

Flag Raising at St. Joseph's Hospital April 1

Three significant events are scheduled for St. Joseph's Hospital Monday, April 1.

This marks the 25th anniversary of the coming of the Dominican Sisters to St. Joseph's Hospital in Wellington. But that will go without celebration, Sister Mary Adele, administrator, said.

In a public ceremony slated for 3 p.m. a new flag pole and American Flag will be presented to the hospital by the Glynn Moore Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The flag will go up for the first time. Members of the National Guard will form the color guard and the high school band will be present.

The public is invited to this ceremony, Sister Adele said.

The third event on Monday will concern hospital personnel directly and the entire community indirectly. On that day the hospital will be visited and checked for a renewal of its accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Dr. John Irwin will be the visiting inspector.

St. Joseph's Hospital was accredited in 1960, and is the only hospital between Amarillo and Wichita Falls to hold this honor.

Sister Adele explained that 20 men form the joint commission, representing the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Physicians, the American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association.

"Every department will be checked," Sister Adele explained. These will include the hospital's constitution and by-laws, minutes of staff meetings, records of all departments and of department meetings, the applications of physicians and surgeons for appointment

A CONGRESSMAN VISITS WELLINGTON

Congressman Walter Rogers, at right, and Henry Sullivan are shown discussing water development prospects for the area. Congressman Rogers spoke here Wednesday, March 20, before a meeting of representatives of towns in the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement District and the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority.

Rogers Urges United Effort to Develop Area Waters

Congressman Walter Rogers, in a brief trip to Wellington Wednesday, March 20, and speaking in forceful manner, urged the development of all water resources of the area under one head for the benefit of all the people.

He addressed a called meeting of representatives of towns in the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement District and the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority.

After representatives of the two groups discussed frankly their respective projects, Congressman Rogers proposed that representatives of the Public Works Administration, Bureau of Reclamation and the Corps of Army Engineers come here to discuss with the two groups sources of help available in the development of area waters.

"I would like to have the top echelon of the department on this. I think we should have the proper brains to get the information for you," the 18th District Representative declared.

Unanimous approval was given the proposal, and a date will be set in the near future as soon as additional engineering work is completed.

"If you take all these projects and work them into one, it will be the best thing possible for this part of the country," Walter Rogers said.

"If we don't get this thing moving, there will be obstacles and I don't know if they will be surmountable. That is why I am here. If you want me, I am here to help you."

Mr. Rogers explained the Oklahoma projects which affect the proposed development of area waters. He pointed out that the Waurika project is again before his subcommittee on irrigation, and "I am going to have to work out something with Oklahoma," he told the group frankly.

Dan Henard, chairman of the Collingsworth Water Board, presided. Paul Spillman, legal advisor, pointed out the two philosophies represented in the Let's Talk!

"TABLES" HELP UT STUDENTS WITH FOREIGN LANGUAGES

AUSTIN.—It's difficult to eavesdrop on luncheon conversations in the University of Texas Commons if you happen to sit near one of the "language tables."

The "German table" meets every day, the "French table" each Tuesday and Friday, and the "Russian table" on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Gathered around to chew and chat are students who wish to improve their skills in speaking the languages and professors who can't resist teaching, even on their own time.

At each table there is a wide range of language facility, from second-semester students to native speakers. And the size of the groups fluctuate from meeting to meeting. The German table may have as many as 30 or as few as six participants. The French table usually attracts eight to 10, the Russian from three to 12.

Occasionally a faculty member from another department joins a language table to beef up his linguistic fitness (a sort of 50-word hike). A physics teacher is a regular member of the German group.

Faculty members from the German languages and Romance languages departments, more or less presides over the tables, but do not attempt to direct conversation.

Prof. Wolfgang Michael, who has eaten with the German table for almost 10 years, describes the talk as informal. Students may discuss their courses, movies, books, current events, fashions, fellow students or anything else that interests them. The subject matter isn't as important as the fact that learners become more comfortable in the languages they are speaking.

Practice in conversation also is available in the evenings.

Deutschebtnde Gesellschaft (German Practicing Society) meets Wednesday nights in the Tobin Room of Batts Hall, the modern language building. Cafe Causette, the French group, meets twice a week in the Tobin Room for coffee and conversation.

Language honorary societies assist in the projects.

Search On for Slogan for Tex. License Plates

AUSTIN.—"Hi, Pardner" ... have you suggested a slogan for "The Longhorn State"?

Better get your pencil and paper out and start thinking. Everybody's doing it!

Reason is, there's a bill before the Texas House of Representatives calling for a slogan to be imprinted on our auto license plates. Three choices are given in the bill. They are "Lone Star State" ... "Vacation State" ... and "Texas Has Everything."

Latter slogan was sent in by a newspaperman, Bob Bray, publisher of the Marble Falls Highlander.

Come to think of it, what's wrong with "Hi Pardner?" — the two words we used in starting this article? Sounds like the friendly welcome of a Texan ... in state or out of state.

Cost of adding a slogan to the Texas tags would run only about $150. Or just the cost of the new dies.

Speaking of license plates—a bill by Rep. Ray McNutt of El Paso would eliminate the front tag. Saving to the state —$400,000 annually.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where Mr. Adlai Stevenson says it inhibits a man working as a U.S. diplomatic representative to have the public nose hanging over his shoulder all the time.

My sensitive neighbor says he used to have this same exact trouble with bosses inhibiting him by all the time checking up on his work.

Says, though, being watched hasn't aggravated him any since he decided to quit doing anything on company time that he wasn't proud to be caught at.

My dollar-watcher neighbor says he notes the demand has not slackened off any for U.S. taxpayers to furnish long green guidance for all of those new, underdeveloped African nations.

And he also sees where the leaders of some of these countries are happily building themselves multi-million dollar office palaces, touring the world and subsisting high on public funds.

Says this adeptness at blowing in other people's money showed the Africans have now learned the ways of fully developed society, so maybe we can wean them soon.

I see where U.N. manager U Thant has hired a Mr. Black to send out collection letters to Cuba, Russia, France, and 40 or 50 other countries which haven't paid up their United Nations fees lately.

But my friendly bill collector neighbor says letters don't work to collect any debts unless the debtors have got consciences that can be activated, or when some fear can be stirred up in them.

Says, anyhow, science never

Study City Annexations

AUSTIN.—Municipal annexation bill, as passed by the House, is considered a compromise by the Texas Municipal League. Ditto for interested industries — including the Texas Association of Homebuilders — that have been on the other side of the fence.

Straddling the fence during the four days it took the House to pass on the bill written by Rep. Henry Grover of Houston, and rewritten by Rep. Jerry Butler of Kenedy, were enough representatives to decide the matter for one side or the other.

Several votes indicated the cities might win the right to annex additional territory in a manner they consider reasonable. Other votes indicated the industrial pressures would be the winning factor.

Finally, 130 House members decided Grover's bill was good enough to send to the Senate as a "workable vehicle" for a joint conference committee. But 14 felt that it still wasn't fair either to cities or to rural people living on fringes of the

Mrs. Jennie Holcomb

Mrs. Jennie Holcomb Nominated State Mother of Texas, 1963

By Mrs. B. M. Sims

Tribute in triplicate has gone to a deserving homemaker and business woman the past three months. Then, in mid-March a fourth honor was awarded Mrs. Jennie D. Holcomb, mother of five and a recently retired city secretary of the City of Wellington.

This week the announcement was made that Mrs. Holcomb is a nominee for State Mother of Texas, 1963. Sponsoring this candidacy is the 1924 Study Club. From the state winners is selected the national mother for the Mothers' Day observance, 1963. Thus, the fourth local honor for Mrs. Holcomb in four consecutive months.

When Mrs. Holcomb announced her plans for retirement after 26 1/2 years service to the City of Wellington, she had no idea the chain reaction of "limelight" that would be directed toward her.

Last December the city officials and employs hosted a public reception honoring "Miss Jennie." Family-wise, the reception was a double feat, as all five children were together for the first time in years.

In January of this year, the 1924 Study Club announced Mrs. Holcomb as its Mother of the Year entry in Top of Texas District competition, in accordance with Texas Federation of Women's Clubs affiliation. At the meeting formally honoring Mrs. Holcomb, the club president, Mrs. B. M. Sims, used this quote of Kate Douglas Wiggin: "Most of all the other beautiful things in life come by twos and threes, by dozens and hundreds. Plenty of roses, stars, sunsets, rainbows, brothers and sisters, aunts and cousins, but only one mother in the whole world."

On February 7 a plaque was presented by the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce to Mrs. Holcomb in appreciation of her more than 25 years of service as city secretary. Mayor Hiram L. Cudd was selected to make this presentation.

According to Herbert George Wells, "The past is but the beginning of a beginning, and all that is and has been is the twilight of the dawn . . ." And in Mrs. Holcomb's past one readily sees the basis for this bery of bravos for her. Of interest is her family tree record. Dating from the time of the Norman Invasion of England to the present day, the records begin with Sir Hurbert De Warel (Worrall), whose son saved the life of Richard I. A branch of the Worrall family from Wales came to this country with William Penn.

Some members of the family hold their farms by the deeds of gift William Penn gave them in Delaware.

The lineage shows Mrs. Holcomb as Jennie Stella Dysart, the sixth child of Robert Allen and Ella Jane Edgar Dysart. Born in Collingsworth county on Nov. 3, 1892, Mrs. Holcomb recalls that her parents lived some five miles southeast of what was later to be Wellington. The first sermon preached in this county was at their home by a Rev. W. L. Seale.

The Dysarts freighted their wheat, the main crop, to Quanah and later to Childress. Her father would load his wagon the night before and leave early the next morning with a four-horse team, taking two days to go and two days to return from Quanah. She also recalls her father "bringing a little rocking chair on one of his trips."

When "Miss Jennie" was only six years old, both parents died; one, of pneumonia, the other of measles. All the children were then attending school at Fresno; and "of course, we all walked." After two years of school at Fresno, "Miss Jennie" went to school in Wellington and for nine years stayed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Henard and was treated as one of their family. Another of the many who have an active interest in her recent honors is R. F. Curry, her teacher for three years in Wellington high school.

On June 21, 1914, Jennie Stella Dysart and Henry Alvin Holcomb were married in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Loter (her sister and brother-in-law), by Rev. A. L. Bowman, pastor of the Methodist Church. To this union were born four sons and one daughter. According to Douglas Jerrold, "Happiness grows at our own firesides and is not to be picked in strangers' yards." As the years went by this was exemplified by the numerous young visitors filling the Holcombs' acreage of trees and a big barn. Many good times were had in the Holcomb household yet self-reliance was taught at an early age. This was but one of the basic principles which the Holcombs sought to instill in their children.

Adversity struck two-fold when this husband and father was killed in a car wreck in 1934 near Spearman, Texas.

This was the middle of the depression and the two older sons were ready to begin college. It was then that Mr. Holcomb was hired as assistant city secretary. Not many women were employed at that time in Wellington. Mrs. Holcomb is certainly a shining example that a "working mother" does not necessarily rear delinquent children. The parents had agreed with this Edwards quotation: "If you would have your son be something in the world, teach him that it is by close and strenuous personal application he must rise; that he must, in short, make himself, and be architect of his own fortune."

Neither parent nor child realized to what extent these thoughts would be applied.

The desire for a higher education was instilled in the children; the details of how each secured various degrees is a fascinating story in itself. All five children are Wellington high school graduates and all five at one time or another journeyed to Austin for some of their higher education.

Dr. H. A. Holcomb, Jr., received his Ph.D. degree at the age of 27 years from the Uni-

Junior Legion Auxiliary Installs

Mid-March brings the American Legion's 44th birthday. This date coincides with the installation of officers of the newly organized American Legion Junior Auxiliary.

At a regular meeting on March 20, the American Legion Junior Auxiliary at the Wellington high school library, the senior counselor, Mrs. B. M. Sims, opened the meeting.

Vickie Glenn, assistant counselor, led the group in the pledge to the United States flag and the singing of the third stanza of our national anthem.

"Americanism Briefs" for the month of March were presented. Then the history of "Dixie" was given and the stanzas discussed.

The following officers were installed by Mrs. Sims: junior chairman, Jenny Ann Kennedy; junior vice chairman, Sue Saunders; junior secretary, Dianne Moseley; junior treasurer, Jacqueline King; junior historian and reporter, Tanya Horton. Vickie Glenn served as sergeant-at-arms in this ceremony and escorted the new chairman to her station.

The junior chairman outlined committees which will be appointed at the next session. At the next meeting on April 3, the Dominican Republic will be studied; also memory work on several patriotic songs and flag etiquette.

The group adjourned after reciting in unison a poem paying tribute to the United States flag.

University of Texas. He is now a research engineer with Humble Oil and Refining Company. He has been granted three U.S. patents in one year.

Dr. Dysart Edgar Holcomb received his Ph.D. at the age of 24 years from the University of Michigan. He was the first alumnus of Texas Technological College to return to the college as a division head. A former president of Texas Wesleyan College, he is now a research engineer for El Paso Natural Gas Products Division.

Dr. Carter Holcomb resumed pre-med studies at the University of Texas after receiving a battlefield commission during World War II. He received his M.D. degree from Tulane Medical College and then interned at Parkland Hospital, Dallas. He is now a partner in Wellington Clinic and a very active participant in community endeavors.

The only daughter, Mrs. R. L. Johnson (Dorothy Helen Holcomb), too attended school in Austin. Her interest was in commercial arts. She now quietly yet efficiently pursues the role of wife and mother. A homemaker's career has many unsung laurels but is such a gratifying and challenging role. Samuel Wolters Holcomb, the fifth Holcomb child, travelled extensively during several years of volunteer Naval service. He attended schools of communications, radar, radiology. He has attended the University of Texas and San Luis Obispo College. He is now with the electronics division, North American Aircraft Company.

Mrs. Holcomb is "granna" to grandchildren. The ones who

Miss Ammons Gives HD Club Program

The Wellington Home Demonstration Club met March 19 in the home of Mrs. Cecil Masten.

Mrs. Nannie Masten, president of the group, called the meeting to order. Mrs. J. L. Hays read the scripture.

Mrs. J. A. Lowe called the roll and each answered with sewing machine tips.

Miss Leota Ammons gave a program on ready-made garments. Mrs. Cecil Masten told of her trip to the district meeting in Amarillo, and read two poems. Mrs. Ike Rogers gave the council report.

Members attending were Meses. M. L. Lynn, Roy Fulcher, J. A. Lowe, Winnie Harrison, Ike Rogers, Nannie Masten, Leota Ammons, Cecil Masten, W. A. Morrow and J. L. Hays.

are with her most are the four grandsons who live in Wellington—Steve, Stan, Mark and David (the latter two are twins), sons of Dr. and Mrs. Carter Holcomb.

Retiring while still blessed with good health, Mrs. Holcomb's future may include numerous possibilities. There will be more time to devote to the church and civic organizations of which she is a member. She is active in the First Methodist Church and its Wesleyan Guild. She is a past Worthy Matron of the Wellington Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star; she has been its secretary for many years. There is also membership in the American Legion Auxiliary and the Wellington City Federation of Women's Clubs. Recently she was elected secretary of the newly organized Collingsworth Unit of the American Cancer Society and is member of that organization's board of directors.

If eyesight permits, she may return to the tedious embroidery at which she was once proficient. Now is the season for beginning yardwork; in her possession (according to a relative) rare ribbons won on her flowers at county fairs.

Hers is a retirement in name only. Being idle is far from an adjective for Mrs. Holcomb.

She has recently directed some redecoration of her home at 600 Eighth Street. During the recent influenza epidemic she returned to the city office when called. Fortified with the procedures, she will make a very qualified judge at the approaching city election.

What has come her way through the years, Mrs. Holcomb has accepted with courage, determination, understanding, kindness, patience and humility. These are very desirable traits in a mother and business woman; such traits have been appreciated by her business associates, her acquaintances and her family.

There are numerous local organizations and individuals who highly agree that Wellington's Mrs. Jennie Dysart Holcomb is a deserving and worthy candidate for Mother of the Year.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Brantley and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Brantley, Mary Jane and Steve, of Vernon, spent the week end in the home of Mrs. R. W. Brantley.

Don't Know How Much to Deduct?

Are you one of those unfortunate taxpayers who never knows how much to deduct for drug purchases?

You can relax. DrugTax can help you, and it isn't going to cost you a penny.

DrugTax is the new record-keeping system now available at our pharmacy. With it, we keep a complete record of your drug purchases. And at the end of the year we send you a DrugTax statement which tells you how much may be deductible in computing your federal tax return.

Simple? Of course—and it can save you money!

By making all of your drug purchases at our store, you will be guaranteeing yourself an annual tax record. Those "little" purchases (which can add up to big ones) won't be forgotten.

We think you'll be pleasantly surprised at how many items are deductible. It could mean tax savings for you.

Come in today and let us tell you more about DrugTax. Remember, it's free.

Fin-Feather-Fur In Collingsworth

By Danny Garcia

Winds were high this week end, but it failed to keep the fishermen at home. The banks of lakes and ponds in this and surrounding counties were covered with enthusiastic fishermen, as reported by several local sportsmen.

Fish activity increased terrifically this week, which indicates it won't be too long before things go to booming. The brim and small bass have moved to the shallow water and their activity can be easily detected, especially in the morning and after 5 p.m.

Many small bass, brim and catfish were caught and news of only one large fish was reported. The big boys are not only harder to catch when active but are also slower about becoming active.

I feel sure that within the next three weeks several large fish will be caught. Not many fishermen were fishing for bass this week and especially with artificial lures. I spoke with several people that said they never fish for bass because brim and catfish offer more constant action.

Many people have formed the opinion that bass are the hardest of all fish to catch. Not many years ago I was one of this group but today I believe that once found, bass are as easy to catch as any fish alive.

Locating the bass is the key to success. Yet even on big water, this seemingly impossible task can be narrowed down to specific areas if you take the trouble to learn these specific facts:

Bass prefer water temperatures in the vicinity of 70 degrees; their habitats are around the edges of lily pads, fallen tree tops, rocky shore lines, exposed and underwater weed beds, plus drop-offs to deep graves, rock or mixed bottoms along the side or at the end of shallow bars.

Whether the water depth is three feet or 30, bass will be found directly on the bottom at least 90 per cent of the time. It is only when they are lured there that bass will be located in the mid-depths.

In addition, bass often spend an entire lifetime within one specific area of a lake, seldom leaving, except during periods of diminishing food supply. Cortland recently developed a new fly line that does everything. It is a sinking floating double taper. One half of the line floats for dry fly and shallow fishing and the other half is a sinker for early season deep fly fishing.

Fishing Reports

J. B. Oney caught 8 small black bass on a spinner type lure. J. B. was fishing in one of Junior Hale's lakes north-east of Wellington.

L. B. Bratten and son, Stanley, fished in one of Charles Cason's lakes and reported a catch of several small brim.

Weldon Cleveland fished Lake Hall in Oklahoma and said he caught one 1½ pound black. Weldon reported that thousands of brim and small bass could be seen around the banks but refused to bite.

Eugene Bawcom and Leamon Bawcom reported a catch of 25 crappie weighing around 1 to 1½ pounds, and 20 black bass in the one-pound bracket. The Bawcoms fished Possum Kingdom Lake.

Jack Needham reported a catch of around 8 bass weighing from one to four pounds. The fish were caught in a

Legislature "In the Air"

AUSTIN.—Activities of state agencies in aeronautics filled the air in two recent meetings of the House Committee on State Affairs.

Rep. Ben Barnes of De Leon got a hearing on his bill to abolish the Texas Aeronautics Commission. It is asking $436,000 for the next two years.

Commission has been credited by some opponents of the bill with helping create landing strips in smaller communities. Rep. Gene Hendryx of Alpine favored abolishment of the commission.

He said citizens of his town stream feeding Lake Pauline near Quanah.

Gary Phillips and Herby Clay reported having no luck on their fishing trip to a pond near town.

One outstanding local fisherman, not wanting to reveal his name, reported catching a 10-pound black bass on a minnow.

Freddy Bobo, son of Fred Bobo, reported the catch of a large perch while fishing a pond south of Quanah.

built their own airstrip with $4,000 of local money, without any governmental aid except for the use of some county built dozers.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler protested a bill by Rep. Roy Arledge of Stamford that would force all agencies except the Texas National Guard, the Texas State Guard, and the Department of Public Safety to sell "executive-type aircraft" with more than 260 horsepower.

Sadler said the Arledge bill was aimed mainly at the Land Office. He insisted the State Land Office needs an airplane for aerial surveys of state land.

Skyrockets Second at Childress Relays Sat.

Wellington's Skyrocket track team placed second in the Childress relays Saturday, March 23, topped only by Class AA Quana Indians.

The Rockets led the meet until the final two events, when the Indians stepped. Their final score was 126 points to 106 for Wellington.

Childress placed third with 103 points and Tucumcari, N. M., was fourth with 87½. The latter two also are Class AA teams.

Other schools participating were Electra (Class AA); Estelline (B), Paducah (A) and Turkey (B).

The outstanding event of the relays came when Charles Mitchell, Childress Bobcat, ran 100 yards in 9.5—with no wind aiding. This is the best time in the state of Texas, according to Rocket Coach Don Beck.

"The Rockets surprised even themselves. They didn't know they could do it, but they're doing some good work," Beck added.

At First Christian Church

Gospel Quartet To Appear Here Mar. 30

Cecil Todd and the Singing Rangers Gospel Quartet of Clayton, Okla., are slated to appear at First Christian Church in Wellington Saturday, March 30, at 7:30 p.m., for a big gospel quartet concert, according to the minister, Gilbert Forrest.

Their concert will consist of more than an hour of popular and requested gospel songs, including "Crossing Chilly Jordan," "Fellin' Fine," "I'm Bound for That City," "Beautiful Life," "Hide Me, Rock of Ages," and many others.

Accompanying the quartet will be Don Goad and Pete Heflin and their electric guitars. They also are from Clayton, Okla.

Large crowds follow the Rangers in their performances, and at some points they have drawn "standing room only" crowds.

Todd, lead tenor of the group, was evangelist in the revival held at the Wellington church recently. He is executive director of the Christian Evangelizers Association of Clayton, Okla.

"The Gospel Quartet concert is open to everyone who loves outstanding quartet singing," Forrest said. "There will be no admission charge, but a free-will offering will be taken to help Cecil Todd in his tent revival crusades."

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Harmony was the keynote of the meeting as water district officials and other interested citizens from neighboring towns met in the Greenbelt Electric building last Wednesday with Congressman Walter Rogers. Congressman Rogers stressed the need for a master plan for control and conservation of the waters of the streams of the Eastern Panhandle. He urged his listeners to speed up their efforts to complete their engineering studies and reach an agreement on a master plan. We must act quickly or else we are in trouble, he said.

Down in Austin Sen. Andy Rogers has introduced a bill that he believes will help the people of this area of the rolling plains protect their water rights. He explains it this way: "The time has come for Texas to take the offensive in the long feud with Oklahoma over water rights in the Eastern Panhandle. For years Oklahoma has been claiming all of the North Fork of Red River and its tributaries and has been using these waters held in the Altus reservoir. . . . To date Texas has done little or nothing to dispute Oklahoma's claim to this good potable water which today is the life blood of any town, city or area which is growing."

"Not only does Oklahoma claim to have successfully stolen the Texas North Fork water and its tributaries, but also demands full rights to ALL water of Salt Fork and its tributaries."

This last Sunday the Wichita Falls Times carried a story on the salt spring at Esteline which was similar to the information in this column last week. But they also had an account of a similar project near Guthrie, Okla. The Times story claimed that stopping the salt at these two locations would eliminate one-sixth of all the salt pollution that goes into Red River from the Panhandle. It sounds incredible, but those are the figures of the Corps of Engineers. Although the success of either project is doubtful, the engineers think the gamble is worth taking. We should know about the Esteline dike by July or August because work is underway now.

Now it is not a matter of days but hours until you must get your 1963 license tags on your car or truck. A casual inspection of cars around the square last week showed that over half still bore the 62 plates. It is better this week, but a 62 tag is not hard to find. Louise Fulcher says her office will be open all day Saturday.

People are acquainted with the extensive improvement that is being made on 15th Street and Highway 83, but this is only a part of the street work the City has underway. A lot of the work has been done on the dirt streets which was sorely needed. First street on the north side of the town has been completely redone and plans are afoot to pave Arlington from 9th Street to 15th.

Will I be glad when the baseball season starts. Most of these live programs featuring "big name" stars are not worth the effort of turning on the set. Some of them make you glad when the commercial comes on.

No, I did not get my head caught in a hay baler. I have been having my face treated by a licensed M.D.

Tyler to Compete in State Band Contest

Billy Tyler, who plays a baritone in Wellington high school band, won first place in band solo competition in the regional interscholastic league contest in Canyon Saturday, March 23.

This qualified him for the state meet to be held in Austin June 10 and 11, according to Band Director Tubal Cain. Tyler's contest piece was "My Regards," by Llewellyn. His accompanist was Miss Noreen Putnam, a student in West Texas State.

Tyler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harshel Tyler and is a senior. He was the only solo entrant from Wellington in the regional contest.

Type III Vaccine

Sabin vaccine was held up after it was originally announced last fall.

Dr. Holcomb expressed his complete confidence in the vaccine.

"My wife and I and our four small children are all taking the vaccine," he declared. "I have complete confidence in it or I would not give it to my family."

Dr. Holcomb pointed out that the vaccine is especially recommended for children and young adults.

"We would like for people to bring their cards they received when they took their other Sabin oral vaccine and they will not have to re-register," he requested.

The Samnorwood junior contestant was Karen Waters, 11, and in the sixth grade. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Waters. She is a member of the student council, the 4-H Club and plays basketball. She collects stamps and is interested in music.

Mother of A. C. Shipley Dies

Mrs. Delila Shipley, mother of A. C. Shipley, passed away in Lubbock March 15. She was 92 years old.

Funeral services were conducted in the First Methodist Church of Olton Saturday, March 23. Burial was in the Olton Cemetery by the side of her husband, who preceded her in death in March 1936.

Cattle Raisers

"There have been quite a few cattle missing and people are getting tired of it," Henard said. "Cattle county cattlemen formed one and has had two convictions in the last few months."

The local association will put up $1,000 in escrow in the bank, to be paid to the person or persons bringing about the arrest and conviction of anyone caught stealing cattle from cattle owners in this county.

Collingsworth's law enforcement officers are working with cattle men in urging the organization.

Allen Jeffries, of Clarendon, field inspector for the Texas Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association for this area is encouraging local cattle men to organize.

Henard pointed out that the Texas Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association cannot put up reward money, but in case a cattle theft case comes to trial, it furnishes a lawyer for the cattlemen.

BEN FRANKLIN

Two Local Winners in St. Pat's Parade

Two representatives from this community figured in a prize-winning float in the Shamrock St. Patrick's Day parade.

They were Father Patrick Burke, pastor of the Catholic Church here, and Lewis Watkins of 1602 El Paso.

The float, which won third prize in the religious section, portrayed St. Patrick (played by Lewis), protected by an angel, explaining the mystery of the Blessed Trinity to the shepherd boys of Ireland.

This is the third year in a row that the church-sponsored float has figured among the winners.

"We are very pleased with the result," said Father Burke. "We were afraid the whole thing would be ruined by the 45-miles-per-hour wind. But the children held on for dear life, and the judges must have been impressed by what they saw."

Father Burke is also pastor of the Catholic Church in Shamrock, which is named after the great Apostle of Ireland.

Injures Arm in Pole Vault

Kenny Brown, 13 year old seventh grader, had his left arm knocked out of place when he slipped and fell during the pole vault event of the Junior High track meet Saturday, March 23.

Coach Harvey Millsap said Brown was the first vaulter and that was the first event he had entered during the meet. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Brown Jr.

two projects: Greenbelt seeking to finance construction with revenue bonds, of which 100 per cent will be repaid; and the Collingsworth group, seeking water development through government financing, of which at least 50 per cent will be in the form of non-reimbursable grants.

Representatives attending expressed the positions of their towns: Quanah in need of water badly; Childress optimistic over Greenbelt prospects; Hedley expressed doubt a bond issue would carry. The Collingsworth spokesmen urged that the two groups work together, a position also taken by Memphis.

Attending the meeting were Mayor H. S. Howell and Herschel Combs of Memphis; Mayor Sam R. Bredlove and Roland W. Walden of Quanah; J. J. Roan Jr., Louis Sally and Morris Higley of Childress; A. W. Anderson and M. O. Weatherly of Hedley, Paducah was not represented.

The Collingsworth delegation included G. L. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman, H. L. Duncan Jr., Quinton Brewer, Bob Crawford, George Shadid, Cor- tez Barnett, George A. Sparkman, George Henry, M. R. Wynn, Fred Boyd, Mayor R. T. Jameson of Dodson, Louis Patterson, Mayor Hiram Cudd of Wellington, Deskins Wells, Henry Sullivan, N. M. Higdon, Miss Virginia Robey, Dan Hendard and Paul Spillman.

Norwood Srs. Set Class Play

Samnorwood seniors will present their class play, "Bolts and Nuts" Friday, April 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

Thirteen are included in the cast, according to Polly Clark. The public is invited to attend.

Complete plans will be announced next week.

YOUR FAIR SHARE . . .

Most Texans, we believe, are fair-minded folks. They believe in fair play, square dealing, and mutual respect for personal and property rights. Those who want to take advantage of their neighbors are the exception.

Sometimes it may be hard to define "a fair share." This can occur in dividing oil or gas production, when two or more landowners are involved.

As we all know, oil and gas don't pay any attention to fence lines.

Here in Texas many wells have been allowed to produce more oil or gas than they should have because they were drilled on very small tracts. That extra oil or gas came from under the neighbor's land.

Some oilmen made a regular practice of this type of operation. Obviously, one owner got more than his fair share—others, less.

People in 26 out of 29 oil-producing states have found a way to divide their oil and gas so that each owner gets what is rightfully his. They simply put their small acreage together and share the costs and income. This system is known as POOL-ING.

Such a system is needed in Texas. It is proposed in a bill now before the Legislature, HOUSE BILL 510. When the neighbors cannot agree, the Railroad Commission would set up a drilling block and see to it that the rights of all owners are protected . . . all costs and proceeds equitably divided. Oilmen who have made fortunes at the expense of others could not be expected to support House Bill 510. They are bitterly opposing it. But the responsible oilmen of Texas are overwhelmingly for it. So are the informed citizens who want to see justice done.

Ask your Senator and Representative at Austin to support House Bill 510—so Texas, too, will have a reasonable and legal way to assure to each landowner his FAIR SHARE.

Land-Grass Judging Contest Here Tuesday

Final plans have been made for the annual land and grass judging contest sponsored by the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District for Future Farmers of the Greenbelt District and 4-H Club boys of the area.

The contest will be held Tuesday, April 2, at 1 p.m. and it will serve as the official district contests for FFA teams, Bob Crawford, SCS supervisor, announced.

Following the contests, which are expected to run until about 5 p.m., Salt Fork SCD supervisors will treat the boys to a hamburger supper at Ellison Park.

The grass judging contest will be held at the National Guard Armory. The contestants will identify about 60 grasses and classify them as to perennial or annual, grazing value, warm or cool season plant, native or introduced.

Land contests will be held on a nearby farm. The boys classify the soil according to type, its capability, permeability, depth, slope, texture and give recommended treatments.

Week end visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Austin were their great grandsons, Roney and Jamie King of Childress.

Mrs. Jake Melker of Fairview, Okla., visited recently in the homes of her aunts, Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lowe, and will identify about 60 grasses with other relatives here.
