Ent new tax rolls

Certified tax rolls are expected to be delivered Monday by staffers with the Scurry County Appraisal District following the close of appraisal review hearings late Wednesday.

The tax rolls will go to the member entities which receive their appraisal values from the district: Scurry County, the college district which formed Western Texas College and the school districts serving Snyder, Ira and Hermleigh.

At Wednesday's appraisal hearings, some 13 local property owners went before the three-member board of review to question values.

According to Ray Peveler, chief appraiser for the district, some adjustments were made related to these requests.

On an individual basis, he estimated none of these exceeded changes equaling 10 percent.

To the overall tax value, he said the changes were "miniscule."

The review board now plans a supplemental hearing Aug. 9 for three property owners who were granted delayed hearings.

Peveler noted that only these three will be eligible to appear before the board at that time.

Next week, the district will publish quarter-page ads indicating what the "effective tax rate" is for each of the six member taxing districts.

This figures what tax rate each could set based upon the new tax values and which would equal the same amount of taxes generated last year.

Under the law, if taxing entities adopt a tax rate

RS&P Railroad sets closing Aug. 1

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

Next Wednesday — Aug. 1, 1984 — will be a date noted in subsequent histories written about Scurry County — the day the RS&P Railroad closed.

The actual fact will be only a formality, however, and it will spell little change to the majority of Scurry County residents.

"It's really just for the history books," said Roger Mize, the current and final chairman of the board for the RS&P.

The date will close out a local history almost as old as Scurry County and older than Snyder itself.

And when those future histories are written, those writers will read how three elements solidified the formation of this area.

—The buffalo, which first drew the hunters and commerce to the region.

—A "trader's store" ultimately purchased by the city's namesake, Pete Snyder, which drew the settlers and formed the nucleus which would become a city beside Deep Creek.

—The RS&P Railroad, organized one year before Snyder was incorporated and the entity which prompted not only the legal formation of this city but the communities of Hermleigh (first called "Wheat"); Dermott (called "Dark"); and Fluvanna (called "Light").

After its organization on Oct. 1, 1906, the RS&P never achieved its initial grand purpose — to stretch rails from Roscoe through Snyder all the way to the Pacific Ocean.

But it materialized into a viable business operation that insured a future for its home cities of Snyder in Scurry County and Roscoe in Nolan County.

And at its peak of operation — as recently as three years ago — it boasted a profit margin of $1.6 million annually and a payroll in excess of $2 million.

"The RS&P was one of the most profitable shortline railroads in the business," Mize said. "I'll say that and I think the books will back me up."

Thursday afternoon, Mize reflected on the "good times-bad times" with the RS&P — likely the oldest chartered corporation in Scurry County.

He has served as the head of the railroad corporation since 1968, when he acquired the business activity along with the Murchison interests of Dallas.

They purchased the railroad from the heirs of the H.O. Wooten family. Wooten has been called "the most highly regarded man in the history of the railroad," acquiring a controling interest in it in 1908.

As to why the RS&P will soon end its 78-year-old history, Mize has a quick reply — "Deregulation took us out."

For most of its history, the "backbone of the business" has been a network of "traveling salesmen" who sold freight business for the two railroads which the RS&P joins — the Santa Fe and the Missouri-Pacific.

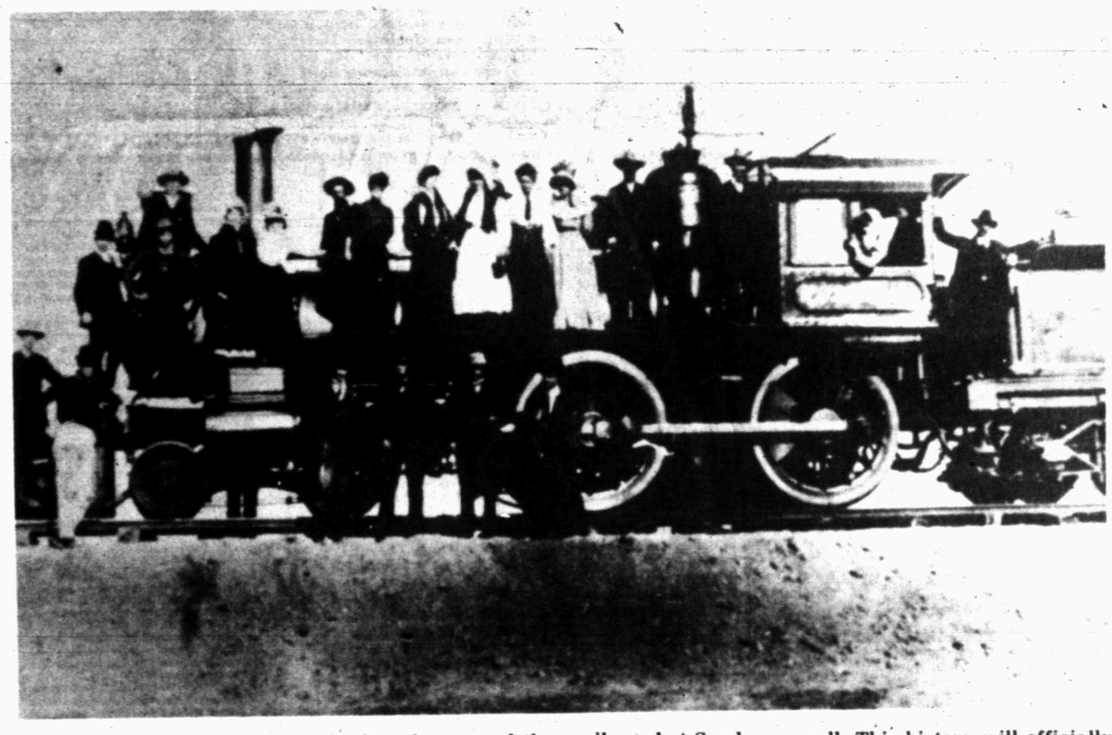

Although the RS&P only carried this freight for a scant 32-miles worth of track, by selling for the two railroads it was guaranteed as much as 12½ percent of the entire freight charge per car.

The federally mandated deregulation stopped this, Mize said, as the big railroads began offering discounts directly to the freight customer and dropping the fees to the shortlines.

He said company officials saw their profit margin shrink drastically, as much as $850,000 in an eight-month period. "Those were the bad times," he said.

The closing which becomes official Aug. 1 was actually set in motion in April of 1983. "That's when we began shutting

Senate approves SS pay raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate took President Reagan at his word and passed legislation to assure that Social Security recipients get a cost-of-living pay raise Jan. 1 even if inflation is held below 3 percent.

If approved by the House, the legislation, which passed the Senate 86-3, on Thursday will guarantee that those on Social Security as well as those who receive supplemental security income will get pay raises at the same percentage rate as the increase in the cost of living.

As a money-saving measure, current law says cost-of-living increases won't be paid until the Consumer Price Index goes up 3 percent.

As proposed by Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y. the waiving of the 3 percent "trigger" on the increase will be a one-time event.

Moynihan estimated that paying the increase in January, rather than waiting until the following year, will cost about $5 billion.

Assuming that the House approves the idea, the money would go to retirees covered by the Social Security system, their dependents and people getting survivors' and disability payments.

Moynihan said actuaries had estimated that the Social Security Trust Fund could afford to pay the benefits in January because more money was going into the trust fund than had been expected.

Increasing benefits early will also mean increasing the portion of upper income salaries taxed to pay into the fund.

This year, employees and their bosses pay Social Security tax, known as FICA on the first $37,800 of salary. That figure will increase by the same percentage as payments.

Reserved seating offered

Tickets for Snyder home football games are now being offered again to all past season ticket holders. Any unclaimed reserved seating will become available to the general public beginning Aug. 24.

Ticket cost for reserved seating is the same as last year, $15 per seat for five home games ($3 per game).

Home field contests this year are Big Spring (Sept. 7); Brownfield (Sept. 21); Sweetwater (Oct. 5); Lamesa (Oct. 19); and Lakeview (Nov. 2).

To renew reserved seating, ticket holders are

James Roberts, in the Andrews County News, writes that his area finds itself in an unusual position this summer.

"It's one of the greenest spots in the state with ample moisture, it has 32 rigs running within the county, and everything is busier than the feather of a one-armed fan dancer.

"It's time for optimism--until you turn the channel over and catch the latest from the Democratic convention in San Francisco.

"It's such an impossibility--trying to placate the outrageous demands of the special interest groups. George Dolan, in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, told about a preacher friend who went to New York City on a mission trip in a chartered bus during his youth.

On the sides of the bus, in big letters, were "Texas" and "BSU," which stood for Baptist Student Union.

As the bus moved through the streets of New York, one Yankee yelled, "Look at those dumb Texans--they can't even spell bus."

Julian Saenz, in the Lamb County Leader, says a local Sunday school teacher told her class the story of the Prodical Son.

After emphasizing the disagreeable attitude of the older brother, the teacher described the jubilant household when the son returned home.

Ask Us

Q. — How much will it cost to register motor vehicles under the new law?

A. — The new rates go into effect Aug. 1 and in most cases will be based on the year model rather than weight. Cars made in 1978 or before will be assessed $28.30; cars from 1979-81, a tax of $38.30; and cars from 1982 on, $46.30. Motorcycles will be taxed $18.55 and trucks will have an extra $12.50 added to the current cost.

In Brief

House okays silent prayer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moments of silent prayer in public schools would be allowed under an amendment proposed by conservative Republicans and passed overwhelmingly in the House as part of a $1.3 billion program to improve the nation's education system.

The amendment approved 356-50 Thursday prohibits states and school districts from denying "individuals in public schools the opportunity to participate in moments of silent prayer."

The American Civil Liberties Union denounced the language and Rep. Don Edward, D-Calif., warned that "government agencies can — and in many parts of the country will — become involved in school prayer."

Weapons talks impossible

MOSCOW (AP) — The U.S. position on a Soviet proposal to discuss a ban on space weapons makes it "impossible" to begin the talks, Deputy Foreign Minister Viktor G. Komplektov said today.

At a briefing for Soviet and foreign reporters, Komplektov said the United States had in effect rejected a Soviet proposal to issue a joint statement in which both sides would agree to limit negotiations to space weapons. The Soviets also proposed a moratorium on testing and deployment of such arms.

That proposal, made last week, was announced in Moscow on Monday at a similar press briefing.

Cuba seeks better relations

CIENFUEGOS, Cuba (AP) — President Fidel Castro declared that Cuba is better defended than ever before but said the United States has no cause for alarm and should cooperate in improving relations between the two countries.

"Just as we are ready to fight and die, we are not afraid to debate and talk to find solutions," Castro said in a three-hour speech Thursday night marking the 31st anniversary of a 1953 attack that began his revolution.

"We will not reject any gesture that might reduce any tension in our area. We threaten no one. We cannot threaten anyone. Do we want war? No. We will wage war if it is imposed upon us. We are not warmongers," Castro said.

For possibly the first time in a major speech since 1980, Castro didn't mention President Reagan by name.

Texas drifter is arrested

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A $250,000 bond has been set for a man wanted in Texas in connection with the torture killing of a hitchhiker at an isolated ranch.

Martin Leroy Miller, 25, was arrested in Tucson early Thursday for disorderly conduct after he and two other transients allegedly made lewd comments to a jogging off-duty policewoman and his outstanding warrant came to attention, authorities said.

Snyder police are searching for a suspect in an exposure incident reported late Thursday afternoon at a north Snyder convenience store.

According to reports, employees of the C&W Food Store at the intersection of College Ave. and 13th St. called police at 6:37 p.m. and told investigators that a man, described as about 6 ft. tall with a thin beard, had been exposing himself and making obscene gestures in front of the store.

Officers searched the area for the suspect but no arrests have been made.

Expert says spacewalk was gesture

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A spacewalk by a Soviet woman cosmonaut was "just an effort to upstage" American plans to have the first woman spacewalker in October, an expert on the Russian space program says.

Jim Oberg, an engineer, author and long-time student of the Soviet space program, said the spacewalk by cosmonaut Svetlana Savitskaya was planned after the U.S. space agency announced plans to have astronaut Kathy Sullivan make a spacewalk on an orbital mission in October.

"They have been upstaging us for 25 years," said Oberg. "They do it because it's a successful public relations effort."

He said if the National Aeronautics and Space Administration had scheduled the Sullivan walk earlier, then the Soviets merely would have advanced theirs in order to beat the Americans.

"That's the disadvantage of having an open program," said Oberg. The announcement of American plans give the Soviets a chance to "upstage" the U.S. effort, he explained.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see her (Savitskaya) continued to be used in such stunts," Oberg said. "I wouldn't be surprised to see her as a commander of one of their flights."

No space mission has ever been commanded by a woman.

Miss Savitskaya and cosmonaut Vladimir Dzhanibekov spent 3 hours, 35 minutes outside the Soviet orbiting space station Salyut 7. Tass, the Soviet news agency, said they performed experiments, including welding, soldering and cutting a metal plate.

Oberg said the spacewalk activities were technically useful, but that they could have been performed by any cosmonaut. He said Miss Savitskaya was brought into the program from another job — as a test pilot — specifically to set the record.

He said she also was selected to upstage another element of the American flight in October. The space shuttle crew includes astronaut Sally Ride, the only America woman who has flown in space. Ms. Ride would have become the first woman to fly twice in orbit, but Mrs. Savitskaya now has that record. The Soviet woman first flew in August, 1982.

Oberg said Miss Savitskaya became a cosmonaut because of her family connections, "which she has admitted." Her father was the Soviet Air Force chief of staff during World War II and arranged for her to be admitted to previously all-male flight schools. Oberg added "she is very talented," but she did not become a cosmonaut in open competition as do American women astronauts.

"They wanted to fly a woman so she was selected," said Oberg. "We wanted to fly astronauts and selected 35 candidates, some of whom were women. We have the reality (of equal standards for women in space) and they have the image."

A NASA spokesman at the Johnson Space Center said neither Ms. Ride nor Ms. Sullivan would comment on the Soviet flight.

But another spokesman, John MacLeaish, said the Soviet spacewalk was "a commendable thing to have done," but he said it had no technological importance.

"Men or women could have done that job equally well," said MacLeaish. Being first, he said, was "just a matter of scheduling."

NASA, he said, has dropped the feeling of intensive competition with the Soviets that was a factor in the early days of spaceflight.

"It's a new era now and we're more interested in making spaceflight routine and useful," than in setting records, said MacLeaish.

DR. LAMB

Protect ears to avoid damage

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — About a week ago, I went to the rifle range to fire my pistol. I didn't have adequate ear protection, just earplugs. Due to the noise, I have had ringing in my right ear ever since. There is no pain, just a slight ringing. Do you think this will eventually go away or could it be something serious?

DEAR READER — You probably do have noise damage. Not only will noise decrease your hearing ability, but it can cause ringing in the ears called tinnitus. It is an injury like a blast injury. It is a good idea if that happens to see an ear specialist at once. Sometimes immediate treatment can minimize the damage and help prevent part of the hearing loss and ear noise that might occur.

Of course, the ideal thing to do is to prevent the damage in the first place. Similarly, I received a letter this week from a man who was a construction worker and had worked around heavy construction equipment all his life. To prevent hearing loss and tinnitus, the noise in the environment has to be controlled. That is why the noise levels have to be measured in many work environments. If the noise level can't be controlled, then earplugs, helmets or sound-tight "earmuffs" must be used.

You may recover and have little damage to your hearing and you may stop having tinnitus, but this should be a good warning to you to take all the precautions to protect your ears from noise in the future. Hunters or anyone involved in firing guns should always use adequate ear protection.

I must add that loud music can cause ear damage, including both hearing loss and tinnitus. Many young people, in particular, have damaged their ears permanently from exposure to excessively loud music. If you are ever caught in a room with excessively loud music, cover your ears or get out, preferably the latter. Some music groups on tour leave a trail of damaged hearing in their wake.

I have discussed noise and the other causes of tinnitus in The Health Letter 12-10, Help for Tinnitus — Noise or Ringing in the Ear, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Does Tolectin (200 mg., four a day) keep arthritis from becoming worse or does it only relieve the pain? I'm 49, female and have had rheumatoid arthritis for many years. Tolectin is very expensive. As I am laid off from my job, I'd like to avoid the expense unless it is essential to take this medication.

Also, does Tolectin affect vision?

DEAR READER — Tolectin is a good anti-inflammatory agent and relieves pain. But studies show it is comparable to a number of other medicines for this purpose, including common aspirin. That brings us back to a point often made: that many expensive medicines used in treating arthritis are no better than plain aspirin. Tolectin, specifically, "does not appear to alter the course of the underlying disease in man," meaning it won't help the course of your arthritis.

Microscopic changes in the lenses of the eyes of rats given Tolectin have been observed, but this has not been seen in humans taking the maximum dose. Several anti-inflammatory agents do affect the eyes, so it is a good idea to have your eyes checked when taking these medicines. Aspirin, on the other hand, may help to prevent cataracts, according to some recent preliminary research.

Partial Paralysis Doesn't Necessarily Rule Out Sex

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I hope you can give me a fast answer on how to handle this. I am 27 and met a great guy of 29. We're dating and fast falling in love. Problem: He's partially paralyzed from the waist down as the result of a tragic gun accident. He's very handsome, sure of himself and not at all self-pitying. He walks with braces and crutches. He swims, bowls, drives a car and genuinely loves life.

Now for the big question: Do you think he can have a normal sex life? This has not been brought up yet.

I was widowed at 24, so I'm a mature woman. How do I ask about this? Or don't I?

—PERPLEXED IN NEW YORK

DEAR PERPLEXED: In spite of our enlightened society, it is still generally assumed that people with spinal cord injuries or other types of disabilities have completely lost their desire and/or ability to function sexually. Nothing could be further from the truth!

The best way to deal with the sexual aspects of any relationship is to discuss them openly and honestly. At the appropriate time, you could say, "Is there anything I should know about your disability in terms of how it will affect our love life?"

That should do it. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Two months before my 17th birthday, I had an affair with a 32-year-old man. "Dale" was a good friend of my parents and he worked in the same office as my mother. The affair lasted only a few months. Shortly after that, my mother filed for divorce, spent all her time with Dale, and then it dawned on me that she and Dale were more than just friends.

When I realized that I had been used, I decided that my mother should know what kind of man Dale was, so I told Mother right in front of Dale that he and I had been in bed together. Dale denied everything, and my mother called me a "lying slut."

I told my dad, and he had me file charges of statutory rape against Dale. Dale begged me to drop the charges, and after we talked to lawyers and the district attorney, the case was dismissed.

During all this I went to live with my father and Mother moved in with Dale.

Abby, I can't see how my mother can live with a man who would have sex with her own daughter! Maybe I'm jealous, but I need help in handling my feelings because I am upset all the time over this. Please help me.

—USED AND CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: You are right on both counts: You are jealous, and you need help in handling your feelings. Dale didn't deserve to get off so easily, and you desperately need professional help to resolve your feelings of anger, guilt and betrayal. Your local mental health facility can provide counseling at a price you can afford to pay, so please don't put it off.

DEAR ABBY: Who designed those gross swimsuits that reveal so much of a woman's body that she's practically naked? Could the manufacturers of depilatories have had a hand in this?

To those sweet young things who say, "I'm not ashamed of my body," I would ask, "Then why are you going to so much trouble and torment to remove body hair so you can wear one of those things?"

And if they say, "That's all the store had," I'd say, "Baloney!"

Paul Harvey

The world's melting pot has devolved into a goulash of mongrel dialects.

Former Senator Sam Hayakawa blames bilingual classes which teach neither language well.

Dr. Lois De Bakey blames radio and TV. Says she. "Few parents read to their young children anymore. Few children are surrounded with books. Most sit catatonically in front of a TV set listening to substandard English from superstars like a wealthy Western singer who says, 'I had no nuthin,'" and a pop singer who made $45 million last year but who says "misrepresentate" for "misrepresent."

Or, as a movie idol recently expressed himself: "It was like, well, he's got it."

The Voting Rights Act of 1975 was passed by the Congress "without thinking."

As applied, it required bilingual ballots for Mexicans and Asians in the United States. They don't even have to learn our language to run our government.

Dr. Hayakawa notes that Hasidic Jews in Brooklyn do not demand ballots in Hebrew. French-speaking citizens in Maine, Vermont and Louisiana do not demand separate ballots in French.

You hear no clamor among Japanese-Americans for an American ballot in their language.

He says Koreans and Vietnamese are so happy to be in the United States that they make no demands on the new culture. And their children are excelling in our schools.

It is only Mexicans and Asians who are thus accommodated.

"This," Dr. Hayakawa calls, "incredible racial condescension."

And it is no favor to them. Thus by passed they will forever be just ouside the mainstream of opportunity.

Besides, our nation's naturalization law says that you have to be able to read, write and speak English to become a citizen. Bilingual education contradicts our own naturalization laws.

We learn language by mimicking what we hear and read. Unfortunately, our models today are not often exemplary. A former top TV anchorman does not know the difference between enormity and immensity. Another does not know the difference between nauseated and nauseous.

When we blur the distinction between two similar words we increase the imprecision of the language and, ultimately, the ambiguity. The result is to subvert the purpose of language — communication.

And history demonstrates that language is a unifying force in a pluralistic society; that where communication is less precise people are more vulnerable to domination.

Local among top ten

Kristen Walton, daughter of Dalton and Sally Walton of 2508 34th, placed among the top ten contestants in the national finals of the Kids of America Pageant at the Loews Anatole Hotel in Dallas July 18-22.

As winner of the regional pageant in Dallas in April, Walton became eligible for the national contest.

During the week-long affair, the girls in the 13 to 17 year age division competed in formal wear and casual attire. A personal interview was also conducted with six judges from across the country.

After all 43 contestants were judged, ten were chosen to recompete. This competition style is used in most major beauty pageants.

Walton plans to enter the contest again next year saying, "I compete for self-improvement, to meet people and make friends."

She wants to be a professional model and believes that participation in pageants can enhance her career by teaching her modeling skills and self-confidence. She aspires to a job with the Kim Dawson Modeling Agency in Dallas someday.

Kids of America Pageants are sponsored by the Darry Modeling Agency of Dallas. Walton won a trophy and a stuffed panda bear during the competition.

BEAUTY DIGEST

Diane Robbens

Color choice

Daytime actress Deidre Hall has her own personal beauty tip. "I feel a woman should experiment with makeup colors — especially for eye shadow, blush and lipstick," she told Beauty Digest. "When you find colors that suit your skin tones and wardrobe, stick to them. I have found for me that shades of a soft, warm pink work best. I make my clothes and accessories work around these tones rather than going out and buying a different makeup for each new outfit."

Shape up

It's time to start getting ready for summer fun. Here's a great exercise to trim those extra pounds you may have added to your upper thighs. First, lie on your right side on the floor. Raise your upper body by leaning on your forearm. Next, bend your knees back so your lower legs are at a 45 degree angle behind you. Now raise your top leg, extend it out straight and point your toes. Bend it back to original position and lower it down to rest on other leg. Repeat 10 times and then switch sides.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

The massive slaughter of waterfowl was common from the 1840s to 1918, when Congress outlawed professional "market gunners." Some hunters used a cannon-like punt gun that could shoot dozens of birds at once.

South flying high

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

So many play five-card majors these days that it is a very common occurrence for the opening bid of a major suit to be raised with only three-card support. After all, if opener has five cards in the suit, and responder has three, that is certainly a playable trump suit fit. All true. It is also true that a responding hand with only six or seven high-card points and 4-3-3-3 distribution should respond with one no-trump to opener's major suit opening. Raising one of the major to two just has too cheerful a sound to it when all the hand contains is a flat six points with no distribution.

Hence North's response of one no-trump. South was so enamored of all those A-K-Q combinations that he jumped to three hearts and happily carried on to four spades over partner's three.

The play was simple. One trait most aggressive bidders share is that they play their hands quite well. They have to, since they frequently are too high in the bidding. West played the king, ace and queen of diamonds, declarer ruffing the third round. Declarer now drew trumps and played a club to dummy's jack. Why the jack? That is easy. West had dealt and passed, and then had shown up with all those diamond high cards. West could not hold the club ace or he would have opened the bidding. South had to hope for as much as the club queen with West, since he knew East had the ace.

PETER KUMP'S CRUDITES & DIP

The way a well-known cooking school teacher suggests offering this French hors d'oeuvre.

To make the Dip mix together 1 cup mayonnaise (made with olive oil), 1 cup sour cream and 1 teaspoon tabasco sauce. Finely mince 2 cloves garlic, 2 tablespoons capers, enough scallion tops to make ½ cup and enough parsley leaves to make ½ cup; add to mayonnaise mixture and chill for 1 to 4 hours. At serving time arrange at least 5 kinds of such vegetables as julienned carrots and green and sweet red peppers, blanched florets of cauliflower or broccoli, sliced fennel heart, trimmed scallions, radish flowers and cherry tomatoes on an attractive platter and surround with lettuce. Serve the Dip in one or two small bowls in the center or on the sides of the platter.

New products on today's market

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

What's new on the market?

THE PRODUCT — An orbital sander with special operator controls.

Manufacturer's claim — That this sander gives professional performance in a machine intended for do-it-yourselfers ... that it weighs only 3.7 pounds, is balanced for either one- or two-hand use and includes a front handle for extra control ... that it has orbital action with 10,000 strokes per minute, a large 26.7-square inch pad that uses 1-3rd sanding sheets and a dust bag ... that it has a clamping system that remains in the open position until the paper is properly aligned, then simply snaps closed ... that it produces minimal vibrations and has a trigger switch that locks in the "on" position.

THE PRODUCT — An adjustable swivel faucet aerator.

Manufacturer's claim — That the aerator can be set to emit either a stream or spray for rinsing without splashing, with the water flow easily changed by pushing the aerator body down for a spray and up for a stream ... that it is easy to install ... that it screws on to standard outside threaded faucets ... and that an adaptor is supplied with the aerator to allow it to be fitted to inside threaded faucets.

THE PRODUCT — An invention that connects to your pool's filtration system and automatically makes and dispenses its own chlorine.

Manufacturer's claim — That this item produces pure chlorine gas which does not leave a cloudy residue ... that a byproduct of the process is liquid PH control or chemical balancing ... that it converts power from your pool pump timer into low voltage direct current ... that it makes pool water clearer and more sparkling ... and that it saves money in chemical costs.

THE PRODUCT — A plastic toilet that uses an average of only one gallon of water per flush.

Manufacturer's claim — That this toilet is light and easy to install ... that it doesn't chip or "sweat" ... that it is designed for use in areas of scarce ground water or limited capacities ... that it is ideal for camps, for sites on ledges, dry areas and areas of high saturation ... that each unit comes with an instruction booklet, a new set of flange bolts and a new seal ... and that, because plumbing codes predate the development of this system, you should check with your local plumbing inspector before installation.

THE PRODUCT — A new lightweight ladder system.

Manufacturer's claim — That this system assumes 24 different work stances for dozens of household-handcraft uses ... that it folds up easily for convenient storage in closet or car trunk ... that it is built around a series of adjusting and locking safety joints that click and lock into place to hold up to 1,000 pounds ... that, among its uses, it can function as a folding wall ladder, a double trestle stepladder, a scaffold, a stairwell ladder or an overhang stile ... and that it is designed to provide safety to either the home or professional user.

Dormice are not actually mice, although they are related. Dormice probably get their name from the French word "dormir," which means "to sleep." They hibernate all winter.

Riches won't change

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty million dollars isn't enough to change Venero Pagano. History's biggest lottery winner says he'll keep doing what he's always done — living in his modest house, growing tomatoes in the yard and playing the numbers.

"I'm going to play more now. I got more money now. Maybe I'll win again, who knows?" Pagano, 63, joked at a news conference Thursday after claiming the $20 million jackpot in New York's Lotto game.

"It is, to the best of my knowledge, the largest prize paid to a single individual in the world," said John D. Quinn, the state lottery director.

Shark attack probed

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Texas (AP) — A city official says a woman whose foot was gnawed by a shark may have provoked the predatory fish by kicking it while swimming.

Joe Rubio said that Carmen Castro Gaytan may have kicked the shark while she was swimming in chest-deep water outside her luxury hotel Tuesday afternoon.

"More than likely (the shark) ran into her leg and got it caught in his mouth," Rubio said Thursday. "Or maybe she was trying to get away, kicked it and got her leg caught in its mouth."

Jim Mattox's trial postponed

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Jim Mattox's trial on a felony charge of commercial bribery has been postponed for five months, from Sept. 17 until Feb. 11.

State District Judge Mace Thurman granted the delay Thursday after Mattox's chief attorney, Roy Minton, said he was too busy with other legal work to prepare the attorney general's defense.

The delay also gives the Third Court of Appearman in a five-minute hearing Thursday that he was representing Travis County in an important civil rights lawsuit Sept. 24 in federal court and was representing the county again in a state court case Oct. 24.

Thurman said he had talked with U.S. District Judge James Nowlin, and Nowlin requested that his trial, which has been in the courts four years, be given preference over the Mattox setting.

Minton told reporters later the postponement also would give the the 3rd Court of Appeals in Austin a chance to rule on Mattox's claim that the indictment is faulty and Mattox should never be brought to trial.

"But of course that is not the reason we asked for a continuance," Minton said.

Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle told Thurman he did not agree with Minton's motion for a delay "but I don't have much choice."

Mattox said afterwards he was "anxious to get it over with but this just postpones getting this resolved in my favor."

Mattox was accused last September of commercial bribery, a felony, by threatening to block state-required approval of public bonds submitted by the Houston law firm of Fulbright & Jaworski.

The indictment alleges the threat was made by telephone to a member of the firm in an attempt to keep the firm from trying to question Mattox's sister, Janice, a Dallas attorney, in a separate lawsuit involving the state, Sout Texas rancher Clinton Manges and Mobil Oil Corp.

Thurman has refused 15 pretrial motions to dismiss the indictment, and Mattox has appealed his decision to the Austin appellate court. The court has not acted on the appeal and is now in summer recess.

her down. Now, after Wednesday, we're through."

The phasing down has allowed the RS&P to complete its contractural obligations — the last of which includes a lease agreement for some 850 rail cars from the Pullman Company of Chicago.

These cars are now seen parked beside the track which joins Snyder and Roscoe. Mize said the Pullman company will likely retrieve these shortly.

He estimates the currents assets of the RS&P at more than $3 million, "and we don't owe a dime."

He said liquidation of these assets is the next step, but that railroad officials are in no hurry to complete this.

These assets include the railway roadbed — to include rail, railroad ties and the base material of gravel and caliche — plus the right-of-way which stretches to Roscoe.

The railroad also owns land holdings to the north of Snyder as well as the Santa Fe depot beside 25th St.

"This plus one engine, a caboose and probably two or three old worn-out rail cars," Mize said.

It is expected the history of the railroad will be documented soon with the addition of historical markers in both Snyder and Roscoe — leaving it up to the cities it helped create to honor its memory.

"But some of us are really going to miss that old railroad," Mize said.

Trailer, automobile sustain fire damage

Snyder firemen were called to extinguish a trailer fire on U.S. Highway 180 about 4 miles east of town at 10:16 p.m. Thursday.

According to reports, a trailer carrying an acoustical and insulation spraying unit caught fire while being pulled down the road. It sustained extensive damage before the blaze was extinguished.

Owner of the equipment was listed as Romeo Gutierrez of Levelland.

Two fire calls were reported early Friday morning.

According to reports, a 1968 Volkswagen owned by James Sheehan of Rotan sustained extensive damage when it caught fire while he was driving on Highway 180 about 10 miles east of Snyder.

Firefighters were called to the scene at 8:45 a.m. but the car was already heavily damaged before the fire could be put out.

A defective extension cord was blamed for smoke which prompted Friday's first fire call to the Snyder Day Care Center at 115 31st St. at 7 a.m.

Firefighters reported tha an extension cord had shorted out and burned its insulation, making a good deal of smoke but doing no other damage to the building or its contents.

Arrests noted

City police jailed two subjects Thursday for public intoxication and picked up a third man on a warrant for revocation of probation out of Lubbock.

TV series to be set in Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — Move over Tom Selleck. This scenic island is about to get two more flower-shirted, prime-time crime fighters.

Universal Television is teaming Jeff McCracken, a former regular on "Bay City Blues," screen actor Robert Ginty and Hawaii's natural beauty and unique lifestyle for its new series "Hawaiian Heat," currently in production.

The series kicks off with a two-hour pilot film to be shown this fall on ABC-TV, opposite "Dallas" on CBS-TV and a new NBC-TV show called "Hunter."

The show is about two no-chance-for-promotion Chicago cops directing traffic in the freezing cold when they see a billboard touting a vacation in sunny Hawaii.

They end up in Hawaii, soon in trouble with a drug ring and linked up with two women, one a blonde helicopter tour pilot.

Jeff McCracken, 31, plays Andy Senkowsky and Ginty, 35, plays his sidekick, Mac Riley.

Gwynn paces Padres

by The Associated Press

Tony Gwynn of the San Diego Padres has taken to heart the words, if not the bent grammar, of Hall of Famer Wee Willie Keeler, who said: "Hit 'em where they ain't."

Gwynn went 3-for-4 Thursday night - and now has seven hits in his last nine at-bats - as the Padres defeated the Cincinnati Reds 8-2. The three hits raised his National League-leading average to .362.

"It's something that just comes naturally for me," says Gwynn, who has been likened to Rod Carew by Padres Manager Dick Williams.

Gwynn had one-fourth of San Diego's 12 hits against the Reds before leaving the game for a pinch runner after doubling in San Diego's three-run sixth inning. Gwynn scored once and had an RBI.

In the rest of the National League, Montreal edged Pittsburgh 5-4, San Francisco defeated Houston 3-2 and Atlanta beat Los Angeles 5-1.

Mark Thurmond, 8-5, won his third straight start for the Padres, who lead Atlanta by seven games in the NL West. Thurmond worked seven innings, giving up two runs on seven hits.

Expos 5, Pirates 4

Doug Flynn doubled in the winning run in the eighth inning, snapping a 4-4 tie. Montreal tied the in the seventh on Andre Dawson's sacrifice fly and two wild pitches by Pirate reliever Don Robinson.

Derrel Thomas started the winning rally with a two-out double, and Flynn followed with the winning hit off Robinson, 0-4. Bob James, 3-4, pitched the eighth for the victory, and Jeff Reardon got the final three outs for his 14th save.

Giants 3, Astros 2

Dusty Baker hit his first home run since April and only second of the season to help the Giants beat Houston. Bill Laskey, 6-9, and Frnak Williams combined on an eight-hitter. Laskey went seven innings, giving up six hits.

The Giants got only six hits off three Houston pitchers, including starter Mike Scott, 4-9. Scott yielded Baker's first-inning solo homer, then didn't give up another hit until the fifth.

Houston scored twice in the seventh on doubles by Enos Cabell, Kevin Bass and Bill Doran.

Braves 5, Dodgers 1

Atlanta won two of three in Los Angeles as the Dodgers committed errors on three consecutive plays in the third inning to help the Braves score four runs. Craig McMurtry, 8-11, held the Dodgers in check on four hits through 6 1-3 innings. One of the hits was a homer by Franklin Stubbs.

Lubbock tests Abilene Stars here tonight

Abilene Northern mixes it up with the Western All-Stars of Lubbock in Little League playoff competition at Logan Field here tonight.

Game time is 8 o'clock.

The contest is the opener in a best-of-three series which will send its champion to the State Little League Tournament in Waco.

Abilene will open with Matt Sherwood, who pitched a two-hitter as Northern eliminated Snyder from the playoffs last week, 2-0 in Rotan.

'Blues' dominate early UGSA play

United Girl's Softball Association West Texas State Tournament action got underway here Thursday with 15 games in three divisions.

In a fourth division, the senior girls, play was to start tonight.

Blue teams - all from Midland - were apparently doing something right, as they dealt out plenty of punishment. Midland Blue from Division I, Division II and Division III all remained unbeaten heading into this morning's schedule.

In fact, only a handful of teams reached today's competition unscathed. Midland Blue and Odessa Maroon in Division I, Odessa Turquoise and Midland Blue in Division II, and Midland Blue and Odessa Black in Division III were the only unbeaten teams.

Snyder's Division II and III squads both won one game and lost one, while its Division I squad lost their only contest.

Blake successful with comeback

Judge Al Wilensky scored Thursday night's fight 96-95, Judge Berry Pearlman scored it 98-92, and Rick Bays had it 96-94.

Just a year ago, the 135½-pound Blake was rated in the top 10 by both the World Boxing Association and the World Boxing Council with a 22-0 record.

Last October, though, a loss to Tyrone Crawley of Philadephia followed by another loss in January to Harry Arroyo of Youngstown, Ohio, dropped him from the rankings.

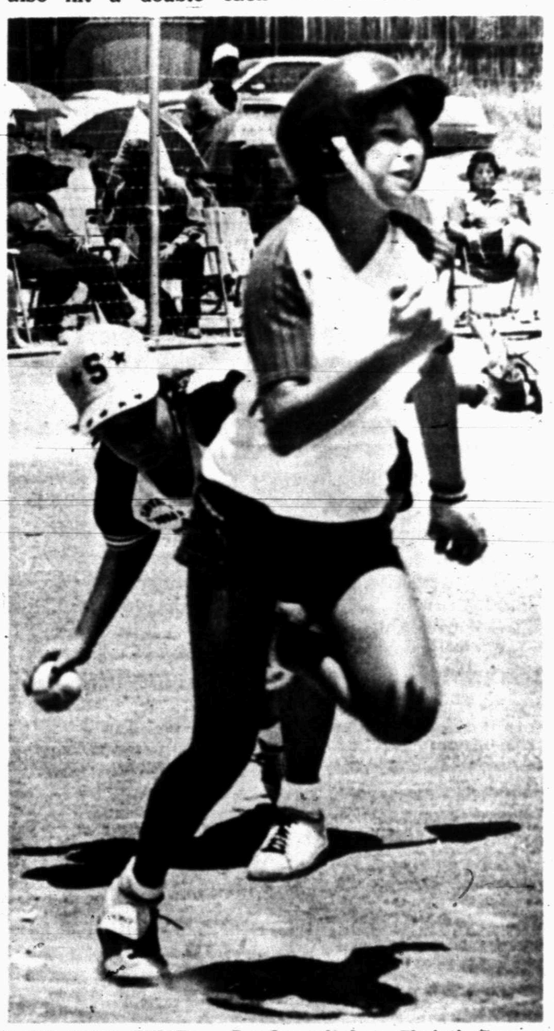

The 135½-pound Curet, of San Juan, Puerto Rico, cut Blake in the first round with a head butt and wobbled him in the fifth with a wild right hand. Curet's record dropped to 15-3-2.

Cowboys release 10

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys released 10 more free agent rookies Thursday to reduce their training camp roster to 110 players, including 66 rookies, team spokesmen said.

Placed on waivers were wide receiver Steven Brown of Stanford; offensive lineman Kevin Callaway of Oregon Tech; wide receiver Edwin Cambridge of Morris Brown; offensive lineman Chris Delaplaine of Indiana State; offensive lineman Brad Pilgard of Southern Illinois; offensive linman Scott Shockley of Missouri; defensive lineman Willie Twyford of Vanderbilt; tight end Gregg Veldman of Moorhead State; defensive back Reggie Wilson of Utah and offensive lineman Stefan Wilson of Southern University.
