County Receives Refuge Payment

Bob Shields, manager of the Aransas National Wildlife, presented Aransas County Judge John D. Wendell with an $8,000 check this week, part of the Refuge income returned to the county for construction of roads and schools.

This will be split two ways, Judge Wendell said, as it has been in the past, with half going to the county and the other half going to the school district.

This income will be augmented considerably in the next fiscal year, when, under a bill (Senate 1363) provides for payment of ¾ of one percent of the adjusted value of the 45,230 acres of the Refuge in Aransas County.

Shields said the adjusted value is now $1,754,000, or about three times what the federal government originally paid for the land.

Three-quarters of one percent of this would be about $13,155.

Annual Football Banquet Speaker Is Gil Steinke

Coach Gil Steinke, of the Texas A&I College Javelinas, was the principal speaker at the annual Pirate football banquet Tuesday night, held in the junior high school cafeteria.

He said "this affords me the pleasure of visiting old friends and brings back memories of one of the former Rockport athletes with whom I was associated for a short period of time—Ernest (The Eel) Camehl.

"Ten years ago he came to A&I and he was probably the greatest broken field runner we ever had. If you've got any more football players like him, I would certainly like to talk to them.

"I have spent a great deal of time in Rockport on other occasions, manly because another of your citizens, Jack Sanders. I first knew him back in 1945, when we both were playing for the Philadelphia Eagles.

"We had a real time back in those days, and it was a year when all we had to do to win the championship was to beat the New York Giants, a team that we had just beaten rather handily the week before.

"I always wanted to own a Cadillac, so had picked one out and told the salesman to hold it for me until Monday, thinking we would have a cinch to collect the winner's share of the playoff money. Everything went real fine. We had the Giants trailing at the half, 21-0, lo and behold, they came back and whipped us 28-21. I'm still waiting for that Cadillac.

"In the meantime, Jack had gone to coaching at Trinity University and in the spring of 1947 talked me into quitting football to help him. This was my first coaching job, and I found out I just thought I knew something about football. I am certain that I did'nt help Jack much, but he did help me that got me started in college coaching. Since then I have been fortunate in obtaining some good jobs with some good athletes to help me hold them and, consequently have managed to eat pretty well most of the time. From all appearances, Jack has had better jobs and more to eat, as I found out when I came back to try to recruit his son, Rocky, for A&I, if the girls don't beat me to him.

Football is wonderful sport and it affords an opportunity to work with young men. The thing that keeps you on your toes is the unpredictable things they do and say. Last September we had our opening meeting, and I was covering our hopes and operations for another year. I told the boys of the dangers of alcohol, and to illustrate did as I have often done in the past. I had a couple of glasses in front of

Post Office Predicts Christmas Mail Jump

Postmaster Maynard Rowan reports the Post Office Depart is confidently predicting mail volume during this year's Christmas rush will hit a record high. Over twelve billion pieces of incoming and outgoing mail are expected to move through the system during December—with about ten percent of the year's mail moving in less than three weeks.

The Rockport postmaster reports that public cooperation is one important reason that post offices around the country are able to handle this massive mountain of mail in such a short period. People who shop early and get their cards and parcels into the mails early, make it possible for the holiday mail to be delivered on time.

The use of ZIP Code on all mail expedites the handling and distribution of mail due to the new transportation and distribution set-up. The use of ZIP Code on parcels usually means a more direct routing and less handlings and therefore the chance of damage is drastically reduced.

Local Firms Present Electronic Football Scoreboard to School

Two local firms presented ACHS of Rockport with an illuminated football scoreboard and as soon as details are worked out between the school and the donors, erection will begin.

Jack McDavid met with the trustees at their regular meeting to make the presentation of the electronically-controlled sign on behalf of the insurance firm of Glass, Sorenson and McDavid, and the First National Bank of Rockport.

The sign will be erected at about the same spot in Pirate stadium as the present site, and contains a minimum of 140 square feet, exclusive of firm names.

It will be built by the General Scoreboard Co., a Houston firm that has erected other signs in this area, and has for its customers such big schools as Rice University.

Information shown electronically includes the scores of both home and visiting teams; the quarter; the number of minutes and seconds left in the quarter; the number of the down; and the number of yards required for a first down. It also indicates which team has possession of the ball.

The face of the sign is of porcelain enameled steel.

In other business, trustees heard tax attorney Ross Terry, of Austin, as he discussed some of the local problems. They also renewed his contract for another two years, making the 26th year he will have served the local schools.

Trustees then appointed Mrs. Fred Diederich as census trustee, to take the scholastic census for the coming year.

A text book committee was also appointed. It consisted of the following:

Grades 7 and 8 readers: Mrs. J. D. Gray and Mrs. Barbara Rogers.

Arithmetic, grades one

For Once, Rockport Is Up There Also

There are people who'll tell you, in spite of days like Wednesday and today, that Rockport is consistently behind other parts of South Texas in the amount of rain falls.

There are days when, seeing rain squalls at Tivoli, or on St. Joseph, or over Taft, that the Pilot is inclined to agree with them.

But, through some unexplained freak of nature, the day has finally arrived when Rockport is right up there with the rest in the amount of rain that has fallen recently.

As of late last night, Rockport had 2.78 inches, far outstripping suburban towns like Beeville, with 1.55; Papalote with 1.90; Falfurrias, with .68; Port Lavaca, 1.35, Freer a drizzle; Cuero, 1.22; Goliad, 1.50; and Robstown, 1.22.

Woodsboro had 2.86; Austwell, 1.27; Kenedy, 1.75, Kingsville, 1 inch; George West, 3.80; Three Rivers, 1.50; Aransas Pass, 3.40; Sinton, 2.50; Wesley Seale Dam, (near Mathis) 1.15; Odem, 1.34; Taft, 2.00; and Victoria, .63.

However, a number of these towns had heavy rains last night on which no reading is available.

In Rockport, as of 7 a.m. Thursday, precipitation for the past 36 hours amounted to 3.44 inches, indicating that nearly an inch fell Wednesday night.

Pirates Dump Bobcats To Win Cage Tourney

The Aransas County Pirates with a strong second half finish, defeated the Bloomington Bobcats 63-41 Saturday night to win the championship in the annual Bobcat Basketball Tournament.

The Bobcats received the second place trophy, with third place going to Austwell-Tivoli. Consolation honors were given to the Yorktown Wildcats.

The championship game was a nip and tuck battle in the first half, with the score tied up 10 different times, and the Bobcats holding a 22-21 lead at the half way point. The strong second half surge by the Pirates, outscoring and outhustling Blooming 16-5 in the third period and 26-14 in the final stanza sparked their victory.

The Bobcats put on a strong battle gainst this AA school, but ran into foul trouble early in the last half. They lost Kenny Wynn with 5:19 left in the game and Charles Conner fell and injured his knee and had to be carried off the court. His knee was packed in ice.

A six-man all-tourney team was selected by the coaches. They were Thomas Lewis and Horace Lawrence of Rockport, David Villarreal of Tivoli, Lovel Blain of Yorktown, and Fred Goynes and Conner of Bloomington. Each received an individual trophy from Principal Harold Prochnow.

Earlier Saturday morning in the semi - finals, Rockport slammed Tivoli 72-31 behind

Sallie McCord Chosen DAR Good Citizen

Miss Sallie Frances McCord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. McCord of Rockport, has been chosen DAR Citizen of the Aransas County schools, after a poll of students and teachers.

Miss McCord is a secretary of the National Honor Society; vice-president of the Future Teachers of America; vice president of the Future Homemakers of America, and a member of the Thespians, Curtain Club, band and choir.

She was also voted the neatest girl in her junior year, and that vote was repeated this year when she is a senior. She was also voted class favorite during her junior year.

The National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, gives an annual award of a $100 U.S. Savings bond, or a $75 scholarship in lieu of the bond, to the senior girl in each state who posesses to an outstanding degree the four qualities of dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Local contestants are chosen by the senior class, who chooses three girls who possess these qualities. Then, from these three, faculty members pick the one who becomes Good Citizen of her school.

A competitive questionaire is then used to select the state winner who receives the State Award and will be the expenses-paid guest of the Texas Society, DAR, at the State Conference, March 16, 1965, in San Antonio, Texas.

The State winner competes with those in other states by writing an essay of not more than 300 words on "Lest We Forget," and the national award is a $1,000 scholarship to the college of her choice and a sterling silver Paul Revere type bowl, engraved "DAR Good Citizen, 1965."

Joe Earl Hunt Attends School For Sheriffs

Chief Deputy Sheriff Joe Earl Hunt has just returned from the sheriff's and deputy's school held at the Department of Public Safety in Austin this past week.

Hunt is one of 42 newly elected sheriffs that will take office Jan. 1, all of whom attended, along with various police officials, and who received approximately 47 hours of classroom instruction.

Speakers at the school included such noted men as Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, George Beto, director of the Texas Department of Correction at Huntsville, and Lonnie Zweiner, Assistant Attorney General of Texas.

Much of the instruction was devoted to such subjects as criminal law, criminal investigation, identification and criminal records, and to an outline of the various services available to local law enforcement agencies through the state.

Literacy Council Staging Drive For Funds

The Aransas County Literacy Council has engaged in a drive to collect funds needed to purchase the first books and Mrs. R. L. Harrell, secretary, has mailed letters to practically everyone in the area asking them to become members at $1 a year.

After this first campaign, Mrs. Harrell said in her letter, it is anticipated that other expenses can be met from time to time from the membership fees.

Also, plans have been made for a workshop to be held on the evening of Jan. 14, from 7 until 10 o'clock, at which time Anne Dodson of the Caller-Times immediate past president of the Texas Literacy Council will conduct a session for workers and teachers.

Every member is encouraged to attend this workshop, Mrs. Harrell said, even if they do not anticipate teaching.

It is hoped that classes can be started Feb. 1, and all efforts are being directed to that goal, Mrs. Harrell's letter says.

Mrs. Harrell's letters continues as follows:

Policy

It is understood that the degree of success of this program depends almost entirely on the performance of the individual teachers. To assist these teachers it is recommended that policy be kept general and only so detailed as to assure continuation and propogation of the Council.

There will be one annual

PIRATE CROSS COUNTRY TEAM TO GO TO AUSTIN

The eleventh State High School Cross Country Championship will be held on Saturday, Dec. 12 in Austin, with approximately 65 schools entered in four divisions.

This will be the first time that a school from Aransas County has competed.

Eight boys from here will make the trip; Gary Stryker, Dick Cummings, John Cummings, Domingo Pulido, Joe Torres, Edward Rinche, Adolpho Torres, John Walls, and Doloph Walls.

Seven of them will compete.

Postmaster Maynard Rowan announced that the Postmaster General, through the Regional Office at Dallas, has determined that the annual review of the present service factors and the gross revenue for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1964 indicates that the Rockport Post Office will change from a second class office to a first class office effective July 1, 1965.

The amount of the revenue units is a revelant factor along with other factors used annually in determining the class and ranking of post offices and postmasters based on the operation of the office at the end of each fiscal year.

Rowan wishes to convey to the patrons of the Rockport Post Office the appreciation of all the postal employees for the excellent cooperation they have experienced from the past. Special thanks are extended to the publishers of The Rockport Pilot for their assistance, through news media, in advising the public of the importance of using ZIP Code to speed the mail and to do their Christmas shopping and mailing early.

Christmas Lights On Shores of Little Bay

Starting with the $100 donated by Wagley Lumber Co. to start the ball rolling, the Chamber of Commerce committee on Christmas lights have ordered materials to construct a 45-foot tree of light on Rockport waterfront, where the waters of Little Bay will act as a reflecting pool.

Work on the tree will be done by Central Power and Light and Weather Sentry employees, as well as by personnel from the Aransas Natural Gas Co.

Members of the committee are Burl P. Wagley, of Wagley Lumber Co.; Ed Harper, of Key Allegro; Jim Sprouse of Weather Sentry; and John Ross of Central Power and Light.

Mrs. Mary Juergens said that it was expected work would get under way this week, and that while more money was needed, enough had been collected to assure a tree.

Of course, she pointed out, the original estimate was $475 and not all the amount has been collected. This estimate was based on enough strings to hold 800 lights of various colors, and the more nearly funds approach the estimate, the better decorations are possible.

In past years the Chamber has endeavored to collect enough money to string lights from pole to pole across Austin Street, Mrs. Juergens said, but this year the Chamber decided that the Tree of Light on the shores of Little Bay would make a unique and beautiful decoration of the sort that few cities can have.

FOOTBALL SWEETHEART PRESENTED, COACH BAKER REVIEWS LAST SEASON

The football sweetheart, Miss Mary Lou Johnson, was presented at Tuesday night's annual football banquet, and Coach John Baker, after recognizing guests, reviewed the past season, and forecast some of the things planned for next year, before assistant coaches named lettermen and presented members of the various teams.

Miss Johnson was presented with a gift by the co-captains of the football team, Charles Picton and Martin Garcia, then she left the banquet to take part in a girls' basketball game.

Coach Baker recognized Chester Barre, principal of the high school, and Joe Randow, junior high principal as men with whom the coaching staff has to work closely, and Ben Howard and Floyd Rouquette as co-captains of the Quarterback Club, of which Bob Morrison is secretary.

He characterized Charles Roe announcer, as the Kern Tips of Rockport; paid tribute to Harry Krenek as photographer and Frank DeAngelis as statistician; recognized Mrs. Harold Picton and her committee for the decorations, and Mrs. James Cruser and her staff, for the banquet, and then introduced the school's athletic director, Coach Dave Segler, whose basketball team recently won the Bloomington tournament.

Supt. J. D. Gray was next introduced, followed by coaches Sonny Watkins, Rex Staes, Pat Smith, and Tommy Martin, who, Baker said, is sometimes better known as "The Roadrunner."

Coach Sonny Watkins then introduced the lettermen and other members of the varsity squad.

There were 18 lettermen, including Tom Barkley, a senior and two-year letterman at end; Brian Barnard, a junior end; Ray Brown, a two-year letterman, a junior who was chosen all-district linebacker this year;

Bobby Edwards, a senior quarterback and halfback; Martin Garcia, a senior three-year letterman, all-district halfback and co-captain of the Pirate team; Jack Gwynn, junior guard and fullback; Eric Henderson, sophomore tackle;

Jerry Hill, junior scat back, whom Coach Watkins characterized as the most improved man on the squad; Thomas Lewis, sophomore, two-year letterman and all-district defensive tackle; Hugh Morrison,

More Families Now Have Savings Accounts

College Station.—At least two major changes affecting the financial status of many American families have taken place during the past decade: Double paychecks and more family savings.

This observation comes from Mrs. Wanda Meyer, extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

Approximately 40 percent of the families with wage earners in 1950 were receiving two or more paychecks, compared with more than 50 percent of wage earner families now are receiving two or more paychecks.

The working wife is primarily responsible, says Mrs. Meyer. One out of three married women are now employed.

Average family income during the past 10 years has risen from about $3,300 to just under $6,000. The average for the nation as a whole. In many instances, two or more paychecks have served to boast family income into the $10,000 or higher bracket.

Naturally, two paychecks and higher incomes have had an effect on savings. The Home Loan Bank Board, a government agency that keeps an eye on the thrift of the nation, reports that total savings of individuals are now approximately $400 billions, or nearly twice that of a decade ago.

"This works out to the equivalent of over $7,000 per family as the government measures thrift," says Mrs. Meyer.

VISIT REFUGE

Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Stanfield and son Craig, of San Antonio, enjoyed a trip to the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge over the weekend. They saw hundreds of beautiful deer, two Javelina and one flock of wild tukey. They also saw several whooping cranes from the observation tower.

The Good Shepherd Class will hold their annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. E. N. Adams in Lamar, Monday evening, Dec. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

Chronicle Writer Discusses Middle Coast of Texas

Bob Brister, outdoor editor of the Houston Chronicle, recently discussed the middle coast of Texas, and had much to say about yesterday, today and tomorrow. Because his article tells much of Rockport and should be of interest to others, it is reproduced herewith:

Strange things happen to the Texas Middle Coast in December. Daylight, for instance, suddenly grows short. And the bays are smaller than they used to be.

The days grow shorter, not in hours, but in things to do. . . just too many of 'em.

December's low tides and north winds combine to leave mud flats where there has been water; sandbars appear, oyster reefs jut up out of the shallow flats.

But if there is a prettier, better place for a hunter or fisherman in December, where would it be? Even the sunsets are redder, and the water is clear.

The thousands of trout and redfish which in spring and summer are scattered throughout the shallow flats between Matagorda and Rockport must find deeper water when the northers blow; their normal feeding grounds are too shallow or even go dry.

So they concentrate in tremendous populations in the deeper guts and bayous, and when the temperature drops into the 40s for a few days, they really gang up in such places as the two "Army Holes."

One "hole" is between Port O'Connor and Seadrift on Matagorda Island. The other is on Matagorda Peninsula between the mouth of the Colorado River and Pass Cavallo.

Other deep holes become hotspots; yacht basins, (Rockport's is particularly famous) and many private dredge-outs and basins along the intracoastal canal.

But it is the remarkable duck hunting that pulls most out of town sportsmen into the little coastal towns.

Low tides expose thousands of acres of shallow flats, some carpeted with eel grass and other waterfowl foods, and the pintails and redheads move in with such rafts that newspaper pictures of them often produce wise cracks and charges of "trick photography."

In a way, this is good. The fact that so few hunters realize the duck concentration and potential of these areas is one reason so many ducks are there.

Many of these shallow flats are impassable for ordinary boats; air-drive boats are necessary for most of the back bays, although small outboard "scooters" can negotiate a great deal of the area.

There are very few hunting guides available now, and the area is probably less hunted now than it was 10 years ga in the heyday of the late Ed Payne's operation at Port O'Connor where two big airboats and a net skiff ferried hundreds of hunters to blinds and the duck limit was large enough that seemingly half the male population of Port Aransas, Rockport and Aransas Pass turned into hunting guides during the season.

Shorter and shorter bag limits, the high expense of operating shallow water boats (particularly airboats) and the cost of the huge rafts of decoys necessary for this sort of shooting practically put the area out of the duck business during the bleak years of the duck decline . . . many Port Aransas guides didn't even bother to brush their blinds two years ago and Ed Payne went out of the duck guiding business, no one, since, has gone into it in anywhere near the scope he did.

Buster Westbrooks, who once took hundreds of hunters a season on Shoalwater Bay (the "lagoon") between Port O'Connor and Seadrift quit that life to manage a motel and restaurant at Rockport.

And so it goes . . . and so lies some fine waterfowl hunting now, with a few takers.

Perhaps, in some respects, the fishing is indeed better near the resorts than elsewhere, simply because every resort has dredged its own deepwater canals and channels, and that's where the fish go when the weather turns cold.

For the family boatman, looking for a place to spend some holidays or weekends and get in his fishing, hunt-and camping, even birdwatching in one area . . . there just is no better area in Texas this time of year.

Nature lovers have the additional bonus of the nation's outstanding water fowl sanctuary, winter quarters of the whooping crane and home of countless ducks, geese, deer and other game . . . the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge near Rockport. There are organized tours for birdwatchers by boat, to see the whooping cranes at close range (and not many people have seen a whooping crane.) The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service maintains excellent roads, observation towers and information on the game and fish of the refuge at its modern headquarters there, picnic grounds and a camping area are nearby.

The price, for the birdwatching, fishing and duck hunting (if you go it alone) is zero. And unless you've sampled some of those midwinter, midcoast oysters . . . freshly-opened, small and salty . . . well, you just haven't been on the Middle Coast in December, where the action is.

DRAFT QUOTA SET AT 229

Austin. — The state draft quota for January calls for 229 men, compared to 280 for December, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Tuesday.

The state quota of 229 for January is the Texas share of a national call for 5,400 men, all for the Army.

The Selective Service director also announced pre-induction physical and mental examinations for around 3,370 men in January.

Local board quotas for the January call already have been figured and sent to the state's 137 local boards.

The January quota will be filled mostly with men who are volunteers under 26 years old and nonvolunteers ages 19 through 25. Most of them will be 22 years old.

No man whose draft board file reflects that he is maintaining a bona fide family relationship with a wife or a child or children will be selected in response to this call.

All males are required to register under the draft law on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter.

Small Motor Convenient

If you own an outboard motor sufficiently portable to carry in the trunk of your car, it will pay you to take it along on vocation. It will cost you $5 to $15 per day to rent a fishing motor. Some places won't rent motors at any price.

Boats, on the other hand are plentiful and normally rent for $2 to $5 per day. So take along your motor.

Cork Decoys Often Crumble

Cork makes light and buoyant duck decoys. But it has a bad habit of crumbling after much use. Prevent this disintergration by shellacking decoys, then stretching tightly pulled cheesecloth over each. Let dry, then paint in natural colors. This not only will preserve the cork, but it also will make them glare-proof.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Parking Lot Law

If you drive a car, you probably have frequent occasions to use a parking lot. But what may be a handy convenience for you may also be a happy hunting ground for the car thief. Do you know your rights in case your car is stolen?

By and large, the law divides parking lots into two basic types. Let's consider them separately.

TYPE "A" LOT

At this lot you pay your fee and park the car yourself, keeping the keys. You have a right (exercise it!) to lock the car, and you may drive out without handing in any ticket.

Legally, this is a kind of quickie lease. You are paying for the temporary use of a parking space, but not much more. Thus, a man whose car was stolen from a Type "A" lot (at a ball park) failed to collect damages for his loss. Under such a parking arrangement, said the court, a car owner could hardly expect the management to keep a keen lookout for thieves.

In short, the primary responsibility for the car continues to be yours.

TYPE "B" LOT

At this lot you leave your keys in the car, so the attendant can park it for you—and move it around in your absence. Futhermore, you get a ticket which you are supposed to turn in when you leave.

This arrangement is called a bailment, and its vital element is the transfer of possession to the management. With possession goes responsibility. Now you are paying not only for the use of a parking space but also for a reasonable amount of supervision and safekeeping.

Thus, a man whose car was stolen from a Type "B" lot (at a busy intersection) won full compensation from the management. The court found that the lot had too little fencing and too few attendants for safety.

What about all the small print—or large print, for that matter—on the ticket you get? If he ticket says "Not responsible for Theft," does that automatically block your claim?

As a rule, the law frowns on efforts by parking lot proprietors to dodge responsibility for their own negligence. Proprietors have had a measure of success, in some states, in putting a dollars-and-cents limit on their liability. But generally they do not get off scot-free, no matter how plainly the ticket might say so. Courts feel that such tough terms, imposed on the relatively helpless motorist, are just too unfair to be enforced.

(A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Barnard.)

MRS. HILLER REVIEWS HEROES OF TEXAS

A real Texan doesn't need to be reminded of the rich and colorful history of the state. No people remain more pridefully conscious of a valid claim to an unsually colorful and enriching history than Texans.

It was with much pride in 1960 Mr. Summerfield G. Roberts of Dallas acquired the first collection of original oil portraits of the nine foremost Texas heroes. Research for these oils, painted by Mr. Charles B. Normann, was among old letters, diaries, family albums, daguerrotypes, charcoal sketches, woodlocks, newspapers, and period history. Mr. Normann has recreated these heroes in the historical realism of their period. The collection is reproduced for the first time in "Heroes of Texas." The book features nine "sketches in words" by noted authors and historians, and is dedicated to the late Mr. J. Frank Dobie. Mr. Dobie's chapter on James Bowie is his last published work.

The following excerpt is taken from the James W. Fannin chapter by Joseph Milton Nance, head of the history department at Texas A&M University . . . "the volunteers at Velasco were embarked for Copano, and after an unusually rough passage, landed at Aransas Pass on Jan. 28, and from there moved to Copano where the four companies of the Georgia Batallion and Captain Luis Guerra's Mexican artillery company . . ."

The biographical sketches on Stephen F. Austin, James Butler Bonham, Jim Bowie, David Crockett, James W. Fannin, Sam Houston, Mirabeau B. Lamar, Ben Milam, and William Barret Travis give great insight into the lives and character of these nine men. "Heroes of Texas" is a new book, the first edition having been printed in October, 1964. You will find it on the seven day book shelf at the Aransas County Library to read and enjoy.

C. W. Crickenberger, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Crickenberger of Rockport, has enlisted in the U. S. Coast Guard and is now in boot camp in Alameda, Calif. He will be home on Christmas leave.

Accent on Health

J. E. Peavy, M.D., Commissioner of Health

If you give your youngsters a bicycle this Christmas—or if he has one already—don't send him off for a ride with a wave and a vague "be careful."

Chances are a bicycle is youngster's first experience as a part of the traffic. Discuss the finer points of bike-riding safety with him—or her, and see that he practices them.

Make sure your youngster rides a sturdy, well-equipped bike, and teach him how to take care of it.

Pass these admonitions on to him on having safe fun on a bike.

Know and obey traffic laws. Traffic lights and signs are for bike riders, too.

Ride with the traffic. A good bike-rider always rides on the right hand edge of the road.

Give the proper traffic signals before stopping or turning, then take hold of the handle bars again.

Ride single file. If your friend has a bike and you ride together, ride one in front of the other, with plenty of space between.

When traffic is heavy at a corner get off your bike and push it across, following the crosswalks.

Light up at night. Do all your riding in the daytime if you can. If you must be out at night, be sure you have your white light in front and your red reflector and tail light on the rear, just as automobiles do. Wear clothing that is light colored or that shines in the dark so you can be seen easily.

Use a carrier or basket for books and packages. If you have no basket or carrier, tie your books and packages to the frame.

Ride one to a bike—unless you have a special bicycle—built-for-two.

One of the most dangerous things a bike rider can do it "hitch a ride" by a moving truck or car. You could be easily be thrown down—perhaps in front of a car or squeezed against a truck or bus.

Playing games or racing on bikes should be done in empty lots or yards and not where people are walking or driving. Don't try hard stunts or you may hurt yourself.

Stop and take a look before riding out of alleys, driveways or from behind parked cars. A car can't stop as quickly as you can.

Your bike will stay nice longer if you park it in a rack or on it own stand.

Riding a bike can be fun, when you ride like a responsible part of the traffic.

should you pamper a Princess?

Depends on which princess—the teenager or the telephone. All teenage princesses—so we're told—glory in a little pampering.

But the Princess® telephone is so well made and trouble free that no pampering is required. Just dust it occasionally or wipe it with a damp cloth.

That, plus a little care in handling, is all the attention any phone needs. And phones almost never need repair—but if something does go on the blink, we'll fix it promptly at no extra charge.

We think it's our job to keep right on improving your telephone service and making it of greater personal value to you.

LEARN HUNTER'S CALL FOR HELP

Austin.—The Texas Safety Association urges all hunters to learn the hunter's signal for help. Fire three shots at evenly spaced intervals, repeating several minutes apart. If you fail to get a response, wait until the sun sets. Your shots after sundown will attract the nearest game warden. Light a small fire and stay put until he arrives.

Health and Safety Tips from Americian Medical Association

"Exercise is one of the important factors contributing to total fitness," says a new pamphlet of the American Medical Association.

To assist you in planning a program of regular exercise, the AMA offers a number of suggestions.

An exercise program should be started at an early age and continued throughout life, with certain adjustments from time to time as life advances and needs, interests and capabilities change. The amount of vigorous exercise that is desirable each day is largely an individual matter, with recommendations ranging from 30 minutes to an hour each day as a minimum.

Something of interest for every individual can be found to make exercise satisfying and enjoyable. In addition to many sports, the variety of choices daily habits such as walking and gardening. Hard, fast, sustained or highly competitive games and sports should not be played by persons of any age unless they have attained an appropriate state of fitness through regular training. All persons should be found by medical examination to be organically sound before training for competitive competition or other strenuous exercise.

If you're out of training, don't try to keep pace in any vigorous sport with an individual who is propery conditioned through regular training. Being in condition for one sport doesn't necessarily mean you're in condition for another. If you've been long out of training, you will need a period of gradual conditioning to get back to strenuous activity.

How can you tell whether your exercise program is too strenuous? If breathlessness and pounding of the heart don't subside within 10 minutes after exercise, if marked weakness or fatigue persists two hours later, if you're still fatigued the next day, then you have overdone it.

If you're beginning to become active again after illness or injury, medical supervision of the effects of exercise is essential. If you are competing in body contact sports, or in sports requiring great endurance and strength, pick on someone your own size and strength. Don't try to stand up to someone much larger, stronger or more skilled. Body contact sports require protective equipment, and it's very important that the equipment be good. Careful preparation and maintenance of playing fields and other sports arenas are essential to reduction of injuries and full enjoyment of the activity.

Contributions of exercise to fitness include a sense of well-being, and development and maintenance of strength, speed, agility, endurance and skill. Each individual differs in his capacity to enjoy and benefit from exercise.

DON'T CLIMB WITH GUN

Austin.—The Texas Safety Association reminds hunters to never climb or jump with a loaded gun. Never pull a gun toward you muzzle first. When going through fences, push your gun on ahead, or hand it to a companion with the breech open. And, don't set you gun against a tree or fence. It could fall and discharge.

Bird Fans Converge On Coast

Thirty degrees plus below zero in the northland and the whoopers all present and accounted for in Texas.

That means booming business again on the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge on the Gulf Coast, ancestral wintering grounds of the whooping cranes.

Reports from the famed Blackjack Peninsula indicate the 42 giant birds have already stepped off their family plots and are enjoying their winter diet of crustaceans and assorted salt water delicacies. This is a gain of ten for the year.

Robert H. Shields, refuge manager, and his assistant, Gordon Folgenlogen, meanwhile maintain a sharp vigil to register any late arriving whoopers.

The present population, which includes ten youngsters, confirms in number to the close summer count maintained in the Great Slave Lake country by Canadian wildlife authorities.

But there's always a chance a late arrival will show up. In fact, one loner spent most of one winter a few years ago down on King Ranch, far to the south of its acknowledged quarters.

Every day or so, Shields climbs into a small "puddle-jumping" aircraft, and scours the entire refuge shoreline, meticulously noting on a map any changes in the crane movements. Ordinarily, the whoopers stay close to their individual areas which they stake out soon after arrival.

Miss Virginia Allen, chief clerk and receptionist at the refuge, said visitations already are setting a lively pace. Many out-of-staters apparently took advantage of the recent tail wind that also deposited the 42nd member of the flock at the refuge.

About one-half of the visitors are genuine bird watchers. The other half are just sightseers. These have a lot in common with Miss Allen. She has been at the refuge only about one year and had to start from scratch in the ornithology field.

For Better Pictures

Every boatman's camera should have a medium yellow filter to darken the sky and help enhance clouds and water texture.

Filters may be of the screw-on or slip-on type. Adapter rings are available to fit most any camera lens.

DUCKS GAIN WITH MORE ON THE WAY

The waterfowl population along the Gulf Coast has made a substantial gain over last year byt the last aerial survey preceded the recent record northern cold spell which is expected to ultimately reflect an even greater Texas increase, according to reports to the Parks and Wildlife Department.

E. A. Walker, assistant director for wildlife, said the count was finished on Nov. 21, several days before the northern flyways waters were frozen by temperatures as low as 31 below zero. News reports previously had noted that many ducks still lingered in the upper areas.

Walker said the survey showed slightly more than one million ducks and geese scattered along the coastal wintering grounds. This was almost 200,000 birds more than those records in the identical count made last year.

It showed mallards had not yet arrived, presumably since these popular game birds characteristically remain farther north as long as weather will maintain open water near favorite grain field feeding areas.

The report, said Walker, also indicated redheads, legal game this year for the first time in several seasons, had not yet built up to the expected 500,000 plus population level.

Canvasbacks, a swift flier which had shared the redheads' bad years lately, were making a good comeback on the basis of the early check.

Pintails, a popular target, were up more than 20 per cent over last year.

Hackberries harbor many pests.

FIREARMS DANGEROUS IN THE HOME

Austin.—The Texas Safety Association reports that firearm accidents around the home take more lives than hunting accidents. Last year, there were 165 persons killed by firearm accidents in Texas—88 of these fatalities occurred in the home. Be sure to unload all guns before taking them into the house. If there are children in the home, store guns and ammunition separately—under lock and key.

Records indicate that the first use of the bow and arrow as hunting tools was in North Africa.

LITERACY COUNCIL—

meeting of all members of the Council on the first Monday of July each year. At this meeting new officers will be installed. The secretary will mail ballots and notices one week prior to this meeting. The time and location of this annual meeting will be chosen by the Board of Directors.

Additional all member meetings may be called by the Board of Directors at any time and it is expected that the co-ordinator may advise when such a meeting be needed or useful.

Board of Directors meetings will be held when called by the president or regularly as designated by each new Board as a body.

Advisory Board meetings will be held when called by the chairman of this board or regularly as designated by each new advisory board as a body.

Teacher meetings, student meetings, or teacher-student meetings, will be held when called by the co-ordinator or regularly as designated by the co-ordinator and the teachers at a teacher meeting.

All officers will serve for one year terms—an exception will be the first group of officers which will serve approximately 18 months. No policy will prevent any officer from succeeding himself, however, if any officer does not like to continue in his present office, he should indicate to the nominating committee and the nominating committee will be expected to nominate another member for the subject office.

Yearly dues will be one dollar per member. This money will be used to defray expenses of stationary, postage, school supplies, ledgers, etc. All official clergymen in Aransas County, the Superintendent of the Independent Public Schools of Aransas County and the president of the Aransas County Independent School Board will automatically be considered members and will not be assessed $1.00 yearly dues. Membership cards will not be issued. The secretary's official list of members will establish membership.

Normally one teacher will be assigned two students. An assistant teacher may be assigned for training or other purposes.

Normally classes will be held only during the approximately nine months that the public schools are in session—however individual teachers with student agreement should be allowed to continue classes through the summer months if they so elect.

Classes will be held at least one hour per week at the time and place recorded with the co-ordinator. No policy shall prevent teachers from holding regular classes more often or additional non-scheduled classes if the teacher and student so elect.

The co-ordinator will issue a yearly memorandum of instruction and/or suggestions to guide teachers and students. The co-ordinator may recind, replace, make deletions, or supplement this memorandum at any time. It is expected that prior to the yearly issuance of this memorandum the co-ordinator will submit it for approval to the board of directors.

FOOTBALL BANQUET—

them on the rostrum, one filled with water, the other with gin. I also had a common earthworm which I dropped in the water-filled glass where it wriggled and turned very lively. Then I dropped it in the glass of gin, where it died immediately.

"I then turned to the boys and asked, "what does that prove to you?"

"One long, tall tackle in the back row said, 'Well coach, it looks to me like if you don't want worms you ought to drink gin.'

"And in the SWSTC game with San Marcos, when that team was running over our tackle almost at will, our line coach asked, "Isn't there anyone here that stop them?' One of the team thought he could and was put in, with the result that San Marcos ran over, under, around and through him. The boy we had taken out looked the situation over, then said, 'You know, Coach, he's got that tackle spot fouled up so that nobody can play it!"

"SMU, as you all know, did not have too good a season, and after losing five games in a row, Hayden Fry called his men together and told them he and the assistant coaches had decided to start all over, with fundamentals. Picking up a football, he said 'Now men, this is a football,' and started to go on, when one of his sophomore tackles said plaintively, 'Not so fast, coach, I'm taking notes.'

"I sometimes wish some of mine would take notes and study them.

"All of you, I'm sure realize that the officials are our worst enemies. If it hadn't been for them, we probably wouldn't have lost a game, and I know that you folks feel the same way some times.

"To illustrate what I mean, it seems than Satan and St. Peter were discussing the possibility of a football game. But St. Peter was trying to discourage Satan, pointing out that the Heavenly host would have men like Knute Rockne to coach, with oodles and gobs of All Americans, and that Satan didn't have a chance in Hades of winning.

"But," Steinke continued, "Satan wasn't dismayed. 'That't just where you're wrong, old boy,' he told St. Peter. "We've got all the officials'."

But, Steinke said, the officials have a tough job and in most cases they do a real good one, considering the fact they have the poorest seat in the house. "You know they have to worry about getting hit just like the players, and in a great number of games they do just that, without any equipment to protect hem."

Seinke then proceeded to tell what it takes to be successful in athletics today.

"There are two kinds of athletes," he said. "one with inherent ability that can't be taught, only improved slightly, and the common or ordinary athlete, who can improve if he has the desire and will work hard.

"In athletics, one may find an event or sport in which one can excell if the price is paid in hard work and painstaking attention to detail. Look at the girl's swimming team from America that set record after record.

"The indispensable "it" required for athletic success is in the mind rather than in the body. Anyone can be good if he or she is willing to work hard enough for it. It's a triumph of the competitive instinct. By sheer determination and physical labor one may attain their goal in today's athletics. This has been proven over and over again by young men and women all over the world.

"On our football team there's a young fellow that isn't blessed with ability. He's of normal size, about 6 feet and 205 pounds, but he's the slowest player out for football at Texas A&I. His movement is poor, he runs flat-footed, and when he runs he looks like he has two broken legs. When the line coach tabbed him a starting guard, I asked him: 'Are you sure you know what you're doing?" He assured me that he did, and that boy has started all year long, doing a real good job despite his lack of ability. He doesn't know but one speed, and that's wide open. He's mentally tough, and he has the "It" I mentioned earlier. Basically, it's a matter of how important something is to a person, and to him, football is one of the most important things in life.

"In closing, let me recapitulate some of the things one should learn from all of his sacrifices in athletics:

1. Learn there is a price one must pay for success, and that price is hard work. This lesson comes as a priceless experience.
2. Learn to recognize that all our strengths, physical, mental and emotional, come from a higher source than from ourselves.
3. Learn to win without boasting, and to lose without alibiing.
4. Learn the true meaning of co-operation.
5. Learn the need and importance of loyalty.
6. Learn the importance of developing a pleasing personality.
7. Learn the importance of making sacrifices for things bigger than himself.

Plants That Never Bloom

Third Installment

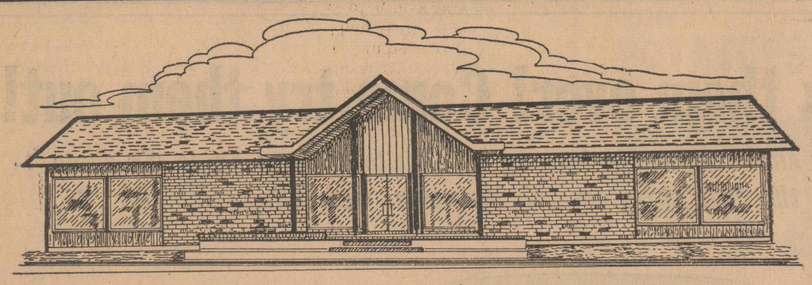

As to helium plants there are only four in the world, three of which are in Moore, County, Texas. So it is easily understood why the average person would not know much about them. And the same applies to abstract plants, although there are many of them.

Modern Abstract and Title Company, Incorporated, is a 'closed' corporation in that all of the stock is owned by Emory M. Spencer of Rockport, Texas. The principal reason for operating as a corporation is to limit the liability. The plant has been owned by Emory M. Spencer since 1945. There are two divisions to the plant, the abstract of title division and the title policy division. At the head of the abstract of title division is Mrs. Wilhelmina Bracht, a native of Aransas County who has been with the abstract plant since its purchase. Another employee is Miss Lorna Hamilton who has been employed since 1952. At the head of the title policy division is Mr. Weldon B. Cabaniss, an attorney-at-law, who has been in charge of this division since about 1947. He has two employees, Mrs. Faynell Cole Harrell and Mrs. Helen Kellner.

Modern Abstract and Title Company is proud that it has been able to give, for the most part, summer and part time employment, to local high school and college students. In addition to the financial remuneration, they have received sound, business training under Mrs. Bracht and have had many occasions later in life to give Modern Abstract and Title Company as a reference in connection with their applications for other jobs. Among the students that have received this employment and training have been Rebecca Sue Rouquette, Mary Ann Barber, Ann Williams, Sandra Spencer, Linda Sue Armstrong, Geraldine Armstrong, Betty Mae Armstrong, Ann Mahan Wishert, Carol Currie, Patsy Allen, Bonnie Cron, Wilma Rouquette, Colleen Smith, Sheena Currie and Kathryn Rouquette.

HATCHERY SAVES FISHING HAUNTS

Production adjustments were successfully made at the Olmito State Hatchery near Brownsville to meet changing needs in the Rio Grande Calley, said J. C. Jurgens, inland fisheries supervisor for the Parks and Wildlife Department.

He said channel catfish quotas were increased 500 per cent because of commitments for a predator type cat in the murky waters of the area.

Crappie were reared for the first time to help restore the depleted Delta Lake population.

"This is a sypical example of the flexibility possible in the hatchery production schedule and the necessity of gearing this production to the demands of the area," said Jurgens.

TROPHY SET EYE AOUDAD TEXAS HUNT

Austin.—A trophy hunter's dream — an open season on aoudad sheep—has been authorized for the second straight year by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Even though the harvest will be limited to a maximum of 50 permits, the rare shoot attracts the attention of Souhwest big game hunters. The aoudad permits have been issued to the landowners in the rugged Palo Duro Canyon County and these landowners will issue the permits to the hunters in the same manner as as the antelope or the antlerless deer permits.

Dates for the hunt are Dec. 11, 12 and 13.

Last year 42 permits were issued to ranchers who in turn selected the hunters but the shoot was such a test that only nine sheep were bagged, according o A. J. Springs, wildlife coordinator. The heavy shouldered animals make an elusive target, scaling steep cliffs and maneuvering on narrow ledges with amazing dexterity.

The fleet animals, which weigh up to 300 pounds were stocked in the Panhandle in 1957. Estimates have placed the aoudad population at upwards of 3,000 head.

The wary animals sometimes frequent Palo Duro Canyon State Park which comprises about one-fourth of the approximately 60,000 acres in the canyon habitat. Regional Ranger Jerry Tschauner said the big sheep have lately been sighted near the front entrance but spend very little time in view.

Trophy hunters treasure the opportunity to attempt bagging a large aoudad in the hope of matching the record rack measuring 34⅝ inches along the curve. One ram killed last fall measured 28 inches along the curve.

$200 FINES DOT REPORT

Austin, Tex. — Fishermen and hunters shared the questionable privilege of paying the largest violation penalty as noted in a Parks and Wildlife Department arrest report.

A man paid a $200 fine plus costs for hunting antelope without a permit. A similar levy was made against a man for seining crappie.

Otherwise, it was a run of the mine roundup, said J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator.

But the open fall weather was mirrored in the 107 tags issued for fishing without a license.

Fifty-four were charged with hunting without a license; 44 for killing doves in closed season; 22 for exceeding the game bag limit; 52 for hunting from an automobile; 21 for hunting in a closed season and 12 were tripped by the ancient evil of using an electrical device to take fish.

Fines totaled $12,922.82.

CAR HOPS TALK OWN LANGUAGE

"Shoot a wild shot walking," "Dust walking," and "Twinkle two ladies" aren't the words of a man from Mars, they're merely the special language adopted by bar hops for brevity and are orders for a fountain Coke, a cherry Coke, a malt, a Lone Star and two Pearls.

"Waco" means a Dr. Pepper; "shot" is a Coke, and a "wild shot" simply means a cherry Coke. A 7-Up is a "natural," and a bottled Coke is a "pull."

And the names the hops have given beer are no more reconizable to anyone not speaking their language than are the orders for soft drinks.

"Twinkle two ladies" makes sense when you think about it, and is easier to say than give me a Lone Star and two Pearls. Falstaff is "flag," Jax is "kick," and Budweiser is known as a "schoolboy."

Chocolate milk bears the tag "800"; plain water is "81" and ice goes by the name of "hail." Hamburgers are "mashes" and accompanied by "Frenchies" which is the soul of brevity compared to "French fried potatoes."

If the carhop hollers "stick in a circle" that means she'll bring the ice cream cone you order to the car; if you want the same service on a "dust" (malt), she yelps "dust walking."

Two of anything is a "pair," three is a a "crowd," four is a "flock," and a "handful" is obviously five identical orders.

Is it any wonder foreigners have trouble learning the English language?

Mrs. C. A. Barber underwent surgery Monday at Ewing Memorial Hospital in Sinton. Mrs. Barbara fell Friday night, breaking her left arm and hip.
