

Henri Downgraded To Tropical Storm; Not Direct Cause Of Weather

Hurricane Henri was downgraded to a tropical storm early Tuesday and was reported not to be "directly associated" with the heavy rains hitting the Texas and Louisiana coastlines. Meanwhile, another tropical depression was reported about 1,000 miles southeast of Bermuda. The National Weather Service reported that, as of about 5 a.m. Tuesday, September 18, the "poorly defined" center of Henri was about 150 miles south-east of Tampico, Mexico. At that time the highest sustained winds were about 65 miles an hour. The weakening trend was expected to continue as Henri drifted northwest Tuesday. The Weather Service also reported the heavy rainfall along the Texas and Louisiana coast "not directly associated with Henri." But a Weather Service forecaster in Corpus Christi, Jack Fite, said rains were resulting from the combination of a stationary northern front off the area coast and the easterly winds from then-Hurricane Henri. An extended forecast for the area called for partly cloudy skies through Saturday, with a chance of more rain continuing through Friday. Weather Service officials (See RAIN, page 9)

GET TO WORK, CHARLIE!

Charlie Potter changed jobs, but his enthusiasm for his work hasn't diminished any. He was the previous manager of the Fulton Billups station, and is now working in the service department at the Western Auto Store in Rockport. Charlie's Fulton neighbors are less than happy about his change of jobs, and have been circulating a petition to protest his being replaced at the station. [Pilot Photo by Sarah L. Durdin]

City Raises Garbage, Sewer Fees

Rockport's City Council adopted a proposed $1.8 million budget and the current tax rate of $1.50 per $100 valuation for the 1979-80 fiscal year, and approved increases in the garbage and sanitary sewer rates. The actions were taken in a public hearing and special meeting of the City Council at 7 p.m. Monday, September 17, attended by three Council members and one member of the public. Also in the session, city officials approved a request from the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District for the city to pay an additional $1,000 a month during the 1979-80 fiscal year to help defray District expenses. A request of Rockport SeaFair for a parade permit for October 6, 1979, was approved as was a proposal to request that the Texas Highway Department change Laurel Street to a one-way heading east between median on Highway 35.

Pirates Travel To Refugio Friday

A year ago they were many people who thought Refugio would be down this year. They lost heavily to graduation, the coach was gone, and the outlook was bleak. Suddenly, a new coach was named; the coach has a history of winning, plus a son who is a pretty fair football player, and his 1979 version of the Refugio Bobcats has shutout opponents in each of the first two games of the year. And all of this is what the Rockport-Fulton Pirates have to look forward to this Friday as they tangle with the Bobcats in Refugio. Teddy Gray, returning to Refugio where he had some playoff teams a few years ago before going to Dickinson and winning it all, is now at the helm, and already South Texas knows he has returned. Refugio has taken 14-0 and 27-0 victories over Sinton and Goliad. Gray brought more to Refugio than his coaching skills as his son Ira, a fine receiver, has added a new dimension to the Bobcat attack with his pass-catching expertise. Last week, young Gray caught three, scoring passes from quarterback Gene Barber. Refugio has also managed to roll up over 150 yards rushing in each game. On the other hand, the Pirates were broadsided last week by Taft's Marc Jones and company. The Pirate offense failed to execute properly, and the result was a poor total of offensive yards. Michael Simmons provided a bright spot for the Pirates as he averaged over four yards a carry for the 12 times he toted the football. [See PIRATES, Page 10]

23 Years Creates Loyal Fulton Customers

By Sarah L. Durdin When a man works for a company 23 years, and builds up a following of loyal customers, people are bound to get a bit riled if he's replaced. And if the man in question is Charlie Potter, and his customers are the residents of Fulton, they take action on the matter. Charlie, who was born in Rockport in 1938, and spent all his life in the Rockport-Fulton area, went to work at a Billups gas station in 1956. The station was at the corner of Hwy 35 and Palmetto. The station's business grew, and Charlie kept working right along with it and in 1961 he was named manager of the station. On September 6, Charlie was told by company officials that he would be replaced the following Monday, "by someone more capable." Charlie says he feels he's still capable of managing the station, but adds that he had been told earlier that he had to either resign or move to a Victoria station. "I wasn't going to move there. The station was on the bad side of town and they'd already had a lot of trouble with it. There have been three robberies, and the manager has been put [See POTTER, Page 3]

Fulton Council Provides For Staggered Terms For Members

Fulton's city council has adopted an ordinance that will provide for staggered terms for council members after the April city elections. The action was taken during the council's meeting September 11 in which officials also signed an agreement with the State Highway Department that will allow the widening of Highway 35 North into a four-lane highway through Fulton. The ordinance providing for staggered council terms is required by State laws. During the first year following incorporation, all members of the city council serve for one-year terms. It is up to the council to adopt by ordinance the method by which council terms will be staggered. Following April elections, Fulton's then-elected mayor and members of council will draw lots. Three of the lots will be for one-year terms and the remaining three for two-year terms. The agreement the council signed with the State during the meeting in Fulton's City Hall is in keeping with State Highway Department plans to widen Highway 35 North into a four-lane highway through Fulton. In other action September 11, the council approved a letter that has been sent to the Aransas County Commissioners Court asking for

A Look Ahead At The WEEKENDER

The focus is on Aransas County Clerk Ruby Hart -- a former school teacher whose pupils included now-county commissioner Ray Longino. Rockport's charter commission meets Wednesday night to discuss questions raised in last week's public hearing. The Pilot will provide complete coverage -- details this weekend. Sisters Genevieve (Bea) and Mabel Bracht have lived in Rockport 80-plus years. . . are granddaughters of the city's first postmaster. Share their memories in The Pilot Weekender. We'll have reports on the meeting between the city and State Highway Department, the Aransas County Commissioners Court, Blair's Corner and Tides of the Mind, and lots more. If you aren't getting the Weekender, you're only getting half the news. Find out what's happening in this week's Weekender.

Coed Beauty Contest Added To Crab Races

The annual Sea Fair crab races will have an added attraction this year as a coed beauty contest is added to the list of Sea Fair events. Peter Lazidis, chairman of the crab races, has issued an invitation to all past participants of the crab races, and their owners, to come back to the 1979 Sea Fair races, as well as new entries. Deadline for entries is October 5, and there is a $7.50 entry fee for each crab entered. There are no size limitations on the entries, but sand crabs will not be allowed. Lazidis said blue crabs comprise the standard crab entry. The beauty contest will be held at 2:30 p.m. October 6, and the races will begin at 2:30 p.m. October 7, on the Sea Fair grounds. Trophies for first through third places will be awarded. [See COED, page 9]

From Insurance Investigator To Publisher. . . Rogero's Held 'More Jobs Than Anybody'

By Pat Blair Roy Rogero figures he had "more jobs than anybody, I guess" during the years of the Depression. "I sold real silk hosiery, Fuller brushes, radios and washing machines. . . I was a typist for the Texaco company. . . But the trade he stayed with--the one that finally brought him to Rockport to become owner of the Rockport "Pilot" for 30 years--was printing. "I had a brother who was linotype operator for the

ROY ROGERO, SR.

San Antonio "Light." Rogero said during an interview recently at his home on Dana Drive. That was just about the time of the Depression, he continued, and he was working at all those jobs. "All during the Depression, I was never out of work," he said. "My brother finally said why not learn the printing business, so I went to work for some friends in commercial printing." He's had a union card as a printer for 45 years, he added. "I learned to run the linotype machine, learned all the equipment--I finally quit all that and went to Seguin where I knew I could learn about newspaper work." It was in Seguin that he met R. Roy Woods, his partner and co-owner of the Pilot from 1946 until 1971 when Rogero bought full ownership of the newspaper. The two men didn't plan on buying a newspaper, Rogero said. He was working for a printing business in San Antonio again--after serving from 1943 until August, 1945, in the Air Force--when he decided he wanted to go into business for himself. Woods had the same idea, so both men quit their jobs and went to Corpus Christi to set up a printing business. But they ran into a problem: "You couldn't get equipment or anything," Rogero said, and after two or three weeks, they were both discouraged. Rogero had a friend in Rockport--an "Air Force buddy"--so he and Woods came here for a "lost weekend." Just by chance, they stopped by the Pilot office. "We found the fellow who owned it was Jack Blackwell, an acquaintance from Gonzales," Rogero said, "and it just happened he was trying to sell. We weren't in the market for a weekly newspaper, but we decided to buy." A native of St. Augustine, Florida, Roy V. Rogero was the youngest of a family of 15--eight boys and seven girls--and a direct descendant of the original settlers of St. Augustine. "I'm Minorcan," he says proudly. "There aren't many Minorcans in this part of the country. And there are a lot of Rogeros in [See ROGERO, Page 10]

Washington Report

By Congressman Joe Wyatt

Strength, leadership, courage, and morality are the qualities which we grew up expecting in America. The world has grown to expect these qualities in America during the first 200 years of our existence also. Our mettle as a nation is being directly tested right now in a vital area concerning the United States, the Soviet Union, Cuba and arms control. The SALT II treaty has been debated throughout the summer with military experts on both sides of the issue testifying as to the merits and minuses of the treaty since it was signed by the President in June. Throughout the summer the issue of verification has been the most debated and the most troublesome to many of us.

The loss of monitoring bases in Iran has bothered many of us, and the question of whether we can make up this loss is a big one.

Before the issue of verification could fully be explored a new wrinkle has appeared which much be ironed out immediately if not for SALT, then for the sake of American security on the whole. This is the recent revelation that the Soviet Union has stationed combat troops in Cuba.

Cuba has no reason to feel insecure. It is a strong and well-established Caribbean nation. If it did, for any reason, feel threatened, the answer then should be to bring its combat troops home from their incursions into Africa instead of importing troops from Russia to sit 90 miles from the United States.

The idea behind SALT may be sound—holding the arms race down. Soviet leaders have made it very clear that they are anxious for a Salt II Treaty. My feeling though, is that they must now show their good faith and remove this direct challenge to the United States before any further discussion of SALT II is carried on.

This nation must also meet the challenge of ever increasing Soviet military research, development and spending. Some critics of SALT II in the Senate, before the revelations about the Soviet troops in Cuba, indicated that they could vote for the treaty if they were assured that the United States would increase its spending to meet the threat. Earlier this year, the House voted to increase military spending nearly $7 billion or 17 per cent above last year's level.

In this time of budgetary constraints, even the military will have to tighten its belt somewhat and learn to cut out some of the fat. But, at the same time, we cannot become overzealous and let ourselves slip into a position of military inferiority.

FROM OUR READERS

Letter to Editor

A bomb didn't explode in the Fulton area this past week, but it could have, considering the results. A big hole has been made in our community—this is a tribute to a fine man and his family that have been a "landmark" for over 20 years.

"Cotton" Charlie Potter has been replaced at our local Billups station. The reason is unknown. People are very upset over this change and certainly displeased (that's a mild interpretation of what's been said). Some individuals plan to boycott the station in their own way, and others have already destroyed their credit cards or returned them to Charter Marketing Co., Hammond, Louisiana.

Letter to Editor

To say the least—we'll miss his contagious smile and homespun philosophy on the corner of Hwy 35 and Palmetto Street in the Fulton area.

ABOUT FOUR FEET BEHIND ME THE DIESEL hums and drones. A few more hours she will have brought us to Galveston Bay after a four day run from Rockport. I am not very happy. I can see my power boat friends smiling. Since departure we have had less than two hours sailing, and that running also with the engine.

Our original plan was to have traveled the Intracoastal Canal and then gone outside into the gulf at Port O'Connor. Instead, hard winds all the way. Four days of northerly wind in September. Amazing!

I am aboard the sloop Karma, 34 feet, with the owner-skipper, Park Gerdine of Rockport. Destination, not known. But that sounds like an attempt at romanticizing, affectation, if not ostentatiousness. Let me explain. At present we plan to sail around the gulf to the Florida Keys and then to the Bahamas. I say destination unknown for the simple reason we have no plans for specific ports, no set arrival dates, no set time for departures. At the moment our deepest desire is for an end to the inland waterway, at least no more four day stretches. The waterway in short order becomes tedious, tiresome, except perhaps for a few occasional interesting birds.

More, diesel fuel is expensive. Our fuel bill at this point quadruples our food bill. We consume about a gallon an hour and move at five knots. The wind is free. It means peace, quiet calm and comfort. And I do not forget that it can blow and create quite an opposite atmosphere.

CRUISING IS A GAME PLAYED ONLY BY YACHTSMEN who depend upon the wind for power. We have been called "rag sailors." The designation does not offend us, even though we sometimes hear it used derisively.

Ours, we believe, is the only kind of cruising. There is no other personal opinion. Most of us live rather simply, a sort of floating Walden existence. Favoring a quiet protected anchorage, we scorn the increasingly posh marinas. Bathing facilities are over the side, or at sea, a bucket of water on deck.

As to attitudes of others toward this life, we sometimes observe condescension—which we ignore. Often as not, envy, and that usually from those who, faced with the opportunity, would with almost certainty back away.

I HAVE CRUISED BEFORE. YOU MIGHT CALL IT "Junior Cruising," meaning sailing for no longer than an extended weekend. With that there is nothing wrong. In fact it is a very fine thing. Tens of thousands in almost every country in the world enjoy it, on lakes, rivers, bays and offshore, and the numbers grow.

Deep sea cruising is another thing. Not so many years ago the skipper who arrived across a broad gulf or ocean was at least a novelty. Now even those ranks have grown to the thousands.

I HAD RESOLVED ON A VOYAGE AROUND THE world, and as the wind on the morning of April 24, 1895, was fair, at noon I weighed anchor, set sail and filled away from Boston.

With these words Capt. Joshua Slocum began a sort of cruising that would in years to come stir dreams, increase pulse beats. No man before had ever sailed around the world alone. There have been many since, but still few who have rounded both the capes, Good Hope and the Horn.

In Slocum's day there was no other way. The Panama Canal was scarcely a dream. The Suez Canal was there but for the small boat sailor the danger too great because of pirates in the Mediterranean and Red Sea. And more, the modern day sailor enjoys countless things which were unknown in Slocum's time.

Aboard Karma there is auxiliary power, a depth finder, VHF radio and even mechanical refrigeration. Had Slocum departed Rockport at the time we did his only choice would have been to sail far out into the gulf and then back towards Galveston.

I HAVE DESCRIBED THE INLAND WATERWAY AS dull, and so it is, but it should not be dismissed without a word about the skippers who command the tugs that move the huge barges. They are masters of their craft and genial gentlemen to boot.

In a bit of crowded traffic on Saturday we called a tug on the radio asking how he would prefer us to proceed. Came the reply: "Lil' old sailboat, you just keep on like you are and I'll get by you."

Now at our pleasant anchorage in Offat Bayou awaiting the whim of Frederic. Ah, but he's a gentleman! When he makes up his mind we shall head into the gulf toward Sabine Pass—unless the Skipper has a change of mind.—ahah

Details Ironed out For Seafair

All the Rockport Sea Fair chairpersons and workers held their last general meeting September 12 at the Little Bay Club to work out final details before Sea Fair gets underway October 6 and 7.

Two new sets of volunteers have been added to the list of workers, but lots more are still needed, according to several of the chairpersons. Jan and Troy Butler will be handling T-shirt sales, and June and Jack Carter will be in charge of the Santa Rocket Sleigh.

There are two more food booths left, and any civic organization can sign up to sell gumbo or fish chowder. The booths cost $110 for a single booth, or $220 for a double booth.

Gumbo boss Ed Setterbo, the 1978 winner of the World's Championship Gumbo Cook-Off, is predicting a tough competition this year. There is still plenty of room for any aspiring gumbo chefs who still wish to enter the contest. The deadline for entries is October 1, and there is a $12.50 entry fee, which pays for the booth used during the cook-off.

All the arts and crafts booths have been filled, as have the commercial booths.

Bob Bernardy, chairman of the land parade needs volunteers for the parade. It will start at 11 a.m. Saturday, but the line-up will actually begin at 10 a.m.

There will also be five one-hour ski shows during the two days, and different bands will entertain the crowds with a variety of country-western, rock and jazz.

Chairpersons for the 1979 Sea Fair include:

General chairman, Ken

Faulkner; assistant general chairman, Alex Knox; event treasurer, Peggy Bloch; secretary, Loyce Landrum; advertising, Pat Daly; food booths, Pat Farley; display booth rentals, Donna Price; protocol, Mick Ladner; historian, Elaine Faulkner; beer sales, Dennis Jenkins; soft drink sales, Dave and Loyce Ogle; hats, T-shirts and novelty sales, Cy Richards; information booth, Ed and Barbara Armstrong; and banking, Jeanne Rutledge.

Grounds committee chairpersons include:

QUOTE FOR THE WEEK
"Remember yesterday. Dream about tomorrow. But live today."

Author unknown

[Continued From Page 1] in the hospital once. I wasn't going to put my family in all of that. Besides, I was born and raised here," he explained.

Charlie's family includes his wife Rosemary, and their four children, Rhonda, Penny, Charles and Thomas. Rosemary has also worked at the Billups station, and Charlie will soon be moving the family trailer from its familiar location in back of the station.

Since then he has found a job at Western Auto, working as a mechanic in the service department, and will continue to operate his wrecker service of about a year and a half. In his spare time, Charlie donates his services as captain of the Fulton Volunteer Fire Department, which he joined in 1964.

While Charlie seems to take his new job philosophically, his Fulton neighbors are less than happy with the change.

As early as the 7th of September Leslie Cole and Chuck Vermillion had started a petition stating that the residents of Fulton didn't want to see Charlie replaced. They said they felt he was still as capable as he had been for the past 23 years, and added that they planned to boycott the station as a result of Charlie being replaced.

"I've known Charlie all my life, so I was concerned when the company said he wasn't qualified. I called the vice-president of the company, and he told me it wasn't any of Fulton's business who ran the station. Well, I feel like maybe it's not my business, but then again I know Charlie, so it is my business," Leslie Cole said.

"We started this petition, and now we're just waiting."

Charlie says he's been told the petition now numbers over 2800, and judging from the way Fulton people feel, it would be hard to find someone who's in favor of Charlie being replaced.

Charlie's cousin, Virginia Woods, is manager of the Circle K in Fulton and she says she thinks "it was pretty rotten to drop Charlie like that. He's been there all those years, and helped build up the station, and it just wasn't fair to him."

"It seems real bad that he was replaced" Fulton mayor L.E. Casterline said. "It looks like he's always done a good job, and it seems like if he wasn't qualified he'd have been replaced sooner than this."

Although there has been talk of a boycott of the station and some people have sent their credit cards back to the company, Ray Osborn, Charlie's replacement, says business at the station has been the same "when you consider that the store is under construction."

The front of the station has been increased, and groceries, toys, auto supplies and cold foods will be available when the construction is completed in approximately two weeks.

And in the meantime?

"I just want to thank everyone who stood by me through this. They've all been a real help, and I'm thankful for my friends," said Charlie.

Most Often-Asked
Questions On Nutrition

[Most Often-Asked
Questions On Nutrition]
by: Jean Glowka
s.s.

Q. I am trying to start using brewer's yeast powder. I mixed it with water and never tasted anything so bad in all my life! What can I mix it with so that I can stand to drink it?

A. Water? Yes, I would imagine that tasted horrible. I think we can come up with something better than that.

Try mixing it with your favorite juice or milk (skim milk, if you're watching calories)-8 to 16 ounces. Add a teaspoon of vanilla extract and a tablespoon of honey (or to taste). Whether you use milk or juice, adding a tablespoon of papaya concentrate and/or blending in some of your favorite fruit also does wonders for the taste. Experiment a little-you'll come up with something you like (or, at least, can tolerate). Also, you'll get used to the taste of yeast. Especially, if you keep remembering how very good it is for you.

Remember that it is best to start slowly on yeast. Begin with 1/2 to 1 teaspoon; increase by 1/2 to 1 teaspoon daily until you are getting 2 to 4 tablespoons daily.

Q. When I become extremely tired or nervous, I develop a severe "tic" under my left eye. It is very irritating and embarrassing. What can I do?

A. Some nutritionists report that the use of small amounts of magnesium and vitamin B-6 often alleviates tics and tremors quickly. Certain individuals appear to have extremely high requirements for these two nutrients.

Until next week, Folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world!

Bill and Patty Fishwick became the newest members of AARP, Rockport Chapter 1536, during the September 12 business meeting.

Fifty members and 23 guests attended the meeting, which was followed by a blood pressure check by Heart Association volunteers.

Mildred LeMer, the first secretary of Chapter 1536, came from Corpus Christi to attend the meeting and renew old acquaintances. Also in attendance were nine members from the Aransas Pass chapter and four members from the Port Aransas chapter.

Kay Snapp, membership chairperson for Chapter 1536 resigned due to other obligations. Mrs. Frances Cook is new membership chairperson for this chapter.

The Region 10 Health Office is now located in the Senior Citizens Building. Sandra Gary, the person in charge, will give blood pressure checks after 3 Monday through Friday, to senior citizens needing this service.

The Eye-Scan, held Tuesday, September 11, was very successful. A vote of thanks to Den's Fried Chicken for providing lunch for the volunteers.

Mrs. Pat Works, Assistant State Director of AARP District 12 South, awarded plaques to Mrs. Neva Sorenson and Zolzie Glass, the persons who brought AARP Chapter 1536 into existence and helped make it a progressive, growing chapter. Mrs. Works gave a resume of the achievements of these individuals.

Jim Hays and Mrs. Pearl Gaubatz were bridge winners on game afternoon, Thursday, September 13. Norm Como won the finale.

Mrs. Dorothy Barnes and Mrs. Jane Moren were hostesses for the six tables of bridge. The next game afternoon is Thursday, September 20, at 1 p.m.

Chapter 1536 will meet again on Wednesday, September 26, at 5 for a "Sunset Supper". After the meal, bridge and bingo will be available for members and guests. Prizes for the games will be paper goods furnished by the chapter. The name "Sunset Supper" was suggested for our covered dish affairs by Mrs. Genevieve Ohrling, Second Vice President.

On Monday, October 8, the Board of Directors of AARP Chapter 1536 will meet for the Triennial Review of the Chapter. Members are welcome to attend this meeting but please call Mrs. Margaret Gill, president, at 729-5944, and let her know that you will be present at this meeting.

The AARP dance is tonight at 7. A larger crowd is anticipated as the evening weather is delightfully cool. The first dance in October is Wednesday, October 3, at 7.

The Concern Center always needs volunteers. There is so much to be done and so few persons to do it. If you have an hour or two to spare, please call Mrs. Dorothy Moeller, chairperson for the Concern Center, at 729-7722 and volunteer your services.

AARP Chapter 1536 is sponsoring the "Cake Walk" at the Sea Fair 1979 on Saturday, October 6 and Sunday, October 7. The "Cake Walk" will be located under a canopy at the end of the food booth line at the Maritime Museum Exhibit. Cake boxes will be available on September 26 at the "Sunset Supper".

Key Allegro Gardeners Enter Seafair Parade

Key Allegro Garden Club members voted September 17 to enter a float in the Rockport Sea Fair parade on October 6. The club will also replace missing plants in the box they maintain at the end of the Rockport Ski Basin before Sea Fair.

The meeting was the opening of the 1979-80 season, and was conducted by Gloria Wren, president.

The club also agreed to maintain palm trees in the areas of the island that are not privately owned, and to put on the illuminaries festival again this Christmas.

Addie Schumacher presented a program on plants that attract humming birds. She said humming birds fly through Rockport each spring and spend quite a long time here during their fall migration.

Guest speaker was Rene Stubbs of Corpus Christi who talked on caring for plants that are brought indoors during winter weather. One point of interest she made was that now is a good time to bring plants indoors - when the temperature is much the same inside as outside - in order to lower the shock plants go through in making drastic temperature changes.

Chris McGready, also a guest, discussed cedar gazebos.

Hostesses were Jo Yarbrough and Mildred Crites.

Circle 1

New officers for Circle I, Women of First Presbyterian Church, were named during a meeting of the organization at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, September 13, in the church's Memorial Room.

Officers are Billie Franklin, chairman; Ozella Schleider, co-chairman; Kathryn Cavit, secretary; Kathleen Bachman, treasurer.

Committee chairmen are Gertrude Baugh, least coin offering; Margaret Gill, moderator; Lucile Little, hostesses; and Jo Ison, telephone.

Eighteen members attended the meeting. Two new members joined the group: Kathy Albin and Phyllis McKay. Hostess was Alethae Reed.

Members approved service projects including help for the Presbyterian Children's Home, Itasca, and participation in the local "Christmas Toys for Tots" program.

Lonie Rheinlaender opened the meeting with a devotional, and Mrs. Gill moderated the Bible study lesson. Outgoing chairman Nell Brant presided over the meeting.

.... AND A LITTLE DAB HERE

Frances Crane paused only momentarily to decide which color she wanted before dabbing bits of oil paint over her underpainting. Frances demonstrated the underpainting method to the members of the Key Allegro Garden Club on September 14, when the ladies had their first business luncheon of the season. [Pilot Photo by Sarah L. Durdin]

Frances' Underpainting Creates Terrific Overpaintings Results

"Don't think you can't do this. Everyone has their own way of writing, and everyone paints different. Just because you can't paint the same way I do doesn't mean you can't paint at all," was the advice Frances Crane gave members of the Key Allegro Garden Club during a painting exhibit at the club's September meeting.

Frances presented a program on a technique known as "underpainting." Underpainting not only prevents deterioration of a painting, but also allows the artist to achieve more luminous tones when the painting is completed.

Frances explained that the canvas is first covered with a mixture of color pigments and siccative, which is a drying agent. Siccative is a pinkish liquid which takes on the color of the pigment that is added to it. Frances says the usual ratio of the mix is one inch of pigment to one drop of siccative.

The scene is then loosely painted in, but to the inexperienced, the finished underpainting could easily seem like the work of a color-blind painter. Skies are sometimes pink, apples can be yellow, and faces are occasionally grey.

"The idea behind underpainting is that the tones you don't see, bring out the shades you do see," said Frances. Understand so far?

The underpainting tones bring out the depth of the colors that are painted over them. For example, a yellow underpainting of a red apple will give the apple a richer tone of red, and can also create a depth of field that gives the viewer the feeling that he can actually touch the apple. A pink underpainting of a sky will give the blue that covers it a soft hazy effect, not unlike what you see on a clear day.

Frances said the painting she did during the garden club meeting, on a 10 x 36 inch canvas, took about 15-20 minutes to underpaint and the materials cost about 15 cents. Considering the protective qualities of underpainting, 15 cents is a wise investment for any artist. After the underpainting is completed, the canvas is covered with a thin coating of oil, which ultimately keeps the final layer of paint from drying and cracking. Frances said this is because the oil is spread all over the canvas and air is prevented from entering the weave of the canvas where it can affect the oil paints.

An additional benefit of underpainting is that beginners and wishy-washy artists can wipe away what they dislike when they start the final painting. Because the oil covering of the undercoating is slick, and oil paints take so long to dry, a mistaken flick of the wrist (or paintbrush, in this case) can easily be corrected. As Frances pointed out "with underpainting you don't have to learn to live with your mistakes."

Although she has been teaching classes herself, Frances says she'll never stop taking lessons from other artists.

"When you think you're finished learning about art, that's when you're finished as an artist," was how she explained it.

Frances began taking lessons "about 20 years ago, with K.K. Simpson" and has since become proficient in florals (her favorites), seascapes, landscapes and character studies. She handles a paintbrush as easily as she wields a pallet knife, and often combines the two techniques when she paints.

One of her paintings, a Padre Island scene, hangs in the permanent collection of the LBJ Library at the University of Texas, and many others can be found in galleries throughout American and Europe.

In addition, Frances has been recognized by organizations both local and worldwide. She is listed in Who's Who of American Women, as well as the World's Who's Who of Women, the National League of American Penwomen and Notable Americans of the Bi-Centennial Era.

Like a model wears designer clothes, Frances wears her artistic talent easily, confidently. She is modest, and several times after her demonstration told admirers that they could paint as easily as she if they just tried. She backed up that statement by explaining that too many people think they aren't artistic because they can't paint in someone else's style.

All the while her undertones were golden.

BOAT BURNS IN KEY ALLEGRO

Firemen and searchers probe what's left of a boat belonging to a Corpus Christi man after fire was reported on the craft about 12:01 a.m. Monday, September 17. Rockport and Fulton volunteer units answered the call to the Key Allegro apartments on Lauderdale where the boat was docked, said Assistant Fire Marshall Leslie Crawford. Nielson, owner of the boat, told Marshall there appeared to have been forcible entry onto the boat the afternoon before the blaze, but the incident was not reported to police. Marshall added the boat was "about totally destroyed" and the cause of the blaze is still being investigated.

Police Report

Arrests for DWI, possession of marijuana and possession of illegal weapons and a case of criminal mischief kept Rockport police busy this weekend.

Three youths were arrested around midnight Friday and placed under $500 bond for possession of illegal weapons.

Police Officer Joaquin Martinez reported he stopped the car the youths were in on St. Mary's Street, as the result of an earlier call from the Ice Box, and he found the weapons in the car.

Weapons included chuck sticks, a heavy pipe and a wooden stick, he said.

Arrested were Alfredo Rolando Rodriguez, 19, Juan Antonio Perez, 19, and Patricia Angel Tristano, 17, all of Rockport.

Raymond Eugene Moore, 19, of Galveston was charged with possession of marijuana and bond set at $500 after police stopped his car on Broadway by Rockport Realty about 10:45 p.m. Thursday, September 13. Police reported finding marijuana roaches in the car.

Carlton Richardson, 68, of 903 Nopal Street, Rockport, was placed under bond of $1,000 on a driving while intoxicated (DWI) charge and $500 bond for driving without a license after his car was stopped by police about 2:15 a.m. Saturday, September 15.

Also arrested in a separate incident about 3:05 a.m. Saturday was Anthony Torres Garcia, 19, of Corpus Christi. Garcia, arrested on East Liberty Street, was placed under $500 bond on a DWI charge.

John James Carpenter, 18, of Fulton was arrested for driving while intoxicated in front of the sheriff's office about 12:20 a.m. Saturday. Carpenter was placed under $500 bond. A passenger, Ramiro J. Ortiz, Jr., 19, of 1128 Moline Street, Rockport, pleaded not guilty to a charge of public intoxication arising out of the incident. Ortiz was placed under $100 bond.

David Alvah Johnson, 24, of El Paso was placed under $500 bond for DWI and fined $28.50 for speeding after he was arrested on Austin Street near Johnson's Drug about 10:35 p.m. Friday.

A passenger in Johnson's car, Alejandro Galvan of 527 North Terry, Rockport, was fined $53.50 for public intoxication.

Renee Lamonte Blocker, 19, of Rt. 1, Rockport was placed under $500 bond for DWI and fined $28.50 for failure to yield right-of-way following an incident on Bronte Street at Market about 11 p.m. Friday.

Police Officer James Tanner reported he was responding to a call at the Ice Box when Ms. Blocker's vehicle pulled in front of his and another vehicle.

A passenger in Ms. Blocker's vehicle, Gladys Combs Prasek of Rockport, was placed under $100 bond after pleading not guilty to a charge of public intoxication.

William Rex Cook, 19, of Fulton posted $100 bond following his arrest on a charge of misdemeanor failure to stop and render assistance. Cook was reported to have backed into a business vehicle belonging to Super D Foods in the Sea Aire Shopping Center.

The incident occurred about 8:53 a.m. Friday.

Jan Roberts of 1319 South Live Oak called police to her resident Sunday, September 16, after discovering that someone had broken out the two windows in the front of the house. Police found a lead weight in the bedroom and theorized that it and possibly another weight were used to do the damage.

The incident occurred sometime between 7:15 a.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. Sunday.

SURVEYING THE DAMAGE

Firemen examine the remains of a house at the corner of Gagon and North Streets after fire erupted there about 6:50 p.m. Saturday, September 15. Assistant Fire Marshall Leslie Crawford said there was extensive damage to one bedroom and the living room of the house, and smoke damage to the rest of the structure. The house is owned by a Mrs. Simmons, he said, and was being rented at the time of the fire. Cause of the blaze is still under investigation.

Paramedics and state highway patrol troopers responded to an emergency call Saturday at about 1 p.m., when a motorcyclist ran into a road reflector and flipped over. The accident occurred at the intersection of FM 3036 and FM 1781. Though he wasn't wearing a helmet, the young man received only minor injuries when he was flipped off the bike.

Did you know that you can charming deep ruts in the road.

It seems a lot of cities can't keep up with resurfacing their streets. In Falls City, Ore., there's a plan to let the civic-minded investor buy a small pothole for $10 and the larger, crater size, may sell for $20 to $30.

The idea developed because the Oregon legislature couldn't decide whether to cut taxes or provide funds for street repairs. So the option was brought to the citizens of Falls City. For a nominal fee they could clean up the potholes and receive a certificate to prove their civic-mindedness. Now you know.

The Pirate secondary played well, considering that the pass rush never got to Jones, and the trio of George Solis, Kenneth Smith, and Esequiel Hernandez will again be under heavy fire. Hernandez intercepted a pass last week, and Solis made two tip-aways to stop the Taft aerial show.

Rockport can go into the contest with a no-holds-barred attitude because they will have an off-week following Friday's game, giving them a chance to cure their wounds.

Florida, but very few in Texas.

He graduated from high school at age 16, completed an accounting course from LaSalle University in 1926 and came to Texas "permanently" in 1930.

In Texas, one of his first jobs was as a claims investigator for Lloyds Liability and Casualty of London. "They needed an investigator," he said. "They put an ad in the San Antonio paper, gave a test. . . I took it and passed."

He worked for Lloyds for 18 months, investigating "all kinds of claims. That was when they had vaudeville, and people were always getting hurt. I knew Cab Calloway, a lot of those people."

He was also paymaster for March Brothers Construction Company of St. Louis while the company was building Randolph Field. After he entered the Air Force in May, 1943, Rogero was stationed in at Randolph Field.

He was part of a 37-member "sealed" unit ("We stayed for the duration," he explained) that made flight training films. "We had two or three portrait artists, writers, draftsmen," he continued. "I was the printer." His job was to set the type that went on the film.

Rogero married Ollie E. Whiteside in 1935, and he and his wife have a son, Roy V. Rogero Jr., of Clear Lake, and a daughter, Mrs. Debra K. Stout who teaches in Rockport Elementary School. Both the Rogeros' children are married and each has a son.

Retired from business, Rogero still stays active. He's a charter member, director and past president of the Rockport Lions Club, a member of the American Legion and a director of the First National Bank. A Roman Catholic, he's a member of Rockport's Sacred Heart Catholic Church, a member of the St. Vincent dePaul Society and a past president of the Holy Name Society.

He's a former member and mayor pro-tem of Rockport's city council for six years, a past advisory director for United Savings, a past director of the South Texas and Rockport Chambers of Commerce, past director of Live Oak Country Club, past director of the Governor's Safety Council. He served as president for one term each on the Rockport Chamber of Commerce and the country club.

Professionally, Rogero was a member of the Texas Press Association, South Texas Press Association and the National Editorial Association. He is listed in the 1973-74 issue of "Who's Who in Texas."

In 1969, the Pilot's Centennial Edition, the co-owners published a letter they received from then-President Lyndon B. Johnson, congratulating the Pilot and its staff on its 100th anniversary.

"I'm especially proud of that (letter)," Rogero said.

He's proud too that the Pilot never missed an issue. When Celia hit in 1970, he said, "there was eight inches of water in the Pilot, no electricity (to run the linotype machine). I went out and took a whole bunch of pictures of the storm, went home, wrote the rest of the copy for the paper by lantern light."

Rogero then bundled his pictures, the copy he had and his wife into the car and drove to Seguin "where I used to work." He got the Seguin paper to print the Pilot. . . and rented a motel room until the job was done. . . then loaded the finished papers in the car, "brought it back and had it on the streets on Thursday, same as always."

Since his retirement, he plays golf, cards--"bridge and once in a while a little poker." He used to hunt and fish "quite a bit," he said, "but I had a heart attack in '61 that kind of slowed me down."

He also likes to watch TV--he has four television sets and four stereos--and he plays the organ. "I walk a lot now," he added.

Of the newspaper business, he said, "I miss it, but I don't think I want to fool with it anymore."

He's too busy enjoying retirement.

FEES

$1,550,772.

This includes proposed general fund expenditures of $678,258. Expenditures in other departments are: garbage, $143,814; water, $752,319; and sewer, $246,030.

Adding to garbage department expenditures was an increase in the rates being charged to the city of Rockport for use of the San Patricio landfill. City Secretary Herman Johnson said this also includes an increase in salaries and the addition of another employee.

New garbage rates adopted by the council Monday includes an increase of $1 a month--up to $5--on the minimum rate and a 20 per cent increase in commercial rates. New garbage rates will go into effect October 1.

New sewer rates also will go into effect October 1.

The new minimum charge will be $4 a month for residences, condominiums, apartments, churches and public buildings; a 35 per cent per month increase on each additional fixture over four; and an increase to $4.50 a month for hospitals, hotels and cafes.

Part of the need for this increase is to help balance the sewer department budget which in past years has been tied to the water department. Beginning with fiscal 1979-80, the sewer department will have to be self-supporting.

The budget for the water department, up about $50,000 from last year, includes the $12,000 in additional funds that will be needed to pay the $1,000 per month asked for by the water district.

It also includes about $6,400 to pay the annual premium on insurance to cover water district facilities, Johnson said. This includes some $2 million in protection for two elevated tanks, three ground storage tanks and all the equipment at the water plants.

Under the city's present agreement with the water district, the city pays "all amounts reasonably required to defray District's expenses" in connection with providing water to Rockport and Aransas County residents.

The city presently pays the water district one cent per each 1,000 gallons of water. The $1,000 per month will be in addition to this figure, which amounts to some $5,000 or $6,000 a year, Johnson said.

In addition to the budget, the council also voted on the discounts on taxes paid in advance and the penalty and interest to be charged on delinquent taxes.

Advance payment discounts will be the same as for the 1978-79 fiscal year: 3 per cent if paid in October; 2 per cent in November; and 1 per cent in December.

Penalty and interest charges will be 1 per cent if tax is paid in February; 2 per cent in March; 3 per cent in April; 4 per cent in May; 5 per cent in June; and 8 per cent after July 1. Johnson said these rates are fixed by state law.

Hounds Take To The Air, Bombard Pirates 20-0

As in the days of old when flying aces went on barn-storming tours, filling the skies with flying machines, so the scene was in Taft last week—only the sky was filled with footballs.

Quarterback Marc Jones chunked the ball 25 times at the Pirate defense in the 20-0 victory for the Greyhounds.

Taft now goes to 2-0, and the Pirates even their record at 1-1.

Although coaches across the country debate the throwing game versus the running game, Taft proved if the defense is conscious of the air game, then at the right moment, the running game will go.

After a scoreless first period in which the Pirate defense made a goal line stand, Taft got on the scoreboard on a 24-yard draw play as the Pirates were looking for pass all the way on the 2-and-11 situation. The extra point try was good, giving the Hounds a 7-0 lead.

The Pirates started out poorly, and a poorer kicking game kept them in trouble all night. The Pirates never did enjoy good field position, never crossing the mid field stripe into Taft territory.

Again in the second period, the Pirate defense had to make a brilliant stand near the Taft goal after a blocked punt put the Pirates in deep trouble. Taft scored a touchdown following the blocked punt, but a yellow flag called it back.

Following the play, Taft went to the air, and Pirate safety Esequiel Hernandez stepped in front of the Hound receiver and intercepted the ball and returned it 23 yards to take the pressure off.

At the half, the Pirates were only behind by the 7-0 margin, and anything but out of the game at that point.

The second half started no better for the Pirates, as the Taft punter kicked the ball high, and when it hit near the Pirate endzone, a Hound was there to down the ball on the one yardline. The Pirates used a Jim Eaton to Hernandez pass to get out of trouble, but three plays later, the Pirates were forced to punt.

The result of the punt put the Pirates out of the game to stay. Charlie Havis took the punt on his own thirty, and 70 yards later he crossed the goal line for a TD. The shock seemed to deflate the Pirates.

The Pirates were facing a new foe. The clock was being eaten up by the Hounds. Each time they possessed the ball, precious time raced from the clock.

Taft backed the Pirates deep in their own territory before the Pirates defense stopped another Taft attack at the 15 of the Pirates. With time fleeting, the Pirates went for a gallant fourth down try on their own 20 yardline and did not make it.

Taft took only three plays for Jones to throw a scoring strike to Milton Teague to top off the scoring for the night.

After it was all over, Coach Brian Connolly dejectedly commented, "They didn't do anything different than we expected, but their offense and defense out-executed us. I don't think the score reflects how well our defense played, considering where we gave Taft the ball, and the fact that a lot of our players played the entire game without rest."

Pirate defenders had a big game individually. George Solis led tacklers with seven solo tackles, plus adding five assists. Other Pirates with at least 10 hits on defense were Hernandez, Kyle Dietze, and Gary Ondrej. Alvin Miller and Mark McDonald added eight hits each.

JV Holds On For Tie To Finish 6-6

Rockport-Fulton's JV swapped third period touchdowns with the Taft Greyhounds in Rockport last week to end up in a 6-6 tie.

Three key fumbles cost the Pirates dearly as Pirate runners found the going tough, and holding on to the ball even tougher. The only score for the Pirates came on the now-famous starburst kickoff return.

On the opening kickoff of the second half, Eddie Naro fielded the ball, handed off to Adam Harden, who in turn handed to David Kelly. Before it was finished, Kelly had run 80 yards for the score.

Taft came back after intercepting a Pirate pass, putting a drive together, and then climaxing the drive with an 8-yard run. Perhaps the biggest play of the night came a few minutes later when the Hounds went for a field goal. The kick was off, and the Pirates were able to hold on for the tie.

Kelly was the leading ground gainer for the Pirates with 67 yards in 15 times. Naro was the leading tackler with 12 defensive strikes. Aaron Pena and Larry Clark added 10 tackles for the defense, while Todd Mokry and Clark each had a fumble recovery.

The next game for the Pirates will be Thursday night as they host the Bobcats of Refugio in Rockport.

Freshmen Fall 18-6

Rockport-Fulton's Freshmen were ambushed by Taft last week in Rockport, handing the young Pirates their first defeat of the year, by an 18-6 score.

The Pirates got on the scoreboard first with Peter Nichols running the ball over from three yards out, and a loose ball was recovered and awarded the Pirates for the score.

Earlier in the game, the Pirates failed to cash in on an opportunity after line-backer Tim Redden intercepted the ball for the Pirates. The Pirates moved the ball all the way to the 11 of the Hounds, but penalties blew that chance.

The Pirate TD did come after Troy Casterline had set up the Pirates in Hound territory with a key fumble recovery.

Fumbles then began to plague the Pirates, as the game slipped from their grasp. The boys from Rockport-Fulton lost five fumbles, and one pass was intercepted, but it was returned all the way for a Hound TD. The Hounds added two more scores in the second half to ice the game.

Casterline led all tacklers with 11 hits on defense; he was followed by Tim Butcher and Bart DeForest. On offense, Nichols was the leading ball carrier with 97 yards in 21 attempts.

Your Horoscope Guide

ARIES: (March 21 to April 19 — Also Aries Ascendant) — Combat your restlessness by creating your own activities — get out and about with friends and attend civic affairs. Listen to the opinions of associates and don't rely entirely on your own values or ideas.

TAURUS: (April 20 to May 20 — Also Taurus Ascendant) — Energy could be somewhat low and it is best to schedule important appointments at a later time if possible. Rest, relax, read and study now. Write letters and creative writing projects are favored, too.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 20 — Also Gemini Ascendant) — Move forward in an assertive way but with some measure of caution. Friends may be of the "fair weather" type so think twice before granting favors. Good time to entertain friends in a public place.

CANCER: (June 21 to July 22 — Also Cancer Ascendant) — Call on your versatility to enjoy social activities as well as performing your necessary duties. A relationship may seem difficult, but you can keep it in balance by being straightforward, yet not unkind.

LEO: (July 23 to Aug. 22 — Also Leo Ascendant) — Good time to change any bad habits and begin a "self-help" program. Review past performance and set your goals. Go over your budget and if overextended make the decision to cut down. Not the time for long-term contractual debts.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 — Also Libra Ascendant) — With so much activity and lots to accomplish, it is necessary to discipline yourself and follow a schedule. Good time to start a new project that could come to completion by month's end. Be discreet in romance.

VIRGO: (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 — Also Virgo Ascendant) — An active week when you may be called upon to make some compromises. You are in a position of authority whether you think so or not! Accept social invitations where your charm will bring you success.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 — Also Sagittarius Ascendant) — Avoid excesses now and discipline yourself regarding the "pleasures of life." News of a financial windfall could arrive — just don't spend it until you get it! Your dreams could be coming true now.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 — Also Scorpio Ascendant) — You could be reevaluating your goals and feel resentment about certain obstacles in your path. Not the time to "lay down the law" or make impulsive, rash decisions. Channel energy into cooperative activities.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 — Also Capricorn Ascendant) — Money matters seem uppermost on your mind. Tie up loose ends, review budget, make realistic decisions to curb extravagance by your mate or partner as well as yourself. A business offer appears favorable.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 — Also Aquarius Ascendant) — Money matters seem uppermost on your mind. Tie up loose ends, review budget, make realistic decisions to curb extravagance by your mate or partner as well as yourself. A business offer appears favorable.

PISCES: (Feb. 19 to March 20 — Also Pisces Ascendant) — When making an agreement, compromise is the key — avoid issuing an ultimatum. You may be overextended or spread too thin. If so, this is the time to "fall back and regroup." Lay the groundwork for a future project.

Some tasty Chinese dishes

By PHILIP SOUSA
Copley News Service

HONG KONG — A recent visit to the People's Republic of China did much to lift the lid of mystery my lack of firsthand knowledge had placed on the fascinating pot that is that country's cuisine.

I came away with added appreciation for and interest in Chinese cuisine and cooking methods. Research while in China, limited as it was, convinced me that preparation entails the most work. Cooking usually takes but a few minutes. It is dicing, peeling, chopping, skinning and mixing that take time.

With the able assistance of a local friend, Henry B.C. Cheng of the Hong Kong Tourist Association, I learned quite a bit here about Chinese food and cooking. He told me what to read, where to sample, and whom to talk to among this city's army of talented chefs.

The major styles of Chinese food to be found here are those of Canton, Shanghai, and Szechuan.

Fresh ingredients, quickly cooked by steaming or frying with little oil or salt distinguish Cantonese food, as does rice, usually served at the end of the meal, and a light soup, offered midway through it. All sorts of seafood, sliced beef with vegetables, barbecued meats and crispy fried chicken are among popular Cantonese dishes.

A personal favorite:

STEAMED FISH
1 snapper (about 2 pounds)
2 scallions
3 medium-size black mushrooms
6 slices ham
5 slices ginger
½ oz. chicken fat

SAUCE
1 cup stock
1 tsp. light soy sauce

1 tsp. white wine
1 tsp. cornstarch
1 tsp. salt
2 tps. peanut oil

Clean fish well and dry carefully. Lay two scallions on platter. Place fish on top, scatter mushroom slices, ham and ginger on fish, then cover with chicken fat. Steam over high heat for seven to 10 minutes, depending on size of fish. Drain and discard any remaining chicken fat. Heat two teaspoons of peanut oil. Add pre-mixed sauce, cooked until thickened, pour over fish and serve.

Shanghai style makes more generous use of oil, and foods are generally cooked over longer periods of time. Garlic, peppers and other spices are abundantly used. And noodles appear more often than does rice.

A choice of the region:

WINE-BRAISED EELS

1 lb. fresh eel
2 spring onions
1 brown onion
½-inch fresh ginger
2 cloves garlic
4 ozs. bamboo shoots
1 tbs. sweet bean paste

1 tsp. dry sherry wine
1 tsp. light soy sauce
2 tps. sesame oil
Freshly ground black pepper

Wash eels and cut into thin strips with sharp knife. Chop ginger, onions, garlic and bamboo shoots. Heat small quantity of oil in pan and sautee garlic and ginger for one minute over high heat. Reduce heat, add bamboo shoots and onions and stir-fry until golden brown. Add eels and bean paste, and follow with sherry, salt and pepper to taste, and soy sauce. Return heat to high and cook seven m ring. Pou sprinkle v serve.

and cook for another six to seven minutes while stirring. Pour into serving dish, sprinkle with sesame oil and serve.

On first encounter, the Szechuanese taste peculiar to central-west China remind Westerners of some of Mexico's spicier offerings. Dishes are indeed often hot, but eminently palatable. Steaming, simmering and smoking are the usual cooking procedures.

A treat from Szechuan:

PRAWNS IN SAUCE
1 lb. large prawns

3 tbsps. peanut oil
1 tsp. white wine
¼ cup chicken broth
1 tsp. hot bean paste
1 tsp. chopped pickled chili
1 tsp. chopped ginger
1 tsp. salt
1 pinch scallion
1 tbsps. tomato sauce
½ tsp. chili oil

Trim, devein prawns, and cut each into three parts. Heat two tablespoons peanut oil in pan, stir-fry prawns for one minute. Add wine and two tablespoons chicken broth. Cover and cook for two minutes. Heat one tablespoon peanut oil in separate pan. Add bean paste, chili, ginger, salt, scallion and balance (one-half cup) chicken broth. Add prawns, cover and cook over moderate heat for two minutes. Add tomato sauce, stir-fry at high heat and serve.

Bamboo shoots

Young bamboo shoots are a recent addition to the family pattern of mealtime use in America. For centuries, Orientals grew the bamboo for a harvest of strong stout cane-like poles, which they used to carry things or to drill holes in the earth. Some historians report that the Chinese were the first to dig or drill a water well by using a sharpened end on a bamboo pole and letting the earth fill up the inside hollow space and clean it out and resume digging.

During one of their less prosperous years, they began to harvest the young bamboo as it grew up out of the soil. They cooked them, ate them raw or mixed them into other foods, and thus began the popularity of young bamboo shoots as an edible vegetable. Now it is an Oriental staple.

If you can find fresh bamboo shoots at your market, be sure to soak them in cold water for about 30 minutes. Then either cook them, shred them raw into a salad or eat them on a sandwich like alfalfa sprouts.

Their flavor resembles very young field corn that hasn't quite matured for full ears.

Bamboo shoots — naturally yours.

Chilled Black Bean Soup

1 can condensed black bean soup
1 can condensed consommé
1 can water
1 jigger dry sherry or dark rum

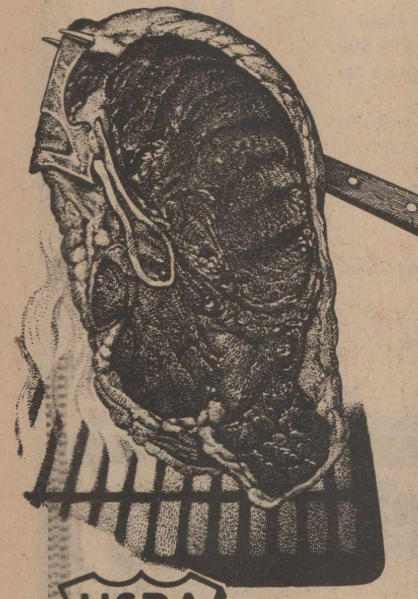

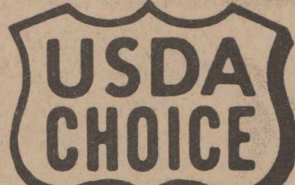

Stir all together until smooth. Chill for at least 4 hours.

Serve cold with a topping of lightly salted whipped cream or sour cream.
