Belated Thrusts Of Winter Felt

Americans Catch Shopping Spirit

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (AP) — America has caught the Christmas shopping spirit in the biggest way since 1928, a survey of Chicago business indicated today.

Wholesalers, retailers, jobbers, mail order firms and house selling schemes all reported their volume of business was the biggest in four years.

In glassware, there was the biggest boom reported in 14 years. Repeal of prohibition and the demand for glasses, pitchers, decanters and every kind of container serving drinks, have put dealers far behind in filling orders.

Mercury Tumbles As Snow, Sleet And Rain Arrive

(By The Associated Press)

BELATED winter made a chilling thrust into Texas Monday, bringing snow flurries, sleet and misty rain to the northern section and driving temperatures sharply downward elsewhere.

At Wichita Falls, rain sleet and snow fell intermittently through the day. The temperature slumped to a low of 30 degrees there and failed to climb above 34. Most of the snow and sleet melted on the ground but trees remained coated with ice.

Moisture Welcomed

A drizzling rain and snow fell over a 12-hour period in the Olney section. The snow, which at times came down hard, covered the ground to a depth of more than half an inch. Farmers welcomed the moisture.

One inch of snow and sleet covered the ground in the vicinity of Electra.

Fort Worth had a mercury reading of 34 degrees at 4 p. m. and there were prospects that the temperature would fall below 30 before morning.

Mercury Goes Lower

Late Monday the temperature had fallen to 36 at Dallas, where there was a light mist and overcast skies.

Balmy, summerlike weather came to an abrupt end at Stephenville as the temperature skidded below freezing for the first time this winter. Snow started falling during the afternoon.

Abilene and adjacent points in the West Texas plains country had intermittent falls of sleet and snow. It was the first bad weather of the year since last spring in the Abilene region.

Colder weather was heralded at Clarksville by a sharp decline in temperature, accompanied by mist and rain. The minimum temperature, there was 40 and the maximum 58.

Indications were that temperatures over the state would rise Tuesday.

Bolivia Ready To Sign Truce In Gran Chaco

Peace In Area Is Believed To Be Assured After 50 Years Of Dispute; Fighting Will Cease Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 18.—Bolivia accepted a proposal for a truce in the Gran Chaco border warfare with Paraguay, it was authoritatively learned tonight.

Paraguay proposed the armistice at the Pan-American conference in order to allow for an arbitration of claims of the two nations, which have been in dispute over the Chaco Boreal for 50 years.

Action Imminent

Previously President Salamanca of Bolivia had advised President Gabriel Terra of Uruguay, conference chairman, that Bolivia was "disposed to listen" to peace proposals, and a definite announcement of the truce was considered imminent.

Paraguayan delegates suggested that hostilities cease between midnight Tuesday and midnight on December 30. This President Terra immediately cabled to Slamanca, pressing for an immediately acceptance.

Insist On Guarantees

If the armistice is arranged, President Ayala of Paraguay said he intended to insist on the broadest guarantees against a renewal of hostilities at any time in the future.

False reports of an armistice set Montevideo agog this afternoon when news of President Ayala's proposal caused newspapers to blow the sirens of their plants in the belief that at last peace was about to be effected.

Public Maintained Theaters And Orchestras Advocated By Hopkins; Development Of Music Stressed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. — Development of a recreation program, involving public maintained orchestras and theaters, was advocated today by Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, as a means of helping to reduce unemployment.

His statement was made at the same time that he announced that 458,905 heads of families and single persons had been transferred from relief rolls to civil works administration jobs in 133 localities during the last two weeks of November.

Demands Heavier

These same communities — the principal cities and towns in the country — had 1,641,920 heads of families or single persons on relief rolls at some time during the month.

Hopkins also disclosed that relief demands during the early part of

Once Gay Central Cafe Will Follow Eighteenth Amendment Into Oblivion

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, Dec. 18.—Made famous by prohibition in the United States, the Central cafe in Juarez is following the 18th amendment into oblivion.

S. G. Gonzales, owner of the establishment, once one of the gayest resorts on the Mexican border, announced that the Central would be closed after New Year's day. It will be open Saturday, Sunday and Monday for Christmas celebrations and again on December 30 and 31 but after that its doors will be darkened for good.

The death knell of the resort came as a result of the depression, the opening of cabarets in El Paso and 3.2 beer in Texas.

Since 1920, the famous have dined and danced at the Central. Gonzales numbered as his patrons Jack Dempsey, Jimmy Walker, ex-mayor of New York, Wallace Beery, Buster Keaton and many others from New York and the west coast.

A few years ago there were 50 saloons and cabarets in less than three blocks on Sixteenth of September street in Juarez. Now most of these places are darkened. Not a single dance floor is open on the once gay thoroughfare.

Millions Are Promised For Road Projects

West Texas C Of C Directors Hold Meeting In Ft. Worth Monday; Wilbur Hawk Says Funds Tied Up In State

Reports Are Heard

Oil Industry In West Texas Reported To Have Taken On New Life; Secretary Ickes Is Given Praise

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Dec. 18.—A telegraphic protest aganist further delay in the expenditure of $8,900,000 in federal funds for highway construction in 27 Texas counties stricken by dry weather and floods was sent by the executive board of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce here today to Lawrence Westbrook, state relief administrator.

A copy of the telegram was sent to Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator.

Hawk Makes Report

The decision on the highway work was taken after Wilbur C. Hawk, Amarillo, past president, made a report in which he said the funds were tied up with Westbrook.

Directors of the regional chamber pointed out that $6,230,000 of the fund was provided with emergency relief monies and that $2,670,000 was made available from CWA funds October 14.

A total of $5,000,000 of the allotment was for the Panhandle counties and $2,000,000 for other West Texas counties. The remainder of the $8,900,000 was allotted to the lower Rio Grande valley.

Dates Not Set

Because San Angelo representatives were absent, the directors closed their regular winter meeting without setting dates for the 1934 convention which will be held in San Angelo.

After conferring with PWA officials in urging speed on West Texas projects, the directors heard reports during the afternoon on oil, taxation and next year's membership

Guest Of Honor Leaves 'Em Flat

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 18. 18. (AP)—They were awarding a medal for distinguished service to childhood to Walt Disney, the movie cartoonist, today, and right in the midst of the ceremony Walt grabbed his coat and hat, mumbled words of thanks, and dashed to a hospital where a daughter was born to his wife.

A group of 75 guests at the banquet were at a loss to understand Disney's hurried departure. Dr. Rufus Von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California, , who acted as toastmaster, was as surprised as the rest, but all was forgiven when the whole story developed at the Good Samaritan hospital.

Disney's award was based on the enjoyment children have derived from his creation "Mickey Mouse."

Direct Loans For Industry Being Talked

Bank Loans Are Reported To Be Hard To Obtain; Jones May Seek An Amendment To The RFC Act

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Seeking to back up some phases of the recovery program which have been slowed by inability to obtain bank credits, the administration today had reached a point where earnest study is being given to the question of direct government loans to industry.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Corporation, who is studying the situation with a view of reporting to President Roosevelt on needed legislation, indicated today that he probably would recommend an amendment to the RFC act which permit direct loans.

Loans Hard To Get

Industrialists, particularly the smaller ones, have told Jones they are finding bank loans extremely difficult to obtain when needed. Last September the president attempted to meet the situation by approving a plan whereby the RFC could make loans to NRA code subscribers. This, however, officials said, has not worked as well as had been hoped, due to the present prohibition against direct loans to individuals.

Approximately 15,000 NRA adherents have asked the corporation about loans. They all were informed that under the law they would have to form mortgage companies to receive loans from the RFC. Between 2,000 and 3,000 applications now are on file, but only a comparatively few have been approved.

Jones said today that business men were "crying every day" for

She was visiting a son living 12 miles east of Muleshoe when she was arrested. Most of the money had been repaid, it was said.

Back To Farm Movement In U. S. Is Seen

Drift Away From The City Is Reported By Secretary Ickes In Annual Statement Made To President Roosevelt

Farms Increasing

Decreased Activities Cited As Result Of Economies In Department; Price Boosts Are Reported

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—A drift from the city in a back to the farm movement as a result of "widespread unemployment" in industrial centers was noted today by Secretary Ickes in his annual report to President Roosevelt.

The secretary's report was brief but with it he transmitted reports of bureau chiefs on the interior department's many activities.

Leaving Cities

"Each year hundreds of thousands of urban workers with their families, voluntarily or under pressure of economic necessity," the report said, "leave the city for the country, and other hundreds of thousands of farm boys and adult farmers with their families leave the farm for the city.

"In the present situation of widespread unemployment in industrial centers, however, and for several years back it happens that the net drift has been away from the city—a net back to the farm movement."

The report referred to the $25,000,000 set up for the establishment of subsistence homesteads whereby industrial workers could raise a part of their food on small farms in slack seasons and said the initial move under the program had been among a small group of West Virginia coal miners.

Small Farms Increase

In further discussing the drift of population away from urban centers, the report said the movement had not been one altogether of a going-back-home or back to the farm exodus of unemployed workers with their families. It had embraced also the report said, in increasing volume a drift out of congested urban areas into nearby suburban districts where the worker could obtain a piece of ground for farming on a small scale or for a home garden.

"This dispersion of urban populations, and development of part-time gardening or farming in suburban areas as a means of eking out family incomes, may be expected to continue in increased volume in the future," the report said.

North Pacific Cities Are Beaten By Rain On Monday

SEATTLE, Dec. 18 (AP)—North Pacific coast cities and shipping, harrowed over the week-end by a terrific gale, were beaten by a steady rain in the wake of the storm today, while water deepened in 3,000 flooded homes.

The freighters Losmar, Henry D. Whiton and Charles L. Wheeler, jr., hard hit by the storm, called for assistance of the coast guard. Scores of small craft were tossed on beaches or swirled away by the tides.

No loss of life was reported, but more than nine persons were injured. Water flowed over highways, flooded sewers, cut power lines and caused earth slides.

Tiny Baby Girl Wears Her Mother's Wedding Ring As Bracelet At Birth

(By The Associated Press)

FINDLAY, O., Dec. 18—A baby girl, so tiny that at birth the doctor thought her dead, lies contentedly in a little basket beside a coal stove in her parents' home here.

Her mother's wedding ring slips easily over her hand to form a bracelet.

The girl was born Saturday night to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carmen. Premature by four months and weighing only 20 ounces, she gave no apparent signs of life, the father said.

Fifteen drops of a prepared milk every 30 minutes is the baby's diet.

With blond hair and dark blue eyes, the animated doll is 14 inches long from head to toe. Her head is 8 inches in circumference—No bigger than a tennis ball—and 3 1-2 inches long. Her fingers are only a half inch long and almost as thin as match sticks.

Each parent is 19 years old. Neither is unusually small. The doll's great grandfather, John Bartshlett, however, weighed only two pounds at birth.

Bank Deposits At Spur Rise

Million Dollar Mark Passed By Institution For First Time Since 1927 And Second Time In History

(Special To The Avalanche)

SPUR, Dec. 18. — For the first time since 1927 and for the second time in the history of the Spur National bank, deposits in that institution have passed the million dollar mark, W. B. Lee, president, announced tonight.

"We had over a million dollars on deposits when our books closed on Saturday's business," he said. That is the first time since 1927. Deposits are practically double what they were last year at this time.

Loans Are Lower

"Our loans are the lowest at any time during the past 15 or 18 years. We have more money to come in from the government in the cotton options of the plowup campaign. Within a few weeks I think the loans will be down under $150,000."

Collections for the bank have been the best in years. Many farmers are paying up loans with the bank that have been on the books for four and five years or more.

Bellhop Is Released After Arrest In Death Of Dentist

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 18. (AP)—Satisfied that Thomas Bennett had no part in the mysterious slaying of Dr. Leonard Siever, authorities released the 35-year old bellhop tonight and began pursuing again their first expressed theory that jealousy promoted the killing of the society dentist.

Bennett, son of the caretaker of the Scottish Rite temple in front of which Siever's bullet torn body was found last Wednesday, was taken into custody on a technical charge of suspicion of murder. Ballistics experts said a revolver found in Bennett's home did not fire the bullet which killed Siever.

County Plans To Ask Funds For Projects

Expenditure Of About $20,000 Of CWA Funds Being Sought By City; More Protection Against Fire Planned

Would Open Jobs

Several Improvements Being Outlined By County; Other Applications By City Are On File With Board

CIVIL works administration board in Austin has approved Lubbuck's application for an extension of the municipal water system to increase protection against fire, W. E. Inmon, county relief director, announced yesterday.

The project will result in expenditure of about $20,000 of CWA funds here for labor. The city will pay about $22,000 for materials. Payment of labor will be through Inmon's office.

Leaves For Austin

Soon after Inmon telephoned City officials that the project had been approved, he left for Austin and could not be reached. It was not learned whether he had gone to Austin in connection with the local CWA application.

The report was not confirmed from any other source.

Lubbock county commissioners court, it was learned yesterday, is applying to CWA for projects costing about $11,000.

Improvements Planned

The projects are: Re-routing of the Slaton-McClung road across Yellowhouse canyon, costing about $4,437; repairing Lubbock county courthouse, improvement of Shannon park, construction of a lateral road near Shallowater, each costing about $2,200.

If the applications are approved, CWA will pay for labor, the county for materials.

The water system extension project, reported approved, will be connection of a 1,000-gallon-a-minute well in block 14, Wheelock second addition, in The Flats, negro quarter, with a well and reservoir about a half-mile northwest of there, and a tie-in of the wells and reservoir with a 12-inch belt bordering the fire limits.

Well Is Completed

The well in The Flats was completed and capped about three years ago because it was not needed. A test at the second location, block 172, original town, showed the site was satisfactory.

The extension would provide an additional source of water, approximating 1,800 gallons a minute.

The city also has applied to CWA

First Christian General Aid Society Members Are Guests For Christmas Party

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Avalanche Woman's Editor

RECENTLY several young men were interviewed concerning the things they admire or dislike in girls. They were asked, particularly, about their ideas of girls who smoke or drink. Other habits and characteristics were considered. After that several girls expressed a desire to list some of their likes or dislikes concerning their boy friends. Several letters have been received on the subject of the ideal boy friend.

When told that the girls wanted to express an opinion, some of the boys who had been interviewed remarked that "it's fair enough." Today the opinions are being given.

These girls, whose names are not being used for obvious reasons, are too young to be interested in the bread-winning ability of men—something in which they will have considerably more interest in another five or ten years. Now they are more interested in a "tall handsome man" or one who dances well, the type of which every girl dreams. Yet, looks do not mean everything to these girls for here is a typical note:

KEEPS SELF RESPECT

"MY IDEAL boy is one who at all times keeps his self respect as well as the respect of those with whom he is associated. Looks do not matter if he has a pleasing personality, a good sense of humor and if he is broad-minded enough to understand both sides of the question, he is O. K."

Here's one in outline form that just about covers the ground: Smoking—O. K.; drinking—all right if not carried to the extreme, and if on a special occasion but not at every dance.

Lines—Are abhorred by most girls, but a few compliments are always appreciated. Manners—Most of the older boys have goon manners but some of the freshmen should read a few rules by Emily Post.

Ideal boy—Tall, any type, wear clothes well, be neat but not immaculated, good dancer, observant of girls' clothing, perfect manners, not too serious, athletic in some ways, plays bridge fairly well, slightly religious, interesting conversationalist, regards a girl's wishes while with her, good natured, personality and humor.

NOT TOO MUCH

PERHAPS you have seen these men who are forever thanking some one for letting them live. Then you will appreciate the viewpoint of this girl, who writes: "An ideal boy must have personality, pep, interest, intelligence, and above all the power to control these. He must be appreciative for all things that are done for him, but not overly appreciative, because he will not be appreciated then. He must have a certain amount of conceit, because that helps to make him nicer looking and really care for himself more. Above all, he must be thoughtful."

After stating that good looks and money are the last things to look for in a boy, one girl is honest enough to say that "it is nice for your ideal boy to have money and be good looking." She lists as essential characteristics, however, dependability and reliability, says that deceitfulness should never be tolerated and adds that she wants him to be "respectful and proud of me."

Among the other characteristics listed by several of the girls writing in are the following: Good dancer, interesting to talk to, neatly dressed, nice looking, nice personality, friendliness, good manners, a good sport, ambition, unselfishness, thoughtfulness, intelligence, consideration of others, cleverness, the ability to dress well, personality.

An ideal boy, to one girl, is one who is "able to dance with grace and ease" and one who can carry on a conservation on any well-known subject.

Another writes that her "ideal boy must be tall and well-built. He does not have to be handsome but he must be nice looking, have nice clothes and be able to wear them, be clean and sensible. He must be liked by the people he comes in contact with and he must also like people. He must have a good sence of humor, be a good dancer and have a pleasing personality."

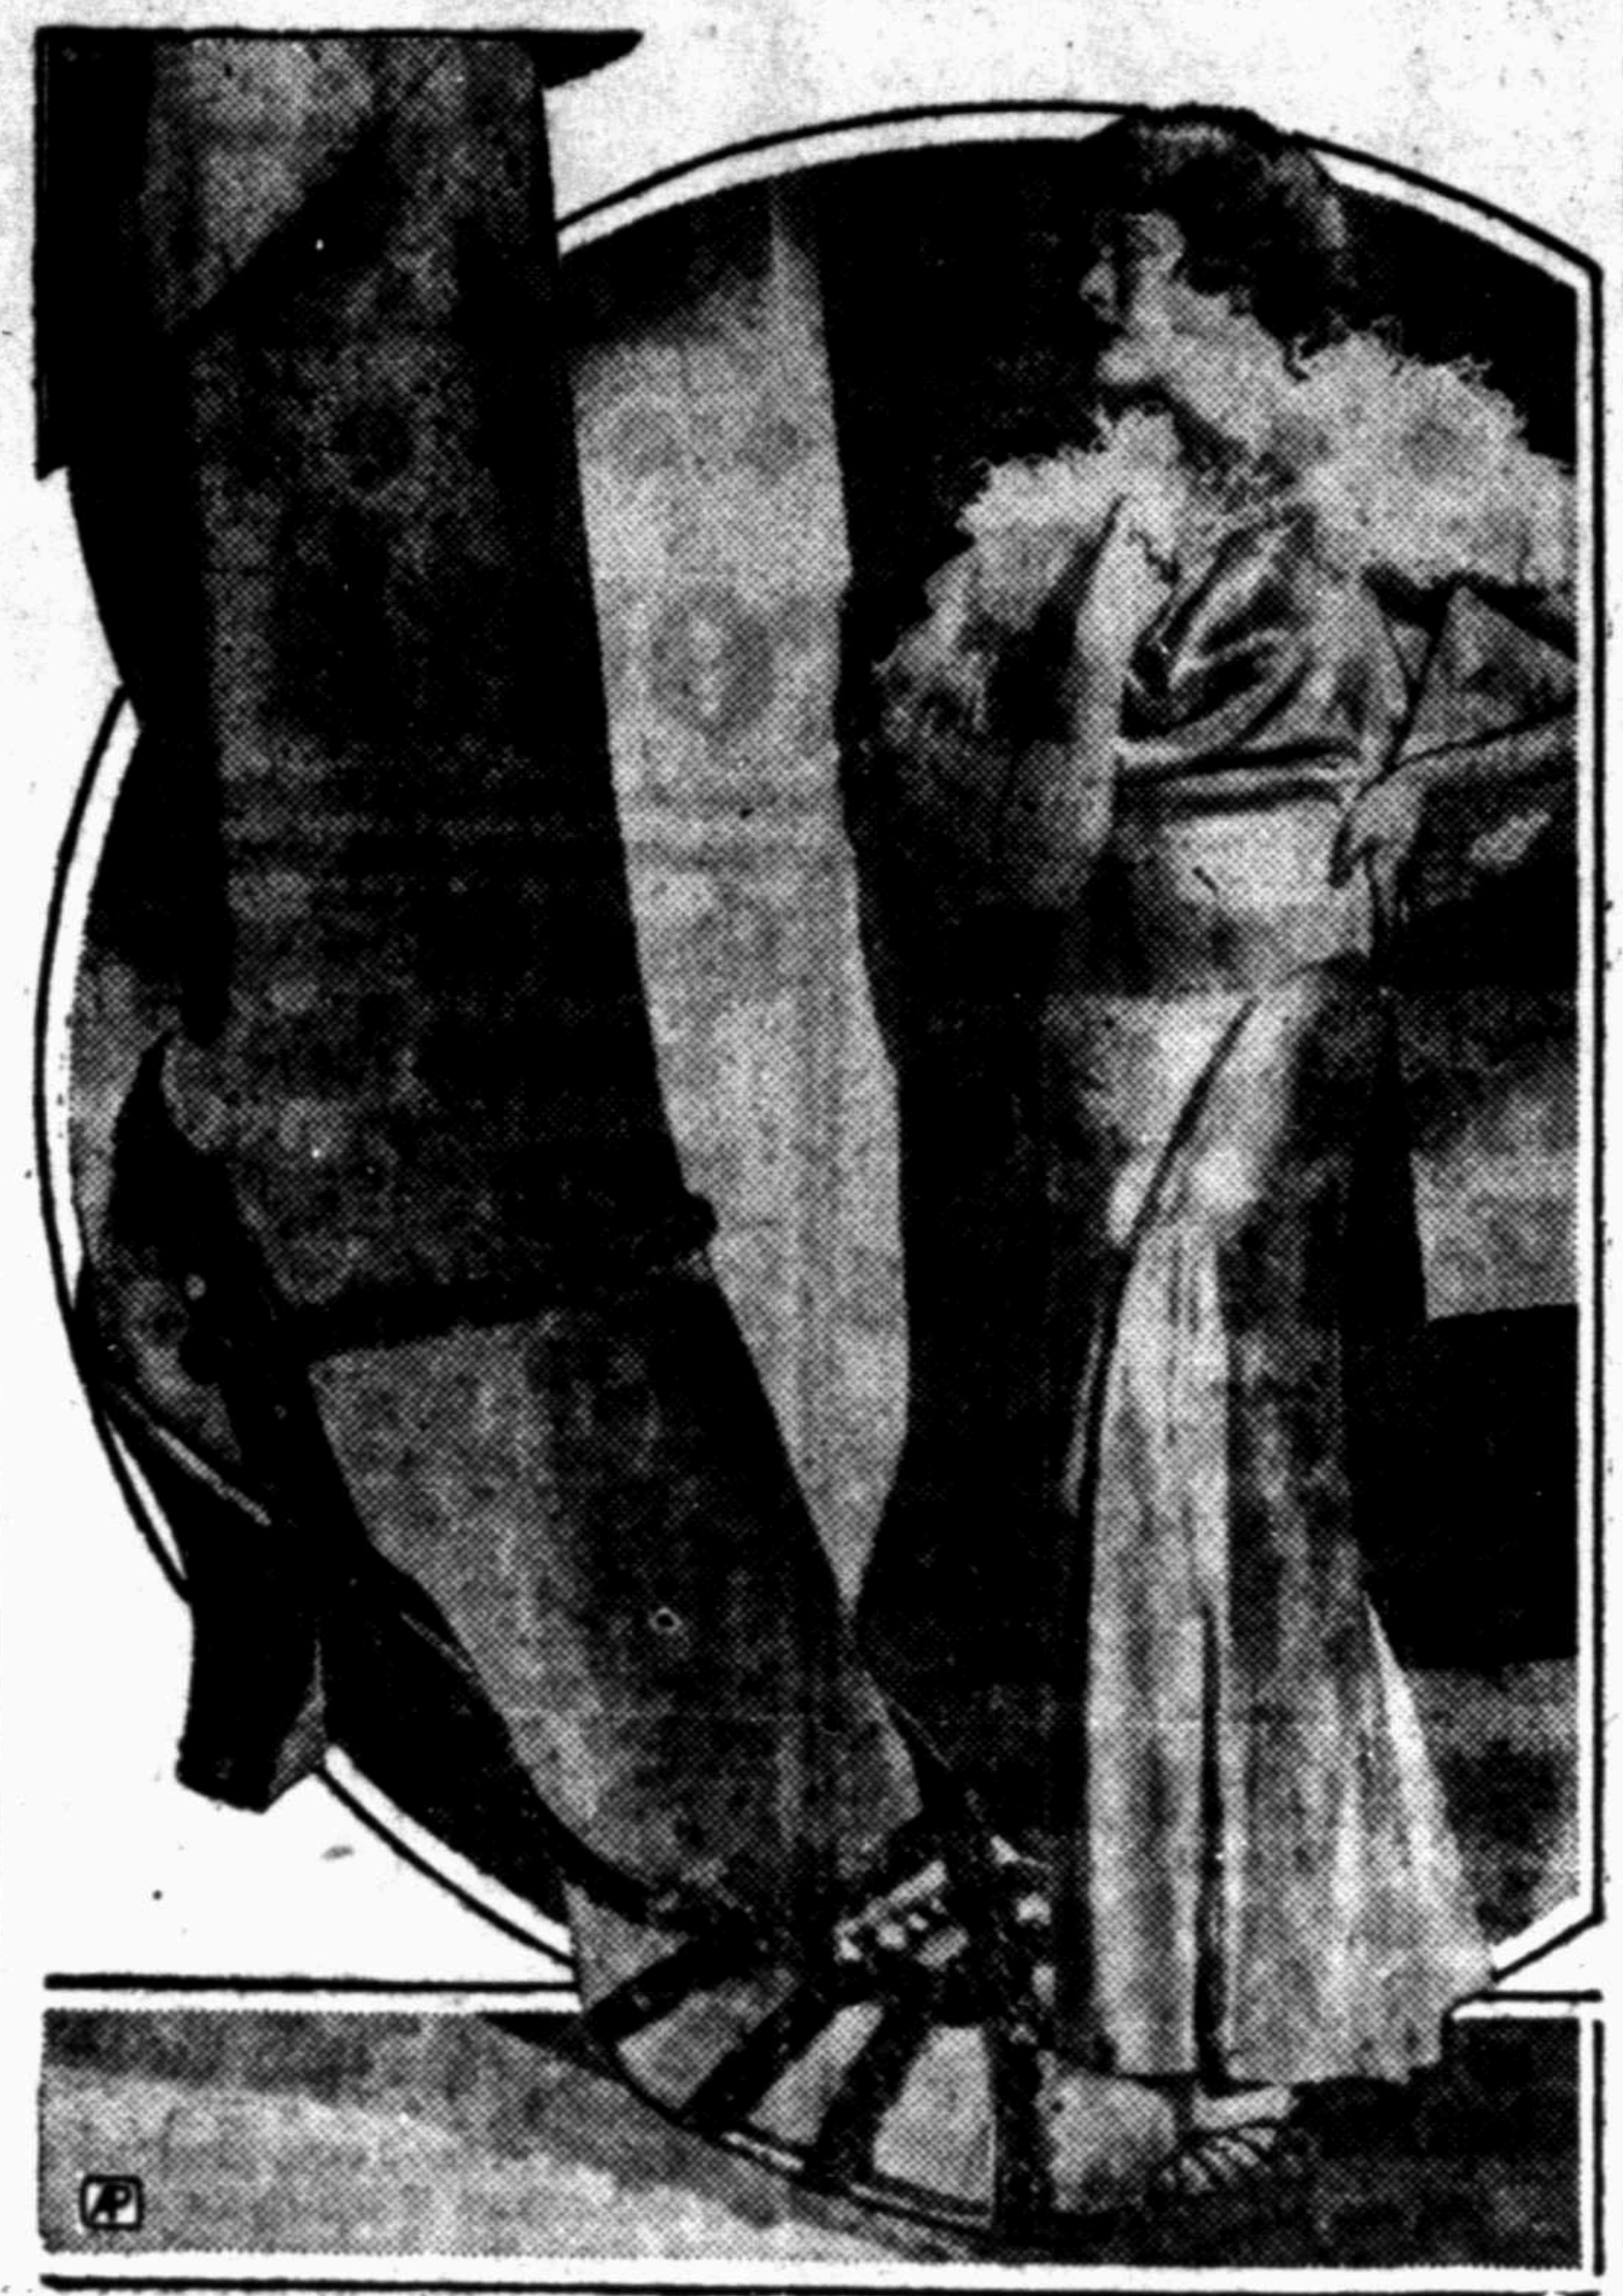
Slippers Are Showing New Elegance To Match Evening Mode Of Seasons

* * * *



The mirror kid sandal is a smart new accompaniment of the evening mode. It is studded with tiny mirrors, and gives a bright accent to the rich gown with its cape of ostrich feathers.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—Cinderella's slippers couldn't have been any lovelier than this season's glamorous evening shoes.

Among the most unusual footwear novelties seen at smart functions is the mirror sandal, made of slim strips of kid studded with tiny round mirrors. Red, green, blue and amethyst mirrors match the gown and sparkle like precious stones.

Medieval richness and color have been borrowed for today's evening frocks. Lame and metal cloths, gleaming satin, regal velvet and feather capes and trims fulfill the feminine desire for luxurious materials.

Formal accessories include rhinestone head bands, sparkling clips and combs for the hair. Leis of coque feathers are smart, and even the common barnyard duck yields his plumage to make a lovely feather cape. Evening bags are made of lames, brocades and velvets, while one small bag is made almost entirely of a mirror.

CONFUSION ENDED ON BRAN

New Ruling Corrects All Labels

To protect the buying public, the United States Food and Drug Administration has advised that every package of cereal labeled "Bran" state on the label exactly what it contains.

Before this ruling, even part-bran products were sometimes mistakenly referred to as "Bran." It was not easy for the purchaser to distinguish between a cereal that was entirely bran, or all bran with flavoring, and another that was mostly wheat.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is labeled "ALL-BRAN Deliciously Flavored with Malt, Sugar and Salt," a statement which describes the product fairly and honestly.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has won millions of friends because it corrects most types of common constipation safely and pleasantly. It furnishes generous "bulk"—needed to promote normal elimination.

However, ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all." Certain types of intestinal disorders should be treated only on a physician's advice.

When you buy a bran cereal, for the relief of constipation, read the wording on the package. The facts are there! Make sure by asking for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It furnishes "bulk" in concentrated form for satisfactory results.

At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Insull Again Facing Blame

Grand Opera Star States That She And Her Husband Placed All Their Savings In Huge Insull Enterprises

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Rosa Raisa, grand opera star, said today that Samuel Insull, sr., persuaded her and her husband, Giacomo Rimini, baritone, to invest their life savings and their earnings in now virtually worthless stock of his utility financing companies.

When they refused to buy more, she said, they were ostracized from the Insull controlled Chicago civic opera, and "life made a hell for us." Their stock was not delivered to them until after the crash, she said, and then only with the stipulation that they would not sell it.

Had Paper Profits

Mme. Raisa said that at one time Insull showed her she had "paper profits" of $500,000 and assured her that she would be "a very, very rich woman."

She said a "very prominent Chicago business man" came to her in 1926 as Insull's representative and asked her to buy Insull stock. At the time, she was at the height of her operatic career here.

"I felt very honored that Mr. Insull should send his confidential man to me," she said. "Everyone looked upon Mr. Insull as the god of American business.

Gave $100,000 Check

"I went to Mr. Insull's private office and gave him a check for $100,000. He told me I would become very wealthy. Every year after that my husband and I put $50,000 or more, all my earnings, into the stock.

"One year, I don't remember which one, he asked me for more money to invest. I had no money but told him I had $50,000 in Liberty bonds. He smiled and said: 'Good, good; they are just like gold.' So I invested them, too."

The opera star said she and her husband invested more than $500,000. She came here, on expense money advanced, to appear with a revived civic opera company.

An American woman does not lose her citizenship upon her marriage to a foreigner, under a law passed Sept. 22, 1922.

Widespread Search Is On For Two Prison Breakers

RUSK, Dec. 18. (AP)—A widespread search was under way today for J. T. Wilkerson and L. H. Burton, who, with Wade Hill, escaped the county jail here by means of improvised pass keys.

Hill, captured yesterday, said the men made three keys, one from a spoon and two from iron taken from a bunk, and that Wilkerson pulled up a file from the outside by a string. The men left Rusk walking and separated. Hill said he was given a ride part of the way to Jacksonville, near which town he lived.

The men were not under sentence but were only charged with several crimes and were awaiting trial.

Ginnings Over Area Mounting

Eighteen Counties In Section Gin 418,712 Bales Through Dec. 1, According To Census Figures

Eighteen counties in Lubbock's territory had ginned 418,712 bales to Dec. 1, according to United States bureau of the census figures. Although this total was 8,710 bales short of the 1932 total at the same time, the ginnings surpassed all estimates of the 1933 crop.

Lubbock county again led the territory, with Lynn second and Crosby third and Lamb fourth.

Eight Show Increases

Eight counties showed increases over the corresponding report in 1932; Bailey, Briscoe, Crosby, Floyd, Dickens, Garza, Lynn, Motley. Eight others, Cochran, Dawson, Gaines, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock and Terry, showed decreases. Two counties, Castro and Parmer, did not show comparative returns last year.

Lynn county showed a gain of 17,000 bales and Crosby a gain of 11,000 bales. Other counties showing large gains included: Dickens, 7,000; Floyd, 10,000; Motley, 7,000; Bailey, 7,000.

The drouth stricken counties, Dawson, Hockley, Gaines and Terry, showed losses. Terry's decrease was less than 100 bales, while that of the others was considerably larger. Hockley, for example, dropped 28,000 bales. There were 6,000 fewer bales ginned in Hale county this year; 8,000 fewer in Lubbock; 13,000 fewer in Lamb and 27,000 fewer in Dawson.

Cotton reduction program probably caused some of the counties to have smaller totals than last year.

By counties, totals for comparison are:

Briscoe	10,390	7,675

Havana Is Stirred By News Of Slaying Of Girl In Raid

HAVANA, Dec. 18. (AP) — The Cuban capital was stirred today by the news that Senora Josefina Franca De Gomez, the daughter of Porfirio Franca, one of the five commissioners who governed Cuba after the overthrow of former President De Cespedes, had been killed by a group of men.

She was shot by unidentified assailants who raided her father's country estate and wounded the foreman of the hacienda.

Miriam Jordan Shields Her Secret For Years But It Finally Pops Out

MIRIAM JORDAN

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18. (AP)—A secret which Miriam Jordan had shielded for months, even years, was scattered to the wagging tongues of Hollywood today when it became known that the petite blonde of the screen, always regarded as a single woman, has been married more than seven years.

Hollywood learned of her adventure into matrimony when it was discovered that the Miriam Ruby Davis who recently filed a suit for divorce in the domestic relations court was in reality the actress using her true name. The suit accused Joseph Davis of "laziness and profligacy" and said the couple married in London April 4, 1926.

Surprises For All

He was described as a resident of London and New York.

But Hollywood was no more surprised to learn that Miss Jordan had a husband than Miss Jordan was to learn that her secret was out.

"How did you find out about that?" she demanded of inquirers. "Who told you that? I wanted to keep all this quiet, at least for a time."

The English actress, a native of London, who has kept more or less aloof from the social swirl of Hollywood, rarely accepting "dates," and making every effort to avoid the romantic gossip that floats so frequently about the pretty heads of most of Hollywood's single women, disclosed in her complaint that she separated from Davis four years ago.

Refused To Work

Shortly after their marriage she said he refused to work, admitting that he had no money to provide a home. As a result she proved their sole source of support during the three and one half years they lived together. She claimed he often remarked in the presence of others that he had no wish to work and that it was not necessary for him to do so because she was capable and gifted and could support them.

Although Miss Jordan refused to discuss her husband or their married life and separation, she revealed this was her second attempt to break their marital ties. Last May she said she obtained a Mexican divorce, although she did not remember in which state the decree was granted.

Subsequently she heard the divorce might not stand the test of legality so rather than risk any chance she decided to insitute action in California.

"Now that it is out," she said with crispness, "you may as well say definitely that I have no plans for marriage again."

Immediate Steps Taken To Prosecute Negro Lynchers

NESHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 18. (AP)—Ordering that other matters be laid aside, Criminal Judge Chester K. Hart today instructed the Davidson county grand jury to take immediate steps to bring to justice those guilty in last week's lynching of Cord Cheek, 19-year-old negro.

To hear the special charge, Judge Hart summoned the grand jury as soon as court opened.

The charge recited that while the negro's body was found hanging in Maury county, where he had been accussed of an attempted attack on a white girl, he was abducted by a band of armed men in Nashville. He had been brought to the Davidson county jail for safe keeping, and had been released when the Maury county grand jury failed to return an indictment.

Miss Velna Sheriff has returned to her home in Farwell after a visit here with her sister, Miss Etha Sheriff, a Tech student.

Companion Of Clyde Barrow Is Indicted For Slaying

DALLAS, Dec. 18. (AP)—The grand jury today indicted D. W. Jones, 17, companion of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, for the slaying of Malcolm Davis, Fort Worth Deputy sheriff, in a west Dallas home last January.

Jones was arrested several weeks ago in Houston and when brought here made a lengthy statement to the sheriff's department reciting activities of Barrow and his woman companion. They were indicted several weeks ago for the same killing and have been at large for many months.

"B. C." Relieves Your Headache In 3 Minutes

When you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, you can get soothing relief in three minutes with "B. C.," a reliable, pleasant-to-take remedy. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. Mack To Rebuild Athletics; Hubbell Is "Man Of The Year" In Sports

Veteran Boss Of A's Seeks New Material

"Not Forced To Sell Stars Because Of Financial Stress," Says Connie; To Start Hunt For First Class Catcher

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18. — The aces of his once-championship baseball combination scattered over the American League, Connie Mack sat in his tower office at Shibe Park today and told of the rebuilding of the Athletics.

Dwelling on the past long enough to explain the thoughts behind his actions in that history-making day of diamond trades at Chicago last week, the veteran leader voiced his hopes and expectations for the second reconstruction project he has started on the A's in his long career as manager of the club.

On one thing he was insistent.

"I am not breaking up my ball club," he emphasized. "In my opinion, anybody who thinks so is all wrong."

He reiterated that declaration even while talking of the trades of Mickey Cochrane to Detroit; George Earnshaw to the Chicago White Sox, and Lefty Grove, Rube Walberg and Max Bishop to Tom Yawkey's Boston Red Sox.

Have Funds On Hand

"Of course, we lose a great deal when Grove and Cochrane depart," he explained. "Yes, and we lose a lot in Earnshaw, Walberg and Bishop. But now we have funds with which to rebuild. In fact, we already have spent a considerable portion for new players."

To the fans, through the baseball writers, he gave a promise and expressed a hope.

"No player with us today who would strengthen a major league club, will be sold before the close of the 1934 season," he asserted. "And I hope that in the years I have left, I will never again have to sell a player that the fans want me to keep."

Then, notwithstanding his half-century in the game, and his 71st birthday, come next Saturday, Mack told in crisp sentences what was needed on the club before starting another climb to the pennant—such a climb as he battled for 15 years to attain after the break-up of his 1914 championship team.

"We must now go out and get a first class catcher," he said. "That is one of the first things we must replace. Unfortunately, catchers are very scarce just now.

All Right-Handers

"For pitchers, we have all right-handers. That is bad. We must get more. I hope some of those we have will develop."

His words indicated that he does not intend using Catcher Charley Berry, obtained from Chicago in the Earnshaw trade, behind the plate in place of Cochrane, and that he realizes his pitching situation, with Roy Mahaffey the only veteran on the staff.

Mack enumerated the reasons for the sale of his stars. The first, he said, was the realization of his need of a new pitching staff; the second, that he was unable any longer to pay what his stars demanded, and the third, that because two of those he traded—Cochrane and Bishop-deserved a chance to improve their positions.

Walberg and Earnshaw were slated to go anyway, he explained. In the case of Cochrane, he did not want to stand in the way of the peppery receiver when Mickey had a chance t o"go on" as manager for the Tigers. Bishop asked to be traded because he felt that the "10 years or more he had been with the A's was long enough for any player with one team."

Grove Walks Out

"I expected to build the pitching staff around Lefty Grove this year," Mack explained. "I called him to my office and told him that I could no longer pay him the same salary. I made a proposition to him and asked him to think it over and see me the next day. Grove never came back. I have not seen him since."

On one other point, Mack was insistent, before bidding his audience good bye.

"I wish you would do what you can to correct the impression that bankers forced us to sell," he said. "Nothing of the kind. I did it of my own free will."

Golfers Hie To "Gold" Coast Of California For Big Play

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18. (AP) — Promise of the greatest array of golfers in the history of the California's money tournaments was given today as the country's leading professionals continued to arrive for the winter season to get under way at Pasadena Thursday.

It was an optimistic array of mashie and putter performers that crowded, Southern California's locker rooms and courses in order to get in a few practice rounds before the Pasadena $4,000 event opens.

While the $36,500 in prize money for the seven tournaments is less than half of the stake in the golden era of 1930, it is more than five thousand dollars larger than last season.

Denny Shute, British Open champion, is due tomorrow. Ralph Guldahl, runner up to Johnny Goodman, the amateur, ni the National open tournament, is enroute. Gene Sarazen, national P. G. A. champion, is expected in time for the Agua Caliente open and perhaps before.

Kopecky Returns To Mat For Main Bout Tomorrow

Tremaine To Seek Win Over Rough Cotton-Picker

Joe Kopecky, who believes himself the best man for his weight in Texas, will be out to prove this when he meets Andy "Tomaine" Tremaine tomorrow night in the main event for Promoter Sled Allen's regular Wednesday wrestling program.

But Bo Sexton won't be the third man in the ring if Kopecky has his way. Joe has a highly developed antipathy for Bo which dates back to the Bohemian cotton-picker's last appearance here, and the incidental near-riot that accompanied that bout. Joe also hints that they won't need the police in the ring tomorrow night, but his opponent, young bull-necked Tremaine, is going to feel worse than he ever felt after any football game at Arizona.

Charley Heard Returning

Cyclone Mackey, who combines swistness, science, and aggressiveness, is a new comer to Lubbock wrestling circuit. He meets Charley Heard, the young San Antonio welter who can take it and also dish it out, in a 15-minute limit preliminary.

In the semi-final event, which goes to a 30-minute time limit, a cool, scientific grappler collides with a raging, butting bruiser who is no slouch on the finer points of ear-twisting. Dick "King Kong" Kanthe says it's not going to be a "collitch" wrestling match when he goes on the mat with Jack Van Bebber Wednesday. Jack, on the other hand, says he's learned a thing or two from the exponents of the rough and tough school, and will be handing the Professor a few surprises.

Bobby Jones To Play In Tourney On 'Own' Course

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 18. (AP)—His swing is as smooth and flawless as ever. The foot and hip movements are as rythmic as in the days not so long ago when he was marching toward the greatest heights ever scaled by a golfer.

The score card shows he still has a firm grip on par, but has three years absence from competition taken anything from the golfing mastery of Bobby Jones?

For the first time since he won the 1930 National amateur at Merion, Bobby comes back into actual competition next March in an invitation tournament over the Augusta national course, which he helped design.

Galaxy Of Stars

This 72-hole medal battle will number among its contestants the best professionals and amateurs of the world. It likely will be the largest collection of stars Jones ever faced in any of his past triumphs. And this tournament may decide several questions:

Whether the many other aces, able for three years to concentrate on par and their best efforts in competition without worrying over the Jones' menace, have forgotten or escaped from the psychological whip Bobby appeared to hold over them in the final years of his compaigning. Whether they can forget he is in the field and can produce the same low scores they have been posting recently.

And, perhaps more important, whether the long layoff has taken anything from the Jones' mastery.

To all outward appearances, Jones is as good as ever. There are no kinks in that swift, easy swing, in the perfect timing of every movement, every shot.

Irvink Schustek and Red Gragg, star end and guard on the University of Illinois eleven, made enough money for their 1933-34 school year through the peanut concession at the Illini baseball games last spring.

Grid Department Of Lubbock High Feasts Tonight

Carrying on with high school spirit and enthusiasm, the football department of Lubbock High will treat itself to a big banquet tonight in the annex of the First Christian Church.

With foodstuffs, or most of it, donated by appreciative fans, business men and loyal supporters of Lubbock, and additional expense funds raised by a short and successful campaign, the boys and girls comprising the football department will indulge in what has been termed "an old fashioned eating contest."

By "football department" is not meant, exclusively, the Westerners who play football. The high school band and the pep squad, organizations which help to stage the weekly fall shows, are just as important tonight.

The banquet will start at 7 o'clock. The First Christian Church is located at 1601 Ave. J.

Magazines And Telephones Win Indoor Battles

A four-run lead gained in the first two innings held good for the Five-Cent Magazine Shop last night and it staved off a fourth-inning rally to beat the Myrick Building team, 11 to 8, in a hard-fought contest at the Auditorium in the first game of a women's indoor baseball double-header.

In the second game, Miss Polly Glover pitched her usual brilliant game and had good support of fielders to win a 16 to 8 victory for the Southwestern Bell Telephone company over the All-Stars.

The Telephone team took a five-run lead in the first, added six in the second and four more in the third. A freak home run by Pitcher Glover in the fourth rounded up the scoring. A fifth-inning rally by the All-Stars threw a scare, however, into the victorious team. The All-Stars scored six runs in that frame.

A Catching Feature

The catching of Miss Hodges for the All-Stars was an interesting feature of the evening. She played a fine game behind the bat, and it was her second or third time at the job.

Last night's games closed the indoor season until after the holidays. There will be no more games until 1934, at which time the league may have eight clubs. It was announced last night that Abernathy and Wolfforth might enter girls teams in the league. Local teams are at liberty to practice or work out at any time the hall is not occupied.

'Hornsby Man' Is Named Head Of Brown Team

Louis B. Vonweise Elected To Presidency Of St. Louis Americans; Says Money Will Be Spent On Club

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18. (AP)—Calling himself a "100 per cent Hornsby man," Louis B. Vonweise, executor of the estate of the late Philip De Catesby Ball, today was elected president of the St. Louis club of the American Baseball league.

He announced an immediate effort would be made to rebuild the Browns into a profitable and winning team.

"We cannot splurge financially as the Boston Red Sox have done recently, but funds to a reasonable amount will be at Hornsby's disposal," he explained.

The election and statement set at rest rumors that the club would be sold; it also placed the heirs of the wealthy baseball man on record as planning to continue rebuilding efforts started by Mr. Ball shortly before his recent death.

A Winning Scheme

Ball's scheme for a winning ball club centered around Manager Rogers Hornsby, once stormy petrel of the National League, and hired near the close of the 1933 season by the late St. Louis ice machinery magnate.

At the recent Chicago major league meeting Hornsby engineered a series of trades involving no expense to the Browns but believed to have strengthened the club. He has announced intention to do more swapping in an attempt to inject new life in the tail-end Brownies.

L. C. McEvoy and Walter Fritsch were re-elected vice-presidents of the club today. William R. Cady was made treasurer, and Miss Ella Jacobi, one of the executors, was named secretary.

AGGIES BEAT JACKS

NACOGDOCHES, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Texas Aggies rallied sharply in the second half to break a tie and defeat the Stephen F. Austin college basketball team here tonight, 39 to 30.

In the first half the score seesawed back and forth, with neither team being able to step ahead. At half time, the score was 18 to 18.

Captain Merka of A. & M. was high scorer with 14 points. Williams was high for the Lumberjacks with 10 points.

Mel Ott and Zeke Bonura will play basketball this winter to cover their expenses and keep in condition for the 1934 baseball season.

Following the lead of University of California, Stanford has decided to reinstate cross country running, after a lapse of several years.

Former Coach Of Great Athens Teams Has Southwest Cage Rivals Worried

Jimmy Kitts Hopes To Continue With Hotshot Teams

By HARRELL E. LEE

HOUSTON, Dec. 18. (AP) — Jimmy Kitts, whose Athens (Texas) high school cagers won national fame a few years back and who since has graduated into the college coaching ranks, is threatening to make other Southwest conference coaches sit up and take notice this winter.

Kitts, head football and basketball mentor at Rice Institute here, says only that his young team "will be plenty tough for anybody to beat if we get started off on the right foot." That is enough, though, to throw fear into the hearts of his rivals, who remember the national championship quintets that Kitts developed at Athens in 1929 and 1930 and have a high respect for his ability.

Wary Of Sophomores

The popular and youthful Rice coach isn't predicting a conference championship for his charges. He is depending a great deal on sophomores and he points out that sophomores, no matter how good they look in practice, are an unknown quantity until they are tested under fire.

On the other hand, he knows that sophomores, once they get started, are hard to stop and he wouldn't be surprised to see the Owls sweep to a championship if they get by their first two or three conference games in January.

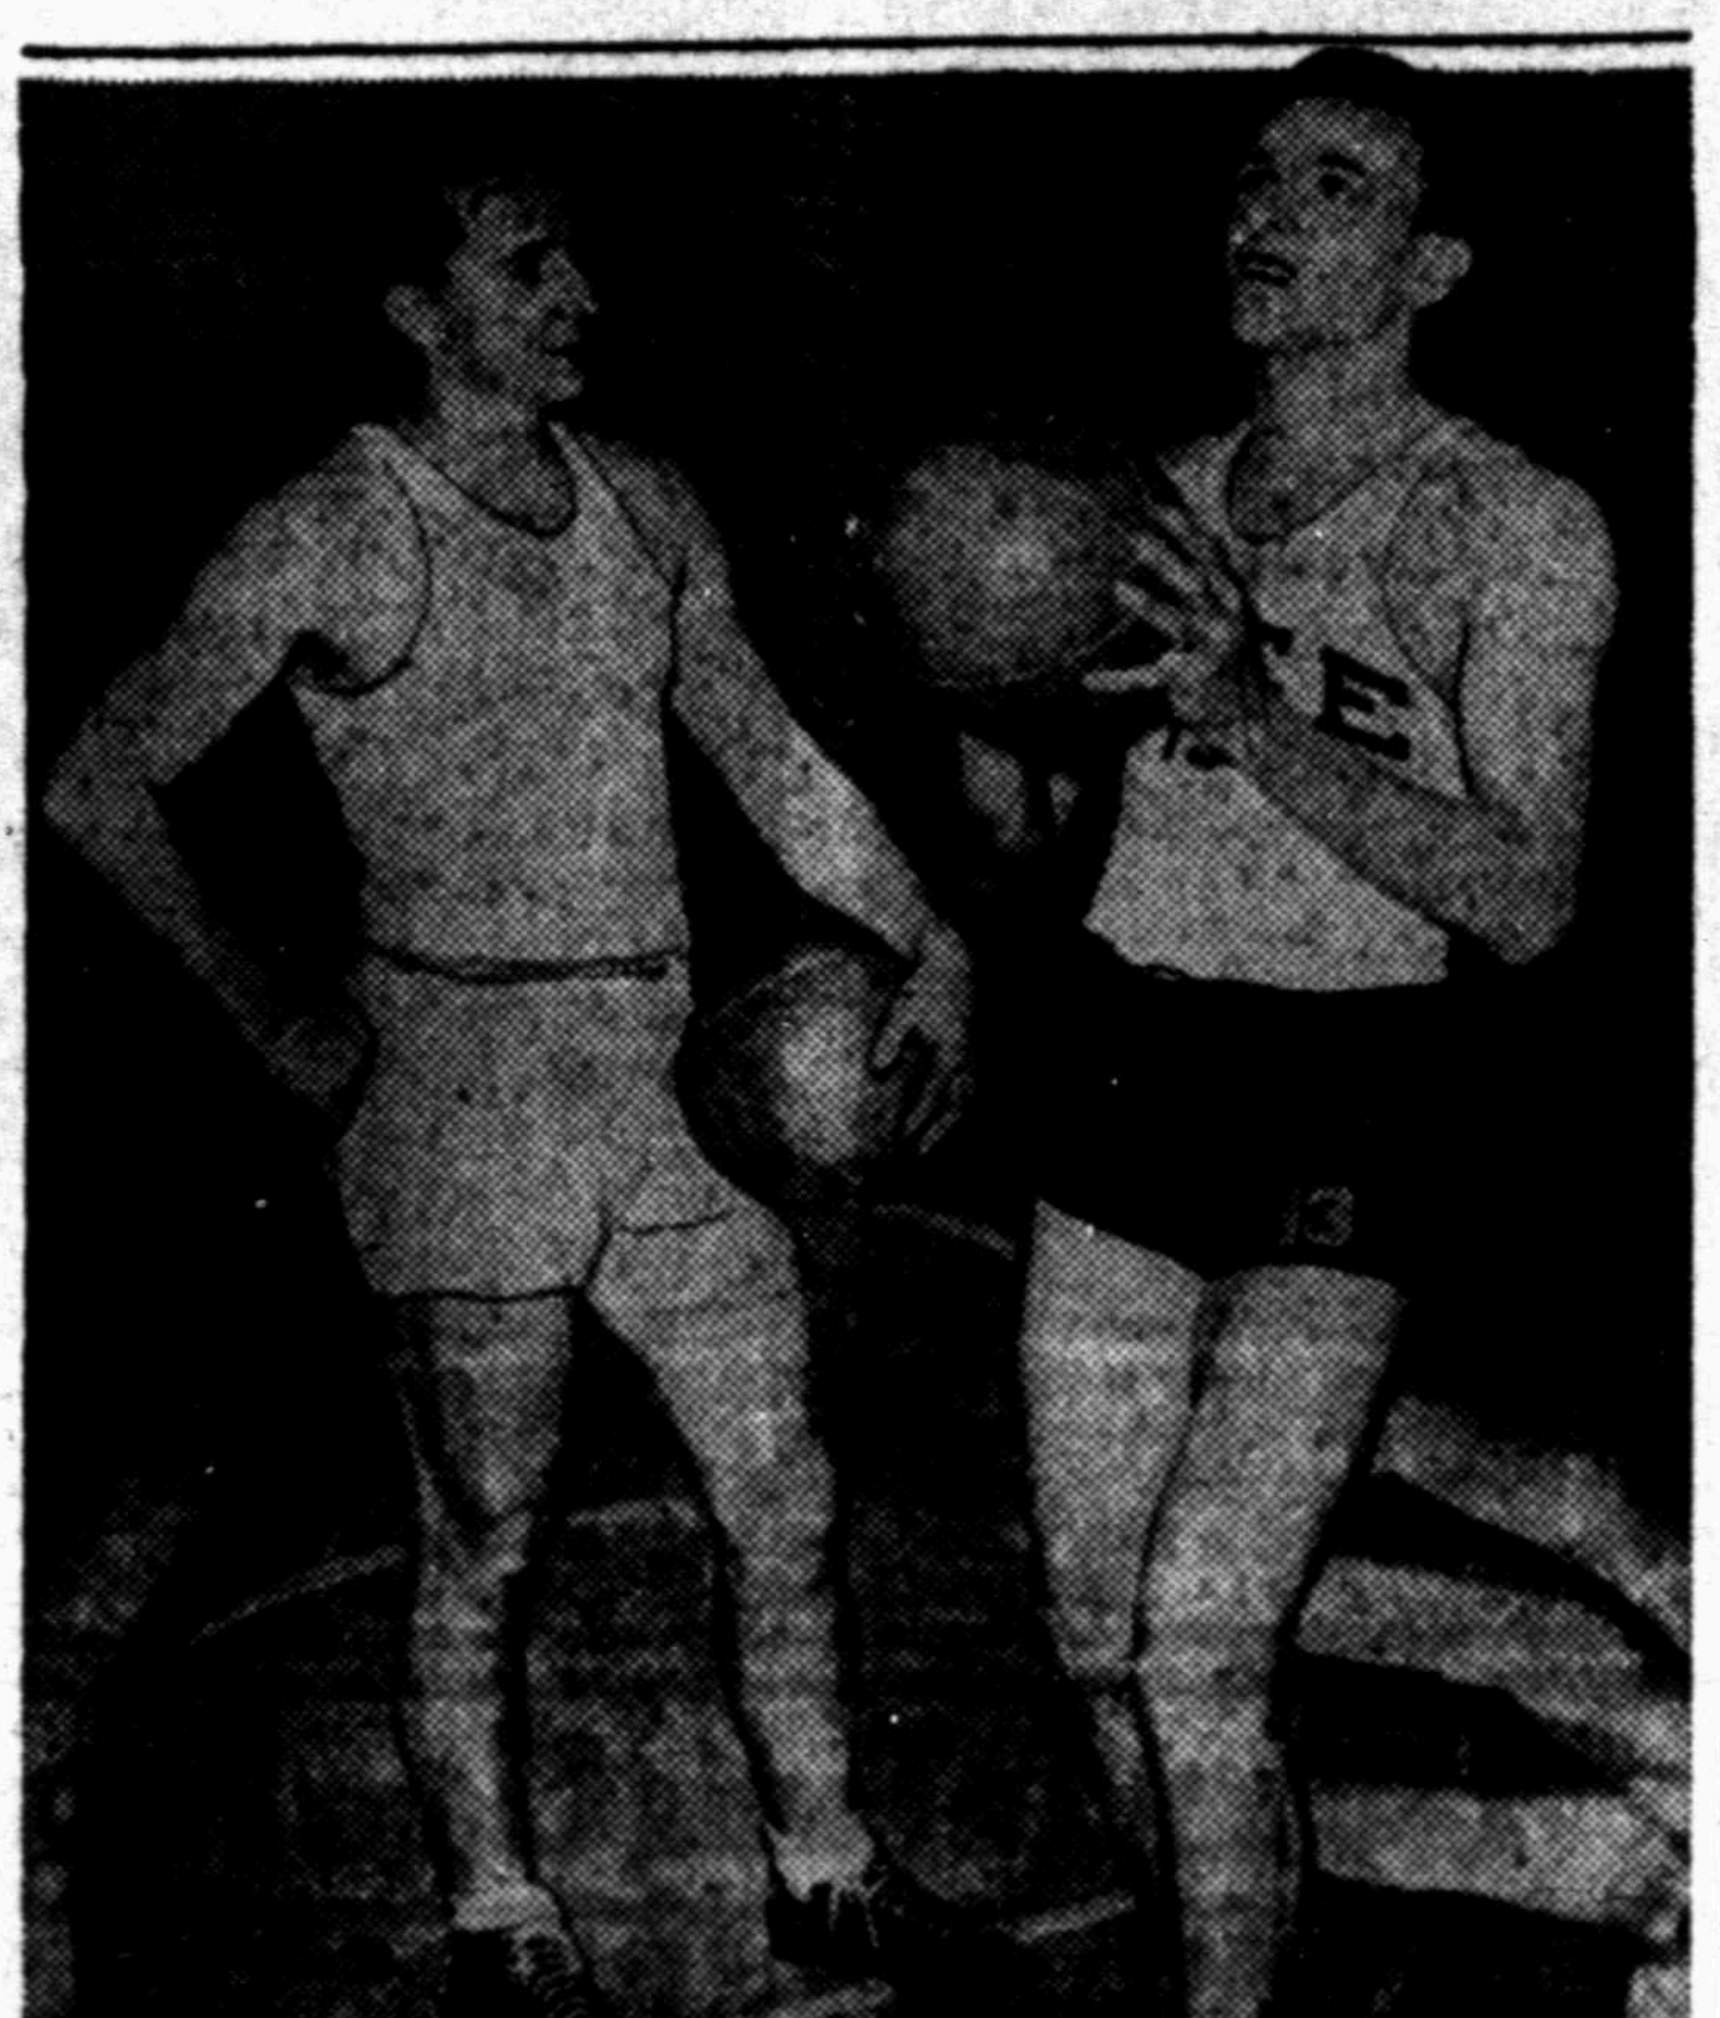
Floyd Kelly, 6 foot 6 1-2 inch center, and R. T. Eaton, sturdy guard, are the first-year men from whom Kitts is expecting the most. Kitts believes Kelly, who hails from Gainesville near the Oklahoma line, has the possibility of developing into a great pivot man.

May Supplant Lettermen

Eaton was picked on several all-state selections while performing with San Jacinto high school here.

Harry Journeay, Rice captain and regarded by Kitts as certain to be one of the outstanding forwards in the conference this season, teamed with Eaton in high school and also received all-state honors. Journeay is a junior.

The Owls have three other lettermen but competition is so keen that it is not certain any of them will be on the starting five. Harold "Bull" Johnson of Smithville, last year's regular center, may start at forward to give the team added height. Johnson is 6 feet, 4 inches tall. The letter guards are Albert Metzler, junior from Houston, and J. L. "Mac" McCullough, senior from Dallas.



Jimmy Kitts, youthful head football and basketball coach at Rice Institute, is shown here watching his ace forward, Harry Journeay, getting the range of the basket. Kitts gained fame as a cage mentor when his Athens (Tex.) high school team won two successive national titles.

The University of Oklahoma this year has its tallest basketball squad since its undefeated team of 1928.

TWENTY-FIVE PONIES LETTER

DALLAS, Dec. 18. (AP)—Twenty-five members of the Southern Methodist university Mustangs and 22 freshman players were voted football letters tonight by the university athletic council. Varsity men receiving letters included Rollin Dixon, Wichita Falls.

The Auburn football team claims the record of having scored against all opponents in 23 consecutive games.

Giant Pitcher Gets Big Vote On All Sides

Nation-Wide Jury Picks Carl As Outstanding Individual Performer In Sports World Of Year; Lovelock Next

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—The selection of Carl Owen Hubbell as the "man of the year" in all sports marks the second time the honor has gone to a major league baseball star in the three-year history of this annual Associated Press poll. Pepper Martin ran away with the contest in 1931.

The southpaw ace of the New York Giants, who compiled the best record for pitching effectiveness in 17 years, was voted the outstanding man, amateur or professional, by a nation-wide jury of sports editors and writers. He received 56 votes out of a total of 207 in the final tabulation, more than double the number for his nearest rival.

Second place went to the first foreign athlete to gain a conspicuous place in the balloting, Jack Lovelace of Oxford and New Zealand, who turned in one of the great solo achievements of 1933 by beating Bill Bonthorn of Princeton in a world record mile race, clocked in 4:07.6. Lovelace collected 26 votes.

Goodman Is Third

Third and fourth place went to the outstanding figures in golf and tennis. Johnny Goodman of Omaha, winner of the United States open golf championship, received 19 votes and Frederick J. Perry, hero of the British Davis Cup triumphs and winner of the U. S. singles title, 15.

Baseball players were by far the most popular choices in the voting. Led by Hubbell, six major league and one minor league star—Joe Hauser of Minneapolis—acculumated 76 altogether. Track sports, with five entries gaining 39 votes, and golfers, with 29 ballots for a half dozen contestants, were next in the volume of voting. Football furnished eight names but only 15 votes, of which five went to Southern California's All-America quarterback Cotton Warburton, and three to Army's Jack Buckler.

A crowd of 11,000 watched a high school football game between Port Arthur and Beaumont, Tex., the past season.

Two Prisoners Being Hunted

Cecil Miller And W. E. Bush, Former Cons Of New Mexico, Break Jail At Tahoka Early Sunday Morning

TAHOKA, Dec. 18. (Special) — Cecil Miller, 31, and W. E. Bush, 30, two former New Mexico convicts who sawed their way from the Lynn county jail here Saturday night or early Sunday, had not been recaptured tonight.

An automobile, stolen here, was abandoned about 10 miles from Tahoka, it was said. It was believed the men may have been in Lubbock.

Faced Burglary Trials

Having completed terms in the New Mexico state prison at Santa Fe, Miller and Bush were brought here several days ago for trial on indictments charging them with burglary about two years ago of a railway station at O'Donnell, a deputy sheriff said. The New Mexico sentences had been for robbery of a safe at Carlsbad.

The pair had been accused of holdups at Roswell, Alamogordo, and elsewhere in New Mexico, Deputy Sheriff Redwine said.

Miller was described as being 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing 150 pounds, having black hair and a dark complexion; Bush as being 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 165 pounds, and having dark hair.

Six prisoners, four white men and two negroes, sawed their way from the Lynn county jail about Dec. 3. Deputy Sheriff Redwine late Saturday returned one of them, Felix Vaughn, a negro held for burglary, from Waurika, Okla.

Earlier another jailbreak had occurred here.

Shortage Of Cows Cause Closing Of Federal Canning Plant Here For Day

Shortage of cows meeting government standards resulted yesterday in a federal meat canning plant being closed for the day.

Only 11 cows were purchased yesterday, said A. C. Harding, government buyer. These animals were slaughtered at McDonald Packing plant, and the cannery probably will be reopened at noon today. Meat must remain in cold storage 24 hours before being canned.

Harding said he could purchase as many as 140 cows this week. Price paid for the 27 animals previously bought ranged from $1.75 to $2.

The plant has a quota of 1,027 cows, and the deadline is Jan. 15. If enough cows are offered for sale, the cannery will be in operation on a 24-hour schedule. Mrs. Reynolds Wilson is supervisor.

Mr. Harding emphasized that only cutter cows and cows of a better grade would be purchased, with the exception that steers with good flesh could be bought. He said these were government requirements. He said he was not permitted to buy canners, bulls, stags, yearlings, or calves.

McDonald Packing plant will be in operation seven days a week to slaughter animals purchased by the government. Mr. Harding said ranged from $1.75 a hundred pounds prices paid for cows bought already to $2 a hundred. A premium will be paid for butcher cows.

A Helpful Activity

AMERICA'S great automobile belt is experiencing a taste of real prosperity, the first in many months. The big motor car factories in Detroit, Lansing, Flint and Pontiac have been calling their men back to work at the rate of thousands a week. Don't tell these men there is no Santa Claus.

Three things are responsible for this winter spurt in automobile building: The coming automobile shows. The eternal American appetite for something new in automobile design and engineering. And competition, the spice of business.

When one make of car announces a forthcoming new model others in its price field speed up their plans that they may bring out their new models at about the same time. It pays to capitalize on the interest created by a competitor.

That the automotive industry has not given up after four depression years is apparent from the enthusiasm it is showing with its new cars in production. Manufacturers are not even withholding the unveiling of their 1934 models until the New York show, as was customary in the past with many manufacturers.

Renewed activity in motordom means work for thousands outside the automobile factories. Into the construction of every car goes steel and other metals, rubber, leather, cloth, glass and innumerable accessories gathered from many cities and nearly all states.

NEW CALENDARS

Statisticians probably could prove that the calendars born to blush unseen would, if laid end to end, provide Mother Earth with a paper belt with plenty of room for expansion, but that doesn't alter the fact that new calendars are now as welcome as the new year, of which they are the harbingers, will be.

Calendars take as many shapes and forms and purposes as the current crop of industrial codes, yet all have their uses. The more ornate are destined for domestic walls, where their leaves accumulate grocery orders and provide scratch paper. The big calendar with plenty of white space for appointments and other notes goes down to the office or store. A portion of the surplus must be assigned to the children to be cut up into play money, and the rest put away for calendar-relief and then forgotten until housecleaning time.

This approach of a new year with its new crop of calendars contributes its bit toward business and unemployment relief. Between the uncut timber from which the paper is made to the finished calendar there are several large industries employing thousand of men and women. And the mailing of calendars helps Uncle Sam reduce the postal deficit.

So do not reckon the surplus calendars as so much wasted material and labor and money, but as so much utilized material, labor and money.

THAWING OUT DEPOSITS

Announcement from Washington that the government will try to speed up the work of thawing out frozen deposits in closed banks will carryy hope to thousands of depositors still cut off from their savings.

It, at the same time, is a reminder that the work has been carried on much slower than originally was believed would be the case. The work was begun more than a month ago. Nearly $5,000,000,000 of private funds, however, still are tied up in closed banks.

It had been hoped that a large part of this huge amount would be released in time to make itself felt in the channels of holiday trade. The task apparently was more difficult of performance than had been expected.

If ways to overcome more promptly some of the obstacles have been found, the possibility of which is indicated in the latest announcement, this will be a welcome development. Thousands of persons will find themselves in a position to supply more adequately their needs, which will mean a general boost for trade.

The work of freeing frozen deposits is one of the most important of the recovery measures now engaging the attention of the government. That it is to be pushed indicates officials recognize this.

DRIED STREAMS

"But my friends disappoint me like a stream . . . caravans turn to them, then turn away, take to the desert and then perish."—Job 6:15.

Job expresses the experience of many of us. We have friends to whom we turn for help, for we feel that they have the aid we most need. Very soon we discover that they were as a mirage or a dried stream, and we are forced to turn to the desert.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON

By George Durno

THE President is getting ready to try through George Peek what he intended to pull on the London Economic conference—until that party blew up over monetary differences.

When the erstwhile Agricultural administrator was put to work building up a new organization "to coordinate all government relations to American foreign trade," the way was being paved toward a number of reciprocal trade agreements designed to open new markets for our surpluses.

The method of approach is what will prove most interesting.

At the moment, administration strategists are considering the idea of getting reciprocal agreements by operating under the flexible provision of the Tariff cat.

It has been suggested to the White House that we merely enter into negotiations with any given country through diplomatic channels. We could say, for instance, we will purchase a certain amount of your goods if you will take a like amount of specified American product off our hands. It would be agreed privately that the President would exercise his flexible tariff authority in favor of the foreign goods.

Thus no pact would have to be drafted that would need ratification by Congress.

The alternative will be a draft on congress for advance authority to negotiate such trade agreements. A fifty per cent tariff-regulating provision would be necessary to make action of this kind constitutional. Otherwise congress in effect would be ratifying foreign agreements before they were consummated.

Mr. Roosevelt debated the wisdom of asking such authority from last spring's special session. He wanted to send our delegation to London with power to make commitments. At the last minute the idea was vetoed. It was feared congress would be thrown into a prolonged debate that would do the emergency recovery program no good.

Whether the situation on Capitol Hill is now brighter for such a grant is problematical.

BREAKS: In dealing with foreign countries on reciprocal trade we'll run into the most-favored nation clause that lies at the heart of most existing commercial treaties. Under this clause signatories agree to give the same break on tariff concessions to each other that they might accord a third nation.

Our experts believe we can vault this barrier too for all practical purposes.

For example it is pointed out that Scotch whiskey comes largely from England. We could make a trade involving a reduced tariff on Scotch that theoretically would apply to other nations too. The hitch is they don't happen to make Scotch.

PEEK: This new job will be George Peek's lifetime chance to prove his theory that the real solution of our farm problem lies in marketing surpluses.

He has spent a sizeable chunk of his personal fortune already in the effort.

Now he is split clean from Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and the Brain Trusters who think foreign markets are largely gaseous and have turned instead to crop reduction at home. Peek's ideas will either make or break in the next few months.

JITTERY: Speaker Rainey already is laying quiet lines to get congress out of Washington by April or May at the latest. This may be too much of a job for any man, but he's going to try.

The veteran from Illinois has in mind what happened during the troubled wartimes when Woodrow Wilson kept congress in session virtually all the time. History shows us the Democrats stayed here despite their better judgment because Mr. Wilson felt the emergency too grave to be without them.

At the last minute they went home nad took a licking from the Republicans.

NOTES: Dr. Arthur MacDonald, who acquired some publicity by doing a brain test of congress, has a new idea. . . . He proposes Fiorello LaGuardia, mayor-elect of New York, as a fusion candidate for President in 1936. . . . Doc Copeland never forgets his vitamins even when presiding over a senate hearing. . . . He calmly interrupted proceedings when the merits and demerits of the Food and Drug bill were being aired to drink a bottle of milk, first making sure it had been thoroughly shaken up. . . . Shall we remember the good old days when a senator said: "We have both prohibition and liquor—why shouldn't everyone be satisfied?"

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

THE directors' meetings of many savings banks are the setting for private pitched battles these days.

They center on the question whether the savings banks should join the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation. Probably the majority of directors are opposed to any such tie-up with commercial banks. For a while they thought they had an out with a collective organization of their own. But now the issue has been actively revived and decisions must be made before deposit insurance goes into effect the first of the year.

When the tumult and the shouting die you will find most of these banks have joined. A few of the big ones will set the pace and the rest won't care to be left out in the rain even though they swear when they sign.

Henry Bruere has been a powerful factor in getting his associates to see it the government's way. He is sharply criticized in some quarters for swallowing the Washington prescription whole.

INSURANCE: Local bankers understand that Winthrop Aldrich's suggestion for continuing temporary deposit insurance indefiitely and forgetting about the permanent plan is acceptable to the Senate committee and will probably be recommended to congress. It is one of the few things Aldrich has done for which they are sincerely grateful.

Most of the big banks would be willing to accept this compromise without argument. They realize the futility of urging complete repeal of the measure at present.

GLASS: New York hears that Senator Carter Glass has Professor Kemmerer and H. Parker Willis—former Secretary of the Federal Reserve board—hard at work digging up statistical ammunition for his use at the next session. Kemmerer and Willis are 33rd degree sound moneyites. Part of their research is aimed to discredit the administration's monetary policy. Another part is to prove that the Stock exchange sinned worse than the Federal Reserve system in fostering speculation.

For once the bankers crave to see the Senator's plume in the thick of battle. Their new-found affection for him is astonishing.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

©1933 NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

On a stormy November evening DAVID BANNISTER meets a pretty blond girl and offers her a lift in the cab in which he is riding. Her handbag opens and he sees a revolver inside.

Next morning Bannister reads that TRACY KING, orchestra leader, has been found dead in his apartment. Police are searching for an "unknown blond," who visited King the night before. Bannister, remembering the girl in the taxicab, is puzzled.

He sees her again that morning. The girl tells him her name is JULIET FRANCE and swears she knows nothing of the murder. She begs Bannister to help her and he agrees.

He goes to see his old friend, JIM PAXTON, editor of the Tremont Post, and arranges to work on the King murder case for the Post. Later he returns to the hotel to see Juliet France and learns she has disappeared.

Bannister goes to see the room in which King died. As he stands in the doorway something lands on his back.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

THE pain in his back was sharp and knife-like. Bannister's face twisted in agony but he did not cry out. It was his assailant that became vocal with a sharp, angry, "Me-row!" and then repeated it again, "Me-row! me-row!"

A cat! It must be a cat. Bannister twisted about, reaching for the animal. The cat evidently did not like such handling and objected. Its claws dug deeper, as it tried to maintain its precarious position. At last Bannister had the animal in a firm grip, pulled it about in front of him.

But was it a cat? Bannister had never seen such a creature. For a moment he thought it was a monkey. No, it couldn't be. It was drawing away from him, issuing hissing noises that were unmistakably unfriendly, unmistakably feline.

All this while Bannister had been kneeling. Now he set the animal on the floor, got to his feet.

"Me-row!" cried the cat and backed away.

The fur over its eyes and nose and covering its chin was very dark—almost black—with the definite outline of a mask. From out this mask bright blue eyes gazed with a sinister leer. The ears were dark, too, and the feet and tail. The rest of the body was brown, shading from rich cafe-aulait on the back to creamy ivory on the chest.

A cat? Yes. Bannister knew what it was now. The masked face made it look rather like a monkey or a raccoon but it was a cat all right. A Siamese cat, a member of that cat family known as "royal" because for centuries they were pets of Siamese royalty.

The cat withdrew still farther, circled uncertainly and then leaped agilely to a window ledge. There it sat, steadily regarding Bannister.

The man rubbed his bruised shoulders. "All right," he said, "we'll call it a truce—so long as you don't try that trick again! Lord, what claws! Keep your distance and I'll keep mine."

There were two windows in the bedroom. One on the south and one on the west. Bannister stepped to the nearest of them and looked out. Nothing below but a smooth plot of grass in the court. Beyond was the rear wing of the building, jutting out, just as did this central wing. Certainly there was no access to that window from above or below.

He moved to the other window. A two-story cottage, white with a green roof, stood below behind a boxwood hedge. It was a neat cottage, rather old-fashioned. Shades were drawn at the windows. Bannister knew the place. It belonged to old Judge Price, retired now and living in Florida.

But there was nothing to be seen from that window to explain the brownish stain on the carpet. That, of course, must be where they had found Tracy King's body.

Bannister turned, giving his attention once more to the interior of the bedroom. It must have been rather untidy even before the detectives had made their search. There seemed to be so much in the room: a bed; a chest of drawers—several of them pulled out and spilling their contents; two chairs, one of white leather of modernistic design; a night table holding a carafe and empty glass; a wardrobe trunk tilted on end; a small radio. Golf clubs sprawled in one corner. There was a stack of music on the radiator and a pile of magazines on the floor. There seemed to be ever so many smaller articles in the room, too—brushes and toilet articles on top of the chest of drawers; a large mirror above it; a photographer in a silver frame showing a pretty girl smiling—Denise Lang; a cocktail shaker on the trunk; a sweater and suit of clothes hanging across the back of one of the chairs. On the wall Bannister noted a large framed photograph of Tracy King himself. There were some others which Bannister assumed to be theatrical acquaintances. One he recognized as a Broadway star. Most of these photographs had inscriptions written across one corner.

Yes, the place was certainly chaotic. And yet there was nothing there that seemed out of keeping with what Bannister had learned about Tracy King. A vain man, no doubt. Extravagant or he would not have been living at the Shelby Arms. A young man who liked to give parties, judging from the tall glasses and bottles Bannister had seen in the living room. A young man, above all, who liked to have a good time and generally succeeded.

The door of the clothes closet was ajar. Bannister drew it back, then whistled softly to himself. Tracy King must certainly have had a weakness for clothes! Rows of suits hung there—two dozen at least. They were in shades ranging from pale beige to black. A plushy brown overcoat stood out bulkily and beside it was a tweed top coat. There were sweaters and leather jackets and even a silk-lined evening cape. A white mess jacket and a tail coat hung side by side. On the floor

Capitol Chatter

By Charles E. Simons

Associated Press Staff Writer

Charles E. Simons

AUSTIN, Dec. 18. (AP)—The investigation of violations of the anti-nepotism law by a committee of the house headed by Rep. Ben Cathey of Quitman has not brought out the startling revelations some expected but it has made substantial progress toward making known the true state of affairs in regard to employment of relatives on the state payroll.

A questionnaire sent to employes of one of the state institutions showed that a large majority of the employes had relatives drawing pay from the state. One of them acknowledged that he had eleven relatives working for the state in some capacity, Cathey reported.

The large number was unusual but it showed the extent to which employment of relatives has gone, Cathey said.

"It seems that state employes are getting to be just one large family," Cathey remarked. "Now I know why I haven't been able to get anybody from Wood county a job. It is sort of a family proposition."

Cathey indicated his committee wolud make some recommendations to the next session of the legislature designed to eliminate what he considered "one of the greatest evils in the state."

The pressure on members of the legislature to obtain employment for their constituencies is terrific, many legislators say.

"If you dont succeed in getting some of your constituents jobs you are regarded as a bum representative," a house member remarked during a discussion of the point. "But on the other hand, if you get one person a job and don't get one for someone else, you are in about as bad a fix, so you're durned if you do and durned if you don't."

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN, No. 50

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright, 1933, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.
MAXON

Weak from terror, Rokoff watched the figure of the silent, struggling ape-man disappear beneath the river's surface to unthinkable death in the slimy mud below. As he realized the good fortune that had befallen him, a cruel smile of relief and triumph touched his lips. But it was short-lived! For just as he was congratulating himself he was now safe indeed, a mighty pandemonium rose from the river bank.

There he saw standing upon the shore, glaring at him with hate-filled eyes, a devil-faced panther, surrounded by the hideous apes of Akut. In the forefront of them stood a giant black warrior, who shook his fist at him and uttered terrifying threats. The Beasts of Tarzan had been slow in following their agile master. The apes had reached the river just as Rokoff struck Tarzan.

Grim, relentless and terrible, the pack followed Rokoff day and night. His flight down the Ugambi became a horrible nightmare. Now abreast of him, now lost in the jungle for hours, only to reappear upon his trail, the dreadful horde raced after him, reducing him from a strong man to an emaciated, fear-gibbering thing long before the ocean broke upon his hopeless vision. Nowhere had he seen Jane Clayton.

To him there seemed little doubt Jane had been captured by warriors from the villages she must pass on her way down to the sea. The sight of the mouth of the Ugambi filled Rokoff with renewed hope. There on the placid water of the bay floated the Kincaid at anchor. Frantically he paddled toward her, shouting loudly to attract the attention of the men he had left on board. Yet no answer came from the silent craft!

BUT WHY PICK ON ME? WHY NOT GET SOME OTHER GUY TO DO IT?
BECAUSE NOBODY I KNOW HAS GOT THE KICK IN HIS RIGHT THAT YOU HAVE!
YA MEAN THAT, JOE? YA REALLY THINK I GOT THA STUFF?
WHY, SURE! YOU KNOW, PETE, THE TROUBLE WITH YOU IS, YOU UNDERRATE YOURSELF...YOU DON'T REALIZE YOUR OWN STRENGTH!

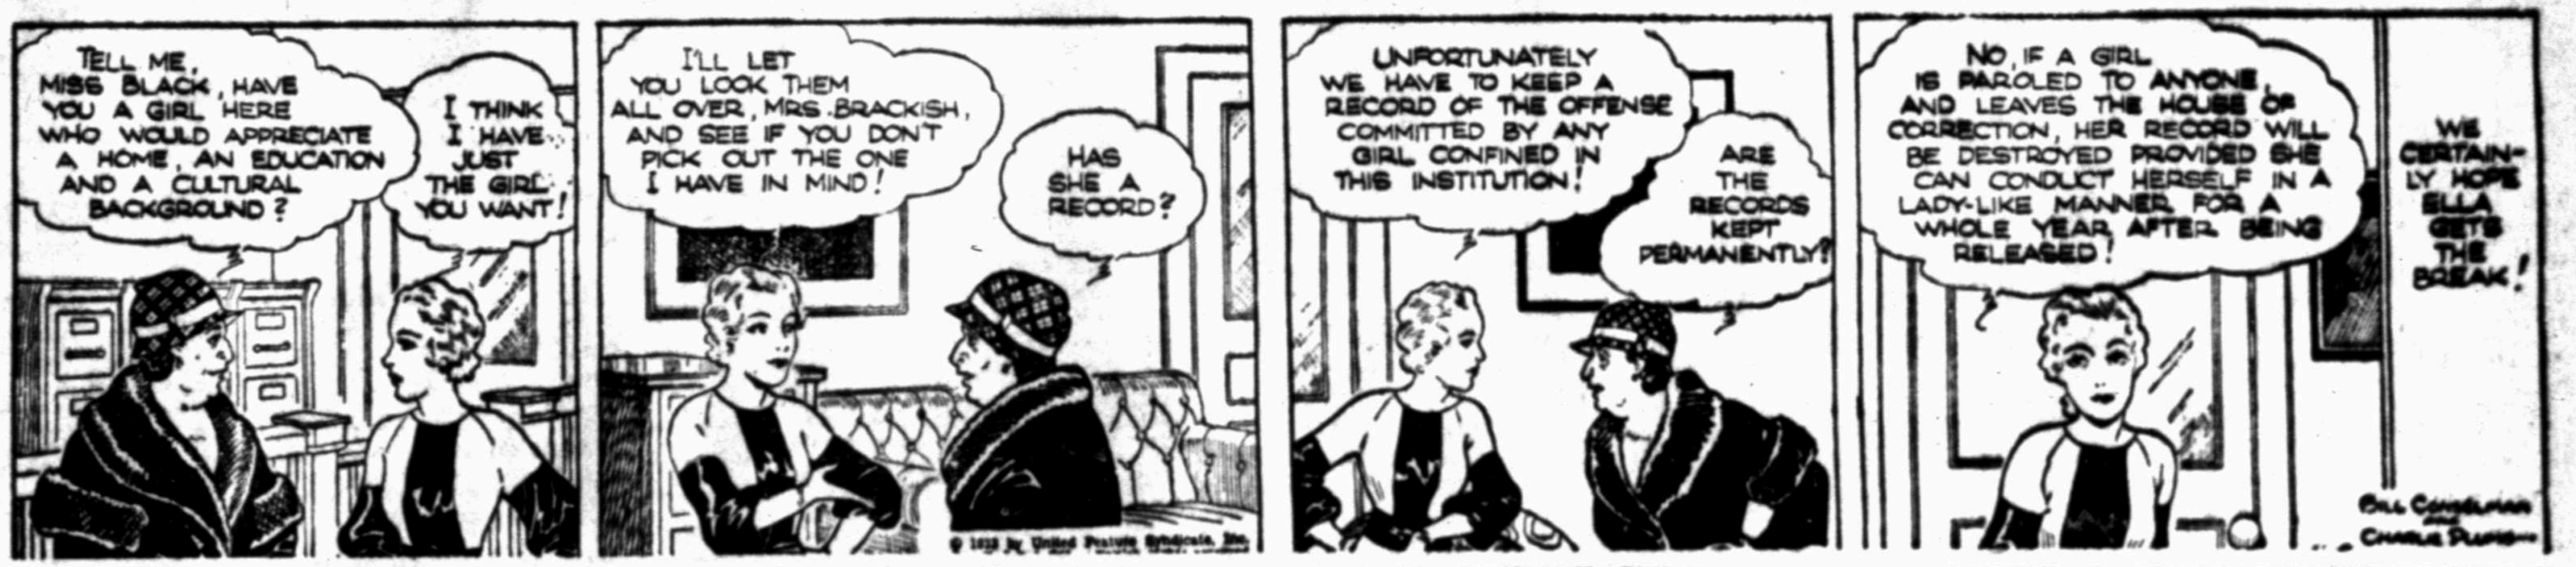
Meet Mrs. Brackish

By Bill Conselman and Charlie Plumb



TELL ME, MISS BLACK, HAVE YOU A GIRL HERE WHO WOULD APPRECIATE A HOME, AN EDUCATION AND A CULTURAL BACKGROUND?
I THINK I HAVE JUST THE GIRL YOU WANT!
I'LL LET YOU LOOK THEM ALL OVER, MRS. BRACKISH, AND SEE IF YOU DON'T PICK OUT THE ONE I HAVE IN MIND!
HAS SHE A RECORD?
© 1933 by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.
UNFORTUNATELY WE HAVE TO KEEP A RECORD OF THE OFFENSE COMMITTED BY ANY GIRL CONFINED IN THIS INSTITUTION!
ARE THE RECORDS KEPT PERMANENTLY?
NO, IF A GIRL IS PAROLED TO ANYONE, AND LEAVES THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION, HER RECORD WILL BE DESTROYED PROVIDED SHE CAN CONDUCT HERSELF IN A LADY-LIKE MANNER FOR A WHOLE YEAR AFTER BEING RELEASED!
WE CERTAINLY HOPE ELLA GETS THE BREAK!

WALL STREET REPORT

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Speculative markets were sluggish today and generally a bit lower at the finish as the treasury boosted its gold-buying price by one nickel, or to $34.06 an ounce.

Stocks opened steady, but then began to lag. As trading progressed a few soft spots opened up, although enough buying orders were executed in the last hour to bring final prices comfortably above the lows and reduce the average net decline to a shade less than a point. Turnover was 1,343,880 shares.

Dollars tilted downward in the initial dealings here. Sterling was up around 5 cents at one time, but it fell back later. Gold currencies generally followed suit during security market hours. Government loans dropped and the average change for the domestic corporation bond list was a small loss.

Some of the industrial stocks finished with fair firmness for it was learned that steel operations had again expanded, though many of the leaders only succeeded in reducing earlier losses. U. S. Steel and American Can were up fractionally. American Telephone, still vulnerable to selling, halved a two-point reaction which had carried it to a new low for the move. General Motors had a sagging spell, but closed most of the gap. Atlas Tack, transactions in which are being looked into by the state attorney general's office, added about seven points to last Saturday's loss of nearly a dozen.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 18. (AP)—An early moderate advance was followed by a moderate decline in a rather quiet cotton market today and final prices were four to five points net lower.

The opening was firm although Liverpool cables were hardly as good as due but sterling was higher and gold was advanced to $34.06, up 5 cents.

Prices continued easy during the afternoon as weakness in stocks caused buyers on the early advance to liquidate and before the offerings were absorbed March had dropped to 10.03 and May to 10.16, or 10 to 11 points below the early highs. The close was at or near the bottom with March and May showing net declines for the day of five points.

Port receipts 39,017, for week 51,784, for season 5,205,566, last season 5,077,700. Exports 29,538, for week 42,608, for season 3,808,214, last season 3,747,226. Port stock 4,137,772, last year 4,821,343. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 164,219, last year 181,859. Spot sales at southern markets 16,374, last year 18,057.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—An early advance in cotton today was followed by reactions under a continuation of near month liquidation and scattered selling. March contracts after selling up to 10.17 at the start, broke to 10.05 in the late trading and closed at that figure, with the general market ending barely steady at net declines of four to five points.

The opening was five to seven points higher on the steady cables, while buying was also encouraged by the advance in the domestic gold price, the early firmness of foreign exchange, and reports that the acreage curtailment campaign would be pushed forward intensively in the south during the first week in January.

In addition to covering and some commission house buying, there was a moderate demand from both domestic and foreign trade sources attributed to price fixing and active months sold about six to nine points net higher right after the call.

The advance was checked by realizing or southern selling, and after the early buying had been supplied, prices worked gradually lower under comparatively small offerings. Selling became a little more active in the last half hour with December easing off to 9.86 and May to 10.15. Closing quotations were the lowest of the day.

Exports today 34,602, making 3,858,643 so far this season. Port receipts 52,633. U. S. port stocks 4,132,294.

direct loans.

In an effort to supply banks with ample money for business credit, the corporation has been appealing to bankers throughout the country to increase their cash by selling preferred stock and capital notes to the corporation. The money thus derived would be available, Jones said, for loans to business.

The RFC board worked all Sunday and approved purchases of stock or notes in 414 banks, bringing the total in which the corporation has some sort of an interest to 2,443. The holdings of the corporation are valued at $627,000,000, including $19,000,000 of loans on preferred stock.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 18. (AP)—Most markets around the mid-western circuit reported light to moderate receipts of cattle, and selling prices for fed steers and yearlings worked on a steady to 15c higher basis, but at Chicago where receipts were liberal, the general market closed weak to 25c lower with early sales of light heifer and mixed yearlings and good to choice yearling steers listed as steady to weak. The general bulk of fed steers and yearlings cleared within a spread of $3.25-5.25 with various loads of yearlings and light steers at $5.50-6.25.

Receipts at 11 markets totalled 86,300 as compared with 78,292 last Monday and 36,867 the same day a week ago.

As compared with late last week, hogs sold steady to 10c higher at most markets, a top of $3.40 being paid freely in Chicago.

Most steady prices prevailed on lambs with fed wooled offerings quoted largely at $6.50-7.25 while shorn consignments brought $5.85-6.25.

FDR To Study Proposal To Direct Military Spending

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP) — President Roosevelt promised representatives of the senate military affairs committee today he would study their proposal to direct expenditure of $10,000,000 set aside under the public works program for the improvement of army ordance establishments.

Senator Sheppard of Texas, committee chairman, was accompanied by Senators Dieterich of Illinois, Byrd of Virginia and Barbour of New Jersey. With them on the White House visit was Governor Moore of New Jersey.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Disregarding a jump of 5 cents in the Washington price of gold, wheat values averaged lower today.

Selling that appeared to come from income tax dilemmas acted as a weight on the wheat market, with downturns of securities an additional bearish influence. On the other hand, government-sponsored relief buying of wheat at Minneapolis and Kansas City served as something of an offset.

Wheat closed unsteady, 1-8@3-8c under Saturday's finish, corn unchanged to 1-2c higher, oats unchanged to 3-8c off, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents decline.

Local Markets

The prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, delivered Lubbock; Grain—S. E. Cone Grain and Seed company, following prices being bid by Lubbock grain dealers; Cotton—Blocker Cotton company. All prices subject to change during day.

campaign.

The group sent a telegram to Secretary of Commerce Ickes, expressing appreciation for his work in bettering the oil industry. W. B. Hamilton, Wichita Falls, previously made an oil report in which he said the industry has taken on new life in West Texas to give employment to additional employes after a virtual shutdown for several years.

Discuss Campaign

The board discussed an educational campaign for the collection of delinquent taxes after R. H. Nichols of Vernon reported on the subject.

In a plea against further taxation, Nichols declared $120,000,000 in delinquent taxes are now due the state and political sub-divisions. He said campaigns should be opened in the counties because most taxes are levied and spent in local communities and that collectors should try to collect taxes.

Charles E. Coombes, Stamford, legal advisor to the public works bureau, asserted the state has ample laws for tax collection but not the proper kind of collectors. The complaint was raised that most people who are able to pay taxes are those who do not pay.

The directors approved a membership campaign plan as outlined by D. A. Bandeen, Stamford, general manager.

Automobile Code Extended Upon Request Of Johnson

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—President Roosevelt today extended the effective date of the automobile manufacturers' code through September 4, 1934, upon the report of Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator that employment had increased 20 per cent and payrolls gained 16 per cent since the agreement has been in force.

The extension was requested by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The request was forwarded by Johnson to the White House with a report that since September 5, when the code went into effect, millions of dollars have been added in wages and thousands of idle workers returned to their jobs.

Children Appeal To Santa For Xmas Because Their Daddy's Without Job

Heart-rending and throat-choking, these letters to Santa Claus from destitute Lubbock homes.

"We are not expecting to have any Christmas. My daddy don't have a job." Two girls and their 7-year-old brother put these sentences in their letters received yesterday at the Avalanche-Journal office.

The lad remarked that he would like to have a "tri-cycle or a scooter, some candy and nuts."

His 9-year-old sister wanted "a doll buggy, some candy and nuts." The same gifts would make happy the other youngster in the family, an 11-year-old girl.

Any Lubbock person interested in helping Kris Kringle to find these children may procure their address at the Avalanche-Journal office.

Robbers Overpower Crew Of Armored Car To Seize Cash

DENVER, Dec. 18. (AP)—Overpowering the crew of an armored collection car with tear gas, three men today robbed the Powerine Oil company of $1,000 at Sixteenth street and Tremont Place, in the heart of the business district.

B. Means, driver of the armored car, told police he was forced to the curb by the trio, who fired the gas into his face as he sought to break away with his car.

Sound of the gas gun attracted a large crowd of Christmas shoppers to the scene but the three robbers completed their work in leisurely fashion and drove away.

Jefferson Caffery Takes Up Duties As New Ambassador

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 18. (AP)—Jefferson Caffery, personal representative of President Roosevelt, took up where United States Ambassador Sumner Welles left off nearly a week ago and tonight busied himself studying the Cuban situation at close range.

Arriving aboard a Pan-American plane from Miami this morning, Caffery was greeted by personal representatives of both President Ramon Grau San Martin and Col. Fulgencio Batistia, chief of the army general staff.

Angelo Woman Badly Injured In Mishap Near Plainview

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 18. (AP)—The condition of Mrs. Thelma D. Davenport of San Angelo, seriously injured in an automobile wreck nine miles south of Plainview Saturday night, showed no material improvement tonight, hospital attendants said.

Spinal injuries caused her to be paralyzed from the shoulders down. A surgeon from Fort Worth has been called for a consultation with Plainview surgeons Wednesday.

Mrs. Davenport is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ford of Plainview.

Few Donations Being Made At Salvation Army Kettles

Few donations are being made at Salvation Army kettles, Capt. W. T. Wilson said last night.

"Unless more money is received, our plans for a Christmas dinner for needy Lubbock persons will fall through," Captain Wilson said.

Only about $70 had been collected. Last year South Plains persons donated $246 through the kettles here.

Kettles are situated at Broadway and Texas avenue and at Broadway and Avenue J. Another kettle will be placed near the postoffice Saturday.

Breweries in Venezuela are required by governmental decree to keep their production at 1,000 quarts or more of beer daily, except in case of a machinery breakdown, to insure against a shortage of beer in that country.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Herald and Examiner said today that Albert C. King, business executive who figured in the news last summer when he shot at his wife—and missed—after finding her and his partner kissing at a party, was trying to win back her love.

The newspaper also said it had learned that King, vice president of the Citrus Products company, a million-dollar concern, had ousted the man in the case, Eric Scudder, president of the firm, by buying out his interest and assuming the presidency himself.

Meanwhile, Mrs. King has been with her two children at Castle Hot Springs, Ariz.

"Yes, Scudder is out of the business," King was quoted as saying, "I bought him out. I'm president of the company now.

"Yes, I've been out to see Mrs. King several times. I'm getting ready to visit her again, too. I'm hoping that the difficulties we have had will be straightened out. I love her, you see."

Back To Farm

port was the emphasis laid by the chiefs of the various bureaus and divisions upon their decreased activities occasioned by sharp economies being effected in the department.

Income Is Less

Dr. Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation, said in the part of the report devoted to that activity, that income due his bureau from all sources during the fiscal year ending June 30 was $4,688,255.57, or $711,059.37 less than in the previous year.

His statistics of irrigation works showed that in 1932 the area irrigated with water from government works was 2,769,605 acres, a decrease of 77,022 acres from the 1931 figure. The area cropped, however, was 2,775,280 acres, an increase of 3,096 acres. The total value of crops was $50,158,381, a decrease of $23,801,996 compared with 1931 and $69,503,439 compared with 1930. He attributed the decrease in crop values largely to the agricultural depression and prevailing low prices of crops.

Prices Show Increase

Dr. Mead noted a "substantial increase" this spring in prices of dairy products, wool, cotton and livestock. He said 190 public farm units have been opened to settlement during the year but that owing to the "depressed financial condition prevalent on a large majority of the projects, "there was little to encourage settlement of vacant public lands."

John Collier, commissioner of Indian affairs, said the Indian service was "moving on certain lines of policy," and remarked first upon the situation of Indian lands. He said the allotment system under which great sections of Indian land holdings had fallen into the hands of whites upon the deaths of Indian owners must be revised.

Recreation

November exceeded those for October by 8 per cent.

Payrolls of the civil works administration, he said, now are running $50,000,000 a week or more.

The recreation proposal was made after Hopkins had been asked about a program for unemployed musicians. He said that in New York a civic orchestra, which gives concerts at the Brooklyn public library, was being supported by relief funds and that the relief agency in New York was supporting several string quartets and small bands.

A Great Measure

"The development of a great recreation program for the country," said Hopkins, "would be a great relief measure. The American people are going to have more leisure time for the next ten years or so at least. I can see possibilities for great orchestras, quartets, bands and civic theaters public supported to play in parks and elsewhere.

"I cannot think of anything more important than music development in this country. I would like to see bands in beer gardens and other public places. It would encourage people to go out and sit around and talk and forget their troubles. Such a program can be best developed under public auspices."

Swift Action Is Promised On Pro Law Cases By Court

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP) — Swift action was promised today by the supreme court toward handing down a ruling that will determine whether the government can prosecute or should drop pending cases charging violations of the prohibition law.

It was set for hearing on January 15 a test case from North Carolina, in which Federal Judge Johnson Hayes dismissed proceedings against two men on the ground that repeal had nullified the prohibition enforcement laws.

Bank Cases Up In Court Here

Default Judgments For Pair Of National Banks Given On Instructions Of Judge In Federal Hearing

Default judgments for two national banks and for Kent county, amounting to approximately $145,000 were awarded by juries in federal district court Monday afternoon on instructions from Judge James C. Wilson. There were 12 cases brought by the First National bank of Jayton, two by the Floyd County National bank and three defendants out of a group of 12 or 15 in a case brought by the county.

Trial of equity issues in the case brought by Kent county against M. S. Sandell, former president, and others was begun yesterday afternoon, following the awarding of judgments amounting to approximately $102,000 against T. Houston Ward, Mrs. Margie E. Ward and W. M. Ward. W. T. Cathey, county clerk of Kent county and L. B. Withers, receiver of the closed bank, were the witnesses.

Motion Overruled

Motion by the Farmers and Merchants National bank of Abilene, named as a defendant, to dismiss, filed as a general demurrer, was overruled following arguments by Robert Bean, William H. Evans and George S. Berry, attorneys for the county and T. J. McMahon, attorney for the bank. H. G. Andrews attorney for Mr. Withers, made argument for his client.

Witnesses in the case included: Henry James, president, and Fleming James, assistant cashier of the Farmers and Merchants National bank of Abilene; A. M. Turner, former vice-president of the Jayton bank and Ellis Scoggins, former assistant cashier of the bank. The county witnesses include: Ab Cargile, C. H. Cade, Bert Wallace, W. T. Cathey and Mrs. A. B. Ward.

Sale Authorized

Judge Wilson authorized the Floyd County National bank receiver to sell a second hand automobile, property of the bank at the time it went into receivership and also authorized the receiver to sign an easement for approximately six acres to the state highway department, on land it received in a judgment. The property was received from the Muncy family in settlement of a bank claim.

Default judgments secured by the Jayton bank, through H. G. Andrews, attorney, included: M. S. Sandell, $8,625.33; Thomas W. Fowler, $2,701.65; W. L. Mathews, $1,080.66; T. E. Murdock, $3,241.98; T. Houston Ward, $8,645.33; Ara B. Foley and Mrs. W. A. Foley $1,080.66 Toney Lindhorst, $1,620.99 and foreclosure of lien on hand; John W. Hall and Elmer Hall, $219.48; W. M. McLaury, $1,603.12; W. J. Lane as administrator of the estate of the late W. E. Green, $5,403.30; W. M. Hunter, $2,161.32; R. L. Alexander, $1,080.66. The Judgment against Hall and McLaury were on notes and the remainder on stock assessments.

Bank Gets Judgment

The Floyd County National bank was given a judgment against L. B. Surginer for $5,119.72 and against Raymond Allen for $622.77.

A general demurrer by Dr. E. O. Nichols and the Plainview sanitarium and Dr. J. Harvey Hanson was sustained by Judge Wilson in the suit by O. K. Sykes against the two, following arguments at the morning session. The plaintiff was given leave to amend his petition and it is probable the action may come up today.

Franklin D. Brown of Lockhart and Brown represented Dr. Hanson, and George Dupree of Bledsoe, Crenshaw and Dupree the Sanitarium. M. J. Baird of Plainview and W. W. Campbell of Vickers and Campbell represented the complainant. Mr. Sykes had asked for $15,000 damages, following treatment at the sanitarium.

Historic Plane Flight Recalled

LE MANS, France, Dec. 18. (AP)—France solemnly celebrated today the 25th anniversary of Wilbur Wright's historic airplane flight at Auvours field.

On this date, in 1908, Wright flew for one hour, 54 minutes, 53 2-5 seconds, covering a distance of 62 miles and demonstrating the practicability of heavier than air machines.

Wilbur Wright's first two pupils in France, the Marquis De Lambert and Col. Licas Girardville, recounted their experiences as Wright's students.

Rene Giroult, a local writer and devoted friend and admirer of Wright, organized the celebration with the support of the ministry of air and the civil authorities. All living spectators of Wright's historic achievement here were invited.

Federal Movie Governors

President Roosevelt, in extending the arm of government over the motion picture industry, provided a 90-day trial period during which he expects a "full report on excessive salaries or other emoluments, both as to artists and as to executives and their families." The President named as his representatives on the picture code authority two film players, Eddie Cantor (left) and Marie Dressler, and A. Lawrence Lowell, president-emeritus of Harvard.

were shoes—more than a dozen pair—and on the shelf above Bannister could see several hats.

He closed the door with a murmur, half of disgust. It was just as he turned to go back to the living room that the object on the floor caught his eye. Bannister stooped quickly and picked it up. He was studying it a moment later when he heard the outer door open. Bannister dropped the object inside his pocket. An instant later Link, the hotel clerk, appeared in the bedroom doorway.

"Sorry to be gone so long," he apologized. "I thought it would only be a moment but there are so many things—" He did not complete the sentence. "The place is upset," he went on. "Nothing goes right: It's been that way since last night."

"I can imagine," Bannister said dryly. "Mind showing me just how King was lying when you found him?"

The clerk agreed willingly but his description—even the demonstration he attempted—was not very clear. Bannister decided that he would have to have a look at the police photographs.

Suddenly the cat on the window ledge jumped down. Link saw it and said, "Oh, there's Rajah! I don't know what's to become of him! Mr. King thought the world of that cat. Used to bring people here especially to see him. I told the maid to see that Rajah got his meat this morning. Mr. King always had it sent in regularly. It's a valuable cat, you know. Very valuable. What's to become of it now I'm sure I don't know!"

"How about King's relatives?" Bannister asked. "Haven't they been notified?"

"If they have nobody has told me about it," the clerk said, rather aggrieved. "I suppose someone will have to take care of all these things—"

With a wave of his hand he indicated the personal possessions of the dead orchestra leader. "Somebody will have to attend to all this," he said. "Until there are some sort of orders everything will be left here just as it is now."

There was a small bath leading off the bedroom. Bannister inspected it, then returned to the living room.

He crossed to the windows and looked down. "No fire escapes around here, are there?" he asked.

"They're at the rear."

Bannister was poking about the papers on the desk. "If it was the girl who shot him," he said suddenly, "how do you figure that she got away?"

"There's a stairway," Link explained. "It's just back of the elevator. She could have gone down the stairway and into the laundry. Then she could have crossed the hall to the tradesmen's entrance."

"And gone out the rear way," Bannister nodded solemnly. "Oh, I see!"

"It must have been the girl," Link insisted. "She was the only one who came up here."

"You saw her, did you?"

"Yes, and I'd know her anywhere again. Couldn't miss that green outfit."

"Suppose she wore something else?"

"I'd know her anyway," the hotel clerk declared emphatically. "I'd know her the minute I saw her!"

Bannister explored the room for another 10 minutes. There was little to be gained there, he thought, but he wanted to fix certain details in his mind. Then he said, "Well, I guess I'm through here."

They rode down to the first floor. Bannister thanked the clerk and took his leave. But he was less than half way across the lobby when a voice stopped him.

It was a woman's voice. "Just a minute, young man!" it called. "Just a minute!"

Bannister turned. He faced a short woman in a blue and gray sweater suit, hurrying toward him. The woman's cheeks were quite pink; her hair was a slightly faded titian, and her voice was determined.

"I want to see you!" the woman declared.

America Seeks Wright Plane

Smithsonian Institute Seeks To Close Breach With Maker And Have First Plane Back In This Country

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Smithsonian institution today moved to close a long-standing breach with Orville Wright in an effort to bring back to the United States from England the world's most precious aviation relic—the original Wright airplane.

Charles A. Lindbergh, as he sped northward today on the last lap of his 28,000-mile flight, carried with him its request to act as a mediator in the case.

As a peace move, authoritative sources said, the Smithsonian institution was prepared to assure Wright that his plane would be given the most prominent spot in the national museum's aviation section—a location immediately in front of Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis.

Dr. Charles G. Abbot, secretary of the museum, disclosed he had also offered to submit to Wright the label which would be placed on the ancient ship—the first to make a free, engine-powered flight carrying a man.

The controversy between Wright and the Smithsonian arose originally over a label written for the Langley airdome of 1903 by the late George Maynard, former curator of technological collections, of the Smithsonian.

He characterized it as "the first machine capable of flight carrying a man."

This was regarded by the Wrights as an intentional affront and present officials of the Smithsonian conceded the Maynard label was improper and had it removed a number of years ago.

As a result of the controversy Orville Wright shipped the original airplane to the British national museum at London, where it has been on exhibition since 1928. Wright prior to that time had kept the priceless relic in his own possession at his home in Dayton, Ohio, "in the hope that a suitable home for it could be found in America."

He explained at the time he sent the plane abroad that the Smithsonian institution, "the one institution which seemed to be national enough in character," was one to which he would not care to intrust the machine.

Two Groups To Hold Sessions

Jersey Cattle Club And Agricultural Workers Association Scheduled To Meet In City In January

Annual meetings of Texas Jersey Cattle club and Texas Agricultural workers association, will be conducted here Jan. 3-4 and 4-5, respectively.

The Cattle club will adjourn at noon the second day of its meeting. The Agricultural Workers association will convene for its 7th annual meeting in the afternoon that day, Jan. 4, and be in session until noon the next day.

Membership Overlap

Because of their overlapping memberships, the two groups customarily meet in the same city in a single series of days. The 1933 sessions were in Dallas.

W. L. Stangel of the animal husbandry department at Texas Technological college is a director of each organization.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, will preside at a luncheon for the agricultural workers Jan. 5.

Mr. Stangel will be toastmaster at dinners of the Cattle club and the agricultural workers, the nights of Jan. 3 and 4, respectively.

Ellsworth To Preside

Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, professor of agricultural economics at Technological college, will speak before the agricultural workers.

A tea, chiefly for women, district and county home demonstration agents, home economics supervisors and teachers, and others, will be given at the home economics practice house at the college Jan. 4.

Miss Zera Dopson, Tech student, has returned from Levelland where she visited the Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Brian during the week-end.
