CRUDE MARKET TAKES SECOND JUMP FRIDAY

Maximum Price of $1.95 to $2.10 Now In Vogue Here

SPOT OIL HIGH

es Add $40,000 To Wichita Falls Oil Income

For the second time in eight days yesterday crude oil purchasing companies in this territory put jacks under old posted price schedules and bolstered a structure that was already high enough to create a general optimism and outlook for better things, and gave Wichita Falls oil producers a price for their oil all the way from 45 to 70 cents higher than the prices they were getting a fortnight ago.

A new gravity grading was created —42 degrees and above, bringing a top price of $1.95 from the majors, and $2.10 from local independent refiners, the American Refining company, and the Panhandle Refining company, with the probability that Texhoma will follow this morning.

The grading, 36 and above, which includes practically all the oil produced in the Wichita Falls district, was quoted yesterday in the schedules at $1.70, and 39 and above at $1.85, by the Texas company, Prairie, Gulf, Humble, Magnolia, and others, while the independents offered $1.85 and $2.00 for those two grades, in which is included practically all the Wichita Falls production.

Minimum Offerings.

The minimum offerings of $1.30 by the independents, 90c by the Magnolia, and $1.15 by the remaining majors will have little effect here, Montague county oil in less than 100 barrel quantities, being almost the only low gravity crude produced in this area with the exception of some from shallower strata at South Vernon.

Spot offerings yesterday reached their maximum in over a year with $2.25 a barrel offered in some instances. A Tulsa dispatch says Tonkawa and Garber oils are now commanding prices around $2.15 and $2.20 a barrel. The spot market doesn't always tell the tale of further advances or cuts, but as a barometer of conditions it sometimes shows the way the trend is running, as witness the experiences of the past month or so.

Wortham Ever Down.

Wortham is declining in production by leaps and bounds. Even north Texas and this particular area are showing declines each week in output, and competition for crude is becoming more marked every day. Another new pipeline is prospective for South Archer county, with several new areas booming there as potentially productive and new big fields certain to be discovered within the span of the next six months.

In the meantime, with conditions such as they are figuring the average increase in price per barrel of oil during the past eight days as 50 cents, the income of Wichita Falls oil producers, including that of the major companies also has been enhanced by something like $40,000 a day, an approximate 80,000 barrels a day production in Wichita, Archer, Clay, Young and Wilbarger counties being now worth to the city about $140,000 a day, whereas two weeks ago its value could not be computed far over $100,000.

NAVARRO STORE IS ROBBED

CORSICANA, Texas, Jan. 30.—The general merchandise store of F. W. Speed at Roan, Navarro county, and contents were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin at 2 o'clock this morning, with a $20,000 loss. The store was partially covered by insurance.

PROHIBIT PRISON BAT

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—During the morning session the house engrossed a bill by Representative Irwin prohibiting whipping or placing in stocks of prisoners, and requiring written permission of each prison commissioner necessary before a convict can be punished, except in case of an emergency.

CREDIT FALSITY PENALIZED

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—The house engrossed a bill by Downs making a false statement relative to financial conditions for the purpose of obtaining credit a felony, and passed a measure granting an additional district court to Dallas county to replace a special court which expired last year.

Posses Search For Mangum Murderers

ALTUS, Okla., Jan. 30. — Posses are scouring southwestern Oklahoma and northern Texas today for two negroes who killed and robbed J. W. Morgan, 65, wealthy Mangum merchant on the highway west of here last night.

Morgan, mortally wounded, staggered a quarter of a mile and described his assailants before falling dead.

Feeling is running high.

Morgan was one of the best known men in this section of the state and has hosts of friends.

Twenty men are searching for the negroes.

In the meantime mob feeling is growing in Altus and lynching is openly talked if the blacks are found.

The blacks attacked the aged merchant and after wounding him, took his valuables and left him on the ground near his car.

Too weak to drive, and bleeding profusely Morgan reached Altus and aroused citizens. He died a few minutes later.

ORGANIZE FOR SAFETY'S SAKE

Local Men In "Wichita Falls Safety Council" Organization

The initial steps in the organization of a body of Wichita Falls citizens who are making it their interest that there are fewer accidents where "safety first" will prevent in the shops, the fields, and on the streets of Wichita Falls, were taken last night when 35 men, representing practically every industry of consequence in the city met at the offices of the Wichita Falls Electric company and formed the "Wichita Falls Safety Council."

Pronouncing the streets of the city itself the greatest field for safety first propaganda and endeavor the organization put itself on record in the first real action of its career as in favor of the new traffic light system being installed here, and favoring a strict adherence to rules and regulations governing stops and turns on the downtown street corners.

Short talks by Dr. Everett Jones, Dr. A. C. Pattie, J. D. Bright, A. E. Kelly, who acted as chairman of the meeting, J. W. Lyle, and others, stressed various aspects of the safety work and the big field there was for such in this territory, where the large number of "green" workmen in the oil fields alone provided a basis for a large percentage of the accidents here.

Committees were appointed to work out a constitution and bylaws for the organization, and to prepare nominations for officers, the first committee of Judge J. S. Hamilton of Henrietta, J. B. Price, C. B. Clements, Pat Sullivan, and J. B. Smock, and the latter containing Mr. Pogmpsoll, M. A. Chambers, D. C. Dobbins, John Tarbox, Dr. Everett Jones, O. B. Karr, J. W. Lyle, and George Fex.

Announcement was made by J. D. Bright, chairman of the safety committee of the chamber of commerce of the appointments to that committee these consisting of J. W. Lyle, Wichita Falls Electric company, O. E. Maer Wichita Valley railroad, J. W. Cantrell superintendent of schools, Frank Baldwin, Record News, Rhea Howard, Times Publishing company, and J. T. Young, police commissioner.

The next meeting date was set for the evening of February 9, at which time it is hoped to complete organization and make preparations for the visit of a member of the national safety council a week or so later.

IDENTIFY BUCK TAYLOR.

Claim He Is Man Who Killed San Antonio Grocery Man.

CUERO, Tex., Jan. 30.—Former Ranger Y. H. (Buck) Taylor was pointed out in the 24th district court room here Friday afternoon where he is on trial for murder as a "small man in a gray suit" seen using a telephone in R. L. Flowers grocery store in San Antonio immediately after Flowers was shot and killed on January 9 last year. The witness pointing out the defendant as the man he saw in the store was Roy R. Spivey of San Antonio, state witness.

TWO FLAPPERS ARE YEGGS.

Ft. Worth Police Commissioner's Wife Apprehends Them.

FORT WORTH, Jan. 30.—Police tonight were holding two girls, described as the flapper type, in connection with one of the boldest daylight burglaries ever occurring in Fort Worth.

Their arrest was effected on information furnished by Mrs. John Alderman, wife of the police commissioner, who, unaware of what was going on, witnessed the ransacking of the home of Mrs. R. A. Bobo, 2504 Lubbock street, also a relative of the police commissioner's.

HOUSTON MAN SWINDLING

HOUSTON, Jan. 30.—Frank Bradley, president and manager of the Bradley-Yochkey-Oyster Motor Car company, was indicted by the Harris county grand jury Friday on two counts of felony swindling. Judge C. W. Robinson in criminal district court set his bond at $1,000 in each case.

ARREST MADE IN GRUESOME AUTOIST ACT

Police Say Prisoner Had No Regard For Deed He Had Committed

DETECTIVE ON SPOT

Bystander's Clue Leads To Immediate Apprehension Of Driver

Police last night were concerned with what they consider one of the most gruesome disregards of human suffering with which they have ever come in contact here in the killing of L. B. Wells, 70, by a truck at the intersection of Burnett and Sixth street.

Wells, the police are informed, was struck by a truck about 6:45 o'clock as he was crossing Sixth street at Burnett. The truck careened into and over the curb when it struck him. The driver got down from his seat, pulled Wells, dead, from where his body had hung on the front axle, laid the bleeding form on the ground at the side of the wheel, got into the car, backed off the curb—and drove on.

Had not K. F. Bean, 1304 Fifth, special detective for the Industrial Automobile Protective association, been almost on the spot of the accident, the truck driver might have got by with it, police add. As it was Bean drove up scarcely a moment after the occurrence. A crowd gathered instantly, even as the truck disappeared in the darkness. A stranger to Bean stopped up to him.

"If you'll go to so and so," and he indicated a street locality in the Scotland addition on Fifth, "I think you'd locate the man who did this."

The informant disappeared in the crowd, and Bean, accompanied now by City Detective Carmichael and Motorcycle Officer Bentley went to the address indicated and found their man.

They were met by protestations of innocence by the man and a fainting spell from the man's wife. The driver claimed to them he did not know he had struck Wells. Police say, however, that they have an eye-witness to the entire proceedure, and that charges will be filed against the driver.

Wells was cruelly injured. His head was pulverized in the language of police who viewed the body. The dead man was owner of a grocery store in partnership with his son at Seventh and Austin. The family resides at 502 Burnett.

At a late hour last night charges had not been filed in the Wells death but officers removed the truck driver involved to another county "for safe keeping," they stated. Action looking to filing of charges will be taken today.

Veteran of the Senate Cheered On Return

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—Senator John H. Bailey of Cuero, who has been ill, broke up the senate session when he appeared on the floor for the first time today. A senator was in the midst of an argument when Senator Bailey entered the room. Senators greeted him with a patter of handclapping and rushed to greet him. Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller left the chair to greet him. Senator Bailey is regarded as one of the strong men of the upper house.

ANTI-TOXIN BY AIRPLANE.

Nome, Alaska, Diphtheria Sufferers May Get Quick Aid.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 30.—Acting on an appeal from George S. Maynard, mayor of Nome, Alaska, where diphtheria has proved hard to combat because of the city's insolation by winter, the Seattle chamber of commerce today forwarded a request to the United States government that an airplane fly to Nome with anti-toxin.

Efforts to Reduce Available Funds for This Purpose Halted.

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Efforts to reduce the available funds for free text book purchases by the state board of education from 15 cents on the $100 valuation to seven cents were interrupted in the house this afternoon, after a prolonged debate.

INDICT IN ELECTION FRAUD

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—George Koelen, tally clerk who confessed to manipulating ballots in favor of Nathan D. Perlman, the successful republican candidate over Dr. William J. Sirovich, the democratic nominee in their contest for congress last November, was indicted today on counts of perjury and of making a false return of election ballots.

NO SALT SALE PENDING

WACO, Jan. 30.—There is no basis a fact for the rumors that the Kansas City Southern will buy the Katy railroad, according to Albert Clifton, Katy director.

Herrin Recalled As Gun Stops An Auto

Shades of pre-Volstead days, also the more recent ones of the late S. Glenn Young!

Bing! Bing! Pop! Pop- Or something similar.

That's a six-shooter doing its stuff.

An over-supply of booch, a speeding Ford coupe, and a set of county officers on the highway at night time, or any other time for that matter, more than likely will prove a very inconvenient combination for somebody, two Wichita county citizens ing if you give them half a chance.

An over-supply of booch, a speed-

They were coming in from Burkburnett, the two of them were. Hitting it up at a lively clip, zigzagging all over the road, bumping things, and missing few. Was nothing the matter with the steering gear. It was the steerer. Too much corn!

They bumped into a car. Bent the fenders, broke a light. Backed up, sped on, and nearly ran over a group of women walking on the roadside.

There's where Law-And-Order appeared, just out of the city and before you arrive at the Katy shops if you happen to be driving the other way.

Halt! Or words to that effect. But no stop.

The inebriated pair carried on. Law-And-Order set out in pursuit. Caught up, but couldn't come along side of the cantering Ford, because it was trying to run all over the road at the same time.

Now we get the six-gun play. First shot was fired in the air. Liquor, Ford, and occupants didn't hesitate. A second bullet went skipping after a rear tire. Missed!

But the whirring sound of the slug as it richocheted by the swaying vehicle produced the required results. It stopped.

Law-And-Order took charge. Now, Ford, booch, and all are resting under the surveillance of the sheriff's force or that part of it appointed to this duty.

Officers engaged in the chase were Deputy Sheriffs H. L. White, T. W. Noe, and K. F. Bean, the latter special detective for the Industrial Auto Protective association.

HEAVY MARGIN DEMANDED.

Wheat Speculators Forced to Put Up Four Times as Much.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Public eagerness to own unlimited wheat and to reap immense profits ran into something like a stone wall today. The market went as high as $2.05 1-2 a bushel, May delivery, within three-eighths of a cent of the top price record, but only speculators who could put up at least four times as much collateral as usual were allowed to take a hand in trading, and to show faith either for or against belief in a world shortage of bread stuffs.

Raiding At Herrin Is Launched Again

HERRIN, Ills., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Two carloads of special deputies, led by Constable Walter Newell and M. D. Coleman of Herrin, resumed raiding in Williamson county late today. Most of the men were those who had assisted S. Glenn Young, klan liquor raider, who was slain in a shooting affray here Saturday night, when three others were killed.

BRICKLAYERS PALLBEARERS

Local Union Will Conduct Funeral For a Member at 3:30 Today.

W. W. Brown, a local brick mason, died Friday at the general hospital after an illness of three weeks. His health suffered a general, break-down and he was taken to the hospital in the hope that he could recuperate.

Funeral services will be held today at 3:30 in the Hines undertaking parlors, in charge of bricklayers of this city, members of local No. 4. All bricklayers are requested to meet at the undertaking parlors for the funeral.

BANS HASTY MARRIAGE.

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Elimination of hasty marriages in Texas by the institution of marriage "bans" is the plan of Representative H. B. Diedmann of San Antonio who introduced a bill to this effect in the house today.

The bill would require five days notice be given the county clerk before a license to marry might be issued, and also provide that the marriage application be posted at the court house door.

Daniels Will Head Veteran Home Probe

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—Representative Roy J. Daniels of Wichita Falls, vice-chairman of the house elemosary and reform committee, will lead probe of living conditions at the home for aged confederate veterans. This announcement was made today by Representative T. K. Irwin of Dallas, chairman of the committee, who will be unable to attend duf to absence on investigation of the state penitentiaries.

COOLIDGE MEETS DAESCHNER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—President Coolidge and Emile Daeschner, the new French ambassador, took occasion at their first meeting today to exchange assurances that nations must be expected to pay their debts.

MAY DIE OF BURNS

CORSICANA, Texas, Jan. 30.—Ambrosia Griffin, eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Griffin, was probably fatally burned here this morning when her clothing was ignited while standing near an open gas stove. She is in a critical condition.

WE'RE HEADED FOR HELL AND BRIDLE'S GONE

—JUDGE R. W. HALL

Civil Appeals Jurist Paints Gloomy Picture To Bar Banquet Here

A CRACK AT FERGUSON

"Ma" Kindly Wife" But Texas No Infant Under Colic Treatment

A world "headed for hell with the bridle off" was the rather gloomy picture sketched last night for members of the Wichita County Bar association by Judge R. W. Hall, chief justice of the court of civil appeals at Amarillo, when he commented extensively on some of the social, political, moral and religious evils of the day. His address was a remarkable combination of sparkling humor, timely warning and sound philosophy, notwithstanding his insistence that present day civilization was doomed to the fate of Babylon and Rome if it did not speedily get back on the solid foundation of Jesus Christ and the fundamental doctrines of the church.

Humphrey President.

As a prelude to Judge Hall's talk, the bar association elected Leslie Humphrey as president, C. P. Engleking of Electra as vice president and Miss Bezzie Dee, secretary-treasurer of the coming year; it dispensed with several business matters; got a big kick out of the discomfort of a few of its prominent members who came within range of H. F. Weldon's daring fire and had an all around enjoyable time at the annual banquet and business meeting held in the Wichita club rooms.

Disclaiming that he was a pessimist but that he believed some pertinent facts, as he saw them, would be good for his hearers, Judge Hall spoke frankly and with no regard as to whose toes he trod. "Women's thunderations," Ma and Jim Ferguson, Methodist preachers, lawyers who view their calling as a business instead of a profession, the ultra-modern juvenile element and others came under the general indictment. "Women's thunderations," it might be explained, can be translated as women's federations, one of which recently held a convention in Amarillo, endorsed "the infamous child labor amendment because Carrie Chapman Catt said it was a good bill" and committed various and sundry other iniquities in the name of modern enlightenment.

Against Suffrage.

Judge Hall unloaded rather heavily on this phase of the 20th century scheme. He characterized the opening of the ballot box to women as "a smashing of Pandora's box" and declared the country was "going too far" in this respect. "There's no man alive who has more respect, regard or honor for a good woman than I have," he said, "—so long as she remains in her place—and I believe that place is the home. But we have been sadly fooled. They used to tell us to put the ballots in the hands of the women, let the ladies vote and we'll be rid of the saloons, the districts of infamy and all the other evils. Well, we took the lid from the ballot box for them and we've opened a whole Pandora's box of trouble."

In this connection the speaker paid his respects to the Texas experiment with a woman governor. "I'm sure she's a kindly wife; she must be a good cook and I know she's a proud and capable grandmother," he declared, "but Texas is not a teething infant that needs doctoring for the colic." Switching to another tack he said: "If a dog bites me once it's the dog's fault; but if that same dog bites me a second time it's my fault, so I haven't much sympathy for the state of Texas during the next two years."

Refers to the Church.

The latter part of the speaker's remarks were directed at the spiritual side of life; what he termed "the blundering of the church; and the incompetency of most of present day pastors to lead their flocks. Judge Hall showed himself a rock-ribbed exponent of the old school of theology which believes in hell, fire and damnation and that an omnipotent God rules the universe. The modernist view point which "seeks to reconcile science and the Bible" evidently got scant consideration from him. With sardonic humor he scored the ministers who "are trying to reform the world when what it needs is regeneration." This, he pointed out, was the root of the entire evil. He said that the church was entirely overlooking the needs of its people when it tried to reform them to confirm with the new thought of the theological school. He cited various Biblical passages and recounted numerous scriptural instances to prove his points.

Our Dime Museum.

After some preliminary swats at local attorneys he has numbered as friends for years, Judge Hall turned his attention to the state legislature and dealt with it in the same vein as he did with those topics coming later. He admitted that the present judicial system in Texas was "too slow," but he assailed "the dime museum of mental misfits" at Austin that arbitrarily prescribed the manner in which the courts of the state should function.

"The trouble is," he said, "that we still handle our legal business as we did years ago, while every other line of business, social and commercial endeavor has speeded up tremendously. Hence, we seem slow."

Needless duplication of offices and useless waste of time by the courts was blamed by the speaker for many of the delays in the judicial system. He traced the route of a civil case from the time it was filed, through the

Lockwood Nears A Collapse at 1:30

Daredevil, Moving Slowly Past Record News Early This Morning, Says Struggle Against Sleep Almost Beats Him; Will End Trip at Zale's 4:30 Today

Daredevil Lockwood, driving slowly past The Record News office at 1:30 o'clock this morning, said it was all he could do to keep up the driving grind. "I'll have to go some if I do it," he declared. "You can tell the auto fans who are following my test that I'm almost whipped, but from here on out its nothing but nerve. I haven't got any strength

Barring all unforseen breakdowns of either "Daredevil" Lockwood or the Reo automobile which he will have driven continuously for 100 hours without stop or rest, the gruelling endurance drive continuing since Tuesday will come to an end today at 4:30 p. m. in front of the Zale Jewelry company, Eighth and Ohio. An unprecedented crowd is expected to be present at the finish of the non-stop run to see Chief of Police Hodgins release the daredevil from the handcuffs which have chained him to the car for four days, four nights and four hours.

Lockwood could scarcely be recognised now as the man who started out fresh and vigorous Tuesday noon. His swollen eyes and puffed face, covered with four days growth of beard, gave ample proof that he had been without sleep for a long period.

D. L. Fritz, president of the Fritz Motor company, local Marmon, Reo and Rollins dealers, called two local physicians to attend Lockwood yesterday. They reported the daredevil suffering from a high temperature and in a critical condition, but stated to Fritz there was no question in their minds but what he would complete his run.

"His determination to stick to the post will carry him through alone, the average man would have died long ago," said one doctor.

At the completion of the daredevil's endurance run this afternoon at 4:30, Lockwood will be rushed in an ambulance supplied by Burris and Dalton to the Kemp hotel where he will be placed under medical observation and treatment and then taken to the salesroom of the Fritz Motor company, Eighth and Austin, where he will be placed in the window to spend his first six hours rest. The only nutrition Lockwood has received during the entire 100 hours has been milk which has been supplied by the Producers creamery and in Lockwood's estimation this milk has been the secret of his endurance.

His first meal will be served to him at the Fritz Motor company to-

TIN CAN PUTS BOY'S EYE OUT

Junior High Student Victim Of Play Accident Yesterday

Tin can shinny cost Luther Hill, 14, seventh grade student at the Junior high school his left eye yesterday at the noon hour, when a battered and beaten tomato can driven at the end of a broomstick hit by a play fellow bounced its way across the school lot there, hit an obtruding rock, and bounded straight into the boy's face, puncturing an eyeball.

Principal B. A. Glass, nearby, put the injured boy in an automobile and took him to a doctor's office downtown, where the eye was dressed. He was then taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. Doyle on Seventh, with whom he is living, and was reported to be resting well last night. Little hope was held out for saving the eye.

Klan Cross Burns In Cultural Yard

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 30.—A fiery cross burned in front of the residence of Herbert Blumer, instructor in sociology at the University of Missouri here last night, according to residents in the neighborhood today. The burning of the cross follows a few hours after the publication in a newspaper edited by students of the university of an address made by Mr. Blumer Wednesday night to a local Bible class in which he is said to have declared that the negro is a "repressed element in our society."

"There is no proof that the negro is inferior," Mr. Blumer was quoted in the newspaper. "The white race is the most hybrid race in the world today. I can see negroid blood through characteristics of this audience."

Mr. Blumer denied that a cross was burned in front of his home but neighbors insisted that the cross was burned.

CAL O. K'S. PINK REBUFF.

President in Sympathy With Action Against Insurgents.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The dispute between organization republicans and LaFollette insurgents broke out afresh today in the house. Representative Longworth, the republican leader, stirring up another round of debate by declaring the Wisconsin delegation by its activity in the recent campaign had forfeited the right to participate in party councils.

About the same time it was made clear at the White House that the decision of the republican leaders in the house to exclude from the party organization caucus February 2d, members who did not support the national ticket in November had the approval of President Coolidge.

CRAWFORD CASE GOES TO JURY

Closing Arguments Are Heard At Night Session Of Dallas Court

BULLETIN

DALLAS, Jan. 30.—The Crawford case was given to the jury late tonight, and the jury immediately retired for the night. A verdict is expected some time tomorrow.

DALLAS, Jan. 30. — Tonight the fate of William Lester Crawford, on trial here for the killing of Paul M. O'Day, will rest with the jury. Saturday the jury will be given an opportunity to return a verdict in the most historical murder trial in Dallas county. It will be the culmination of two weeks' battle over the destiny of a man, who claims he slew a fellow barrister, to avenge an insult to his mother and disrespect to his dead father.

A final attempt was made by attorneys for the defense this afternoon to re-open the case, but Judge Charles A. Pippen refused the request, and attorneys for the state and defense resumed their oratorical arguments over the sensational evidence, in a courtroom packed with spectators to the chancel bar.

Both Women in Court.

The eloquent pleas centered around the principal, his mother, Mrs. Kate Lamar Crawford, and the widow of the slain man, Mrs. Paul M. O'Day, who was present. It was the first time Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. O'Day have been in the courtroom at the same time. Mrs. O'Day was dressed in mourning. Mrs. Crawford wore a dark dress.

The night session was called by the judge today when only five hours of argument remained. R. B. Allen, Sr., chief of the defense counsel, and W. B. Hamilton, special prosecutor for the state, stage the last battle for freedom and conviction of the defendant.

Assistant District Attorney C. C. Pierson was the only speaker in the afternoon, although Jed Adams, for the defense, sought for thirty minutes for the right to introduce more testimony. He declared that the defense had found a woman who heard Crawford and O'Day converse shortly before O'Day was killed September 11, 1924 in the entrance to the American Exchange National bank building.

Johnson for State.

"There are no greater lawyers in America, than those who sit there around the defendant, but they are employed because he needs them," Mr. Johnson said, "he needs their skill; without such skill as they have, he would have no home.

"Don't be swayed by pretty tributes to womanhood. These tributes are beautiful and I applaud them, but in this case you have only one cold fact to decide . . . did William Lester Crawford murder Paul O'Day, and if he did, was he justified.

"They told you all about the defendant's illustrious family; this family of a long line of aristocrats. We haven't been allowed to tell you about

OLD MINE MAY BE CAVING IN TOWN BELIEVES

City Hall Destroyed And Y. M. C. A. Badly Damaged Friday

CAP ROCK GIVES WAY

Rock Island Yards Sink Eighteen Inches In Hour During Depression

HAILEYVILLE, Okla., Jan. 30.—The city hall here was practicaly demolished and the Young Men's Christian Association building was badly damaged late today by an earth disturbance believed to have been caused by the sinking of cap rocks in the abandoned Haileyville mine under the business section of the city.

It was believed that the entire business district of Haileyville was threatened, as the earth continued to settle practically all day. The abandoned minerun is 150 feet below the surface under the business district and 319 feet below the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad yards here.

The coal measures, when taken out several years ago, left a five foot cavity, the ceilings of which were supported by pillars. Recently the mine filled with water, which is believed to have weakened the upper stratum of rock and shale.

Emergency measures were being taken by the Rock Island company today, to prevent the falling of the three story Y. M. C. A. building which was erected particularly for the use of railway employes about 12 years ago. The fifty occupants of the building tonight had abandoned it for safety. The building was erected with the aid of Helen Gould.

Huge cracks have also appeared in the walls of the Rock Island round house and shops, and the main track and yardage have sunk as much as 18 inches.

Both damaged buildings are within a few hundred feet of the business section. The replacement valuation of the Y. M. C. A. building is estimated at $125,000. The city hall cost only $5,000.

Bridge Over the Red Is Covered By Bill

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 30.—Another step was taken Friday toward working out the Wichita legislative program when Senator Lloyd Price of Morris county introduced a bill to authorize counties to construct or participate in constructing bridges across rivers which form the state boundary, and to vote bonds and taxes for such construction. This would enable the construction of the Red river Texas-Oklahoma bridge.

Refined Products Valuation Higher

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. — (AP) —The output of the petroleum refining industry was valued at $1,793,700,087 in 1923, an increase of 3.8 per cent over 1921, according to figures made public today by the census bureau.

Gasoline and other light products of distillation, the figures showed, represented 51.8 per cent of the total value, against 51 per cent in 1921.

Gasoline production increased from 5,098,056,740 gallons valued at $840,672,320 in 1922 to 7,310,653,526 gallons valued at $876,732,346 in 1923, the average price per gallon at the refinery declining from 16.5 cents in 1921 to 12 cents in 1923, the figures revealed.

In addition to gasoline produced at refineries an additional $16,226,000 gallons was produced in casinghead gasoline plants from natural gas, an increase of 342,566,500 gallons over the 1921 production.

The bureau also made public figures showing work done in railroad repair shops in 1923 was valued at $1,520,092,700, an increase of 19.9 per cent over 1921.

Kentucky, Bulloch

The Kentucky Oil corporation and Roxana Petroleum corporation were drilling last night below a last reported depth of 800 feet on their No. 1, Bulloch, a 150-foot location in the southwest corner of the east 20 acres of the north 100 acres of the east 200 of block 331, TE&LCO survey, Young county.

Wichita Methodist Pastors Have Meet

One of the most successful sessions of the Wichita Falls district pastors conventions of the Methodist Episcopal church ever held ended Thursday afternoon at four o'clock, according to local Methodists. The convention, covering a two-day program, was the means of bringing 25 to 30 out-of-town Methodist minister to Wichita Falls.

The program for the two days included talks on "The pastor and his work," by Reverends J. M. Sweeten, Wichita Falls, L. L. Shawver, Henrietta, Henry Brady Mayes, Bellevue, Walter J. Johnston, Wichita Falls, F. Claude Adams, Electra, and by Finis H. Crutchfield of the Lyle Street Methodist church at Dalls, all Wednesday afternoon.

A sermon by Reverend M. L. Hamilton of the First Methodist church at Burkburnett was the principal address on Wednesday evening. The Thursday morning session heard talks on the "Pastor and his finances" by E. H. Coburn of Megargel, Clinton L. Bowen of Byers, E. B. Cole of Electra, F. A. Barnes of Wichita Falls, A. B. English of Burkburnett, and A. L. Lusby of Holliday. Following these talks dinner was served by the women of the Floral Heights Methodist church at the church.

Yesterday afternoon talks were heard on "Our Revival Campaigns" by Hargrave Grounds of Petrolia, C. L. Satterfield of Ringgold, J. W. Wright of Jus Grove, G. H. Rossell of Archer City, H. C. Hand of Iowa Park.

20-Cent Gasoline Possible Over Texas In Few Weeks

News of the Fields

Atlantic, Ward

The Atlantic Oil Producing company and H. C. Donohoe expected to pick up a sand late yesterday or last night on their No. 2, Ward, Tomlinson survey, abstract 452, south of Anarene, south Archer county, the well drilling below 910 feet since Wednesday.

Winnipeg et al, Bond

The Winnipeg Oil company-Wagoner-Cowden test No. 1, Bond Hawkins-Williams, located just south of the Ray Massie lease in section 100, H&TCRR survey, block 14, South eVrnon, was to be abandoned last night if no new sand was picked up, drilling past a last depth of 2,530 feet yesterday morning.

Grebin, Haralson

Gerbin et al have cored four feet of good looking sand on their No. 1, Haralson, block 19, Meade L. M. Pasture subdivision, Probett survey, north of Megargel, South Archer depth given as 1,465-61 feet. It was expected to bail this test some time today.

Shaw, Rathke, Kunkel

Shaw and Rathke have completed their No. 3, Kunkel, on the Hardaway survey, east side of the Carey pool for a 500-600 barrel well from sand at 1,134-49 feet. The rig and derrick here burned down when the well caught fire Wednesday, the fifth big fire in this pool since development was first started.

No. 5, on the west line, south of No. 4, was drilling last night below 600 feet, while No. 6, south of No. 2, was below 800 feet. Location has been made for No. 7, south of No. 6.

Shaw-Rathke, Hayter

Shaw and Rathke's No. 1, Hayter B, was expected last night to be looking for the sand today, drilling then below 1,200 feet.

Location has been made for No. 2 and 3, No. 2 to be in the northwest corner of the same lease, and No. 3, directly west of No. 1, and offsetting Atlantic's northeast corner to the north.

S-R-M-S, Monohan

Shaw-Rathke-Maer-Stainforth had excountered the sand and were setting casing last night on their No. 2, Monohan, in the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of block 1,599, TE&LCO survey, Harmel area, depth given as just below 1,300 feet. The well was reported to be showing especially good.

Panhandle, Gambrell

Panhandle Refining company and P. F. Gwynn had plugged back late yesterday on their No. 1, Gambrell, BBB&CKR survey, abstract 31, west of the Murchison Fain pool, north Young county to 1,206 feet and believed they had shut the water off, although water for the boiler gave out when bailing started and completion was held up until today.

M-S, Panhandle, Graham

Maer and Stanliforth and the Panhandle Refining company were drilling last night below a last reported depth of 1,060 feet on their No. 1, Graham, W. B. Sweeney survey, abstract 397, south of Anarene.

Shaw-Rathke, Rogers

Shaw and Rathke have made a location in the northwest corner of TE&LCO survey, block 1,306, on a tract taken from Pace and Muse, M. E. Rogers farm, and will get started at once.

This is south of the Shaw and Rathke well on the Hayter farm.

Texas Company, Hill

Depths of the Texas company's two tests on the Hill farm, north half of block 2408, TE&LCO survey, northwest of the Harmel pool yesterday were given as 1180, No. 1, and 205, No. 2.

Standard Raises In Three Areas Friday, 1 Cent

Believe Four or Five Days Before Next Raises Here

With crude raises for the second time this year and within eight days not yet 24 hours old prospective increases in the tank-wagon structure over Texas and retail gasoline prices became almost a certainty yesterday as other sections of the country advanced their prices.

In the opinion of one local refiner increases for Texas are not expected before three or four days have passed, for, as he stated, jobbers and retailers haven't straightened themselves out since the first advance of the week yet.

Twenty-cent gasoline at the filling stations is easily regarded as a possibility now, with only a three-cent raise needed to put it there, the present tank-wagon standing at 14 cents with retail 17 cents.

Increases yesterday included Standard of Indiana territory, one cent, Standard of New York territory, one cent, and Standard of New Jersey territory, one cent.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP)—For the third time this year the Standard Oil company of New York tomorrow will increase the price of tank wagon gasoline one cent a gallon in New York and New England to 19 1-2 cents. This is an increase of 4 1-2 cents since January 1.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The Standard Oil company of New Jersey has advanced tank wagon gasoline 1 cent in New Jersey and Maryland, except Baltimore, making the price in New Jersey 17 cents and in Maryland 18 cents. Gulf Oil made a similar advance.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Effective tomorrow the price of gasoline will be increased 1 cent a gallon by the Standard Oil company of Indiana throughout its territory of 11 states, the company announced today. A similar 1 cent increase by this company was put into effect several days ago. This will make the retail price of gasoline at filling stations 19 cents a gallon.

O. I. Co., Fee

The Oil Investment company's No. 5, fee, just west of the Gulf's big well, John Richards survey, northwest of Archer City, is showing for a well of 125 barrels with the sand barely scratched at 1,097 feet. The sand will be drilled into further.

Location has been made for the No. 6, south of No. 4 and across the river.

South Vernon O. Co.

The South Vernon Oil company is [illegible] drilling on their No. 6, Stephens, offsetting Barkley and Meadows to the west, northwest quarter of section 83, with 700 feet of oil in the hole from 18 feet of sand at 1,936-54 feet.

The No. 7, offsetting the Sheerin and McCamey No. 1, Richardson, to the north is standardizing, with the intention of drilling to 2,275 feet if a well isn't made from sand and lime above the depth 2,035 feet, bottom of the hole.

The diagonal northwest offset to the Humble's 1,209-foot well is better than 200 feet deep after passing up a sand showing gas and oil at 150 feet.

Representative Everett Sanders of Indiana is being initiated into the mysteries surrounding the thankless job of being the buffer between the public and Mr. Coolidge. He leaves the house March 4 to become secretary to the president, succeeding C. Bascom Slemp. He is seen with the chief executive at the White House

The Day In Washington

The senate passed the postal pay and rate increase bill.

Authorization for an attempt to send anti-toxin to Nome by airplane was given.

Senator Borah served notice he would seek a definite place on the calendar for agriculture relief legislation.

President Coolidge signed the resolution directing an investigation into the general freight rate structure.

The naval oil leases again were brought up before a special grand jury in supreme court of the District of Columbia.

Attorney General Stone announced fifty-eight witnesses are on the list to appear in the new proceedings in the Wheeler case.

The Great Lakes Navigation conference was organized to restrict Chicago's withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan.

The government dropped appeal of its war fraud prosecution against Benedict Crowell, former assistant secretary of war, and six others.

President Coolidge received the credentials of Emile Daeschner, the new French ambassador and both made reference to the question of debts.

The house defeated the dispute between organization republicans and LaFollette insurgents, and President Coolidge approved the barring of the latter from the republican caucus.

He Stole Documents Of Reparation Table

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Important secret documents signed by the prime ministers of the allied nations and stolen from the reparations commission by Pierre Michaut, under secretary of the commission, were delivered to a "Mr. Meyers" of Philadelphia, wealthy book lover and autograph collector, police announced today.

Michaut has confessed the thefts, police said.

Secret documents, stenographic reports of the conferences at Bologne, Cannes and the Spa were coveted by Meyers for their signatures but brought the young secretary scarcely more than $500, according to his confession.

Defendant's Wife Is Heart Disease Victim

GILMER, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Hyde, wife of Dr. W. H. Hyde, who is on trial here charged with killing Dick Adkinson at Big Sandy last April, died of heart disease at their Big Sandy home last night. Mrs. Hyde was on the witness stand at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon for the defense. The court is awaiting disposition of the case pending the consent of the defendant.

CRAWFORD

Paul O'Day's family. But don't you forget that blueblood and a great fortune doesn't entitle any man to more consideration than the humblest man."

Mr. Johnson denounced what he said was effort on the part of the defense to arouse racial prejudice and to cloud the real issues in the trial. He also argued, that the defense had been more eager "to try the will case" than to dwell on the case being tried.

Paul O'Day, as a member of a law firm, representing contestants of a will in the Crawford family, simply was doing what any other lawyer would have done under the circumstances, Mr. Johnson said.

"Crawford is a lawyer," Johnson said in another part of his argument. "And yet he said he never read the petition for a new trial in the will case. He said his mother was represented by good lawyers and he would leave it to them. Then I ask you why all this sudden interest in the brief?"

Referring to the defense testimony that Crawford met O'Day at the entrance to the office building Johnson declared, "they had to put that in, in order to get manslaughter into the case.

"Mr. Adams said he would go to the electric chair to protect his mother," Johnson continued, "and I would have done the same thing.

"Crawford could have done this. He could have gone to the electric chair or the penitentiary with sealed lips to protect his mother. Then all these people would not have been here. But he didn't. He laid the whole facts bare to the public."

Owsley for the Defense.

Colonel Alvin Owsley launched immediately into his argument for the defense as the crowd in the court room became silent. "I come to you in this historic trial, hoping that I can impress one thing on your minds in the beginning," he said. "That is that I believe firmly and solemnly in the innocence of the defendant. The district attorney told you in his opening remarks, of the hatred and the passion and the prejudice in this case. I solemnly pledge you that in my heart is hatred for no one. The district attorney spoke well for himself, and perhaps for the gentlemen in the prosecution, but he did not speak so well for me."

The speaker told of Crawford's heritage, and scored the prosecutors for denouncing the defendant's "blue blood." He discussed the Crawford will case and pointed out that a man has a right to leave his money as he sees fit and that the efforts to break the will had failed and Crawford had no fears that he would lose in the plaintiff's last appeal. "Yet the state claims that Crawford shot O'Day because he was afraid O'Day would succeed in breaking the will," he said. "Why, the will case had been settled nearly five years when that tragic shooting occurred. This brief displaying all the important documents, which Crawford contends were directly responsible for his character, was filed in the fifth district court of appeals as a last resort. Whether Crawford knew the nature of the testimony of the negro coachman, Willis Evans, in the will suit, as the state contends he did, or whether he did not, as the defense contends, is of no importance. It is immaterial whether Crawford heard this negro's deposition testimony. The court has settled that.

Colonel Owsley declared incidents leading up to the slaying, telling of the agony Crawford endured after reading the brief. He eulogized motherhood, then contrasted the portion of the brief that stated that Colonel W. L. Crawford's relations with Mrs. Kate LaMar, prior to their marriage, "were other than those of an honorable man and woman." "What did O'Day mean when he said they weren't honorable?" he asked. "There is but one thing a man holds high in this life, and that is honor ——.

"Yes, he carried a gun! Wasn't it about time that he had a gun?"

The speaker dramatised the shooting, describing Crawford's agitation and astonishment at the final insult which the defense claims provoked the killing.

"Yes, William Lester Crawford killed Paul O'Day. Of course he did, after the latter said he could prove remarks about the chastity of the defendant's mother. The time is not now, and the time never will be in Texas, when a man can say what O'Day said about a man's mother, and live."

His address ended in an eloquent and dramatic appeal for acquittal.

HENRY FORD AND THE JEWS.

There are six hundred thousand American farmers who are actively engaged in co-operative marketing. Most of the tobacco growers of Kentucky are co-operative. There are thousands of southern cotton growers who are co-operative.

Henry Ford is the publisher of the Dearborn Independent. For years the Independent has been flaying the Jews, insinuating that they dominate the co-operative movement in America. It must be true. The president of the national council of the Co-Operative Marketing Associations of America carries a fine old hebraic name.

This distinguished representative of God's chosen people is Judge Robert W. Bingham of Louisville, Kentucky. He is the owner and editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, is a native of North Carolina and his forebearers arrived in this country long before the Mayflower sailed for the rockbound coast of New England.

Publisher Bingham's chief associates are A. C. Hardison of California, head of the Orange Growers; Carl Williams of Oklahoma, high in the councils of organized cotton growers; Daniel Wallace of Minnesota, a top notcher in the ranks of the wheat growers; former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, who farms in five states including Texas and many others too numerous to mention with names betraying their hebraic origin just as Bingham's name betrays his direct descent from the House of King David.

Henry Ford is one of the remarkable men of the world but there are some funny kinks in his brain pan. How would it be possible for American Jews to control the producing end of the co-operative game

WEALTH IN GEORGIA.

Georgia is forging to the front. There are many cotton mills in Georgia and the mineral wealth of the state is being developed. Georgia is diversifying. Now tobacco and peanuts divide honors with cotton and these new money crops are said to have been largely responsible for the forty-six per cent gain in farm wealth in Georgia in the year 1924.

There was a time when there were many bell ringers in the red hills of Georgia. Now they are tobacco and peanut raisers and there is money in it. Not many years ago former State Senator Scott Woodward was the peanut king of Texas. He gave the most of his time to politics and neglected the peanut business. He loves the game and has been playing it in the city of Washington in recent years.

Some day Erath county will call him again and he may be re-enthroned as the peanut king of the southwest. There is money in politics. There appears to be a lot of money in peanuts.

AMERICA ON WHEELS.

Did you know that the people of the United States own and operate eighteen million motor vehicles, or a gain of almost three million over 1923. This is an average of one car for about seven persons. When it comes to percentages of gains the south stepped to the front showing the results of two prosperous years. Florida showed the largest gain with Georgia a close second. Isn't it true that those who use the highways the most should be taxed the highest?

What Today Means To You

AQUARIUS

In the early morning, the aspects are of adverse nature, tending to delays, obstacles, disappointments and contention. All important matters should be avoided, wherever practicable, and only commonplace routine duties should receive attention. Every effort must be made to maintain poise, harmony and optimism, especially the last named, as the vibrations denote a serious depression of spirit. In the afternoon, and thereafter, conditions considerably improve, and render the balance of the day agreeable and pleasant. The signs indicate success during this period in most fields of endeavor, and it is a propitious occasion for all descriptions of recreative sports and amusements.

A child born today will, in all probability, be extremely delicate during its infancy, and will have more than its fair or normal share of sickness. Hope must however reign supreme, and this, combined with scientific nutrition and careful vigilance, will bring it safely through the danger zone to a healthy childhood. It will, on growing up, have a very independent disposition, will be astute and self-confident, possessing, at the same time, remarkable executive ability. It should marry young, but not without due consideration of the characteristics of its mate. It will be rather self-willed, expect others to yield to its wishes, and sometimes grow petulant if it meets with vigorous opposition.

If today is your birthday, you are endowed with a personal magnetism that will bring people under your influence. Your personality is not only forceful and compelling, but very attractive, and the possession of this characteristic qualifies you, if you so desire it, to become a leader.

Your affections are not deep-seated, and, as a result of this, no great or enduring love will come into your life, although your high conception of duty will impel you to be loyal and true to the one with whom you are mated.

You are not very well fitted to execute the duties of any subordinate position, and feel resentment at all times toward those who order or tell you to things. Neither are you very well adapted for the role of a partner. Any real success achieved by you will only be when "you go it on your own," and your compelling personality will insure success, if you exercise it to the utmost.

Successful people born on this date are: James G. Blaine, statesman; William A. Coffin, artist; Rupert Hughes, author; W. W. Atterbury, railroad official; Nathan Straus, merchant; George W. Perkins, financier.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE SCIENTIFIC SPIRIT

A scientist I lately found,
With racks of test tubes ranged around,
And very earnestly intent
Upon a great experiment.
And when I butted in to ask
The nature of his mighty task,
He looked around and muttered, "Oh,
I'm making artificial snow."

Amid a winter blizzard's roar,
I just had shoveled from my door
A ton of snow, which soon, alack!
I know the wind will blow right back.
And try to manufacture it!
From early youth I've scanned the sky
And moaned aloud to see it fly,

Yet here I saw this fellow sit
"Look here," quoth I, "why don't you make
An atirificial rattlesnake,
Or fabricate an army worm,
Or build a nice new small pox germ,
Since you're apparently possessed
To recreate some sort of pest?
For these are things, as well you know

He cast on me a scornful glance,
And said, "Don't show your ignorance.
If I could make a grizzly bear
Which could destroy me then and there,
I cheerfuly would do the same
And thus amass undying fame.
You'd better take your hat and go
And let me make this gosh darned snow!"

A SHINING EXAMPLE

One of the most successful men in America has never made but two speeches in his life. This ought to be pasted up where congressmen could see it.

MORE ECONOMICAL

Congress would have done better to refer the Muscle Shoals issue to the Literary Digest.

TUNING IN.

It has often been wondered what is the exact size of an object. You can hold it so close to you that it blots out the rest of the world, or it can be remote enough from you to be a mere speck in the distance.

What is its true size?

The obvious answer is that its true size depends upon its right position. All size is relative and depends upon other objects around.

The proper position for a bookcase is across the room against the wall. It is not intended to be in the remote distance nor too close to the eye.

There are some people who look at everything through inverted opera glasses. These people have a contemptuous view of the world and everything seems to them out of proportion. They are constantly caviling and finding fault.

It should be remembered that fault can be found with anything that is not in its right place.

Truth is relative.

The thing to do is to look with one's normal vision and to look at things in their right place.

There are some people who see pleasant things all around them. The people they have to do with are agreeable and their action upon life is agreeable.

These people look at things in their right proportion. Their vision is normal.

Often things take for us a size that they do not deserve to have because they are out of relation to other things. There are things that worry us and cause us much concern. The trouble is that we see them either magnified or dimified. In their right place they would not alarm us. All life is a matter of adjustment.

The air all around us is full of melody. Ordinarily we do not hear it, but if we were to bring a radio into the room and tune in properly, the sensitive wires of the machine would pick up the untheard harmony. We cannot hear it unless we tune in.

So there is much melody and beauty for those souls that are in tune with the universe. They hear and see things that are inaudible or invisible to other people.

Very often a moral or spiritual thought, idea or emotion is not perceived by a critic simply because he is not attuned to it. If his nature were such that he could pick up the vibrations of it he would speedily get it. The trouble with most of us is that we are not in tune with our environment.

DON'TS.

How about a little summing up of all the many things I'm continually advising you to do or not to do—principally not to do.

Here are a few of the main don'ts. They do not make exactly pleasant reading, but it might be a good idea to stick them up in front of you somewhere, and get used to thinking about them.

For instance:

Don't buy a great many dresses, if you have a small allowance. But a few dresses and a great many accessories.

Don't be afraid of people who you think are going to criticize you. Probably they're afraid of you, too.

Don't lose your temper. You will lose your friends, and all the best part of your disposition.

Don't talk trivialties all the time.

Don't flatter a man so that it embarrasses him. Be skillful.

Don't keep people waiting.

Don't keep your "dates" waiting for you, until they decide that the art of being polite is lost forever with the modern girl.

Don't say unkind things about your girl friends—especially when there's a man about.

Don't chatter—talk!

Don't yearn to be pretty—make the best of what you have, and you'll win out over the pretty girl.

Don't wear cheap jewelry. Keep your hands well manicured, and they'll be infinitely more attractive than if heavily bejeweled with imitations.

Don't think that after taking one mis-step, you can turn back. You can't turn back and have a page as clean and new as it is now.

Don't be selfish. It means unhappiness to you in the end.

Don't pine for an old sweetheart. He would probably bore you to tears, if you saw him now.

Don't worry about how your sweetheart will look years from now. Make sure of him now.

Don't be ashamed of your home. Take your visitor's mind off its defections by being at your very best.

Don't play make-believe with love. It spells tragedy for somebody.

If you don't do all these things, you ought to come out pretty well.

Pointed Paragraphs

There's small choice. If you sass a policeman, he'll cuss you; if you don't your wife will.

About the only caste system in America is that indicated by the price paid for beads.

Speech isn't essential. You know what your grocer means when he glares at your new tires.

"Higher than the king," says a cross-word puzzle. It may mean either an ace or a labor leader.

With coal and clothes going higher, the winter resort may yet be the poor man's last resort.

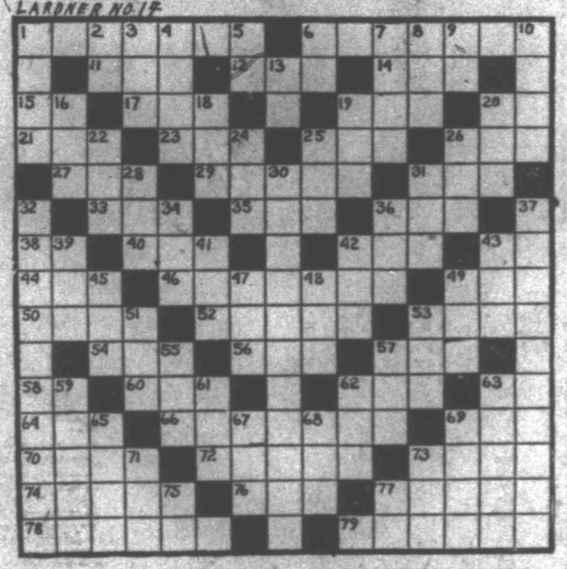

There are compensations. If you haven't much of anything, you are not likely to have "nerves."

Cross-Word Puzzle

LARDNER NO. 17

...ROSS WORD PUZZLE.

Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may of course begin both a horizontal and a vertical. The definitians for the correct words to fill the form are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-clues to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions.

Horizontal.

1. A former president.
6. Those who operate grist mills

GLEANINGS FROM THE BOOK OF LIFE.

A DAILY CHECKUP

To live a life that shall be entirely prudent and discreet, and to draw from experience all the instruction that it affords, it is requisite to be constantly thinking back—to make a kind of recapitulation of what we have done. We must be able constantly to recall our impressions and sensations, to compare our former with our present judgments—what we have set before us and struggled to achieve, with the actual result and satisfaction we have obtained.

To do this, it seemed to Schopenhauer, is to get a repetition of the private lessons of experience—lessons which are given to every one.

"Experience," Schopenhauer observed, "may be looked upon as a kind of text, to which reflection and knowledge form the commentary. Where there is a great deal of reflection and intellectual knowledge, and very little experience, the result is like those books which have on each page two line of text to forty lines of commentary. A great deal of experience with little reflection and scanty knowledge, gives us books like those of the 'edito Bipontina,' where there are no notes and much that is unintelligible."

The advice here given is on a par with a rule recommended by Pythagoras—to review, every night before going to sleep, what we have done during the day.

To live at random, in the hurly-burly of business or pleasure, without ever reflecting upon the past, is to have no clear idea of what we are about; and a man who lives in this state will have chaos in his emotions and certain confusion in his thoughts; as is soon manifest by the abrupt and fragmentary character of his conversation, which becomes a king of mince meat.

A man will be all the more exposed to this fate in proportion as he lives a restless life in the world, amid a crowd of various impressions and with a correspondingly small amount of activity on the part of his own mind.

And in this connection, it will be in place to recall Schopenhauer's observation that when events and circumstances which have influenced us pass away in the course of time, we are unable to bring back and renew the particular mood or state of feelings which they aroused in us; but we can remember what we were led to say, and do in regard to them; and this forms, as it were, the result, expression and measure of those events.

"We should therefore," he opines, "be careful to preserve our thoughts at important points in our life; and herein lies the great advantage of keeping a journal."

POEMS THAT LIVE

WHERE DID YOU COME FROM?

Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the everywhere into the here.

Where did you get your eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.

What makes the light in them sparkle and spin?

Where did you get that little tear?
I found it waiting when I got here.

What makes your forehead so smooth and high?
A soft hand stroked it as I went by.

What makes your cheek like a warm white rose?
I saw something better than anyone knows.

Whence that three-cornered smile of bliss?
Three angels gave me at once a kiss.

Where did you get this pearly ear?
God spoke, and it came out to hear.

Where did you get those arms and hands?
Love made itself into hooks and bands.

Feet, whence did you come, you darling things?
From the same box as the cherub's wings.

How did they all come just to be you?
God thought of me, and so I grew.

But how did you come to us, you dear?
God thought of you, so I am here.

—George Macdonald.

LAWYERS

trial court, thence to the appellate court and perhaps finally to the supreme court which found a reversible error and sent it back to be ground out again.

He blamed the haste and hurry of the district courts for many of the appeals but nailed the cause of the haste at the door of the judicial system rather than the men who administer it.

"You get a judge with a bull-whip in his hands, ordering action on the part of the lawyers, and a defendant and a lot of witnesses pulling at the lawyer's coat tails and asking him this and that it's no wonder they make mistakes," he declared.

As a remedy for this Judge Hall suggested courts which functioned permanently all the year around, with one capable man sitting as district, county and probate judge and attending only to the demands of the one county. Such a plan, he declared, was entirely feasible except in the larger counties where two or, if need be, three or four judges could be appointed. "Let one handle civil matters, another criminal matters, etc.," he said; "then you would have far greater efficiency and less waste of time than in instances where one judge is forced to run around over half a dozen counties and push through in two or three weeks all the matters that come up for attention."

Charge To Attorneys

In the summing up of his talk Judge Hall charged the attorneys that to them the world was looking for stability and salvation. He pointed out how the legal profession had been one of dominance since the beginning of time; how these United States were banded together and have endured by the work of lawyers; and how, in all times of stress and trouble, the nations of the earth turned to the law for counsel and advice.

"The trouble with the lawyer today," he asserted, "is that he makes his work a business and not a profession. He thinks more of the money making side of his cases than anything else. I believe the legal profession is the greatest in the world—unless maybe it is real preachin', but the lawyers today are not giving their full measure of service to humanity."

It was a responsive audience that listened attentively to Judge Hall, and despite his plentiful use of blacks and greys, the pictures he painted were ones that made impressions.

In lighter vein was the address by H. F. Weldon, who announced for the benefit of those who "had not seen the program committee's ad in the morning paper that his talk was to be humorous." A score or more members of the bar association felt the sting of his comic-inctured quips. Judge H. R. Wilsons' instructed verdict Friday in a big damage suit now on trial before him was made the basis of several digs at the man who presides over the 30th district court. Judge A. B. Carrigan, Nat Henderson, Dan Boone, E. T. Huff, Jimmy Allred, Leslie Humphrey, R. Y. Cummings, Judge John C. Kay, Miss Bessie Dee, Judge Edgar Scurry, Judge Guy Rogers, Judge P. A. Martin, Bert King, F. G. Swanson, John Killgore, Joe Hatchitt and quite a few others were included in his "list of personal recollections.

Pass Resolution.

Aside from election of officers, which was done by the simple expedient of a nomination from the floor, a motion that the nominations be closed, and taking of the vote, the most important business matter to come up was the appointment of a committee, headed by Mr. Killgore, to make recommendations to the legislature regarding proposed abolishment of the 42nd judicial district and rearrangement of the terms of the 30th district. Under the provisions of a bill now before the legislature, Wichita county would be given an equal rating with Young and Archer counties insofar as the terms of the court are concerned, but it was the sense of the association that these be changed to give Wichita and Young counties six weeks terms and Archer county a four weeks term. Mr. Killgore was asked to convey this recommendation to Senator J. D. Parnell and Representatives Avis and Daniel at Austin. It was also revealed that should the Wichita Falls lawyers desire it, a court of civil appeals might be established here. They turned thumbs down on the proposition, however, and wires have already been sent to Representative Avis that the local bar is not anxious for such a tribunal.

DEALEY DECLINES REGENCY.

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—Ted Dealey of Dallas, an eutorial writer on the Dallas News, today declined Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's appointment as regent of the University of Texas.

A telegram received at the governor's office from Mr. Dealey said he appreciated the honor but was forced to decline because of a rule of the News that its editorial employes can accept no political appointments.

Irrigation

Some Figures on the Amount of Irrigated Land

It is of interest to give some detail figures bearing out Dr. Youngblood's statement at the chamber of commerce banquet that irrigated land now and always will be scarce compared to the total area.

In the 17 western states that are classed as arid or semi-arid there is something over 1,000,000,000 acres of land. This of course includes besides farm lands, the timber lands, the grazing lands, the desert lands and all other lands.

This does not mean that this much land will ever be irrigated but is a figure based on the amount of water available in the streams and rivers.

Much of the land included in the above estimate will never be irrigated on account of the great expense connected with the building of dams and canals to put the water on it.

The best figures available show that about 20,000,000 acres so far have been covered with irrigation systems. Government reclamation projects account for about 3,500,00 acres. The rest is under privately built systems.

Texas of all the states where irrigation is required, probably has more land for which water is available than any other state. There are many projects here which can be built at a far cheaper cost per acre than practically any future irrigation projects in other states.

If our project here is the success that it should be, then Texas will become eventually the greatest irrigation state in the union.

Unusual Lot Of Variety Offered On Wichita Bill

There Is Plenty of Comedy In Benny Rubin's Broadway Act

Benny Rubin and his company of Broadway players present a series of short comedy sketches in which they explain "How It Happened." The various scenes are taken from the sensational headlines of daily papers. There is plenty of good comedy in the act, and the songs and dances are good. The company includes three men and two women, in addition to Benny Rubin who wins plenty of applause.

Bob Carleton has a collection of clever and original songs and Julia Bellew is one who can put them over to the best advantage. She is pretty and charming and her original personality wins the audience from the start. Mr. Carleton presides at the piano while Miss Bellew sings. They are a pair who cram their act with good entertainment. Among their songs was "No One but You" and "I Don't Want to Get Married, I'm Having Too Much Fun."

Lidell and Gibson although they are dressed as women turn out to be a couple of men. Lidell has the audience fooled until the end, but Gibson burlesques his part and comes out in grotesque gowns which set off his long lean figure making him ludicrous and funny. Their act is made up chiefly of funny conversation with a little dancing mixed in.

Bernard and Townes have a short and snappy act. Their songs are original and clever. Townes sings "When a Girl Is Good She Is Awfully Good and When She Is Bad She's Good Company." There is also a little dancing in the act.

Sidney Landfield kids the audience along and furnishes a lot of fun even though he is the only one in his act. He starts it with a song dedicated to a baby, his baby—the Baby Grand piano. Then he plays the Baby Grand and does a good job of it.

Berk and Saun are a pair who live up to their reputation for presenting original dance steps. The regular bill was preceded by the Sportlights of Grantland Rice. There will be three shows today, at 2:30, 7:30, and 9:30 p. m.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS TO BURN 4 P. M. TODAY

A test late Friday night of the new automatic signal control system that begins complete operations this afternoon revealed that the lamps and wires in the down town section were placed correctly—almost. The light at Tenth and Lamar flared out in a variety of colors when it was first tested and cut up cross-wise with all the others. This will be corrected, however. The bell on the swinging standard at Ninth and Lamar failed to ring, but otherwise the entire system functioned perfectly.

According to available information last night the system will be started at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Officers will be stationed on every corner to direct traffic.

Playing with Fire
The Story of a Social Climber
by Lucille Van Slyke

This room was really charming with its dove grey walls and the bright splashes of Chinese red with which its scanty furniture was painted. Big oiled silk Chinese lanterns shaded the lights.

Spud Adams held out his arms to Rosalie and they were off without waiting for their coffee.

SHE flung Lerself into this stolen playtime whole-heartedly. She was literally intoxicated with fun. Pendleton and her job there, Chet Ferguson and his hateful hay and grain and feed and lime and cement business were forgotten. Here was a perfect floor, enticing music, four men who were clamoring to dance with her, and three women who accepted her as a jolly companion.

Small wonder that the petite school ma'am rather lost her pretty head and all sense of passing time.

The men were drinking steadily now, yet even Dick, whom she watched rather apprehensively, seemed none the worse for it. She realized that she liked him the least of them all; He was much older than the rest. In the back of her mind there lingered an instinctive distrust of him. Yet, she thought regretfully, it was he who made this merry evening possible for her and she was deeply gratefull to him.

Of course the inevitable moment came when he spoiled it—And began once more the rather inane lovemaking that had characterized his behavior at Foxes' Nest.

She pulled away from him angrily. "I shan't dance with you when you act like that," she whispered, "and anyway, I—oh, it must be terribly late. I mustn't miss the eleventen train, couldn't you get me a taxi and then you stay here with the rest and dance?

He only held her more closely, singing, drunkenly, jabbing the words to the orchestra strains.

"You won't go home until morning."

"Who said anything about going home before?" Sambo and his partner bumped into them, crowded them into a corner as Sambo added. "Here's where I cut in, Rosy Lee needs another dancing lesson."

"Poor Rosy Lee needs to go home now," she murmured plaintively. "I have to get this next train."

"Where do you live?" demanded Sambo.

"Pendleton Hall—" she began.

"Up near Vriarcliff? Oh shucks, you don't have to worry about trains. I'm spending the night, or what's left of it with the Spuds. They live at Pleasantville, we'll tote you home when we go."

"You mightn't go very early," Rosalie faltered.

"I'll say we won't". He had her out on the floor now. "Only say, anybody ever tip you off to old Dicko? He is all right when sober or even half sober but when pickled, stewed or lit, he is no playmate for a blushing school girl like you."

"I not a school girl," she informed him. "I'm a school teacher."

"I shall enroll tomorrow," he assured her solemnly.

They were dears, all of them, Rosalie thought gratefully about an hour later, when they started out for Westchester. For all of Dick's song about not going until morning they were discreetly leaving Joey's before midnight.

The rain had almost stopped but the slight drizzle made the going slow. Mrs. "Spud" had graciously suggested that Mary West go home with them; It was she who sat with the driver, Paul Merrit had helped Sylvia Morrell into a taxicab and climbed in himself, good naturedly berating her because he had to leave the party.

Dick's attempts to be amorous didn't get him anywhere because the ex-football player at a signal from his pretty wife, shoved the bulky Dick into the farthest corner of the limousine, tucked an arm about his wife, who promptly tucked an arm about Rosalie after she had moved gracefully to the seat farthest from Dick.

"Dick is an annoying idiot sometimes," young Mrs. "Spud" was perfectly casual. He'd make love to a cigar store Indian when he's had a couple drinks so don't flatter yourself. Rosy Lee, that he'll be around with a wedding ring in the morning."

"I know," Rosalie whispered. "I—I went to a party with him before."

Mrs. "Spud" didn't answer her for the good an sufficient reason that she had gone promptly to sleep on her stalwart husband's shoulder.

Rosalie grew drowsy herself. But she was wide staring awake an hour later when the great car, that had been purring along easily on the smooth concrete road near Armonk, stopped with a moaning chug. The rain was coming in great slanting sheets now. Sambo, speaking through the chauffeur's speaking tube, yelled a nonchalant,

"Wake up, kids! we're in bad! Raain has beaten into the wiring, darn it! I'll bet every wire in the car is socked can't get any spark at all.

The clock on the instrument board mocked Rosalie's anxious gaze as Sambo turned a flash light upon it.

"And Pendleton sixteen miles away!" Dick Converse's drunken tones informed them.

CHAPTER XXXI.
Things You Can't Explain

TO ROSALIE'S surprise, none of the others seemed to find their predicament especially serious. In fact they were inclined to treat the whole affair as a gay adventure.

Mary West certainly didn't care. She was her own boss and more than a little in love with the man in whose car she was a guest. Besides, she felt that they were all much chaperoned by the youthful Adamses, who began cheerfully singing.

"This ole ark hain't movin'!"

For a time the pair on the front seat hummed a sort of obligato and Dick Converse added a not unpleasant tenor falsetto an octavo above the marital duet, but presently Dick subsided into a drunken slumber and the song trailed away in soft laughter.

Desperately Rosalie said:

"I simply must get back to Pendleton somehow!"

"But you simply can't!" Mrs. Adams reminded her, "so why worry? You can explain that—"

"But there are lots of things like this that you can't very well explain in a place like Pendleton Hall," the girl faltered tremulously.

Which seemed to amuse her host much.

"There are a lot of things you can't anywhere," he chuckled "even though they happen to be the whole truth and nothing but the truth, I ask you, is anybody going to believe that this previously perfect bus of mine really behaved like this?"

Manifestly they could do nothing for the time being but stay where they were until some other car chanced to come along.

"Which might not happen till morning and the milk man in an ooky, spooky spot like this!" Mary West reminded them.

THE rain beat upon the roof of the car with an almost deafening thud now the wiring had become so soaked that even though the battery itself would respond when Sambo jammed on the starter, the lights would not turn on at all. The pocket flash was all they had and Sambo suggested tersely that it might be a good thing to turn that off unless they heard somebody coming.

"It probably hasn't more than an hour's light in it, you know," he reminded them.

THE WOMAN WHO NEVER LEARNED TO PLAY WITH HER HUSBAND—AND SO LOST HIM. ADVICE TO A WORRIED FATHER ON MANAGING AN 18-YEAR-OLD SON—THE YOUNG MAN WHOSE GIRL POPPED THE QUESTION.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a married woman with three children. My husband has left me and is living with another woman because I would not go to dances and parties with him. He takes this other woman out in his car, driving, and they go to dances and shows together. My parents brought me up strictly and taught me not to play cards or dance.

Now my husband wants to take the children from me. What can I do?

CARRIE.

Answer:

The courts probably will give you your children, if your husband is leading a double life, so you need not be afraid of the added misfortune of losing your little ones befalling you.

But I think, Carrie, that you have brought a good deal of your trouble on your own head by your narrow-mindedness, and that, to a certain extent, you are responsible for your husband's sin, as, from your own account, he tried at first to pal with you and include you in his pleasures, and you refused to go with him.

Before you married him you must have known that he was of a gay and lively disposition, and that he craved amusement. You know that he liked to dance, and go to parties, and play cards, and if you were so austere that you were opposed to any of these diversions you should have refused to marry him and chosen a Puritan like yourself for a life partner.

There is one thing, my dear Carrie, that every woman with a grain of sense in her head should recognize; she has to keep up with her husband or else lose him.

She has to be interested in what he is interested in and able to discuss it intelligently with him, or else he will find some other woman who talks his language. She has to play with him, or else he will hunt up another playmate. And there is no trouble in finding one. The woods are full of women who are perfectly willing to substitute for the wife who refuses to trot along with her husband.

The wives who keep their husbands are those wise dames who grab their hats and go along if they marry men who like to gad; women who never mention the rheumatism in their knees when their husbands want to dance; women who take lessons in bridge and learn to play a good game, if their husbands are card sharks; women who never ask the price of their husbands are spenders; women who boost along things instead of being kill-joys.

When you shut the door on everything your husband wanted to do you opened it for another woman, my dear. That may not be fair and right, but it is the way the thing always happens.

And let me warn you of this also, Carrie; if you are as strict with your children as you were with your husband—if you refuse to let them go to dances, and parties, and play cards, and go to picture shows you will lose them as you have lost him. Try to get a more enlightened slant on these matters and see that these amusements are perfectly innocent, so long as they are not done in excess and in the wrong way.

* * * * * * * *

Dear Miss Dix—My son, who is now 18 years of age, is hard to manage. I find it almost impossible to make him go to bed early, and equally impossible to get him up in the morning. At night he reads and fusses around, and seldom retires before 11 or 12 o'clock; and in the morning we have to call him about ten times before he gets up. Then he does not have time to eat his breakfast properly and has to run to work.

Lately he has started taking exercises, using dumb-bells, and this takes still more of his time. I have told his mother to call him only once in the morning and then let him be late to work, and perhaps lose his job. It might be a good lesson to him. The boy is cross and cranky, and it is almost impossible to live with him. What shall I do with him?

JOSEPH.

Answer:

Good gracious, Joseph, were you born with whiskers? Weren't you ever a boy yourself? Don't you remember how you hated to go to bed at night, and how you loathed to get up in the morning? Don't you remember how irritated you used to get with your parents when they nagged you about sitting up of nights, and how you used to feel that you could cheerfully choke them when they solemnly quoted the old adage about early to bed and early to rise making a man healthy, wealthy and wise?

Of course, it takes a lot of self-control and patience to deal with girls and boys when they think they are grown and you think they are babies, but oh, the reward that you will get from it.

Fires Out In Cooking School, But 1925 Is Bound To Be A Good Year For The Husbands

"The Record News cooking school has been a great success and has proven of great practical value to the women of Wichita Falls," stated Mrs. G. Clint Wood, who has attended the daily sessions of the school the past week, which was given at the ball room of the Kemp hotel under the direction of Mrs. Ida L. Chitwood, food expert of New York City.

Expressions of highest approval from other Wichita Falls women who packed the class room 300 strong all week, were heard, and a unanimous request was made on the part of the audience that another cooking school be conducted with Mrs. Chitwood in charge, so completely has she won her way into the hearts of local women. Young brides, especially, seemed to form a strong liking for Mrs. Chitwood during the school, because of her willingness to explain even the smallest points of the demonstration.

Mrs. Chitwood Thanks Them

D. M. Bernard, business manager of The Record News, expressed his thanks and appreciation to the women for their support and interest in the school and Mrs. Chitwood, upon taking the platform for her closing lecture stated that because of the great interest and cooperation on the part of Wichita Falls women, the school had represented one of the most enjoyable weeks work she had experienced. Her thanks was also extended to the business houses who had cooperated with her in making the school a success.

Biscuits and rolls were demonstrated by the instructor, but light bread was eliminated from the lesson Friday.

"I can't say that I could teach you to make bread as nutritious or as economical as the Butter Cream bread made in your own city by the Nafziger bakery. For this reason, I am not attempting to teach the making of bread, but will confine the lesson to making powder biscuits and various kinds of tea rolls," Mrs. Chitwood declared.

After demonstrating the method of making correct baking powder biscuit dough, and baking the biscuits so that they would be fluffy and light instead of flaky and tough or brittle, the expert then explained how, with the same dough, six delicious and unusual kinds of tea rolls could be made.

Uses Oven Magic

An orange biscuit came from the oven delicately browned with a cube of orange jelly on top, and grated orange peel sprinkled around—but the queer part is that no orange jelly went into the oven! The raw dough was topped with a small lump of sugar soaked in orange juice—and the oven heat converted it into jelly.

San Antone Rolls are stuffed with delicious deviled chili meat, made by the Gebhardt people of San Antonio, and are topped after baking with a sprig of parsley.

Cheese biscuit is in two layers and has delicious grated cheese spread between the dough before cutting for the oven.

Butter scotch rolls are made by spreading the thinly rolled dough with creamed butter, brown sugar, and chopped nuts. The dough is then rolled up, sliced off and baked. Sweet milk and brown sugar form an attractive glaze, and the roll is topped with a half nut meat.

A Fruit Surprise

Fruit surprise comes to the table looking like a perfectly harmless baking powder biscuit, but inside is found marshmallow, and a delicious center of preserved fruit.

Perhaps the unique biscuit of the afternoon was a dainty French creation baked on a conical mold, resembling an ice cream cone. The biscuit is filled with fruit, whipped gelatine, or fruit salad and a separately baked lid fits over to hold the filling in place.

Mrs. Chitwood told of the excellent work done by the Wichita laundry on the linen used during the school, and demonstrated one of the mesh bags in which fine laces and needlework are laundered.

"The Leonard Cleanable Refrigerator, sold in this city by Frecar Furniture company, is, in my estimation, one of the finest refrigerators on the market," stated the expert as she demonstrated the excellent features, stressing the rounded corners conducive to easy cleaning, and the simple and efficient water cooling system.

"Have you a savings account? I don't know of one achievement during the past four years that has given me more pleasure than the saving account which I have steadily accumulated from the small start of $1. The City National bank has a splendid savings system of which a housewife might well take advantage. I learned after a talk with O. al Jones, cashier. The bank will accept an account, no matter how small, and will cooperate in every way with its customers to teach them how to save."

All supplies left over after the closing of the school were presented to the Day Nursery by The Record News, and were taken to that institution in trucks furnished by the Wichita Falls Electric company.

AFTER MARRIAGE, WHAT?

Community Control of Property Following Wedding Is Debated.

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—A bill by Representative Acker of Houston, allowing a woman to maintain control of community estate after her second marriage, was voted down in the house today. Proponents insisted that men have the right to continue control of community estate after a second marriage, and that women should have the same right. Others declared that the right should be removed from the man, and the law affecting woman remain as at present.

Woman Sues Lawyer For Promise Breach

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Lucile Fortnier of Detroit, a graduate of the University of Michigan, today filed suit for $30,000 against J. North Mehornay, alleging he failed to keep a promise of marriage she says he made to her in Chicago on Dec. 21, 1924.

Mrs. Fortnier who is independently wealthy, filed suit through her attorney. She is visiting friends in Oklahoma City on her way to California.

Mehornay, who is a wealthy attorney, on his return today from Tulsa, Okla., declared he never knew the woman. He is married.

WICHITA SOLON SUGGESTS FREE RIDES ON RAILS

He Would Make Transportation Companies Give Legislators Passes

By S. RAYMOND BROOKS
Record News Staff At Austin

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—Just about the time the attacks upon Senator N. J. D. Parnell's municipal utilities bill had reached a climax here today in the condemnation that it was a deliberate attempt by private corporations to make public utilities unpopular so they can be bought up by private corporations, the Wichita Falls senior joined with Senator Parr to favor a piece of legislation to force, require, make and command railroad companies to supply all legislators with free transportation to and from Austin.

Denounces Bill

The end of the day's denouncement of Parnell's utilities bill came with the declaration by Howard C. Marshall, editor of Texas Municipalities, that it was a "deliberate attempt by private corporations to make public utilities unpopular so they can be bought up by private corporations and is particularly aimed at municipal light plants."

This would be accomplished in the operation of the bill within the first few years and not a city could hope to own its own municipal light plant after the law had been in operation for 10 years, it was charged. Marshall's statement points out that the law takes the operation of the municipal utilities out of the hands of the regularly constituted municipal government and places it in the hands of a commission of three men with no other connection with the city they serve. League officials also object to the section of the Parnell bill providing that each municipal utility must pay its own way, and charge that the bill was favorably supported out of the committee and passed to its first reading before any announcement had been made that such important legislation was pending. Telegrams and letters condemning the bill have been received from Vernon, Galveston, Houston, Austin, Dallas and San Antonio, while many public officials have come here to fight the bill's passage, league officials said.

At the same time from San Antonio came the charge that all the cities in Texas with a population of 100,000 or more, are lodging protests against the passage of the Parnell bill, which would be a "death-blow" to municipally-owned public utilities.

The fight against the bill is being led by Joseph Ryan, city attorney for San Antonio, who made a special trip to Austin Thursday for the purpose of filing a protest against the proposed legislation.

Hearing Feb. 5

"Through the efforts of the various cities of the state, the Parnell bill, directed against municipal ownership of public utilities, will be referred to the senate committee on town and city corporations for another hearing on Feb. 5," Ryan declared.

The committee held a hearing on the bill on Jan. 28, and reported favorably on it, but innumerable protests, caused the committee to set a date for a re-hearing, with the consent of Senator Parnell, who introduced the bill. Just what action will be taken at the new hearing has not been indicated for a certainty, but opponents to the bill declare that the committee will probably report unfavorably.

Senator Parnell said that he joined in introducing the bill free pass to permit members of the legislature and their families to receive free railroad transportation at the request of the author, Senator Parr, and though he is for the bill he expects to have no active part in its enactment. The bill would add to the list of those permitted by law to receive passes from railroads all members of the house and senate and members of their families.

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—A measure by Senator J. D. Parnell of Wichita Falls and Senator Edgar Witt of Waco, would define the authority of the board of control over the state capitol.

Spy Postal Clerk Then Arrest Him

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 30.—Use of a secret passage-way, or corridor, by two postal inspectors Friday morning resulted in the arrest of one of the veteran clerks at the Houston postoffice and charges of theft from the mails being filed later before the United States commissioner.

Elias D. Powell went on duty as usual early Friday. As he was engaged in sorting out the carriers' mail about 9 o'clock, the postal inspectors looked on from behind small gratings placed along the side of the "lookout" tunnel.

A few minutes later, the inspectors faced Powell and charged him with having separated several of the letters from the mail and placing them in his pocket. A search revealed 11 such letters, each containing small amounts of currency or coin, it was later learned.

Means, Forbes Found Guilty

Chicago Jury Convicts Ex-Vet Bureau Head; N. Y. Judge Fines Gaston B.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—The federal jury which reviewed the administration of the United States veterans bureau under former Director Charles R. Forbes tonight convicted Forbes and John W. Thompson, wealthy St. Louis contractor, of conspiracy to defraud the government in the allocation of veterans hospital contracts.

Pending hearing February 4 on the defense motions for a new trial, Federal Judge George A. Carpenter reserved sentence. The maximum penalty for the offense is two years' imprisonment or $10,000 fine or both.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Gaston B. Means, one time confidential agent of the department of justice under Director William J. Burns, was fined $10,000 and sentenced to two years in the federal prison at Atlanta today when a jury found him guilty of having conspired to obstruct justice.

Thomas B. Felder, Mean's former attorney and co-defendant on the conspiracy charge, was fined $10,000 but got no prison term. Both men were granted permission to apply for writs of error, automatically staying execution of their sentence.

The Day In Austin

Twenty-nine appointments of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson were confirmed in the senate.

Argument was completed in the special case before the first state supreme court composed entirely of women.

A conference committee was appointed to adjust differences in the judiciary appropriations passed by the house and senate.

Three senators were added to the special prison investigating committee, and the house committee of five was re-appointed.

A bill to require five days notice before issuance of a marriage license was introduced in the house.

Unification of the prison system on a centrally located tract of land was proposed in a bill introduced in the house.

COYOTES FLASH PAST VISITORS FOR 25-13 WIN

Powell Brothers Come To Fore With Brilliant Guarding

ED LEADS IN SCORING

Six-Year-Olds Squeeze Out Gymnasium Class Quintet

Bud McCallum, high school coach is in Austin, but that didn't seem to bother his Coyote cagers for they bared their fangs viciously at the Megargel quint last night on the Junior college court, and took the visitors to a lopsided cleaning, 25 to 13. With Bud absent, Junior college coach, Buds Mosley directed the Crimson and Black attack.

The fine passing of the Coyotes was too much for the visiting squad while their powerful defense kept the Megargel boys shooting from midfield. None seemed able to get past the two swiftly moving Powell brothers save Kent who failed to show much success on the few times he passed the two brothers.

Ed Powell was also the high point man with three field goals, three free throws, for a total of nine points. Andree ran him a close second with four field goals, no free tosses, and a total of eight points.

Pierce led the victors with five points, while his flashing running mate, Kent, tossed two baskets from the court and totaled four points. Early in the third quarter, Pierce threw a fine goal one handed over his head into the basket. In the first quarter Walsh tossed a spectacular basket from the center of the field.

Ed Powell coached and bossed the young fast going 16-year-old squad to a 15 to 14 win over the gymnasium class team in a game, preliminary to the Megargel tilt.

Jack Won't Quit Until I Say So, Chirps Kearns

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—When Jack Dempsey loses his punch he will be retired as heavyweight boxing champion and Jack Kearns his manager, will tell him when that is, Kearns announced tonight in an interview giving his opinion of the hue and cry recently raised over Dempsey's repeated admissions that he and Estelle Taylor expect to be married soon and that he "would probably quit fighting," about the same time.

Kearns admitted he was resigned to the fact that Dempsey intends to marry the motion picture actress. He expects to hear wedding bells but he cannot believe their jingle will sound the knell of Dempsey's ring career.

FULTON FINED $500 FOR "LYING DOWN"

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—Fred Fulton, former aspirant to the crown as world's champion boxer, today entered a plea of guilty to a charge of conspiracy to violate the California boxing law when his case was called in superior court for trial. He was fined $500.

The trials of Jack Reddy, Fulton's manager, Tony Fuente, self-styled Mexican champion, and Fuente's manager, Fred Winsor, were then started. The charges grew out of a match between Fulton and Fuente some weeks ago, it being alleged that Fulton "laid down."

Nurmi Still Wins

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Paavo Nurmi, of Finland, had little trouble in defeating four countrymen in a special mile and one-eighth race at the Morningside A. C. games tonight but ran the slowest race of his American invasion. He accomplished the distance in five minutes, 19 2-5 seconds, twenty seconds slower than the record.

Nurmi, who said he had been troubled with a cold, apparently did not try, getting away in fourth place and remaining there for several laps.

PAAVO IN BOSTON TONIGHT.

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—New England track enthusiasts will be given their first opportunity to view in action Paavo Nurmi, Finnish distance star and breaker of 15 world's records in nine races, before American sport fans, when he attempts to set a new indoor record in a special two-mile event at the thirty-sixth annual track games of the Boston Athletic association here tomorrow night.

Nebraska Throws Michigan For Loss In Off Season Gridiron Tilt

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Recent dispatches concerning the appointment of new coaches at Wisconsin and Nebraska universities have done much to arouse the lethargy of the football fans.

Both moves are unusually interesting in their nature and may have considerable effect in the final results of the 1925 gridiron season.

GEO LITTLE

The two appointments are that of George Little, assistant under "Hurry Up" Yost at Michigan, to coach of Wisconsin and Ernest Bearg, chief aside to Bob Zuppke of Illinois, to direct Nebraska.

The loss of Little by Michigan is drawing the major share of attention in the discussions of the moves. It is felt generally that the Ann Arbor institution has been thrown for a loss in the departure of Little.

Of course none but the Michigan athletic officials know the details of the case.

Little has been the active head of the team for two or three seasons. Yost has confined his activities mainly to policies and advisory duties.

On the other hand Yost had become more that the football leader at Michigan before Little joined the Wolverine coaching staff from Miami university in 1922. Yost's fame of by gone days had made him a tradition. He had become part of the "color" at the Wolverine games. His advent on the field always is the signal for a round of cheering. He is part of the "spirit" of Michigan.

Little Assumes Burden

Little early demonstrated his ability as a football coach. He took much of the weight off Yost's shoulders in short order.

Those who have followed the work of the team since he joined the coaching squad are frank in giving him much of the credit for the development of the eleven. However, to most folk, Yost was the coach at Michigan. Little is young—just 35. He hopes to win a place for himself among the great coaches. It is but natural that he should seek a place in the sun. Michigan was faced with the necessity of clearing the path for Little or letting him go. And behind Yost, as has been said, there had been built traditions.

At Wisconsin Little will have complete charge. He will be able to carry out his own ideas unhampered. The results, good or bad, will be credited to him.

The appointment of Bearg as coach at Nebraska, after several other possibilities, had been weighed carefully, is a tribute, in a way, to the coaching ability of Bob Zuppke, coach at Illinois, that university which is riding on the highroad of fame these days as a result of Zuppke's development of "Red" Grange and his powerful teams in general.

Bearg won football distinction at Washburn college and coached that team in 1918. The following year he joined Zuppke's staff and was given due credit by Zuppke for his part in the success achieved by the grid teams of Illinois U.

ERNEST E BEARG

He will carry many of Zuppke's ideas and methods to Nebraska with him. Nebraska has always ranked as one of the most formidable teams of the mid-west and Notre Dame's greatest rival for honors. The two elegens are the most talked of ones in the west outside the Big Ten elevens.

WITH O'CONNELL TURNING UP MISSING PROBE SLATED TO FAIL

Attorney Can't Convict Dolan or And of Alleged Giant Conspirators Without Jimmy

By DAVIS J. WALSH,
I. N. S. Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—If, as the young man himself has been at some pains to imply, Jimmy O'Connell will not appear in New York for the official investigation of the baseball scandal, the local district attorney's probe will die a painful death of malnutrition. There can be little done without O'Connell, the only man mentioned in the expose from which a confession was obtained.

Local officials made no attempt to conceal this state of affairs today, as they prepared to make the best of Jimmy's sudden refusal to do business with them.

Barring extradition proceedings, the district attorney's office has no alternative beyond proceeding with the hearing of minor witnesses from whom there is no hope of getting to the bottom of the affair.

Without actually saying as much, local officials have intimated that they will not attempt to extradite O'Connell. He would have to be indicted by the grand jury in the first place and in the second, they have no assurance that an attempt at extradition would be successful.

Governor Against It.

They believe that the governor of California would not consent to O'Connell's extradition.

In coming here to testify, O'Connell would lay himself open to possible imprisonment, if convicted in the eyes of the law.

He has asked for immunity. The district attorney will not grant it. Therefore O'Connell will stay where he is. Whether the fact that Cozy Dolan, barred from baseball with O'Connell saw fit to waive immunity in testifying yesterday, will have any effect on Jimmy's present attitude, local officials will not say. They point out, however, that Dolan has little to worry about as long as O'Connell, his sole accuser remains in California.

In fact, they made no attempt to evade the fact that neither Dolan nor any of the men accused can be convicted even with O'Connell present. According to the New York statute, no man can be convicted on the supported testimony of a self confessed conspirator.

Would Force Confession.

It was their original plan to attempt to force a confession from other witnesses, provided they had anything to confess and thus reach an open clearing through the underground by placing such a confession side by side with O'Connell's and letting the law do its word.

Dolan has steadfastly maintained his innocence since Judge Landis adjudged guilty solely on the indefinite character of his answers before the baseball commissioner. It is believed he continued to deny all knowledge of the plot when questioned by Assistant Attorney General Brothers yesterday, although just what transpired behind those closed doors will not be divulged until some later date.

It is the general idea however, that whatever happened is of slight consequence as long as O'Connell turns up missing. Without him, the local probe falls flat as a letter carrier's foot.

WILLING TO FACE ALL OF 'EM, SAYS JIMMY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—Jimmy O'Connell, outfielder for the New York Giants who was barred and attempted bribe-giver, is willing to face every man he accused of having knowledge of the bribery plot and repeat his charges against them, but he must have immunity for such testimony his counsel here notified District Attorney J. H. Banton of New York in a telegram today.

Junior Cagers Crave Action

"We want action!"

That's the cry these days of Coach Mosley and his Junior college Indians. No games were played this week by the Junior quint, and there's nothing coming up for next week, so it appears.

Tentative arrangements are on for contests with Weatherford college here Wednesday and Thursday, but this isn't assured by a long shot. So there you are, basketball gentlemen; any of you wanting a bit of stiff competition can get it merely by asking for it.

BACK SPIN CAUSE OF HOLE IN ONE

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Jan. 30.—Effective back spin on a golf ball enabled Harry H. Koehler of Newark, N. J., to make a hole in one here today. His pitch from the tee on the 135-yard sixteenth at the St. Augustine course carried past the flag but struck a slight decline a foot beyond and kicked back into the cup.

Few Changes In Texas League's Pilots This Year

Four Teams Re-Engage '24 Managers, Fifth Likely To

For the first time in many years, the majority of the clubs in the Texas League will go to the post this spring under the same leaders who took them through the 1924 campaign.

Four teams have already re-engaged their 1924 managers, a fifth probably will, and three are waiting to start the season under new skippers.

Jake Atz, dean of Texas League managers, will, of course, attempt to lead the Cats to their sixth straight pennant; Arch Tanner will begin his second year as leader of the Wichita Falls club; Bob Coleman is going into his third campaign as marshal of the San Antonio team, and Dutch Bernsen, who landed the Beaumont Exporters second a year ago, will manage the team again. Although he hasn't been signed, Marvin Goodwin is a candidate to succeed himself as manager of the Houston Bluffs, and since the owners feel he is due a real chance, inasmuch as he took the club in mid-season last year, he will probably get the post.

New managers are Fred Luderus at Shreveport, and Larry Gardner at Dallas. Waco has still to select a leader, although Tex Wisterzill, former manager of Galveston, goes with the franchise.

The coming year, memorable for the few changes in managers, will also be a big year for the playing skippers, with only Atz a confirmed settee-warmer.

Dempsey To End Fistic Career On May 20, He Says

Rickard Not Convinced, So He Plans Title Tilt For Gibbons

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—(AP)—May 20th will mark the end of Jack Dempsey's ring career, the termination of his ring and business partnership with Jack Kearns, his manager, and his second entrance into the state of matrimony, according to his own announcement here today. That date is the birthday of his bride-to-be, Estelle Taylor, film actress.

The king of the heavyweights of the world has fought his last ring battle, he declared. He added that his retirement from the resin and canvas was at the request of his betrothed, who prefers a business man to a pugilist for a husband.

The arrangement between Dempsey and Kearns has netted the pair many thousands of dollars in the past few years, as well as some valuable real estate holdings in Los Angeles. These latter, including a hotel and an apartment house, will be divided between the two, Dempsey said, and the fighter and his manager will go their separate ways.

Dempsey's decision to quit the fighting game was based on three main reasons: His belief that there was not a contender in sight able to give him a real battle; the dislike of Miss Taylor for pugilism and things pugilistic, and his fortune, which makes him independent of the purses offered by promoters.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Unconvinced that Jack Dempsey intends to retire as a result of his forthcoming marriage, Tex Rickard announced today he was going ahead with plans to match the champion and Tommy Gibbons for a title bout here about June 1.

JACK REITERATES STORY.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight, late today qualified early stories of his immediate retirement from the ring with the statement that he would "probably quit" fighting about May 20.

May Take All Winter, But We'll Do It, Says Waco

Drive On For $20,000 Fund To Enter Texas League

WACO, Jan. 30.—It may take all winter, but Waco is going to raise the $20,000 fund that will put Texas league baseball here, said J. Albert Green, chairman of the campaign committee, tonight.

"Half the money is already in sight and we know we can get the other half if we keep plugging," said Mr. Green, "and you can say that success of the drive is assured."

Mr. Green returned this afternoon from Meridian and Valley Mills, where he induced fans to get busy with stock books. Meanwhile another campaigner was placing 15 shares of stock at Lorena.

ROUTIS TO BE NAMED FRENCH FEATHER CHAMP

PARIS, Jan. 30.—Andre Routis will be officially declared featherweight champion of France tomorrow by the French boxing federation which tonight informed Charley Ledoux, the present champion, to that effect. The action is taken because of the refusal of M. Descampe, Ledoux's manager, to entertain an official challenge for the title endorsed and ratified by the ruling boxing body of France.

Hudson-Essex Plays Megargel

Dan Falchneys, Hudson-Essex will take on the Megargel five at the American Legion hall Saturday night at 7:30. Megargel has lost three times to Wichita Falls basketeers and hopes to take in the automobilers for a bit of sweet revenge over the Wichita Falls defeat suffered in the passed few weeks on Wichita Falls courts.

Hey! R. O., J. Will, and Al! Course At Country Club Is Open Again

Glad tidings for Country club golfers!

The course will be opened again this morning. This announcement was made last night by Bill Strachan, club golf professional, following two weeks closed season on golf because of the poor condition of the links due to the two recent snow storms here.

This announcement is made especially for the benefit of three locally prominent sporting gentlemen, R. O. Harvey, J. Will Gray and Al Parker who yesterday romped out to the club for a bit of golf but just were turned away. Strachan declaring the season was still closed.

NOTICE

To Telephone Subscribers

—On account of the rapid increase in the number of subscribers in Wichita Falls the Telephone Company finds itself compelled to make some necessary number changes.

—The number of stations in Wichita Falls is in excess of 7,500 at the present time, and the net increase in telephone subscribers for the year 1924 was 880—the largest increase in the history of the exchange.

—In order to take care of the increase in our business, new numbers have to be provided. To do this it is necessary to change all numbers in the 2,000 group in Wichita Falls. All these subscribers will be given numbers in the 9,000 group. This change will affect only the first digit of the present numbers, the "two" being changed to "nine" and the remaining digits will be the same as at present.

—This number change is effective as of midnight, January 31st, and only subscribers in the 2,000 group will be affected.

—Be sure to consult the New Directory before calling any numbers after midnight, January 31st.

N. Y. Stocks

STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Constructive forces were at work in today's stock market which moved to higher ground under the leadership of the oil shares, the buying of which was stimulated by additional gasoline and crude oil price advances. Net gains in the active issues ranged from 1 to 4½ points with the day's total sales running about one and one half million shares.

Maracaibo Oil and Independent Oil and Gas assumed the leadership of the oil group, rising 5 and 3¾ points respectively. Net gains of 2 to 3 points were recorded by Royal Dutch, Shell Transport, Atlantic Refining, Colorado Fuel nd General Asphalt, while Maryland Pacific, Phillips and several others advanced a point or more.

Little interest was manifested in U. S. Steel common which closed ¼ lower at 126¼. American Can closed more than a point higher at 165¼ and Baldwin moved up two points to 133. Studebaker, in which a new pool is reported to be formed recently, advanced 1¾ to 44¾. Mack Trucks was run up 5 points to another record top at 139¾, and then cancelled its gain on official denial by the General Motors officials of rumors that they were seeking control of that property.

Coppers, which have been laying dormant for a long time, were galvanized into activity in the late trading. American Smelting and Refining, Anaconda, Butte Copper and Zinc, Butte and Superior, Calumet and Arizona, Chile, Magma and U. S. Smelting being lifted up 1 to 3 points.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Trade is fully fair and industry is better than that, clearing as fair to good, but there are numerous irregularities in different cities, areas and industries, indicating cross currents in buying demand or in supply. Retail trade has seemed to slow down in most sections, this partly reflecting unfavorable stormy weather, and partly the passing of the after-holiday sales stimulation. As this has a fairly normal winter, with all that this implies of the lower cost of snow and cold, however, a very fair volume of final distribution has been recorded. In wholesale and jobbing trade for spring, the progress has been leisurely, in some sections, indeed disappointing when contrasted with the relatively higher speed of industry, which has scored a very marked degree of recovery from the depression of mid-year of 1924.

Weekly bank clearings $6,912,581,000

WOOL

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

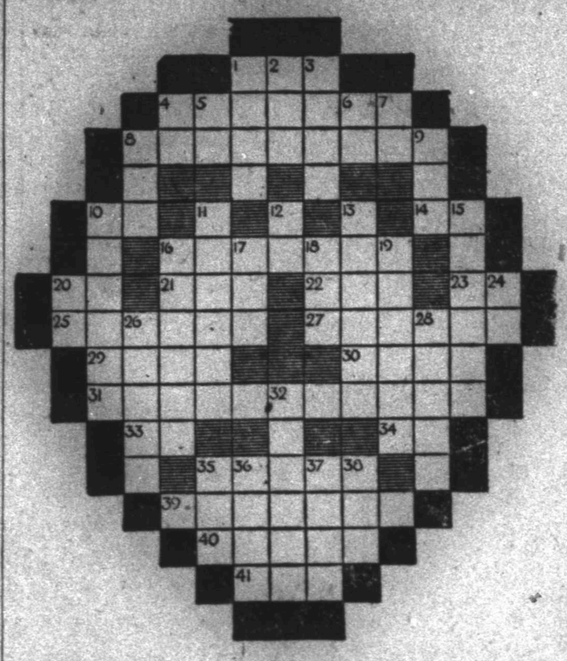

The demand for wool during the past week has been in narrow compass and prices are, consequently, a bit easy on the whole, although there is no fundamental weakness; on the contrary, buyers and dealers alike regard the more remote future with complacency, if not with optimism. There is no disguising the fact, however, that at the moment the American markets are a bit soft.

As for the foreign markets, there is little change compared with a week ago, except that the markets both in London and in the primary centers appear to be a bit firmer at the week end on the lower level of prices than they were.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Railroad earnings in December indicate a new record for that month, reports of 69 carriers showing aggregate net operating income $78,227,000 an increase of 22.4 per cent. Should the roads still to report maintain about the same percentage of gain, the total net for the month would reach $86,000,000 against $69,694,000 in 1923. This would bring the year's net for class one roads to ground $985,000,000, representing a return of 4.99 per cent on proptry valuation of $19,745,000,000 taken at the end of 1923.

Consolidated net earnings of E. I. Dupont de Nemours and company for 1924 amounted to $15,947,423 after all charges and bond interest, the annual report revealed today. This is equal, after dividends on the debenture stock to 12.46 per cent on the common, compared with 13.9 per cent in 1923. The year's net sales were $90,561,633 against $94,089,319 the year before.

Gold exports for the month, which probably will be close to $90,000,000 were augmented today by a shipment to Holland of $1,500,000 by the Farmers' Loan and Trust and $150,000 to Venezuela by the National City bank.

An advance of half a cent a yard on all lines of printed percales has been made by the Windsor Print Works division of the Consolidated Textile corporation. The plant is running full time with many week's orders ahead.

Prices of heavy melting steel dropped 25 cents a ton in the Chicago district today. Present quotations are $18.25 to $18.75 a ton.

The highest price ever reached for Panuco Crude, Mexican heavy oil, was reported today at $1.30 a barrel (40° gauge) in Mexico.

E. J. Kulas, president of the Otis Steel company, succeeding George Bartol, resigned.

Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company reports net loss of $150,388 for the eleven months ended November 30, 1924, after expense and depreciation.

Commercial failures in the United State this week totalled 525, or 11 below last week and 36 above the corresponding week of 1924, according to R. G. Dunn and company. Although the south, west and Pacific coast had more defaults this week, these were offset by a reduction of 31 in the east.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 30.—The cotton market was rather erratic today advancing moderately in the morning after a slight opening dip to a net gain over the previous day's close of 8 points mainly on an excellent spot demand and easing off during the afternoon on realizing induced by reports of preparations for early planting and a 10 per cent increase in acreage in southern Texas. The decline of the afternoon wiped out all the earlier gain and closed the market at a net loss of 11 points on March.

At the start an Liverpool was lower than due the market upened easier, first trades showing losses of 5 to 9 points. A further decline right after the opening call carried March down to 23.62, May 23.85 and October 23.75, or 7 to 12 points below the close of yesterday. The advance later in the morning on reports of good spot demand advanced March to 23.87, May 24.09 and October 23.92, or 17 to 24 points above the early lows. During the reaction of the afternoon March made a new low at 23.61 and October 23.72 but the other months did not drop below the earlier lows. The close was near the lows showing net losses for the day of 8 to 12 points, October showing the greatest decline.

The reason why the report from south Texas to the effect that preparations were being made to start planting in that region by the middle of February and that acreage would be increased 10 per cent weakened prices, was because the market has been heretofore supported largely by the claims by the early sections of Texas that no crop preparations were possible, that the acreage would be reduced and the start of the crop greatly delayed.

Reports from the southern markets as well as from the local spot market confirmed the early advices of a good spot demand. Spot sales locally totalled 3,355, including only 222 bales to arrive.

Exports for the day totalled 28,422 bales and for the week 183,624. The excess of exports todate over last year has now reached 1,500,000 bales.

Produce

TEXAS PRODUCE

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—Vegetable shipments jumped back to normal yesterday after the restrictions of the cold weather, this state rolled 15 of the 163 cars of cabbage out, two of the 58 car grape fruit, one of 197 cars of lettuce, 32 of cars 36 mixed vegetables, 28 of 32 cars spinach and four cars carrots. All 15 cars of cabbage were from the lower Rio Grande valley.

There was little change in the shipping point market. Spinach at Laredo brought 1.30 to 1.35 per bushel fob for usual terms cars and 1.15 to 1.25 cash track. Cabbage at San Benito rolled for 28 to 30 a ton on wire orders and the track trade took offerings at 22.50 to 24.00 a ton. Beets were ready at 1.25 and carrots somewhat dull at 85 bushel fob to the outside trade. Growers generally received from 85 to 90c bushel for their offerings of both.

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—The demand for hay remains practically unchanged and increasing receipts are burdening market. The trend is distinctly downward and some buyers are holding off for lower prices. Low grades are especially in poor demand and selling at wide discounts. No. 1 alfalfa Kansas City 21.50; Omaha 18.00; Memphis 28.00. No. 1 prairie Kansas City 11.00; Omaha 11.75; Chicago 14.00; St. Louis 15.00; Minneapolis 18.00.

No. 1 timothy Boston 26.50; New York 26.00; Pittsburgh 20.50; Cincinnati 18.00; Chicago 22.00; St. Louis 22.50; Kansas City 17.00.

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—Eggs continue to move lower, the Chicago exchange, this morning reporting nine sales of 390 cases of fresh gathered firsts at 30c or one cent a dozen under yesterday's quotations. At Texas points, the market was also somewhat easier, similar quality offerings bringing mostly 31½ a case, with some sales low as $10.50. Butter on the exchange was firm to a cent higher and at Texas consuming centers mostly about steady with packing stock country butter bringing 17 to 18c per pound, creamery "A" to creamery "B" 41c.

The poultry market was firm, with most producers delivering their stocks to the trade as follows: Hens large 18@20c; small 15@16c; springs 30c; turkeys 25@26c; geese mostly $1 each; old roosters mostly 8@9c; ducks 60@75 each; guineas 25@30c each.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Poultry alive higher; fowls 24@28c; springs 28c; roosters 18c; ducks 30@32c; geese 22@23c.

Butter, higher; creamery extras 38½@39c; standards 38c; extra firsts 37@38c; firsts 35½@36½c; seconds 35@ 34c.

AUSTIN, Jan. 29.—Poultry receipts in New York yesterday amounted to 653,982 pounds of which 229,913 went to the freezers. In Chicago 169,548 pounds were checked in and 49,085 pounds moved to storage. Boston receipts were 168,639 pounds and Philadelphia 76,185 pounds, of which 28,938 and 34,900 pounds respectively went into refrigerations. For the four markets withdrawals totalled 537,314 pounds which left stocks on hand this morning New York 33,811,768, in Chicago 42,936,769, Boston 11,159,089, and Philadelphia 4,638,736.

Receipts of eggs in he four markes were 27,266 cases of which 14,758 were of New York 8,747 Chicago. Of he 2,902 cases received in Philadelphia 379 were placed in refrigerators and of Boson's 3,401 cases, 270 went to storage.

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—Spinach markets today maintained their high levels, trade generally being steady around 1.75 to $2 per Texas bushel. The movement which totalled 31 cars included 28 from this state, showed an important increase in the Texas movement.

Prices: Chicago 1.50 to 1.75; St. Louis 1.50; Cincinnati mostly 1.50; Cleveland 1.50@1.75; Denver 1.50@1.60.

Livestock

FORT WORTH, Jan. 30.—Under continued light receipts the cattle market displaying great activity. The Friday supply of cattle, amounting to 1,500 head, was snapped up early and a run of 500 head in the calf division was disposed of very readily. Steady prices were paid for all kinds. About the only real feature was the sale of two cars of cows to a feeder buyer at $3.75, these being the highest priced stock cows going over the scales here within many months.

The beef steer market was not really established. Holdings were ever smaller than on other days of the week and nothing at all toppy was available.

Fat cows and canners met with satisfactory trade conditions, the market showing plenty of life and being quoted fully steady. One sale of cows was made at 4.60. Canners cleared mostly at 2.00 to 2.25, with some very common lots down to 1.75.

Heifer and yearling receipts were meager and most of the supply lacked quality. Prices held to a steady level.

Cattle receipts 1,500, including 8,000 calves; market steady; heaves 3.50@8.00; stockers 3.25@7.25; cows 2.75@5.50; cutters 2.25@3.25; canners 1.75@2.25; heifers 3.50@7.50; yearlings 3.50@8.50; bulls 2.50@4.50; calves 3.50@8.50.

Hogs receipts, 2,500, including 1,500 direct; market barely steady; nothing choice; top 11.10; bulk 10.80@11.00; best medium weight 11.00@11.15; good mixed 10.75@11.00; good light 10.50@10.75; fair 10.00@10.50; fair light 9.75@10.25; common 8.50@8.50; packing sows 9.00@10.00; pigs 5.00@9.25.

Town Talk

W. S. "SANDY" SANDERFORD, prominent young Wichita Falls business and social luminary, has just returned from an overland jaunt through West Texas and into New Mexico where he prospected—didn't say what he was prospecting for—and "hunted" big game such as gophers, jack rabbits and prairie "chickens."

Although his party traveled three days in a driving snowstorm he failed to encounter any of the frozen wolves A. L. Staley reported discovering while on his Goodnight ranch recently in West Texas.

Speaking of wolves, Sanderford promised no less than 13 Wichita Falls people he would bring each a pelt. Try and get it.

WHAT'S the latest in masculine wearing apparel? Usually this would be asked at a haberdashery, but now all you have to do to be hep to mode is take a look at your banker.

O. A. Jones and W. S. Abbott, cashier and assistant cashier of the City National bank, have instituted a new style in neckwear.

This pair romped down to their desks yesterday morning, their necks adorned with each a flaming scarlet fore-in-hand tie, a flaring crimson tint that can been seen with the naked eye at least three-quarters of a mile. In each breast pocket, subtly placed, was a kerchief to match.

"Red hot, that's the color of our official uniform from here out," was Abbott's comment on this new and startling style.

"Here," he added to the reporter, "speaking of red hot, why don't you take up this hot check of yours?"

6 p. m.

The young lady at the next desk peered out the window a few minutes ago, looked at the office clock, deducted 10 minutes from its reading to allow for its well known ambling propensities and gave voice to a melodious squeal.

"Ooo-ee, it's all light out doors—and it's 6 o'clock.

THAT'S just by way of calling attention to the fact that the days are increasing in length already—and that it's entirely noticeable. Time was not so long ago that it was dark at 5 o'clock. Warmer weather, spring flowers, long days and short nights are on the way notwithstanding the fact that a norther will probably blow in tonight, snow fall, winds howl, clouds thicken up—and make us one grand liar and a prophet without standing.

IT WAS "Aggravatin' Papa," "Aggravatin' Mamma," "Aggravatin' Sister and the Whole Durn Family," around Tipton's drug store Friday afternoon.

Get it right now brother; nothing smacking of a popular dance hall melody was uncorked; far from it; but a tantalizing window display centering around a one thousand dollar gold certificate—one thousand dollars of filthy lucre—was exposed to public view—and if it wasn't aggravating to 90 per cent of those who gaped in wide-eyed wonder, Wilkie Talbert will give it away. No one can prove it was not just that, so Wilkie is safe.

The bill, one of the famed greenbacks of ill repute, was brought up here from the federal reserve bank at Dallas to serve as the centerpiece of an advertising scheme planned by Mr. Talbert in behalf of the Wichita Falls Building and Loan association, of which he is vice president. Around it were placed placards showing how $615 invested by the easy payment route will expand through the magic channel of interest to the full $1,000 figure—merely in 123 months. Other instructive data is also given.

Mr. Talbert may get a bill from the ad department for the publicity he's gotten through this column, but laying that aside, he got a crowd yesterday. And if the flimsy pane of glass separating the bill from a covetous public wasn't aggravating, Ike Johnson's scowling mug, glittering star and menacing gat really were.

Firemen were called early Friday afternoon to the corner of Ninth and Tyler streets, where a grass fire was threatening to spread beyond control.

No marriage licenses were issued by the county clerk Friday.

Four more vags, docketed Friday in the city police court, was the toll exacted from the leisure element here Thursday night by the police department's campaign.

No verdict was reached Friday afternoon by the jury in the case of Mrs. Martha Dowlen et al. vs. J. F. Boyd and J. S. Owen, in which damages are sought by the plaintiffs for alleged fraud in connection with the sale of a K-M-A oil lease in the fall of 1919. The palintiffs are the heirs of David Jackson, deceased. The case went to the jury about 4:30 after the afternoon had been spent in argument on the suit as it affected the defendant, Owen. An instructed verdict releasing the defendant, Boyd, from all complicity was returned at noon. He was involved in the suit on grounds that he had been guardian for Mr. Jackson and had reaped benefit from the alleged fraudulent disposal of the lease. Evidence showed, however, that connection with the case did not begin until after disposition had been made. The case was tried before Judge H. H. Wilson and a jury in the 30th district court.

Charges of burglary in connection with entry of the Goldsmith drug store at Electra were filed Friday in the state courts against Clifford Barrett and Robert Blair, while charges alleging possession of narcotics were filed against the same pair in the federal court here.

Preparations have been made by County Tax Collector Guy C. Raley and his deputies for the final assault of taxpayers, scheduled to start when the doors open Saturday morning and to end as the zero hour arrives at midnight. Sunday morning will be Feb. 1, on and after which tax payments for 1924 will be subject to the 10 per cent delinquent penalty assessed after the time limit for payments expires.

Completion of the Filmore street paving project will be possible within the next week, weather permitting, according to officials at work on the improvement.

An address on "The Kingdom of Calloway", was delivered Friday night at Fulton, Mo., by Reece S. Allen, prominent Wichita Falls business man, at a dinner attended by a large number of Calloway county business, profession men, farmers and others. Mr. Allen formerly resided in Fulton where he was engaged in the fruit tree business.

A fine of $5 and costs was assessed yesterday by Justice of the Peace R. V. Gwinn against a local hauling contractor arrested on charges of violating state laws regulating size of load and type of conveyance used on the paved roads of the county. The offender, it was alleged, was transporting a heavy load of oil field equipment on a steel-tired wagon. He entered a plea of guilty to the charge.

Judge J. S. Dickey, formerly of Henrietta, and one of the most active and prominent lawyers in north Texas, will be the principal speaker Saturday at the weekly meeting of the Wichita Falls real estate board. Judge Dickey's remarks will be along lines instructive and interesting to the realtors.

Effective Saturday at midnight, all local telephone numbers, the first digit of which are two (2) will be changed to nine (9). This is necessary, according to an announcement from the local telephone offices, to properly arrange the additional equipment installed to meet expansion of the city's phone system.

Celebrating the eightieth anniversary of Baylor university, a radio program will be broadcasted from the Raleigh hotel at Waco this evening at 7:30 o'clock. The program will include talks by the university president, S. P. Brooks, and President Bodenhamer of the Alumni association, also musical numbers.

Henry Hobbs of the Hobbs Oil company returned home from New York City Friday night, where he has been for the past two weeks on business.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflammed membranes and kills the germs.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

House Sees U. S. As Block to World Peace

HOUSTON, Texas, Jan. 30.—"The United States today blocks the road to world peace."

So declared Colonel Edward M. House, former confidant of President Wilson, one of the delegates to the peace conference and student of world affairs, who is in Houston.

"In doing so, we are really assuming a dangerous position, under the guise of keeping out of entangling alliances with Europe," he added.

Colonel House, regarded as the silent man of the Wilson administration, now speaks freely of world affairs, although now and then cautions his interviewer, he must be quoted on certain information he has received confidentially.

"We will eventually become a full participant in the league of nations, assuming its full responsibilities as well as sharing its benefits," Colonel House says.

Clues Fail to Lead To Negro Murderers

ALTUS, Okla., Jan. 30.—Officers were searching southwest Oklahoma and northern Texas Friday morning for two negroes who robbed and killed J. W. Morgan, 65, Mangum, when they stopped his automobile on the west edge of Altus, near midnight Thursday. No clues so far have been picked up.

Morgan walked a quarter of a mile for help and described the negroes before he died.

CLAIMS SCARLET FEVER CURE

Yale Medical Professor Announces a Serum Discovered.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 30.—A serum, that will cure the most hopeless case of scarlet fever in 12 to 24 hours, has been discovered, according to Dr. Francis G. Blake, professor of medicine at the Yale medical school. The serum is produced, he said, from immunized horses. He did not state when the serum would be available for general practitioners.

WOULD ENFORCE THE LAW.

Former Vice President Says He Always Opposed Prohibition.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 30.—"I am not for the prohibition amendment and I never was; no decent democrat ever was," former Vice President Thomas R. Marshall told the National Retail Furniture school at a banquet in the Pantlind hotel ball room last evening. "But now it is here, let's maintain it or else get rid of it by due process of law.

Conscience Pricks After 25 Seasons

CANYON, Texas, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Pricked by his conscience for 25 years, a resident of near Italy, Texas, has just made restitution for a theft which he committed when a boy.

F. Burroughs of this city, once a jeweler near Italy, lost a number of watches by robbers, a quarter of a centudy ago. Today, he is in possession of a check for $25 and a letter saying the sender would send the remaining $50 as soon as he could earn it.

112 Arrests Lead To Ban On Dance Halls

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 30.—Public dance halls are to go under the ban in Oklahoma City as a result of the 112 arrests in one of them Tuesday night.

The Oklahoma City city commissioners at a public meeting late yesterday voted to prepare and pass an ordinance barring dance halls but not until members of the ministers alliance had threatened to leave the hall if Mayor O. A. Cargill and a newspaper editor continued to inject personal remarks into the hearing.

MILADY PIERCES EARS.

Long-drop Ear Rings Leads to Revivination of Vogue.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The present vogue of wearing long-drop ear rings has revived ear piercing which flourished many years ago when women wore the smaller gold ring with a single stone.

The present ear rings are of such size and weight that the ordinary screw is not sufficient to hold them to the ears and many London women are having their ears pierced.

ALIENS OUT OF TEXAS.

Heavily Guarded Trainload Passes Through Waco Friday.

WACO, Jan. 30.—Traveling under heavy guard, a special car of aliens being deported to Mexico passed through Waco at noon today. Several nationalities were represented among the number, who had been rounded up in the midwestern states. They are said to have entered this country via Mexico. The car was en route to Mexico, from which place the aliens will be escorted across the river. None of them are permitted to leave the car, all meals being ordered by the guards and served to them in their seats.

Herrin Troopers In Quandary On Water

CARBONDALE, Ills., Jan. 30.—There was a general cleanup in Carbondale today.

The citizen soldiery had come home for a bath. They were members of the state militia, the guards of Herrin. Their greatest battle has been against a drought.

For five days they fought a water famine. Herrin's reservoir was dry and residents had to depend on shallow wells. The state troopers were able to obtain only enough to drink and they had to boil it at that.

—to build up Weight!

ANY WOMAN, any man, can now have a well-developed face and form. The whole, simple secret of a well-developed form is in the number of blood-cells in your body. You can now forget all the theoretical talk about diet, exercise, fad treatments, food-fats and fat-foods. Nothing is of any use, after all, except blood-cells!

Thin, run-down men and women, with bony necks, sunken cheeks, bony shoulders—all these are suffering from one thing—too few blood-cells. Science has proved that S.S.S. helps to make the rich red-blood-cells, which you need. Your blood is starving for these new blood-cells! Give your blood the blood-cells it needs—take S.S.S. the great scientific blood-cell maker. S.S.S. has done marvels, too, in making beautiful complexions, clearing the skin, making lips rosy red, the cheeks full and plump—because it rids the blood of impurities which cause pimples, blackheads, acne, blotches, eczema, tetter, rash and rheumatism, too. As the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. This is why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Start taking S.S.S. today and your great problem, that of your personal appearance, can be solved.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.
