Lumumba Faces New Challenge In Kasai

THE BEGINNING AND THE END—The beginning of the 1960-61 school year, marked by elementary school registration Monday afternoon was the final sign to the end of summer vacation. However, most faces and voices at this session at Stonfield Elementary showed more happiness than regret. All Snyder students will begin a full day of school Thursday.

Fidel Affirms Soviet Ties

HAVANA (AP)—Flaunting Cuba's "solidarity" with the Soviet Union, Fidel Castro early today called for a giant rally of the Cuban people Friday afternoon to answer the Declaration of San Jose.

The bearded prime minister reaffirmed his regime's ties with the Soviet Union as he lashed out at the Organization of American States and the United States during a three hour and 15 minute harangue.

Castro boasted to a meeting of teachers bound for new schools in the mountains of east Cuba that "we have had the honor and glory of being the one to initiate the rebellion of America against the Yankee empire."

He charged the United States used its proposed $500-million-dollar aid program for Latin America and its allocation of the 700,000 tons of sugar cut from Cuba's quota sold to the United States to buy the San Jose Declaration.

In the declaration 19 member nations of the OAS joined Monday in denouncing Soviet and Communist Chinese intervention in the Western Hemisphere and reminded OAS members—meaning Cuba particularly—of their obligation to submit to the "discipline of the inter-American system."

Castro termed the action of the OAS foreign ministers at their Costa Rica meeting "treason to the peoples of Latin America."

Those who subscribed to the Declaration of Costa Rica (sic) will be known as the Judas Iscariots of the Americas," Castro declared. He denounced the San Jose meeting as "one of the blackest and most repugnant pages in history has written."

He scoffed at the "alleged intervention" of the Soviet Union in the hemisphere. "When the Pentagon was finishing up plans of aggression against Cuba," Castro continued, "the Soviet Union offered us the support of atomic rockets. That, he asserted, was not intervention but a 'generous offer of aid to little people if they were invaded militarily.'"

He predicted the San Jose decision would create "situations of crisis for the Latin American signatories and voted the 'betrayal' of Monday in Caracas, Venezuela, whose foreign minister

Area Teased By Showers Monday

Showers teased the Snyder area Monday afternoon, but most of the rainfall was dumped on Mitchell and Nolan County areas to the south.

The official gauge at Snyder logged 41 of an inch, and brief showers appeared to be slightly heavier in the north and east parts of town, while only a sprinkle fell in the rest of the town.

Monday morning, a few drops of rain fell, but the rest of the day was mostly clear and sunny. The forecast for Tuesday is for a clear day with a high of 85 and a low of 65.

School Bus Policies Are Outlined Here

Snyder School policies concerning transportation of junior high and senior high pupils were outlined today by school officials.

The original policies of the schools provided that transportation would be furnished from elementary schools to the junior and senior high where distances were such that such transportation was deemed necessary.

In the future, no transportation is planned from the Stanfield Elementary to Lamar Junior High, except for pupils who ride buses into town from rural areas.

Transportation for junior and senior high pupils will be available from North Elementary to Lamar and the high school. A bus stop will be at Sixteenth Street and Avenue T en route from North Elementary to Lamar.

Bus stops at El Paso Avenue and Lanes Highway, Thirty-seventh Street and East Highway, and at Thirtieth Street and Avenue R will no longer be made. Avenue R and Thirtieth Street is in the Northeast Elementary zone and no transportation for elementary pupils from one zone to another will be made. Pupils in this general area may catch a bus at Thirtieth Street just east of the underpass and go to Northeast Elementary. Only junior and senior high pupils will be transported to the junior high schools and the senior high school.

Since no bridges are available across the creases in that area, buses will pick up pupils at Avenue Z and Twenty-fourth Street, and also children north of Thirtieth Street and east of the Santa Fe Railroad. As soon as adequate walkways are provided, these stops will be discontinued.

The Supreme Court interrupted its traditional summer recess to hold a special session at which 1,000 of the visiting lawyers were formally admitted to practice before the highest court.

Chief Justice Earl Warren said the Supreme Court was "not a lawless place."

Attendant at a service station fired upon by the Negroes, escaped. A bullet hit a pistol in his pocket and then punctured a can of oil in the pocket.

Fire bombs—known as Molotov cocktails—were thrown at a Negro store, causing damage estimated at $1,000. Several failed to explode or burned harmlessly outside the establishment.

The new outbreaks in the city came despite emergency police forces mobilized by Mayor Bessie Harris. He blamed the outbreaks on more than 100 persons.

The outbreaks came as New Orleans looked toward U.S. District Judge J. Skelly Wright for a decision on a plea for delay in his order to integrate the city's first grades and as Delaware school authorities were under court order to begin integration of their schools.

Assassination Suspect Held

By SPIRO ELISSA
AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Investigators said today they believed two missing press messengers who apparently escaped to Syria plighted the bombs that killed Premier Hazza Majali. One suspect is being held.

One of the missing messengers, Kamal Shammout, 22, was employed by Egypt's Middle East News Agency before its office here was closed in 1957 in the long feud between Jordan and President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria.

Young King Hussein, apparently in firm control of the nation despite the assassination Monday of Majali and 10 other persons, named Bahjat el Talhouini, chief of the Cabinet, as the head of a new government. He approved Talhouini's new 11-man government, including seven holdovers from the Majali Cabinet.

A special committee appointed to investigate the bombings, which wounded 41 other persons, held a messenger boy at the press bureau for questioning.

The bureau occupies part of the building housing the Majali's office. The bombs were planted in Majali's office and in the office of the director of the press bureau.

Shammout and his colleague, Shaker Dabbas, were employed at the press bureau. They disappeared a few hours before the bombs went off.

Amman returned to an outwardly normal appearance. The curfew was lifted. Airports were reopened, and business resumed as usual.

Majali was regarded in Cairo as a leader of Arab forces opposed to Nasser. However, shortly before his death he approved the recommendation from the meeting of Arab foreign ministers in Lebanon that Arab nations halt propaganda attacks against each other. The bitterest inter-Arab exchanges have been between Jordan and the U.A.R.

Even observers in Cairo said Hussein was firmly in control of his desert country. Jordan was placed in a virtual state of emergency. A curfew was decreed for the Amman area, and armored cars with troops in battle dress patrolled the capital's streets.

Gen. Habes Majali, the slain premier's cousin and commander of Jordan's army, ordered a search for the assassins.

The view in Cairo was that El Talhouini's appointment indicated Hussein intended to stick to his staunchly anti-Communist, pro-Western stand and that prospects were dim for any reconciliation with President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

U. N. Taking Over Base

By ADRIAN PORTER
ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba faced a new challenge today in Kasai province, where his soldiers were reported battling tribal warriors backing the secessionist movement there.

U.N. forces meanwhile planned to take over control today of Belgium's big Kamina military base in Katanga province. The last of the Belgian combat troops were pulling out for home or the neighboring trusteeship territory of Ruanda-Urundi, but several hundred Belgian army maintenance men were to remain until Belgian equipment is removed.

Under an agreement between the U.N. force and the Belgian government, only U.N. troops will be allowed to use Kamina's 600-million-dollar worth of facilities, including one of the biggest runways in Africa. The idea is to keep Lumumba's troops from using the base as an invasion point.

Lumumba's invasion of Kasai previously had been virtually bloodless, with no serious fighting reported.

With the Congolese troops in Kasai reportedly planning to invade Katanga in an effort to crush Tshombe's resistance to Lumumba's central government, the Katanga army commander in the small rail and farming town of Elisabethville, near Kasai's border, said every road and rail line leading into Katanga along the 80-mile frontier has been mined or blocked.

Oil drums also block the airstrips at Katanga and other fields along the frontier.

The commander at Katanga, which is about 500 miles from Elisabethville, the Katanga capital, said Congo army patrols were reported moving along the Lubumbashi River, which forms part of the frontier.

Oilmen Hear Demo Pitch

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Chronicle said today that Sen. George Smathers of Florida made a big pitch to ally fears that Democratic administration will slash the oil depletion allowance.

Houston oilmen intimated he failed to make a dent.

"He was sent here by the party to make us believe the Democrats don't intend to carry out their promise," said the source, who declined to be quoted.

Smathers and Rep. Frank B. Rowland of Texas delivered the Democratic pitch Monday at an invitation-only luncheon at the Houston Club.

The Houston Chronicle source who attended the session said Smathers and Rowland attempted to:

1. Justify Sen. Lyndon Johnson's acceptance of the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

2. Convince Houston oilmen that a Democratic administration will not reduce the 27 1/2 per cent tax oil depletion allowance.

"He tried to say that the Democrats have controlled Congress for years and have always stopped any move to cut oil," the informant said.

"I don't think he made much of an impression on those of us who attended. He was a nice fellow personally, but his arguments weren't accepted too well."

"He didn't make us feel at all secure that the Democrats don't fully intend to include oil in any tax legislation they will write if their administration goes in."

Victrola got 2.46 inches of rain in six hours. The Kennedy area, in South Central Texas, got 1.5 inches and Lufkin got .35 in an afternoon rain.

Early Tuesday skies were clear over the western part of Texas and partly cloudy in the east portion.

Other cities getting rains Monday included Childress, 79; Beaumont, 73; Palestine, 31; Breville, 31; Kingsville, 29; Houston, 22; Austin, 14; Laredo, 13; Longview, 10; College Station, 9; and Alpine, 8.

Questions On Laundry Aids Are Answered

How much detergent should be used? When should bleach be added? What about fabric conditioners?
These are only a few of the questions on laundry aids that homemakers ask, reports the American Home Laundry Manufacturers' Association.
For homemakers have learned that bleach, for example, if added at the wrong time may reduce the efficiency of detergents. Or, they've learned from sad experience that unless bleach is properly diluted, some items may come up with spots or even holes.
So it should be a great relief to these homemakers to know that manufacturers of home laundry appliances have heard the questions and are answering them with automatic built-in dispensers.
In addition to easing the homemaker's mind on the matter of possible laundry aid bobbles, the dispensers make it unnecessary for her to stand around, waiting and watching for the washer to reach a certain stage in the cycle so that the right aid can be added at the right time. In other words, the 1960 washer is truly automatic.

Controversial Woman Doctor Experiments On Rejuvenation

By JOY MILLER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—An auburn-haired woman doctor from Romania is getting accustomed to being a controversial figure in international medical circles.
Ever since word of Dr. Anna Aslan's age-resisting experiments with an H3 procaine formula began to filter through the Iron Curtain a few years back, she has been the center of heated dispute.
Doctors in this country and abroad have said there was no real evidence of her work's effectiveness. But she has been injecting for 11 years, and any good at all as a rejuvenating drug.
Dr. Aslan says "It's very good. I'm controversial because I would not have learned so much about the subject if I had not had to do it with so many people. And as Confucius said 'Nobody throws a stone at an apple tree without any apples.'"
"Besides, it makes me very happy to have done something others said was impossible."
With the aid of a good student, Dr. Aslan produces snapshots of patients at the Institute of Geriatrics in Bucharest, of which she is director.
There's a hearty-looking fellow, 44 years old, who she says was crippled with arthritis when he started on H3. He is doing a headstand on a table in one picture; in another he's posing with his bride, 78.
Dr. Aslan is 63 and has been experimenting on herself with procaine for a decade. She looks an attractive, active 45.
"That's the only thing everyone is in accord on," she says, "that I look younger than my age."
She is on her way back to Romania from San Francisco where she presented a paper on H3 at the fifth congress of the International Association of Gerontology.
This is her first trip to America. She finds it "very interesting," but she shakes her head because "everything is so easy." And there are too many automobiles.
"I don't think it's good physiologically for people to lose their feet," she says. "It's bad for the arterial circulation not to walk more."

Her mother was a widow, and the young "Anna" put herself through medical school on scholarships and outside work. She became the first woman to practice internal medicine in Romania.
Forty-five doctors work under her at the institute, but she doesn't know if there's any antagonism because of her sex.
"I've never been interested in the competition between men and women," she says. "But I am absolutely sure that in medicine women have as much talent as men. Medicine should be a woman's profession, as well as a man's job to take care of the sick."

Sea-Water Conversion Plant Started

By CHARLES GREEN
FREETPORT, Tex. (AP)—Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton termed the Freeport Saline Water Conversion Plant a major milestone in man's efforts to replenish the world's fast disappearing fresh water supply.

Seaton spoke at ground-breaking ceremonies today for the nation's first experimental sea-water conversion plant. It will be built on a five-acre tract here.

Citing the progress made in recent years in the conversion of saline and brackish water, Seaton said:

"We have sound reasons for confidence that this Freeport plant will do much better than that." Seaton said. "With it, we hope to slash deeply into the cost—a slash which will allow us to produce a thousand gallons of fresh water for $1 or even less."

He said he believes the processes now being developed would eventually lower the cost to 50 cents per thousand gallons.

The need for new water supplies, he said, has been emphasized by the fact that 35 states actively sought the five salt and brackish water plants which the federal government will build.

Seaton said there is "the sober realization that in the years ahead there will be more to getting fresh, cool water than merely turning on a faucet, or building dams and reservoirs or sinking wells."

Construction of new reservoirs and water conservation programs are important to utilize the available fresh water, he said, but added that because of the growing demands for more water, new sources will have to be found eventually.

"Community after community, for one reason or another, will be forced to turn to a new source of water supply—the great seas and oceans themselves," he said.

Military No Qualification, Sam Asserts

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn told a Democratic dinner Monday night that "40 years of military service did not qualify Eisenhower to be president of the United States."

The House speaker said "The American people deserve a president who will work with the Democratic Congress."

The Texas representative said the administration has spent too much money and still not made enough friends in the world. He spoke at a testimonial dinner for Rep. John J. Johnson (D-Md.), seeking reelection.

"This world wants the U.S.A. for its leader. I fear we do not have that kind of leadership in the country today. We need a change in our domestic and foreign affairs," Rayburn said.

"In my opinion—and I served during the terms of seven presidents—this administration has failed to live up to the expectations of the American people. The President knows little about the legislative process, otherwise he would not have called the special session of Congress."

"Since 1954, the Democratic Congress passed five farm programs. Eisenhower vetoed each one of them. Why does Eisenhower veto bills before Congress in the closing days to pass bills previously passed but vetoed by him?"

Shark Victim Loses Leg

NEPTUNE, N.J. (AP)—Shark victim John Brodeur, 24, has had his right leg amputated at the knee.

He is in fair condition at Fitch Memorial Hospital after the operation Monday which Dr. Charles S. Smith, Asbury Park, said was necessary to remove Brodeur's leg.

Brodeur's leg was 18 inches long. He was injured when he was struck by a shark in the Atlantic Ocean surf in Sea Girt Aug. 21.

The Freeport plant will convert sea water to fresh at the rate of one million gallons daily.

The city of Freeport will buy the fresh water while the Dow Chemical Co. will utilize the processed, ocean water to produce research for possible by-products.

The plant, due to be completed in early 1961, is one of the five plants to be constructed. One, to convert brackish water, will be located at Roswell, N.M.

Barbara Is Disappointed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Barbara Powers was back in Washington today, still saying she was not satisfied with what the U.S. government has done so far in behalf of her convicted U-2 pilot husband, Francis Gary Powers.

Mrs. Powers declined to answer newsmen's questions on her arrival Monday night.

She was sobbing Monday in New York City when she started down the ramp of the plane on which she had flown from Paris.

Two guards gripped her arms after she stepped out of the plane, but she was not hurt.

After she had gone less than 100 feet she suddenly put her hand to her forehead and collapsed to the pavement before police could catch her.

Powers carried her inside the airport's health building, where she quickly recovered. She walked to the press room to talk with newsmen 15 minutes later.

"I've done all I can do. I think our government should be able to do something. I'm glad to be home. I really don't know what else to say," she told newsmen.

Orioles Keep Close; Blank Chisox, 4-0

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE, Aug. 30.—The Baltimore Orioles managed to stay fairly close during the first half of the season, then watch out as during the second half.

Baltimore manager Paul Richards' prophetic spring statement was recalled following the Orioles' 4-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox Monday night which boosted them to within 1½ games of the wild first-place New York Yankees.

Richards must have been looking at a crystal ball. His baby birds made mistakes—lots of 'em—during those first few months of the regular season but spectacular pitching kept them close to the pace.

During the second half of the campaign, Baltimore has been the hottest club in the American League. Paced by such bright stars as Brooks Robinson, Ron Hansen, Jim Gentile, Marv Breeding, Jackie Brandt, and such seasoned campaigners as Gene Woodling and Gus Triandos, the Orioles blended a strong attack with stout pitching.

The result? Since the All-Star break, Baltimore has won 29 while losing 15. During the same period, the Yankees have won 28 and lost 19 and the White Sox have won 27 and lost 19.

Monday night's victory was Baltimore's second straight over the third-place White Sox who dropped 3½ games behind first, two behind the Orioles.

Cleveland, defeated, Washington 4-1 to move within two games of the fourth-place Senators. Boston's Red Sox whipped Kansas City 4-1. The Yankees, after playing three doubleheaders in three days, enjoyed a welcome day off. Detroit also was idle.

Pittsburgh retained its 3½ game lead in the National League, whipping Los Angeles 10-2. St. Louis burst into second place with a 3-0 triumph over Milwaukee and Philadelphia blanked San Francisco 2-0. Cincinnati and Chicago were idle.

Jack Fisher, one of Richards' five fledgling starters, hurled the shutout for the Orioles. He permitted only four hits and fanned eight for his 10th victory and first shutout.

Brandt, Woodling and Robinson, the first three batters, got all eight hits off lower Herb Score and two successors.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant maintained his mastery of the Senators, as Cleveland made it two in a row.

Pass Defense Focal Point Of Tiger Workout

Snyder's Tigers took part in only one workout yesterday due to the initial teachers meeting which was held here yesterday morning.

The workout began at 4 o'clock and featured generally light work which was capped off by a half mile scrimmage after two hours' work. Pass defense was a sore spot in the team's early scrimmage sessions against Monahan and Phillips, fell in for a large part of the attention while the linemen hit the slugs in other drills of the day. Kicking and agility drills were also a part of the day's work.

Another temporary casualty cropped up, as veteran lineman Reg Scarborough was sidelined with a case of blood poisoning in the arm. Also unable to take part in the workout due to a death in the family was end Charlie Gladson.

Prior to the "B" team workout of the same time, pictures were taken of that team for both school and press. They will launch their season in Sweetwater September 10, while the varsity will open at home against Buena Vista Friday.

Avenue D, Trinity Post Important Softball Wins

Trinity's softball team, which has been one of the top teams in the area, won its first game last night in a 1-0 victory over the Trinity Post team.

The field has narrowed down to Avenue D Baptist and Trinity Methodist, as each has lost only one game in second half play. Avenue D completed its regular schedule last night to clinch at least a tie for the top spot, while Trinity must wait and beat First Presbyterian later in the week in a "play-in" contest on Sunday.

On Tuesday night, Trinity will play at home against the Trinity Post team.

over Washington. It was the fifth time in six decisions that Grant has beaten the Senators this season. His career total is a remarkable 16 victories against only one defeat.

Cleveland rapped 16 hits off lower Camilo Pascual and two relievers with catcher Johnny Romano getting three.

Steers Solid SWC Favorite

PORT WORTH—University of Texas is the choice to return to the Southwest Conference football throne room in 1960 with TCU second. Baylor third; Arkansas fourth; SMU fifth; Rice sixth; Texas Tech seventh and Texas A&M eighth.

Such is the consensus of 114 of the sector's newspaper, radio-TV person in a survey conducted by the TCU Sports News Service.

The Longhorns, tri-champions in 1959 along with TCU and Arkansas was the choice of 50 for the top spot, with only 24 picking them below a third-place finish. With points based on one for first, two for second, etc., Coach Darrell Royal's crew had the low total of 187 points.

The Frogs, Bears and Razorbacks were given the best chance of possibly overtaking the Austin eleven for all the marbles. TCU wound up with 24 first place votes and 55 more saw the Purple at least in third spot for a total of 303 points. Baylor was the choice of 15 for a long-awaited Cotton Bowl berth and had 340½ points. Arkansas was a solid fourth spot-pick with 13 liking the Hogs for the title, for a grand total of 278 points.

SMU, the writers' pick in 1959 who had to settle for the No. 4 spot in the final standings, topped the "second" division with 602 points. Rice ranked next, followed by Texas Tech and Texas A&M.

Incidentally, the Red Raiders will be playing for the SWC title for the first time this fall, but only five newsmen could see the Lubbock delegation finish higher than fifth in their first year of Conference action.

Texas becomes the champion choice for the first time since 1954, when the Longhorns were picked for a third-spot finish, but figured in the SWC's first three-way tie, finishing at the top along with TCU and Arkansas.

The Longhorns have been most popular pick of the "experts." They have been the choice for the title on eight other occasions... 1941, 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, 1948, 1950 and 1954. The Austin team made the predictors look good in 1942, 1945 and 1950. But it finished second in 1941, 1944 and 1948. In 1946 it was third and in 1954, fell to 5th.

The so-called "experts" failed again in 1959, as SMU was a solid choice to wrestle the crown from TCU. Actually the shot has been called correct only FIVE times in the 26 polls—TCU, 1938; Texas, 1942-45-50, and TCU in 1958. Rice was the pick in 1953 and tied the Longhorns for top money while SMU also helped the voters look good in 1940, tying the Texas A&M Aggies for first-place.

State are the halfbacks, and at quarterback is Cotton Davidson, the ex-Baylor star who came out of the coaching ranks to resume his pro football. He has played at Baltimore and in Canada.

Abner Haynes, the versatile North Texas State product, and Curley Johnson, who played with the Colts and Giants in the National Football League, are back of Swink and Robinson. Bo Dickinson of Mississippi Southern spells Spikes.

Huston Patton of Mississippi, Hunter Enis of TCU and Frank Curi of Miami are all understudies to Davidson at quarterback.

Chris Burford of Stanford and Max Boydston, former Oklahoma and Chicago Cardinals star, give Davidson good aerial targets. So does Haynes.

BC Will Continue; May Absorb Trinity

CANYON, Tex. (AP)—The Border Conference will continue despite the indicated withdrawal of Arizona and Arizona State. Athletic Director Frank Kimbrough of West Texas State said today.

That would leave West Texas, Texas Western, Hardin-Simmons and New Mexico State in the Border Conference. Kimbrough said several schools are ready to enter the league. One is Trinity of San Antonio.

Trinity comes through to win its remaining game. It will go into a one game sudden death playoff against the Avenue D delegation for the right to go up against first half champion Colorado Baptist in the best of three pennant playoff for the league trophy.

Trinity had been hurt by Avenue D in its victory, as he took the mound to end down First Methodist in a Cardinal no-hit effort. His second success performance in second half play.

Trinity's first game was a 1-0 victory over the Trinity Post team.

The field has narrowed down to Avenue D Baptist and Trinity Methodist, as each has lost only one game in second half play. Avenue D completed its regular schedule last night to clinch at least a tie for the top spot, while Trinity must wait and beat First Presbyterian later in the week in a "play-in" contest on Sunday.

On Tuesday night, Trinity will play at home against the Trinity Post team.

Between You And Me

By Jerry Jackson

Daily double rhymes with "trouble." Could there be a sor-did significance in that meaning-less play on words?

You betcha. And the incident I'm about to reveal has less to do with sour grapes than with the grapes of wrath.

Let's re-enact the crime. The time is approximately 2 p.m. mountain standard and the date is August 27, a Saturday. The place? Ruidoso Downs, New Mexico, where each summer weekend features horse racing in the cool, cool pines. That's the way the billboards put it.

Had placed two American dollars on the daily double, which is a pari-mutuel gimmick allowing one to come into fabulous amounts of money in return for just picking the winning horses in the first two races of the day. Nothing to it.

My first pick was Firm Be, a filly who ran as if she truly must own the track. A wise choice. Forsooth, she left the remainder of the field trailing and breezed home in front, hardly working up a later in the process.

The next race included eight horses, number eight on the list being a thoroughbred by the name of Night Warrior. He happened to be my pick in the second and deciding round around the oval.

He looked good, too. Awfully good. Started out in a bunched-up field, made the first turn with out much trouble, then took the rail and the lead in the back stretch. Pounding into the final turn he was a good three lengths in front of the stragglers and gave the appearance of a world-beater.

Then "it" happened. "It" happened! "It" had to happen! The racial tripped on a shoelace—or a horseshoe nail—or some other indeterminate object, staggered and fell off to the side of the track, totally unable to finish the race. Had he come home the payoff would've been 112 claims, 90 cents a pop. But like it was.

'Tis Really Better This Way, After All

I RALLIED my broken faculties together, though, and soon became almost philosophic about the whole thing. I said to myself, "Self, you didn't want to go and win all that money and take a chance on landing in a higher income bracket. And that's probably exactly what would've happened."

And then Mr. Conscience tiptoed in, wearing white moccasins, and started me with the revelation that "Besides, betting is sinful, you sinner you."

A terrifying and disturbing thought it was. Why is it, pray tell, that Sin is so tantalizing and appealing when it should be grotesque and distorted? There oughta be a law.

I made the trip over to Pine Tree Territory with still another sinner, Lowell Bearden, sinners have to stick together nowadays. A big guy—built a lot like a grizzly bear—and what is probably more important is the fact that he can read a racing form as easy as you and I would Mother Goose.

It Takes A Mighty Big Snake . . .

homemade fangs, and a cigarette hanging out of his manufactured mouth. The latter item, complete with filter, had no doubt been placed there by a past patron of the place, a monument to American Humor and Happy-Go-Luckiness.

A lush slithered off a bar stool and made his way deliberately to ward us, pondering carefully each step. Obviously it was advanced stages of intoxication, it was hard to tell whether he was still "bungering" from Friday night or just beginning to lapse into Saturday.

He sensed that we were there for snake-watching purposes only, and was quick to offer some back-ground and enlightenment on the subject.

"Ain't no rattler," he began with a surgle, "even though he motioning to the proprietor of the establishment" would have you believe it.

Mr. Proprietor said nothing, just continued to dry an already glistening jigger. He stared back at Patton, however, with curled lip.

"Know what it really is?" the drunk continued. And his eyes narrowed to mere slits as we encouraged him by shaking our heads in wonderment.

With an unbelieving gaze we watched him utter back to his stool as if guided by radar. As he let was in the process of ordering another one. A fugitive from Never-Never Land he was. But he possessed an improvised head of neatly molded tin and his tip-end was also full-covered, mashed carefully so as to give the illusion that it covered a large number of baseballs, or something of that nature. He had red crepe paper eyes, featureless but noticeably functioning, waving back and forth with gentle regularity. Or a puppet, he quipped with a hiccup, sinking a prolonged and knowing snarl as his unswinking eyeball began to orbit.

Odstreil Paces McAlister Effort

McAlister Van Lines, paced by the superb performance of Stan Odstreil, bounced into the throne room of the Men's Summer League the past week at Snyder Lane.

Odstreil was recipient of both the high individual line of the night—a rousing 44, and the high line of 539. Two of his teammates on the talent-laden Van delegation saw to it that it wasn't strictly a one man show, however, as Jim Odstreil and Frank Butler followed him up in the series scramble with 551 and 544, respectively.

Due mainly to their efforts, McAlister easily walked off with the top team series of 2099, including games of 1000 and 575, which were also the two high ones of the evening. Dyer Barber Shop was third in the chase for the high team game with 944. While 1249999 Construction 2396, and American Founders Life Insurance, 2344 were second and third in team series.

James Luedcke placed second to Odstreil with 319 line, and Jim Tatum, City of Snyder, was good for the third slot with his 204.

Picking up 4pits were B. Darby Jr. 27, Charles Morris 3-0, Paul Spittle 5-4, L. W. Monroey 5-7, Jim Bowen 3-10 (twice), and B. D. Bruyer 3-10.

Heading into the home stretch are the Couples League bowlers. And a two-fisted, two-team race was shaped up between Mison Tire and Supply and surging Rainbow Market, both of whom remain deadlocked for the top spot for the second week running.

As has become a fairly common occurrence, those two outfits swept the majority of the team honors of the past week. Mison copping the top series 1903 and second and third high games of 581-637, and Rainbow streaking in to grab off the top game of 687 and third high series, a 1773.

Sandwiching in to the second slot series-wise was Team 9's Don Sealy, who rolled 333, including the third high line of 202. Next behind him in series was Frank Butler of Mison's, a 523 reepest.

Betty Tatum set the lanes on fire for the women, the Rainbow-rolling Mrs. copping the two high games of 778-175 and the best series of the night, a 506.

Margaret King (Robinson Plumbing) took "show place" honors in the high line race with 171. Mison's Joan Richardson took second in individual women's series with 468, while Lucille Wilson of Jim's Welding fell into line behind her with 433.

Leroy Wooley (Mitch's) turned in a 143 triplicate, also, to spark the play of the night.

Turning in split pickups were the following group of keggers: Snyder Glass and Mirror-Riley Dunlap 2-7; Mison 4-Martin Coffee 3-6 and Joan Richardson 2-7; Team 9—George McCune 2-7; Team 8—Roy Brown 3-10; Rainbow—Gene Rogers 3-10; Mitch's—Hugh Nade 4-7-4.

This doesn't make sense to me, unless I am to believe that sharks have the ability to reason, blow their stack, and blindly attack the first thing handy. And Mr. Coates goes on, as all ichthyologists do, to quote figure of the American Institute of Biological Sciences to prove that there were only 12 "authenticated unprovoked" shark bites in United States and Mexican waters in 1959. Five of the 12 victims were fatally injured.

Margaret's Tony May Be Best Shot

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP)—Word is going round the Scottish highlands that a man to be reckoned with is stalking the moor-two-gun Tony Armstrong-Jones. Royal estate workers say Tony is even outworking Prince Philip, who long has thought himself the best shot in the royal family. This is quite an achievement for ex-photographer Tony. Until he married Princess Margaret he seldom toted anything more lethal than a long tom lens. But when marriage comes, a chap has to face up to his responsibilities, among them the grouse shooting which is the major event of the royal family's annual vacation in Scotland.

Daily Crude Flow Drops

TULSA (AP)—Daily average domestic oil production declined 9,640 to 6,850,190 barrels during the week ended Aug. 27, the Oil and Gas Journal said today. The Journal noted that August production has been about 37,000 barrels daily more than during last year's comparable period. For the 4-week period ended Aug. 27, it said, the average was about 6,844,000 barrels daily, against an average of about 6,787,000 in 1959. "Production this year has been spread out more evenly during the summer season," the Journal said. "Last year, production was at a higher level earlier in the season, which brought about greater cutbacks later in the season." The Journal estimated 1960 production at 1,678,196,500 barrels compared to 1,695,186,300 a year ago. Oklahoma was down 6,900 barrels to 484,400; Arkansas down 2,300 to 80,000; Colorado up 760 to 131,055; and Louisiana up 50 to 1,068,825. Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,437,825 barrels and New Mexico, 294,975.

Old People Need Activity

AUSTIN (AP)—All old people prefer to remain a part of their local communities whether they are sick or well, Dr. Jesse W. Hoyer of Houston says. Hoyer, associated with the University of Texas Post-Graduate School of Medicine, Monday said Texas physicians seem poorly trained in understanding the old person's need for an active, productive life. "The incidence of unnecessary crippling is unusually high in small and medium size communities," Hoyer said. "An example is the pessimistic display with which most physicians approach the problem of strokes. Early treatment could return these patients to active, productive living in many instances." Hoyer requested his findings in an illustration to be submitted to the Governor's Conference on Aging here Sept. 1 and 2. He said that the old people need more activity and more participating in life.

Senators Quizzed By Crashing Coed

CHICAGO (AP)—A pet University of Chicago coed, who sneaked into both 1960 political conventions and a news conference held to Sen. John F. Kennedy, now is corresponding with 100 United States Senators.

Karen Mansfield, 18, wrote each senator asking his views on medical aid bills, President Eisenhower's foreign policy, the coming legislative session, and the

Her political luck is another thing. "I have a perfect record," Karen said. "I've never worked for a winner."

Her father, Ralph Mansfield, an electrical engineer, is president of the Independent Voters of Illinois and a board member of the American for Democratic Action.

After graduation Karen hopes to become a nurse. She is presently a member of the United States Senate.

The replies have been sent in lengthy letters to envelopes of printed literature.

Sen. Orrin Long (D-Hawaii) wrote Karen the longest letter. He answered all four questions in detail and told Karen he wasn't convinced his party's presidential candidate, Sen. Kennedy, will win in November. The race is "some what of a toss-up," he told her.

Sen. Thomas Kuchel (R-Calif.) wrote that he is strongly behind some form of state-federal old age health benefits.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) told Karen he wasn't bothered that medical care bills have been called socialistic. "During the 23 years I have been in Congress," he wrote, "hardly any progress has been made in any field that someone didn't claim it to be socialistic." Among these he listed Social Security, the federal highway program and unemployment compensation.

Some of the senators were too busy to write personal replies. Karen said. "They just sent printed information in personal envelope." Among these were Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) and John Carroll (D-Calif.).

Karen, a sophomore, wrote the letters independent of her political economy courses. "I'm just interested in politics," she said. Her interest took her, without credentials, to both national political conventions this summer, behind locked doors for a press conference with Sen. Kennedy, onto the speakers platform when Kennedy addressed the Textile Workers' convention and into scores of receptions, meetings and conferences.

"I just sneaked in," she told a reporter. "I'd get there early, watch and wait for the right moment, and then walk right in with assembled reporters."

Mother Held In Death Of Small Child

PEARISBURG, Va. (AP)—Police held a pregnant mother of four in jail today on a charge of killing one of her small children whose stomach was found "loaded with arsenic."

The three other children apparently are recovering from arsenic poisoning.

Mary Elizabeth Adams Giles, 29, is charged with murder and is being held without bond. Police said she denied the charge.

Sheriff John E. Hopkins Jr. of southwest Virginia's Giles County said the stomach of Mrs. Giles' son, Terry, 3, was found "loaded with arsenic" during an autopsy.

Police sealed off the house where Mrs. Giles and the children lived in the Bunker Hill section. Terry died Monday about 15 minutes after Mrs. Giles brought him and another child to the hospital in this mountainous region bordering West Virginia. Neighbors brought in the other two children for examination.

The children hospitalized are Teresa Anne, 5, John Jr., 9, and Sandra Sue, 10.

Mrs. Giles and her husband, a canner worker, have been separated for varying periods during the past 18 months. He lives at Narrows, a few miles away.

Hopkins said blood samples showed all the children had been poisoned with arsenic. He said Mrs. Giles is 5½ months pregnant.

Candidate Is Out Of Army

ST. HELENS, Ore. (AP)—A Democratic nominee for Congress who is getting out of the Army with the aid of the Republican incumbent he will oppose is expected here shortly to start campaigning.

He is Pvt. Marvin Owens, 34, who was ordered discharged Monday by Secretary of the Army Wilber B. Brucker.

Owens, an almost complete political novice, was one of the last to hear about it at Ft. Ord, Calif., said that when he was told he was on a remote sector of the base and they were unable to notify him at once.

They previously had denied Owens requests for a discharge. Owens, who had entered the service in November 1958, took his case to Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore.).

She appealed to Rep. Walter Norblad (R-Ore.), a 15-year congressional veteran whom Owens will try to unseat in the November election.

Norblad and Mrs. Green asked Brucker to move up Owens scheduled November discharge so Owens could campaign. They got quick action.

Two Pilots Break Record

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Two Air Force pilots, in the midst of a simulated trip to the moon, Monday broke the record for time spent in a make-believe, space ship.

Capt. William D. Hahlstetzel, 36, and Lt. John W. Hargreaves, 26, broke the record of 13 days, 20 hours and 40 minutes set last February by T. S. G. Hobard M. Craft of Wedowee, Ala., and William W. Henderson, 30, of Alice, Tex.

said the pair took no notice of their achievement. The men were sealed in the tank Aug. 15. They plan to stay inside their "space ship" at least 17 days, which is the length of time believed necessary for a flight to the moon and back using equipment and fuel expected to be available in the near future.

Robertson Appointed

LONDON (AP)—Sir James Robertson, former governor general of the British dependency of Nigeria, has been appointed first governor general and commander in chief of independent Nigeria. The Colonial Office announced the appointment by the Queen on Monday. The appointment becomes effective Oct. 6 with the independence of Nigeria.

Junior Editors Quiz on HEADGEAR

QUESTION: What is a shako?

ANSWER: The shako is no longer worn as the regular part of an ordinary military uniform, but it is still seen in dress parades. It is a stiff headgear made of thick black fur and decorated with metal emblems. In colorful parades, the drum major may be seen wearing such a headgear. In England, various special troops wear shakos or similar headgear. The word shako comes from the Hungarian word shako, it was worn by the Hungarians.

FOR YOU TO DO: You can make your own shako. Get a piece of cardboard and glue its ends together so that it forms a cylinder which is big enough to fit your head. Cover it with a piece of black cloth and then put a decoration on it.

(Margie L. Vandergriff of Whitwell, Tenn., wins $10 for this question. Mail your question on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. If duplicate questions are received, Mrs. Higgins will select the winner.)

Government Payroll Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's civilian payroll, already more than a billion dollars a month, rose another 307 million dollars for the year ended June 30.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) noting that pay increases for government workers effective July 1 were not included, predicted another climb in total payrolls during the current year.

A report of the Senate Finance Committee on Reduction of Non-essential Federal Expenditures, which Byrd heads, said last year's civilian payroll totaled $12,657,000, not counting 268 million paid to foreign nationals employed in overseas installations. The year's total included an estimated 64 million dollars paid during the year to temporary census workers.

The payroll figure for the preceding year was $12,330,000,000. In 1955, it was $9,621,000,000.

The senator said the number of civilian workers on the payroll averaged 2,386,545 for the year just ended, 34,103 above the fiscal 1959 average.

President George Washington had only four members in his cabinet. President Eisenhower has 19.

President Has Sole Privilege To Withhold

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — The executive privilege to withhold information from Congress, the chief counsel of the House Government Information subcommittee said today.

It is "pernicious doctrine" for executive departments and agencies to claim such a right, added Jacob Scher, a lawyer and former newspaperman now on leave from Northwestern University.

He traced the legal and political history of the executive privilege claim in a speech prepared for a convention of journalism educators, and criticized use of it under the Eisenhower administration.

The doctrine has been invoked periodically by presidents of all parties dating back to George Washington. But Scher said the claim has been used increasingly by the Eisenhower administration starting with the Army-McCarthy hearings in 1954.

At that time, the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) in his battle with the Army over alleged codding of Communists, was trying to find out who within the administration had recommended certain actions.

President Eisenhower directed the then secretary of defense, Charles E. Wilson, to forbid Defense Department officials to testify about conversations during a meeting in the office of then Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell.

Eisenhower said it was necessary to effective administration that officials of the executive branch be free to discuss matters candidly and confidentially in reaching decisions. He based his order on the constitutional provision for separation of powers of the executive, legislative and judicial branches.

Scher said there is no specific reference in the Constitution to an executive privilege of confidentiality. He acknowledged that separation of powers is related to the issue, but said only the courts can settle that constitutional question. He contended that withholding of information under claim of the privilege had grown sharply since Eisenhower's 1954 order.

"Thereafter it became a slogan and a banner under which more and more federal departments and agencies asserted the right to withhold information from Congress and the people," he said.

"By the rules of reason and experience, there is little room for government secrecy in a democracy."

The only justification for the executive privilege claim is to protect confidential communications to and from the President, he said.

In the case of the Army-McCarthy hearings, he said, "the privilege was being invoked only to protect the administration from embarrassment."

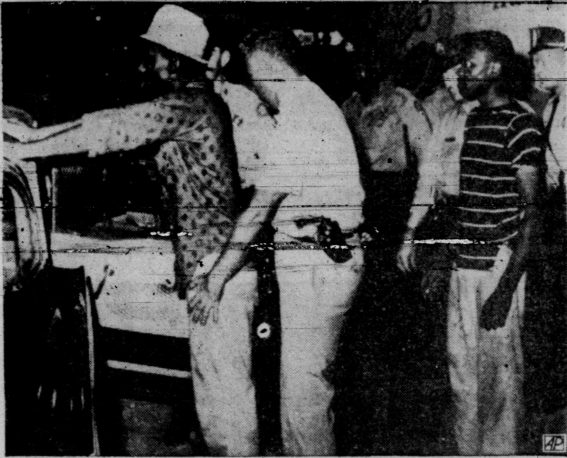

Scher said that in cases where Cabinet officials are actually performing for the President in his constitutional duties, a claim might be made for withholding information.

But he added, "It does not cover Cabinet members, in the performance of duties delegated to them by Congress. It does not cover administrative and regulatory agencies at all, because they are direct creatures of Congress. It does not cover federal administrators and employees."

Scher said congressional committees have the right to probe as deeply as they wish into the operation of a department and agency short of demanding confidential communications with the President.

"The right of Congress and the people to know about their government cannot be thwarted by the mere claim made by one branch of the government," he said.

Finally, he said, "It does not cover the President himself."

Demos Slate Fund Drive

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Democrats will begin their 10-day 1960 fund-raising drive Sept. 9, State Democratic Chairman J. E. Connolly of Abilene said Monday.

Connolly is chairman of the Texas Dollars for Democrats effort. He called on all county Democratic executive committee to convene and make plans for the "greatest fund raising opportunity our party ever had."

The state's quota is $125,000. Connolly said.

"This year's drive is more significant than ever before in our state," said Connolly. "We have the opportunity to elect an outstanding native son, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, vice-president of the United States."

Clinton School Opens

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — Classes opened quietly Monday at Clinton High School, built to replace the building destroyed by dynamite blasts in October 1958. Principal W. D. Human said about 900 pupils, including 10 Negroes, attended first-day classes. The school has been integrated since 1955.

Both Sides Offer Sympathy To Ailing Vice President

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Expressions of regret have flowed in from both sides of the political fence for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, hospitalized with a knee infection that may keep him off the campaign trail for two weeks.

The Republican Party's official organ, the Washington Post, said the Army Hospital late Monday for treatment of an infection that damaged red blood cells. He had bumped his knee on an automobile door Aug. 17 while campaigning in Greensboro, N.C.

Nixon's campaign dates until about Sept. 12 were canceled.

Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy promptly wired regrets and said, "I look forward to seeing you on the campaign trail." Kennedy's running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, sent flowers and regrets.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said, "The President regrets Mr. Nixon's ailment very much." Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said, "We are all distressed."

The vice president is expected to be able to work on campaign plans and speeches while he is sidelined.

Nixon entered the hospital after meeting with a new Dick Nixon Sports Committee headed by Bob Reynolds, former Stanford University football great. Reynolds said the 54 members of his group will stump for Nixon wherever they can. Other members include baseball players Ted Williams and Roy Sievers, golfers Bobby

Jones and Sam Snead and, pro football's Frank Gifford.

Two magazine articles written by Kennedy were in the news.

In the current issue of the Saturday Review, he said the idea that the free world can be protected by the threat of massive retaliation is "no longer tenable. He said greater efforts should be made to seek effective means of arms control."

In a Look magazine article, Kennedy said he had always regarded Johnson as the strongest Democratic candidate for vice president, but had not been sure Johnson would take the No. 2 spot. Kennedy said that it was after he had received a congratulatory telegram from Johnson that he determined to ask him if he were available for the vice presidency.

Georgia's Gov. Ernest Vandiver predicted Kennedy will carry Georgia in November without campaigning there.

The Senate Republican Policy Committee said in its weekly memo, "The Republican administration has brought the nation to the highest prosperity in history."

A group of House Republicans opened what it called "Operation Veracity" by charging the Democratic platform is studded with untruths and inaccuracies.

Virginia's Conservative party said it had dropped the names of Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) and Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) from its third party ticket for president and vice president. Byrd and Goldwater had disavowed any interest in being on a third party ticket.

Critical Pedestrian Is Shot By Motorist

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A motorist shot a pedestrian who shouted a complaint about his driving Monday.

Olay Johannessen, 27, was hospitalized with a wound in the lower back. Albert Wheeler, told police a car narrowly missed him and Johannessen as they crossed a street. Johannessen shouted at the driver to watch where he was going.

The driver stopped, stepped out, unwrapped a .22 caliber rifle and fired, then drove away.

Jump In Building Fails To Appear

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — The population growth has yet to trigger another big jump in home building. Had it already done so, the whole economic picture would be brighter. Builders would be happier, and so would building material suppliers, appliance makers, and construction workers.

That another building surge is coming, the industry is confident. But, as in other parts of today's economy, the timing is a current disappointment. The date is being put back. The growing population should exert its pressure in another two or three years.

The other spark that had been counted on to warm up home building this year—easing of money costs and supplies—has so far failed to catch fire. But it's there to turn housing wants into buying demand when the population growth catches up.

Government figures show that housing starts in the first half of this year ran well behind last year. Latest figures by the construction news specialist, F. W. Dodge Corp., show the dollar volume of residential building contracts in July was 20 per cent behind a year ago (although a subtotal, apartment building, was 4 per cent ahead of last year) and the number of dwelling units involved was 23 per cent below July 1959.

This drop is in the face of reports that more money is becoming available for mortgage financing in many parts of the nation and that in a few the terms of financing are more favorable for home builders.

As far as home builders are concerned, the trouble with the unquestioned jump in total population is that the growth has been largely confined to groups that buy few homes—those under 20 and those over 60.

Home builders find their biggest markets among the young marrieds—particularly those who have gone through the early stage of apartment dwelling and with a family coming along look for homes in the suburbs.

But those now turning 30 were born not long before Pearl Harbor and those now 30 were born after the big stock market crash—this entire group of potential home owners belongs to the depression baby crop, a notably small one.

In the next few years the war babies, a large crop, will be looking for housing, and in a few more the postwar babies—and then, look out. A lot of housing will be needed.

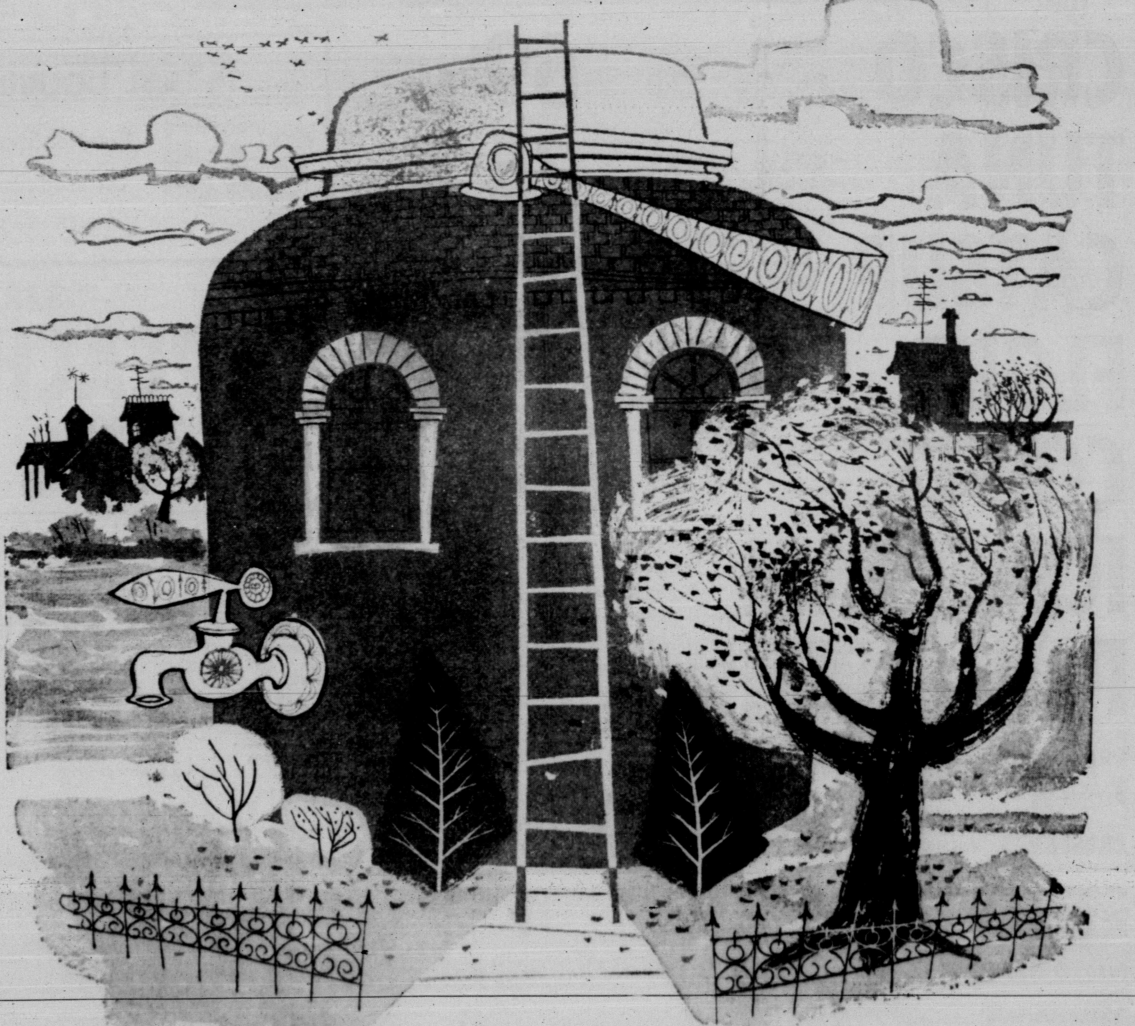

The failure of easier money to perk up building much as yet inspires a number of explanations. The most hopeful is that there's a time lag between relaxing the tight money squeeze of a few months back and making financing plans and starting construction.

Others given are that the price of new houses has climbed too high for some income groups, and that while more financing money is available the interest or discount charges haven't gone down enough yet to stimulate the market.

Finally there are those who think the chief trouble is that the great number of those seeking a home of their own have already bought one, while the newcomers are the depression babies, a smaller group.

But all you have to do is to look at the throngs now heading for or returning to the nation's schools to see that before the decade is over the demand for housing is going to be the biggest ever. And if personal incomes and financing terms alike, so will be the home buying.
