committee in regard to this innocent and likeable child."

Three Refinery Workers Are Fatally Hurt In Odessa Blast

ODESSA, Aug. 31 (AP) — Three refinery workers were trapped and burned to death yesterday when a butane tank explosion wrecked the Barnsdall refinery, five miles northwest of here.

The dead were R. H. Brooks, 35, Glen Carlton, 20, and G. T. Scott, 20. Twelve others in the refinery scurried to safety.

E. B. Refser, president of the company, said the loss was estimated between $30,000 and $50,000.

Congregation Turns The Other Cheek; Pastor Is To Change

TEXARKANA, Aug. 31 (AP)—The congregation of the Nash Methodist church turned the other cheek last night and was the Rev. Jesse Roberson's face red?

At a revival service the Rev. Roberson criticized some of the acts of his congregation. Then he marched home to find his kitchen table groaning with groceries, gifts from his parishioners.

"The rest of the services will be different," the pastor promised.

River Is Two Miles Wide At Rio Grande City; Rise Is Rapid At Brownsville

BY OLEN W. CLEMENTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

BROWNSVILLE, Aug. 31—The lower Rio Grande valley feverishly prepared today to combat a serious flood.

Waters draining from the Monterrey, Mex., section, where ten were dead, and 2,500 homeless, spread the Rio Grande over much acreage in the upper part of the valley as the

FIVE AMERICANS STRANDED

BROWNSVILLE, Aug. 31 (AP) — Five Americans, three of them women, today were reported marooned without food on the Mexican mainland at Laguna Madre.

A. B. Jenson of Alamo, Texas, who, with three companions, saw the Americans go to the spot about 30 miles below Brownsville before a hurricane stranded them Saturday, walked 20 miles from another fishing camp before he caught a ride here to report their plight.

Jenson said the five were from Fort Arthur, Texas, but he did not know their names.

Jenson's companions, Jim Ringland and John Manley of Alamo and Bert Neibors of Weslaco, stayed at their camp while Jenson made the trip here. The three have ample food, Jenson said.

stream reached 29 feet at Rio Grande city, 100 miles west of here.

The river was two miles wide at that point, and was on a rapid rise here, standing within two feet of the top of its banks. A rise of four more feet would put the water in Levee street, one of the main thoroughfares of Brownsville.

Inlets Receive Water

While workmen labored to repair two breaks in flood control levees on the American side, the Granjeno and Hackney Lake inlets in Hidalgo county, and the Rancho Viejo inlet in Cameron county were receiving water from the flooding river.

J. L. Lytel, engineer at San Benito, Tex., said the Retamal and Las Rusias inlets on the Mexican side of the international border, also had been opened.

The flooding San Juan, with the Salado, Santa Catarina, Santa Rosalia, and other Mexican tributaries to the Rio Grande, poured a steady torrent of muddy flood water into the international river three miles above Rio Grande City.

Train To Proceed As Soon As Floodwaters Recede

McALLEN, Aug. 31 (AP) — Police Chief Noah Cannon of McAllen said today he was informed in a telephone call from Reynosa, Mexico, that a train en route from Reynosa to Monterrey with more than 40 passengers would proceed to Monterrey since floodwaters from the San Juan river had receded.

Shipbuilding Firm Pays $40,000 To 220 Discharged Employes

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP) — The presentation of a $40,000 check by the Todd Shipbuilding company to 220 discharged employes, as part of an agreement by the company and two subsidiaries with the CIO's industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, was announced today by Regional Labor Board Director Elinore Herrick.

Mrs. Herrick said the cash settlement was the largest in the history of the labor board.

The agreement provides for the reinstatement of 220 employes of the three companies discharged after a strike which began June 12, 1937.

Australian Is Going To Have A Good Time In London; He Was Written Permission

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP)—Ron Whyte of South Australia is on vacation here and is going to have a good time.

His wife has given him a written permit to do so, to wit:

"This is to certif that I 'Jackie,' the legally wedded wife of Ron Whyte, do hereby permit my husband to go wherever he pleases, drink when he pleases and whatever he pleases, and I furthermore permit him to keep and enjoy the company of any lady he sees fit, as I know he is a good judge. I want him to back horses and enjoy life in this world, for he will be a long time dead."

All-Time Peak Is Set In July For Water Consumption Here

Lubbock water demand passed the 5,000,000-gallon mark for a single day for the first time in history last July, when the figure was exceeded on four different days.

This was disclosed this morning in reports from the city engineer's department to City Auditor D. D. Martin.

The all-time top for any one day in the history of the city, the record further disclosed, was established at 5,354,000 gallons on July 14. Other days in the 5,000,000 class were July 6, 7, 12 and 13.

Pumpage for the month, however, fell below that of July, 1937. Total last July was 95,881,000 gallons and for the same month in 1937 it was 102,527,000. All-time high for any month was in August, 1936, when 109,934,000 gallons were pumped from city wells. None of those months, however, produced a

New Texas Congressmen

Ed Gossett, jr., below left, of Wichita Falls, and Lindley Beckworth, right, of Gilmer, are Texas' newest congressmen. Gossett unseated Rep. Wm. D. McFarlane of Graham in Saturday's runoff and Beckworth won the seat formerly held by Rep. Morgan Sanders, who was ousted in the first primary. Beckworth, 25, will probably be one of the youngest members of the lower house. Gossett, 35, is a former Garza county boy, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gossett, sr., his parents still residing there.

Lindley Beckworth Will Be One Of Youngest Men Ever To Serve In Nation's Halls Of Congress

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—The naming of youthful Lindley Beckworth, who won the Democratic nomination o congress from an East Texas district in Saturday's voting, will make him one of the youngest persons ever to serve in the national legislature.

Not since 1920 has anyone of his age, 25, been elected to the congress. Research by the house minority clerk, William Tyler Page, capitol attache for fifty-six years, showed that only two other persons enjoyed equal or greater distinction.

One Elected At 22

The "baby member" of them all was William C. C. Claiborne, early Jefferson Democrat, who was elected to congress when only 22 years old.

John Young Brown, a Kentucky Democrat, was elected to congress in 1858 at 24.

Texas' own Senator Morris Sheppard also was one of the youngest men ever to enter congress. He was 27 when sent to the house in 1902 to fill the vacancy created by the death of his father.

All Is Quiet For Bonds Election

All seemed quiet on the ballot fronts this morning within less than two days of the elections Friday which will decide the fate of city and school bond elections.

If there has been any organized opposition to either of the proposed issues, it has not disclosed itself to those who usually are most closely informed on such subjects.

Would Provide Improvements

The proposed issues are $150,000 for school expansion in Lubbock Independent school district and $750,000 for four city enlargement projects. Individual issues in the city election are $50,000 for a new central fire station; $150,000 for street improvements; $300,000 for a storm sewer and $250,000 for enlargement of the city sewage disposal plant.

All of the details of arrangements for the elections have been completed, such as the printing of bal-

No Special Session Unless PWA Acts

AUSTIN, Aug. 31 (AP) — Governor James V. Allred indicated again today that no special session of the legislature would be called unless the federal PWA approved his application for aid on a large new office-courts building.

Special session rumors have been rife the past few days. Some persons have said a special session might change the law dealing with state confiscation of illegal oil, others that it would create a new oil commission and still others that it would liberalize old age pensions.

Allred states he saw no reason for a pension-liberalizing special session.

"I've already tried to raise money for old age assistance," he said. "I got 'cussed' for it and very little support."

The chief executive said he would leave about Saturday for a week's vacation on the gulf coast.

California's Pension Proposal Weathers First Legal Attack

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31 (AP) — California's $30-a-week for-life pension plan weathered one legal attack by its opponents in the state supreme court today, and won the right to go to a vote of the people in November.

The court also refused to grant writs to keep two other initiative measures off the ballot—the so-called single tax plan and a picket regulatory measure framed by the California Committee for Peace in Industrial Relations.

Fireworks In 'Oven Cell' Case Likely

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31 — An investigation into the "oven cell" deaths of four Philadelphia county prison inmates approached a climax today at an inquest which Coroner Charles H. Hersch said would culminate in "most drastic action against those guilty."

Figuring prominently in the proceedings were two prison guards, al-

GUARD SAID TO BLAME

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31 (AP) — Superintendent William B. Mills today named Guard Sergeant James Hart was the man "responsible" for turning on the heat that blasted the lives of four convicts in punishment cells at the Philadelphia county prison.

Mills said Hart gave an "unauthorized" order to an assistant engineer to turn steam into a battery of radiators in the prison "Klondike" — a box-like isolation building where 25 hunger-striking convicts were confined.

"There should have been no heat turned in the building in August weather," the superintendent said.

He said Hart did not have authority or his permission to have the heat turned on.

ready held without bail on homicide charges and accused by three convicts of "turning on the heat" which "baked to death" the men in stuffy punishment cells ten days ago.

Among 21 Survivors

The convicts, among 21 who survived a "heat cure," told yesterday at a hearing for the guards, Francis Smith, 43, and Alfred W. Brough, 39, of spending three torturing days and nights in the cells heated to super-temperatures by a battery of radiators in a corridor.

They told of fellow prisoners praying brokenly for mercy, of one's attempt to take his own life by butting his head against the hot concrete wall, and of the cries of the dying men for their wives and children.

Glared At Guards

The witnesses, Maurice Spatz, Patrick di Marco and Joseph Forte, glared at the guards as they described how their four fellow cellmates weakened and died, while others begged on their knees for water and for the heat to be turned off.

"We cried for water, but the guards said, 'Shut up. You've had worse before.'" Spatz testified. Di Marco said. "I told them some died. They (the guards) replied 'That's their hard luck.'"

From Sunday night until Monday morning, the three convicts testified, no guards came to the cells. Di Marco said the only water was in the toilets and "whatever comfort we got came from the floor." When the guards did return, they found the four men dead.

Huey Obtains Release Because He Was Illegally Sentenced

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 31 (AP)—Mack Gates, Huntsville attorney, said yesterday a writ of habeas corpus on which Arthur Huey, former Hutchinson county tax collector, was freed Monday from Huntsville state prison, was obtained because Huey was illegally sentenced.

The writ was signed by District Judge P. H. Kirby of Limestone county.

Gates said that in Huey's sentencing in Hutchinson county district court, "this fellow was given four years whereas the court should have rendered a decision of 'not less than two, nor more than four years' and did not follow the indeterminate sentence law."

ALLRED TO STUDY CASE

AUSTIN, Aug. 31 (AP) — Governor James V. Allred today ordered a transcript of the record in the case of Arthur Huey of Borger, released from the Texas penitentiary on a writ of habeas corpus signed by District Judge H. Fountain Kirby of Groesbeck.

Great Britain Has Message For Germans

British Attitude On Czech Situation Is Expected To Be Learned Shortly

(By The Associated Press)

War clouds continued to hang over Europe today as Germany awaited an expected message from Great Britain on her attitude toward the dangerous Czechoslovak situation.

Chancellor Adolf Hitler prepared the reich's armed forces at top speed. French army maneuvers continued.

France's powerful army commission met with Premier Edouard Daladier to weigh possible effects of the German mobilization program.

Developments Watched

British secret observers watched developments in the regions of Czechoslovakia where the Nazi-dominated autonomy-seeking Sudeten Germans are predominant as part of Britain's campaign to prevent an explosion that might lead to war.

Political circles believed Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, would give Hitler a message expressing even more positively than did Sir John Simon, British chancellor of in his Lanard speech last Saturday that Britain would find it difficult to stay out if war should start.

Czech Situation Complicated

The situation in Czechoslovakia became more complicated as a result of a split in the Sudeten party itself. The radical element of the party wanted to reject a compromise government suggestion to meet the demands for autonomy, while a more conservative group, fearing war, urged that the proposal be accepted as a basis for further negotiations.

The British mission seeking to mediate the dispute was told the Sudeten "Fuehrer," Konrad Helein, needed more time to discuss the situation with his "political friends." The Czechs insisted that such "political friends" are to be found in Germany.

Overshadow Other Conflicts

These developments almost completely overshadowed the wars in Spain and China, which continued without significant changes.

The Japanese war machine was

Rising Market In Education

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—Government officials forecast a "rising market" in education today at the start of a new school year for 33,000,000 children and adults.

Miss Bess Goodykoontz, assistant federal commissioner of education, said the "rising market" was evidenced by the public's growing confidence in education in contrast to the confusion of the first post-depression years.

"There's a feeling that 'the schools can do something' about many serious economic and social problems," she said. "The public is demanding that the schools be adequate, and at every age level, school systems are widening their programs to fit community needs."

Enrollments in the first six grades have been decreasing slightly for several years because of the declining birthrate and restricted immigration. About 2,000,000 six-year-olds will enter school for the first time next month.

Hale County Voting On Beer Sale Today

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 31.—Hale county today will decide whether legal beer may be sold there.

Plainview residents Tuesday voted 340 to 282 against a bond issue of $36,000 for a new city hall but approved 387 to 232 a $10,000 issue for city paving.

The beer election has resulted in a foment of activity. Dry forces Sunday night, Tuesday afternoon and Tuesday night held mass meetings, staged parades and otherwise sought to arouse sentiment against beer sales.

Mexican View On Expropriations Expected In Cardenas' Speech

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 31. (AP)—Mexico will reply to United States Secretary Hull's second note protesting further expropriation of American-owned farm lands after President Cardenas delivers his annual message to congress tomorrow, informed quarters said today.

President Cardenas is expected to detail Mexico's view of her relations with the United States.

Miss Ruth Wagner And Malcolm Laing Are Married At Presbyterian Church

Illinois City To Be Home

The marriage of Miss Ruth Wagner, elder daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. Wagner, to Malcolm M. Laing of Urbana, Ill., son of Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Laing of St. Louis, Mo., took place Tuesday evening at the First Presbyterian church. Doctor Laing, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church in St. Louis, officiated with a single ring ceremony, assisted by Dr. Jack M. Lewis.

Miss Margaret Huff gave a prelude of organ numbers while the guests assembled.

The altar space was decorated with two tall baskets of white asters set against a background of greenery, with white cathedral tapers in pedestal candelabra giving the light.

Vested Choir Sings

Mrs. V. L. Doughtie sang the wedding hymn, "O Perfect Love."

A vested choir sang the Bridal Chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin" as the processional.

The bridesmaids were dressed in Vionett piquant gowns of two-toned jade green silk net with corseted waistlines. They wore white lace mitts, gifts of the bride, and carried bouquets of white carnations and fever few. Their Juliet caps were of gardenia leaves. They were Misses Mary Wilson, Virginia Knapp, Sarah Ann Ryder of Wheeling, West Va., and Mrs. Maynard Knight.

Miss Helen Wagner, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore ice green silk marquisette with contrasting velvet ribbon trim with girdled waistline. Her Juliet cap was of white carnation petals and she carried a bouquet similar to those carried by the bridesmaids and wore white mitts.

James Laing of LaPorta, Ind., attended his brother as best man and the ushers were J. D. Rankin, jr., of Tarkio, Mo., William Dodds of Oakmont, Pa., Robert Karper of College Station and Maynard Knight.

Bride Wears White Satin

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a Chanel gown of bridal white angel skin satin, simply tailored, with the skirt sweeping into a train, over which was arranged her long tulle veil. The neckline was high and panels of tiny pleats extended down the sleeves. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

The bridegroom wore a gardenia in his lapel and white carnations were boutonnieres worn by the groomsmen.

Mrs. Wagner wore gray lace with black accessories and the bridegroom's mother was dressed in corn flower blue chiffon. Both wore corsages of light pink carnations.

For the recessional the choir sang the wedding chorus from "The Rose Maiden."

Reception Is Held

After the service, a reception was held on the back lawn of the Wagner home, 1644 Broadway, for the bridal party and others who assisted in the wedding and the choir. The bride's table, covered with a cloth embossed with silver bells, held a wedding cake at either end. The centerpiece was of white gladioli, roses and lilies of the valley. A smaller table was centered with a punch bowl. Mrs. Roscoe Wilson arranged the tables. The feminine members of the bridal party assisted in serving.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Karper of College Station; Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Hay and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Slate and families of Sudan; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dickson of Spur; Mr. and Mrs. Gus Shaw and daughter, Miss Myrtle Marion Shaw, of Littlefield; Mrs. John B. Slaughter of Post and John Bickham of Los Angeles.

When Mr. and Mrs. Laing left for their short wedding trip, which will include a visit to the Wagners' cabin in southeastern Colorado, the bride was wearing a tailored dress of sage green with black and white checks and rust and green accessories. They will live in Urbana where Mr. Laing is in the office of the Illinois-Iowa Power company.

Met At College

The young couple met while students at Monmouth college, Monmouth, Ill., where both were graduated in the summer of 1937. Mrs. Laing, popular member of a number of campus clubs, was affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, Tau Pi, Sigma Tau Delta, Pan Hellenic society, the woman's upper class council, social council and Y.W.C.A. cabinet. She is a member of the AA chapter of the P.E.O. This past year she studied interior decoration and design at Texas Technological college.

Mr. Laing was president of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity and Social Science club and was a member of the inter-fraternity and student councils. A star athlete, he was a member of the M club and active in football, tennis and swimming. He set a record for 50-yard free style in swimming for the Little 19 conference, now the Midwest conference.

After the wedding rehearsal Monday evening, the couple entertained with a supper at the F. R. Friend home, 2005 Broadway.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 52), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells.

Just get more fresh air, 5 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give many virtually to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life.

Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.

Small Girl Is Honored At Birthday Party

Linda Gaye Richards, 2, was honored on her birthday when her mother, Mrs. E. L. Richards, entertained Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Floyd Gunn assisted.

After games in the yard, the guests were served cake and ice cream with balloons as favors.

Guests were Polly Julian, Charlene and Ruby Mae Potts, Betty Lou and Jean Willis, Nancy and Clay Jean Anderson, Jeanine and Kay Young, Mrs. R. V. Mullenix and son, Ronny, Mrs. Charles Wright and daughter, Patsy, Mrs. J. E. Sullivan and son, Stanley and Mrs. Emil Berger and son, Emil Berger, jr.

Class Service Held Tuesday

First Baptist Gleaners class installed officers at a ceremony conducted in the home of Mrs. G. H. Nelson, 2120 Seventeenth street, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Leo Waite presided for installation of the following:

President, Mrs. W. B. Irvin; first vice-presidents, Mesdames John V. Powers and E. W. Carr; second vice-presidents, Mesdames J. L. Teal and Carl Rogers; third vice-president, Mrs. Altus Sansom; fourth vice-president, Mrs. Ivy Savage; secretary, Mrs. J. L. Holt; assistant secretary, Mrs. J. L. Spinks.

During the service Miss Madge Malone sang, accompanied at the piano by Miss Imogene Webster.

Punch was poured by Mrs. W. C. Henly from a table decorated with perennial sweetpeas and golden glow. Corsages were presented to incoming and retiring officers.

Others attending were Mesdames O. C. Madden, Briggs, Irving L. Jones, B. E. Reeves, L. E. Boren, M. L. Shepherd, John Spikes, Bode S. Adams, John A. Porter, Harry Morris, Bert Pinson and Roy Morris.

Sub-Deb Rushees Are To Take Pledges Friday

Oklahoma Girl Will Be Glad To Get Back To Home She Left

A 17-year-old Seminole, Okla., girl will be glad to get back to the home she quit several days ago.

To Joe Wilson of the city-county welfare office and to authorities the girl said she had been brought into this section by a woman who promised to give her employment.

Authorities said she, after being informed what kind of employment she would be engaged in, rebelled. Authorities further indicated prostitution was trying to be forced on her.

The girl slept on the prairie Tuesday night and, this morning, was attempting to walk from Lorenzo into Lubbock when a motorist found her and brought her here, said the sheriff's department.

She will have a free ticket to her home—and she indicated she would be glad to arrive there.

The woman she accused was "out of pocket."

Chiodo Named Legion Head

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 31.—The Texas department of the American Legion Tuesday elected Vincent Chiodo of Houston state commander and chose Waco as its 1939 convention city. Dr. W. J. Danforth of Fort Worth, retiring commander, was named national executive committeeman.

Chiodo's election was made unanimous after Lou Roberts of Borger withdrew during the roll call ballot. Danforth had two opponents for the committeeman position, William F. Murphy of Palestine withdrawing after receiving the lowest number of votes in the first call and Larry S. Daniel of Abilene following suit during the second.

Opposition Is Given

The Central Texas city encountered floor opposition from Mineral Wells while a delegation from Laredo withdrew in favor of the winner. Contenders which failed to make floor bids, but were known to have angled for the honor included Beaumont, Fort Worth, Laredo, San Antonio and Harlingen.

Concluding their 20th annual get-together, the legionnaires also elected Miss Caroline Wilcox of Amarillo, a former army nurse, as historian; Brigadier George Gilks of the Salvation Army in Dallas, chaplain, and Horace L. Howard of Graham, sergeant-at-arms.

C. P. Engelking of Electra and W. S. Spiegel of Port Arthur were reelected to the offices of judge advocate and treasurer, respectively.

To "save time," Joe J. Grammier of Port Arthur, Frank Bell of San Angelo and Howard, nominees for sergeant-at-arms, flipped a coin for the post.

San Marcos Woman Is Chosen To Head Legion Auxiliary

AUSTIN, Aug. 31. (AP)—Mrs. William A. Wyatt of San Marcus Tuesday was elected president of the American Legion auxiliary department of Texas, succeeding Mrs. W. L. Ezell of Beaumont who became national executive committeewoman.

Other officers chosen at a final convention session were Mrs. Will M. Benton of Amarillo, historian; Mrs. Fred White of Port Arthur; chaplain; Mrs. C. J. Austin of Austin, secretary, and Mrs. Billie Blount of Greenville, Mrs. Antone Krenek of Bryan, Mrs. W. M. Jenkies, of Weslaco, Mrs. Sidney Lynn of Rosebud and Mrs. J. E. Merritt of Coloradio, divisional vice-presidents.

POLAR BEAR DROWNS

CHICAGO, (AP)—Silver, a six-year-old, 500-pound polar bear at Lincoln Park Zoo, was drowned in his own pool because he swallowed a rubber ball someone threw to him. The ball lodged in the bear's stomach and caused convulsions which sent Silver dashing against the bars of his enclosure. He stunned himself, fell into the pool and drowned.

How Styles Have Changed For Miss America! But---Judges In Atlantic City's Beauty Pageant Still Fall For Curves

(By Associated Press Feature Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Miss America's bathing suit has become more streamlined every year, but curves have always copped the crown at Atlantic City's annual beauty pageant. This year's pageant opens September 6.

Of the 10 past national beauty queens, six were brunettes, which indicates that gentlemen who act as judges do not prefer blondes.

Newspaper files do not disclose that any Miss America made an extraordinary catch after winning the title; not one has achieved stage or screen success; not one has come into real wealth; no one has gained a position of social prominence.

Two Make Money

Only two have made any considerable amount of money in the time they reigned as queens.

The average weight of the queens was 120 pounds; average height, 5 feet, 5 1-2 inches; age, 17 1-2 years; bust, 33 1-2 inches; waist, 25 inches; hips, 35 inches; calf, 13 inches, and ankle, 7 1-2 inches.

There is always much talk of screen tests and glamorous careers for the beauty pageant winners, but it remains talk. When the tenth Miss America, Bette Cooper, won the title last year, she simply walked out on the promoters, which created quite a stir. Her unprecedented exit, however, is expected to bring greater public attention to this year's pageant.

Mexicans Pay Tribute To John A. Valls, Veteran District Attorney, Of Laredo Area

LAREDO, Aug. 31 (AP)—Gov. Anacleto Guerrero of Nuevo Leon state, Mexico, recently sent from Monterrey there representatives to deliver to John A. Valls, veteran district attorney at Laredo, a hand carved mahogany case containing a Mexican zarape six by nine feet. In a center oval, 22 by 26 inches and surrounded by the Mexican national colors, a likeness of Gov. Guerrero was woven into the fabric.

The mahogany case in which the rainbow-hued zarape was enclosed is 30 inches long, 18 inches wide, four inches deep and lined with plush. The top is occupied by a hand carved likeness of the new civil hospital recently completed at Monterrey and the inscription: "Un Recuerdo del Senor General de Brigada Anacleto Guerrero," (A rememberance from Brigadier General Ancleto Guerrero). Across the front near the opening are the words: "To His Distinguished Friend Attorney John A. Valls. Monterrey, N. L., July 10, 1938."

Accompanying the gift was a letter from Gov. Guerrero expressing his high esteem for the district attorney.

Reciprocating, Valls delegated Judge Manuel Cruz to deliver a letter and framed photograph of himself to Gov. Guerrero. Upon opening the package, the governor exclaimed: "There is a great international figure; the best friend the Mexicans have."

Two days later, two representatives of Presiden tLazaro Cardenas called upon the district attorney and presented autographed portraits of the chief executive and War Minister Manuel Avila Camacho, and on their own behalf an oil painting of the head of the late President Porfirio Diaz.

Canada Does Her Bit To Balk 'Domination By Any Other Empire'

Dominion Is In Armament Race

Canada says she would allow no invasion of the United States across her soil, just as President Roosevelt says America would stand for no threat to Canada. But how could Canada prevent invasion? Here a Canadian Press writer reviews the armed strength and defense preparations of the Dominion.

BY CAPT. W. W. MURRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 31—To resist "domination of her soil by any other empire," Canada could at this moment summon to arms 56,000 men.

However, the land forces of the Dominion are capable of almost immediate expansion. Within the country are close to 400,000 veterans of the World war, and the army maintains a framework for six divisions.

Late In Starting

Canada was late in the armament race but is making great strides to catch up. The defense estimate for this year is $34,034,364. Practically all the Canadian aircraft plants are working on national defense orders. Heavy artillery, anti-aircraft guns and tanks are being purchased from Great Britain. Canada itself is manufacturing light machine guns of the Bren type.

The country's naval power does not amount to much. Its present strength is six destroyers and four minesweepers, with 116 officers and 1,352 ratings. Back of the navy are three classes of reservists.

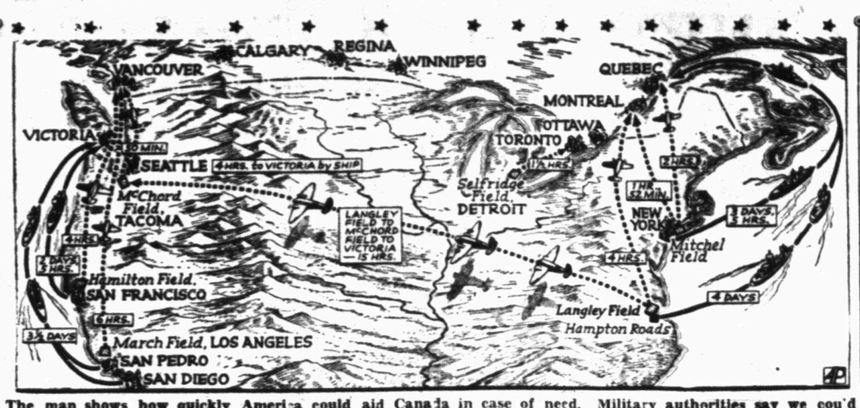

The Canadian army numbers 444 officers and 3,692 other ranks of the permanent force, and 6,212 officers and 40,104 other ranks of the militia.

Military Not Popular

Military activities were not popular in Canada after the war and financial support was hard to come by. Officers of the militia were forced to forego pay and to spend private funds to support their regiments. Now, however, the vital importance of the militia is being realized, and there is expectation of further appropriations.

The Royal Canadian air force is composed of 218 officers and 1,762 of other ranks, plus 84 officers and 752 other ranks in the militia. In recent years, most of the appropriations for Canada's armed forces have been applied to this branch. At present 177 new planes are in the process of delivery. The force is preoccupied with Pacific coast and St. Lawrence defenses. The principal base is Trenton, Ont.

Sir George Grierson has reduced 179 languages and 554 dialects of India to writing.

The map shows how quickly America could aid Canada in case of need. Military authorities say we could put 300 first class fighting planes in the air near any Canadian coastal city within 15 to 18 hours of the time it were threatened by enemy planes or ships. But the fact is of course that the first line of defense would be the open sea where American navy and air fleet would seek any enemy.

PROTECTS PAPA'S WHISKY

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., (AP)—Police here arrested a staggering man who pulled a little red wagon with a three-year-old boy in it.

Arresting officers said the child held a bottle and when they tried to take it from him, he hugged it closer and screamed:

"You can't take my daddy's whisky."

Hubbers And Midland Take Playoff Series Openers

They Play For Pennant

By Collier Parris

CHAMPIONSHIP BASEBALL is being played these nights out at the old College avenue orchard.

If last night's thrilling exhibition is a criterion this Shaughnessy is going to produce some real doings!

The Wink Spudders wore their championship belts into Lubbock yesterday, took a hitch in them last night, and proceeded to make things hum very unsoothingly for the Hubbers. They're here for two more nights, and you wouldn't know the Spudders. They played great ball last night.

And where were all you guys and dolls last night?

The grandstand was fairly full, to be sure, but those thousand extra bleachers Harry Faulkner has procured, at considerable trouble and expense, for the championship series, went begging.

The bleacher seats are just about as comfortable and just as seen from as the grandstand seats, especially at night. Some fans prefer the bleachers.

There's quite a load of 'em out there, and let's fill 'em up for this and the final series—if we're still in it.

You couldn't ask for better baseball than the clubs offered last night. Brilliant defensive work, spiced with just enough punch. Nothing wild, nothing sloppy. Good pitching, excellent fielding, enough hitting to make it interesting without being bloody.

Once more, and for the severalth time this season, we felt sympathetic toward old Red Roberts, the giant righthander for Wink who turned in such a swell pitching game. The Lubbocks got only four hits off him. Until the seventh, they hadn't got but one hit, and were being set down almost in order.

Last time Roberts pitched against the Hubbers here, the score was 4 to 3, same as last night, and Roberts gave up half a dozen scattered hits. He had the game in the bag until next to the last inning when the Hubbers put over a couple of tallies to win, two walks, an error and a hit doing the job.

The last time before that, Roberts went in as relief hurler and lost a 9-8 decision to the Hubbers here, two hits in the 13th inning doing the job, the only hits against him that counted.

Red Hay, who pitches against the Hubbers tonight, is another "hard luck" hurler. Last time he appeared here, he held the Hubs to three scattered hits and one run for seven innings, then gave way in the eighth to drop a close 5-3 decision.

VISITORS IN TOWN are Milton Price, secretary of the Texas League, president of the West Texas-New Mexico circuit, and Arthur Hale, office manager of the Dallas Steers. Hale is here to help Faulkner close his books and count his change. Price is on one of his regular trips through the circuit. And also to do a bit of campaigning on the side for next year.

The league has high hopes, and not without reason, of doing some expanding before the 1939 season opens.

Encouragement has come from Abilene and Amarillo, two villages whose membership in the league would add much prestige and importance, to say nothing of rivalry. Delegations from Amarillo have visited the local park recently, and have gone home to encourage Amarillo's entry.

"Feelers" have been extended as far north as Pampa and as far east as Wichita Falls regarding next year's circuit, and as far south as San Angelo.

Persons in position to know something about the situation forsee a league within the next two seasons embracing Pampa, Amarillo, Wichita Falls and Lubbock in the north, San Angelo, Abilene, Sweetwater and Big Spring in the south.

Big Spring, after a rather feeble start this season, went into high gear just as the season neared a close. Although the team finished out of the play-off, it was attracting the largest crowds of the season at the end. Big Spring is expected to be just as "ready" as anybody when the roll is called for the 1939 campaign.

It is going to be difficult to keep Clovis, N. M., out of the league, although we know of nobody who wants to keep the club out of the league. Clovis, like Big Spring, had troubles at the start and up to midseason, but has made a strong finish. Josh Billings has done a great job over there, and the folks are thoroughly sold on baseball. Without a doubt, Clovis will be ready next year.

The opposite is the case at Midland, Wink and Hobbs. These towns started fast, and went strong — we're still speaking from the box office standpoint —for the first few weeks of the campaign, then attendance started falling off. Getting weaker as the end approached. The clubs have had a tough time staying through to the finish.

It is doubtful, therefore, that Hobbs, Wink and Midland will be around next season — unless some big changes are made. Pincher Withers over at Midland declares he'll have a club in the league; has already posted his league assessments for 1939. But he doesn't think he'll remain in Midland.

The league should have such men in it as Jodie Tate, skipper of the Winks, and Neal Rabe of Hobbs. There should be places for them next year, even if Wink and Hobbs do not come back into the league.

Cowhands At Work In Grid Training

Although the Westerner candidates are doing their pre-season warming up in a camp near Cisco, football practice goes on at the Lubbock High field.

Members of the Westerner squad who did not make the camp trip with the "regulars," are invited to attend daily sessions at the high school field and "get in shape" for the season.

All Cowhands, and graduates from last year's junior high Cowboy squad are especially urged to report at the practice field. Equipment will be issued at the clubhouse, and workouts will be supervised by a couple of former Westerner stars, Earl Ince and Rafe Nabors.

Calisthenics and other exercises designed to get the boys in physical trim, as well as kicking, running and passing will come in for lots of attention.

Coaches Weldon Chapman, Goober Keyes and Walker Nichols left "strict orders" for the Cowhand candidates to report for workouts and take advantage of this extra time before school starts.

Workouts will start about 3 o'clock each afternoon.

About 30 Westerner candidates left Monday for a ten-day training camp near Cisco. Lubbock High opens the playing season Sept. 16, playing Fort Worth North Side, at Fort Worth.

Corpus Christi And Harlingen Win In Valley Loop Playoff

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 31 (AP)—Corpus Christi and Harlingen tucked victories under their belts last night as the Shaughnessy playoff opened in the Texas valley league.

Harlingen, playing host, downed Taft 1-0 in 11 innings, and Corpus Christi beat Refugio 14-10, at Corpus Christi. The teams switch game sites tonight.

Blanchard Or Bryan To Be Up Tonight

The Hubbers came through in the clutch last night against a battling Wink Spudder team to score three times in the last of the eighth and win the opening game of the Shaughnessy play-off series, 4-3.

Tonight at 8:30 o'clock, same park, same town, the same teams play another game. Big Red Hay is ticketed to toe the slab for Wink, with either Lefty Blanchard or Charley Bryan ready to serve 'em up for Lubbock. Blanchard, batted off the hill in the final league game Sunday, has his neck bowed to get in and do something about reinstating himself in the good graces of players and fans. He may get the chance tonight.

A disappointing crowd of less than a thousand cash customers turned out last night, and the thousand extra bleachers, rented and moved at considerable cost just for the play-off, remained practically vacant. There are seats for 2,500 fans this week and during the series.

Wink stays here through Thursday night, and if Lubbock has won all three games, the series is over. Should Wink win one of them, and it stands to reason the Spudders will do so, the series will transfer to Wink Friday night.

Last night saw the veteran Red Roberts, who has been a pain to Lubbock all season, bow down after turning on the heat and turning in a brilliant 4-hit pitching performance.

But on those four hits, one of them a home run by Malcolm Stevens, another a long two-bagger by Manager Hack Miller, and an error by Roberts, plus a walk, brought in four runs.

Wink Much Better

Manager Jodie Tate presented a vastly improved Wink team last night. The team, which sailed away with the 1937 pennant, showed more hustle and color than it has all season, and really turned in some great baseball. Outfield catches of Hubber line drive that were no less than "hit robbers" were executed by Johnny Stone in right field, Paul Reeves in center and LeMuiller in left; Happy Spangler, transferred to shortstop, played a swell game, and batted out a couple of fine hits.

Unusually good defensive work was turned in by both clubs despite two errors on each side. Al Carr hustling right fielder, robbed the Winks of a couple of hits with great snags in the outfield. Hack Miller and Boyd Watkins came through with nice catches of clouts labeled base hits when they left the bat.

Fleming Bears Down

Tommy Fleming, slim righthander for Lubbock, was nicked for nine bingles, but managed to pull himself out of holes in all except the sixth inning.

Fleming and Roberts allowed nobody to score until the sixth, although each side got men on bases in nearly every inning.

Two scratch hits by Simpson and Reeves after Spangler had fanned threatened in the first inning, but Fleming fanned LeMuiller and Jubela. He was in a bit of trouble in the third when Spangler led off with a double. Simpson grounded out, and Spangler went to third. Reeves walked, but was picked off first by Fleming, who struck out LeMuiller.

In the sixth, after Reeves fanned, LeMuiller filling the bases. Simpson Jubela's single to center, although he was nearly caught by a fine through from Watkins. Jubela went to second on the play, and scored when Gedzius threw Stone's grounder wild to Mosel. Rey followed with a single, but Fleming tightened and fanned Bates and Roberts.

The Spudders added another in the seventh when Taylor let a grounder bounce off his chest, letting Simpson go safe. Roberts and Umpire Andrews walked Reeves and LeMuiller, filling the bases. Simp came in on Jubela's long fly to center, and Stone flied to Miller.

Steve Cracks One

Lubbock began getting the feel of Roberts' pitching in the seventh. Miller hit a curving liner to right that Stone shagged after backing up to the fence. Stevens' blow to right was higher. It cleared the fence with room to spare for Lubbock's first run. Carr pounded one to right center that Reeves ran over and caught against the palings, and Melito hit one tagged Texas Leaguer, but Rey drifted back to shag it.

In the eighth, Mosel looped a single to center. Fleming walked, and Gedzius was safe on an attempted sacrifice when Roberts fumbled the bunt. It filled the sacks. Watkins grounded weakly to Jubela, who caught Mosel at the plate. Taylor hit a liner to left. LeMuiller handled it, but Fleming scored after the catch, then Manager Miller came through with a lambasting double to the left center fence, scoring Gedzius with the tying and Watkins with the winning run.

There was a scare in the ninth when Fleming hit Simpson, first up. But he fanned Reeves. Carr made a fine catch of LeMuiller's drive to right, and Miller loped in to snare Jubela's fly to left, ending the game.

Old Familiar Faces Expected In National Amateur; Savage And Kelly Leaders In Qualifying

(By The Associated Press)

If the returns from a day's firing on 31 golf courses mean anything, the old familiar faces will be in the fore when the battle for the National Amateur championship starts at Oakmont on September 12.

For, although they produced the usual crop of medalist morning glories, the qualifying rounds of 36-holes also showed general adherence to form. Eliminations of tried players were few and far between and most of the big name golfers coasted home and were among the qualifiers when the last returns were in.

Field To Include 170

These 156 qualifiers plus 14 players exempted from the qualifying rounds, a group that includes eight ex-champions and the defending champion Johnny Goodman, will form the field of 180 at Oakmont.

Leaders for yesterday's play were Ven Savage, the long hitting Magna, Utah, golfer who holds the Trans-Mississippi championship, and Roger Kelly of Los Angeles, twice California amateur champion. Savage scored 134 on a 69 and a 65 to clip ten strokes from par at Salt Lake City while Kelly set a course record of 134 to a 66 and a 68 at Los Angeles.

Haas, Smith Are In

Two strokes behind the leaders was Ed Kingsley, Savage's fellow townsman, who was runner-up in the Trans-Mississippi.

Freddy Haas, jr., like Billows a Walker cup player, knocked together a 140 at New Orleans and Sid Richardson, of Creston, Ia., the Western conference champion, led the big field at Chicago with the same score.

Reynolds Smith, twice a member of the Walker cup team, qualified easily at Dallas with 77-69—146 although he was three strokes off the medal score.

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—Del Baker has the Tigers hustling and most of them hope he'll be elected for another term . . . Ons and all deny Hank Greenberg and Mickey Cochrane had a fist fight in the clubhouse a short time before Owner Walter Briggs gave Mickey the air. . . . For a guy who never has won a fight in this country, Tommy Farr's demands for a bout with Gunnar Barlund (35 per cent and a cut of the radio rights) would seem a bit exorbitant. . . . Pedro Montanez, his bad teeth out and that Harlem bar off his hands, seems all set for a nice comeback.

New York sports editor who blasted the boxing commission, its referees and its judges had been ordered to make a personal appearance next Tuesday. . . A changed batting stance is largely responsible for Tommy Henrich's batting streak. . . A football coach you are going to hear more and more and more about is Ray Wolf of North Carolina . . . Jack Dempsey's Broadway bar isn't doing the business of the mother joint on Eighth avenue, but Jack has no complaints . . . No club has been more beset by injuries and hard luck this year than the Giants so give Bill Terry credit for keeping them up there, whether you like him or not.

The tennis moguls still are furious over La Moody's withdrawal.

Armstrong To Lay His Welter Championship On The Line

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP)—Hammerin' Henry Armstrong, the little brown man who holds three world boxing titles, will lay his welterweight championship on the line November 2 against Ceferino Garcia the heavy fisted Filipino considered the man most likely to stop the Los Angeles negro.

Promoter Mike Jacobs closed negotiations for the bout Tuesday after a series of telephone calls to Armstrong's manager, Eddie Mead, who is in Los Angeles. The 15-round match will be held in Madison Square garden.

O'Hara Watts Is Leader In Qualifying At Dallas

DALLAS, Aug. 31 (AP)—A sizzling morning round, two under par for the Brookhollow Country club course, gave O'Hara Watts of Dallas leadership yesterday over seven other Southwestern golfers who qualified for the National Amateur championship at Pittsburgh Sept. 12.

Watts, posting a 68-75—143, lowest score of a field of 33 of the foremost amateur linksmen of the Southwest, was one stroke under Don Schumacher of Dallas, who had a 71-73—144, and Jimmy Walkup, Fort Worth city champion, with two 72's.

Reynolds Smith, twice Walker cupper, qualified with a 77-69—146. Others making the grade included Edwin McClure of Shreveport, 73-75—148.

Franklin Is Master Over Clovis Club

(Special To The Journal)

MIDLAND, Aug. 31—With Benny Franklin pitching six-hit ball and doing manful work at bat, the Midland Cardinals subdued the Clovis Pioneers, 11-4, here last night in the opening game of one of the preliminary Shaughnessy system play-off series to determine the West Texas-New Mexico league champion.

Winner of this series, which moves to Clovis Thursday night, will meet the winner of the Wink-Lubbock series in a four-out-of-seven game joust to determine the league championship.

Hits Two Homers

Franklin paced the Cardinals at bat with a couple of home runs, one with two mates on board, and hit a double, to go into the Shaughnessy lead with Lubbock.

Luke Coburn was victim of the 15-hit attack engineered by the Cardinals. The teams play the second game of the series here tonight.

Tyler Defeats Marshall And Texarkana Takes Henderson

(By The Associated Press)

Tyler blasted first place Marshall 15-5 last night in the East Texas league Shaughnessy playoff opener, while Texarkana scored two runs in the eighth to down the Henderson Oilers 5-3.

Marshall completed the game under protest, Manager Abe Miller protesting to Umpire Mackey over what he said was failure of the Tyler manager, Red Rollings, to report two changes in the Tyler lineup to the umpire and official scorer until one Marshall player had been retired.

Marshall plays Tyler at Tyler, and Texarkana and Henderson go to Henderson, for second games tonight.

Terry Says Pirates Not Backing Into Pennant But This Came After His Giants Lose Again

BY BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

Will Terry, the soft-spoken hardshell from Memphis, insists the Pittsburgh Pirates aren't backing into the National league pennant. Since the Pittsburgh Pirates stretched their margin to six and a half games by scuppering Will Terry's Giants, 7-1, yesterday, the man obviously had to say something in self defense.

He may, for that matter, be speaking the truth. But it's a cinch that the Pirates, if not backing in, aren't doing much more than standing still and letting the pennant come to them.

Pick Up Game And Half

The August 1 standings saw Pittsburgh in front by five games, the Giants second by two and a half, and the Chicago Cubs third by one over Cincinnati. Since then the Giants have crawled along at a .444 pace, the Cubs have played .533 ball and the Reds .548. Yet the Pirates, as of today, had picked up only a game and a half on the Terrymen.

The solution is simple enough. Pie Traynor's Buccaneers, who have been making the opposition walk the plank one afternoon only to go off the deep end themselves the next, have split even in the last month on fifteen victories and fifteen defeats.

Coffman Is Belted Hard

Dick Coffman, the "experimental" starting pitcher, was slugged all over the lot yesterday, principally by Gus Suhr, and, as if Bill didn't have enough on his mind, Dick Bartell reported with a lame elbow so that the infield had to be juggled again.

While the Pirates were pasting the Giants to a fare-thee-well the Reds rallied twice to whip the Dodgers, 5-4 and 7-4, thus moving up five percentage points behind Terry's tottering crew and four behind the Cubs, who lost an 8-1 decision to Milkman Jim Turner and the Boston Bees.

Effective pitching marked the Phillies - Cardinals double - header, with Max Butcher bearing down in the pinches to edge out the Cards in the opener, 4-3, and Clyde Shoun hurling one-hit ball in a five-inning relief trick as the Cards took the nightcap, 8-7, in the tenth.

American leaguers also accounted for two handsome pieces of pitching. Spud Chandler, after being nicked for a run in the first, shut out the Detrit Tigers the rest of the way as the Yanks won their fifth straight, 3-1, and John Duncan Rigney of the White Sox held the Senators to six hits in gaining a 3-2 verdict.

The Indians outslugged the Athletics, 10-8, with the help of two home runs by Jeff Heath and another by Bruce Campbell, and the Browns drubbed the Red Sox, 9-5, for Ed Cole's first mound victory of the year.

Redskins And All-Stars To Battle Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 31—Tonight's the night Sammy Adrian Baugh, football's most publicized passer, returns to Soldier field seeking to restore to professional ranks the supremacy he stole from them last year with one heave of his right arm.

At that time a crowd of approximately 80,000 saw the Texan pitch the college all stars to a 6 to 0 triumph over the professional champion Green Bay Packers.

Another 80,000 Expected

Tonight another crowd of 80,000 may see another demonstration by the redoubtable Baugh, now star of the Washington Redskins, or perhaps an equally peerless performance by the collegians, and Colorado's famed Whizzer White.

The contest will be the rubber game of a series which began four years ago. Each side has won a game. Two tilts ended in ties.

Against Baugh, the field generalship of Quarterback Riley Smith and the heavier, more experienced and favored pro eleven, the collegians will pit passers White, Cecil Isbell of Purdue and a supporting cast of ball carriers, kickers and linemen selected by popular vote from all over the nation, including Guard Joe Routt of Texas A. and M.

Third Night Of Play In State Softball Tourney On Tonight

ABILENE, Aug 31 (AP)—A third night of play in the first round of the Texas state tournament of the American Softball association today pitted WOW of Jacksboro against Ennis; Texas Utilities of Abilene against Coker Grocery of Wichita Falls, and Amarillo Texacos against American Libery Pipeliners of Dallas.

Last night Economy Cash of Denton downed the Dallas Bakers, 2-1; Abilene Coco Cola beat Eastland Texas Electric 11-1 and Brownwood All-Stars downed Belton All-Stars 2-1. The wins moved victors into the second round.

NEW KIND OF TIRE GIVES QUICKEST NON-SKID STOPS YOU'VE EVER SEEN

Golden Ply Blow-out Protection, too

● Children running across the street! Cars darting out in front of you! No matter how carefully you drive—time and again on rainy days you're suddenly faced with wet road emergencies—where only the quickest possible stop will save lives.

And remember, unless the tires on your car have this new Life-Saver Tread you're being cheated out of the real stopping power that's built into your brakes. Because the never-ending spiral bars of the Life-Saver Tread act like a battery of windshield wipers. They sweep the water right and left—force it out through the deep grooves—make a DRY TRACK for the rubber to grip. And, adding one safety feature to another, this new Silvertown is also the only tire that gives you the Golden Ply—the famous Goodrich invention that resists the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds—protects you against those high-speed blow-outs.

Remember, you can prove to yourself that a SILVERTOWN STOP is the safest, quickest stop you've ever had. Come in today for a free demonstration ride. And, for safety's sake, make your next tires Goodrich Safety Silvertowns.

PROOF! From 3 Months' Road Tests by America's Largest Independent Testing Laboratory

"BOTH regular, and also the premium-priced tires of America's six largest tire manufacturers were submitted to a series of exhaustive road tests made over a three months' period by us, to determine their resistance to skidding and wear, with the following results:

"NON-SKID—The new Goodrich Silvertown with the Life-Saver Tread gave greater skid resistance than any other tire tested, including those tires listed at from 40% to 70% higher in price.

"MILEAGE — The Goodrich Silvertown gave more non-skid mileage than any of the other tires tested in its own price range—averaged 19.1% more miles before the tires wore smooth."

Arms Race Is Draining Golden Life Blood Of 'Civilized' Nations

Repetition Of 1913 Is Feared

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 31 — Every time, day and night, your watch ticks to show the passing of a single second, each of the big nations of the world has spent upon armaments sometimes a man's whole daily wage, sometimes a whole week's wages.

This is the appalling situation twenty years after the finish of the war to end wars. The world apparently learned nothing from that awful conflict. It is estimated that in 1937 the world spent upon armaments nearly three times as much as was spent in 1913. And in that year 1913 men predicted there would be a world war because nations could not be draining their financial life blood away endlessly upon arms without seeking to make use of them.

Disarmament Failed

In 1932 a last despairing effort was made, under the auspices of the League of Nations, to bring about some measure of disarmament. It was a ghastly failure. Each year after that the expenditures on armaments rose and rose without cease. Here is the tale, which shows why people are groaning under tax burdens (when they are allowed to groan—something forbidden in totalitarian states):

1932	$4,300,000,000
1933	4,500,000,000
1934	5,100,000,000
1935	5,400,000,000
1936	5,800,000,000
1937	7,100,000,000

The figures given are in gold dollars. For the year 1937, $4,600,000,000 was spent by Europe and $2,500,000,000 by the rest of the world outside Europe. Of the 64 countries whose expenditures are given in the above figures in 1937, seven great "civilized" nations spent 56 per cent of these vast sums. Between 1932 and 1937 Europe increased its expenditures on armaments by 80 per cent while the rest of the world increased by 57 per cent.

The great difficulty nowadays in estimating what is being spent upon armaments is the secrecy totalitarian states are enabled to maintain.

In most democratic countries this is impossible. Budgets have to be submitted to Parliaments and expenditures have to be detailed by cabinet officials, and then approved by the legislators. It is thus that Great Britain is known to have embarked upon a five-year rearmament program which is to cost $7,500,000,000.

The latest figures on armament budgest for some of the larger nations obtainable by the League of Natons division which studies these matters, are given below. Comparison is made for the years

	1937	1932
Belgium:	$48,537,720	$32,643,468
Great Britain:	$1,274,546,000	$429,754,500
Czechoslovakia:	$91,948,150	$55,991,730
France:	$260,292,000	$270,546,250
Italy:	$313,267,500	$248,941,800
Japan:	$313,267,500	$284,941,800
United States:	$993,200,000 (estimated, 1937-38)	$641,600,000

The last figures given on Germany were 617 million marks for the year 1931-32 and 894,300,000 marks for the year 1934-35. They have probably gone soaring far ahead of that since. The figures for 1937 for France apparently show a decrease, but there was probably a very large increase covered by supplimental budgets.

Possibility Of Social Welfare

It has been estimated that, if the world had really gone the limit in disarmament, the money spent on arms in the past five years could have been used in doing away with all slums, erecting magnificent hospitals and clinics, creating great public parks and recreation grounds, new and modern schools, splendid municipally - owned apartment houses for people with a modest wage—and at the same time the taxes upon the peoples of the world could have been greatly reduced.

Those flashing blasts from big guns are expensive . . . in 1937 the nations of the world earmarked over seven billion golden dol'ars for war.

GAIN WEIGHT, KNOWLEDGE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Boys are leaving CCC camps weighing ten pounds more than when they went in, the CCC office says. More than 65,000 of them learned to read in the camps, and since they started more than 400,000 boys have left camp before their stay was over because they got offers of private jobs.

Parrots brought into the United States from Mexico must have a passport visa from the American consulate in that country.

Want A Guinea Pig! City Is To Give Twenty Of Them Away

Wanna a guinea pig free?

Those who want them are invited to call at the city laboratory in the city hall. Only about 20 of them are left, and the probabilities are, they won't last long.

But if no one wants them, they are going to be killed painlessly.

The guinea pigs are what remains of those which have been used in the city laboratory for the making of blood tests for food handlers. During recent weeks, however, powdered blood has been used for that purpose and the pigs no longer are needed.

Six Under Par Score Is Feature Tuesday In City Open Play

A medal score of 64, six under par, by Jim Marshall, a golfing newcomer here recently of Hillsboro, which served to defeat Cecil Horne, 4 and 3, was one of the outstanding performances in the first day of match play in the annual City Open tournament at Meadowbrook yesterday.

There were a few mild upsets to help feature opening day matches.

Edgar Doherty, defending champion, advanced to the quarter finals with an easy 8-6 victory over Bill Hackett. Don Doherty was beaten by J. K. Bradshaw, 2 and 1, and Jack Trammel won by default from Loftin Burnette.

Second round play will begin today and continue tomorrow. Pairings for the championship flight are:

Pairings Are Listed

Edgar Doherty vs. Weldon Counts; Alfred Holton vs. Bob Hale; Trammel vs Bradshaw; and Marshall vs. Joe Bihl. Bihl was medalist and is favored to take his third tourney title of the summer.

Donald Doherty captured a first round match in the championship consolations by default from Burnette. Pairings in that flight are; Horne vs. Carl Nail; Hackett vs. Manson Allen; and C. Thompson vs. C. Galbraith.

In the second flight L. E. Works erased Ed Bates, 2 and 1; Harvey Austin stopped Hugh Anderson, 5 and 4; J. Webster won over Tommy Murphy by default; Amos Howard defeated Arthur Yaggys, 2 and 1; J. D. Hinson beat J. R. Farmer, 1 up; and O. A. Terry and Ted Tipps both withdrew.

Two Reach Semifinals

Yaggy and Farmer advanced to second flight consolation semifinals by defaults of Murphy and the Terry-Tipps match.

Pairing today are: Works vs. Austin; Lee Hubby vs. F. L. McRee; Webster vs. Howard; and Hinson vs. bye. Other consolations pit Bates vs. Anderson and W. Gregwich vs. T. Patterson;

W. L. Hale beat George Langford, 1 up, and John Wilson defeated A. B. Holton, 3 and 2, to complete the third flight opening round. Quarterfinal pairing are Bill Perry vs. Sled Allen; Hale vs. Lee Michie; Leland Mast vs. J. B. Galland; and Wilson vs. Carrol Claiborne.

Two Matches Played

W. Seeley bumped Charles Hvass, 6 and 4, and Bert Pinson beat F. Sandlin, 7 and 5, in third flight consolations. Langford plays W. F. Helwig and S. Parkinson meets A. B. Holton in other semifinals.

The fourth flight saw two players go to semifinals Tuesday as Bill Martin beat Hugh Horne, 2 up, and Melvin Best eliminated M. E. Heard, 6 and 4. C. C. Smith meets C. W. Goodgion and Ford Benham plays Buster Holton in other quarterfinals.

Consolations in the flight went to finals. Ben Eskridge and R. L. Stovall both advanced by a string of byes.

ONLY HIS DOG

MELBOURNE, (AP)—The experiment of allowing a sullen and intractable prisoner at Pentbridge jail to have his dog in a jail with him has proved a great success. The man is now regarded as a model prisoner.

Each day the dog goes with his master to work in the labor yards. At night it sleeps on a mat outside the masters' cell door.

Hagen Tangles With Shiek

Jack Hagen, the wild-mannered stevedore from Shreveport, and Sheik Ben Ali Mar Allah, the fast little Persian from old Iran, give local wrestling a promise of color and action that has been sadly lacking from most of this summer's programs when they clash in the main event at Sled Allen's Auditorium this evening.

The show starts at 8:30, and the preliminary fighters are still a secret. But it's one night that the main event should take its place as the card's highlight.

There isn't likely to be much science connected with the fight. When they want to, these boys can put on wrestling exhibitions, with all the trimmings—but they usually don't want to. They fit in the category of rough rasslers, and they not only fit there, they act like that.

Fans Got Excited

Hagen and the Sheik met a few Wednesday nights ago in a preliminary match, and it was the most exciting contest at the auditorium in several weeks. It ended in a bloody draw, with fans tossing chairs and vituperative language, and swearing to murder Mr. Hagen the next time they caught him alone in a dark alley.

The wrestlers parted, finally, but not the best of friends. Prince Mar Allah has been wanting to get another chance at the Shreveporter, on a main event. The time has arrived, so they'll be at it tonight.

George Hartay, fast moving little Hungarian, tangles with Don Hill in the semi-final, and this should produce some science for the science bugs. They can be mean, but they'll probably conduct themselves like gentlemen tonight.

Thirteen Girls To Leave, 20 To Join Project Thursday

Thirteen girls enrolled in a National Youth administration homemaking project at 1509 Seventh street will complete their two weeks' residence course today and 20 others will replace them Thursday.

The girls who will leave today have been living at the residence two weeks. They will return again after the new group has lived there two weeks. The groups will alternate.

In addition to the training they receive, they work part-time to pay their expenses and also earn a small amount of money for their own use.

Mrs. Mary Lovell is supervisor of the project. She formerly was in charge of a dormitory near the Texas Technological college campus.

District Supervisor A. V. Bullock described the project as one of the most valuable to the girls in the National Youth administration setup.

That Girl on Broadway says sitting down too much is what brought on the late depression—and it's what's largely holding back recovery.

Speaking of grand and glorious feelings, did you ever find a quarter in an old suit of clothes that you hadn't worn for months?

WELL, by the time you read this The Plainsman and The Little Woman will be long gone—off on the first leg of a gawking tour which has as it's slogan: "California—Or Go Busted!"

You'll be a-hearing from us first at Denver, and then from various and sundry foreign seaports between there and San Francisco by way of Yellerstone park.

Just when we'll be back isn't for certain, but you can bet it won't be very long. We've decided to keep going until our money is half gone—and then turn back!

For the first time in his life, The Plainsman is going on one of those "scenic vacations."

To be real honest about it, your humble servant prefers going to a big city to going to wide open spaces, of which we see quite a little throughout the year right here on the South Plains.

But since we've never seen canyons and dams and mountain ranges and all that sort of thing—and especially since The Little Woman decided that was where we were going—we're changing our tune this year.

WE AIM, however, to see some cities, too, including, in addition to Denver and San Francisco, such other thriving communities as Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. In the towns we will conscientiously tour the newspaper offices—as is our usual wont on a busman's holiday.

Here and there as we poke along, The Plainsman will send pieces back in case anybody wants to read them.

The old typewriter—which is the property of Margaret "Doc" Turner, our women's expert—is going along with the extra shirt. But we'll do very little scenic descriptive writing—including that which has to do with fat lady tourists in shorts and men's trousers and of which we expect to see too many!

We'll be back, creditors, eventually—so don't worry!

Nat Campbell in the El Paso Times:

Who would venture on this life,
It's toilsome years to spend,
If he were told he'd be compelled
To begin it at the end?

That Man on Avenue Q says one of the troubles with this county is that it's been too long a spell since obeying or enforcing the law was important.

One of the most ludicrous statements made in connection with the recent political campaign was that of W. D. McFarlane, of Graham, who was defeated for re-election to Congress by Ed Gossett, of Wichita Falls.

McFarlane, who got a "pat" from President Roosevelt when the latter visited in Wichita Falls a few weeks ago, lost to Gossett by between 2,000 and 3,000 votes and charged that his defeat was due to "5,000 Republicans voting in the Democratic primary as part of a nation-wide effort to discredit the New Deal."

Poppycock.

McFarlane was beaten because (1) Gossett is a better campaigner; (2) he has a better personality and (3) McFarlane's district is full of people who don't like him.

Republicans didn't beat McFarlane. He beat himself, with Gossett's help.

ALMOST overlooked in the rumble and rush of the recent state-wide elections was an occurrence for not unfortunate Texas Tech.

We refer to the defeat of Senator Grady Woodruff, of Decatur, who, along with several other members of the upper house, was sent to the boneyard by the dear voters.

For some reason or another, Senator Woodruff has never been able to see Tech—either its present or its future—as many of the college's friends would like, which is stranger than it might be since Senator Woodruff doesn't live so terribly far from here and since he has kinfolks in West Texas.

But it is a matter of record that the gentleman from Decatur has from time to time been a stumbling block to Tech and his defeat is not figured to cause much grief out this way.

Whatever delight there may be at the defeat of Woodruff, however, cannot overshadow two bad breaks Tech got this summer.

One, of course, was failure of Senator O. H. Nelson to become lieutenant-governor.

The other was the surprising defeat for re-election of Representative Bob Alexander, of Childress.

Alexander, who had a very fine chance to become Speaker of the House in the next legislative session, was beaten by Allen Harp, a Roaring Springs school teacher. The Childress man had been in the legislature long enough to reach a position of considerable power and it is well known that he was very interested in and friendly to Texas Tech.

New Representative Harp may be just as able as Alexander and very possibly has as much interest in and friendship for Tech as the Childress man is known to have.

But according to the rules of the game in Austin, it will take Harp sometime to reach the position of legislative affluence attained by Alexander in his several terms in the house.

THE PLAINSMAN, of course, has no crow to pick with the people of Hall, Childress, Motley and Cottle counties for beating Alexander.

They know more than we who is most desirable to them as a state representative. And certainly it is none of our business what they do with their own problems.

Further, they naturally do not consider a condidate's interest in Tech as a paramount virtue, like we who live closer to the college do.

Yet the fact remains that Tech will miss Alexander at Austin, at least until his successor reaches a position in the legislature comparable to that attained by Alexander.

Shortly after he had gotten himself in what looked like a nine-hole by (1) endorsing six run-off candidates; and (2) by telling a reporter he had "an open mind on race track gambling," Governor - Nominate O'Daniel began to get cagy when talking for public consumption.

Thus when a reporter in his press conference asked the next governor how he stood on the wet-dry issue, O'Daniel replied, simply:

"Ha ha!"

Last Monday somebody in Governor James V. Allred's press conference asked the No. 1 guy if he had voted the O'Daniel ticket "straight" in the Saturday run-off.

The governor hesitated a moment, smiled and said:

"Ha ha!"

Maybe it's going to be an epidemic amongst the politicos!

It has leaked out that Charlie McCarthy has a little sister.

Another story says he has uncles, too—and that Mr. Roosevelt wants to put 'em all in the U. S. Senate!

THE "revolutionary" gearless automobile clutch described to a meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science sounds like an exploitation of an idea that has been kicking around in the American auto industry for a good many years.

The Cambridge, Eng., dispatch referred to it as substituting a "centrifugal pump" for the conventional gear box and clutch. This sounds rather mysterious and yet would describe in a general way the American idea referred to. The latter makes use of the friction that can be engendered in an oil bath by a paddle whirling at high speeds. The friction gradually makes one paddle wheel—attached to the engine—lay hold of another paddle wheel—attached to the rear axle; and there is your gearless clutch.

If the thing has been worked out practically, it will be, as the dispatch avers, a revolutionary forward step in automotive design. It truly would eliminate the gears and discs of the conventional transmission and clutch, and that would mean eliminating a good many expensive parts. It also should make for smoother car operation and more effortless driving.

Lately rumors have been current in this country of renewed experiments by American engineers along the same lines. So it is quite possible that, if the European invention really is practical, the American industry will not be far, if any, behind.

That is one great industry which is usually ahead of its competitors in other parts of the world.

CAST OF CHACTERS

KINKAID PARKER—hero. Handsome, jobless, he has just inherited half-interest in a vacant Connecticut home.

SALLY PENNINGTON—heroine. Blond, pretty, she has inherited the other half of the home. Together they turn it into a "Restatorium."

Yesterday: Wilton Ames connives to have Sally buy stock (to lose her home). That night two men rush suddenly into the Restatorium after loud shooting outside.

CHAPTER VIII

Dazed as they were Sally and Kinks perceived that the invading gentlemen had found refuge in the nick of time. Outside a staccato of revolver shots rent the night. A hail of bullets spattered against the door of Mrs. Preston's house. But the door was thick and solid, built to take it. The missiles simply imbedded themselves in the wood. And for a moment after the fusillade there was silence. Then one shot sounded. The bullet found a panel in one of the hall windows. Glass crashed and tinkled to the floor.

Kinks Parker came to life. He seized Sally, pulled her into the dining room. Simultaneously they dived beneath the dining room table.

"Oh, Kinks," she whispered frightened, "what on earth is it?"

"The Battle of Bunker Hill, I think," said Kinks. "Don't let 'em see the whites of your eyes. I don't want my fiancee going around with a bullet in her head."

Suddenly cautious footsteps sounded. The living room lights went out. A second later a volley of shots went off close at hand. Kinks understood. The men were firing through the living room windows at an unknown enemy outside.

From somewhere out in the grounds came a cry of mingled pain and anger. It was followed by an interval of quiet. Then a motor roared and raced. Presently the sound of it died away.

There was a moment while the house seemed to tremble with the vibrant echoes of the shooting. Sally and Kinks, inglorious beneath the dining room table, strained their ears. Peace settled once more over the Preston home.

A hoarse whisper from the living room broke the stillness.

"Dey've scrammed, Chief," said a voice. "We musta hit one of 'em."

Another voice spoke and the whisper was louder, but just as hoarse.

"Hey, youse?"

"You mean us?" Kinks whispered back.

"Yeah, youse. C'mon back in dat hallway. It's okay now."

Sally and Kinks crawled obediently from under the table. The lights in the hall were still on. And presently the two gun-minded gentlemen emerged from the darkened living room.

A scientist would have classified them immediately under the general heading of Gorilla. The first to appear, and obviously the leader of the expedition, was tall, broad-shouldered and blue-chinned. He had dark, dangerous eyes, a huge nose formed like a parrot's beak and a mouth as wide as the Delaware river. But terrifying though that face was, something attractive seemed to lurk in it. The man was almost fascinatingly ugly.

His companion was a short, squat, ape-armed character with a head like a pumpkin. Upon his flat-nosed, beady-eyed countenance the vices paraded unblushingly. It was evident that he, or his immediate forebears, owed allegiance to sunny Italy. And to the wrong side of the tracks somewhere in Italy, at that. He looked like the kind of a guy who spent the golden hours stiletto-ing his grandmother and jumping on the body.

Sartorially, however, these citizens were very snappy. They wore gray felt hats tilted at rakish angles. The trousers of their dark suits were creased to razor-edges. Stickpins glowed in their ties; rings gleamed on their fingers. The critic of what the well-dressed man will wear could have quibbled over nothing save a single feature. Each of them sported a wicked-looking blue automatic in a hairy fist.

The leader bent his keen, black-eyed gaze upon Sally and Kinks.

"Who are youse?" he demanded peremptorily.

Miss Sally Pennington had gotten over her initial fright. And now anger was fast superseding fear. The sanctity of her home had been violated by a couple of gun-toting roughnecks. The splendid 'old door was doubtless scarred and pitted with bullet holes. A window had been broken. But instead of apologizing humbly for their intrusion, the unbidden guests appeared to be about to conduct a brusque inquisition. It was more than mortal woman could bear.

She marched up to the tall gentleman, planted herself before him, jammed her hands on her hips and spoke.

"You," she snapped, her blue eyes a-blaze. "You come barging in here firing off guns right and left, tramping through the house as if it were the — the lobby of Madison Square Garden and then you have the unmitigated crust to demand who we are. Well, you just listen to me, Buffalo Bill. We'll ask the first questions around here. Now then, who under Heaven are you?"

The tall gentleman took a backward step before this onslaught.

"Hey, lady," he said, waving his hands, "take it easy. We ain't done nuttin' much."

"Who are you?" pursued Sally, relentlessly.

"Who, me?"

"You!" Sally's finger, darting out, nearly stabbed him in the stomach.

The tall gentleman seemed to remember who he was.

"Why," he said, and pride tinged his voice, "I'm Bull Griffin."

"Bull Griffin? That doesn't mean a thing to . . ."

A cry from Kinks interrupted her. "You mean you're Bull Griffin, the—the gangster?"

"Dat's me, buddy," said Mr. Griffin, and the grin that he got off threatened to engulf his ears.

"Well, fancy that," said Kinks.

Sally was still dissatisfied. The investigation had not been completed. She indicated Mr. Griffin's companion who was standing by looking dumb.

"All right," she said. "We've got that straight. You're Bull Griffin. But who's this?"

"Oh, him?" said Mr. Griffin negligently. "He's just me bodyguard, Tony Spaldini. Shake hands wit' da lady, Tony."

"We'll waive the amenities," said Sally. "Just what, Mr. Griffin, was the idea of turning my house into Fort Sumter?"

"Well, it's like dis, lady," explained Mr. Griffin ponderously. "We're bein' tailed by a couple of da Little Cheese's boys. And all at once we get a flat tire. Well, if we hadn't of crashed in here, dey might of plugged us. See?"

"And who or what is the Little Cheese?" said Sally.

Mr. Griffin set himself for weighty speech. This was a subject upon which he could expand.

"I'll tell you wot da Little Cheese is," he said venomously. "Da Little Cheese is a dirty, low-down, double-crossin', two-timin', rat-faced, little skunk wot had oughta be took fer a ride, drilled fulla holes an' chucked in da Harlem river."

"He's a heel," translated Kinks, for Sally's benefit.

Bull Griffin beamed upon him approvingly. "Kid, you said somepin. Dat's just wot he is, Da Little Cheese is a big heel."

At this point there was a slight interruption. The Harknesses, robed for the night, appeared on the staircase. Evidently they had been CHANGE ELECTION DAYS?

The setting of Saturday as the day for holding Democratic primaries in Texas has become traditional. And perhaps that is as it should be.

But one of the South Plains' outstanding merchants is of the opinion that it is the poorest day of the week from the standpoint of business and he is doubtful whether anyone's convenience is greatly served. He pointed to his almost empty store which usually is thronged on Saturday and said that exactly the same condition invariably prevails on Democratic primary days. Inquiry disclosed that Saturday business for other establishments was slack.

Chief reason is, they explained, that banks were closed. A lesser factor is that many residents of Lubbock's trading haven't the time to pay the usual Saturday visit here if they wait until their polling places open.

Whether a change in the day is advisable or would inconvenience the rural population as a whole we frankly do not know. But if it is causing injury which can be remedied by a change without more harmful result, then the possibility of a change in the day for holding the event is worth considering.

Today's Thought

If they obey and serve him, they shall spend their days in prosperity, and their years in pleasures.—Job 36:11.

We are born subjects, and to obey God is perfect liberty. He that does this shall be free, safe, and happy. —Seneca.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 31. — Lew Ayres has been coming in for a lot of attention lately, having been newly acclaimed by the critics and rediscovered, successively, by Directors George Cukor and Reinhold Schunzel.

His ten-year career has been active but erratic—from stardom to bits, epics to quickies, and back again. Some of his declines, he admits, were due to faulty judgment in fighting for roles which he considered winners but turned out to be flopolas.

So he decided to quit battling for parts and to take whatever came along. Somebody had to make those C and D pictures, so it might as well be Ayres. Besides, he believes in keeping busy.

He worked in Poverty Row products which the average audience never sees, and opposite players whom the average fan never has heard of. But people who accidentally went to see these films found Lew Ayres looming, dramatically, like a lighthouse in a fog.

Two days after he finished an item called "King of the Newsboys," Ayres went into "Holiday." This was his first A picture in four years, and nearly everyone acknowledged that he stole it from Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant. Then Metro cast him as the screwball Cousin Henry in "Rich Man, Poor Girl." After that came a contract, with yearly options. Mr. Ayres is on top again.

Ayres Started Out As A Plink Artist

The actor admits that his life so far has been pretty easy, though by no means dull.

Son of a Minneapolis Symphony cellist, he devoted his inherited musical talent to the banjo and guitar. Between jobs of working in a sheep-dip factory and a bakery, he began to play in amateur orchestras. Turned professional while a student at San Diego high school; played in border towns and sailor joints. Later, in Hollywood, he played in the bands of Henry Halstead, Phil Harris and Ray West. At the Cocoanut Grove, western Mecca of dance orchestras, he actually sang.

The impression still persists that Ayres is a shy fellow, but he was much shyer in the days when he decided he'd like to be in pictures. He spent days just standing around in the Paramount casting office; wouldn't talk with anyone or try to see anyone.

After nearly a week he came out of his bewilderment sufficiently to focus on a big sign that said, "Interviews Granted on Appointment." Below the sign was a stack of cards on which applications were to be made. Ayres screwed up his courage, filled out one, was granted an interview as promised, and actually was given a test.

The test, directed by a cameraman, was awful. Ayres mugged so much that the casting director suggested he try for a job with Mack Sennett.

So the young man went back to his banjo and guitar. But one day, while walking along the boulevard, he was approached by an agent named Ivan Kahn and signed to a contract, just like that. Result was another test, a bit in "The Sophomore," and many another small part until he was chosen to play with Greta Garbo in "The Kiss."

Universal snapped him up after that, and in "All Quiet on the Western Front" he became a star.

He'd Rather Be Back Of The Camera

Ayres works as an actor because it's the easiest thing to do. But his real, though dormant, ambition is to be a director.

A few years ago he was so stricken with the urge to direct that he recruited his friends and began making amateur silent features on 16 m. m. film. Bob Burns worked in one of them, and Ginger Rogers in a couple, the second being a 50-minute serious effort called "The Disinherited." It was so impressive that Republic hired him to direct "Hearts in Bondage," a costly picture for that studio. It was a success.

Paramount bid for him next, with an actor-director contract. But when he secured his release there early this year he hadn't even been asked to read a story. Ayres was down again.

And now he's a star.

Trying Times For The State Department

Rumors Say Farley's For Farley As Governor Of New York And For Clark For President

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, August 31—Latest sensation to tingle the ears of political insiders is a report Jim Farley favors Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri for president in 1940 and himself for governor of New York in 1938.

Dutcher

Farley is said to have told certain members of the Democratic Finance Committee he would be able to control a majority of delegates at the next party convention and nominate himself or one of his friends. Clark, he intimated, stood foremost among his friends.

If this report is true—and it is causing disturbance in some very high places—it becomes doubly significant because Clark for some months has been rumored the 1940 favorite of Vice-President Garner. Politicians in both new Deal and anti-New Deal Democratic factions have suspected a forthcoming Garner-Farley alliance against the New Dealers surrounding the President.

NO BREAK WITH F. D. R.—YET

Top New Dealers are so convinced Farley seeks the New York governorship they have abandoned hope—temporarily, at least—of getting a man of their own choice nominated. A New York governor automatically becomes a presidential possibiliyt and the governorship would strengthen Farley's position at the national convention.

SALESMAN

At least one firm decided it would be easier to sell goods with Mussolini's alleged approval. The Federal Trade Commission has had to stop a New York watch company from selling a $19.75 watch with the claim it had been developed for the Italian government and adopted by fascist organizations.

New Dealers complain the probability of District Attorney Tom Dewey's candidacy on the Republican ticket and the scandals involving Farley's political ally, Jimmie Hines, would make Farley's election unlikely. But there's nothing they can do and they admit Farley can get the nomination if he wants it.

Curiously, no break between Farley and Roosevelt has yet occurred which indicates Jim would not support F. D. R. for a third term if the latter wanted it. Even those Roosevelt friends bitterest against Farley believe his loyalty would lead him to back the President on such an issue. Perhaps that's a hope, although Farley has publicly said any man would be foolish to indicate his presidential candidacy before Rosevelt made his plans known.

LEWIS READY FOR ACTION

John L. Lewis is determined to do something about the factional dispute in the United Automobile Workers before the CIO has its first convention in the fall. President Homer Martin of the U. A. W. probably won't like it, although Lewis is expected to base whatever action he takes on requests from the union's rank and file.

Other CIO leaders have pointed out to Lewis the absurdity of letting this big union go to pieces while one small top group charges the other is dominated by Stalin communists and the other alleges its opponents are led by Lovestone communists.

HIGHER TEXTILE WAGE SEEN

Recent meetings of textile employers and labor leaders with Wage-Hour Administrator Elmer F. Andrews were only a prelude to hearings on proposals the minimum wage in the industry be placed higher than the legal minimum of 25 cents an hour effective October 24.

Reports of a likely 30-cent minimum have come from employers, most of whom are willing to agree. But textile labor leaders will ask more—and may get just a bit more. Thirty cents was the NRA textile wage minimum.

cowering during the fireworks and only now deemed it safe to emerge. The face of Mr. Harkness peered doubtfully over his wife's shoulder. He looked like a terrified ferret.

Seeing that the cause of the commotion was two citizens in mufti and not the German army, Mrs. Harkness made bold to speak.

"What is going on here?" she inquired, with asperity. "Who are these men?"

Kinks bowed slightly.

"Mr. and Mrs. Harkness," he said, "let me introduce Mr. Bull Griffin and his—his traveling companion, Mr. Spaldini."

Bull Griffin glanced up the staircase.

"Pleased to meetcha, lady," he said, briefly. "But beat it, will ya? We're havin' a powwow."

A whistle of admiration escaped Mr. Harkness. He had known Mrs. H. for 50 years. And during that time nothing in pants had ever worked up the nerve to address her like that.

Mrs. Harkness gasped and sought helplessly for suitable words. In the interim Sally put a question.

"And just what," she asked Bull Griffin, "are you planning to do next?"

Mr. Griffin grinned his incredible grin and waved his automatic gently.

"Me an' me pal," he said, "are bunkin' here fer da night."

Snyder Livestock Market

AUCTION SALE OF CATTLE EVERY THURSDAY, STARTING 10:00 A. M.

WE WILL START OUR HORSE AND MULE SALE AT 10:00 A. M., SEPT. 5th

We had about 900 cattle at our sale Thursday August 25th. Prices were 15c to 25c lower but all classes of cattle sold active with a good clearance. In addition to cattle sold through the ring we sold 250 head of stocker steers that were shipped to the Panhandle. If you have livestock for sale or are in the market to buy don't fail to attend our Thursday auction sale of cattle and Monday auction sale of horses and mules. Livestock sold at private sale every day. For best results consign your livestock to SNYDER LIVESTOCK MARKET, Bonded and Insured.

AUCTION SALE EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY

At our Friday sale, we sold 1000 head cattle. Our receipts for the week 1700. We had plenty of packer buyers as well as our local buyer at both sales. We were unable to meet the demands of our buyers this week, so CUSTOMERS AND SELLERS now is the time to sell your cattle, WHILE THE BUYERS WANT THEM IS THE TIME TO SELL!

A fair deal and a thorough knowledge of the markets of Lubbock Auction and Commission Co.'s service will give you confidence in our ability to fully protect your interest and obtain the BEST RESULTS for you on the market at all times.

Legion Delegation Back From Session

Most of Lubbock's delegation returned today from the state convention of the American Legion and auxiliary which closed in Austin Tuesday.

Recipient of more honors than any others at the convention from Lubbock, according to A. C. Jackson, immediate past commander of Allen Bros. post of the legion here, were the members of the drum and bugle corps of Sons of the Legion which was organized less than a year ago.

The boys led the fifth division delegations which led the annual parade. The group later played several selections for the entire convention, which expressed its appreciation by resolution, Jackson said.

The 26 members of the sons' group returned by bus late Tuesday after having participated in the four-day encampment arranged for them at Austin by the state Legion. E. Kelly Nail, as chairman of the post's sponsoring committee, and Travis Calvin, director, were in charge of the group.

Others attending the state convention from Lubbock were Mr. and Mrs. George Berry, Mrs. Fred Higbee, Mrs. W. H. Waln, Mrs. George Brewer, Mrs. W. L. Daniel, W. E. Lavender, Elmer Rush and G. M. Carr. Alfred Scott, of Lubbock now in Austin as an assistant attorney general, also represented Allen Bros. post as one of the delegates, Jackson reported.

J. D. Caldwell, Pioneer, Back In City After San Antonio Stay

Showing evidence of recovery from an illness that caused physicians to have him spend the winter in lower altitudes of the San Antonio section, J. D. Caldwell returned to Lubbock this morning.

The pioneer Lubbock merchant attended two funerals of relatives this month. A brother Sam Caldwell, 81, died Aug. 4 at DeQueen, Ark., a victim of paralysis, and a sister, Mrs. Mattie White, 72, of Rockey, Okla., died July 24 of a malignant ailment.

Sam Caldwell formerly lived in Lubbock.

J. D. Caldwell left Lubbock to recuperate from an attack of pneumonia.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31 (AP) — Cotton futures opened 1 to 4 points net lower here today.

A prominent eastern authority placed production at 12,189,000 bales, an increase of 389,000 bales above the estimate by the same source a month ago and 201,000 bales above the official forecast issued earlier this month.

October contracts opened at 8.41, Dec. 8.46, Jan. 8.46, March 8.46, May 8.44 and July 8.41. Offerings continued in a moderate supply after the start and met only scale down trade calling.

The weekly crop summary was more favorable than expected, but there was little inclination to trade.

Near mid-session October contracts sold at 8.38, Dec. at 8.43, March at 8.43 and May at 8.43, or five or six points below yesterday's close.

Cotton was opening fast, the official report said, and picking and ginning were progressing under favorable weather conditions. In the central and western sections the crop was said to be progressing satisfactorily.

The turnover yesterday was 15,350 bales, and open commitments 385,500 bales, an increase of 1,750 bales from the previous day.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP) — Cotton futures opened 1 to 3 lower on indifferent Liverpool cables and a bearish private crop estimate. Oct. 8.31; Dec. 8.38; Jan. 8.37; March 8.38; May 8.38; July 8.32.

Dec. sold off from 8.38 to 8.34, leaving the market at net losses of 5 to 7 points late in the first hour.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP) — The stock market resumed its waiting attitude today after stepping forward another pace or two in the forenoon.

Numerous gains ranging to more than 2 points were retained throughout the list but transactions shrank to a mere trickle as the rally stalled. Dealings for the full session approximated only about 900,000 shares.

Bonds and commodities idled in uneven markets. Cotton near the finish was down 35 to 40 cents a bale.

Heading the leisurely early advance were farm implement, mail order, building supply, metal and miscellaneous industrial shares.

At mid-afternoon, the British pound was $4.85¾, off ⅛ of a cent, the French franc traded at 2.72½ cents, off .80⅛ of a cent.

Grain Market

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 31 (AP) — Wheat prices rallied strongly in the last 15 minutes of trading today and closed with net fractional gains. Heavy short covering appeared in the pit at the last.

Independent strength of corn, which reflected unfavorable crop reports from some states, helped the wheat market.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅜ higher compared with yesterday's finish, Sept. 63, Dec. 64⅞-65, corn was ⅛-½ higher, Sept. 52⅞-53, Dec. 51⅜-½, oats ⅛-½ down.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Aug. 31 (AP) — Demand for grain continued fair here today.

Wheat No. 1 hard 78-83.
Barley No. 2 nom 50-51.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. nom 81-84; No. 2 white kafir nom 79-81.

Educational Clinic

Did You Know?

That out of a group of 1000 children, 146 of them will have died before they reach the age of thirty; that only 698 of them will live to be fifty years of age; and that only 386 of that group ever live to the age of seventy, according to statistics. Seventy-five per cent of this group will have passed on because of some form of intestinal disorder.

Are You Suffering?

Asthma, hay fever, skin disorders, high blood pressure, colitis, headaches, inability to sleep well, indigestion and a host of allied troubles are directly or indirectly the result of constipation and poor elimination.

Europe Still In War 'Jitters'

attacking in six provinces, the major action being south of the Yangtze river in the Kiukiang area and along the Anhwei-Honan provincial border where the invaders were trying to sever the Peiping-Hankow railway north of Hankow, China's provisional capital.

In Spain, the major action continued to be on the Estremadura front with government forces still on the offensive.

British efforts to settle the German-Czechoslovak crisis by conciliation continued. From an authoritative British quarter came a warning evidently intended for the parties chiefly concerned.

"The feeling appears to be growing in London," said an authorized spokesman, "that if any party concerned in the issues at stake should show themselves lacking in a real desire to contribute toward a settlement they must obviously, in view of those issues, be guilty of criminal folly."

Assurance that the French government shared this view was understood to have been given to foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax.

U. S. Ambassador Confers

Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador, also conferred with Halifax.

Britain's full diplomatic efforts remained concentrated on engineering fresh contacts between the Praha government and the autonomy-demanding Sudeten Germans and official Britain anxiously awaited indications of the German reaction to new compromise proposals to be offered by Praha.

Meanwhile Britain maintained close contact with the trouble center through a ring of her own unidentified observers scattered through hilly Bohemia to report and interpret developments in that seething home of the Sudeten Germans.

In Budapest, Premier Bela Imredi said Hungary's agreement for non-aggression pacts with the Little Entente states—Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia—would not be considered effective until Czechoslovakia solves her minority problems to Hungary's satisfaction.

This decision, made at a cabinet meeting last night, was interpreted in some quarters as a result of talks in Germany last week during the state visit of Admiral Nicholas Horthy, the Hungarian regent.

In Washington, it was revealed Great Britain and France are making every effort to hasten delivery of the warplane reenforcements they have ordered in the United States.

Informed persons indicated the craft would not be ready for shipment within four or five months.

The German-Czech situation is receiving the closest study by President Roosevelt and state department officials. Should conflict break out in Europe before the planes are completed, the American neutrality act might prevent their shipment.

Great Britain has ordered 400 reconnaissance and training planes in this country—200 from the Lockheed company and 200 from the North American Aviation corporation. France has ordered 100 pursuit planes from Curtiss-Wright.

The European situation was the subject of a conference yesterday between President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull. Although both declined comment afterward, it is known that some government officials regard Europe as being at a crossroads between peace and war.

These officials believe that the Nazi party convention at Nuremberg next week may provide the climax of the German-Czech crisis. All American envoys in Europe are at their posts, keeping the state department informed of developments.

Five Charged In Death Case

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, Aug. 31 — Four persons faced charges today and a fifth was sought by Taylor county officers in the death six years ago of A. W. Hale, whose body was found in Lake Kirby, two miles south of here, Aug 22, 1932.

Complaints of murder by poison were filed by Sheriff Sid McAdams with County Attorney Esco Walter naming Laura Maxwell of Abilene, Katherine Camp, of Big Spring, Wayne Northington of Longview or Kilgore and J. H. Spurlock, serving a two-year sentence in the Texas penitentiary for auto burglary.

Bond Is Posted

Justice of the Peace Theo Ash said the Maxwell woman had posted $1,500 bond and a like bond had been fixed for Katherine Camp.

Sheriff's deputies would not disclose where the Camp woman nor Northington were held.

County Attorney Walter, then justice of the peace, returned a verdict that Hale "came to his death by unnatural and unknown causes" shortly after the body was found. It was estimated Hale had been dead about two months.

Building Permits For Month Are $280,890 Today At Noon

Building permits for two new residences were included among those which added $6,678 to new construction totals during the 24 hours to noon today, according to records in the office of the city building inspector.

They raised totals for the week to $30,383, for the month to $280,890 and for the year to $1,777,878.

New permits included: J. B. Maxey, frame and stucco residence at 2515 Twenty-first street, $3,000; Rev. Jeff D. Welch, owner, and Otis Rich, contractor, frame residence at 1812 Avenue L, $2,000; and Hodges brothers, owners, and Martin brothers, contractor, to repair fire damage at 811 Broadway, $950.

Dimmitt Accident Victim To Be Buried This Afternoon

Funeral services were to be held in Westbrook First Baptist church near Colorado City this afternoon for W. A. Murphy, 54, farmer residing a mile south of Dimmitt, who met horrifying death when dragged by a run-away team of plow mules in his field late Tuesday.

The body was taken overland this morning to Westbrook, where the family resided util removal to Dimmitt 13 years ago. Rix Funeral home of Lubbock has charge of burial arrangements.

Information was entirely lacking as to what led to the fatal accident, members of the family reported this morning. Mrs. Murphy's attention first was attracted when she saw the team running about the field, dragging Murphy, who had apparently had become entangled in the harness, and the plow.

Estimates were that the team may have run an aggregate distance of two miles before being brought to a stop. Murphy was unconscious. His body, however, was not badly lacerated, although plow discs had cut his arms and face. The injuries from which he died after having been taken to a doctor's office in Dimmitt apparently were the result of dragging.

His widow and 12 children, several of whom reside in the vicinity of Westbrook, survive him.

State's Traffic Toll Is Cited

"Ruthless and recklessness have snuffed out the lives" of 900 persons on Texas streets and highways, although there has been a saving of 145 lives in the first seven months of this year as compared with 1937.

That information was received Tuesday at the office of Capt. W. W. Legge, commanding officer of the Texas Highway patrol in this district.

State police described the traffic casualty picture as "dismal" as they watched the records for last month rise to 139 dead, it was pointed out at the patrol headquarters.

"Because of holiday and vacation travelers causing crowded conditions and additional traffic hazards last month, there was a predicted increase in deaths and injuries, but the 1938 total fell short of the July, 1937, death rate by 15 persons. Still, 99 per cent of these fatal crashes were unnecessary and could have been avoided had drivers followed simple rules of safety," traffic officials said.

"Cities are showing improved accident records as only 38 deaths occurred on city streets last month. There were 92 deaths attributed to highway traffic. Intensified enforcement, educational campaigns and publicity programs were given by state officers as the reason for lowered traffic losses in cities. Similar activities are adopted for decreasing open highway crashes. However, higher speed limits bring about more serious collisions.

"State traffic recorders said 60 of the 139 dead lost their lives in accidents involving two or more vehicles. Two were killed riding bicycles. One lost his life in a horse-drawn conveyance and another died after his car struck livestock on a highway. Six were killed in railroad crashes.

"Heavy financial losses and suffering were seen in the reports showing 1,454 persons were injured in accidents last month, and many are slated to die from their injuries."

Schooner Safe After Storm

(By The Associated Press)

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 31 — The two-masted schooner Josefina, of Havana, Cuba, which was caught in the hurricane and drifted helplessly for days in the Gulf of Mexico, has been towed into Port Aransas, it was revealed this morning by James A. Alsup, in charge of the coast guard station at Port Aransas.

Alsup said both masts of the ship had been broken off when the ship ran into the hurricane August 26 or 27. The boat then drifted helplessly until its distress signals were sighted yesterday afternoon by the ship Merope, which radioed the Port Aransas coast guard. The coast guard then towed the ship into Port Aransas.

ment with the Railroad commission in February 1937 whereby orders for sale of confiscated production would not be issued unless the market permitted.

Governor Allred said confiscation stopped until after the election was over and "I hope it doesn't start again."

Inquiry Not Contemplated

Following his conference with the governor, Holbrook said he did not contemplate "at this time" a committee inquiry into confiscation.

Hill pointed out he had opposed the confiscation act and expressed an opinion it was invalid. He added he offered a bill at the last regular session to correct "some of the defects in the law but some of the very people who are howling now opposed passage of the corrective measure."

"Since the law is still on the books I will not criticize as long as it is followed," he said. "If it is not followed that is a different story. I am not interested in working over any of last year's bird nests."

"Excess production is a thing of the past in East Texas. I am not so certain but what other sections were more guilty in the past than East Texas."

First Test Of 'Purge' Loses

of the Roosevelt court bill to win renomination this summer. His victory was heartening to supporters of Senators George of Georgia and Tydings of Maryland, for whose defeat Mr. Roosevelt has appealed.

In California, there was no New Deal issue between Downey and McAdoo, 74-year old former secretary of the treasury. Both expressed support of the president's program, although some of their trailing opponents had indicated varying degrees of opposition.

Would Receive Scrip

McAdoo, however, had voiced outspoken criticism of Downey's pension proposal. So had the president. The scheme provides that all unemployed persons in the state over 50 years old would receive $30 a week in scrip. This could be used to pay taxes or buy goods from any merchants who would accept it.

The pension issue carried over into the Democratic gubernatorial race. Culbert Olson, a New Dealer who expressed mild sympathy with the $30-a-week proposal, was far ahead in an eight-man field. Second was Rep. John Dockweiler, pension advocate.

Merriam Has Lead

Gov. Frank F. Merriam held a commanding lead for Republican renomination. Ahead in the Republican senatorial battle was Philip Bancroft, a militant rancher. The pension scheme was not involved in those contests.

Democrats in South Carolina, where party nomination is equivalent to election, also had a big field in the gubernatorial race. Mayor Burnet Maybank of Charleston, a Roosevelt supporter, was top man, but must enter a run-off primary against Wyndham M. Manning.

Governor Johnston's defeat by Senator Smith apparently brought no change in Mr. Roosevelt's "purge" program. The president will go into Maryland next Sunday and Monday to campaign for Rep. David J. Lewis against Tydings. He said yesterday he did not expect to speak in New York against Rep. John O'Connor, whose defeat he has advocated.

Amused And Saddened

The president said he was amused and then saddened by advertisements sponsored by Tydings' headquarters, in which citizens of Maryland were called on to "defend your state against federal invasion."

Approval of the president's denunciation of unfriendly Democrats was expressed last night by WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins. He told a Boston audience that it constituted a proper course against men "who tricked the voters by wearing our insignia."

One New Deal senator who was defeated for renomination—James P. Pope of Idaho—announced yesterday he had decided against running as an independent in November. He declined to say whether he would support Rep. D. Worth Clark, critic of some Roosevelt policies who won the nomination.

lots, designation of election officials and selection of polling places.

In each election, according to opinion this morning, those eligible to vote must be "qualified property tax paying voters." City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley has been requested by Mayor Carl E. Slaton to prepare in more detail an opinion as to exactly who will thus participate in the election.

Polling place for the city bond issue proposal will be the city hall. Additional to other qualifications, the voter must reside within the city limits.

Voting box for the school election will be the district business office, 1007 Texas avenue. The district includes all of the city of Lubbock and a considerable rural area surrounding.

Each of the polling places will be open from 8 a. m. until 7 p. m.

5,000,000-gallon day.

High temperatures prevailing generally through July 14 were responsible or held accountable for the large demand. On July 15, pumpage dropped more than 2,000,000 gallons to 3,230,000 because of light rain. Comparatively moderate weather during the latter half of the month prevented an all-time record, officials said.

Thompson Loses In Attempt To Obtain His Release Tuesday

J. W. Thompson, real estate man who faces two felony indictments and who has been in court on numerous bad check complaints, made a futile bid Tuesday for release from county jail on a contempt charge.

Counsel for Thompson filed in the district court of Judge E. L. Pitts an application for a habeas corpus hearing, but before calling for the formal hearing, Judge Pitts conducted an informal hearing to investigate the case.

After talking with the defendant and his attorneys, attorneys representing plaintiffs in a civil action in which Thompson is involved, and Burton S. Burks and Victor H. Lindsey of the district attorney's office, Judge Pitts indicated he would not entertain a motion for a habeas corpus hearing.

Thompson was returned to the jail by Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff who, at the request of the defendant's attorneys, had taken him to discuss the case with the judge.

Proceedings of the county court were not disturbed and the defendant was left in the custody of the sheriff, and no order was entered which would prejudice the rights of the applicant, it was pointed out officially.

U. S. Protest Is Rejected

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Aug. 31.—The Japanese government tonight rejected on all counts the protest of the United States against the destruction of a Chinese-American airliner near Canton, South China, by Japanese warplanes on Aug. 24.

The Japanese reply to the protest delivered Aug. 26 by Ambassador Joseph C. Grew admitted, however, that the attack of Japanese planes continued after the airliner had alighted on a small river between Canton and Macao.

Fourteen persons aboard the plane, all Chinese, are believed to have been killed, either by Japanese bullets or by drowning. The only American aboard, Pilot H. L. Woods of Winfield, Kas., escaped injury and two Chinese survived, one wounded.

Four Reservations Made On Fair Trips

Fourteen reservations have been made for the four good will trips which will publicize the Silver Jubilee showing of the Panhandle-South Plains fair here Sept. 26 through Oct. 1, according to announcement by officials of the fair association this morning.

They predicted that the objective of 30 reservations will be made before the end of the week. The four trips, involving approximately 1,000 miles of travel and visits to more than 40 towns of the South Plains and New Mexico, will be $18 per passenger. Fare for an individual trip will be $4.50 if space for additional passengers is available, it was announced.

Dates for the trips will be Sept. 13, 15, 20 and 22.

Plans for the journeys were completed at a special meeting of the good neighbor committee of the chamber of commerce at which it also was decided that cowboy hats and "loud" shirts will be the official regalia for the trippers. Each member of the party, however, must supply his own attire, estimates being that a hat may be bought for a minimum of about $2 and a shirt for about $1.50.

Tammany Leader

decided to "muscle in" on the lucrative Harlem policy game.

"How often did you see Hines during the next six months after October, 1932?" Dewey asked.

"Two or three times a week. We went to restaurants, prizefights and the race tracks together."

Davis said he had been ordered by Dutch Schultz to "develop" Hines' friendship "as h emight be very valuable to him."

"The Dutchman said to give Hines anything he wanted within reason," Davis said.

"Did you talk to George Weinberg after that?"

"Yes."

"What was said?"

"I told him I'd given Hines $2,000 and that Schultz had told me I could get it back from him."

Weinberg, he said, refused to give him more than $1,000, saying he understood that was the limit Schultz had fixed for Hines.

Davis said Weinberg always paid him back other sums of money he paid Hines.

"Where did you turn over this money to Hines?"

"Various places—in my car, at Hines' home and at the office of Joseph Shalleck, Hines' attorney," Davis replied.

Shalleck is one of Hines' attorneys in the current trial.

The dapper young lawyer, disbarred after his connections with the multi-million dollar Schultz policy racket became known, took the stand after John F. Curry, deposed boss of Tammany hall, had testified under cross-examination of his long-standing feud with Hines.

"I did not blame Hines for my deposal from the leadership of Tammany hall," Curry said. "But — I have never spoken to him since then."

Davis spoke in a low, thin voice and appeared ill at ease.

Only once did he look at Hines. It was a quick, furtive glance, coldly returned by the 61-year-old defendant, and then Davis quickly returned to what has been heralded as his "singing lesson" under the adroit totorship of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

Asked To Transfer Policemen

Curry calmly testified yesterday that Hines and the other district leaders often asked him to arrange the transfer of policemen from their assigned posts, that he forwarded these requests to the police commissioner.

Such transfers, he said, "invariably" were made, some years between "25 and 30."

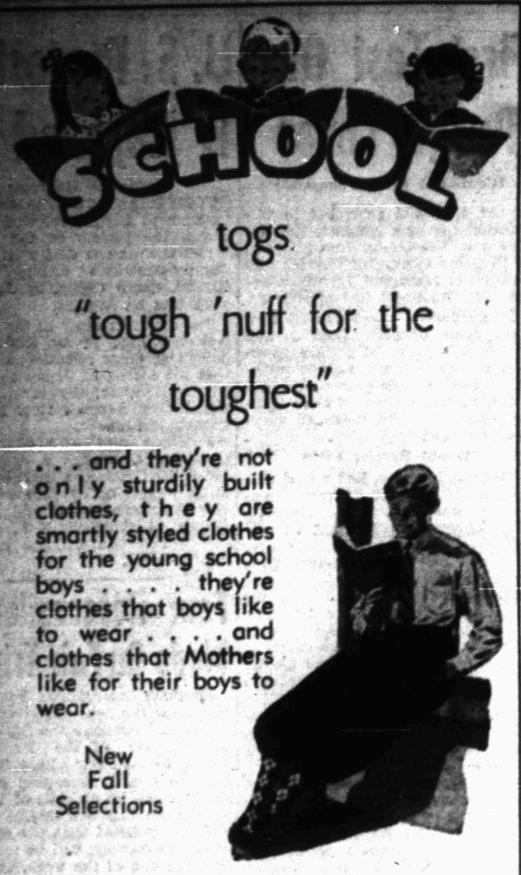

Also, the former Democratic "boss" testified, Hines was interested only in the election in 1933 of William C. Dodge to the office of district attorney. It is Dodge whom District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey said Hines called "my man—stupid, respectable."

Curry lost his leadership in 1934 when Hines, theoretically his subordinate in what was then the most powerful political organization New York City had ever known, withdrew his support.

Curry's testimony was important in view of the fact that one of Dewey's chief accusations against Hines has been that he "broke" policement who insisted on raiding "banks" of the policy game racket which he asserts Hines protected.

The former Tammany sachem appeared in the state supreme court-room as a surprise witness late in the day in response to a telephone call from Dewey.

On his way to the witness stand, he passed within two feet of his former friend. Hines looked up, and his tanned face blanched. He drummed his fingers nervously on the table.

Cub Pack No. 3 Is Winner In Contest

Lubbock cub pack No. 3 shaded No. 1 in a closely contested swimming meet, 49 to 42 points, at the city swimming pool in Mackenzie park here Tuesday night.

In the 11-year class Mickie Sweeney of pack 3 took first honors with a total of 17¾ points. Other high point cubs in the 11-year class were Leon Hamilton, pack 3, 9¾ points; Cloy Freeman, pack 3, 5 points; and Berl Gene Moore, pack 3, 5 points.

Winners in the 10-year class were John McLarty, pack 1, 17 points; Fred McDonald, pack 1, 15 points; Dickie Harden, pack 3, 4¾ points; and Charles Guy, jr., pack 1, 5 points.

Pack 3 took first place in the 80-yard relay with a team composed of Sweeney, Harden, Hamilton, and Joe David Sides. The team representing pack 1, composed of McDonald, McLarty, Don Holt and Earl Jones, was second.

Placings Are Given

Winners in the events for 10-year old cubs were:

Twenty-yard free style, McLarty, first; McDonald, second, and Harden, third.

Distance plunge, McDonald, first; and McLarty and Guy tied for second.

Diving, McLarty, first; McDonald, second; and Guy, third.

Winners in the 11-year class of events:

Twenty-yard free style, Sweeney, first; Hamilton, second; and Holt, third.

Distance plunge, Freeman, first; Hamilton, second; Sweeney, third.

Diving, Sweeney, first; Moore, second; and Harden, third.

Judges were Ernest Self, Prul C. Hardwick, and Robert Newell. O. J. Sexton was official starter and referee. Dr. C. C. Schmidt, cubbing commissioner, was in charge of the contests.

At a picnic for cubs and parents after the swimming meet, ribbons were presented to first, second, and third place winners. Advancement awards also were presented.

Receiving wolf rank were Bobby Stephens, Sedley Levy, James Donald Pruitt, James Ray, Paul Hardwick, jr., Sammy Self, and Jimmy Kennedy. Gold arrow awards went to Bobby Booker, C. A. Snow, Kenneth Cawthon, and Sweeney.

Reaching bear rank were Charles D. Crow with Dickie Harden getting gold arrow rank for that division and Billy Jack Hunt silver arrow.

In the lion advancement rank were Louis Hunt with James Doyle and Moore getting gold arrow ranking and Hamilton getting silver arrow standing.

For the first time in cub history, pack 1 won attendance honors from pack 3. Pack 3 remained at the top in achievement honors, never having been unseated from that place.

WALTER SLEZAK

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Walter Selzak's reducing problems are in the bag.

Walter is the comedy star of "I Married An Angel," the Broadway musical. That actor's nemesis, avoirdupois, has been after Walter for years, but it doesn't worry him as it used to—not since he got this portable Turkish bath. The laundry-bag looking device has an electric steamer over which the reducer parks.

"Those softies who have to have their cooling systems, electric fans and iced drinks may think this is a queer way to spend a hot summer," says Slezak, "but it has to be done when you're rehearsing for a real-life characterization of the Thin Man."

OPPOSES IMPORTATION

AUSTIN, Aug. 31 (AP) — Opposition to importation of expropriated Mexican oil was expressed today by Jerry Sadler, Democratic nominee for railroad commissioner.

In a prepared statement, Sadler said flooding of the Texas market with "cut-price Mexican oil at this time would be ruinous to the Texas oil industry."

Harrowing Tale Of Experiences Of Eight Texans Who Spent Two Days And Nights In Hurricane Is Told At Brownsville

BY OLEN W. CLEMENTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

BROWNSVILLE, Aug. 31 — Eight bewhiskered sportsmen, who spent two days and nights on a windblown sand bar off the Mexican coast, arrived in Brownsville last night, weary and shaken by their harrowing experiences.

The eight, Walter Mathews, O. N. Roberts, jr., Rayford McNabb, and Griffin Heath of Corpus Christi; Ray Phipps, Herman Richards, and Vice Stewart of Brownsville, and Roy Kingery of Gainesville, Tex., waded 11 miles across the shallow water to the mainland, where they caught a Mexican fish truck to Brownsville.

Two Others Remain

Vincent Stevenson of Brownsville had gone in search of the men, sighted by a lane Monday on Fourth pass, 80 miles south of here. Two others stayed at another pass, where eight Mexican fishermen were still marooned.

The men said they received a radio warning of the hurricane at 7 a. m. Saturday and drove their cars from Eighth pass, 110 miles from here, up the numerous sand dunes, 26 miles, where they found a dune they considered safe from the tides and wind.

Late Saturday afternoon the wind began to howl, they said, and eight Mexican fishermen joined them. The 16 men divided, eight of them seeking safety in the automobiles and eight lying face downward in the sand, which was whipped about them by the wind.

Wind Blew 80 Miles An Hour

"The wind blew about 80 miles an hour for two days and nights," Roberts said. "The tide kept getting higher and higher. We expected a tidal wave to wash us away any time."

"Late Sunday, when things looked the worst," Roberts said, "we decided it was all up for all of us. We got the whole bunch together and we knelt and prayed in the sand. Then we waited for death."

After the wind died down the men rebuilt a hut which had been blown down by the hurricane. They had only a scant amount of food and a water jug they had brought along was found to contain gasoline instead of water. They drank water out of puddles on the bar.

All of the men suffered from thirst and hunger during the two days on the island, they said.

When high tides began to recede they finally returned to the site of their original camp on Eighth pass, but their supplies had been washed away by tides which swept the island clean. Wearily the men returned northward, noting, Roberts said, that several of the sand dunes on which they had planned to stop had been swept clean by the high water.

At Fourth pass their northward progress was halted by tides. There they encamped and hoped a plane would be sent to drop them food and water.

A plane chartered by friends of the men sighted them Monday afternoon on the island and dropped them notes instructing them to wade to the mainland, where a fishing truck would pick them up.

The men set out on their long trek and arrived on the mainland about noon Tuesday. They arrived here about 8:30 p. m., and went immediately to the hotel and their homes to sleep.

Fine Of $30 Assessed Against Negro For Theft Of $4.25 Here

Fine of $30 was imposed by City Recorder B. P. Millsap Tuesday afternoon upon a 24-year-old negro who pleaded guilty to a charge of theft.

The negro was charged with theft of $4.25 from Mrs. J. F. Hankins at 2309 Broadway. It was brought out in evidence the negro was in the residence waxing floors.

When Mrs. Hankins found her purse to assist her husband in making change, she found the money was gone. The negro made efforts to escape and threw his billfold away. It was found with the missing money in it.

Bill Mabray, police identifications officer, said the negro had been similarly charged before and had been apprehended and investigated by police several times.

Every Former Ache And Pain Gone

Nervous Indigestion, Bloating, Gas, Difficult Breathing Yield Easily To Action Of The Gly-Cas; Feeling Fine

"It is wonderful what Gly-Cas did for me," said Mrs. Frank Pearson, 100 Indiana St., Pine Bluff, Arkansas. "Nine years of constipation had so clogged my system with poisons that I was miserable. For twenty years I had endured terrible headaches, at times I would become hysterical. Then too, I could hardly eat anything without suffering with awful nervous indigestion. The collection of poisons that had settled in my body caused me awful sharp stabbing pains, crippling me until I could hardly do any work at all. Medicine after medicine failed to help me but when I began Gly-Cas it seemed almost like a miracle.

"It was actually amazing the way Gly-Cas took hold of my awful case," continued Mrs. Pearson. "My bowels were soon regulated, the poisons eliminated from my system and now those horrible headaches have gone entirely. My stomach is in good condition and I eat anything I want without distress afterwards. Those awful stabbing pains have gone and I am able to do my work with ease. I can truthfully say that Gly-Cas has freed me of every ache and pain. I am now enjoying life as I had not been able to do in years."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, and by all leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

Three Projects Are Approved

Three Works Progress administration projects have been approved for Lubbock and this section, according to announcement to officials here from Harold J. Stafford, administrative assistant at San Antonio.

Approval of the fairgrounds improvement project here was given. Roads, walks and fences at fair park required a grant of $6,646 federal funds to be used with $2,785 provided by the county. Eighty-five workmen were approved.

Construction of caliche-base, drainage structures and bridges on 10.5 miles on highway 380 from Post west to Lynn county line was approved for a $51,432 grant. Garza county will share $39,728 of the total cost. Work provides for 105 men.

A city sewer project in Spur for reconstruction and lowering 5,780 feet of lines will require 85 workers and a grant of $5,522 federal and $2,538 city funds.

First Division Teams In Texas Loop Scrap Among Themselves

(By The Associated Press)

First division teams in the Texas league were scrapping among themselves today as the season tapered off.

Tulsa and Beaumont divided a twin bill yesterday, the Oilers taking the opener 6-5 and the Exporters the nightcap, called in the sixth because of darkness, 4-3.

The San Antonio Missions won their fifth straight as they downed the Oklahoma City Indians 4-2.

In the second division Fort Worth's Jim Garvin, a righthander, limited the Houston Buffs to three hits as the Cats won a 5-0 shutout, and Shreveport went beserk against Dallas pitching to smother the Steers 18-2.
