Hoffman Confesses Judgment On Excess Profits But Amount Not Set

AUSTIN, Nov. 26. (AP)—Confessed judgment by the Hoffman Construction company in 53rd district court here Friday will not affect the indictments against F. G. Hoffman, president of the company, Attorney General Dan Moody told the Associated Press. He will see that Hoffman is brought to trial, he said.

The company, against whom the state brought suit for cancellation of highway surfacing and maintenance contracts, through its attorneys, today admitted the state has the right to cancel the contracts. This was done in a statement read before Judge George Calhoun. The defendants, including the company, F. G. Hoffman, G. A. Davidson and Rhea Starnes, all of Eastland, waived the jury demanded, and all rights, excepting the fixing of the damages.

Trial to Set Damages

Trial for the fixing of the damages got under way late Friday afternoon. The state originally asked for $419,000 damages in alleged excessive profits on the road contracts let in 1925. Through the original proceedings and by injunction $296,000 in approved estimates is withheld and $125,000 of the company's money is in escrow.

Throughout all the efforts to settle the case, no mention was made by the attorneys for the defendants or the defendants relative to dropping the indictments against Mr. Hoffman, Attorney General Moody said.

Mr. Hoffman was indicted by the Travis county grand jury last spring on two counts, charging swindling and false swearing in connection with estimates submitted to the state highway department for payment.

Will Force Trial

Attorney General Moody said, "I am going to see that Hoffman is brought to trial. In event he is not tried on these charges before I am inaugurated as governor, District Attorney John D. Moore will prosecute the case, with the assistance of Judge John Hornsby (county attorney). If it is necessary, I will use some of the governor's law-enforcement fund to aid in the prosecution."

77 Dead Left In Trail of Storm Which Cuts Swath Of Destruction Across Big Southwestern Section

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 26. (AP)—Groping through a tangled mass of debris left in the wake of a windstorm which swept in from the northwest, six southern and southwestern states tonight counted a toll of 77 dead and approximately 200 injured. Property damage was estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

After snaking its way through the Ozark mountains the storm struck with its greatest fury near the Ozark foothills late yesterday and swirled through the town of Heber Springs, Ark. Then it twisted across into Missouri with the proportions and characteristics of a mild-fall tornado, dipped into half a dozen Arkansas counties and into Louisiana whence it veered to the east into Mississippi and then into Tennessee and Alabama.

In Texas the disturbance whipped up a sand storm which took one life and caused extensive property damage about Lubbock county.

Half of City Destroyed.

Heber Springs suffered most. Half of the town was left in ruins, and about the town 21 persons were killed and 50 injured. Quitman, Greenbrier, Guy, Pearson, Wilburn, Enders, and Tyler, suburbs of Herber Springs, were among the villages which paid in life and property the storm's price.

Brandsville, Competetion and Big Piney, bore the brunt of the wind's whirl into Missouri, while in Arkansas, Conway, Grant, Cleburne, Jackson, Jefferson and Yell counties paid a death toll.

The oil and gas fields in Claiborne and Morehouse parishes and farming sections about Merrouge and Haynesville were hardest hit in Louisiana. In Mississippi plantations were damaged near Marks, in Quitman county.

Storm Passes East.

Early today the storm passed into Tennessee and disappeared after causing minor property damage about the town of Symryna. The known loss of life in Arkansas tonight had mounted to a total of 42 half of these at Heber Springs, and the injured more than 100.

Fifty were injured, some perhaps fatally at Heber Springs, ten are dead and 40 injured at Moscow in Jefferson county. Conway county reported eight dead at Oppello, Choctak and Macedonia. Two were killed in the vicinity of Newport and one man was crushed to death at Sheridan. Other counties reported property damage and injuries but no loss of life. The dead and injured at Moscow mostly are negroes.

Eleven Are Killed.

Eleven were killed and the same number injured about Merrouge and five killed and 15 injured near Haynesville where 50 oil derricks were levelled and the camp of the Roxana Oil company was wrecked.

In Alabama the tornado swept the vicinity of Zion church near Winefield, demolishing more than 20 homes.

Three persons were killed and many slightly injured when the storm swept a strip of land about half a mile wide and four miles long.

All residents turned to relief work, many of the families having lost all their possessions in the gale. No attempt had been made to estimate the loss in buildings, homes, crops, cattle and foodstuffs tonight. Zion church, a historic structure, was destroyed.

Nine negro tenant farmers were killed and 13 injured on plantations near Marks, Miss.

Relief Under Way.

Relief measures have been undertaken by the American Red Cross and surveys were being made tonight to determine the amount of aid needed from state sources. C. W. Jackson was sent today from the St. Louis headquarters of the Red Cross to establish a relief base at West Plains, Mo., and R. M. Reddy was dispatched on a similar mission to Heber Springs.

Governor Tom J. Terral of Arkansas tonight awaited reports from National Guard officers sent into

100,000 Employes of Eleven Railroads Awarded Increases

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Wage increases estimated at 2,000,000 annually on eleven western railroads operating out of Chicago affecting about 100,000 shopmen have been granted by the roads, it was disclosed today. The advance ranges from one to three cents an hour, in most cases two cents an hour.

The roads involved are the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Fort Worth and Denver, Union Pacific, Wabash, Illinois Central, Great Northern, Missouri Pacific and Chicago and Alton.

Bones In Murder Case Are Horse's

This Is Claim of Attorneys For Defendants As Trial Nears

PINEVILLE, Ky., Nov. 26. (AP) The skeleton which was partially identified as that of James Eads, who disappeared last December from the Brownie's creek neighborhood, was bones of a horse, J. G. Rollins, counsel for Dillard Wilson and Colson Howard, indicted on charges of the murder of Eads, declared today.

Rollins said he was ready to prove by physicians that the bones were not those of a human.

"We were ready for trial at the November term of Bell circuit court," Rollins said, "but the commonwealth asked for a continuance."

He added that since the defendants are at liberty under bond quashing of the indictments probably would not be asked for until the February term of court.

NEGRO MAKES ESCAPE AFTER STRIKING GIRL

Attempted Attack On White Girl At Midnight Reported

GUN BATTLE STAGED

Negro Escapes After Fight With Police Posse Early Today

Following an exchange of gunfire and futile efforts to overtake a fleeing black who had bowled over the male escort and attempted to attack a girl late Friday night at the end of Tenth street, officers were scouring the section for the fugutive early Saturday morning.

Negro Uses Pistol.

The couple were riding out Tenth street a short distance the other side of Beverly Drive when the negro jumped out from the side of the road and hopped on the running board of the car, rammed a pistol into the back of the man's neck and ordered him to stop. The driver came to a halt and the assailant made the pair get out of the automobile and marched them almost to the banks of Club lake.

The negro searched the man and then told him to leave, adding, "I'll get what I want." The escort backed up a few paces and the negro tore the girl's clothes to shreds and knocked her down. The escort picked up a rock and charged the black. The girl, who had been fighting desperately, had broken loose from her assailant. The negro fled into the nearby brush and the man and girl rolled down the banks of the lake into the water below.

Tumble Into Lake.

As he fell into the water, the escort is said to have yelled at the negro that he was going to get the police. The black replied, "It won't do you any good because I'm going to run off in your car."

The erstwhile driver had the key of the automobile with him and the negro was unable to make a getaway.

The couple then ran to a nearby house and called the police.

Officers Dick Morgan and Pat Allen drove to the scene in a car with Motorcycle Officer O. A. Robertson and Cecil Sinclair leading the way.

Allen and Morgan went to the lake and Sinclair and Robertson rode down the street. Sinclair saw the negro jump from behind a large rock and begin running uphill. Sinclair pulled out his revolver and began firing. Robertson joined in the fusillade. Sinclair fired four times and Robertson twice. There were 10 shots. One shot, coming from the fugitive's gun, took effect in the car driven carrying Allen and Morgan. Allen and Morgan were not close enough to swing into action, being over by the lake.

Negro Escapes.

The officers joined forces and discussed plans of attack. To go straight up the hill after the negro left them unprotected and open to gunfire from a hidden source to which they could not effectively return the fire.

A flank attack was attempted but the negro had made good his getaway.

A detachment led by Morgan and Allen were combing the section for the black early Saturday morning.

A good description of the assailant was obtained. He is a black negro weighing between 180 and 190 pounds. He wore a dark sweater and blue overalls. He either was wearing a cap or a very small hat with the brim turned down.

ROCKNE SUED FOR 50 GRAND

Notre Dame Mentor Says He Can't Dope it Out Why

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.(AP)—Knute Rockne, famous coach of the Notre Dame football team, in Chicago today to schedule games for next fall with teams in the western conference was surprised with notice of a suit for $50,000 brought by Anna Brennan.

Declaring he had no knowledge of any basis for a suit and never heard of the woman before, Rockne called on her lawyer, Francis J. Callahan, and later asserted that the suit had been withdrawn.

The action filed today was a precipe, a formal notice of action in a suit and the nature of it would not be disclosed by Mr. Callahan. Other than to say his client was a resident of Chicago, Mr. Callahan would not discuss the details of the action. He said he had talked with Rockne and was trying to get in touch with his client again.

Reports from South Bend, Rockne's home, said that the suit was a complete surprise and Anna Brennan was unknown there.

"I never heard of her before," said Rockne, "and I have no idea what it's all about."

AUSTIN PROBE HEARS FORMER HIGHWAY HEAD

John Cage Tells of Steps Taken by Ferguson To Remove Him

BARRY MILLER "MAD"

Cage Says Governor Miller Wanted Contract For His Son's Bid

AUSTIN, Nov. 26. (AP)—James E. Ferguson, husband of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, called a conference in the governor's office "to appease the wrath of Barry Miller and Archie Parr," who had shown interest in contracts to be awarded by the highway commission, John Cage of Stephenville, who resigned last October from the commission, Friday told the house investigating committee.

The conference was concerned with the letting of contracts for the resurfacing of about 400 miles of highways upon which the American Road company had placed the first treatment, and was attended by Barry Miller of Dallas, Lieutenant-governor, State Senator Archie Parr of Benevides, Hal Moseley, chairman of the highway commission, Jim Ferguson, and himself, Cage testified.

Miller Got "Mad."

"Barry Miller got mad because we wouldn't award a part of the surfacing work to his son though his son's bid was $237,900 higher than the other bid on Amiesite, while Archie Parr wanted a portion of the highways to be surfaced with rock asphalt," Cage said.

"At this conference, I told them I was going to recommend an asphaltic surface treatment over all the highways concerned, and the commission did make such an award."

Two men he understood to be Texas rangers were with Jim Ferguson when he talked with him, shortly before his resignation, Cage said, explaining Ferguson was insisting on his resignation, while he wanted to wait until the special session of the 39th legislature adjourned, because of the possibility the senate might confirm his appointment.

"One day when I went into the governor's office, Eugene Smith told me Jim was afraid I'd hurt him, and when I did get in to talk to Jim these two men were with him.

"I had never threatened Jim," Cage said laughingly.

Eugene Smith at that time was secretary of the highway commission and is now its chairman.

Jim Not Dominant.

Mr. Cage said as a highway commissioner he was not dominated by James E. Ferguson, declaring "I looked on Jim Ferguson just as I would any other citizen."

Before he resigned, Cage said he'd been given to understand by friends that he was not altogether acceptable to Jim Ferguson as commissioner.

"When there was a vacancy on the highway commission, Fred Chandler of Stephenville called Ferguson and asked for a conference with reference to my appointment. We came to Austin, and after that conference Ferguson told me to obtain reference from Erath county officials and bank-

WICHITA FALLS BOOSTERS TAKE LEADING ROLES

Frank Kell, of Wichita Falls, One of Feature Speakers at Fete

WICHITAN GETS PRAISE

Kell Given Credit for Giving Winning Testimony For New Rail Lines

By a Staff Correspondent.

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 26.—Plainview and West Texas celebrated in fitting fashion today the coming into the South Plains territory of the Fort Worth and Denver South Plains railroad. It was a celebrato commemorate a step that speakation fitting in scope and variety ers of the occasion declared would mark a new era in the development of a rich and enterprising section. It brought to Plainview a throng that jammed the streets from early morning until after dark and even though a part of the crowd left on early evening trains, thousands remained for the theatrical and ballroom diversions provided at night.

Day of Rejoicing

The day was one of untrammeled rejoicing at the success of Plainview and all West Texas in winning for the Fort Worth and Denver the necessary interstate commerce commission authority to build over 200 miles of new lines. But while it was something of a thanksgiving and congratulatory session, a note of warning was also sounded, and admonition that politics was tampering with the nation's welfare by seeking to amend the national transportation act and that it would be a sad day for the nation and West Texas when this came to pass."

The warning was sounded by Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, who in an address at a big meeting held in the city auditorium this afternoon defended the transportation act, defended the interstate commerce commission's authority to regulate railway construction and rates and explained apparent delay of the commission in passing on the Denver's application.

Outstanding Figure

Mr. Kell, incidentally, was probably the outstanding figure of the celebration. He gave featured addresses on two occasions, one at a huge luncheon in the Ware hotel when many of the visitors were guests at a joint session of the local Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, and the other at the afternoon rally. Glowing tribute was paid him at the latter session by Judge W. D. McCoy, one of the leading representatives of the Denver system here for the occasion, when he said that Kell's testimony before an I. C. C. examiner was the thing that won the case for the Denver.

In his afternoon address Mr. Kell stressed what he conceived to be a "serious situation confronting the country today."

Points Out Danger

"Efforts are being made to amend or repeal the law so that a railway can build lines regardless of the dictates of the interstate commerce commission. Such a bill was introduced in the senate and is now a matter of record. It is a dangerous law, an unwise law, and I tell you, my friends, if it is passed it will mean that there will be no more railways constructed in this country for a long time to come." The speaker went on to explain that the present transportation act did not intend that a rich and productive territory should be served exclusively by one railway system. It was designed, he said, to create the most competitive and economically sound arrangement of railway systems possible and that the interstate commerce commission's regulatory measures protected the railroads as well as the public at large.

Construction Affected

"Suppose," he said, "that the law is repealed, allowing railroads to build when they will. That would arouse a fear of retaliation that would halt all needed construction. Suppose the I. C. C. could not control this new West Texas construction. Assume that The Burlington built its new lines in here anyhow regardless of the Santa Fe's protest. Somewhere soon the Santa Fe would parallel the Burlington or cut through a productive territory now served by the Burlington. The latter would suffer accordingly. They would not risk it."

Congratulates Plainview

In his noon address Mr. Kell warmly congratulated Plainview and neighbors on the success of the Burlington fight. He pointed out that the Fort Worth and Denver was an integral part of the greatest system in the world with the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Fort Worth and Denver, the Wichita Valley and the Trinity and Brazos Valley all allied with over 30,000 miles of track. With the new South Plains line operating, he pointed out, this territory would be served by two of the greatest systems in the world, the Santa Fe being the other.

Many Others Speak

At the afternoon meeting welcoming addresses, in addition to those of Mr. Kell and Judge McCoy, were made by John J. Sim-

Electra, Vernon and Burkburnett In Conference On Pease River Reservoir

ELECTRA, Nov. 26.—Preliminary organization to promote the development of an irrigation project with a reservoir to be located on Pease river at a point 10 miles north of Crowell was made Friday afternoon in this city when committees from the chambers of commerce of Electra, Vernon and Burkburnett met in conference. The name of Pease and Red River Irrigation association was adopted.

McDannald Elected.

C. E. McDannald of Electra was elected president; Less K. Johnson of Vernon, R. H. Henry of Burkburnett and Edward Schlasske, Electra, vice-presidents; Byron J. Johnson of Electra, secretary.

The directors include Less K. Johnson, R. H. Coffey, and J. A. Dixon of Vernon; R. H. Henry, W. A. Roberts and C. R. Cowles of Burkburnett; Edward Schlasske, Electra.

In this meeting a report was presented showing a preliminary survey of a damsite and reservoir on Pease river had been started by the state board of water engineers. This preliminary survey will probably be completed early in 1927. The future work of the Pease and Red River Irrigation association will be guided by the report of the state board of water engineers which report is expected to show: Location of dam, height of dam, amount of water that may be impounded; acreage possible to irrigate with this water supply.

It is expected this project will provide an additional water supply for the three cities, Vernon, Electra and Burkburnett.

Kemp May Speak.

The committee decided to meet soon when J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls will be invited to advise with the officers and directors of the association on steps to be taken in developing the proposed irrigation project.

Representatives at the meeting included: R. H. Coffey, Fred Russell, G. C. McGown, R. E. Fielder of Vernon; R. H. Henry, W. A. Roberts, C. R. Cowles, A. A. Lohoefner and R. F. Ragsdale of Burkburnett; C. E. McDannald, Edward Schlasske, J. M. Hamby and R. R. R. Cook, Electra, and Guy R. Jones, county agricultural agent, Wichita Falls.

"I AND GEORGE"

—By—
Nina Wilcox Putnam

As Platt du Jour, the great restaurantkeeper, said in his popular cookbook, "A really good meal is worth any price, provided you can get away without paying the check."

And the profoundness of this saying come over me strongly the other day when the subject of Thanksgiving turkeys come up between I and George, that's my husband. It seems Geo. had made up his mind that this yr. Thanksgiving turkeys was out, so far as our family was concerned. For all of Geo. the Turks could remain in the great open spaces where men keep the elastic band on their pocketbooks and turkeys keep the original stuffing with which they were born. The only gobbling to be done in connection with turkeys was to be done by the birds themselves in freedom, and not by the George Jules family at any dinner table to the accompanyment of cranberry or other kind of sauce.

George come to this conclusion after I had interviewed the butcher on the subject of prices and turkeys, and found out where prime birds was to be ninety cents per pound, dead weight, meaning you would be dead of the shock when you seen what they come to when weighed. I say Geo. come to his decision against turkeys in general at this news, but to remark that he jumped to his decision would be nearer the truth, on account as a matter of fact he not only jumped, but he made it in one leap.

Geo. Reads the Riot Act.

Why! he says, for the luvva tripe, he says, what does that butcher think we are, millionaires, or saps? he says, the idea of asking ninety cents a lb. for a mere fowl, he says, it's a outrage; it's a scandal, that feller ain't any butcher, he's a gunman or a humorist or something. Almost a dollar a pound, he says! At that rate, why all the turkey we could afford, well, we might as well shoot a sparrow instead and be done with it, for with what our money would buy, nobody could tell the difference!

So I says, well, then, I am to understand you don't want me to buy a turkey for Thanksgiving? And he says if you don't understand, I will explain all over again. See here, he says, if we get a fourteen pounder that will be $13.30, and we can't get any smaller a one of account your mother and my mother is all of them coming to dinner, not to mention old General Bluster who I invited the other day. And so, says George, I want you to get corned beef and cabbage instead; talk brilliantly at the table, and perhaps they will never notice the difference. So I says all right, dear, but what is Thanksgiving without a turkey? And Geo., says it's a darned sight more economical, that's it is!

But that wasn't all. About that time what would ring only the doorbell and the ringee turned out to be that Joe Bush of the Howthorne Club, and as is usual wish my husband's best friends, he brought a bum idea along with him.

Joe Has a Great Idea.

Hey, George, he shouted in his 100 per cent American way the minute he was inside the house: Hey, George, wanner get a fourteen pound turkey for fifty cents? And Geo., who as a rule is pretty sensible business man, says right away, you bet your sweet life I do, old man, that's just about my price, now you are talking turkey! And Joe Bush says well, come on over to the Hawthorne Club with me and buy a chance. They are raffling off a turkey there for a benefit. And Geo. says whose benefit, the customer's?

Joe says sure, but also for the benefit of some fund, I believe it is for a Home for Homeless Oysters who have lost their jobs—in the pearl industry owing to the introduction of artificial pearls into the jewelry market. And Geo. says well, that is a noble cause, and besides I'd risk 50c on a turkey any day. And Joe says yeh, it's a lot better chance than risking a twenty dollar bill on a chicken, and then the two of them went on out together and I got a chance to think over this Thanksgiving business a little, quietly by myself.

As far as I could figure it out, in the old, original days, Thanksgiving was invented by the Puritans as a day in which to give thanks for all the wonderful crops they had raised during the past autumn and also the great good luck they had had and etc. In those old original days it was an occasion for praying, not merely eating, and it has been the custom for a long time to have the president write a piece in the papers about it, called a Thanksgiving message.

When Puritans Gave Thanks.

Of course them early presidents or governors had a pretty soft snap, thinking up what to write. They could put in about how the crop of stones up in New England had been bigger and better than ever before; how the crop of witches was fine, and how many had been barbecued, also that the antique crop showed great promise, what with the spinning-wheels, slat-backed chairs, four-poster beds, and other household goods that was being manufactured, and all of them bound to be genuine antiques of great value one of these days.

Then I suppose the early Thanksgiving message had words to the effect that the Puritans had certainly been shot with luck because the hold-up season hadn't been at it, of course, but only 60 per cent of the population had been gyped by them as against 90 per cent last yr., or something like that. Also that the tax-scalpers from England had only taken everything that wasn't nailed down, but fortunately quite a lot had been nailed down, so the tax-collectors had not got absolutely everything, which was something yet again to be thankful for.

The governor might of added that the country ought to be thankful that they didn't live in modern times with all its dangers, such as gun-men, auto-accidents, money-madness and jazz. But I really don't know did he think to put that in, on account I have never really read any of those old Thanksgiving messages.

The First Tea-Fight.

I do suppose, though, that the one which was wrote the first yr. of the American Revolution had something in it about tea. Believe you me, the fuss they made over having their mere tea interfered with in those old days makes me wonder how their descendants ever stood for having their liquor interfered with the way they did. Unless, of course, the fellers which dumped the tea into Boston harbor was tea-prohibition agents.

Well, anyways, in the alleged good old days, the Gov. or [illegible] got at this message and then all the Puritans read it, and I suppose made comments on the style it was written in, and called the author by his first name, and then they went out and shot a turkey or a witch, put it in the oven and then went to church.

It must of been a pretty sight to see them old-fashioned Puritans going to church on Thanksgiving. I personally myself have seen a lot of paintings on the subject, and they are real sweet. To judge by the evidence, there was always a beautiful coat of snow on the ground on Thanksgiving in them days of antiquity, never any slush or rain, but only an ideal type of snow. The clothes they wore was almost as cute as the landscape which they wor e'em in, the men having their hair bobbed in the same style as the pony-ballet and wearing buckles on their shoes, not only, in fact, on their shoes, but on the front of their hat as well.

Those Lucky Puritans.

As for the girls, they looked more like trained nurses then anything else I can think of. At least they wore caps like that, and the dress wasn't far different. Anyways, it was a cute rig, although not exactly snappy, and their skirts was so long nobody could tell did they have no unbuckled articles or not.

Take it all in all, Thanksgiving in them days must of been a real remarkable occasion, and the most extraordinary thing about it was that they didn't haf to pay out a nickel for a turkey—not if they were any kind of a shot.

But nowadays things is certainly different. And when I got to wondering and thinking about it, I also commenced to figure what I would of written this year, if I was Cal and had to do the Thanksgiving piece for the papers and public. And first off I thought that if I was to write it I would have a hrad time thinking up something to be thankful for. Because of course the condition of the country has a lot of weak spots in it.

When it comes to crops, why I am afraid that the first crop springs to my mind is the big crop of criminals we had this yr. The second is the big crop of mud the politicians threw at each other just before election, and the third is the large crop of storms, floods and cornadoes. Also the crop of automobile accidents and bad debts to European countries. But as I thought of this first thought, I also had a second thought, which concerned the newspapers and their headlines.

Jennie Counts Her Blessings.

And when this comes over me I realized where naturally bad news and scandals is the thing which folks read most excitedly and which gets printed large, because people get a big kick out of it. But after all, it don't constitute the real, nor the whole condition of the country. And I guess if I was the President and had the Thanksgiving message to write, I could state quite a few honest reasons for being grateful.

For a sample, I am thankful that I am raising my child in a land where I got every sanitary condition in his favor, and the most wide spread net of good doctors and dentists in the world. That I got the best average of schools, that don't cost a nickel, the cleanest, safest streets for him to play on, and the complete lack of neighboring countries that are likely to pounce down on Dinglewood and take all this away.

Also I am thankful I live in a country where work for good wages is not alone plentiful, but where no type of work is considered a disgrace or a hurt to your social position just tso long as it is honest work. In England, France or Italy, or any other country you want to name, if a gentleman out-of-luck drives a taxi or washes dishes rather than be dependent he is disgraced. In America he is complimented on his character and sportsmanship, and I am thankful I live i na country where they have ideas lik ethat.

A Good Word for America.

I am beside all this thankful for the easy way we live, with plumbing, washing machines and electricity and all like that, which foreign climes don't have except in limited spots. I am thankful for charge-accounts, installment plans, attractive advertising, Royal visitors, slang, gay music, clean good, decent drinking water, and the American language, instead of having to jabber a lot of foreign languages I can't understand. I am also thankful for the finest theatrical productions in the world and the best movies. As a matter of fact, I guess I am just thankful to be an American and live in America. And when I realized this, why I also realized where if I was the Pres. and had to write his Thanksgiving message, why my trouble would be not in making the list of thankful things long enough, but of knowing when to stop.

And just about as I come to this conclusion, who would appear of all people only George, and Hot Bozo! he had the fourteen pound turkey! Well for cryin' out loud! I says, George Jules, do you mean to tell me you actually won that girl in the raffle at 50c a chance, do you? And Geo. says you bet I mean just that, ain't it a beaut? And I says it sure is, hurrah, now we will have a turkey for our Thanksgiving dinner. Then a awful suspicion come over me, and I says George, how many chances at 50c a throw did you take?

And he says, kinda shame-faced, well I took thirty chances, but you know it's for charity. And I didn't say a word. After all, give him credit, maybe Geo. forgot where charity is supposed to begin!

Denver Woman Dressed in Men's Clothes Booked As Vag.

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 25(AP)—A young woman who gave her name as "Jacques Moret," and her home as Denver, Colo., faced sentence here today on a charge of vagrancy which did not have to do so much with vagrancy as with her masquerading in men's clothes.

The girl, arraigned yesterday in police court, admitted she had been successful in her masquerading for two months in Butte and declared she had appeared in male attire in every state in the union.

Moody Pledges To Force Trial Of Road Contractor

HOFFMAN MUST FACE TRIAL ON FRAUD CHARGE

CIVIL SUIT PENDING

Hoffman Confesses Judgment On Excess Profits But Amount Not Set

AUSTIN, Nov. 26. (AP)—Confessed judgment by the Hoffman Construction company in 53rd district court here Friday will not affect the indictments against F. G. Hoffman, president of the company, Attorney General Dan Moody told the Associated Press. He will see that Hoffman is brought to trial, he said.

The company, against whom the state brought suit for cancellation of highway surfacing and maintenance contracts, through its attorneys, today admitted the state has the right to cancel the contracts. This was done in a statement read before Judge George Calhoun. The defendants, including the company, F. G. Hoffman, G. A. Davidson and Rhea Starnes, all of Eastland, waived the jury demanded, and all rights, excepting the fixing of the damages.

Trial to Set Damages

Trial for the fixing of the damages got under way late Friday afternoon. The state originally asked for $419,000 damages in alleged excessive profits on the road contracts let in 1925. Through the original proceedings and by injunction $296,000 in approved estimates is withheld and $125,000 of the company's money is in escrow.

Throughout all the efforts to settle the case, no mention was made by the attorneys for the defendants or the defendants relative to dropping the indictments against Mr. Hoffman, Attorney General Moody said.

Mr. Hoffman was indicted by the Travis county grand jury last spring on two counts, charging swindling and false swearing in connection with estimates submitted to the state highway department for payment.

Will Force Trial

Attorney General Moody said, "I am going to see that Hoffman is brought to trial. In event he is not tried on these charges before I am inaugurated as governor, District Attorney John D. Moore will prosecute the case, with the assistance of Judge John Jornsby (county attorney). If it is necessary, I will use some of the governor's law-enforcement fund to aid in the prosecution."

77 Dead Left In Trail of Storm Which Cuts Swath Of Destruction Across Big Southwestern Section

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 26. (AP)—Groping through a tangled mass of debris left in the wake of a windstorm which swept in from the northwest, six southern and southwestern states tonight counted a toll of 77 dead and approximately 200 injured. Property damage was estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

After snaking its way through the Ozark mountains the storm struck with its greatest fury near the Ozark foothills late yesterday and swirled through the town of Heber Springs, Ark. Then it twisted across into Missouri with the proportions and characteristics of a mild-fall tornado, dipped into half a dozen Arkansas counties and into Louisiana whence it veered to the east into Mississippi and then into Tennessee and Alabama.

In Texas the disturbance whipped up a sand storm which took one life and caused extensive property damage about Lubbock county.

Half of City Destroyed.

Heber Springs suffered most. Half of the town was left in ruins, and about the town 21 persons were killed and 50 injured. Quitman, Greenbrier, Guy, Pearson, Wilburn, Enders, and Tyler, suburbs of Herber Springs, were among the villages which paid in life and property the storm's price.

Brandsville, Competetion and Big Piney, bore the brunt of the wind's whirl into Missouri, while in Arkansas, Conway, Grant, Cleburne, Jackson, Jefferson and Yell counties paid a death toll.

The oil and gas fields in Claiborne and Morehouse parishes and farming sections about Merrouge and Haynesville were hardest hit in Louisiana. In Mississippi plantations were damaged near Marks, in Quitman county.

Storm Passes East.

Early today the storm passed into Tennessee and disappeared after causing minor property damage about the town of Symryna. The known loss of life in Arkansas tonight had mounted to a total of 42, half of these at Heber Springs, and the injured more than 100.

Fifty were injured, some perhaps fatally at Heber Springs, ten are dead and 40 injured at Moscow in Jefferson county. Conway county reported eight dead at Oppello, Choctak and Macedonia. Two were killed in the vicinity of Newport and one man was crushed to death at Sheridan. Other counties reported property damage and injuries but no loss of life. The dead and injured at Moscow mostly are negroes.

Eleven Are Killed.

Eleven were killed and the same number injured about Merrouge and five killed and 15 injured near Haynesville where 50 oil derricks were levelled and the camp of the Roxana Oil company was wrecked.

In Alabama the tornado swept the vicinity of Zion church near Winefield, demolishing more than 20 homes.

Three persons were killed and many slightly injured when the storm swept a strip of land about half a mile wide and four miles long.

All residents turned to relief work, many of the families having lost all their possessions in the gale. No attempt had been made to estimate the loss in buildings, homes, crops, cattle and foodstuffs tonight. Zion church, a historic structure, was destroyed.

Nine negro tenant farmers were killed and 13 injured on plantations near Marks, Miss.

Relief Under Way.

Relief measures have been undertaken by the American Red Cross and surveys were being made tonight to determine the amount of aid needed from state sources. C. W. Jackson was sent today from the St. Louis headquarters of the Red Cross to establish a relief base at West Plains, Mo., and R. M. Reddy was dispatched on a similar mission to Heber Springs.

Governor Tom J. Terral of Arkansas tonight awaited reports from National Guard officers sent into

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Wage increases estimated at 3,000,000 annually on eleven western railroads operating out of Chicago affecting about 100,000 shopmen have been granted by the roads, it was disclosed today. The advance ranges from one to three cents an hour, in most cases two cents an hour.

The roads involved are the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Fort Worth and Denver, Union Pacific, Wabash, Illinois Central, Great Northern, Missouri Pacific and Chicago and Alton.

Bones In Murder Case Are Horse's

This Is Claim of Attorneys For Defendants As Trial Nears

PINEVILLE, Ky., Nov. 26. (AP) The skeleton which was partially identified as that of James Eads, who disappeared last December from the Brownie's creek neighborhood, was bones of a horse, J. G. Rollins, counsel for Dillard Wilson and Colson Howard, indicted on charges of the murder of Eads, declared today.

Rollins said he was ready to prove by physicians that the bones were not those of a human.

"We were ready for trial at the November term of Bell circuit court," Rollins said, "but the commonwealth asked for a continuance."

He added that since the defendants are at liberty under bond quashing of the indictments probably would not be asked for until the February term of court.

NEGRO MAKES ESCAPE AFTER STRIKING GIRL

Attempted Attack On White Girl At Midnight Reported

GUN BATTLE STAGED

Negro Escapes After Fight With Police Posse Early Today

Following an exchange of gunfire and futile efforts to overtake a fleeing black who had bowled over the male escort and attempted to attack a girl late Friday night at the end of Tenth street, officers were scouring the section for the fugutive early Saturday morning.

Negro Uses Pistol.

The couple were riding out Tenth street a short distance the other side of Beverly Drive when the negro jumped out from the side of the road and hopped on the running board of the car, rammed a pistol into the back of the man's neck and ordered him to stop. The driver came to a halt and the assailant made the pair get out of the automobile and marched them almost to the banks of Club lake.

The negro searched the man and then told him to leave, adding, "I'll get what I want." The escort backed up a few paces and the negro tore the girl's clothes to shreds and knocked her down. The escort picked up a rock and charged the black. The girl, who had been fighting desperately, had broken loose from her assailant. The negro fled into the nearby brush and the man and girl rolled down the banks of the lake into the water below.

Tumble Into Lake.

As he fell into the water, the escort is said to have yelled at the negro that he was going to get the police. The black replied, "It won't do you any good because I'm going to run off in your car."

The erstwhile driver had the key of the automobile with him and the negro was unable to make a getaway.

The couple then ran to a nearby house and called the police.

Officers Dick Morgan and Pat Allen drove to the scene in a car with Motorcycle Officer O. A. Robertson and Cecil Sinclair leading the way.

Allen and Morgan went to the lake and Sinclair and Robertson rode down the street. Sinclair saw the negro jump from behind a large rock and begin running uphill. Sinclair pulled out his revolver and began firing. Robertson joined in the fusillade. Sinclair fired four times and Robertson twice. There were 10 shots. One shot, coming from the fugitive's gun, took effect in the car driven carrying Allen and Morgan. Allen and Morgan were not close enough to swing into action, being over by the lake.

Negro Escapes.

The officers joined forces and discussed plans of attack. To go straight up the hill after the negro left them unprotected and open to gunfire from a hidden source to which they could not effectively return the fire.

A flank attack was attempted but the negro had made good his getaway.

A detachment led by Morgan and Allen were combing the section for the black early Saturday morning.

A good description of the assailant was obtained. He is a black negro weighing between 180 and 190 pounds. He wore a dark sweater and blue overalls. He either was wearing a cap or a very small hat with the brim turned down.

ROCKNE SUED FOR 50 GRAND

Notre Dame Mentor Says He Can't Dope it Out Why

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.(AP)—Knute Rockne, famous coach of the Notre Dame football team, in Chicago today to schedule games for next fall with teams in the western conference was surprised with notice of a suit for $50,000 brought by Anna Brennan.

Declaring he had no knowledge of any basis for a suit and never heard of the woman before, Rockne called on her lawyer, Francis J. Callahan, and later asserted that the suit had been withdrawn.

The action filed today was a precipe, a formal notice of action in a suit and the nature of it would not be disclosed by Mr. Callahan. Other than to say his client was a resident of Chicago, Mr. Callahan would not discuss the details of the action. He said he had talked with Rockne and was trying to get in touch with his client again.

Reports from South Bend, Rockne's home, said that the suit was a complete surprise and Anna Brennan was unknown there.

"I never heard of her before," said Rockne, "and I have no idea what it's all about."

AUSTIN PROBE HEARS FORMER HIGHWAY HEAD

John Cage Tells of Steps Taken by Ferguson To Remove Him

BARRY MILLER "MAD"

Cage Says Governor Miller Wanted Contract For His Son's Bid

AUSTIN, Nov. 26. (AP)—James E. Ferguson, husband of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, called a conference in the governor's office "to appease the wrath of Barry Miller and Archie Parr," who had shown interest in contracts to be awarded by the highway commission, John Cage of Stephenville, who resigned last October from the commission, Friday told the house investigating committee.

The conference was concerned with the letting of contracts for the resurfacing of about 400 miles of highways ,upon which the American Road company had placed the first treatment, and was attended by Barry Miller of Dallas, Lieutenant-governor, State Senator Archie Parr of Benevides, Hal Moseley, chairman of the highway commission, Jim Ferguson, and himself, Cage testified.

Miller Got "Mad."

"Barry Miller got mad because we wouldn't award a part of the surfacing work to his son though his son's bid was $237,000 higher than the other bid on Amiesite, while Archie Parr wanted a portion of the highways to be surfaced with rock asphalt," Cage said.

"At this conference, I told them I was going to recommend an asphaltic surface treatment over all the highways concerned, and the commission did make such an award."

Two men he understood to be Texas rangers were with Jim Ferguson when he talked with him shortly before his resignation, Cage said, explaining Ferguson was insisting on his resignation, while he wanted to wait until the special session of the 39th legislature adjourned, because of the possibility the senate might confirm his appointment.

"One day when I went into the governor's office, Eugene Smith told me Jim was afraid I'd hurt him, and when I did get in to talk to Jim these two men were with him.

"I had never threatened Jim," Cage said laughingly.

Eugene Smith at that time was secretary of the highway commission and is now its chairman.

Jim Not Dominant.

Mr. Cage said as a highway commissioner he was not dominated by James E. Ferguson, declaring "I looked on Jim Ferguson just as I would any other citizen."

Before he resigned, Cage said he'd been given to understand by friends that he was not altogether acceptable to Jim Ferguson as commissioner.

"When there was a vacancy on the highway commission, Fred Chandler of Stephenville called Ferguson and asked for a conference with reference to my appointment. We came to Austin, and after that conference Ferguson told me to obtain reference from Erath county officials and bank-

WICHITA FALLS BOOSTERS TAKE LEADING ROLES

Frank Kell, of Wichita Falls, One of Feature Speakers at Fete

WICHITAN GETS PRAISE

Kell Given Credit for Giving Winning Testimony For New Rail Lines

By a Staff Correspondent.

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 26.—Plainview and West Texas celebrated in fitting fashion today the coming into the South Plains territory of the Fort Worth and Denver South Plains railroad. It was a celebrato commemorate a step that speakation fitting in scope and variety ers of the occasion declared would mark a new era in the development of a rich and enterprising section. It brought to Plainview a throng that jammed the streets from early morning until after dark and even though a part of the crowd left on early evening trains, thousands remained for the theatrical and ballroom diversions provided at night.

Day of Rejoicing

The day was one of untrammeled rejoicing at the success of Plainview and all West Texas in winning for the Fort Worth and Denver the necessary interstate commerce commission authority to build over 200 miles of new lines. But while it was something of a thanksgiving and congratulatory session, a note of warning was also sounded, and admonition that politics was tampering with the nation's welfare by seeking to amend the national transportation act and that it would be a "sad day for the nation and West Texas when this came to pass."

The warning was sounded by Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, who in an address at a big meeting held in the city auditorium this afternoon defended the transportation act, defended the interstate commerce commission's authority to regulate railway construction and rates and explained apparent delay of the commission in passing on the Denver's application.

Outstanding Figure

Mr. Kell, incidentally, was probably the outstanding figure of the celebration. He gave featured addresses on two occasions, one at a huge luncheon in the Ware hotel when many of the visitors were guests at a joint session of the local Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, and the other at the afternoon rally. Glowing tribute was paid him at the latter session by Judge W. D. McCoy, one of the leading representatives of the Denver system here for the occasion, when he said that Kell's testimony before an I. C. C. examiner was the thing that won the case for the Denver.

In his afternoon address Mr. Kell stressed what he conceived to be a "serious situation confronting the country today."

Points Out Danger

"Efforts are being made to amend or repeal the law so that a railway can build lines regardless of the dictates of the interstate commerce commission. Such a bill was introduced in the senate and is now a matter of record. It is a dangerous law, an unwise law, and I tell you, my friends, if it is passed it will mean that there will be no more railways constructed in this country for a long time to come." The speaker went on to explain that the present transportation act did not intend that a rich and productive territory should be served exclusively by one railway system. It was designed, he said, to create the most competitive and economically sound arrangement of railway systems possible and that the interstate commerce commission's regulatory measures protected the railroads as well as the public at large.

Construction Affected

"Suppose," he said, "that the law is repealed, allowing railroads to build when they will. That would arouse a fear of retaliation that would halt all needed construction. Suppose the I. C. C. could not control this new West Texas construction. Assume that the Burlington built its new lines in here anyhow regardless of the Santa Fe's protest. Somewhere soon the Santa Fe would parallel the Burlington or cut through a productive territory now served by the Burlington. The latter would suffer accordingly. They would not risk it."

Congratulates Plainview

In his noon address Mr. Kell warmly congratulated Plainview and neighbors on the success of the Burlington fight. He pointed out that the Fort Worth and Denver was an integral part of the greatest system in the world with the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Fort Worth and Denver, the Wichita Valley and the Trinity and Brazos Valley all allied with over 30,000 miles of track. With the new South Plains line operating, he pointed out, this territory would be served by two of the greatest systems in the world, the Santa Fe being the other.

Many Others Speak

At the afternoon meeting welcoming addresses, in addition to those of Mr. Kell and Judge McCoy, were made by John J. Sim-

Electra, Vernon and Burkburnett In Conference On Pease River Reservoir

ELECTRA, Nov. 26.—Preliminary organization to promote the development of an irrigation project with a reservoir to be located on Pease river at a point 10 miles north of Crowell was made Friday afternoon in this city when committees from the chambers of commerce of Electra, Vernon and Burkburnett met in conference. The name of Pease and Red River Irrigation association was adopted.

McDannald Elected.

C. E. McDannald of Electra was elected president; Less K. Johnson of Vernon, R. H. Henry of Burkburnett and Edward Schlasske, Electra, vice-presidents; Byron P. Johnson of Electra, secretary.

The directors include Less K. Johnson, R. H. Coffey, and J. A. Dixon of Vernon; R. H. Henry, W. A. Roberts and C. R. Cowles of Burkburnett; Edward Schlasske, Electra.

R. R. Cook and J. M. Hemby of

In this meeting a report was presented showing a preliminary survey of a damsite and reservoir on Pease river had been started by the state board of water engineers. This preliminary survey will probably be completed early in 1927. The future work of the Pease and Red River Irrigation association will be guided by the report of the state board of water engineers which report is expected to show: Location of dam, height of dam, amount of water that may be impounded; acreage possible to irrigate with this water supply.

It is expected this project will provide an additional water supply for the three cities, Vernon, Electra and Burkburnett.

Kemp May Speak.

The committee decided to meet soon when J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls will be invited to advise with the officers and directors of the association on steps to be taken in developing the proposed irrigation project.

Representatives at the meeting included: R. H. Coffey, Fred Russell, G. C. McGown, R. E. Fielder of Vernon; R. H. Henry, W. A. Roberts, C. R. Cowles, A. A. Loehoefner and R. F. Ragsdale of Burkburnett; C. E. McDannald, Edward Schlasske, J. M. Hamby and R. R. R. Cook, Electra, and Guy R. Jones, county agricultural agent, Wichita Falls.

NEGRESS FACES DEATH CHARGE

Darktown Slaying Results In Death of Allie Bolden

Charges of murder were filed Friday morning by District Attorney Ben P. Allred against Hattie Hunter, a negress, who was arrested Thursday night in connection with a cutting affray that occurred at the "Big Negro" Cafe on Barwise street.

Fifteen negroes were brought to the attorney's office Friday morning to make statements in regard to the matter. The statements generally centered on an argument that was started between Hattie Hunter and a negro woman by the name of Allie Bolden, the burden of the argument being Allie Bolden's husband.

It was a social event for Wichita negroes and dozens of them were there enjoying a Thanksgiving feast. After considerable argument knives commenced flashing and when officers broke in on the scene they found Allie Bolden mortally wounded from knife wounds, her throat having been cut. Hattie Hunter was also cut up about the face and arms.

The Bolden woman died shortly after reaching the Emergency hospital and the Hunter woman was arrested and loged in the city jail.

Hattie Hunter has been released on $2,500 bond.

ers. I obtained these references, and Ferguson told me he was going to recommend to his wife my appointment, with the condition that I should resign any time she asked. By my silence, I suppose I agreed to that condition. Of course, I thought my resignation never would be requested.

Asked to Resign.

After the senate failed to confirm me, Jim Ferguson called my attention to the question of whether this action had made my post vacant. He asked me to resign, saying Mrs. Ferguson would feel hurt if I should fail to live up to our agreement. The senate was still in session, I had asked several times for a hearing, and was yet hopeful I might be confirmed. I asked for time.

"The next day, Friday, I wired from Stephenville I would not resign. I think I sent the message to Mrs. Ferguson. The following Monday I came to Austin, and learned Senators Strong and Murphy were being considered to succeed Mr. Moseley and myself. I told Jim I thought he was making a mistake."

Cage said that 90 days before he resigned a brother of State Senator Stuart told him George Robertson of Meridian, present commissioner, would succeed him (Cage). "I finally told Jim I'd resign if Robertson were not appointed in my place; and he wasn't. Robertson succeeded Bickett," Cage said.

Cage Not Interested.

"When I was first told about Robertson's going to take my place, I asked Ferguson, and he told me he was going to fight for my confirmation, and I guess he did. Once Jim suggested he would re-appoint me, if the senate refused to confirm my successor, but I told him I was not interested in that proposition."

Cage said he would have preferred the senate reject him, rather than fail to take any action on his appointment.

In response to a question, Cage said he didn't know why Ferguson had held his post vacant, when the senate failed to confirm him, and had not held vacant the past of S. G. Granberry, prison commission, who also failed of confirmation.

Cage said he was convinced the re-topping of the highways upon which the American Road company had worked was necessary to save the money already invested, before he agreed to the re-surfacing.

The American Road company last fall in the 53rd district court here confersed judgment for $600,000 excess profits on their highway surfacing contract, and when the Moseley-Cage commission let the re-surfacing contract. Attorney General Dan Moody, who prosecuted the American Road company suit, charged the re-topping contracts, which cost the state more than $1,000,000, were let to justify the 30 cents a square yard paid the American Road company.

He Inspected Roads.

Cage said he inspected the roads, got an opinion from Joe Bailey, that the re-surfacing was legal, and obtained the advice of a competent outside engineer as to how tentative specifications might be improved.

In the conference in the governor's office, Cage said he told them he would vote for no rock asphalt bids, because of irregularities in the specifications. He declared Archie Parr was insistant that rock asphalt be placed on part of the highways and Quoted Jim Ferguson as saying "Archie, you can't ask the boys to do that," and Parr with responding, "I don't see why."

Mr. Cage said that Barry Miller was not at all friendly toward Chairman Maseley of the commission, because he thought his son had been imposed on with reference to the amount of the bidding check he was required to furnish.

"Although his son was higher than the other amiesite bidders, Barry Miller felt his son should have the contract because the other bidder included a provision that in the event the attorney general brought litigation on the contract the bid price should be raised 20 per cent," Cage said.

Hill, president of the West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon; Porter Whaley, manager of the West Texas C. of C.; Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner, of Claude; Hubert Harrison, of Wichita Falls; Jerry Davenport, of the Childress Chamber of Commerce; John Reid, of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, and others. Wichita Falls and its delegation of about 45 men had a place in the sun all day. The Wichitans arrived nearly two hours late, a delay having been experienced in the start from Amarillo and another one met 10 miles north of Plainview when a stalled tractor across the Santa Fe tracks held things up for nearly half an hour. A big parade started things just before noon. followed by the hotel dinner and then the auditorium rally.

Wichitans Start Home

The Wichitans left here at 6:30, were scheuled for a two-hour layover in Amarillo and a return to Wichita Falls early Saturday morning.

Aboard the Wichita Falls Pullmans were several officials of the Denver road, these including R. L. May, superintendent of transportation; F. D. Daggett, general passenger agent; L. M. Hoggsett, general freight agent; W. C. Logan, auditor; Dr. Roy Sanders, chief surgeon, all of Fort Worth; O. M. Smight, general agent, and M. P. Oates, agricultural agent, Wichita Falls, and A. C. Kuykendall, traveling freight and passenger agent, Stamford.

Good Will Messages

Congratulatory messages wishing success for the jubilee poured into Plainview all day from prominent officials the country over. Wires received included ones from Hale Holden, president of the Burlington; C. N. Whitehead, president of the M. K. & T.; C. G. Burnham, vice president of the Burlington; F. E. Clarity, vice president of the Denver; A. P. Dugan, president o fthe West Texas C. of C.; Amon Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram; Clarence Gilmore, chairman of the Texas railroad commission; Lon A. Smith and C. V. Terrell of the commission and others.

TORNADO SWEEPS THROUGH MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26.(AP)—Tornados which swept through the Missouri Ozarks last night killed at least four persons, injured between 75 and 100 persons and left a trail of property destruction.

Striking first at Brandsville, near the Arkansas line a tornado took three lives and destroyed about three-fourths of the buildings. Heavy damage also was caused at Rover and slight damage at Thomasaville, nearby towns.

Apparently a different tornado struck at Competition, 75 miles northwest of Brandsville, and tore a distructive path in a northeasterly directio nthrough Big Piney, Vida and Knobview, where it seemed to have spent most of its force. A 60-mile wind, however, blew as far northeast as St. Louis.

Nearly all the buildings in Competition and Big Piney were demolished. One person was killed at Competition and two others were so seriously injured they were expected to die. Thirty or more injured at Big Piney but no one was killed. A report that Clyde Miller, a school teacher, was killed proved erroneous.

The Frisco station and a store building were blown down at Knobview.

The full extent o fthe damage may not be known for several days.

Negro Held by Police In Hardware Store Robbery

Property valued at approximately $200 was identified Friday by local wholesale houses as being articles missing from their places of business within the past two weeks, and this property was held by police officers pending trial of a negro arrested at Gainesville Thursday and in whose possession the missing articles were found.

The negro was arrested at Gainesville upon word sent from local officers and Policemen Bill Allen and W. P. Belcher brought the negro to Wichita Falls Friday morning.

The Western Hardware company identified 36 handsaws which they claimbd were valued at more than $100, while the Morrison Supply company claimed several dozens brass petcocks valued at $50.

The negro is well-known to local officers, having been arrested in connection with several robbery cases here and at this time a charge of theft of $75 from a negro woman is held against.

STOLEN COUPE LOCATED HERE

Taken From Henrietta Church Thursday; Found At Local Station

A Ford coupe, which had been stolen from W. P. Calloway of Henrietta, was recovered here Friday morning through the accidental discovery of the car here by R. R. Calloway, his son.

The car was stolen from in front of a church Thursday evening at Henrietta and the boy here was notified of the theft.

Friday morning a man, wearing corduroy pants and boots was seen to park a Ford car in front of a driverless car station next to the Record News office on Lamar street, and a few minutes later R. R. Calloway came along and identified the car. Officers were called and the car was taken in charge.

A suit case found in the car contained a quantity of clothing, which indicated that the owner was an oilfield worker, and a few receipted bills on a face at Henrietta,

Four other cars were also recovered by the police Friday. A Chrysler roadster was found just off the Holliday road and identified by a resident of this city.

A Dodge sedan which had been stolen from the Lightsey Auto company was found near Graham, Texas, and two Fords were also recovered, one of them belonging to a citizen of Quitman, Texas.

M'KENNEYS HERE

Makes Sallow Skin White As Lily

No matter what cream or other preparation she may use, the woman whose skin is sallow gray should make my A and B Astringent Lotion the foundation of her treatment.

In all my nation-wide travels as a lecturer and writer on the care of the skin, I have never found another such combination astringent and bleach. Without the slightest injury to the most sensitive cuticle it whitens the skin immediately.

Chernoff A&B Astringent Bleach

Not only does it leave the skin as white as old linen but it provides a soft film that protects against chapping. Being a thorough antiseptic, prevents infection, as well as to dry up pimples, removes blackheads and absorbs excessive oil.

TWO NAMED IN PLOT TO SLAY

Louisiana Pair Indicted On Charge of Plot On Dallas Man

DALLAS, Nov. 26. (AP)—W. K. Henderson and E. B. Redline, the former a wealthy manufacturer of Shreveport, La., and the latter an auditor in his plant, were indicted here today on charges of conspiracy to murder Abe Goodman, an oil contractor. The conspiracy is alleged to have been entered into in Caddo parish, La., August 1. The indictment further alleges that the murder was to be committed by them through E. S. MacQueen of Dallas.

Goodman several weeks ago engaged in a fist fight with Redline at a railroad station here as he stepped from a train. Robert B. Allen, engaged as special prosecutor, today said a $70,000 policy on Goodman's life is in force in favor of the company with which Goodman was formerly associated with Mr. Henderson.

MACHINE GUN'S INVENTOR DIES

John M. Browning Succumbs On Business Trip To Belgian Plant

OGDEN, Utah, Nov. 26. (AP)—John M. Browning, world famous inventor of fire arms, is dead in Belgium, a cablegram to relatives in Ogden announced today.

Browning went to Liege, Belgium, a few weeks ago to perfect his latest invention, an "over and under" double barreled shotgun, and the message telling of his death came from Liege.

The new gun had one barrel above the other instead of two horizontal barrels. It was to be manufactured in the Liege plant which manufactured so many of the Browning weapons.

It was this plant which in 1918 manufactured the millionth Browning automatic pistol. This was the first time in history that one million pistols of one model had been manufactured. In honor of this achievement King Albert of the Belgians conferred upon Mr. Browning the title of chevalier of the Order of Leopold.

What Women Are Doing—Sophie Loeb's Chats—New Recipes

SOPHIE IRENE LOEB Says—

A westerner spoke to me something like this "I'm surprised how little civic pride you New Yorkers have. As a rule you don't take the least interest in public welfare and try to get through as quickly and as easily as possible. For example, a friend of mine whom I am visiting actually pays people to be honest. Rather than be bothered with correcting an abuse he pays, and the abuse goes on. As a consequence, everybody suffers.

"For instance, if a porter is taking care of his baggage he pays him a ridiculous price. He told me that the reason he does this is because if he pays a modest sum he will find something missing in his baggage.

"When he was building a house he paid the workers top notch prices, for he said that if he didn't they would 'swipe' everything they could to 'get even'."

The westerner went on to tell how in petty ways he subsidizes everything and everybody for fear they will "do" us. The whole trouble is that nobody wants to take the time to correct anything.

Everywhere it is possible we pay the price asked, regardless of whether it is right or not, in order to avoid the trouble of going into the matter. The people who would take advantage know this failing on the part of the average New Yorker and therefore many gross injustices are inflicted on people who can least afford the abuse.

The westerner knows things are different where he came from. The people there are not willing to stand for extortions and they are soon eliminated. Consequently there is more fair play.

I believe the westerner's observations contain a considerable element of truth. It is true that in our hurried and flurried existence we often pay for a thing, although it is wrong, to avoid being bothered.

I have seen so much of this every day. The average person who can afford to pay, in order to get rid of a matter, does not realize what an injury he is inflicting on thousands of others.

No man or woman is performing his or her citizen's duty unless they take it upon themselves to correct the wrong. They owe this to themselves, but even more do they owe it to the public at large. They encourage dishonest charges because of the ease with which they pay and thus make it difficult for others.

Hundreds of examples could be cited. The ticket evil of the speculators is one of them. Many artistic people, lovers of good music and drama, are unable to statify their longing to attend fine performances because somebody has been willing to pay a ridiculous price to a speculator who, because of this encouragement, has bought up all the tickets.

Civic interest is lacking in any one who allows himself to be used in this way. This is not so in other countries.

In England a block of the best seats in the theater are reserved at the very lowest prices and no one can purchase them ahead of time to the detriment of the proper classes.

They don't pay people to be honest there, but the people take hold themselves, as a general thing, and act as a deterrent of petty thieving.

In a word, the public policies for first. If every person would refuse to be "done" and sacrifice a little time to securing justice, much suffering and hardship would be alleviated. In the last analysis, this is the first duty of a real citizen.

An article by Sophie Irene Loeb appears in this newspaper daily.

Gives Up Film Roles to Keep Hair

Underwood and Underwood

Mary Astor, film beauty, could have a wider range of roles and get nearer to stardom if she'd bob her auburn tresses, but she won't, preferring "crowning glory" to greater screen fame. Bobbed hair is so popular in real life, now, that it has to be in reel life.

CLOSED FOR THANKSGIVING

Special to The Record News.

RULE, Nov. 26. — All business houses were closed in Rule Thanksgiving day. School was dismissed on Wednesday afternoon until Monday morning. A number of the teachers left Wednesday evening for El Paso to attend the Teachers State convention.

BANK CLERK HURT

Nocona Cashier Hit By Automobile Is Paralysed.

NOCONA, Tex., Nov. 26. (AP) Hugh Carson, 38, bank cashier here, was seriously but not fatally injured by an automobile which struck him during the rush to a fire here. One leg is thought to be broken in two places and he appears to have suffered partial paralysis. Damage done by the fire was not extensive.

MOTHER'S GIFT

Why not give mother a comfortable chair. And be sure to get her idea of the kind of a chair she would like and then get it if possible whether it is out-of-date as far as furniture styles go or not. Possibly she wants a chair in which she can sit and sew, or one for her dressing table, or a big chair with a high back where she can rest when she is tired.

MAKING MODERN MENUS

Theer are several new and delicious recipes for conserves and marmalades which may be put up to advantage at this time of the year. One of these recipes includes our old holiday friend, the cranberry.

Spiced Cranberry Jelly.

Pick over and wash one quart of cranberries. Add one cup of boiling water and cook until the berries are soft. Press through a sieve and add two cups of sugar, one-third cup of cold water, and a spice bag containing a piece of cinnamon, two dozen cloves and six allspice berries. Bring to the boiling point and simmer gently for about 15 minutes. Add a few grains of salt, turn into a mold and chill. Serve with any delicate meat.

Apple Ginger,

Wash, quarter, pare and core sour apples. To five cups of apple add five cups of sugar, grated rind of one lemon and an inch of ginger root. Bring gradually to a boiling point and cook gently until apples are transparent. Stir frequently to avoid burning and seal in hot, sterilized jars.

Date and Cranberry.

Simmer gently for 20 minutes one quart cranberries with one pound stoned dates and one pint of water. Press through sieve, add two cups of light brown sugar and cook about 15 minutes longer.

Corn Cakes—Two eggs, one cup milk, one can corn, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon baking powder. You may need to add a little more flour, but try this first. Bake on a hot griddle.

MENU HINT

Many people like and indeed need a hearty breakfast especially in cold weather. Sausage must be well cooked to be digestible. Sook them slowly until they are brown all over. This applies to the sausage meat as well as the links. The corn cakes should also be cooked rather slowly and thoroughly. They take a little longer than ordinary griddle cakes although they are cooked on a griddle.

Orange Juice
Sausage
Corn Cakes with Syrup
Coffee

SUGGESTIONS

New Rugs from Old.

Do not discard old carpets until you see if you cannot have a new rug made from them. Six to seven pounds of old carpet make a square yard of the re-woven rug. If you have a heavy old carpet or rug turn it up-side-down and varnish the back. It will make a comfortable covering for the kitchen floor or for a bedroom where small rugs are used.

Christmas Hint.

How about a sweater for a Christmas gift if you are puzzling over your problems? Mother could use a pretty one, be sure, as she often feels chilly in cold stormy weather especially when she sits down to sew or read after a particular strenuous piece of house work, and father would have a hundred uses for one. Brother always needs a new one and so does sister. The skating season will be on then, you know. And outside the family I can't think of anyone who would not be pleased to get a soft, warm sweater.

When the Windows Rattle.

When winter winds make the windows rattle screw a small hook to the bottom of the window and a screw-eye to match the window sash. Put them far enough apart so that they will be a pretty close fit. This will lock the window tightly and prevent the rattling.

Don't Forget That

It is not safe to eat pork unless it is absolutely fresh. Always buy pork from a reliable butcher who has his meats tested.

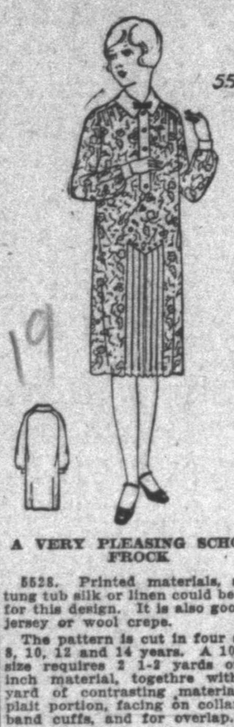

A spoonful of whipped cream added to stewed fruit makes it seem like an elaborate dessert. A pretty glass to serve it in adds to the illusion.

Cleaning and scrubbing brushes get sour if not aired in the sun. Put a hook in asunny place and hang them up until dry.

Hard rubbing will injure woolens and silk fabrics. A kneading motion is better for them.

Strong soaps and soap powders will shrink and harden woolens, injured colored materials and turn white silks yellow.

TEXAS GAINING MINERAL RANK

Production of Oil and Rich Earths Brings State Many Millions

DALLAS, Nov. 26. (AP)—Preliminary reports indicate that the value of Texas mineral products for this year will exceed the aggregate for 1925 by about $5,000,000 the state holding rank of sixth in the Untied States in value of minerals. While most of the total mineral wealth, expected this year to exceed $275,000,000, comes from petroleum, the value of other mineral is more than $60,000,000. If oil were excluded from the calculation, Texas would still be in twelfth or thirteenth place among all the states in value of its mineral resources.

This year has shown so far an increase in the production of sulphur, one of Texas' largest and most valuable mineral products. There also has been an increase in the volume of cement, gypsum, lignite marble, granite, graphite and clay products, running into many millions in aggregate value.

The tremendous importance of minerals in Texas is shown by the fact that whereas the value of all mineral production 10 years ago was but $47,711,571, the aggregate value last year was more than $270,000,000 and this year will run to a considerable higher figure.

While petroleum is second only to cotton as a source of wealth in the state, there are many other and highly valuable mineral resources. These include, coal, copper, natural gas, asphalt, clays, lignite, fullers earth, graphite, iron, gypsum and numerous others, almost every part of the state having some distinctive resources of this character.

POLICE POSSE HUNTS MOTHER

Chicago Girl Wife Takes Babe and Disappears On Thanksgiving Day

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—A young mother who left home with Thanksgiving dinner cooking was sought by the police today as the possible victim of a middle aged man, who answered her advertisement for employment as a housekeeper. She is Mrs. Adilene Eales, 20. She left home carrying her eight-months-old baby.

Her husband, Richard Eales, 24, told the police that his wife against his objections, had advertised for work to augment their income.

Eales, a telegraph operator, returned home after working a double shift and was told by his landlady that Mrs. Eales had said she would be back in "about an hour and a half."

Eales said they had been happy since their wedding in Portland, Ore., two years ago. They recently returned to Chicago from Topeka, Kan.

Horse And Buggy Proves Too Slow

Pastor Loses His Job Because Means of Locomotion Delays Arrival

WATERLOO, Iowa, Nov. 26. (AP)—An ice covered pavement interrupted here yesterday the 1400-mile trip by horse and buggy of the Rev. P. A. Hunt, who was retracing his way to Doniphan, Mo., after a fruitless drive to Farmington, Minn., to assume a new pastorate.

The minister's horse fell on the ice and he was forced to appeal to the Rev. Warren L. Steeves, pastor of the local Baptist church, for financial aid in shoeing the animal and repairing the harness.

Mr. Hunt left Doniphan June 26, last, and reached Farmington August 1. Meanwhile the church that had called him having given him three months to assume the new charge, had consolidated with another congregation, sold its property and refused to recognize any claim of Mr. Hunt's.

WOMAN FAINTS IN DEATH CASE

Female Juror Faints When Drama of Death Excites Her

MAIDSTONE, England, Nov. 26. (AP)—The "Stella Maris" murder trial was dramatically interrupted today when one of the two women jurors, overwrought by the testimony, suffered an emotional collapse.

Alphonse F. A. Smith, the socially prominent defendant, accused of murdering his friend, John T. Berham, at the Smith villa "Stella Maris," last August 12, was on the stand.

With streaming eyes he related how he had written a love letter to his wife just before the tragedy which the prosecution charges resulted from intense jealousy over Berham's attentions to Mrs. Smith.

Women among the spectators sobbed as he told his story. Then suddenly one of the women in the jury box screamed agonizingly and fainted. Court was suspended until she could recover.

Flood In Mine Traps Ten Men

Victims are Drowned as Water Rushes Into 2200-Foot Mine Tunnel

MARTINEZ, Calif., Nov. 26. (AP)—Ten men met sudden death in the Contra Costa hills last night when San Pablo creek, swollen by a heavy rain, burst a temporary dam and sent a torrent of water rushing into a tunnel in which they were working.

The workmen, a shift boss and nine laborers, had not a chance for their lives. They were working in the far end of the tunnel 2200 feet from the entrance and the flood, coming with barely an instant's warning, engulfed them.

HUNTS IN ALASKA

Chillicothe Man Returns From Summer in Arctic.

Special to The Record News.

CHILLICOTHE, Nov. 26.—F. L. Moffet returned last Thursday from Alaska where he spent the summer sight-seeing and hunting. He was accompanied home by his daughter, Mrs. Raymond Touchstone, who met him in Seattle.

Mr. Moffett is a great hunter as he has made Alaska every year for the last few years. He failed to kill a bear this time, but reported to have killed moose and other big game.

CELEBRATES TWICE

This Husband Lives to Have Two Silver Weddings.

MEATRICE, Neb. Nov. 26.(AP) William Eden, 90 years old, Lanham, Neb., resident, has the unusual distinction of having lived to celebrate his second silver wedding, according to the Odell, (Neb.) Oracle. The death of his first wife occurred more than 25 years after their marriage, explains the weekly newspapers and he was married to Miss Elsie Houer, Barnston, Neb., his second wife, 25 years ago this month.

Army's New Chief

Latest studio portrait of Major General Charles P. Summerall, who has assumed his new post, chief of staff of the United States army. He has been in charge of second corps' area, with headquarters at Governor's Island, New York.

For Business Girl.

By MME. LISBETH

This simple, neat but chic costume was designed in France especially for the business girl.

The fabric used is flannel in a shade of light brown. Black velvet bands give a finish to the high choker collar and cuffs, and pearl buttons are used in a novel manner as the only other decorative feature. They are placed in a long row at the side front to simulate a closing and in designs on the cuffs, pocket and jabot, photographing almost like embroidery.

LEAHY CHEERS JURY'S VERDICT

He Calls 50-Year Sentence In State Pen as Victory For Himself

GEORGE WEST, Texas, Nov. 26.(AP)—Harry J. Leahy's hopes for freedom were staked tonight on a motion for a new trial which he composed himself while sitting in jail during his trial for the murder last May of Dr. J. A. Ramsey.

The motion was filed today immediately after the jury had found Leahy guilty and had recommended a sentence of 50 years imprisonment. Leahy, who has acted as a lawyer frequently, and who took an active part in his own defense, filed the motion for a new trial in spite of the fact that he seemed jubilant at the verdict of the jury.

"Great Victory"—Leahy.

"This is a great victory for the defense," he told a reporter immediately after the verdict was announced.

Leahy heard the verdict calmly and in the absence of his attorneys, an agreement having been made that the presence of his attorneys would not be required. His wife was with him at the time.

Mrs. J. A. Ramsey, widow of the slain man, who also was in court, expressed mild dissatisfaction, saying that she believed that the jury had reached its decision fairly, but that all of the evidence could not be presented, presumably because of the rules of pleading.

The verdict ended one of the most sensational cases this section of the state has ever known. Ramsey, at the time of his death, was the owner of a tract of land known as "the old Leahy place" which he had obtained from a mortgage company. Leahy, according to the state, wanted to recover the ranch.

Eye Witness Convicts.

Through the lips of Roberto Martinez, an alleged eye-witness, the state presented a narrative which formed the backbone of the prosecution.

Martinez told the jury that Leahy had prepared a grave and had then sent him to Lure Ramsey to the spot. Once there, Martinez testified, Leahy forced Ramsey to sign a number of papers and then clubbed and stabbed him to death, throwing his body into the grave and covering it up.

30,000 Master Masons Congregate To Dedicate World's Biggest Temple

DETROIT, Nov. 26. (AP)—The largest gathering of Master Masons assembled since 1004 B. C., when Hiram, king of Tyre, summoned 150,000 of the ancient craft to aid in the construction of the temple of Solomon, king of Israel, was here today to assist in the dedication of the largest Masonic temple in the world.

There were 30,000 Master Masons and hundreds of white plumed Knight Templars and Red Fezzed shriners here for a parade from the old temple to the splendid new temple. The Rev. Joseph Fort Newton, pastor of St. Paul's Memorial church, Philadelphia, was to deliver the address.

The dedication of the $7,000,000 structure marks the 100th anniversary of Grand Lodge Masonry in Michigan.

Visitors from all parts of the world have declared the new temple unsurpassed in beauty of design and conformance to rules laid down in Masonry.

TERRELL OPPOSES LAW

MOTOR vehicle owners should take heart. There is not going to be a fuel famine in the near future. Of course, the pessimists say there is. An expert says that the motor fuel supply cannot fail. W. S. Farish is president of the American Petroleum Institute. He predicts that if gasoline prices rise too far, substitutes will go on the market and substitutes for gasoline are practicable if the president of the American Petroleum Institute knows his lesson.

There is no possibility of the motor fuel famine, he holds, and he has concluded after a searching study of the subject that the world need have no uneasiness on this score. Looking over the next decade or the next generation, or the next century, optimist Farish visions adequate supplies of motor fuels for generation after generation. Gasoline can be made from oil shale and coal. There are billions of tons of shale in the Rocky Mountain country.

Incidentally the head of the American Petroleum institute says while the annual motoring bill of the American public is $12,000,000,000. Only 15 per cent of this is spent for fuel.

Ever with an eye to business, he is of the opinion that the motorists of America could pay considerably more per unity volume for fuel without profoundly disturbing the total of their motoring expense. He has made an interesting discovery, "up to the present time no one has ever been deterred from buying a car because of the expense of fuel for it."

No doubt President Farish is correct. If a man has the money, he buys a car; if he has credit he buys a car; if he can see five per week in the distance he buys a car. Cost of fuel does not disturb the serenity of his mind. This is Thanksgiving time. Motorists should be joyful. For generations to come there is going to be plenty of gasoline or substitutes for gasoline.

COOLIDGE IS OBSTINATE

PRESIDENT CALVIN COOLIDGE is opposed to the democratic proposal for repeal of the automobile tax. There are 20,000,000 auto owners in America. They are among the live wires of the population of the republic. Why should they be doubly taxed? Representative John M. Garner of Texas has his knife ready for the auto tax and a second knife ready for the eastern republican congressional leaders who follow the Coolidge flag. All the big chiefs admit $300,000,000 was taken out of the pockets of the American taxpayers, money that was not needed last year. Why should the people wait until 1928 for a return of their own?

TOWN TALK—By H. F. J.

CONCENTRATION PLUS

"It's getting to be almost impossible for me to find enough time of my own to settle down and think things out. Some one's always dropping in or the phone's ringing; and just about the time I get started of a little sound mental study, I'm interrupted and then I must start all over again."

Such was the plaint of a prominent Wichita Falls business man a few days ago, one who has made a marked success of his work which is of the type that requires considerable contact with the outside world. He has always been bothered more or less, he went on, by this condition; but now that he and his business have grown, it is getting worse and worse. Unfortunately for him, his is the type of work that will not permit him to close and bar his doors and stand off all callers with a secretarial handout of "Mr. Blank is in conference. I am sorry, he will not be able to see you today."

Many business men, of course, resort to that very thing. But their's is a type of work which will permit it. They surround themselves with a corps of well-trained secretaries, assistants and office boys, see whom they please when they please and manage to get along very well.

There are others in this city, however, just as there are in other cities, who cannot afford to do this and to whom that little all-important item of "concentration" became a matter of greater and greater concern as time goes on.

To some men, concentration comes easily on whatever happens to come to hand. They can lay aside as they do their hats the worries and questions with which they have been wrestling and supply themselves diligently and effectively to anything they wish. But their's is of a type extremely rare.

One of the leading business executives of Wichita Falls confesses he is able to concentrate more effectively, think more clearly and accomplish more in a Pullman car than in his office.

"I get on a train in a distant part of the country," he says, "no one knows me, I am not interrupted and I can ride for hours with nothing to do but think and plan. That's something that can't always be done in my office here."

Then there is the story of John McE. Bowman, the extremely wealthy and extremely capable owner of the famous Bowman string of hotels that include the Biltmore, Commodore and others in New York. Driven to desperation by the hundreds of calls and callers seeking his time, he frequently engages an expensive suite on the first big ocean liner to leave for Europe, takes a corps of secretaries, goes abroad, locks himself in his rooms and never emerges until the vessel has completed a round trip. He dictates letters, wrestles with account, studies problems and attends to a thousand and one things that he could not touch in the hurry and rush of his big metropolitan office.

Sound Philosophy—Expert Advice On Perplexing Problems

Answering Some Questions on "Why Men Act Like Human Beings"—Why a Business Girl of 21 Would be Happy Married to a Widower of 37—The Wife Who Won't Follow Her Husband's Fortunes.

Dear Miss Dix—Why do not men care to answer their wives' civil questions, or to converse with them?

Why do men call it "preaching" when their wives try to talk over something with them?

Why does a man think it is all right for him to lose money at poker, but it is a terrible crime for a woman to buy an expensive dress?

BABETTE.

ANSWER:

The reasons that husbands are grumpy and reply with a surly grunt when their wives ask them a civil question is just because they are human and we all resent instinctively being put through a questionnaire.

Why we should so hate being asked questions about things that we would tell of our own volition, if we were given time, I do not know. Probably we have a subconscious feeling that it is a prying into our private affairs and an infringement on our personal liberty.

Anyway, I have never known any one whom it did not infuriate to be questioned, and I have often thought that the greatest menace to domestic life was the interrogation mark.

For in the average family no one can rise or sit down, or go out or stay at home, or get a letter or answer the telephone, or buy a toothbrush without having to stand a cross-examination about it. It is mother's: "Where did you go? Who did you see? What did you say? What did they say? Who is writing to you from Birds Center? What did you pay for it? How long are you going to stay?" that drive children from home to some place among strangers who will not feel at liberty to ask them all the questions they would like to ask them.

Of course a husband's affairs are his wife's affairs, and she has a right to know about them, but when a man comes home tired and worn out at night, he feels that being put through the third degree about everything that has happened during the day is more than he can stand, and so he takes refuge in surliness and silence in self-defense.

Believe me, she is a wise woman who never asks her husband a direct question, but who leads up adroitly to the subject that she wishes to know about and lets him tell her about it of his own accord.

As for men calling their wives' conversation "preaching." Perhaps that is because so many women feel that they are divinely appointed censors of their husbands' manners and morals, and most of their talk is devoted to correcting their faults.

Try telling your husband how good-looking and clever he is and how much you admire him and love him, and see if he calls that "preaching."

Perhaps the reason why men feel that it is more extravagant for a woman to buy an expensive dress than it is for them to lose money at poker because we all turn a more lenient eye upon our own weaknesses than we do upon those of others.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—How can a young man take the yellow streak out of him? How can he change his backbone from narrow to broad?

SPUNKLESS.

ANSWER:

By forcing yourself to do the thing you are afraid to do. You can conquer fear if you are determined enough to do so. And you can develop a backbone by exercising it. The more you can shrink from a disagreeable task the more you must force yourself to carry on.

If you are tempted to loaf, work the harder. When everything in you urges you to give up a task, set you teeth and stick to it like grim death. When your own personal devil asks: What's the use?" hiss back: "I'll show you."

And remember this for your comfort, that you can harden the muscles of your soul just as you can the muscles of your body and that every time you force yourself to do the thing that is hard to do it becomes easier for you. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a married man with a wife and two little girls. Owing to business conditions, I had to leave the small town in which I lived when we married and move to a city, where I am prosperous. But my wife absolutely refuses to leave her mother and come to me. When I go back to see my family my children scarcely know me, and I can see that they need a father's influence badly. I love my family and am desperately lonely without them, but I am not willing to go back to the little town when I can do so much better where I am. My wife's only objections to coming to me is that she doesn't want to leave her old home and her mother. What should I do? LONESOME JOHN.

ANSWER:

Your wife certainly has small appreciation of a wife's duty if she is not willing to follow you and go where you can succeed. Can't you make her realize that she owes it to you to help along your fortunes?

Surely a woman is a poor wife who, instead of trying to boost her husband up the ladder, tries to pull him down! Not that sort of wives were our pioneer grandmothers, who went forth with their men into the wilderness and helped them build up this great country of ours.

If your wife has no sense of her obligation as a wife, if she does not love you well enough to sacrifice her own inclinations for you, if she is not touched by the thought of your loneliness, then you will be justified in taking strenous measures with her and cutting off her allowance.

Refuse to support her in her mother's house, and until she fulfills her part of the marriage contract, which is making a comfortable home for you. When she has to get out and hustle to support herself and the children, she will decide that the easiest way to do it is to come to you and let you make the living. Evidently her mother is encouraging your wife in staying with her and away from you. And daughter will not probably be so welcome a guest with no money in her pocket. DOROTHY DIX.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets all the Trains.

KELLYGRAMS . . . . . By Fred C. Kelly

FRED KELLY Writes About "Our Dreams of What We Haven't."

Half the fun in life seems to be derived from hoping to do something else or to be somewhere else.

It was noted in the New York public library that books on chicken farming were especially in demand at a certain branch. Investigation showed that that branch was near a number of boarding houses for sailors. The jolly tars had been reading and dreaming of the time when they no longer have to sail the deep blue sea, but may retire to a few acres and what they hope will be freedom.

The United States department of agriculture publishes hundreds of little bulletins dealing with various phases of horticulture and farming.

These are distributed partly by members of congress. But the congressmen from country districts have comparatively little demand for them and turn part of their quota over to those representing city district. Business men living in crowded apartments, rather than farmers, are most interested in reading about new ideas in farming. Likewise most requests to congress for garden seeds used to come from cities and small towns rather than from the country.

My old friend, Fred Haskin, makes a business of answering questions about everything under the sun asked by readers of newspapers who are his clients. Those papers, such as the Chicago Daily News, that circulate almost entirely in large city areas send him by far the most questions about flowers, poultry, dogs, rabbits and such problems.

Presumably, when the sailor boys are reading about egg-laying abilities of hens, and thinking how nice it would be to make a living by picking warm eggs from nests, country folk are zealously reading such books as "Life Before the Mast," or "The Wrecker."

We all think that we would like to be doing something else.

I know a business man who appears to have the world at his feet, but regards all his triumphs thus far as preliminary to buying a little island up in Vermont and studying carrier pigeons.

Often as I sit caged up in my room writing little pieces for newspapers, I think how fine it would be to have a job out in the open spaces.

But I never talked to a man driving an ice wagon or at any other outdoor work who didn't think he would like to exchange for a job which provides more sitting down.

It is comforting to know that no matter what your job is, somebody is probably envying you.

BO BROADWAY . . . . . By Josef Van Raalte

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—When Hylan of blessed memory was mayor of New York one of his most trusted advisors was a gentleman who answers to the name of Grover Whalen. Grover possesses the evanescent, intangible smile of the fifth man in the pyorrhea ads. His eyes are brown as Smyrna raisins and he never lets his morning coat ride him.

He possesses such a clean, spiffy, well-dressed, happy, boyish appearance that Hyan made him chairman of the committee for the reception of distinguished visitors. Kings, queens, bishops, royal two-spots, generals and everyone and anyone who bumped into the New York shore in the role of Distinguished Visitor, found Grover Whalen on hand, his silk topper vying with the flash of his Painless Parkers, in generous welcome.

No newspaper photograph of any of the scores of such functions was complete that failed to mark in sharp silhouette Grover Whalen under his effulgent top hat, standing on the running board of the automobile of the Distinguished Visitor, as the procession crawled amid a blizzard of torn paper and ticker tape, from the Battery to city hall.

* * *

When Jimmy Walker superceded Brother Hylan it looked as if Grover Whalen's welcoming days were over. Walker cast vainly about for someone to supercede the resplendent Grover, but not among the six million strap hangers of the Metropolis was there a man whose attainments in this respect even approximately those of the Worthy Brother. Walker tendered him the job and Grover accepted.

What New York would like to know is where does Grover Whalen hide out between royal receptions. You forget all about him until one day the papers announce the arrival of some cookstouring foreigner and up bobs Grover out of nowhere with his white carnation, his bloomin' topper and flashing fangs, facing the cameras on the running board of the visitor's car with the easy poise and grace of a man who has been doing the same thing for the last 99 years. The visitor departs and Grover slides back into his mysterious covert among the moth balls and tar paper until the tugs in the harbor toot in honor of the next bob's arrival from abroad.

* * *

Raquel Miller returned to New York last week and one of the reviewers led his story next morning as follows:

"Raquel Miller came back last night. Grover Whalen and his busy tophole top-hat men were not there to meet her; but the number of square feet of hard shirt front in the orchestra alone would have paved Los Angeles."

Alias Jones, bishop of Broadway, confides to me that he is following newspaper accounts of the western gold rush of Big-Hearted Marie, Queen of Rumania, with a zeal worthy of a better cause.

"The biggest laugh I got out of it thus far," said Alias, "is the story of the silver shovel they gave her, out in Ohio. What's the good of a silver shovel without the broom and the little two-wheeled wagon that goes with them?

* * *

Owen Davis has a new play at the Music Box called "Gentle Grafters." When the Rumanian minister hears about it, the state department will probably be called upon for an apology.

An anonymous contributor to the Tribune has pulled the best line, so far, on Big-Hearted Marie: "The old order changeth," he writes. "The queen now comes after the jack."

NATIONAL POLITICS . . . . . By F. W. Wile

WASHINGTON, (EFS)— Washington is steadily filling up with foreign newspaper correspondents. Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy and Japan are the countries chiefly represented. Our mounting importance as a world power, despite unpopularity in foreign parts, requires great newspapers overseas to keep a weather eye on the United States.

In the course of a week thousands of words are sent by cable or radio to London, Paris, Rome, Tokio and other internationel centers.

The foreign correspondents had a shock this week when notified of the new internationl cable regulations requiring press messages to be written in the usual "orthography" of the language used. Combinations of words, for toll-saving purposes, are no longer permissible.

Hitherto Sir Maurice Low, dean of the foreign scribes in Washington, or Wilmott Harsant Lewis of the London Times, could cable stuff like this: "Coolidge unwent congress deliver message Friday-eve unlonger plans adhere custom which hitherto clung. Twouldn't displease country if president continue old practice because believes personal appearance impresses moren transmitted message."

The unrecognizable words, long-time favorites of "cable men," are taboo henceforward.

"Co-operationists" Discouraged

Nothing that's happened in a long time caused among American "co-operationists" the heart-sickness provoked by President Coolidge's Armistice day speech. The apostles of generous American participation in world affairs find the Kansas City utterance a knock-out blow to their hopes, as far as the present administration is concerned.

The Foreign Policy association, with headquarters at New York, has just held an indignation luncheon on the subject. Prof. James T. Shotwell, history lecturer at Columbia university, and ardent pro-Leaguer and world court advocate, has burst into verse:

Have we kept faith with those who made
For us their rendezvous with death?
That they have not our trust betrayed
The whole world witnesseth.

How One Election Was Won

From the state of Washington comes an election story probably unique in our politics. The campaign manager of a young lawyer who was running for county prosecutor hit on the idea of engaging high school girls as "workers." He offered them, for service in the last week of the campaign $2 apiece. If his candidate won, the girls were pledged $4 a week. If any of them carried her particular precinct, her total reward was to be $5.

Victory perched on the banners of the nominee in question by a substantial majority. Thirty-five of the flappers did carry their precincts for him and got the maximum honorarium. Their "line" was to visit the friends of their parents, talk about the many favors Candidate ——— had rendered the family, and solicit votes for him on those personal grounds. Hardly anybody withstood the appeal.

The election laws of Washington permit the hiring of paid campaign workers, so there's no question of a slush fund.

Not long ago the college-bred son of a well-known Washington family suffered a nervous breakdown. At doctors' orders, prescribing a few months of outdoor life, the young man took a job as a taxi driver. For the past two months he has been piloting people around and about the capital. The other day a couple of women who belong to the foreign diplomatic set hailed him in a shopping district and asked to be driven to an address with which the Phi Beta Kappa man didn't happen to be familiar. Speaking in French, one of his passengers remarked to her companion: "Mon Dieu, he's dumber than the one we had yesterday!" The chauffeur turned, smiled and in his own faultless French, asked his aristocratic fares to excuse him, as he hadn't been on the streets so long! When the women recovered consciousness, they apologized for their rudeness and insisted on a "Who's Who" from the handsome chap at the wheel.

Glass Answers House

Senator Carter Glass, Democrat of Virginia, is about to take the firing line in a 50,000-word book in answer to Colonel House's narrative of the latter's relations with Woodrow Wilson and the two Wilson administrations. Representing the Wilsonion Old Guard, Glass plans "a scathing refutation" of the claims made by House in the "Intimate Papers" published earlier this year.

Like the colonel's publication, the senator's will be syndicated to newspapers before appearance in book form. The Virginian editor-statesman wields a wicked fountain pen when in attack and the political heavens are likely to reverberate the moment Glass swings into action.

Childress To Get First Skyscraper When New $500,000 Hotel Is Built

CHILDRESS, Nov. 27.—The first skyscraper in Childress will be erected here this winter, construction work to start not later than January 1, 1927. It is to be a five-story, modern, fire-proof brick hotel of not less than 100 rooms, with a ground floor dimension of 90x115 feet. It is to be built by Arch Nave, owner and manager of the present three-story Nave hotel.

Arrangements were completed on Wednesday afternoon whereby Mr. Nave purchased, for cash, at the corner of Avenue "B" and Third street N. W., from W. B. Thompson, for $23,000.

The decision to build this building comes as a result of the permission granted by the I. C. C. to the Fort Worth and Denver, to make Childress the terminus of a 220-mile line of railroad to Plainview and Lubbock. While this action has been considered by Mr. Nave for some time, in view of the rapidly growing city, at the same time, final action was delayed for many months pending the I. C. C. decision.

This is not the only deal which is pending here. Several other things are in the wind and business properties in the way of real estate are being transferred at figures commensurate with the outlook for a wonderful growth and development the next few years.

STORM AT HASKELL

Heavy Blow of Sand Mars Thanksgiving Holiday.

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Texas, Nov. 26. — One of the worst sand storms of the year blew all day Thanksgiving at Haskell with a shar pcool wind whipping from the southwest. A fog of sand hung over the city and there was very little car riding. There was no public service at any of the churches and no scheduled ball game, however, and the day was largely spent in private dinner parties and a visit to the Haskell theater.

Haskell Men Given Pardons.

Among the pardons issued this week by Governor Ferguson are: A. Matura for the murder of George Page some seven years ago, he was given a sentence of five years and has served four; and Z. B. Pounds, who was convicted of killing his wife at Rochester, Haskell county some years ago and was sentenced to serve 10 years. He had six years to his credit to date.

Return From South Texas Hunt.

Four Haskell men returned from a big hunt in South Texas in time to have venison for their Thanksgiving dinner and share it with many of their friends. This is an annual occasion for Dr. L. F. Taylor and Mr. J. W. Gholson who join a party from San Saba. They report four bucks and three wild turkeys. Mr. M. O. Field and Mr. F. A. West were with another party but they had the same good luck and brought all of the venison home that they cared for.

AN OFFICE MYSTERY

He 'phones at eight that he'll be late,
The boss says, "Take the day!"
And, when you find the boss that kind,
It's—well, it's hard to say
Just what it is, but, great gee whiz,
It must be something grand,
To keep the boss from getting cross;
It's hard to understand.
The boss says, "bring me ev'rything
That he's supposed to do.
I'll fix that ad, this kick he had
I'll have attended to.
I'll read his mail, I'll make that sale,
Just bring his work to me."
And people gasp. They just can't grasp
Just what it all can be.
Next morning, when we start again
To do our daily task,
He's missing yet, the boss's pet,"
But no one dares to ask.
Then just at nine, his eyes a-shine,
His features lit with joy,
He prances in, his face a-grin—
"Well, fellows, it's a boy!"

West Texas Gets Big Shipment Goods On Initial Voyage of S.S. 'West Texas'

STAMFORD, Nov. 26.—Commodities ranging from cleaning compound and caustic soda to steel channels and wall paper united to make a success of the first voyage of S. S. West Texas, the Southern Steamship company's new craft named in honor of the empire region of West Texas and in honor of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

More than fifteen shippers and consignees gave their assistance to the initial voyage of the boat. Fifteen of these booked their shipments for transportation of the special train of cargo carried direct from the S. S. West Texas at Houston over the Trinity and Brazos Valley Railway. The special train left Houston at 1:30 p. m. on November 8 and arrived at Fort Worth at 5:35 a. m. the following morning, making the run in 17 hours.

Rug dealers, furniture men, motor car salesmen, grocerymen, and wall paper merchants were among those shoppers and consignees of freight aboard West Texas, only sea-going craft in the world to be named for a specific section of the country and for a chamber of commerce organization serving it, and only ship in the world to be doused with mineral water in lieu of the "stuff" used in the good old days before prohibition.

The list of those individuals and concerns interested in West Texas to the extent of making the first voyage of her namesake successful includes:

Quaker State Oil, shipping a car of oil for E. T. Kelley Oil company, Amarillo.

Indian Refining company, Philadelphia, shipping a car of cleaning compound for Amarillo Ice and Distributing company, Amarillo.

U. S. Chain and Forging company, Pittsburgh, shipping a car of auto tire chains for McDonald Auto Supply company, Amarillo.

Mathieson Alkali Works, New York and Saltville, Va., shipping a car of caustic soda for American Refining company, Wichita Falls.

Congoleum-Nairn, Inc., Philadelphia, shipping a car of congoleum floor covering for Bell Furniture and Mattress company, Wichita Falls.

Quaker Oil, shipping a car of oil for Franklin Motor Car company, Abilene.

New York Canners, Inc., Rochester, N. Y., shipping car of canned goods for H. O. Wooten Grocer company, Fort Worth.

Bethlehem Steel company, Bethlehem, Pa., shipping car of steel channels for Texas Steel company, Fort Worth.

R. M. Hollingshead company, Camden, N. J., shipping car of "Whiz" products to their Dallas home.

Car of batteries for Ford Motor company, Dallas.

Car of wall paper for Dallas Paint and Paper company, Dallas.

In addition to these shipments one car each of merchandise was assigned to various concerns at Amarillo, Wichita Falls and Dallas, and two cars to consignees at Fort Worth.

Aberdovey, Scotland, has prohibited the playing of golf on Sunday.

TWO LARGE GAMES TODAY.

THE ARMY AND NAVY GAME AND THE WICHITA FALLS-LUBBOCK GAME.

* * *

THE SCORES.

Army 16; Navy 10.
Wichita Falls 13; Lubbock 9.

* * *

DOPE 'EM AND PRAY.

Yeah, all wrong, I guess you say. All right, all right, do your own selecting. Both contests look like toss-ups from a pre-game slant. Whereupon, merely because of the even-Stephen rating a couple of clubs more than likely will overwhelm their brother gridders by topheavy tabulations.

* * *

? ? ? ?

Wichita Falls, once strung out, has the ability to shove several touchdowns over the final white marker, but the Pack doesn't always get strung out. We've figured in a touchdown and a safety for the Westerners. Perhaps it should have been a pair of touchdowns and safeties.

* * *

Coach Von Tunglen places a rugged machine on the field today that has weathered a more or less hurricanic campaign in the Panhandle, a machine at the top of its form and inspired to such a point it will wage a far stronger fight than it ordinarily is capable of.

* * *

McCallum sends possibly a smoother working eleven into the game, a team also which is in great physical condition

* * *

MONEY BOYS SAY 5-4.

The battle of the service elevens finds the wagering boys placing 5 to 4 odds on the Army Mule. Were the writer given to playing hunches he would pick the Navy. But had we played a hunch we would have chosen T. C. U. and Oklahoma university Thursday. T. C. U. went down by a 14-13 score. The Sooners fought the Oklahoma Aggies to a 14-14 deadlock.

* * *

CADETS LOSE ONE.

Both the Midshipmen and Cadets have set up enviable records this year. In its initial major contest of the season the Army defeated Syracuse, 27 to 21. Boston university fell by a 41-0 score. A week later the soldiers sloughed Yale, 33 to 0. Franklin and Marshall was snowed under, 55 to 0. Then came Knute's Micks to the Yank stadium where Notre Dame trimmed the Cadets, 7 to 0, Chris Flanagan, the Port Arthur boy, scampering 60 yards for the touchdown. The following week, using many second-stringers, Army trod on Ursinus, 21 to 13. In early season play, Army beat Detroit, 21-0, and Davis and Elkins, 21-7.

* * *

IS IT NAVY YEAR?

Navy's 1926 record looks on paper a bit stronger than Army's. The Sailors have copped nine straight victories. Their most notable achievements are successes over Georgetown, Colgate, Michigan and Princeton. The Middies started with a 17-13 win over Purdue, then Richmond fell, 26-0, Drake, 24-7, Princeton, 27-13, Colgate, 13-7, Michigan, 10-0, West Virginia Wesleyan, 53-7, Georgetown, 10-7, and Loyola (Baltimore), 35 to 13.

* * *

In seasonal play, Army has the edge with 14 victories against Navy's 12. Two games were ties. This is their twenty-ninth meeting. Is it a Navy year? Well, maybe.

* * *

ALL OVER AGAIN.

The all-season has swooped down on us again. The boys have begun picking their all-teams. George Kirksey of the Dallas Journal has submitted his all-Southwestern selection. It follows:

FIRST TEAM.

OPEN ATTACK TO FEATURE TITULAR TILT

Lubbock and Wichita Falls Rest On Guns Ready For Fray

LINE-UPS.

Francis	Left Half.	Dollahite
Mitchell	Right Half.	Hill
Edmonson	Full Back.	Smith

Wichita Falls and Lubbock rested on their guns Friday night awaiting the timer's signal Saturday afternoon at 2:30 to open a fusilade in the drive for the championship of district one, Texas university interscholastic league, at Spudder park.

Both teams were declared primed for this afternoon's crucial battle, mentally and physically.

M'Callum's Coyotes went through a tapering off exercise Friday morning on the Junior college field. Von Tunglen's eleven arrived yesterday and inndulged in light warming up calesthencis Friday afternoon.

The rival elevens are keyed to a high pitch and considering they appear very evenly matched the outcome of the contest depends largely on which team gets the jump first and which team is favored by the inevitable breaks of the game.

Versatile Elevens.

Both machines boast powerful off-tackle plungers. Each is gifted with powerful lin ebuckers, and each is quite adept with the overhead attack.

In Smith, Lubbock has a mean, plunging back. Francis and Edmonson have proved themselves powerful at smashing through the forward defense.

In Reynolds and Dollahite, Lubbock has two nimble-footed warriors who may be expected to scamper around the wings for sensational broken field advances. In Mitchell, Wichita Falls has a fleet-running back who admits no peer in the sectio nat skirting the terminals.

That the game will bring out a versatile attack by both clubs seems assured. Straight football is not expected to be resorted to by either team for long unless that form of attack proves highly successful. It is likely both will go into the air and it is likely both will wage and open and running fight.

The victor today meets the Ranger Bulldogs next week in bi-district battle.

Starting Time Changed.

A point of interest for the fans is the fact the gridiron has been moved closer t othe grandstand at quite a sacrifice, taking in the entire Spudderinfield. Thirty wagon loads of fertilizer have been removed from the diamond just for today's melee.

Special attention is called to the change of time. The game instead of starting at 3 o'clock as previously arranged is to begin at 2:30, announces Coach McCallum.

The Westerners will enter the affray practically intact. One man, Jack Rutledge, a tackle, will be held from the line-up due to an ankle injury.

Wichita Falls will start the battle without the dependable Captain Dobson and Wymore Browning. They are expected in the game almost any minute after the scrap once has swung under way, however. Jimmy Rayzor, quarterback, is out with injuries and Jewel Sisk, end, cannot play because of a broken jaw received in the Vernon melee.

Frazee Plans Change of System In High School Classes.

C. C. Frazee, instructor in gymnastics for the high school and the Junior college, is planning to make a change in the system of gymnastics taught here in his high school classes.

Heretofore he has used a combination of the German and American systems. The type of work given thus far emphasizes the idea of building strength and of developing muscles. The Swedish system is centered more around the idea of developing grace and acility of movement, of building erectness and dignity of carriage, and of general all-round exercise rather than muscular strength.

The series of exercises in the old course will take a week more to complete, Frazee said, and then the new plan will be put into effect.

The Rule basketball team played Rochester Thursday in their second game this season. The game was 22-5 in favor of Rule. Friday Rule defeated Aspermont in a fast game, 14-8.

DECATUR MEETS BURLESON DEC. 2 IN TITLE CONTEST

GREENVILLE, Nov. 26.(AP)—Decatur Baptist college of Decatur and Burleson college of Greenville, will meet Thursday, December 2, to decide the State Junior college championship, officials of the latter college announced today. The place where the game will be played is yet to be selected. The Decatur college is winner of the western half of the state, while Burleson is champion of east Texas.

MICKS TACKLE PITT PANTHER

Jones Declares "It Looks Like Good, Hard Fight"

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—The roll of gridiron musketry will echo from eastern football stadia tomorrow for the last time this season when eight teams call their warriors of the moleskin into the curtain conflicts of the campaign.

Pittsburgh will be the scene of the only struggle which bears upon the fight of titular honors. The rugged Carnegie Tech eleven which has been beaten only by Washington and Jefferson and New York univrsity will seek to stop the march of Knute Rockne's powerful Notre Dame machine to its ninth straight triumph and a claim on the national championship. The game ranks second in importance only to the Army-Navy classic at Chicago where the service teams will strike final blows in a game involving both eastern and national supremacy. Navy players sharing with Lafayette the distinction of posting an unbeaten and untied record, have before them the possibility of establishing a strong claim on both championships in the opinion of observers.

While Lafayette's high powered offensive has rolled up impressive scores, critics point to the fact that the Middies have come thus far through the most severe schedule attempted by any team on the Atlantic seaboard with victories over Purdue, Drake, Princeton, Colgate, Michigan, West Virginia Wesleyan and Georgetown. There will be three other eastern battles betwen traditional fos pitting Holy Cross against Boston college; Bucknell against Dickinson, and West Virginia Wesleyan against Davis Elkins.

One other major eastern eleven will ring down the curtain in the middle west with Georgetown tackling Detroit.

Last year's scores between teams meeting tomorrow were as follows:

Army vs. Navy, 10-3.
Boston College vs. Holy Cross, 17-6.
Notre Dame at Carnegie, no game.
Bucknell vs. Dickinson, 7-0.
Georgetown vs. Detroit, 24-0.
West Virginia Wesleyan vs. Davis Elkins, 6-3.

SPORT a la CARTE

BY ROY GROVE

The fight game is at a standstill. Who is left to battle who, unless we are quite content with "return things," such as an exchange of thugs between Paul Berlenbach and one French Delaney. There are possibilities of another meeting. We must smile, winter is coming on and our lips chap.

Tunney has no fight, the featherweights are fighting off titles among themselves, every battle at that weight is for the unofficial world's crown. Every locality to itself.

Pete Latzo has an injured hand. We're not kidding Pete—he really says so and we believe him. He's not the type of defender who leaves things undefended, although he has plenty of work ahead of him, through Dundee, Zivic and one Tommy Freeman.

There's the natural fighter, that guy Freeman. We'd like to see them get together and have it over. This writer has been for that fight ever since Tommy licked Livino and received such a punk decision against Zivic.

Tommy smeared this Zivic boy all over the ring and all around the referee. Mat Hinkle was on the carpet at the time, and it was all he could do to keep out of the way of Freeman's punches, and then it turned out to be one of those things where a battler comes out for the twelfth round and fights "12 rounds" in one round and—a draw out of the thing.

* * *

Those are the funny little kinks in boxing that queer the game.

However, we are inclined to believe that a Freeman and a Latzo fight is the only natural in the game today, not only believe it but actually declare it. Both of their records stand to prove the theory and both are willing to take on any one or the other at any time and place.

There are things that most people don't like about Latzo and again there are things that some would not believe about Freeman, but we know that Tommy would fight back if he had his head cut off and with all the sportsmanship in the world, to boot.

Freeman is the one lad in the game who is more of the "college student fighter" than the ham and slugger we find battling around the game in a most haphazard and reckless manner. He's a battler when he battles and a student when he isn't.

Mr. J. O. Anderson is now a professional tennis player after a long and distinguished service in amateurish circles. Good for Mr. Anderson. It will not be long before all the amateur tennis stars are professionals.

Why not? There is nothing to amateur tennis. Who cares whether you are an amateur or a professional? The difference between an amateur standing and a professional career is the direction in which the money goes, and the difference is vast.

All sports between boxing and golf have a questionable amateur balance. The definition is too fine, in most cases, and unjust on many occasions.

Amateur tennis is sportsmanship and who cares outside of the player and a select few, what the statis may be as long as the game is played. The average fan in tennis is generally a player of some ability, who is concerned in the amateur game, whereas, in the professional field the fan is Mr. Anybody who is a good sport and wants to go see the greatest of the well ballyhooed specialists.

He doesn't give a racket who gets the dough as long as he pays a few cents out himself and has had his desires satisfied that it was a good game of tennis as far as he was concerned, or something new at any rate. What of the game?

Tennis will be a success, professionally, if it is brought to the fans and not staged in some out of the way place where the devotee must travel inconveniently and then not understand it. Suzanne could dance as well as play.

Golf is the only successfully conducted amateur game, the professional can never be much better than the amateur, also professional golf doesn't pay in proportion to the players. There are only a select few who can make any kind of money at golf and those few must be continually in professional tournament play to make good.

Amateur boxing is something else. A good boxer turns professional instantly; the game is not overcrowded; the life of the professional is short and the newly turned amateur takes his place for a few years. Golf or tennis players may go on indefinitely.

Professional tennis will develope the player for years to come as football in its amateurishness was never the game it has been in the last five years, owing to the inducements the professional field yielded.

We may also look forward to more college professional baseball players.

TO BOSTON?

There is a growing suspicion that Eddie Collins, deposed manager of the Chicago White Sox, is going to take over the reins of the Boston Red Sox.

Mr. Quinn is now in Columbus discussing some important details but may not get to the question of a manager until minor details are ironed out.

Eddie has no desire to quit the game. He feels there are many good years left in him. His injuries kept him off the team part of last season and was more reason for the White Sox unsuccess rather than poor managership.

Coaches Expect Close Struggle

NAVY MACHINE INEXPERIENCED SAYS INGRAM

Navy Has Chance of Posting Unbeaten and Untied Record

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—The success of certain plays in the Army-Navy game tomorrow will depend on what one brother does to another.

Charley Born has been a crack end on the Army team for three years, ranking as all-American calibre, while Arthur Born has established himself as a regular at guard on the Navy team this year for the first time.

End runs by the navy call for a line shift with Brother Arthur designated to "take out" Brother Charley when the sweep is toward the latter's post. If he doesn't it's another story—and another play.

The parents of the Born boys have come here from Racine, Wis., for the game. They will sit on the Army side of the field, but their sympathis are with the Navy.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Rival coaches, Capt. Lawrence "Biff" Jones of West Point and William A. (Navy Bill) Ingram of Annapolis, anticipated a spectacular, closely fought struggle for service honors tomorrow.

Neither is willing to concede much, if any, advantage to the other, but each believes the team coached by the other should be rated the favorite in a battle which marks the climax of the first year efforts of both Jones and Ingram in their present posts.

"It looks like a good, hard fight to me," Captain Jones told the Associated Press tonight.

"We've got a lot of respect for the Midshipmen. They must have class to have come through such a hard schedule unbeaten so far and they must be well coached. My men have acquitted themselvs admirably thus far and are in excellent shape."

Coach Ingram expressed optimism over the chances of the Middies, but pointed out that "they're just a lot of boys, most of them without a great deal of football experience, going up against a seasoned, veteran Army outfit."

"You can't take anything away from the Army because it lost to Notre Dame, nor can you concede us too much because we haven't been beaten. Of course, we're proud of our record, but we'll need everything we've got to stop the Cadets. Their experience gives them an edg, I beliv, but that won't worry our boys. They're in good trim and will give a good account of themselves. It looks like a real scrap."

Line-ups in Clash of Service Elevens

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—The prospective line-ups for tomorrow's Army-Navy battle and the home state of the players:

Time of game 2 p. m., central time.

Veteran Army Team Cannot Halt Man o'War That Shelled Nation's Best, Say Navy Men

"Fair and Cold."

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.(AP)—"Fair and cold" is the weather promised for the Army-Navy game tomorrow by the weather bureau tonight. The snow storm which blew into Chicago today on a stiff northwest gale had abated tonight but the wind remained and a stiff breeze may play its part in deciding tomorrow's contest.

The temperature is expected to be around 25 or 30 degrees above zero.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—The army and navy will battle for football supremacy tomorrow in a tug o' war between two stalwart elevens that promises to be as thrilling as its setting will be colorful and spectacular.

Meeting west of the Alleghenies for the first time since they began their football feud in 1890, two of the finest aggregations ever cast in the gridiron moulds of West Point and Annapolis will put the finishing touches to an epic picture in their twenty-ninth contest.

They will meet on newly dedicated Sodliers field in a struggle for championship, fame and glory before probably close to 110,000 spectators, by all odds the greatest throng ever assembled for a gridiron game in the United States.

Shattered also by this vast outpouring into the big lake front stadium will be all financial records for football. At the face value of $10 and $15 the ticket sale has approximated $800,000, while speculators' prices ranging as high as $100 in many cases, will boost the aggregate cost of attendance to at least $1,000,000.

Unequaled in Drama

No contest in all the colorful history of the army-navy classic has approached this spectacle, either in drama or nation-wide interest, and few have carried prospects of any more exciting play for honors on the field.

The army, among expert observers, has been established a seven to five favorite on the eve of the battle in spite of the fact that the Cadets have been whipped once, by Notre Dame, and that it is the navy's unbeaten team which has national as well as eastern championship hopes at stake in the fray.

The Cadets' one setback, they point out, came at the hands of an eleven that has swept aside all rivals in a sweep toward national title heights. And that defeat was only by a margin of a touchdown that represented the only "break" in a closely fought game with Knute Rockne's Hoosiers.

Whatever advantages the army may enjoy through greater seasoning, however, seem far from convincing to supporters of the navy, who predict that even so capable an aggregation as the Cadets present cannot stop the advance of the gridiron man o' war that shelled such teams as Colgate, Michigan, Georgetown, Princeton and Purdue to defeat.

Defenses Strong.

In both camps there is a feeling of respect for the strength of the rival defense and for the power of the opposing attack. An army line that boasts such stars as Born, Sprague, Saunders, Schmidt and Daly will have its day's work cut out for it in charging such huskies as Eddy, Wickhorst, Lloyd and Hardwick. And it will take all the experience ability and such Cadet ball-carriers as Harry Wisson, "Swede" Murrell and Cagle to offset the varsatility of a Middie attack led by Goudge, Hennegan, Caldwell and Hamilton.

Seldom have two sturdier outfits been arrayed against each other than these and in the final analysis of a game in which tradition plays so strong a part observers find it difficult to regard the outcome otherwise than largely a tossup in spite of expert leaning toward the army .

Thousands See Grid Dedication

Soldiers Field Received By Army and Navy In Snow Storm

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP) — Ranked in columns across a snow-swept field, 8,000 students of the United States military and naval academies today shared in the dedication of Soldiers field, where tomorrow the 22 men representing the army and navy football teams will hold the eyes of 100,000 spectators in the first service game ever played in the middle west.

Thousands of spectators assembled in the vast stadium today, braving a bitter wind and a driving, biting snow to attend the ceremonies dedicating the city's monument to its war dead. Vice-President Charles G. Dawes made the principal speech.

The Cadets paraded from their respective hotel quarters to the stadium in the face of icy flakes and sarp winds off Lake Michigan, to find a colorful picture awaiting them and to take their place in the concrete bowl which they studded with their blue and gray uniforms, while around them thousands of student military corps from high schools dotted the seating sections together with American legion units which preceded the cadets to the stadium in a parade down Michigan avenue. The legion section presented a pagent depicting the history of the flag, and behind them were service men of allied nations carrying their respective national colors. Thousands formed a human gauntlet along Michigan avnue during the parade, braving the wind and snow.

16 States Represented.

The football game tomorrow, which starts at 2 p. m., central time, has for its 22 initial warriors representatives of 16 states and the District of Columbia in the lineups.

Rain and fog in which Cadets and Midshipmen marched from their trains to hotels upon arrival early in the day turned to snow while the 2,200 men were at luncheon in the black skuare room of Marshall Field and company.

Rear Admiral Louis E. Nulton, commander of the naval academy, accepted the stadium in the name of the navy, and Gen. Merch B. Stewart, commander of the military academy, for the army, in lieu of Gen. John J. Pershing, who could not attend.

Only a handful of 50,000 school children bidden to the ceremony came to the field, their teachers deeming the weather too severe. But older persons filled the seats. When the marchers had taken their places by the reviewing stand the Cadets entered, platoon after platoon following the army band around the edge of the gridiron.

Second Social Welcome.

Tonight the city outdid itself in social welcome to its guests, with a ball at the Drake hotel which set another record. The 3,000 cadets and Midshipmen were provided with as many young women partners, invited at their request or by an entertainment committee which supplied Chicago girls from all walks of life for those who had no preference in partners.

The event began with a buffet dinner at 7 o'clock and by 9 o'clock everybody was dancing.

But Cinderella's night of glory ended with the stroke of 12 and therein the girl dancers found thmselves more favored. For shortly before midnight the dancing thousands were piled into busses and brought downtown to the Oriental and the Chicago theaters, where they saw a show and continued their merry making three hours after midnight.

Tomorrow's program calls for little more than the game. The 100,000 persons, only a fraction of them Chicagoans who jam into Soldiers field will see the service men come from an 11:30 luncheon at field museum to the stadium at 1:30 for maneuvers and at 2 o'clock the game begins.

The cadets entrain at 6 o'clock but the football squads will stay behind to be feted Saturday night and Sunday.

Ames Invades Coast Gridiron

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.(AP)—A band of 22 football artists known and feared as the Cyclones from Iowa State college at Ames, Iowa, blew into town today prepared to swoop down tomorrow on the Bruin squad which flies the colors of University of California's southern branch here.

Coach Noel Workman and his twisters found California's sunshine absent but received glad hands from a delegation of branch students which skidded down to the station determined to show the visitors the town despite the drizzling rain.

A workout on the coliseum turf this afternoon was held by Workman as the only active preliminary to the intersectional fracas tomorrow. The Iowans harbored no doubts that the Bruins would be disorganized completely when they loosed their storm and general sentiment hereabouts provided little material for argument.

However, Coach Bill Spaulding has been pointing his team toward the coming swirl all season and expects to spring some surprises when Joe Fleming starts at halfback.

RELAY RACES TODAY

United States and Canada to Be Represented at Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, England, Nov. 26. (AP)—The United States and Canada will be represented at today's annual inter-varsity relay races, five United States and one Canadian trak star, capturing two of the seven events for Oxford. Cambridge took the rest of the program. The 400-yard and the half mile events fell to the overseas runners.

The relay team in the 400-yard event was composed of R. S. Sams, Rhodes scholar from Georgia, a former Princeton star; Caleb F. Gates, Rhodes scholar from New Jersey, captain of last year's Princeton track team; Bayes M. Norton, captain of last year's Yale track team and Earl R. Toenen, Rhodes scholar from West Virginia. The team won by three yards in 40 4-5 seconds.

The runners in the half mile event were Gates, Toenen, Robert L. Hyatt, Rhodes cholar from Arkansas, and an old Harvard athlete and H. V. Warren, Canadian track star. The team won by four yards in one minute, 30 4-5 seconds.

TRACK MEETS DECIDED

Drake Relays April 29, Kansas and Ohio State April 22-23.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Collegiate track meets of the middlewest were decided today by coaches of the Big Ten and other schools. The Drake relays, leading outdoor classic of this section, will be held at Des Moines April 29 and 30.

The Kansas relays at Lawrence, Kan., and the Ohio State relays at Columbus will be held on the same dates, April 22 and 23.

The indoor big ten championship meet will be held at Northwestern university March 11 and 12 and the conference outdoor meet at the University of Wisconsin May 27 and 28.

Charles W. Browser, football coach at Grove City college, will succeed G. M. Williamson as first assistant to J. Sutherland, head coach at the University of Pittsburgh. Browser's eleven furnished one of the surprises by defeating the Geneva team.

GRANDFIELD RUNS WILD.

Zaneis Loses Grid Battle By Score of 52 to 0.

GRANDFIELD, Nov. 26—Grandfield defeated Zaneis, 52 to 0, Thursday with Eversole leading the attack. Dudenhoefer and Clemmer scored touchdowns in the first period. Eversole scored in the second quarter. Hosch, Clemmer and Eversole crossed the line in the third quarter and Eversole and Phares went over in the final period.

Eversole flashed with a 60-yard and 80-yard run.

BEARS BUST GANDERS

HOUSTON, Nov. 26.(AP)—In the fastest game seen on high school football fields here this year, the South End Bears defeated the Goose Creek Ganders, 27 to 0, at South End field Friday afternoon.

Thrasher turned in the feature run of the day. Hester, Goose Creek back, kicked to him on his own 37-yard line. He ran through a broken field and shook off six tacklers before being downed on the Ganders' four-yard line.

GOPHERS TO MIX IT WITH NORTHWESTERN 3 YEARS

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—A three-year agreement between Northwestern and Minnesota for the closing football game of the western conference season at Northwestern's new stadium probably will be signed by the athletic directors of the two schools, it was reported at the Big Ten meeting Friday.

A HORSE! A HORSE!

Earnings of the Harry Payne Whitney stable for the year are now beyond the $400,000 mark as a result of Thursday's winning of the Thanksgiving day handicap at Bowie by Backbone, son of Whisk Broom II-Stamina. Backbone also broke the Bowie track record for one and one-sixteenth miles by posting time of 1:57 2-5, bettering the former mark by 4 4-5 seconds.

TEX TALKS TO CHAMP

Tex Rickard will cast his first grenade in the promotion war over Gene Tunney's services next Monday. Tex has scheduled a conference with the heavyweight champion to talk over title bout opponents.

General Rules of the Contest

This competition is open to all residents of the states of Texas and Oklahoma, except employes of The Record News and members of their families.

Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire provided a payment of one of the amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution. NO SOLUTION UN-ACCOMPANIED BY A SUBSCRIPTION PAYMENT WILL BE REGISTERED.

The Record News offers these prizes for individual effort. While it is proper for members of one household to work together or several friends, it is not permissible for more than one of those working in unison to send a solution of the puzzle. When in the judgment of the contest manager more than one member of the same family, or more than one of any number of persons he believes have worked together send in a solution of the puzzle, he reserves the right to refund subscriptions and return the solutions he believes have been submitted contrary to the foregoing rule. The Record News reserves the right to reject any solutions it believes have not been submitted under proper conditions. The Record News also reserves the right to finally decide any other questions or points which may arise and those entering the contest agree to abide by such decisions.

In the event of ties on this puzzle, as many prizes will be reserved as there are contestants tied, before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution. For instance, if five people were tied on the best solution, the first five prizes will be reserved for them, and they would be awarded the prizes in accordance with the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. That is, the one submitting the best solution of the second puzzle would receive the first prize; the one submitting the next best, the second, and so on.

Subscriptions may be NEW or RENEWALS. Both count the same.

Closing Date

The Great Elephant Puzzle Contest Will Close at Nine P. M. Wednesday, December 1, 1926.

The earlier you send in your solution the longer time you will have to go over your figures, AND SEND IN ANOTHER SOLUTION, if you find you can do better. Additional charts may be secured at any time by calling at the address below or sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope for mailing them. NO SOLUTION CAN BE CHANGED AFTER IT HAS BEEN ONCE REGISTERED.

Important Facts to Remember

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning a prize, it does affect the amount you will receive, should you win one of the first nine prizes, as the value of these prizes is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the prize list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning a prize. Accuracy is what counts. .... Not more than one prize will be awarded to any one person

NEW TERRITORY MAY BE OPENED BY TEXAS CO. WILSON TEST

BAILING SAND AT 1710 FEET IN WELL TEST

If Producer It Opens Big Territory for Drilling In Archer Field

Texas company was bailing a sand at 1710 feet in the test which, if it makes a producer, will open up a wide stretch of territory for new drilling and for the deepening of old wells which were abandoned as dry at shallower depths than 1710 feet.

The well is Texas company's No. 1 L. F. Wilson and is located 1865 feet from the east line and 100 feet from the south line of lot 1, block 120, American Tribune colony subdivision in Archer county. It is four miles north of Archer City, about one mile northwest of the pool in the W. P. Hutchinson survey and approximately three miles southeast of the Oil Investment pool. All of the nearest production is found at depth around 1300 feet.

This test is surrounded by wells in its immediate vicinity which were drilled and abandoned in the past as non-producers. Should the Texas company complete as a commercial well it is expected that many of these wells will be deepened as well as many new ones started. The Texas company office here had received no report late Friday afternoon on the results obtained in bailing the sand.

News of The Fields

MAER-STANIFORTH, ET AL COOKE COUNTY

Maer-Staniforth and Stoneman and Baker No. 1 T. T. Harris, located in the Burton survey, Cooke county, is drilling at 860 feet.

TIDAL, TURBEVILLE

Tidal Oil company has abandoned as a dry hole at a total depth of 1522 feet its No. 3 Turbeville in block 172, Robert Carson survey, Archer county. A sand at 1470 feet was tested in this well but would not produce oil.

BRIDWELL & HEYDRICK, ABERCROMBIE & TAYLOR

Bridwell and Heydrick have completed as an estimated 125-barrel pumper their No. 4-A abercrombie and Taylor. The sand was topped at 1,323 feet. Location for No. 5-A is 150 feet out of the northeast corner of the lease in section 8, S. P. R. R. survey, abstract 1281, Archer county.

PANHANDLE, FERGUSON

Panhandle Refining company is moving on the rig to put down a test 3825 feet north and 2736 feet west of the southeast corner of the W. P. Ferguson farm in the W. H. Spillers survey, abstract 257, southwest Wichita county. This operation is approximately two miles northeast of the Riley-Griffin pool and about four miles southwest of Kemp City.

MARLAND, TURBEVILLE

Marland Oil company has a dry hole at the present depth of 1557 feet in its No. 11 Turbeville and preparations are being made to drill the well to a depth of 2000 feet in an effort to find a new deep pay for the Turbeville pool. Marland's No. 13 is set and cemented on the sand at 1390 feet. This lease is in block 172, Carson survey, Archer county.

TRAHAN, KEMP-KEMPNER

Paul Trahan's wildcat in block 7, F. Peterswick survey, Kemp and Kempner lands in northwest Archer county was last reported drilling at 1080 feet.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26.(AP)—Trading in the cotton market was rather quiet following the Thanksgiving holiday and prices fluctuated within a rather moderate range and somewhat erratically.

Liverpool was about as due when the market opened, but first trades showed slight losses and the market was soon four points below the previous close on all active months owing to the favorable weather in the belt. The market soon rallied four to seven points, but eased off again, 10 to 13 points on the weather outlook and on bearish views as to the probable carry-over at the end of the season. There was a slight rally and the weekly statistics, which were slightly more bullish than has been the case of late. Heater made mill takings for the week 527,000 bales and the movement into sight 749,113 bales. The market ruled quiet but steady during the afternoon with little price movement, although values rallied three to five points. The close was steady at net declines of two to six points.

First trades here showed losses of one to four points with December at 12.66, January at 12.59 and March at 12.72. The market later rallied, December trading up to 12.68, January to 12.68, and March to 12.76.

Prices eased off later in the morning, December dropping to 12.54, January to 12.55 and March to 12.85, or 10 to 12 points down from the highs of the morning. Prices were steadier during the late afternoon but the market showed little animation and the close was three to five points above the lows of the day.

Exports for the day totaled 8,523 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.(AP)—The cotton market was rather irregular today with December contracts relatively firm on covering or trade buying while later months were a shade easier under liquidation and southern selling or selling against near month purchases.

December sold up to 12.66, or 15 points net higher and closed at 12.64, while January after advancing from 12.52 to 12.57 eased off to 12.48 and closed at steady at a netadvance of 14 points on December, but generally three to four points net lower. The market opened at a decline of four points to an advance of three points and held fairly steady in early trading. Cables were rather disappointing and there were some overholiday selling orders here from the south but they appeared to be readily absorbed around the opening prices and the market firmed up in sympathy with the strength o fthe new position. The latter seemed to be promoted due to the fact that Wednesday's notices had gone into trade hands and that no additional notices of retenders were reported this morning. Part of the December buying was believed to be for mill account to fix prices, while there was covering by commission house shorts and buying to undo straddles between December and later deliveries.

Demand was sufficient to send the December price about 10 points over January early in the day and at the close the difference was 13 points, compared with a December discount of six points at the close Wednesday. The ruling of December was regarded as tending to confirm reports of a generally very steady to firm basis on the tenderable grades in the south, but some traders here expect increased spot offerings before Christmas. This view of the prospect may have led to liquidation or local selling on the bulges and after selling up to 12.78, March reacted to 12.68, closing at 12.74.

Private cables said trade calling and London buying had been offset by hedging and Manchester selling in the Liverpool market.

Exports today 14,323 making 3,821,214 so far this season. Port receipts 78,767; U. S. port stocks 1,822,992 bales.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.(AP)—Sensational bidding up of a few special stocks in which important developments are pending featured the resumption of the upward movement in today's stock market. The rally took place in the face of a marking up of call money rates from 4½ to 5 per cent coincident with the calling of about $30,000,000 in loans, which reflected the heavy withdrawal of funds in connection with mid-month settlements.

The weekly mercantile reviews reported little change in the general business situation which wholesale trade rather quiet because of the approach of the inventory season and retail trade showing signs of increased activity in anticipation of the holiday season. Bank clearings were again below the corresponding week last year.

In the stock market the trading appeared to be largely of a professional character with several powerful "bull" pools again active in a number of specialties. Commission houses reported little public participation although the volume of trading was fairly heavy for a holiday week session. Baldwin resumed the leadership of the advance in the active industrials by jumping seven points to 159 the highest price ever recorded and nearly three points above the previous record peak established in 1919. Texas Pacific Land Trust certificates which appear infrequently on the tape usually in 10 share lots were marked up 220 points to 1150, a record high price, on total sales of about 500 shares. U. S. Steel crossed 150 in large volume for a new gain of nearly three points on the day but General Motors improved only fractionally, probably on a renewal of rumors that the Ford interests were planning to bring out al and eight cylinder cars to compete with General Motors units. Another flock of new 1926 high records was established during the day, the list including such widely diversified issues as American Sugar Regining, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, Coca Cola, Eastman Kodak, International Harvest, Phillip Morris, Phillips Petroleum and United Fruit.

Fox Film "A" was run up three points in anticipation of an early showing of the new talking film of that company. South Porto Rican sugar jumped nine points to a new top at 140 on expectation of a special dividend distribution. Rails were sluggish the announcement of wag eincreases by several roads tending to dampen bullish enthusiasm. Weakness of the Van Sweringen issues was attributed to the delay in announcing the revised "Nickel Plate" merger plan. / Rock Island common and Prisco common touched new high prices in expectation of an early declaration of dividends on the former.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Another sharp rally in French francs, which ruled above 2.60 cents, and the weakness of the South American currencies were the contrasting features in the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling held steady around $4.84½.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.(AP)—Wheat values went higher today chiefly on account of heavy storm damage in Argentina and because of liberal export buying of wheat from North America. Closing quotations on wheat were firm at 1c to 1½c net advance, with corn ⅛@¼c to ⅝c up, oats ⅛ to ⅝c higher and provisions unchanged to a rise of 25c.

With corn belt weather unfavorable and husking returns below expectation, corn prices were independently firm, May delivery of corn climbed to above 80 cents for the first time in weeks. Oats followed corn.

Provisions were responsive to the upward swing both of hog values and of grain.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN.

AUDITORIUM, STREET AND SEWER BONDS NOW READY FOR SALE

CITY'S BONDS APPROVED BY ATTY. GENERAL

Issue to Mature Serially From One to Forty Years

The last barrier standing in the way of Wichita Falls' new municipal auditorium was swept away Friday morning when the attorney general's office at Austin approved a bond issue of $500,000 which was recently voted for this project. Sewer improvement bonds to the value of $100,000 and street improvement bonds to the value of $150,000 were also approved.

City Clerk W. E. McBroom and City Attorney W. E. George took the bonds to Austin for approval Thursday night. A transcript of the bonds had already been examined and declared legal in every respect by the attorney general's office and little time was necessary in getting the approval of that department to the Wichita Falls issue.

The bonds will bear 4 3-4 per cent interest and will mature serially from one to 40 years. They represent one of the most interesting bond issues of the city, in that a large portion of the money is devoted to an enterprise meeting the favor of practically all of the citizenship.

They were voted in an election held September 30 of this year and carried by a majority of nearly three to one.

The contract for sale of the bonds has already been made by the city council to A. J. McMahan of Oklahoma City, and this contract stipulates that the money for the bonds will be deposited in local banks upon receipt of the signed and approved bonds by Mr. McMahan's New York office.

The bonds will immediately be delivered to New York, and probably will be sent direct from Austin.

Contract for the new city auditorium will probably be definitely let by the city council at their next regular meeting, which will be Monday night.

Will Meet To Plan Revival

Pastors and Committeemen To Meet Sunday At Floral Heights M. E.

A meeting of pastors of the city together with committeemen from their churches will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Floral Heights Methodist church to make plans concerning the union revival to be held in this city next spring. Dr. Floyd Allan Bash, minister of the First Christian church, will have charge of the devotional service, following which the group will divide into four groups: the finance committee, advertising, every member canvas and executive.

Baptist Church Ends First Year

Highland Heights Congregation Celebrates First Anniversary Thurs.

Rev. J. R. Balch of Seymour was the principal speaker at Highland Heights Baptist church in the celebration of the first anniversary of the church Thursday night.

The pastor, Rev. H. J. Ballew, introduced the speakers, and among them were E. E. Fuller, DeShields, and J. W. Nicholson. Rev. W. H. Townsend of Lamar Avenue Baptist church, led in prayer. Music was furnished by a quartet composed of Blake Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parker, and Lambert, with Mrs. J .C. Mosley at the piano.

JUSTICE HURT

Judge Gwynn Breaks Arm While Cranking Car.

Judge R. V. Gwynn, justice of the peace, place No. 1, suffered a very painful injury at his home on Filmore street Friday morning while attempting to crank his automobile. The engine back-fired and the crank struck the judge on the right arm, breaking his arm in three places and bruising him severely.

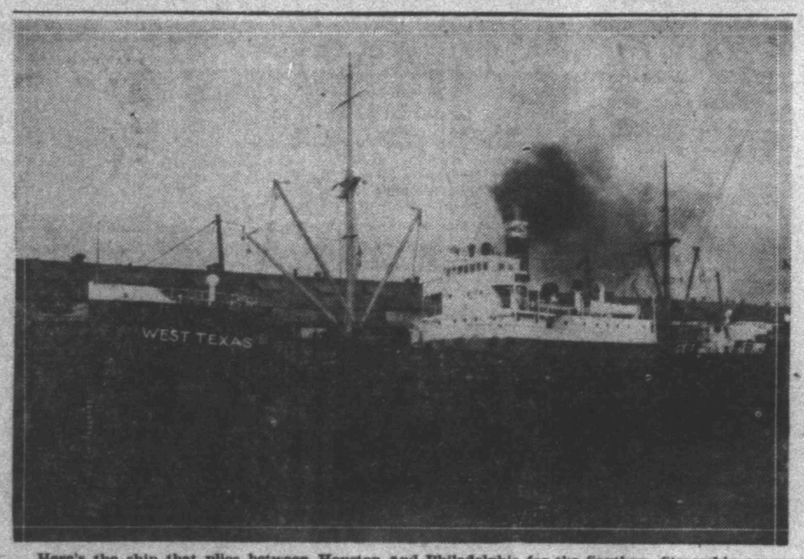

Judge Gwynn was confined to his home all day Friday as a result of the injury, but stated that he would be back in his office and ready for business today.

The Shansi provincial government of North China will erect a central wireless plant in Taiyuanfun, the capital, and possibly will place six others throughout the province.

OUST MARIE AS RULING QUEEN

Death of King Ferdinand Near and Coup d' Etat Is Expected Hourly

PARIS, Nov. 26.(AP)—Rumania seemingly is on the threshold of momentous political events. King Ferdinand is reported to be near death and western Europe is flooded with reports that former Crown Prince Carol may return from France to the homeland and by a coup d'etat take possession of the throne the rights to which he renounced last January.

Simultaneously there are reports that the king, who is suffering from cancer, is on the road to recovery, and that Carol has no other intention than to continue to lead an easy life in Neuilly.

Marie on Atlantic.

With Queen Marie on the Atlantic, voyaging homeward from her visit to the United States and unable to take part in the negotiations it is reported that the political parties, despairing of the life of Ferdinand, are preparing for a new fight. This report says it is more than a possibility that Carol, supported by the peasants party and certain elements of the army, with which he is popular, will attempt to return and make a bid for his father's throne.

Last January parliament passed an act accepting Carol's decision to give up the rights to the throne rather than the woman of his choice. The act named his five-year-old son, Prince Michael, born of Carol's marriage to Princess Helen of Greece, as heir apparent. A council of three regents was then named to rule in the event of Ferdinand's death until Prince Michael should reach his majority.

It now is generally reported that all Rumania is looking for early modification of the constitution with respect to the regency and that it was this probability rather than the king's ill health that prompted the early return of Queen Marie.

FERDINAND EXPECTED TO DIE TONIGHT REPORT.

LONDON, Nov. 26.(AP)—The Bucharest correspondent of the Westminster Gazette says King Ferdinand of Rumania "is not expected to live until morning." The dispatch bearing today's (Friday) date adds that blood congestion of the large intestines, due to cancer is causing blood poisoning. Bucharest is described as "awaiting a coup d'etat."

A special correspondent sent by the Daily Mail to Bucharest to investigate the condition of the king, telegraphed from Budapest that Ferdinand is desperately ill with cancer of the bowels.

QUEEN MARIE LOSING HER POPULARITY.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 26.(AP)—Queen Marie of Rumania, advices from Bucharest say has lost much of her popularity owing to her absence in America, and will not be allowed to interfere in questions of state upon her return. These advices state that it is even doubtful whether she will be placed on the regency council in the event of a change in its membership.

In some quarters here the belief is held that the whole problem will be solved by elliminating the present Hohenzollern dynasty altogether and placing on the throne a representative of the old Bessarabian Moldavian line of Wallachian princely families.

Childress County Producing 40,000 Bales Cotton

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Nov. 27.—Nearly 40,000 bales of cotton will be handled this season by the gins of Childress, and the county will gin 75,000 bales. This fact puts Childress ahead of the other cities in the Panhandle-Plains district, a remarkable standing when it is considered that Childress county is the smallest in the district. Childress county produces more cotton per square acre than any other county in Northwest Texas.

FLONZALEY '4' PERFORM HERE

Appreciative Audience Cheers Noted Musicians In Concert

Perfection, if there is such a thing, has been obtained by the Flonzaley quartet which played Friday night at the Junior college. Perfection in ensemble, unified in expression, and finished in its execution are characteristics of the four who presented an entertainment program to a small but appreciative audience last night.

Adolfo Betti, first violin, Alfred Pochun, second violin, Nicolas Moldavan, viola and Iwan d.Archambeau, violoncelle, opened their program with Mozart's "Quartet in D major (K575). This was followed by a trio, Beethoven's "Shingtreo, Op. 9," by Mm. Ponchon, Moldavan and d'Archambeau. The other numbers included "Pastorale," Bloch; "Immodoiberico," Halffter; "Irish cradle song," Pochon and "Serenade," Haydn.

Wichitans who heard the excellent performance last night listened to the world's only organization of the kind in the Flonzaley quartet. This group was founded in 1903 by E. J. de Coppet, a Swiss music lover, who resolved to form a string quartet which should take rank with the leading organizations in the world. He engaged three pupils of Cesar Thompson, a famous Belgian violinist, Messrs. Betti, Pochon and Ugo Ara, as the first and second violins and viola and Archambeau as 'cellist. Rehearsals were heard on the "Villa Flonzaley" from which the name comes. The quartet has become world famous and has played in the leading music centers of this country and Europe.

Practice makes perfection, and the care and precision which these artists have taken with their music makes their programs of the highest quality.

The violin on which Betti played was made in 1741 and produced a marvelous tone.

The Flonzaley quartet was brought to Wichita Falls by the Musician's club of the city.

MACHINE SHOP REPORTS RAID

Twenty-Dollars Taken From Filing Cabinet By Burglars

The Clark Machine shop, 122 Ohio avenue, reported the theft of $20 cash from their office Thursday night to police headquarters Friday.

The money was taken from a cigar box in the filing cabinet in the office and burglars are believed to have entered through a window which was found open when the place opened for business Friday morning.

Three Burk Boys Admit Burglary

State They Took Money From Confectionery In Burkburnett

County Juvenile Officer, W. G. Bralley, was called to Burkburnett yesterday morning to take charge of three boys age 10 who were held there on charges of burglary.

The boys were brought to Wichita Falls and here confessed to having burglarized the Palace of Sweets at Burkburnett and stated that they took some where between $5 and $8 from the cash register.

The boys are all sons of reputable and well known citizens of Burkburnett, the father of one of the boys having been an officer of this county for 12 years. Parents of the boys all express themselves as being willing for the boys to be sent to the reformatory at Gatesville, but no action in that matter has been taken yet.

Aspirin Gargle in Sore Throat or Tonsilitis

Prepare a harmless and effective gargle by dissolving two "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in four tablespoonfuls of water. Gargle throat thoroughly. Repeat in two hours if necessary.

Be sure you use only the genuine Bayer Aspirin, marked with the Bayer Cross, which can be had in tin boxes of twelve tablets for few cents.—Adv.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, and emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

AS IF WE KNEW THEY WERE COMING BACK

We know that a good many people never have occasion to buy lumber more than once or twice in a lifetime.

But that doesn't prevent our dealing with them, in quality and service, as if we knew they were going to need lumber every week.
