'Ever-Normal Granary' Bill Given Conference Approval

Crop Production Control Offered Under Measure

General Provisions Unaltered In Final Sessions; Leaders Expect Criticism Of Act

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—A senate-house committee agreed late today on details of the "ever-normal granary" bill, providing a vast system for controlling production and marketing of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco and rice in an effort to stabilize prices.

Conferees said general provisions for corn, wheat, rice and tobacco were not altered during final sessions of the conference committee, which has been busy since Jan. 3 drafting a single bill from the separate measures passed by house and senate. Committee members said they expected the fruit of their labors would be subject to some criticism when the measure goes back to senate and house for final approval.

To Hasten Bonus Payments

Chairman Smith (D-SC) of the senate agriculture committe, said the joint congressional group had approved his suggestion that bonus payments on the 1937 cotton crop be hastened. Under this arrangement growers can turn over to the government some 5,000,000 bales of cotton, on which loans are already made.

Congress already has voted $130,000,000 extra payments on the 1937 cotton crop in addition to loans ranging down from 9 cents a pound. Legislators from corn and wheat sections may protest the new provision.

Establishes Supply Levels

The program establishes definite supply levels for the five crops and attempts to control production and marketing through a system of benefit payments, loans on stored supplies, and penalties for excess sales when supplies are large.

The secretary of agriculture will estimate the production of corn, wheat or other crops needed in any season, convert this figure to acreage, and then split the acreage up among states, counties and individual farms.

Farmers who stay within these limits will receive benefit payments and loans on stored crops. When supplies become excessive a vote of two-thirds of the producers taking part

Churchill To Go To Harlingen

Orders for his transfer to Harlingen were received by Capt. John G. Churchill Wednesday on fourth anniversary of his assumption of command of the Lubbock Salvation Army post.

Major William George Gilks of Dallas, division commander, notified Capt. Churchill of the switch, which will be effected Feb. 23. He will take command of the posts at Harlingen and McAllen, with "prospects of others," he said.

Came Here Feb. 2, 1934.

Capt. Churchill will hold farewell services here Sunday Feb. 20. He came to Lubbock Feb. 2, 1934, and has served two terms of two years here. It is customary for officers to transfer after one or two terms, he explained.

Through efforts of Capt. Churchill a new $5,200 citadel was constructed last summer by the Lubbock post at 1112 Seventeenth street. The building was dedicated Nov. 26.

Change Made In US Highway 51 Association In Chisos Meet

MARATHON, Feb. 2. (AP) — Delegates to a meeting of the U. S. Highway 51 association at a CCC camp in the Chisos mountains today voted to change the name of the organization to the International Parks Highway association.

The proposal to change was made, officials explained, because the highway route is from the proposed Big Bend park to the Black Hills and the Western Canadian National park.

F. W. Gwin of the Odessa Lions club presented a check for $414.55 to H. W. Morelock, chairman of the local park committee of Brewster county.

Mine Workers Vote 'Treason' Indictment Against Green

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — The United Mine Workers convention, acting as a grand jury, indicted William Green today on charges of "treason."

The convention then directed the union's executive board to give the American Federation of Labor president a hearing, and to expel him from the UMW if he were found guilty.

Green Challenges Right

Union officials had talked of asking the convention to expel Green without further to-do, but they decided in favor of today's action after Green challenged the right of the convention to act as an original trial court.

Green, a member of the NMW for 48 years and for many years international secretary-treasurer, contended his own local union in Coshocton, O., should try him if he were to be tried.

To Get Square Deal

"We want to give Bill Green a square deal and that's something Bill Green didn't give his own union," said Frank Hughes, Westmoreland county (Pa.) district president.

(Green was charged with treason after he signed an A. F. of L. charter for the Progressive Miners of America, rival of the UMW in Illinois.)

SHOWDOWN IS IMMINENT

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 2. (AP)—A showdown became imminent tonight on the American Federation of Labor's policy toward its unions which have joined the Committee for Industrial Organization and which, although suspended, still technically are within the fold.

The AFL executive council, empowered at the last convention to expel them, will receive tomorrow the report of the committee which met with CIO leaders in Washington from Oct. 25 to Dec. 21 in an unsuccessful effort to negotiate a peace.

Invoking Of U. S. Neutrality Act Is Demanded

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — The Japanese foreign minister's assertion a "state of war" exists between Japan and China brought renewed demand today from some congressmen for invocation of the neutrality act.

Administration leaders indicated, however, that in the absence of a formal declaration of war there was little likelihood President Roosevelt would apply this act forbidding arms shipments to belligerents.

Remark Made Informally

It was pointed out Koki Hirota, the Japanese minister, had made his remark informally while answering a question in the Japanese diet.

"It seems to me," said Senator Nye (R-ND), "that there s no post left to hide behind for not invoking the (neutrality) law." Others who previously had demanded application of the act expressed a similar view.

Most members of the senate foreign relations committee said they believed Hirota's statement would not affect this government's policy in the Sino-Japanese hostilities.

There was no official comment from the state department.

Youth Confesses To Dickens Burglaries

DICKENS, Feb. 2. (Special)—After he had confessed to burglary of two Spur stores and theft of an automobile, Raymond Fitzpatrick, 19, was charged today in the justice court of G. B. Jopling and bonds of $750 were set in each of the three cases, said Marshall Formby, county judge.

Fitzpatrick signed a confession before Sheriff J. L. Koonsman and County Attorney L. D. Ratliff, jr.,

Approximately $100 in merchandise was taken from Fair dry goods store Jan. 29 and $30 in money from Speer's Variety store Jan. 14. An automobile owned by Charlie Lambert, Jayton ginner, had been stolen Jan. 29. It later was found abandoned and returned to the owner.

Fitzpatrick remained in jail here late today in lieu of bond. He had been arrested Monday. City and county officials worked together to solve the case, said Judge Formby.

Local officers were aided in their investigation by Chief of Police Don Reeder of Lubbock, who made a number of finger prints.

FAVOR RETURN TO NRA

Welding School, Show Opens At College Today

THE VILLAGE smithy and his small old-fashioned blacksmith shop will suffer by comparison in exhibits at the largest welding conference in the Southwest which will open at 8 o'clock this morning at Texas Technological college for a two-day session.

The smithy and his small shop will offer contrast to the latest welding equipment sent here by approximately 20 companies and demonstrated by experts. The small shop was imported from a New Mexico town.

To Give Latest Information

Latest information on welding will be presented through papers, slides, motion pictures, demonstrations, and exhibits. Mornings will be devoted to delivery of papers and the afternoons to demonstrations for the most part.

Probably about 300 persons from Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma will attend, said H. F. Godeke, head of the college mechanical engineering department, which is sponsor of the conference.

An address on condemnation of welded boilers in Texas due to a law passed by the last legislature will be a feature at the conference and will be presented by R. E. Hiller, metallurgist and development engineer of the Babcock and Wilcox company of Barberton, O., at a banquet which will begin at 6:30 o'clock tonight at Lubbock hotel.

Anyone Interested Invited

The subject is of timely interest not only to welders but to all operators of boilers in this part of the country, and anyone interested may attend, said Godeke. Reservations may be made with Godeke or J. C. Hardgrave, assistant professor of mechanical engineering, or at the registration desk.

Hiller will explain what can be and cannot be done under the new code and the reasons why. He worked with authors of the bill several

(By The Associated Press)

CANYON, Feb. 2.—Nine of the ten members of the student council at West Texas State teachers college handed in their resignations to Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the college, here this afternoon after a two-hour conference.

Billy Norman, Canyon, was not present at the meeting.

"The council resigned," a spokesman for the group said, "because it was granted no power and because its suggestions and recommendations were not given due consideration. The council felt it was not serving the purpose for which it was elected, and that it was of no benefit to the student body at large."

Twenty-Five Rigs Are Placed In Operation In Lea Last Week

HOBBS, N. M., Feb. 2. (AP) — Twenty-five rigs went into operation last week in Lea county, adding an estimated 500 workmen to the New Mexico oilfield payrolls, the state conservation commission was advised today. Operations now total 82 in the county.

For the year of 1937, the Monument area led the state with a production of 10,945,788 barrels of oil and 198 wells drilled, according to Glenn Staley, probation umpire.

Texas' 1937 Fire Toll 415 Lives

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—On the basis of incomplete but increasing reports, Fire Insurance Commissioner Marvin Hall today estimated 415 Texans died in fires last year.

The estimate was 104 less than 1936's casualties but 65 more than those forecast last month.

Exact Number Unavailable

Hall said the exact number would not be available until the state health department completed its tabulation of 1937 deaths usually delayed because of late reports.

However, on the basis of past experience, the 229 fire deaths known to the insurance department indicated 415 men, women and children died in fires last year, he said.

Hall reiterated a belief the best means of preventing death by fire was organization of active fire prevention committees in all communities.

California Takes Distinction From Texas For Deepest Hole

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. (AP)—California today took away from Texas the distinction of having the world's deepest hole, according to the Continental Oil Co.

The company announced an oil well it is drilling in Kern county, Cal., is now 12,888 feet deep, a new world's record hole, and workmen are still drilling. This surpasses by 102 feet the previous record hole, a well in West Texas which was abandoned at 12,786 feet.

Continental said its drilling crew is ready to drill the new record depth well as deep as 13,400 feet in its quest for oil.

Scrutiny Made Into Activities Of Burk Man

Name Of Francis Felty, Once Employe Of Land Office, Is Brought Into Investigation

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—A senate committee's investigation of Land Commissioner William H. McDonald veered today to a scrutiny of actions of Francis Felty of Burkburnett, employe in the land office from December, 1936, to December, 1937.

J. R. Chatham of Burkburnett said he and associates reaped no private gain from Felty's service in the state job and Felty had no interest in state oil leases which they were awarded.

Now Employed By Chatham

Chatham is interested in the banking, oil, newspaper and other businesses. Felty, a brother of Rep. Fred Felty of San Antonio, worked in the bank and now is employed by Chatham and I. E. Harwell of Burkburnett in their oil vestures.

"You helped get Felty his job with McDonald, did you not?" asked Sen. Joe L. Hill of Henderson, member of the committee.

"That is correct," Chatham replied.

Usefulness 'Kinda' Terminated

"By the time he quit the land office," Hill continued, "his period of usefulness was 'kinda' terminated, wasn't it?"

"So far as I know," the Burkburnett banker retorted, "he had no usefulness while he was in Austin except to the state and the land commissioner."

Cut In On K. M. A.?

"Soon after he left the land office you and Harwell cut him in on that K. M. A. stuff that's hot as a firecracker, didn't you?" the senator inquired.

"He has one-sixth interest in a $100,000 lease which Harwell and I bought," Chatham said. "However, he put up his share of the $40,000 cash consideration on that and will bear his share of the expenses."

"At any rate," Hill countered, "he's now in the big money, isn't he?"

"I wouldn't call it big money," was the answer.

"Running around with you and Harwell represents some money,

King Criticizes Women's Board

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—The board and department of cosmetology, only all-woman state agency, today was criticized for laxity in handling its business affairs by State Auditor Tom C. King.

In a report to Governor James V. Allred, King said office discipline and deportment was bettered somewhat during the course of a two-month audit but "much improvement is yet to be desired, especially when the board secretary is away from the office."

While the audit showed the board's finances in good shape, King said travelling expenses of members, executives and inspectors seemed high.

Mrs. Clara Dreyling, secretary, said the expenses were limited by the legislature in its appropriation to $90 a month for inspectors and $100 for board members.

"Some of the recommendations of the auditor already have been placed in effect," Mrs. Dreyling said, "and in time all of them will be."

The executive has been in office since September and the audit covered only the fiscal year prior to Sept. 1.

King said board disbursements for

Traffic Safety Depends On Careful Attention, Application Of Golden Rule And Horse Sense By Drivers, Highway Patrol Leader Says

By TOM MILLER
Avalanche Staff Writer

Traffic safety depends on careful attention of motorists to their driving, application of the Golden Rule, and use of common horse sense, Chief L. G. Phares of the state highway patrol told citizens at a mass meeting in the Senior High school auditorium Wednesday night.

Approximately 230 persons attended the meeting, sponsored by the Lubbock Safety council.

Plenty Of Officers Needed

"There is a need for plenty of officers to enforce any traffic ordinance," Chief Phares pointed out. He cited the lack of sufficient enforcement officers in Lubbock.

"Citizens need to be educated in the necessity for obeying laws in the interest of public safety, and to educate the public it is necessary to advertise, much as it is necessary for commodities to be advertised if they are to be sold," he said.

To Make Suggestions

Chief Phares is working with a traffic survey committee, and will make suggestions to the committee during his visit in Lubbock. He addressed school children at Senior High school Wednesday afternoon.

Fred Wemple of Midland, member of the state traffic safety committee, stressed the fact that cooperation of the public with law en-

Tech's Enrollment Total Now At 2,953

Conclusion of the first day of classes of the spring semester at Texas Technological college found an enrollment figure of 2,953, which exceeded by 362 students the enrollment for the entire spring semester last year.

Of that number, 208 students were not in school the fall semester. Number of individuals for the two semesters had reached 3,362 Wednesday, while the former record total was 3,010 for a long session.

Figures for this semester, announced by President Bradford Knapp, represented the number who had obtained permits to register. All had not completed the procedure.

Registration will continue, although probably at a slower pace. Number who obtained permits to register Wednesday was 156 and the remainder had begun the procedure during the two official registration days preceding.

Outbreak Of Smallpox Reported In Crockett; Said Not 'Serious'

AUSTIN, Feb. 2. (AP)—Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said tonight the city of Crockett in Houston county was suffering an outbreak of smallpox of a local nature.

Dr. Cox said he was not inclined to regard the situation as "serious" from unauthentic reports.

"The disease can be controlled by quarantine and vaccination," he said. "Those matters always are attended to immediately by city and county health officers. If their vaccine supply is low, they can get more quickly."

Dr. Cox blamed spread of the disease on "carelessness."

"We haven't had much smallpox of late years," he said, "and people have grown careless about vaccination."

Conference At Capital Scene Of Confusion

Thousand Business Men, Each With A Speech, Engage In Frenzied Opening Parley

By RICHARD L. TURNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—A thousand "little businessmen," each with a speech to make, met today to tell the Roosevelt administration how to end the recession.

Quickly they demonstrated they had come to Washington to be heard and not to listen. The result was tumult—scores seeking recognition. The scene rivalled the more frenzied moments of a national political convention.

TOUCHES OFF CRITICISM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. (AP)—The little business men's conference touched off a round of Republican criticism of President Roosevelt's business policies in the house today.

Representative White (R-Ohio) charged the conference was a "frame-up."

"The report they will make was prepared a week ago," he asserted.

Representative Short (R-Mo.) declared the administration was seeking even a "flimsy pretext or reasonable excuse" for present economic conditions. He said it was "singing a hymn of hate" which had divided labor and was now trying to divide business.

Representative Martin (R-Mass.) shouted that the "little man in my district is as bad off today as he was March 4, 1933."

A remark by Short that President Roosevelt is the "smoothest, slickest politician" ever to live in the White House brought forth cheers and prolonged applause from Democratic members.

Roper Stills Clamor

It was, manifestly, impossible to proceed, so Secretary of Commerce Roper seized the gavel, stilled the clamor somewhat, and dispersed the meeting into ten study groups, where the effort to make many speeches at the same moment merrily continued.

The little business men were in dead earnest. Each had his own ideas of what should be done, some had laboriously surveyed the opinion of the neighbors. Most were mystified as to "why I was invited to come here, why they picked me out," and many were equally at a loss to know why they found oscillatous messages from their senators and congressmen waiting for them in their hotel rooms.

No Crystallization Of Sentiment

So many and so varied were the ideas they brought, that the day produced no noticeable crystallization of sentiment on any one point, unless it was that little business needs more capital and that, vaguely, some method must be provided to satisfy that need.

A subject was assigned to each

State Court Affirms Bank Nights Ruling

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today made final its ruling bank nights were lotteries and therefore prohibited by statute.

It overruled a motion for rehearing by H. S. Cole, Bonham theater operator, convicted and fined $100 for violation of the lottery law.

The action left no doubt as to effectiveness of the criminal code against bank nights. The supreme court of Texas had ruled months ago picture show drawings for prizes involved the lottery principle but did not pass on the important question of whether they were forbidden by statute. It held that if bank nights were lotteries they were in violation of the penal code.

Forty-Five Attend Monthly Tech Faculty Women's Club Tea Wednesday

The Woman's Angle

By Margaret Turner

"It is not what we read, but what we remember that makes us wise."

• • •

READING MAGAZINES

WE KNOW of no greater literary thrill than to hold a new magazine in our hands, looking at the cover and wondering what's inside. There is always an anticipatory zing to wondering what the lead story is about and what the illustrations will be.

You may be disappointed, angered or merely indifferent when you see it, but to us there is keen pleasure in turning the first page. We suppose all have their favorite authors and will read anything they write; we are that way. The name Margaret Culkin Banning above a fiction story to this magazine-lover is an irresistible lure. Martha Ostenso is another. Alice Duer Miller, Richard Sherman (remember his "To Mary With Love"?). Edison Marshall and Elizabeth Sanxay Holding are others.

• • •

We have an antipathy for continued stories. Perhaps it dates back to the time when, deep in a serial, we were called to practice the piano and somehow when we got back to the story the magazine had disappeared or some other member of the family had it.

• • •

OUR APOLOGY, PLEASE

ALWAYS when he attempt to write a clever paragraph we misspell a word or misquote a person and the effort ends in complete failure. For instance, Wednesday morning we wrote that we believe the early morning radio program on KFYO encourages people to say "ain't," we meant to write "git." We won't place the blame of bad English entirely on Wes Youngblood and his talent.

• • •

CONGRATULATIONS

WE THINK the talent committee of the South Plains Civic Music association should be congratulated on its decision to schedule Florence George for a later date rather than cancel her appearance in Lubbock. There'll come a day when we'll be as delighted over having brought Florence George to Lubbock as are those audiences that heard Nelson Eddy when he was drawing slightly less than $400 for concert appearances.

Miss George is under contract to a motion picture studio and being in the midst of making a picture, her February concert here was cancelled. Critics describe her as a girl who has just about everything — beauty, a pleasing, vivacious personality, a lovely voice and the proportions of a fashion model. In other words she's a glamour girl if ever there was one.

• • •

FROM THE current Reader's Digest: "A society editor being refused a guest-list by a haughty lady, retaliated by describing her, year after year, at luncheons, teas, the opera, and races, as wearing the same lavender dress and picture hat she had worn at the time of the fatal interview."—Dixon Wector, "The Saga of American Society."

• • •

Well now, that's an idea all right. But that society editor wouldn't have felt compensated if she had been in our place and had worn the same checked coat year after year or felt compelled to wear the same dress several seasons.

• • •

LAUNDERING LINENS

LAUNDER NEW linenz before you use them. As snowy white as your new table cloth or sheets may look, they are bound to be affected by handling of prospective buyers and sales clerks, or by the dusty air in the store. You will be surprised to see the amount of dirt that appears in the water when you wash these new articles for the first time.

Forty-five women met in the lounge of the Texas Technological college women's dormitory Wednesday afternoon for a monthly Tech Faculty Women's club tea.

The program, presented by dancing pupils of Miss Bernice Stevens, included tap dances by Ann Bentley, Betty Lou Williams and Paul Frank Smith and a ballet number by Shirley Anne Watts.

The refreshment table was covered with a red silk cloth and decorated with red candles, red carnations and a large white cake that was decorated in red with Valentine sayings. Mrs. P. W. Horn poured coffee and Mrs. J. F. McDonald served the cake.

Dad Joiner Wins Fight In Court

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—C. M. (Dad) Joiner, discoverer of the East Texas oil field, today was victor in Texas' supreme court over his former wife, who had sought a large portion of his property.

Reversing a court of civil appeals and affirming judgment of a Dallas district court, the Supreme court held Mrs. L. A. Joiner had not helped Joiner acquire the property for which she brought suit in January, 1934, and therefore was not entitled to it.

Oklahoma Law Used

Because the trial court had ruled the Joiners were residents of Oklahoma, the supreme court determined the issue according to Oklahoma law.

A point in the trial was validity of a settlement made between Joiner and his wife in 1933 shortly before he divorced her and married his young stenographer.

Attorneys for Mrs. Joiner claimed she thought the document of settlement she signed was a will and knew nothing of Joiner's plans for divorce and re-marriage.

Not Guilty Of Fraud

The supreme court said the trial jury had absolved Joiner from any fraud and misrepresentation and there was no question as to validity of the divorce decree.

It then noted these points in the record:

That in 1908, Joiner and Mrs. Joiner were living at Ardmore and the latter refused to accompany her husband to Oklahoma City where he wanted to establish a home.

That Joiner went to Oklahoma City and later filed suit for divorce, alleging desertion, but withdrew the suit at behest of some Joiner children.

Never Returned To Ardmore

That Joiner never returned to Ardmore and Mrs. Joiner never resided at Oklahoma City.

The court concluded the Joiners apparently regarded their marital status as ended although their feelings remained friendly.

In 1922, it said, Joiner acquired oil leases in East Texas by "his own efforts and ability," but the leases were not developed, largely because of lack of means, until 1927."

"The defendant then began exploitation of the lands for oil," the opinion said "and after many struggles, almost ending in despair and utter insolvency, in October, 1930, the discovery well in the great East Texas oil field was brought in.

"The record clearly justifies the statement that but for the persistent, tireless and almost heroic fortitude and efforts of the defendant, these leases would never have been of any substantial value to him."

It said Oklahoma law classified property of married persons as that owned separately and that jointly acquired. The community property law of Texas was not involved.

California Judge Paints Red Stripes On Automobiles To Punish Reckless Drivers

SANTA ANA, Calif., Feb. 2. (AP)—Four-inch red stripes on automobiles mean something in Orange county.

They are Superior Judge James L. Allen's idea for punishing reckless drivers.

Judge Allen started the plan last November.

Judge Allen today expressed gratification over the success of his plan and added:

Second Drum And Bugle Corps May Be Necessary; Total Of 77 Youngsters Trying Out

Because of interest displayed by Allen Bros. American Legion squadron of Sons of the Legion in their drum and bugle corps, formation of a second squad will be necessary, according to squadron sponsor, E. Kelley Nail.

Thirty-one boys reported for the beginners' instruction class in bugling last night while 28 are enrolled in the advanced class, he reported. The squadron has only 34 bugles.

18 Try For Drums

Likewise, he added, 18 are trying out for the snafe drums, eight of which are available. Original plans call for a corps of 48 members, including 34 bugles, eight snare drums, two bass drums and two sets of cymbals.

If interest in the organization continues among the boys, Nail asserted, additional instruments will be ordered and the corps either will be expanded or a junior corps will be organized.

Walter F. Smith announced Wednesday that J. W. Rogers, 18, who recently moved to Lubbock from San Antonio, will assist in drumming instructions. Rogers was a member of a drum and bugle corps in San Antonio.

Weather Forecasting Explained To Club

Weather forecasting by scientific means instead of by signs, nature, the planets, clouds, old wives' tales proverbs, etc., was explained by Dr. E. F. George, head of the department of physics of Texas Technological college, to Rotarians yesterday noon at the Lubbock hotel. Dr. R. C. Goodwin and Frank McPherson were co-chairmen, the former presiding.

Arch L. King, assistant city engineer, was presented as a new member by President James I. Kilpatrick. Dr. Bradford Knapp, past president, was asked to instruct him in Rotary principles.

Meterology is a branch of physics, he explained. It should be treated as a scientific problem and not one for guess work or based on proverbs. For years, both on land and sea, men have been reading the signs of the clouds and skies, the sun, moon, etc., in an effort to predict what the weather might be.

"Superstition is the most overworked, the most abused word in the English language," he pointed out. Dr. George read a number of weather proverbs, pointing out that there was somewhat of a scientific basis for some signs. Animals and birds, in their actions, frequently indicate a change in weather conditions, he said.

The United States service has about 250 weather reporting stations scattered throughout the country and these report twice daily to a central office in Washington and to district or area offices, weather conditions. From these reports, official forecasts are made.

Slow But Sure Progress Noted In Oklahoma Child's Condition

CLINTON, Okla., Feb. 2. (AP) — Physicians reported slow but sure progress today in three-year-old Joella Reynolds' fight for recovery from an operation Jan. 16, which left her exposed ten days. The delicate operation was performed when in infection following pneumonia enlarged the little girl's heart five or six times normal size.

Two physicians took out two ribs and punctured the pericardium sac enclosing the heart to permit drainage of fluid pressing against it.

Physicians said her heart had been reduced almost to normal size.

The Gas Light Company, of Baltimore, was the first gas company to be formed in the United States. It was organized in 1816.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. (AP)—The treasury reported today its deficit in the first seven months of the fiscal year totaled $877,720,529.

President Roosevelt has estimated this excess of expenditures over income will reach $1,294,345,300 by June 30. The seven-month deficit, however, was about half the size of the shortage in the similar period of the previous year, which was $1,745,758,987.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the virus-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical, only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package.—(adv.)

WHEN TO TURN ON IGNITION for quicker starting

Put your key in, but don't put your ignition on . . . not yet. First outsmart Winter. Here's the simple and approved "system"....

Hold the clutch pedal clear down.
Pull out the choke (unless automatic).
Open the hand-throttle about one-third.
Now operate your starter.
Let engine turn 3 or 4 times.
And snap your ignition ON.*

This works better than a charm, with the high-explosive vapor of Special Winter Blend Conoco Bronze gasoline. It doesn't work—nothing works—with any mere damp drizzle of unvaporized gasoline. You don't want gasolines that can't vaporize in the cold. That's why you want Special Winter Blend Conoco Bronze from Your Mileage Merchant. Some system! Continental Oil Company.

Rip The Cloak Of Secrecy From Syphilis, State Health Officer Urges Of Texans

Campaign Being Waged In State

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Today has been designated as National Social Hygiene day by the American Social Hygiene association whose slogan is: "Stamp out syphilis—enemy of youth." Following is an article on the disease in Texas as described by state health authorities).

* * *

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—Rip the cloak of secrecy from syphillis—the only disease that can not disengage itself from the moral snarl—says Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, and the first phase of the battle to control it is won.

That is the objective of an educational campaign in which the Texas State Medical association, parent-teacher groups, the American Legion and other organizations hope to show what can be done.

One Of Every 10 Homes

The preventable and curable disease is entrenched in each of Texas' 254 counties, touches one of every 10 homes and 24,000 new cases will develop this year, physicians claim.

Once the public approaches the problem in the light of clear thinking and sees the necessity for action, Dr. Cox said, the legislature will consider seriously a $1,000,000 appropriation for control and eradication.

At any event, that request will be made of the lawmakers in 1939.

"All we can do now is talk about it and give all the information available. Once the public knows of conditions created by this killer, second only to tuberculosis, the state will be forced to action," the health officer said.

Program Already Approved

Already approved by a committee of the state medical association and the state board of health is a program for operation awaiting financing.

It centers in a medical director for the division of venereal disease control with syphilologists, dermatologists and urologists of the state on local advisory committees and requires reporting of venereal diseases from approved clinics and by private physicians with quarantine of cases refusing to continue treatment when advised by physicians or clinics.

Would Set Up Clinics

Further proposals:

Free laboratory diagnostic service by the state to indigents where the service is not otherwise available.

Clinics aided and approved by state and local county medical societies.

Free distribution of drugs upon request of physicians treating indigent syphilitics.

There is no economical argument favoring further inaction, Dr. Cox said. He cited the mounting cost of eleemosynary institutions now housing 12,000 Texans. Of these, 2,400 are there because of syphilis. On this basis he estimated that of the $14,000,000 appropriated for state hospitals for the insane this biennium more than $350,000 will be spent exclusively on syphilitics.

Why Not Check Source

"Why not check the source of the trouble and spend less instead of more and more for these growing institutions?" he asked.

The damage wrought in private life also is appalling, physicians claim. They have marshaled these facts in support of their contentions:

Texas had 3,909 still births in 1936 of which 1,303 can be attributed to syphilis—all preventable deaths.

Every person, young or old, male or female, rich or poor, is exposed to risk and contagion—at least 50 per cent of them innocently.

Among pregnant women in obstetrical circles, 6 per cent show positive tests.

Dead Or Diseased Child

Five times out of six, the untreated syphilitic pregnant mother will bear a dead or diseased child.

One-third of children with congenital syphilis will develop partial or complete blindness if untreated.

As for practicability of control, the department points to the Scandinavian countries and England. Syphilis is a rarity in the Scandinavian nations which with 13,700,000 population in 1933 had fewer than 1,600 cases. Great Britain had only 20,692 in 1934.

Dr. Cox sums up his objective in the words of Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health service.

"I consider syphilis the most urgent public health problem in this country today. In the first place, so many people have it, and when their disease is untreated or improperly treated its results are so dangerous to them and so costly to the community. In the second place, it is contagious. Finally—we know how to get rid of it, yet do not."

Endorsement Given Army's New Plane

CHICAGO, Feb. 2. (AP)—The army's new sub-stratosphere plane had an unqualified endorsement today from Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson, first high war department official to make a sustained flight in the craft.

The silver ship dorpped out of the murky skies above Chicago late yesterday after a speedy flight from Washington. It is reputed to be capable of sustained flight at 350 miles per hour.

Although most of the distance was flown at an altitude of 22,000 feet, a supercharger maintained a pressure in the cabin corresponding to that at an altitude of 12,000 feet.

"What our engineers have done," said Johnson, "was to provide means for regulating density of the air inside the cabin to that of any given altitutde. The flight was made in utmost comfort."

List Of Articles Stolen From Store Reads Like Inventory; Three Juveniles Charged After Father Of One Discovers The Loot

Three juveniles, arrested and charged Wednesday in connection with one of the "cleanest jobs of moving out a store" in the annals of criminal detection at Lubbock, are scheduled to meet with officers this morning, said Bill Mabray, police identifications officer.

Mabray said Joe's Place, operated at Seventh street and Avenue Q by S. J. Swift, had been entered at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning and that the father of one of the boys not arrested had found groceries and other merchandise in his residence after awakening later in the morning.

The father took the goods back to the store and went to the residence of the other two boys, brothers, where he recovered other merchandise. Some remained to be found, said Mabray.

Taken from the store was a miscellany of:

Twelve tablets, 11 loose leaf notebook paper packages, 12 packages of typewriter paper, "all the chewing gum and candy in the place," four packages of rubber goods, boxes of penny and nickel matches, two bottles of hair oil, several spools of thread, several pencils, a box of shoe tacks, several boxes of soda crackers, 12 boxes of lemon wafers, 28 boxes of pistol caps, several sacks of tobacco, several plugs of chewing tobacco, two boxes of starch, nine cans of weiner sausages, six cans of sardines, six cans of English peas, two cans of milk, six cans of pineapple, one can of beans, a large jar of jelly, two packages of coffee, three big jars of nuts, two fountain pens, several packages of razor blades, two cans of pickles, two cans of tomato juice, a dozen apples, four grape fruit, a dozen oranges, three boxes of soap flakes, an "armful of paper napkins," five cans of corn, a pound and a half of hamburger meat, three packages of laundry soap, two cans of spinach, two packages of salt, three cans of pork and beans, a butcher knife, two cans of sour kraut, and two cans of spaghetti.

The boy under arrest several months ago was lectured by police in connection with theft of soda water, said police.

Police reported the boy's arrest as the only one of Tuesday night, compared to an average of 25 each day during January.

There's Limit To What Law Can Do In Tracking Down Violators, Police Decide

DALLAS, Feb. 2. (AP)—Fingerprinting is surefire identification but there is a limit to what it can do in tracing law breakers. Dallas police felt that way today after a housewife suggested they visit her home and inspect for fingerprints clothespins which had held three shirts stolen from a clothesline.

"Maybe we've been overrated a trifle," mused Capt. Douglas Walsh.

EXTENSION IS INDICATED

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 2 (AP)—Hopes of a three mile extension to the KMA Oil field in Wichita county brightened today as the Rathke Oil company No. 1 T. L. Burnett continued drilling into a brown sandy lime at 3670 feet with 750 feet of oil in the hole. The formation was topped at 3640. The Rathke well is three miles northwest of the Joe Worsham producer and in the northeast quarter of section 4 H & T B R R survey, abstract 752.

All-Time High Set By Postal Receipts Here In January

Lubbock postoffice had an all-time high January income of $16,718.30, starting the new year with a 28 per cent postal gain for the first month, Postmaster Amos Howard announced Wednesday.

The 1937 income was $13,053.30, a net increase of $3,665.

December's net gain was 17 per cent. Postal officials expressed satisfaction at the continuation of the growing receipts, especially following the record year of 1937 when over $183,000 was taken in by the office. Every month last year showed a substantial increase over the same month in 1936.

Should the income for 1938 continue at the same ratio as January, postal authorities indicated, the net income would likely pass the $200,000 mark.

Tech Cagers Drop Border Conference Series Opener To Arizona U., 33 To 45

Wildcats Spurt In Last Half For Victory

(By The Associated Press)

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 2.—The University of Arizona basketball team chalked up its third border conference victory in five starts by staging a last-half rally to turn back the strong Texas Tech five tonight, 45 to 33.

Score at the half was tied 19-19, and Arizona went into the last half of the final stanza on the short end of a 28 to 29 count.

At that point forward Lorry Di Grazia went into the game and slipped a pass to Walt Helm, who sank a long shot. Di Grazia and Johnson followed with enough baskets to clinch the game.

Sachse, Tech forward, was high scorer with 21 points, dropping in several baskets from mid-court.

The teams continue the series here Thursday night, after which the Raiders spend Friday journeying to Flagstaff for a series with Arizona State Teachers college. The series will start Saturday night, and end Monday night. From Flagstaff, the Raiders journey back to Socorro, N. M., for a single game with New Mexico Mines, then to Albuquerque for a conference series on Feb. 9 and 10.

Karow will work with the ends and backs on the football squad. Grid practice will start next Tuesday and baseball practice, March 1.

Arkansas Loses Twelve Grid Prospects Via Examination

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 2. (AP)—Arkansas' 1938 football prospects were rocked today when Coach Fred Thomsen announced three varsity gridders and nine freshmen had failed to pass the required amount of scholastic work.

Sub-Capt. Lloyd Montgomery, 190-pound blocking halfback, and Eddie Saliba, 195-pound sophomore guard who started two games of the '37 season, were ineligibles among varsity regulars, Dick Tipton, 175-pound reserve end, also was lost.

The loss from first semester examinations was the largest in 15 years.

Whalen was authorized by Dr. D. A. Penick, president of the Texas Tennis association, to make the announcement.

Entry fees in all classes will be $2 for singles and $3 for doubles.

Entries should be mailed to Whalen at Colonial Club.

Young Bobby Riggs Has Tough Going In Surf Club Tourney

MIAMI BEACH, Feb. 2. (AP)—Young Bobby Riggs of Chicago ran into unexpected opposition in the third round of the Surf Club Tennis tournament today and had to use up his entire bag of tricks to subdue Carroll Turner of Miami, 8-6, 7-5.

Bitsy Grant of Atlanta, top-seeded in the opposite bracket and favored to meet Riggs in the final, took advantage of the crowded program and received quick assent to his request for postponement of his match with Vernon Marcum of Lakeland, Fla. Grant said he was not feeling well and believed he needed a day's rest before continuing.

George Pero of Miami provided the day's upset by eliminating sixth-seeded Martin Buxby, a fellow townsman, in a 6-3, 11-8 thriller. Buxby's defeat and defaults by Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., and Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, Calif., reduced the ranks of seded players and increased the probability of a Riggs-Grant final.

Baseball Veteran Gives Views On College Football

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 2. (AP)—Clark Griffith sprinkled optimistic comments on the chances of his Washington Senators today with some advice to the college football rules committee.

The baseball club owner said he thought the Nats would do "much better" this season — naming We. Ferrell, Joe Krakauskas and a half-dozen promising rookies among his reasons for a rosy-hued view of the pennant chase.

Someone asked Griffith if he thought there was anything wrong with baseball today.

"Nothing," he replied, "but there could be some college football rule changes." He advocated more passing.

"A college team, I believe, ought to be able to pass as many times as it wants to and from any position on the field."

He frowned on mass plays, declaring "sometimes it is torture to sit through and watch them."

Expect Kansan To Win Again

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—If history repeats, Glenn Cunningham, the smooth-striding Kansan will win the Wanamaker mile at the Millrose games Saturday night.

"Old Hatchett Face," as the boys call Glenn, has been running this event since 1933 and has missed winning it only once. That's four victories in five starts.

Accompanied by such stalwarts as Dan Lash, who will try for a double in the mile and the two-mile run; Archie San Romani, who has never won the Wanamaker; Gene Venzke, who won it once, and Wisconsin's Chuck Fenske, Cunningham will enter one of the greatest of the invitation indoor miles against one of its best fields.

Since 1926, the Wanamaker has attracted some of the greatest middle-distance men in track history.

Venzke lifted the event to new heights in 1922 when he turned in the first 4:11.2, at that time the fastest mile ever run in America. Cunningham came on the scene the next year and except for 1936, when Joe Mangan ran 4:11 and won the race in an upset, he has dominated the event.

His times have been 4:13 in 1933, 4:11.2 in 1934, 4:11 in 1936 and 4:14.4 last year.

Seabiscuit, Pompoon Still Favored In 'Hundred Grand'

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2. (AP)—Training troubles have taken their toll, and the betting odds on the long shots grow longer, but with the fourth running of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap five weeks away, the names of Seabiscuit and Pompoon dominate all predictions on the outcome of the big race.

Rosemont, the Foxcatcher farm's 1937 winner of the "hundred grand" and the show horse in 1936, is out of the event, as is T. P. Morgan's Heelfly, a standout as a 3-year-old last year.

Champs To Florida

War Admiral shipped to Florida and poor showings in prep races here have dimmed the fame of Bert Baroni's Top Row, 1936 Santa Anita winner. Major Austin C. Taylor's Indian Broom, Frank Carreaud's Time Supply, J. A. Manfuso's Anerold and others.

Two foreign candidates, Amor Brujo and Ligaroti from South America, have similarly lost caste since reaching Santa Anita, although the latter's backers still have faith in him over the mile and quarter route in the March 5 handicap.

Jerome H. Louchheim's Pompoon, which was installed as the horse to beat soon after coming west, lived up to that rating in the spring fashion purse, whipping a comparatively select field with ease over the seven furlong distance.

Promptly the future book odds on Pompoon dropped to three to one, displacing Seabiscuit as the favorite at five to one.

Jimmy Adamick May Get Big Chance Among Heavyweights

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. (AP)—Tommy Farr's opinion of his fighting powers and Jim Braddock's retirement may give young Jimmy Adamick of Detroit, the chance he has been waiting for, a shot at the big money.

Farr, approached by Promoter Mike Jacobs yesterday for a bout with Max Baer, didn't seem interested. So Mike said he was "getting a little tired of Farr" and indicated that the Detroit youngster would be offered the bout unless Farr changed his mind.

Clingman Earns Decision Over Andy Tremaine

For an hour, lacking three minutes, Handy Andy Tremaine of Tucson and clever Otis Clingman of Amarillo grappled before an applauding public at the Auditorium last night, and at the end of that time not everybody knew just who had won, or if anybody had won. A chorus of ringsiders demanded the match be called a draw.

But the referee, who was a substitute referee, had raised Otis Clingman's hand in token of victory. Clingman protested to the referee, plainly enough for many fans to hear: "I don't want it, if I didn't win it." Then Clingman helped revive the fallen Tremaine, and assisted in carrying him to the dressing room.

Receives Groin Injury

Just before the finish, the Tucson Thunderbolt was apparently getting the best of the argument with a torturous headlock that would be a credit to any grappler. He had used the headlock nearly all evening, much to Clingman's discomfiture. Several times, Otis had eluded it, but toward the last, Andy wouldn't be broken. Otis lifted him in a crotch hold, staggered with his burden to the ropes, and dropped Andy on them. Andy fell astride the top rope, and with such force as to sustain a painful groin injury. He tumbled to the floor, inside the ropes, and the groggy Clingman crawled atop of him to win the fall, technically, legally and actually.

Clingman probably did not have to lie across Tremaine's chest. Andy no doubt would have been "counted out," because he was virtually unconscious. There was a storm of protest, and fans refused to leave the hall. As soon as Clingman recovered his own equilibrium and grasped the situation, he added his protest, saying he did not want the victory if he had not won legally.

Tremaine At His Best

But Clingman is the winner of last night's main event, and a pretty fortunate winner at that.

The Tucson Tremaine was at his best, and very business-like, as if he came to Lubbock for the express purpose of defeating Clingman. He wrestled clean and fair, as did Otis, using not a wide selection of holds and blocks, but a very definite headlock, body scissors and head scissors. With those three holds he kept Otis pretty well under control, won the first fall, and had Clingman pretty "punchy" in the third.

Clingman took the second fall, after pulling out of the headlock, with three terrific flying tackles off the ropes, and a body smother. He was at his best in those flying jobs. The fall lasted 13 minutes. Tremaine had struggled for 33 minutes before winning the opening fall.

The last fall was over in 11 minutes, and Clingman never got a chance to apply his flying tackle, so closely was he pursued and guarded by Tremaine. Oh, it was some contest, embracing a lot of "close up" strategy and workmanship that no doubt was lost on many bleacherites, and on ringsiders, too, who weren't looking for them.

A 30-minute no-fall semi-final bout passed quickly for the fans, Dick Sampson taking Sailor Moran for a spin all around the ring but never quite able to put on a pin hold. Moran found himself strictly on the defensive for at least 28 minutes of the 30. Only once did he carry the fight, lashing out with his fists to drop the Denton, Texas, boy a time or two, and for the rest of the time he was either outside the ring or in the clutches of the business-like Sampson, who apparently fears no man and who stalks his prey like a panther.

Bulldog Bill Venable of Alabama needed a dozen minutes to pin Otto Ludwig in the preliminary. Venable did not have a great deal of trouble, and Ludwig was a chastised man when he reached the dressing room.

Bill De Correvont To Northwestern

CHICAGO, Feb. 2. (AP)—Bill De Correvont, America's outstanding prep gridiron star, decided today to enroll at Northwestern university next fall.

De Correvont in a statement said he wished to play at a school near his home, and that was his reason for selecting Northwestern. Besides, two or three team mates on the Austin High school of which he was a star, also have planned to enter Northwestern.

De Correvont, 19 years old, will enter Northwestern with the most sensational record ever achieved by a prep football player. In ten games last season he scored 35 touchdowns, nine of them in one game, and registered a total of 211 points.

No less than 75 universities and colleges had made overtures to him.

Dorothy Kirby New Threat To Patty Berg's Hopes

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 2. (AP) Patty Berg breezed through two matches today to reach the Miami Biltmore women's golf semi-finals, but there she must contend with a new threat to her winter circuit supremacy — 18 year old Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta.

Miss Kirby, Southern women's champion, fired a six under par 76 in ousting co-medalist Marion Miley of Fort Pierce, Fla., 3 and 1, this morning, then disposed of Mrs. Lillian Zech of Chicago, 6 and 4, in the afternoon.

The Minneapolis red head, meanwhile, turned back Sally Guth of Webster Grove, Mo., 2 and 1, and Marian McDougall of Portland, Ore., 5 and 4.

Mrs. Jane Cothran Jameson of West Palm Beanch, Fla., will play Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., in the other semi-final match.

Mrs. Jameson defeated Dorothy Traung of San Francisco this afternoon, 5 and 4. Earlier she had eliminated Mrs. Mortimer May of New York, 2 and 1.

Miss Hemphill trounced Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., last year's runner-up to Miss Berg here, 7 and 6, after defeating Mrs. Charles Harbaugh of Cleveland by the same score.

Thompson And Nichols, Two State Officials, Are Fined

AUSTIN, Feb. 2. (AP)—Ernest O. Thompson, candidate for governor and member of the railroad commission, today paid a fine of $36 in justice of the peace court for storing wild ducks too long after the season closed.

Labor Commissioner Fred E. Nichols paid a like fine for a similar offense.

The complaints were filed by Calvin H. Jennings and Frank Clarkson of the U. S. Biological survey who testified they inspected cold storage vault lockers and found the birds.

'Shoeless' Joe Says Baseball 'Great Game'

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—"Shoeless" Joe Jackson, who operated a retail liquor store in Green ille, S. C., may manage a local sandlot team this year because, says the man who was banished from organized baseball nearly 18 years ago, "baseball's a great game and I still love it"...

Jackson had one of the most remarkable batting records of all time... In successive years, as he moved up rapidly on the baseball scale, Joe led the Carolina, South Atlantic and Southern association loops in batting... in his first full American league season, with Cleveland in 1911, he hit .411 to Cobb's .420... that was the Georgia Peach's best year...

• • •

Add "Terrible Terry" reactions, from Kill Keefe in the New Orleans Times-Picayune: "Careless of (Mel) Ott's standing with his home town fans, conscious only of a desire to put himself in the holy circle, Terry makes it appear Ott did not appreciate the efforts made by... fans to honor him.... I call that downright dirty...."

• • •

There's no mystery about Jim Braddock's retirement at a time when he could collect at least $50,000 more from ring operations... Jim took his orders from the "little woman"... It may shock some rugged individualists but the Braddocks, on relief only three years ago, regard too much money as the cause of too many headaches.

Player Trade In National Is Believed In Offing; Based On Smoke-Fire Relationship

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Based on the traditional relationship between smoke and fire, there's reason to believe that some of the National league baseball clubs will engineer a player trade before long.

Trade talk has been floating around so thickly the experts figure there must be something underneath it all. By sleuthing, and questioning all hands, enough facts have been unearthed to give rise to the following reports.

May Trade Catchers

(1) The Giants and Reds have a deal on the fire involving Gus Mancuso, holdout Giant catcher, and Ernie Lombardi, burly Cincinnati backstop. Among the reasons why it hasn't been completed is one explanation that Terry asked for a couple of young players for "farm" purposes along with Mancuso.

Another is that the final dickering concerned a trade with Mancuso and Wally Berger, outfielder for Lombardi, Dee Moore and Harry Craft, and that General Manager Warren Giles of the Reds balked because Terry displayed too keen an interest in Craft.

Giants May Get Hassett

(2) The Giants may send Berger to Brooklyn, possibly along with Mancuso, a pitcher or both, in exchange for Buddy Hassett, the Dodgers' young first baseman.

(3) The St. Louis Cardinals are angling for Gordon (Blimp) Phelps and Lippy Leo Durocher of Brooklyn.

(4) The Phillies may get into the trading with Dolph Camilli, and Pitchers Claude Passeau and Bucky Walters as bait. President Gerry Nugent of the Phils denied he would "break up a ball club" by trading all three but admitted one of them could be had at the right price.

(5) The Giants offered the Cardinals Mancuso for either Stan Bordagaray, former Brooklyn outfielder, and one other player, possibly Herb Bremer, rookie catcher, and got a negative answer.

Pressure Is Off But Eyes Sad At Tarleton

STEPHENVILLE, Feb. 2. (AP) — Folks just went through the motions of work, study and play here today — John Tarleton college's basketball team had been defeated.

Nothing like that had happened for more than four years. Eighty-six consecutive games the Plowboys had won—until last night.

San Angelo Junior college, the last team to beat them back in December, 1933, did it again, 27 to 26. It was by that same one point that San Angelo dropped them in '33.

Chill winds shipped over the Tarleton campus at 3 a. m. today. Five hundred fans were there, though, when the Plowboys dropped off a bus at the school gym. Down a long aisle of supporters walked the "team that couldn't be beat."

Their backs took many a slap. The Tarleton band was playing the Alma Mater. There wasn't a dry eye among the players and fans.

The whole town was awake at 3 a. m. here today. Students had dashed from house to house, shouting at the top of their voices:

"The Plowboys have lost!"

Coach W. J. Wisdom, who only recently said he would almost welcome a defeat "so that this eternal pressure can be lifted from the boys," said nothing.

Classwork at Tarleton Agricultural college was dull today. Everyone was thinking about the same thing—"If we had made just one more field goal last night."

However, the Plowboys, in their amazing streak which is believed to be a collegiate record, have had their share of one-point victories. In 1931 they took a 27-26 decision from Howard Payne; in 1936 they squeezed past Decatur Baptist college, 39-38; in 1937 they played two overtime contests, one against North Texas Aggies and against Texas Wesleyan college.

This season they barely edged past Decatur, 17-16. In all the close ones Tarleton came back in the second half to win.

Over the 86-game winning streak the Plowboys amassed the massive total of 3,705 points to the enemy's 1,755.

What was their toughest game? Coach Wisdom thinks the 24-23 overtime decision against Texas Wesleyan last year was the hardest. Oran Spears, a lanky youngster who is now a University of Texas star, played in more games than any other participant in the lengthy streak. He was fouled out of only one game. Spears and two of his teammates, Jimmie Britt and Elmer Finley, also are University of Texas regulars now, along with wee Willie Tate, Texas' first-string center.

"Now the boys can get down to some real work," said Wisdom. "The pressure is off."

And work it is. Saturday night the powerful North Texas Aggies come to town. The folks here say another streak will be started.

OUR CAROLYNE WINS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2. (AP)—Our Carolyne, owned and trained by H. S. Swift, moved into the lead in the stretch and won the $1,200 Pasorobles handicap at Santa Anita park today.

The 5-year-old mare traveled the six-furlong distance over a slow track in 1:12, winning the feature race of the day by a length and a half over C. A. Price's Polaris. Price's other entry, Wha Hae, was third.

Texans Almost As Anxious To Vote This Year As In 1936 Presidential Election

Voting Strength Holds Up Well

(By The Associated Press)

Texans seem almost as anxious to cast votes this year as they did in 1936, when they had a chance to vote for a president.

The high excitement of a Roosevelt-Landon political tug-o'-war is lacking but the potential vote for pending primaries stands at close to half a million in 20 Texas cities. A survey reveals the 1936 potential vote was a shade under that figure.

Bexar Has Big Increase

Most notable increase in poll tax payments and exemptions granted occurred in Bexar county (San Antonio) where 76,000 had qualified to vote for every state office from governor down, as well as for local political hopefuls. In 1936 the potential vote was 51,007. Mayor C. K. Quin of San Antonio has made a tentative bid for the governorship.

Two other record poll-tax-buying periods ended Jan. 31 in Big Spring and Paris. Big Spring voters bought 5,850 poll taxes this year, 4,520 in 1936; Paris bought 8,211 this year, 5,732 in 1936.

Harris Over 100,000

Houston (Harris county) totals, incomplete, indicated the potential vote would surpass the 108,000 figure of two years ago. Other counties collected for poll taxes and issued exemption thus:

Tarrant (Fort Worth) about 6,000 less than the 57,187 of 1936; Dallas (Dallas) above 88,000 or approximately the same as two years ago; Jefferson (Beaumont) a drop of 3,000 from 36,547 possible votes two years ago; Travis (Austin) 25,485 as compared with 20,079 in 1936;

Galveston Has Drop

Galveston (Galveston) drop from 15,252 two years ago to about 13,000 this year; Nueces (Corpus Christi) more than 12,000 as against 11,494 two years ago; Grayson (Sherman) 9,000 against a slightly smaller number in 1936;

Smith (Tyler) up to 12,000 from 10,500 two years ago; Gray (Pampa) 5,500 as compared with 6,-; Wilbarger (Vernon) about equal to 1936's 4,700 potetial vote; Wichita (Wichita Falls) drop from 14,146 to 11,500 this year; Tom Green (San Angelo) 6,901, or about 400 under 1936 total; Navarro (Corsicana) 7,854 against 8,277 in 1936; Lubbock (Lubbock) equal to or more than the 8,517 in 1936;

Hutchison (Borger) slightly under 1936 figure of 3,993.

...ven Prisoners From County ...e Taken To State Prison

Seventeen prisoners, penitentiary-bound, left the Lubbock county jail Wednesday afternoon under guardianship of "Uncle Bud" Russell, prison transfer agent.

Of the number, seven were convicted or picked up in Lubbock county. A half-dozen from Hale county and one each from Seminole, Muleshoe, Littlefield, and Farwell, N. M., had been transferred here to await the arrival of the agent.

From Lubbock went: Carl Mixon, two to four years on a forgery conviction; C. M. Gilbert, pardon revoked; John Vandever, two years on a forgery count; Dick Miller, Dallas negro, convicted of car theft and sentenced to two years, and Arcalie Wagoner, Osby James, and Elmer Dean, youths given two years each on two indictments charging burglary, the sentences to run concurrently.

General Bell, convicted negro murderer, was placed in custody of Russell after he was transferred here from Seminole. He shot to death Lonnie Nelson Dec. 4 in Gaines county and was sentenced to 10 years.

The bridegroom is an employee of several business firms in Rome. "She is as young, if not younger, in spirit as I am," he staunchly defended their May-December romance.

Ralls Plans For Poultry Show

Indications are for the most successful exhibition in several years for the seventh annual Ralls poultry show, which is to be held Feb. 25 and 26, according to L. A. Coward, secretary of the Ralls Chamber of Commerce and superintendent of the show.

He made the announcement while in Lubbock on a business visit. Accompanying him here was his brother-in-law, Bill DeLoach, photographer at Ralls.

Prizes include $100 in cash and merchandise awards of probably greater value, Coward said. In addition the usual ribbons will be given.

While competition for prizes will be limited to poultry raisers in the county, he added, others will be permitted to exhibit. Last year, he said, 130 were shown. This year, a minimum of 200 is indicated. The show will be held in the Municipal auditorium.

Assisting Coward in the preparations are W. N. Byrd, vocational agriculture teacher in Ralls schools, and Herbert Hannz.

Farm Machines Have Created More Jobs, Engineer Opines

ATLANTA, Feb. 2. (AP)—Arnold P. Yerkes of Chicago, president of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, told the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers today that machines have created more jobs than they have eliminated.

In a paper prepared for the marketing section, Frank A. Briggs, editor of Farm and Ranch, Dallas, declared that foreign cotton growing countries "are meeting the demand from consumers while American cotton grows more and more in disfavor."

GETS ROBBED TWICE

HOUSTON, Feb. 2. (AP)—Mrs. Effie Wyatt got robbed twice today.

First, shoplifters took $18 worth of stockings from her store.

Then, on her way home, a purse-snatcher grabbed her pocketbook containing $8.

Groundhog, If There Ever Was One, Could Have Seen His Shadow With Ease Wednesday

Apparently the weatherman refused to take into consideration the faet that the groundhog—if there is one and really there isn't—promptly saw his shadow on emerging from the winter home Wednesday and returned.

In the face of the traditional belief that at least six more weeks of winter may be expected since the animal's return to his hole, temperatures Wednesday climbed to the sixties and the minimum failed to fall to freezing.

And to make sport further of the groundhog's prediction, the official forecast was for continued moderate weather today.

After "pleasant weather" Wednesday morning, however, a strong wind in the afternoon narrowed visibility with its load of dust.

H. W. Lasater In Precinct Race

H. W. Lasater, longtime resident of Idalou, Wednesday authorized the announcement that he will be a candidate for precinct 3 commissioner, subject to the democratic primary elections this summer.

Lasater, making his second race for the place, will oppose T. L. Holt who is running for re-election.

A formal announcement will be made in "two or three" weeks, the candidate said.

HELD FOR SEED THEFT

MULESHOE, Feb. 2. (Special)—J. R. Osborn, Farwell and Millard Arvine, Clovis, N. M., were held here in connection with the alleged theft of 20,000 pounds of kafir and hegari seed from the farm of Everett Smith, of West Camp community. W. R. Renfrow, deputy sheriff, arrested the pair.

The seed, according to Renfrow, has been identified.

Houston's Good Will Trippers

THE Morning Avalanche joins heartily in a cordial welcome to the Houston good will delegation to which Lubbock will be host today.

It is something of a tribute to progress the South Plains has made the past few years that the Houston delegation should be here—the most distant point to be reached by any of five good will groups to publicize the forthcoming fat stock, livestock and fashion shows in the South Texas metropolis.

A few years ago, The Avalanche hesitatingly welcomed good will groups to our city. We were glad to see and greet them as individuals, but it was with the suspicion that they were here for the destructive purpose of milking our area of the trade which legitimately belongs here. That was the feeling and, to lesser degree, still is the feeling in many communities toward good will visitors from other and larger centers.

• • •

FOR that suspicion, the good will groups have themselves been responsible. They tended to be agencies of destruction rather than of construction for the communities they visited. But most of those who promote such trips have learned from experience that if their city is to benefit, those who entertain them also must benefit. They have learned the truth of the axiom which is as old as trade—that the only satisfactory transaction is one which satisfies all parties to the deal.

A trade excursion based on any other hypothesis is certain to prove a boomerang. It antagonizes many citizens of communities on the itinerary, thus causing them to withhold from the city sponsoring the trip the trade it otherwise would get. Likewise, selfishly conceived trade jaunts which impede the development of cities and towns within their trade territory likewise limit the possibilities of their own trade expansion.

This is a fact Lubbock is in position to appreciate. Seldom has any city been so dependent for its own prosperity and growth upon the prosperity and growth of the area—a vast and rich empire—as is Lubbock. We, properly, attempt to reach our neighbors each year through good will missions and other contacts. But we try to reach them on one basis: That our size, our strategic location and our communication and transportation facilities make it possible for us to offer certain opportunities and advantages not now available in smaller cities. We have come to realize that expansion on any part of the South Plains will benefit Lubbock; that any retardation of natural expansion will be reflected in our city.

• • •

THUS it is that Houston offers services, recreations and commodities not possible to Lubbock. Houston is, for example, the seaport through which most South Plains cotton passes to its markets. It is the vast distributing center which can compete for the business Lubbock offers as a smaller distributing center—thus giving us the advantage of another bidder before we buy. Before very long, perhaps, we may be joined by an airline mail and passenger service with Amarillo, Lubbock, Houston, New Orleans and intermediate cities on its route.

For those and other reasons we are glad to see the visitors from the city which, in the not too distant future, likely will become not merely the metropolis of the South but which may take its place among the great cities of the world. We believe their visit may tend to benefit us both.

With Our Contemporaries

"Hamp Collett and family returned to Spur this week from Roaring Springs, where they have been making their home the past year," Mrs. Oran McClure notes from the 23-years ago column in the Texas Spur. (Hamp is prominent among the old timers of this area).

"The last Quivira is jeweled to reflect the stars as the traveler first sees the lights of his home town and the wealth of friends is as shining gold when the night is gone," says Douglas Meador in the Matador Tribune.

The One-Minute Sermon

Know therefore that the Lord thy God, he is God, the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his commandments to a thousand generations;

And repayeth them that hate him to their face, to destroy them: he will not be slack to him that hateth him, he will repay him to his face.

Thou shalt therefore keep the commandments, and the statutes, and the judgments, which I command thee this day, to do the.—Deuteronomy 7, 9 through 11.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

LINDA BENTON — Heroine, daughter of a famous singer.

CAPT. BARRYMORE TRENT—Hero, flying "daredevil."

MIRANDA TRENT—Barrymore's grandmother; a "strong woman."

• • •

Yesterday: Mrs. Trent and Linda are reconciled and Linda returns to Barry's home with the grand old lady.

CHAPTER XVII

"Your little friend Mr. Abruzzi," the Duchess observed when he had shut the car door upon them, "is a rather discerning person; and I must say that in many respects he more closely approximates a gentleman than many who think they set the standards for the species. Although I can't understand," she went on frowning, "his opening your mail. He admitted to me without the faintest embarrassment that the letter mailed you had never reached you because he tore it up and threw it into the wastebasket."

"But Tony always opened my mail. I didn't—you mean you wrote to me?"

"Naturally I wrote to you after Rita Blanchard came home with her amazing story, and the whole town began buzzing with it. The place of my grandson's wife is in his home."

Then Linda remembered something that at the moment had failed to catch her entire attention.

"But how did you know—about Barry and me?" she stammered. "Tony couldn't have told you. He didn't guess, himself."

"I should not be too sure about what Tony did or did not guess," countered the old lady. "But Tony did not tell me. . . . Do you happen to remember that a letter came for me—rather late the night Judge Baldwin died? . . . Perhaps you would like to hear it?"

She took it from her purse and began to real aloud:

"'My dear old friend.

"'I am violating a confidence in writing this note, but I think I am justified by circumstances. Just before your grandson's departure, I performed a ceremony uniting him in marriage with Miss Linda Benton. Because of the strain you had been under for the past few days, the young people felt that it would be kinder to keep you in the dark about their step until Captain Trent's return.

"'I did not agree with their reasoning, but I complied with their wishes in having the marriage record secretly filed. Now, with only a few hours to live, I find misgiving heavy upon me. I have a suspicion that if Captain Trent should not return, his wife will be very hesitant about claiming the relationship. You must admit—'"

• • •

"Then you knew," Linda broke in. "You knew when—"

"When Rita Blanchard staged her little tragi-comedy, you mean? I did. And prayed in my heart that you would rise and blast her with a few well-chosen words. But you did not. . . . And wondering why," said old Miranda irritably, "and why you chose to treat me like a child, cost me a perfectly good night's sleep. After that I—well, I preferred to have you tell me yourself."

"But I hadn't any proof—nothing but my own word, I—"

"And I suppose it never occurred to you," snapped old Miranda, "that if I hadn't been willing to take your word against a stack of Bibles, you wouldn't have been in my house at all. . . . And you never did mean to come to me?"

"No," Linda said steadily. "Never. Especially after Tony's. I knew you thought—"

"And why," demanded Miranda Trent, "should you presume to know what I might or might not think?" Did you imagine that I should hold it against you that, in spite of having been brought up like a china mantel-piece, you had backbone enough to go out and carve yourself a slice of the world?"

When Linda would have spoken, the old lady cut her off with an imperious gesture.

"For if," she pursued, "you had known anything about he, you would have understood that the one thing I cannot stomach is a helpless namby-pamby. . . . And even if I hadn't had to take my hat off to you for the way you faced down that pack of curiosity seekers the other day, I should never have thought of questioning my grandson's choice."

Linda smiled a little dubious smile. But old Miranad had returned to Judge Baldwin's letter.

"'You must admit, Miranda,'" she read, "'that you are sometimes a difficult, cantankerous, over-possessive old woman, and that you—' and no doubt," she broke off to bristle, "that's precisely what you think of me—that I am a cantankerous, unreasonable old woman?"

"Yes," said Linda softly. "But I'm beginning to like you that way," and knew that she would never be afraid of Miranda Trent again.

• • •

Once back in the old house, it seemed to Linda as if she had never been away—except that that bare, dried-up Christmas tree no longer shed needles in the front parlor.

The days settled naturally into the old routine—only with a difference. Old Miranda began to consult Linda more and more about the details of their daily life.

"For after all, my dear Linda," the old lady said, "in due time this house will be yours. You must learn to administer it as a Trent should."

With the sturdy common sense that was so inescapably a part of her, Miranda Trent knew that come famine, flood, or earthquake, life must go on after a fashion. It was perhaps the greatest kindness she could have done Linda to keep her busy.

Not that life with old Miranda was a bed of roses—or ever could be. But Linda was learning to be amused rather than hurt when the old lady's weakness for the telling phrase got the better of her kindness, and her caustic tongue ran away with her.

One evening, almost a week after Linda's return, old Miranda looked up to say, "Why not tune into your friend Tony's program? Perhaps the elephants will sing. . . . Do you know, I'm not at all sure he hadn't already picked his elephants that last night."

So Linda did tune in to the Villa Abruzzi. The two women waited with curiosity for the moment when the house used to be darkened, and the strains of "Who is Silvia?" to float across the room. . . . But Linda's successor was not a trained elephant; it was a troop of singing canaries.

• • •

Linda was just about to snap the radio off again when an excited voice broke in, "Ladies and gentlemen, we interrupt our regular program to bring you a special broadcast from Panama. I am not sure, but I think there is news from the lost Aurelius expedition. . . . Just a moment please."

It seemed an hour that Linda sat trembling, with her finger nails biting into her palms. Then another voice called:

"Hello! hello, the United States of America! This is Station WJB with some news which we hope may mean the end of agonizing suspense to many there at home. The members of the lost Aurelius Scientific Expedition have been located in the Central American jungle where their plane was forced down almost two weeks ago.

"In spite of the hardships the party have endured, all are in excellent condition with the exception of the pilot, Lieutenant Rust, who was slightly injured in the landing, and who has been brought by plane into Bilbao. All other members remained in the temporary camp they established after their plane cracked. Supplies and equipment are being carried to them by boat and pack trains to supplement the emergency rations carried by the plane that made the rescue.

"And now, ladies and gentlemen, we want to introduce the daring young United States Navy pilot who made this spectacular rescue . . . Captain Trent is naturally very tired, and is not anxious to talk about his amazing feat; but I think he has a message he would like to send to those at home."

There was a delay during which Linda was sure she could hear old Miranda heart beat. . . . Then Barry's voice:

"I only want to send New Year's greetings to—two who may be listening up there—to my grandmother, Mrs. Miranda Trent, and to my—my wife, Linda Benton Trent." He hesitated, then added abruptly, "Well, that's all, I think."

"Oh, but Captain Trent," the announcer put in, "there are still so many things we aren't up to date on, even down here. For instance, we know that your plane was completely demolished by that storm you ran into; yet you landed a plane in that jungle and flew Lieutenant Rust out in it. I hope you won't mind telling us at least where you came up with that second plane?"

Large Celebration Is Planned On Completion Of Neches Span

AUSTIN, Feb. 2. (AP) — William E. Lea of Orange has conferred with state highway department officials here concerning preliminary plans for a large celebration on completion of the $3,000,000 Neches river bridge between Port Arthur and Orange.

Lea said it was hoped a member of President Roosevelt's cabinet would attend the observance, which will be at the bridge and at Port Arthur. It probably will be held in May or June.

The bridge, Lea said, will be the highest in the South and the second highest in the United States.

Marshall Police Officer Faces Charge After Fatal Shooting

MARSHALL, Feb. 2. (AP) — A charge or murder was filed here Tuesday against Police Officer A. B. Huffman after a shooting at police headquarters last night in which his brother-in-law, W. S. Monzingo, was killed.

Huffman waived a hearing and was free under $5,000 bond. Officers who witnessed the shooting said Huffman fired after Monzingo had reached into his overalls. Monzingo was killed by four bullets.

He was found to have been unarmed. Officers said they found a shot-gun in his truck near police headquarters.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE White House basement was recently the scene of a brisk war involving three world statesmen—President Roosevelt, Cordell Hull and Paul van Zeeland—that escaped the headlines.

The American objective was to drive the van Zeeland report out of the front page trenches. In proposing a world economic conference, the former Belgian premier ran afoul of anti-Japanese and big-navy sentiment in official circles. Mr. Roosevelt originally planned to issue his $800,000,000 naval program simultaneously with the van Zeeland release, and White House privates in the mimeograph corps were ordered to unlimber their machines. When the unfortunate death of a New Jersey Congressman forced House adjournment, the president counter-attack had to be postponed.

In a second-line trench, however, stood Mr. Hull with his new note to Tokyo and tale of repeated anti-American activities. It had been prepared in advance, and it was scheduled for publication after the naval message to Congress so as to shell shock protesting pacifists. So the State department blast against Japan, although a 10-day-old document, was dragged from the press section files and sent into action against M'sieu van Zeeland.

• • •

OUTBREAK: Diplomats — foreign and domestic brands — usually converse in codes much too cryptic for ordinary ears. But here's a fairly authentic translation of a report on the administration's preparedness plans which an American higher-up recently passed on to a European representative. It was so startling that the latter immediately informed his foreign office by cable.

The President is determined to keep the United States out of a conflict, if possible. But as recent speeches and messages reveal, especially Assistant Secretary Messersmith's Pittsburgh talk, he cannot guarantee immunity from another 1914-1918 catastrophe. He doesn't expect this country to become involved in 1938 for a variety of reasons (political and economic), but he fears an outbreak in 1939. He has informed recent visitors that the 1939-1941 years will be the "danger period".

He realizes, too, that he may have no voice in proclaiming the date. The socalled "aggressor nations" may decide to act so as to catch both the United States and Great Britain off their guard — more unprepared than they will be a few years hence. Weakest sectors in the thin peace line are the Far East and Southeastern Europe—perennial cockpits.

• • •

DESERTION: The slew of senatorial suggestions for investigations of independent and executive agencies amounts to a Congressional conspiracy to discredit Franklin D. Roosevelt. Though some sponsors advertise their loyalty to him, they are really directing a flank attack on the White House itself.

With a few exceptions like Ebert K. Burlew, they have levelled their attacks against his personal favorites and pet agencies. The doughty Burke of Nebraska demands as injury into the N. L. R. B.'s apparent partiality toward labor, and John L. Lewis in particular. That board is a Roosevelt hobby, as is T. V. A., also under fire. Three other outfits the senate wants to vivisect — the Guffey Coal commission, the Civil Service commission and the I. C. C. — don't rank so high at the White House, but F. D. R. can't afford to have their secrets fricasseed on his doorstep.

Only a few of the proposed investigations will be staged at this session. Too many key members will run as Roosevelt ringers next fall. What the demands denote is a gradual desertion of the presidential standard, and a warning that eventually insulted and neglected Senators will get their revenge in the good old-fashioned way — snooping and sniping.

• • •

ASSIST: Paul McNutt's heroic dash to Shanghai provoked lifted eyebrows among Cordell Hull's friends and private snickers around Farley headquarters. It looked to diplomats and politicos like an obvious 1940 build-up — a bit too obvious.

The Hoosierite's friends ballyhooed his visit to Admiral Harry Yarnell for all it was worth. They whispered that our Philippines commissioner was getting the Oriental lowdown so that he could tip off F. D. R. when he reaches Washington in a few weeks. They don't know, of course, that Mr. Hull maintains virtually telephonic connection with diplomatic and naval lookouts in the Far East, and that any McNutt report would be "old stuff" to the State department. Moreover, the situation may have changed completely between the time of his unexplained appearance in the war zone and his bow on the political stage at Washington.

The White House professed polite ignorance of the McNutt mission, but was quite willing to let it be ballyhooed. It served to notify the Japs, who can't be expected to understand the mysteries of American politics, that Mr. Roosevelt was keeping a vigilant eye on their antics. No harm was done.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

MANY small business men are pepped up at the prospect of government action to make it easier for them to get credit. They have certainly found the banks none too responsive to their approaches, and a bond issue is an impossible luxury to the average small company.

But keen New York observers are fearful that this new road may detour into a swamp instead of opening a fresh route to recovery. They point out that while "credit" sounds nicer than "debt," both mean the same thing. Loans refused by banks because of inadequate collaterial or too great an element of risk aren't likely to be any sounder intrinsically because the government advances the cash or underwrites a bond issue. The risk is all the greater in times of recession.

Promiscuous extension of credit to small business is likely to lead to a sizeable proportion of debt defaults. What will Uncle Sam do in such cases—write them off as dead losses or foreclose? Either would hasten the trend towards state socialism—of a kind most unprofitable to taxpayers.

MISLEADING: President Roosevelt's statement that industrial prices must be reduced to stimulate business volume—but not at the expense of wages—drew vitriolic private comment from leading manufacturers. They were especially exasperated by the President's inference that labor costs are fixed—or at least average the same for all industries.

The percentage of labor cost to total costs varies widely in different industries. In paint, for instance, where the mechanical technique is highly perfected, it is only 2 per cent. In steel, motors, textiles, it is many times that. Labor cost must clearly be much more of a factor in determining prices in the latter industries than in the former. Therefore it rated highly unfair to talk as if the price-wage problem were the same for every business.

Generalizations such as Mr. Roosevelt indulged in are condemned as misleading to the public. The average citizen, considering the source, is inclined to accept then as gospel, whereas the informed rate them inaccurate and injudicious. It is argued that a public official with the power to attract nationwide attention should at least have the judgment to investigate the facts before he makes such sweeping statements.

• • •

IMPRESSED: The Norwegian merchant marine is by all odds the most financially successful in the world. Low wages partly account for this, but the principal reason appears to be more efficient management. The record is all the more striking because Norway is one of the very few countries with a large merchant fleet which pays no maritime subsidies. The British government, for instance, pays its shipowners a substanial sum for the right to take over their vessels in time of war.

One large American corporation which imports much ore from South America maintains a fleet of 60 ships for the purpose—and thinks so well of Norse maritime efficiency that two-thirds of them are Norwegian registered and officered.

HUNDREDS of thousands of Texans pick up their newspapers on the day after biennial July and August primaries and there learn the results of balloting the state over.

Few of those readers, however, give any thought to how that unusual election service is made possible, or to the man, who more than anyone else, has been responsible for the very fine record Texas papers have hung up in the matter of covering elections.

Today, we think, it is not asking too much of anyone to consider the man who has made Texas election coverage outstanding among all the states of the nation—in spite of our big population, our wide open spaces, the number of our counties and, in some sections, the lack of good transportation facilities.

The man who has made it possible for Texans to know elections outcomes less than 12 hours after the polls have closed lies still in death today.

He is A. F. Henning, for whom journalism's "30" was written yesterday afternoon following a year of wretched health. At the age of 61 this great contributor to the newspaper business of Texas is gone, yet behind him leaves a record singularly his own.

MR. Henning started in the newspaper business as a "printers' devil" on the Signal in his home town of Luling; climbed the ladder on numerous state papers until, at his retirement from the newsroom, he had reached an executive editorial position on the Dallas News. Almost against his will he was made head of the journalism department at Southern Methodist university, a place he left under protest of his associates only a year ago.

But as fine as was his record at SMU, on the Dallas News, and other papers, Mr. Henning's chief work was as manager of the Texas Election bureau, an organization of Texas newspapers which functions only on election years. For that organization, Mr. Henning was the spark-plug, the dynamo, the almost-everything.

Efficiency of the election bureau is a mystery to newspapermen all over the country—including Texans who know its workings but who still can't see how its mark of perfection was reached.

Organized with the precision of a great army, the election bureau for almost a score of years has gathered and disseminated to member papers literally millions of counts and recounts.

Behind all this prodigious task—and responsible for the bureau's continuous improvement election year after election year—was A. F. Henning. It was his great mind which conceived the working plan and who made it function.

★ ★ ★

THIS summer, and all the other election summers which are to come, will see Texas newspapers continuing to give the same service to which their patrons have been long accustomed.

As in the case of all thorough craftsmen, Mr. Henning left his organization in shape where a lesser man can take command, follow in his tracks and get the job done.

But along with all the other member papers of the election bureau—and there are several sco of them in the state—Avalanch Journal papers view with mingl sadness, respect and appreciati the passing of a highly capable se vant of the cause of journalism.

Of A. F. Henning it may sur ly be said:

"He has run a good race; he h finished the course."

THE way Texas supports t Carlsbad Caverns Natior park is nothing short of mirac lous.

Day after day and month af month, Texans are in majority visitors when all noses are coun ed and the figures announced the very bottom of the big cave.

This fact was brought to mi by receipt of the regular month report concerning the caverns' p tronage. During last month a t tal of 1,207 Texans viewed t wonders of the caverns—an ave age of almost 40 per day. As usu California, with 870, was in seco place.

As far as The Plainsman can r call, there has never been a mon since the caverns were forma opened that Texas did not le the parade. And aside from "spe ial days", when thousands of scho children or other multitudino groups have seen the caverns, is doubtful if Texas has ever be surpassed on a single day of sigh seeing.

To give you an idea of how f ahead of New Mexico Texas ca erns patronage is, New Mexico January racked up a mere 440 or a little more than one-third t Texas total.

In passing it is interesting to note that residents of 13 foreign countries went through the caves last month—and we all know that January is not a big tourist month.

Canada was "tops" with 78; Mexico was second with 29 and England—considerably removed from New Mexico—was third with 19.

Total for the month was 7,393, biggest January on record and topping the first January, in 1924, by 7,368. Only 25 persons went through during that first January.

★ ★ ★

KELLY Polk, who used to li here but who is now punchin cows over in the Carlsbad countr told The Plainsman not long ag that visitors to the caverns brin in at least $1,000,000 of "new mo ey" to the town of Carlsbad eve year.

One has only to look around th town and the hotels over there believe Kelly's estimate.

On the streets, in the cafes—ev erywhere in Carlsbad—one se people who are readily marked "furriners", that is, people who a easily noted as residents of els where than the Southwest.

With the exception of El Pas Carlsbad probably is the most co mopolitan town in all this part the country.

TARZAN THE MAGNIFICENT No. 16 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The lion voiced a low growl. It was warning, in which there was no immediate menace. Tarzan recognized it as such. He knew that the beast had been attracted by curiosity and not hunger. But the man did not know. He thought surely the end had come.

Then he heard another low growl from behind him. He turned and saw, not a beast, but a bronzed, almost naked white man coming toward him. The lion paused, shook his head and snarled. But the ape-man did not pause; bravely he continued his course.

The Lord of the Jungle knew well the art of bluff and its value. Suddenly he raised his head and gave vent to the hideous warning cry of the bull ape. The lion, with a parting growl, turned and stalked away. Then Tarzan dropped down beside the stricken man.

Here, indeed was mystery. The man had no wounds. He did not appear ill. Nor was he suffering from hunger or thirst. Yet, obviously, he was dying. In his eyes was a haunting fear, and words trembled on his lips. "Mafka! The mighty power of Mafka has got me!"

LEADERS SUFFER LOSSES

NEW YORK, Feb 2. (AP)—Traders switched to the selling side in the final hour of today's stock market and leaders suffered losses of fractions to as much as 2 points or more.

Only building supply shares were resistant. Steels, metals, aircrafts and some specialties turned downward after displaying a certain amount of early strength.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped .5 of a point at 43.0. Transfers totaled only 583,910 shares compared with yesterday's 691,590.

Lower and medium priced rail issues were at the van of a modest advance in the bond market. U. S. government loans were irregular and narrow, and industrial corporates inclined a little higher.

Final passage of the federal housing bill yesterday gave the necessary fillup to building supply stocks, which held gains throughout the day.

Cotton . .

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 2. (AP) — Cotton prices moved within a narrow range in a dull market today and closed at net advances of 1 to 3 points.

The March option closed at 8.55 cents a pound, May at 8.64, July at 8.70, Oct. at 8.81, Dec. at 8.84 and Jan. at 8.85-bid. New Orleans spots closed steady and unchanged at 8.64 for middling. Sales were 2,335 bales.

Traders, as a whole preferred to remain inactive pending definite congressional action on the farm bill. They also watched with interest the meeting of small business men in Washington.

Crop preparation news was considered bullish. One private source estimated that 1938 acreage would total 29,712,000, as compared with 34,383,000 in 1937.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. (AP) — Cotton held steady today. May fluctuated between 8.50 @8.54, closing at 8.51, with final prices 1 to 3 points net higher.

The market opened 3 to 5 points higher on a little trade and foreign buying. Contracts were scarce throughout the greater part of the day except for a little scattered selling during the middle of the afternoon. The spot and textile markets were dull.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 2. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 8.54 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 8.52 cents a pound.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 2. (AP)—Downturns of 1⅛ cents in Chicago wheat prices today resulted largely from sprinkles of rain at various points where drouth has been a crop menace.

Although light, the showers were taken as a signal for selling as a possible indication of an improved crop outlook soon. Persistent disappointing smallness of European demand for United States wheat acted also as a weight.

Aside from a few loads of domestic hard winter wheat bought for overseas, export business in North American wheat today was almost nil.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to ⅛ of a cent lower compared with yesterday's finish, May 93½@93⅝, July 89@89⅛, corn ⅜ to 1 cent down, May 58¼@58⅜, July 59⅛, oats unchanged to ¼ off, rye showing ⅛ to ¾ decline, and provisions 2 cents to 20 cents setback.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Feb. 2. (AP)—Demand for grain continued dull at Fort Worth today. Estimated receipts: wheat 14 cars, corn 4, oats 4, and sorghums 8.

'Little Business' Wants To Talk

study group and the delegates were left free to select the group they wished to join. The largest number blocked to the meeting on "loans for small business."

Big Crowd Turns Up

A big crowd turned up for the meeting on trade practices and "miscellaneous subjects" drew well also. At another meeting four earnest gentleman sat at a table, surrounded by the flags of all nations, discussing "development and location of small industries."

The plan is that each group shall bring its recommendations to a general meeting of the conference tomorrow.

Then, a group of ten is to be selected to carry the recommendations to the president.

Scene Of NRA Sessions

The general session was held in the auditorium of the commerce department where, four years and more ago, hearings on many NRA codes were conducted.

The meeting began with an address of welcome from Secretary Roper who said it was "important that the proceedure of this conference shall be such as to afford you full opportunity to represent your facts," and hoped "that your proceedings will enable the president to get the picture of the situation as you see it and as you would like to have it presented."

Assistant Secretary Draper presented the temporary chairman of the conference, Fred Roth, a Cleveland, O., shoe man. Roth said he "felt rather jittery somewhat like the condition of the country at the present time." His "jitters" would soon vanish, he added, and he hoped that the "jitters of the nation" would disappear when the conference was over.

Roth was made parmanent chairman.

doesn't it?" Hill persisted.

"Well, a little," the witness replied.

When Hill sought light on how Felty could handle one-sixth of an oil lease purchase when his salary was less than $200 per month, Chatham said his employe had some clear property and he (Chatham) believed Felty could borrow $10,000.

The Henderson senator brought out that Chatham had not bid on any state leases until McDonald took office and thereafter he and associates obtained what they considered highly productive submerged lands in Jefferson county.

Chatham entered an emphatic denial to what he said was reported testimony of Mrs. Frances Mayfield Paulk that he had attended a night drinking party at the Austin office of W. M. Harris, now of Houston.

Called Ranger Monday

When A. R. Stout of Ennis, special attorney for Governor James V. Allred in the inquiry, asked him why he had not appeared before the committee earlier, Chatham replied:

"I called the Ranger Monday and told him I would get here as soon as I could."

The witness said he did not know the present whereabouts of J. T. Dawson, given an interest in some of the tracts on which Chatham and associates received awards. He added he did not know where F. S. Sheridan, McDonald's campaign manager in Houston in 1936, could be contacted.

Name Carried As "Brokerage"

Committeemen inquired why Dawson's name was carried on the partnership's books as "brokerage."

"He just said, I'd rather not have my name appear,' " the Burkburnett business man replied. "I don't know why he made that request."

Chatham said Dawson was given an interest in return for geophysical information furnished by him.

Contributed To Campaign

R. J. Wolfe, Tyler oil man who received the award on one submerged land lease, testified he contributed $250 to McDonald's campaign fund in 1936 but was not active in the campaign. He made the contribution, he said, solely because N. D. Gallagher of Cisco, "whom I have known all my life," asked him for it.

"If I had made a similar request of Mr. Gallagher, he would have complied with it," Wolfe said.

R. E. Stevenson of Austin, receiver for a California life insurance company, testified concerning McDonald's employment as an appraiser for Stevenson shortly before he became land commissioner.

Received $1,400 Salary

McDonald received a salary of $1,400 for slightly more than four months of work, Stevenson said. He added that special district Judge Hardy Hollers of Austin appointed McDonald on recommendation of W. W. Heath, then an assistant attorney general under William McCraw.

McDonald previously had testified concerning that employment and additional fees aggregating $5,000 which he received between his nomination and inauguration for settlement of difficulties in which another receivership was involved.

J. S. Hudnall of Tyler, experienced petroleum geologist, said it was hazardous for the state to accept high royalty over high cash bids because many dry holes might be encountered.

Under cross questioning by counsel for McDonald, he agreed, however, the high royalty awards would be to the state's advantage in some instances if the bids carried assurances of early drilling and the geophysical picture strongly indicated rich production.

The auditor suggested the board notify employes "it is unlawful to accept payment of fees of any nature except in the office of the board." He mentioned acceptance of examination fees outside the office seemed to have been discontinued.

M. Skeffington of St. Louis, director of the Graduate Clinic Foundation for Research in Optometry, are being held at the Lubbock hotel.

One of the four scheduled in Texas, the clinic will deal chiefly with examination and correction of eyes of children of school age.

Swart Directs Arrangements

Dr. Millard F. Swart of Lubbock, director of the Texas Optomteric extension program, is in charge of arrangements.

"Approximately 57 per cent of school children have defective vision," said Dr. Skeffington. He arrived at that conclusion, he said, after surveys conducted among school children in several large cities.

"A blind child has a better chance for a career in our cities than the visually ineffective child," he said. "So many things are done for the for the child with eyes ill adapted for the child with eyes il ladapted for book work. Usually the latter is condemned by teacher and parent as being lazy dull or stupid because he prefers the natural eye environment of the out-of-doors.

"Nearsightedness can be eliminated if in the first year a child's trouble develops he is given proper treatment. Moreover, it would remove 40 per cent of our traffic accidents."

Dr. Skeffington criticized use of the Snellen eyesight test used in public schools, terming it inadequate.

Plains Areas To Receive Trees

(By The Associated Press)

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 2.—Shelter belt workers will plant 1,000 more miles of trees this season than the distance from New York to San Francisco, officials of the great plains forestry project here have disclosed.

The season's work charts call for 4,250 miles of trees to be planted in the six plains states—the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Why so many trees in the arid plains? Because, project officials said, survival rates during three drouth periods have shown the trees and shrubs will live if properly planted and cared for.

Millions Are Planted

So far, 2,607 miles of the farm shelterbelts, or windbreaks, have been planted on 7,510 farms of the six states. A total of 44,246,945 trees and shrubs went into the ground. This year about 3,000,000 trees will be used.

The surviving trees amount to 503 miles of protective forestation in Oklahoma, 510 in Nebraska, 451 in Kansas, 396 in Texas, 335 in North Dakota and 412 in South Dakota.

This year's schedule calls for the planting of 1,000 miles of trees in Oklahoma, 900 in Nebraska, 800 in Kansas, 800 in Texas, 400 in South Dakota and 350 in North Dakota.

London and Birmingham are the only English cities which have a million inhabitants.

LEVELLAND, Feb. 2. (Special) Levelland postal receipts for the 28 days of January have already broken all existing monthly records according to Harry Mann, postmaster. The previous high record for any one month was last November.

The increase in postal receipts at Levelland reflects the continued growth and development of business conditions in Hockley county. Increased activity in the Slaughter area in the Duggan oil pools, southwest and west of Levelland are principal factors in the present good business conditions.

Texans Eyeing The Calendar

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — With Democratic primary elections only a few months away, Texas congressmen are keeping an increasingly alert eye on the political situation in their home districts and at the same time doing their best to hasten the time of adjournment. All have manifested intentions to seek reelection, but only a few have formally announced their candidacy. They have until June 6 to file their applications for a place on the ballot.

Ordinarily, announcement is withheld until shortly before the deadline unless some opponents have appeared on the scene. However, one of the first to announce his candidacy each election year is Majority Leader Rayburn of Bonham, who runs paid advertisements in his district newspapers early in January.

Partly Responsible For Speed

Partly responsible for the speed with which the house has passed legislation this year is the fact that all representatives want to get back to their districts as early as possible to campaign and renew old friendships and acquaintances.

Some of the members of congress may be able to return occasionally to their homes in the spring and early summer, even though congress may still be in session, but the high positions held by a number of the Texas delegation would make it impossible for them to get away, even if they were otherwise inclined to do so.

Rayburn predicted that congress should adjourn about the middle of May. That would permit the Texans few weeks campaigning against opponents who may have been working against them for months.
