Another U. S. Drive Nearing Nazi Anchor

German Troops Are Engaged In 'Orderly Retreat'

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, July 14—American infantrymen, slowed in their attack on St. Lo, burrowed into the ground and held resolutely to their positions two miles outside that highway center of the Normandy peninsula today in the face of an increasing German artillery fire sweeping the approaches.

To the west, however, the American army was on the move from St. Lo to the sea, with infantry and tanks only one and one-sixth miles from the Germans' western anchor at Lessay, and supreme headquarters said the Germans apparently were making an "orderly withdrawal."

Between Lessay and St. Lo the Americans had virtually completed, after several days of hard fighting, the ironing out of a German salient which had bulged toward Carentan in the middle of the beachhead.

Caen Lines Unchanged

Late supreme headquarters announcements mentioned no changes in the battlelines at Caen, at the eastern end of the front, and Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British and Canadians apparently were at a standstill there, as the Americans were at St. Lo.

Fighting south and southeast of Carentan the Americans captured Auxais, Les Champs de Losque, Es-Aubris and La Vincenterie. These advances left the American line running almost straight from a point northeast of Lessay to the Pont Hebert area northwest of St. Lo. This line was from 2½ to four miles north of the Lessary-St. Lo road.

In the Lessary region, infantry and tanks advanced from one to three miles along the coast, and cleaned out the area up to Havre de St. Germain, the deep inlet which stretches inland almost to Lessay and forms a bottleneck between the sea marshlands.

Lessay itself was under artillery fire, with the Americans but 2,000 yards from the town.

Eastern Sector Inactive

On the eastern sector of the Normandy battleground there was little activity, but it was revealed the British had lost St. Honorine, a mile north of Colombelles, in

Turkey Leaning Nearer Allies

WASHINGTON, July 14. (AP)—American officials watched Ankara closely today, as Anglo-American-Russian talks continued with Turkey to bring that important neutral closer to the Allies.

While it seems unlikely that the Turks will join the war against Germany at this stage, concrete developments to aid the United Nations and hit Germany appear in the offing.

First step may be a severance of Turkiseh economic relations with the Nazis, who are getting wool, silk, oil seeds, foodstuffs and certain critical materials from Turkey.

The Turks have already cut their overall trade with Germany by 50 per cent, in addition to the complete ban on chrome exports to the Nazis.

Reports from Ankara have shown a sudden increase in diplomatic activity there, and it was learned here that three-way conversations have been going on with the Turks for three weeks now.

An Ankara dispatch said that German Ambassador Franz von Papen had left, which if true could indicate Nazi alarm at the rapidity with which Turkey is heading towards the Allies.

Turkey's abandonment of her neutrality could imperil the whole German system in the Balkans and speed the end of the war.

Gen. Ben Lear To Head Army Ground Forces

Gen. L. J. McNair Given 'Important Overseas Duty'

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 14—The War department announced today that Lt. Gen. Ben Lear has been assigned to command of the Army ground forces, relieving Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair who has been given "an important overseas assignment."

McNair has commanded the ground forces since March, 1942. While on an inspection trip in North Africa in April, 1943, he was wounded by shell fragments. Lear assumed temporary command of ground forces at that time.

Lear, former commander of the Second army, was assigned a year ago to the Army group, a pool of general officers which is drawn upon for unspecified assignments.

Born In Canada

Lear was born in Hamilton, Canada, on May 12, 1879. He came up from the ranks after enlisting in the first Colorado infantry volunteers on May 1, 1898.

He is a veteran of much overseas service, having served in the Philippines and Cuba among other places. He was on the War department general staff in the first World War.

While commanding the Second army, headquartered at Memphis, Tenn., in 1941, General Lear precipitated a widespread pre-war controversy over Army discipline when he ordered a group of soldiers to undertake a forced march between Little Rock, Ark., and Memphis, because some of them had yelled "yoo-hoo" at shorts-clad girls on a Memphis golf course.

Clark Opposed Promotion

Lear was then a major general and when he was subsequently promoted — and confirmed — as a lieutenant general, Senator Clark (D-Mo) waged a determined but ineffective fight to block Senate approval, because of the so-called "yoo-hoo" incident.

McNair, 61 years old and a native of Verndale, Minn., started his military career with his appointment to West Point in 1900. Specializing during much of his career in artillery, McNair was in Mexico with the Funston expedition to Vera Cruz in 1914, then returned to that country with the punitive expedition in 1916. He sailed for France soon after United States' entry into World War one, in 1917, serving with the First division, American expeditionary forces, until August of that year. He then was attached to general headquarters where he remained until the end of the war.

Willkie Support For Dewey Is Predicted

ALBANY, N. Y., July 14 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential candidate, will have the support of Wendell L. Willkie, in the opinion of the man who nominated Willkie for president in 1940.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck, Indiana, chairman of the congressional campaign committee, told reporters after a two-hour conference with Dewey today that he has not seen Willkie nor heard from him, but added:

"My view is that he will support the ticket."

In New York, Willkie laughed when informed of Halleck's statement and said "I don't believe I have had a talk with Charlie in two years."

Halleck made the nominating speech for Willkie in Philadelphia four years ago.

He predicted that "we will have a Republican House of Representatives" after the November election.

Navy Relentlessly Hammering Guam Into Shape For Invasion

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

An avenging U. S. Navy, unceasingly hammering Guam into shape for invasion, today grimly underscored the mortal blow struck Japan at Saipan by revealing the deaths of two Japanese admirals on this island lying only 1,500 miles from Tokyo.

Adm. Nimitz disclosed last night that Vice Adm. Chuichi Nagumo, commanding the Central Pacific area, met death on embattled Saipan July 7, one day before the Marianas capital island toppled. With him died a Rear Adm. Yano, otherwise unidentified.

Far southward on New Guinea thousands of trapped enemy troops threw themselves against encircling Allied forces near Aitape. Many of the 45,000 men trying to break free to Jap-held Dutch New Guinea were slain in attacks preliminary to a full-scale battle. Their fate seemed as sure as that of Admiral Nagumo's, but American lives were in the balance too.

Largest Of Marianas

Guam, largest and most southerly of the Marianas, quivered under at least nine straight days of aerial blasting plus four days of warship shelling through Tuesday. Tokyo radio said new attacks were made Thursday by aircraft and warships, including a battleship. Gun positions, blockhouses and warehouses were targets.

The pattern of bombardment precisely followed the technique of the Gilbert and Marshall islands invasions. Guam, whose mountains offer the same rugged de-

Rescuers Start For Wreckage Of B-17

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 14. (AP)—An Army search and rescue squad hacked its way through dense woods today toward the wreckage of a B-17 Flying Fortress on a hill north of the Rangeley lakes in Maine.

Searchers said they hoped to reach the wreckage tomorrow. They would have to lay a trail through heavy underbrush as no roads lead to the plane.

The Army said that the bomber, out of Kearney, Neb., airfield, reported in at Syracuse, N. Y., at 10:10 a. m. Tuesday enroute for Dow field at Bangor, Me. It communicated by radio with Grenier field at 11:55 a. m. and then was not heard from again.

The Army listed the following as among those "missing:"

Co-pilot, 2nd Lt. John W. Drake, father, George N. Drake, Port Arthur, Tex.

Bombardier, 2nd. Lt. Robert S. Talley, wife, Mrs. Gloria Del Talley, San Angelo, Tex.

"Anything Can Happen—And Probably Will!" "Willkie-For-Wallace" Idea Gains Back-Stage Strength

BY DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 14 —Out of the bickering, scrambling, wire-pulling over who should be Roosevelt's running mate has emerged a backstage whisper, at first almost inaudible, but now growing to a point where party councils take it seriously.

It is the idea of nominating Wendell Willkie for vice president on the Democratic ticket.

Behind the idea are several factors. Most important is the White House feeling that any wartime administration must be non-partisan. Henry Wallace, son of a Republican member of the Harding cabinet, now is classified as a full-fledged Democrat — despite wry faces made at him in the South.

Winant Talked, Too

This non-partisan idea is one reason for the President's leaning toward Ambassador John Winant, former GOP governor of New Hampshire, as his running mate.

Advisers say he has in mind the last wartime election, when Abraham Lincoln chose Andrew Johnson, a Democrat. Born in North Carolina and a former governor of Tennessee, Johnson had opposed secession and sympathized with Northern Republicans, though maintaining his official position as a Democrat. He was nominated for vice president by a Republican convention which called Lincoln and Johnson a "Union" ticket.

Some of the Democrats about to gather in Chicago seem to think that, with Roosevelt nominated, they will have a walkaway. However, Democratic Chairman Bob Hannegan and those nearest the President expect a very tough fight, feel that the candidate for vice president must be selected with great care on the basis of winning votes.

Willkie Thought Vote-Getter

And when it comes to vote-getting, there is a unanimous feeling that Willkie could powerfully pull voters away from the Republican ticket.

Another development which has surprised party chieftains has been the reaction of southerners to Willkie. In the last few days, some quiet soundings of southern leaders have been made, and they have been almost unanimous in their approval of Willkie for vice president.

Monetary Group In Final Work Phases

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., July 14 (U.P)—A committee began final work today on a proposed $8,500,000,000 monetary fund for world money stabilization as the other delegates attacked the other proposal before the United Nations monetary and financial conference—a $10,000,000,000 institution to lend money and guarantee loans for reconstruction and development after the war.

Two major items remained to be worked out on the monetary fund—quotas and the amount of gold invaded nations will have to subscribe—but the committee was expected to complete its work Sunday or Monday. It was understood that Russia was holding out in each case and that its delegates had asked Moscow for instructions on procedure. A spokesman for the American delegation said that the plan could be drawn up in practically final form which would be satisfactory for the current session without including the Russian quota.

Madame Chiang Is In Brazil For Three Months' Rest Cure

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP) — Mrs. Chiang Kai-Shek has gone to Brazil for a rest cure and plans to spend three months there.

The Chinese embassy here announced today the arrival of China's first lady at Rio De Janeiro, and Chungking dispatches said she left that capital Sunday, seeking a cure for nervous exhaustion, insomnia and chronic urticaria, an inflammation of the skin.

Her party of ten included her sister, Mrs. H. H. Kung, whose husband as Chinese minister of finance is heading the Chinese delegation to the monetary conference at Bretton Woods, N. H.

Treated By U. S. Doctor

The Associated Press bureau in Chungking said Mrs. Chiang has been under the care of Commander Frank Harrington, assistant U. S. naval attache there, for four months. At a farewell tea, Mrs. Chiang informed friends: "Dr. Harrington told me I'd never be cured if I stayed in Chungking."

She went to the United States last summer for hospital treatment.

Dr. Harrington said that Mrs. Chiang's condition was aggravated

Lively Race For Vice Presidency Is Indicated

Work Stoppage Ends At Can Factories

(By The Associated Press)

More than 6,000 war workers in 10 Chicago and Joliet, Ill., can manufacturing plants voluntarily returned to their jobs today, ending a work stoppage which started yesterday in protest against a War Labor board decision which granted only a portion of the employes wage demands.

However, a second WLB report placed a threat of a strike vote over the nation's glass plants employing some 35,000 AFL union members.

The can company workers returned to work following a mass meeting and agreed to continue production in the various plants pending disposition of an appeal from the WLB decision.

The work stoppage was described by Gordon H. Kellogg, vice president of the American Can company, as endangering the highly perishable pea and cherry packs this season. About 5,000 of the 6,300 who quit work left seven of the company's Chicago area plants. Other employes, members of the CIO United Steelworkers, halted work in three of the Continental Can company plants in Chicago.

Nazi Atrocities Are Denounced By Hull

WASHINGTON, July 14. (AP)—In a new denunciation of Nazi atrocities in Europe, Secretary of State Hull declared today that the entire Jewish community of 1,000,000 persons in Hungary is threatened with extermination.

At the same time, he declared that "the cold-blooded murder of the population of Distomo (Greece) is another shocking example of the reign of terror which the Nazis have instituted in Europe and which becomes more savage as they become more desperate."

Hull issued separate press conference statements on the Hungarian Jews and the Distomo destruction and promised in each one that punishment "will be meted out" to persons responsible for the atrocities.

Russians Drive Into Fortress City Of Grodno

Reds Roll On Beyond Fallen Wilno; Path To East Prussia Being Cleared Rapidly; Fall Of Grodno Is Believed Imminent

LONDON, July 14. (AP)—Marshal Stalin today announced the capture of Pinsk.

(By The United Press)

LONDON, July 14. — Berlin reported today that the Red army had broken into the Grodno, vital hedgehog defense bastion on the approaches of East Prussia, whose 1939 border lies 20 miles due north, and that the Germans had evacuated Pinsk, last big bastion of the Pripet marshes.

The Transocean news agency reported that in the 150-mile sector between Pskov and the Dvina river along the borders of lower Estonia at Latvia the German front "has been further drawn back" in a broad retreat on the northern front.

The fall of Grodno would open the way for a 45-mile Soviet push straight westward to the soil of pre-war Germany.

The Nazi Transocean news agency also reported strong Russian tank and infantry attacks

REDS SAID IN EAST PRUSSIA

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP) — NBC today quoted a German underground radio station as reporting that "Russian armies entered Rosenka, in East Prussia, at noon European time." Such a town is not shown on available gazetteers, which however, list a Rosenka in old Poland on the river 25 miles south of Brest Litovsk.

north of Grodno. The tip of the Suwalki triangle, annexed to East Prussia by Adolf Hitler in 1939, is 20 miles due north of Grodno.

Fall Of Grodno Seen

Ernst von Hammer, Berlin military commentator, said the Russians broke into Grodno twice and were thrown back. He added that the Soviets were exerting extreme pressure on "German detaching movements near Grodno"—a likely hint that the loss of the key stronghold was expected.

The German high command reported that Pinsk, commanding all the northwestern part of the Pripet marshes, was "evacuated in connection with our detaching movements" which now were assuming the scale of a momentous retreat in old Poland and the Baltics.

The fall of Pinsk indicated Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's White Russian army had completed the conquest of the Pripet swampland and was set for a push 100 miles west against

Enemy Oil Units Dealt New Blow

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 14. — Up to 500 escorted American heavy bombers attacked Budapest railway yards and four oil refineries in Hungary today in continued, determined effort to destroy German fuel supplies and communications.

Foul weather hampered operations in support of the battle in Normandy, although some flights cut through clouds and squalls and bombed railroad yards at Beauvais and Montdidier, far east of the battle fields.

Three of the Hungarian refineries were on the outskirts of Budapest and these were the meat for Flying Fortresses based on the more sunny fields of Italy. They were the Panto, Shell Koolaz and Hungary Petroleum company properties with a total annual capacity of 358,000 tons. Liberators sought out the Petfurdo oil works five miles south of the Hungarian capital and also bombed the Ferencuaros railway yards in the city.

Nazi Fighters Encountered

A considerable number of aggressive Nazi fighters were encountered and several were destroyed by the four-engined bombers and their Lightning escort. Mustang fighters met interceptors over Budapest and bagged and unspecified number.

Another flight of Liberators and Mustangs bombed the Mantua railyards in Italy. Overnight, Mediterranean Air forces snarled Milan railyards and bombed numerous oil storage facilities in

Car Manufacturers Plan Reconversion

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP) — Top-ranking automobile makers set out today to make plans for partial resumption of passenger car production after the German collapse.

The War Production board was ready for the group—nine prewar manufacturers making up its automobile industry advisory committee—with its "blue order" reconversion plan.

Intended to be set in operation some time after "X-day," the unknown date of Nazi defeat, the "blue order" would speed reconversion by having orders for parts and materials placed in advance.

Meanwhile the Senate small business committee proposed a program for giving smaller manufacturing plants a "head start" in reconversion from war to civilian production.

The report recommended "modernization and vigorous enforcement of anti-monopoly legislation" and the maximum utilization of small business in the postwar program.

The WPB "blue orders" would not be filled until the curtailment of war production enabled it to give the go-ahead signal.

Production of 2,000,000 cars a year has been suggested. This would be about two-thirds of 1930 production.

Allied Troops In Italy Gain

ROME, July 14 (AP)—American troops knifed through fiercely defended German lines yesterday, captured the village of Pastina, 13 miles east southeast of Livorno (Leghorn), and drove on two miles through San Luce—almost due east of Livorno.

The thrust, paced by the 442nd regimental combat team composed of American soldiers of Japanese origin, followed a secondary highway midway between the Italian west coast and the Era valley, and threatened to outflank enemy strongholds on both those major routes to Livorno.

Equally significant gains in hard fighting were scored by French troops on the American right wing.

French Advance 2½ Miles

The embattled Frenchmen advanced 2½ miles northward from San Donato and captured San Gimignano and the neighboring village of La Casette. This brought them to within 17 miles of the Arno river at Empoli, and tended to develop a threat to the flank of the defenders of Poggibonsi, five miles east of San Gimignano.

Today the French celebrated Bastille day by continuing their assaults and mopping up isolated pockets of resistance in newly overrun territory.

The Nazis struck back. North of Pastina, the enemy launched a future counterattack last night

Residents Of French Village Massacred

LONDON, July 14 (AP) — The French press service said last night nearly 800 persons were massacred June 10 by the Germans in the village of Oradour-Sur-Glane, central France. It said the men were shot, and the women and children died inside a locked church which was first dynamited and then set afire.

Only "seven or eight" of the town's population escaped, the agency said, and all buildings were burned.

There were contradictory reports as to the reason for the German act.

"Some say an arms dump was found in the village, others that some Germans were killed there," the agency said.

Gen. Roosevelt To Be Buried In U. S. Cemetery In France

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN NORMANDY, July 14—Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, jr., — "Teddy" to his troops—will be buried tonight with full military honors in the land he twice fought to free from the Germans.

Roosevelt, one of the most colorful and best loved generals in the Army, died from a heart attack late Wednesday night after an exhausting tour of the front which he made against his doctor's advice. He refused to rest despite the fact he had suffered a slight attack only four days before.

High-ranking officers, including Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, commander of the First army, and Maj. Gen. Joseph Lawton Collins, conqueror of Cherbourg and commander of the U. S. Seventh corps, and scores of doughboys will attend the burial ceremony in an American cemetery.

His son, Quentin, a captain in the First infantry division which his father once served as deputy commander, also will be present. The Fourth division band will give a musical salute.

Postwar Boom In Cotton Seen

DALLAS, July 14 (AP)—A prediction that new war-born cotton products will cause great postwar strides in the cotton industry heightened the enthusiasm of some 400 "king cotton" representatives at the last day of the fifth annual cotton research congress today.

The general theme of the congress, which centered around the possible threat of substitutes toppling cotton from its throne, changed with a prediction by C. K. Everett, director of merchandising for the cotton-textile institute, that a cotton boom will follow the war.

Everett cited one leading wartime development in cotton as the discovery of the suitability of light, tightly-woven cotton fabrics for cold weather outer-garments. He said the Army has proved it is no longer necessary to rely on heavy textiles to keep the body warm.

Big Market Foreseen

From that discovery, Everett said, will come a big post-war market for men's cotton winter work pants, cotton gloves, hats and other items.

The delegates to this year's congress came from all parts of the South and Southwest, including Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi and other states.

Dr. H. G. Johnston, Texas agricultural experiment station entomoligist, gave the gathering some figures on the loss caused Texas cotton farmers by boll weevils. He said the annual loss was about 960,000 bales of cotton—or about $118,000,000.

Parsons Read Paper

L. E. Parsons of Texas Technological college, Lubbock, read a paper by Nathaniel M. Mitchell of Boston, Mass., on improvements in textile machinery, and Earl Heard, director of research of the West Point Manufacturing company, West Point, Ga., read one by E. G. Gwaltney, research specialist of Biddeford, Maine on "a long rang look into the future of cotton spinning."

Two farmers, W. Claude Terry of Dallas county and F. O. Masten of Cochran county discussed how cotton can meet today's challenge by reducing costs of production on the farm.

Ural Mountain Area In Russia Changed Into Giant Arsenal

BY HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Writer

OMSK, U. S. S. R., June 30 (Delayed) — In a clanging arsenal in the Ural mountains, American machine tools are turning out guns and cannon with which the Red army is breaking the back of Hitler's vaunted Tiger and Ferdinand tanks.

In the boom towns in the Urals, of which Sverdlovsk is the "capital," thousands of Soviet men, women and youths are working 11 and more hours a day at forges, presses, giant stamping machines and assembly lines, turning out torrents of armored weapons.

From these factories come sturdy, reliable old M-34's — Russia's standard tank equipped with 85 mm. guns and spanking new self-propelled artillery whose guns outrange and outpunch the Ferdinands.

Pour Out New Weapons

The noise shops also pour out new weapons — weapons whose deadly effectiveness the Nazis learned about at Minsk and on the White Russian front. These include long barrelled guns mounted on standard 88-millimeter chassis, huge mobile guns and the howitzers that smashed the German siege lines around Leningrad.

This tour of the Urals arsenal, staged for Eric Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and for correspondents, was designed to bring home to the American public facts and figures regarding Soviet production, but there still remained a Russian reluctance to release actual production figures even though it was obvious after a tour of Russian war plants, built on a scale of the Chrysler tank arsenal at Detroit or the Ford Willow Run bomber plant, that production figures would strike terror to German hearts.

Converted To War

Accompanying Johnston, I saw a huge plant which turned out turbines for the vast Dnepostroy hydro-electric project before the war. Today it is wholly converted to war — like Detroit. Mills which made blast furnaces for Magnitogorsk, blooming mills and open hearth furnaces for the Don basin are turning out self-propelled guns, heavy tanks and gun and artillery chassis.

But Russian plants still turn out vital postwar jobs — power plants for new Ukrainian blast furnaces, including No. 7 for Magnitogorsk.

Another director is Lev Goner, 36, director of an artillery plant which is turning out six times as many guns as in 1941.

He said more than 36 per cent of his workers are women, compared to five per cent before the war. Five per cent are rehabilitated war wounded, but the bulk are graduates of Soviet trade schools.

Sverdlovsk is the Urals metropolis. In 1940 it had a population of 75,000 which has grown to 750,000.

Thousands of workers, even those who were draft exempt, have volunteered for the Red army. The Ural tank corps, which was organized by workers, turned out, in addition to regular production, enough tanks and weapons for an entire brigade, then went to the front.

Luling Man To Get Congressional Medal

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—The second South Texan to win within a period of four months the nation's supreme award — the Congressional Medal of Honor —is sharpshooter Sgt. James M. Logan of Luling.

Sgt. Logan received the medal for helping secure the beachhead at Salerno, Italy — first foothold of American forces on the European mainland.

The Congressional Medal was awarded posthumously in April to Seaman First Class Johnnie David Hutchins of Lissie. Hutchins died aboard a LST during the landing at Lae, New Guinea, in 1943.

The 23-year-old Logan was awarded the medal for killing three Germans with three shots, then killing a sniper after racing 200 yards across open terrain and breaking into a house. The medal is to be presented in a ceremony overseas.

'Coon Dog Rescued From Mountain Cave

LESTERVILLE, Mo., July 14 (AP)—"Old Drive," a 10-year-old dog described by his owner, Jake Light, as "the best 'coon hound in Reynolds county," was freed last night from an Ozark mountain cave in which he was imprisoned for 10 days.

Rescuers chipped through the last foot of a 20-foot limestone bluff, and pulled "Old Drive" out of the hole as he whined gratefully. His sides were gaunt and his legs and feet swollen.

The dog slipped into a crevice during a racoon hunt July 2 and dropped into the underground cavity. Neighbors with picks, drills and dynamite, worked 18 hours a day boring through the rugged hillside to reach the cave.

"We've neglected our corn crop maybe but Old Drive was worth it," said Light, with tears in his eyes.

Farmers' Milk Coops Under Price Control

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—All farmers' milk cooperatives will be under maximum price control starting July 17, whether or not they take title to the milk of their patrons, the Office of Price administration announced today.

This action reverses an order of a year ago which exempted from price control those cooperatives which are producers, as distinguished from those which merely provide assembly points for milk.

At 20 miles per hour there are 12 fatalities in each 1000 automobile accidents but at 51 miles per hour and over there are 92—more than a seven-fold increase.

Tomato Sauce Has Many Uses

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

From our Central American neighbors comes this tomato sauce with a thousand uses—for leftover meat, beans, fish, and with little thin pancakes spread with minced cooked meat.

Tomato Cooking Sauce (About 1 Pint)
(Serves 6)

One tablespoon shortening, 1 clove garlic, 2 onions, 4 tomatoes, 3 or 4 peppercorns, 3 cloves, 1-inch piece stick cinnamon, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 cup chicken stock or 1 cup water and 1 bouillon cube.

Melt shortening in a large skillet, add garlic and chopped onions. Stir and cook slowly until the onion is yellowed and soft, but not browned. Add tomatoes, diced, peppercorns, cloves, cinnamon, salt and sugar. Stir and let the mixture simmer for about 1 minutes. Add chicken stock (or hot water and bouillon cube) and let the sauce simmer gently, uncovered, until thick — about 30 minutes.

Genuine Chili Con Carne
(Serves 6)

One pound dried kidney beans, 1 pound ground beef, 3 tablespoons butter or bacon fat, 2 onions, 1-2 green pepper, 1 clove garlic, 4-5 fresh tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, cayenne, 1 1-2 to 3 tablespoons chili powder.

Soak beans overnight. Drain them the next morning and add sufficient fresh water to cover. Cook until tender, about 2 hours, adding more water. Mince onions, green pepper and garlic. Fry slowly in the hot fat for about 10 minutes, until soft. Add ground beef breaking it apart and stirring constantly with a fork until it's evenly browned. Skin tomatoes, cut them up into small pieces and add to the meat mixture. Stir in saft, cayenne and 1 1-2 tablespoons chili powder—more if you love hot peppery foods. Add the cooked kidney beans, liquid and all, mix well, then let everything simmer very slowly for 30 or 40 minutes.

Less expensive cuts of meat, spare ribs, lamb shanks, veal joints and such, respond to simple glorification when they are served with broiled halves of canned cling peaches. There's something cheerful about the colorful fruit which appeals to men, women and children.

A summer sandwich filling for which you will find many uses is a product of the vegetable family except for chopped ripe olives. Select any combination of crunchy vegetables such as radishes, celery, cucumber or raw carrot and combine in mayonnaise or salad dressing with an equal amount of chopped ripe olives and a bit of onion. Season with mustard, horse radish, lemon juice, or Tobasco sauce if a highly seasoned dressing is desirable for the occasion.

KITCHEN KORNER

A cold meat loaf made from meat gently stewed from the bones and chilled in aspic should be a part of family menus occasionally, in the interests of variety. Colorful wedges of vegetables not too well cooked to retain shape and character, ripe olives cut in large pieces from the pit of the whole fruit, are the requisites for an appetizing and inexpensive entree.

Here's new variation for cinnamon toast which makes the "tea" taste ever so much better. Prepare toast as usual, sprinkle with cinnamon, sugar and finely chopped almonds and put under the broiler for just a minute. The quick toasted almonds give the toast a royal and sophisticated air.

There is nothing to equal the goodness of a homemade frozen dessert if you want to complete your meal with a crown of glory. Try using apricot whole fruit nectar as the liquid ingredient. The true fruit flavor of fully ripened apricots provides a most delectable dessert.

Salt does it. Removes the clinging fish odor from hands or cooking utensils. After handling fish wash hands in strong salt water, then rinse them well before washing in warm soapy water. Ditto for dishes and presto the fishy odor is gone.

Even though a chilled egg just out of the refrigerator separates most easily, both the white and the yolk whip best when both are at room temperature. Never use cold eggs in a cake and expect to get good results.

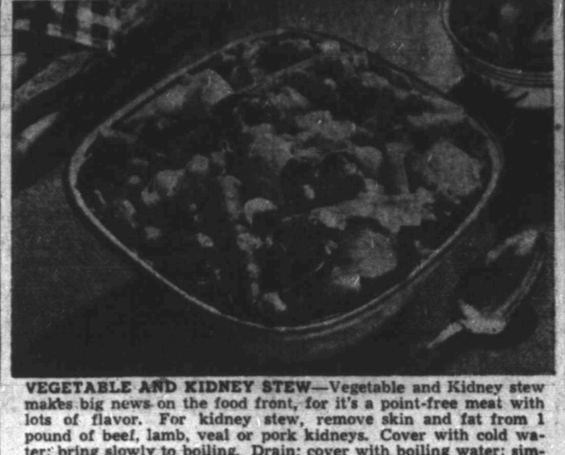

Honey, because of its colloidal character, is an ideal sweetener for mayonnaise.

Fruit cups are improved by adding honey. Fruit and honey are natural sweets, hence merge deliciously.

Children and grown-ups too will enjoy honey on their cereal.

Honey keeps well in a warm, dry place where the temperature is 75° F. or over.

Honey sweetens hot and cold beverages in a unique way.

VEGETABLE AND KIDNEY STEW—Vegetable and Kidney stew makes big news on the food front, for it's a point-free meat with lots of flavor. For kidney stew, remove skin and fat from 1 pound of beef, lamb, veal or pork kidneys. Cover with cold water; bring slowly to boiling. Drain; cover with boiling water; simmer until tender. Drain; cut in small pieces, add to 4 cups stock from kidneys, add kidneys, 6 small whole carrots, 6 small whole onions, 1 cup cubed potatoes, 1 cup sliced mushrooms (if desired), 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, and 1 tablespoon salt. Cook 30 minutes or until tender. Add 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Thicken, if desired. Serves 6.

Weekday Planning Prevents Extra Cooking On Sunday

Every woman who "keeps house" deserves her day of rest from cooking on Sunday, according to Jessie Alice Cline, home economist. "Puttering" around the kitchen is relaxing for some people, but on Sunday most women would rather relax in an easy chair and read the Sunday paper or chat with the family.

Plans can be made to have that type of a Sunday by making preparations Saturday afternoon or Friday evening.

Prunes or some other stewed fruit can be prepared ahead of time for breakfast better than oranges or grapefruit which lose vitamin C when cut or squeezed and stored over night.

If the family insistes on wheat cakes the dry ingedients and lard can be mixed whenever there is time the day before. While the ingredients are close at hand the quantities needed for a hot bread for dinner or supper might be measured too. Then on Sunday only liquid need be added — a minimum of fuss and bother.

Occasionally sweet rolls or coffee cake from the bakery might be served for an even easier morning meal.

Breakfast
Ready-to-Serve Cereal Milk
Wheat Cakes Syrup
Coffee

It is usually best to plan to have dinner at mid-day on Sundays, says Miss Cline. With that schedule family members are more free to follow their own plans for the rest of the day. A roast is probably the easiest main course. There is only the effort needed to place the meat on a rack in an open roasting pan, insert the meat thermometer (if one is available) and place it in a slow or moderate oven.

Wash the potatoes the night before and on Sunday bake or boil them in their jackets. That saves time and the potatoes retain more vitamins when cooked that way too. Vegetables may be washed and cleaned the evening before too. These tasks consume time, whenever they are done, but why waste time in the kitchen on the only day of the week that the family is together?

A day or two before the weekend make a molded salad or plan an easy head lettuce salad for Sunday. Mayonnaise may be thinned the evening before too.

Sunday Dinner
Pork Loin Roast
Potatoes in Jackets Asparagus
Molded Apple Salad
Corn Meal Muffins Jelly
Orange Pudding Coffee

Supper should be simplest of all. A ready-to-eat meat platter could be served every Sunday evening without montony for there is wide variety of meats to choose from. Any mixture of cooked vegetables or fresh vegetables might be tossed together for a mixed vegetable salad in lettuce.

Honey in milk and on bread contains a great amount of nourishment and is good at any time.

Be sure to put milk in the refrigerator as soon as it arrives.

Lemons will yield more juice if put in hot water for several minutes before squeezing.

In order not to scorch milk, rince the pan with water before heating the milk.

Cakes and cookies made with honey are noted for their keeping qualities.

For picnic sandwich fillings combine cream cheese and honey or peanut butter and honey. Use ½ cup honey to ¼ cup peanut butter.

Have you ever had a sauce cooking and were at the point where you had to add a seasoning and couldn't find it immediately? In order to be able to find all seasonings and spices easily and quickly, arrange them alphabetically on the shelf. From allspice to tarragon—and you'll find them in the dark.

Search For Navy Man Leads To American Cemetery In France

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ST. LAURENT - SUR - MER, France, July 5 (Delayed)—I finally caught up with John Norbert Murphy after searching the war zones for more than a year.

Almost seven years ago my older brother, Ed, married John's sister, Monica, in Kansas City. John wasn't even in high school then. When I was back home last spring Monica asked if I had ever come across her "kid brother".

Landed With Beach Party

"He is in the Navy and landed with a Navy beach party during the invasion of Sicily last July," she said. "He talked to some other correspondents and learned you had landed with General Patton on the same stretch of beach, but wasn't able to get in touch with you."

When I went to England in May I still couldn't find him. Today I found him, over here.

He was lying in plot B, row five, grave 84, of the first American cemetery in France in World War II.

Into the mound of earth was stuck a stake to which was wired his identifying "dogtag." And a withered Normandy rose left there by French peasants who have put a flower over each of 2,000 American graves in the cemetery.

Cemetery Overlooks Beach

The cemetery overlooks the stretch of beach on which John died on D-day. A few hundred yards away is a ruined 88-mm gun which could have fired the shell that killed him.

Walking in a heavy rain across a rutted beach I found a young radioman who told me about it.

"Murph landed an hour after H-hour," he said.

"About 7 o'clock that night Murph and his buddy, Radioman Third Class Lawrence Meredith, from Oklahoma City, and two other men were in a foxhole. An 88 shell landed right in the foxhole. Murph and Meredith were killed instantly. One of the other fellows was wounded, but the fourth wasn't even hurt."

Company Commander Lt. George Clyburn, Conroe, Tex., recalled that John's platoon had been hardest hit on D-day. "We were badly mauled that day," he said.

PIGGLY WIGGLY "A GOOD PLACE TO TRADE"

Gen. Arnold Praises Training Command

FORT WORTH, July 14 (U.P.)—Lt. Gen. Barton K. Yount, commanding general of the AAF training command, announced today the receipt of a congratulatory letter from Gen. H. H. Arnold on the command's first anniversary.

The letter from Gen. Arnold, chief of the Army Air forces, was dated July 7, and said:

"A year has passed since the training command was activated as an organization comprising the formerly separate training units and I want to congratulate you and the personnel under your command for the fine job you are doing

"This training program is the largest in the history of aviation and it is being carried through zealously and efficiently.

"You have all worked tirelessly to provide the Army Air forces with the best bomber and fighter pilots in the world, the finest instructors and the most skilled technicians. This achievement is a most important contribution toward our great drive toward victory.

"The best of luck to you all and keep up the good work which is such a vitally important part of our program."

Postwar Boom In Trade With Russia Foreseen By Johnston

WASHINGTON, July 14. (AP)—A tremendous postwar boom in trade with Russia is foreseen by Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce. He began work today on plans to translate into dollars-and-cents orders the information he obtained on a lengthy tour of the Soviet union.

Based on conversations he had with Marshal Stalin and other top Soviet officials and also on personal observations made during thousands of miles of travel, Johnston said:

1. Russia is looking to this country for an imagination-staggering supply of mining and industrial machinery, railway and hydro-electric equipment, ships, trucks and road building tools and machines. She needs these things to rebuild wrecked plants and to expand productive capacity.

Long Term Credits

2. In order to buy from the United States, it is "absolutely essential" that Russia have long term credits (10 to 30 years). Also, the United States must buy from Russia, taking raw materials such as manganese, nickel and other steel alloys, timber and the like; that will enable the Russians to pay off their loans.

3 Russia's aim in rebuilding is to achieve a high standard of living. The government and the people would like to reach the standard of this country. Therefore, Johnston does not believe Russia will be a serious competitor for international trade "in the foreseeable future."

Johnston outlined his Russian information at a press conference yesterday. It is expected that he will confer in time with many government officials and business men.

REDS NEARING GERMAN SOIL—Map makers are having a hard time keeping up with the mighty Soviet onslaught, described as the greatest coordinated offensive of the war, which today is striking at the threshhold of the German homeland. Gains of the past ten days are shown by the shaded area, while today other territory was to be added as the Nazi high command acknowledged the loss of Pinsk, last big bastion guarding the approaches to East Prussia, and the Reds drove into Grodno.

Cowboy Henry To Stay In Pen

AUSTIN, July 14. (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today revoked a three-month reprieve granted May 31 to Claud (Cowboy) Henry, convicted of slaying a San Antonio policeman, on the grounds that $2,000 had been deposited in a Huntsville bank for a lawyer who aided him in obtaining clemency.

Henry had twice attempted escape from state prison farms, successfully once in a fruitless effort to see his wife, Toni Jo Henry, before she was executed in Lake Charles, La., for the murder of J. P. Calloway, Houston salesman.

In his proclamation Gov. Stevenson said that he had no evidence that any of the money had been improperly used in obtaining the clemency but that the matter constituted a serious threat to the state's parole system.

Sentenced To 50 Years

Henry's record with the board of pardons and paroles shows that he was sentenced in the district court of Medina county to serve 50 years for the murder in the slaying of Arthur Sinclair. The record also showed:

He had been credited with serving five years and that "he has been guilty of no charge of misconduct since November, 1942."

That in August, 1942, he attempted to escape from the Ramsey prison farm by taking a gun away from a guard.

That on Nov. 23, 1942, he escaped from the central prison farm, was out of the prison two days, and returned to incarceration on Nov. 25. This was just prior to his wife's execution.

Had Chances To Escape

That he also had had three other chances to escape, which he did not take.

The pardon board's file on Henry's case also included a letter from District Judge W. W. McCrory of San Antonio, which said in part:

"I have always felt that had 'Cowboy' not taken the stand himself and tried to make out a case of self-defense and if his attorneys had not put him on the stand and urged such defense, that he would never have received over 10 or 15 years, if that much, in the penitentiary."

The governor directed San Antonio officers to arrest Henry and return him to prison.

Condition Of Wreck Victims Satisfactory

Earl Hodge, 2429 Thirty-seventh street, and Bill McCasland, operator of a grocery store on East Broadway, who were injured in an automobile-truck collision Thursday afternoon near Snyder, were reported today by Lubbock General hospital to be in satisfactory condition.

Hodges, driver of the car, suffered a broken left arm, back injury and cut shoulder in the accident which occurred when he attempted to pass a truck. McCasland received a back injury.

Other occupants of the Lubbock car were Jack Thomas of 2413 Thirteenth street, former city policeman, who received a severe cut on his left hand which required about 20 stitches and possible fracture of the left arm below the elbow; and W. L. (Dub) Green of 2208 Monroe avenue who received minor cuts and bruises. Both were released from the hospital here Thursday night. Thomas and McCasland were thrown from the car.

The four men were taken to a Snyder hospital immediately after the accident where they received emergency treatment. They were brought to Lubbock shortly before midnight in two Plains Funeral home ambulances.

The Lubbock car, a 1941 Mercury belonging to Hodges, was completely demolished, according to Thomas. The bed of the hay truck was damaged only slightly.

The four men were going to Big Spring to see about obtaining a tractor.

A faulty gas range caught fire early Thursday night and damaged a two-room house at rear of 1212 Tenth street, firemen said.

Hitler Throws Out Civilized Conduct

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Hitlerdom in its hour of desperation has cast aside its last pretense of civilized conduct and has served the world with the awful notice that in order to defend Germany it will turn Europe "into a maelstrom of destruction where only one cry is heard—the cry for blood."

The meaning of this barbaric declaration, broadcast yesterday by the German military radio, is terribly clear. The frustrated fuehrer—abnormal-minded whelp of Prussian militarism—wants his enemies to believe that he is prepared to put civilian Europe to the sword and torch in an effort to force the Allies to make terms with the reich.

Most Diabolical Project

No more diabolical project ever was conceived in the darkest ages, and if anybody but Hitler backed it in these days of supposed enlightenment one would put it down as propaganda calculated to frighten the United Nations into a stampede. Probably the Nazi dictator hopes it will have this effect, but if it doesn't produce this result—what then?

We can't dismiss it as an empty threat. It fits perfectly with the character Hitler has displayed in his bestial massacres of helpless civilians in occupied countries and his enslavement of millions of others.

We have full proof from his past deeds that his evil heart won't stop at murder and devastation. I believe he is fully capable of undertaking to pull Europe down to destruction with him with all the horrors of a blood-bath.

Sheppard Field CO Given Area Command

DENVER, July 14. (AP)—Maj. Gen. James E. Chaney, commander of Sheppard field at Wichita Falls, will become acting commander of the Army Air forces Western Technical training command and is expected to arrive here tomorrow.

Gen. Chaney replaces Maj. Gen. John F. Curry, who left this week for an undisclosed overseas assignment after heading the command for more than two years.

Headquarters said Gen. Chaney is second in seniority under Gen. Curry and will serve pending designation by the War department of a permanent commanding general.

Tigers Batter White Sox In 9-1 Slugfest

Ex-Service Man Wakefield Shines

(By The Associated Press)

Can Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Bobby Feller, Johnny Vandermeer and scores of other big leaguers in service pick up where they left off when they come marching home from war?

The question that has puzzled club owners and fans alike was partially answered yesterday when Dick Wakefield, recently "detached" from the Navy's Iowa pre-flight school, stepped into a Detroit uniform and banged out two hits in the Tigers' 9-1 slaughter of Chicago.

Judging from first day impressions, it may not be so tough for the stars to resume their careers.

Away Only 6 Months

The $52,000 dandy has been away from the big show for only half a year after hitting .316 and leading the league in total hits and doubles as a rookie. Others making a more violent change may find the readjustment more difficult.

Wakefield's two hits helped the Tigers rout Orval Grove with an eight-run spurt in the second as Paul "Dizzy" Trout coasted to his 11th win.

St. Louis held its 2½-game margin in the American flag race by scoring three times in the 10th for a 4-1 victory in the second game after bowing to Cleveland, 6-5, in the opener of a two-night doubleheader. Chief Reynolds won and Al Smith lost for Cleveland, with Nels Potter getting the St. Louis victory and Sig Jakucki the defeat.

Boston Yanks Split

Boston and the New York Yankees divided two games as they opened a vital 6-game series. The Yanks took the first, 4-2, as Ernie Bonham outpitched Rookie Red Barrett with the help of Bud Metheny's two-run homer. Yank Terry scattered six New York blows in the finale after the Sox hopped on Atley Donald for four unearned runs in an 8-4 triumph.

Al Jurisich of the Cards got the nod over Jim Konstanty of the Reds in a tight 11-inning National league duel when Danny Litwhiler doubled home Walker Cooper for a 3-2 edge over Cincinnati.

Frank Colman's pinch triple enabled Pittsburgh to top Chicago, 3-2 for its fifth straight and win No. 6 for Fritz Ostemueller. Hank Wyse was the loser.

The New York Giants-Philly night game was rained out, and Brooklyn-Boston in the National and Philadelphia-Washington in the American had open dates.

NOVA, OMA FIGHT TONIGHT

DETROIT, July 14. (AP) — Lou Nova, boasting a 14-fight winning streak in his comeback campaign, tackles Lee Oma tonight in a ten-round heavyweight bout at Olympia stadium. Nova is a slight favorite over the former Detroiter, who has met with good success in eastern rings.

There are 44,000,000 telephones in the world.

Campbell's Slugging Leads Dean Service To Win And Title

Bill Dean's Service came from behind in the sixth inning to down the Hemphill-Wells Cats, 3 to 1, and win the first half championship in the junior baseball National league as George Campbell crashed out a long homer with two men on base, his third hit of the ball game.

Campbell had a perfect day at the bat, getting three hits in three trips to the plate, the third one his game, and flag, winning homer. His dynamite loaded willow accounted for three of the four hits combed from Ater's delivery. James Cline hit the remaining bingle for the Deanmen.

Skipper Phil Ragland took the mound for the Deanmen, and hurled a great ball game. Ragland was touched for eight hits, but he kept them well spaced all the way to pitch his club to the first half championship, and automatically into Monday's All-Star classic.

Hemphill-Wells pushed over a run in the second inning, and maintained this 1 to 0 advantage through five innings. In the sixth, Ater ran into trouble and the picture changed fast.

Newsome opened the sixth by working Ater for a base on balls. Murphy was hit with a pitched ball, then Ragland advanced both runners with a sacrifice bunt. Campbell then reversed the picture with his long home run.

Hemphill-Wells rallied in the seventh inning, and threatened to get back into the running, but after one man was nipped at the plate in a close play, Skipper Bill Cope of the Cats was nailed at the plate on an attempted double steal for the final out.

Rice Gridders Drill Under Summer Sun

HOUSTON, July 14 (AP)—Defying 95 degree weather, the Rice Owl football squad donned pads and went through its first scrimmage session of the summer football camp.

Coach Jess Neely indicated pleasure at the performance. Offensive operations were exclusively from the "T" formation, which will be put to use by Neely for the first time in the coming season.

The Owls lost another of the performers on whom they had been depending for experiences in the nine this fall when Benton Davis decided to pass up the game because of a heavy scholastic schedule. A letterman tackle, the 225-pound Davis said his full attention would be devoted to his books in an effort to graduate by November.

The first string backfield yesterday included Frank Lawrence at quarterback, George Walmsley and Davis Parrish at halfbacks, and Carl Russ at fullback.

The line included Bruce Bradbeer and George Grininger, ends; Bob Zolsman and Truman Wright, tackles; H. J. Nichols and Johnny Cox, guards; and H. D. Tate, center.

All-Star Tilt Slated Today

Junior Leaguers To 'Gang' Champs

The junior baseball All-Stars from the American league will "gang" the Kiwanis Cardinals, champions of the first half, this afternoon at 6 o'clock in the dream game classic of the smaller league. The All-Star game has been scheduled for Chapman field in order to care for the large crowd expected to turn out for the game.

Delicate Dell Morgan skippered the Kiwanis nine to a season that saw the battling Redbirds beaten only one time, and Morgan's only statement before the All-Star classic was that his "kids" would be putting out the same brand of hustle that crowned them champions in the torrid first half race.

Wall Well Pleased

Coach Stoney Wall, skipper of the popular Rotary club gang, and named skipper of the All-Stars, was beaming brightly Thursday afternoon as he summed up the lineup of his all-star nine, and boldly predicted a victory.

The all-star classic was given another touch of color, and a bit of a family feud, with the naming of Bob Schmidt, hustling little Jaycee catcher to the All-Star lineup to play against his Cardinal brother, first sacker Dick Schmidt of the champions.

Probable Starters

The probable starters for the All-Stars shaped up with Higginbotham pitching, the Optimist's Sandlin doing the catching. Lefty Laquay of the Lions will hold down first, Bill Bridge of the ABC will be at second, Buddy Manor of the Rotary will be at the hot corner, Bobby Griffin of the Optimist will roam the short field. In the outfield will be Stanley of the Optimists, Fred Eddins of the Rotary and Royce Ellison of the ABC.

As reserves for the All-Stars, Wall will have a pitching staff of Manuel Gallegos of the Lions, Denny Davidson, the Optimist sensation, and Lefty Jack McCabe of the Jaycees.

Rest Of Squad

Others in the lineup will be catchers Bob Schmidt of the Jaycees and Jack Keeling of the Rotary; infielders Gerald Hise and Neal Sikes of the Rotary, Sellers and Cook of the Optimists, Turner of the Lions, Dorrance Guy and Tommy Lynch of the Jaycees, White and Bobby Jackson of the ABC.

Morgan named ten men that will see plenty of action in the Kiwanis lineup with the battery of Billy Travis and Charles Lowder due to start. Travis has been the ace of the Kiwanis mound staff all during the season.

Dick Schmidt at first, Joe Parham at second, Billy Tatum at third and Jack McDonald at short will make up the Kiwanis infield. Jon Mohle will start in left, Jack Houk in center while Don Medlock and Durwood Flanigan will divide time in the right field position.

The All-Stars went through a brisk workout as a unit Thursday afternoon and both clubs pronounced themselves ready for the gala event.

Scientists say that the war has condensed 50 years of normal development in the technique of three years.

MP Corporal Wants Crack At Louis

Magician-Fight Manager Says He Can Pull Champ Out Of Hat

PITTSBURGH, July 14 (AP) — Jimmy Grippo, who manages fighters as a business and practices "hexing" and legerdemain as a hobby, believes he is going to pull a heavyweight champion out of the hat by the time this war is over—and a corporal of the military police at that.

"If I could close my contract for our bout with Joe Louis we'd have it right away," the bushy-haired hypnotist-magician said today. "But the Army won't let Louis fight."

Party of the second part in the conversation was Melio Bettina, one-time holder of the New York version of the light-heavyweight crown and today rated fifth among the heavyweights by the National Boxing association.

The Louis-Bettina contract dates back to a scheduled date for March 27, 1942—a date never filled when the Army placed a ban on Louis insofar as fighting is concerned.

The Beacon, N. Y., belter, who got the ring dust in his eyes recently after retiring last September, was here to ready himself for his third comeback bout at Forbes field next Tuesday against Curtis (The Hatchet Man) Sheppard of Pittsburgh.

Bettina went into the Army two years ago, fought only two bouts last year and retired after the second when he lost a ten-round decision to Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland. That loss—he had beaten Bivins ten months before—broke a 14-bout winning streak he had compiled after graduating to the heavyweight division.

Among his victims in that stretch were Red Burman, Gus Dorazio, Buddy Knox, Mose Brown and Harry Bobo—the latter twice.

Since he hit the comeback trail a few weeks ago he has knocked out John D. Vorce, the Detroit clown, and beat Buddy Walker of Columbus, Ohio.

"He's in better shape now than he ever was," Grippo said. "He'll take this Sheppard in a hurry."

Thornton Lee To Be Back On Mound Soon

CHICAGO, July 14. (AP)—Thornton (Lefty) Lee, White Sox pitcher, whose services for the season were believed ended Sunday when he suffered a break in his left forearm when hit by a line drive, says he will be back in uniform in a couple of weeks, and will be ready for mound duty early in August.

The big southpaw, one of the two Sox lefties, said an examination disclosed that the break involved a small bone and that the injury has not impeded the movement of his elbow or fingers.

Hurlwood All-Stars Trounce Grocerymen

Scoring most of their runs in clusters, the Hurlwood All-Stars had little trouble in trouncing the Scarbrough Grocery softball club, 17 to 2, in the men's league feature at the 23rd and Avenue W diamond. Arnold started off the scoring spree with a first inning homer with one on.

Dixon struck out one and allowed five hits while pitching for the All-Stars. Smith caught. Click started on the mound for the Grocermen, and was relieved in the third inning by LeMond. Click and LeMond allowed 12 hits, while Haygood caught.

In the contest tonight at the same diamond, the Junior Chamber of Commerce will attempt to score its first win, when they meet the Lubbock Army Air field Civilians.

Woman Has Hurled Four No-Hit Games For Softball Team

FORT WORTH, July 14. (AP) — Jo Kennedy has four no-hit, no-run pitching performances this season but at that she's running behind last year.

The 29-year-old attractive brunet, who has helped make the Globe Aircraft corporation's softball team so strong it can't get in a league but just plays the champion for the right to enter the state tournament, rolled up 12 no-hit, no-run exhibitions in 1943.

And Jo, the wife of Cpl. T. Kennedy of Fort Worth Army Air field, doesn't have to stay in her own bailiwick to mow them down either. She has hurled against the best teams in the country and as far back as 1940 was pitching a no-hit, no-run game in the national tournament at Detroit.

The Globe team has played 16 games this season with Mrs. Kennedy hurling all of them. She has won 14, lost 2.

WACs Defeat SPAAF Civilians, 15-11

The South Plains Army Air field WACs outslugged the SPAAF Civilians in the women's league softball game played at SPAAF, and romped home with a 15 to 11 victory. Hewitt started the WACs off with a first inning homer with none on base.

Williams pitched for the Wacs and Elkins caught. The battery for the Civilians was McLeod and Hall.

(NOTE TO READERS: In Lubbock for a brief visit is William J. Hooten, able editor of the El Paso Times and author of that paper's "Everyday Events" column. Mr. Hooten is en route to the Democratic National convention, which opens Wednesday in Chicago, and at the request of his longtime personal friend, The Plainsman, agreed for today to transplant his column from the Times editorial page to this spot. Kindly, thoughtful Editor Hooten has a son in the Army; the same wife he started out with more than 20 years ago; and is an all-out supporter of the New Deal and a Fourth Term for President Roosevelt.)

BY WILLIAM J. HOOTEN
Editor, The El Paso Times

MAYBE Freud knows why, but every newspaper editor is aware that wedding stories are particularly susceptible to the unfortunate typographical error.

This certainly came recently to the knowledge of a neighboring New Mexico editor, who apologized after a wedding account in his paper read:

"Witnesses to the pretty ceremony were: Yearlings; choice stock steer calves."

The names of the guests, omitted from the wedding story, turned up in the livestock report!

Speaking of steers and calves reminds us that a cow makes the same noise that a saxophone makes in the hands, or mouth, of an amateur—and gives milk besides!

* * *

SOMETIMES a barber shop is a good place to get the lowdown on the trend of public thought, at least of what the men who happen to be there are thinking about.

This has to do with a man from a small community near El Paso and who has a son receiving Army training at Fort Bliss.

"Let me tell you something," said the father, in a barber shop after a visit to the great, sprawling fort, "There are enough men and enough equipment at Fort Bliss right now to whip the whole danged world!"

Now, everyone knows that is not true. But for some reason, that sort of talk is reassuring. It shows that at least a certain part of our population has undying faith in the ability of the American Army to whip anything, anywhere.

When I was a child, anyone who doubted that an American soldier could whip at least three of any other nationality just wasn't patriotic. And as for the Yankees, why any Confederate soldier was good enough for at least two of 'em any day. Children of the North doubtless thought the same thing, but the other way 'round.

Such talk and such faith did much to build confidence in our beloved country and its fighting men.

PERSONALLY, I feel extremely patriotic these days, too. I am one of those with unlimited faith in the U. S. and its men.

I would much rather hear someone talk like the father of the boy at Fort Bliss, than to listen to opinions that are less optimistic, if not downright pessimistic in spots.

I am not one of those who thinks Victory will be ours before tomorrow—or next week. But I feel personally insulted when anyone says our fighting men won't clean up on the foe in anything more than the least, humanly possible time.

I have always liked this poem. I guess I always will, even though my son is now a man in his own right and, in the uniform of his country, certainly is no longer a "little chap."

I don't know the name of the author of the piece, but I think most readers will like it. It's called "That Little Chap of Mine."

A careful man I ought to be,
A little fellow follows me;
I do not care to go astray,
For fear he will go the self-same way.

I cannot once escape his eyes,
Whatever he sees me do he tries;
Like me he says he is going to be,
That little chap who follows me.

He thinks that I am good and fine,
Believing every word of mine;
The base in me he must not see,
That little chap that follows me.

I must remember as I go,
Through summer's heat and winter's snow;
I am building for the years to be,
That little chap that follows me.

MY good friend—and also The Plainsman's friend — Capt. Mike Snider, who heads El Paso's Traffic detail, swears this actually happened on one or my hometown streets the other day.

A young woman from a neighboring town had done everything wrong while at the wheel of her automobile. She had calmly disregarded traffic lights. She had failed to signal her turns. She had broken the speed limit adjacent to a school building and, finally, she stalled her engine in the middle of heavy traffic.

Captain Snider walked up to her as the young woman rouged her lips and powdered her nose, totally oblivious to the honking horns of other motorists whose paths she blocked.

"Say, lady," asked Mike, who has headed El Paso's Traffic detail for more than 10 years, "do you know anything at all about driving rules?"

"Sure, officer," she sweetly replied. "Just what do you want to know?"

Hyling Means, boss of the H-T ranch near Silver City, N. M., was reminiscing the other day about the old rule some public diningrooms had requiring all male guests to wear coats at the table.

Huling recalled that he was in St. Louis one time with another New Mexico cowman who went into a hotel dining-room only to be told that he could not be served unless he put on a coat.

The New Mexican walked out of the diningroom and returned a few minutes, demanding service.

He got it ,too, even though his coat was a big, yellow slicker!

"DOC" CREGOR, a druggist friend of mine, is an ardent fisherman and dearly loves to entertain his pals with stories about angling. His most recent contribution of this sort is in the form of a verse and, since I know there are many fishermen on the South Plains, it should we welcomed here.

THE ANGLER'S PRAYER

Lord, give me Grace to catch a fish
So big that even I
When talking of it, afterward,
May never need to lie!

MADAME Ernestine Schuhmann-Heink gave the world many things. Her voice thrilled millions; her fervent patriotism in the last World War was a shining example to other foreign born in the United States.

Every family should have a copy of her definition of Home. It follows:

"A roof to keep out the rain—four walls to keep out wind—floors to keep out cold—yes, but Home is more than that.

"It is the laugh of a baby, the song of a mother and the strength of a father. Warmth of loving hearts, light from happy eyes, kindness, loyalty, comradeship.

"Home is first school, first church, for young ones, where they learn what is right, what is good, and what is kind; where they go for comfort when they are hurt or sick; where joy is shared and sorrow is eased; where father and mother are respected and loved; where children are wanted; where the simplest food is good enough for kings, because it is earned. Where money is not so important as love and kindness; where even a tea kettle sings from happiness. That is Home—God bless it."

Beautiful, isn't it?

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT
(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

ONE of the reasons why women play such a relatively small part in the running of the world is because so many of them find satisfaction only in endeavors in which they can see a tangible and immediate result.

MILLETT

Many a housewife will work hard all day putting a house into shining order, packing away winter clothes, sunning mattresses — and when the day is done she will feel a deep glow of satisfaction over all she has accomplished.

Or she'll work in a steaming kitchen canning, and feel the work worth while when she looks on the bright rows of colorful fruits and vegetables put aside for winter months.

But many of those same women are lazy when it comes to working with their minds and their imaginations. The idea of spending time and energy on studying the political situation so that they can intelligently make up their minds on how to vote in the coming elections has no appeal for them.

After all, their vote will just be one vote and even if the candidates they chose after hours of study and consideration should be elected it wouldn't be all their doing.

RESPONSIBLE FOR RESULTS

SO they either drift along until election day, picking up a smattering of information, much of it pure gossip, about candidates and policies. They vote either on the basis of skimpy information, or as their men folks tell them to. Or they decide they are too busy to bother with voting, what with the house looking a sight and Aunt Tillie coming to visit.

Well, this year they ought to have more incentive for preparing themselves to vote intelligently. It is predicted that women will make up 60 per cent of the voting public. So, if they need a tangible result in sight in order to spur them on, they can truthfully say to themselves, "We women are going to be largely responsible for the results of the coming elections, and the blame or the credit will be ours."

"I have instructed my reporters to boil down all political speeches before putting them in the paper," says an editor. It will tax the ingenuity of his reporters to boil down hot air.

Today's Journal Editorial

SO FAR, SO GOOD

It seems to be the consensus of Washington observers, including those who definitely are something less than admirers of the administration, that American-Free French relations have been improved as result of the recent visit of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, Free French leader.

Certainly it is to be hoped that the reports are correct. The best interests of Americans, the French and the entire Allied cause demand the closest possible cooperation among all who are fighting together. The closer they cooperate, the sooner they will win and the smaller will be the blood price of victory.

But common sense should tell any reasoning person that it would be impossible to forecast the results of General de Gaulle's visit this soon. It is reasonable to presume that his conversations and observations will result in some improvement in the American-French relationship—there being room for a great deal of improvement. Perhaps the visit will do much good.

But that remains to be proved. The actual results of the conversations will not become apparent unless and until they are translated into actions. Perhaps those actions will materialize swiftly—they must materialize swiftly if they are to do the most good.

Until there are actions, misgivings are natural. Beyond any doubt, General de Gaulle is a strange man, a stubborn man. Neither he nor any other observer that has come to this attention has pretended that he received all the assurances he wanted, or all that he expected and hoped for, from President Roosevelt and the others with whom he talked. His apparent disappointment was clear from his comparative silence on subjects pertaining to his conversations. This will affect American-French relationships remains to be seen.

Meanwhile, the American people are without a basis for a final opinion concerning General de Gaulle. The impressions that can be formed now should be favorable. They justify hope that the inter-nation relationship has been improved. But there won't be any real proof of results unless and until words exchanged in the meetings are transformed into deeds.

De Gaulle Blames Leahy For U. S. Apathy
But Frenchman's Attitude Hurt Him Most
Wilbert Lee Got Newsprint From West
"Tommy The Cork" Opposes Henry Wallace

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Frenchmen who talked privately with staid, straight General de Gaulle after his talks with Roosevelt got the impression that the difficulties between them were partially patched up.

De Gaulle warmed up considerably toward the man who has kept him from being the official President of France. FDR appeared to warm up but still has his fingers crossed. The President is not always a yielding man when he gets "the old Dutch up."

One of the little known facts accounting for the frigid relationship between the two had to do with certain smear stories about de Gaulle which he heard were coming from the White House. He blamed them largely on Admiral Leahy, Roosevelt's personal chief of staff, who served as U. S. Ambassador to Vichy France. Stories about de Gaulle's arrogance, about his refusal to aid in the invasion, and other yarns designed to hamper recognition were credited by de Gaulle to Admiral Leahy.

PEARSON

He was also suspicious of ex-Ambassador Bill Bullitt; also of Assistant Secretary of State Adolf Berle, reputed to be a member of the anti-de Gaulle cabal. Finally, de Gaulle heard that Congressional Librarian Archibald MacLeish had given Library of Congress jobs to Alexis Leger and other French exiles and that they were feeding unfavorable information through MacLeish to the White House.

However, inside fact is that none of the above was nearly as responsible for the President's attitude as was de Gaulle himself when he refused to let FDR serve as peacemaker between him and General Giraud at Casablanca. The President prides himself on his ability to win friends and influence people. But at Casablanca, de Gaulle flatly refused to be influenced. All of the famous Rooseveltian charm failed to budge him.

NOTE—De Gaulle's friends say he believes in principles rather than in people, that he stood for the principle of a new France while General Giraud stood for the old France. Now Giraud is out, de Gaulle is in.

O'DANIEL NEWSPRINT

THE war Production Board mystery over where Senator "Pappy" O'Daniel got the newsprint for his anti-Roosevelt paper can be very easily solved.

Most publishers are scratching round for paper to publish a few sheets a day, but suddenly the Texas senatorial ex-flour salesman blossomed out with a newspaper of his own and apparently had plenty of paper for it.

Secret is that he got the paper from J. M. West, jr., Texas oil millionaire and former publisher. West's father owned the Dallas Dispatch and the Austin Tribune. But when his father died, young West sold the papers and recently turned over some leftover newsprint to his old friend and fellow Roosevelt-hater, Senator O'Daniel.

DE GAULLE-GO-ROUND

CONSIDERED significant is that French delegate Henri Hoppenot invited Admiral Leahy to dine with General de Gaulle, but the ex-Vichy Ambassador did not accept. The two men thoroughly dislike each other. . . . No Washington visitor has attracted such a crowd as de Gaulle since the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. . . . In New York, de Gaulle was the object of rivalry between two banking groups. Anne Morgan, sister of the late J. P. Morgan, is a staunch de Gaullist. But the big banking house of Lazard Freres is just as much opposed.

HULL LIKES HIM

MOST embarrassing moment of General de Gaulle's visit occurred during a dinner for him by Secretary of State Hull. De Gaulle got along better with Hull than he did with Roosevelt but, after the dinner, came an awkward pause when both wished they could see less of each other.

De Gaulle had toasted the United States, then had made a brief speech in French. Immediately, French aides—Gaston Palewski, chief of the Civil cabinet, General Emile Bethouart, chief of staff, and Andre Laguerre, chief of the French information service—huddled to translate the speech.

Meanwhile, Hull and de Gaulle retired to a cool corner of the room to chat, but their interpreters were busy translating de Gaulle's French for the newsmen.

In the interim, Hull tried his Tennessee French on de Gaulle, but de Gaulle couldn't understand. So de Gaulle tried out his English. Mr. Hull, however, couldn't get the drift of that. So the two men sat, puffed on their cigars, said absolutely nothing until their interpreters rescued them.

Conversationally, they were on dead center.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

FOR the first time since Pearl Harbor, Secretary Hull has agreed to permit foreign newsmen to ask questions at State department press conferences. This decision followed protests from British, Chinese and Soviet correspondents who have repeatedly pointed out to Hull that American correspondents are free to ask all the questions they want in London, Moscow and Chungking, while Allied correspondents at the State department have been forced to listen in silence. . . . Two unique, active backstage allies against Henry Wallace for Vice President have been Tommy "The Cork" Corcoran and ex-Ambassador Joe Kennedy, both maintaining that Wallace was not acceptable to the Catholics. They are rooting for their old SEC friend, Justice Bill Douglas. . . . On the other hand, staunch Catholic Justice Frank Murphy, who never forgets a friend, stood by Wallace. . . . Tom Dewey has been getting a lot of barbs on his refusal to approve the federal soldiers' ballot, whereas the Republican governors in Connecticut, New Jersey and Pennsylvania all went along on the federal ballot. GOP leaders admit privately that the non-federal ballot will keep a lot of soldiers from voting next November, perhaps as many as 600,000. . . . The soldiers' vote is rated 7 to 5 for FDR.

This "Incident" has already cost Japan more than 10 times the amount she spent on the Russo-Japanese war and five times as many men . . . Every Chinese town of more than 10,000 population has been bombed at least once in the seven years the war has been going on . . . The guerrillas have also taken more than 8,000 bicycles and tons of other equipment . . . An important part of the guerrilla forces is the army of "Little Devils," as the Japs call them. One of these has been forced to move more than 20 times by Japanese advances. It's so well organized now that all patients, equipment, staff and drugs can be moved to mountain strongholds on a half-hour's notice by the local peasants' volunteer transport service. . . . No direct reports have been received from the fourth hospital since 1941.

Marco Polo, who visited China from 1275 to 1292 (and brought back to Italy a grand new dish called spaghetti), wrote that "all over the country of Cathay there is a kind of black stones existing in beds in the mountains which they (the Chinese) dig out and burn like firewood. If you supply the fire with them at night, you will find them still alight in the morning; and they make such capital fuel that no other is used throughout the country." That was the first that Europe heard about coal.

DR. H. H. Dr. Sun Yat Sen's followers in the Chinese Revolution of 1911 cut off their pigtails in public meetings as the first sign of their independence. Today the pigtail is rapidly vanishing in China . . . Sun Yat Sen's carefully laid plans for the beginning of the revolution were put into action ahead of the scheduled date as the result of an accidental explosion. Because of this, the revolutionary leader read about the rebellion in a Denver newspaper over his morning coffee. While soliciting funds in England for the revolution, Dr. Sun was kidnapped by agents of the Chinese legation there and was about to be spirited back to China for execution when a sympathizer within the legation carried a note from Dr. Sun to his former teacher. The teacher reported to a British newspaper, which broke the story and brought about his release.

Ernie Gets Into Fighting "Quite Accidentally"

BY ERNIE PYLE
Special Correspondent

IN NORMANDY—(By Wireless) —This war in Normandy is a war from hedgerow to hedgerow, and when we get into a town or city it is a war from street to street.

The other day I went along—quite accidentally, I assure you—with an infantry company that had been assigned to clean out a pocket in the suburbs of a city.

ERNIE PYLE

Since this episode was typical of the way an infantry company advances into a city held by the enemy, I would like to try to give you a picture of it. I can't do it in just one column, so you'll have to read this in installments covering several days. I hope your patience holds out.

As I say, I hadn't intended to do it. I started out in the normal fashion that afternoon to go up to a battalion command post and just look around. I am traveling with Correspondent Charles Wertenbaker and Photographer Bob Capa, both of Time and Life magazines.

Captured Germans Scared

Well, when we go to the C. P. we were practically at the front lines. The post was in a church that stood on a narrow street. In the courtyard across the street MP's were frisking freshly taken prisoners.

I mingled among the prisoners awhile. They were still holding their hands high in the air, and you're pretty close to the front when prisoners do that. They were obviously frightened and eager to please their captors. A soldier standing beside me asked one German kid about the insignia on his cap, so the kid gave the insignia to him.

THE prisoners had a rank odor about them, like silage. Some of them were Russians, and two of these had their wives with them. They had been living together right at the front. The women thought we were going to shoot their husbands and they were frantic.

That's one way the Germans keep these conscripted Russians fighting—they have thoroughly sold them on the belief that we will shoot them as soon as they are captured.

Below us there were big fires in the city, and piles of black smoke. Explosions were going on all around us. Our own big shells would rustle over our heads and explode on beyond with a crash. German 200-mm. shells would spray over our heads and hit somewhere in the town behind us. Single rifle shots and machine-pistol blurps were constant. The whole thing made you feel tense and jumpy. The nearest Germans were only 200 yards away.

Ernie Couldn't Decline

We were just hanging around absorbing all this stuff when a young lieutenant, in a trench coat and wearing sun glasses — although the day was miserably dark and chill—came up and said:

"Our company is starting in a few minutes to go up this road and clean out a strong point. It's about half a mile from here. There probably are snipers in some of the houses along the way. Do you want to go along with us?"

I certainly didn't. Going into battle with an infantry company is not the way to live to a ripe old age. But when you are invited, what can you do?

So I said, "sure." And so did Wertenbaker and Capa. Wert never seems nervous, and Capa is notorious for his daring. Fine company for me to be keeping.

WE started walking. Soldiers of the company were already strung out on both sides of the road ahead of us, just lying and waiting till their officers came along and said go.

We walked until we were at the head of the column. As we walked the young officer introduced himself. He was Lt. Orion Shockley, of Jefferson City, Mo. I asked him how he got the odd name Orion. He said he was named after Mark Twain's brother.

Shockley was executive officer of the company. The company commander was Lt. Lawrence McLaughlin, from Boston. One of the company officers was a replacement who had arrived just three hours previously and had never been in battle before. I noticed that he ducked sometimes at our own shells, but he was trying his best to seem calm.

The soldiers around us had a two-weeks growth of beard. Their clothes were worn slick and very dirty. They still wore the uncomfortable gas-impregnated clothes they had come ashore in.

The boys were tired. They had been fighting and moving constantly forward on foot for nearly three weeks without rest sleeping out on the ground, most of the time, always tense, eating cold rations, seeing their friends die.

Soldier Near Breaking Point

One of them came up to me and said, almost belligerently:

"Why don't you tell the folks back home what this is like? All they hear about is victories and a lot of glory stuff. They don't know that for every hundred yards we advance somebody gets killed. Why don't you tell them how tough this life is?"

I told him that was what I tried to do all the time. This fellow was pretty fed up with it all. He said he didn't see why his outfit wasn't sent home. That they had done all the fighting.

That wasn't true at all, for we have other divisions that have fought more and taken heavier casualties than this one. Exhaustion will make a man feel like that. A few days' rest usually has him smiling again.

As we waited to start our advance, the low black skies of Normandy let loose on us and we gradually became hopelessly soaked to the skin.

Lady Airline Officer Is To Become Bride

DALLAS, July 14 (U.P.) — The first woman airline executive in American aviation history announced today she is giving it all up to become a bride.

Miss Willie Peck, who started as a flying hostess with Braniff Airways in 1937 and became superintendent of passenger service for the company, disclosed she is resigning to marry Douglas Rowland, Oklahoma City businessman.

Miss Peck, the only woman to hold a top executive position such as hers in the history of air transportation, is 28, was born in Kansas City and attended Baker university in Kansas and Washington university in St. Louis.

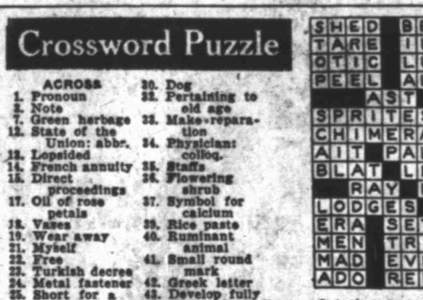

In her airline job, Miss Peck for three years has selected, supervised and trained all Braniff air hostesses and has supervised the line's food service and commissary department.

STOCK MARKET SPOTTY

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP) — The stock market progressed in spots today but light selling continued to stall many leaders without touching off anything in the way of weakness.

Dealings generally were on the slow side from the start although blocks running to 20,000 shares for low-priced issues kept volume for the full proceedings at around the 1,500,000-share figure. Fractional price changes either way were pretty evenly divided near the close.

Alleghany Corp. was one of the fastest movers, up slightly at about 3, a peak for 1944. U. S. Rubber and Bolsgal also edged into the new high division. Supported were Goodrich, Bethlehem, Southern Pacific, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck and Dupont. Backward were Chicago & North Western common and preferred, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Santa Fe, Columbia Gas, Western Union "A" and Kennecott.

Some rail bonds hardened, especially those in the reorganization category.

Answer To Manford Act Suit Is Filed

AUSTIN, July 14 (U.P.) — The attorney general's department today filed an answer in the third court of civil appeals here to the application of American Federation of Labor and CIO unions for reversal of the recent ruling of Dist. Judge J. D. Moore who sustained legality of the Manford labor regulatory act passed by the last Texas legislature.

The suit is one for declaratory judgment that the Manford act is invalid. Principally under attack are sections that require paid labor union organizers to obtain cards from the secretary of state and to require unions to file periodic financial statements. Political contributions also are prohibited in the act.

The suit is distinct from another involving validity of the act in which the U. S. Supreme court has asked re-argument next fall.

Robot Bomb Attacks On London Declining

LONDON, July 14. (U.P.)—Germany's robot bomb assault on London and southern England went into its fifth week today on a delining scale and Home Secretary Herbert Morrison said Allied defensive measures were having an "important measure of success."

At the same time, however, Morrison warned that the flying bomb had not yet been completely mastered and said that England "may have to put up with quite a bit yet."

Some of the German flying torpedoes crashed and blew up in London in daylight today, but the capital had a respite from attack during the night for the fourth straight night. Not even an air raid alert was sounded in London for the third straight night, though a few flying bombs fell elsewhere in southern England without causing casualties.

FORMER SENATOR DIES

FAIRFAX, Va., July 14 (AP)—Joseph Little Bristow, 83, former United States senator from Kansas, died early today at his home here after a three-week illness.

In Paraguay it is common practice to cancel all business appointments when it rains.

Record Destruction By Nazis Predicted

LONDON, July 14 (AP) — Herbert Claiborne Pell, U. S. representative on the Allied war crimes commission, expressed belief today that the Germans would attempt to destroy occupied Europe before their defeat, as a preparatory measure for another war.

"That destruction will be beyond anything the world has ever seen," Pell told an interviewer.

He spoke after a German military broadcast saying that "before elements of destruction can encompass the heart of our nation, we shall turn the fortress of Europe into a whirlpool sucking in all these destructive forces with a roar which will blot out everything evcept the call for blood."

Pell asked bitterly:

"How long does it take to burn a city?

"All the destruction they have done in four years to London is nothing to what they could do to Paris with 200 or 300 men carrying 50-pound packs of incendiary bottles in four hours.

"I do believe they will attempt the destruction of the occupied part of Europe, their purpose being part of a systematic process of enfeeblement while they remain relatively strong. And write that in capital letters—strong."

Airmen Lash Nazis

northern Italy, particularly at Trieste and Porto Marghera.

Thunderbolt fighter-bombers attacked the French railyards, crowded with freight trains supplying German divisions locked in battle in Normandy. A solid wall of flak dispersed the formation over Beauvais but the flight reformed and made a second run over the target. All planes returned.

Mustangs and Thunderbolts destroyed five German planes in scattered combats during the morning without loss. In sweeps over France, they strafed trucks and shot up flak towers. Seven U. S. 9th Air force fighters, based in France, were lost yesterday in operations against bridges, airfields and other objectives, it was announced.

Ruhr Targets Bombed

The new two-way forays followed a night of minor aerial activity during which a small force of RAF Mosquitos bombed unspecified targets in the Ruhr valley while other British planes laid mines in enemy waters. No planes were lost in these operations.

Although the weather in Normandy yesterday and last night held supporting operations to 500 sorties, these included some of the most intensive attacks yet made.

Sixteen German planes were shot down with seven Allied planes reported missing thus far.

Thunderbolts Hit Bridges

American Thunderbolt fighter bombers made what was described as one of the longest dive-bombing attacks to date against 14 important bridges battered during the day.

Between 30 and 40 "short order" missions requested by the ground forces were executed for the purpose of knocking out German strongpoints and gun positions in the path of advancing American forces.

Roads Found Empty

Patrolling fighter bombers, looking for a chance to pounce on German movements toward the front, found both the main and secondary roads empty. Even big trucks, seeking protection against air attacks, crawled along farm roads and country lanes.

The Germans themselves offered further testimony to their transport difficulties, announcing an extra crewman had been assigned to each vehicle — to do nothing but watch for planes and shout to his companions when to dive for the roadside ditches.

Complementing the previous night's heavy bomber attack on the railroad bottleneck at Tours, three squadrons of Thunderbolts scored 12 direct hits on the 1,100-foot Vouvray bridge over the Loire river 12 miles east of the city. Two Thunderbolts were lost.

U. S. BOMBERS ARE LED BY "PATHFINDER PLANES"

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, July 14 (AP) — U. S. bomber formations are using "pathfinder" planes to guide them to German targets shrouded by clouds or artificial smoke screens, it was disclosed today.

Headquarters said the technique, long in use by the RAF for night work, had enabled American bombers to blaze a path for invasion troops in France on D-day through heavy clouds. The use of pathfinders was described as "an amazing display of scientific and training achievement."

Crews Specially Trained

Pathfinders are bombers with specially trained crews, exceptionally expert in navigation, and equipped with secret instruments. They fly ahead of the main bomber force and mark the hidden target with flares and smoke shells. The RAF pioneering of the technique made possible night saturation raids even in bad weather. American adoption of the practice has more than doubled the pace of U. S. bombings.

Fortresses and Liberators have been using the system for a year. The secret had been withheld because the Germans apparently did not know the lead planes were pathfinders and made no apparent effort to destroy them.

day under fire as assistant commander.

Henry T. Gorrell, representing the combined American press, said in a dispatch from Normandy that Roosevelt was in one of the first waves to hit the beaches of Cherbourg peninsula on D-day, and was the first general to land.

"He emerged with only a slight scratch on his left thumb," the correspondent said.

Flashes Of Life

PUTTING THE DOG ON

WARSAW — Persons sentenced to the Wyoming county jail here and then transferred to the county prison farm near Arcade not only are photographed and fingerprinted, but "sniffed."

Sheriff Lewis Spring lists a pedigreed bird dog as one of the guards at the penal institution. He says the dog greets all newcomers and "makes a mental note" of their scent.

MILK BATHS

NEW BRITAIN, Conn.—Opposing pitchers won't be able to force the Fafnir factory ball club's batters to put one foot in the water bucket this season. The batters who duck away from the high hard ones will back into a milk pail instead. The management has announced that it has substituted milk for the usual bucket of water this season.

fense possibilities as Saipan, was wrested from U. S. control Dec. 13, 1941.

Admiral Nagumo led the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor 31 months ago and he commanded the carrier fleet blown out of the water at Midway July 3-6, 1942. His end, perhaps through harakari, illuminated Saipan as a Japanese Pearl Harbor, comparable to Oahu not only in geography but as the hinge of Japan's inner ocean defense.

Main Guard For Homeland

"It is now clear," said Admiral Nimitz, "that Saipan island was built up by the Japanese as the principal fortress guarding the southern approaches to Japan. The island lent itself well to defense, and elaborate fortifications manned by picked Japanese troops testified to the importance which the enemy attacked to the island. The seizure of Saipan constitutes a major breach in the Japanese line of inner defenses."

Saipan is a thousand miles closer to Japan than Pearl Harbor is to California.

Troops mopping up the island also captured Maniagassa island, lying in Saipan's important Tanapag harbor. They buried 16,000 Japanese and had many more to inter. More prisoners were taken.

Japs Encircle Hengyang

Japanese driving down the Hankow-Canton railway again encircled Hengyang, resuming the siege three days after the Chinese broke it July 1. The bombed, blasted city still held out but the enemy apparently was putting increased aerial pressure into the offensive to slice China in two.

Tokyo radio said its fliers were using airfields at Changsha and Hengyang, forcing U. S. airmen to withdraw to bases 600 miles away.

The Japanese broadcast that its planes destroyed 89 aircraft in a raid on a U. S. base at Kweilin 180 miles southwest of Hengyang. The 14th U. S. Air force countered there unconfirmed raids by slashing at extended enemy supply lines.

Chinese driving toward a junction with Allied forces in Burma all but surrounded Tengchung in Yunnan province and began a direct attack on the walled city. Tengchung gives the Japanese control of the China end of the Burma road.

Functions Of WFA Offices Reorganized

AUSTIN, July 14 (AP) — The War Food administration has announced consolidation of functions performed by several Texas distribution offices into reorganized district offices.

Field operation functions formerly performed by area offices at Austin, San Angelo, San Antonio and Corpus Christi now have been taken over by the newly-organized district office with headquarters in Austin, said C. B. Hodges, acting district representative for 74 West and South Texas counties.

Other district offices now are located at Houston, Dallas and Amarillo and all are under the jurisdiction of the seven-state regional office, Dallas, of which L. J. Cappleman is director.

Odds On Roosevelt And Dewey Are Given

ST. LOUIS, July 14 (U.P.)—James Carroll, nationally known betting commissioner, made Thomas E. Dewey an odds-on favorite to carry the state of Michigan today, but made Franklin Delano Roosevelt the favorite in other states in which he offered odds, and a 3 to 1 favorite to win the national election.

Carroll's betting odds:

Nationally, 1 to 3 on Mr. Roosevelt, 2½ to 1 on Gov. Dewey.

Michigan, 3 to 2 on Mr. Roosevelt and 1 to 2 on Mr. Dewey.

New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Missouri, 3 to 5 on Mr. Roosevelt and 6 to 5 on Gov. Dewey.

California, 1 to 2 on Mr. Roosevelt and 3 to 2 on Gov. Dewey.

Carroll posted no other state odds.

Labor Riff Slows Traffic In Dallas

DALLAS, July 14. (U.P.)—Thousands of Dallasites found themselves stranded on residential or downtown street corners in the early hours this morning as union operators of an estimated 35 street cars and some 10 or 15 busses refused to leave the Oak Cliff car barns of the Dallas Railway and traction company.

A company spokesman said "we're in the dark as to what this is all about, but union leaders have arrived on the scene and urged the men to go to work — and some cars are beginning to go out."

Service was going ahead as usual with cars and buses which operate from the East Dallas barns and "a few" early cars left the Oak Cliff barns before the general "refusal to work" began, but between 5 a.m. and 6:30 a.m. no cars or buses left the Oak Cliff barns.

(By 8 a.m., the situation had returned to normal, a company spokesman said, repeating earlier assertions that the management had not learned the cause for the delay.)

Slav Ambassador In Washington Quits

WASHINGTON, July 14. (AP)—Constantine Fotich stepped down as ambassador for Yugoslavia today and announced that he is becoming instead the representative of a committee within his enemy-occupied country which apparently is moving toward creation of a second Yugoslav regime.

The action had been foreshadowed first by a statement by Yugoslav Premier Ivan Subasic in London several weeks ago that Fotich could no longer represent Yugoslavia here and second by the ambassador's own denunciation a week ago of the Subasic regime.

The action is the latest reflection on the split within Yugoslavia between the partisan Marshal Tito and the Serbian leader General Draja Mihailovic which, Fotich said, is now moving in the direction of civil war in his already suffering country.

Spartan Airlines, Inc., Is Organized

TULSA, Okla., July 14 (AP) — Organization of Spartan airlines, Inc., which proposes to establish a network of mail, passenger and express routes in six states, was announced today by Capt. Maxwell W. Balfour, president and general manager.

Balfour said the corporation had applied to the Civil aeronautics board for permission to operate 11 or more routes in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Louisiana. Its headquarters would be in Tulsa.

The routes, with a total mileage of 6,789, would extend north and south from Kansas City to Houston and New Orleans and east and west from St. Louis to Amarillo and El Paso.

There's food magic in dried fruits. They have both nutritional and taste appeal if treated right. A clever cook can transform them from something dry and wrinkled into a tempting hot dish or a delicious dessert. For a hearty salad, stuff some with cottage cheese and arrange on a bed of greens—good looking and good eating.

A supply of labor is trickling into this area through the discharge of soldiers with minor physical disabilities, Martin W. Waldron, manager of the local U. S. Employment Service office, said in a talk before members of the American Business club at the Hilton hotel today noon. Waldron's remarks came in connection with his explanation of the War Manpower commission's priority-referral labor plan which went into effect July 1. He explained how certain secret war projects now have top labor priority and the production of high octane gasoline as second with the production of planes and armament nearing the saturation piont and due to taper off. At the close of his talk, Waldron answered questions from club members in a brief forum. He was introduced by Troy Dale, program chairman. Club President J. Ray Dickey announced the ABC rodeo would be staged on Aug. 24, 25 and 26.

choice." Hillman called Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, "the spokesman for (Herbert) Hoover."

(3). Dewey declared in an Albany speech, "one of the big tasks of the next few years will be to bring government closer to the people and to bring the people closer to the practice of self-government." And, he said, "that we shall succeed in restoring government that is close to the people I have no doubt."

Truman Not Candidate

(4). Sen. Harry S. Truman of Missouri reiterated at Kansas City that he does "not want the vice presidency." Governor Kerr, who also has been mentioned as a possible choice, although not as frequently as Truman, said at Chicago that he is not a candidate.

(5). Senator Hatch (D-NM) said at Washington that he does not fear a clear-cut issue between Democrats and Republicans on foreign policy but that "I am afraid of no issue, of a weak vacillating program, if both parties and their top men are afraid to take determined stands."

The Wallace followers had included both Barkley and Truman, along with War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, as opponents for whom they expected campaigns, but they named Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme court as their man's chief rival.

SENTIMENT FOR SOUTHERN MAN SAID GAINING

MOBILE, Ala., July 14. (AP) — Gessner T. McCorvey, chairman of the Alabama state Democratic executive committee, said today "a number" of party chairmen in 14 southern states agree "100 per cent" with his proposal that southerners unite at the Chicago national convention in support of a strong southerner for the vice presidential nomination.

McCorvey said all state chairmen replying thus far to a letter he sent seeking their support "favor some united action on the part of the southern delegates."

Similar letters, he said, have gone to Democratic national committeeman and committeewoman from each of the southern states.

Said McCorvey: "If we all center on one good, strong, southern man, and he receives 200 to 300 votes on the first ballot, then you will see many delegates from other sections of the country who would not favor a radical such as Henry Wallace, voting on the second roll call in support of our candidate."

Kidnaped Baby Found Alive In New York

NEW YORK, July 14 (U.P.) — Kidnaped Barbara Anne Goggin, six months old, has been found alive and well and returned to the New York foundling hospital where she was stolen early yesterday, police announced today.

Police received a mysterious telephone tip which directed them to a rooming house on the upper west side, where they found the baby. The hospital identification tag was still strapped to her ankle.

She was being cared for by Mrs. Joan Schlutter, 29, who confessed, police said, to kidnaping her from the New York foundling hospital early yesterday morning.

Mrs. Schlutter, a divorcee, told detectives she had been drinking and acted on a constant, gnawing desire for a baby. She was physically unable to bear a child of her own, she said.

'Out Of Foxholes By Thanksgiving' Is Cry

Fighting Yanks Believe War In Europe To End This Year

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS In Normandy, June 30 (Delayed) — Take it from the American boys who are fighting it — this second World War in Europe is going to be wound up this year.

That old first World War battlecry, "Out of the trenches by Christmas," is getting to be the victory slogan of these sons of men who helped wind up the last major engagement in France in 1918.

This time there is a slight modification. Now it goes, "Out of the fox holes by Thanksgiving." This may seem premature and over optimistic but a lot of veterans who a year ago laughed at the people back home who began predicting an early end to the war after the fall of Sicily think now that the Germans are about ripe for the knockout punch.

Several Factors Involved

There are several factors leading them to believe that the Nazis within a period of months will hit the military toboggan. Among these are the swift capture of Cherbourg, the decline in the Luftwaffe, the great growth of Allied airpower, America's improved ground weapons and undrained manpower and the fact that the Germans are now spreadeagled and fighting on three fronts.

"Listen pal, nobody can take it long when he is being kicked around from three different directions," said one.

"That Hitler ain't any better than the next guy when he gets caught in a revolving door."

The victory thrill is in the air.

Runs Through Entire Army

It runs through the entire Army. Most of the soldiers don't kid themselves about it being easy. They know big battles are ahead but they feel that the Germans no longer can take many titanic smashes and stay in the field.

"I feel," said six-foot, two-inch Lt. Lawrence B. Kane, of Greggton, Tex., "like one of my boys who wrote to his wife, 'this is the route we picked to go home by and may God help any man who tries to stop us because we are mighty homesick'."

"It ought to be over soon," said Pvt. Mike Watson of Leesville, La., an airborne artilleryman. "If we ain't in Berlin by Thanksgiving we will be by Christmas."

"Judging from what German prisoners themselves say I don't think the war will go on much longer," said MP Master Sgt. Willie F. Unsell, of San Antonio, who talked to many prisoners.

"Some we caught were only 17 years old. They told us, 'we know we can't win in the end.' They also say the civilians are losing their morale and that the popularity of Hitler and Goebbels is falling off."

against Americans digging in on Monte Maggiore.

The Eighth Army front was without substantial change, except in the upper Tiber valley. There are British seized three more commanding heights. Patrols punched within two and a half miles of Citta di Castello, taking prisoners in Santa Lucia.

Counterattacks Repelled

Farther east, Indians moved up several miles, repelling enemy counterattacks near Colle Dei Orci.

Around Arezzo, the Eighth Army forced the Nazis off high ground east of that road junction and captured Monte Santamaria. Monte Castiglio Maggio, whose blood-stained slopes saw see-saw fighting in recent days, was reported firmly held.

Fortresses and Liberators hit oil storage tanks at Trieste and Porto Marghera; railyards at Brescia, Mestre, Verona, Mantua, and the rail bridge at Pinzano.

RAF Wellingtons bombed the Lambrate rail yards east of Milan last night, leaving the target enveloped in smoke and flames. Frequent explosions were heard, indicating ammunition trains were hit.

Six Allied planes were missing. German planes failed to appear.

NOT TO ASK RUNOFF

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 14 (AP) —Congressman Wesley E. Disney, who ran second to Elmer Thomas for the Democratic senatorial nomination, said today he had abandoned the idea of asking the supreme court to order a runoff primary this year.

Nazis Evacuate Fortress City

Brest Litovsk. Two other columns already were moving against the city from some 38 miles to the northeast and 97 miles to the southeast.

Nazis Admit Reverses

Germany's admissions of grave reverses on the eastern front indicated the defenses of central Poland and the Baltics were falling apart under the impact of the mightiest Russian offensive of the war, and that the Nazis were preparing for the first defense of German soil.

"The center of gravity of the fighting was east and north of Grodno," the German high command said, suggesting that Red armies were massing before East Prussia for an imminent plunge into its annexed Suwalki triangle and Germany itself.

Grodno, 280 miles from the starting line of the Soviet offensive, is 440 miles east-northeast of Berlin.

Reds In Pincers Attack

Latest Moscow advices — notably well behind Nazi accounts of the great battle in the east—said Soviet forces were 18 miles northeast and 27 miles southeast of Grodno and developing a pincers attack against it.

"The Red army rapidly is moving into position for a drive over the approaches of East Prussia, which is defended by two of the Germans' strongest fortified networks — Grodno and Kaunas," a United Press dispatch from Moscow said.

The Soviet vanguard was some 27 miles southeast of Kaunas, pre war capital of Lithuania, by last account from Moscow.

Battle Nearing Germany

"If the present tempo of the operations can be maintained — and there is no sign of any relaxation of the drive — they should bring soon the actual clash of arms to Nazi soil," the dispatch said.

(A Finnish domestic broadcast reported by the FCC warned the Finns that their country might soon be outflanked by a complete collapse of German resistance on the Baltic front. It said the situation was "most critical.")

The German command also reported "local Soviet thrusts" in the Kolomyja area of lower Poland, from which the Red army pushed to the Czechoslovak border in its winter offensive. There was no clear sign whether a Soviet offensive was shaping up in that region.

The capture of Wilno, capital of Soviet Lithuania, after nearly a week of violent street fighting, freed formidable Soviet forces to join in the drive against East Prussia.

Normandy Front

recent counter-attacks.

Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's American forces pushed three miles down the west coast of the Cherbourg peainsula to St. German-Sur-Ay, three miles northwest of Lessay. A few miles inland along the highway from La Haye du Puits to Lessay, advanced units approached the village of Beauvais, a mile and a half from Lessay.

Below Carentan and St. Jean de Daye, the American line bulged sharply southward, engulfing the villages of Tribehou, Gournay and Le Hommet d'Arthenay. Pushing through the wooded section known as the Bois de Hommet, the Americans were approaching Les Champs d'Losque.

Four Roads Controlled

Four of the nine roads leading into St. Lo now are under American control.

The drive against this most important of all central Normandy highway junctions advanced on the east beyond captured La Barre de Semilly, two miles east and slightly south. At last report the Americans were only a mile and a half from the town on the north.

Despite the widespread American pressure along the whole front there was no indication that a breakthrough had been achieved anywhere. Progress was being made in costly short pushes against strong German rear guards who fought desperately for each foot of ground while the bulk of the forces withdrew.

By a paradox of terrain, the more the Germans withdraw in the Cherbourg peninsula the easier their task of defense becomes, because each mile they go back they shorten the front — which now extends about 100 miles.

Can Continue Withdrawal

While the Caen sector remains the same the Germans can continue their southward withdrawal as far as Granville — 25 miles from their present positions — and when they reach that point their front line would be shorter by 30 miles than it is now. This would allow a greater concentration of troops and make the Allied task of offense more difficult.

Only an advance in the Caen sector — dormant for the third consecutive day as Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery regrouped his forces — could prevent Marshal Erwin Rommel's defense position from becoming easier. A successful attack there would again spread the German front.

Yesterday was one of the worst flying days of the campaign over the battlefront, with only about 600 sorties being flown by small formations of aircraft. Some of the individual attacks, however, were among the heaviest of the Normandy campaign.

Water Supply Study Voted

Adopting recommendations of the city planning commission exactly as made, members of the city commission unanimously voted at their semi-monthly meeting Thursday to employe an engineer, or engineers, to make a thorough study of the long range water problems of Lubbock.

J. D. Hassell, jr., and K. N. Clapp, members of the planning commission, submitted the recommendations of that board.

As was pointed out by Mayor O. W. Ribble, the entire memberships of both the city and the planning commissions are in complete agreement that the No. 1 problem for future Lubbock is water supply. Regardless of all other advantages, he continued, the city cannot grow beyond that supply.

All those participating in the extended discussions of the subject emphasized that Lubbock's present supply, obtained wholly from wells, is abundant, and probably will continue to be for a good many years to come.

"But we don't know now where we shall get the water to supply a city of 125,000 to 150,000 population which most of us expect Lubbock to become," remarked Hassell.

Unanimous Decision

The motion that the commission employ engineer, or engineers, to make needed surveys was made by Commissioner J. Ray Dickey and was seconded by Commissioner Fred Childress. The mayor and Commissioner Hub Jones voiced their approval of it as they voted in favor. Commissioner W. B. Price was unable to attend the meeting for business reasons but on numerous occasions has urged the importance of seeking a long-range solution of the city's water problems.

It is the intent of the commission, members explained, that the studies shall go thoroughly into all the possible sources of water supply for Lubbock. This will include underground supplies, the possibility of a surface reservoir or reservoirs, combinations of the two, and any other ideas that seem to hold promise.

Interviewing Committee

Mayor Ribble, Commissioner Dickey and City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., were named as a committee to locate and interview engineers deemed qualified to make the sort of survey the commission has in mind. The actual employment, however, will be by the commission as a whole.

The commission also approved another recommendation by the planning commission that a preliminary survey of Thirty-fourth street be made for guidance in the future development of that thoroughfare. The survey will be made in the city engineering department.

City Manager Smith was authorized to attempt to obtain equipment to be used in mowing weeds on vacant lots. The city manager reported that he is uncertain whether a mowing machine can be located.

Sewer Line To School

W. G. McMillan, contractor, received permission to erect a beam across the alley back of Young-Anderson Electric company, 1812 Avenue Q. The beam will have a clearance of 16 feet and will be used to support hoists for unloading heavy equipment from trucks.

The commission authorized the construction of a sanitary sewage line to the new elementary school building on which construction has been started in Northwest Lubbock. The building is outside the city limits, so Lubbock independent school district will pay the costs of the line. However, if the building ever should be brought inside the city limits, the city will return the money to the school board.

New Type Postal Money Order Slated To Go Into Use Soon

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 14 — A new kind of postal money order soon will go into use.

It's simpler to handle than the old kind. This will save you time and save the government money in bookkeeping expenses.

It's cheaper, too, in sending sums up to $60. But the old kind still will be available for those who want it.

The cost of the new order is a flat 5 cents for sending anything from one cent to $10. Each order is limited to $10 but you can send as many as you wish. The cost of each still will be 5 cents.

Rising Scale On Old Style

You can send up to $100 in a single money order of the old kind. This old style has a rising scale of prices.

In sending anything from one cent to $2.50 it would cost you 10 cents. The scale goes up to 37 cents for $100. It is after you reach $60 that the old style is a few cents cheaper than the new.

This way: In sending $100 the new way you'd need ten $10 orders which, at 5 cents apiece, would cost you 50 cents. But $100 sent the old way would be only 37 cents.

This is the way the old kind works:

You go into a postoffice and fill out an application for a money order. You write in the amount and the full address of the payee. You turn this application in at the clerk's window.

Copies Application

He has to copy out the application on a money order form. Then he gives you the order with a receipt bearing the number of the order. He keeps the application and, for his records, puts on it the number of your money order.

This is the way the new order works:

You go directly to the clerk's window and ask for a money order. Suppose you want to send $8.50. He charges you $8.65, and gives you an order for $8 and attaches 60 cents in stamps.

Write In Payee's Name

Then you write in the name of the payee and his address. Then you mail it. The payee will have to identify himself, when cashing the new type order, just as he always has had to do with the old.

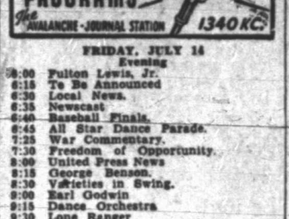

Last year the postoffice department issued 346,440,855 domestic money orders with a value of $4,445,267,711. But the postoffice lost three million dollars in handling these transactions.

This was because of the clerk's time and the bookkeeping job involved. So, Uncle Sam went into the red in that business.

Postmaster Walker two years ago ordered a survey to find a way of handling perhaps more money orders but at a profit to the government. The new procedure outlined above was worked out.

Congress passed a bill quietly permitting the postoffice to set up the new system. President Roosevelt signed it into law June 28.

The postoffice now is preparing the new orders for distribution.

Meeting To Be Called On Feeder Airlines

Representatives from towns throughout Lubbock area will be invited to attend a meeting here soon to discuss feeder airline plans, directors of the chamber of commerce announced after a meeting Thursday.

Dates and details still are to be arranged, but the meeting will be held in the "very near future," chamber officials said.

Directors also approved a strong resolution endorsing and pledging support to the fight launched recently which seeks to eradicate Johnson grass and noxious weeds from the county.

Two Men Stabbed At Political Rally

FORT WORTH, July 14 (AP) — An altercation at a Tarrant county political rally last night sent Lt. Marvin B. Simpson, jr., candidate for re-election as state representative, and his father, Marvin B. Simpson, sr., Fort Worth attorney, to a hospital with stab wounds.

Marvin Beaty, former justice of the peace and opponent of Lt. Simpson in the political race, told Assistant District Attorney Stanley Bransford he had been struck on the arm and head during the difficulty.

Beaty was released on bond but no charges were filed last night.

Lt. Simpson, who is in the Maritime service, was released from the hospital after treatment but the Elder Simpson, who was more seriously hurt, remained there.

Lt. Simpson received stab wounds in the left shoulder and right arm. His father had wounds in the left side and left shoulder.

The stabbings occurred on the lawn of the Morningside school where the rally was being held.

GERMAN ACE KILLED

LONDON, July 14 (U.P.) — Lt. Eugen Zeigert, one of Germany's leading air aces who claimed to have shot down 69 Allied planes, has been killed on the western front, the German radio reported today.

Approximately 100 tons of tin were saved during 1943 by cutting the tin content of tubes for toothpaste and shaving cream.
