WICHITA MENTAL EXPERT CALLS LEAHY SANE

Inmate Of Pauls Valley Boys School Tells Of Stomping Given Stanley Kelley

EYE WITNESS GIVES ACCOUNT OF BRUTALITY

Fellow Inmate of Slain Youth Says Beating Lasted Half Hour

HOE HANDLE USED

Kicking, Strapping and Clubbing Applied, Testimony Brings Out

PAULS VALLEY, Okla., July 25. (UP)—A graphic picture of a burly guard kicking a helpless boy "25 or 30 times" after the youth had fallen to the ground was depicted late today at the preliminary hearing of R. E. Davis, charged with the murder of Stanley Kelley, Pauls Valley reformatory inmate.

While John Jackson, 18, an inmate at the reformatory, related his tale of the alleged brutality, Davis sat nervously in his chair. Across the table from him were the parents of the dead boy, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Kelley, Oklahoma City.

Witnessed Abuse

"I saw Davis kick, strap and beat Stanley Kelley with a hoe handle," young Jackson said. Jackson declared he watched for approximately five minutes, looked away and turned again to see the guard standing on Kelley's body, stamping with his feet. The beating continued more than 30 minutes, Jackson testified.

A crowd which taxed the capacity of the courtroom heard Jackson and other witnesses describe the extent of bruises on the youth's body, which the state contended contributed to the boy's death. The attack occurred when Kelley, who was said to have had a fever of 104 degrees, was unable to continue his work of hoeing peanuts under the broiling sun.

Witnesses today included James Stufflebean, undertaker; Mrs. Julie Fredericks, reformatory nurse; Dr. N. H. Lindsay, reformatory physician and Jackson.

Goodner to Testify

The defense had previously announced no testimony would be taken on behalf of Davis.

Clyde Goodner, superintendent of the institution, is to be one of the principal witnesses against the guard whom he discharged when report of the beating was made to him. Homer Hunt, Garvin county attorney, said he would place Goodner, several doctors, employes and inmates of the institution on the stand in an effort to bind Davis over to district court for trial by jury.

Meanwhile, officials of the state continued investigation at the reformatory, while Gov. W. L. Holloway had under advisement a report by Mrs. Mabie Bassett, state commissioner of corrections and charities.

15 Boys Escape

Removal of Goodner as head of the school and complete reorganization of the institution was recommended in Mrs. Bassett's report.

After adjournment of today's hearing, Superintendent Goodner announced that 15 boys had escaped from the reformatory yesterday. Eight had not been apprehended tonight.

Legion Head Protests Limiting of Naval Power

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—Paul McNutt, national commander of the American Legion, telegraphed President Hoover today protesting against any action on the chief executive's part which might prevent America regaining naval parity with Great Britain.

Father Backs Car Over Body of Infant Child

UVALDE, Texas, July 25. (UP)—Killed when its father backed his car out of a garage over its body, the 15-months old baby of Emmett Skiles, Lantgry business man, was brought here tonight for burial.

Wichita Falls Man Saves Son, 5, From Kidnaper

Stanley McGregor Forces Prowler to Drop Child at Rear of Home After Entrance Through Window

An attempt to kidnap the 5-year-old son of Stanley McGregor, oil operator, 1715 McGregor street, about 10:45 o'clock Thursday night resulted in failure when Mr. McGregor awoke and pursued the would-be kidnaper.

A noise at the screen near the child's bed caused Mr. McGregor to awaken and look toward the window, where he saw a form dropping below the sill. He left his bed immediately and upon finding the child's bed empty, dived head-first out the window. He ran toward the street but saw no one there. Hearing a noise toward the rear of his house, he ran back to the garage just as the sound of footsteps died out in the alley in the rear.

He found the child sleepily rubbing his eyes at the corner of the garage. He ran down the alley but the man had disappeared, evidently having been forced to drop the child in an effort to escape. Mr. McGregor reported the incident to police and Detectives Tom Poe and Elmer Thornton made a thorough search of the neighborhood, failing to find any trace of the kidnaper.

No reason for the attempt could be assigned by Mr. McGregor, since he knew of no persons likely to attempt such methods of revenge or extortion in his case. Neighbors were not aware of the attempted kidnaping, no noise having been made except that of running feet, it was said. Mr. McGregor could not give a description of the man, having obtained only a fleeting glimpse of him as he made his exit through the window.

The little boy was not awakened sufficiently while being carried from his bed to note the appearance of the kidnaper, police were told.

Drug Murder Hinted as Attorneys Query Talesmen in Snook Trial

Professor and Ohio Co-ed Experimented With Narcotics, Lawyers Indicate; Eleven Jurors Picked

By MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 25. (UP)—Suggestions that the tragedy of Dr. James Howard Snook, Ohio state university professor, and Theora Hix, 14-year-old medical student, had its inception in experimentation by Miss Hix in the effect of drugs upon mankind, were tossed into the Snook murder trial today.

Defense attorneys, questioning prospective jurors, outlined a hypothetical situation which embraced such a theory. They asked if the talesmen would be prejudiced, if it were shown that Miss Hix experimented with the effects of various drugs—naming not only cocaine, but a series of aphrodisiacs—and in the course of her experiments not only took these drugs herself, but administered them to Doctor Snook.

Proceeding further, they inferred they might offer to prove that on the night of the murder this experimentation, which had been inspired by medical studies, reached a cruel climax when Miss Hix gave a powerful, excitant drug to the then professor and that in the moments which followed his emotions ran an ugly gamut, ending in murder.

It was even intimated the source of the drugs might have been the supply rooms of the university, to which Doctor Snook and perhaps Miss Hix herself had access under certain conditions. One of the drugs named is used extensively in the treatment of animals, which was the particular sphere of Doctor Snook as a professor of veterinary medicine.

While all this questioning was resulting in outlines of the case being drawn more clearly, it also made progress towards the completion of the jury. When adjournment was taken for the day, there were 11 jurors in the box, all still subject to peremptory challenge. At one time during the afternoon the box had been filled, but the exercise of challenges had reduced the number. Of the 11, four are women.

There seemed to be good prospects of completing the jury tomorrow night, so that evidence might start Monday, although it was not certain that another day of jury picking would suffice.

The courtroom scene today was perhaps livelier than yesterday. Snook took a more serious interest in proceedings and when time came for the peremptory challenges, he gave his attorneys the benefit of his judgment and conferred with them seriously.

THREE HURT IN PLANE CRASH

West Texans in Critical Condition

SAN ANGELO, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Harry Wilson of San Angelo is in a critical condition and D. K. Thompson, Borger, and "Tiger Flowers" Pyota, were seriously injured when their plane, piloted by Flowers crashed at the Fort Stockton field tonight.

Wilson, the most critically injured of the three suffered broken vertabrae. He will be taken to San Angelo tomorrow morning by plane. Doctors feared that the field here was too rough to risk a takeoff with the patient tonight.

Flowers was so badly bruised and cut that coagulation of blood all over his body makes his condition very serious. Thompson received a broken ankles and severe facial lacerations.

The plane was wrecked, but did not catch on fire.

DALLAS EXPECTS ARRIVAL OF VICTIMS

DALLAS, July 25. (AP)—Flood lights at Love field here were made ready for the expected midnight arrival of a plane bearing victims of an airplane crash at Fort Stockton. Army attaches had no details about the accident.

Tech Directors Bemoan Lack Of Building Funds

FORT WORTH, July 25. (AP)—Failure of the legislature to provide in its appropriations, funds for the erection at Texas Technological college of a new dairy products building, was bemoaned at a meeting of the board of directors of the school held here Thursday.

The appropriations for the college, including an emergency fund of $37,000, and $150,000 for a new library building, have not been approved by the governor and until he acts, little definite action could be taken on the matter of the school budget, it was said.

Electra Police Hold Man, 37, and Wife, 16

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, July 25.—A man about 37 and a girl said to be under 18 were arrested here tonight by Roy Hart, chief of police, and held at the request of San Antonio officers, where the man is wanted on a statutory charge. After leaving San Antonio the couple is said to have been married at Walters, Okla.

Police Locate Second Girl 'Hitch-Hiker' Here

Police reported Thursday night that they had located a 16-year-old girl who, with another girl, ran away from Denton, Texas, and hitch-hiked her way to Wichita Falls, arriving here Wednesday morning. The other girl was arrested about 1 o'clock Thursday morning at the railroad station while in the company of a man who claimed he was going to buy her a ticket back to Denton. Friends of the girl came to Wichita Falls Thursday and took the girl back with them. The other girl had disappeared Wednesday night, officers stated. She was found Thursday evening at a local tourist camp.

CROSSING LIGHTS

BEAUMONT, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Signal lights similar to street traffic lights have been installed by the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads at dangerous crossings here.

Auto Gets on Mangum Farmer's Nerves, So He Trades It for Buggy

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., July 25.—Buggy riding has much more of an appeal to G. E. Gamble, farmer of near Mangum, than riding in an automobile. Anyway Gamble brought his Ford coupe to Altus today and swapped it off for a buggy. Gamble explained that driving an automobile has been a nerve wrecking and unpleasant experience for him.

Although he has had his car since 1922, he has used it only when it was absolutely necessary and the car is still in good condition. He said that he had a gentle old mare to use in driving his buggy. This would give him "more sure way of getting there," he told employes at an Altus hardware store where the trade was made.

When the new buggy was loaded on a truck and started for the Gamble farm it created a good deal of excitement among people on Altus streets. People at Blair and Mangum also gathered about the buggy when it was taken through those towns on delivery.

HUMIDITY OF TORRID DESERT FATAL FOR 17

Imperial Valley Suffers in Unusual Quirk of Weather

MOTHER AND SIX DIE

Normal Temperature of 106 Is Abetted by Oppressive Dampness

BLYTHE, Calif., July 25. (AP)—Torrid Imperial valley is experiencing one of the most stifling heat waves in its history, and a check of heat deaths today disclosing that 17 persons have succumbed in the last five days, including a Mexican mother and her six children.

The family group, accompanied by a Mexican man, was en route over a little used desert road when their motor car developed trouble and the entire party of eight perished of thirst.

Radiator Drained

When the bodies were found it was discovered that the water had been drained from the radiator of the automobile presumably to drink.

Nine other victims of the heat, mostly Mexicans and negroes, died in various cities in the valley.

Pioneers declared the heat the most oppressive in years. An extremely high humidity averaging about 78 for the past ten days was cited as the cause of suffering. Temperatures have not been abnormally high during the period, averaging about 106.

Boys Find Body

The desert victims Enrique Armenta, Mrs. Julia Perez and her six children, were found dead in their tracks on the desert last night after several Mexican boys had reported the finding of Armenta's body. Early today a sheriff's party, tracing tracks from Armenta's automobile, traked 12 miles across the wastes before they came upon the mother and her children, huddled together in death.

The extreme heat combined with thirst, physicians said, had taken the lives of the group. From the tracks, authorities surmised the mother and children had gone in search of help after Armenta's car broke down, while Armenta remained with the machine in an effort to repair it. Armenta's body was found some distance from the automobile.

Cattleman Is Victim

Authorities estimated the victims had been dead about two days. They were 12 miles from the nearest water.

Other heat victims were Albert Mackey, 76, a Brawley cattleman; Robert Steibe, 55, melon worker; Mrs. M. Greenlee, Clarence Cathcart of Yureka, Calif., two Mexicans, two negroes and a Japanese.

The humidity has been caused by clouds over the valley, a rare sight except in the months of August and December.

Boy, 15, Pleads Guilty To Murdering Father

PIGGOTT, Ark., July 25. (AP)—A plea of guilty of second degree murder was entered for George Parker, 15, as his trial on a charge of murdering his father was nearing a close in circuit court today. The boy was sentenced to five years in the state industrial school and thereafter 10 years in the penitentiary. He said he killed his father after being severely mistreated by him.

Virgin Island Marine Corps Is Abandoned

WASHINGTON, July 25. (US)—The marine corps garrison at St. Croix, Virgin Islands, today was ordered abandoned by the navy department, and its present force of First Lieutenant W. E. Quaster and 28 enlisted men will be shifted to St. Thomas immediately. Seven men are to be left as caretakers for the rifle range.

RIVER RECORD

Robert E. Lee Vanquished as Monarch of Speed On Big River

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 25. (AP)—The steamboat Robert E. Lee, once called the "monarch of the Mississippi" stood vanquished tonight. Its 59-year-old speed record from New Orleans to St. Louis was beaten today by a modern motor boat, the Bogie which completed the 1,154 miles in 87 hours and 31 minutes to clip two hours and 43 minutes off the Lee's mark.

But it was an endurance test for even the modern craft, a 26-foot boat equipped with a 150-horsepower motor, for it beat the Lee's record only after a strenuous dash over the last 50 miles of the course. And Dr. Louis Leroy of Memphis, owner of the Bogie who failed in two previous attempts to set a new record, said he intends to "let the mark stand for awhile."

TIPTON TRUCK DRIVER KILLED

James Burrows Fatally Hurt On Highway

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., July 25.—James Burrows, 27, of Tipton, was fatally injured late today when the oil truck he was driving overturned on the highway between here and Tipton.

According to an account of the accident as received in Frederick, Burrows truck collided with the automobile driven by S. P. Hawkins, who lives northwest of Altus. The truck driver had attempted to drive around another car at an intersection, it was said. Hawkins and a negro riding with him were uninjured.

Bleeding extensively from gashes on his leg and over an eye, Burrows was rushed to the Frederick hospital. He died on the operating table at 5:30 o'clock, shortly after an X-ray examination of his body had been made. The examination revealed no internal injuries.

Burrows was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Burrows of Tipton.

Bishop Cannon's Financial Aid To G. O. P. Under Fire

WASHINGTON, July 25. (US)—Another tempest appeared brewing today around the financial transactions of Bishop James Cannon Jr., with the charge that he loaned $10,000 of Methodist funds to the Hoover campaign in Virginia without authority.

The charges were made by Dr. Rembert C. Smith, a Methodist minister of Georgia, in a letter to the Lynchburg, Va., News, the paper of Senator Carter Glass, who has opposed Bishop Cannon's political activities.

Efforts to locate Bishop Cannon at the headquarters of the Methodist board of temperance and social service were met with the reply that the bishop was out of town for an indefinite period.

Attacker of Girl, 12, Held in Kansas Jail

WICHITA, Kan., July 25. (INS)—W. M. Sears, 37, is in the city jail following his arrest this afternoon for an alleged criminal assault on Agnes Sizemore, 12, and George Sears, his 7-year-old son, who has a back covered with bruises and blisters, the result of a purported attack by his father when he told his stepmother of the alleged attack. Sears is also alleged by police to have struck his wife who is the sister of the Sizemore girl, and Mrs. Annabelle Sizemore, mother of the girl.

Prison Terms Disrupt Detroit's Booze Ring

DETROIT, July 25. (UP)—The "purple gang," at one time Detroit's most powerful bootlegging organization, was completely disorganized today, due to the fact that four of its ringleaders were serving sentences in prison.

The alleged gangsters, Abe Axeler, Eddie Fletcher, Harry Sutton and Irving Milberg were sentenced to serve a year and pay fines of $5,000 each by a jury in federal court here on charges of violating the prohibition amendment.

Canada Offers Aid In War Against Smugglers

OTTAWA, July 25. (AP)—W. D. Euler, minister of national revenue today declared that "Canada is quite willing to keep Canadians out of the business of running liquor to the United States" and offered to engage in "any reasonable measure of co-operation" with the United States government to prevent any bootlegging across the border.

Multiple Unit Systems Of Refrigeration Banned

CHICAGO, July 25. (US)—Health Commissioner Arnold Kegel tonight opened a drive to not only bar methyl chloride in refrigeration but to bar multiple unit systems. During the last six months more than a dozen persons are alleged to have died from food poisoning and the effects of methyl chloride gases here.

AIR MARATHON ENTERS FOURTH HUNDRED HOURS

St. Louis-Robin Going Strong at 300-Hour Mark In Record Flight

HOUSTON SHIP STAYS

Texas and Missouri Rivals Exchange Felicitations by Telegraph

ST. LOUIS, July 25. (US)—The record-breaking endurance flight of the St. Louis-Robin has resolved itself into a marathon of the air.

"We won't be down for a week," signaled the intrepid pilots of the Robin today, and tonight, their 13th in the air, they were still cruising serenely above Lambert-St. Louis field, apparently determined to outlast all rivals who have cropped up since the Robin went aloft July 13.

Pass 300 Hours

At 7:17 p. m. central standard time today, Pilots Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine had been in the air more than 50 hours longer than any other human and had to their credit a record of 300 hours of continuous flight.

"Our motor is running just like a race horse," the fliers reported in one of their latest notes. "Can hardly hold it down. Guess we'll have to hog-tie it."

Jackson and O'Brine seem eager to stay up as long as there is any semblance of competition, and their battle with time is also a contest against the Billion Dollar City, which is trying for an endurance record at Houston, Texas.

Greetings Exchanged

The rival pilots received word of each other's progress today and exchanged sportsmanlike greetings by telegraph.

"Good luck, boys," wired Joe Glass and C. L. Loomis of the Texas plane. "But use discretion. We have only one good magneto left."

"Stay with her, boys," returned the St. Louisians. "That one 'mag' may do it."

O'Brine sent down this note about the Houston fliers:

"You know, we cannot land with them up. They might pass us and that would never do."

The Houston fliers at 9:49:54 p. m. passed the 200 hour mark.

Skies Overcast

The Billion Dollar City is 108 hours behind the Robin in total time. Another endurance plane, the Minnesok, is flying above Minneapolis but has not yet reached the 100-hour mark.

Because of overcast skies, the Robin lazed about the airport at an altitude of 2,000 feet today, as compared to the 4,000 foot height it maintained yesterday. A light drizzle fell in the forenoon at the field, while the sun was shining in the city. Later a moderately strong shower drenched the city but no rain fell at the airport.

The Robin was refueled with 60 gallons of gasoline and five of oil this morning. The relief plane, piloted by Maj. C. Ray Wassall and P. V. (Shorty) Chaffee, has made 55 contacts with the Robin, for refueling and other purposes.

Technological College Board in Session

FORT WORTH, July 25. (AP)—General discussion of legislative action affecting the school and tentative budgeting of the funds provided for its use in a recently passed bill occupied the attention of the board of directors of Texas Technological college here today.

Discussion hinged principally around the recent bill allowing the college a library building costing $150,000, the means for building sheds for livestock and machinery and additional funds for operating expenses. The bill has not yet been signed by Governor Moody.

'Hitch-Hiker' Fails To Obtain Son's Release

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 25. (UP)—An attempt to gain clemency for her son, Henry Clair, having been unsuccessful, Mrs. L. E. Nails, 73, tonight started to "hitch-hike" the return journey of 70 miles to her home in Holdenville.

Mrs. Nails "hitch-hiked" to Oklahoma City to ask Gov. W. J. Holloway to pardon her son who is serving a sentence of 20 years at McAlester prison for bank robbery. He has served four years.

Goes to France

Senator Walter E. Edge of New Jersey will be appointed ambassador to France to succeed the late Myron T. Herrick, it was learned in Washington yesterday.

SENATOR EDGE PARIS ENVOY

New Jersey Man Will Succeed Myron Herrick

WASHINGTON, July 25. (AP)—Senator Edge of New Jersey, has definitely been selected as ambassador to France and will take up his new duties at Paris after the extra session of congress.

Formal announcement of the appointment may be withheld, for some time. The senator is engaged as a member of the senate finance committee in helping to frame the new tariff measure.

The senator, who will succeed the late Myron T. Herrick of Ohio, formerly was engaged in business in France, and speaks the language fluently.

Pyrotechnics Of Erupting Volcano Illuminate Peaks

HILO, Hawaii, July 25. (AP)—The volcano Kilauea began erupting at 6:30 a. m. and became increasingly active as the day advanced. The demonstration started with four fountains of fire. Two others, shooting flames 200 feet, joined in the pyrotechnics within the giant bowl of the Halemau Mau crater.

Smoke, pouring from the crater 4,000 feet above the sea, overhung the peak of Mauna Loa, nearly 8,000 feet higher on the volcanic mountain.

Hundreds of the residents of Hilo drove automobiles 35 miles, close to Kilauea, to observe its fifth eruption since May, 1924, when the volcano came to life after more than a century of inactivity.

Bethlehem Steel Announces Dividend

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—The Bethlehem Steel corporation today declared a $1.50 quarterly dividend on its common stock, placing the shares on a $6 annual basis.

A dividend of $1 has been paid in the two previous quarters, marking resumption of payments after suspension from July 1, 1924, when a quarterly payment of $1.25 was made. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 was declared on the preferred.

Mother and 3 Children Die in Gas-Filled Room

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., July 25. (UP)—Mrs. Esther Hallim, 31-year-old housewife, took her three children into a bedroom today and turned on the gas. Several hours later all were found dead. The children were Carol, 2, Ruth, 4, and Helen, 6.

DALLAS, July 25. (UP)—An explosion which blew a hole in the roof of the Hippidrome theater here last night was believed tonight to have been caused by youngsters attempting to make a "free" entrance into the theater.

HEAD OF STATE HOSPITAL HERE IS QUESTIONED

Dr. C. W. Castner Witness In Condemned Man's Court Battle

STATE BUILDS CASE

Many Testify Their Belief Convicted Slayer Is Normal Man

GEORGETOWN, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Dr. C. W. Castner of Wichita Falls, who was present at the examination given Harry J. Leahy at the Austin state hospital, testified today that Leahy was sane as far as he knew. He said the examination was nothing more than a neurological test.

When asked by state counsel why a brain test was not made, the doctor replied that Leahy objected to answering questions put to him by examining physicians.

Doctor Castner, superintendent of Wichita Falls state hospital, followed a number of other state witnesses to the stand after the defense rested its case.

Many Call Him Normal

Old acquaintances, penitentiary officials, a Texas ranger and experts on mental disorders, agreed from the stand, that Leahy impressed them as a normal man capable of distinguishing right from wrong and realizing his desperate plight.

Efforts of the defense, through cross examination, to change the story told by the witnesses met with little success although a number of the witnesses admitted that their observations were not based on extensive and recent examinations of the defendant and Dr. Joe Wooten, of Austin and other experts, admitted that their examination had been incomplete owing to Leahy's refusal to answer questions.

Sister Tells of Fever

Mrs. J. R. Sullivan of Corpus Christi, Leahy's sister, concluded direct testimony for the defense by telling of a serious fever which the defendant suffered when he was 20 years old during which he was delirious and nervous. She said he recovered from the fever but that last October he suddenly changed and the nervousness reappeared.

E. W. Harrell, warden of the state penitentiary, who has had a chance to observe Leahy in the death cell, said that Leahy appeared to be sane. Light Townsend, a state ranger, H. E. Moore, the warden's secretary, Lee M. Taylor formerly of Georgetown and Marvin Johnson, former district attorney at George West, all said they believed Leahy sane and capable of realizing his position.

"Cautious and Collected"

Dr. Wooten, who has practiced since 1895 and testified in many sanity hearings said that Leahy's eyes and physical condition indicated he was normal in every way. The defendant, Dr. Wooten said, "In my opinion is sane. He knows right from wrong; realizes his position and is cautious, calm and collected."

Leahy, he said, had refused to answer any questions put to him by the examiners designed to test his powers of association and rational thought, and his susceptibility to hallucinations.

Dr. W. G. Wheeler of the Rusk asylum echoed Dr. Wooten's opinion and added his impression that Leahy was "a man of strong mentality." Under cross examination by Wick Blanton, Dr. Wheeler was asked:

"Isn't it a fact that you have given a complete answer on incomplete examination?"

Dr. Wheeler admitted that this was true. He was followed by Dr. C. Herbert Standifer superintendent of the Austin asylum whose testimony followed that of the other experts closely.

Bells of Rome's 400 Churches Peal Joyous Message of Pope's Blessing

By PRINCE PIGNATELLI

ROME, July 25. (US)—The self-imposed imprisonment of the head of the Catholic church is no more, the prisoner of the vatican has at last been freed.

In a ceremony which lasted for three hours, Pope Pius XI at dusk tonight emerged from the vatican palace, the first of the pontiffs for 59 years to throw off the cloak of voluntary confinement.

As the bells of Rome's 400 churches, led in a stately chorus by the deep-throated notes from St. Peter's cathedral, brought joy to the hearts of 300,000 people in the famous St. Peter's square, the supreme prelate raised his hand as murmurs ceased.

Before the sacred altar erected at the front of the cathedral, the head of the church raised his right hand above the throng, and intoned his solemn blessing upon the world and the universal Catholic church. It was a moment of conquest, and thrilled Rome as had no other event in the course of many years.

The pope had been borne from

A TWISTED BEAUTY CONTEST

HOLLYWOOD, July 25.—We have piped all kinds of beauty contests in all sections of this overbaked hemisphere.

We have seen thin girls battle for blue ribbons and the evaporated honor of being chosen Miss Suburbs.

We have watched fat girls strive for the gelatinous laurels attached to the title of Miss Arizona Junction.

But probably the finest title ever handed out in the history of civic indignities was when we piped a very pretty girl on a float at the last Atlantic City beauty parade.

When we asked who she was we were informed by a human index-filing system that she was Miss Mudville Flats.

Some people think that beauty contests are good. Some think they are bad. There are two sides to everything even when one is enough.

Personally, we think you can carry the idea until it is exhausted.

They are going too far, though, when the chiropractics have a beauty contest.

You know what a chiropractic is. He is a man who commits assault and expert battery with the most humane intentions. He twists your backbone into a hoss collar, cracks your shoulderblades until they snap with exasperation and mashes your chest until you are round shouldered.

He charges $10 for the first visit and $2 for the second, knowing that nobody will ever come back to take advantage of the reduced rate.

The chiropractics had a beauty contest in the middle west last week. The prize was won by an old lady with the most beautiful flat feet.

The handsomest bowlegged man in Manitoba also carried off a loving cup. It looked more like a discarded lily cup with handles made of chewing gum. But it was the only prize he had ever had and he clung to it like a rumboat to the 12-mile limit.

When a chiropractic wants to cure you he takes a hammer and runs several octaves up your backbone. He taps every vetebrae like a railroad inspector taps a car wheel.

Why they should hold a beauty contest is too stubborn for us to imagine. We were once a patient in the chiropractic industry and our professor got mad when we slugged him back.

We were discharged by the judge almost immediately after 10 days had elapsed. We had no trouble proving that the chiropractic had started the fight.

We went to the chiroslapper because we were pigeon-toed and knockedkneed. We thought he could cure us of these two very embarrassing talents.

After he got through wrenching muscles in our shoes and twisting ligaments essential to an American-tossed pedestrian we were different but not exactly cured.

When he finished we were knock-toed and pigeon-kneed.

All that chirowrecker had done was change the subject.

We hereby enter the chiropractic beauty parade provided that the honors go to the first wheel-chair past the judge's stand.

FOOD WAS LIKE SO MUCH POISON

"Two years ago specialists in Louisiana, where I used to live, advised me to come to San Antonio to recuperate from the after effects of a bad spell of malaria which had left me in a terrible run down condition. "I didn't look like myself at all. My complexion and eyes had turned such an unhealthy yellow color. In place of nourishing me my food was just like so much poison. Constipation kept my system from throwing off these poisons and it just looked like I wasn't going to get any better.

"Sargon did more for me in less than one month than all the other medicines I have used in the past five years. A number of my friends have told me that they had never seen such a remarkable change in any one in such a short time. It is simply wonderful how Sargon brought back my color and benefitted me in so many ways.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are the greatest in the world to overcome a sluggish liver and I don't believe medical science has ever found or ever will find an equal of Sargon."

Host of Gubernatorial Possibilities Complicates Early Political Horizon

Six Definite Announcements Are Overshadowed by Numerous 'Likely' Entries in Free-for-All

By GORDON K. SHERBER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, July 25.—Adjournment of the state legislature has set free a number of legislative candidates for office and a number of prospective candidates—both in and out of the legislature.

Definite announcements of candidacy for governor have been issued by Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller, Dallas; Tom Love, Dallas; Miss Katie Daffan, Ennis; former Mayor Oscar Holcombe, Houston; T. N. Mauritz, Ganado, and E. G. Senter, Dallas.

Candidacies discussed at Austin as "likely" include: Former U. S. Senator Mayfield, former Governor Neff, R. S. Sterling, Houston, R. L. Bobbitt, Laredo, Lee Satterwhite, Odessa and Dr. S. P. Brooks, Waco. It is also considered possible that there may be a repetition of a campaign with two Davidsons running for the high state office—Lynch and T. W.

Mauritz for Income Tax

Mauritz is running frankly to urge the state income tax which he proposed to the recent session of the legislature.

Neff's candidacy is said to be dependent upon Mayfield's. If Mayfield runs, Neff is expected to do so. Mayfield refused to endorse Neff for reappointment on the federal railway arbitration board and the $12,000 a year plum went to former Gov. O. B. Colquitt. Neff has denied that he now is a candidate although R. B. Walthall, who was Governor Neff's confidential secretary, has said positively Neff will run. Neff appointed Walthall on the state board of control for a six-year term which expires Jan. 1. Walthall is so sure that Neff will again be in the field that he said he would not be a candidate for reappointment, but will give his time to Neff's candidacy.

The candidacies of Sterling and Bobbitt are also probably each dependent on the other, with the difference that if one runs the other likely will not.

Sterling, who has been chairman of the state highway commission, recently said Bobbitt was his choice for next governor. Since then Sterling has repeatedly been asked to run himself. The frowns with which he first met such suggestions are said not to be so deep now.

Holcombe Has Problem

Candidacy of former Mayor Oscar Holcombe of Houston also may depend upon Sterling's decision. If Sterling runs, Holcombe would be opposed by his home town papers, probably. Sterling is part owner of the Post-Dispatch of Houston. The Houston Chronicle recently urged Sterling to be a candidate. The Houston Press fought Holcombe and it is believed to have been largely responsible for his defeat as a candidate for re-election of Houston.

Mayor J. Waddy Tate, Dallas, has suggested that Mayor Brown of Mineral Wells be a candidate for governor. Brown says he hasn't made any such plans.

Neff's candidacy would likely prevent the running of either Dr. S. P. Brooks of Waco or Cullen F. Thomas of Dallas. Thomas has not been announced but he spent some time in Austin recently and, it is believed here, would like to run if the field clears up.

Bobbit is quoted in Austin for having made a near announcement. The statement attributed to him is: "My wife hasn't decided I can run yet."

Pollard Is Possibility

Attorney General Claude Pollard is still resting on his statement at Amarillo that there was a "possibility." This makes the political guessers consider an entirely new political phase. Governor Moody has the appointment of six supreme court judges before September. If he should appoint Pollard to the supreme court, that might not only take Pollard out of the governor's race but it might transfer R. L. Bobbit to the race for attorney general.

Whether Lynch Davidson's candidacy would keep out T. W. Davidson of Marshall is debatable. If Lynch Davidson, who comes from Houston, runs, he will oppose a state income tax and a statewide road bond issue. Many believe that but for confusion of the two names T. W. Davidson would have become governor instead of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson.

T. W. Davidson dropped out of political activity than admittedly to let feelings aroused by that campaign settle down. Associates who have been in Austin say that he has received many requests to run next time but has given no answer.

Dog Racing in Chicago Gets Severe Setback

CHICAGO, July 25. (UP)—Dog racing in Chicago received a severe setback today when Judge George Rush ruled that a court of equity has no power to enjoin officials from "exercising police power over any such a questionable enterprise."

The tracks had been operating under the pari-mutuel system of betting as a result of injunctions which forbade police to interfere. However, the state's attorney's office began raiding the Hawthorne track a few days ago and has continued the raids each night despite the injunctions.

BRYAN NOTICES RULE 'CRONIES'

Croquet Lammers at Last Get Recognition

BRYAN, Texas, July 25. (UP)—Provided by a motorcycle escort through Bryan, L. R. Rose and G. C. Hart, the Texas croquet cronies rested in a tent tonight assured the world would begin soon to receive them as heroes.

The escort, offered by City Manager Miller, was the first official courtesy the marathoners have received since they first took the letter of Jack Pearce, mayor of Galveston, and promised to deliver it by Thanksgiving to Jim Walker, mayor of New York.

The "take off" late today was two miles south of here where the cronies abandoned their croquet tapping 10 days ago when they ran out of money. Since that time they have replenished their funds, after traveling from one corner of Texas to the other.

The cronies drove their croquet balls terrifically down the Bryan business district. Rose almost lost his ball down a sewer hole once, but by gallant chasing, avoided the ignominious fate in time.

The terrific driving turned into little taps as they approached the open country again.

Manager W. F. Walton, interested in eying his proteges only while they held the awe of city crowds, soon turned on the cut-out of his car and left them to swallow his dust. His duty was to select the camping site for the night.

Perryton Men Attend Fete Honoring Motorcade

POPE 'FREED' FROM VATICAN

Pontiff Ends 59-Year Incarceration

the vatican upon the shoulders of 12 men, and after the blessing, was returned to the vatican palace as a frenzied multitude gave praise. It was a solemn occasion.

The day had been one of long religious ceremony and adoration, not only on the part of the pope and the vatican staff, but also by the assembled throngs, estimated to be more than 300,000. Throughout the day the crowd gathered, sweltering on the stony square fronting the cathedral as rising heat waves were borne above the crowds by a slight breeze which could not lessen the intense heat cast by the fiery evening sun. All Rome took part in the ceremony, and many American visitors were prominent in the throng.

At 7 o'clock this morning the ceremony started within the vatican, when preparations were begun for the early mass conducted by the pontiff in St. Peter's. The pope was carried on the podium from the door which gives into the vatican. Oddly enough, as the pope approached the door those who were present applauded.

The pope was dressed for the mass behind the altar, as a choir boy climbed above the crowd to light a fallen candle. The mass was short, without organ music, but accompanied by Gregorian chanting. The former cardinal secretary, Merry Del Val, archbishop of St. Peter's, held the basin and towel for the holy father. Then, slowly, the procession filed back to the vatican and the throng from the famous church.

The evening celebration marked the first emergence of a pope from the vatican palace since Sept. 19, 1870. It was Pope Pius IX who took upon himself the voluntary imprisonment which was to last until the signing of the Lateran treaty and the recent concordat between the church and the kingdom of Italy. Thus, today's emergence was the first time a pope has appeared outside the confines of the vatican palace in 59 years, and was the signal for jubilation throughout the world.

Shortly before the procession began at 5:25 o'clock, the pope had descended into St. Peter's basilica from his apartments in the vatican. Here, after a short prayer in sacrament chapel, he took the holy sacrament.

Then the procession began from the central door of the basilica.

The pontiff appeared at the end of a procession which numbered 6,000, formed in a thousand ranks six abreast.

Twelve Red Cross emergency tents were scattered around St. Peter's and adjoining Rusticucci square, where the 300,000 were gathered. About 25,000 soldiers were guarding the crowd and the streets leading to the square. They were mostly infantrymen, although several dismounted cavalrymen were among them. At the emergency tents, physicians were busy treating cases of sunstroke and suffering from excessive heat. Military airplanes droned overhead as the procession emerged upon the square, keeping movie planes from filming the ceremony. Other movie operators were barred and several were arrested.

Slowly, ever slowly, his right hand reaching into the sacred air before him making the sign of the cross, Pius XI was carried to the great altar before the massive cathedral, and while the throngs knelt or stood bareheaded, the pontiff intoned his blessing upon the world. It was then 8:25, and the last rays of the red Roman sun cast their dying light upon the triumphant scene as bells, which had been tolling all day, added to the impressive ceremony.

Perryton to Have Gas Before Cold Weather

Special to The Record News.

PERRYTON, Texas, July 25.—Perryton is to have gas before cold weather, was the announcement given out by Thomas Cook, manager for the Pen-Tex Utilities company of Amarillo, and Mr. Watkins, engineer for the same concern, who arrived in this city Friday morning. Mr. Watkins will start a survey for the city system.

The main line is within 15 miles of Canadian, coming from the gas fields. It will branch at Canadian, one six-inch line going to Higgins and Shattuck, and one six-inch line coming this way to serve Perryton, Spearman, Becker, Beaver and Forgan. The company is now laying pipe at the rate of a mile and a quarter each day.

Another 'Cave Man' Gets Him a Theatrical Girl

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 25. (UP)—"Cave man" tactics have proved successful in the romance of another theatrical girl and Miss Betty Junod, former Ziegfeld Follies dancer, will wed Wallace Neal of Kansas City. Last week, young Neal obtained a license bearing his own name and that of Miss Junod. Miss Junod didn't know anything about a wedding and declared she had no intention of becoming Neal's wife, but Neal said "Miss Junod will marry me." Today Miss Junod's parents announced her engagement to Neal. The wedding will take place next spring.

Witness' Talk With Juryman Halts Trial

LONDON, July 25. (US)—The trial for manslaughter of Richard Joshua Reynolds, wealthy 23-year-old son of the late founder of the Reynolds Tobacco company of Winston-Salem, N. C., was indefinitely postponed today when the court was informed that one of the witnesses had conversed with the foreman of the jury.

Justice Humphrey, who for four days has been hearing testimony in Old Bailey by both the defense and prosecution, immediately postponed the trial for a rehearing, when he heard of the talesman's mistake.

Firemen Set Record In Saving Baby's Life

SANTA MONICA, Calif., July 25. (US)—Setting a record of 119 hours and 30 minutes, Santa Monica firemen today completed their life-saving task in the case of Marie Balle, 20-day-old baby for whose life they fought for days.

The inhalator squad was called again this morning when Marie began to breathe with difficulty; administered an oxygen treatment, and remained on duty for four hours. The child is not out of danger. The previous inhalator squad record was 109 hours.

20,000 EXPECTED AT OLD SETTLERS REUNION NEAR FLOYDADA

WEST TEXANS MEET AUG. 15

Barry Miller and Other Noted Speakers to Attend

Special to The Record News

FLOYDADA, Texas, July 25.—Preparations to entertain 20,000 people at the annual West Texas old settlers reunion at the old Rock house in Blanco canyon, 15 miles south of Floydada, are being made by a committee of four Crosbyton citizens, and practically every detail of the program for the two days, Aug. 15 and 16, have been completed, according to W. T. Dunn, secretary of the organization and secretary of the Crosbyton Chamber of Commerce.

"The crowd which attended the reunion last year was estimated at 15,000 and we expect to have a larger attendance this year than ever before," Mr. Dunn stated. "I have carried the invitation as far east as Paducah and find that a number of the first residents of this section of Texas are planning on bringing their camping equipment and attending the reunion both days. Every effort to entertain the visitors in the manner in which they like best is being made and the committee is especially anxious that the invitation be broadcast to every person who has resided in West Texas 25 or more years."

Big Program Planned

A rodeo, two ball games, and old fiddlers' contest and a number of prominent speakers will furnish amusement and entertainment for the old settlers. A cash prize of $25 will be awarded the winning baseball team and several of the best teams in this section are expected to be seen in action the two days of the meeting.

One of the most popular amusements at gatherings of old settlers is the old fiddlers contest and this event has been placed in charge of John McDonald of Lockney. Mr. McDonald has announced that cash prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be awarded the winners of first, second and third places in this contest. A number of West Texas fiddlers have already indicated their desire to enter this event.

Three "chuck" wagons will be seen on the ground when the reunion opens and the visitors will feast as they did in the pioneer days on the plains of Texas. Although there will not be any free feed during the two days' celebration the committee announces that there will be plenty of eating places.

Midway Attractions

The usual midway attractions will be available at the reunion with the exception of games of chance. The committee has decided that no amusements of this type should be allowed on the grounds and with this exception the carnival attractions will be the same as last year.

Those who have resided in West Texas as long as 25 years will be entitled to special privileges and a portion of the celebration grounds have been set aside for their exclusive use. R. B. Smith, owner of the old Rock house and president of the West Texas Old Settlers reunion, will have charge of this feature.

The difficulty that was experienced with the crowd last year in parking of automobiles will not be repeated this year, according to Secretary Dunn, as the Crosbyton police force, under the direction of Sheriff Elmer Reed, will have full charge of the gathering and have already made their plans for this phase of the meeting.

Prominent Speakers

R. B. Smith, N. Y. Bicknell, John B. McDermitt and W. T. Dunn form the committee to handle the reunion. They were appointed to this position at the celebration of the birthday of Floyd county held at Floydada May 28.

Some of the prominent speakers who have already accepted an invitation to appear on the program are Pink L. Parrish, state senator from this district; Marvin Jones, congressman from the 18th congressional district; Clint Small, state senator from Wellington, and Barry Miller, lieutenant governor.

Jack County Herd Sold to Rancher

Special to The Record News.

JACKSBORO, Texas, July 25.—R. P. Thompson, former Texan and now a large ranch owner of Grant county in southwest New Mexico, spent several days in Jack county last week and while here selected a carload of double standard Polled Hereford cattle from the Johnson Brothers herd, and has shipped same to his ranches. The purchase included one yearling herd bull, four mature cows and 25 yearling heifers, with which Mr. Thompson expects to found a new herd of double standard Polled Herefords for that section of the great breeding grounds of the Southwest. The four cows were of the heavy, large scale, modern Hereford type, weighing from 1,200 to 1,600 pounds off of the grass, and are to be used by Mr. Thompson in the local and district shows of New Mexico. He reported cattle conditions quite prosperous in his state.

Michigan Prof Makes Many Discoveries

Special to The Record News.

SPUR, Texas, July 25.—Dr. E. C. Case, professor of paleontology, University of Michigan, has just closed a week of field research on the properties of S. M. Swenson and sons in Crosby county. Dr. Case and his party were successful in securing some hitherto unheard of specimens from prehistoric life. This collection consisted of a very large skull, with teeth intact, and a large number of vertebrae.

This section skirting the Cap Rock has yielded many very interesting specimens, one of which measured 18 feet in length. This large reptile found by Dr. Case proved to be an hitherto unknown sub-order of prehistoric reptile to which was given the name Spurensis. It was in a remarkable state of preservation, and was found in the upper Triassic.

Of the recent remains unearthed by Dr. Case in the Spur country some 250 pounds was shipped to Ann Arbor, Mich.

Dr. Patton of Texas Technological college during the past few years has recovered many valuable specimens of the class Reptilia. These have been saved to Texas and may be seen at the Texas Technological college, Lubbock.

Orgatone Overcomes His Kidney Trouble In Short Time and He's Feeling Like Different Person, He Says

"When I began taking Orgatone, I was feeling pretty badly—just trying one thing then another—had suffered for over five years with my kidneys. But now I am gaining back all my lost weight, feel fine, and can get a good night's rest like I could years ago.

F. P. Robertson, better known to his friends as "Skinny," who made the above remarkable statement, lives at 2006 Fillmore street, Wichita Falls, Texas, and has been in the employ of the F. W. & D. C. railroad for 41 years, holding responsible position of engineer.

"I didn't know at first," he continued, "what my trouble was, but about five years ago, my kidneys commenced to bother me. From then on there was hardly a day or night that I was not troubled with this disorder, and while I did manage to attend to my work I felt terrible. I was always constipated and felt tired and worn out from one day's end to another. Nothing I ate tasted good and to be frank with you I had very little appetite.

"I tried first one thing then another and every kind of medicine I knew of but got no relief and at times I got so blue and discouraged I didn't think anything would ever help in my case. So when I read of Orgatone and made up my mind to try it, I had just about abandoned all hope of ever recovering.

"I noticed an improvement almost from the time I started on Orgatone. My kidneys were soon acting better and my nerves quieted down so I could sleep. My appetite improved, and I became less constipated. So I kept taking Orgatone and getting better and finally my pains all disappeared and I was feeling like a new man. Now I can lie in bed in any position and sleep all night long, and find no trouble in looking after the duties of my position. These are the results I have gotten from five bottles of Orgatone and I certainly don't believe anyone suffering like I did will make a mistake by giving it a trial."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by Allison's Drug Store, 716 Indiana avenue.—Adv.

TEXAS' VITAL DATA NEEDED

Parents Urged to Answer Birth Queries

STAMFORD, Texas, July 25.—Will the vital statistics registrations in Texas be sufficiently accurate to insure the state the rating it deserves?

This is a question being propounded by the southwestern branch of the United States Chamber of Commerce which asks the cooperation of other civic organizations in creating enough interest in the question so that when a letter is written to the parents regarding birth registration it would be answered immediately. It is hoped to arouse enough public sentiment to force the doctors to file a birth certificate as required by law.

Doctors Are Lax

In a letter from Jesse T. Nicholas of the bureau of the census at Washington to Joseph F. Leopold, manager of the southwestern branch of the United States Chamber of Commerce at Dallas, a copy of which was sent to A. M. Bourland, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce by Mr. Leopold, it was brought out that there were approximately 2,100 deaths of infants in Texas during 1928 where the death certificate was filed, but no birth certificate had ever been placed on record. This would indicate a great deal of laxness on the part of the doctors who attend the births of children in this state.

Mr. Nicholas wrote, "We secured through the scholastic census approximately 66,000 names. Of this 66,000 names about one third of them were not registered. This, as you can see, is far below 90 per cent."

Answers Needed

Bourland said that it was very important that letters which are going out to parents of the children whose births had not been registered should be answered, that birth certificates be filled out at once and returned to the census bureau.

Since the death registration is much better than the birth registration, practically all the deaths, and only two-thirds of the births, the infant mortality rate will be reported out of all proporations to real conditions and cannt help but reflect unfavorably against the state.

NEW HOSPITAL AT PERRYTON

Structure to Be Erected at Cost of $25,000

Special to The Record News.

PERRYTON, Texas, July 25.—Construction work has already started on Perryton's hospital, and the new building will be rushed to completion. It is being erected by Drs. J. C. May and W. T. Travis, local surgeons, at a cost of $25,000, with $10,000 additional for equipment. Birt and Ong, local contractors, will have change of the construction work.

The exterior will be finished in stucco over brick and tile, and the design follows the Spanish style of architecture. It will contain 25 beds, reception room, office, medical room, operating room, sterilizing room, kitchen, private and public baths and a large two-room apartment for Dr. W. T. Travis, who will be the surgeon in charge.

Farm tenancy for the United States increased from 25 per cent in 1890 to 38 per cent in 1920.

D. WATSON'S boy, the weedy, horse-swaping youngster who sold sewing machines around Painted Post, and afterwards went to work for that building and loan association in Rochester, has closed his country estate for the summer and departed for Europe to confer with the company's foreign executives and factory chiefs.

Unexpected circumstances interfered with his college plans, but they didn't rob him of the initiative and determination he intended to put into a professional career. So he managed to land with the National Cash Register, promote himself to general manager and finally reach Broad street and presidency of International Business Machines.

The record doesn't indicate that any high classmate, who finished his education with a degree, also became a multimillionaire or one of industry's field marshals.

"Reddy" Nichol, who left Dayton as Watson's private secretary, will handle the organization in his absence.

Necessity snatched away his textbooks in the eighth grade, but ability promptly showed him some ladders that professors don't handle.

Around 21, he was wearing shoulder-straps at Washington, where the ordnance department passed up West Pointers, Harvard graduates and enlisted bankers, in search of a man to direct small arms production, put him in charge and honorably dismissed him from service as the youngest major in the American army.

Incidentally, he's now assistant to the president. And he didn't slip into office with a frat key, either.

MR. HUBERT T. PARSON., having completed a new mansion at Shadowlawn (the former J. B. Greenhut property), once the summer residence of Woodrow Wilson, informs us by cable that his little pied-a-terre, Avenue Foch, Paris, will soon be blueprinted.

The convenience of a specially designed French establishment will nick him to the neat tune of twelve hundred thousand dollars—but without denting his income.

Mr. Parson is the president of the F. W. Woolworth company and originally occupied a stool in the bookkeeping division—a reputed cul-de-sac of business, which opportunity is popularly supposed to neglect.

The five-and-ten-cent store hadn't then ripened into a world-wide institution, and nickels and dimes had to jump so often to earn a dollar that the best start he could get was twelve a week.

He took the twelve and took his chances. Now see how he's standing.

The incidents are quoted for the benefit of other lads prone to suffer inferiority complexes, simply because paternal affluence wasn't sufficient to provide them with tasseled mortar-boards and university club memberships.

Unfamiliarity with the processes by which competence is judged too frequently leads 'em to believe that all roads to preferment are routed across the campus—whereas the short cuts to recognition and advancement are mapped on the balance sheet.

Native wit, integrity and thoroughness are the deciding factors for every big job in sight. And one hone is as good as another to develop them.

A sound craftsman never quarrels with his tools. Sewing machines, stenographers' notebooks and ledgers conceal as many secrets of success as an academic course or a drummer's sample case.

A natural winner will always discover a way and evolve a method to do it better.

ALWAYS WORKING

The Best Man (after a vain search): Ay, Bert! I thought you gave me the ring when we was in the taxi?

Bridegroom (a light-fingered expert): Blow me, I can't forget me business even on my wedding day—'ere, I've bin and took it back again.—Passing Show.

Texas Public Schools Statistics

STATE SUPERINTENDENT S. M. N. MARRS has let it be known there has been a healthy increase in scholastics this year, and he predicts a new census will show approximately 1,450,000 within the age of 7 and 17 years. This is an increase over last year of 48,000 children. According to the record the 40th legislature fixed $15 as the maximum per capita apportionment and the 41st legislature changed it to $17.50.

There will be sufficient funds in sight to go with that figure even with the increased scholastics. This is made possible by the fact that the $15 limitation has caused a large surplus to accumulate to the credit of the available fund and by Sept. 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year, the balance will be over $3,000,000.

This, the superintendent says, "will be gladsome tidings to the schools of Texas. That will be a large nestegg to go with it and increase a payment of at least $2 per capita at the very start of the next school year. By the time the schools actually start more funds will have accumulated and the first payment may go to $3 per child, establishing a record."

If the low valuation counties would do their part as the high valuation counties rally to the support of the schools, it would be an easy matter to develop the brains and train the hands of all the children of all the people.

Politicians who are officeholders never mention the low valuation handicap nor the fact that there are many counties in Texas responsible for conditions which should not be permitted to exist in the face of the constitutional mandate that "taxation should be equal and uniform."

Dr. Doran Issues Warning

NATIONAL PROHIBITION COMMISSIONER J. M. DORAN for the fifth time has issued instructions to all subagents that volunteer armed guards must not be employed by government agents. Volunteer armed guards shot and killed two farmers in Oklahoma. The victims, veterans of the world war, were popular citizens. Indignation is widespread in Oklahoma and the American Legionnaires threaten to make it an issue in the coming political campaign if justice was not meted out to the slayers.

Commissioner Doran reported it costs $50,000,000 for the government to enforce prohibition acts every year and that it would cost $300,000,000 for the government to police the country thoroughly and bring about real enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act.

This led to the Wickersham proposal—that the federal government devote its time to the arrest and punishment of federal violators and the state government to the violators of laws within their borders. If Dr. Doran has the correct figures it will be necessary for the legislatures of 48 states to appropriate $250,000,000 annually for state pro enforcement purposes. Is prohibition a political or an economic issue—or both?

Farmers Are Unorganized

CHRIS L. CHRISTENSEN, secretary of the federal farm relief board and a leader in the cooperative marketing movement, estimates that only about one-third of the 6,000,000 farmers of America are now organized. These associations must organize under state laws. This confines the associations for the most part to state groups.

Chairman Legge has let it be known the farm relief act "is essentially to assist cooperative producer-owned agricultural associations." He explained to the press correspondents that the cooperative associations must be owned and controlled by the producers of the commodity involved.

There are millions of tenant farmers in the 48 states. It is said by those who profess to know that 68 per cent of the producers of Texas are tenant farmers. Organization appears to be the thing. Cooperatives may be in the saddle some day in America. But what will they do with the tenants?

In the Southern states the tenants live from hand to mouth. They are victims of an age old credit system. They are landless and most of the time penniless.

Hoover Lifts the Pressure

PRESIDENT HOOVER has issued a proclamation raising the embargo on the shipments of arms and munitions to Mexico, an embargo which was imposed by President Coolidge Jan. 17, 1924. It is a matter of history that the embargo throttled the Obregon revolutionists in the not distant past and the settlement of the church row in Mexico may bring about a stable government which will endure throughout the years.

Lest we forget, the airplane with its fighting warriors and its terrific bombs crushed the recent revolution in short order. In wars of the future the war plane will be the thing.

Civilized man has at his disposal frightful weapons of destruction. Slavs and Chinese may go to it for the possession of Manchuria before the close of the year with Japan in the lookout chair ready at the finish to take the turkey and hand the feathers to the Russ and the Mongol.

Alamo Voters Are Progressive

ALAMO CITY voters held a school bond election and the proposal won by a vote of five to one. Millions of dollars were voted for building purposes. A maintenance tax proposition was submitted on the same day and the proposal carried by a majority of five to one. San Antonio is getting to be one of the most progressive cities under American skies. Public improvements cost money. Property owners vote bond issues. They appear to be determined to keep their city first in point of population and expansion of trade territory.

CHATTY—GODDESS OF GAB

By BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "HER MAN," "HONEY LOU," "SALLY'S SHOULDERS," "MONEY LOVE," "LOVE BOUND," ETC.

COPYRIGHT 1929, CENTRAL PRESS ASS'N, INC., CLEVELAND, OHIO.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Charlotte Chatterton, nicknamed Chatty, is a born gossip and busybody. She loses her job in Mrs. Mayberry's hat shop for talking too much about Mrs. Mayberry's business.

Her mother, Mrs. Harriett Chatterton, earns her living by doing plain sewing. And through her old friend and customer, Mrs. Van Nuys, Chatty gets a position in Mr. Van Nuy's bond house down town. There Chatty meets and falls in love with David Jordan, a handsome, young, red-headed salesman, who she once saw buying flowers for a pretty girl in a shop across the street from Mrs. Mayberry's shop.

Billie Langenau, head of the filing department where Chatty works, tells her that the only girl in the office whom Jordan ever notices is Mr. Van Nuys' quiet secretary, Agnes Herford. But Chatty does not worry much about this, for she and Winnie Talcott, a stenographer in the office, saw Agnes slipping out to have lunch with Mr. Van Nuys, himself, one noon! Chatty thinks that Mrs. "Van" ought to know about it, but her mother makes her promise to say nothing about it.

Then Chatty unearths another office scandal. Billie Langenau and her sister, Sara, come to live across the hall. Their apartment is filled with beautiful furniture and silver, and Sara tells Chatty they were bought for Billie by her husband, a man named Brewster. Later Billie tells Chatty that she is separated from Brewster and that George Mayhew, another of the bond salesmen, who is a great friend of Billie's, knows nothing about her ever having been married. Chatty promises not to tell him.

One night she sees George with another girl in a "movie," and she keeps that fact a secret from Billie, upon advice from her mother. But she longs to tell her. Billie gives a Sunday night party, serving plain orange juice instead of cocktails, and Chatty is horrified when Winnie Talcott suggests to Jim Bowen, a young salesman, that they get gin. She says she knows "a kid in Tomlinson's drug store at the corner" who will sell them alcohol. For Pud, Chatty's young brother, is the "kid" who works there!

There was Mr. Jordan and Agnes.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER IX

"I must stop him!" Chatty was thinking, wildly, desperately, as she watched Jim Bowen make his way across the crowded room to Billie. "I just mustn't let them telephone down to Ben Tomlinson's for that alcohol!"

How would she ever hold her head up among them all again, after they knew that her brother worked for a bootlegger—for she knew now that that was what Ben Tomlinson was, beyond all doubt.

"If they phone for that alcohol, it'll be Pud who will bring it!" she told herself, sick now, with shame and fear. "And I'll have to own up to it that he's my brother—they'll all know it. Dave Jordan, too—"

Of course, she could, get up and leave. Say she had a sudden headache, and go back across the hall to her own apartment . . . or, better still, why couldn't she run over there for a minute or two and telephone Pud herself? . . . Forbid him to bring any alcohol to Billie's that night, no matter who asked him to!

"That's what I'll do!" she made up her mind in a flash.

And like a flash she was across the room and out into the hall. She knocked on the thin panels of her own door . . . There was no answer. No sound of Mrs. Chatterton's light, quick footsteps from within.

Chatty tried the door. It was locked . . . Locked! And Mrs. Chatterton had gone to St. Martin's church, of course, just as she did every Sunday night of her life, rain or shine, year in and year out, Chatty groaned aloud.

"But maybe she's left the back door unlocked," she thought. "Or the kitchen window . . .

She flew down the front stairs and around to the back of the building. It was dark and "spooky" in the small back yard, but Chatty was too worried to be frightened by anything as harmless as darkness that night. She raced up the back stairs to the little second floor porch that opened out from their own kitchen.

The back door was locked, and so was the window . . . No hope there!

"I'm just wasting time—I should have gone straight down to Tomlinson's in the first place!" And Chatty flew around to the front of the building once more, and set off down the street at a dead run.

She had almost reached the corner when she heard someone loudly whistling, "Drizzle, Drizzle, the Party's a Fizzle." That was Pud's favorite song!

And, sure enough, there he was—coming along on the opposite side of the street, with his hands in his pockets and his cap pulled over one ear at a very doggy angle.

Chatty never had been so glad to see anyone in her life.

"Pud," she called softly, and rushed across the road to him. "Pud—you're taking something up to Billie's, aren't you? Well, give it to me! I'll take it!"

"Nix!" Pud did not take his hands from his pockets, and he shook his head. "Not without the money for it, darling sister! Since you've found out about Ben you may as well know that all his business is strictly cash . . . There's a quart of the 'stuff' under each of my arms, and it's a dollar a quart."

Chatty did not have a penny with her. And her purse was locked up in the flat.

"Pud, have you your key to the house?" she asked, and he nodded.

"Well, let yourself in and pay yourself $2 out of my purse," she told him. "It's in my bottom dresser drawer, under a pile of stockings—but please don't go near the flat until I'm back at Billie's, will you? I wouldn't have any of those people from the office know that I have a brother who sells stuff like this, for anything in the world—"

"Where do you get that bunch of baloney?" asked Pud, using the slang that he seem to think marked him a man of the world. "That Miss Talcott has been buying gin and things from Ben all the time I've been working for him. She's as tough as shoe leather, and I don't mean perhaps!"

"Did she call you up just now?"

"Sure," Pud nodded sulkily.

'Does she know you're my brother?" Chatty's voice shook. She was on the verge of tears.

"Not from me," answered the boy. "What do you think I do—go around giving folks lemons off my family tree? I didn't even know she knew the Langenaus until she phoned from their house just now. Here, do you want to take this stuff?"

They were very close to the apartment building now, and they stopped in the shadow of a maple tree that spread its branches across the sidewalk. Pud took two flat, plain glass bottles from under his coat and handed them over to Chatty.

"I'll wait till you're in the house before I go upstairs to get the kale out of your bag," he said gruffly. "Since you're ashamed of me." He lit a cigaret.

"Oh, Pud, how can I help being ashamed of you when you're doing a thing like this?" Chatty's voice was a wail. "Why, Pud, Ben is sure to be found out and sent to jail for bootlegging! And goodness only knows what will happen to you if they ever find any of the stuff on you—"

"Say, what do you think I am? The world's prize short-brain?" Pud wanted to know. Nobody's going to find anything on me that I don't want them to find on me—" He was very sure of himself as he stood there with his cap on the side of his head and his cigaret making a rosy circle against the darkness.

"But he's just a little boy, really," Chatty thought, miserably. "And somehow or other, we'll have to stop him from doing this terrible thing—mother and I."

Out of breath, and starry-eyed from her run in the wind, she flung open the door of the vestibule and rushed straight into the arms of Dave Jordan! He had his hat on, and seemed to be in a great hurry, just as she was.

"Where have you been? Billie just sent me out to look after you! And what's this?" He looked down at the two bottles in her arms.

"That's the alcohol," answered Chatty, without a quiver. "I saw the man bringing it up the street and I thought maybe I'd better run down and get it from him. I was afraid the neighbors might see him come in with it."

He took the bottles from her, and they started up the stairs. The door of the Langenau's apartment stood open, and the sound of music and laughter and high voices came down to them.

Chatty laughed. "Doesn't it sound lovely?" she asked, turning her face up to Jordan's face. "I love a party—and, do you know, I haven't been to one since I was six years old . . . and that was a kid's party. Not a bit like this one of Billie's tonight!"

Happiness and excitement were in her voice, and her whole face was alight—eyes wide and sparkling, parted lips smiling dreamily. In two minutes she had completely forgotten Pud and all her fears.

"What do you mean? That you've never really been out on a party like this one before? You can't mean that!" Dave Jordan was standing dead still, looking down at her with a puzzled look in his deep, dark eyes. "Why, sure, you must have gone to plenty of parties—"

"But I haven't!" Chatty cut him short. "Believe me or not, I've never been to a dance—or anything like a party—since I've been grown up!" And then, before he could say a word, she was telling him all about herself!

"I've never gone to a movie, even, with a man!" She laughed at the surprised look on his face as she went on. "I've never had a 'date' with a man in my whole life! The only men I know are you boys in the office—and Mr. Van Nuys, and our minister, and our grocery boy!"

She saw that he only half believed what she was saying.

"This isn't just your line,' is it?" he asked, uncertainly. "It's the truth, isn't it?"

"Why, of course, it's the truth!" Chatty said breathlessly. "You don't think I could make a thing like that up, do you? And why would I? I ought to be ashamed of never having had a 'date'? Don't you think I ought? Oh, but I shouldn't be telling you all this! It sounds so silly—"

All at once shame swept over her. Shame that she should be telling anyone—and this man, above everybody else—how empty and lonely and starved her life had been, compared to the lives of other pretty 20-year-old girls, who knew plenty of men and had heaps of the ordinary good times that girls and men do have together.

"I ought to be ashamed," she said again. "And I am." She turned away from him and started up the steps.

But Dave Jordan stopped her. He caught her by one hand and turned her around so that she faced him. She was a step above him, and her eyes were on a level with his eyes. He looked straight at her, and he was very serious.

"You needn't be ashamed," she heard him say, and his voice seemed to come from a long way off. There was a humming in Chatty's ears, and she was trembling. She never had been close to a man before, like this.

"You needn't be ashamed at all," he said. "I suppose it's none of my business, but I'm glad you haven't had a lot of 'dates' and run around with a lot of men."

He had her other hand now, and his face was very close to hers. "I'm going to kiss you," he said huskily, and suddenly she was crushed against him. His arms were like bands of steel around her. She lifted her face to him, and felt his mouth close down over her own mouth.

"This is the most wonderful thing that can ever happen to me," Chatty thought. "If there's any heaven on earth for me—this—is it!"

The rest of the evening was hazy and unreal—like a dream or a film unrolling on a silver screen in a "movie" theater.

It was hard to believe that she actually was in Billie's familiar little flat, and that she and Dave Jordan were helping to make the gin and orange juice drinks that Billie had not wanted to serve.

Winnie Talcott brought one of them up to her, and Jordan afterwards, and insisted that they share it.

"Here, you two, sitting on this davenport like a couple love birds!" she hailed them. "Split this stuff between you—it gives the teeth a pearly whiteness and the cheeks a rosy hue!"

But Chatty would have none of it. She had her faults, she said, but drinking was not one of them.

"You're too good to be true!" Dave Jordan told her, solemnly. "I knew there must be a girl somewhere or other like you—but I'd given up all hope of ever finding her—"

Chatty trod on silver-lined clouds all that evening, and when it was over, she lay awake for hours, too happy to even try to go to sleep.

At noon the next day he came up to her, and stood leaning against the files, watching her for a second or two.

For a second or two she pretended not to see him. Then she looked up and laughed . . . "He's going to take me to lunch," she thought, excitedly.

He had his hat in one hand, and in the other dangled his necktie.

"Tie this thing for me, will you?" he asked. "I'm a 10-thumbed dumb bell."

And while she was doing it, he bent his head down and, hidden behind the tall filing cabinet, he held her close and kissed her.

But he did not ask her to go to lunch with him, and a few minutes afterwards she saw him go out alone.

At 1 o'clock she went out to have her own lunch in the Brown Betty tearoom on the first floor of the building.

Almost all of the people who worked for the Van Nuys company ate their lunch there every day, and Chatty looked around now to see if there was anyone there whom she knew and could eat with . . . It was lonely to eat by herself every day.

Her eyes swept the crowded room, with its dozens and dozens of little tables with their delft blue cloths and blue and white dishes . . . There, in the farthest, darkest corner, sat Dave Jordan and Agnes Herford. They were deep in talk.

"Lost to the world," thought Chatty, and bitterness rolled over her like a flood of icy water.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, July 25.—Eugene O'Neill, the playwright, is well toward becoming one of the country's major men of mystery. He goes abroad, and is soon rsported to be in many different places. He is reported to be seriously ill here, and seriously ill there—but somehow his friends refuse to worry. Each time a report concerning him is published, it is usually denied by his New York lawyer. "Mr. O'Neill is perfectly well," he states, "but I am not at liberty to state where he is." One would think that the playwright is doing his best to lose himself in some far-off land. But, as a matter of fact, he isn't. He merely objects to publicity concerning his private affairs. He writes long and numerous letters to his friends here, and welcomes the companionship of fellow Americans wherever he is. He is, of course, working on a new play—but it is not the second of the trilogy about man's search for a new God, of which "Dynamo" was the first. The reception of "Dynamo" was a disappointment to him, and he has put the trilogy aside.

O'Neill's Frank

Speaking of O'Neill, Burns Mantle tells a little-known anecdote about his book, American Playwrights. He was, Mantel relates, a freshman at Princeton. "A generous impulse born of the heavenly nights, according to one of his friends, inspired Eugene with an urge to present the president of the college (it was during Woodrow Wilson's regime, I believe) with a cooling bottle of beer. Being in doubt as to how the gift would be received, and, naturally not wishing to embarass prexy, he tossed the bottle nonchalantly in at the latter's study window and immediately went away from there. The college authorities felt obliged to discourage this practice of gift-bearing, for fear similarly generous impulses might become common with the undergraduates. And so young O'Neill was invited to spend a year at home."

Bathtub Joke

The amazing Earl Carroll is making his little private joke public each night and two afternoons a week at his theater. Carroll, it will be remembered, fell into serious trouble when word got out that he had staged a backstage party in which a chorus girl took a bath in a tubful of champagne. It was a private party, and Carroll felt that it was not much of anybody's business. The federal government became interested in the champagne angle, and questioned Carroll. His replies caused him to be sent to prison for perjury. Well, his new revue contains a scene wherein a girl takes a bath in a real tub (the manufacturer is listed in the program) and in real water. To quote Percy Hammond, "To show how remorseful he is for past misbehaviors Mr. Carroll presents in his new revue an episode in a bathtub in which Miss Kelly laves herself before a gallery of ice men, garbage men, plumbers and drama lovers."

Hello, Sucker!

It was at the opening of Florenz Ziegfeld's newest production, "Show Girl." Everybody who was anybody, it seemed, was there. During intermission the fashionably dressed and undressed audience went to the street, ostensibly for a breath of air, but possibly to give each other the once-over and to give a crowd of passersby an eyeful. Texas Guinan was there in a big, floppy hat. A critic hailed her. "Hello sucker! I understand you paid for your tickets." And so she had—for tickets to a first class opening are worth any price, and as few persons as possible are put on the free list.

Strange Prices

I can't make out the whims of those who attend auctions. Something that I think should bring a good price invariably sells for a song, and something else that I don't consider valuable brings a neat fortune. The other day I attended an auction of some hooked rugs. There was one whose center depicted a school house, with the American flag on it. It brought, as I remember, $3.50. The auctioneer was disgusted. "If that flag had been British," he said, "the rug would have brought $30." Now I'd have thought the reverse to be true. Similarly a recent sale of gold coins dating as far back as 400 B. C. are worth $35 or $40, yet one that was struck in California during the gold rush brought $7,500.

Wilson Off to Lead State Tour

Special to The Record News.

LAMESA, Texas, July 25.—William A. Wilson, local chamber of commerce manager and manager of all Texas tour left here Tuesday of this week to go to Marshall where the tour is to start Aug. 1 for the purpose of leading this all state affair back through this section. He says he expects to get back to Lamesa with this tour Aug. 3 and proceed to Carlsbad caverns in time to visit these underground wonders Sunday. Monday he plans to lead the tour to its destination at El Paso. Wilson will make stops in all towns through which the tour will pass for the purpose of confering with motorcade committees as to plans for the tour, he stated.

Forum Will Cooperate With Ambitious Students

The Woman's Forum will enter a new field of educational work when the autumn season begins. Ambitious students who wish to pay their way through college will be afforded an opportunity to do so by helping Mrs. Ruth Kirksey, the new forum hostess, who will come in August from a summer course at Columbia to take charge at the club-house.

Mrs. Kirksey, a graduate of C. I. A., has had much experience with this cooperative work. Aside from her training at C. I. A., she has had special courses in fancy cooking under two of the best teachers in the United States and this summer's course at Columbia. She is equipped with knowledge and experience that will be of invaluable aid to ambitious students.

Officers of the forum have talked to Dr. J. W. Cantwell, Dean S. H. Rider and Mrs. Roy Daniel, head of the domestic science department here, and all favor the plan.

Hours will be so arranged that students wishing to help at the forum during the luncheons, or other special affairs, will have the opportunity without interfering with their studies. It is hoped that many students will take advantage of this opportunity.

Students wishing to discuss the proposition before Mrs. Kirksey's return in August, may learn the details by calling Dean Rider, 9544, or Mrs. Arch Dawson, 3211.

A Daily Illustrated Poem For Children

By Wymond Garthwaite

ME AND I AND THE DONKEY

Me and I and the donkey
Going for a ride.
We won't go very fast;
Least, we've never tried.

You shouldn't worry ever,
We're safe as safe can be,
We're awf'ly terribly careful,
The donkey, I and me.

Womans' Golf Club Has Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Woman's Golf association was held at the country club Thursday morning with Mrs. Russell of the Denison Country club a special guest. Miss Dell Hatchitt and Mrs. C. O. Davis tied for the low score trophy.

Luncheon was served at the close of the game to a group of members and guests.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. N. CASON

Memory is one thing of which one cannot be robbed. In the midst of heat and noise of hot summer days, we personally remember one cool morning in the autumn when we looked down from a shaded hilltop into a green pasture with a little stream trickling through its bosom; maple, gum and oak trees wearing golden and scarlet and russet leaves. No sound but that of the wind in the leaves or a squirrel dropping a nut as he put away his winter stores—or, perhaps, a cowbell tinkling way in the distance. Quiet. Rest.

◆ ◆ ◆

We noticed one day before one of the old homes in this city, ornate stone hitching posts. Before long, all those will be gone, as Indians before cigar stores and candy striped posts before barber shops are disappearing. And statuary in the yards; but that we do not mind, for usually the statuary was of a sort to give you nightmares.

◆ ◆ ◆

We overheard an honest man telling of his declaration of independence one day this week. He said it was so hot he told his wife he wasn't going to wear a coat to church. "Yes you are," she said. "I'm not going to church if I have to wear a coat," he countered. "You're going to church and you're going to wear a coat," she told him. Then he grinned like a big boy as he said, "And I went to church and I wore a coat, and I could have put everything she had on in my hip pocket."

All the while, you could not help knowing, just looking at him, that he adored that wife.

In the little garden back of W. B. Hamilton's home, there are more tube roses blooming than we ever saw in one bunch. There are flowers of all colors blooming near the white tube roses and as lovely clusters of evergreens as we remember.

◆ ◆ ◆

We knew a woman once who said, "I consider myself a good judge of human nature." But we never knew her to make the remark before a pleasant criticism.

◆ ◆ ◆

We wish to say hurrah for Mrs. Jane McCallum for finding and framing Texas' declaration of independence. Men have forever been declaring independence, but it takes women to help preserve it.

An enormous 'ad' reads, "Wanted —chicken pickers." We cannot help thinking of some smart and slangy boys who pride themselves on being that very thing.

The worm will turn. We notice that the National Council of Radio Listeners of America, with Texas headquarters at Houston, has been granted a charter by the secretary of state. The purpose is to request programs.

Next thing we know radioless listeners will organize.

Husbands Expect Too Many Virtues Of Wives, Says Dix

"At the Root of Most Men's Discontent With Their Wives is the Fact That They Do Not Possess the Characteristics of Half a Dozen Different Women," Decides Dorothy Dix.

After having studied the whys and wherefores of the complaints of some tens of thousands of disgruntled husbands, I have about come to the conclusion that the real grievance that most men have against their wives is that each lady is not a whole harem in herself. In the frank and candid Far East they do these things better. In the countries in which polygamy exists they solve the problem of the eclectic tastes of men in women by numbers. For the head of his home the Oriental sheik picks out a woman of rank and executive ability. To provide him with thrills, he adds to his household a charmer with super-abundant sex appeal. For his dalliance he annexes a maiden who plays with skill upon stringed instruments and dancers who are light upon their feet. For a companion who will keep him amused and entertained, he chooses a spellbinder who has a thousand good tales on her tongue's end. And he keeps up the supply of youth and beauty by judicious selections from each year's crop of flappers.

He doesn't expect any one poor, lone, lorn woman to be a compendium of every feminine charm and virtue, and so when he stocks up on wives he lays in a varied assortment of women to meet his different needs and desires, wives who are grave and gay, wives who are useful and ornamental, wives who are highbrowed and lowbrowed, wives who are sirens and wives who look on life in a serious way.

But the trouble with monogamy is that it does not rob man of his his polygamous tendencies and so, in the Occident, where the poor dear can only have one wife, he expects his one wife to be many women in one. He isn't content to take her as she is, with one single line of attraction, no matter how good it is. He expects her to double up and in her one propria persona to unite all of the fascinations and desirable qualities of her entire sex.

This is such a large order that is not surprising that so few women are able to fill it. For what the average man expects of his wife is that she shall be domestic, yet never smell of the kitchen; that she shall look like a fashion-plate, yet run up no bills for clothes.

That she shall be an ingrowing mother who never leaves her children, yet always be ready to step out with him when he feels like going; that she shall be a home woman who never gads around or belongs to clubs, yet she shall be scintillating and up to the minute and help her husband make a position in society. That she shall do the work of two servants, yet read all the new books, be vivacious and amusing and always keep her hands beautifully manicured.

Most wives can qualify on one or the other of these points, and all would be well and wedlock a grand, sweet song and we should have happy homes, inhabited by contented married couples if only husbands could make up their minds to be satisfied with the one virtue their Marias possess instead of demanding that she should come across with the allure of a whole bunch of women.

Of course, men will deny that they expect the impossible of their wives, but except in the few cases in which women are out-and-out rotters, and there are not many of these, at the root of most men's discontent with their wives is the fact that they do not possess the characteristics of half a dozen different women.

A man doesn't say for himself, as he beholds the fat, commonplace wife of his bosom: "My, but I am lucky to have got Mary Jane! True, she isn't much to look at and her conversation never runs farther than from the nursery to the kitchen and over the back fence, but she is a wizard with the pots and pans and can get a hundred and ten cents out of every dollar and I never had a button off nor a hole in my stockings. If I were a leper she would wash my clothes with her own hands, and if all the world turned against me she would still be standing faithfully by my side."

Oh, no, the man doesn't say this to himself and purr with contentment over his wife's devotion and the good comfortable home she has made him. He says: "Gee, but Mary Jane has got old and homely and she bores me to tears. I feel as if I could scream when she babbles on about Johnny's tooth and how liver has gone up in price, and the Smith's baby, and the row Mrs. Jones has had with her cook, and what time the Thompson girl got home this morning.

"Why can't she be beautiful and slim like my stenographer and with that adorable freshness and youth about her? And why isn't she interesting and witty like Mrs. Black, who keeps a fellow on his tiptoes? And why isn't there that something about her that makes me thrill and want to kiss her instead of having to set my teeth and nerve myself to it when I give her a peck on the cheek when I am leaving for work in the morning?"

Nor does the man who is married to the woman who is amiable and sweet and companionable, but a poor housekeeper, congratulate himself upon his good fortune in having a wife who never nags or delivers a curtain lecture or tells him of his faults or reminds him of his mistakes, but who is always good natured and jolly and laughing.

Oh, no, far from it. He howls out that his stomach has been ruined by bad cooking and his money wasted by careless spending and that his wife and the children always look sloppy and the house like a pigsty and he wonders why his Sally Ann isn't neat and orderly like Mrs. A., and can't make bread like Mrs. B., and isn't economical like Mrs. C.

Nor is the man who is married to a wife who looks like a living picture in a million dollar frame satisfied just to admire her as a work of art and consider it a privilege to pay for her upkeep. He complains because she isn't as thrifty as Mrs. Z., and as humble as Patient Griselda. And the man who is married to a highbrow isn't satisfied to have an intellectual companion. He wants her to be also a cook and a seamstress and a vamp and what have you.

And so it goes, and the reason that men get tired of their wives is not because of what the wives are, but because of the things they are not and because every woman isn't a whole harem in herself.

Lawn Bridge Is Lovely Affair Wednesday Eve

PAIN

YOU have, no doubt, used Bayer Aspirin for headaches and you know how promptly and completely it relieves the pain. But until you try it for some deep-seated pain such as neuritis or neuralgia you will not know its full effectiveness. Try using it to ward off a summer cold, or to break-up a cold that has a start. Or use it as a gargle for sore throat or tonsilitis. Then you'll realize why millions of users depend on it. These tablets are utterly harmless, as any doctor will tell you. Every drugstore has the genuine product, with Bayer on the box and on each tablet.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright, 1929, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, July 28:

Sunday

Breakfast—Coddled egg, small piece of ham, waffle.

Lunch—Fresh berries with milk or cream (no sugar).

Dinner—Baked chicken, melba toast, dressing, asparagus, head lettuce and celery, ice cream (small portion).

Monday

Breakfast—Cottage cheese, melba toast, sliced pineapple.

Lunch—Grapes as desired.

Dinner—Boiled fresh tongue, vegetables en casserole, celery, jell-o or jell-well with cream.

Tuesday

Breakfast—French omelet, toasted triscuit, stewed prunes.

Lunch—Watermelon as desired.

Dinner—Salisbury steak, cooked spinach, McCoy salad, baked pears.

Wednesday

Breakfast—Whole wheat raisin muffins, crisp bacon.

Lunch—Ice cream with berries.

Dinner—Leg of mutton, cooked string beans, salad of grated raw carrots on lettuce, pineapple whip.

Thursday

Breakfast—Poached egg on melba toast, stewed apricots.

Lunch—Ripe plums as desired.

Dinner—Roast pork, cooked spinach, squash, celery and ripe olives, baked apple.

Friday

Breakfast—Retoasted breakfast food with milk or cream (no sugar).

Lunch—Melon as desired.

Dinner—Baked sea bass, cooked string beans, egg plant, salad of sliced tomatoes, plain jell-o.

Saturday

Breakfast—French omelet, melba toast, baked apple.

Lunch—Ice cream with a fresh acid fruit.

Dinner—Stuffed and rolled round steak, head lettuce, prune whip.

*Vegetables en casserole: 1 bunch of chopped carrots, 1 bunch of small turnips, 1 cup of green peas, 1 cup of chopped celery, small head of cauliflower broken into small pieces.

Cut turnips and carrots as desired and mix with the other vegetables and fill casserole. Add a small amount of water, cover and bake 30 minutes. This makes a nice, thick vegetable "stew," very savory and with a sustaining, wholesome odor. Add a generous lump of butter to each portion served hot from the casserole.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Adhesions and Constipation

Question—B. J. H. writes: "I would like to know what the symptoms of adhesions are. Was operated on for ruptured appendix about a year ago and suffered no ill effects until a couple of weeks ago. Have had continual headache, as if from stomach, usually constipated, and pains in back that lead up to back of head."

Answer—Adhesions binding the intestines together are a common cause of constipation. The only way you can be sure whether or not you have adhesions is to have an X-ray examination made. Adhesions may produce symptoms in almost any part of the body if they are of sufficient strength to interfere with the functional activity of the stomach, intestines, or other abdominal organs.

No Starch for Diabetics

Question—H. G. asks: "Will you please tell me if the entire wheat bread is starchy, and if it is good for the diabetic instead of gluten bread?"

Answer—Entire wheat bread or plain white bread has a preponderance of starch over all other food elements. Gluten bread has slightly less starch, but the diabetic should not use bread of any kind, as he can get along very nicely if no starches are used, but may be forced to take insulin if he insists on using any form of carbohydrates.

Corners of Mouth Sore

Question—G. H. asks: "Will you kindly tell me what causes the corners of the mouth to get sore? Also, the remedy for this disagreeable trouble?"

Answer—Soreness in the corners of the mouth may be caused from an irritated stomach or from abscessed teeth. The siliva becomes poisonous or irritating and during sleep runs out of the corners of the mouth and causes the burning. Keep your teeth clean and avoid stomach irritation by regulating your diet so as not to have stomach hyperacidity.

Presbyterian Encampment Ends at Buffalo Gap

STAMFORD, Texas, July 25. (Spl.)—The Presbyterian encampment, the largest of its kind in the Southwest, closed its meeting at Buffalo Gap recently, marking the end of the most successful encampment ever held. The encampment was organized eight years ago and Rev. Fred S. Rogers, pastor of the Stamford Presbyterian church was one of the three men who established it. It has grown to mammoth proportions in the intervening years. A total of $15,000 has been spent during the past three years on improvements of grounds and provision of recreation features such as swimming pool and other things.

Rain Would Aid Stamford Feed Crop

STAMFORD, Texas, July 25. (Spl.)—Some of the feed in this section is beyond aid, but there is some that would be helped by a heavy rain right away. A good rain between now and Aug. 1 will make late feed. The cotton crop is in excellent condition but will need rain before long. Later cotton is already suffering in many places. This is explained by the fact that the late cotton has not the long, deep tap-root of the plants that were planted earlier. The thermometer registered 107 on last Thursday, the hottest day of the year.

Union Revival at Waurika Is Planned

WAURIKA, Okla., July 25. (Spl.)—Rev. James Rayburn of Newton, Kan., held a conference with pastors and laymen of the various churches of this city and as a result it was decided to hold a union revival meeting some time in the summer of 1930. Rev. Rayburn has been highly successful as a union evangelist and it is expected that his coming here will do a great deal of good.

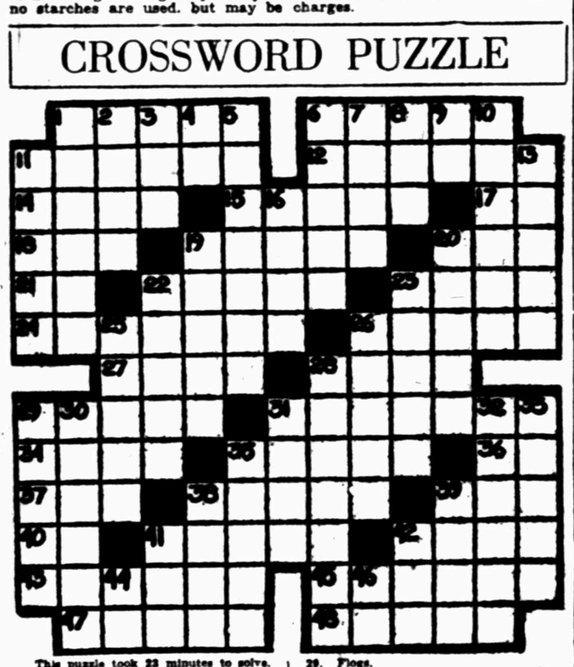

Waurika and Ringling Rotarians at Meeting

WAURIKA, Okla., July 25. (Spl.)—Rotarians of Waurika and Ringling met at the half-way house recently for a picnic supper and program. Rev. Joe Trevette, pastor of the Methodist church at Waurika, gave a talk on "Rotary Brotherhood," the rest of the program being furnished by Ringling. Rotary Anns and children were present.

OYEZ! OYEZ!

WAURIKA, Okla., July 25. (Spl.)—The regular term of county court opens Monday, July 29, with several cases to be heard, most of them misdemeanors and whisky charges.

O. U. STUDENT TRIES PAJAMAS

But He's Shooed Out of School Cafeteria

NORMAN, Okla., July 25. (UP)—The wearing of pajamas as street garb, upheld in a recent Carolina court decision, is frowned upon at the University of Oklahoma and the edict of University President W. B. Bizzell is expected to prevent this city from becoming "pajama-minded."

Paul W. Partridge, a senior, brought the question before the public today when he fluttered fram the arms of Morpheus to the university cafeteria garbed in purple pajamas and bedroom slippers to match.

Mrs. E. C. Green, cafeteria manager and stickler for breakfast etiquette, admitted Partridge had a "bird of a costume," but shooed him from the room. Shrinking under the glowering stares of red flannel advocates and admiring glances of co-eds, Partridge beat a hasty retreat as his face blended with the purple hues of his nocturnal ensemble.

Informed of the incident, President Bizzell declared:

"If any picture of Partridge is taken by the Oklahoma Daily (the student paper), I'll close the office. Anyone attempting to appear in class garbed in pajamas will be expelled from the school.

DISLOCATES SHOULDER DONNING NIGHTIE

LINCOLN, Neb., July 25. (UP)—Coney Kammarcell has not decided whether or not he will adopt pajamas as his costume for street wear, but is convinced that they are the proper costume for bed.

Superairplane Soars About in New Test Hop

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, July 25. (US)—Dr. Claude Dornier's twelve-motored, 100-passenger superairplane, christened recently the DO-X, today had another test flight, and was adjudged successful by its crew and spectaotrs who lined the shores of beautiful Lake Constance.

The huge seaplane, with its double bank of motors ranged atop its main wing, lifted itself gracefully from the lake's surface, and cruised above the region for a half hour. The DO-X carried 45 tons during the trial.

China Expects to Settle With Russia Alone

SHANGHAI, July 25. (AP)—China expects that its dispute with Russia will be settled soon by direct negotiations, probably in Moscow, without intervention of any third power. It was thought that this method would have the approval of the Soviet government.

Foreign Minister C. T. Wang today announced his government was awaiting indication of the Russian attitude and that Chu Zao-Yank, Chinese minister in Finland, would leave Nanking on Saturday for Moscow. Minister Chu will have power to represent China.

Crisis in English Mill Dispute Yet Unsettled

LONDON, July 25. (AP)—The crisis in the cotton industry centering in Manchester was still unsettled tonight with only two days remaining before the lockout notices affecting more than 500,000 workers expire. Discussions have been continuing daily and were again adjourned tonight.

Changes in Grain Rates Barred Until January

WASHINGTON, July 25. (AP)—The interstate commerce commission announced today that any changes in freight rates on grain which may result from its investigation of grain rates under the Hoch-Smith resolution cannot be made effective before next January or probably later.

Succumbs in Dallas Dr. John Henry Dean

DALLAS, July 25. (AP)—Dr. John Henry Dean, 50, who had practiced medicine here for 23 years, died today. He came here from Waco in 1906. Among the survivors are Dr. J. J. Dean of Waco, a brother, and Mrs. R. A. McKinney of Lubbock, a sister.

Overtime Parker Pays Nine Fines To Escape Cop

After placing an overtime parking tag on the same automobile nine times within the last several weeks, always finding it parked in the same locality, it occurred to a Wichita Falls traffic officer Thursday afternoon that the car might bear watching, especially since there was a coincidence in that the car bore an out-of-town license and the owner had never appeared at court to answer the summons.

The officer waited and watched, conspicuously, until it came time for him to go off duty. Not satisfied, he told the night officer, who came to relieve him, about his vigilance. During the evening, the owner of the car came to the police station and virtually admitted defeat by saying that he knew the officers were watching his car and by paying the $18 bond for the nine charges. Armed with a note from the night captain, the man returned to his car, displayed the note to the officer who had not relinquished his watch and drove away.

TEXAS DRUG FIRMS COMBINE

Seven Wholesalers Form New Corporation

AUSTIN, July 25. (AP)—Formation of Southwestern Drug corporation to take over the assets of seven wholesale drug houses of Texas, with J. M. Penland of Waco as president, was announced here today after Attorney General Claude M. Pollard had approved the organization and a charter had been granted by the secretary of state. Headquarters will be in Dallas.

Thirty-five thousand shares of preferred stock of no par value and 140,000 shares of common stock were issued.

The seven companies are: Texas Drug company and Greiner-Kelley Drug company of Dallas; H. W. Williams and company of Fort Worth; Ainsworth Drug company and Thompson Drug company of Amarillo; Houston Drug of Houston, and the Waco Drug company, of Waco.

Officers of the company are J. M. Penland of Waco, president; W. E. Greiner, and J. T. Coulson, both of Dallas, and R. T. Gibbs, of Houston, vice president; Homer L. Bruce secretary, and Charles E. Richardson, treasurer.

Central Texas Storm Claims Lives of Two

WACO, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Sarah Augusta Hauge, 7, was instantly killed when struck this afternoon by lightning while standing on the porch of her parents' home at Robinson, near here.

A second death, indirectly due to the same storm, occurred at Elm Mott, north of Waco, when F. H. Smith, 69, died as result of heart failure, caused by his haste in trying to secure help to pull his car out of a mudhole.

Rain here measured 1.42 inches, the heaviest in two months. It was general in this section.

Texarkana Official Slays Goose; Is Fined

TEXARKANA, Texas, July 25. (AP)—P. A. Ayres, Texarkana street commissioner, has retired as a goose hunter. The pastime is too expensive, he avers.

Ayres killed a wild goose near the city waterworks plant a few days after the season closed. Convicted in municipal, he was fined $10 and costs, but appealed to circuit court.

A jury found him guilty and assessed his penalty at $25 and costs. After considerable figuring, Ayres found that the goose cost him a little over $200.

Calles in Seclusion Aboard French Liner

NEW YORK, July 25. (UP)—Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, former president of Mexico, was in seclusion today aboard the French liner Ile de France which sails tomorrow for Europe. Calles arrived last night in his private coach attached to a train from St. Louis. Since crossing the international boundary at Laredo, Texas, interviewers had been denied audience because of the general's illness. Calles is making the trip to Europe for treatment of a stomach disorder.

Hoover Plays 'Hands Off' Role in Tariff Dispute

WASHINGTON, July 25. (US)—President Hoover is following a "hands off" policy in the raging tariff war, according to prominent Republican members of the senate finance committee today. The president has not made a single suggestion to Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, chairman of the committee, in connection with the drafting of the tariff bill, Smoot revealed.

BIRTHDAY FETE FOR PERRYTON

Tenth Anniversary to Be Celebrated Aug. 22-23

Special to The Record News.

PERRYTON, Texas, July 25.—Fred Hood has been appointed by the local chamber of commerce as general manager for the tenth anniversary birthday celebration, which will be staged in Perryton Aug. 22-23. Because of the big wheat crop of this section, the record growth of Perryton, and the general prosperity of the North Plains country, the best celebration in the history of this city is being planned, according to Hood.

A baseball tournament, band concerts, a carnival show, a legion dance, and various attractions and amusements for the children are being planned.

Below is a list of committees that have been named to assist Mr. Hood in the staging of Perryton's tenth anniversary celebration: Baseball tournament, M. R. Coffee, chairman; Charles Whipp, Carl Ellis, and Clyde Coffer; carnival, C. K. Callaway; publicity and decorations, Van Stewart; band concerts, Bob Shindler; finances, B. B. Kent, James Wilson and R. P. Hurn; entertainment for children, Dave Shanks, Guy R. Sheets, and Ernest Record; ice water, Lee Sheffield and Top Regan; dance, American Legion.

Explosion Wrecks New Orleans Residence

NEW ORLEANS, July 25. (AP)—An explosion today demolished the residence of Charles J. Justice. Mrs. Justice, her 9-year-old son, Charles Jr., and his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Haelton, 68, of Greensboro, Ala., escaped with only slight injury to Mrs. Justice. Police expressed the opinion that the explosion was caused by gasses given off by a quantity of insectitide placed in the basement.

Hatcher Out For Governor

State Treasurer Tosses Sombrero in Circle

DALLAS, July 25. (AP)—Another name was added today to the growing list of those who will seek the governorship of Texas next year with the announcement of W. Gregory Hatcher, state treasurer, that he would run.

Hatcher said he was actuated in announcing for the governorship by the belief that it had become a public necessity for someone to be elected who is not afraid to speak out in the cause of the people.

He said he believed reducing the cost of the state government to be the paramount issue.

Shortly after Hatcher made his announcement, State Representative John E. Davis said he would consider the race for treasurer.

LOVE ATTACKS PENSION LAWS

DRIFTWOOD, Texas, July 25. (AP)—The present state pension law regarding amounts allowed civil war veterans and their widows was attacked by Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, in an address at a Confederate Veteran's reunion here today.

Ousted Dallas Cops Demand Early Hearing

DALLAS, July 25. (UP)—An early public hearing was demanded today by Mike Higgins and A. B. Farrow, veteran policemen ousted yesterday at the order of W. C. Graves, police commissioner.

Graves said today he would sit as a judge at the hearingg rather than act as chief witness against the men. He charged the men with having conspired with a woman to lead him into a Dallas beer saloon.

MORE POWER AT PERRYTON

Utilities Plant Improvements to Cost $98,000

Special to The Record News.

PERRYTON, Texas, July 25.—Keeping pace with the development of Perryton and the North Plains, the Texas-Louisiana Power company is now duplicating its present plant at a cost of $98,000. Cost of the new 306-h. p. engine that has just been installed is given at $34,500, and the new building and other additions will run $63,500, according to C. E. Whippo, local manager.

The company is now serving Spearman, Waka, Farnsworth, Darrousett, Huntoon, Booker and Follett from the central plant at Perryton.

From Jan. 1 to June 30, 84 new customers were gained in the city of Perryton, and July figures show that this will be a banner month for new business. A big increase is shown at each of the places served, due to the general development of the North Plains country.

To Women
who drive their own cars

His innocent dinner-time remark, "It tasted good, even if it was spinach," draws from her an astounding lecture on food products, relative food values, methods of cooking, diets for babies and grown-ups—and so on even unto why an apple a day keeps the doctor away.

Mr. Average Man wonders at woman's interest in many things which seem just a bit technical. He forgets that woman, particularly the woman of family, must be a pioneer for her family's sake.

She must seize on new food ideas—her family's health demands it.

She must study new automotive equipment, new motor fuels—family economy demands it.

So this woman who uses the family motor car to take the husband to work, the children to school, to go to market, to go shopping, to go a-pleasuring, exercises the same care in selecting her car's motor fuel that she exercises in selecting her family's food. Hence her choice of Humble Flashlike Gasoline. Economy and efficiency demand it.

For the discerning woman, who knows and wants the best, especially when she can get it at the price that is charged for ordinary products, nothing will take the place of Humble Flashlike Gasoline. That is why today you see at stations displaying the Humble signs an ever-increasing number of cars—and, if you will look a little closer, you will find that most of the drivers are women.

You may not be interested in the technical distribution or laboratory analysis of Humble Flashlike Gasoline, but everyone who drives a car is interested in how the product acts in the motor. The specifications given below describe the technical make-up of this product in everyday terms. It will pay you to study these specifications and make them the basis on which you buy your gasoline.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

PAYNE TO OPPOSE STEIN TODAY IN SERIES FINAL AT WACO

BUFFALOES TIE IDLE SPUDDERS

Great Pitching Keeps Galloways in Race

Special to The Record News.

WACO, July 25.—George Payne, who has won 15 and lost eight games this season, will be the hope of the Wichita Falls Spudders to keep them in the van in the Texas league in the final game of the series here tomorrow. Payne is the probable pitching selection of Skipper Jim Galloway, while Stein is the likely choice of Boss Del Pratt of the Cubs.

Rain, starting about an hour before game time, kept the nines idle today. The game postponed from today will be played when the Spudders pay their next and final visit to Waco late in August.

Batting Slump Will End

Despite a batting slump Foreman Galloway is well pleased with the way his team is going. Wiltse and Steengrafe are pitching great ball and with Payne form probably the most effective trio of chuckers in the loop.

No great concern is felt over the Spudder hitting slump, as the Wichita Falls club packs too great attacking power from the first to the eighth man in the batting order for them to be silenced long. They're apt, and in fact doubtless will start hammering opposing chucking at any time, though the pitching has improved greatly all around the circuit in the past month.

The day of idleness was costly to both clubs here, as Houston, by beating Dallas, went into a tie with the Spudders for first place, shoving Waco to third. The Cubs, however, are only five points back of the two leaders, Beaumont, rained out with Shreveport, fell from third to fourth.

Indians Escape Cellar

San Antonio, which had been tied for several days with Dallas for last place, finally broke the deadlock and went into seventh place.

Only a game and a half separates the leaders from the sixth-place Fort Worth Panthers.

McCarty Retains City Tennis Title

Tom Beats Davis in Three Sets in Final Round

Tom McCarty won his third straight city tennis championship by capturing the final round of the 1929 tournament yesterday from Thornton Davis. McCarty won yesterday in three straight sets, 6-2 6-4, 6-2, on the courts of Wichita Falls Golf and Country club.

The match was closer than the score indicates and McCarty was forced to play his best tennis all the way to win.

Two U. S. Stars In Canadian Net Semis

TORONTO, July 25. (AP)—Two Canadians and two stars from the United States gained the semi-final round of the Canadian lawn tennis championships today.

John Doeg, Santa Monica, Calif., will battle Frank Shields, New York, in one semi-final tomorrow while Willard Crocker and Jack Wright are clashing in the other.

Phillies and Robins In Player Exchange

PITTSBURGH, July 25. (UP)—Lou Koupal of the Brooklyn Robins was traded to Philadelphia Phillies today for Luther Roy, also a hurler, Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Dodgers, announced here.

He also said Glenn Wright, secured by the Robins from Pittsburgh, had been placed on the voluntary retired list. Wright has been unable to play because of a bad arm.

Tarheel Football Star Will Coach in Florida

WINTER PARK, Fla., July 25. (AP)—The alligator state has called one of its gridiron heroes back home.

Jack McDowall, who was something of a whizz as a high school athlete, and who won wider attention in his college days at North Carolina State, is to become athletic director at Rollins college here. Last year he coached Asheville, N. C. high school, where his grid teams lost but two games.

At North Carolina State, he won 11 letters in four sports and achieved all-Southern honors.

Ruth and the Stretch

Those who have taken it for granted that Chuck Klein, Mel Ott or some other home-run smacker will lead Babe Ruth to the wire have overlooked two important details.

One is that more than two months are left for the Babe to work with. Another is that a young hitter named Lou Gehrig led the Babe as late as September a year ago, but Lou wasn't hanging on at the finish. And no one ever accused Lou of lacking a punch. Ruth is spotting several of these youngsters a few home runs and about 11 or 12 years in the way of age. This latter detail may make the big difference. It will begin making a big difference soon, if it doesn't tell the story this season. But the Babe still is a master showman, just the type that would get his big thrill out of skipping by Klein, Ott and others along the September road. Last season Ruth had only Gehrig to beat. This season he will have at least half a dozen, possibly more, who persist in poling the ball out of the reservation. Whether they will keep persisting when the Babe draws up alongside is another matter.

Another Crown Wabbles

Just how any one ever got Joe Dundee into action against a man as good as Fields is another mystery. Most of Dundee's opponents for two years have been knocking everything off his frame except his crown, where conditions always were so arranged that said crown had to remain on, even if his head was knocked off.

In addition to the $50,000 offered, Floyd Fitzsimmons must have broken a world's record along the line of persuasive debate to bring Dundee out of his stockade for a championship test. Or it may have been that Joe was getting fed up on the beatings he had taken while still clinging to the crown.

Detroit happens to be one of the best fight centers in this or any other country, so Fitzsimmons should feel safe in his guarantee, especially as the populace at large always is more than eager to see a number of splinters knocked from any champion's block. If Fields doesn't win there will be nothing in the dope that one can look to. If he does win he may bring the welterweight situation back to its old mark and wipe away some of the rust and dust that has collected in the last few years since Dundee took it over.

The Hitting Factor in Golf

A large number of devoted devotees seem to think that the speed of the club head is regulated by the speed of the hands and wrists in action. They know that the punch depends largely upon the speed of the club head as it slashes into the ball. So to get this speed they rush the hands back and rush the club head forward with fast traveling hands. The golf swing is the "application of centrifugal force," which means power from the inside out. Club-head power comes largely from the work of the hands and wrists, but not from the speed of the hands and wrists.

You never get the impression that Bobby Jones' hands are in any great hurry, either in taking the ball back or in lashing it forward. But you do get the impression that the club is in a big hurry just before it comes to the ball and a few feet thereafter.

Most of those who play golf get enough speed to the club head, but the trouble is they get it in at the wrong place and at the wrong time. Few of them can wait for club head speed until the moment is right. The down swing is a matter of increasing speed until the final swish, swing, swat or snap. If this punch enters the swing too quickly there will be no punch left when the ball is hit. Some canny golfers pick out a spot three or four inches beyond the ball as the main center of impact in order to hold the final wallop in reserve, as a guard against hitting too soon. If a bad habit can't be corrected one way it may be corrected in another.

Francis Ouimet turned in an 82 at night with the course illuminated with an arc light effect. This might be all right for a Ouimet, but figure how many arc lights it would take for the average golfer, who explores a much wider range of landscape as he battles to crack a 100 even under the blazing light of the sun.

Much has been said and written about the importation of foreign fighters, who are supposed to get most of the good assignments. One fairly good reason for this may have been that so many American fighters refused to fight, no matter what the pay happened to be. This has been true especially in the heavyweight department where their main interest seemed to be tapping the till rather than tapping some opponent's chin.

Ty Cobb once went through an entire season with only one home run. No ball player could accomplish that feat at this date, even if he did nothing but bunt from April to October.

Tilden Meets Cochet, Lott Faces Borotra Today in Davis Cup Tennis

PARIS, July 25. (AP)—Just as America would have it, and with France entirely satisfied too, the Davis cup forces of two great tennis nations will swing into action tomorrow in the opening singles battles with Big Bill Tilden facing Henri Cochet and George Lott in the opposite court from Jean Borotra.

The draw for the challenge round for the historic trophy was staged today.

The veteran Tilden, America's chief hope, will face Cochet, world's champion, in the crucial duel of the day at 4:30 p. m., (10:30 a. m. E. S. T.) after Lott opens the series with Borotra.

In the French mind Borotra is a two to one favorite to defeat Lott. Despite recent defeats, Tilden's reputation still carries such weight in France that he is quoted at even money with Cochet.

The pairings will be reversed for the second singles matches Sunday. Saturday Wilmer Allison, Texas, and John Van Ryn, Princeton, will engage the French in the doubles combat. France's doubles team will not be announced until tomorrow, but Cochet and Borotra were expected to carry that part of the cup defense burden also.

Marriner Victor Over Tony Fuente

Former Grid Star Continues To Win in Ring

CHICAGO, July 25. (UP)—Les Marriner, former university of Illinois football player, continued his climb in the heavyweight boxing division by outpointing Tony Fuente of Mexico, tonight in a 10-round bout.

The Fuente-Marriner bout headlined a card on which Max Schmeling, German heavyweight title contender, made his initial appearance in Chicago. Schmeling boxed four rounds with two sparring partners and made a great hit in the fifth German city of the world.

Marriner won all the way against Fuente, but seemingly did not have enough punch to hurt Tony.

In a preliminary fight, Salvatore Ruggirello, Italy, knocked out Jack League, San Antonio, Texas, in the fifth round.

BLUE JACKETS SCORE 9-4 WIN

Wichita Polists in Victory At Detroit

Special to The Record News.

DETROIT, Mich., July 25.—After trying faithfully since the first of the month, the Wichita Falls Blue Jackets beat the powerful Detroit Freebooters, 9 to 4 on the Detroit field this afternoon. Owing to the fact that the ponies were showing wear and tear, there was no game Tuesday and today's game was limited to six chukkers of six minutes apiece.

To the surprise of the crowd, the Texans started to hammer the Detroit goal and they did not let up at any time. They received a handicap of three, which they did not need, having the score sewed up, 4 to 0, earned at the end of the second chukker.

There was not as much good polo as usual. The rough field made accurate shooting almost impossible. Besides both teams were trying out new mounts. Gill and Morris led in scoring for the winners, and Harrison for the Freebooters. The last score of the game was the best, as Captain Morris shot a backhander at a sharp angle squarely between the posts.

These teams will play full periods on Sunday and and there may be a change in the visitors' lineup, as they are looking for another of their stars to arrive from Texas. Score—

Daily Dope

By LARRY DAILEY

THE SUSPICION that Andre Routis was a Camembert champion has materialized into definite knowledge of that fact. It required Al Singer, the Bronx featherweight, only two rounds to knock out the champion of the 126-round division at Brooklyn Wednesday night. But Routis, with a caution in keeping with the general run of alleged ring titleholders of today, forced Singer to come in for the fight over the welterweight poundage, so the title did not change hands.

Coming out for the second round, Singer lashed out with a right cross which dropped the Frenchman. Twice more Routis was floored for a count and he was on queer street when the referee waved Singer, set for the kill, to his corner.

Routis won the featherweight championship last winter from Tony Canzoneri. Tony held Andre lightly and making weight also weakened him. Since winning the crown Routis has been beaten repeatedly, but he has never risked his crown, the Frenchman making all his appearances in no-decision bouts or forcing his adversaries to come in over the class weight limit.

◇ ◇ ◇

WEDNESDAY night was a bad night for champions. Mushy Callahan, the holder of the junior welterweight crown, received a terrific shellacking from Jackie Berg, the English Hebrew. Like Routis, Callahan forced Berg to fight over the junior welter limit of 140, hence he too retains his title. Callahan was almost knocked out by Berg in the seventh round and he just managed to last the 10-round limit.

There are only three champions worthy of the name in boxing today. They are Sammy Mandell, lightweight; Mickey Walker, middleweight, and Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight.

FIELDS WINS WELTERWEIGHT TITLE ON FOUL IN SECOND ROUND

OUT ON FEET, JOE HITS LOW

Champion Is Floored Twice Before Ending Battle

ARENA, DETROIT, July 26. (AP)—Jackie Fields of Chicago won the world's welterweight championship tonight when he defeated Joe Dundee, the titleholder, in the second round in the scheduled 15-round contest, on a foul.

Dundee, floored twice in the second round and groggy, punched a sweeping right blow in foul territory one minute and 55 seconds after the second round opened.

Fields, in apparent distress, sunk to his knees and was unable to continue. He was dragged to his corner but was in such pain that he was unable to sit on his chair. He flopped over onto the rosin and the referee, Elmer "Slim" McClelland, declared him the winner.

Before the foul was landed, it was apparent that Dundee was facing defeat. Fields swarmed all over him at the start of the second round chasing him into the ropes after flooring him twice. He was an open target for Fields' sharp right crosses and left hooks to the chin.

Joe Dundee, defending the world's welterweight championship, weighed 147 pounds when he crawled through the ropes to engage Jackie Fields of Chicago in their 15-round engagement in Floyd Fitzsimmons' new arena in the Michigan state fair grounds tonight.

Fields, outstanding challenger, scaled 145, two pounds under the limit. He was, however, a favorite in the betting.

The match, the first 15-round contest staged under the Michigan laws, was fought in Fitzsimmons' new arena which had a seating capacity of 32,000. The attendance at the time the first preliminary started was estimated at 25,000, with receipts at $110,000, a record for a welterweight championship contest.

Junior C.-C. to Open Weekly Meetings Aug. 2

Junior chamber of commerce membership luncheon meetings will be held weekly beginning Friday, Aug. 2, it was announced Thursday night by Walter Nelson Jr., president of the organization.

Programs for the weekly assemblies will consist of open discussion on current and prospective projects of the junior chamber, and entertainment features, all to be handled regularly by the standing committee on membership meetings, Mr. Nelson said. The place of meeting has not been determined definitely, it was stated.

One of the objects of the organization, it was indicated, will be to increase the membership to 450 before Jan. 1, 1930.

Hard-Fighting Mexican Boxers Fall Short of Championships

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25. (AP)—Mexican standard bearers have tramped through the corridors of pugilistica's hall of fame for the past 35 years, but no sun-bronzed brother from the republic below the Rio Grande has yet donned the coveted robes of a champion.

These neighbors on the south first came into ring prominence shortly after boxing gloves were used for regular contests in 1892. Of the old school, the two whose glory never will entirely fade out are Aurelio Herrera and Joe Rivers (Jose Ybarra), both lightweights.

Herrera pioneered the Mexican leather pushing movement in 1898 and although his is but a name in memory, this sturdy battler is spoken of as one of the hardest punchers of the lightweight ranks. In 1904, before he was champion, Battling Nelson fought Herrera and always declared the latter hit him harder than any other man he ever met.

Rivers had everything that goes with a champion's makeup but his opponents of the time were lightweights of the caliber of Ad Wolgast and Willie Ritchie, both title holders, and Leach Cross and Joe Mandot. Rivers met Wolgast in 1912 and Ritchie in 1913 for the championship but each time was knocked out.

The biggest Mexican to draw on a glove thrived in the nineties under the name of Mexican Pete Everritt. He scaled 240 pounds ringside. His claim to fame began and ended with a fight with James J. Jeffries in 1896, the latter winning in three rounds.

One of the later day mitt wielders, Battling Ortega, a middleweight from Los Angeles, earned the distinction of being the toughest of his nationality. It is said he never took a backward step. His opponents numbered Mike Gibbons, George Chip, Ted "Kid" Lewis, K. O. Kruvosky and other topnotchers of a decade ago.

Bert Colima, Whittier, Calif., middleweight, developed during the four round amateur game after professional boxing was voted illegal in 1914, is the leading money maker of the lot.

Three Mexicans, all American born, have fought in title bouts. After Rivers had his two whirls at the lightweight title, there was a lapse until 1926 when Georgie Rivers of Los Angeles met Fidel La Barba for the flyweight championship. Baby Sal Sorio of San Bernardino is the latest challenger, his unsuccessful effort to remove Ted Morgan's junior lightweight crown becoming a matter of record this year.

Mexican born boxers have been greatly in the minority. Three now campaigning with some success are Blas Rodrigues and Chato Laredo, flyweights, and Eduardo Huaracha, light heavyweight.

Car Thief Surrenders in Disgust When Pilfered 'Wreck' Gives Out

LONGVIEW, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Disgusted when the automobile he had stolen ran out of gasoline, a tall, bedraggled youth walked into the sheriff's office here the other night, asked for the sheriff, laid down a key and said:

"Well, here's the key. You'll find the rest of the car about three miles east of here. Any man who would try to drive a wreck like that ought to be in prison. Lock me up."

The youth said he had stolen the car in Tyler, and that he was en route to Texarkana from where he had planned to depart for Chicago.

When Smith county officers referred to papers, they found the boy had already been indicted there on a forgery charge.

Lockney Men Turn Defunct College Into Auditorium and City Park

Special to The Record News.

LOCKNEY, July 25.—The local city dads are widely heralded by both mature and youthful citizens, as being ultra-progressive when the future interests of the city are at stake. Their latest move was to acquire the properties of the defunct Lockney college and Bible school, consisting of a large cement block building and eight acres of land located five blocks east of the business section of the city. Workmen are now busy and when completed the result will be a modern auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,000 people, a public library, a banquet room, a football and baseball ground with bleachers arranged to seat 1,000 people, a modern swimming pool, a children's playground, all to be situated in a landscaped setting. Civic leaders say that the Lockney community park will be a credit to a city of 10,000 population.

Delay of Cruisers Up to Senate, He Says

PORTLAND, Maine, July 25. (UP)—The United States' cruiser construction program must be carried out, despite the Hoover-MacDonald agreement on naval disarmament, United States Senator Frederick Hale, Republican, Maine, believes.

Hale, chairman of the senate committee on naval affairs, who led the fight for adoption of the cruiser bill, told the United Press tonight that he could "conceive of no possible agreement that can be reached with the United States, whereby we should not have to complete the first five cruisers already started, the second five whose starting has been appropriated for, and in all probability the remaining five cruisers authorized in the cruiser bill."

"Yardsticks and equivalent values to be used in reaching parity may prove helpful," he said, "but if I know anything about the feeling in the United States senate, no agreement that does not provide real parity, recognized as such by authorities who know what they are talking about, will ever be ratified by that body."

Senator Hale expressed the belief that Prime Minister MacDonald's assent to the principle of naval parity with the United States was by far the most important development of recent naval limitation activities.

MILITARY SLASH MEETS OPPOSITION

WASHINGTON, July 25. (US)—Strong opposition is developing in congressional circles to President Hoover's commission for paring down military expenditures, it was indicated today.

With the army already on a skeleton basis, advocates of preparedness believe that any move to reduce present expenditures would be a serious blow at the ground defenses of the nation.

Air Mail Service Hearing Set Aug. 1

Information received Thursday at local chamber of commerce offices from Erle P. Halliburton, head of the S. A. F. E. airlines, indicate that material progress is being made toward the establishment of a transcontinental air mail service tentatively planned to include Wichita Falls on its route.

Aug. 1 has been set by the post-office department for hearing committees from St. Louis, Tulsa and Oklahoma City relative to inaugurating a mail-carrying air service from Los Angeles through the Southwest to New York and Washington, the message stated. Local business organizations were asked to wire representatives of this section in Washington and the postal authorities, emphasizing the importance of routing such service through this city.

MILK RECEIPTS HOLD STEADY

Rains Over Area Assist Production Here

More than 58,000 pounds of whole milk is being brought to local milk-using plants from dairies and farms in the territory surrounding Wichita Falls, according to information given Thursday.

The Kraft cheese factory ranks first in volume of milk received, with more than 20,000 pounds per day. During the last few weeks a small decline has reduced daily receipts from a highpoint of about 25,000 pounds. While production is expected to decrease throughout the remainder of the year, recent good rains which renewed the pastures, and constant additions of dairy cattle to herds in this community, will probably provide a better record of sustained deliveries than that of former years.

The Producers creamery reported daily receipts as totalling more than 18,000 pounds, while the third largest amount 12,000 pounds is being brought to the Lehrack Ice Cream company's plant. The Chapman creamery is receiving about 6,000 pounds, and the Ferguson Ice Cream company more than 2,000 pounds.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—A further decline in cotton today was checked by buying on the failure of West Texas to receive rain, talk of an improved technical position following recent liquidation, and reports of a slightly better trade demand. October contracts sold up from 18.62 to 18.86 and closed at 18.79. The general market closed steady at net advances of 6 to 12 points.

Prices opened 5 to 10 points lower. Selling continued and active months showed net losses of 10 to 14 points. December selling to 18.56 and March to 18.98. Offerings subsided at these figures.

Prices worked gradually higher. December selling at 19.11 and March at 19.25, the market became rather irregular. Last prices showing reactions of 5 to 8 points from the best. Current July contracts after opening at 18.27, sold off to 18.15, but rallied with the last sale at 18.33.

Exports today, 26,598, making 3,198,752 so far this season. Port receipts, 846. U. S. port stocks, 562,326.

Stocks Quiet as Traders Wait On Meeting of Federal Reserve Board

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 25. (US)—Traders waited on the federal reserve meeting so that the stock market backed and filled in narrow range today. A few stocks forged ahead due to individual developments or forced short covering but the list as a whole remained close to the final level of Wednesday. Marmon skyrocketed 10 points, Allis Chalmers gained 8½, and Radio Corporation 6⅝. Steel closed fractionally lower. Railroad shares continued irregular with Central and others dipping slightly. Coppers and Oils continued to display a soft undertone. Continued holding off of funds caused advance in the call rate from renewal of 8 to 10 per cent. Turnover dropped down near the 3,000,000 share level.

Meetings held today all resulted in bullish developments. The Baldwin Locomotive directors decided on the split-up of the common stock that was first forecast here more than two months ago. Bethlehem Steel's earnings and increased dividend were fully up to expectation and strengthened belief that the statement to be issued by the Steel Corporation next Tuesday will show the best income in history for the second quarter of the year. While some seasonal slackening is being experienced all the Steel men are of the belief that the balance of the year will show earnings above those of previous years. Yellow Truck earnings' statement for the second quarter shows the best income in history with net of over $800,000. The report is regarded as reflecting completion of plans of General Motors interests for making the company the leader in the truck field.

Important interests in General Motors are reported to be holding conferences in Detroit. All manner of rumors are afloat but in the most reliable quarters the belief prevails that the meetings will result in more aggressive action both in the automobile trade field and in the stock market. There is no better advertising for an automobile company than an active and strong market in its stock. Further denials are made that there is any likelihood of any further important change in the holdings of the larger stockholders. Marmon continued to reflect the expectation that this quarter's earnings would run ahead of the record showing of the second half of the year.

Goldman Sachs interests are mentioned as identified with the activity in General American Tank. After being subjected to work of almost a dozen different pools in the last few years, it is thought by those interested that current increasing earnings and the standing of the new group will bring better success than in the past. The same interests are mentioned in connection with a new pool in General Food, as the Postum Company now is known. Further reports of International Hydro Electric expansion plans are heard coincident with preparations for special group activity in the stock. There has been considerable inquiry made as to the identity of the new interests working in Asphalt. All that can be said is that they are among the best informed on oil conditions in the country. Murray Corporation shorts are getting something to worry about in the advices telling of capacity operations and further gain in earnings this quarter.

There is no consolation for bulls in the federal reserve statements. The ratio of reserves are up but that is due to the corrective steps taken by the reserve board which have tended to tighten money rates. Continuation of reserve pressure means continued higher call rates. The system shows $20,000,000 drop in bills discounted and close to $10,000,000 decline in bills securities which is equivalent to taking two or three hundred million out of the credit market. The reason is found in the further increase in brokers' loans of $95,000,000 to a new top. Some traders had been informed by one large bank that the loans would show a decline for the week while others had expected little change. None expected as big an increase as was shown.

SNAKE ENJOYS 'TUMMY ACHE'

Huge Python Swallows His Woolen Blanket

CANTON, Ohio, July 25. (UP)—A group of men here interested in the personal welfare of "Big Samson," 32-foot python, kept on trying to do something about Samson's big stomach ache. Samson meantime is enjoying the idea of being the only fleece lined snake in captivity by virtue of having swallowed his blanket last week.

There is no life insurance on Samson and he is valued at $100 a foot—or $3,200.

A batter of five dozen eggs was poured into Samson through a nine-foot pipe rammed into his elongated stomach. The men said they did that to make Samson sick. They are afraid, they said, that the dyes of the blanket will poison the reptile. Three men held Samson while a fourth poured the batter in the funnel.

But today Samson had showed no signs of regurgitating, no particular intention to die and, what's more, very little concern about all the doings.

Samson was rushed to Cincinnati the other day and veterinarian doctors massaged his mid-section vigorously, but no luck.

Panhandle Sage Liberated From Borger's Prison

AMARILLO, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Gene Howe, who was taken off a train at Borger and charged with malicious slander, returned to Amarillo today after having spent most of the day and part of the night behind the bars.

Howe in his newspaper column was charged with being responsible for articles that reflected upon the Borger citizenship. He had written some time back that he had stood on the main street of Borger at midnight and had read a newspaper by the flashes of guns.

The editor was tried in justice court and was released upon his statement that he merely had attempted to be humorous and that he apologized fully and humbly.

Howe today wrote an article complimenting Borger as a city but stated he was astonished that a city of 10,000 inhabitants had policemen without uniforms. Howe has made an offer to purchase metropolitan uniforms for the eight Borger policemen.

Tulia Ton Litter Work Shows Good Results

TULIA, Texas, July 25.—The ton litter work in Swisher county is showing up some good results. J. K. Adams weighed his litter of seven pigs at the age of 110 days and found that he had 1,040 pounds of live weight. The total cost of this gain is $28.45 or $2.73 per hundred pounds.

These pigs have had access to alfalfa pasture and were fed a protein supplement.

J. K. Adams is a 4-H club boy and is expecting to make a good record in the state ton litter contest. He is also doing his best to win the Swisher county ton litter contest. The litter will be weighed every 10 days until the contest is complete.

The Tulia Chamber of Commerce will award cash premiums to the winner of the contest in Swisher county.

Proposed Brady Airport Approved by Council

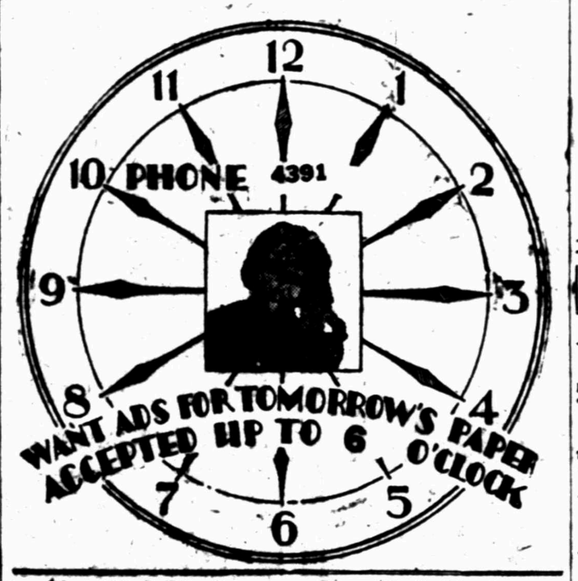

BRADY, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Construction of a proposed new airport has been approved unanimously by the Brady city council.

A long-term lease was signed for a 157-acre tract of land located on highway No. 9, three miles south of town. This site has been approved by the U. S. department of commerce.

The new field will be 3,229 by 2,583 feet, large enough to provide ample runways for any type of aircraft. The new field has good drainage and a splendid turf which will eliminate the expense of building artificial runways.

The hour of the ceremony was 4 a. m.

'LEGGER SHOOTS WHOLE FAMILY

As Police Chase Car, Man Kills One, Wounds Two

NEWCASTLE, Penn., July 25. (UP)—John Seever, 40, Cleveland, shot and killed his wife and wounded another woman and her son while their automobile was being chased by state police on the Newcastle-Youngstown road near here today.

Mrs. Stella Seever, 36, died instantly. Mrs. Katherine Rogers, 40, is in a Newcastle hospital near death from five bullet wounds in her body, and her son, Walter, 10, is suffering from two wounds, one in the shoulder and the other in the arm.

Seever told newspaper men he is a bootlegger. He said he and the women had been drinking and had argued.

This Is No Joke

Aberdeen.—No longer will the Scotch bear the brunt of "tight" jokes. Lord Provost Lewis' recent accomplishment will do some extent allay all such stories. FOKKER SHIPS FOR T-P LINES

Two $80,000 Planes Fly to El Paso

DALLAS, July 25. (AP)—Two giant tri-motored Fokker airplanes of the Standard Air Lines of California landed here today en route to Los Angeles where they will replace single-motored passenger planes in the air-and-rail transportation schedule maintained between Los Angeles and Midland, Texas, by the Standard lines and the Texas and Pacific railway, jointly.

The planes, which officials of the lines claimed to be the finest ever built, costing around $80,000 each, were greeted here by Texas and Pacific officials. They left for El Paso tonight.

The planes connect Dallas traffic with Los Angeles through the Sunshine Special here to El Paso, leaving here at 12:45 p. m., and arriving in El Paso at 8 o'clock the following morning. Passengers are then transferred to the planes, arriving in Los Angeles at 4 o'clock the same afternoon.

This service was begun last Feb. 4.

Receivers Asked for Southern Publisher

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 25. (UP)—Judge A. L. Franklin of the Richmond superior court here, has issued an order to William Lavarre to appear in court on August 5 to show cause why he should not place stock in four papers purchased by himself and Harold Hall in the hands of Thomas J. Hamilton, receiver of the four publications.

Two Spartanburg, S. C., newspapers, one in Columbia, S. C., and the Augusta Chronicle were purchased by the two men with funds furnished by the International Paper and Power company. Stock of the four papers amounts to $870,000.

CITY INSURANCE RATES SLICED

Municipal Property Given 25 Per Cent Cut

Through the efforts of George D. Fairtrace and other representatives of municipalities in Texas, the state fire insurance commission has annbunced a 25 per cent reduction in the gross fire insurance premiums on city property, Mr. Fairtrace announced Wednesday.

The reduction effects a saving of approximately $1,000 yearly for the city of Wichita Falls, applying to all municipal property on the mercantile schedule. The major properties affected are the Memorial auditorium, the central police and fire stations and the city barns, Mr. Fairtrace said.

The decision to appear before the fire insurance commission was fostered by the Texas league of municipalities and representatives from Wichita Falls, Bowie, San Antonio and the port commission of the city of Houston appeared before the commissioners at Austin recently, presenting their claims for lowering of the fire insurance premiums. Other Texas cities were represented at Austin by the secretary of the Texas league of municipalities, he said.

Mr. Fairtrace presented figures to the commissioners showing that the fire loss to municipal property in Wichita Falls had been less than one-half of one per cent over a period of the last seven years. Other city representatives showed similar records and due to the extremely low ratio of fire loss as compared to the premiums paid, the commission decided upon the reduction.

Scouts Urged to Send Reservations for Camp

With only three days remaining in which to make reservations for the last period of the Boy Scout camp at Diversion lake, to be held Aug. 4 to 14, Frank B. Creighton, scout executive, has urged all Boy Scouts wishing to attend the camp to send in their applications since several reservations are still open.

Unless at least 40 boys apply for reservations at the camp, the project will have to be abandoned, Mr. Creighton said. Approximately 70 boys in Wichita Falls and surrounding towns have signified their intention of attending the camp but only written applications will be considered as actual enrollment in the final camp. The camp will begin a week from next Sunday, following the close of the patrol leaders' conference at Camp Ephriam Griffin. All honor campers selected at previous camps and those who will be selected at the final camp will be eligible to make the annual honor campers' trip, this year to Carlsbad caverns in New Mexico.

Three County Officials Go to A. & M. Course

Burl Bryant, county superintendent, G. C. McGown, county agent, and Miss Ethel L. Webb, home demonstration agent, will leave here Sunday for College Station where they will attend the regular A. & M. Farmers short course which opens there next week. Members of the boys clubs and the Four-H organizations in the county who have been working this year under the direction of Miss Webb and Mr. McGown will also attend the courses.

Mr. Bryant is making the trip to attend the annual county superintendents' convention which is held in connection with the course and which is concluded on Aug. 2. He will address the group of superintendents on the merits and demerits of consolidated schools during the first day's meeting.

Work Completed On North Arch of Bridge

Workers on the new Wichita river bridge at Scott avenue have practically completed the north arch of the structure, J. M. Isbell, county engineer, announced Thursday afternoon. The contractors will go at once to the middle arch, forms which are under construction. Ten days preparation will be required before the pouring of concrete for the second arch can begin, the engineer explained.

George D. Fairtrace, city manager, said Thursday afternoon that the city would begin work on the approaches to the bridge about Aug. 15. The structure is scheduled to be completed early in November.

Efforts Made to Connect Pair Held Here With Union City Gun Fight

Members of the sheriff's department Thursday afternoon sent fingerprints of two men arrested here Wednesday to officials of El Reno, Okla., where a recent attempted burglary and gun fight at Union City is being investigated. The two prisoners were arrested by Dick Morris and Charlie Gant about noon Wednesday as they slept, their hands on loaded revolvers, in the river bottom east of town.

Local officers are expecting Oklahoma City agents to take possession of an automobile stolen from an Oklahoma physician Tuesday night and seized by the deputies at the time of the arrest.

The older of the two men held told officials he escaped from a federal prison at Chillicothe, Ohio, last March. Officials are also investigating his state record. No new developments are expected until the fingerprints can be compared with those already in possession of officers at El Reno.

Driver Escapes Injury In Lawton Accident

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., July 25.—J. C. Finch of Oklahoma City, driving a Packard coupe, crashed into the south side of the steel bridge over Cache creek on highway 29 east of this city yesterday morning, miraculously escaping serious injury. The car was badly damaged and 25 feet of the iron railing on the bridge was torn away. The two front wheels of the car were over the side of the bridge when the car was stopped. A fall to the bottom of the creek below would have proven fatal to the driver.

Mr. Finch told officers he believed he had dropped sleep while driving. This is the third accident at the narrow bridge within the past few weeks, one of which put the bridge out of commission for several days.

POWELL ASKS SUIT RETRIAL

Second Hearing on Claim Against Sheriff Sought

W. S. Powell, whose $10,000 damage suit against C. E. Goodwin, sheriff of Archer county, Monday afternoon ended in an instructed verdict for the defendant, Thursday filed a motion for a new trial in the office of Miss Eunice Jackson, district clerk. Powell is seeking damages for an alleged false arrest here last December, in which he claimed to have been held without a warrant and to have been denied opportunity to make bond.

The motion filed Thursday is in protest against the action of Judge P. A. Martin in instructing the verdict orally and without a motion from either side. The plaintiff also excepts to the action of the court in allowing him no opportunity to object or to offer any exceptions or arguments before the jury was instructed.

The plaintiff appeals from the verdict on the further grounds that the "undisputed evidence shows that the officer failed to take his prisoner before a magistrate, refused to allow him to make bond, and arrested him without a warrant even though he had time to obtain the papers either in Archer or in Wichita counties."

Two Jailed After Lawton Car Crash

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., July 25.—Two men were in the city jail and two small children were under care of physicians as a result of an automobile accident on Ninth street and D avenue. The children are Joe and Angeline Maltese, aged 2 and 4 years, respectively.

According to persons who witnessed the accident the men were driving at a high rate of speed when their car crashed into the Maltese car. One of the children was thrown through the glass door of the automobile. The car drove rapidly away, following the crash, but were overhauled by the city motorcycle officer six miles southwest of Lawton.

The Maltese car was thrown 25 feet when struck.

Grand Jury Expected To End Work Friday

The 30th district grand jury, in session here since Wednesday morning, is expected to close its July work by noon Friday, according to information given late Thursday by county officials. The work of the investigating body, reconvened to clear up criminal inquiries for the term, has proved more extensive than officials first announced and more than a dozen indictments are expected in the final report to Judge Allan D. Montgomery Friday.

Monroe Street Postal Station To Open for Service August 1

Complete postal service will begin in the Monroe street classified station, 1512 Monroe, on Aug. 1 according to present plans, O. P. Maricle, postmaster, stated Thursday afternoon.

Interior finishing of the building which is being built by C. E. Litchfield was nearing completion Thursday, and installation of equipment for the postoffice is already under way, it was said. Under the contract awarded Mr. Litchfield, the building is to be equipped with safe, office furniture, lock-boxes, racks, etc., requisite to the handling of all kinds of mail.

The new station will be in charge of a superintendent who will be selected from the staff at the downtown postoffice, Mr. Maricle said. He will be assisted for the present by one clerk. Nine city carriers and one rural carrier will work from the Monroe street station, and mail posted there will be brought to trains four times daily. Under the present plans, it was announced, the office will be closed on Sundays, but collections of outgoing mail will be made from a box at the curb. All the facilities afforded by the main postoffice will be available at the Monroe street office, it was said.

County Official To Face Investigation

ENID, Okla., July 25. (UP)—A petition was filed with O. C. Wybrant, district court, today seeking a special grand jury investigation of the office of Dan Mitchell, Garfield county attorney. The petition asked that reports of an audit of Mitchell's office and of the books of the justice of the peace be made to the jury.

Mitchell said he would aid the investigators in auditing his books. If a special jury is not called for this investigation, Mr. R. Weigle, who filed the petition, asked the court to allow reports to be submitted to the grand jury which will convene July 29 to investigate offices of the county clerk and county commissioners.

Demonstration of How to Maneuver In Holdup Fatal

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 25. (UP)—Capt. William Kieb of Audubon, N. J., a field representative of the Red Cross, was accidentally shot to death today while demonstrating how to escape bandits.

Keib was showing Policeman Warren Sanderiat of the station here how easily he could maneuver away from a person prodding him in the back with a gun. Sanderiat acted as the bandit and Keib the victim. Just as Keib started a movement, Sander's gun accidentally discharged. Both men thought the revolver unloaded.

New Filling Station Being Built at Bowie

BOWIE, Texas, July 25. (Spl.)—Work is now being done on a new filling station being built by E. E. Messmer at the corner of East Wise and Lindsay streets on the lot formerly owned by W. A. Wells. The local contractor on the structure is J. G. Reasoner. It is hoped to have the new station in operation by the middle of August. The station is being erected according to plans and specifications of the Gulf Refining company, who will operate the plant, having leased it for a number of years.

LIONS EXPECT 200 AT PICNIC

Preparations Completed for Party Friday

Attendance of more than 200 persons, including more than 50 from Wichita Falls, is anticipated in preparations completed Thursday for the Wichita county Lions club picnic to be held in the Coleman grove near Iowa Park beginning at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, it was announced Thursday by those in charge of arrangements.

Lions club members of Electra, Iowa Park, Burkburnett and Wichita Falls, together with their families, have been invited to participate in an "afternoon of big whoopee," according to C. C. Hudson, ex-president of the Iowa Park club. No formal program will be followed, he said, but provisions have been made for baseball, horseshoe pitching, yo-yo contests, and other activities for both men and women, grownups and youngsters.

The baseball match for which special talent is being groomed will be between a Wichita Falls-Iowa Park nine and a team made up of Burkburnett-Electra representatives.

Fifty large watermelons now on ice in Iowa Park will be served by the Iowa Park club following a chicken picnic dinner, it was said. It was reported that a band from Electra will be on hand to lend musical stimulus to all phases of the out-door soiree.

650 ATTEND CONCERT

A crowd of approximately 650 persons attended the free motion pictures and Playground band concert at O'Reilly park Thursday night, according to C. C. Bunnenberg, city park superintendent. The picture program included an educational film, a western feature and a comedy. The Playground band, under the direction of Paul Sisk during this week, gave a number of selections before and following the motion pictures.

A clear skin is irresistible

...in fact, popularity depends upon it
THAT priceless treasure—a clear, flawless, lovely skin—charms, with admiration, the hearts of men.
First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.
A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.
Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin. S.S.S. promotes constructive metabolism (healthy body building). It increases the number of red-blood-cells.
The way to the skin is through the blood. Strong, healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.
All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.
S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.
