

The other day I witnessed two children getting an education. They had their major lesson in a cemetery...

Lest you think this is morbid, the purpose of the cemetery visit was to take some photographs of bluebonnets at their peak.

But with a 10-year old nephew and an 8-year old friend, the visit turned into something of a treasure hunt.

They started out looking at some of the "old fashioned" names carved into the headstones. They were fascinated by the Woodsmen of the World markers with their stone "logs".

Then they began to read the dates. When they found one with World War II on it, and the deceased's name and rank, it was as if history became alive for them.

assured them that if they kept looking they would find graves of soldiers from World War I as well.

Shortly there was an exclamation of excitement, typical of a 10-year old, "Nanalee, come look at this absolutely COOL grave." (I never thought of gravestones in exactly those terms.)

The grave they had found was of a Confederate soldier. Their eyes were big, their active minds impressed. Then the real lesson began to sink in. For they discovered that lambs and angels usually marked the graves of infants and children.

To today's modern youngster, the concept of so many children dying is simply inconceivable. We had a little talk, about how infants died from unpasteurized milk, from pneumonia, from smallpox and scarlet fever.

I pointed out to my nephew that at Christmas when he underwent emergency appendicitis surgery, his biggest problem was missing Christmas morning at home. Back in the early part of the century, he would have died.

They grew more and more thoughtful as they scampered from marker to marker...trying to find the oldest grave, the most unusual grave.

They had a wonderful time...and came away with a new perspective on life...that families go on for many years...that modern medicine truly saves lives...that people once lived, loved, fought and played just as they do now.

I believe they truly have a feeling of continuity with their ancestors now. What started as a simple picture-taking expedition turned into an experience for us all.

Bogata Tick

Massacre Set

The Bogata Kiwanis Club is planning a "Tick Massacre". The club members are offering to tick dip local pets on Saturday mornings, 9 to 12, on May 14 and May 21.

Kiwanian Joe T. Kelsey, Area IV Supervisor of the Texas Animal Health Commission, will preside at the dipping, which will take place on the parking lot of the First National Bank of Bogata. Other Kiwanians will assist.

A family's first pet will be treated for $3, additional ones at $2.

The Tick Massacre is a fund raising project of the newly formed Kiwanis Club. Some Kiwanians are predicting that, if successful, the project will be repeated annually.

There are already predictions that Kelsey will become the "Dr. Strangelove" of the tick world!!

Spears, Jones Elected To Water Board

Leonard K. Spears of Detroit and Majle Jones of Annonan won election to the Red River County Water District's Board of Directors on May

7. Both candidates were backed by a citizens group opposed to financing Dimple Reservoir with tax money. Spears defeated his two opponents for the Place 7 seat with 1,251 votes to John K. Dial's 742 and Veronica Stringer's 50 votes. Jones defeated Travis Hale in the Place 9 at-large race, 1,949 to 1,845.

Both winners had been involved in an earlier lawsuit to avoid the 1987 election that saw the water district formed and $7.2 million in bonds approved for Dimple Reservoir's construction. The suit was later dropped.

Russell, Burns, Daniels Win Election

Jerry Russell, Billy Daniels and Neva Dell Burns were winners in the Talco-Bogata Independent School

District trustee election on May 7. Incumbent Jerry Russell with 354 votes won over Bruce Case with 187 votes for the Place 1 seat. For Place 4 trustee, Neva Dell Burns with 440 votes won over Greg

May Mean Three Hundred Local Jobs

Correction Facility Could Locate In Co.

The prospect of several hundred new jobs for Red River County was the subject of the day at the May 9 meeting of the County Commissioners' Court.

Corrections Concepts, Inc. ("CCI"), a non-profit corporation founded by a group of prominent Baptist laymen-businessmen, has been offered a contract by the Texas Department of Corrections to train and prepare 500 non-violent prisoners, all within 24 months of completing their sentences, to return to productive life on the civilian economy.

CCI is considering a site near Red River County General Hospital for housing the trainees and to provide training facilities. The site would also enclose an industrial plant at which trainees would be gainfully employed while learning skills that would assure them employment (most probably near their original homes) upon release.

The site under consideration, some three miles from Clarksville, is about thirteen miles from Bogata and fairly close to the "center of population density" of the County. As many as six "satellite plants" would be located nearby to provide additional training and employment to the trainees.

The central site would mean about three hundred new jobs for Red River County residents, and the satellite plants could mean several hundred more. If it becomes an actuality, the project will give a much-needed boost to the county's sagging economy.

At Monday's Commissioners' Court meeting, CCI representatives told the Court that it needed a "Certificate of Participation" from the County in order to qualify for the TDC contract.

On the initiative of Commissioner Drue Pirtle of Jolintown, the Commissioners told CCI that the Court would be ready to provide such certification if the County could be assured that it would be free of financial and other liability. A letter to this effect is being prepared on an urgent basis.

County Judge L.D. Williamson, who is also president of the County Industrial Commission which seeks to attract industrial jobs, told The News that he was confident that problems facing the project could be solved. In addition to the question of the County's liability, CCI must be assured that an adequate supply of water can be delivered to the site.

Should the project go forward, construction could begin "very soon" at the central site. Financing for site acquisition and construction has been lined up by CCI, and the plant would eventually become the property of Red River County, free and clear.

Cool Weather Contributes To Insect Problem

By Herb Brevard

Cool weather has contributed some heavier insect populations in vegetable crops than normal. The aphid population has been extremely high and needs to be controlled. Aphids can transmit disease to other plants and reduce plant vigor. Sprays containing malathion, diazinon and insecticidal soaps may be used to control aphids.

Thrips cause a curling of the leaf tissue on peas and beans an delay maturity because of damage to the growing terminal. Commercial growers who control thrips with insecticides can harvest about a week earlier than those who do not use insecticides. Malathion, diazinon and Cygon are approved for thrip control.

Squash bugs are not hard to control if control measures are started early enough. The insect overwinters in the adult stage and invades the squash or cucurbit plant shortly after it begins growth. Eggs are laid on the underside of the leaf. The eggs are amber color and triangular in shape. Control should be started when the eggs hatch. Small squash bugs are green with black legs. Sevin and Thiodan may be used for control.

Fire ants are common nuisance pests in vegetable gardens. No baits can legally be used inside the garden. Sevin, diazinon and malathion can be used as a drench or in the granular form in the garden.

next cooling system:

SEER

If you're shopping for a new cooling system, understanding "SEER" can help you choose an energy-efficient model.

"SEER" — or Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio — is an efficiency measure calculated for air conditioning equipment. Higher ratios mean greater efficiency.

Texas-New Mexico Power Company recommends that units have a "SEER" of at least 9.0 and that they're properly sized to serve the areas you need to cool.

God cares.

You are worth caring about. No matter what. We believe that because the Bible says it. And our own experience convinces us. Our church is filled with people who have known despair, heartache, sickness, guilt. Yet each one has found the way to the God who cares. Before this ad was placed we started praying for you because we care too. We'd like to share.

Linda Tabb Heading Bike Ride

St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital officials announced today that Mrs. Linda Tabb will chair the hospital's Wheels for Life bike ride in Bogata this spring. This ride will raise funds to support the hospital's battle against childhood cancer and other illnesses being studied there.

Founded in 1962 by entertainer Danny Thomas, St. Jude Hospital has become the world's largest center for the study of childhood cancer and is the only institution dedicated solely to the treatment and study of catastrophic childhood diseases. The hospital is non-sectarian and interracial.

Assembly Of God Launches Campaign

By Mollie Williams

Sunday, May 1, the First Assembly of God Church of Bogata launched their first multimedia campaign. The theme for the campaign is "Hurting? God Cares."

The program consists of several channels of communication all carrying the same message to the public at the same time. The media includes outdoor advertising, radio, bumper stickers, newspapers, tracts and posters. A billboard carrying the message has been erected in front of the church building alongside Highway 271.

Following the evening service on May 1, the billboard was dedicated and officially lighted for the first time. During the dedication, Rev. Larry Allgood, pastor of the church, urged church members to pray, work and to become personally involved in this effort.

"People in our world are hurting," said Pastor Allgood, "and it is our desire to let them know that God cares about them and that we care, also." The three-fold purpose in sponsoring this campaign is awareness of the message, evangelism and visibility of the church.

Chad Martin Honored With Luau

The family of Chad Martin presented an Hawaiian Luau honoring Chad and his classmates on Saturday, May 7. There were 25 eighth grade students present along with many relatives who helped give the party. Many of the girls wore grass skirts while the guys wore leis, jams and loud shirts. The Bogata Community Center was the location of the event, which was decorated by Mary Jo Whitley, Nancy Hervey and Ellen Hanna. Party lights were strung along the sidewalks. Cane poles covered the archways of the bridge, sidewalk and door. Aloha signs and pineapples were part of the decor. Fish nets were draped around with large crepe balls, flowers and streamers. Parrots rested in the palm trees. Cane poles were used for a Hawaiian atmosphere. Pineapples, hula girls and candles were used for centerpieces on the refreshment tables. A meal of many types of sandwiches, dips, chips, olives, strawberries, canteloupe, fruit salad, fresh fruit picks, tropical life savers and a tiered cherry delight cake were served. A fruit punch and cokes were the beverages. Most of the adults attending enjoyed their meal outside on a picnic table. The children played games, danced and enjoyed the grounds of the community center. Souvenirs of Hawaiian leis, aloha cups and autograph books were given.

The Bogata Lions Club met at the Community Center at 7:30 Thursday, May 5.

The meeting was called to order by president, Tommie Corbell. Prayer was given by Rev. Billy Daniels. The pledge to the flag was led by J.C. Watson. A meal was prepared and served by Worth Hood. A report on the success of the first annual Fish Fry was given by Jack Crane and Jerrel Vickers. Plans were discussed to make the Fish Fry a semi-annual event. One in April and one in October. David Rozell and Jack Crane will be in charge of a drawing to give away a rifle on Frontier Day. A one dollar donation to the Lions Club charitable projects will make a person eligible for the drawing. J.C. Watson reported that he had received quite a few eye glasses since the last meeting. He said he would like to have more old glasses and hearing aides.

A joint dinner meeting with the Lady Lions and spouses was set for the first meeting in June to complete plans for Frontier Day and the Rodeo. The next regular meeting will be May 19 at 7:30 p.m. Jack Crane will be in charge of the meal.

The Rev. Bob Bush, who has moved here recently as pastor of the United Methodist Churches, was a special guest at the meeting.

Tick Season Poses Threats

The tick season, with its dangers for man and beast, is upon us. According to local representatives of the Texas Agricultural Service and the Animal Health Commission, the season will be in full swing for another six weeks or more.

The several species of ticks infesting the local area reproduce on "host animals" including livestock and pets. When feeding, ticks draw blood from the host and transmit disease by depositing microorganisms carried on their mouthparts or in salivary fluids.

Both "Lone Star" ticks and brown dog ticks are carriers of Rocky Mountain spotted fever and tularemia. If promptly diagnosed and treated, these diseases may be cured. A non-fatal local case of "tick fever" has already been confirmed this year.

Humans, particularly those who work or vacation in heavily tick infested areas, who experience the onset of fever-like symptoms and recall being bitten by a tick 10-14 days earlier should mention this association to their physician, according to a Texas Agricultural Service publication.

Dogs and other small animals if attacked by large numbers of ticks may suffer from serious and potentially fatal inflammation, toxification and severe anemia, according to the publication.

Humans exposed to ticks are counseled to use repellants and to check their clothing, bodies and hair at least twice daily to remove ticks promptly.

Livestock and pets may be protected to a degree by tick dips and other chemical applications. Severe infestation should be treated by a veterinarian.

Hard Work, Moral Values, Topic At Banquet

By Mollie Williams

Rivercrest athletes attending the annual Sports Banquet on Tuesday night, May 3 were admonished by guest speaker Tim Edwards to work hard, get a good education and set goals and high moral standards for themselves in order to obtain desired success.

Mr. Edwards is presently head coach at Hurst L.D. Bell Schools. He is the only head coach in the Texas High School Coaches Association who had served as head coach in all five classifications.

Speaking to the athletes and guests, Coach Edwards recalled events from his youth which helped him in his accomplishments and attributed much of his success to his parents for giving him a Christian background and teaching him how to work. Coach Edwards recalled that when he asked for permission to play football in those early years, his father responded with "Son, we have sixty cows to milk each morning and sixty to milk each evening and you must get a good education; but in your spare time, you can play football." Coach Edwards advised the young people to have respect for each other, their teachers, and their parents and to avoid those things that were detrimental to their lives such as drugs and alcohol. He encouraged parents to work with their children in building good relationships.

In closing, Coach Edwards told the athletes to enjoy their days of youth, have fun in a Christian way, and be the best at whatever they choose to do. He emphasized these fundamentals with a poem, "Count your blessings instead of your crosses, count your gains instead of your losses, count your yeses instead of your nos, count your friends instead of your foes, count your full years instead of your lean, count your deeds instead of your means, count your health instead of your wealth, count on God instead of yourself."

Following the speech, Coaches

Wood, Giddens, Copeland and Barker recognized the athletes in the various athletic programs and their accomplishments for the past year. Those making All District in football were Todd Denny and Bradley Woods, first team, Marvin Anderson, Lafayette Brown, Todd Denny, John Purviance, Sammy Sparger and Bradley Woods, second team. The Girls Track Award was given to Rachel Smith and Rosie Norman and Clint Tidwell received the Boys Track Award.

This year's Fighting Rebel award went to Marvin Anderson. The recipient of this award is chosen by the coaches and must have participated in at least two varsity sports, be a good layer and show a strong desire to compete.

Kim Clark was chosen for the second consecutive year to receive the Rebelette Award. This award is given in recognition of accomplishments which exhibit those values that should be reinforced by participation as a Rebelette.

Todd Denny and John Purviance were chosen to receive the Gary McConnell Award. This award is given in memory of Gary McConnell, who while a student at Rivercrest High School, participated in football and track and exemplified a Christian attitude toward both athletics and his personal life. He was a team oriented player who responded positively to coaching and was very popular with his peers, displaying strong leadership qualities and outstanding citizenship. Recipients of this award must fulfill these qualities and are selected by the coaches.

Wallace Fry of Talco received the Booster Award. This award is given to a person or persons who go far beyond the normal requirements of time and effort to support athletics at Rivercrest High School.

Senior Awards were presented to Rachel Smith, Kim Clark, Dennis Ewing, Marvin Anderson, John Purviance, Cynthia Thompson, Todd Denny and David Bush.

The 1987-88 varsity cheerleaders were recognized. They were Shelaphon Simmons, head cheerleader, Rachel Smith, Kristi Brooks, Amy Presley, and D'Ann Stephenson. The cheerleaders presented their sponsor, Brenda Gunter with a necklace as an appreciating gift for her time and effort.

WALLACE FRY of Talco received the Booster Award for his support of Rivercrest athletics. Coach Wake Wood presented the award during the program of the Rivercrest Sports Banquet Tuesday night, May 3. (Staff Photo by Mollie Williams)

Robert Hunter Remembered As Special

By Mollie Williams
Red River Haven Nursing Home in Bogata won't be the same without the presence of one of its liveliest residents, Robert Hunter. Robert died Friday, May 6 in Red River General Hospital. He had been a resident of Red River Haven for almost ten years. All who knew Robert loved him because he was a very special person. Despite his being handicapped from polio at a very young age, he managed to maintain a cheerfulness that was contagious to those he came in, contact with.

Many people remember Robert when he lived with his parents on Highway 271 West, just outside of Bogata. He sat near the highway in front of his house and waved to every car and truck that passed. When his family moved into town, Robert missed watching the traffic on the highway, but quickly made friends with his neighbors on South Main.

Following an automobile accident which took the life of his father, Robert and his mother, Jessie Hunter, moved to Red River Haven where he became a vital part of the activities there. He was faithful to every church service and enjoyed conversation with all who took the time to talk with him. According to family members, he enjoyed singing more than anything else. He had a good strong voice and knew more songs than most people. His voice could always be heard above all the others singing in the chapel during special programs and church services.

Robert loved everyone and expressed those feelings to others often. He had something good to say about everyone he met and complaints from him were rare.

In this life, Robert Hunter did not travel great distances, receive vast knowledge, gain monetary wealth or worldly fame, but by his cheerfulness and love for others, he won a place for himself in the hearts of many.

Students In Band Competition

Friday, May 5 at Harmony, Talco and Bogata Band students were in the Band Solo Ensemble Contest. Sixth grade students participating from Talco were Robyn Reeves, Jackie Reed, Crystal

White, Joey Southern, Greg Henry and Laquita Norman.

Eighth grade students were Kristi Reed, Jason White, Jesse Watts, Felicia Hobson, Corey Gable and Tiffany Parrish.

Alsobrook's Have Family Gathering

There was a covered dish luncheon held on Mother's Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Alsobrook of Rugby in honor of May birthdays. Those honored were Zuma Ham, Barney and Bobby Alsobrook, Wendy Renea Todd, Corey and Nancy Gresham and Reba Bell.

Family members in attendance were Zuma, Bill and Wilford Ham of Bentonville, AR; Tracey, Todd and Mary Ann Williams, Michele Gray and Fanny Cowan of Detroit; Pansy and Harley Vaughn of Richardson; Barney and Mae Alsobrook of Bogata; Lucille Morgan, Randy,

Gloria, Corey, Lacey, Earl and Nancy Gresham, Bill Todd, Patsy Norrell, Doug and Goldie Alsobrook of Deport; Nancy Nell Jones of Irving; Gordon, Clois, Wayne and Pauline Alsobrook of Rugby; a niece and nephew of Pauline's, Lesa, Jasper and Nikalus Clarkson of Blossom; Benny, Barbara, Gina, Bryan, Corey, Stephanie and Kristopher Alsobrook of Farmersville; Terry, Reba and Lawrence Bell and Randy Allen of Clarksville; Felipe Mendez of Mt. Vernon; Danny, Janice and Kurt Phillips and Wendy Todd of Sun Valley.

TO THE VOTERS OF TALCO-BOGATA CISD

Thank you for your continued support in re-electing me as trustee. I will continue to work for the improvement of the School District.
