DAN HARDY IS FREED AFTER SECOND TRIAL OF BRIBERY CHARGE

Jury Out Only 30 Minutes, Returning Their Verdict at Midnight; Hearing Ends Here Abruptly After Three-Day Session; Defendant Pardoned By Former President.

"Not guilty."

Just as Dan Hardy had plead on the opening day of his second trial—that was the verdict of a jury of 12 of his peers, returned last night at midnight before Special Judge George W. Jack, sitting in the absence of Judge Wilson, in the federal court for the northern district of Texas, Wichita Falls division.

The jury received the case at 11:30, Thursday night.

Dan Hardy, his wife and his attorneys. Walter Scott of McLean, Scott and McLean of Fort Worth, and J. H. Burwise of Fort Worth, were in the courtroom when the verdice was rendered.

The defendant walked to the railing which surrounds the jury box, grasped each juror's hand, as did Attorney Scott, and said in a husky voice:

'I thank you, gentlemen."

Tears welled in the eyes of his wife as she stood by Dan Hardy's side.

It was a signal victory for the defense.

Hardy had previously been convicted of the charge—bribery of a federal officer—and his case had been reversed and remanded by the supreme court of the United States. On a similar charge in connection with same alleged offense, Hardy had been granted a reprieve by former President Woodrow Wilson.

His attorneys, one of whom gained fame in Ardmore, Okla., during the trial of Cha's Smith Hamon, made a brilliant fight for his freedom—and won.

Denying that he had ever given Harry Splawn, Jack Lankford or anyone else a single dime "to stay out of the way" so bootleggers could carry whisky into the old Indian Territory, Hardy had taken the witness stand yesterday afternoon at 2:35, in his own defense.

The government had previously rested at 2:30, and the defense completed its case at 5:40 o'clock.

"I didn't give A. C. Flowers a dime to get Jean Flowers out of the way," Hardy declared.

"I fired Jean because there was too much whiskey going out and there wasn't enough money going into the cash register.

"I do deny that I ever gave Splawn, Lankford or anybody else a dime to permit bootleggers to go unmolested into Oklahoma.

"Yes, I knew bootleggers were going there— that is, I knew it from hearsay—I read about it, and heard it

When It Rains—
It Rains Like Hell—
In Texas—

By H. N. F.

JUPITER PLUVIUS HAS BEEN on the rampage for some time.

He has soaked the earth, inundated the lowlands, swollen the rivers and streams and creeks, filled all the tanks and shot sufficient water into the Gulf of Mexico to have irrigated every waste between the Pacific Ocean and Galveston Bay. This reminds the writer of a saying of an old Texan in the long ago, "when it is dry in Texas it is dry as hell; when it is hot in Texas it is hot as hell; when it rains in Texas it rains like hell." Old Massa knows best. There is one thing certain, when the earth is soaked with moisture there is a chance for every living thing to make good. Bumper crops come. Pasturage is rich. Livestock is fat and sleek.

EVEN THE ANGORA GOATS take on flesh and their fleeces are long and silk. Never growl about the moisture. Never kick about the mud. Never curse the bad roads in the rainy season. If the rain did not come this would be a vast Savaha desert from Gulf to the Pacific and civilization would wither and perish. Yes, old Massa knows best. He sends the rain after the droughts to convince man that he is only a human insect at best and as impotent as a flea in the sand. Texas will produce bumper crops this year.

COWMEN ARE HAPPY. SHEEP men are happy. Goat men are happy. Farmers are happy. They are promised high prices for wool and mohair. They are promised fancy prices for spring land. They are promised fat prices for mutton and the cattle business is looking up. Instead of growling the kickers should sing, "Praise God, From Whom All Blessings Flow." Agriculturially speaking, Texas will be a billion dollar state again at the close of the season of 1922.

THEY ARE TRYING MINERS for treason against the government in the state of West Virginia but the lawyers who are conducting the prosecution are doing their best to keep out of the record any reference to private mine guards or deputy sheriffs who are paid by the coal kings. Should the miners be convicted they will appeal to the supreme court of the United States and the coal kings do not want their private gunman system in the record. Don Chafin is the sheriff of Logan county and the claim is made and not denied that during the first nine months of last year, enormous sums of money were paid by the coal kings to the sheriff to hire gunmen to make war on the miners.

THEY PAID HIM OVER $60,000 in one season and this payment of deputy sheriff gunmen by coal barons it is said is an issue that is notorious in West Virginia. One Judge Woods is on the bench. He has ruled that the question of the private gunmen and their deputy sheriffs cannot be gone into by the defense on cross-examination of witnesses for the prosecution. West Virginia should be attached to some civilized state for judicial purposes. Law breakers should be punished. They should be made to feel the mailed hand of justice, but a system which permits individuals or corporations to employ small armies of gunmen to put over their programs should not be tolerated by the people of any American commonwealth. The state should appoint its law enforcement officers and a state should pay their way. New York has state police. Pennsylvania has state police. Texas has state rangers. In all three states these officers are the servants of the government and the people and they are paid by the people. They do not come and shoot at the beck and call of individuals or corporations. They are handled by the governor and adjutant general. They have swore to keep the peace and they keep it.

NATION MAY RUN MUSCLE SHOALS

Bill in Senate Asks Federal Control

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Four developments in congressional consideration of proposals for developing the Muscle Shoals, Alabama, nitrate and power projects occurred today in the senate agriculture and house military committees and on the senate floor.

Chairman Norris, Nebraska, of the senate committee, introduced a bill providing for a semi-government corporation to take over and operate the nitrate and power projects for 50 years.

The Nebraska senator also made public a proposal received from L. Stern, a Baltimore, Maryland, consulting engineer and manufacturere of chemical products.

In the house committee an agreement was reached by which any lease of the shoals properties would be compelled to manufacture finished fertilizers whether at a profit or loss throughout the term of his operations.

An amendment to this effect was made to the bill the committee is formulating for the house in connection with its report on the various proposals it has investigated.

FRANCE BALKS, THREATENS TO DISRUPT GENOA

Italy Tries to Make Parisians See Easy Way

By Associated Press.

GENOA, May 11.—Russia's reply to the allied memorandum, which was presented to Signor Schanzer, president of the economic conference, is regarded as conciliatory. At least it is considered a basis for further negotiations.

Its suggestion that all the tangled financial problems be submitted to a mixed committee of experts named by the Genoa conference provided a means of escape from the present superheated atmosphere, which appears to be unfavorable for the settlement of the myraid questions arising from the Russian situation.

England regards the reply as moderately conciliatory; so also does Italy.

The Italian foreign minister has been working day and night to prevent a break.

This seemed imminent through the opposition of France and Belgium to the settlement of the property question which Great Britain and the lesser powers will approve.

France expresses great disappointment at the reply, and Belgium is far from satisfied. M. Barthou, head of the French delegation, declared after an examination of the text that the reply did not get anywhere and was not really an answer at all to the allied proposals.

France May Balk

Consequently it will not be certain until after he has conferred with the government in Paris whether the Russian proposals will be accepted by the French as a basis for continuation of the discussion.

Lady Astor Should Be Deported Says Vets Resolution

By Associated Press.

PASSIAC, N. J., May 11.—The federal government was asked to deport Lady Astor as an undesirable alien by Gen. A. S. Burt, Camp, Spanish-American war veterans, in a resolution adopted tonight. The action of the members followed a lively discussion charging that the members of the C. A. R. had been insulted in speeches made by the only feminine member of the British house of commons during her visit to this country.

8 UNION LABOR HEADS INDICTED

Men Captured Are in Sensational Raid

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Eight union labor leaders were named in true bills voted at a special session of the grand jury tonight in connection with the slaying of Terrance Lyons, an acting police lieutenant yesterday, according to George E. Gorman, assistant state attorney.

Among those named in the true bills, according to Mr. Gorman, were Fred Mader, president of the building trades council; "Big Tim" Murphy of the Gas Workers' union and Cornelius (Con) Shea, who directed the teamsters strike in 1904.

All of them are now in the custody of the police having been captured in a spectacular series of raids on various union headquarters.

Describing crime conditions in Chicago as "a reign of terror" and "akin to treason in the time of war" Judges Kickham Scanlan and Joseph David refused to release on writs of habeas corpus any of the 164 labor leaders, union members and gunmen held by the police tonight in connection with the slaying of two patrolmen yesterday as the culmination of a series of labor bombings.

Radio Buzz Removed As Battery Cost Cut

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—A means of eliminating the buzzing in radio and of operating the wireless sets by attaching them directly to the lighting wires through an ordinary socket instead of using the expensive storage battery has ben perfected by B. F. Meiffner, a government expert during the war, he announced today.

The radio is attached to any 110 volt alternating current through the ordinary light socket. In place of rectifiers and filters now use din attempts to eliminate the hum. Mr. Meiffner using ballancing devices. The electric current in the light wires is stepped down to six volts.

Two Electrocuted During Tornado

By Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., May 11.—Three are known to have been killed and a number injured as a result of the tornado which struck in the vicinity of Lexington, Holbrock, Hildreth and Brokenbow, Nebraska, early yesterday evening. Heavy damage to farm property and livestock is also reported.

Reports from Hidreth stated that Ben Glenn and a son were electrocuted by wires blown down during the storm. Edward McArthur, 16, son of Dr. J. A. McArthur, was killed by flying debris when the storm struck the McArthur farm near Brokenbow.

GAS PRICE UP 3 CENTS HERE

Good Thing We Live Next to Supply

Gasoline was hiked in price here Thursday morning.

The Magnolia Petroleum company announced an advance of 3 cents.

Other companies and the independents will follow suit this morning.

The price will be 23 cents all over town.

This is the first advance in gasoline for some months, and the second advance since the last hike in the price of crude.

The continued advance in gas, together with increased evidence of premiums for crude, has heightened the state of expectancy with which the producing fraternity has viewed the crude market since the last advances.

The advance is in line with the general trend all over the country—dispatches from New York telling of a 1-cent advance posted by the Standard Oil all over its territory.

MRS. STILLMAN ONLY FRIENDLY TO INDIAN GUIDE

She Tells of Ring Beauvais Gave To Her

By Associated Press.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 11.—Mrs. Anne U. Stillman was cross-examined for more than five hours today in the trial of a divorce suit brought against her by James A. Stillman, New York banker.

The plaintiff's lawyers took her in detail over the history of her relations with Fred Beauvais, Indian guide, alleged by Mr. Stillman to be the father of 3-year-old Guy Stillman.

Throughout the quizzing, which is to be resumed tomorrow, Mrs. Stillman held herself innocent of wrongful conduct with Beauvais.

Her feeling toward the guide, she said, was "friendly—such as a woman would have toward a servant."

Indian Gave Her Ring

The plain gold band ring Beauvais gave Mrs. Stillman, in which was inscribed the initials "F. B." was the subject of considerable testimony.

A local jeweler testified the inscription was the trademark of a Montreal jewelry shop. Mrs. Stillman said she never had worn the ring, but had used it as a tie clasp and later had given it to her son "Bud."

She seldom wore rings on her fingers she said. She had worn her wedding ring for only "about five hours" after her marriage.

WICHITA FIRM LOSES LICENSE

By Associated Press.

JEFFERSONCITY, Mo., May 11.—State Finance Commissioner Hughes today announced revocation of the license of a number of corporations to do business under the "Blue Sky" laws of the state. Some of the revocations are due to unsatisfactory reports filled by the corporations, and others are due to failure to file reports required by the "Blue Sky" statutes, it was announced.

Assistants, Finance Commissioner Hurwitz announced, that other revocations for similar causes will follow shortly.

The list includes the following corporations:

Arkansas Producing and Refining company, Little Rock.

Texas Natural Gas company, Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Paramount Petroleum company, Shreveport, La.

National Petroleum company, Wichita Falls, Texas.

$50,000 HEART BALM SUIT

The corners of the Lyndhurst, N. J. triangle; upper left, the husband, John N. Stein; upper right, Edgar Kane, the odd corner; Mrs. Eva Stein, the joint of the triangle.

NEWARK, N. J., May 11.—Another love triangle is to be squared in court—squared with a divorce and $50,000 in cash, if John N. Stein has his way about it.

Stein charges that Edgar H. Kane, New York broker, played the role of a love thief and stole his wife's love.

Stein demands $50,000 and not a cent less to soothe his wounded feelings as far as Kane is concerned As for his wife, Mrs. Eva Stein—he demands a divorce.

"I loved Kane," Mrs. Stein testified in court. "I didn't care about his money."

Mrs. Stein admitted that Kane bought for her the polo coat she was wearing while she sat on the witness stand.

SUIT BALLS UP LEGION AFFAIRS

Garnishment Filed by Bonner

Settlement of bills growing out of the recent American Legion air meet is indefinitely delayed by reason of the suit and the garnishment suits filed against the legion accounts and the private accounts of one of the officials of the legion post by Jouette M. Bonner, according to A. L. Taylor, legionnaire who managed the recent meeting.

Arrangements which had been made for the advancement of money to pay off remaining obligations with the money to be collected from the insurance company as a result of the raining out of the big day at the meet.

Action was filed by Bonner Thursday morning against Taylor and others connected with the meet, for the $650 which is alleged to be due Bonner, as lessee of the field, for the use of the field by the legion for this meet. In connection with this suit the garnishment petitions were filed.

According to Taylor, payment of remaining obligations is now tied up until the Bonner suit is disposed of.

DEPUTY FREED IN KLAN CASE

Habeas Corpus Is Granted

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, May 11.—Habeas corpus application for release of Deputy Sheriff George Wallace of Beaumont from jail on contempt of court sentence for refusing to tell the grand jury whether he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan was granted by the court of criminal appeals tonight at 9:15 o'clock, and the writ directing the sheriff to release Wallace was issued by Clerk Glin Finger.

The case will be heard next Wednesday by the court and Wallace was allowed to make bail in the sum of $500 awaiting the ruling of the court of criminal appeals. The application was filed by A. L. Shaw of Shaw & O'Brien, attorneys, and the record shows that E. M. Chester is also an attorney for Wallace.

Wallace has been confined in jail since Wednesday afternoon when ordered confined there by District Judge E. J. McDowell, when the grand jury reported that the deputy sheriff would not testify as to his membership in the Klan. Shaw left tonight for Beaumont.

GOVERNOR SEES NO WAY TO GET NEEDED FUNDS

But He's Reluctant To Assemble Solons

By Associated Press.

DENTON, Texas, May 11.—A special session of the state legislature may be necessary in order to solve properly pending educational problems and to promote the development and improvement of the entire state public school system, Governor Pat M. Neff tonight declared before 250 newspaper men of Texas at the 43rd annual convention of the Texas Press Association which opened its three-day meeting here.

"I shall be reluctant, however, to re-convene the present legislature for the reason that all educational matters were before them during the regular session," the governor qualified, "and were again submitted to them while in special session, and no measure providing revenue for support of the schools was enacted into law.

Sees No Relief.

"No new facts have developed since then and I am therefore inclined to think that no relief could be had by reconvening this same legislature in special session.

"If the legislature should be reconvened in special session, there is no money in the public treasury available for appropriation for school purposes.

"It would be necessary to pass some revenue measure before such appropriation could be made.

"There are a number of commodities and needless luxuries that are now escaping taxation that should contribute to the support of the public schools.

"If the people of Texas will send to the new legislature that convenes in January, a membership of lawmakers in sympathy with the educational life of Texas and who will cooperate in the passage of proper revenue measures and educational bills, I will see to it that the schools of this state do not suffer for support, either the coming school year or any other year in the near future."

Revenue Insufficient.

The governor declared that the state revenue for school purposes is insufficient; that laws for raising money for the support of schools are inadequate; that better-brained teachers should be had; that a fixed income should be provided for the support of schools. He said he had had several conferences recently with educational leaders of the state.

The convention was called to order by President Judd Mortimer Lewis of Houston this morning, in the large convention hall of the College of Industrial Arts.

More than 2,000 people assembled to greet the visitors to honor the opening program. Washouts on railroads and almost impassable dirt roads kept quite a number from fulfilling intentions of attending.

S. M. Gaines, superintendent of the railway mail service at Fort Worth spoke on how to minimize mail troubles, suggesting more legible addresses and the use of pink wrappers for daily papers.

POLITICAL NEWS FROM PRESS MEET

Special to The Record News.

DENTON, Texas, May 11.—Governor Neff was the star orator at new auditorium of the College of Industrial Arts tonight. He came in from Fort Worth at 5:00 o'clock and will remain here until Friday night when he returns to Austin.

He was given a most cordial welcome by an audience of 3,000 including 400 Texas editors and their wives. He spoke on educational matters and complimented the work of the state schools here. Joseph J. Taylor and John Knott of the Dallas News featured the program.

Cullen F. Thomas is the only senatorial candidate here. He is on his way to Dallas from the Panhandle and claims that he is the leader in many counties in the section.

All the leading papers of Texas are represented here and the entire population of the city is a general committee on reception and entertainment.

Denton county political leaders say that it is a toss up between Morgan and Williams and that Miss Blanton will lose her home county in the balloting Saturday. There is much interest manifested in the outcome of the congressional election and the partisans of Morgan and Williams are very active.

WHEAT WAR AT END AS HIGH PRICERS WIN

Tension Felt in Pit During Day's Trading

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—A sharp round in the struggle which has apparently been going on for some time between two powerful opposing groups in the wheat trade here was won today by a coterie favoring higher prices.

The net result was that wheat available for delivery here this month jumped in value 7 1-2c a bushel. An emergency rule which went into effect this morning had seemingly opened a way for at least a temporary discomfiture of the bulls, the traders whose interest at present was in a rise of values.

The rule provided that for May delivery, any wheat in cars on railroad tracks here could be tendered instead of wheat stored in elevators. As this made larger deliveries feasible, and a consequent big setback in prices might follow, the outcome was looked forward to with much interest.

Considerable tension was evident in the wheat pit at the opening of business, for it was already known that the amount of wheat delivered on May contracts today had totaled roughly ten times more than had been the case 24 hours previous. For a few moments, the clash of forces in the pit looked like a drawn battle. Prices, instead of breaking, as many had been expecting, showed a slight gain. Then the market trembled and dropped slightly. Numerous buying orders affording strong support for prices were quickly forthcoming, however, and for the rest of the day the market went almost straight upward, assuming unusual momentum just before the close, and finishing at race horse speed. Last prices reached for May were $1.45 to $1.45 1-4, the top of the day, but lacking 4 5-8c of the high record for the season.

Tonight it was pointed out that the current month is yet far from ended and that additional big deliveries if steadily continued might lead to a very different finale. Nevertheless, no possible question remained as to which side won today.

HEATHENS.

(From the Dallas News.)

Japan is a heathen nation. At least that is what we Christians say. Japan sent representatives to the Genoa conference and these representatives, speaking for their country, pledged the financial aid of Japan to the economic restoration of Russia. When is a heathen a heathen? —Wichita Falls Record News.

A heathen is a heathen when he eats a missionary. Some rather narrow critics of the heathen have been disposed to charge him with heathenism when he refused to hear the missionary preach, or pay attention to his unselfish efforts in the heathen's behalf. But as such a definition would include a great many tax-paying Texans probably it had better be left out of the reckoning. Let us say, in order to get the subject off our hands, that a heathen is a foreigner who speaks English badly or not at all, and who has never heard of or disbelieves some of the things we believe most fervidly and set great store by. According to the lexicon of S. P.'s church the Japanese are heathens. According to the reports of many travelers who have lived in or toured Japan, there is in that far country a most intelligent, a literate and a polite population. Banditry, thuggery, burglary, murder, arson, infanticide and riot are little known in Japan. Which is a strange, perhaps a reprehensible condition if the Japanese are indeed a heathen people. In this connection it may be permissible to recall the circumstances of a Japanese family resident at Inglewood, Cal. According to the Los Angeles Times, when this Japanese family observed that the house of a neighboring family had been invaded at night by a mob of white sheeted men, who were using violence upon the members of the invaded family, the Japanese fled from their own house. The Japanese wife, being quick witted, hurried to a telephone to call the local constable who was to her the embodiment of law and authority. The constable didn't answer. It so happened that he was one of the mob as was discovered when another officer shot and killed him, not knowing that the law had turned mobber. Such things, doubtless do not occur in Japan. It is more than doubtful if they ought to occur in any civilized country.

LAWS.

(From the Abilene Reporter.)

The ultimatum given by the United States Labor Board to the railways of America: Obey the orders of the board or be branded publicly as violaters of the laws of the United States. Why not? All men should obey the laws and all corporations should stay within the law.—Wichita Falls Record News.

Certainly, no one denies that, but how are you going to keep the corporations within the law and how are you going to get all men to obey the laws? It can't be done, it never has been done. Clip and Comment is not averring that it should not be done, but what he is saying that it hasn't been done yet. And since that condition is true, since there has never been a time when all men obeyed all the laws—and it is well that it is not so in this day and time—there must be some remedy other than yet advanced to solve the situation of the lawless situation. Whether the condition must be remedied by forcing men to obey the laws by means of an organization; whether it is best to revoke all laws and make new ones that fit the times; whether it is best to reframe and revamp the Constitution so that it is brought down to date; or what steps should be taken, Clip and Comment is sure he does not know nor does anybody else for that matter.

$110 Judgment Against Pen Board

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, May 11.—District J. D. Harvey today granted the Houston Natiinal Exchange bank judgement for approximately $110,000 against the Texas prison commission and issued a writ o fmandamus commanding the commission to pay the indebtedness from funds available.

This was a sequel to the reversal by the first court of civil appeals at Galveston of Judge Harvey's injunction which restrained the prison commission from pledging its crops for loans to operate the system.

The judgment, growing out of the purchase of a cotton ill mill by the previous prison commission, is for three notes aggregating $93,750, additional interest and 10 per cent attorney fees.

Notice of appeal was given.

aged the campaign of Charles H. Morris for governor not many years ago. Charles H. Morris is the gentleman who promised, if elected, to restore democratic simplicity to the executive mansion at Austin and he promised the voters that if they visited Austin they would find Mrs. Morris out in the back yard or on the lawn making soap. Charles H. Morris was an East Texas banker.

THAT CAMPAIGN AND ITS cost flattened his roll a heap. He met with inglorious defeat. Mrs. Morris was not called upon to make soap on the executive mansion ground. Sterling P. Strong did the best he could. He plastered every fence and telegraph and telephone pole in the state with this flaming device, "Vote for Morris, the man of the people." Sterling is a good old scout and made a very successful treasurer for the people of Wise county years ago. It is time for him to get out on the road building fences. Earle Mayfield and Robert Lee Henry are stealing his platform and the men who say they are committed to the platform. In this land of the free and the home of the tax gatherer there is an open field for all, "and the devil takes the hindmost on election day."

PRIME MINISTER LLOYD George is as tenacious as a British bulldog. He has refused to let go of the Genoa conference and has hopes of building a bridge that will be wide enough and strong enough to permit all factions and all European nations to cross over. A super-man is the little Welshman. Some day he will break down and then the Britons will miss him. They haven't a man of his mould or type in all the British empire. He is an opportunist but he never loses his head. Most men lose their heads and then it is all off.

TEXAS BEATS HIGH COYOTES

Bourland Solved Late In Game

By "HANK" HAYES.

"Dub" Davis' diamond dabblers of the Texas Company, graciously took the game handed them yesterday afternoon by the Wichita Hi "Coyotes" by a count of 9 to 4. With Harris and Davis, the famous battery of the high school, of the class of '17, serving for the Texacos, the youths were "alumnaed" to death, as Gabe Harris recalled that straight hard balls over the platter would get most high school swatesmiths batting average down the column.

Only in the latter innings did the wingers solve Bourland's delivery and then they worked him for six safeties and eight free trips to the initial sack and most of these were converted into tallies by the City league champions. Harris had the lads guessing for seven innings and was touched for only a quintet of singles for the game.

One of the main factors for the lads was the fact that the Coyote outfield was absent and the rookies that served did not have the eye or ability of the regulars. The Texacos likewise had several stars out, but as they have the town at large to choose from, their loss was not so keenly felt.

This exhibition was the last for the Red and Black nine for this season; and they didn't care whether they beat a bunch of town boys or not, as a win wouldn't help them toward state championship anyway. They seemed to feel that way, as in several instances they lost their heads while the Texacos romped around the bags until home plate stopped them. Score:

DAN HARDY—

talked, but I didn't have the only wholesale liquor house here; there were two others, and 18 saloons besides my own."

Denies He Signed Bond

The defendant consistently denied that he signed Jean Flowers' bond when the latter was arrested on a charge of conspiracy, and he also refuted the statement that he had paid the bond when Flowers had fled to Oregon.

Questioned as to the liquor which a drayman had previously said he hauled to the edge of the Wichita river and placed on the ground in the sand, Hardy stated that Denny Swan had purchased 65 cases of liquor from his wholesale establishment, but that he didn't know what disposition had been made finally of the whiskey.

"It was Old Crow—it was worth about $16 a case then: I remember it because that whiskey was hauled in sacks to the edge of the Wichita river and placed on the ground."

Denies Conspiring

Defendant Hardy emphatically denied that he had conspired with Lankford or any other federal representative about "getting whiskey across the border into the Indian territory," or that he had planned with them to have an "old Ford captured every now and then—and it would be full of cheap liquor."

The defendant testified that he is 58 years old, and admitted that he had been pardoned by former President Wilson in another case.

D. P. Taylor, who said his nickname is "Phy," testified that he had known Hardy for a number of years, and that he had signed Lankford's bond. It was his testimony that Lankford had remarked to him, after he had explained that he was accused of accepting a bribe from Dan Hardy, that "old Dan never gave me a dime."

Character witnesses who testified as to the truth and good standing of Hardy included W. S. Curlee, O. A. Jones, N. O. Monroe, W. W. Gardner and J. L. Art.

NEFF SILENT ON KLAN ISSUE

Governor Has Not Made Up Mind

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 11.—Governor Neff, who spent Thursday here, would make no comment on his forthcoming investigation to determine members of the Ku Klux Klan in the Texas rangers and Texas national guard.

He said he would not make up his mind as to what steps he will take until the next results of the investigations have been laid before him.

PROBE KLAN LETTER

ST. LOUIS, May 11.—Federal authorities here today were investigating the receipt by Paul Karros, a Greek restaurant owner, of a threatening letter purporting to be from the Ku Klux Klan.

Karros reported receipt of the letter to the police, who said it ordered Karros and Greek friends who it termed as "low class immigrants" to leave the country. The letter said force would be used if the order was not complied with.

NEFF BLAMES CITIZENS

FORT WORTH, May 11.—"The wave of crime that has been sweeping across the land is due in a large degree to the neglect of the average everyday citizen to discharge his duties to the government," Governor Neff declared in an address here today before the morning session of the Pythian grand lodge.

Governor Neff read a committee report treating the various phases of the crime situation, ending with a resolution to the effect that the grand lodge stand solidly behind the established courts and duly elected officers of the state.

ASK KLANSMEN TO QUIT

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., May 11.—The resignation of every public official in Kern county who belongs to the Ku Klux Klan was demanded in a resolution adopted by a crowd that packed the Taft theater last night. The resolution condemned the klan as "un-American."

PERSONAL NEWS OF BURK FOLK

Red Cross Board Meeting Held

Special to the Record News

BURKBURNETT, May 11.—Miss Marie Troup and Miss Thelma Troup are guests this week of Misses Lottie and Ruth Saunders, East 4th street. The young ladies are from Enid, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Evans and little son, James, were business visitors in Electra, this week.

Dr. J. M. F. Gill is attending the State Medical convention in El Paso this week, will return Friday night.

Miss Dorpat, the Red Cross nurse, was in the city Thursday inspecting the Hardin and Fowler school children in the interest of eye, nose and throat conditions of health.

The young ladies K. K. Klub and their escorts met at the home of Miss Letha Moore, and went in body to the little home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice A. Wilkins, who have returned from their bridal trip and gave them a happy, surprise shower, which included many beautiful and useful gifts.

Owing to the bad conditions of the roads, the meeting of the County Red Cross board was held in Wichita Falls Thursday night, instead of Burkburnett as planned.

Mrs. A. H. Lewis was operated on at the local hospital for appendicitis Wednesday, and is reported in fair condition.

The new tabernacle, being erected by the Immanuel Baptist church on their new lot near the school building, is nearing completion and promises to be a commodious, comfortable structure, serving well its purpose until a permanent church can be built.

Alvis Leath and family have returned from Marshall and are guests for a while in the home of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Atlas Gilbert in this city.

C. R. Williamson and R. D. Laney were in Wichita Falls during the week serving on the jury.

Miss Bernice Barrett, the popular young saleslady in Anderson's store, has returned from a pleasant vacation trip among relatives in Lawrence, Texas.

DIAL WILDCAT TO DRILL IN

Local Oil Men on Way to Test

H. A. Melat, general superintendent of production for the Gulf, and S. L. McDowell, business associate of W. D. Cline, left Thursday for the Panhandle, where they will superintend the casing off of open hole in the Gulf's test on the Dial and its drilling into the sand from which it obtained a showing recently.

The showing is considered a good one by Mr. Cline, who recently visited the test while in the Panhandle. The sand was picked up just above 3,000 feet. The test has several hundred feet of open hole and the oil has risen through cavings in the bottom of the hole.

The test is drilled by the Gulf on acreage belonging to Cline and Roy B. Jones. J. J. Perkins, Norris Martin, W. B. Hamilton and associates own the fee which was purchased shortly before drilling began.

MO-TEX AMONG LEASE BUYERS

Get 80 in South Electra Pool

With the purchase of 80 acres out of the Waggoner ranch, in the southwest portion of the new field where the recent big completions in the 1,900-foot sand has attracted considerable interest the Mo-Tex Oil company is preparing to enter the field according to announcement Thursday from S. E. Davis, who is in charge of the company. The lease comprises the south half of the northwest quarter of Section 27.

Contract has been made already, Mr. Davis stated, for the drilling of seven wells on this new lease, by the Integral Drilling and Development company. Thorough testing and development of the various sands of this district will be made, according to present plans. The 1900-foot sand is one of the prime objectives, of course, but the various other good sands, ranging from 400 feet to the deepest levels, will be fully developed.

The amount involved in this transaction was not made public. Leases in this district which is enjoying the new activity range from $200 to $600 and $800. Some transactions for as much as $1,000 have been reported to have been closed recently.

LOCAL PEOPLE STAR IN SHOW

Shriners Put Over Musical Novelty

Catchy music, spicy jokes and nifty costumes characterized the initial presentation of the musical farce, Shrine Minstrels, by the patrol and band of Maskat temple at the Wichita theater Thursday night.

The performance opened with a prologue in which W. H. Caldwell as "Old Man Gloom" transported the audience into the land of "Imagination," where they were entertained with singing and dancing. The curtain arose on a camp situated in the mountains southwest of New York, where the prologue was told. Miss Ruth Nolen, as "Imagination," was reflected in a mirror and gave the opening solo number.

Frank Patton in the role of Jerry, a young man with an imagination and an eye on Aunt Charity's millions, was the host of a jolly party who set sail for the island of Koo-Koo, the "nuttiest" place in the South Seas and a journey long sought for by Jerry. Frances Scott took the part of "Make Believe," the spirit of imagination.

The first act opened with a dining salon scene on the steamship "Hokum-la" immediately after dinner. This furnished the setting for the black-face humor which was a feature of the entire performance. In this Claud Woods and Horrarce Robbins, both well known local black face artists, and Eddie Perdue, a recent addition to local black-face artists, as end men, gave a new line of jokes. All were well received. Dr. W. L. Rhodes and Sid Gaines also added much to the comedy side of the performance. Claud Woods sang as his feature number, "Dangerous Blues." He was encored several times and responded.

Eddie Perdue gave a recitation, "Mary and Her Little Laamb" and a line of jokes. Dr. Rhodes gave "Blues," and Sid Gaines, black-face blow-out had a few words to say about "Matrimony." His line of talk was extremely amusing and all the black-face numbers were received with enthusiastic applause. Lewis Lacy was interlocutor.

J. T. Yeargin, in the role of Washington Jones, otherwise known as Wash, and life-long servant of Jerry Van Cleaves, did clever work, that of a literal interpretation of an old southern "Uncle." W. C. Cook, as the hermit on Koo-Koo island, and a near Robinson Crusoe, furnished several minutes of real comedy with his sad stories of the difficulties of the hermit on the South Sea islands.

Among the costumed chorus numbers which were outstanding features of the performance, probably the one most encored was "Ty-Tee," a South Sea hula dance, with Miss Katherine Moore as soloist and members of the chorus in grass skirts. J. W. Moffatt singing a novelty doll song, "Jicky," and ten little girls in kiddie rompers was also a decided hit. Solos were given by Mrs. Louella B. Thompson, Mr. Moffatt, and others, all responded to encores.

Members of the Ty-Tee chorus: Misses Beaulah Sanford, Georgia B. Leath, Fern Sides, Mary Frances Collier, Bernice Gohlke, Lillian Randle, Anna Ruth Kahn and Audrey Spiker. In the "Jicky" chorus, Bernice Pross, Louis Pickle, Alma Willis, Lee Joe McCallister, Maurine Cotton, Louise Jankins, Florence Devers, Beatrice Spyker and Frankie Adickes.

The concluding chorus was "The Sheik" sung by R. E. Shepherd and assisted by Misses Madeline Nolen, Louise Beard, Jewel Cummings, Louise Scott, Ethel Mae Martin, Donna Mitcham, Helen Knox and Estelle Revere.

There were 80 people in the caste including:

Captain Jenks, not of the Horse Marines—J. L. Hill.

Those on voyage: Sailors—Ben Wren, R. P. Brotherin, M. M. Paule, R. E. Nolen, Geo. Massie, Leslie Martlew, R. W. Archer, J. W. Moffatt, Chas. Eubank.

Cabin Boys—Orville Carpenter, H. S. Gordon, O. D. Crites, Dr. W. T. Wells, Harry White, R. M. Wilhite, W. C. Hamilton, W. A. Morrow, Guy Sinclair, Tim Thompson.

Dear Little Ladies—Madeline Nolen, Jewel Cummings, Bernice Goehlke, Ethel Mae Martin, Marjorie Winston, Annie Ruth Kahn, Fern Sides, Mary Frances Collier, Lillian Randle, Donna Mitcham, Rebecca Meadows, Alta Hobbs, Audrey Hobbs, Louise Beard, Louise Scott, Beulah Sanford.

Waiters—Claude Woods, Horrace Robbins, Chas. Nolen, Dr. Bill Rhodes, Pat Jarrett, E. O. Perdue, D. M. Burgan, Guy Sinclair.

Guests—Mesdames Geo. Woodruff, L. A. French, Josephine Cummings, Clarence Moore, Jas. Williams, Pat Jarrett, Harry Baum, Misses Suda Willis, Gretchen Avis, Mattie Ruth Corlette, Messrs. Julian McFall, Lee Haney, J. M. Williams, R. E. Shepherd and others.

Both scenery and costumes are above the average, and splendid music is furnished by the Maskat orchestra. The performance will be repeated tonight and Saturday night.

ARCHER SAND RISES 40 FT.

Texhoma Drilling In At 1581

Drilling into the oil sand at 1581 feet, from 30 to 40 feet higher than wells to the north, the Texhoma Oil and Refining company's No. 17 Gose, the far south well of the Texhoma Archer county pool, was showing up Thursday for an unusually good producer. Two feet of sand was drilled, and from the present showing the well is estimated good for 250 or 300 barrels.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE THIRTEENTH DISTRICT:

In fairness to the men and women who will cast their ballots on May 13 to elect a representative to Congress from the 13th Congressional district, we desire to submit for your consideration the following:

S. A. L. Morgan entered the race for Congress in the summer of 1921. Following the death of the late Lucian W. Parrish, a special election was called to be held on May 13, to elect a successor to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Parrish. It has been impossible for Mr. Morgan to see personally all the voters of the district; he has conducted a vigorous campaign and to the certain knowledge of his friends who have been active in his support his campaign has been clean and upon a high plane to which every man should adhere.

Mr. Bullington before leaving for Washington about the middle of April agreed to become active in behalf of Mr. Morgan upon his return from Washington; for some reason, however, he announced while in Washington that he would be a candidate for the office upon an Independent ticket. This naturally gave rise to a report circulated over the district that Mr. Bullington would divide the vote in Wichita County and defeat Mr. Morgan; we have found however this is not true, but on the contrary his friends have rallied to his support and we believe that the voters of Wichita County and over the district, understanding the effort that has been made to divide the vote will stand by Mr. Morgan solidly on May 13th.

At the present time there is only one Congressman in Washington representing all the northwest portion of Texas and the Panhandle; should either of Mr. Morgan's opponents from the lower end of the district be elected it will place four Congressmen in a radius of fifty to sixty miles of each other, there being one already at Fort Worth, one at Dallas and one at Bonham. It is more than three hundred miles from Fort Worth to Amarillo and that distance lying between those points should certainly be entitled to a man to represent them who is familiar with the needs of the people.

May we ask that before casting your ballot you give Mr. Morgan's candidacy serious consideration and vote for the man whose record is clean, whose qualifications are not questioned and whose honesty and integrity is unimpeachable. VOTE FOR THE HOME MAN AND A DEMOCRAT.

ARMSTRONG'S "TWO DESTROYERS."

HON. George W. Armstrong of Fort Worth is on the road as a champion of protection. He was on the road last year as a most blistering critic of the methods of the Federal Reserve Banks. In his speeches he quotes copiously from the book written by James T. McCleary. McCleary was born in England. He came to this country at an early age. He advocated protection as our proper permanent policy. His theory was that in 1846 Great Britain removed her duties on wheat and many other food products in order to keep her skilled workmen from demanding higher wages. Great Britain then as now was determined to undersell the world in manufactures. To insure cheap production she felt compelled to keep wages down and to do this was to reduce to the utmost their cost of living by letting in food products free.

Judge Armstrong says this was the first experiment in free trade or a tariff for revenue only. Then Germany and France abandoned for a short period their protective tariff policies. Apostles McCleary and Armstrong attribute the French Revolution to the abandonment of the protective tariff by France. Napoleon re-established the protective tariff system in France. France abandoned the protective tariff in 1860 and Germany followed in 1862. Bismarck predicted the ruin of both nations saying that "protective countries are prospering and free trade countries decaying."

Judge Armstrong declares that England is slowly returning to the protective tariff. He says every president of the United States, including Jefferson and Jackson, have been protectionists, that James Madison introduced the first tariff bill and that a protective tariff act was in fact the first law of a general character to be introduced in congress. Again the judge says that James K. Polk was the first and only president of the United States prior to Grover Cleveland who may be called an anti-protectionist. Judge Armstrong in days of old was a follower of Grover Cleveland and yet he says that tariff became a political party question after the Civil War and "the Democratic party entered into political alliance with Tammany Hall." As a result of this alliance he avers Grover Cleveland was twice elected president of the United States.

A Texan wrote the Mills bill and the judge contends that this was the first time in the history of the United States that an administration discriminated against raw materials. Judge Armstrong says that the South is not the natural home of the cotton—that the home of cotton is near the Equator—in tropical and semi-tropical countries. He has seen the wild cotton bush growing in the valleys and on the hillsides of South America. Judge Armstrong is fearful that in the near future South America will compete with the United States in the production of cotton "as she now competes with us in the production of corn and beef and sugar." Moreover the ocean freight rates he says from South America ports to American ports is less than our rail freight rate to our market. Very pessimistic indeed is the judge. He is eligible for admission to the Gloom family. He insist that if we do not protect the products of the farm and ranch our agriculture will decay as it did in England. Furthermore, that no country has been prosperous with dear money and cheap wages and products. According to his information Sir Robert Peel was responsible for English free trade and for the present English banking system and the object of Peel was to inflate the value of the dollar and to deflate prices and wages. Regretfully the judge admits that Peel won. "He destroyed British agriculture and impoverished British labor." It is remarkable but the judge insists it is true that Woodrow Wilson was the author of the same two systems in 1913 in America with the purpose in view "of inflating the value of the dollar and deflating prices and wages." And so it goes. This pillar of the Southern Tariff Congress is confident in his own mind that Sir Robert Peel started out to destroy British agriculture and to make paupers of the workers of England and many years later Woodrow Wilson walked in his footsteps in order to destory American agriculture and to make paupers of American labor. There are some masterful logicians in this old land of ours.

CRANE'S EDITORIAL

THE ONLY CRIME PREVENTION

THE American Bar association recently gave its attention to a study of the underlying reasons for the crime wave which has swept the country since the close of the war.

Many reasons were advanced by criminology students, lawyers, doctors and others. Some insisted that the crime wave is the natural outgrowth of war through the breaking down of moral fibre; others blamed prohibition; others insisted it was because of a growing belief that the courts would favor the rich.

One layman declared that it might be a good idea to put many of the practising lawyers in jail, and others insisted that punishments for crime were not sufficiently severe.

The Adams Express company, so the newspapers informed us, is taking drastic measures to protect its treasures, and is inaugurating a service of armored trucks, with bottom, sides and top covered with steel plates, and with the driver enclosed in a bullet-proof cab.

Each truck is to carry a crew of five men armed with revolvers, and loopholes are provided all around it for the crew to fire from within.

All of this represents an elaborate continuation of the wrong method of dealing with crime, to which the mind of the world is committed.

That method is based upon a piece of sheer fiction. That fiction is that crime is prevented by punishment. That is to say, when a man commits a crime he should be hurt, in which case he will not commit another crime, and others will be deterred from imitating him. Anybody who is old enough to go to school knows that the world has been carrying out that programme faithfully so far back that the memory of man runnneth not to the contrary; also that it has not stopped crime yet.

Said schoolboy also, if he should study a little deeper, would discover that crimes have diminished in the civilized world to a certain degree steadily, and that that diminution has exactly followed the diminution in the severity of punishment.

That means that in proportion as we have stopped hurting people for crime they have stopped committing it.

This is a general law. Like all general laws it will be pooh-poohed by most people who can see nothing but particular instances.

It is not a question, however, of arguments, it is merely a question of fact. That fact is: that notwithstanding the many criminals today in Chicago, for instance, life in Chicago is much more secure by day or night than it was in London 250 years ago when there were some 200 crimes for which a man might be hung.

Crime is much more abated in the twentieth century in a country where the constitution prohibits cruel and unusual punishment than it was in the age of piety when criminals were regularly tortured and judges got at the truth by pulling off finger nails and stretching joints on the rack.

The real fact is that the only dependable prevention of crime is the power of moral inhibition in the populace.

Whatever strengthens that sense of moral inhibition decreases crime. And that is all there is to it.

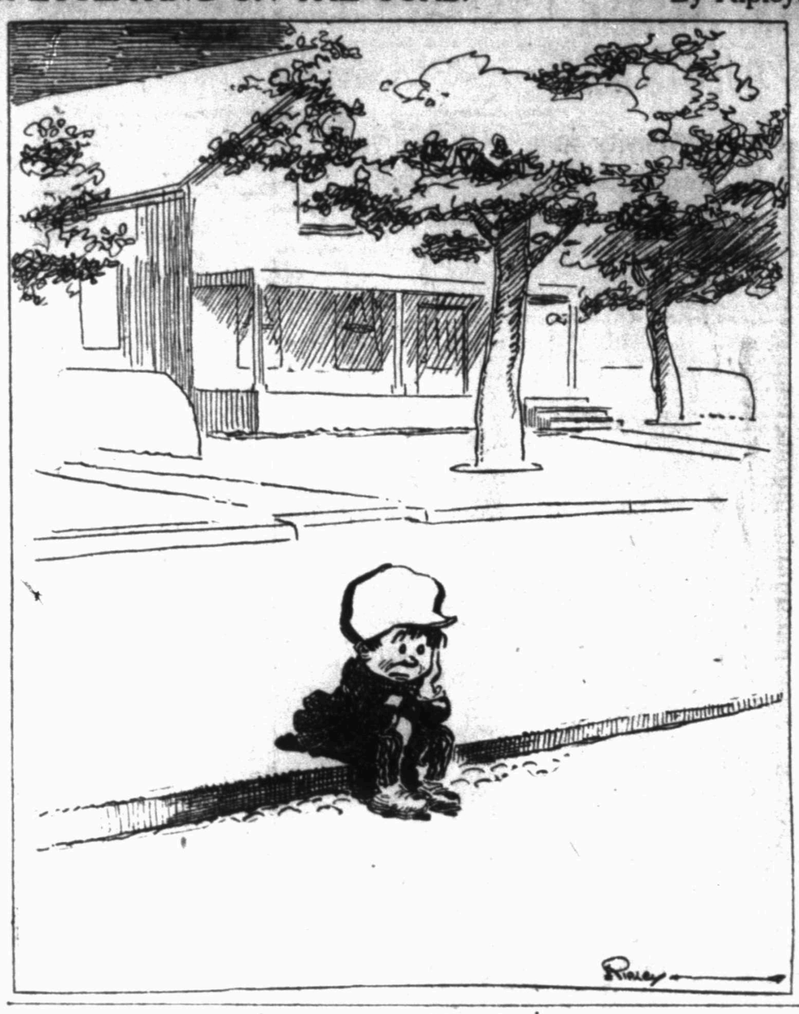

New York is safe only because the people are not disposed to violence, because they have consciences. If they all wanted to murder, burn and rape, not all the armies in Christendom could prevent the city from becoming a hell inside of a week, and an ash heap inside of a month.

Governor Samuel R. McKelvie of Nebraska reports changing conditions in Nebraska have been marked in the last six months. Farm values have increased $75,000,000. "We have turned the corner," said the governor, "and the average farmer has $300 more in his jeans than he had six months ago." Governor McKelvie must be a mind reader as well as an X-Rayer of the pocket book. He never lost his head when the slump was on and now he is an evangelist of Western prosperity away down East.

According to the Washington correspondents the old guard was amazed and when the news came from Indiana there was a regular panic among the regulars. Senator James E. Watson of Indiana is one of the old guard. When told that Harry S. New was defeated Watson said, "It was the women who did it." It would be well for the politicians of America to remember that woman has the ballot and that the old civilization is passing away.

Men who refuse to believe that a new civilization is here are reminded that at a recent spudding in of an oil well near Panhandle, the reverend G. H. Bryant recited a prayer and sent his petition up to the throne on high through a derrick of the Standard Oil Company. Isn't that going some, 'way down here in Texas. It is all right though to "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow." They hope to bring in a gusher at Panhandle.

SPECULATING ON THE CURB. —By Ripley.

SURLINESS

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Surliness—which may be defined as a more or less chronic state of sullen ill-temper—is sometimes merely a bad habit. More often it is a symptom of an unhealthy condition of the mind or body. Cure this and you cure the surliness.

Which, obviously, is something the surly and their relatives should know. Too often the misery which surliness engenders is needlessly prolonged because, from ignorance, no effort is made to get at and remove the underlying cause.

Thus it not infrequently happens that malnutrition gives rise to surliness. Or surliness may be symptomatic of chronic self-poisoning from dyspepsia, intestinal statis, or some unsuspected focus of infection in the teeth, the throat, the tonsils, the sinuses, etc.

Unsuspected eye-strain is another cause of surliness. So is the nervous fatigue induced by incorrect posture, the strain of falling or fallen arches, and so forth.

Irregularity in the functioning of one or more of the so-called dustless glands may likewise be a cause of surliness. One present-day student of glandular action goes so far as to say:

"It is possible to speak of thyroid moods, adrenal moods, ante-pituitary or post-pituitary moods, gonadal moods. Each of these is an echo in the mind of cells stimulated or depressed by concentration or dilution in the blood of particular internal secretions."

On the other hand, it is a certainty that glandular irregularities may themselves be the result of disturbed mental states. A persistent worrier, for instance, is likely to keep certain of his dustless glands overstimulated to a point where they may become semi-exhausted. Then he will begin to feel the mischievous effects of gland deficiency.

So that in cases of surliness seemingly due to glandular action it may be necessary to search for a hidden mental cause of both the gland irregularity and the surliness. Otherwise little of lasting value can be effected as regards either the irregularity or the surliness.

This mental cause quite often is found in a conscious or subconscious feeling of personal inferiority. There may be no real ground for such a feeling. But if the feeling is there the distress of mind it provokes may not surprisingly find expression in a chronic surliness.

In such a case a cure may be much more difficult to achieve than in cases of surliness dependent on remediable bodily defects. The surly one may have to be patiently studied by a medico-psychological expert and given special help to enable him to overcome his "inferiority complex."

But also, once the mental source of his unpleasant personal attitude has been definitely ascertained, a cure may follow with really astonishing rapidity. In fact, the surly, when it is chiefly a question of gaining a more wholesome outlook on life, usually can cure themselves after they have been aided to realize wherein their outlook is at fault.

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

THE ONE SOLACE

I smoke my grand old pipe by day, I keep it going half the night; and moralists come up and say, "Such dissipation is a fright; the young behold you as they pass, and then for briar pipes they yearn, in which to smoke buds, leaves and grass, or any herbage that will burn." I've cut out all the ancient sins that blemished once my wide renown; I have forsworn imported gins, the pallid beer and porter brown. My conduct is so pure and nice it might become a king or queen; no longer do I shake the dice, or play the creaking slot machine. I've cut out cards and dominoes, and croquinole, and all such games; I read good books while grandma goes to play bridge whist with other dames. I know that wickedness is vain, I know my old time course was rank; it's long since I have robbed a train, or pulled a gunplay in a bank. I've cut out all the evil things, except the pipe that soothes my soul, and now the moralists, by jings, would see my briar in the hole. And that's the trouble, all the time, with those good souls who lead crusades; they'd make this old world so sublime that all its comfort wilts and fades. They know not when it's time to stop, since they have squelched the Demon Rum; soon we'll be pinched for sipping pop, or chewing fragrant sticks of gum.

THE DAILY STORY

Copyright, 1922, by W. Werner.

TWO WOMEN

Cynthia Barnes awoke, yawned and glanced about the well-remembered room. Except that the pink rose border of the wall paper had faded a little, it was quite unchanged from what it had been when she left it twelve years before. It seemed impossible that she never had been back since, and equally impossible that she was back now.

She sprang out of bed feeling that she had slep profoundly and awakened with that refreshment of body and mind than which nothing is better. The window was open and the notes of robin entered upon the soft March breeze. There was sunshine. On such a day things would be coming up. And to think that she had nothing to do but putter among her flowers, read, rest—above all things, rest.

Rest was what she needed, and the right to rest was what she had earned by those twelve trying years as secretary to Mrs. Antisdel. Now Mrs. Antisdel was dead. She had promised herself that before she took up another secretaryship she would have a year in the old house from which she had set out upon what had then seemed to be the very doubtful experiment of earning her living.

She had realized last night as she opened the door that twelve years was a long time to be away. But this morning it did not seem so long. When she looked in the glass she was astonished at the cheerful health of her countenance. Beside the mirror hung a small picture of herself as she had been twelve years ago. She had not changed much, unless, indeed, it were for the better.

Mrs. Leach came in as soon as Cynthia was down stairs. "I've brought you some things to eat," she said, unpacking a basket. "I guess you'll find the house all right. I've been in once a month and looked everything over. There's the key you left with me." She laid it down. "I'm real glad you've got back, Cynthia. I expect you've seen a lot of the world since you left here. You show it. You've got a look of upstandingness that I never noticed in you before. That ain't the word I want to use, but you know what I mean."

Cynthia laughed at the kindly old woman. She suspected that the word Mrs. Leach had wished to use was distinction. She hoped that she did have distinction. Mrs. Antisdel had had it in a marked degree, and it did seem as if after twelve years of close association with that marvelous woman she must have caught some of it.

"Well, there," said Mrs. Leach, taking up the empty basket with an air of having done her errand, "if there is anything you want of me, Cynthia, or my old man just let us know, will you?"

Cynthia made a hearty breakfast of the food Mrs. Leach had brought. Afterward she looked the house over, lingering longest in the room where her mother had spent her last days. It had looked then as if the little house must be sold at once, but Mrs. Antisdel's offer had made it possible for Cynthia to keep the dear place for her old age. Now, as she went from room to room she felt a deep gratitude to Mrs. Antisdel for that as well as other things.

An immediate visit to the grocery was necessary, and Cynthia went out. But first she thought she would just run down the back walk and see if there were anysigns of budding things. As she paused beside an old flower bed she heard her name called. Looking up, she saw a woman on the other side of the fence—a faded blond woman, with a slight stoop of shoulder.

"Why, Claire Isham!" Cynthia exclaimed. She went forward, holding out her hand. "What are you doing here? Do you live in that house?"

"Yes. My brother Nat bought it when he married Elva Terry. You knew about that, I suppose? I live with them," Claire replied.

"Oh!" Cynthia was trying to accommodate her memory of Claire's golden beauty twelve years before to this faded vision of her. "What do you do?" she asked.

Claire smiled. "Oh, I don't do anything except help Elva with the housework. They have no children. What is there to do in Willowdale except get married?"

"Not much, I fancy. But, Claire I thought when I went away that you were going to marry Jerome Post."

There! She had spoken his name aloud for the first time in twelve years, spoken it quite calmly, too, to the woman who had been her young rival. Often she had studied the home papers which Mrs. Leach sent her, wondering why she did not find the notice of Claire's marriage to Jerome. It had seemed imminent when she went away.

Claire turned aside her head. "Oh, we never seemed to come to any understanding," she said. "I guess Jerome wasn't so necessary to my happiness as I thought, and I certainly don't seem necessary to his. He's got to be quite a big man. I almost never see him any more. Neither does Nat. And they used to be so thick."

They talked then of something else, and at last Cynthia went away with a strange feeling from the meeting. She had been so sure that Jerome would marry Claire with her golden beauty. And he had not married any one. He had let his law work possess him. And Claire had waited until it was too late. She thought of those twelve years in which Claire had been doing nothing in Willowdale. How empty they had been, how little they had amounted to!

"I loved Jerome better than she did, then," she thought. "But I'm glad I couldn't sit down here to wait for him. I had to get out and go to work. It was a good thing for me. But poor Claire!"

An hour later as Cynthia was hurrying home with her arms full she met Jerome Post. He stopped, appraising her keenly with his clear gray eyes.

"You, Cynthia!" He exclaimed. "Home to stay?"

"Just till I'm rested." She had never possessed meeting [illegible]. How big and fine he was! He had grown; yes, that was it, grown. One instantly comprehended his mental and moral achievement.

He insisted on taking most of her parcels and walking home with her. At the doorsteps he lingered. "I'm going to see you again soon," he said as he went away.

Claire came in through the back way with a pitcher of soup for Cynthia's dinner. "I saw Jerome with you," she said. "I've been thinking it over, Cynthia. And I don't care."

Cynthia flushed. "Why, what do you mean?" she demanded.

"I don't care about you and Jerome. Somehow I feel that he's been waiting for you all these years. I'm glad you haven't disappointed him. I'm afraid I did disappoint him. You see, I set such store on my good looks, but when they fade you've got to have something else. You've got it, too. And you're bound to be drawn together." She turned her head aside. "I'm not going to care one mite," she replied.

Thus she declared the supreme sacrifice of her being—the sacrifice which lifted her out of the commonplace and made her worthy of the love which Cynthia was to [illegible]

Site for Nursery Selected on Lamar

Following the decision of the Federated Missionary societies to buy a permanent home for the Day Nursery, a board of trustees to handle the necessary funds has been appointed.

The board is composed of Mrs. J. A. Kemp, Mrs. W. L. Robertson, Mrs. J. Lewis, C. W. Snider and J. I. Staley.

A site on Lamar street has been definitely decided upon as the logical location for the institution.

Memberships will be solicited through a campaign in the local churches. In this manner, the federation hopes to raise the necessary funds for the purchase and upkeep of the home.

Bridge Luncheon for Ohio Guest at Wichita Club Attractive Affair

Among the series of charming affairs given for Mrs. Ivan Murphy of Lorain Ohio, popular house guest of Mrs. W. B. Hamilton, none has proven more attractive than the bridge-luncheon at the Wichita club Wednesday at which Mrs. Frank Van Wormer was hostess.

The table was beautifully decorated in pink roses for the occasion, a huge basket filled with the blossoms and tied with pink tulle forming the centerpiece. Covers were laid for ten.

In the games which furnished entertainment during the afternoon, Mrs. Walter Pyron won the high score favor and Mrs. Willis Maxon the low. The honoree was remembered with a dainty gift.

Piano numbers by Mesdames Harwood Stacy and A. H. Britain furnished added entertainment and were highly appreciated.

Those present included. Mesdames Murphy, Hamilton, Harwood Stacy, A. H. Britain, Walter Pyron, O. J. McKnight, Willis Maxon, W. Hardwick and Peery Hancock.

AUXILIARY EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS WEDNESDAY.

Members of the executive board of the Womans' Auxiliary to the American Legion met at the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday afternoon and made plans for "poppy day" which is Saturday May 27.

Sewing for the sick and injured at the hospital in Houston was also discussed, the garments which are very much needed to be made at the regular meeting Tuesday.

At the close of the business, a delightful social hour was enjoyed with Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, the president hostess, and refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake was served to Mesdames Lee, B. C. Thaxton, Carter McGregor, Weller, Parker, O. W. Wilson and Misses Josephine Mann and Anna Chanault and Ma Burdick.

MRS. WELDON RE-ELECTED MOTHERS' CLUB PRESIDENT.

Mrs. H. P. Weldon was re-elected head of the Austin Mothers' club at the last meeting of the year held Wednesday at the Kemp hotel. Mrs. Walter D. Cline was elected first vice president and Mrs. E. J. Tschabold, second vice president. Mrs. Buckley was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

A feature of the meeting was a splendid talk given by Lee Clark, superintendent of the schools on the coming school bond election, also a talk by Miss Kate Haynes concerning the school work and co-operation of the schools. Miss Vivian Railey gave a violin number and Mrs. R. A. Lyle, a vocal number. Both were accompanied on the piano by Mrs. E. S. Goodner. A folk dance by pupils of the primary grade added much to the attractiveness of the program, also a reading by Miss Lillie Graham.

A nice collection of books were donated to the school library at the book shower which was also a feature of the meeting.

SAM HOUSTON MOTHERS' CLUB MEETS THURSDAY.

Talks by Edgar P. Haney and W. J. Townsend, representatives from the University club, and by Lee Clark and W. W. Brown of the school board, featured the last meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association of the Sam Houston school held Thursday afternoon. The addresses all of which were exceptionally interesting were on the subject of the junior high and high school bond issue for which voting will be done Saturday. The association went on record as heartily endorsing the coming issue. Old officers of the association were unanimously re-elected to serve next term. At the close of the business and program, a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served.

Woman's Complex Life

Woman's complex life with its multitudinous calls is given as the the reason for many a nervous breakdown. Home work, social obligations, dressmaking and the care of children keep the 20th century woman in a whirlwind of activity until headaches develop, backache, nervousness and oftentimes more serious ills which are peculiar to her sex alone. Such women should not despair, but be guided by the letters so often published in this paper from women who have been in just such conditions, but who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This is a root and herb medicine that contains no drugs and can be taken in safety by any woman.—Adv.

BIZARRE SLEEVES AND EMBROIDERY NEW MODE

As frocks get simpler and simpler, they depend more and more on either gay embroidery, or unusual sleeves to make them effective, or both. In the photo above is an example of the first instance, the simple frock with embroidered trimming for accent, worn by May McAvoy, a Paramount star. And in the lower sketch is shown the combination of unusual sleeve, plus embroidery, to enhance a straight lined frock.

Although this sleeve is bizarre, it is typical of, not what sleeves are coming to, but what they actually have come to. The nineteen-twenty-two frock is simple, yes, but not its sleeves! For it is this end of the dress that the designers have turned, their wonders to perform. On them they work out their choicest ideas; with mighty scissors they cut into the material and cut out the most eccentric-shaped sleeves—and nine times out of ten, they embroider them in peasant motifs from middle Europe.

Some of this peasant embroidery appears on the dress above that Miss McAvoy wears. It is made after the chemise type and is absolutely straight-lined, with a slit running almost up to the neck in front. Through this slit a straight slip shows of a color that harmonizes with the embroidered motif that is repeated eight times on each side of it. This motif is simply, yet pronounced, giving character to simplicity.

The sleeves are plain, just gathered, and slit from top to narrow cuff, a model of the simpler and saner sort, that is most popular this summer for general everyday wear.

Besides the Czecho-Slovanian embroidery, there is the tuscan embroidery. In the upper sketch a tight fitting cloche and matching cape collar are shown, both carried out in tuscan.

Fairview School District Gets Brick Building

Fairview school district will receive a new 10-room school building during the summer.

The announcement as to the new structure was made Thursday afternoon by county school officials, who intimated that the proposed building will accommodate students from the sixth to the eleventh grades. A high school course will also be offered.

The step to construct a new school building in the Fairview district has been commended by state school officials, it is understood. The trustees of the district are being highly praised for their initiative in proposing such a move.

It is known that 750 scholastics were reported in the school census, this showing the need of a school building to properly care for them.

A superintendent for the Fairview school will be chosen at an early time, it is said. He will have complete supervision of the school work.

A total of $30,000 which will result as a surplus at the close of the present school year will be used in the building.

FEDERAL JUDGE IS JUROR TOO

The federal judge is the thirteenth juror and has the right to pass on all cases and verdicts where he is not satisfied.

That was the ruling made by Special Judge George W. Jack yesterday morning when he intimated that he would grant a motion for a new trial in the case of Adolph Michma vs. the Empire Fuel and Gas company.

Judge Jack asserted that he was displeased with the decision of the jury in rendering a verdict favoring the plaintiff to the extent of $7,000 damages which the latter had claimed.

In rendering his opinion, the magistrate indicated that the plaintiff is entitled to only $2,285.50.

Fitts Promises Bearing Fruit; Fines In Police Court Likely To Pay Expense New Officials

Reviews of the police docket and blotter revealed Thursday that over 90 per cent of those arraigned before the corporate court at the present time are resulting in convictions and heavy penalties.

This was one of the reasons why Police Commissioner J. B. Fitts urged that E. H. Gipson and W. B. Chauncey be designated to fill the offices of city prosecutor and city judge respectively.

It was Commissioner Fitts' argument before the council that while the appointment of these two men would be expensive, that the work they would do while in office would over-pay the upkeep of their department, and add funds to the police department.

Indications are at the present time that no leniency will be meted out in dealing with lawlessness of any character; criminals arraigned before the corporate bar recently having been warned that when they are brought there a second time, their punishment will be more severe.

Among the several methods which the department has instituted in its effort to make "Wichita Falls a cleaner, better place in which to live" is a plan to weed out and punish the professional vagrants.

In this connection, it was stated Thursday that Chief J. W. McCormick hopes to announce at some near date a definite plan to carry on this particular phase of his work.

Little Stories for Bedtime

FOUR LITTLE MICE AT SCHOOL AND PLAY

When at last Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse were sure that Farmer Brown's boy had gone away they sat down and talked things over. Nanny wanted to move right away. "Why, that dreadful giant may come back any minute and carry our babies away" said she.

Danny shook his head. "No," said he. "If he meant to take them away he would have done it when he had them in his hands. Besides, didn't he put our house back and then put back all the corn stalks. If he had meant us any harm he wouldn't have done that. Do you know, Nanny, I believe that this is the safest place anywhere for us."

Nanny couldn't make herself believe so, but she didn't know of any place to move to, and so finally she agreed that they would stay there until the babies were big enough to travel. So she at once began to patch up the roof where Farmer Brown's boy had broken it open, and presently it was quite as good as before. But though nothing happened, and Farmer Brown's boy kept away, Nanny could never feel quite easy. Danny did, however. He had heard all about how Farmer Brown's boy had set Chatterer the Red Squirrel free after catching him in a trap, and how he had taken care of Mrs. Grouse when he found her a prisoner under the icy crust during the terribly cold weather of the winter, so now Danny made up his mind that Farmer Brown's boy was really a friend and not an enemy at all, and he didn't worry about him any more.

But he had other worries, did Danny Meadow Mouse. You see, those four babies, Teeny, Weeny, Midget, and Mite, grew very fast, and it didn't seem any time at all before they were poking their funny little blunt noses out of the door of their little house the minute the backs of their father and mother were turned. This made Danny and Nanny very anxious, for they were afraid that while they were away after food the little scamps might stray off and get lost. Then, too, those precious little scamps did a lot of squeaking and squealing as they played together, and this made their father and mother so anxious that they didn't know what to do. You see, they were afraid that someone with sharp ears would happen along and hear. But nothing they could say to Teeny, Weeny, Midget and Mite, and not even boxing their ears, made a bit of difference. You see, they were so full of life and fun that they just had to make a noise.

It wasn't long before they were playing all about in the old pile of corn stalks. It was great fun. There was no end of places to play hide-and-seek, and you know that is the favorite game with all little mice. And the liveliest and smartest of the four was little Mite, he of the extra short tail. Now, just as soon as little meadow and forest people are big enough to begin to play they have to go to school. I mean by that that while they are playing they have to be learning as well. So as soon as their babies began to play outside of the house, Danny and Nanny began to teach them things it was very necessary that they should know. The first of these game-lessons was called "Look-run-and-dodge."

Danny made them play this a great deal. He told them that if they wanted to grow up there was no surer way of doing it than by learning just how to play this game. They would all hide near some tiny, open place, and then one of them would try to cross it without being caught by the others. The first thing to do was to look and listen and try to find out just where the others were hiding. The next thing to do was to pick out a hiding place on the other side of the little open place. The last thing of all was to suddenly scamper across just as fast as legs could go, not directly to the chosen hiding place, but to one side of it, and then at the very last minute dodge into it. It was a very exciting game. Danny used to pretend that he was Reddy Fox or Old Man Coyote, and would go off to give the others a chance to hide. Then he would come tip-toeing back and try to catch one of them. So they played and learned at the same time until pretty soon they began to want to go out into the Great World.

BISHOPS HOLD POST FOR LIFE

Wilson and Harding Thank Methodists

By Associated Press.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 11.—Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, will continue to be elected for life instead of for a specified term of years.

That was decided today by delegates to the nineteenth quadrennial conference of the denomination here, when they rejected proposed legislation changing the tenure of the episcopacy.

Previous to acting upon the tenure proposal, the conference adopted a committee report making the principal order of business tomorrow a discussion of whether the present number of bishops of the church shall be increased by five and set next Tuesday morning as the date for electing new bishops. The conference also received replies today from President Harding and former President Wilson thanking the body for resolutions of greetings and support sent them by the conference earlier in the week.

JOE BASHARA AGAIN HEADS SCHOOL CLASS

Joe Bashara was elected president of the next senior class of the local high school at the class election held Wednesday night.

Other officers named are Ray Bland, vice president; Stella Winters, secretary and William Powers, treasurer.

Bashara served as president of his class through the freshman, sophomore, junior and now senior years, a record not made by many, and never before in the history of local schools. He is prominent in athletic and literary circles and won the J. Wilkie Talbert medal Tuesday night in the extempore speaking contest.

"Honor Thy Mother"

Every man or woman who is so fortunate as to have a mother still living should not fail to remember her on "MOTHER'S DAY.." Sunday, May Fourteenth.

A Suggestion: Flowers, a letter, a telegram, or a visit to your mother, are splendid means by which to carry out the beautiful spirit of the day. In the past, however, many have gone still farther; remembering that their mothers no longer possess the strength or endurance of youth, and yet still have the burdens of housekeeping to support, these sons and daughters have sent Hoovers to relieve their mothers of the cleaning drudgery for the rest of their days. We commend the suggestion to others. For certainly there is no gift of finer sentiment than this. And The Hoover is the best of all electric cleaners, for it alone beats as it sweeps, as it cleans, and so prolongs the life of rugs.

Rally in Ninth Falls Short and Buffs Take Opener

TEX DELIVERS TIMELY BLOWS OFF REINHART

Hurler Sets New Record, Hits 3 In Row

By "Spike" Cooper

Houston's Buffs blew into town for a three-game stay and grabbed off the opener 7-5 yesterday. Lefthanded Reinhart led the charge of the Bisons, and although he aided the chances of the Spudders materially in a couple of instances, recovered his equilibrium and finished going strong.

The Spudders opened strong in the first, shoving across two runs with fast baseball. After Adams was out, White drew a pass. Summa and McDonald singled. McDonald's single scoring White. Summa was caught off third, and Tex went to second. Miller drew a pass and negotiated the leading end of a double steal on which McDonald tallied.

McDonald led the Spudder attack, getting three hits, two of which scored runners.

A circumstance which is not recorded as having ever happened occurred in the fourth inning. Three succeeding batsmen were hit by pitched balls. This filled the bags with one out, but two pop fouls to Eiffert retired the side without a run.

Danny Gross appeared for the first time in a visitors' uniform. He got a big hand from the fans, demonstrating the true sportsmanship of Wichita fans.

Reinhart No Stranger

This was by no means the first appearance of Reinhart in Athletic Park. He worked five innings for the Cardinal Yannigans in an exhibition game last spring. He was touched for seven runs in that contest but showed a decided improvement today.

There were a number of times when a blow would have counted two or more runs, but the tall lefthander tightened up and struck out Spudder hitters. This feat he accomplished once with the bases filled, and again with runners on second and third.

White fielded a nice game, going back into short right and center on different occasions to bring down fly balls out of the reach of the gardeners.

Full hitting strength was represented in the Buff line-up. Bailey was sent to center and DeNoville filled in at first. The firstsacker poled a homer and double out of three times recorded at bat.

Both Spudder catchers whacked out doubles. Kitchens drove one far over Bailey's head in the second and Bischoff fired a liner down the left foul line for a couple of sacks.

Bittle opened the game with a fly to O'Brien. Danny Gross come up amidst the applause of many fans. He popped a short fly into center, but White went back and brought it down. Gene Bailey doubled to left center, but got no further, Whiteman lining out to Miller.

Spudders Begin

The Spudders began counting from the start. Adams grounded out Gross to DeNoville. White drew a pass and went to second when Summa hopped one over Reinhardt's head. Summa beat out the play, and when Doyle and Gross went to help the pitcher, White checked up on them and ambled to third unmolested. McDonald shot a line drive into right for his first hit scoring White. Summa over ran the bag when he took third on the play and was out as Reinhardt fielded the ball near the stand.

Miller drew a pass and when he went down on a steal McDonald made it double by scoring. Eiffert's throw was high and Miller went on to third as Bailey fielded the throw. Beck fanned.

Blades popped up a high foul to Kitchens in the second. DeNoville [illegible] the left fence. Doyle walked but caught a fast one and whaled it over Eiffert and Reinhardt flied to the outfield.

O'Brien struck out [illegible] the Spudder half. Kitchens sent a terrific drive to the center field fence for two bases but never advanced as Bowman fanned and Adams lined out to left.

Adams made a nice stop of Bittle's grounder and retired him at first. Gross flied out to center and Bailey sent a liner to Miller.

Buffs Get Four

The Buffs got theirs in the fourth on a combination of hitting, errors and baserunning. Whiteman led off with a single to left. Blades sacrificed him along, but Bowman threw high to White at first and both runners were safe. DeNoville moved them up with another sacrifice, but was out, Beck to White. Doyle was passed, filling the bases, while Eiffert's single into right scored the two leading runners. Bowman was yanked in favor of Darrough and Bischoff relieved Kitchens. Reinhardt rolled one to the pitcher and was safe when Darrough threw too late at the plate. His throw was wild and he was charged with an error. Bittle's sacrifice fly to right scored Eiffert. Darrough threw out Gross at first.

Miller rolled out to Blades. Wild pitching filled up the bases when Beck, O'Brien and Bischoff were hit by pitched balls. Tanner went in to hit for Darrough but popped up a foul to Eiffert. Adams followed suit.

White went back into right field after Bailey's fly. Whiteman took a third strike for the second out. Blades singled to right, but there was no advance as DeNoville flied out to Summa on an attempted hit and run play.

White sent a long fly into the corner of left, but Bittle captured it. Summa swung vigorously at a fast one, but topped it and Eiffert threw him out. McDonald's fly to center was too high and he was out.

Doyle opened the sixth, popping out to Bischoff. Eiffert flied to O'Brien and Reinhart chased Miller with a drive to left, but was also out.

Miller started with a fly to left for the first out. Beck drove one back to Reinhart, but a nice stop saved the pitcher and he threw the hitter out at first. O'Brien tried to drag one, but pulled it too far in and DeNoville threw him out.

Bittle led off for the third time, finishing his list of drives to the gardners the last one going to Miller. McDonald threw Gross out on a close play when he bunted down third base line. Bailey was out, White to Beck.

Bischoff flied out to left in the seventh. Ramsey fanned. Adams was out when he sent a hot grounder to Gross, who made a nice stop.

Houston's Second Batch

Two more Houston runners registered at the pay station in the eighth. Whiteman grounded out to Adams. Blades rolled a slow one to the short fielder, but in his rush the little fellow let the ball get away from him and Blades was safe. DeNoville doubled to right and Blades scored easily. Doyle also hit to Adams, and after he hesitated on throwing to third for the runner, threw to the club house attempting to get the hitter. Doyle took third on the overthrow. On an attempted squeeze play, Eiffert popped up to Ramsey, who doubled Doyle off third.

Another Chance Wasted

The Spudders threatened in the eighth. Blades robbed White of a hit with a great one handed stop of a grounder between first and second. Summa flied to right center and Whiteman and Bailey collided as the manager took the ball. No damage was done though, and the game proceeded. McDonald singled to right center and Miller followed with another. Beck walked filling the bases but O'Brien took the third strike and the danger was passed.

Reinhart opened the ninth with a single to center. Bittle lofted to Summa and Gross popped up to White. Bailey lined one straight to McDonald for the final out.

Abbreviated Rally

A rally threatened to tie the count in the last of the ninth. Bischoff doubled to left. Bescher went in for Ramsey and flied out to right. Adams singled to center and Bischoff was held at third. White drove a single over second and Bischoff tallied. Summa grounded to Blades who fumbled in an attempted double play and the bases were full. Tex McDonald came through with his third clean blow scoring Adams and White. Jake Miller cut hard at one but topped it and Eiffert threw him out at first, both runners advancing. Beck again had opportunity to deliver, but after fouling two swung hard at the third missing it clean and it was all over.

GREAT DERBY OF KENTUCKY IS RUN TODAY

Louisville Filled With Turfmen and Women

(By International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 11.—All roads lead to Louisville today!

Tomorrow the great Kentucky Derby, the classic of all classics to be decided on the American turf, will be staged at the Latonia race track here before a cheering, colorful throng of men and women who love the "sport of kings."

By the trainloads, by automobiles, on horses, in buggies and on foot they are coming—coming for that thrill that comes once or twice in a lifetime.

In every hotel lobby, barber shop, soft drink parlor and shoe shining shop there is but one subject of conversation, and that is the Derby. And, remarkable as it may seem, almost everybody knows, or says he knows, who is going to win.

It is apparent that the event is bigger than the town, although the town is doing its supreme best to make everybody happy and as comfortable as possible. True and characteristic Kentucky hospitality prevails.

Here, in the home of beautiful women, high bred horses and once famous mint juleps, hospitality is extended to the stranger in a manner that warms the very cockles of the heart. With the hotels and rooming houses crowded beyond capacity private homes are being thrown open, and nice apartments are given over to utter strangers. And it all comes from the heart; it is not a commercial movement, or town boosters proposition—it's just that feeling among the natives that "Tomorrow's Derby Day" and what else matters?

Horses Eager For Race

Over at the race track handsome thoroughbred animals are being petted, curried, coddled and talked to. They have had their last workouts. They are ready, nervous and eager.

The jockeys, famous the world over, are sticking close to the animals they will ride tomorrow. It was the common sight at the track today to see the jockeys and the horses communing together, talking the language that they alone understand and can communicate.

Noted dopesters are vying with each other in picking the winner. The International News Service correspondent in less than two hours this morning was given it "straight" that seven different horses were "sure to win." There you have it; everybody has a winner—pick your own.

Morvich, speedy sprinter from the stable of Benjamin Block, is the favorite.

CLARENDON PLAYS STATE NORMAL

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, Texas, May 11.—The Clarendon college Bulldogs left Wednesday for Canyon where they play the West Texas Normal college in two-game series on Thursday and Friday. Coach Burton carried 14 baseball players. In addition 15 track men made the trip and will compete Saturday in the Tri-State track meet which will be held there this year. The event will be attended by various colleges from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico and from all reports will be a much larger affair than the contest of 1921.

Last year the Bulldog athletes walked off with the meet by a comfortable margin and captured the big loving cup. Today they carried the cup back to Canyon but contemplate returning it to Clarendon Saturday night.

JOHNS RETURNED TO FT. WORTH CLUB

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, May 11.—August Johns, star left hander of the Fort Worth Texas league team in 1921, has been returned to the local club by the Detroit Americans, to whom he was sold last fall and will report here within a few days, business manager, Paul LaGrave of the Cats, announced today.

CARP KAYOES KID LEWIS IN FIRST ROUND

Kid Drops Guard as French Champ Lands

By Associated Press.

LONDON, May 11.—Georges Carpentier tonight knocked out Ted "Kid" Lewis in the first round of what was to have been a 20-round bout for the light heavyweight championship of the world held by Carpentier.

The end came when Carpentier, in breaking from a clinch, drove a sharp right to the point of Lewis' jaw. The Englishman toppled over gackward and lay motionless on the floor until the referee counted ten. Then Carpentier picked up his fallen foe and aided in carrying him to his corner.

Crowd Cries "Foul"

The spectators were slow to realize what had occurred, but when finally they comprehended the battle was over and Lewis defeated, there arose a storm of boos and cries of "foul" from all parts of the vast auditorium which drowned out the comparatively little applause Carpentier was receiving from his partisans.

From the sound of the gong to the end of the referee's count, 2 minutes and 15 second intervened. Carpentier weighed 175 pounds, the light heavyweight limit, while Lewis tipped the scales at 157 pounds with his clothes on when the fighters weighed in this afternoon.

Jack Dempsey, the world's heavyweight champion was the first man after François Descamps to congratulate Carpentier after the knockout.

Carpentier left the ring and proceeded to his dressing room through lanes of hissing and booing fight fans.

The great Olympia amphitheater held a record crowd, for the battle had a widespread interest. Hundreds of handsomely gowned women and royal personages were among the spectators.

When the gong sent the fighters to the center of the ring Lewis took the aggressive. He sent a right jab to the neck, followed by a left to the body. There was a clinch and the referee, Joe Palmer, called upon the men to break. He then jumped in between them and pulled them apart. Immediately the fighters again were into a clinch jabbing fiercely. Palmer forcibly pried them apart again and then administered a caution to both.

Another clinch followed, and the referee stepped in and separated them. Carpentier uppercut Lewis and also sent a hook blow as they were coming out of the clinch.

It appeared as if Palmer again was going to warn the fighters as they broke away. Lewis had dropped his guard and Carpentier feinted with his left and simultaneously flashed the right from his shoulder to Lewis' jaw. To those sitting at the ringside it seemed the merest tap, but it had sufficient force behind it to send Lewis backward upon the canvas for the count of 10 and for the fifth knockout victory for Carpentier in less than a round.

CUBS DROP TO FOURTH PLACE

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Chicago dropped from second to fourth place today when Philadelphia took a ten inning game from them 11 to 9, while St. Louis and Pittsburgh won their games. Walker's single with the bases filled in the last inning, a result of Keen's wildness, enabled the visitors to clinch the game.

NEW SCANDAL IN WHITE SOX NOW CHARGED

Felsch Links Heads in Plot to Sell Games

By Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 11.—Oscar (Happy) Felsch of Milwaukee, one of the six White Sox baseball players banished as a result of the notorious world series scandal, filed an affidavit in Milwaukee circuit court today in connection with a damage suit against the Chicago American league club to recover salary and damages "for a conspiracy against him by the defendant and other unknown persons."

The action was started for Felsch by Attorney Raymond J. Cannon, who announced he would soon start similar actions for "Buck" Weaver, Eddie Cicotte and "Swede" Risberg, other banished Sox players.

In an order signed by Circuit Judge J. J. Gregory, Charles Comiskey, president, and Louis Comiskey, officer of the Chicago American league baseball club, are cited to appear in circuit court on Saturday to show cause why they should not be examined by Attorney Cannon under the discovery statute.

Comiskeys Linked

Court Commissioner Max W. Nohl signed an order for the Comiskeys to appear before Judge Gregory Saturday and show cause why they should not produce the books and records of the Chicago club here before a court commissioner in order to determine the extent of the damages, back salary and bonus for the 1920 season.

In addition, Felsch's attorney sets forth that there are questions which he desires to ask the Comiskeys. One is regarding an alleged conspiracy between Charles Comiskey, president of the club, and the White Sox players in 1917, "to have the Detroit players fraudulently lose games to the Chicago White Sox and intentionally to attempt not to win such games."

Names of Pitchers Sought

Another question asks if an agreement was entered into between Charles Comiskey and members of the White Sox to establish a fund by contributing $50 each to be paid certain pitchers of the Detroit team to "throw" games to the White Sox.

The names of any players with the Sox who were parties to such an agreement, if such an agreement existed, are sought, together with any amounts they may have paid to such a fund. The names of Detroit pitchers who may have received any of such money, together with the names of White Sox players who went from New York to Philadelphia to see Detroit players are also sought.

JUNIOR HIGH DEFEATS HENS

Glidwell Hurls Good Game

By "HANK" HAYNES

Inability of the Henrietta High school baseball nine to hit Glidwell for more than one scratch and muffing the pill at random, lost them a close game of 2 to 1 to the Junior High balltossers at Henrietta yesterday.

Glidwell, of the victors, pitched a high class contest and was given sensational support by his teammates, especially Windham, who handled nine chances without an error, playing his first game of the season on the halfway sack.

Jennings of the losers put up a strong battle, but when his co-workers booted the ball and threw wild at critical stages, and couldn't connect for any bingles, they had to bow to defeat to Coach MacMillan's youngsters. Their only run came in the third when Jenkins threw wild at first and allowed the runner to circle the bags.

In the eighth canto hits by Fultz and Walker tied the count. In the final frame Carrington got a base on an error, stole second, and was in the act of purloining third, but the Henrietta pitcher slung the sphere into the field and lost his game as Carrington romped home.

The Clay county lads will be the guests of the Juniors on their diamond at 13th and Broad today for the last contest of their respective sessions, and the "Hens" are out to wring the Junior Hi's record down a game less, and redeem themselves, while the Juniors are sure of another victory.

SPIKING 'EM

Top o' the Morning Musings At Mush With One Joseph Cooper, Esq., Otherwise Known As Just Plain Spike.

Good morning!

Spiking 'Em makes its bow today. A column of views, observations, opinions and an occasional dab of patter.

Just an ambitious Grantland Rice taking advantage of the opportunity to pose as an interpreter of daily happenings in the sport world.

'Tis hereditary that sport eds take so-called wise cracks at the seven other clubs of a loop.

Spiking 'Em may therefore defend the honor of our Spudders against the vicious press attacks frequently directed in sport columns, headlines and stories by other esteemed gents of the Texas circuit.

Cash customers may also feel that it is their privilege to express themselves through Spiking 'Em.

Fan has already asked why "Spike?"

The better to nail you with, my dear.

Manager Salm told Steve Mokan to get hot before he went in to pitch Wednesday. Said he was getting tired of jerking pitchers. Must be something in the power of suggestion after all.

The only jerking done in that game was Umps Ware's thumb over his right shoulder as Steve hooked 'em in there.

Charlie Robertson, high-powered recruit of the White Sox, displayed his stuff before the Yanks Wednesday, muchly to their humiliation in an 11-inning contest.

Gotham scribes say the Bambino is already sharpening up his spikes for the "Opening Day" game.

The "Texas Twins" are still doing battle on either side of the keystone station for the Tygers. Both Clark and Rigney going like old heads. Ought to make another undertaker's slogan, "Rigney to Clark to Blue." Time will tell.

And Jewel Ens, erstwhile Texas leaguer, has been moved up to cleanup position in the Red hitting order.

Camp Skinner is doing the emergency hitting for the Yanks.

Uncle Robbie is sending Bud Hungling to the nether end of the Dodger battery most every day.

They raise or make 'em in Texas.

TODAY

VALUES RECEDE ON BROAD MART

Heavy Selling on Rail Shares

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Professional selling for both accounts characterized the greater part of today's enlarged operations in the stock market, making the fourth consecutive session in which reactionary tendencies prevailed. The entire list experienced a sharp change in the final hour, however, when rumors of a merger of the Bethlehem and Lackawanna steel companies, which later were confirmed, resulted in heavy buying of these and affiliated shares.

Lackawanna led the group at a net gain of 7 points, Bethlehem rising 1⅝ and Republic Iron 3, with advances of 1 to 2 points in other so-called independent steels, but United States Steel figured only moderately at a fractional gain.

During the early and intermediate periods of the trading shorts seemed to gather fresh courage from the absence of public interest and the evident failure of the list to respond to favorable development including increased steel tonnage and still higher oil prices.

Contrary to recent movements, the market broadened as values receded. Among the day's offerings were numerous specialties whose sharp reactions suggested involuntary liquidation of margined or speculative holdings.

There was also considerable selling of seasoned or representative railroad shares, notably the trans-continentals and several of the coalers, while junior transportations eased under offerings of Texas & Pacific, and several of the cotton carriers. These losses were largely reduced at the close, oils also rallying with tobaccos and utilities, the latter including Laclede gas at a gain of 5⅝ points. Sales amounted to 1,135,000 shares.

The money market was easy reversing recent tendencies. Call loans dropped to 3½ per cent at midday and time funds were more freely supplied, but all the longer maturities held firm at 4½ per cent.

Trading in the principal foreign exchanges was dull and the irregular tone of quotations reflected further doubt respecting the outcome of conditions in Genoa. Sterling bills eased slightly, francs and lire were firm and marks showed a slight reaction. Among the neutrals the Dutch rate rose sharply and Swiss francs again fell under par.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Foreign exchange irregular. Great Britain demand 4.44 3-8; cables 4.44 3-4; 60 day bills on banks 4.42 1-4. France demand 9.13c; cables 9.13 1-2. Italy demand 5.39 1-2c; cables 5.40. Belgium demand 8.34c; cables 8.34 1-2c. Germany demand .44 1-2c; cables .44 5-8c. Holland demand 38.50c; cables 38.55c. COTTON SELLS 28 POINTS UP

Drop Early in Day And Rise Late

NEW ORLEANS, May 11.—Great activity and pronounced strength marked the trading of the last hour of the session in cotton today. Prices were sent 28 to 32 points higher than the close of yesterday, after having been as low as 27 points under yesterday's close in the earlier trading. Fluctuations carried July as low as 18.67 and as high as 19.22 that month finally closing at 19.19. On the close, the list showed a net gain of 23 to 29 points. The rapid rise of the latter part of the session was due to the cumulative effect of unfavorable crop accounts, further claims of scarcity of seed for replanting purposes, much evidence of a better spot demand and the solid spot condition of the contract owing to the extensive liquidation of the long side. Late in the day, a special demand arose for contracts. When the market responded to the demand a speculative buying movement of great proportions almost instantaneously developed. The market closed in a roar of activity.

Scattered rains in Texas and Oklahoma were something of a support in the early session, as were also the sales of 15,000 bales of spots in the Liverpool market.

Bullish spot accounts were accentuated by private cablegrams from from Berlin claiming that the largest German mills were working three shifts a day and would be unable to accept new orders until the first of November.

BOND MARKET.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Bonds were hesitant and dull today but in the main reflected more stability than the stock list. Virtually all the liberties closed at nominal recessions and the only foreign issues to show firmness or strength were the Latin-Americans, especially Mexican 4s and Uruguay 8s.

Local utilities gave way to further realizing sales, notably Brooklyn rapid transit 7s, and consolidated gas 7s. Interborough metropolitan 4 1-2s also easing.

More than the usual number of railway issues was traded in, but the Broader scope was occasioned by increased selling. St. Paul issues, also those of Iowa Central, Peoria and Eastern Illinois, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Atchison & Erie were pressure.

Totals sales, (par value), aggregated $16,473,000.

Bids for $4,223,000 city of Boston 4 per cent municipal bonds were opened here, and awarded to a syndicate of local bankers at 100.71. The bonds will be publicly offered tomorrow.

BUSINESS NEWS

NEW YORK, May 11.—Negotiations for a merger of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car company and the Lafayette Motors company which J. & W. Seligman & Co., bankers, expected to conclude this week, have been temporarily delayed, it was reported today by legal difficulties.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 11.—The Burlington railroad offices in Lincoln had reports early today of a windstorm of almost tornado violence at Broken Bow, Custer county. Several buildings were said to have been overturned, but so far as known there was no loss of life or injury. The wind was accompanied by a heavy hail.

WACO, Texas, May 11.—The Waco Hardware company filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today. Liabilities $20,938; assets $23,897.

MOBERLY, Mo., May 11.—The Farmers & Merchants bank here was closed today by State Bank Examiners A. B. Hasenjaeger and William E. West. State warrants were issued against J. W. Bundridge, president of the institution, and Vern E. Bundridge, vice president and cashier, charging them with forging a note for $5,400 against Abe Vince, a member of the board of directors.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Wheat made a steep climb in price today, ascending as much as 7 1-2 cents a bushel for May delivery. The top quotation for May was 1.45 1-4 and came just at the close of the day's trading.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Moses Taylor, chairman of the Lackawanna Steel company, announced late today that his company had completed negotiations with the Bethlehem Steel corporation for a merger of the two corporations.

Corn and Oats Also Strong

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—[illegible] soaring in price today a[illegible]y delivery showed an overnig[illegible] of 7 1-2c a bushel. Enthusias[illegible]e a higher range of values contended that the heaviest deliveries likely to be witnessed here this month had been met, and that today's results were in evidence and bears had lost control of the market. Closing quotations were strong, two to 7 1-2c net higher, with May 1.45 to 1.45 1-4 and July 1.26 3-4 to 1.27. Corn finished 7-8c to 1 5-8@1 3-4c up and gained 3-8@1-2c to 5-8c. In provisions the outcome varied from 2 cents decline to 70 cents advance. It was a runaway market in wheat today, especially during the final dealings. Scarcity of wheat offerings in the trading pit became quickly apparent and with talk current that much of the wheat delivered would soon be loaded out on vessels for shipment east the market tended decidedly upward the rest of the day.

Corn and oats derived their strength from the action of wheat. Provisions except pork averaged lower with hog values. Trade in pork was negligible in amount.

Northcliffe Warns England Against Alienating Canada

By Associated Press.

LONDON, May 10.—Lord Northcliffe welcomed today on his return from his world tour at a luncheon given by the Empire Press Union made up of leading newspaper proprietors in the United Kingdom and the Dominion, warned England against alienating the affection of Canadian people by neglecting affairs of her American dominion.

It must be remembered, he said, that small differences caused the separation of England of her colonies at the time of revolution.

SUGAR MARKET

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The local raw sugar market was more active today but there was no change in quotations, Cubas in nearby positions being quoted at 2 7-16, cost and freight, equal to 4.04 for centrifugal, and June at 2 1-2, cost and freight equal to 4.11. Porto Ricos were 3.92 for spot and 3.98 for later shipment.

The raw sugar futures market was fairly active and prices were rather irregular. Trade interests and covering caused an advance of one to two points early but liquidation and selling by commission houses checked the advance and brought about a reaction near the close with final quotations one point higher to two points net lower.

July 2.64; September 2.82; December 2.87; March 2.81. There was a good inquiry for refined prompted by the continued warm weather but prices were unchanged at 5.30 to 5.40 for fine granulated. Refined futures nominal. Closing: July 5.95; September 6.10; December 6.00.

BATHING POOL FOR CLARENDON

Concrete Resort Is Completed

Special to the Record News.

CLARENDON, Texas, May 11.—One of the recent improvements for Clarendon is the new bathing pool at the Cooper Greenhouse on the suburbs of the city.

This pool is made of concrete, 35 by 75 feet and with a depth of two to eight feet. Equipped with two sets of pumps, one pumping in fresh water and the other pumping out, making a continuous flow of fresh water at all times. Clarendon is very fortunate in having this bathing pool.

Vote for S. A. L. Morgan, the only home candidate for congress who can win. Special election Saturday May 13. (Political ad.)

ROTARIANS FOR SCHOOL BONDS

Hear Hi School Boy On School Needs

Rotarians unanimously endorsed the school bond issue to be voted on Saturday following explanation by Joe Bashara, student at the high school, of the necessity for the new buildings which it would provide for the school system, and what it would mean for the school children of Wichita Falls. The action was taken on motion of R. E. Shepherd.

The young orator was introduced by J. Wilkie Talbert, donor of the medal for extempore speaking, which young Bashara won at the high school recently—speaking on the some subject no which he addressed Rotarians Thursday.

Reasons for the advances in the price of lumber and building materials, and further reasons why lumber will never be cheap were given by Fred Elbert in the classification talk of the day.

Pete Rogers was in the chair for the first time since his election as president.

Lee Clark, superintendent of schools, called attention to some posters in the support of the school bond issues prepared by students in the schools—work which would have credited artists of more mature experience.

MORGAN STAGES RALLY TONIGHT

Claims Made as Election Nears

With election day only two days off Thursday campaign managers for the four contestants for the vacant place in congress from this district were principally engaged in confidently claiming that their respective candidates were certain of election and feverishly figuring to show the other fellow did not have a chance—giving both claims and figures to a more or less disinterested public through newspaper interviews and advertisements, through handbills and on the bill boards.

Final activity before election will result in rallies at their home stands by all of the candidates save Bullington, who will spend his last day in the campaign at Olney and Seymour, having opened his campaign here only a few days ago.

Morgan and his supporters will stage a final rally at Wichita Falls tonight similar to the one they held here about two weeks ago. Judge John C. Kay will be the presiding officer and several of the local Morgan supporters will speak.

The vote in the Saturday election is a matter which has been prolific as a basis for argument—the amount of interest aroused among the voters in general for the special election, and the state of the roads and the weather on Saturday being items discussed in this connection. In the district there were 57,000 poll taxes issued, 32,000 odd to men and over 25,000 to women—the last named figure being an enormous increase over the day before. In Wichita county, where there are over 11,000 poll taxes paid—70 per cent to residents of Wichita Falls, which has two candidates in the race, the largest vote is expected.

American Legion To Delve Into Aerial Meeting

Members of the American legion will go into monetary affairs in connection with the recent aviation meet at a special meeting at the Legion hall at 11 o'clock this morning, according to an announcement. Following the meeting it is expected that the audited account of expenses at the aviation meet will be made public. Proffers of assistance in the recent tangle have been received from influential members who have not taken an active part in recent affairs, according to officers of the post.

Ford and Paige Crash; Woman Severely Bruised

One woman was severely bruised and shaken up Thursday night when a Ford and a Paige crashed together on Eighth street near the alley between Indiana and Scott. The Paige, driven by a woman, was driving toward Indiana when the Ford, attempting to cross into the alley, drove into it, according to bystanders. The injured woman was one of two riding in the Ford. The driver of the Ford was arrested by Patrolman Hoskins and booked on a reckless driving charge at the city hall.

5,000 CHILDREN PARADING TODAY

Big Demonstration For Bonds

Approximately 5,000 school children will parade the downtown streets this afternoon as a demonstration in favor of the bond issue and for the high school and junior college and additional ward schools which will be provided through this means, according to a Thursday noon announcement from the schools.

The children will form line of parade at Tenth and Lamar, transportation being arranged for those from the distant schools to that point. From that point the parade will move down Tenth to Ohio, turn up Ohio to Eighth, and march west on Eighth to a point past the Kemp hotel, where the line will be broken. City authorities have made special arrangements in order to prevent traffic from interfering with the children's parade.

By F. E. JOHNSON, Deputy.

SHERIFF'S SALE
The State of Texas, County of Wichita:
By virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the honorable 78th district court of Wichita county, on the 26th day of April, 1922, by A. F. Kerr, clerk of the district court of Wichita county, Texas against Ernsing Oil company, a corporation, for the sum of Thirteen Hundred Thirteen and 95-100 ($1313.95) dollars and costs of suit in cause No. 11415-B in said court, styled City National Bank of Commerce of Wichita Falls, Texas, versus Ernsing Oil company, a corporation, as principal and against A. C. Green and D. D. Crowley as endorsers, jointly and severally and placed in my hands for service, I, Fred K. Smith, as sheriff of Wichita county, Texas, did on the 27th day of April, 1922, levy on certain real estate, situated in Wichita county, described as follows, to-wit:

The oil and gas leases on the following described tracts situated in Wichita county, Texas:

FIRST TRACT: Being lot 1 of the Lyons and Kleinman subdivision of a certain one-acre tract, being the south one acre of the north two acres of the south three acres of the east five acres of the north ten acres of the west twenty acres of the south forty acres in the form of a square in the southeast corner of block 96, Red River Valley lands subdivision, being more particularly described in an assignment recorded in Book 102, page 445 deed records, Wichita county, Texas.

SECOND TRACT: All the right, title and interest in and to a twenty-acre tract belonging to the said Ernsing Oil company, being more particularly described as follows: The north half of the south forty acres of the north 80 acres of the west half of B. B. B. & C. R. R. Co. survey and being described in an assignment recorded in Book 102, Page 216, deed records, Wichita county, Texas.

THIRD TRACT: Block 1 of the Goodwin addition to the town of Burkburnett, Wichita county, Texas.

FOURTH TRACT: Lot 4 of Lyons and Kleinman subdivision of one-acre tract in Block 96, of Red River Valley lands subdivision, according to the plat of Lyons and Kleinman subdivision.

FIFTH TRACT: Situated in Wichita county, Texas, and being a five-fourteenths interest in the following described property, being a 20-acre tract of land out of a forty-acre tract assigned by J. W. Greenwood and Stanley McGregor to W. A. Turner and wife, Ina V. Turner, and more particularly described as follows: The north one-half of the south forty acres of the north eighty acres of the west half of B. B. B. & C. R. R. Co. survey, certificate 811, Abstract 29, patented to N. B. Childress and Bros., and levied upon as the property of said Ernsing Oil company, a corporation and A. C. Green and D. D. Crowley, jointly and severally. And on Tuesday, the 6th day of June, 1922, at the courthouse door of Wichita county, in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m., and 4 p. m., I will sell said property at public vendue for cash to the highest bidder as the property of said Ernsing Oil company and A. C. Green and D. D. Crowley, by virtue of said levy and said Order of sale.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale in the Record News, a newspaper published in Wichita county.

Witness my hand this the 27th day of April, 1922.

POLICE WATCH LOCAL HOTELS

City Officials Will Require Report

Following up the plans first announced by the police department after the opening of corporate court Monday morning with a new judge and city prosecutor present, city officials Thursday visited every hotel and rooming house in Wichita Falls distributing register sheets which are to be filled out and returned to the police headquarters.

It was announced by officials the registers are to be used in the department to keep a record of the permanent hostelry guests with an idea to prohibiting promiscuous raids.

"In the effort to drive out vagrants," the statement announcing the register sheets stated, "a hardship might be worked on some persons and some hotels unless the cases are handled with care.

"To avoid the unnecessary raids and consequent hardships and embarrassments, the police department has been instructed, through the chief, J. W. McCormick, to request the various hotels and rooming houses here to furnish the department with a list of the permanent guests.

"With the permanent guest record in hand, private investigations will be made, and unnecessary disturbances avoided.

"These records will serve to help the police department to the extent that when a man or woman is known to be violating the law in any hostelry, the officers can refer to their records and go direct after the violators without executing a raid to the embarrassment of the house in which that person resides."

NEW EASTLAND PRODUCER IS RUNNING 2200

Drilled several feet deeper into the lime, the No. 2 Martin of the Donley Drilling company, in south Eastland county, is flowing at the rate of 2,200 barrels daily, according to the latest reports from the newly active section of Eastland.

This part of the southern district is offering the only competition in size of wells in this section to the new 3,000-foot producers of the south Electra pool.

The No. 1 Hill of Duquesne et al, in the new Pioneer section, is reported making 300 barrels from the 2,500-foot level, and the No. 5 Testan of the Pennant Oil company is making 400 barrels, from the same depth.

On the Eakin lease two new producers are reported, the T. B. Slick No. 1,250 barrels, and the No. 3, making 400 barrels, from the 2,500 producing level.

Kennel for Field Trial Dogs Here

Wichita Falls is first again

Joe B. Henson is the honor man

A kennel for field trial and shooting dogs is the project

Increased interest in bird dogs throughout the southwest prompted Mr. Henson's venture into his life's ambition.

Seeing the need for a home for dogs whose masters do not have the proper facilities and time for keeping their dogs, the proprietor has made extensive preparations for keeping and training.

Mr. Henson obtained possession of one of the large rooms hangars at Call Field and has equipped it for the proper care of field dogs.

A large running pen has been constructed outside the hangar which will permit full exercise other than that on the regular daily program of training.

Training dogs for field trials and shooting has been one of the lifetime pursuits of Mr. Henson and he is experienced in the work sufficient to justify the education of the most valuable canines.

Following the opening of the kennel last week, 14 dogs have already been entrusted to the Henson kennel.

There is sufficient room and accommodation for all the dogs in the state, and within a month, Mr. Henson expects to be housing the largest kennel in the entire southwest.

THREE POOLS SHOW GAINS

Electra, Young and Pioneer Up

Gains of a thousand barrels each in daily runs from Electra and Young county pools, and a three thousand barrel gain from the south part of the district, due to the new Pioneer pool, offset losses amounting to two thousand barrels in Stephens county, and left the district with a gain of 3,000 barrels over the previous week's daily average pipeline runs. The totals for last week were 129,000 barrels, compared with 125,000 for the previous week.

Electra's gain does not account for all the actual present increase in production by the several very large wells that have recently been completed there, since three of them have been completed and connected with the pipeline since the close of last week. Heavy rains, interfering with pipeline runs always to a certain extent, also worked against a large increase. This condition also prevails in the counties to the south, to a great extent, particularly in Young county, where the Brazos has been out of banks.

Speedway Stock To Be Seen Over State on Screen

Speedway stock farm horses, cows and chickens will be displayed all over the state of Texas.

However, the stock will not actually leave Fred Weeks' farm, but will be shown on the movie screens through work being conducted by the west Texas chamber of commerce.

Duffy Mapes, Wichita Falls motion picture photographer, visited the farm Thursday afternoon at the instance of the management of the west Texas chamber and through the courtesy of Mr. Weeks.

Motion pictures of the high grade horses were "shot" yesterday, and Mapes said last night that he will conclude his work on the cows and chickens this morning.

It is understood the chamber of commerce is using the pictures in advancing the idea of better stock for west Texas farmers.

DELIVER BALLOTS AND BOXES FOR SATURDAY VOTING

Ballot boxes for the May 13 special election to fill the vacancy in congress resulting from the death of the late Lucian W. Parrish, were delivered to election judges outside Wichita Falls by Sheriff Smith Thursday.

They will be delivered to the judges of the 12 Wichita Falls boxes today. Delay in receiving the official ballots delayed the distribution.

Says Gasoline Taken From Him At Point of Guns; Brings Suit Against Invader Corporation

Alleging that the defendant company took his gasoline at the point of guns, G. A. Harrell has instituted suit for $18,786.76 damages against the Invader Oil corporation of Delaware in the 30th district court.

The plaintiff sets forth in his petition to the court that he contracted with Otis C. Wood, local manager of the company, which had a permit to transact business in Texas, to become a bookkeeper in the establishment here.

It is alleged that the contract was to the effect that Harrell should have the usage of certain tanks near Burkburnett, in which he claims he placed 8,000 gallons of gasoline.

A portion of the gasoline, he contends, was later seized by the defendant company or representatives of the company, at the point of arms, the allegations conclude.

Harrell claims in his petition that Wood was questioned as to why the gasoline was seized, and it is alleged that Wood asserted Harrell was short in his accounts with the company, and that the latter had taken the alleged method of collecting the shortage.

HOLDUP CASE IS DISMISSED

Not Certain About Identity

Charges brought against Bob Williams of Burkburnett accusing him of robbery with firearms were dismissed when the defendant was arraigned before Justice R. V. Gwinn.

Williams was accused of taking $35 and a gold watch from two men at Burkburnett April 26, at the point of a pistol.

Neither defendant was able to positively recognize Williams as being the masked man who held them up.

Both agreed that they "might be mistaken."

WICHITAN MARRIES

L. M. Williams, boiler inspector of the Hartford Boiler Insurance company of Hartford, Connecticut, returned to Wichita Falls Thursday with his newly married wife.

Mr. Williams was married to Miss Opie Morgan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morgan of Chickasha, Okla., at the latter place Monday. He and his wife drove from Chickasha Wednesday, arriving here late Wednesday afternoon.

HUNTER WELL IN NEW POOL MAKING 200

A 200-barrel well is reported from the south Burkburnett shallow field, the No. 3 of T. F. Hunter, on the Murdock 1,200-foot sand. The new well is in the new pool recently opened by Laning and Moninger, and is one of the best completed in the South Burkburnett shallow field for some time. It is swabbing and flowing.

A Political Trick Exposed

In the dead of night thieves sneaked into Bullington Headquarters and slipped away with a large assortment of Bullington campaign advertising matter.

These same political burglars, under cover of darkness, went to the negro section, aroused many of the negroes and with promises of compensation persuaded some of them to conspiciously display the stolen advertising matter in the front windows of their homes.

This crude political trick will probably be explained, by its perpetrators, in a later issue of this paper and an apology offered for this unprincipled act.

It has already been demonstrated in this campaign that those who are prone to commit underhand acts of political chicanery are, after sober and dispassionate reflection, anxious to explain and disclaim responsibility for their blunders.

We shall await with interest their apology in this instance.

BANKS REFLECT BETTER TIMES

Deposits Indicate Business Gain

Improving local business conditions is reflected in statements of condition by local banks following the recent call, showing bank deposits to have held their own in spite of large seasonal and other withdrawals.

With the withdrawals, consisting of more than $300,000 in tax money sent to Austin, several hundred thousand in income tax payments on March 15, and the usual spring withdrawal by country banks for loans to farmers planting their crop, together with a reduction in the loans by the banks, it is apparent that local bank deposits have made a highly respectable gain during the two months period since the last call.

Heavy checks for construction against the accounts of the irrigation district have also been paid, but the increase in local bank deposits are taken to indicate that practically all of this money, as has been predicted by officials of the project, has remained in Wichita Falls and the Wichita Falls territory.

Total deposits shown by the banks are approximately $20,000,000, as shown by the statements.

The statement was for condition as of May 5. Several of the local institutions report gains in their deposits since that date.

NEW CREDIT BOOK

Work on the new retail credit rating book of the Retail Merchants' association is under way, according to John W. Thomas, secretary-manager. It is expected that the new book, which will give about 15,000 credit ratings, will be issued by the early part of July.

TWO SPECIAL ELECTIONS IN THIS COUNTY

Wichita Falls and Iowa Park voters will pass on special questions in connection with the May 13 election. In Wichita Falls, of course, the school bond election will constitute the special issue. Voters on this issue must cast their ballots at a single box—at the city hall.

At Iowa Park and in other boxes in the Iowa Park precinct the question of substituting gravel for concrete construction on the improved roads alloted to that precinct from remaining road funds will be passed upon.

RAIL NEWS

E. L. House, traveling freight agent of the Orient railway, was in Wichita Falls on business Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. House is headquartered at Fort Worth.

Louis K. Dan, traveling freight agent of the K. C. & G. routes, of Fort Worth, was here Thursday transacting business with railroad officials.

OIL MEN BACK

Quitman Davis, an oil man who formerly made Wichita Falls his headquarters, returned here Thursday to again make this his home. Mr. Davis, who has been in Mexia, is stopping at the Marion hotel.

BULLINGTON BULLETIN

An unprejudiced and unbiased study of the political line-up in the Thirteenth Congressional District convinces the most sceptical that Orville Bullington's chances to go to Congress to fill the unexpired term are better than those of any candidate in the race.

There are three Free Trade Democrats to split the free trade Democratic vote of the District three ways.

Those Democratic voters who believe that the raw products of the farm, ranch and oil fields of this district should have equal tariff protection along with the factory products of the North and East will go to the polls on Saturday and vote for Orville Bullington.

This means a four-way split of the 17,000 Democratic voters in the Thirteenth District.

The Republicans are solidly lined up for Bullington on his stand on the tariff issue. At the last election there were nearly 7,000 Republican votes cast in this District. The bulk of these votes will go to Bullington on Saturday.

Since Orville Bullington's friends first circulated their petitions urging him to make the race for the unexpired term as an independent, there has not been a single deflection from his ranks. On the other hand his support has steadily increased.

Eighty per cent of the voters of the Thirteenth Congressional District live on the farms and ranches or are producers and toilers in the oil fields.

They are all vitally concerned in securing a tariff that will eliminate competition with cheap foreign products and labor.

They will cast their ballots for the best interest of their pocket books and bank accounts. Sentiment will not count in this election.

Straws sometimes indicate which way the political wind is blowing—Seventeen straw ballots were taken in Wichita Falls Thursday afternoon. Voters from every walk of life expressed their choice between the four candidates. A total of 135 ballots were cast and 82 of them favored Orville Bullington.

Orville Bullington will carry Wichita Falls proper by a handsome majority and the farmers of the Thirteenth Congressional District who believe in a protective tariff on their products will do the rest.
