

Salvation Army Fund Drive Opens Monday

The kick-off for the Salvation Army's annual fund drive was held Monday, Nov. 17 and will continue about two weeks under the direction of Mrs. Lorene Jenkins, campaign chairman.

The goal for Collingsworth County is $750.

The Skyrocket Youth Conference will assist Mrs. Jenkins in conducting the campaign.

One-third of the funds collected will remain here and two-thirds is sent to the Dallas headquarters of the Salvation Army, but it is available to be returned here should an emergency arise, according to Ralph Coleman, Service Unit field representative for Region 5, Dallas.

"The drive is more urgent than ever because of Hurricane Camille. The Salvation Army is still feeding 800 people in Biloxi, Miss.," he said in Wellington last week. "Money alone doesn't fill their need. The Salvation Army helps until government funds and supplies arrive."

During the year the Salvation Army helps until government funds and supplies arrive.

Phone Service Improvements Finished Here

Several service improvements have been completed by General Telephone Company in Wellington according to Sherron T. Lee, division manager.

Seven blocks of cable have been replaced in the alley behind Houston Street and three and one half blocks of cable replaced on 10th Street. Also cable replacement has been completed behind West Avenue beginning at 16th Street and extending south five blocks.

These cables were installed to replace those damaged by lightning, high winds and other elements.

Next year additional cable replacement and extensions will be made throughout the town to improve service and allow additional facilities for private line service, Lee said. This work is scheduled for early fall completion.

Skyrockets Open Season at Paducah Thursday

The Skyrocket and Rockette basketball teams will open their seasons with a trip to Paducah Thursday night, Nov. 20, then the following night, Friday, they begin their home games with Claude boys and girls as their opponents. Game time is 7:00 p.m.

The Wellington girls are the defending champions of District 2-AA, and Coach James Stavenhagen is expecting a winning team again this year.

He also believes he may have the conference winner in the boys division.

Last year's Skyrockets ended the season in third place, due to early conference losses. They gained momentum and by the time basketball was over, they were considered as strong as any 2-AA team, Coach Stavenhagen recalled.

He will have approximately 30 men on the varsity and B teams, and his traveling squad will be named this week.

The help by the Ministerial Alliance includes providing a meal, hotel room, and gasoline to enable the needy person to continue on his way.

Each church pays dues to take care of other expenses.

Mrs. Tom Dobbs, Early Settler Here, Dies

Mrs. Tom Dobbs, who first lived in Wellington during its pioneer days, died about 5:00 a.m. Monday, November 17, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Luella Daves. She was 87.

It was in 1905 that she and the late Mr. Dobbs came here, but four years later they returned to Oklahoma, and that remained their home until they moved back to Collingsworth County from Soper in 1926.

Mrs. Dobbs was the former Lola Belle Hougino, daughter of the late James T. and Martha Moreland Longino. She was born at Sulphur Springs May 8, 1882.

She and Mr. Dobbs were married November 28, 1901 in Nelson, Okla. He preceded her in death July 1, 1967.

She had been a Methodist since childhood.

Funeral services were conducted at First United Methodist Church at 2:00 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 18, with the Rev. R. T. Dyess, pastor, and the Rev. Leroy Gaston of First Baptist Church officiating. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Kelsco Funeral Home.

Grandsons were pallbearers. Survivors include four sons and four daughters: Oren M. Dobbs of Oklahoma City; Walter Dobbs and Mrs. Daves of Wellington; Jack Dobbs and Jimmy D. Dobbs of Amarillo; Mrs. Edna Mae Winkler of Cactus; Mrs. Essie Turner of Goodwell, Okla.; Mrs. Christen Turner of Boise City, Okla., a sister, Mrs. Mary O. Herman of Mosier, Ore.; 25 grandchildren, 45 great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren.

Nazarenes to Take Mission Collection Sun.

Two coming events were announced this week for the Church of the Nazarene by the Rev. Philip Daniels, pastor.

On Sunday, Nov. 23, a Thanksgiving offering for World Wide Missions will be taken.

A goal of $750 has been set for the Wellington church, which Rev. Daniels said he was optimistic would be reached.

Donations will be accepted at both the morning and evening services.

On Sunday, Dec. 14, the Wellington congregation will join all other Churches of the Nazarene in observing Universal Bible Sunday.

School Holiday Nov. 27 and 28

Collingsworth County students will have a two-day Thanksgiving holiday, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 27 and 28, school administrators have indicated.

This is the traditional holiday period for the area.

County Cotton Harvest Passes 2,700 Bales

This cotton crop is going to be better than anybody thought it would!

That is the general opinion as Collingsworth's harvest opened at full swing. By Monday evening, Nov. 17, the county's six gins had turned out 2,114 bales, according to County Agent Don Reeves, and several were preparing to go on 24-hour schedule. By Wednesday morning, it is estimated this figure has risen to around 2,700 bales.

"When you get the leaves off, you can see what you really have," one ginner declared.

Yields vary widely. Some dry land cotton is making about a quarter of a bale per acre. Much of that in the Wellington area is harvesting from a half to two-thirds and three-fourths, with some pulling up to a bale per acre, according to Loren Thompson of the Farmers Co-Op Gin.

Almost all irrigated cotton is making above a bale per acre, and Pat Bouchelle of Loco has finished one field that harvested more than two bales, Mr. Thompson said.

Much of the cotton in the Wellington area is grading strict middling low light spot, due to the spell of wet weather in October.

In most areas of the county, the harvest has just started, growers report, although a few individual farmers have completed pulling.

In an effort to get their crop out quickly, a number of farmers are bringing in as many strippers as they can get.

Earl Lynn Bartlett, with three and four machines operating at his farms north of Wellington, harvested approximately 70 bales Saturday in dryland cotton that was yielding around a bale per acre.

The crop in the Quail area will probably be under that of last year, growers believe, although most have just started pulling.

Harvest has just begun in the Lutie-Samnorwood area, also, with yields generally of from one-fourth to one-half on dry-land cotton.

A county chairman and a blood bank chairman will be elected to succeed Virginia Robey, temporary county chairman, and Donald Nunneley, assistant county chairman and Blood Bank chairman, both of whom resigned.

An item of major interest will be setting up the fall fund raising campaign, which is necessary to finance the chapter through the year. Other counties in this area also have had fall drives.

The county's quota is $2,000, Mrs. Isbell said.

She urged all those interested in the Red Cross to attend the meeting and help make plans.

Wellington Man Says

Hunter Bags Car, Two Gas Pumps at Matador

Three East Texas hunters, who found nothing in Colorado, bagged the car in which a Wellington man was riding and two gasoline pumps at a Matador service station recently.

Earl Williams, 1202 Dalhart St., was returning to Lubbock with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Wauer, whose car kept the incident from being tragic.

The East Texans arrived at El Matador Travel Center shortly before the Wauer group; two of the hunters went inside to drink coffee, the other decided to straighten up their camper.

While he was putting the gear in order, the youth dropped a high powered rifle and it discharged, blasting a hole in the side of the camper. The bullet went through a gasoline pump and was in line to go directly into a restaurant occupied by about 60 people, had it not been deflected by the fender of Wauer's car. It went on through the grill and shattered against the bumper. Fragments of the bullet struck another pump.

Mr. Williams sent the Lubbock Avalanche Journal clipping telling of the incident to Mr. and Mrs. Coy Vaughan, his neighbors, and added that the young man responsible for it went into shock and had to be hospitalized.

Rockets Beat Memphis In Final Game of '69

By JACK FORD

Ending a successful 1969 football season the Wellington Sky-rocket defeated the Memphis Cyclone 42 to 14 at Cyclone Field at Memphis, Friday night Nov. 14.

This was a game in which the Rocket speed was able to overcome the much heavier Cyclone eleven and the Rockets were also "up" for this game.

It was the type of game that gave the Rockets a 6 win and 4 loss in the tough competition for this season. The Rocket fans were proud of them this season. Seeing our team playing against heavier and most of the time taller teams the fans saw some great football by the Rockets.

The Cyclone won the toss and chose to receive. Neither team seemed to get over its mistakes until late in the first quarter when the Rockets recovered a Cyclone fumble on the Cyclone 20 yard line. Larry Robinson ran to the Cyclone 10 and then N. Watts, behind some great blocking, went into the end zone for the first Rocket touchdown. C. Mauldin passed to Lester Robinson for 2 extra points.

The Rockets came right back after forcing the Cyclone to punt and put the ball in play on their own 14 yard line. N. Watts, Larry Robinson, D. West and C. Mauldin drove to the Cyclone 18. From there D. West ran for the touchdown. C. Mauldin passed to Lester Robinson for 2 extra points. Rockets 16, Cyclone 0.

The Cyclone got a drive started and drove 56 yards for a touchdown after an exchange of fumbles. The try for extra point failed. Rockets 16, Cyclone 6.

The Rockets came back after the Cyclones tried an on-side kick and covered the ball on the Rocket 47 yard line. C. Mauldin, D. West, Larry Robinson and N. Watts drove to the Cyclone 18 and from there D. West ran for the touchdown. The try for extra point failed. Rockets 22, Cyclone 6 at the half.

Midway of the third quarter the Rockets scored again after recovering a Cyclone fumble on the Cyclone 8. Larry Robinson and N. Watts went to the 1 yard line and from there C. Mauldin went in for the TD. Try for extra point failed.

A few plays later Bobby Saied intercepted a Cyclone pass on the Rocket 14. N. Watts, Larry Robinson, D. West and C. Mauldin ran and passed to the Cyclone 18 yard line and from there N. Watts drove into the end zone for another Rocket touchdown. The try for 2 extra points was good.

The Cyclone came right back, driving and passing for 78 yards and their second touchdown. The try for 2 extra points was good.

Late in the fourth quarter the Rockets scored their last touchdown. Forcing the Cyclone to punt, Larry Robinson received the ball on the Rocket 10 yard line and, behind some great blocking, went all the way, 90 yards, for the touchdown. The try for extra point failed. Final score, Rockets 42, Cyclone 14.

To the Rockets, we say, "We are proud of you." To the seniors, we wish them the best in the future. The Rocket fans will remember the team that played some of the best teams in the area and came up with a respectable season. To the Rockets that return we will see them next year and be there to cheer them on. See you all next year.

Blood Donor Age Raised

A new age limit for blood donors has been set by the American Red Cross and the American Association of Blood Banks. Blood now will be accepted from donors up to the 66th birthday.

The old age limit was 61. Healthier older Americans and an increased need for blood caused the change, reports Minnie Bell, Extension specialist for aging. Demand for blood is rising about 12% each year.

Those giving blood must be in good health and meet the requirements for donors.

This is expected to be a factor on the next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Wellington in February.

CARPETBAGGER

The term "carpetbagger" did not originate in the reconstruction after the Civil War but was a term of derision long before that event. It was applied in the old west to denote promoters of wildcat banks whose earthly possessions were contained in their carpetbags.

Governor Receives Golf Sweater of State's Natural Fiber Blends

Texas is the number one state in the nation in the production of all three of the major natural fibers — cotton, wool, and mohair — and it has been the dream of Southwest fiber producers to market a strategic blend of these fibers that would be unique and competitive in the marketplace. This blend which would combine the comfort of cotton, the warmth of wool, and the high luster of mohair is now a reality.

Texas Governor Preston Smith on a recent visit to the Textile Research Center, at Texas Tech University, was presented with the first garment to be knitted from this promising blend. The garment is a beautiful golf sweater of "Red Raider" red and black, the colors of the governor's alma mater, Texas Tech, and is composed of equal parts of cotton, wool and mohair.

Governor Preston Smith

The fibers in the sweater were grown and produced in the Lone Star State and spun into yarn by the Textile Research Center. The yarn was then shipped to the USDA Western Regional Research Laboratory in Albany, Calif. This lab dyed and finished the yarn and shipped it on to Portland, Ore., where a commercial firm knitted the sweater.

While Gov. Smith has little time for golf, he did testify to the comfort and beauty of the golfing sweater and to the great potential of the natural fiber industry by the blending of these beautiful and durable products.

Experts present testified that the sweater achieved, to a high degree, the goals of comfort, warmth and high luster; plus the added quality of "breathability." Dr. John R. Bradford, director of the Textile Research Center, stated, "We are extremely pleased with the success of this blend and I believe that in the very near future we will see these blends gain popularity in full fashion knits."

THE DOLLAR SIGN

Do you know where the dollar sign originated? There are two theories concerning its conception.

In the early United States gold was rare and silver pesos were in most common use. Later they were called "dollars" because they were roughly equivalent in value to the "thaler" coin.

These dollars had the Pillars of Hercules imprinted on one side. When first minted, the motto read "non plus ultra", meaning "no more beyond". This was because at the time the Pillars were thought to be the end of the world.

After North and South America were discovered the motto was changed to "plus ultra".

One theory states that the upright lines of the dollar sign represent the Pillars of Hercules that appeared on the early pesos.

The second believes we derived the dollar sign from the Spanish contraction for "peso."

how can Lone Star Gas help you get rid of wrinkles?

We know all wrinkles are not due to aging. Some are due to drying. And dryers.

Some dryers affect clothes the way sun affects skin. They not only dry out moisture. They bake in wrinkles. Even in permanent press.

But gas dryers are more sensitive to your family's clothing. And more sympathetic to your work load.

Most new gas dryers have a special cool-down cycle that turns off the heat before your clothes become overheated.

That means your clothes have fewer wrinkles. And you have less ironing.

You also have less expensive utility bills. Because gas dries for about a penny a load.

See your gas appliance dealer or Lone Star Gas Company. Find out how to take it a little easier. And avoid wrinkles.

Observant Sales People Cut Shoplifting, Group Told

"The hand is quicker than the eye—of the unobservant sales person."

This began the film "Shoplifting," detailed and explicit, shown to a group of Wellington merchants and their employees Thursday evening, Nov. 13.

"But the key to preventing shoplifting lies with you—it is observant, quick, courteous sales people who are aware of all customers in the store," said Chester Fant, Department of Public Safety district safety officer.

The film was sponsored jointly by the DPS and the Wellington Police Department.

The actors, one-time professional shoplifters who have been caught and "hopelessly rehabilitated," showed for the camera's eye just how articles, some surprisingly large, can be shoplifted. Because a woman's clothing offers more places to hide things, she can carry out up to 25 pounds of merchandise without its being detected.

"Let your officers know if you find someone shoplifting," Patrolman Fant urged. "Maybe you don't want to file charges, but the officers should look over the grand picture. Maybe that person should simply be talked to."

Loss from shoplifting in the nation reaches close to $3 billion a year, as much as burglary, the officer said.

"We don't know how much shoplifting is being done in Wellington, but we believe in all businesses it would be over $500 per month," Police Chief Donald Nunneley declared.

Shoplifting rings are operating in this area—out of Amarillo, Lubbock and Wichita Falls, he warned.

The officers exploded the popular idea that a merchant must wait until a suspected shoplifter gets outside the store before accusing him.

"If he gets past your cash register with an item, you can be pretty sure he intends to go on outside with it," said Patrolman Fant.

Parents are liable for shoplifting by their children, he added.

Besides constant alertness by salespeople, these suggestions were offered to cut down shoplifting:

—Have the store lighted adequately; don't keep large quantities of merchandise on counter tops where items may be taken without being missed; eliminate places where a shoplifter may operate in privacy; know the price of merchandise so a switched price tag will be apparent.

Chief Nunneley rounded out the meeting by reminding merchants this is the season to watch for forged and hot checks.

Get the license number and description of the person's car, if at all possible, the merchants were told. If an unfamiliar customer presents a check which he has already endorsed—he says—ask him to endorse it again, just below the first signature. And don't hesitate to notify the city or county law enforcement officials if you have been victimized, was Chief Nunneley's advice.

Thirty-eight Wellington merchants and their employees attended the meeting.

If the big rains come again next Spring, you're safe — with nitrogen already in the ground to give young plants a strong start. And you get the job done when the product, labor, and equipment are readily available. No last-minute rush.

Even if you graze stalks this fall, there'll still be lots of crop residue left in the field. NITROMITE plowdown will aid decomposition of this residue, releasing valuable nutrients for new plants in the Spring.

The clincher is at harvest: if ever there was a good time, this will be the year to give your crop a great big shot in the yield with NITROMITE. Shamrock's fine brand of anhydrous ammonia — 82% nitrogen for bigger, high-protein yields.

Fight back. Fight for your share of the big profits next year. PLOWDOWN NITROMITE THIS FALL.

Notes from Your County Home Demonstration Agent

By Mrs. Leta Hill

Turkey and Thanksgiving

Turkey takes the spotlight at most Thanksgiving dinners.

This has been the traditional bird since the Colonists had their first feast in America in 1621, called by Governor Bradford for the Plymouth Colony. However, the origin of these holidays actually dates back to ancient times. Kings and other leaders often called for thanksgiving feasts after harvests, battles and fortunate events.

Following the first American Thanksgiving, these days were set aside by various governors of colonies and states. Later the President issued proclamations designating different dates each year. In 1863 President Lincoln established the last Thursday in November as the traditional day.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service reports plentiful supplies of turkeys for our 1969 Thanksgiving on November 27 — and for the rest of the month, too. So consider using turkey to prepare a delightful menu treat.

Who Develops Diabetes?
Who develops diabetes? The diabetes control section of the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare answers the question.

Diabetes is most likely to be found in those over 40 years old, obese, blood relatives of diabetics, mothers who have given birth to babies that weigh nine pounds or more at birth, women who have shown carbohydrate intolerance during pregnancy, persons with other related chronic disease and anyone who has demonstrated hyperglycemia on previous testings.

These seven groups are "high risk" people and are in the greatest danger of becoming diabetic.

The disease can be detected in its early stages by a good screening program and diagnosis. A program also can help discover these "high risk" persons before they become diabetics. Your doctor can help!

Sewing Tips

A number of fall fabrics woven with heavy yarns ravel easily. The sewing machine can help prevent raveling in several ways.

Some machines have special patterns for overcasting or edging, such as a blind hemming pattern to let the stitch overcast seam edges. To slow the raveling process hand overcast or pink the seam.

Whatever the finish, remember that seam should be flexible and not bulky.

What's New

• A first in the frozen food field is frozen, prepared breakfast. One food company recently developed three: pancakes with sausage patties, scrambled eggs with sausage and fried potatoes, and French toast with sausage patties. Each comes ready to heat and serve.

• A few new home appliance highlights include electric hair setters with water to create moisture for setting, a toaster with a keep-warm setting to hold toast until ready to be used, an electric fondue cooker and a toaster with a special setting for pop-up pastries.

• Pumpkins have taken new form: flakes and powders that can be dehydrated and cooked for pumpkin pies. Agricultural researchers have successfully drum-dried pure fresh pumpkin puree. Pies from the new products are said to be indistinguishable from canned pumpkin pies.

• One appliance company has developed an electric coffee grinder, an electric citrus juicer and a deluxe automatic egg cooker. All for the breakfast table and all in color — coordinated beige and amber.

• Hate to make buttonholes? Buttonsnap, the button that needs no buttonhole, has been developed by one notions company. Each buttonsnap consists of a snap with a special back-plate plus a button shell to cover with fabric.

Grace was said by Min. Van Bonneau. After the dinner, Mrs. B. B. Martin, president, asked the members and guests to go across the street to the Legion Building where Mr. Bonneau brought the program on his tour of the Holy Land, which included Jerusalem, the River Jordan, Bethlehem and the Nile.

He told of the manner of tilling the soil as it was done centuries ago, of old and new cities, side by side, of the place where Christ was born, where He walked and His tomb. He also told of his visit to the Wailing Wall and of his camel ride in Egypt.

Pork, Charcoal Something Yummy

Wonderful things happen to pork when roasted over charcoal; it cooks well done inside with delightfully crisp flavored exterior.

Roast the meat over glowing — rather than flaming — coals, suggests Gwendolyn Clayt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

If you have a meat thermometer, use it. Cook pork to an internal temperature of 185 degrees whether cooked indoors or out. Pork rib ends are a good choice for barbecuing.

Just two days before her 91st birthday, Mrs. A. B. Hicks was honored with a dinner which brought together four of her seven children, along with grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Her birthday was November 11; the dinner on Sunday, November 9, was held in the Farm Bureau Hospitality Room.

The daughters and sons-in-law attending were Mr. and Mrs. Otis Blaylock of Muleshoe, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brown of Panhandle, Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson of Wellington, and Mrs. Thelma Brewer of Los Angeles.

She is the mother of seven children, all of them living. Besides the four daughters at the dinner, there are Miss Bernice Hicks of Washington, D.C., Elbert Hicks of Lubbock and Raymond Hicks of Belen, N.M. She has more than 20 grandchildren and more than 20 great-grandchildren.

Darlene Bonner, District Director of B&PW, Speaks at Wellington Club

Mrs. Darlene Bonner of Jacksonville, director of District 10, Business and Professional Women's Clubs, was the guest of honor and speaker at the Wellington club's dinner meeting on Tuesday evening, November 11.

Such words as Hope, Progress, Renewal, were the keys to her talk on promise of the next 50 years for B&PW members. Since this is the organization's 50th Anniversary, it is a pledge to all members for success for the next 50 years.

The group was told that it is a period of hope for the future; of progress to go forward, promote interest in B&PW in both the United States and other countries; it is a time to renew belief in B&PW, to make goals realistic and to come up to the new generation and for B&PW to renew itself through them.

"We must have tremendous energy and drive. We are as large as our thoughts. We must all be self-starters," Mrs. Bonner said. She urged the members to plan ahead, and then work, work, work!

The club women were urged by their director to be better leaders and members, and to serve, to dream and have visions in order to fulfill the promise of the next 50 years.

Mrs. Bud Higginbotham and Miss Myra Hays were program chairmen and Mrs. Ernest Harwell, president, directed the business meeting.

A patriotic theme was used in the table decorations, as this was Veterans Day. Each member was given a booklet, "The Stars and Stripes," giving the history of the United States Flag and how and when to display it.

Lady Bird Johnson Award Is Established

AUSTIN. — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson recently established an award to salute the Texas Highway Department maintenance foreman who has done the most outstanding job in highway beautification.

The award will be known as the Lady Bird Johnson Award and will consist of a $1,500 cash prize and an appropriate plaque to the winning maintenance foreman.

The award will go to the foreman who is judged to have contributed most in the preservation and establishment of wild flowers; the preservation, planting and maintenance of highway landscaping and the construction and maintenance of roadside parks and safety rest areas.

Mrs. Johnson's interest in highway beautification is well known. She once told an interviewer:

"You know, driving for pleasure is the No. 1 American recreation. We are a nation of people who use automobiles. And so, to make the highways more beautiful would certainly add a lot to the pleasure of living ...

"I am particularly proud of Texas highways. A wild flower seed planting program ... has made it a glorious experience to drive across the state."

State Highway Engineer J. C. Dingwall said the Highway Department is deeply grateful to Mrs. Johnson for initiating the award.

IRS Defines Gun Law Provisions

DALLAS.—"The Gun Control Act of 1968 was passed by Congress to help federal, state and local law enforcement officials in their fight against crime and violence," Carl Booth, IRS Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Chief Special Investigator for Texas, said today, adding that it was in no way intended to hinder the activities of hunters and sportsmen.

As an example, Booth said hunters and sportsmen can purchase ammunition in any state, and likewise carry their own firearms across a state line as long as they are not convicted felons, or under indictment for a felony; fugitives from justice; unlawful users of drugs; or mental incompetents.

Further, Booth said hunters, sportsmen, competitive shooters, or anyone legally using a gun in a state other than his home state can acquire another firearm if his rifle or shotgun is lost, stolen, or becomes inoperative.

He said the law only requires that the buyer in these circumstances make out an affidavit for the dealer's records, and provide the dealer with the title of the chief law enforcement officer in the locality where he lives.

New Marking on Electric Motors

COLLEGE STATION.—Electric motor manufacturers have made a change in markings of motor nameplates and knowing their meaning can help buyers select a motor that's right for the job.

W. S. Allen, Extension agricultural engineer, says the older type motor marking indicated the "degrees rise" which showed how much warmer the motor would be than the surrounding air temperatures.

For instance, a motor marked "40 deg. C. Rise" was designed to operate 40 degrees Centigrade (72 degrees F.) warmer than the surrounding air.

The nameplate did not say so, but most motors were intended to operate safely with an air temperature of 104 degrees F.

The new markings, says Allen, state the maximum ambient (surrounding air) temperature in which the motor is meant to operate, and the type of insulation, such as Class A, Class B, etc.

A motor marked "40 degrees C. ambient, Class A" should operate in an air temperature of 40 degrees Centigrade which is about 104 degrees F. Class A insulation can have a maximum internal hot-spot temperature of 221 degrees F., and Class B insulation, a hot-spot temperature of 226 degrees F., explains the engineer.

Because of the higher operating temperatures with Class B insulation, the old practice of holding your hand on a motor to see if it is too hot is now meaningless, says Allen.

A motor with Class B insulation can be uncomfortably hot and still be running safely. Selecting a motor with adequate horsepower to do the specific job is still a must, and the new types are not designed to be overloaded any more than the old type, Allen cautions.

The recommended method of protecting motors from overheating due to overload is to use a fustat, circuit breaker, or other overcurrent device rated at the same ampere as that stamped on the motor nameplate.

Demand for Dairy Heifers Rising

The demand for springing dairy heifers is greater now than any time in recent years and Texas A&M University dairy specialists are recommending that dairymen take a close look at their breeding programs. Their suggestion—breed dairy cows to the best proven dairy sires available. Texas has less than half as many dairy cattle as 10 years ago and only about a third of the number of 20 years ago, points out A. M. Meekins, Extension dairy specialist.

Parks, Wildlife Registers Boats

AUSTIN. — Although the responsibility for registering boats was transferred to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department effective Sept. 1, the Texas Highway Department continues to receive applications and registration fees.

All this leads to delays, according to the Parks and Wildlife Department.

All registration applications, applications for transfers, or requests for information on boat registration, numbering and safety requirements, should be addressed to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

Boat owners may also register their boats and receive their registration number at 29 regional, district or field offices of the Parks and Wildlife Department, including Amarillo.

Texas Crop Report Down

Yield prospects for most major crops continue to fall short of levels attained last year in the state.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service says production of cotton, sorghum, rice, hay, sweet potatoes and peanuts is expected to be lower and sugar beets, corn, soybeans and Irish potatoes to be higher than last year.

Lack of rainfall during the growing season in east, central and south Texas and lower harvested acres, notably for rice and peanuts, were cited as major factors in the decreased production.

Mayor Attends Texas Municipal, WTCC Meeting

Mayor John Coleman last week attended the annual meeting of the Texas Municipal League in San Antonio and followed this with a meeting of directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

He reported a resolution passed by League members asking federal spending to improve the urban street and highway systems as the inter-state highways are completed.

They also recommended amending the U.S. Constitution to exempt municipal bond income from federal taxation; and favored further development of a statewide pollution control program and more state and federal aid to cities for pollution control.

Governor Preston Smith told the conferees that a state housing agency and uniform housing code at the state level might be answers to problems of sub-standard housing.

Both the TML and the WTCC passed resolutions approving President Nixon's Vietnam policy, stricter law enforcement, and the action of colleges in controlling student demonstrations.

WTCC also passed a resolution seeking to remove the exemption clause for labor on anti-trust action, Mr. Coleman said.

Funds Here for Limited Great Plains Projects

Funds totaling approximately $24,000 are available for planning new projects under the Great Plains program for co-operators with Salt Fork Soil Conservation District.

Farmers interested have until Jan. 1 to make application, according to Gary Reed, SCS SCS work unit conservationist.

After this much conservation is on the ground, it may be possible to get additional funds, Mr. Reed said.

Approximately 32 Great Plains contracts are expiring this year and that leaves about 50 active contracts in Salt Fork SCD.

MAJESTIC BEAUTY of Oregon's Cascade Range sends out a clarion call to nature lovers. As summer comes, so do the climbers. Like a string of ants, a group makes its way up Mt. Hood, following the southside route toward the summit.

Charge Accounts Convenient But Need Management in Their Use

COLLEGE STATION.-- Charge accounts are used primarily for convenience. They enable you to buy everyday needs and pay the total bill at a specified time, usually within 30 days, says Miss Joy Arrington, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

Charge accounts speed shopping since you can shop by telephone from your own home. You don't have to worry about adequate cash with you when you shop. The monthly itemized statement of all purchases is also a convenience in record keeping.

Some families may overspend when they have a charge account. Others may not shop around for the best buy. Charge accounts are commonly available at department, clothing, grocery, dairy and other stores. Doctors, dentists and other professional groups frequently extend credit in this way.

Many stores also use variations of charge accounts. Typical is the extended credit plan which allows 90 days to pay with no extra charge. This plan has the advantage of spreading cost over three months rather than having a large bill at the end of the month. You can also take advantage of sales when you don't have ready cash. However, you may be required to make a down payment or pay a service charge if you let the account run beyond 90 days.

Credit cards are another type of charge account. Probably the most common are those issued by oil companies. However, others are available for travel, hotels, dining places or multipurpose use. Some concerns make a charge for the credit card.

Revolving accounts are a relatively new development. You and the store or institution granting the credit usually decide on the maximum amount of credit you can safely use. The period of time you can take to pay, usually not more than 12 months, is determined frequently by the amount of credit used. However, you will be assessed a service charge on the unpaid balance each month, usually one or one-half per cent. This is equivalent to an annual interest rate of 12 to 18 percent on the unpaid balance.

IT'S 40-60

When the consumer spends a dollar for food at the grocery store, he buys 40¢ worth of products and 60¢ worth of marketing service. These are average figures, points out a recent USDA economist. The farmer's share of America's food dollar is highest in products which require the least amount of processing and packaging.

B Team Ends Session With Loss to Memphis

The badly crippled Wellington Skyrocket B team closed a frustrating season Thursday night, Nov. 13, with a 34-0 loss to the Memphis Cyclone B.

Injuries to Denny Carter and Lindy Norman, quarterback and fullback, a week earlier were the latest in the long list that hampered the team, plus other losses when players were moved up to the varsity squad, for a total of nine. The two-remaining starters, who began the season, were freshmen.

Memphis scored on passes and on runs. The Cyclone B this year has been a larger and more powerful team than their Thursday night opponent, and could overpower just about everything they met.

Fort Hood Reservation Gets Conservation Award

TEMPLE.-- The Department of the Army recently named Fort Hood Military Reservation, located near Killeen in Central Texas, the second place winner for the Secretary of Defense Conservation Award, according to Parks and Wildlife Department Game Biologist Larry Holland of Temple.

The award is presented annually to the military installation of the Army, Navy, or Air Force that is adjudged to have conducted the most outstanding natural resource conservation program during the preceding calendar year. Camp Lejeune Marine Base near Pinehurst, N.C., captured the first place award, narrowly beating out Fort Hood.

Fort Hood, home of the Army's First and Second Armored Divisions and the Third Corps, sprawls over 215,000 acres of former ranchlands in Bell and Coryell Counties and is the site of the greatest concentration of mechanized armor in the Free World.

In addition to the massive military operation at the huge installation, Fort Hood has long been a leader in game and fish management activities among Fourth Army military installations.

Good game management practices there are a result of excellent support of installation commanders to the leadership and planning provided through the Conservation Section of the Fort Hood Rod and Gun Club. During the last decade technical assistance for Fort Hood game management programs has been provided by game biologists of the Trinity-Brazos Game Management Survey of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

New Meeting on Regional Planning Set

Elected officials representing the various subdivisions of State government in the seven Panhandle counties comprising the proposed North Rolling Plains Resource Conservation and Development Project met in Shamrock Thursday afternoon, Nov. 6 to consider the formation of a regional planning commission.

The group named Wheeler County Judge George W. Hefley to chairman a follow-up meeting to be called by him at a later date to give further consideration to the formation of such a commission made up of representatives of 10 Eastern Panhandle counties or the joining of one recently set up with Amarillo as headquarters and proposed eventually to comprise the entire tier of Panhandle counties.

This action followed a talk and question-answer session on the regional planning concept in Texas by Charles T. Crow, of Governor Preston Smith's Regional Planning Assistance Division.

The speaker explained that the State of Texas, when it passed the law setting up regional planning machinery, visualized groupings of 21 areas in the State with strong regional identifications and populations in excess of 100,000.

A motion for a follow-up meeting, made by Collingsworth County Commissioner W. R. Breeding of Samnorwood was seconded by Seibert Worley, president of the Shamrock Chamber of Commerce, specifically that invitations to the meeting be sent to elected officials of 10 Eastern Panhandle counties with a special invitation to the Potter-Randall County group to have representatives present.

The counties specified included:

Childress, Collingsworth, Hall, Wheeler, Hemphill, Hansford, Donley, Gray, Roberts and Ochiltree.

Mr. Breeding made it clear that he favored the regional planning idea only if membership of the commission was made up of legally elected officials of the various subdivisions of State government.

Collingsworth County Judge Zook Thomas pointed out that organizing along regional lines would give a broader base for planning and guarantee a bigger voice when financial aid is sought at the State level.

Wheeler County Commissioner Ernest Henderson, and several others attending the Shamrock get-together who had gone to one or more of the meetings leading to the formation of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, expressed the feeling that they had been cold-shouldered by the Potter-Randall County groups.

As the Collingsworth County Group understands the explanation, future projects financed by federal and state monies will be subject to review by a planning commission.

Mr. Crow described a regional planning commission as more of a decentralization process, "an effort to get people together for progress on a regional basis."

"The federal government has found it can no longer handle the job and in the process has rediscovered State and local governments," he said.

"We want to see local governments inventory their problems and come up with projects designed to solve such problems co-ordinated by the regional planning commissions."

Again referring to the law that set up the machinery to implement the formation of regional planning commissions, Mr. Crow said:

"It's a complete new ball game when it comes to solving local problems. The regional planning commission is not another level of government, is not designed to replace any areas of existing governments, but is a voluntary association of local governments formed among themselves to talk about common solutions to economic problems."

Attending from this county were Judge Thomas and Commissioner Breeding, representing Collingsworth County; Mayor John Coleman and City Council member Glen Warrick, representing the city; and Gary Reed, work unit conservationist, Soil Conservation Service.

Norwood Teacher-Coach Brings Broad Background to Work Here

A background in a number of fields lies behind Samnorwood faculty member Bill Shewmake, but this is his first year to coach. He also teaches Texas and world history.

His sports experience goes back to his own years in Childress High School, when he was on the 1944 State Finalists basketball team.

He graduated there in 1946 and from Midwestern University in 1951, where he was captain of the tennis team.

After a year in the University of Texas Law School, he served in the 1st Armored Division at Fort Hood. He was the sergeant in charge of the Division Staff Judge Advocate's office.

Back in graduate school at the University, he studied under the noted Texas historians, H. Bailey Carroll and Walter Prescott Webb.

Next he was employed by the State Comptroller in the Amarillo District.

Mr. Shewmake went back to West Texas State and secured a teacher's certificate in 1968 and taught that spring in Amarillo High School.

In college, he was a member of Alpha Chi and was listed in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

It's a good question.

Which you can answer "yes" — if you always buy from the business people right here at home. Where you live.

Wherever you buy, part of your money goes to build and to keep up the community in which you spend. To support schools, churches, civic projects, to pay the people who work in that community, and to provide better business and job opportunities for those who live there.

Do you bring home everything you've paid for?

When you buy in YOUR OWN town, you get about the same merchandise you'd get anywhere else — PLUS the enjoyment of these other things that your money pays for.

When you buy anywhere else, you get merchandise ONLY. And your home community is a little poorer because you carried off part of its resources. And the many things other than goods that your money pays for are left for somebody else to enjoy, while they wait for you to return and give them some more.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Last week business was disrupted in New York City as tens of thousands of people were rousted out of skyscrapers during a three-day bomb scare. The "scare" was not entirely fictional because four bombs did explode and one person was injured. Far greater damage was done by false bomb warnings and telephone calls. It is horrible to think of what would happen if a major disaster should strike one of the major metropolitan areas.

Since this is an agricultural community and few of us are primarily interested in stocks and bonds, there is a tendency to think very little of New York City, and how it affects everyone. All insurance, life, fire, accident has a direct connection with the great metropolis and insurance is a vital part in each of our lives. If insurance stopped for even thirty days there would be turmoil in the nation and around the world and this is only one aspect of our economy.

Last year there was talk of moving Wall Street from New York City due to high city taxes, high rent and traffic congestion. There has also been discussion of providing a skeleton form of government underground in some part of the central part of the United States in the event Washington should be bombed. The blackout of electricity along the East Coast a few years ago and the bomb scare of last week make you realize how vulnerable the great cities are to slight disturbances. There should be some alternate means of safety and continuance.

The Wellington Skyrockets completed a successful football season by defeating Memphis last Friday. Looking back over the season we should realize that the Rockets defeated a far better team than we thought on opening night or else the Hollis Tigers are the most improved team in the western part of their state. The Tigers have gone on to victory after victory including Mangum, Lawton and other larger towns. I have been keeping up with the team through The Hollis News and their record is astonishing.

Mickey Kendrick and any number of other football fans do not look with too much favor on the selection of Notre Dame for a berth in the Cotton Bowl against the champion of the Southwest Conference whether it be Texas or Arkansas. They would have preferred Pennsylvania, Missouri or somebody like that. The high and mighty attitude of Notre Dame in refusing to play in bowl games has not endeared the team to the off campus fan.

We know some TV owners who would prefer no bowl games at all. They think the bowl games should stop with the parade.

♦ Skyrockets

Childress, Iowa Park and Seymour providing plenty of competition. I think we will have to have an outstanding ball club to be in the contention this year."

Rockettes

The Rockettes lost four players, three of them starters, by graduation.

The three returning starters are Betsy Trapp, Pam Guthrie and Linda Williams. There are two other letter players who will probably start this year, Cathy Singley and Debbie Neel, who started during part of last season.

Pam Kersten is bidding for a starting place, and Gloria Kilgore is already showing improvement this year, Coach Stavenhagen said.

"We will probably have the smallest team in the district this time," said Coach Stavenhagen, "and since we don't have size, we'll have to depend on quickness and good ball handling."

Members of this year's varsity team are Betsy Trapp, Pam Guthrie, Cathy Singley, Bessie Sterling, Charlotte Masten, Gloria Kilgore, Linda Williams, Debbie Neel, Carey Lewis, Leigh Nall, Phyllis Thomas and Pam Kersten.

B team members will be Jane Campbell, Lorraine Armstrong, Carole Cochran, Katy Sullivan, Jan McGill, Janet Holland, Mary Saied, Karen Maxwell, Janie Davis, Landi White, Mitzi Pendleton, Pam Patterson, Patricia Seale, Peggy Young, Vickie McAdams and Nelda Thomas.

At Hearing December 3

Water Development Needs Will Be Given to Corps of Engineers

Proposals setting out the need for water resource development in Collingsworth County will go on record with the United States Corps of Engineers within the next two weeks, it is indicated by County Judge Zook Thomas, Wellington Mayor John Coleman, and George Shadid, Chamber of Commerce water representative.

This is the outgrowth of the public hearing on Red River and its tributaries above Denison Dam which the two attended in Childress Nov. 5.

Collingsworth was one of the few counties in this part of the Red River Watershed that did not have a presentation on water resources to present to the hearing officers, headed by Col. Vernon W. Pinkney of Tulsa, district engineer of the Corps of Engineers.

However, there will be a second hearing in Lawton, Okla., Wednesday, Dec. 3, and local agencies may make further presentations, Judge Thomas and Mayor Coleman were told.

The three county men believe it is of utmost importance that Collingsworth county's water resources and their need for development be filed with the Corps of Engineers, for an integrated water resources plan is expected to result from information secured at these two and other future hearings.

All of Collingsworth's major streams—Salt Fork, Elm Creek and Buck Creek, are tributaries of the big Red.

Mayor Coleman pointed out at the Childress hearing that core testing had been done on Salt Fork and studies had been made on Elm Creek.

"We need to have every service club, soil conservation district, and every organization to come up with a letter of support of our water projects to be presented at Lawton," declared Judge Thomas.

"They (the hearing officers) are up here to see what we want," he continued, "and we need to speak out or forever hold our peace."

"If we get anything on Salt Fork, it must be before Mangum gets it. (The Mangum project is already on the Corps map).

"We need to show the Corps of Engineers what our water resource development will add to our economy and why we need it."

"We are going to have to sell our need stronger than those already on the map."

Projects proposed by the Corps of Engineers at this time include salt control projects on Pease and Little Red, Salt and Jonah Creeks and Elm Fork. These are in the Water Quality Control Study presently being processed by the Chief of Engineers for submittal to Congress for authorization.

Two touch Collingsworth.

Salt Creek reaches into southwest Collingsworth, to a point north and west of Swearingen.

A large brine reservoir is proposed. If the Corps of Engineers map is drawn to scale, this reservoir probably will be partially in that area of the county.

The reservoir would appear to be several times larger than Greenbelt Lake.

Landowners in northwest Childress County opposed this lake at the hearing, believing it may pollute good water in the area.

However, landowners around a similar project on Wichita River were enthusiastic, the Wellington men reported, for the possible fish and wildlife enhancement a brine reservoir would bring.

Two brine reservoirs are listed on Elm Creek a short distance east of the Oklahoma state line.

♦ Salvation Army

Army supplies needy persons with such things as shoes, groceries, utilities, lodging, transportation, medical aid, and anything else that may be needed, explained Mr. Coleman. Other services beyond these are available from the state level.

Mrs. Murray Dodson is the service unit chairman, while Mrs. Rita Owens is vice chairman; Bill Moseley, treasurer; and Mrs. Cal Sugg, welfare secretary. Members are Sheriff John Rainey, Police Chief Donald Nunnelle, Henry Sullivan, Buster Hughes, Howard Holton, E. P. Haynie of Quail, Mrs. Selba Rainey of Samnorwood, Herbert Bearden, the Rev. Leroy Gaston, Thayne Ammonett and Mrs. Winnie Franks.

CARS TAX-PIGEONS

State and federal governments collect an annual average of $155 in special taxes on each motor vehicle in the U.S.

Col. Pinkney assured the group the Red River above Denison Dam study will be coordinated with the Texas Water Plan studies. For instance, Sweetwater Creek, Lower McClellan Creek, and Lelia Lake Creek are listed as potential reservoir sites.

GETTING SHOT

Stevie Hernandez, 5, clinched his fist but didn't flinch when he was given his DPT shot at the immunization clinic Saturday, November 15. Mrs. Clemmie Davenport, county school nurse, holds Stevie, and Darrell W. Morris, regional field representative of the Texas State Department of Health, wields the vaccine "gun."

New Teacher Named at Quail

Mrs. Ann Chappell of Memphis resigned recently as third and fourth grade teacher in the Quail School.

She has been replaced by Mrs. Violet Goudy of Lakeview, Supt. E. P. Haynie announced. She is commuting to Quail.

This is Mrs. Goudy's first time to teach. She has attended West Texas State University and will complete the work for her degree in the summer, Mr. Haynie said.

Her husband formerly was in business in Memphis, and the family also has lived at Estelline. They have two children who are students in West Texas State University, and a son who is a senior in Lakeview High School.

Lela Gun Club Opening Set

The Lela Gun Club has announced its grand opening to be Sunday, Nov. 23, at 1:00 p.m., according to Richard Overcast, vice president.

It will be at the gun club grounds one-half mile west of Lela, on the south side of Highway 66. All those interested are invited.

There will be a turkey and ham shoot for men, women and children, Mr. Overcast said.

This is one of the new and active gun clubs of the area and is headed by Cloyce Troxell.

FATHOM'S LENGTH

A fathom was arrived at as a measure of length by taking the distance from the tip of one little finger to the tip of the other when the arms were outstretched. It has been standardized at six feet and is used in measuring sea depths.

The programs for water resource development of all interested groups, as developed by these two public hearings and by informal meetings and the Corps of Engineers study progress, will be considered, the Childress group was assured.

Cochran Buys Full Interest in C&H Pharmacy

Jimmy Cochran announced this week that he has bought the interest of his partner, Ham Holton, in C&H Pharmacy. At the same time Mr. Holton acquired Mr. Cochran's interest in the Gibson Discount Pharmacy in Childress, which the two have operated in partnership.

Mr. Holton was a partner in the Wellington store 15 years, having bought the interest of Mrs. A. L. Cochran.

This drug store is one of Wellington's oldest business firms to remain in the ownership of one family. It was established as Cochran Drug in October 1924, by the late A. L. Cochran. After his death, Mrs. Cochran continued its operation until she was joined in the business by her son.

Jimmy Cochran admits he grew up in the store, and his first job was sketing sodas behind the fountain.

For a number of years, he was a first lieutenant and executive officer in the National Guard and helped secure the unit for Wellington. He also is a captain and commanding officer of the Texas State Guard unit.

He and his wife, Betty, have three children, Carole, Neal and Scott.

There is no change in store personnel, Mr. Cochran said. Tony White, a graduate of Southwestern State School of Pharmacy at Weatherford, Oklahoma, is a pharmacist. D. W. Crawford is a veteran employee of the store, and Mrs. Herbert Duncan is cashier.

In charge of the fountain department are Mrs. Mary Linville and Mrs. Sharon Peeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Holton will move to Childress when they have sold their house here. He is also a graduate of the University of Oklahoma School of Pharmacy, having graduated 20 years ago.

The Holtons have four children, Nat, in service; Patti, 16, a junior in high school; Tommy, 13, in the eighth grade and Craig, 11, in the fifth grade.

♦ Thanks-Sharing

to the first service. A different item will be stressed each week until the conclusion of the program.

National Bible Week, which begins Sunday, Nov. 23, will be observed in First Christian Church, Mr. Garrison said.

This begins a period when stress is placed on daily Bible reading, and will continue until Christmas.

Other Wellington churches will observe this in their own ways, it was pointed out.

Other Editors Say . . .

Approve Haynsworth

Judge Clement F. Haynsworth is being put under a magnifying glass to determine if he has any skeletons in his closet and thus far there has been nothing to indicate that the jurist is not a man of honor.

To compare him with Abe Fortas is ridiculous, but liberals are determined to keep Haynsworth off the Supreme Court lest he upset the liberal majority on that august body which has changed American history.

A study of the hearings and the record will show that Judge Haynsworth is about as pure in principle and performance as any public figure can be. The only thing that his attackers have come up with is that he once owned $21 worth of stock in a company which later had litigation in his court.

Despite the fact that he disposed of the stock and even reported its 15 cent dividend on his income tax return, his detractors are trying to make out that this is somehow a conflict of interest.

Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan has come up with the idea that if these strict ethical standards are to apply to nominees for the Supreme Court, then the same test should apply to present members.

This raised a storm, sure enough, because the most liberal member of the court, William O. Douglas, has been on the payroll of the Parvin Foundation of Los Angeles for several years and the Parvin Foundation is funded in part from Las Vegas gambling interests. Douglas has also made in excess of $20,000 a year in lecture fees for quite some time and in order to fulfill speaking engagements has had to miss some court sessions.

Obviously, William O. Douglas ought to be off the court, if the matter of judicial ethics is to be considered at all.

Judge Haynsworth is a respected jurist, endorsed by the American Bar Association and all the legal organizations. He ought to be approved and seated on the U. S. Supreme Court.

The Moon Versus The Poor

The never-ending fight of various groups for a larger share of the pie of federal spending reached the ultimate inanity with the charge that, "The U. S. spent $24 billion to go to the moon, but Nixon wants to spend only $4 billion to help the poor." The facts of the "moon versus the poor" controversy, as contained in a late issue of U. S. News and World Report, paint a different picture of tax dollar distribution. The U. S. is currently spending $19 billion a year in direct aid to the poor from federal, state and local governments. This does not include spending for other services shared by people at all income levels. Nor does it include private charity. By contrast, the $24 billion spent to reach the moon was expended over a period of 10 years—$2.4 billion per year. If the new welfare program as proposed by the Nixon Administration becomes law, total government spending for the poor in the United States will increase to $23 billion a year.

Aside from the financial arithmetic of moon flights versus government spending for the poor, U. S. space exploration represents the progress of a nation still growing in stature and vitality. All of us, including the poor, are benefactors of this growth. Instead of kicking, we should be proud. We have to progress to take care of the poor. —The Atlanta Journal

Defense Contracts

Congressman Orval Hansen is on the right track on one thing for sure: he's co-sponsoring a bill in Congress which would bring most big business contracts under review of the General Accounting office.

Congressman Hansen made the intent of the bill clear when he said that "recent experiences with contracts which involve late delivery, large cost overruns and nonperformance demonstrate the need for this legislation."

They do, indeed. It seems that there's an increasing practice of bidding on federal equipment, especially in the military field, and then hiking costs far above the original bid. What's more, delivery of such vitally important war supplies as late model planes hasn't even come close to the original contract date.

It's high time that the federal government exercised closer supervision of these contracts and the cash outlays to pay for them. If the various department can't—or won't—do it by themselves, the only alternative seems to be law to make it mandatory.

For a freshman member of the House, it's obvious Hansen is well aware of what's going on and has the courage and know how to propose curative measures. —Eastern Idaho Farmer

AUSTIN.—Gov. Preston Smith turned from reading political polls to Indian signs last week and came up with a proposal for a new park in the Amistad Reservoir area near Del Rio.

Smith made a day-long inspection tour by air, car and boat, primarily to view 8,000-year-old Indian pictographs in Seminole Canyon.

Impressed, the governor said the area must be developed as a recreation site and necessary steps taken immediately to protect primitive art from elements and vandals.

Smith said he personally favors state park development but noted that legislation already has been introduced to create Amistad National Recreation Area covering some 63,000 acres of land and water.

Parks and Wildlife Department Director J. R. Singleton said state funds could come from future sale of bonds from the $75 million Texas recreation and park development bond program. However, Singleton favors waiting on federal action to establish a national recreation area and determination of funds that U.S. agencies will provide for access roads and other facilities.

Smith said he plans to consult with Singleton and request the PWD chief to call all appropriate state department heads together at an early date to explore the state's role in area development.

Crime and Narcotics

An anti-crime and narcotics education package is being drawn up by the Texas Education Agency for classroom use beginning in September of 1970.

Detailed proposals for a statewide attack on crime and narcotics will be drafted. State Board of Education has authorized the agency to develop proposals requesting funds through the federal Juvenile Delinquency Prevention and Control Act of 1968, plus state and private sources.

Program was initiated by the 61st Legislature, which directed the agency to develop "a course on the evils of crime and narcotics" which will be required of all students.

Next planning step will bring 100 educators and other interested persons together in Austin for the first National Leadership Methods Laboratory on crime and narcotics. Laboratory will be directed by R.T. "Sonny" Davis, Austin attorney.

Scope of the problem the legislature is trying to solve is illustrated with the latest figures compiled by the Department of Public Safety. During February through August, 1969, a total of 1,035 students in Texas in the 11- to 18-year-old bracket were arrested on narcotics and drug charges. This includes 519 arrests for possession of marijuana, 243 for dangerous drugs, and 273 for narcotics.

Courts Speak

Harsh editorial criticism of a university professor's anti-war demonstration activities did not constitute libel, since the man was a public figure subject to criticism, Supreme Court has held.

A Corpus Christi contractor must pay $127,000 damages to the widow and children of a man killed in collision with one of the firm's heavy highway construction machine units, the high court said.

In other recent decisions, the court concluded that:

—A new hearing should be granted in the state's suit for

CROSSROADS REPORT

The now normal thing happened the other night on TV and radio, right after President Nixon had finished making his speech about the war.

The great networks put on their herds of all-purpose wise men to tell us stupidarians what we had just heard Mr. Nixon say, and to explain to us that if he was as smart as they are, he would have said something else.

It is hard to tell which is the real tragedy: that none of these world experts ever get elected president, or that the "off" buttons on our TV and radio sets are not used earlier and oftener.

Hospital Funds Approved

Texas' Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has approved more than $6.3 million in new construction projects.

Included is $1.5 million for Corpus Christi State School, phase 3; Lubbock state school, $915,000, phase 3; and Richmond State School, $2.5 million, phase 3. Major expansions at three schools will provide 766 new beds for detainees.

Additional projects will be at Big Spring State Hospital, Rusk State Hospital, Vernon Center, Wichita Falls State Hospital and San Angelo Center. Wichita Falls, Plainview and Midland received first-year grants for community MH/MR centers.

Attorney General Rules

Deposit-type accounts may be accepted by state-chartered savings and loan associations under the Texas Savings and Loan Act, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin ruled that:

—A county depository contract is not assignable by a liquidator of a defunct bank to a successor bank, and successor First State Bank of Aransas Pass, therefore, is not subject to terms of a depository contract with a defunct bank.

—Texas Board of Licensure for Nursing Home Administrators consists of seven appointed members and two ex-officio members, completing 9-member board. Members appointed to this board and the State Board of Examiners for Psychologists serve for two years except for initial appointees.

—Ex-officio members of the Texas Civil Judicial Council do not hold separate and distinct offices. Terms of appointive members are six years, one third appointed every two years.

Military Liquor Sales Eyed

Liquor Control Board is assessing its tax collection-enforcement limitations on federal military posts, apparently with intentions of increasing state revenues.

LCB ordered a staff study to determine those posts on which state jurisdiction has been yielded and those which have not. Members seemed to have an eye on collecting the state's new five cents a drink service charge at clubs on military reservations.

At the same meeting, Board turned down for the present the idea of a master club card which would create a system of guest reciprocity in participating private clubs. Proponents were offered a chance to get an attorney general's opinion on the subject, however, if they would officially request a permit in writing.

Medical Assistance Unit

State Department of Public Welfare's first medical assistance unit will begin field operations from San Antonio on Dec. 1, serving a vast 48-county area of South Texas. Team, headed by a doctor, Unit will also offer consultation to nursing homes on patient care and social services and medical record keeping. Its consultation services will be available to state mental hospitals and to schools for retarded.

Unit is due to be the prototype for similar services in 16 welfare systems.

Short Shorts

• State Board of Education upheld the firing of a Wichita Falls coach who would not ride a bus with players on the way to practice.

• Texas beer sales rose 6.7 percent for the first 9 months of 1969, but the Liquor Control Board reported an October decline in its overall tax take from $5 million to $4.1 million for month.

PECAN HARVEST AID

Ethrel, a relatively new chemical, is showing promise as a harvest aid for commercial pecan production. Texas A&M University tests show the chemical speeds up maturity and shuck opening. When sprayed on trees at the rate of 1,000 parts per million, shuck opening occurred within two weeks. Its application can bring on tree defoliation which hinders carbohydrate accumulation for the next year's crop. 1969 tests will be aimed at correcting this situation.
