So This Is

Texas

Maybe Wichita Falls—A Manufacturing Center—Potash as Fertilizer—Texas Rail Control.

By H. N. Fitzgerald

WEST TEXAS leads in the production of natural gas; West Texas leads in the production of petroleum; West Texas will lead some day in the production of phosphate for fertilizer; West Texas leads in the production of the golden grains from which the staff of life is made; West Texas leads in irrigation, reservoirs and canals and ditches, which reminds the writer that Burt C. Blanton says that West Texas leads in the media of industrial power, both actual and potential, "which constitute prime requisites from a standpoint of selecting the logical location for manufacturing industries within a district or region."

THIS SOMEWHAT noted industrial engineer must have had Wichita Falls in his mind while he was indicating or drafting the bulletin of Texas' stupendous production of oil, which for the calendar year 1925 attained a peak exceeding 142,500,000 barrels, and the fact that Texas now ranks fifth in the production of natural gas, with consumption for the states estimated to exceed fifty five billion cubic feet for the last year; that Texas has five hundred thousand potential or undeveloped water horse power; deposits of lignite estimated at twenty-three billion tons and bituminous coal deposits exceeding eight billion tons, while the electrical generating plants in the state have a combined rated output in excess of 1,250,000,000 kilowatts hours per annum.

"THE MAJOR elements which govern the logical location for new industries are power, labor, raw materials and transportation facilities." West Texas has all these and Wichita Falls is the manufacturing and distributing center of the great petroleum and gas fields and the railroad center of a vast and rich agricultural country. All the raw materials for manufacturing purposes are found in this territory. This is one of the reasons why Wichita Falls lacked by a great agricultural population and the wealth of the soil should become the most important manufacturing city in the southwest.

NITRATE OF potash is said to be found in exhaustable quantities in San Saba county as well as away out in the West, where rich deposits of potash are known to exist and the experts of the federal bureau of mines are going to investigate thoroughly their value to the state and to the farmers of the nation. It is said that the first discovery of the presence of potash in Texas, if not in the entire nation, was made in 1852 by a hardy pioneer searching for a ranch location west of the Colorado river. Now on this ranch a large building will be erected to house the machinery and a company has been organized to manufacture a high grade fertilizer.

ACCORDING TO a trade journal at the present time about 10 million tons of commercial fertilizers are being sold in the United States and the annual bill the farmers are forced to pay amounts to several hundred million dollars per year. According to the federal bureau reports the consumption of potash in this country for 1924 as measured by the quantity imported and the quanity sold was 729,742, short tons of crude material containing 232,245 short tons of potash, valued at $14,216,000 an.. about 94 per cent of this supply was used in the manufacture of fertilizer. Texas has vast fields of potash and some day these Texas potash mines may supply the farmers of America with the fertilizer that is so necessary for the worn out lands in the older farming sections of the country.

ACCORDING TO a citizen of West Texas, the farmers and business men of the south plains country are becoming impatient with the long delay of the Interstate Commerce commission in deciding whether a certificate of public convenience and necessity shall be issued to the Fort Worth and Denver into the Panhandle and the Santa Fe and the Quanah Acme and Pacific all of whom plan to extend their lines into the South Plains country. There are three lines to be constructed and the bureaucrats of the Interstate Commerce commission, who arrigate to themselves the right to say when the people of Texas shall and shall not build additional railroad mileage appear to be in no hurry to make known their intentions.

ALL THIS reminds the writer that there will be a state-wide conference of Texans held in the city of Waco on November 5 for the purpose of formulating plans and sending a committee from Texas to Washington to appear before the house committee in the interest of the Mayfield bill, known as Bill No. 750, which provides for railroads making extensions without securing certificate from the Interstate Commerce commission. This Mayfield bill passed the senate. It was pigeonholed in the house and its author says that one or two Texas congressmen were responsible for its passage being blocked before the adjournment of Congress last summer.

SHERIFF TAKES HAND IN CLASH MARION GANGS

Shelton Gang Ordered to Get Out of Illinois County

COMMAND IS OBEYED

Action Follows Attack Made On One of Camps Of Rival Gang

MARION, Ill., Oct. 28. (AP) The Birger and Shelton gangs, engaged in a fierce blood feud for domination of the southern Illinois coal belt liquor business, remained on their arms tonight with citizens of Franklin, Williams and Saline counties fearful of a new outbreak.

The latest flare-up was early today when 15 alleged Sheltonites riddled with bullets a deserted road house, eight miles north of here, formerly operated by Birgerites and burned it to the ground.

Sheltons Ordered Out.

The first action taken by officials in any of the three counties was that of Sheriff Henry Doree and State Attorney R. C. Martin of Franklin county who went to the roadhouse operated by the Sheltonites near West City and told them they must leave the county at once. The gangsters complied with their request, leaving in the direction of the Williamson county line to the south. Charles Birger, leader of one of the factions remained defiant and reiterated that his men were out to "get" the Sheltonites.

Carl Shelton, leader of the opposing faction insisted to newspaper reporters in east St. Louis, however, that he had not been in the trouble zone for several weeks and denied that any of his men were responsible for the killing of Birger men. He said his brother, Earl, had been ill in east St. Louis for the last three weeks and that the third and youngest brother, Bernie, was ill at Hot Springs, Ark. He said he would leave tonight for Hot Springs to visit his brother.

Serious Break.

Friction between the Birger and Shelton gangs arose over insistence of the Sheltons in engaging in bank and highway robberies. Charles Birger, leader of the former faction said today. The split, he said, assumed serious aspects about two months ago.

Birger said he was content for his men to confine their activities to liquor running and gambling.

"After the klan had been done away with," he declared, "the Shelton boys and I got along as well as before. There was never anything said about a fight."

Special Session Of Grand Jury Called For Friday Morning At Request Of District Attorney

A special session of the Wichita county grand jury has been called to convene at 9 o'clock Friday morning, it was announced Thursday afternoon by Judge E. G. Thornton of the thirtieth district court. The call has been made on application of District Attorney Ben Allred, who asked that the inquisitorial body be brought back to wind up some investigations started two weeks ago in the regular session.

Allred denied that the reconvening of the jury had any special significance. There are simply some routine matters awaiting completion, he said, and these are to be taken up by the grand jurors. The men, at the time of their final report to Judge Thornton last week, asked that they be reconvened at an early date to complete some unfinished business.

Under the law the special session cannot last more than three days and it is expected that it will not require this long to attend to the matters in hand.

FOUR CONVICTS ELUDE PURSUIT

Long-Termers Make Successful Break for Liberty From Pen Farm

HOUSTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Four long term convicts who escaped from the state prison farm about 15 miles from here today, had not been captured, a report from the authorities here tonight said.

The men broke for liberty while at work in a cotton field after first overpowering a guard and seizing his weapons. A passing automobile which was abandoned later for a swifter car, furnished them with transportation. They were reported to be moving in the direction of Houston where bloodhounds were ready to take any trail that might develop.

The men got away while a second guard was shooting at them. Available information was that they did not return the fire and that apparently none were wounded.

London Has "Seven Wonders"

London is engaged upon determining just which of its show places may properly be called the "Seven Wonders of London." Up to date the list is made up as follows; the Mansion House; the Houses of Parliament; the Tower of London; Buckingham Palace; the Bank of England; the British Museum and the London zoo. There has been agitation to include Trafalgar Square, the Omnibus system and Westminster Abbey.

Illiterate Adults Eager

Illiterate men and women in Delaware are the most eager students in the short term night schools in that state. More than 1,000 of them are enrolled in the rudimentary courses. It required 89 teachers in 55 schools to give this instruction. Twice as many men as women attended. In one place where the school houses were not wired with electricity, the students brought their own lamps or lanterns to aid them in their study.

Nelson's Flagship Rebuilt

Nelson's flagship, "The Victory," is on drydock at Plymouth, England, and will be practically a new ship when the reconstruction and restoration work is finished. This is the second time "The Victory" has been rebuilt, so that little of the original craft actually remains though there are a few square feet of the original deck in Nelson's quarters that are being carefully preserved. Fresh laurel is laid on this spot every October 21, the anniversary of the Battle of Trafalgar.

Shieks Discard 'Robes

No longer do the students in the prominent school of Egypt all wear the traditional sheik's robes. After a small but significant civil war, they discharded the flowing robes for the modern dress. The minister of education favored the robes and threatened a lockout of students but the students entered class rooms by wearing robes over their modern suits and discarding them while remaining in school.

The actual number printed was 17,482,834,894, prerepresenting a face value of $455,281,376. It is a striking illustration, says Mr. New, of the remarkable growth of the postal service when it is considered that in the first year of the original federal stamp issue, 1847, only 860,360 stamps were issued.

THE VILLAGE NOW IN TOWN

Greenwich Village Scene Is Re-enacted on Majestic Stage

What Greenwich Village is supposed to look like is depicted for Wichita Falls this week in the current Majestic vaudeville bill; and whether it is a truthful representation Mann" King and his company gives isn't so important. The point is, their own interpretation is about as entertaining a bit of foolishness the Majestic has had in some time.

A Kosher comedian who finds out "how they make love in France" and then puts it to a test on a 200-pound, more or less, village belle is the principal entertainer. He "can't get hot in the face," he wails, but that only complicates things. A rousing Apache dance and a surprisingly good violin number by the nut clown are included in the act.

Music a Feature.

Music is a big feature of the bill. Villa Strigo, self-styled Spaniards from San Antonio, twanged a guitar, ukelele, mandolin and a few other such with pep and ability, while in between times they threw in some good comedy and vocalization for good measure.

Miss Eva Clark with Dan Casler at the piano proved a capable soprano whose numerous numbers were well received. She wound up with an especially good rendition of "Rose Marie." Caslar, with a left hand rendition of "The Rosary" gave the needed spice to the piano work.

The bill opens with the Herbert and Bolt trio in "Slow Motion Athletes" which is about the best of its kind ever to show here. Two muscular young men and a limber lady contortionist give some amazing exhibition of physical strength.

STATE BRINGS SUIT FOR PANHANDLE OIL LAND

SEEKS MINERAL RIGHTS BOUGHT UNDER OLD LAW

Skelly, Gulf and White Eagle Threatened With Loss Of Investments

Special to The Record News.

AMARILLO, Oct. 28.—A number of oil companies operating in the Panhandle oil field are threatened with the loss of approximately $1,000,000 in investments made in south Hutchinson county as the result of a suit brought by the state of Texas through the attorney general's department.

Recovery of mineral rights on tracts sold by the state several years ago is the basis of the suit, constitutionality of the sale being questioned.

Skelly Oil, White Eagle Oil and Gulf Production companies are included in the companies operating on and developing the land in question. The first suit, which will probably be tried in Austin in January, is against George A. Whittenburg and the Skelly Oil company and will attempt to recover full mineral rights on a tract of 134 acres in section 22, which Whittenburg bought from the state several years ago and leased to the Skelly Oil company.

Other tracts, both north and south of the river, are included in the suit.

The lands were sold under a law passed in 1919 by the legislature which the state contends was unconstitutional. The case also affects all other state lands sold under the law of 1919.

It is south of Cross Plains and in the northern part of Brown county. The depth from which the oil is flowing could not be learned.

Texas Holds Lead In Number Of Oil Operations During Past Week

Mid-Continent oil field activity decreased the past week to a total of 2,866 operations, as compared with 3,947 during the previous week, according to the current issue of The Oil Weekly, out today. The greatest decline was in the number of drilling wells which amounted to 2,083 against 2,158 operations the week before, while an increase was found in the number of shut downs and new rigs started.

Texas conitnues to lead, although the sharp increase in Oklahoma operations, due to the Seminole field has ranked in close behind. Texas had 1,845 operations the past week, while Oklahoma reported 1,547, both states declining, with only a slight one in Oklahoma. An interesting feature was the passing of Texas by Oklahoma in the number of drilling wells. Oklahoma reported 953 drilling tests while Texas showed only 940. It is the first time since the rush began in the Texas Panhandle that Oklahoma has passed its larger sister state in drilling activity.

Following is a table of activity in the Mid-Continent as The Oil Weekly has compiled it:

STATE REPAIRS PRIVATE AUTOS

Highway Department Engineer Tells Quizzers About Using Own Car

AUSTIN, Oct. 28. (AP)—Admitting that it was a bad practice to have one's personal automobile repaired at the state highway department's depot at Camp Mabry even though it was used for state business, Edward Estes, equipment engineer, also informed the house investigation committee late Thursday night that Hal Moseley, former chairman of the state highway commission, has yet to turn over to the state the noted Lincoln automobile.

Lincoln Cost $1,800.

This Lincoln automobile, bought at the request of Frank Lanham, another former highway commissioner from Dallas had been in use by Lanaham before Estes requisitioned it of state boar dof control, Estes told the committee. It was bought without competitive bidding for $1,800, he said, from John Shelton of Dallas.

Asked by Judge Richard Critz, of Taylor, why he had failed to go after it, Estes said: "I am going to wait until I get instructions. When I tried to get the state automobile from former Highway Commissioner Joe Burkett of Eastland, he showed me a statute that said he was commissioner until his successor qualified, Joe said, after he resigned, "I'm still highway commissioner." Burkett drove to his home in Eastland in the state automobile. I later got it from him."

Estes said Hal Moseley, whose resignation, in the opinion of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, became automatic when the 39th legislature in extra session adjourned without confirming his appointment, still has possession of the autcmobile, although it may be technically turned over to the highway department.

The equipment engineer said he testimony of Carl Collins, Austin, foreman of the shops and parts department of the Camp Mabry repair depot that he (Estes) had ordered his personal automobile repaired, was correct. "I felt justified in having my automobile repaired as the machine furnished by the state was unavailable and I used my machine in my work over the state.

"Collins did the work under my own instructions.

Still Clings To Golden Tresses

The Hon. Dolores Mullins, daughter of Sir John Mullins and sister of Princess Imeritinsky, is famous for two things, first, her striking beauty and second, her courage. She is listed among the courageous because she insists on clinging to her long golden tresses, despite the pleadings of her friends to join the bobbed-hair lassies. It takes real courage nowadays, they say, to appear in public minus the short haircut. Dolores is one of the very few unbobbed beauties of England.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

If Your FORD Could Talk It Would Ask for FLIVOLENE for FORDS
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

In a Ford Motor, the oil that lubricates the engine bearings must also keep the transmission bands live and positive-acting. The high speed and heat under which the Ford Motor operates and the splash system of lubrication used, require a light, high-grade, heat-resisting oil.

If an oil of poor grade, wrong consistency or of the wrong type is used, serious friction, power losses, excessive carbon accumulation and glazing of the transmission bands result. When the clutch, reverse and brake bands slip and chatter—look to the oil.

FLIVOLENE is specially designed for the proper lubrication of the Ford Motor and Transmission. If you will put nothing else into the crank case—keep the bands properly adjusted—and have the oil changed every 500 miles—you will get more and better service from your Ford, at the least cost in the long run.

FLIVOLENE is manufactured by the Humble Oil & Refining Company, refiners and marketers of the high-grade line of Humble Oils. It is for sale wherever you see the Humble Signs.

Mother Should Not Pick On Wife Her Son Marries

BY DOROTHY DIX

The favorite indoor sport of many women is "picking on" their in-laws. They are forever calling the attention of their sons to the shortcomings of their wives. They are always pointing out to their daughters their husband's faults and weaknesses.

There is not a blemish, physical, mental or moral in the men and women her children have married on which such a mother does not keep the spotlight centered, and to which she does not direct their gaze.

It is mother who never meets John without getting out her little hammer and administering a few knocks about his wife's clothes, or her housekeeping, or the way she is bringing up her children, or what she throws into the garbage can.

It is mother who never sees Mary without spilling a few acid drops of criticism on her son-in-law's manners, or the way he dresses, or eats, or sits, or talks, or stays silent.

Why mother does this, nobody knows. She does not know herself. It is not because she dislikes or disapproves of her sons and daughters- in-laws. Oftener than not, she is really very fond of them, and fully recognizes that they are fine and noble men and women who make excellent wives and husbands to her children.

Nor has she any real motive in what she does. She is not deliberately planning to make trouble between her sons and daughters and those to whom they are married, and to break up their homes and half-orphan her firand-children.

But that is exactly what she does, makes her children dissatisfied with their matrimonial bargains by focusing their attention on every little defect in them. She disillusions them, and makes them feel that they were taken in, cheated, and that the man or woman who seemed so allurring in the rosy glow of the romance shop is a poor thing, and not worth the price when seen in the cold unflattering light of home.

And that is a dreadful thing to happen to any man or woman, inasmuch as husbands and wives are not bought on approvel, and cannot be returned if one happens to lose one's fancy for them, without much mussy divorce proceedings.

No, mother has no idea of wrecking her children's happiness by ceaselessly harping on the faults of her in-laws. She is only indulging unknowingly in a little maternal jealousy when she criticizes. But half the time her children would never find out what poor, miserable creatures they are married to, if she didn't tell them.

Tom has no idea how much a woman should spend for clothes, nor how much a hat should cost, nor how long a skirt should be, and he pays his wife's bills cheerfully, and is proud as Punch about how well dressed she is, until mother comes along and tells him how little SHE dresses on, and makes him believe that Maud is ruining him with her extravagance and that it is indecent for a wife and mother to wear her frocks short.

Bob enjoyed his gay, up-to-date entertaining, young wife. Left alone, he never would have discovered that there was any crime in her gadding around and playing bridge and going to matinees in the afternoon, instead of darning stockings and scrubbing under the icebox. It was mother who put him wise by nagging him about the way Sally neglected her home for society.

Mary thought Sam a perfect oracle and enjoyed nothing so much as sitting at his feet and listening to his words of wisdom until mother made her see him as a pompous windbag by always making fun of him.

It never occurred to Jenny that she was making a slave of herself cooking just the things that Harold loved to eat, and having his easy chair and slippers ready for him when he came home of an evening until mother kept pointing out how silly it was for a woman to give in to all a man's little peculiarities.

Nellie never would have felt herself ill-used when Arthur's business kept him downtown at night if mother hadn't "poor-deared" and "poor-chiled" her so much about it, and told her how STRANGE it seemed to her.

Curious, isn't it, that women who are ordinarily intelligent, do not seem to realize how much harm they may do by disillusioning their children, and making them discontented with those to whom they are married, when their whole happiness depends upon their being satisfied and contented?

Heaven knows, in the close intimacy of married life husbands and wives have a vivid enough close-up of each other's faults, and if they can remain blind to them, it is an inconceivable cruelty to make them see that which can cause them only suffering.

Yet I have heard mothers actually complain that their daughters-in-law had the wool so pulled over their sons' eyes that they thought them perfect. Or that their daughters' husbands had them so hoodwinked that they thought everything they did was just exactly right.

These mothers overlook the power of suggestion, and the fact that if they want their children to be happy, they must be kept believing that they got their heart's desire when they married.

To this end, it is mother's bounded duty to continually "sell" her in-laws to her sons and daughters. She should call her son's attention to his wife's virtues, and boost her son-in-law's stock with her daughter if she wants to keep them out of the divorce court.

Believe me, a mother's influence for good is never more worthily exerted than when she uses it to keep her children satisfied with those they married.

Dallas Visitor Talks To Literary Department

The talk proved especially interesting and was given in a charming manner. Mrs. Luella B. Thompson gave a vocal number and responded to an encore, accompanied by Mrs. Lucille B. Huff. Miss Monterey Lewis gave a violin number accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. M. A. Lewis.

Missing Norris Witness Found

Friend of D. E. Chipps Located at His Business In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28. (AP) William P. Humason, named in news dispatches from Fort Worth, Texas, as one of the missing defense witness in the murder trial of Rev. J. Frank Norris, Baptist preacher, was found at his place here today. He readily admitted that he is the one on whom the defense seeks to serve a subpoena but said that he could not understand why he should be wanted as a witness.

"I was a close friend of D. E. Chipps, for whose murder Norris is to be tried," Humason said, "but I know nothing of the killing or anything that might be connected with it."

Humason said he had no idea of trying to escape service of the subpoena but that he would "hate to make that long trip down to Texas" because of his business.

New Building

fire proof building which is in itself a monument of their efforts. It was in 1919 that the necessity for a day nursery became apparent in the city, and the Federated Missionary society took over the problem. Through vicissitudes, they worked and in 1922 bought the first building at 502 Lamar. Early in 1925 the old building was outgrown and a new nursery thought of.

Kiwanis Step In.

It was then the Kiwanis club in carrying out its idea of "We Build," took over the responsibility of financing the structure and the opening of the Wichita Falls Day Nursery at 403-405 Lamar Avenue from 12 o'clock to 2:30 o'cock Friday will be the culmination of the work on the building which has been uppermost in the hearts of the two organizations for the last year.

"It is needless for me to say that the Kiwanis club is indeed happy over the completion of the worthwhile undertaking." J. La Jackson, Jr., president of Kiwanis, said at the meeting.

"It has been a genuine pleasure to us to work with the Federated Missionary society who fostered the organization of a day nursery in Wichita Falls. We believe that it is a great step toward constructive citizenship for this community and that from it will grow an influence that will be worth much to this city. Neither the Kiwanis club nor the Federated Missionary society desire any praise in this work. It has been accomplished through the generous support of our citizenship who responded to every appeal that was made. We believe that you will be proud of your part in this work when you visit the nursery this afternoon."

"We are profoundly grateful for our new building and grounds for the Day Nursery," Mrs. W. W. Cook, president of the Federated Day Nursery, said in a short talk. "We wish to thank every one who his in any way given assistance to the enterprise. Especially do we appreciate the unselfish big service of the Kiwanians whose efforts have made the achievement possible.

Hold Open House.

"On Friday we hold open house at the nursery and we invite all to visit us and see for themselves just what this institution is doing to supply the home training and care to which every little child is entitled."

The Kiwanis club in its drive for funds resorted to a wide and varied round of features for the securing of the needed money. Public subscriptions accounted for by far the greatest amount—$17,497.99, while benefit boxing and wrestling matches, carnivals, musicals, theatrical entertainments and other agencits accounted for the balance.

Extra Letter 'Y' Causes Trouble

Mistake in Austin Paper On Pardon Story Puts Ma On Warpath

AUSTIN, Oct. 28. (AP)—One little misplaced "y" in a headline of a local paper Thursday caused a conference between newspaper men and Governor Miriam A. Ferguson Thursday in which she delivered an ultimatum on the handling of news about pardons.

The governor is going to announce her own clemency proclamations hereafter and no newspaper man can obtain them from the records in the office of the secretary of state, so the woman chief executive said.

The "y" in the headline was tacked on an "eight" which erroneously read that "eighty" pardons had been granted by the governor. That aroused the governor's ire. It was pointed out by the woman chief executive that although the eight pardons had been granted and were on the records she had yet to sign the proclamations, which were on her desk.

Governor Ferguson has granted 2,531 clemency proclamations.

PREACHING AND PRACTICING

A FEW days ago a noted educator visited Wichita Falls in the course of some remarks here implored a gathering of leading business men who had happened to hear him to "remember the need of developing your greatest asset—your children. It is a wonderful thing to develop your irrigation project, your oil resources; it is fine to have your great financial institutions, your railroads, your industries, your buildings and your trade, but after all, the future progress of your city and mine rests on the manner in which we train and nurture the children of today who will be the men and women of tomorrow."

He was a splendid sentiment, well expressed. He reminded his hearers of as vital a truth as was ever evident.

Today, should Dr. Sutton be in Wichita Falls, he could be shown with pardonable pride an example of the way in which Wichita Falls has heeded the principles of his preachment. He could be shown that this city and the men and women who comprise it have realized and are realizing that facilities for training and development of the young are necessary and important. And he could be shown that with this realization has coming something definite in the way of providing the seeds toward which this realization has pointed a way.

In its new day nursery, Wichita Falls has something more than an institution devoted to the day-to-day care of a horde of youngsters. It has, too, something more than a haven of refuge for worried mothers to whom the Gods of fate have not been kind. On the practical side, of course, the nursery is designated just for this—a place where the babes are cared for while their mothers are at work. But on the other side, it furnishes a little of that intangible "development" of which Dr. Sutton spoke.

Physically, those youngsters profit who know the nursery's care; and that is something highly important to them. Yet how more profitable is the influence of healthful environment, cheerful diversion and wholesome moral atmosphere. Tender in years they are, yet they are not too tender to escape a start in life that might prove damaging in after years if they were turned loose, unwatched and unattended while a mother battled in the marts of business for a pittance to make ends meet.

These far-seeing Wichitans who originally conceived and started the day nursery; those enterprising Kiwanians who have successfully conducted a campaign to make the new day nursery building possible; those large hearted citizens whose liberality has consummated the entire project, wrought well in their undertaking. They see as a result of their efforts a pile of architecture, brick and mortar equipped and furnished for the comfort of the little ones; but if they look a little farther, perhaps they can see a future nolidity of character that started when a boy or girl came in contact with the training the nursery offers and escaped that which a street corner, a dark alley or a river bottom school provides.

AUTOS AND OIL WASTE

IT IS estimated by an expert that America's 20,000,000 motorists travel 190,000,000 miles each year in their cars, average miles per car being between 9,000 and 10,000 miles and spend more than $19,500,000 in operating cost. Of this total operating expense American motorists waste hundreds of thousands of dollars annually through improper lubrication. This claim is made by the vice-president in charge of engineering of one of the great manufacturing concerns of the country. Americans, when it comes to wastefulness, lead all other nations and all the peoples of the world.

The foolproof airplane is being predicted. Foolproof airplanes will likely be like foolproof motor cars. Too many people will prove themselves fools with them.

WHY NOT CHANGE THE SYSTEM

A CONSTITUTIONAL amendment relating to change in form of management of the Texas prison system will be submitted to the voters of Texas Tuesday, November 2. Shocking disclosures made by the investigating committee may have a vast deal to do with the adoption of the amendment. These disclosures may result in an overwhelming vote for the adoption of an amendment which provides for a new sweeping change.

Now a board of three commissioners is appointed by the governor. They report only to the governor. They are created by a constitutional provision and can be removed only through judical procedure. These commissioners have equal authority and divided authority and no commissioner is responsible.

The charge is made that the prison system has no head and that the system under the present form of management has no system. Should the amendment carry November 2, it would abolish the present board and then it will be proposed that the legislature by statute create an unsalaried board of five or seven outstanding citizens which board shall outline policies of the prison system and be empowered to employ one man trained and qualified for prison management and who shall be held responsible for the affairs of the prison and the welfare of the prisoners.

He will be required to report regularly to the unsalaried prison board by whom he may be discharged for inefficiency, waste, brutality or other good cause. Chairman Satterwhite and his fellow investigators will have an interesting report to submit to the 40th legislature, and then it will be the duty of the lawmakers of Texas to enact the legislation necessary for the protection of the money of the taxpayers, for the protection of the convict, for the eradication of the evils which are uppermost and to place if possible, the penitentiary system on a paying basis.

If salaries are inequate they should be increased in order that men of character and efficiency shall be in charge of the prisons and the prison farms and the convicts of the commonwealth. Political henchmen should not be given positions or jobs as rewards for their services and unfit men should not be placed on the payroll of the state.

SENATE SHORN OF ITS POWER

NOW it has been decided by the supreme court of the United States that the tail does not wag the dog and in this instance the senate is the tail and the president is the big dog on watch at all times. The English of all this is that the president of the United States has the right to remove postmasters and other executive appointees without the consent of the senate.

In an opinion by Chief Justice William Howard Taft, a former president by the way, the court of last resort held that federal statutes which have been regarded as withholding that power from the president, are void and that congress has no constitutional authority to restrict the president in the removal of officials from offices it created but that the chief executive charged with the administration of the government's business must be free to act on his discretion. Justice Holmes and McReynolds dissented from the opinion of the majority. Thus it is that the president has the power to oust from office and the consent of the senate is not necessary. Two democrats and one republican are the dissenters, and one of the democrats, McReynolds of Tennessee, declared the majority decision as "revolutionary."

All the people elect the president, while the people of a state elect the senator or senators. A president is responsible to all the people while the senator is responsible to his constituents alone. Why should the senators control the patronage. Why should they name the office holders? Why should they be permitted to place their henchmen on the payroll of the people?

A convict has been pardoned because he is the champion pretzel bender. Pretzel used to be so intimately associated with beer that we thought it was Volstead who put the crimp in them.

RIGHT IN LINE

Whether or not the Texas-Oklahoma fair shows a profit, whether it broke even or whether, which is the most probable, it incurred a deficit on this year's operation has not been announced. Unofficially, it has been intimated that the fair did not show a balance when the finances were audited, but that "it was not a big deficit." Thereby the local exposition falls in line with most of the other fairs from which reports have been received.

Figures released in Dallas the first of this week show that the state fair drew the smallest attendance in 16 years. R. H. Shepherd, while attending the Dallas exposition last week met an executive from the Minnesota state fair who told him the big northern exposition drew the smallest crowds and showed a financial loss for the first time in 12 years. A news item from Springfield, Ill., stated a few nights ago that the Illinois state fair fell upon evil days from an attendance and financial standpoint this year. Every one is familiar with the failure of Philadelphia where the Sesqui-centennial exposition, pictured as the greatest in the world, is already $3,000,000 in the hole and going deeper.

Apparently, something has been a little out of line in the big exposition line. Business conditions cannot be blamed in most sections, for if reports are to be believed, national prosperity has seldom been greater than it is at present. It must be assumed then, that the fairs have lost, for a time, at least, their attraction for the public.

Officials of the Texas-Oklahoma fair are not blind to the fact that some changes must be made next year if the exposition is to succeed. There was nothing radically wrong with it this fall. As a matter of fact, it was just as good and perhaps a little better than most of its predecessors—from most standpoints. But there was a glaring lack of entertainment features, and after all, that the magic magnet for the public. Exhibits may be ever so meritorious and varied, but in themselves they offer small inducement to the public.

That a change in the entertainment program will be made here next year is a foregone conclusion. Unless it is made, the Texas-Oklahoma fair will miss its mark by a wide margin.

High Spots in the Life of Little Stanley

Bring on Those Gloomy Days!

And sunkers for the blue, Folks,
A cheery grin that won't wear thin

Their Start.

Alice: "Dad, do you think George is making enough to support me?"

Father: "Yes, dear. That's more than I was making when I married."

Alice: "But do you think a seven room house is large enough for us?"

Father: "Certainly. Your mother and I started fighting in three rooms."—Sunny.

THE HORSE
Teacher: Jake Falstaff.
Class: Robert, Doris, Harold, Stanley, Judith.

Class: "Oh, teacher, teacher, teacher, dear! You promised you'd tell us about the horse."

Teacher: "Well, sit down prettily and be nice little scholars and I will. The horse is a friendly animal that holds up traffic at downtown intersections."

Class: "What is it for, teacher dear?"

Teacher: "To ride, for one thing. Women like to go horseback riding for the same reason that men wear tuxedos to a stag banquet."

Class: "And what is that?"

Teacher: "To show off. Women formerly sat on a horse in the same way that a short-legged man sits on a davenport. But now that it is generally known that women are not built like mermaids, they don't think it improper to straddle the beast."

Class: "Isn't the horse a trifle passe, teacher?"

Teacher: "It is. And many old-timers think the younger generation is all wet in preferring to do its courting in a flivver. They think there is nothing like a ride behind an oat-fed horse to break the ice."

Class: "What advantage has the flivver over the horse?"

Teacher: "The flivver never gets its tail over the lines."

Class: "What is the most peculiar thing about a horse, dear teacher?"

Teacher: "It's height, my dears. When you stand beside him, he doesn't seem to be much taller than you are. But when you're on top of him, it is 210 feet to the ground."

Class: "This has been highly scientific and entertaining, dear teacher. Thank you so much."

Teacher: "Don't mention it. Come to school again whenever you're sober."

When Brooks visited his friend who lived in our most fashionable suburb he noticed that in the houses near the depot most of the windows were broken.

"What's the matter?" he asked. "Did an earthquake strike you people?"

"No," the friend replied. "There are a lot of skeptics visiting these parts who don't believe our homes are a stone's throw from the station."—Ruth Saunders.

NOW WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT IT?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX.

1. Is any dust found at sea?
2. Why is forest air so pure?
3. Since plants give off carbon dioxide which is poisonous, is it unhealthy to have flowers in a sleeping room at night when they give off this gas?
4. What is relative humidity?
5. Why is charcoal a dangerous fuel for house heating?
6. Why is a bad smelling gas added to illuminating gas?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's Record News.

THE BLACK HOLE

The famous "Black Hole of Calcutta" was a small subterranean dungeon into which nearly a hundred men were confined during the Sepoy Mutiny. After one night in this spot the majority of the Englishmen were found to be dead. It has generally been supposed that they died of carbon dioxide poisoning, a gas given off by the lungs. Modern research has shown, however, that the same air that these men breathed, if it had been taken out and dried and fanned, would not be poisonous. In other words the air became so saturated with the water vapor given off by the lungs and bodies and so hot due to the tropical condition and the presence of many men in a small space, that they died of humidity.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. A yak is a Tibetan ox with long hair.
2. A gnu is an African antelope.
3. An ant lion is a four-winged insect.
4. Elephants are wild in tropical Africa and India.
5. There are no really white elephants, but some that are grayish pink are called white and are considered sacred in Siam.
6. A mantis is a predatory insect having habits that resemble some human actions.

'TRUDY' SUES FOR $714

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 28.—It now develops that not only did Marion Talley draw more customers than Trudie Ederle on their recent appearance at the same time here, but also that Trudie failed to get all the cash she expected; in fact only got $36; she is suing for $714. Presumably Marion was paid.

"I'M THE GINK"

I'm the ginkett who lectures my young men friends about their morals and their vices, if any. I am forever asking them if they drink and if any of their friends drink. I always criticize the girls they go with. I just must reform all my friends. I can't believe a man doesn't need reforming. I seek to get them on pledges, no matter how harmless their little pleasures may be. I battle the cigarette and booze and think what a good girl am I. I wonder why my friends change so often to other girls. I glow with pride at my "reformations."

Lyrics of Life
By Douglas Malloch.

LOVE ON

A wicked world—but God sends rain
To help to grow the sinners' grain;
A wicked world—and yet the sun
Lights as he would a better one;
A wicked world—and yet I find
Its God as good, and heaven as kind.

And so I say to you, be good
Even when most misunderstood,
And so I say to you, be true
No matter what the rest may do,
Ah, yes, I say to you, be right
Even though wrong may win the fight.

Surely if God can love through hate,
Then we as patiently can wait,
Surely if God, by men forgot,
Loves on if men shall love or not,
Surely if God lets sinners live
Then we can suffer and forgive.

Love on—for then the heart may know
At least the joy of loving so,
Work on—and in a task well done
Find payment, if no other one,
Pray on—for He who waits so long
Will understand, and keep you strong.

BALING COTTON LIKE ALFALFA

Four Vernon Farmers Devise Novel Scheme to Hold Part of Crop

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Oct. 28.—A novel way of handling individual cotton problems has been worked out by four Vernon farmers. They have 359 acres in cotton, much of which is making over a bale to the acre. This, they admit, is far too much acreage and far too much cotton. So they plan to keep a considerable part of their crop off the market until better prices can be obtained, and to do this economically they are baling the cotton with an ordinary hay baler and storing it in their own barns. This saves them ginning expense and storage expense until they are ready to market and cash in on the crop. It also makes it easily handled when it is moved. These farmers say that by storing the cotton a few weeks before ginning, the oil from the seed will be partly absorbed by the lint, producing a better grade of lint which will sell for a cent per pound more than freshly picked cotton.

'SQUATTERS' TO GET HIGH SIGN

Electra Plans to Clean Out Suburban Section For Residence Plot

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Oct. 28.—Squatters in Electra's "No Man's Land" just north of town, will soon be invited to "move on," following action of the residents of the nearby Woodrull Heights addition together with the city commission.

This small section of ground, lying north of town and east of the Electra-Frederick highway, was subdivided during oil boom days and sold in 30 by 40-foot lots for oil development. These lots were too small to be of any value in oil development and the owners, who now live in all parts of the United States, in the majority of cases have never recorded them or paid any taxes on them.

It is planned to resubdivide this tract into a city addition and to grade streets through it. Consequently, the squatters, who have been declared a nuisance to nearby residents and t oeach other, will be asked to move on.

This will also relieve a severe drain upon the city's charity fund. The movement is being headed by members of the city commission.

GARDEN CROPS EXHIBITS HERE

Wichita Entries in State Contest are On Display At Noble-Little

One of the finest exhibits of garden and fresh vegetable products ever gathered in Wichita county was placed on display yesterday in the front show windows of the Noble-Little Hardware store on Indiana street by the Lakedale and Bowie farm clubs of Wichita county under the supervision of Miss Louise Webb, home demonstration agent. The exhibition is in reality a contest between the two clubs for county honors in the Texas garden contest, conducted by the extension service of A. and M. college in co-operation with the Educational bureau, Chilean nitrate of soda organization.

100 Varities.

More than 100 varieties of vegetables and fruits were exhibited in the display, including a number of vegetables practically unknown here. Both clubs have entered an excellent exhibit. J. A. Kemp had been scheduled to judge the exhibits yesterday, but an unexpected call from the city prevented him from doing so and the judging was postponed until today. Earnest Burk, agricultural agent at Iowa Park will be here to direct the judging.

Prizes, in addition to a steam cooker offered by the Kichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, are also offered in the state contest of which the winner in this contest is eligible to win, and are listed as follows: First place in state $35, second place $25, third place $15, fourth place $10, fifth place $7, sixth place $5, seventh place $3.

New Varieties.

A number of new varieties and new vegetables are included in the exhibit among them being the new vegetable known as Chinese cabbage, salsify, asparagus, celery, dill, artichokes, Brussels sprouts, mangle beets, etc. Most of these varieties are not even thought of by the average gardener of this section, yet they are exhibited as an example of what can be grown here.

There are also some fine fruits, including grapes, persimmons and pears.

"The most interesting feature of this exhibit," Miss Webb stated, "is that all of these things were grown within three miles of Wichita Falls. Both of these clubs are located right here close to the city and these garden plots are all within sight of the city. It is the best exhibit we have ever had and I am very proud of the success of almost every effort the clubs made in new varieties."

Mrs. J. S. Downing, president of the Lakedale club has charge of their exhibit and Mrs. E. F. Moore, secretary of the Bowie club, has charge of the Bowie exhibit. These ladies will be present today to explain and tell visitors how much of the products were grown. The exhibition will remain in the window until Saturday.

Girl Gained 7 Pounds Nine Years Invalid

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock Girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar-coated, pleasant to take, tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach upsetting oil itself—they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at Smith and Renfro's Drug store, or any druggist.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength:

"My little girl was striken with infantile paralysis when she was 5 months old and was an invalid for 9 years—when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cold Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues. I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market. She is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day." Mrs. L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

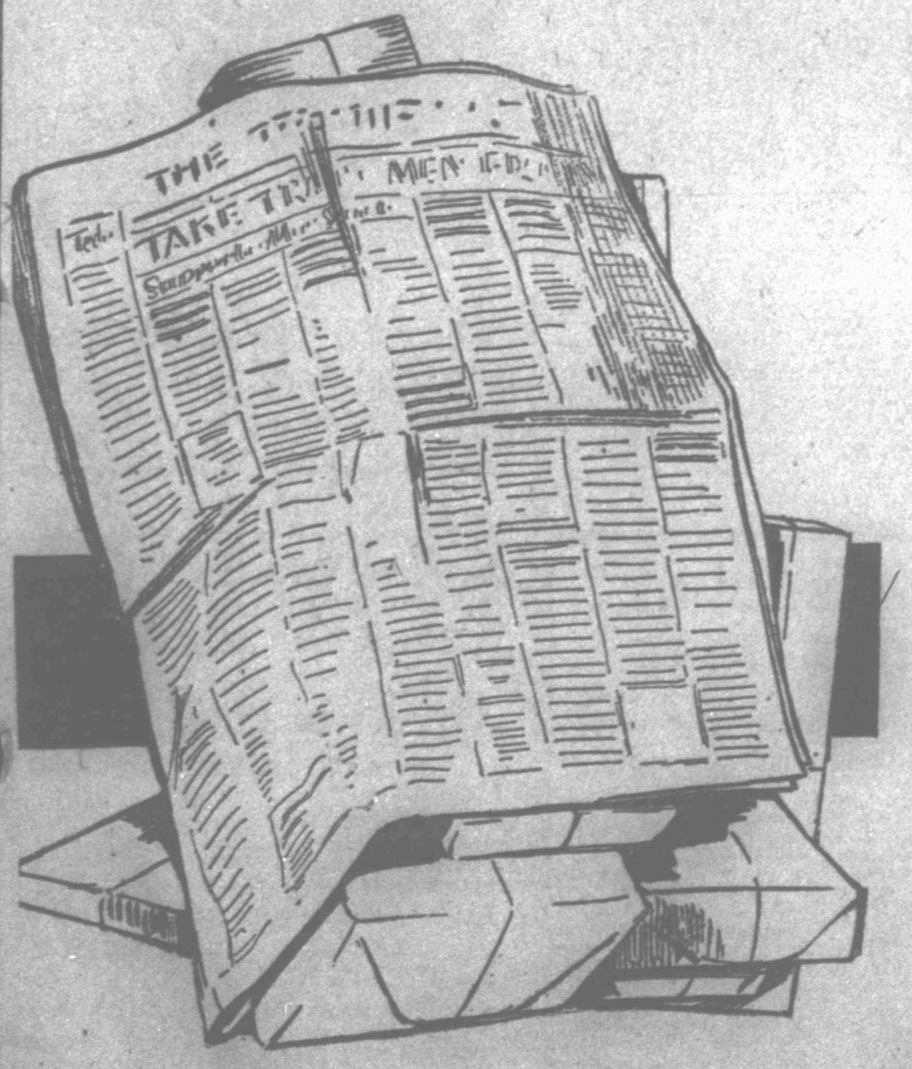

Insist on McCoy's, the original and genuine, and if after thirty days' treatment you are not delighted with results—why get your money back.—Adv.

Those NEEDED Turnovers

~are in your newspaper!

Here is a Simple Problem in Mercantile Mathematics—and the way to its solution!

THE average American family spends as a minimum $21.63 a year for women's shoes alone.

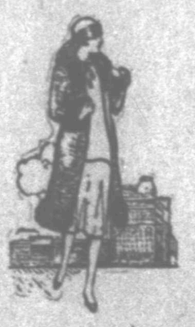

The newspaper that is preferred by a family is the strongest means of contact between that family and any merchant desiring that family's trade. It is said that such a newspaper delivers the family buying power.

How large in dollars and cents is the smallest possible shoe market delivered by this newspaper? The advertising department of this newspaper can help you determine that accurately.

In that market the shoe merchant will discover many turnovers which he can obtain for himself by consistent and persistent cultivation.

The same is true of the clothing merchant, the furniture merchant---the merchant in every line of business in this city.

Cover Your Entire Market

Search out every possible turnover. Determine what this newspaper may deliver to you in turnovers drawn not from this city alone but from the entire broad field covered as a unit by this newspaper each day.

Do not invest in newspaper advertising merely to pamper your self-esteem. Go into it wisely and with determination to make it deliver more of its wealth of turnovers to you.

ANOTHER CATASTROPHE

Youth and beauty has given away to age again. Truly "tis a year of upsets. The boyish Lee Wilson, that famous man of athletic affairs, staggered into devastating defeat yesterday at championship golf play over the Muny links. The great man bowed before the uncanny driving and putting of the veteran W. G. TRIBE MEETS NORTH TEXAS AGGIES TODAY

Ludgate's Squad in Great Shape for Battle At Arlington

Maroon and Gold conference hopes will be given their first test this afternoon when the lads from Wichita Fall's Junior college match brain and brawn with the Junior Farmers from North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington, the contest being the first one with conference teams for the Wichita Falls entry.

Coach Ludgate and 20 Redskins departed at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by cars for the overland journey to Arlington. The return trip will be made Friday night after the game.

Except for minor bruises and a few not - quite - healed charley horses, the team is in good condition. Captain Stephenson's kicking foot is just about in shape again and Big Boy Ricks, the massive guard, is also raring for duty to make up for his two weeks' lay off. Keller, first reported failing due to a teacher's misunderstanding the college rules, was found to be eligible also.

The following men will be in the opening line-up, according to an announcement by Coach Ludgate before departure: McAninch, fullback; Stephenson and McConnell, halves; Harvey, quarter; Thompson and Scoggin, ends; Burks and Gilchrist, tackles; Bland and Boyd, guards; Patterson, center. Men who are likely to see service before the end of the contest are Keller, Peery and Coffey, backs, and Trevathan, Ford and Ricks, linemen, with other possibilities. Ford, owing to his wonderful showing at Memphis last week, would have gotten first call at end, but a leg injury is making going rough for him. Other men who made the trip are King, Shepherd and Williams.

ARLINGTON, Texas, Oct. 28. (AP)—Following a week's North Texas Agricultural college eleven, are ready to meet Wichita Falls Junior college, here Friday afternoon.

The Junior Aggies have won by heavy scores all this year's conference games, although they have been defeated in two non-conference matches.

Gorman Locks With Yaqui Joe

Conqueror of Mantell To Battle at Majestic Monday

Yaqui Joe, the Indian wrestler flash, and Jack Gorman, San Angelo meteor, will meet in the main event of the Wichita Falls wrestling association program Monday night at the Majestic theatre, it was announced yesterday.

Both Gorman and the Indian have conquered Dutch Mantell, who until recently had served more or less as a thorn in the side of the welterweight ranks of the southwest.

Each man has set in strenuous training.

Eddie Pope, the sheik of the mat, has been matched with Charley Grip, the Baltimore caveman, in a finish battle on the same card, said Matchmaker Ross.

Pope will outweigh Grip several pounds, but Charley is used to that. It is said, the pair met one time in a New York gymnasium supposedly for a gentle workout. One or the other got rough and bad blood ensued. They have never met professionally.

INDIANS ON PATH

Nacona Crippled But Confident on Eve of Henrietta Game.

Nocona's Indians tackle Henrietta Saturday. Nocona has undergone strenuous preparation for what they hope to be their fourth conference victory.

The Indians have not maintained a 100 per cent standing in the league but have bidden strong for every contest so far this season.

Although Henrietta's record doesn't stack up very well a hard fought game is always expected between Nocona and Henrietta. Nocona will be weakened by the loss of two of their squad when the whistle blows for the game Saturday. Berton Cooper, star tackle is in a Fort Worth hospital undergoing a major operation. Claude Williams guard for the squad has not recovered from his operation for appedicitis.

Maddox, captain and star quarter is also a probable sideliner Saturday on account of a strained tendon.

It's Willie Versus Budley In Annual Grid Clash At Vernon This Afternoon

The battle of the jungle beasts is on today at Vernon. Electra's Tigers storm the veldt of the Vernon Lions in the most important embroglio of the section this week-end.

The odds point a wee bit to the favor of the Lions, but Reese's battlers with their powerful forward wall led by the fighting Captain Budley Avens may repulse the onslaughts of the fleet charging Lion backs led by Captain Willie Gelhausen.

Wellington Plays Memphis Today

Mean Tilt on Tap Between These Hard-Fighting Elevens

Wellington and Memphis, two of the strongest class B elevens in the section, clash today at Memphis in a game that may have much bearing on the interscholastic league race. There are five teams in the Memphis-Childress district which stack up as very strong contenders. These clubs are Memphis, Wellington, Childress, Clarendon and Canyon. Canyon plays Clarendon today while Childress is idle.

Watch Dennis

Special attention will be centered on Dennis the Memphis backfield flash, in today's game. This youngster stands out as one of the leading ball carriers in north Texas.

The Cyclone may find itself hampered a bit by injuries as it defends the fort against the powerful and undefeated Wellington combination. Several of the Memphis lads were crippled in the game with Wichita Falls junior college last week. Dennis is said to be out because of injuries, but it is possible the star will get into the game as some stage if he does not enter the starting lineup.

In Fair Shape

Wellington is said to be in pretty fair shape. Among this team's stars who will play are Horton, end; Leach and Lindsey, tackles; Long and Watson, guards; Cocke, center; Williams and McInnis, halfbacks; Powell, quarter, and Handley, fullback.

Memphis' starting lineup probably will find Brumley at right end, Captain Sisk at left tackle, Nixon on center along with Massey, Odom and others in the forward wall. Dennis will be at full, May and Hammond at halfbacks and Henderson at quarter.

OLNEY CUBS READY

Merchants To Close Up For Game With Strawn Today

Olney high school gridders last night were said to be fully prepared to stage the greatest game of their career this afternoon on the home field against the invading Strawn eleven. Strawn has a powerful team which stands a good chance of upsetting the fast-stepping Cubs who have won four games this season already. Strawn recently held the heavy Mineral Wells club to a 3-0 score.

Olney merchants will close shop for the game which is to begin at 3:30.

McCallum Fights Over-Confidence

Coyotes Speed Up Huddle System for Quanah Game

Bud McCallum's Coyotes Thursday continued practice in a very earnest session to perfect plays and to improve the speed of execution of the huddle system used by the Pack to get over signals. In the contest with the Tigers, the slowness of execution of plays was one of the outstanding faults of Coyote performance, the Pack suffering several penalties for delaying the game.

Aside from drilling on eliminating faults in the physical execution of the game, much attention has been given to getting the Pack into the proper frame of mind for the Quanah tussle scheduled for Saturday as the second league contest for Bud's crew. All possible has been done to elliminate any over-confidence there may be in the squad.

Mac has not yet decided how his squad is going to get up to Quanah. Quite a number of fans are planning to make the jaunt by auto Saturday morning.

Undivided Authority On Corsair Ship Next Summer.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 28.(AP) There will be undivided authority on the Pittsburgh National league baseball club next season.

So declares Barney Dreyfuss, president of the club, in announcing that Donie Bush, brought here from Indianapolis, Ind., to succeed the deposed Bill McKechnie as manager will be in supreme command of the Pirates next year. Bush will have no advisers nor any interference from any one, Dreyfuss intimated.

DALLAS INVADES AUSTIN.

DALLAS, Oct. 28.(AP)—Special trains bearing more than 1,000 football fans will go to Austin for the Southern Methodist - Texas game Saturday.

CHILDRESS BOBCATS STEAM UP PREPARATION FOR TITLE PIGSKIN FORAY NEXT WEEK

Coach Odus Mitchell's battling Bobcats of Childress high school are taking it more or less easy the next few days, there being no game scheduled this week.

However, Mitchell and his squad are not loafing on the job, as it were. For the former Panhandle grid luminary is putting his men through a set of speedy sessions daily in preparation for the Wellington game at Childress next week. Mitchell is pointing still further ahead, too, not overlooking the contest billed with the powerful Memphis eleven November 19.

The performance of the Bobcats to date has been almost brilliant figuring from the first game of the season when a green and untrained eleven dropped a bitterly waged 6-0 contest to the powerful Amarillo squad, through last week's victory over Paducah.

Mitchell's lads are in pretty good shape. Bob Affleck, reserve quarterback, is the only man on the injured list and he is able to play a nifty brand of ball, notwithstanding. Affleck smashed his nose during a scrimmage session. He won his letter in the Paducah battle.

Mitchell and his boys say that if they lose to Wellington or Memphis there will be no alibis. The squad is all set to give its very best.

The coach is working on a series of new plays to use against the strong elevens who meet the Cats in rapid succession.

Captain Sport, Childress fullback, is hitting his best stride these days and expects to cause quite a bit of misery in rival grid camps.

Real Luminaries.

A number of real stars were uncovered in the Paducah conflict. Bybee is showing exceptionally well at quarterback. Dowis and Newberry at halfback positions are making names for themselves. Oscar Trent, a very light substitute back has been springing quite a bit of clever stuff. Morris Howard, also, has been showing well in the backfield. He jerked off a 50-yard broken field run with the ball in the Paducah tilt.

N. H. Greer, 155-pounder at tackle, is a marvel at the position. His offense and defensive work has not been surpassed this season in the district by any lineman. Sam Privitt, at the other tackle, is proving a bulwark.

Two brothers, Hugh and Y. Nichols hold down the wing jobs. Both are fast and hard-hitters. Y. Nichols has been dropping back from end to do most of the punting.

Gophers and Badgers Renew Annual Rivalry With Hope Of Breaking Three-Year Tie Score

CHICAGO, Oct. 28. (AP)—Ties scores for three years have stalemated the football teams of Minnesota and Wisconsin in their annual rivalry and the impetus of all three thwarted victories will goad each team to new heights of endeavor when they meet at Madison Saturday.

Both teams tapered off tonight with dummy scrimmages, the Badgers pleased with their newly manifested offensive power, and the Gophers striving to retain the cohesion which last Saturday ironed Wabash flatter than a dime.

In the annual battle of their university football teams the two states find epitomized the rivalry in many fields of endeavor. Saturday's contest will be the thirty-fifth engagement of the teams. Wisconsin has won 14 games and Minnesota 15, while five have been ties.

Minnesota Favored

This year Minnesota, with Joesting and Almquist in its back field and a line schooled by two gruelling defeats is a favorite but against Wisconsin all signs have failed in many a year gone by.

On the eve of Northwestern's departure for the Indiana game, Coach Glenn Thistlewaite announced he would not trade his line from tackle to tackle, for any in the country.

He is well satisfied with his team's play and expects to duplicate the Hoosier conquest of two weeks ago.

Wolverines to Pass

Michigan was on its way tonight to Annapolis to meet the Navy, prepared to launch a variated running attack if the aerial defense on which the Sailors have been working should stop the passing game the Wolverines have built up.

Illinois awaiting Pennsylvania, prepared for a crowd of 60,000 at Urbana-Champaign, led by the Penn band and three thousand rooters from the east. Zuppke would rather beat Penn than any team remaining on the schedule for the easterners schedule arrangements probably will not permit another engagement next season.

Chicago Primed

Chicago is being brought to an emotional peak by Stagg for the Ohio State game. A new backfield with Marks at halfback and a sophomore at full, will start against the Buckeyes because two Maroon backs are out with injuries. Ohio State is a pronounced favorite, but Stagg is counteracting pessimism with exhortation.

Purdue and Iowa went through stiff scrimmages tonight, regarding the Indiana normal and Carroll college games Saturday only as preparation for Northwestern and Minnesota contests ten days hence.

NAVY GRID PROBE

Cadets' Relation With Syracuse and Colgate To Be Studied.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP) Brigadier General March B. Stewart, commandant at the United States military academy, has invited Charles W. Flint, chancellor of Syracuse university, to confer with him Monday on the future athletic relations of Syracuse and the Army. When the Army beat Syracuse five players were injured. Baysinger, Syracuse quarterback, resigned from the squad after he had been banished from the game for hitting an official.

The National association for the advancement of colored people has asked Secretary Wilbur to investigate what it says was the refusal of the Navy to play Colgate unless Ray Vaughn, negro, was kept out of the game. Commander Jones H. Ingram, coach of the navy, said no protest had been made and that he had received a letter from Colgate before the game saying Vaughn would not make the trip because the naval academy was "rather far south."

Tough Outlook For Undefeated

List of Eastern Contenders Will Whittle Down Saturday

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP)—Ten of the 11 unbeaten teams still in the hunt for the mythical championship of the east face hard battles this Saturday with the prospect that the list of contenders will be whittled down considerably.

Holy Cross entertaining an intersectional foe in Dayton university has the only comparative "soft spot" on the list, observers believe. Two of the unbeaten outfits, Washington and Jefferson, and Lafayette come to grips on Franklin field. Three others, Pennsylvania, Navy and West Virginia have middle western opponents for the day and will remain in the eastern title hunt even if defeated.

The Favorite.

On fluctuation form, Cornell, Boston college, Brown and New York university the strongest favorites among the undefeated clan but none of these has an easy afternoon in sight.

With two weeks of preparation Cornell's big red machine boasting one of the most powerful lines in the east, will depend chiefly on its famous off tackle sweep against Columbia at the Polo Grounds.

Boston college the only eleven unscored on in the east, is expected to conquer West Virginia Wesleyan but the latter demonstrated its strength last week in holding West Virginia to a single touchdown.

New York Should Win.

New York university's spectacular advance to the high places is likely to continue at the expense of Fordham, ragged though the latter may be and Brown's formidable eleven, conqueror of Yale, appears slated to hand Dartmouth its third straight defeat.

West Point's veteran and unbeaten forces have been installed favorites over Yale in spite of the return of several Eli bulwarks to the team. The Cadets have high hopes of muzzling the Bull Dog but it promises to be a spectacular and keenly contested fray.

Of the trio of major intersectional battles involving unbeaten eastern teams, West Virginia meeting Missouri, and Pennsylvania going west to battle Illinois are favored to keep their slates clean although anticipating stiff contests. Michigan's dreadnaught attacks the navy at Baltimore with expectations of victory but the Middies promise to give a good account of themselves.

WALK WANTS STRIBLING.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. VERNON WARRIORS IN TOP CONDISH TO DEFEND FORT AGAINST TIGER ADVANCES

On the eve of the Vernon-Electra gridiron clash, which is scheduled to begin at 3:30 o'clock in Vernon this afternoon, it was apparent that Coach Baggett would be able to send his strongest combination against the Tigers in the second and one of the crucial interscholastic league tests of the season. No injuries cropped out during the preparatory grind this week.

Three New Luminaries

The work of three men in the last game who were supposed to be members of the second string makes the probable line-up somewhat in doubt yet, as Nabers, Holar and Trammell proved beyond doubt last week that they are able to fill their respective positions in league contest. However, the early season first-string line-up will probably start the game, although the Lion coach has not made an official announcement. That line-up is: Center, Parker; guards, Lewis and Black; tackles, Johnson and Koontz; ends, T. Key and Newth; halves, Castleberry and C. Key; quarter, Luttrell; full, Captain Gelhausen.

TIGERS NOT IN BEST OF SHAPE

Jim Reese's squad at Electra is not in as good condition as the Vernon Lions, but the Tigers are determined to make a great fight this afternoon. Should Electra defeat Vernon and the Lions then manage to upset Wichita Falls next week the Tigers will have a chance to advance in the championship race. A loss today will eliminate Electra.

Johnny LeBus, first string quarter, probably will not be in the Tiger lineup. LeBus was injured in the game with Wichita Falls last week. Cloninger will shift from halfback to quarter.

Electra's probable starting line-up:

G. Brown and Crass, ends; Avens and Sargent, tackles; Foster and Davis, guards; Coolidge, center; Cloninger, quarterback; Kent and L. Smith or Preston, halfbacks; Gillum, fullback.

It is likely the Electra municipal band will attend the game. A number of Tiger rooters plan to drive over to Vernon. Classes at high school are to be cut short so that the students will have time to witness the contest.

BY MARTHA HART

"Come before me, [doll]," said the [doll], "and look me in the [eye]. Why did you try to fly away with my [hair]?"

The [doll] wanted to tell a lie,—to say that she had lost her way and hadn't planned to keep the [hair],—but when she opened her [mouth], not a sound came. So she hung her [head] and grew very red.

"I thought you were a good [doll]," sighed the [doll]. "I thought I could trust you. But I see I was wrong. Well, I will have to take you before the [doll] queen and let her punish you."

RING TRADERS' DRIVE AGAINST PRICES FAILS

Market is Quiet With Tenor Of Steadiness In Undertone

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28. (AP) The cotton market was quiet today but the undertone was steadier and the general trend of prices was upward although there were occasional drives against prices by ring traders. There was a marked absence of hedge selling which was taken to indicate more determination on the part of the interior to withhold offerings. The market started right to 11 points higher in sympathy with better cables than due and continued on the upgrade practically all morning on moderate trade buying and short coverings until near noon prices showed gains over yesterday's close of 20 to 22 points. During the afternoon prices eased off 14 to 16 points on selling by ring traders but the dip met the usual trade buying and pracis rallied almost to the highs but in the final trading eased off about 10 points from the best closing at net gains for the day of 10 to 13 points.

With Liverpool coming in better than due first trades here showed gains of eight to 11 points with December at 12.35, January at 12.41 and March at 12.59, and these proved to be the low levels of the morning. The market continued to gain all morning and near noon December trade as high as 12.47, January at 12.53 and March at 12.70, or 20 to 22 points above the previous close.

During the afternoon prices reacted under pressure from ring traders and December eased off to 12.38, January to 12.39 and March to 12.54. There were new lows for the day. In the final hour prices rallied almost to the earlier highs but lost 10 points of this rally right at the end, closing six to seven points above the lowest. Exports for the day totalled 27,929 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP)—The cotton market was only moderately active today fluctuations were comparatively narrow. January sold up from 12.33 at the opening of 12.49 and closed at 12.36, compared with 12.27 at the close of yesterday. The general market closed barely steady at net advances of seven to 11 points. The market opened steady at an advance of eight to 12 points in keeping with relatively firm cables. A little southern selling was readily absorbed around the initial prices, and the market held generally steady during mid-day. The small volume of selling from the south was regarded by local traders as indicating an absence of unpressure in the interior and this view was strengthened by private reports of a firmer spot basis, particularly in the eastern belt.

Buying for both continental and domestic trade account was reported on the dips while there appeared to be considerable investment buying as well as covering of recent sellers. Buyers however, did not follow up the advances aggressively and after selling up from 12.33 to 12.40 for December and from 12.53 to 12.78 for March, or about 10 to 23 points net higher, the market eased under profit taking.

Southern selling was a little more active in the last half hour and these proved to be the low levels of the morning. The market continued to gain all morning and near noon December trade as high as 12.47, January at 12.53 and March at 12.70, or 20 to 22 points above the previous close.

During the afternoon prices reacted under pressure from ring traders and December eased off to 12.38, January to 12.39 and March to 12.54. There were new lows for the day. CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Oct. 28. (AP)—Whipsaw action of wheat values today kept traders on the jump. Sellers, however, had an advantage most of the time, prospects appearing less bright for quick settlement of the British coal strike. After many swings within a range of 2 1-2c wheat closed nervous at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-2c lower, corn 3-4 to 2 1-8c down, oats at a shade to 1-4c off, and provisions unchanged to 10c decline.

Corn prices acted heavy. Weather conditions were favorable and the movement to terminals has now fairly begun. Oats were influenced by the downward trend of corn.

In line with hog values the provision market was easier.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP).—Stock prices turned reactionary today after early spirited strength. Early buying which carried scores of issues up one to four points was inspired by the recent series of favorable dividend and earnings statements, but the apparent failure to effect an outside interest led to a resumption of short selling, which wiped out many of the earlier gains, and sent a number of issues three to five points below yesterday's final quotations. Closing quotations generally were around the lowest of the day.

Railroad shares yielded with the industrials despite the fact that freight traffic broke all records in the week ended October 16, when 1,301,163 cars were loaded, or 38,182 above the previous high established in the week ended September 18, this year. Pittsburgh and West Virginia was bid up over five points to 112 and closed near the top, but Chesapeake and Ohio closed fractionally lower at 169¾ after having touched 171¼. Atchison fell from 155⅝ to 153⅞, Atlantic Coast Line from 199¼ to 194, Nickel Plate from 194⅛ to 185¾ and New York Central from 135¼ to 134.

Call money held steady at 4½ per cent all day, with only about $5,000,000 in loans called, an unusually small amount on the eve of month-end settlements. The New Federal Reserve bank announced no change in the re-discount of four per cent, although rumors of a possible reduction were heard in some quarters.

After the market closed, the Bethlehem Steel corporation announced net income of $4,550,978 in third quarter, equivalent to $1.57 a share on the common against $2.04 a share in the preceding quarter and 56 cents in the third quarter in 1925.

U. S. Steel common touched 142, a new high on the current recovery, and then settled back to 139⅞ for a net loss of one point. General Motors sold above 153 around the end of the fourth hour and then dropped back to 150⅛ unchanged on the day. American Can duplicated yesterday's high price of 53¼ and then reacted two points. Rumors of new financing, which were later denied caused a fresh outburst of selling in Hudson Motors which touched a new low for the year at 31 as against this year's high of 123¼. Continental Baking "A" was run up four points and then lost nearly all its gain. Pathe broke from 47 to 41 on rumors of a weak long account in that stock and then rebounded to 43½. Fox Film and Warner Pictures reacted in sympathy.

A temporary outburst of bullish enthusiasm developed in the oil shares under the leadership of Pan American "B" and Texas Company on buying presumably influenced by the large current earnings of the stronger companies.

Time money and commercial paper were unchanged.

Heavy buying of the French and Italian currencies based on the prediction of Dwight Morrow that the currencies would be placed on a gold basis next year featured the foreign exchange market. French francs rallied around 3.11 cents and Italian lire around 4½ cents. Other rates held steady.

35 INDICTED AT MONTAGUE

Grand Jury Files Report To Court After Session Of One Week

Special to The Record News.

MONTAGUE, Oct. 28. — The grand jury for the October term of district court which has been in session for seven days made its final report late Wednesday evening, returning 35 indictments, 29 felonies and six misdemeanors. The names of none of those indicted were given out as most of them are out on bond.

The grand jury, in its report deplored the lawlessness in Montague county and called upon the officers and citizenship of the county to co-operate in the enforcement of the law.

It made no report, however, as to any findings it might have made in any investigation of the tampering of ballot box No. 2, Denver precinct, which was evidenced when the box was opened last week during the trial of the election contest of Bill Davis vs. Luke Rhyme, for constable. According to the unofficial returns Davis was nominated by three votes, but in the tabulations by the executive committee Rhyme was given the nomination. Davis, in his contest, alleged that Rhyme had been given 10 more votes from the Denver box than he actually received, and Judge Stine opened the box, and declared Davis the nominee. The envelope which contained the tally sheets, in the box, had been torn open and the sheets showed signs of tampering. Several witnesses from the Denver precinct appeared before the grand jury yesterday.

"HONEY LOU" By Beatrice Burton

AUTHOR OF "LOVE BOUND," "HER MAN," ETC.

READ THIS FIRST:

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old "GRUMPY" WALLACK, head of the Wallack Fabric Mills.

"Grumpy" hired Honey Lou, not only because she is clever, but because she is nice to have around. Everyone else at the mills likes Honey Lou, too, from ANN LUDLOW, the office vamp, to JOE MEADOWS, the shipping clerk. But Honey Lou is half afraid of Meadows without quite knowing why.

Young JACK WALLACK comes to work in his father's factory to learn the business. He falls in love with Honey Lou's beauty the first time he sees her, and later with her prim, old-fashioned ways and her sweetness. Brought up by her unworldly widowed mother, Honey Lou is a queer mixture of modern flapper and clinging vine. She has never "petted" in her life, and never takes a drink. But she has smoked three or four cigarets, and she does rouge her lips.

At a party given by Jack's neighbor, ANGELA ALLEN, Honey Lou drinks two cocktails, thinking they are fruit punch, and passes out. She makes love to Jack on the way home, too, not realizing how she is disillusioning him. Neither does she know that, while she was unconscious, Angela Allen called her "hard boiled" and told Jack she had not two but seven cocktails.

Angela "rushes" Honey Lou—takes her to tea and to lunch drives her home from the office and warns her against Jack seriously. She hints to Honey Lou that Jack once was deeply in love with her, just as he is now with Honey Lou. And she breeds in Honey Lou the beginning of a love of luxury and fine clothes.

One night while MARGARET MOODY, Honey Lou's half-sister, is out of town on her summer vacation, her friend, DR. STEVE MATHEW, comes to the house.

Jack drops in, too, and before [illegible] Honey Lou. [illegible] few nights afterwards he goes to a movie to hunt up Honey Lou, and finds her in a [illegible] contest. Furious with her for dancing in public he [illegible] away, without seeing her. Honey Lou quits her job, and goes to work at a hospital [illegible] Margaret. She learns that Angela has given a house party at her country home, including Jack, and leaving herself, out.

[illegible] FOR FULL STORY

nickel car standing in the street below the flat.

But it was never there. And as July wore away into a dry and sultry August she gave up hope of his coming. Luck, that skittish mare, had thrown her. She was sure of it.

Then on the first Monday in September Angela came down to the hospital. She had just come home from the country and her arms were filled with dahlias that she was bringing to the sick little children in Ward A.

She looked more like a storybook angel than ever, with her white summery clothes and her little yellow hat that was like a halo on her yellow hair.

"Isn't she beautiful!" Miss Dalrymple, whose desk was next to Honey Lou's desk, breathed in awed admiration when Angela walked into the office that day. "Oh, I just think Miss Allen's too darling for words! She's just as sweet as she looks, too!"

Angela came straight to Honey Lou's desk, bent over her chair and kissed her on both cheeks.

"Why, I didn't know you were here, darling," she said to her in her gentle voice. "I didn't know you'd left Mr. Wallack."

"Oh, yes—" Honey Lou sighed. "Oh, yes," She hoped that Angela wouldn't ask her why she had left. She wouldn't know what to answer if she did.

"As soon as I take these flowers back to the kiddies," Angela went on, still smiling her lovely gray-eyed smile. "I'm coming back to take Miss Honey Lou Huntley to lunch, if she'll go with me."

"Oh, Angela, you're always doing nice things for me. I can't accept them all. I just can't go to lunch with you today," Honey Lou protested. There was a little frown between her arched brows.

But Angela was not going to take "No" for an answer.

"I owe you a party anyway," she declared smoothly. "All summer long I've been meaning to have you spend a week-end with us up in the country. But somehow the summer was gone before I realized it. So you've just got to come with me today. We haven't had one of those good talks of ours for ages and ages."

At last Honey Lou put on her hat, powdered her little nose and followed Angela out to her car.

"Honey Lou, you look thin. What have you been worrying about?" Angela asked when they were sitting opposite each other at a little table in the middle of the glittering restaurant.

Up went Honey Lou's firm little chin.

"Nothing. Not a thing in the world," she said, shaking her head until the gold-tipped curls around her eyes fairly danced up and down. "Maybe the heat has pulled me down a bit. No one has less to worry about than I have!"

Angela broke off a tiny piece of toast and nibbled it. She ate delicately and beautifully.

"I thought you might have been bothering your head over Jack," she said presently. "I knew that he wasn't seeing as much of you as he did last spring. I thought you and he might have had a spat—and that perhaps that's why you had left the mills."

"Now, how did she guess all that?" Honey Lou asked herself. "She must have second sight."

She gave her head a vigorous shake. "It wouldn't bother me if I never saw Jack again," she fibbed brazenly and bravely.

Angela did not answer her. Her blue-grey eyes were on the outer door of the restaurant.

"There's Mrs. Wallack — Jack's mother, you know," she murmured, and half rose in her chair to beckon to the older woman.

Honey Lou watched her come toward them through the sea of bright and shining little tables.

She saw at once why Jack called his mother "The Head." She was a tall magnificent-made woman with a determined chin, the eyes of an eagle, and a commanding nose. "I will" was written all over her. Even the way she set her foot on the floor had an air of dash and power about it.

But when Angela introduced her and she said "How d'you do, Miss Huntley," her voice was as low and lovely as Honey Lou's own mother's voice.

"I've been having such a day!" she said then, turning to Angela and drawing off her white doeskin gloves. "Papa's been so irritable. Of course, it is hard, being laid up with lumbago in weather like this."

Honey Lou wondered whom she was calling "Papa." Could she mean "Grumpy."

While she was wondering, Mrs. Wallack spoke again. "My husband, Miss Huntley, is a temporary invalid," she explained with a smile. "And like most men, he's a very trying one."

"Honey Lou knows Mr. Wallack," Angela cut in, leaning forward across the table. "She was his secretary at the mills for a long time, you know."

A look of surprise crossed Mrs. Wallack's handsome face and passed almost instantly.

"So this is Honey Lou!" she exclaimed. "Why, of course! I've heard my husband speak of you dozens of times, Miss Huntley. He never ceases to bewail the fact that you left the mills."

She laughed showing white, even teeth. "Do you know Miss Ludlow?" she asked. "His new secretary?"

"Do I? I'll say I do!" Honey Lou answered, dropping into her usual slang.

Mrs. Wallack shook her head with its high-plumed hat that made Honey Lou think of the Knights of Pythias on parade.

"I gather that Miss Ludlow is not the secretary that you were," she said, and Honey Lou gave her a little smile of thanks.

"Well, I must go. I can't stop for lunch," she told Angela. "I just dropped in to get some French pastry for dinner tonight and I've got to hurry along. Jack's waiting outside for me in the car."

Jack! Honey Lou's heart seemed to turn completely over in her breast. Her eyes raced to the street door of Sabine's.

His mother got up. She held out her hand to Honey Lou. A big, warm, capable hand.

"I've enjoyed meeting you, Miss Huntley," she said. "Good-bye, Angela. Come over tonight and play some bridge."

Angela nodded with one of her bright, sweet smiles. For a second Honey Lou almost hated her. Hated her because she could see Jack Wallack. Because she could walk in and out of his house, as she pleased. Because she could play cards with him, hear his voice, perhaps touch his hand.

She was filled with a sudden and sweeping jealousy of Angela. "I just wonder how much

KIWANIANS REVEL AT ANNUAL LADIES NIGHT

125 TURN OUT FOR FUN AND FESTIVE ACTS

'Low-Brow' Music and Other Features Come as Night's Surprises

One hundred and 25 Kiwanians and their ladies made merry Thursday evening at the Country club in the annual ladies night that on this particular occasion had an especially happy significance. Paying off of the debt on the new Day nursery, sponsored financially by the Kiwanis club and the federated missionary societies, was observed as a large feature of the evening, but there were additional entertainment features, also.

The program was arranged by Walter Nelson, Jr., program chairman. Noisemakers, serpentines and favors in keeping with the Hallowe'en season aided in the merriment.

Surprises Come.

Several surprises were featured, including the celebration of Dr. F. E. Collard's birthday which was remembered with a humorous talk by Dr. Floyd Allan Bash who made the presentation speech for a bunch of healthy turnips, a "diamond" ring and a lovely birthday cake that wouldn't cut. Dr. R. A. Walker of Lubbock also made a short talk, and then the program chairman exhibited his pet, a nice "black and white kitty."

Joseph Rabinowitz played two violin numbers with piano accompaniment by Mrs. E. J. McMontel.

Low-Brow Music.

Ira L. Cain suggested that some low-brow music would help the evening's entertainment and he sawed off a Spanish number, "El Toro," which was nothing more or less than "The Old Gray Mare," which was followed by "Tipperary" and "Turkey in the Straw."

Don T. Haynes sang a solo which was well taken by the audience. Music for the evening was furnished by the Original Blue Moon entertainers. A concluding feature preceding the dancing and games of the party was a dance by Miss Ona Watson Arnold of the Knickerbocker Studio.

Terry, treasurer; Lucy J. Faubian, chaplain; Mrs. Vera Bullard, guide; Mrs. Archie Otele, captain; Ben Conant, inner guard; S. G. Payne, outer guard; Hugh T. Moore, A. G. Bright and E. E. A committee from the Vernon, Electra and Burkburnett Lions clubs will meet with the local organization next Wednesday and plan for joint meetings to be held with the four clubs during the winter, it was announced by the men on their return yesterday.

Wichita Falls Man Is Given Rifle Hickman Used In Slaying 2 Bandits

"Down in Texas, Captain Tom Hickman of the Texas Rangers, has been busy again."

Thus starts an article in "The Dearborn Independent," Henry Ford's weekly paper. Which means that fearless Tom Hickman is a man among men, such as is usually found among western heroes, to the extent that he is receiving national prominence as a model American, to whom dangerous obstacles are just a little more work for body and mind.

F. L. Mercer, of Perkins-Timberlake company of this city, is a close, and proud, friend of Captain Hickman. Mr. Mercer says "I have known Tom, (he calls him by his first name), for a good many years, have hunted and camped with him, have slept under the same starry blanket with him away from all human interference, and I have found in him a genuine friend such as one rarely finds, who has all the qualities one likes and without any pretensions of greatness. Tom is just a clean, unassuming, honest Texan who tends to his own business and lets other's alone. He is one of the best men I have ever known."

The Dearborn Independent continues. "His latest deed is the shooting of a couple of bandits at Clarksville as they left a robbed bank, carrying $55,000 loot. It is the same Tom Hickman, the lighthearted who laid the Yancy Story outfit by the heels, though doing so took the coolest of courage under fire."

While on a recent visit as the guest of Mr. Mercer Hickman presented him with the same gun which he used at the Clarksville robbery a short black stocky 30-30 Winchester carbine. Hickman was only across the street from the bank when the robbers were shot, but he could have dropped them just as surely if they had been a quarter of a mile away. It has been 25 years since a peace officer has dropped a bank robber in Texas with the goods on him. The rifle was presented to Captain Hickman by the Lone Star Gas company during the Texas-Oklahoma border dispute. It has now done its last work, although still in perfect condition, except for the service scarred stock, which shows many marks from its constant usage in this and foreign dominions. Mr. Mercer, who is quite an authority on guns, received this one as a keepsake and considers it one of his most valuable possessions. Certainly it has had the most interesting service.

7 Come 11, But The Cops Get Only Six

Negro Crap Game With 30 Busy Yields Half Dozen On Gaming Charge

"Seven, Come Eleven," the darkey shouted, but it so happened that only two came and consequently most of the participants of the "high class, free-for-all" crap game got away. In fact the two officers that responded to a telephone call from another section of the same building had not expected to walk right into a full fledged negro crap game which numbered, including sweaters, approximately thirty souls, but they were equal to the occasion as far as two could go, and managed to bring six of them to the police station.

Yesterday a call came from the old two story rooming house at 201 Mill street, from a woman who wanted to complain about unjust treatment from a tod amorous suitor. Two officers responded and when they drove up to the house, a "lookout darkey" (who was probably too old to either see or hear the galloping ponies) gave the alarm by throwing a rock against the house. Immediately pandomonium broke loose. Negroes came flying from every opening in the ancient dwelling, and they came with the full determination to put quick and sudden distance between them and somewhere else.

Deftly piled clubs stopped the headlong flight of six, and they will face city police court this morning on a charge of gaming.

BACK FROM MEET

Wichitans Return From Session At Beaumont.

Miss Joseph Fisk, Alva Willgus and C. A. Spragins returned Thursday morning from Beaumont where they attended the tenth district convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. Wichita Falls captured signal honors through their representatives, for the trio were placed on important committees, and Miss Fisk was chosen as a member of the state board of directors and Mr. Willgus was re-elected to the board.

Mr. Spragins was a member of the nominating committee which selected officers and directors to be voted upon, and the report of that committee was accepted unanimously.

Mr. Willgus besides being song leader for the convention, served on the resolutions committee, Miss Fisk on credentials.

Rogers Shapes His Comments Wisely

Noted Humorist Who Appears Here Nov. 9 Studies All Big Questions

Will Rogers who will appear at the Junior college on the night of Nov. 9, and make comments on present day conditions as Mr. Rogers prefers to call his work on the lecture platform. It would be difficult to associate the word lecture with Will Rogers. There is nothing in the personality of this American that may suggest a lecturer. "The funniest man in the world" he has been called but like all great comedians she has his serious side. He is, for instance very serious about being humorous. Listening to him makes one believe that all he says is spontaneous his thoughts seem to leap with humor, yet they are founded on a very thorough knowledge of any subject that he speaks of.

Like all successful men he has his own method of work. Every day he studies the newspapers from all over the country, reading first the front pages and then the editorials. He reads all the editorials written on both sides of the political fence because he has no faith in the interpretive powers of any single publication. Only by reading them all does he feel that he has learned something. What he finds he calls truth. And it is his way of summing up these truths, telling them in simple words with his own point of view that makes him the most quoted man in the country.

DOKKIES PLAN BIG CEREMONY

Lodges of This Section To Be Here Nov. 7-8 For Installation

Lodges of the Knights of Pythias of this section of Texas are looking forward to Nov. 7-8, when the formal installation of members into the Wichita Crescent of D. O. K. K. will be held. About 400 members are expected to be in the initial organization, which will be the only crescent in the northwest portion of the state.

Forty members of the Azotas temple of Fort Worth will be here to put on the D. O. K. K. ceremonial. They will bring with them a 30-piece band and will spend their time in Wichita Falls and Burkburnett. The delegation will be headed by Lee Freeman, royal vizier, and Claude M. Shears, secretary of the royal vizier of Azotas temple of D. O. K. K.

Sixty-five men were present in a meeting of members and prospective members of D. O. K. K. Wednesday night at the K. P. hall when representatives from this city, Burkburnett, Electra and Iowa Park were present. C. W. Gorin was chairman of the meeting.

The period preceding the organization of the crescent is a busy one, it was said last night. Sixteen pages are to be initiated into Knights of Pythias of Pioneer Lodge No. 59, Wichita Falls, and additional pages from other lodges are expected. The second degree will be held at Iowa Park next Wednesday night; and the rank of knight will be conferred in Burkburnett Thursday.

SAFE IS ROBBED

Fletcher Barber Shop Suffers Loss Of $200 In Cash

Safe crackers made a complete job of robbing the safe in A. C. Fletcher's Barber shop Wednesday night and escaped with approximately $200 cash and about $150 in checks. The robbery was discovered Thursday morning by Mr. Fletcher when he opened his shop for business.

Entrance had been gained through a rear window and the safe was broken into by knocking the knob off and drilling out the inner plate. The safe had been carried into a rear room where it was opened.

The same shop was burglarized about a year ago at which time a larger sum of money was taken.

Police worked on the case all day yesterday but at nightfall reported no new clues discovered.

"Who's Who in American Jewry" is a book being compiled in New York City in which names of prominent American Jews are to appear. Rabbi Samuel Phillips of Temple Israel has been asked to write his biography, telling of his education, schools attended and club memberships, and mail it to the publishers.

Among the men who are being mentioned in the book which is similar to the "Who's Who of America," are Julius Rosenwald, Louis Marshall, Felix Walberg and others.

LIQUOR JURY DISAGREEING

Little Hope Entertained For Verdict in Case Of L. Heineman

Little hope for a verdict was held in the trial of L. Heineman in district court yesterday when the jury seemed hopelessly deadlocked after hours of deliberation. Heineman is facing three charges, all in connection with alleged liquor traffic. They include charges of possession for purpose of sale, possession of equipment for manufacture of liquor for purpose of sale, and the manufacture of liquor.

The charges in the case were made following a raid on Heineman's home at which time a quantity of liquor and a still were seized.

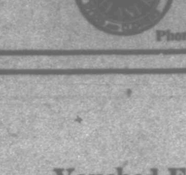

In the Jack Hill case, the jury reported yesterday morning it could not agree and was discharged by Judge P. A. Martin.

Judge Martin is having considerable trouble with juries in this week's handling of liquor cases, and became impatient yesterday when it developed that only two out of a panel of 30 jurors appeared for service. He fined those not reporting $25 each, and issued instructions for an additional panel to be drawn for continuing the court.
