COIN MACHINE INJUNCTION IS GIVEN OWNERS

Judge Vogel Grants Right for Machines to Operate in Two Counties

LOCAL DISTRICT JUDGE IS AWAY

Wichitan's Injunction Was Dissolved By Stokes Sometime Ago

Operation of marble board machines will be resumed in Harde-man and Wilbarger counties at once as a result of an injunction granted by Judge Irvin J. Vogel, Seventy-eighth District Court, in Wichita Falls Monday afternoon to C. H. Roberts and Roy Parrell, Vernon operators.

Jesse Owens, Vernon attorney for the operators, who drafted the injunction application, said the orders would be filed in the offices of Forty-sixth District Court clerks in Crowell and Quanah. The attorney was in Chillicothe Tuesday afternoon.

Granting of the injunction means marble machines will be placed in operation again in the two counties of Harde-man and Wilbarger for the first time since they were halted several months ago.

Judge Vogel heard the injunction application in the absence of R. N. Stokes of Vernon, judge of the Forty-sixth district court, who is now visiting in California and Washington.

Earlier in the month Judge Vogel granted an injunction restraining Wilbarger county officials from confiscating machines in operation in Vernon. No attempt to operate the machines was made in Harde-man county. However, after Judge Stokes' return from Houston the injunction application was dissolved.

Attorneys for the operators drafted another injunction application but was denied by Judge Stokes and a appeal to the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo. A hearing in the higher court in the Vernon case is expected later in the week with the return of a member of Court at Amarillo. Only one of the three judges presiding was in Amarillo at the time the appeal was submitted.

LOCAL CUBLETS PLAY AT TIPTON

Preston (Chub) Hutchens May Get Call to Pitch

Chillicothe's Cubs will invade Tipton, Okla., next Sunday afternoon with a clash against the Boosters. It will be the last time the two teams meet this season.

Preston (Chub) Hutchens, the screwball pitcher for the Bruins, will likely get the call for mound duty. Should he be as effective Sunday as he has shown in the last two games, even if he did lose, the Bruins stand a fine chance to win the game. Canafax will handle the catching duties and it might be said right here that proving to be a good receiver besides getting his share of base knocks.

The team will likely be composed of Red Davis, Red Starn, Richard Henry, Francis, the two Dickinson boys, Thurman Howard, Bill and Woody Ramsey, Richardson and Chub Hutchens, Canafax, as well as a number of other comers, all doubtless seeing action.

It is hoped a good crowd will travel with the lads and thus help them win the game. These kids—and that's what they are—play a fine brand of baseball, sufficient to give plenty of competition regardless of the opponent. The game will be called at 5:30 o'clock.

HENRY MOORE TO BE MANAGER FOR WEST TEXAS GIN

Formerly Connected With Turner-Randell; Came From Oklahoma

Although it has been known for the past few weeks of the change in management of the West Texas Gin Company, it was not officially announced until today Henry Moore, for the past few years connected with the former Turner-Randell Gin, had been made manager to succeed T. H. Davidson.

Selection of Mr. Moore to take Davidson's place proves the company wants to continue serving farmers of this country in the best way possible. He has had years of experience in the business and one of the first steps taken after assuming charge was to add new equipment and other machinery and place it in first class shape for the coming season's run. "I can assure farmers they will get as good service as anywhere, and the cleaning will be of the kind for which they will have no cause for complaint," declared the new manager.

The West Texas Gin has been operating in Chillicothe since 1911—a total of 22 years when the coming season arrives. During those years there have been times good, but regardless the West Texas Company has continued to keep up the best standard of cleaning.

Moore, before coming to Chillicothe about five years ago, was located in Oklahoma. He likes Chillicothe as he has been proven by refusing to accept positions offered at this year in other cities. "Chillicothe for me," exclaimed Moore.

HARDEMAN COUNTY REPRESENTATIVES ATTENDED MEETING

State Officials of Works Administration Tell of Plans For Relief

IMPROVEMENTS HERE WANTED

Applications Will Be Filed at District Office in Wichita Falls

The man on relief comes before the project, an action drilled into the minds of representatives from practically every political subdivision of 14 counties in the Wichita WPA district as they met Tuesday in Wichita Falls to listen to works progress officers from all over the south.

W. L. Ledbetter, mayor, and J. A. McCaw, W. E. Hancock, J. Luther Potts and L. C. Crutchfield, were representatives from Chillicothe.

The group were brought to realize federal aid for Texas will be discontinued with no renewal on September 30 of this year.

To handle the situation locally the Chillicothe representatives have in mind four or five projects to be divided between the city, school, and President 3 of the county. Should they be successful in securing these projects it would insure work for several months, and be an improvement as well.

E. A. Baugh, state director of works projects, and of San Antonio, was the principal speaker at the meeting telling the story of the Works Progress Administration.

Insisting local officials must have patience at present because of the state of flux in all departments of the new WPA, Baugh said. "Patience is the only purpose of the WPA has its goal as one necessity—giving jobs to all persons on relief. Counties without relief rolls, if there are such entities, he added, will not get any WPA relief money. Counties who have only unskilled laborers on relief rolls need submit no projects demanding highly skilled labor because nine-tenths of the money must go to the county's relief clients."

As to projects the speaker declared his offices in San Antonio consider anything that will put relief clients into honest, respectable jobs. Political subdivisions only can sponsor projects.

Every time we spend $400 in WPA money in Texas we must work one relief client for one year. This figure, he admits, is somewhat smaller than the $1,000 per man a year figure prevailing throughout the United States.

QUANAH PLANS BIG WOLF HUNT

T-O Group to Hold Meet September 15 to 19

Quanah has been selected as the site for the second annual Field Trials Meet of the Texas Oklahoma Wolf Hunters Association at a meeting of the Directors of the association in Quanah last Sunday afternoon.

The meet will be held September 15 to and including the 19, and according to members of the association, will draw followers of the sport from practically all of both states. Some three hundred or more dogs will be entered, it is now thought. The site for the trials will be held on the C. T. Watkins ranch nine miles south of Quanah and will cover 15,000 acres of this and adjoining ranches. It is said to be a wolf hunters paradise.

METHODIST REVIVAL MEETING STARTED SUNDAY WITH LARGE CROWDS HEARING REV. NEAL

May File For WPA Projects

Applications from civic organizations for projects coming under the WPA may be filed with District Project Supervisor Watkins at the meeting to be held in Quanah Friday morning, starting at eight o'clock.

The meeting will be held in the court house. Such projects as improving county roads in this precinct, improvement of school facilities in Chillicothe, laying of concrete sidewalks in the city may be filed by local men at tomorrow's meeting.

REPORT OF BAD FOOD AT CAMP PROVES UNTRUE

Investigation Reveals This As Excuse To Leave Company

Reports of unsatisfactory handling of food in the mess hall of the camp of the Civilian Conservation Corps, Kibbaw Forest, Arizona, on the part of Chillicothe enrollees, has been investigated and according to Joseph D. Wadsworth, first lieutenant, "spread the story of unsatisfactory mess as an excuse to their parents and to towns people generally for leaving our company."

The investigation was started when local Administrator Crutchfield, hearing the reports, communicated with the officers of the camp. "The reports prevented us from reaching our quota, many believing what was said. Therefore, I am submitting to you the facts, bearing the reports, and this should be self-explanatory," the administrator stated. It is as follows:

"After talking with the enrollees from Chillicothe we were unable to obtain proof from them that the conditions which were reported to you have existed here. In fact, these men had no complaint after being questioned frankly. On the other hand, they did say that it was their belief that the men, who did not come out here to work and who later went back to Chillicothe, spread the story of unsatisfactory mess as an excuse to their parents and to towns-people generally for leaving our company."

Through these same men with us now, we learned that some of their friends who left here for Chillicothe are very eager to return and advised those who have remained here to stay by all means.

"Dr. Berger's certification enclosed is self-explanatory and should suffice in outlining the method of handling food supplies and our supervision of the mess generally. In conclusion, we appreciate your cooperation in this matter, and we can definitely assure anyone that, in this company our meticulous supervision of all angles of the mess problem absolutely prevents any unsatisfactory conditions such as reported to you."

"For the Commanding Officer, Joseph D. Wadsworth, 1st Lt. Inf-Reserve, Assistant Com. Officer."

Song Service In Charge of Rev. Goodpastor of Oklahoma

MINISTER DOES NOT MINCE WORDS

Is Giving Public Good Lectures on How Christian Life Must Be Lived

Good crowds are attending the revival services being conducted at the First Methodist Church, which started last Sunday. Rev. Frank Neal of Amarillo, is the evangelist, and the song service is in charge of Rev. Goodpastor of Albus, Oklahoma.

The evangelist is not mincing words in bringing to the minds of his audience what is required to live a Christian life, and for those claiming to be religious and yet are not giving their best to the Lord, are finding his words to be truthful and to the point. Christians are really enjoying his sermons even if they do strike home at times, knowing it is what has been needed for a long time. Some have gone so far as to assert there has been too much "overlooking the wrongs committed."

He is exerting an influence that is bound to be felt long after he concludes his services here and Christian workers feel the "tonic" is going to prove a good medicine.

Next Monday night, on the lawn of the church, Rev. Neal will be heard in a sermon which he features as the "Round Up." Picnics are to be distributed scheduling services for the balance of next week. Tuesday night his sermon will be to men only, the following night, Wednesday, only women will hear him; Thursday night he is to preach to the young people. On Friday night, "The Great Surprise," and follows up on Saturday night with "The Vice of the Veil."

Morning services are being held at 10 o'clock, evening services at 8:15.

Good music by the choir, led by the Rev. Goodpastor, and church workers are holding all a welcome to attend all services.

FLIES CAUSE TYPHOID

It may be monotonous but our advice continues to be: "Kill the flies." People in Hardeman county will find this job less tiresome and less expensive than attending to the first case of typhoid that hits their family.

Screened houses and energetic use of a good fly swatter are health insurance policies. Typhoid is a disease that wears down the patient. It is transmitted through flies. It can be avoided in most cases by a rigorous slaughter of flies.

CROOKED LAWYERS

Behind the criminal tower stands a small army of questionable lawyers, crooked officials, pink pacifists, and what-nots, easing the path from jail back into society.

But these are not the worst offenders. Our laws are too full of loop holes. Here is just one instance: From Sing Sing, New York, state prison, there were released last year 548 prisoners. Exactly two of this number had served the full sentence imposed by the courts following conviction.

What does a prison sentence mean today? Virtually nothing. Two in 548 prisoners serve their full terms. The rest are released under one pretext or another, and the professionals return to prey on society and hope they will have luck enough not to get caught another time. There you have the answer.

RELIEF PREFERRED TO WORK

Farmers in the Middle West have been reporting for a month that agricultural laborers are extremely hard to find. Men are loathe to leave the relief rolls for $1 a day and board. They say they can get that much without working.

In New Jersey it is reported that between 2,000 and 2,500 men on relief rolls prefer to remain idle on relief than to pick raspberries at $2 and $2.50 a day.

A constantly growing number of men prefer relief to jobs. True, the work offered in these two instances is seasonal. And an unseemly amount of red tape in getting back on relief rolls may deter men now on rolls to take temporary jobs. Relief heads should slash away this red tape. The government should remove this last and outstanding excuse of those who ought to work but won't. Then we would be down to the bedrock principle of "No work, no eat."

We have got to come to this point sooner or later. Otherwise several million drones will be content to live off those who do work and pay taxes the rest of their lives.

A lot of politicians who spout so profusely about capital and labor never had any capital and never did any labor.

SANE DRIVERS IN MAJORITY

The harsher sentences that are being imposed upon individuals who persist in operating motor vehicles in a flagrantly neglect and dangerous manner ought to be warmly welcomed by sane drivers who, after all constitute the great bulk of the people on the highways.

WHAT IS THE OBJECTIVE?

Neither the President nor Congress seem to be paying the slightest attention to the constitutionality of the legislation that is being passed. Both continue to support and pass bills that are almost certain to have no standing when submitted for final court authority.

What is the object of all this? Is the administration seeking to jam unconstitutional measures through congress in the hope that the supreme court will make itself unpopular with the people by throwing them out? If this is the objective, it should be stated openly and frankly. The constitution of the United States belongs to the people themselves. It is the safeguard of our liberties. Let the people decide if a change is necessary. But let the issue be fought openly.

WHERE SHALL THEY GO?

What would you think of a man who trained race horses, and never entered them in a race?

What would you think of a man who kept drawing water, and never drank or used it? What would you think of a man who planted an orchard and let the fruit rot on the trees, after spraying regularly and carefully watching soil conditions, etc?

Well that, my friend, is a picture of the great American business man. When we Americans get rid of 75 per cent of our "bunk", and realize that we are not doing our job by our young, we will get somewhere.

We train the youngsters in carefully built schools. The rooms are heated in winter and kept cool when it grows warm. Teachers are hired at big salaries, and we pay the taxes, with many a grumble, but we pay them. And then we throw the children out into the street.

No provision for them locally. No concerted effort to so train them that they will become efficient and trained public servants. We have no course in civics that would enable us to put trained men into public office. And, after paying taxes to educate youngsters for about 10 years we send them to New York City, Honolulu, or some other city for a job. We maintain there is enough bought and used in Hardeman county to make a self contained county, if we bought what we need in the county.

If every bank bought everything it needed in the county, if every merchant did the same thing, and if they all got together to finance and create such industries as they did not presently have, we could absorb every child in Hardeman county.

We consume, we buy, and we spend enough in Hardeman county to support a population twice our size. And most of the money goes elsewhere. If you could get a memorandum from the Post Office, covering cash paid in advance purchases, out of the county, thru the mails, you would awaken yourself to what every Postmaster knows.

HUTCHENS LOSES HEART-BREAKER AGAINST VERNON

WILDERNESS IN FIRST FRAMING IS COSTLY; SCORE 5-3 IN FAVOR OF VERNON

Preston (Chubby) Hutchens lost a heart-breaker against the Vernon Cardinals Sunday by the score of 5 to 3, mainly through a wild streak right in Vernon's half of the first inning. Had he been as good then as he showed later the Bruins' Cublets would have beaten the Wilbarger county nine.

Hill, ace of the Vernon pitching corps, was rapped freely by the lads, finding him for a total of 13 hits. Hutchens was far more stingy, yet teammates were pulling more misdeeds, which proved very costly. On two occasions force plays at second would have retired the side, but failure to complete netted two runs, good enough to cap the game for Vernon.

The Bruins presented an entirely different lineup than heretofore. Baseball for Chillicothe has been left in the hands of the youngsters, who are giving a mighty good account of themselves. And you can say to that. In the previous game, against the league-leading Electra Oilers, the Cublets were not beaten out until the eighth inning. Sunday the Chillicotheans tied up the game on two different occasions only to see Vernon forge ahead by one run. Hutchens presented the Cardinals with one run when with the bases loaded he walked a man. So, you can see how the game would have gone had not this happened. Other than the wildness, however, old Chub was in there tolling away, and doing a swell job of it.

Next Sunday the homelings travel into Oklahoma where they meet the Tipton Boosters. A good ly number of the faithful should accompany the lads.

Philip Coldren, editor of the Joplin (Mo.) Globe, says: "How in the world can a fellow make a little extra money?" A friend of mine asked me one morning about a month ago, as we were walking down town. "Do you really want to make a little money, or are you dreaming of making a fortune?" I asked.

"Say," he shot back, "if some one would tell me how I could make even two or three dollars extra every month I would be tickled pink."

"I sure can do that," I assured him. "My wife and I have been practicing such a scheme for the past six months and we were figuring it up just last night and decided it had meant just slightly more than $7.50 a month to us."

"That sounds good to me," said my friend. "Put me next." "Read newspaper advertisements," I said.

"Oh," he exclaimed, obviously disappointed. "Listen," I said to him. "One of the surest and easiest ways there is of making money in this amazing world we live in today is by reading newspaper advertisements. Reading 'em, I mean, intelligently, carefully, and with the deliberate intention of discovering offers that will mean money saved. I tell you it works. But it's so darn obvious and simple only about one person in fifty works it as it ought to be worked. Think it over."

"Yesterday I walked down town with my friend again and he told me he and his wife had been trying out the little scheme I had suggested to him a month ago and that in the thirty days they had made—by saving—$11.70."

Red Tag Celebration Activities In July By Chevrolet Motor Co.

The Chevrolet Motor Company, which pioneered in the effort to dignify the used car and enable the used car purchaser to buy with confidence, is staging a countrywide celebration, July 21 to 31, marking the tenth anniversary of the introduction of its now famous "Guaranteed OK Red Tag," which has aided millions in obtaining dependable unused transportation.

In every Chevrolet zone city, and at hundreds of dealer establishments in other centers, big "Red Tag" birthday cakes will be displayed and the public will be invited to join in the observance—an arrangement deemed especially fitting, since the public has benefited from the removal of the element of chance from its used car investments.

All through the 12 days, at all Chevrolet dealers, exceptional used car bargains will be displayed for sale, according to W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager of Chevrolet, who arranged the celebration. The event will make it possible to select, at distinct savings, from a wide variety of makes, models and years, with the dealers' assurance that all items are strictly as represented, and sound values at their price.

"Every used car bearing Chevrolet's 'Guaranteed OK Red Tag' said Mr. Holler, "has been thoroughly reconditioned before it is displayed for sale. Each carries a list of the various mechanical units of the car, with a space in which the service manager inserts his check-mark after that unit has been inspected and put in proper shape. The customer can see at a glance just what condition the car is in, and balancing its condition against its price, can determine whether it is the buy for him. The tag is not to be affixed to the car until the latter is reconditioned and fit to give the purchaser dependable service, so its presence constitutes a guarantee of owner satisfaction."

Mr. Holler pointed to the great improvement which the last few years have made in the used car as a commodity, as proof of the efficacy of such efforts as the Chevrolet "Red OK Tag". Not so many years ago, he recalled, the cautious buyer was justified in viewing used cars askance, because their purchase, as frequently as not, failed to meet his requirements, and caused him considerable repair expense. It was recognition of the absolute necessity of correcting this situation that led Chevrolet to this revolutionary step which it now celebrates.

"Used cars are far greater values today than they were ten years ago," said Mr. Holler. "Obviously, the most recent of them are only a few months behind the current new car models in point of the features they embody—their power, speed, safety, economy, comfort, and appearance. Yet they represent substantial savings as compared with the new car costs and when bought from a reputable dealer their purchase involves no risk."

"Even at the sacrifice of a few dollars' difference on two identical models, it is wiser to buy from the established merchant whose future depends on customer satisfaction."

Chesterfields "go to town"

They Satisfy

—that's just the 1935 way of saying what Chesterfields have been saying for years . . .

Chesterfields do about everything a cigarette ought to do.

Chesterfields have TASTE—yes plenty of it. But not too strong.

And Chesterfields are MILD—but they're not insipid or flat.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By Minnie Fisher Cunningham
Extension Service Editor

Trench silos are getting filled this month in Texas. Corn, red top cane, seeded ribbon cane, bagart, kafir, milo, and a few more such crops are going into them.

E. R. Eudaly, Extension dairyman, says these crops had better be ripe because if they are not green the silage will contain a surplus of acid and as a result sour the cattle if fed liberally.

He says that the leaves on the upper half of the stalk should be green—but the ripier the crop the greater the feed value of the silage.

A trench silo six feet wide at the top, four feet wide at the bottom, five feet deep and 100 feet long will hold 30 tons of silage. That makes three tons per acre for a ten cow herd. Eudaly says three tons is just about what a dairy cow needs.

But that isn't all. Each cow should be supplied with one ton of hay and one of feed per year. He says cannily, "Remember, the more roughage the cow will consume, the less of grain mixture will be required. Hay and silage are cheaper than corn and cottonseed meal."

On a recent trip to the Gulf coast territory spreading the gospel of trench silos or "canning the cow's food supply," Eudaly found that Refugio county had only one trench silo. Since he spoke there two months ago, 100 silos have been dug and filled.

Proposed Amendments to Be Voted On August 24 Cited By Secretary of State

Second and Last of Series of Seven Amendments Proposed Presented for Information of Voting Public

Proposed Amendment No. 5: Suspended Sentence or Probation Amendment

Proposition No. 5 on the ballot of the August 24th special election reads: "For (and against) the Amendment to the State Constitution authorizing the Courts to place defendants on probation."

Proponents claim that if this amendment is passed, many who are now sent to the penitentiary for first offenses will be permitted to enjoy suspended sentences under restrictions of the court.

The only restriction under the present suspended sentence law is the fact that the defendant must not be convicted of a felony—that is, a crime punishable by confinement in the penitentiary. The judge or court has no control now if it set up or impose any other restrictions.

It is the understanding of those who have studied the amendment that if passed it would permit the Legislature to pass laws giving the courts the right to suspend sentences and place defendants on such probation as the court might deem proper. In other words the court could suspend sentences subject to certain limitations. If those restrictions or limitations were not observed the Court would have the authority to have the defendant committed to the penitentiary without further ado. Many courts now refuse to grant suspended sentences for the reason that they have no control over the defendant after the same is granted. It is pointed out that this would prevent many first offenders from having to go to the penitentiary and reclaim many of them for society.

If a suspended sentence is given under the present law the only limitation is that the defendant must not be convicted for a felony. The court has no control over him nor can it impose other conditions.

Proposed Amendment No. 6: Abolishing Fee System for Paying Officials
Two years ago a Senate investigating committee discovered a number of flagrant abuses of the fee system as practised in Texas for recompensing certain public officials. The fee system was established and written into the Texas Constitution at a time when it was impossible to pay salaries and the theory was that an official was entitled to "all he could make." Since the Senate committee discovered and revealed the malpractices existing under the system there has been a demand for a Constitutional change on this score, according to Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann.

Proposed Amendment No. 5 on the ballot provides that the fee system as a method of paying certain precinct, county and district officials shall be abolished in counties having 20,000 or more population according to the last Federal census. The Legislature will, if the amendment is adopted, set the salaries for officials now receiving fees in such counties. In counties under 20,000 population the Commissioners Courts may put their county and precinct officials on a salary basis if they so desire. The Amendment does not specifically state who shall set the salaries of such officials in this case.

If this amendment is adopted all district officers must be compensated on a salary basis. The amendment provides that fees shall continue to be collected as at present but they will go to the county instead of the officer. The evident purpose of this amendment is to place as many public officials on straight salaries as is possible, and thus abolish insofar as is possible the payment of officials through the present fee system.

Proposed Amendment No. 7: Free Texas Books for Private and Parochial Schools
The Texas Constitution at the present time provides that the State is without authority to furnish free text books to other than public schools. Proposed Amendment number seven on the ballot for the August 24th election would permit the State to supply free textbooks to all schools, private and parochial. Such textbooks it is presumed, to be the same as used in the public schools.

Advocates of this Amendment state that this would entail no additional expense, because the state now purchases more books than are necessary. However, this point is merely one of the claims made and has not been substantiated by the Secretary of State. Advocates point out that they pay taxes to support public schools but that if they choose to send their children to private or parochial schools the least the State can do is to supply the textbooks free.

Probably the most important and less publicized provision of this Amendment is the fact that it proposes to rewrite section 1 of Article Seven of the Constitution so as to permit the apportionment of school funds on some other basis than scholastic population.

For many years there has been considerable agitation in certain quarters to abolish the "school census" or scholastic population system of apportioning school funds and substitute in lieu thereof the "average attendance" basis or some other basis. The Legislature would determine just how this was to be done, if this Amendment is adopted.

If adopted this proposed Amendment Number seven would mean in effect (1) that the State would furnish free textbooks to pupils in all the schools of Texas; and (2) that a new basis for apportioning school funds other than the scholastic census basis, could be set up.

HEALTH TALK

By John W. Brown, M. D.
(State Health Officer)

Now is the time, according to Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer, that every parent should ask himself if his child is physically ready for school. A visit to the family physician and dentist will answer this question and give time for the correction of minor defects before time for school to open.

A child with defective vision cannot be expected to do the required work in school until this handicap is removed. Inflamed, watery eyes, granulated lids, sore eyes, actions as habitual winking, chronic styles, may be caused by defective vision and should be attended to immediately.

The far reaching effect of infected tonsils on the health has been recognized by health officers for many years. Most of the ills of later life, as heart disease, arthritis, deafness, etc., are directly traceable to tonsils that became infected during childhood and were allowed to remain untreated.

Dental defects are found in more children than for any other imperfection, and for this reason children should be taken regularly to the dentist for examination and cleaning of the teeth. This precaution keeps the mouth clean and makes it possible to discover dental defects as soon as they appear.

Postural defects appear in the life of a child much sooner than we formerly suspected. Have your family physician see if your child's shoulders, blades, project and if his arches are low. Simple exercises, diligently adhered to, when the child is young, will prevent later serious developments in many cases.

KIT CARSON'S PAPERS FOUND BY PRIEST IN VAULT IN NEW MEXICO

Taos, N. M.—Brother Claudius poked around in an old sun-baked parson's church. In a rusty, age-stained vault he found some yellowed papers.

Brother Claudius, a member of the faculty of St. Mary's College in California, announced the discovery of these historical documents.

Kit Carson's birth certificate, marriage license and burial permit. The discoveries are historically valuable, contributing much to Carsoniana in tracing the life of the famed pioneer Indian scout.

UNUSUAL ALBINO CATFISH CAPTURED

Kelso, Wash.—An albino catfish with white eyes and whiskers was the unusual catch Martin Nelson of Kelso pulled out of Lake Merwin. The odd specimen was fourteen inches long, an unusual size for an albino fish, said State Game Protector Tom Horn, who explained that albino fish lead a hazardous life as their white color makes them easy prey for larger fish.

ment number seven on the ballot for the August 24th election would permit the State to supply free textbooks to all schools, private and parochial. Such textbooks it is presumed, to be the same as used in the public schools.

Advocates of this Amendment state that this would entail no additional expense, because the state now purchases more books than are necessary. However, this point is merely one of the claims made and has not been substantiated by the Secretary of State. Advocates point out that they pay taxes to support public schools but that if they choose to send their children to private or parochial schools the least the State can do is to supply the textbooks free.

LOCAL SCHOOL BUS ARRIVES

Be Operated Beginning With Coming Term

Having a seating capacity for forty-five, built of all-steel, Chillicothe Independent School District's new bus has arrived, and will be put into use upon the opening of the coming term.

It will be routed south to Big Valley and Bailey High. Sometime ago trustees of the schools asked that students for high school from there might attend the Chillicothe high school. The local school district bought the bus from the Townsboro Motor Company, local Ford dealer, and is powered with a V-8 motor.

Montana Lakes Made Refuge To Preserve Swans

HELENA, Montana—The Red Rock lakes in southwestern Montana have been made a migratory bird refuge in an effort to save the trumpeter swan from extinction.

The lakes, thirty miles west of the boundary line of Yellowstone national park, were made a federal refuge by executive order in Washington Friday. The step had been sought by both the United States biological survey and the northern part of the United States, the trumpeter swan, according to the interior department, has been destroyed until now barely 100 survive in the entire country. Yellowstone national park and immediately adjacent areas were reported to comprise the only remaining habitat for the largest of American waterfowl.

Trumpeter swans have nested and mated in the Red Rock lakes for years, but extensive losses have occurred because of open duck and goose hunting each fall. The interior department said that in 1933 careless or wanton hunters destroyed seventeen out of an estimated total of less than 100 swans.

GIVES INSIDE PICTURE OF PRESS CONFERENCES WITH 'FIRST LADY'

Martelle Wickliffe Trager, Former Chillicothe Resident, One of Group Attending Press Interviews With Mrs. Roosevelt

Rapidan Camp, Hoover's summer home while in the White House, is now the property of the government and is at the disposal of the President and Cabinet members. Mr. Roosevelt is a lover of the sea and spends all of his vacations on the "Sequoia," Presidential yacht, or the "Normanah," owned by Vincent Astor so he hasn't made any week end trips to the famous lodge but some of the Cabinet members have.

Rapidan is located in a region rich in historical lore. It is about a hundred miles from Washington in Virginia at the confluence of two small streams that form the Rapidan river. The camp stands 2,550 feet above sea level, and is in a completely isolated spot. The road leading to it winds many miles through an unspoiled wilderness area. The drive from Culpeper, Virginia, to the entrance is one of the most picturesque I have taken in the East.

Mr. Hoover had to follow a tortuous path eleven miles on horseback to the location trip. Horace Albright, former Director of the Park Service, Mr. Richey, one of Hoover's secretaries, and Mr. Carson of the Virginia Conservation Commission selected the site. The former president desired that his camp be located near good trout fishing, in a secluded spot and within hearing distance of running water. The spot selected met all qualifications and in addition was situated in a most beautiful area.

I was surprised at the simplicity of the cottages and lodges at all. They are built of rough wood and are painted brown. They are rustic in appearance and are only crudely finished inside. The President's lodge is the largest building. It contains one very large room with a huge wood fireplace used for conferences, three other rooms and a bath.

I lent the buildings at Rapidan that are so beautiful but the little nooks where it would light one's soul to sit for an afternoon and read. Everywhere one can hear water tumbling over the rocks and now and then see a trout jump out of the creek.

The day I was in Rapidan I heard a man say, "I am glad to know that a President of our times can live as simple as this" and I think that expresses most everyone's feelings who visit the beautiful campsite.

RAT BINS UP PANTS

LEG; TWO BITTEN

Rochester, Mass.—While he was kneeling beside a bin in a shoe factory here, a rat ran up A. L. Hamilton's trousers as far as his knee. Hamilton's leg was bitten when he attempted to crush the rat, and another workman who slashed at Hamilton's leg was also bitten. The rat escaped and Hamilton was taken to a doctor.

Left Wednesday Clyde Thorp departed Wednesday for Lubbock where he will undergo examination to join the Veterans Civil Conservation Corps.

After the examination he will be sent to some camp.

BOY WASHED INTO POOL DRAIN PIPE

BERLIN—A 7-year-old boy was sucked into the accidentally opened waste pipe of a wadding pool for children in Hamburg and washed through it over a distance of 500 feet to a neighboring lake, where he was rescued.

The pipe was only three feet in diameter. He was found to be suffering from nothing worse than slight cuts in the head.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bennett were here for over the week-end for a visit with relatives.

Roy Majors was in Vernon Sunday.

JUST THINGS GOSSIPY

What is Home Without Wife?—I feel safe in saying a certain young married man has an uneasy feeling. His wife is due home today. Not that he has been unfaithful—I would under no circumstances accuse him of being that—yet he has been convicted—allegedly—of doing things he would not have thought of doing had friend wife been at home. Certain it is he will have a thorough house-cleaning before she returns—eh?—eh?—eh?—

Pete Peaches—One thing is sure and that is the Missus makes Dick Teet work around the home at times. Not to his liking, but all the same he was forced to go home early Wednesday morning and peel peaches. "I hate the job," loudly exclaimed Teet. "For the love of Pete why couldn't he find somebody else to peel those peaches. No she had to peel on me."

Another Hoover Friend—After all I guess Herbert Hoover has more friends than I thought, said a local man, or else he wanted to make a Republican, who was present at the time, feel good. "I was better off when Hoover was president than I am today," this man said. "See there? see there?" rattled A. L. Honeycutt.

Picks on J. T. Str.—Not satisfied by wiping all the sootery at his store, forcing J. T. Boaz, Sr., to restock, thieves one night this week—while Boaz was at his farm near Tipton, Okla.—carried off four brand new horse collars. "But, what's the use to worry—Maybe some soul has been made glad—but it's not me."

Feels Like a New Man—Eugene Williams, ramrod of the S. H. Williams & Sons dry goods store, remarks he never felt better in all his life. Apparently, such trips as he recently made are for making old men new.

Says It's Plenty Hot—Dewey Marsh standing in front of his bank Wednesday afternoon, uncomfortable because of the heat. Dewey Marsh and Barney Chandler were business visitors in Vernon Wednesday afternoon.

Expert at Guessing—Ennis Grimes has counted so many nickels during the last year or so he has become an expert in guessing how many are in a pile.

Cure for Corns—Uncle Joe Nuckles offers a remedy to get rid of corns. He says take a rough corn cob and rub it as hard as you can against the corn. In time the corn will disappear—with the toe. Well, Uncle Joe, what becomes of the cob?

FRUITLAND, IN MONTAGUE COUNTY, SENT ONE LAD TO CHILLICOTHE COMMUNITY AND IS STILL HERE

Barney Chandler of Center Point Community Spent Year Soldiering for Uncle Sam, and While Visiting in Paris Met Up With Beautiful French Girl Who Wanted Free Meal—Barney Happened to Be "Low" On Change—But He Liked Her Looks; Came Back to United States and Is Farming.

BY "THE ROUNDY"

Born March 11, 1896, in the once upon a town by the name of Fruitland, in Montague county, eventually moving northward four miles where he sold "hot chicken and bread" to passengers on the Fort Worth & Denver City Railway and the Rock Island, and that place happens to be Bowie, gives an insight right off to the life of one Barney Chandler, now a resident of the Center Point community. He is farming.

Barney was 11 years old before he knew there was another part of the country, but his father, H. G. Chandler, deceased, reasoned it would be better to get Barney from out of the Cross Timbers country, so he might learn a thing or two other than growing fruits and vegetables.

Thus it was that in the year 1907 Barney was brought westward, and placed on a farm near Odell. He fared well, sufficient to place him in A-1 physical shape. During those days as he grew older Barney looked upon a certain person and he was greatly impressed. He "strutted his stuff" as has been told, and eventually he became successful. In the year 1919 he married a very fine looking young lady, who was Miss Vera Pulecher. Today they have three children, LaVerne, Jack and Linda Joe.

The now Mrs. Chandler has found Barney to be a very good sort of a young man, even if he is nearing the forty year mark in life. He is still young, as evidence heretofore has proven. He has been active in affairs of his community, active in the local Legion work, and was one of the most active in recent celebrations such as Armistice. He served in the World War for about one year, made a good soldier, and while in France did like others get leave of absence and visited the sights in Paris. "That was a tough life and I don't mean maybe," asserted Barney.

The story is told on Barney by some of his friends that while serving Uncle Sam in France, and on a visit to Paris, a young and beautiful "Mademoiselle" on seeing him came rushing up and said "Parleyvoo, France, Monsieur! Wee, wee! No?"

"Say, sister, I know savvy French, so if you want me to understand what you are saying then say it in good old American," replied Barney.

The young French woman looked around in a manner that left no doubt she did not understand what he was saying, but one of Barney's buddies, able to speak some of the Frog language, told the young lady Barney could not understand what she was saying, and coming to Barney's assistance he told him what the young lady had said.

Come to find out she was after Barney to buy her a meal. When he learned that he grinned sheepish-like and mumbled out something like this: "Listen, Frenchie, I don't even have enough to buy a meal for myself, but you are darn good looking, and I don't mean maybe."

"Pooh, for you," she said in English as a parting shot and skipped away, leaving Barney dumbfounded.

But, enough of that. Barney wants to forget such incidents as war fighting. His interests are here now. He is doing a good job of farming out in the Center Point community. Likes his work and would like it better were it to rain and give his land a good soaking. "We need rain out our way. Feedstuffs burned, rain is needed on cotton," he informs.

However, that section of the country year in and year out produces along with any of them, and because he is concerned over lack of rain at this time does not mean it will last. Rain will come before all cotton is ruined.

"Do I like Chillicothe? Yes. I wouldn't leave here on a bet. I am doing all right. Like my neighbors at Center Point even if they do lie about me sometimes, meaning such men as Charley Emerick, O. K. Tooley, and others near him. I like to trade in Chillicothe. Merchants have always treated me fairly, giving me as good values as I can get anywhere."

It is doubtful if ever Barney would want to live at Fruitland. That section is all right, but he likes here a whole lot more. He would not get as big "kick" out of selling chicken and bread as of yore, and if it had not been for his coming here he wouldn't have met up with the present Mrs. Barney Chandler, nor would he now have three fine children that he thinks all the world of.

Barney Chandler is one more of the great number of farmers in this section that mean a whole lot to their community, and to their town of Chillicothe. Without them this vicinity would be just another place to live in. There would not be the progressive ideas put into use for building up the Chillicothe valley, were it not true.

"I'm satisfied to stay here for the rest of my life," Chandler stated, "and I hope folks like me enough to let me stay."

Series of Articles Taken From the Bexar Archives at the University of Texas and Pertaining to History of State.

By LOREN DRUMMOND

Series I, No. 18

AUSTIN, July 30.—The transfer of Louisiana to the United States attracted the attention of the Anglo-Americans on Texas, it is apparent from documents in the Bexar Archives in the University of Texas library. None were more interested in the new acquisition than President Jefferson, who was determined to know the truth—the whole alluring truth—about the country just beyond the Mississippi, the Arkansas, the Platte, the Red and the Sabine rivers. This interest was shared by his agent, Major Zebulon Montgomery Pike, of the United States Army, who actually succeeded in making a trip through the jealously guarded region. Pike, however, lost his way on the Red river, was captured by the Spanish authorities of New Mexico, was conducted to Santa Fe and thence to Chihuahua, where Nemesio Salcedo, the Spanish commandant general and guard. The venturesome traveler was finally sent back to the United States via Bexar and Nacogoches, and had an opportunity to study all the settlements on the way. He considered San Antonio de Bexar the most delightful place he visited in all New Spain and his journal, printed in England and in the United States and translated into French and Dutch, brought this hitherto unknown capital to the attention of the world. Here for the first time foreigners got an intimate glimpse into the manners, morals, and customs of its pleasure-loving people of whom in speaking of their kindness and hospitality, he wrote:

"These reasons have induced me to omit many transactions and draw a veil over various habits and customs which might appear in an unfavorable point of view at the same time that I have written with delight on their virtues."

Pike admitted that the people were of roaming inclinations and delighted in the chase—buffaloes and wild horses particularly—smuggling them to this pleasurable and profitable pursuit. His favorable impression is thus summarized by Baneroff:

"In this small, rough community there was not wanting some of the amenities and even refinements of civilized society. It was to be found among the Spanish residents, many of whom came from leading families in Spain, or from the viceregal court. The upper-class entertained polite intercourse by dinner parties and balls at which refinement and respectable pursuits were the principal features. His favorable impression is thus summarized by Baneroff:

My Favorite Recipes

Frances Lee Barton says:

TRUE familiar saying "a change is as good as a rest" is particularly true of the food we eat. Every palate craves a change from sweet to tart, from a food of a smooth texture to food that is crisp and crunchy. In many recipes we have adopted as an example the crisp, nut-like breakfast cereals to lend the dish a novel texture, a new and welcome flavor. Here are a few of these:

Corn Flakes Waffles

1 cup sifted flour; 2 teaspoons double action baking powder; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/2 cup milk; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 egg; 1/2 cup corn flakes; 1/2 cup raisins; 1/2 cup nuts; 1/2 cup applesauce; 1/2 cup molasses; 1/2 cup butter; 1/2 cup oil.

Shift flour, once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg yolks, milk, and butter. Add to flour, beating until smooth. Fold in egg whites, then corn flakes. Bake in hot waffle iron. Serve with butter and maple-flavored syrup. Makes four 4-section waffles.

Chocolate Toasty Pudding

2 squares unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces; 2 cups milk; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 egg; 1/2 cup butter; 2 tablespoons butter; 2 cups corn flakes.

Add chocolate to milk in double boiler and heat. When chocolate is melted, beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Combine sugar, milk, and butter. Add to chocolate mixture, stirring vigorously. Add corn flakes and bake in moderate oven. Serve hot with hard sauce or cold with whipped cream. Serves 4.

Baked Veal Loaf

4 cups corn flakes; 2 pounds veal, ground; 1/2 pound salt pork, ground; 1 egg; 2 teaspoons salt; 1/2 medium onion, finely chopped; 1/2 teaspoon sage; 1/2 cup raisins; 1/2 cup currants; 1/2 cup cranberries; 1/2 cup nuts; 1/2 cup applesauce; 1/2 cup molasses; 1/2 cup butter; 1/2 cup oil.

Crumble corn flakes. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Pack firmly into greased loaf pan. Bake hot oven 100° for 15 minutes, then decrease heat to 75° and bake one hour 30 minutes longer. Slice frequently with a mixture of 1/2 cup milk and 4 tablespoons butter. Serves 10.

BILIOUSNESS

COURT CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND, Director of Child Welfare, New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

The Scout's Trip

Preparations were being made for the annual hiking and camping trip of the Boy Scout troop. Food was the chief topic of discussion.

Some boys were worried about the amount they would have to carry, but the others had different ideas.

"We don't need to carry much," they said. "There are a few farms near camp and along the road we're taking."

"That's right, fresh vegetables and milk. Nothing better than that. The farmers have butter too, and we can get bread at the village store."

"What about the milk?" asked one boy. "Will it be safe?"

"Sure it will," replied one who seemed to be posted. "Some of the farmers pasteurize their milk at the farm and the other farms are approved by the state inspectors."

"Wait until you see these dairy barns," added another. "They're as clean as a kitchen. And you won't find any diseased cows either. The state is very strict. You'll drink that milk with a quiet every day. That's what I'm going to do."

"Peas and string beans will be ready, and young carrots, lettuce, and tomatoes. Boy! I can taste them now. Bexar for desert. Some eggs from the farmers and some bacon and meat from the store. We're all set. Let's go!"

In his next article Dr. Ireland will discuss the problems of touring, especially when children are along.

FIRST REPORT ON TEXAS COTTON OF 1935 CROP GIVEN

NO EXTRA WHITE GRADES PRODUCED; MAJOR PORTION TENDERABLE

The report released today by the Division of Cotton Marketing at Austin, giving the quality of cotton produced in Texas shows that ginning is sufficient to make a report on quality of cotton ginned in only six districts. 11 ginnings from other districts being combined into the State total.

The report indicates that no extra white grades have been produced to date. There was less than one-fifth of the cotton that graded Strict Middling this week and less than 17 per cent to date. Slightly over one-half of the cotton ginned to date graded Middling White and about 23 per cent was Strict Low and Low Middling White. No cotton was classed as below Low Middling to date. Strict Middling Spotted grades were estimated this week to be less than eight per cent, with Middling Spotted grades estimated at less than 4 per cent. Less than one per cent was graded lower than Middling Spotted. These estimates indicate that over 73 per cent of cotton ginned to date was Middling White and below in grade.

The report states that cotton shorter than 15-16 inch is negligible and that slightly over one-third is 15-16 inch long to date. Slightly less than two-thirds of the cotton classed to date is one inch and 1-1/2 inches long. Less than one per cent was longer than 1-1/2 inches. 99.7 per cent of the cotton classed this week, and to date, is

OLD HOSPITAL BUILDING NOW BEING RAZED

New County Structure to Be Erected on Same Site

Work of tearing down the old hospital building in Quannah to make room for the new Hardeman County hospital, voted on by the people sometime ago, and which will cost approximately $80,000, was started this last week.

Funds to build the new hospital were made available a few days ago. It is a federal project, the government advancing the money most of which is to be repaid from earnings. Hardeman county is receiving outright $17,000 from the government. The cost to the taxpayers public of the county will be $63,000.

Clearing of the site for the new building will be completed about August 5, contractors believe, and construction will start immediately thereafter. The Quannah hospital, privately owned, was sold to the county for $7,000. The building formerly housing the hall hospital is being used temporarily by doctors of the clinic for patients.

Brazil Producing Motor Fuel From Agricultural By-Products

With 128,500 automobiles in operation and having no petroleum resources which necessitates the importation of approximately 2,000,000 barrels of gasoline annually, the Brazilian Government has for years endeavored to promote the use of domestically produced alcohol as motor fuel, according to C. C. Concanon, Chief of the Commerce Department's Chemical Division.

Although Federal laws provide that domestic alcohol shall be mixed with imported gasoline, no less than fifteen percent having been promulgated during the past four years, only a relatively small amount of alcohol, estimated at about 25,000,000 liters per annum, is produced in the country at present for fuel purposes and consumption is confined chiefly to the large centers, he stated.

In addition to providing for the compulsory use of alcohol in fuel blends, decrees so far issued specify the percentage and grade to be utilized, when and how the alcohol is to be purchased, and the grant of tax rebates and special privileges to alcohol plants. The chief obstacle thus far appears to be the difficulty of obtaining alcohol in quantity of a grade satisfactory for blending purposes, it was stated.

Brazil with its important sugar industry has large quantities of by-products molasses suitable for the manufacture of alcohol as well as many other vegetable products, including the mandioca, available for the purpose. The present alcohol output comes very largely from molasses. One plant, established by the Minas State Government in 1932 uses mandioca exclusively as a raw material for the production of motor alcohol.

Notwithstanding the difficulties which have been encountered in introducing alcohol as a motor fuel in Brazil the government appears determined in its efforts to see its use general throughout the country.

A report just received from Vice Consul E. Allan Lichtner, Pernambuco, states that a well-known Opechostovak firm is actively pushing the sale of its distilleries in Brazil, and that within the past two months has booked orders from local sugar mills to install and completely equip two distilleries for the production of anhydrous alcohol.

GOODLETT BANK ROBBED TUESDAY MORNING OF $53

Night Watchman's Alarm Frightens Burglars Away

Using acetylene tanks and torch which were stolen at Harrold Saturday night, burglars entered the First State Bank at Goodlett early Tuesday morning and looted the bank of $53.83 in postal money orders. The burglars apparently were frightened away before they could effect entrance to a safe containing several hundred dollars. The burglars cut a hole, about two feet by 18 inches, in the vault door to gain entrance to the vault. A night watchman saw the burglars working in the bank and notified Sheriff Mack Wilson of Quannah. While the night watchman was summoning aid the burglars fled after "an unsuccessful attempt to open an inner safe containing cash. Constable Jake Lewis of Chillicothe learned.

The acetylene tanks and torch abandoned in the bank were identified as welding equipment stolen Saturday night in the burglary of the J. W. Starnes blacksmith shop at Harrold.

Mrs. J. W. Shipp and daughters, Billie and Bernice, who have been visiting in East Texas, returned home Monday.

But some projects, those of the army and the CCC, coming thru the WPA, necessitates more than this $1100 average, so the states in the lower wage scale become the "goat."

Texas is in the third wage level and receives $100 per relief client per year to be spent as desired, with the condition each client has a maximum salary.

In Hardeman county, according to J. Luther Potts as his return here, the maximum will be $21 per month for unskilled labor and ranging up to $42 for technical and professional workers.

In all Hardeman county sent sixteen delegates, and registering from Goodlett was Denton Shofard, and from Quannah, J. D. McAdams, W. M. Bumpass, and Mrs. W. B. Hampton.

The Extension entomologist suggested that in the case there is a shortage of calcium arsenate, Paris green may be used.

"For dusting," he said, "this Paris green should be thoroughly mixed with some 2 to 5 quarts of hydrated lime or cheap flour to one part of the mixture. It should be applied in the same quantity as the calcium arsenate or possibly a little more heavily. If it is sprayed, use 2 parts of lime to one part of Paris green and mix so there will be one and one-half pounds of Paris green in 50 gallons of water."

Report added that mixtures of white arsenic and sal soda or lye are apt to injure the foliage.
