Strong Coastal Point Of Axis Falls To Allies

Axis Prisoners Taken In Sicily Now Total 130,000

BY DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 13—Allied authorities announced today that the U. S. Seventh Army had captured Cape Orlando, the German coastal stronghold which was outflanked by an American landing from the sea Wednesday.

The fall of the cape, little more than 40 miles west of Messina, came after American troops to the east and west had established a junction and overrun the adjacent towns of Naso and Brolo.

Axis prisoners now exceed 130,000, it was announced. The Americans sprang forward eight miles along the northern coast through Cape Orlando while the British Eighth army advanced four miles on the east coast, threatening Taormina.

In 35 Miles Of Messina

Both Allied wings were within 35 miles of Messina, whose beaches were the scene of an increasing enemy evacuation movement to Italy.

Randazzo, the central anchor of the Germans' rear guard line, was menaced from the flank as American infantrymen surged forward over the northern ring of mountains.

Naso lies two miles south of the tip of Cape Orlando; Brolo is four miles east of the cape. The operations involved crossing of the Naso river, the communique said.

Further Land Gains

Both at the center and on the east coast there were further gains, despite stiffening resistance from the suicide rear guards which the Germans have left behind to cover their withdrawal from the Messina bridgehead to Sicily.

The Eighth army reached the village of Trearchirafi, on the east coast three miles south of Riposto, and is threatening Giarre, the communique said.

"Northwest of Mt. Etna, after bitter fighting north of Bronte, the Eight army succeeded in making an advance towards Maletto in cooperation with the (U. S.) Seventh army troops, who are now four miles from Randazzo on the Cesaro road," it stated. "American mobile forces covering the

A&M Directors Meet Sept. 6

Adams Takes Over Extension Duties

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Aug. 13 — F. M. Law, president of the Texas A. & M. college board of directors, today said the matter of naming a permanent president of the college "will certainly be discussed" at the board's Sept. 6 meeting here.

He said he did not know whether a permanent president would be appointed at that time.

No applications for the position, now held by Dean Frank C. Bolton as acting president following last Saturday's resignation of President T. O. Walton, have been received by the board, Law said.

Assumes Temporary Duties

Asked whether the board would also name a permanent director of the college's extension service at its meeting here, Law said that the board must confer with the U. S. Department of Agriculture before taking such action.

George E. Adams, state agent for the extension service, has assumed temporarily the duties of H. H. Williamson, whose dismissal by the board as extension service director remains unexplained.

Acting President Bolton announced last night that Adams had accepted the offer. Bolton was named acting president after Dr. Walton resigned on grounds of ill health.

Gilchrist Is Mentioned

(The Dallas Morning News said today that Gibb Gilchrist, dean of engineering at A. and M. and former state highway engineer, was "reported by unquotable sources as No. 1 nominee for presidency of the institution.")

Williamson said when advised of the action Wednesday he knew of no reason behind it and told Byron Winstead, college publicity director, yesterday that "I'm in good spirits and I don't have an enemy in the world."

New Leaders May Be Named

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP)—The prospect of new Allied offensives in northern Europe and southern Asia in the next few weeks apparently poses for President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill a problem of selecting two new operational commanders at their Quebec conferences.

Most important of these because of its direct bearing on a drive for final victory in Europe is that of commander-in-chief in the European theater. The other is that of commander-in-chief of the forces which eventually—probably this fall—will have the difficult task of reconquering Burma from the Japanese.

Speculation Is Rife

Should General Dwight D. Eisenhower be chosen there is some belief that he would have general direction both of the continuing Mediterranean operations and the promised thrusts into northern Europe.

Speculation as to the selection of a Britisher for the European command revolves principally around Britain's two most victorious generals of this war—General Sir Harold Alexander, now deputy commander under Eisenhower and chief of military government in Sicily, and Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of British forces in Africa and Sicily.

Stilwell Is Prospect

The position to be filled in the Asiatic theater grows out of the shift in British commands in India last spring. At that time General Sir Archibald Wavell was promoted from commander-in-chief of British forces to viceroy, which removed him entirely from the military organization. General Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck succeeded to commander-in-chief.

"So far as is generally known now it might go to Stilwell, to some other American general, or to one of Britain's victorious pair—Alexander or Montgomery.

Musso's Henchman To Face Charges

ON THE ITALIAN-SWISS FRONTIER, Aug. 13. (U.P.)—Amerigo Dumini, chief of Benito Mussolini's assassins who looked after his enemies in the early days of Fascism, will be tried for 14 assassinations by the new Italian regime, it was reported today.

Dumini, who had a part in the slaying of Ciacomo Matteotti, Italian deputy, in 1924, was captured near Lake Garda by police after a chase lasting several days, according to reports filtering out of Italy.

(A Madrid dispatch said Dumini, believed to have been born in St. Louis, Mo., was betrayed to authorities by his mistress while trying to escape to Germany.

(When his hiding place in a peasant's hut was surrounded, Dumini tried to shoot his way out with two heavy automatics but was wounded, Madrid said, quoting a Rome announcement relayed through Vichy. Dumini was said to have shouted "Viva Duce" when police slapped on handcuffs).

Hard Luck Comes In Double Dose For Two

HOUSTON, Aug. 13. (U.P.)—Trouble came in a double dose today for Mrs. Ruth Fowler, 45, and Mrs. Jewel Spires, 26.

The two women were injured when an automobile in which they were riding was involved in a collision on the Beaumont highway.

A few minutes later they went through an encore of the same performance when the ambulance in which they were being carried to a hospital had a collision.

Total injuries for Mrs. Fowler included bruises, cuts and shock. Mrs. Spires had a broken right leg.

Italo-German Rift Widening

(By The Associated Press)

BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 13.—Signs multiplied today that Italy is stepping away from Germany in an effort to approach the Allies and democracy—for the latter, said the newspaper La Stampa of Turin, is the country's urgent need today.

Dispatches indicated that the Italians looked anxiously toward Quebec and the forthcoming conference between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt, hopeful that the conferences would supply the means to get them out of the war.

The widening rift between the Axis partners was becoming so apparent that the Milan correspondent of the Zurich Die Tat, in a dispatch passed by the Italian censor, said he could "no longer speak of good Italian-German relations."

Daily Conversation Topic

The Italians' daily topic of conversation, the dispatch said, is "how can Badoglio free himself from the word of honor Mussolini gave Hitler?"

Wishfully, the Italian press expressed its expectations that the Quebec conference would modify the Casablanca unconditional surrender formula.

La Stampa of Turin, in a dispatch from Lisbon, went so far as to assert that a revision of the Casablanca terms was the most important business to come before the Quebec conference.

No Word About Nazis

Not a single word about Hitler, the Nazi regime, or Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering now appears in the Italian press, which has relegated German war communikues to back pages in small type.

Even the tone toward the Russian war has altered, said the Die Tat dispatch.

Signs also were increasing that political parties were making their power felt despite Premier Badoglio's decree against political activity for the duration of the war.

Nazis Moving Out Of Berlin

(By The Associated Press)

BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 13.—Reports reaching here said today that a substantial part of the Nazi government machinery has been transferred from Berlin to Vienna for safety from Allied air raids.

These reports also claimed that Nazi authorities were considering proclaiming their capital an open city in an effort to save it from the same fate which struck Hamburg, Cologne, Duesseldorf and other German cities.

However, pending any decision, many major offices of the reichschancellery, foreign office, high command and ministries of marine, air and home affairs were said to have been shifted to Vienna-still outside the range of Allied bombers. Vienna was described as having ample accommodations for such offices, since Austria has cease to have an independent existence.

Many Civilians Evacuated

German reports indicated that more than 1,250,000 civilians of a total of 4,250,000 already have evacuated Berlin.

Nazi Evacuation Plan Bared

WITH THE BRITISH EIGHTH ARMY In Sicily, Aug. 6. (Delayed) (AP)—The German high command has established a special headquarters to organize evacuation facilities to the mainland and to guard the toe of Italy against a surprise landing.

A captured order of the Herman Goering panzer divisions dated July 29 disclosed also that the Nazi corps command in Sicily had decreed on that date that "all road blocks and prepared demolitions, insofar as they are still manned by Italians, will be taken over by our own troops."

The order attached to special headquarters units which were entrusted with the organization of ferrying facilities, unification of command posts on the mainland and the organization of "alarm units to protect the coast."

The German fear of British landings to cut Sicily's east coast highway behind the Goering division was reflected in orders for the creation of a special battle group which was dispatched on July 31 to defend the shorelines.

Britons Would Ease War Bans

BALTIMORE, Aug. 13. (AP)—Reporting that British public feels "that the end of the European war is now a matter of months rather than years," Paul Patterson said today in a cabled dispatch to The Baltimore Sun from London that Britons generally felt that blackout and other wartime restrictions should be relaxed.

Patterson, who is president of the A. S. Abell company, publisher of the Sun papers, and a director of the Associated Press, noted that the double daylight saving time would come to an end in England on Aug. 15, and said that agitation was growing for some modification of the blackout regulations.

Blitzes Believed Out

"The argument for modification of the blackout is augmented by the general belief that extensive blitzes will never again be attempted by the Germans," Patterson said.

"A further point made is that

Nazis Trying To Fix Blame For Air Raid

ISTANBUL, Aug. 11—(Delayed) (AP)—Germany has ordered a military cordon thrown about the Ploesti oil fields pending the outcome of an investigation to fix blame for the American raid on Aug. 1 which caught the defenders napping, it was learned today.

Military heads are expected to roll as a result of the attack on that vital Rumanian oil supply.

Reports reaching here said the American planes were upon Ploesti just as the alarm sounded, that some of the long-prepared defense facilities never got into action, and that others functioned only partially.

Pacific Plans Seen For Meet

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Moscow announced officially today that Soviet participation "was not and is not envisaged" in the forthcoming Roosevelt-Churchill conference at Quebec, and first London reaction was that the talks would deal primarily with the war on Japan.

In a broadcast recorded here by the Soviet monitor, the official Soviet news agency Tass said it had been authorized to state that foreign reports Russia would attend the conference "are based on a misunderstanding."

Was Not Invited

"The Soviet government," the statement said, "did not receive an invitation to be present at the meeting, and because of the nature of the conference the participation of any one representative of the Soviet government at the meeting in Quebec was not and is not envisaged."

Some London quarters thought the reference to the "nature" of the conference significant.

Since Russia is not at war with Japan, it is not likely that the Soviet would be invited to any conference concerned chiefly with fighting in the Pacific.

The wording of the Moscow announcement made it seem clear, however, that Premier Stalin had been given advance details of the conference. In this connection, it was recalled that the American

Estimated Production Of Texas Oil Given

AUSTIN, Aug. 13 (AP) — The railroad commission today estimated that Texas can produce 2,187,767 barrels of oil daily, an increase of 340,767 a day over present production.

The estimate was based on testimony from operators at special hearings conducted by the commission to determine the ability of Texas oil pools to produce for war.

Chairman Beauford Jester said the commission had taken a conservative position where maximums were concerned.

The commission's estimate of available production from the 82 fields covered by the hearings was 900,853 barrels daily while the composite opinion of operators set the figure at 960,938.

Order Expected Sunday On Gas

DALLAS, Aug. 13 (AP)—Petroleum Administrator for War Harold Ickes will issue a directive Sunday concerning mileague ration coupons for southwestern and midwestern motorists but what its terms are "we don't know," C. B. Braun, deputy regional administrator of the Office of Price administration, said today.

Braun made his statement in commenting on published reports that A, B and C gasoline ration coupons would be cut from four to three gallons in the southwest and midwest.

Sent To Regional Office

"We have been told that Secretary Ickes will issue a new directive as of this coming Sunday and that following its announcement, the OPA, through its general manager in Washington, Chester Bowles, will issue instructions to the regional offices based on Ickes' directive," Braun said.

Braun said the regional office had received what he called an informative from the Washington OPA office stating what "might happen" with respect to the mileage coupons.

"But we won't know whether gasoline ration coupons will be reduced until Mr. Bowles makes his announcement, which I understand will be broadcast Sunday afternoon," Braun added.

Braun said the regional office received numerous informatives about proposed OPA moves, "many of which never occur."

"It is unfortunate that published reports of possible reduction in the coupons were made, because we understand that in a few places, there have been runs made on filling stations," Braun said.

Heavy Blows Hit Berlin, Milan, Rome And Turin

Record-Breaking Tonnage Of Explosives Rocks Northern Italy Industrial Area; Heavy Rome Attack Is All-American Raid

(By The United Press)

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Allied bombers raided Rome and Berlin within a few hours today and a great fleet of Britain-based planes carried a record breaking tonnage of explosives over the Alps to attack the northern Italy industrial centers of Milan and Turin.

The first bomb exploded on Milan at 1:15 a. m. It was followed for 30 minutes by a shower of incendiaries and explosives. Fires were concentrated.

One RAF pilot said it was light when his plane crossed the Alps that the crew could pick out the various peaks. He said smoke rose 10,000 feet from Milan. The fliers agreed that the Italian air defenses were weak compared to those in Germany.

A mighty all-American air armada, from North Africa, ranging from giant four-engineed Flying Fortresses to twin-engined

1,000 TONS OF BOMBS

LONDON, Aug. 13 (U.P.) — The Air ministry announced today that considerably more than 1,000 tons of bombs were dropped on Milan in last night's RAF raids on Italy.

Mitchell and Marauder medium bombers, hit the San Lorenzo and Littorio railway yards in Rome this morning for the second time in less than a month.

And in the early morning hours, speedy, British-based Mosquito bombers struck Berlin in the first raid in nearly three months.

While the Mosquitoes were over Berlin, the largest British-based force of four-engined bombers ever sent against Italy dropped tremendous loads of explosives onto the northern industrial centers of Turin and Milan.

Thus, within the short space of a few hours, the Allies served notice that it would bomb Rome and the rest of Italy with increasing might until it surrenders and at the same time were ready to launch shattering attacks on Berlin.

Exercising the same precautions to avoid hitting church and historical monuments as they did in their first raid on Rome July 19, the Flying Fortresses confined their precision bombing to the San Lorenzo yards while the Mitchells and Marauders hit the Littorio yards.

Reds Tighten Kharkov Hold

Soviets In Five Miles Of City

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Russian troops tightened their hold around Kharkov today by smashing inward from a point less than five miles away while to the north a drive against Bryansk was stepped up in strength.

In strong fighting for Bryansk, the Moscow midnight communique said, the Red forces have engulfed the important German stronghold of Dmitrovsk-Orlovsky and 110 populated places south and east of Karachev, which straddles the rail line between captured Orel and Bryansk.

Storming in toward Kharkov, Soviet forces to the south have taken the town of Chuguev, 22 miles distant. The Moscow announcement, recorded here by the Soviet monitor, said the Nazis were in headlong retreat in that area. The nearest approach to Kharkov was to the northeast.

Bryansk Drive Gains

In the Bryansk sector, the communique said the Soviet attackers rushed to a point six miles east of Kharkov and 25 miles southeast of Bryansk itself. Moscow claimed 1,800 German were annihilated in that sector.

Gains also were reported west and southwest of Kromi, between Orel and Karachev. Soviet guards stormed into Dmitrovsk-Orlovsky, which the Germans had transformed into a strongly fortified bastion, and smashed enemy resistance after fierce street fighting. More than 2,000 German officers and men were slain in this engagement, while the Russians captured 12 tanks, 16 guns, 23 mortars, 200 machineguns, 1,500 rifles, ammunition dumps and depots of other war materials.

On the Kharkov salient the Germans were reported using fresh forces rushed from Germany in an attempt to stem the Russian tide, and had even ordered technical units and engineering detachments into the front lines.

The Kharkov escape corridor has been narrowed from 60 to 37 miles during the past 48 hours, and as the struggle for the city entered its ninth day advices from the front indicated the Nazis would fight to the finish rather than attempt a strategic retreat. Their losses were heavy, according to the Soviet communique, 3,000 officers and men were killed in two days of battle. Nearly 700 prisoners and 36 tanks were taken.

Search On For Torture Slayer

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 13. (AP)—In a search for clues in the torture slaying of a sheepherder, Undersheriff William MacFarlane said today one possibility was that the elderly victim was bound and left to die by sheep thieves.

The body of Bert Purdy, 65, was found in his camp wagon yesterday in a remote gulley about 18 miles south of Hayden, Colo. His arms and legs had been drawn back and tied at the small of his back. He had died, authorities said, of exposure, shock, or heart failure.

Thefts Are Reported

While explaining that it was not certain Purdy was the victim of rustlers, MacFarlane said several livestock and sheel thefts had been reported recently in this northwestern Colorado section.

Purdy's employer, Eber Howell, noticed that the herder's 1,300-sheep flock had scattered. The howling of Purdy's dog attracted Howell to the wagon. The dog

No State Law Found On Peeping Toms

AUSTIN, Aug. 13. (U.P.)—Better pull down the shades, the attorney general's department has concluded there is no state law against Peeping Toms.

County Attorney P. W. Minter of Jim Hogg county was so advised reluctantly today by the department. The opinion said that prowling around premises even at the usual hours of retirement is not reached by the penal statutes, but added, hopefully, that if the Peeping Tom was masked or disguised there is a law against that.

A ruling was made also that a person under 10 years of age cannot be punished for violating a state penal law. Senate bill 44 of the last legislature setting up a civil juvenile procedure makes 10 years the minimum age at which a child can be declared a delinquent.

Newspaper City Desk Directs Race With Time To Get Penicillin For Little Girl Given Seven Hours To Live Without Rare Drug

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—It was a dull news day until City Editor Paul Schoenstein of The New York Journal American picked up the telephone and a voice said:

"My little girl is in Lutheran hospital. The doctors say she has seven hours to live — unless she gets the new drug penicillin. It is her only hope. Can you help me?"

Schoenstein knew that the little penicillin being made was being kept for the armed forces but he told the man on the wire, who had identified himself as Lawrence J. Malone, father of Patricia Malone, two years old:

"We'll try to get that penicillin for you."

Verified Child's Condition

City Editor Schoenstein checked the hospital, verified that the child barely lived, that she suffered from a dread blood disease, the straphylococci type of septicemia. Sulfa drugs had been used. Blood transfusions had been given. She failed to respond. Penicillin was held out as her only hope.

"Seven hours to live — unless . . ."

A telephone call was put through to United States Surgeon General Thomas Parran at Washington. He referred the newsman to Dr. A. N. Richards, in charge of research in the office of scientific development.

Said Dr. Richards:

"The E. R. Squibb and Sons research laboratories at New Brunswick, N. J., have a supply of penicillin. I'll wire them a release order immediately."

In the meantime, the Journal-American city desk learned Dr. Chester Keefer, Boston surgeon and WPB member, had direct authority to order release of the precious drug for civilian use. He was called. Dr. Keefer communicated with Dr. Dante Collitti, staff surgeon at Lutheran hospital, and discussed the child's case. He told Dr. Collitti, "you will get the penicillin."

To expediate release of the drug from the Squibb laboratories in New Jersey, it was arranged for Dr. Keefer to telephone Dr. H. A. Holiday, director of the Squibb firm, via the newspaper's switchboard.

Schoenstein got the call at 3:40 p. m. and all the arrangements to get the drug released were completed by 4:25.

Arrangements were made for police of two states to escort the drug from New Brunswick to the bedside of the stricken child.

At 5:46 p. m. Dr. Collitti dashed from the hospital into a waiting cab.

Drug Secured At 7:30

It was 7:30 when the automobile stopped at the entrance to the Squibb laboratory. Three guards waited there and one of them stepped on the running board and asked:

"Dr. Collitti? Here is the penicillin."

A radio squad car of the New Brunswick police department screamed to a stop. Escorted by it at 70 miles an hour, Dr. Collitti's cab reached the traffic circle where John Fitzsimmons, New Jersey state trooper, was waiting behind the wheel of a white sedan.

The two automobiles roared

Brining Staging Return As War-Time Method Of Putting Up Vegetables

These days brining is staging a comeback as a war-time method of putting up vegetables. That's because of a shortage of pressure cookers and other preservation equipment. Helen L. Edwards, assistant county home demonstration agent, says about 25 vegetables are suitable for brining, and little special equipment is needed for this process. Modern methods of brining call for considerably less salt to begin with and little or no soaking before cooking—in comparison with methods of former years. And with the new method you don't leave the vegetables soaking in open crocks all winter. You keep them in crocks only long enough to complete the pickling and fermenting processes about two or three weeks.

You see, after the vegetables stand in the brine awhile they begin to ferment. And the acid caused by this fermentation helps preserve the vegetables and give them that "pickled taste."

Only two vegetables need heavy salt to keep them—corn and lima beans. The other vegetables can be preserved with a "weak salt" brine as the chemists call it. When the fermentation process is complete, brined vegetables can be packed into glass jars processed in hot water, and sealed like canned vegetables. Then when you're ready to use them, you can rinse your brined vegetables a couple of times and cook them in fresh water for about 10 minutes. If you want detailed instructions on this new method of brining vegetables, consult your county home demonstration agent.

India Problem Said Possible To Solve

BY CHARLES HONCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—India's problem can be solved, says Dewitt Mackenzie, Associated Press war and foreign affairs analyst, in a book published today (Doubleday Doran) under that exact title.

Mackenzie, who has been studying India for many years and who re-visited that country for six weeks early this year to look into all of the complicated questions troubling that fabulous subcontinent holding one-fifth of the world's population, presents two possible solutions.

One is based on proposals of "Indian leaders and impartial observers; the other is that of a distinguished Briton who could not otherwise be named. The urgency of solution is stressed.

Might Renew Negotiations

Mackenzie believes that Indian leaders, who have turned down the British proposal for dominion status after the war, might now, without loss of face, petition for a renewal of negotiations. He finds encouragement in the fact that a more cooperative spirit appears to be arising among leaders of divergent Indian interests. Also he was told in a well-informed quarter in New Delhi "that the government would reopen the case if it saw a legitimate chance."

Throughout his book, Mackenzie stressed what he believes is the vital and immediate necessity for some resolution of the question because of its crucial bearing on the war.

India is described as the arsenal of the Orient, as the place where Japan was stopped in her initial sweep through the East and as the stepping off place for an approaching land offensive against the Nipponese. A peaceful and politically contended India would vastly aid that war effort, the author says.

Studied India For Generation

For a generation the Indian situation has been under the scrutiny of Reporter Mackenzie. His book is a crowded and sensational picture of Indian life, thought and aspirations; a story of the 562 bejeweled princes and their fabulous wealth; of the lowly untouchables; of illiteracy and hunger and undreamed of splendor; of religious and racial differences in a land of 400 million people speaking 225 dialects and with an average annual income of $26. Even a nautch girl sways here and there.

But the picture, such as it is today, was found to be immensely improved over that of the visit 26 years ago.

"India," Mackenzie says, "is developing a new social and political consciousness."

In this awakening he sees the possibilities of solving the complex Indian problem.

Report Judges Caught In Raid To Be Probed

DALLAS, Aug. 13 (AP) — J. L. Lipscomb, president of the Dallas Bar association, said today that a committee representing the association would investigate reports that two Dallas district judges were caught in a gambling raid by police at a hotel the night of July 31.

Lipscomb added that Attorney Julius Runge would serve as chairman of the committee, which he said had been asked to "get the true facts." The committee, he said, would be called together "right away."

"The bar feels that the reports cast a reflection on all the judges," he commented. "Those innocent should be cleared; rumors going around are not fair to them. We are eager to uphold the reputation of the judiciary here and for that reason we will investigate to find out whether any judges were there at all and if so who they were."

Police said 35 persons paid fines as a result of the raid.

WPB Appeals To Churches To Help Stop Lag In War Work

BY JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 — The War Production board went directly to the nation's churches for help—through an apeal to their congregations — in the lagging home front war jobs.

Confronted now with monthly failures of production to meet scheduled increases because of various factors which include labor turn-over, WPB Vice Chairman Joseph D. Keenan said:

"We have to act fast because the situation cannot wait upon surveys."

Conference Called

He said he had called a conference of representatives here of various religious beliefs — Catholic, Protestant and Jew—to ask them to transmit this request to the pastors and rabbis of America's churches and synagogues.

To appeal to the men and women workers of their congregation to stick to their present war jobs; to appeal to those who have quit war jobs to return to them whenever possible or to go into other war jobs; to appeal to those who can do so to get into war jobs.

Keenan already has made the same kind of request for help to religious leaders on the west coast where airplane factories have been sorely affected by workers quitting for the duration or going off to other industries.

Labor Turn-Over Listed

Keenan and other WPB officials have listed labor turn-over—workers' moving from one plant to another or just quitting work altogether—as one of the primary reasons for production's failure to rise at the rate necessary to meet 1943's goals.

Other main factors, they said, include design changes in war weapons—necessitating delay till the change is completed—and program changes in which production of one kind of weapon is halted or curtailed while another is pushed ahead.

Keenan said that, because an average of about 11 per cent of women war workers are quitting their jobs for domestic reasons, it may be necessary to place all married women on day jobs.

James F. Byrnes, director of war mobilization, considers the airplane plant situation so serious that he has asked his special advisor, Bernard M. Baruch, to make a study of the industry's manpower needs.

Tips On Tomato Canning Given

The tomato season is at hand and even homemakers who has tomatoes in her garden will probably want to can some for use next winter says Miss Helen L. Edwards, assistant Lubbock county home demonstration agent.

Here is the proper method of canning tomatoes.

Select fresh, firm, red ripe fruit. Put in a thin cloth bag or wire basket and dip in boiling water one minute. Then plunge into cold water. Drain, core, peel, work fast in all steps.

Put Salt In Container

Then put salt in the container first. One-half teaspoon salt per pint, and 1 teaspoon salt per qut. Pack tomatoes tight. Cover with hot tomato juice. Steam for 10 minutes as follows: Place the jars in warm water and the cans in hot water in the water bath. The water should be about 2 inches below the rim of the can or jars and should not be allowed to boil so rapidly as to bubble into the container of food. Cover the water bath kettle with a lid. Count steaming time as soon as the steam accumulates above the jar and the water begins to boil.

At the end of the steaming period remove container from the water bath. Press the tomatoes down. If the containers are not full use tomatoes from one can to fill all of the other. Have the tomatoes well covered with liquid. Leave ¼ inch headspace for jars and ½ inch headspace for cans. Seal and put into the water bath container cover the top of the containers with two inches of water and cover the container with a tight fitting lid.

Process 37 Minutes

Process tomatoes for 37 minutes count the processing time as soon as the steam begins to accumulate and the water begins to boil. Keep the water boiling for the whole period.

After removing from the water bath cool tin cans in cold water immediately and cool jars as quickly as possible without placing them in a draft. Store in a dry, cool dark place.

Farm Agents To Meet In Lubbock Saturday

Farm agents from 19 counties of the area are expected in Lubbock Saturday for a district conference with officials from the state extension service at College Station, according to announcement Thursday.

When C. C. Jobson, Lubbock county agent, several days ago announced the meeting and school of instruction it was said that George Adams, then assistant state director and state agent under H. H. Williamson would be present to conduct the meeting, but since then Director Williamson has been "retired" from the office and Adams appointed in his place, and it is not known whether Adams will attend.

Following the meeting, county agents from this district will go to San Angelo on Sept. 16 and 17 for a bi-district meeting to be held in lieu of the annual meeting at College Station, Jobson said. Farm agents from more than 25 West Texas counties will attend that meeting, he said.

Houston Is Out Of Bounds For Cadets

HOUSTON, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—This Gulf coast city, with seven new cases of infantile paralysis reported so far this month, was placed off-limits today for all cadets of Ellington field.

Major Collis R. Jordan, post public relations officer, indicated the order would continue so long as the polio epidemic continued.

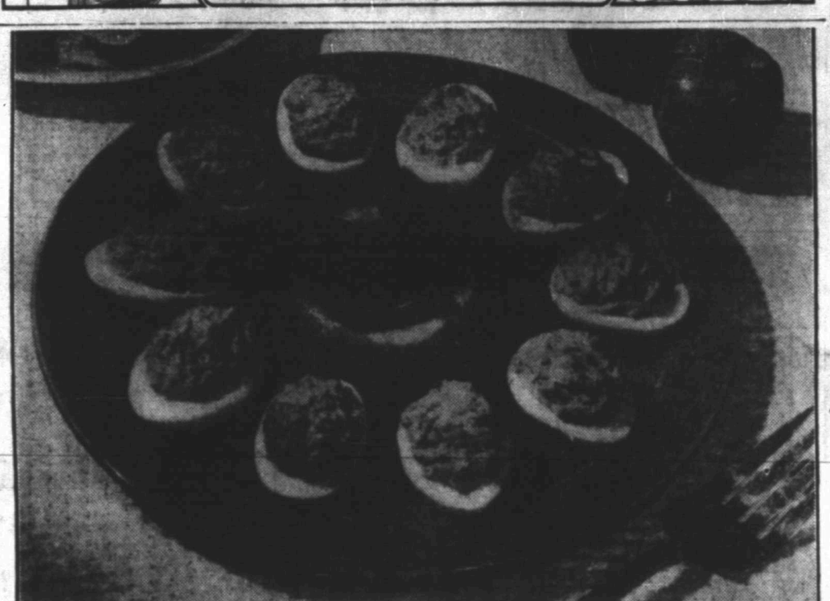

Of 11 cases admitted to the isolation ward at Jefferson Davis hospital this month, four have been from outside the city.

Major Jordan said no polio cases had been reported at Ellington, one of the Army's largest Gulf coast flying training schools.

CONVICT SUICIDES

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 13 (AP) — Justice of the Peace R. E. Franklow today returned a verdict of suicide by hanging and strangulation in the death Wednesday night in an isolation cell at Huntsville prison of John Henry Combs, 18, serving a five-year sentence for a Dallas county robbery.

Liver Sausage, Way Low In Points, Is Good Summer Dish

LIVER sausage! Oh, for a poet—to "dream up" a worthy tribute for this delicious meat! A tribute which would do justice to all the qualities that make it so perfect for your meals—today!

And why is it so perfect for your meals? Here are many reasons: First of all, liver sausage is way low in points. While the point value of many meats has jumped to 8, 12 or 13 per pound, the point value of liver sausage remains at five points. With one pound of liver sausage you can serve four or five persons generously since there is absolutely no waste due to fat or bone removal, and that's mighty important when you're trying to balance both the income and the ration stamps!

Full Of Vitamins

Because you're already aware of the nutritive qualities of liver, all that's needed is to say that liver sausage is 40 percent pure liver and you'll know it's good for your family. You'll remember the vitamin A, the various vitamin B factors, protein, iron and copper that are found in liver and are so necessary to your family's health.

And here's another reason liver sausage is perfect for your meals today: for quickness and ease in preparation, it can't be beat! You see, liver sausage is already cooked—ready to serve just as it is. Try it as a smooth, rich spread for sandwiches in that nourishing lunch box, for picnics or for meals at home. It takes only a few minutes to have a hot meal with liver sausage, too. The mild, delicate flavor is greatly enhanced when one-fourth inch slices are broiled or fried. Try serving broiled liver sausage with whole kernels of corn right off the cob!

Brown Slices In Fat

If you prefer, brown slices in a bit of fat, then serve them on toasted buns along with onion slices. Use a bit of bacon drippings for browning.

Here are three "jiffy" recipes for liver sausage that are geared to the quick pace of today's life . . . be sure to try the yummy stuffed eggs!

BROILED WITH SQUAW CORN

8 slices liver sausage (¼ inch thick)
4 medium sized ears corn or one No. 2 can whole grain corn
¼ cup chopped pimiento
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Boil ears of corn until tender. Slice kernels from the ears and combine with chopped pimiento and green pepper and seasonings. Spread corn in broiler pan and heat for a few minutes 4 inches below flame or heating unit. Place rack over corn and arrange slices of liver sausage (casing removed) on the rack. Watch the liver sausage closely while broiling, as it takes only about four minutes and needs no turning. Four servings.

6 eggs (hard cooked)
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ cup celery chopped fine
1 teaspoon grated onion, parsley

Hard cook eggs 20 minutes. Cover with cold water until cool. Cut lengthwise and remove yolks. Run yolk through a ricer or mash with a fork. Combine yolks with liver sausage, melted butter, cinegar, salt, mustard, celery and onion. Stuff the eggs, piling the filling high. Place sprigs of pasley on top. Six servings.

LIVER AND ONION SANDWICH

Slice liver sausage into ¼ inch slices and remove casing. Place on broiler rack with ¼ inch slices of large sweet onions. Broil about 4 minutes without turning and serve on hot toasted buns.

Recipes Designed Especially For Victory Gardeners Are Given By George Mardikian, Chef Of Frisco's Famed Omar Khayyam's

EVERY day is now harvest day for the nation's millions of Victory gardeners. With this in mind, George Mardikian, chef of the internationally famous Omar Khayyam's in San Francisco, has released these recipes from his private files. They are designed especially for Victory garden crops now in season. By using homegrown or fresh, in-season vegetables and fruits, these dishes can be prepared with no expenditure of precious ration points except for cooking oil. Serve either the Victory garden dinner or the Mediterranean stew as a complete meal in itself. And for dessert, serve the fruit fritters with a favorite beverage.

VICTORY GARDEN DINNER

¼ lb. parsnips or celery root
½ lb. carrots
½ lb. potatoes
1 cup chopped parsley
2 cups sliced onions
1 cup peanut or soybean oil
2 cups cooked tomato pulp
Salt and pepper to taste. Bell peppers, eggplant and tomatoes to stuff.

DIRECTIONS: Saute onions in oil for 15 minutes. Add the shredded carrots, parsnips or celery root, cook for 15 minutes. Add shredded potatoes and parsley and cook until partly done. Stuff this vegetable mixture into the pepper, tomatoes or eggplant, or a combination of the three. Set in a baking pan and pour the tomato puree over the vegetables. Bake for 30 minutes. If there are any left over, they are equally tasty when served cold for luncheon the next day.

MEDITERRANEAN STEW

1 cup sliced onions
2 cups corn, cut fresh from the cob
2 cups zucchini squash
1 cup lima beans soaked overnight
½ cup green peppers, sliced
½ cup tomatoes
½ cup chopped parsley
½ cup oil
Water

DIRECTIONS: Brown onions and peppers lightly in the oil. Add the beans and corn and small amount of water and simmer for 1-2 hour. Then add zucchini, tomatoes, parsley and seasonings. Cook all together very slowly for 45 minutes. In the Near East, this dish is made with quite a lot of juice and is served in stew bowls.

FRUIT FRITTERS

Apples, pears, plums or any fruit in season can be used for this dessert.
2 eggs
1 pint milk
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons baking powder
3 cups flour
1 tablespoon oil
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

DIRECTIONS: Beat eggs, add sugar, milk and mix well. Add flour and baking powder, then add oil and best well until smooth.

To cook, fill frying pan with oil. When oil is very hot, dip fruit into batter and fry until a golden brown.

War Correspondent Given Up For Dead

BERN, Aug. 13 (AP) — The International Red Cross today notified The New York Times office here that it had given up for dead Times Correspondent Robert R. Post, who has been missing since last Feb. 26 after a bombing mission to Wilhelmshaven, Germany. Post was a passenger-observer on one of the planes which made the raid from a base in Britain.

The Red Cross said it had received a report from Lt. W. H. Gotke, one of two survivors of the plane, which crashed near Oldburg, Germany, saying the Germans had told him they found ten bodies in the wreckage, including Post's.

Cool, Easy, Delicious Porch Supper

Weather warm? The outside inviting? Take your supper out to the porch!

And here we give you a porch supper menu that's so easy on your points, you can afford to entertain a friend or two—without stinting your own family for the rest of the week.

The main part of the meal is a tray of Armour's Star Cold Cuts. Ready-to-eat meat loaves and sausages that are packed with nutrition—made from the same choice Armour meats you choose for loaves you bake at home. Cooked when you get them so there's no waste—no shrinkage. Just a little goes a long way—stretches your red points.

For the tray shown above, we choose slices of Star Old Fashioned Loaf, Star Special Macaroni and Cheese Loaf, Star Liver Sausage . . . or you might prefer Star Bologna. Arrange rows on an oblong tray and garnish with crisp parsley. Serve with individual pots of baked beans, hard rolls, relishes and succulent fresh fruit. This makes a fine porch supper for family or guests! When buying the meats, remember ¾ to 1 pound of assorted Star Cold Cuts will serve 4 amply.

Sanitation Drive Is Launched By City

Methods seeking to insure increased sanitation in restaurants, drug store fountains and food counters and other similar places were studied by members of the city commission at their semi-monthly meeting Thursday afternoon.

The discussions followed numerous conferences recently with commanding officers of LAAF, SPAAF and West Texas Army Recruiting and Induction center resulting from complaints of insanitation in many Lubbock eating and drinking places.

Frankly admitting that the city is greatly handicapped in coping with objectionable conditions because of the generalities and the vagueness of state laws, members of the commission set out to find a new approach to the problem, probably through a permit system.

They directed City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., and City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley to obtain copies of ordinances from cities where city permits are required before a place serving food or drink may be operated. From these ordinances, it is the declared expectation of members of the commission that one fitted to the needs of Lubbock can be drawn.

As visioned by Mayor Carl E. Slaton and other members of the commission, a permit ordinance would set certain very definite minimum sanitation standards for restaurants and soda fountains. A permit would not be issued for a place not measuring up to these standards. The operator then would be required to maintain the standards or his permit would be subject to cancellation. Without a permit, he could not operate.

Members of the commission were of the expressed opinion that such an ordinance actually could be enforced. It is extremely difficult to enforce sanitation regulations under existing conditions, they said, one reason being that it often is very hard to prove the technical guilt of an offender.

Members of the commission, additional to the mayor, are Commissioners W. B. Price, Hub Jones, Garland Newsom and J. O. Jones.

Background for the steps taken Thursday occurred several weeks ago when Army doctors made inspections of many places which serve food. In a dozen or more instances, the conditions found were reported as extremely unsatisfactory. In these cases, recommendation was made that the operators be given opportunity to correct the conditions.

In the recent conferences, it was revealed, subsequent inspections have shown that, in some instances, desired corrections have been made. In others, this has not been done. These places have been given a last chance. If advantage is not taken of this opportunity, the blunt warning is that patronage of the places by men in the Armed Forces will be forbidden and will be enforced by military police.

However, as has been emphasized repeatedly, the situation in Lubbock is not different from that in a great many other cities with military installations. If anything, Lubbock probably is well above the average. But in practically all, if not all, of those cities, rigid military inspections of sanitation conditions in food and drink places have been vigorously in progress recently.

Closed In Other Places

In many cities, such as Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and Abilene, numerous places have been closed to patronage by service men.

Also bearing on the subject of community sanitation were steps taken by members of the commission to obtain five new trucks for the garbage department. One of the trucks actually was bought from the county for $725. It formerly was used by City-County Welfare association, which no longer has use for it.

The commission likewise instructed the city manager to seek WPB authority to buy four more trucks from Dickinson Motor company of Lubbock at a total cost of $6,058.16, less $590.58 to be allowed as trade-in on three old garbage trucks. The commission was advised that the motor company has the trucks available for delivery if WPB will permit.

Removal Of Post Hotel

Extremely unusual among matters considered by the commission was a communication from H. H. Tracy of Post, who advised that he would like to move the Algerita hotel from that city to Lubbock. The hotel is described as a frame structure, built in 1912, two stories high and measuring 36 feet in width by 158 feet in length.

The commission instructed that Tracy be notified that the building would have to be made to comply with all Lubbock building and fire zone requirements before a permit for its location here would be issued. Officials added that, in their opinion, it would be difficult if not impossible to make the building comply with those requirements.

Bids on the feeding of city jail prisoners were called, to be opened at the meeting Aug. 26. Prisoners are given two meals daily. The contract now is held by Jack O'Lantern cafe, which receives 25 cents per meal.

The commission directed that electric fans be provided prisoners in the women's ward of the jail when weather is extremely hot. Plans for the installation of a ventilation or air-conditioning system in the jail before next summer were discussed.

City Plan Discussed

Application of L. C. Montgomery for a change in the zoning ordinance so as to permit him to rent his building at Main street and Avenue F for use as a chick hatchery was referred to the city zoning commission.

L. Wesley Read, chairman of the zoning commission, appeared before the city commission at its invitation to discuss the progress being made toward the final adoption of a city plan for Lubbock.

The commission approved the use of surplus city funds to retire immediately $75,000 in outstanding electric plant improvement bonds issued in 1941. The bonds pay one per cent interest. Officials estimated that the transaction will save the city about $500 in interest payments.

Deferred for further study was an application of Lubbock Bus company for permission to change the routing of its Nineteenth street Avenue X-Twenty-fifth street line. Under the proposal, the company would discontinue service between Jefferson and Monroe streets on Twenty-fifth, a distance of one block. Instead of going to Monroe, buses would turn south on Jefferson to Twenty-seventh so as to provide service for Green Acres addition.

World Security Plan In Test

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt has approved a campaign being conducted by some legislators to arouse public interest in international collective security proposals but has delayed a decision on whether to seek a Senate showdown on the issue this fall, D. C. Speaker said today.

Speaker, unofficial authority, said there is no doubt that both the President and Secretary of State Hull would like to have a statement from the Senate pledging this country's cooperation in some form of post war world organization to preserve the peace.

Approval Uncertain

But Speaker said the President is not at all sure that any such proposal would be approved by the two-thirds Senate margin necessary to ratify treaties and until he can be given some reasonable assurance that the votes could be obtained, is not likely to show his hand publicly on the issue.

"The President would rather have no declaration at all than one obtained after a bitter Senate debate and approved by only a bare majority," Speaker asserted.

For that reason, Speaker forecast a careful examination of Senate sentiment after legislators return to Washington. If administration leaders decide the signs are favorable, they will push for early action, probably with the President's open support, he said. If opinion remains divided, however, more delays may be in order.

Eight Promotions Are Announced At SPAAF

The officers promoted included Capt. James C. Eldredge of Whitesboro, New York, acting post adjutant; Capt. Harold G. Carson of Toledo, Ohio, assistant material officer; Capt. Harry M. Davis of San Antonio, school secretary; Capt. George L. Green of Glenview, Illinois, commanding officer of a training group; Capt. Norwood F. Moore of Chicago, assistant air inspector; Capt. Capt. Eldredge is acting assistant adjutant and is a recent graduate of the Adjutant Generals school at Fort Washington, Maryland.

Director Of Ground School Is Promoted

Promotion of Gordon J. Mott, director of ground school at Lubbock Army Air field, from captain to major was announced Thursday through Col. Ralph E. Holmes, commanding officer.

Major Mott, former superintendent of Richmond, Okla., schools, was Oklahoma and Missouri Valley amateur heavyweight boxing champion in 1932 while attending Oklahoma A. & M. College, Stillwater, where he took R. O. T. C. He was transferred from San Antonio Aviation Cadet center to LAAF a year ago. With Mrs. Mott and their daughter, Gordena Frances, 8, Major Mott lives at 2815 Twenty-sixth street.

Attendance Slim At Confederate Reunion

KYLE, Tex., Aug. 13 (AP)—The 47th annual reunion of Confederate soldiers at Camp Ben McCulloch, near here is attended by only a handful of veterans.

The reunion, combined this year with the 53rd meeting of the Texas division, may be the last one, Camp Adjutant T. F. Harwell said.

Principal speaker at a memorial service Thursday was Gregg County Judge Matt Dawson of Longview.

Chicken Honduras Is Tempting Dish

Red stamps or no red stamps, today's hostes has a wonderful opportunity to distinguish herself.

Guests are in the mood to try new things, and food has become an absorbing topic of conversation. New recipes and new methods of cooking "old reliables" are more important than they ever were before.

People who once poked squeamishly at sweetbreads are now enthusiastically discussing the possibilities of tripe—while a new chicken dish that possesses the added virtue of adaptability, rates at the very least a two foot-high chef's hat!

Centuries Old Favorite

Chicken Honduras is exactly that kind of dish. You can adapt it readily to the chicken available at your market, whether it's a tender young fryer or a fowl of most uncertain age, by the simple procedure of allowing both additional liquid and additional cooking time for an older and tougher bird.

The combination of ingredients in the recipe is entirely new to us, but remember it's a centuries-old favorite in Middle America—so don't let the tought of mixing tomatoes, onions and pineapple scare you. It's different, but it's truly delicious, and after all, a flavor-combination popular in Middle America, the homeland of the millions of nutritious bananas we ate each year before war cut down the number of banana ships, should at least be given a trial.

Add Moorish Touch

The raisins and almonds are a Moorish touch—probably added to the original recipe when the Spaniards came over with Cortez. The culinary traditions of a nation have a way of commemorating history, too!

Try not to leave out any of the ingredients in the recipe as the flavor is the result of perfect balance.

The almonds and raisins contribute to the nutritive value of the dish as well as adding a deliciously uusual touch to the appearance and flavor.

CHICKEN HONDURAS

One chicken, cut in pieces for frying; 2 tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons chopped onion; 2 ripe tomatoes, chopped; 3 slices canned pineapple, cut small; ¼ cup pineapple syrup; ¼ cup raisins; 2 tablespoons almonds.

Sprinkle chicken pieces with pepper and salt and brown lightly in butter. Add onion, tomatoes and pineapple syrup. Cover and cook slowly until chicken is tender, turning occasionally to brown evenly. About ten minutes before chicken is done add almonds, raisins and pineapple pieces. Serve with rice.

The normal population of the island of Crete, in the Mediterranean, is about 400,000.

WANT TO GIVE UP "DOSING" FOR GOOD?

Try This Natural "Regulator" Food!

Don't lose hope, even if you've tried one harsh pill or cathartic after another, with no lasting relief! For many people there is a safe, pleasant way! One that doesn't prod your bowels—rob your system of water—or "sweep you out"! It's KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN!

The secret, scientists say, is that KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN "gets at" one big cause of common constipation—by supplying the cellulosic elements needed for normal evacuation—should they be lacking in the diet. These elements assist the intestinal flora in lightening and fluffing up the contents of the colon, for easy, satisfactory elimination!

Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't give up "dosing" — for good! Remember, too—ALL-BRAN is amazingly nutritious! Each ounce contains more iron than two eggs, more phosphorus than a glass of milk! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

It's True--Foxholes Contain No Atheists

By DON WHITEHEAD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE AEF AT TROINA, Aug. 6. (Delayed)—My friend, a blue-eyed lad in bloodstained fatigues, slid down the bank on the ridgetop before Troina and talked with us while Germans laid mortar shells around our position. We had been helping evacuate wounded from the battlefield, carrying them on doors and tabletops.

When the shrapnel stopped buzzing around heads began popping up from foxholes and stone shelters in the vineyards where the battalion command post was located. I felt calm and steady after the shelling, but when I lit a cigarette for Jack Belden, of Time and Life magazines, my fingers trembled.

The young soldier, Second Lt. Claus Anderson of Kenosha, Wis., must have noticed it.

"You know," he said, "it's true there are no atheists in foxholes. I found that out yesterday on the next ridge."

Under Machinegun Fire

Anderson and Cpl. Wayne Palmer of Ladysmith, Wis., were in a gully under machinegun fire trying to dress the wounds of a comrade who had been hit in the side. They carried him into a stone shack nearby while Germans sniped at them.

Mastyl and Palmer were with five wounded men in the shack all day while Germans shelled the area and machinegunned anyone who came into the open. They tried to reach one wounded man but were driven back by machinegun fire each time they came out of the shack.

"Nobody's got more guts than a wounded man," Anderson observed, "and as I said, there are no atheists in foxholes. We thought one of the men was dying. We all said a prayer for him.

Read Prayer For Wounded

"There were a couple of Catholics there. They read a prayer from a book. I don't think the wounded man was a Catholic, but nobody cared what his religion was. It didn't matter, did it?" I said no, it didn't matter.

I went to an observation post at the end of the ridge and looked through glasses at another ridge before Tronia and there I saw, as though under Hollywood direction, the drama of the battle to break the Troina line.

Up the western end of the ridge crept a column of American soldiers, crouching low in the wheat stubble. They took cover behind tall rocks. Two hundred yards east of them, on the side of the ridge, six Germans were entrenched near a vineyard. They were peering across toward the American position.

Didn't See Enemy Position

Then an American officer stepped from behind the rocks and walked slowly forward. I don't think he saw the enemy position. He was advancing on a little stone house and dugout position halfway between the rocks and the German trench. He motioned, and three riflemen came from the rocks to follow him.

"Oh, God!" an observer murmered. "They're going in without any support. Damn it, they'll be killed. If they get in trouble I'm going to see they get help."

The officer went on alone. He stepped into a shell crater and pulled a hand grenade from his pocket. He walked slowly forward again toward the stone house and then threw the grenade into the dugout. Nothing moved in the dugout. If anyone was there he was killed.

Germans Open Up

But the Germans in the trench saw the officer. One of them opened up with a machinegun, the bullets kicking up little puffs of dust around the Americans. They ran for cover behind the house and I could see them talking.

It didn't take this officer long to decide on a course of action. One of the riflemen dashed towards the top of the ridge and then fell to the ground, the second ran out beyond the first and then the third soldier ran out beyond both of them. The officer followed them as they worked up the field to the ridge top, where they began leading them in on a flanking move.

The Germans kept looking over the trench trying to locate the Americans, who were working their way in above them. The Americans crept nearer and nearer. The officer stopped and pulled another grenade from his pocket. He hurled it into the trench. Dust and smoke boiled out, then nothing moved in the trench. Another German machinegun nest had been wiped out.

Rations Came At Noon

It was noon before our rations came up — one can of C ration per man, the first food we'd had since the night before. The Germans were shelling us again, so we crawled into a stone shelter to eat cold meat and vegetable stew.

You wondered how they endured attack night after night, the seemingly never-ending marching across gullied valleys and steep rocky ridges, the continual pounding of artillery and rattle of machineguns.

For five days they had gone without cigarettes and had eaten when and if their food caught up with them. They'd slept on the ground with only a blanket to cover them and sometimes not even that because they didn't want to carry the extra weight. But they were tough. And they gave the enemy no rest.

One soldier said he had not had his shoes off in 21 days. "I'm afraid if I take them off," he smiled ruefully, "that I'll never get them back on."

THE HAND
is NOT faster than
THE EYE!

Consider this: 80% of your motions are controlled by your eyes. Faulty vision inevitably slows you down and causes butterfinger actions.

If you, like most of us, are engaged in some sort of war work—devoted to speed and precision—faults of vision just can't be tolerated.

Find out about your eyesight, if not for your own sake then for the sake of your country at war.

Army To Buy Fewer Blankets, Wool Goods

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Army will purchase substantially fewer blankets and wool fabrics next year, Major General C. L. Corbin of the quartermaster general's office told a woolen industry advisory committee today.

However, Corbin said, existing contracts will not be cancelled unless unforeseen circumstances—such as a sudden end of the war—make a different course advisable. The decision is expected to increase the quality of goods available for civilian and lend-lease requirements.

Texas Company Sued On Chain Store Tax

AUSTIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—Attorney General Gerald C. Mann's department Thursday filed suit in 126th district court here against the Texas company for $2,342,282 allegedly due in chain store taxes from 1936 to 1941.

The state alleged the company, a Delaware corporation, operated 528 to 652 filling stations per year during the period under the company's ownership and management.

It added the company had refused payment despite requests for payment from the state.

'Share The Loot' Burglar Reported

TULSA, Aug. 13 (AP)—Police officers report a "share the loot" burglar.

H. W. Donovan of Dallas, left $120 in a bag in his hotel room; told officers that on his return $60 was gone—the other $60 was still in the bag.

The greatest variation of temperature—187 degrees—was recorded in northeastern Siberia where the mercury hit a winter low of 94 degrees below zero and a summer high of 93 above.

Law Is Facing Thorough Test

AUSTIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—Thorough test of Texas' new law regulating loans was indicated today with filing of intervening petitioners after attorneys for loan men in Tarrant and Harris counties had asked for injunction against enforcement of the act.

Walter Watts of Tarrant county and M. D. Heritage of Harris county, doing business as First Finance company of Houston, were plaintiffs.

Ask Injunction

They asked that Atty. Gen. Gerald C. Mann, District Attorney Marvin H. Brown, jr., of Tarrant county and acting District Attorney W. K. Richardson of Harris county be enjoined.

In the petition of intervention Triangle Securities trust, a Massachusetts corporation; W. M. Hubbard of Harris county; J. E. Leake, J. H. Taylor and R. L. Ross, all of Atlanta, Ga.; and L. Berry and J. H. Reagan, both of Tarrant county, asked they be given similar relief from action by the attorney general and district and county attorneys in 28 counties where they operate in making loans. They also specified all other county and district attorneys in the state.

Lubbock County Included

Counties named were: Taylor, Potter, Travis, Jefferson, Howard, Hutchinson, Nueces, Dallas, El Paso, Grayson, Tarrant, Galveston, Harris, Gregg, Tom Green, Bexar, Nolan, Bell, Bowie, Smith, McLennan, Wichita, Gray, Lubbock, Anderson, Navarro, Kleberg and Lamar.

The new law, effective Aug. 10, provides that the attorney general or any district or county attorney may file suit for an injunction against further operations of any company or person making more than three usurious loans in six weeks. The law allows 10 per cent interest and investigation charges of $1 on each $50 loaned.

Even in the warmest part of Russia, near the Black and Caspian Seas, winter temperatures of 18 degrees above zero are common.

"LAAF is the first post I have inspected this tour where WACs are already on the job of releasing men for more active duty to speed victory," said the WAC training center chief. "You may be sure that we are well pleased with the splendid reports that have come to us regarding WACs at Lubbock Army Air field."

She will also inspect activities of WACs at SPAAF this afternoon, before she continues her tour of this area.

CAP INSPECTION PLANNED

DALLAS, Aug. 13 (AP)—Maj. D. Harold Byrd, wing commander, announced that the Texas wing of the Civil Air patrol will have a statewide inspection and training maneuver at Kerrville Sept. 4, 5 and 6. It will be the first inspection and maneuver since the CAP was attached last spring to the Army Air Forces as an auxiliary.

Bechtol, Brewer To Start In All-Star

South Still Rated Game's Favorite

WACO, Aug. 13 (AP) — Forty-six young fellows finish their high school athletic careers and look forward to battles on fields far removed from the roar of the crowd as the North meets the South tonight in the ninth annual all-star football game climaxing the Texas coaching school.

Before another football campaign has run its course most of them may be battling Japs and Nazis, but for tonight it's a rousing game between two fine squads and officials predict a crowd of from 5,000 to 10,000 will be there to see it.

Both squads are in the best physical condition of any ever to play in this all-star classic. Coach Henry Frnka of Tulsa university, who tutors the North, and Coach Ralph Jones of Lake Forest college, who directs the South, held the boys out of scrimmage in four days of practice in an effort to prevent injuries. The only player on the ailing list was Harry Hardcastle, Port Arthur back who had an old knee hurt that may keep him out of the game.

The South still rated favorite to win but no one figured it would be easy. Bully Gilstrap, line coach of the University of Texas who is assisting Jones, said he feared the North's potent air attack. Frnka is noted for his aerial tactics.

The game, at the Waco municipal stadium, starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Probable line-ups:

SOUTH	Pos	NORTH
McCall, Austin	LE	Bechtol, Lubbock
Turley, S. Antonio	LT	Bryant, Dallas
Roper, Corpus C.	LG	Blessen, Amarillo
Marshall, Temple	C	Williams, Phillips
Hohn, Bryan	RG	Jones, Paris

Schoolboy Rowe Is Given $1,000 Bonus

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13. The bonus was promised at the beginning of the season, if he won 10 games. He is also reported to be in line for $100 for each additional victory from here out. He has been beaten only four times.

Luke Appling On Threshold Of One Of Most Coveted Of Baseball Feats--2,000 Hits

BY PAUL SCHEFFELS
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 — Luke Appling, veteran shortstop of the Chicago White Sox, today stood on the threshold of one of the most coveted achievements of veteran baseball players, needing only one solid smash to enter the select circle of those having 2,000 hits.

Appling, already well on the way toward winning the second American league batting title of his career—he topped the loop in 1936 with .388—will, if he connects against the Boston Red Sox, join a clique that includes only seven other active players.

Seven Others Achieve Mark

Already over the 2,000 mark are Paul Waner, Brooklyn; Mel Ott, Giants; Joe Cronin, Red Sox; Doc Cramer, Detroit; Dick Bartell, Giants; Billy Herman, Brooklyn, and Joe Medwick, Giants. When Appling adds his name to the list, it will be a brilliant chapter in a 14-year career studded with noteworthy diamond achievements.

Appling, setting the junior circuit batting pace with .336, slammed out five hits in nine trips yesterday as the White Sox divided with the Red Sox. He collected only one hit in three tries as the Red Sox rapped out a 10-6 triumph in the first game.

Has Big Day Thursday

Appling belted out two singles, a double and a triple in six attempts as Chicago took the finale, 7-6, in 14 innings. He drove in two runs and set up the deciding tally by opening the 14th with a triple. Skeeter Webb walloped a single to send him home. Wally Moses tied the score for Chicago in the ninth with a two-run blast.

The Indians stretched their current winning string to five games with a 4-3 decision over the Athletics. Jim Bagby recorded his 13th victory although Joe Nevin had to stifle a two-run ninth-inning A's rally. Manager Lou Boudreau paced the Tribe at bat with two triples and two singles to drive in two runs and score two.

York Hits Homers

Rudy York blasted his 20th and 21st home runs to lead the Tigers to a 10-3 decision over the Senators. The triumph hoisted Detroit into second place as three Washington pitchers bowed before a 14-hit Tiger barrage. York has hit seven homers in the Tigers' last six games.

The Yankees chalked up their first win in three games at St. Louis, handing Buck Newsom his fifth straight loss by beating the Browns, 6-2, in a night game. Nick Etten's double with the bases loaded in the first gave the Yankees a 3-0 edge they never lost. Charley Wensloff spaced six St. Louis safeties for his ninth triumph.

Cooper Wins 16th

In the National league, Mort Cooper won his 16th game as the Cardinals defeated the Giants, 4-1. Cooper held the New Yorkers to three hits and after Sid Gordon's safety in the fifth faced only 14 batters as the Giants went down in order. Manager Mel Ott's 15th homer spoiled Cooper's shutout as the Cards combed Ken Chase and Ace Adams for nine hits.

Butch Nieman, Boston Braves rookie, beat the Cubs, 3-2, when he hit a triple in the 12th after Tommy Holmes had singled with two out. The blow provided Al Javery with his 10th triumph.

Phillies Win 7th Straight

The Dodgers defeated Cincinnati, 3-0, in a twilight game. Kirby Higbe held the Reds to five hits as Brooklyn reached Jonhnny Vander Meer for all their runs in the first inning, beating the Cincinnati southpaw for the fifth time this year. The triumph put Brooklyn half a game behind the third-place Reds.

The Phillies ran their winning streak to seven by beating the Pirates, 4-3, in a night game that was featured by the ejection of Pittsburgh Pilot Frankie Frisch, Al Rubeling, Bob Klinger and Hank Gornicki for arguing.

A two-run homer by Ron Northey provided the Phillies with their first tallies in the fourth. Singles by Babe Dahlgren, Merrill May and Coaker Triplett gave the Quakers two more and the game in the seventh.

Yesterday's star—Luke Appling, Chicago shortstop, who ran his lifetime hit total to 1,999 as the White Sox split with the Red Sox.

Philadelphia Girl Is Long Hitter

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 13. (AP)—The nickname of "Slamming Sammy" was tacked on Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia today as the 43rd annual Women's Western amateur golf tournament moved into the semi-final round.

The nom-de-course for the 19-year-old golfer was borrowed from Sammy Snead and is a tribute to her booming tee shots. Miss Germain ranks as one of feminine golf's longest hitters.

Faces Catherine Fox

Miss Germain yesterday defeated Ann Casey of Mason City, Ia., 5 and 4 to move into the round of four. Her opponent today will be Catherine Fox of Glen Ridge, N. J., who edged Marjorie Row of Detroit one up.

In the other semi-final match Peggy Kirk of Findlay, O., opposes Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich. Miss Kirk advanced by beating Betty Jean Rucker of Spokane, Wash., 2 up and Miss Wall bested Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., 1 up.

Miss Germain has been playing golf for eight years, but now is on the brink of her first major title. She also went to the semi-finals of the recent Western Open before losing to Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga.

Though Russian lakes and rivers are often frozen to the bottom in winter, the port of Murmansk is open the year round, because of the Gulf Stream.

Three Backfields Working As Units For Chicago Game

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 13 (AP)—Three backfield combinations, which Assistant Coach Babe Horrell praises as "the fastest ever assembled on one squad," are working out as complete units for the All-Star football game Aug. 25.

"Of course, those backs may not run very far unless we get a comparable group of linemen," Horrell, U. C. L. A. coach, added, "but for speed these boys can outstep any bunch I've ever seen."

The combinations now training as units:

PHILLIES SIGN PITCHER

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13. (AP)—Rogers Hornsby McKee, 16-year-old pitcher from Shelby, N. C., was signed by the Phillies today. A former American Legion tourney star with a no-hitter to his credit and an average of 14 strikeouts per game in legion play he will remain with the Phillies for the rest of the season to benefit from major league coaching.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. (AP)—Close to $150,000 is expected to be turned over to the Army Air forces aid society as the result of Swedish runner Gunder Haegg's tour of the United States, Secretary-Treasurer Dan Ferris of the Amateur Athletic union said today.

What Readers Of The Evening Journal Say—

The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters Sundays are welcomed at all times and on all subjects. However, no letter of more than 500 words will be considered for publication, and all letters belittling, or impugning the motive of any individual, firm or corporation must include for publication, the true name of the author. The Editor shall be the sole judge of whether or not letters may be published and cannot engage in correspondence concerning them).

SALUTES TEACHER

Dear Plainsman: Permit me a small space to voice publicly my deep appreciation and heartfelt thanks to Mrs. Merrill Turner (better known to all of us as Miss Beulah Dunn) for her musical cooperation and collaboration with the Texas Technological college department of Music. I cannot thank her enough for all the commencement exercises, Seven Last Words and Messiah productions which she has played with us, always so graciously and patiently. And she set a superb example to her own pupils and public school orchestra which she always brought with her to augment, or to speak more truly, to make possible our Texas Technological college orchestra.

The work of this young artist as a teacher and director will repercussion on the Plains for decades to come.

The Texas Tech students, as well as myself, have taken great pleasure in playing under her direction at public school orchestra performances, and we have time and again commented upon the excellency of her musicianship and upon her studpendous administrative talent.

We are losing a charming citizen and a powerful musical influence. We wish her happiness and sincerely hope that she will often visit our orchestras and help to reenforce our string sections with her own beautiful playing.

Yours very sincerely,
Julien Paul Blitz,
Head Department of Music,
Texas Technological college.

EXPLANATION DEPARTMENT

Dear Plainsman: I always knew I wasn't smart, but I must be really dumb. Maybe this little note shouldn't be written, since everyone is about half tired of letters for and against Pappy O'Daniel, and since they don't help matters one way or the other.

What I want to say is in reference to the writer of the letter who signed: A puzzled Reader. He asked you to be consistent. You answered his question about why you were against O'Daniel, although you were against labor racketeering, bureaucratics, and that is what O'Daniel wins his elections on, by saying, "I've never in my life seen a man, who plays both ends against the middle, that has a sincere bone in his body." That's why I say, I must be dumb. What does your answer mean in connection with O'Daniel? It just doesn't make sense to me. Will you explain? I haven't read one that gives an answer that made sense to me.

Sincerely,
A Reader, also.

(Dear Reader: one and one make two. Two and two make four. Things equal to the same things are equal to each other. In short, I do not like Wilbert Lee because I think he is insincere in what he says and does. Is it clear now? The Plainsman.)

RANDOM comments which should make Americans think:

"The active part of the German people are with Hitler." — Dr. F. W. Foerster, expatriated German educator.

(Remember his testimony when the Merciful Maggies start crying, after the United Nations victory, that "we shouldn't be so hard on the poor, German people.")

"Now I realize what a sap I was when I used to take off for week-ends and not take my job serious in making shells and cylinders." — A former steel worker, now with the U. S. fighting forces in Sicily, writing to his former boss here at home.

(Let us realize that we're all "saps" when we fail to give our part of the war effort the maximum of time, effort and attention.)

"We're still a heluva way from Berlin, and that's where we're headed.—WPB Chairman Donald Nelson.

(You're right, Don. But we're closer to it by a heap than we were just a few short months ago.)

"Our ancestors got along without sugar until the 13th century; without coal until the 14th century; without buttered bread until the 15th century; without potatoes until the 16th century; without coffee until the 17th century; without matches until the 18th century, and without gasoline until the 19th century." — Boston Rationing board.

(Yeah. And look where our ancestors are now!)

THIS is the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth: At the recent rationing clinic held here — which was attended by rationing officials from over the area—a representative from Seagraves offered this suggestion for saving rubber:

"Legalize beer in Lubbock!"

The Seagraves resident apparently had good reason for the suggestion. That Gaines county town is the closest point where legal suds can be secured and is a mecca for numerous of the thirstier of the local gentry of both sexes.

FIRE Chief W. E. Twitty remembers clearly the date when, as a kid, a steam tractor blew boiler plate, steel rivets and Ed Twitty all over the plowed terrain of a Wise county farm — but he is open to a charge of missing some of the dates and names of 34 years ago here, his friends have been telling him lately.

The chief told a reporter the other day that August 9 was the 34th anniversary of the organization of the Lubbock Fire department. He went into more or less detail to embellish the story's contributing elements—persons and happenings in the kernel that was destined in a few years to become one of the most typical examples of Texas towns too big for their breeches.

"The chief's memory is good—but no memory can hew to too many lines that far back," some other oldtimes, in substance, put it.

Take C. E. Hunt, for instance. Mr. Hunt has incontrovertible evidence that much of the chief's memory is correct, some of it somewhat out of focus.

Mr. Hunt should know, too, for he has recorded a day-by-day chronology of "firsts" that have happened in Lubbock since 1890—a year before Lubbock county was organized.

He can thumb a little loose-leaf notebook and come up with such firsts as: The initial livery stable, the first name on the first subscription list that was relied upon to build the first church (Baptist) in Lubbock; the first city and county officials; the first fellow to say yes in the first wedding ceremony, and the first ad infinitum.

THE diary—that is what it is—runs into the present. It is older than the oldest newspaper of Lubbock county-almost as new as the freshest edition.

"I can't rely on my memory for hundreds of names and dates —so I pen them into my diary," he will tell you. "I have an almost inexhaustible source of information available at a glance."

So, with the notebook as authority, the following amendments can be written into the fire chief's account of those early days:

The fire department was organized in 1909—but it was on Nov. 5, not Aug. 9, and the following were the officers, Mr. Hunt says: W. B. Powell, president; C. E. Parks, vice-president; S. P. Pierce (brother of Charlie Pierce who still lives here), secretary - treasurer; and, as the chief related, H. Frederick, first chief of the department, and Smyly Wilson, who operates a wholesale hardware store here, assistant chief.

The first chemical engine equipment was delivered on Tuesday, Nov. 23, 1909 (which was not a controverted point, although the chief did not know the exact date when that first equipment was received), and the first house that burned was owned by George L. Beatty and was occupied by Lon Tinker. That was on a Friday, Nov. 12—before the fire equipment was received. In those days the Lubbock public—what there was of it—betook itself to stores and, buckets and tubs in hand, plied itself back and forth from the public windmill on the courthouse square to burning buildings, in the most approved fire brigade fashion. Mr. Hunt had a mercantile and grocery store — and well he remembers those old brigades, even without the notebook.

DETAIL of the notes kept in the aged book is revealing. Mr. Hunt can say with utmost certainty that the first Baptist church was constructed in the spring of 1901, at Avenue G and Thirteenth street; that the dedicatory sermon was preached June 2 of that year; that prior to its construction religious denominations conducted their services in the old frame courthouse.

Withal, the book is recognized as one of the most remarkable products of a no less remarkable hobby.

The two-bit and $64 questions, alike, are answered there — threaded in a running catalog and glossary of what used to be and what still is.

One Is Beloved

BY LOUISE PLATT HAUCK

(Copyright, 1943, NEA Service, Inc.)

YESTERDAY: Sue learns that Bob Trenton is president of the new shoe factory. He begins a whirlwind wooing of Sue.

Chapter Five

'I LOVE YOU'

"You think Bob is just amusing himself with me?" she asked Forest.

"What else? You're tops here all right, Sue darlin', but still and all St. Joseph isn't exactly metropolitan, you have to admit. It's my guess Trenton picks the village belle wherever his business takes him; and has himself a hefty good time—while it lasts. You said he was only giving you a rush!"

The black curls bobbed assentingly against his shoulder, but her eyes flung a welcome to the tall young man who was skating across the floor toward her. She smiled mockingly at Forest's disgruntlement as he surrendered her to the newcomer.

"Cheer up!" she called as Trenton swept her away. "Remember the Chamber of Commerce!"

"What about the Chamber of Commerce?" Bob demanded. "No, you don't, Kettle! I just now took her away from Webb. Go on, Sue, tell me! Can't you and Forest find any more interesting things to talk about than business?"

"You," she told him.

"Me? Oh, I see!" His agile mind made the connection at once. "The branch factory, eh? And Webb's father a director of the Chamber of Commere. Plain as a pikestaff. Well," he dismissed the subject comfortably. "The factory's going through all right. They can stop worrying about it." He evaded an approaching stag skillfully. "I like this town, Sue! Shall we live here —for a time at least?"

"I shall," she said, emphasizing the pronoun significantly. "You must do as you think best, of course."

He sighed with exaggerated relief. "That's settled then! I'll close the deal tomorrow."

"What deal? The factory?"

"No, the house. A darned nice house it is, too, let me tell you! Swimming pool, landscaped grounds, everything. The poor chap that built it died in an airplane smash last winter—"

"Oh, you mean the Wilmington place out beyond the Country Club? It is a nice place, Bob. But a trifle large for a bachelor."

'Nonsense!'

"Bachelor, my Aunt Emma! Seriously, Sue, I think it's high time you were setting the date. We've known each other ages and ages—"

"Three long weeks, in fact," she said dryly.

"Three weeks, or three years—what does it matter? I love you and you love me—"

"But I don't!"

"Don't love me? Nonsense!" He stopped abruptly, opened a door and propelled her through it with a gentle hand on her shoulder. "I came early and scouted around to find this. Inhospitable soul, our hostess; not a light on." He pressed a button and Sue discovered they were in a small, book-lined room, clearly not intended to be used tonight. Somebody's reading glasses were on the desk, there was a comfortable litter of magazines and papers on the narrow table.

"Bob, we have no business in here!"

"Your mistake, sweet! We have very important business, if you ask me. Here—tuck your little self on this couch while I turn off the high light and switch on this nice low lamp. If I move this high-backed chair—so! between us and the door, we're fairly safe from discovery."

In spite of herself her heart beats quickened a little.

"It's too early in the evening for us to disappear like this," she protested. "Ever so many people will be looking for us both. Let's go back, Bob!"

"No." He spoke with finality. "We have things to talk about—important matters to decide. When will you marry me, Sue?"

She colored, more with annoyance than embarrassment.

"I won't. I don't love you, Bob. I just finished telling you so."

"I didn't hear you. I'll never hear you—when you talk nonsense like that. Of course you love me! How could you help it when I'm so utterly mad about you?"

She clasped her hands about her knees, rocking herself sideways to look at him through mischievously lowered lashes.

"You say that with suspicious glibness, my man! With practiced ease, in fact. 'Utterly mad' about me, ha! You talk like a man in a smart play."

Something Like Fear

His pleasant face grew a little hard. "I can do more than talk, Sue! Don't tempt me too far. I'm putting a lot of restraint on myself as it is!"

She had a moment of something like fear. The men she knew, the men she had grown up among, did not talk like this, look like this. She contrasted Forest Webb's cheerful wooing, Jim Kettle's dignified attentions, with this reckless young man's manner, and wished she were back among the dancers. But it would never do to let him see she was impressed! Forest's remark about the village belle and crown prince stuff still rankled. If Bob Trenton thought he could breeze into town with his stunning looking clothes, and his stunning looking car, and his carloads of flowers sent to any girl who momentarily attracted him, he was due for a jolt, that was all! She held her head a little higher and advised him lightly: "Keep on restraining yourself, my dear boy! It's good for you."

"Sue, please! We're wasting time. I know what you're thinking just as well as if you said it, and it's rot, sheer rot! Some of Webb's provincialism. I'd be willing to bet. I lost my heart to you the first time I saw you! that day on the river bluff, with the sunset behind you, and the darling little scowl on your darling little queer face. I knew then that I was going to marry you! It wouldn't have mattered if you'd been Mrs. Somebody-or-other even then. I always get what I want—always! And I want you more than anything in the whole world. I'll get you, sweet! Make no mistake about that. Of course you can make difficulties, tantalize me with a cat-and-mouse sort of game—"

"Bob, you're so conceited!" The accusation burst from her youthfully. "You talk as if any girl would give her eyeteeth to get you. You talk as if I were already in love with you! Well, I'm not! It wouldn't amuse me in the slightest to 'make difficulties,' as you call it. I like my life as it is. I don't want to get married for a long, long time; and even if I did, it wouldn't be you."

A FORM OF NATIONAL INSURANCE

Tragic experience will have been wasted by the United States if, after this war, it fails to be prepared along lines urged in Dallas the other day by Sen. Harley M. Kilgore of West Virginia, while in Texas as a member of a Senate sub-committee to inspect war plants.

Senator Kilgore wants Uncle Sam to keep some of his war plants—particularly, his airplane plants—in operating condition after victory so that they can be put into production at a moment's notice. This could mean, of course, that those plants would rust away without ever again turning a wheel. But they might mean life-saving insurance.

There can be no escaping the fact that in World War 1 and in this War, the United States was not ready at the beginning. Fortunately, Allies have been available to hold the enemy off while we got ready. Once ready, our strength has been overwhelming.

But the time may come—it almost certainly will come—when we won't have allies to run interference for us at the start. It is to be expected that some day an enemy will strike us without giving us a chance to prepare. We'll have to fight with what we have and with what we can get instantly.

In such case, any plants that we may have kept in readiness for production would prove the cheapest insurance ever carried by any nation.

DSC Is Awarded To Abilene Bombardier

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Eight officers and men of the United States Eighth Air force have been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for "extraordinary heroism" in aerial action against the Nazis, headquarters of the European theater of operation for the U. S. Army announced today.

Those decorated included 1st Lt. Jessie B. Duval, 26, Abilene, Texas.

Duval was bombardier on a Flying Fortress during the attack on Flensburg last May 19 and was severely wounded by a cannon shell which knocked him unconscious. He was revived by his comrades and his citation said that "in spite of serious wounds and while suffering intense pain, Duval returned to his position and heroically continued to man his guns warding off continued enemy attacks." He completed 25-bombardment missions and also wears the Purple Heart, Distinguished Flying Cross, and Air Medal with three Oak Leaf clusters.

Editor, New York Mirror

THE Citizens National committee points out that no published discussion of United Nations post-war plans estimates costs to the American taxpayer; that it will run into billions is obvious . . . Official plans contemplate raising the whole economic level . . . David B. Robertson, president of Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, points out: Our population is 6 per cent of the world; our wealth is 30 per cent; our income is 36 per cent. World equality (which could be achieved only through dictatorship) would give the United States only its share of world income, which means she would reduce to 6 per cent of total world income; give away, through draft, rationing, cash and credit, 30 per cent of the world income we now enjoy. Thus, 94 per cent of the world population would get 94 per cent of the world income . . . And, thus, the average American citizen would lose 5/6 of his income . . . If he earns $60 a week at the end of the war, he would eventually earn only $10 a week, when and if New Deal post-war dream policies should become concrete realities.

Latest Broadway twosome: Lt. Harmon Nelson, ex-husband of Bette Davis, with the girl who would rather be Bette Davis than President—Ann Corio, the stripeuse, who has torn down brick walls with her bare hands trying to crash into the legit—Hollywood or Broadway . . . There will be restricted Army areas in Manhattan and the Bronx as an afterclap of the Harlem naughtiness . . . Those Britishers! Tom Healey, London Mirror war correspondent, sat with a number of Broadwayites as Zorina passed by. All looked, and the Americans discussed her legs. Then Healey observed, "They certainly appear deucedly capable" . . . A highly publicized proprietor of the kind of places that lead to jail (as hers recently did her) won't starve; owns 15 per cent of a topflight band-leader, now in the movies, whom she financed when he needed it.

THE new nightclub, El Borracho (that means The Drunkard), has a "Kiss Room," with walls, ceiling and flour becoming covered with indelible imprints of familiar Hollywood and Broadway lips, with autographs to authenticiate . . . The platter-producers have apparently allowed the fight against the Petrillo extinction of their industry to slow down into a faint gasp; they seem to regard it as a record Caesarean operation . . . Henry Morgenthau, the big money-man, was caught eating in Lum Fong's, minus tie and jacket . . . Betty Compton Knapper, former wife of Jimmy Walker, is having a baby.

Mae West, in a communique to this column: "I certainly appreciate the way the boys of the RAF have perpetuated my name and my fame by calling their life-saving jackets 'Mae Wests.' I told the boys when I wrote, thanking them: 'I've been in Who's Who, I know what's what, and now I've made the dictionary . . . It's a nice thought to be flying all over with brave men . . . Even if I'm only at the front by proxy . . . I told them I hoped it would bring them soft and happy landings, and for them I've changed my standing invitation to: 'Come DOWN and see me sometime'."

BROADWAY chorus girls have a new game. When someone asks, "What's eating you?" there's supposed to be a snappy comeback. Example: "What's eating you" . . . "Moths—I'm all wool and a yard wide" . . . Or "Woodpeckers—I'm a chip off the old block" . . . Or "Wolves—I'm little Red Riding Hood" . . . Now you take it up from there.

At least two studios are blazing because Washington big shots forced their girl-friends on payrolls in Hollywood, where they are far from the gossipers and gossipees in the capital . . . Metro is furious at Mickey Rooney for tearing up the town every night with assorted cuties . . . Few New Yorkers have studied all the phases of the Places of Assembly bill, passed by the council and signed by the mayor. Its principal function is fire protection. But one little clause prohibits smoking in any store!

SECRET of the successful war on U-boats is an enormous increase in the power of our depth-bombs. In World War I, they were so light, they did almost no damage unless they scored very near hits. The ones we drop now can rattle the ribs out of a sub at long distances, can knock the dishes off the table at 50 miles! . . . 20th Century-Fox is pressuring the British Government to release Lunt and Fontanne from entertainment commitments, to play Woodrow Wilson and his first wife, in the film biography of Wilson; Claudette Colbert is No. 1 pick for the second wife, undoubtedly with Mrs. Wilson's consent . . . Eleanor Roosevelt has lost 28 pounds.

Ernie Hauls Off And Gets Sick From "Battlefield Fever"

Army Doctor Soon Puts Reporter On His Feet

By ERNIE PYLE

Journal Roving Reporter

SOMEWHERE IN SICILY — (By Wireless) — Since Sicily was a new country for me I figured I might as well get sick right away and get it over with. So on my fifth day ashore they threw me into an ambulance and off we went hunting for a hospital.

We were looking for a certain clearing station, and we couldn't find it because it was moving forward while we were moving back, and we passed on different roads. The result was that the determined ambulance boys drove nearly halfway across Sicily before they finally gave up and started back. We drove a total of 75 agonizing miles over dusty gravel roads, and then found the hospital all set up ready for business within four miles of where we had started from in the first place.

ERNIE PYLE

He's Well, Anyhow!

The clearing station was a small tent hospital, a sort of flag stop for wounded on the way back from the lines. The first regular hospital was about 15 miles on back.

The average patient stays in the clearing station only a few hours at most. But once the doctors got a squint at me they beamed, rubbed their rubber gloves, and cried out: "Ah! Here is the medical freak we have been waiting for. We'll just keep this guy and play with him a while."

So they put me to bed on a cot, gave me paregoric and bismuth, aspirin and codine, soup and tomato juice, and finally wound up with morphine and a handful of sulfaguanadine. The only thing I can say on behalf of my treatment is that I am well and hearty again.

MY family physician in this case was Capt. Joe Doran, of Iowa City, Ia. Captain Doran is a young and enthusiastic doctor who is different from most front-line doctors in that his main interest lies in treating sick soldiers rather than wounded ones. Captain Doran likes to get at the seat of a man's ills. In furtherance of this he has a nice little laboratory set up in one of the tents, complete with microscope and glass tubes. He is always taking specimens from his patients and then peering at them like Doctor Arrowsmith.

Captain Doran's germ - quest upon me was somewhat agitated by the fact that upon the evening of my arrival he received a letter saying he had become a father for the second time, about six weeks previously. He was so overjoyed he gave me an extra shot of morphine and I was asleep before I could say "Congratulations!"

They kept me in what is known as a semi-comatose condition for about 24 hours, and then began to get puzzled. At first they thought I had dysentery, but the little laboratory showed no dysentery. Then they thought I had malaria, so they called in a couple of Italian malaria experts from down the highway. They chatted in English, punched my finger, took blood specimens, and reported back later I had no malaria.

By that time I was gettting better anyhow, so they decided that what I had was a nonconforming and just now fairly common illness which they call "battlefield fever." With this you ache all over and have a very high temperature. The doctors say it is caused by a combination of too much dust, bad eating, not enough sleep, exhaustion, and the unconscious nerve tension that comes to everybody in a front-line area. You don't die of battlefield fever, but you think you're going to.

Others Have It, Too

They put me in a corner of a tent, and in this corner at various times were three officers with similar fevers. Their illnesses were brief, like mine, and they all left before I did, so their families need'nt worry upon reading that they were ill.

One of my classmates was a redheaded and bespectacled lieutenant named Rahe Chamberlin, from Clarksville, O. Since coming into the Army, Chamberlin has bought a half interest in a grocery store back home. Whenever they would bring us fruit juice in cans he would take a good gander to see if it was a product his partner was selling back home.

ANOTHER fellow-sufferer was Lieut. Richard Van Syckle, of Sewaren, N. Y. He used to be in the automobile business at Perth Amboy. He is married to Clare Raftery, a delicious former Powers model, and he carries magazine-cover pictures of her in his map case.

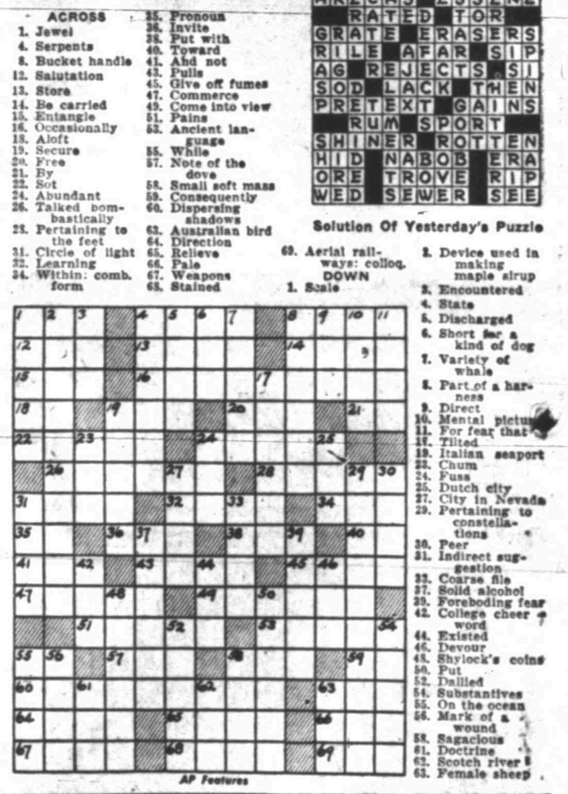

The third was Maj. Elizey Brown of Okmulgee, Okla. Major Brown used to be president and general sales manager of the Cleveland Tractor Co. He is a tough outdoors man, and he was so thoroughly disgusted at getting sick that it made him even sicker. He celebrated his 44th birthday just before entering the hospital.

Major Brown distinguished himself in our midst by paying a flat $100 to the station's chaplain for a $14 air mattress. His own gear was all lost in the original Sicily landings, and, as he says, money means nothing over here anyhow so why not pay a $100 for something that will help a little?

In normal times between 250,000 and 300,000 U. S. retail merchants go out of business every year.

New Air Blows At Japs Seen

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN The Southwest Pacific, Aug. 13—Shattering air blows, even greater than those which helped rout the Japanese from the southern and central Solomons, were predicted by that area's airforce general as U. S. jungle troops, sloshing forward in weather so bad that planes were grounded, moved to erase the last enemy resistance on New Georgia.

The prediction of more powerful air blows came from Maj. Gen. Nathan F. Twining at U. S. aircraft headquarters in the Solomons.

The report, minus details, that "our ground advance continues" against the enemy garrison at Bairoko harbor on the Kula gulf coast of New Georgia, was contained in today's communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Uses Football Language

General Twining, in the language of the college football crowd, said the current Pacific offensive has reached "the second quarter of the game with our forces possessing the ball and with an impressive score behind them."

Saying the Japanese can expect even more power in the next quarter, he added, "wait until some of the veterans now resting come back into the game."

New Success Reported

Today's communique, in addition to listing the ground advance, reported a success in the naval blockade intended to prevent aid from reaching the Bairoko Japanese by sea. Light craft, presumably motor torpedo boats, intercepted an enemy auxiliary vessel at night in the Blackett strait leading into the Kula gulf and probably sank it.

On the New Guinea jungle front, there was skirmishing and artillery exchanges five miles south of the menaced Japanese air base of Salamaua and a few four-engined bombers raided the isthmus on which Salamaua extends into the Juon gulf.

A&M Directors

ing, with reference to Williamson, said:

"When the matter of the election of the director of the Texas agricultural extension service came up, the incumbent, H. H. Williamson, was not re-elected. The board instructed George E. Adams, vice director, to temporarily assume the duties of director."

A graduate of the University of Texas, Adams became Gregg county agent in 1920; served as northeast Texas district agent 1926-34; became state agent in 1934, and vice director of the extension service in 1934.

New York's Traffic Halted During Drill

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. (AP)—It took a test air raid drill to do it, but New York's famed evening rush hour traffic—both vehicular and pedestrian—was halted.

For 10 minutes yesterday subways and els, carrying 2,500,000 persons homeward, stopped running; cabs, buses, trolleys and private cars remained at a standstill, and possibly a half million persons who had just emerged from office buildings huddled in doorways.

Manhattan looked like a ghost town from 5:30 p. m. when the red alert signal was sounded until 5:40 p. m., when the second blue sirens wailed.

Mrs. Martin Dies In Plainview Hospital

PETERSBURG, Aug. 13 (Special)—Mrs. G. H. Martin, 58, of Petersburg died early this morning in a Plainview hospital where she had been a patient several weeks.

Funeral arrangements, which will be under direction of Rix Funeral home of Lubbock, had not been completed this morning.

Survivors include her husband; a daughter, Miss La Rue Martin of Petersburg; one son, C. B. Martin of Slaton; three brothers and two sisters; and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Martin had lived on the Plains 17 years and had lived at Petersburg six years. She formerly lived in Runnels county.

Congratulations To:

Sgt. and Mrs. Cecil L. Whited of 617 Hub homes on birth of a daughter weighing 7 pounds 9 ounces at 9:45 o'clock Thursday night in Lubbock General hospital. Sgt. Whited is stationed at South Plains Army Air field.

Mr. and Mrs. James St. Clair of Morton, on birth of a son weighing 6 pounds 3 ounces at 11:24 o'clock Thursday morning in West Texas hospital.

Pvt. and Mrs Earnest Williams, jr., of 1012 Avenue R on birth of a son weighing 5 pounds 1 ounce at 5:31 o'clock Thursday afternoon in West Texas hospital. Pvt. Williams is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Warren of 2113 Avenue M on birth of a son weighing 7 pounds 15 ounces at 12:25 o'clock this morning in West Texas hospital. Warren is a truck driver.

Parents Informed Son Is Jap Prisoner

A card advising that their son, Pvt. Ray King, is a prisoner of the Japanese has been received by Mr. and Mrs. D. M. King, route 5, Lubbock, friends reported today.

Private King, who was reared in Lubbock and attended Senior High school, was a member of the 131st field artillery—the heroic "Lost Battalion" of the battle of Java. He was inducted into regular service with the 131st more than three years ago.

The card, friends reported, was written in Japanese, but carried a translation which related that he was well and was unwounded.

The last previous word received by the parents from their son was in February, 1942. He was officially reported missing in action in June, 1942. Last March, the War department notified the parents that Private King still was considered "missing in action."

lay beside the body.

MacFarlane said Purdy was bound by an expert. The harder he struggled to become free, the tighter he drew the cords.

Coroner A. H. Heyer said Purdy had not been injured, and the man or men who bound him probably were not there when he died. "But it is unquestionably murder," he said. "The ingenious knotting of the ropes was fiendishly contrived." Purdy had been dead about two days.

Had Been Robbed

The sheepherder had been robbed. His pockets were empty, and the wagon had been stripped of supplies brought to him last Sunday and of two high-powered rifles. Authorities, however, discounted robbery as the slaying motive.

MacFarlane said it was not known if any of Howell's sheep were stolen.

An inquest into the death will open at Hayden at 2 p. m. (CWT) today.

blackouts did not save Hamburg or other German cities, and therefore modification is well worth the risk it entails for English cities, because of consequent gain in the war effort and the possibility of more efficient handling of workers."

Former Local Woman Buried In California

Mrs. Edward Bowen, former resident of Lubbock, who died in Santa Ana, Calif., Monday, was buried there Thursday afternoon, friends here were advised.

The Bowens, who resided here at College avenue and Wolffarth street, went to California a year ago when Mr. Bowen, a roadmaster's clerk with the Santa Fe, was transferred to the offices at Fullerton, Calif. Besides her husband, Mrs. Bowen is survived by a nine-year-old daughter, Frances Jo, of Santa Ana; her father, James Cole, and two brothers, Levi and James Cole of Canyon.

Airmen Blast Rome, Berlin

planes arrived over the Italian capital shortly after 9 a. m. and other waves swept across the eternal city for at least two hours.

P-38 twin-engined lightning fighters escorted the all-American formations.

The night raids on Milan and Turin, northern Italy's two largest cities, were carried out by a two-hour procession of four-engined Stirlings, Lancasters and Halifaxes that sent hundreds of tons of bombs cascading onto some of the most important arms factories in Italy.

Still Military Center

The Rome raid followed aerial reconnaissance showing that the city still was being used as a military communications center despite all warnings and the previous raid. Trains carrying military supplies and reinforcements for German and Italian troops in southern Italy and Sicily are made up in the San Lorenzo and Littorio switchyards.

All aircraft were from the Strategic Air force commanded by Maj. Gen. James H. (Jimmy) Doolittle.

An Italian communique said the bombers attacked "Rome and surrounding air fields" and another Italian broadcast reported that Pope Pius XII left the Vatican immediately after the raid and began a tour of the bombed areas.

"Huge Damage" Reported

The Italian communique reported "huge damage" in Milan and Turin. The German Transocean agency said all districts of Milan were hit. The marine palace opposite La Scala opera house was destroyed by fire, the agency said, and one spire of the cathedral was hit. The central railway station also was hit, but the agency said only slight damage resulted.

The brunt of the assault was borne by Milan, site of the Pirelli rubber and plastics factory, the Bianchi motor factory and scores of other war plants, but the Air ministry said a "strong" force also attacked the royal arsenal and other objectives in Turin.

"Weather over northern Italy was good and first reports show that both attacks were well concentrated," the Air ministry said.

Debris Clutters Streets

Debris still cluttered the streets of Turin and Milan from Saturday night's raids when the formations arrived last night. A German broadcast said the rumble of bomb explosions could be heard as far away as Bern, 130 miles from both Milan and Turin.

It was the first raid on Berlin since the night of May 21, after which the shorter periods of darkness made it impractical for the RAF to attack the city. Berlin now has been raided 68 times since the start of the war.

Other Targets Lashed

Fighters and fighter-bombers also participated in what appeared to have been a night of unparalleled blows against both ends of the Axis, damaging at least 19 locomotives, shooting down an intercepting night fighter and bombing airfields in France, Holland and Belgium and wrecking a minesweeper and an enemy torpedo boat off the French coast.

Thirteen bombers were lost in the raids over Italy and Germany, but all fighters and fighter bombers returned safely.

Swiss reports told of vast, spreading conflagrations racing through Milan and Turin, turning the sky a rosy glow easily visible from the Swiss side of the border.

Jap Attack Possible

As a matter of fact, there was some thought the ambassadors may have warned the Soviet marshal of the possibility of an impending Japanese attack on Russia.

Lieut. Gen. Sir Douglas Brownrigg, writing in the London Evening News two days ago, said it probably was not too far-fetched an idea to suggest the Japanese constitute "the secret weapon" at which Reichmarshal Hermann Goering has been hinting.

(Although there will be no Russian representation at the Quebec conference, a CBS London correspondent broadcast that he believed "a high-ranking Russian" would reach London in September and "be empowered to negotiate on matters of the greatest importance." There was no official confirmation).

Fear Felt For Safety Of Missing Twin Boys

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13 (AP)—Thirteen-year-old twin boys, missing from their West side home overnight, were sought today in a Cleveland suburb where police found nine-year-old Jack Buchanan, who been abducted and attacked by a sex degenerate.

The missing twins are James and Charles Collins, sons of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Collins. They disappeared on the way from their home to the Lakewood Country club where they are caddies.

Fear was expressed the same man who assaulted the Buchanan boy, son of City Food Inspector E. B. Buchanan, had abducted the twins.

The Buchanan boy remained under treatment at a hospital where he gave a fragmentary account of his abduction.

Freedom Pledged To Philippines By FDR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP)—The Philippines won their right to independence by the fight the natives put up on Bataan, says President Roosevelt. Furthermore, the islands will "soon be redeemed from the Japanese yoke."

In these words, Mr. Roosevelt spoke last night to the Filipino people on the 45th anniversary of American occupation of the Far Pacific territory.

The moment the Japanese are ousted, said the President, the Philippines will have their own Republican government. By their battle against the Japanese in December, 1941 and for weeks thereafter, they "gave final proof that here was a nation fit to be respected," he declared.

The Philippine government will have a voice in the peace, Mr. Roosevelt added.

Use Of Mexican Labor In Texas Is Doubtful

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 13. (AP)—Whether Texas will be included in the states receiving Mexican farm workers, when the labor migration program to the United States is resumed, apparently has not been determined.

Labor ministry sources said today that the migration will be resumed next year, and that the number of workers to be sent then, and their allocation, will depend upon circumstances.

Secretary of Foreign Relations Ezequiel Padilla has said that Texas can have workers if alleged discrimination against Mexicans there is erased. Mexican consuls in the state, he said, are working toward that end.

The last trainload of workers left this week.

Mother Confesses To Slaying Of Children

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 13. (AP)—Frail, 37-year-old Mrs. Mildred Davidson was held in jail on three charges of murder today after Police Inspector M. A. Hinds said she confessed killing her three children with an axe.

She was arrested yesterday after the hacked bodies of the victims were found in their beds by the father, Robert Davidson. Police said a bloody long-handled axe was found against the fire place. An ice pick also was used in the slayings, they asserted.

The children were Jean Parkey, 15, daughter of Mrs. Davidson by a previous marriage; Robert L. Davidson, 7, and Peggy Ann Davidson, three months.

Plans Incomplete For M. E. Garrett Rites

Arrangements had not been completed at noon today for funeral services for M. E. Garrett, 55, who died about 7:30 o'clock Thursday night while being taken to a hospital after suffering a heart attack at his home at 619 Avenue F.

The body is at Sanders Funeral home.

Garrett was a driver for Domino Taxi.

He is survived by his wife; five sons, B. E. Robstown, Tex., E. E., Slaton, Jack, Ruidoso, N. M., Vinson, in the Army in the Hawaiian islands, M. E., jr., Lubbock; three daughters, Mrs. Edna Bertram, Slaton, Mrs. Ruby Montgomery and Margaret Garrett, Lubbock; three brothers and one sister.

Nazis Said Easing Up On Opposing Groups

MADRID, Aug. 13. (AP)—Travelers arriving in Spain from Berlin reported today that Heinrich Himmler, head of the German secret police, has been ordered to stop terrorizing anti-Nazi Germans. Despite their dislike of the Nazi party, these Germans are reported willing to cooperate in defending the fatherland against the Allies.

These travelers said it was also "quite possible" that certain Jews might be asked to cooperate with the military by taking technical war jobs from which they previously had been banned by the Nazi party.

Finns Are Hopeful Of Peace In Near Future

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Finns are beginning to see a ray of hope for peace for Finland.

The strict Finnish censorship, which has been seeking to soft pedal any peace talk, permitted the Helsinki newspaper Sosiali-Demokraatti to say that while "one dare not hope for peace in the near future we seem to hear an echo of coming peace."

The paper is the official organ of the Social Democrat party.

Finland is "awaiting great events," the paper added.

Stock Market

MARKET IS SLUGGISH

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP) — A little late bidding stiffened prices generally in today's stock market although anything recembling a recovery rush failed to materialize.

Sluggishness prevailed from the start and the aggregate of around 400,000 shares was one of the smallest of the past year. While the majority of near-closing gains were in fractions, there were a few wider spreads. Negligible declines were plentiful.

Pepsi-Cola and Eastman Kodak got up 2 or so each and lesser improvement was shown for U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Willys-Overland, U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Westinghouse, General Electric, Texas Co., Standard Oil (NJ) and International Telephone.

Bonds were narrowly mixed.

Ahead most of the time in the curb were Cities Service, Aluminum Ltd., American Light and Pantepec. Among intermittent losers were Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Colonial Airlines and American Cyanamid "B".

The fact the Associated Press 60-stock average recently has been holding at about 14 full points above the figure at this time a year ago accentuates Wall Street conservatism.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP) — Cotton futures trading was restricted today. Dullness of the spot market and declining consumption, due to labor scarcities, were depressing factors. Local and New Orleans liquidation and hedge selling were absorbed through mill buying against textile contracts.

Covering and increased price fixing in the final hour lifted values to the best levels of the day.

Futures closed 5 to 25 cents a bale higher.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP) — Gaining more than a cent at times, rye led a recovery in grain prices today. Activity was on a small scale and the advance in rye was considered a technical development in view of the sharp decline which has occurred in that grain over recent sessions.

Strength of wheat at Minneapolis, where good mill buying was reported, gave the local market a firm undertone. Some buying here was also credited to milling account. Scattered demand for oats disclosed a scarcity of offerings and the market held firm.

At the close wheat was ⅛-¼ higher, September $1.43⅞, December $1.45⅛, oats were ⅛-½ higher, September 68⅝-⅞, and rye was up ⅝-1⅛, September 97⅛-⅝.

"Great naval activity in support of the armies still continues on the north and east coasts of Sicily," a naval bulletin announced, and it told of a series of blows from the sea at German traffic routes and troop positions during the week.

(The Italian high command, in a communique broadcast from Rome and recorded by the Associated Press, said "the enemy attack, developed with large employment of armored units and supported by air masses in collaboration with naval forces, compelled Italian and German troops to withdraw further east of Mt. Etna."

Warships Pound Bridgehead

American and British warships rained shells on the enemy's Sicilian bridgehead almost to the outskirts of Messina in steady bombardments, it was announced here.

From Cairo came an announcement that RAF heavy bombers based in the Middle East made a pre-dawn attack yesterday an San Giovanni, the ferry terminus on the Italian toe just across from Messina and the first mainland point in the Axis escape route.

Many bursts started fires among ferry terminal buildings and rail installations, the announcement said.

Roads, Bridges, Railways Hit

The U. S. naval units bombarded roads, railway and highway bridges east from Piraimo to Marina di Patti on Sicily's northeast coast yesterday and probably destroyed an important highway tunnel, Allied headquarters disclosed.

This area is about six miles east of Cape Orlando, where American troops trapped a German stronghold after their second amphibious operation behind enemy positions in three days.

British naval units heavily bombarded road arears of Taormnan, Nazi supply port about 10 miles north of the Eighth army vanguard and penetrated Messina straits to attack enemy holdings in the Cape Ali area twice in a few hours late Monday and early Tuesday.

Soldier Confesses To Rape-Slaying Of Girl

CLAY CENTER, Neb., Aug. 13. (AP)—Pvt. Joseph MacAvoy, 24, Brooklyn, N. Y., pleaded guilty in county court today to first degree murder charges in the rape-slaying of Anna Milroy, 16, whose nude and battered body was discovered near Sutton last Monday.

MacAvoy was bound to the district court for trial, and County Attorney S. W. Moger said the state would "insist" upon the death penalty.

Miss Milroy, a farm girl, disappeared from her home at Sutton last Saturday night, and her body was discovered Monday. MacAvoy was arrested late Monday night and confessed to the crime the next day, State Sheriff L. D. Mengel said.

American Business club members, minus a speaker today, heard a letter read which filled the 30-minute program with interesting observations of pre-war conditions in the Philippine islands a few weeks before Pearl Harbor. The letter was from Dr. Charles Brown, dated in October, 1941, and was written to his wife in San Antonio, where Dr. Brown previously had been stationed as an officer in the medical corps, the same mission to which he was sent to Manila a short time before the letter. Brown is a former schoolmate and friend of Dr. Olan Key of Plains clinic, Lubbock, and it was through Dr. Key the letter was made available and read at the meeting. Predictions made by the medical officer since have all come true, down to Bataan and Corregidor. Incidently, Dr. Brown has not been heard from since the letter was written.

Escorted By Police

At 8:25 p. m. the machines stopped at the New Jersey end of the Holland tunnel. Tunnel police were expecting the car with the doctor and flashed word of its arrival to a New York City motorcycle officer at the other end of the tunnel.

In five minutes the mercy car sped through the tunnel and into the dimmed out streets of New York.

Paced by the New York policeman, the run to Lutheran hospital was made in eight minutes.

Said Dr. Collitti:

"You fellows have done something today that all the doctors in the world couldn't have done."

"Maybe," said one of the reporters, "but from now on doc, it's up to you."

It took 30 minutes to prepare the drug, and then came the injection.

Today, the child's physician, Dr. Michael Garofalo, issued this bulletin:

Bright Outlook Marks Parley

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

The gods of war certainly are smiling on the great and going concern of Roosevelt, Churchill and Co., as the senior partners prepare to begin what probably are their most important conversations since the first historic conference on the Atlantic in the parlous days of '41.

That is to say things military are going exceedingly well.

They could scarcely be going better on the two land fronts and the one air front of the European theater. That certainly should facilitate the difficult decision the President and Britain's prime minister must make.

Reds Continue Offensive

On the crucial Russian front there has been no slackening in the Red offensive which threatens to force the Huns to withdraw their entire thousand-mile battleline.

The Nazis are in a precarious position. Thus far there's no indication that the Reds are weakening in the striking power necessary to permit continuation of their drive to crack the German line and precipitate a rout.

Should the Russians' assault lose steam before the western Allies are able to take major action to divert further Nazi strength from the eastern front, then the opportunity for a quick Allied coup de grace might be swallowed up in the bad weather of autumn, and the war would be protracted. That's a contingency the conference between Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill is calculated to meet.

Germans Withdrawing

In Sicily the end of Axis resistance is very near. Already the fiercely fighting Germans are admitting defeat by the withdrawal of troops across the narrow strait of Messina to the mainland.

Even more encouraging than the Sicilian success is the status of the Anglo-American aerial bombardment of western Europe and Germany.

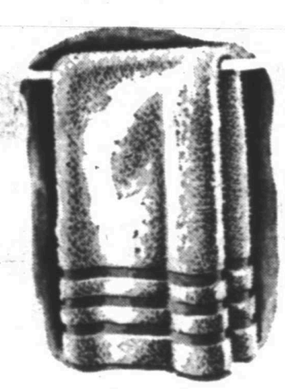

So thorough has been the devastation among the Nazi war industries of western Europe that London tells us an end has been put to the steady flow of Hitler's basic materials. The great American and British bombers therefore are able to turn part of their attention to centers manufacturing consumer goods, like the famous and ancient city of Nuernberg. The purpose of that, of course, is to hit the morale of the civilian population.

So by and large, the Allied chiefs should be pleased with the set-up as they sit down at the conference table.

Price Decline Said Doubted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13—That Labor department report of a decline in food prices in cities sounded as pleasant as a shower in drouth-time but, an unofficial survey showed today, it didn't soak in with a lot of the customers.

Many people in different parts of the country said they had not discerned any 2 per cent decrease, as the department reported for the mid June-mid July period. It may have been because their areas were not affected by the reported decline, or because they haven't been buying the items said to have lessened in cost.

Prices "Getting Higher"

But a Memphis housewife suggested that the Labor department was mistaken. She said, "I think they'd better check their statistics again; prices just keep getting higher and higher."

Comments on Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins' announcement of a decline in food prices included the following from key cities:

New Orleans—President Lloyd Keller of the city's retail grocers association said that while meat prices dropped 5.8 per cent in the period covered, fresh fruits and vegetables gained 12.7 per cent. "Outside of cabbage, everything else in the grocery line has had a stiff advance," he said.

Columbus, Ohio—Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) said he had talked with hundreds of consumers and distributors "and haven't heard any expression to bear out those figures." He said they were "a complete surprise to me" as "the trend here is toward rising costs."

Potatoes Cost Less

Pittsburgh—"Yes," said a cooperative broker, "there might have been a decrease. Look how the cost of potatoes has dropped."

Richmond, Va.—Frank W. Whitlock, manager of an association of independent grocers—"I haven't seen any cutback in prices. I wish they'd prove to me that prices are dropping."

Los Angeles—Sam White, executive secretary of the Southern California Retail Grocers association, 1,400 stores, said that "except for vegetables, which have shown a seasonal decline, I have seen no downward tendency."

Portland, Ore.—Concerns moving more than 60 per cent of groceries and meats in the Portland area reported that while there was a slight decrease in grocery and staple prices in the last month or so, fruits, vegetables, poultry and eggs increased in price. They reported that peaches which sold for $25 a ton three years ago now had an asking price of $150.

Baltimore—Consumers cooperative reported no evidence of a decrease in food costs, and a chain store executive said marketing of local produce had brought prices down little, nor anywhere near 2 per cent.

Columbia, S. C. — Wholesale grocers agreed with Labor department findings, crediting meat price rollback and OPA ceilings on all items.

Raleigh, N. C.—Secretary Leroy Allen of state food dealers association said 2 per cent cut correct, fresh produce bringing down average.

Birmingham—B. C. Appron, secretary of Alabama Retail Merchants association, said "food prices are still lower than wages" and "would be cheaper than they are if OPA didn't interfere so much."

The body was taken to Seagraves by Webb Funeral home. Arrangements were not announced here.

Police this morning held two married men, a young woman and a juvenile girl for possible charges after they had been found together in a room in 1600-block Avenue E. The young girl admitted intimacies with a soldier who has been transferred from Lubbock, juvenile officials said. She is 15 or 16. Another girl, 16, is being held in county jail's juvenile ward for venereal inspection.

A woman in vicinity of Sixteenth street and Texas avenue didn't like the night sounds—particularly a long drawn-out hissing, so called police Thursday night. Investigators found someone at a service station had left a hydraulic jack "up." "Air was escaping from it as it lowered," police wrote into their report.

Juveniles raided a fruit stand, and Mexican juveniles were shooting dogs, police were informed Thursday night. Juvenile officials were investigating this morning.

Pets and other livestock—some not so gentle—brought a variety of complaints Thursday night from the public. There was a belligerent bull in vicinity of Fort Worth & Denver Railroad company station, in 1700-block Avenue G. A cow was chasing "everybody in their houses" in the Fourteenth street and Avenue C area. A calf was reported out for a stroll, but was "nice" at last report. A pony walked off from 2400-block Thirtieth street. Barking puppies in 1500-block Avenue Q caused complaints, "and the woman put them to bed in the house." Trespassing chickens also brought complaints.

County Judge G. V. Pardue took pleas of guilty in aggravated assault complaints this morning from Wallace Cox and Earl E. Rochelle, and fined each $25 and court costs. Complaints were filed several days ago.

The man, 24, was in a hurry. Police said they chased his car from Seventeenth street to Broadday on Avenue H. He was fined $5 for speeding. Several men and women were arrested for inspection by city health officials.

Rev. Ben D. Johnson, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church at Avenue N and Fifteenth street, will preach on "And We Won't Sit Down Until He Comes" in tonight's service of the open air revival. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church at Fort Worth and the Temple Baptist church in Detroit, is to preach before the revival closes, although date he will be here is not yet known, it was announced. Rev. Johnsn's subject Saturday will be "Are You Looking for Christ or Anti-Christ?"

After two weeks' of interruption, weekly dances will be resumed Saturday night from 9 until 12 o'clock in Soldiers' center, 1211 Thirteenth street, according to announcement today by Miss Leona Gelin, project supervisor. The interruptions have been due to the remodeling of the building. Work of remodeling the negro soldiers' center, 2101 East Avenue C, has been started and will necessitate the cancellation of all activities there for at least a week, Miss Gelin said.

Miss Myrtle Murray Is Speaker Before Club

Miss Myrtle Murray, extension specialist in home industries, Texas A. and M. college, addressed a meeting of Shallowater Home Demonstration club Thursday afternoon in the club house.

"Three hundred thousand eggs spoil every day and that is too great a loss when food is needed as much as it is now," Miss Murray told the group. "Farmers are bearing that loss through lower egg prices. Simple care of the eggs from the time they are laid until sold will practically eliminate that loss in food and money," she said.

"This care includes gathering the eggs three or four times a day, placing them in wire baskets to allow to cool and keeping them away from foreign odors," Miss Murray explained.

Price Supports Gain In Favor

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The administration appeared today to have split opposition to its new subsidy rollback program with its billion dollar 1944 agricultural price support plan.

While Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) declared the new idea "looks like subsidy by subterfuge," Senator Aiken (R-Vt), another leader in the recent farm bloc fight against subsidies, predicted Congress would welcome any workable plan which would guarantee agricultural prices to encourage production.

Cost Is Smaller

"I think such a proposal would have a good reception in Congress," the Vermonter told an interviewer. "It would cost the least of any program thus far suggested and in my opinion it would be the best means of assuring adequate production."

Food Administrator Marvin Jones reportedly is preparing to request an increase of upwards of a billion dollars in funds of the Commodity Credit corporation (CCC) to finance price guarantees to farmers on selected crops.

Aiken said he had no doubt the whole subsidy question will be opened again as soon as Congress reconvenes Sept. 14, and added that if the administration turns to price supports instead of roll backs it will find the atmosphere a great deal clearer.
