The SDN Column

Today is the 195th birthday of the United States of America, which makes it merely a teen-ager as nations go. But it has been 195 years filled to the brim with activity, which really began with the Revolutionary War.

Yet, the full-scale, pell-mell pace that citizens of today are familiar with is of rather recent vintage. If you are 65 years old, you have lived exactly one-third the age of this nation. But you have witnessed more developments in the fields of science and technology than the entire world had known in all of its years up to 1940 A. D.

For the first two-thirds of its existence as a nation, the United States, along with the rest of thee world, got along without automobiles or airplanes. It got along for the first third of its existence without steel and for the first seventh-eighths of its existence without television available to the general public.

It got along for a third of its life to date without the telegraph and over half of its life so far went by without electric lights, radio, or petroleum.

Looking at it from another angle, America had been discovered 284 years before the United States became a nation, which means that it has been a sovereign country substantially less than half the time that this continent has been known to civilized man.

Thus, it really appears from the history books that Americans have crammed a lot into 195 years. This undoubtedly has been possible because Americans never have been satisfied with existing conditions at any time during the 195 years. There appears to have been a realization from the very outset that nothing in this world is perfect, or ever will be, but that this situation is no excuse for failing to work for improvement.

The U. S. Constitution itself promotes this attitude. And this document itself has been the object of changes over the years. In fact, the 26th amendment was ratified within the past week, giving the right to vote to all citizens 18 years old and older.

The U. S. Constitution has proved to be durable, but it has not escaped controversy. However, disputes about it mostly involve cases where certain individuals, or groups, rush to avail themselves of its freedom, while at the same time supporting "causes" that would deny the same freedom to others, or else infringe upon the freedom of their fellow citizens.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Sunday, July 4, the 185th day of 1971. There are 180 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, the Continental Congress in Philadelphia adopted the American Declaration of Independence.

On this date:

In 1802, the U. S. Military Academy opened at West Point, N. Y.

In 1826, the second and third presidents of the United States, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson died.

In 1831, death came to another American president on Independence Day - James Monroe.

In 1863, Vicksburg, Miss., surrendered to Union forces in Civil War.

In 1919, Jack Dempsey became the world heavyweight boxing champion when he knocked out Jess Willlard in a bout in Toledo, Ohio.

In 1959, Alaska became a state, and in 1960, Hawaii attained statehood.

Ten years ago: Britain said it would reject any proposal on the future of Berlin that did not include a provision for German unity.

Five years ago: A 30-pound concrete block was dropped four stories onto the car carrying Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip through the streets of Belfast, Northern Ireland. No one was injured.

One year ago: A patriotic demonstration, Honor America Day, took place in Washington.

COMPLYING WITH STATE ORDER

AM Shuts Down To Improve Plant

In order to comply with the order of the Texas Air Control Board, American Magnesium will shut down temporarily all normal production operations in its plant west of Snyder.

"It is with a great deal of regret that the Board of Directors of American Magnesium Company must make this decision," said Joe Pitts, executive vice president.

The company will work as rapidly as possible to bring the plant into full complaince with the Air Control Board's regulations, it was indicated.

"Although substantial improvements have been made to the effluent control systems at the plant, the results have not been adequate according to the Texas Air Control Board. We find it impossible to install the proper equipment and make the necessary changes to comply with the order of the Air Control Board without shutting down certain sections of the plant. These sections of the plant make it impossible to operate any portion of the plant," Pitts said.

"Although it has been under study and planned for quite some time, the actual date of this shut down has been precipitated by an equipment failure that has necessitated the cut back in production at this particular time. It was decided by the Board of Directors that since we were reducing production at this time, it would be best to put our planned shutdown into effect immediately.

"During this interim period, we plan to keep as many of our employes as it is possible. However, it is obviously impossible to keep all of the production employes. During the time necessary to construct additional effluent control facilities, we will be continuing work on some process improvements. The exact schedule of beginning production again cannot be accurately set at this time. However, it is planned that when we do begin bringing the plant back on stream, it will be with the use of some new technology that will increase the operating efficiency, as well as working conditions inside the plant."

The Texas Air Control Board had issued an order for American Magnesium to cease polluting air last March. Subsequently, the Attorney General filed a suit in 132nd District Court to seek enforcement of the Air Control Board Order. However, a hearing on the suit has not been held.

Also, during the interim, Pitts, along with other AM officials, including President Roger Wheeler of Tulsa, Okla., made a trip to the Soviet Union in May, during which they contracted for processes developed by Russia's magnesium industry. The Russians are expected to begin fulfilling the contracts agreed upon by late August.

Baum Denies Resignation

AUSTIN (AP) — Dr. Elmer Baum said today there was nothing to reports he has resigned as chairman of the state Democratic party.

"It's inaccurate," Baum said when asked about statewide published reports that he had yielded to pressure and submitted his resignation to Gov. Preston Smith.

"No, sir. I have not submitted my resignation to anybody," Baum told The Associated Press.

When asked if he intended to serve out his present term as chairman, which would last through the 1972 elections and conventions, Baum said: "I do not want to comment now on that part. But I have not resigned."

Baum, an Austin osteopath and close personal and political friend of the governor, has been under fire since it was disclosed the two made a $125,000 quick profit on National Bankers Life Insurance stock with money borrowed from the now defunct Sharpstown State Bank.

Baum was elected chairman of the state party in 1968, the handpicked candidate of Smith.

Baum resigned May 5 as a member of the State Banking Board, appointed by Smith. The resignation came the day before the Senate Nominations Committee was scheduled to consider the appointment. There was widespread speculation that Baum's appointment was not backed by the necessary two-thirds Senate vote for final confirmaton.

Independence Day Event Scheduled Here Monday

Snyder area residents are expected to gather by the thousands Monday in Towle Memorial Park for the annual community Independence Day Celebration.

The planned activities in the park will begin at 10 a. m. with the traditional flag-raising ceremony. This will be followed by the Independence Day parade through the park, which signals the official opening of the day's festivities.

Many of the features of past years will be on the schedule, and a highlight this year will be a special performance by police dogs from the Lubbock Police Dept. They will demonstrate a series of maneuvers in response to commands by their handlers and in a variety of simulated dangerous situations which could confront law enforcement officers. Their performance is set for 2 p. m.

The annual Jaycee Fishing Rodeo for youngsters will begin at 10:45 a. m. at the park lake. At the same hour, the annual Independence Day Tennis Tournament will begin.

A diving and clown show will be held at the Towle Park Pool at 4 p.m. Regular swimming hours at the pool Monday will be from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m., with a break during the special 4 p.m. exhibition. Due to the Independence Day celebration, the next swimming lesson session will begin Tuesday instead of Monday, said Jake Harrell, pool manager.

The Independence Day Art Show will be opened to the public at 1 p. m. in the Towle Park Barn. The art entries will be judged Monday morning. The art show trophies will be awarded at 6 p. m.

Over 40 prizes will be awarded during a drawing to be held at the pavilion at 8:30 p. m. The top prize will be a color television awarded by the Chamber of Commerce.

The closing feature will be the huge fireworks display, which in past years has attracted thousands of area residents and guests to the county park here.

Tickets to help underwrite the fireworks display and other expenses of the Chamber of Commerce, which coordinates the celebration, will be on sale throughout the day at various locations in the park.

The prize list includes the following: Roe's Furniture and Appliance, toaster broiler; M&M Electronics, album; Glover's, folding umbrella; King and Brown Furniture, ice tray; Sherwin-Williams, gallon of paint; Snyder Drugs, electric tea kettle; Dryden's Shoes, $10 gift certificate; Glenn's Texaco, one wash and lube job; Burgess Pharmacy, enamelware snack set; Louie's Service Center, 15 gallons of gasoline; Bennett

Plan Presents New Obstacles

PARIS (AP) — The Communists' new Vietnam peace package may have introduced new obstacles to the release of the hundreds of American prisoners held by Hanoi and the Viet Cong.

It gives the Saigon government what is in effect a veto over any arrangement for release of the prisoners.

The seven-point plan, submitted to the Paris peace talks Thursday by Viet Cong Foreign Minister Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, appears to meet the major American demands concerning the prisoners.

But at the same time it would require the United States to force or persuade the Saigon government to release thousands of Viet Cong considered terrorists.

There was no indication that Saigon was prepared to let these men loose in South Vietnam's cities and villages at a time when its defensive posture would be weakened by an American withdrawal.

But the new Communist offer on prisoners may be difficult for President Nixon to reject because it seems to meet his own criteria.

Last October, he proposed the liberation of all war prisoners held by both sides. He said more recently he would accept no Vietnam settlement without a concrete Communist commitment to release all the prisoners.

The North Vietnamese have released a list of 339 American prisoners of war, but Washington claims Hanoi holds 470 Americans.

The Communist peace plan suggests "the release of the totality of military men of all parties and of the civilians captured in the war including American pilots captured in North Vietnam [illegible] may all rapidly return to their homes."

Japanese Plane Is Missing

HAKODATE, Japan (AP) — A Japanese airliner with 68 persons aboard was reported missing today on a domestic flight national police said.

They said they were searching for the plane near Hakodate after the TOA Airlines YS-11 plane lost radio contract with the control tower of Hakodate airport.

Visibility in the area was poor.

The airline said the plane was on a flight from Sapporo to Hakodate, both on Japan's northernmost main island of Hokkaido.

Annual Reading Course Slated

A popular reading course is again being offered for elementary children in Snyder this summer. The program starts on July 5 and goes through July 30.

Classes will be held at West Elementary School beginning at 8:30 each morning and dismissing at 10:30 a.m. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. Monday at West Elementary and classes will start July 6. The cost is $13.90 for the four week program.

This program is not for the non-reader. The purpose is to encourage independent reading, stimulate interest in the reading process, improve reading skills, and increase the usable vocabulary of the child. This program would be helpful, but not essential, to the child who already has developed an independent attitude for reading materials that are of interest to him or her school officials said.

College Accepts Dormitory Bid

Low bids for a Western Texas College dormitory complex and a motor vehicle were accepted Friday afternoon by Scurry County Junior College District Trustees in a special meeting.

The proposal of $792,500 of Area Builders, Inc., of Odessa, was the lowest received for construction of the 192-bed dormitory complex. The Odessa firm is the prime contractor for the first phase of campus construction which now is in progress.

The dormitory complex will be financed by a revenue bond issue of $1,070,000. The funds from this bond issue are expected to construct and furnish the dormitories.

The revenue bonds will be sold on July 12, and at Friday's meeting, the time for the special meeting on that date to consider bids on the bonds was changed from 7:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. This will enable the college to get a ruling from the Dept. of Housing and Urban Development on the results of the sale before the Washington, D. C., offices close for that day.

The dormitory bid was slightly higher than the original estimates. However, the college already has taken care of planning expenses and the actual contract for construction will be within the figures envisioned when the revenue bond issue was set up.

The college board had sought bids for providing two motor vehicles-a 12 passenger, multipurpose van and a half-ton, wide-bed pickup truck. Snyder Motor Company's bid of $2,357.65 was accepted for a GMC pickup truck. However, the board was to resubmit the proposal to purchase a van-type vehicle after modifying specifications.

The dormitory complex will be the first student housing on the WTC campus. It is expected to be ready for use at the beginning of the 1972-73 college term.

FOUR INJURED — Four persons were hospitalized following a car-truck collision at 11:25 a.m. Saturday on U. S. Highway 180 at Union. Taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital were Troy Millard Walker, 51, of Eloy, Ariz., driver of a 1970 Ford; his wife, Trudy; their son, Robby Walker, 15, of Tucson; and Garland Morris, 46, of Tucson. Mrs. Wa[illegible] suffered a painful cu[illegible] arm and possibly other injuries. The others appeared to have only minor injuries. The car was in collision with a gasoline transport truck owned by Lindy Clark of Snyder and driven by G. L. Autry of Snyder. Autry was uninjured. Texas Highway patrolemen investigated.

Viet GI's let her son down

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago you printed a letter from a sergeant in Viet Nam asking for pen pals. My son, Johnny, who was then 11, had a teacher who obtained the names of young men from our state who were serving in Viet Nam, and she asked each child to write to a serviceman. I'm divorced and my "ex" ignores Johnny, so you can imagine my son's thrill when "his soldier" wrote back.

They corresponded for months, and at Christmas time I baked cookies for Johnny to send, and I enclosed a note expressing my appreciation to him for brightening my son's life.

In turn I received a lovely letter from the soldier saying how much he enjoyed Johnny's letters, and saying he had passed Johnny's name on to other soldiers who wanted a pen pal.

From time to time I'd send cookies, shoe laces and toilet articles to these servicemen, and Johnny saved up from his allowance to pay the postage. As it came time for each man to return home, I wrote making one request: "After arriving home and greeting family and friends, please let Johnny know you made it safely as he has been praying for your safe return."

Each one wrote back and promised he would, but not one kept his word. Abby, it nearly broke Johnny's heart. I have no explanation for him as to why each one broke his promise. Have you? MRS. J. S.

DEAR MRS. J. S.: Perhaps some servicemen were simply negligent or thoughtless. Some could have returned home such physical and emotional wrecks that they didn't feel like facing anyone. And perhaps your son's pen pals were among those unfortunate 55,000 servicemen who never made it home.

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell a certain set of relatives to please leave their two poodles at home when they come to visit? They just left, and one of the poodles left his "trademark" on one of my silk chairs. This isn't the first time this has happened and I have had it. We have a new home with new furniture and carpeting and when their dogs have an accident [as they always seem to do here] they don't seem to be bothered at all.

These relatives have a lovely, expensive home of their own and are well able to refurnish if their things are ruined, but we have worked hard for what we have and we must make it last. What on earth can we do? BAFFLED

DEAR BAFFLED: Tell those relatives that they are welcome, but not poodles who piddle, so please leave them at home.

DEAR ABBY: I am 26 years old and have a 10-month-old daughter who was born out of wedlock. She is a lovely child and altho I am not proud of the circumstances, I am not ashamed of her.

My family acts as if my child did not exist. How can I get them to accept her? After all, she is only a child and has done nothing to harm them. I am the one they should reject, not her.

I would like to add, my daughter has changed my life completely. I am more sensible and responsible now. But how can I get my family to believe that? NO FAMILY

DEAR NO: Don't worry about it. If you respect yourself and behave in a sensible and responsible manner, eventually you will earn the respect of your family. And if you don't, grow a thicker hide. It's their loss, not yours.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Party Defends Devlin

LONDON (AP) — The political party that helped elect Bernadette Devlin to the House of Commons rushed to her defense today after the civil rights firebrand from Northern Ireland disclosed she was pregnant.

The Mid-Ulster Independent Socialist Organization, that backed Miss Devlin when she was elected to Parliament in 1969 at the age of 21, said in a statement: "We cannot but admire as always, Miss Devlin's courage."

The organization invited Miss Devlin to attend a conference Tuesday in Belfast, Northern Ireland's capital, to receive a vote of confidence. The statement was issued in Belfast.

In the 24 hours since Miss Devlin, a Roman Catholic, announced that she expected a baby this fall though unmarried, the critical outcries have been muted.

A spokesman of the Roman Catholic Church headquarters at Westminister Cathedral said: "The Church tries to have as much pastoral love as possible for anyone in this predicament."

The Rev. Ian Paisley, leader of a Protestant faction in Northern Ireland one of her sternest foes, commented: "All I can say is what the Lord Jesus Christ said, 'He that hath no sin let him cast the first stone.'"

In Dublin, Ireland, where Miss Devlin disclosed her pregnancy, the Irish radio and television networks ignored the story until afternoon, then mentioned it in passing.

Dublin afternoon newspapers played the story down. The big circulation Dublin Evening Press buried it under a one-column head: "Miss Devlin constituency meeting."

Women's Lib in Ireland greeted the news with jubilation. "The shame of the unmarried mother in Ireland died last night, said Nell McCafferty, a leading member in the organization that is waging war for contraceptives and a more permissive Irish attitude.

Miss Devlin, showing signs of approaching motherhood, calmly took part in a political rally and a meeting of international Socialists Friday without apparent nervous reaction.

Dad Asks $40,000 For Transfer

DALLAS (AP) — A father of three pupils asked a judge Friday for at least $40,000 for "unnecessary expense and economic injury" if transfer of his children to distant schools becomes necessary.

James T. Maxwell filed a motion to intervene in a desegregation suit pending against the Dallas school system.

It asks U.S. Dist. Judge William M. Taylor Jr. to deny the plea from minority group parents which has led to a proposal for widespread busing of public school pupils. This would wipe out what administrators call their neighborhood school concept.

Maxwell asked in event the judge decides to change school zones that pupils be allowed to transfer from schools where the percentage of their race is greater than the system's citywide average to schools where their race is below that average.

"Any student who chooses to transfer to another school in accordance with these provisions shall be provided with adequate transportation to attend such school," Maxwell's motion said, "and to participate in all extracurricular activities normally permitted or conducted . . ."

KIDNAP VICTIMS — Mrs. Victoria Esquivel, 23, is reunited with her children, Trini, 8, left, and Paula, 3, who police said were kidnaped last August in Aurora, Ill. The mother said she moved there from here to get away from a man who "kept bothering me." A San Antonio man has been charged in the case. The tots were hospitalized for recuperation. (AP Wirephoto)

Hole In Ship Caused Death

MOSCOW (AP) — A fatal loss of pressure through a tiny hole in the Soyuz II spaceship caused the deaths of the three Soviet Cosmonauts, Western Communist sources report.

The sources, who could not be identified, said Friday night the hole developed in the craft's landing cabin when it separated from the Soyuz orbital compartment. They said the hole was enlarged when the craft's braking rockets were fired just before the three began their descent into the earth's atmosphere Wednesday.

The larger hole caused a sudden depressurization in the cosmonauts cabin and a rise in blood pressure that amounted to "an explosion of blood to the brain," the sources said.

They said those findings were made by a Soviet government medical team Friday following a two-day inquest into the space deaths.

There has been no official announcement about the cause of the cosmonauts deaths at the end of their record 24-day space flight, most of it aboard the orbiting laboratory Salute. A Russian science writer theorized that a hatch slightly ajar on the ship caused the accident.

The Western Communist sources who attributed the deaths to the puncture in the Soyuz cabin did not indicate whether the damage resulted from mishandling of the spaceship by the crew or from a mechanical fault.

They said the lack of pressure and oxygen in the cabin caused embolisms, or suddent obstructions of blood circulation, which immediately killed the three cosmonauts as they were strapped in their seats.

The ashes of the three—Georgy Dobrovolsky, Vladislav Volkov and Viktor Patsayev—were entombed in the Kremlin wall Friday. Onlookers wept with the widows and relatives of the cosmonauts as the flower-enshrined urns were placed in honored burial niches in the wall.

Trial Ordered In Jackie's Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — A trial has been ordered in the $1.3 million damage suit brought against Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis by professional photographer Ronald E. Galella.

Judge Edward G. McLean, of U.S. District Court, also ordered Friday a trial in Mrs. Onassis' $1.5 million countersuit against Galella. McLean denied Mrs. Onassis' petition to dismiss the photographer's suit.

Question Raised On Vet Addicts

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The government is beginning to help servicemen in Vietnam who are addicted to heroin, but, a lawyer is asking President Nixon, what is going to be done about the men already discharged with the monkey on their backs.

Sheldon Portman, Santa Clara County public defender, said Friday he has written to the White House, citing the case of a Vietnam veteran with a drug problem who has served six months in jail, partly because he couldn't get government help. Portman hopes to avoid similar fates for other addicted veterans.

The veteran, David Bellomo of San Jose, pleaded guilty last January to a burglary charge and the public defender tried to get him into a Veterans Administration hospital for his heroin problem.

But Bellomo, 20, was turned down. An undesirable discharge in July 1970 for his drug proglems made him ineligible.

With no alternative place to send Bellomo, a judge sentenced him to six months in county jail.

If Bellomo were in the service today, he would automatically get help, Portman said, because of the new military policies towards drug addicts.

"I sincerely hope that you can order a change in the VA regulations," Portman said in his letter to the President.

In a telephone interview from jail Friday, Bellomo said he tried marijuana as a teen-ager and was kicked out of one high school because he wore his hair too long.

He enlisted in the Army in 1968 and went to Vietnam as a crewman on river patrol boat.

"I don't know why I started using drugs," he said. "I guess I was scared and didn't think I was coming back. You play soldier when you're a kid, but you never think you'll have to go yourself."

The Army sent him to hospitals in Vietnam and Japan. After he went AWOL from a Japanese hospital, he was discharged. But aside from Bellomo's drug problems, he had a fairly good military record, Portman said.

Back home in San Jose, Bellomo, who is single worked part-time in his father's gas station, as a mechanic. With his parents' help, he tried various drug treatment programs, even spending a week in a state hospital. But his habit persisted.

MR. AND MRS. JIMMIE KEN SPENCE

Holdridge, Spence Exchange Vows At Hermleigh June 18

Miss Janet Rae Holdridge and Jimmie Ken Spence exchanged wedding vows June 18 at 8 p.m. at the Hermleigh United Methodist Church. Rev. Claude Nixon, minister of the church, officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. J. R. Holdridge of Hermleigh and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard W. Spence of Snyder.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Teddy Joe Robbins of Lubbock. She wore a white formal length gown of bridal satin covered with lace. The gown was fashioned with an empire waistline, round neckline and long set-in lantern sleeves gathered to small cuffs. The fingertip veil of bridal illusion was held in place by a cluster of petals made of lace and pearls. The gown and veil were fashioned by the bride's mother.

The bride wore pennies in her shoe minted in the years of the couple's birth and carried a Bible belonging to her sister, which she had carried in her wedding. She wore the traditional blue garter.

She carried a crescent-shaped bridal bouquet made up of a white cattleya orchia surrounded by miniature carnations, atop a Bible borrowed from her sister.

Aurora Rios was matron of honor. She wore a long gown of dotted swiss over green crepe fashioned after that of the bride. She wore a headpiece of green bows with green flowers attached and carried a single long stemmed white rose with green ribbons.

Vicki Lashier of Abilene and Dana Vicary of Hermleigh were bridesmaids. They wore costumes fashioned after that of the matron of honor.

Paul Zeck of Longview served as best man. Steve Burney and Dewey Grinslade, both of Snyder, were groomsmen. Ronald Starnes, cousin of the bride, of Snyder and Tony Scott of Munday ushered guests.

Raymond Holdridge of Hermleigh, brother of the bride, lighted candles.

The church altar was centered with an arch cnadelabra, with greenery entwined with baskets of white carnations, chrysanthemums and gladiola mixed with greenery on either side. The aisle markers were votive cups and lemon greenery.

Dolores Schwarz of Loraine, organist, furnished processional and recessional music. Ruth Tate of Snyder, accompanied by Debbie Vicary of Hermleigh sang "The Twelfth of Never" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Hermleigh Community Center.

The bride's table was covered with a linen cloth and overlaid with lace. A memory candle decorated with lillies of the valley and lemon greenery centered the table. The three tiered wedding cake, decorated with green leaves, and punch was served by Pam Zeck of Longview and Donna Wright of Hermleigh.

The groom's table was covered with a damask tablecloth and overlaid with lace. It was centered with gold roses belonging to Mrs. I. T. Holdridge, aunt of the bride, of Sweetwater. Cake and coffee were served by the groom's sisters Mrs. Bobby Smith of Lubbock and Mrs. Bob Kimmell of Colorado City.

Mrs. Ted Robbins, sister of the bride, presided over the wedding book.

For the wedding trip to Carlsbad, New Mexico the bride chose a green and white double knit dress accented with the orchid from the bridal bouquet.

The couple will make their home at Snyder.

The bride is a 1971 graduate of Hermleigh High School.

The bridegroom graduated from Snyder High School in 1969 and has attended Angelo State University. He is engaged in farming.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were from Snyder, Colorado City, Lubbock, Sweetwater, Abilene, Dallas, Shamrock, West Point, New York and California.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Hermleigh Community Center.

Bert Chesters Honored On 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Chester were honored with a surprise party celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary June 29 at 403 Thirty-fifth Street, Snyder.

The couple was married June 29, 1946 at Grandview, Washington. They have four daughters: Mrs. Danny (Terry) Davidson of Lawton, Okla., Mrs. Morris (Elaine) Smith and Ginger and Rhonda Chester of Snyder. They have one granddaughter, LaDonna Davidson, who is 2 years old.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Lee and Tammy, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smith and Angela of Snyder, Mrs. Viviann Fikes, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Summers, Mr. and Mrs. Buzz Taggart, Mary Lou Dennis and Virginia Woodson of Rotan, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Chester and Carol of Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Smith of Dermott.

During the past year she has lectured on ballet and taught pointe variations, male variations and classic pantomime. In her new capacity she also will teach classes in stage movement and related subjects.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Ed) Blocker, Rt. 1, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dolores Ann, to Billy Jay Sullenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Fambro, 2603 Ave. V. Dolores is a senior at Snyder High School. The prospective bridegroom is a candidate for graduation from AMTC University in Kansas City, Missouri in October. (Photo By Craft)

Japanese Like Other Dishes Besides Sukiyaki And Raw Fish

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

"Sukiyaki and raw fish are considered in your country as representative Japanese dishes," said my young friend, Waka Tsunoda, "but they are not something an average family eats in my homeland.

"In Japan, raw fish are usually eaten in restaurants," she said, "because processing such fish is simply beyond the abilities of an amateur.

"Actually, I had never tasted 'sushi,' the raw fish on sour rice, until I arrived in Tokyo from my small village to attend college," the Japanese-born New York writer recalled. "As a matter of fact, I was rather put off by sushi and I couldn't eat half it it."

The type of dish that Japanese eat as a daily routine, said Waka, could be described as something cosmopolitan and yet uniquely Japanese.

"Chicken rice, for example. It's rice with bits of chicken, seasoned with tomato sauce and decorated with green peas and parsley. Or a pork cutlet sitting on a bowl of rice with sauce made of egg, onion and soy sauce poured over it.

"And there is the very famous, homey dish called Korokke. This is as Japanese as apple pie is American," Waka went on. "It's potato pancake with ground beef and onion.

"Korokke is something a bride in Japan might learn as her first cooking lesson," Waka smiled, "because the material is reasonable and the recipe is within the grasp of a novice cook.

"In fact," she recalled, "most brides of my mother's generation insisted on cooking it so often that a pop song went around in which a husband complained 'she cooked korokke today, she'll cook korokke tomorrow, it's korokke all year round!'

"The brides of today are better off in Japan," she said, "because cheese, salami and ham and other such dishes have also become common in the Japanese diet. But the popularity of Korokke has not lessened. It is sold prepared in food shops, but many still make it themselves.

"Whether Korokke is good depends on the amount of beef in it," said Waka. "The cheaper the Korokke, the less meat. But even so, potatoes should predominate."

After being briefed so thoroughly on the virtues of Korokke, we persuaded Waka to give us a recipe for the dish. Here it is:

KOROKKE

4 medium potatoes
1 medium onion
1 pound ground round
1 quart vegetable oil
1 egg
1 cup bread crumbs
1 cup flour
salt and pepper

Boil potatoes and mash, season with salt and pepper to taste. Mince the onion finely and saute about 10 minutes with ground beef. Season with salt and pepper.

Mix potatoes, beef and onion mix together and shape into eight patties. Dip in flour, then in egg and finally in bread crumbs. Deep fry in oil for about five minutes, but do not fry more than 2 patties at a time. Serves four persons. I found that it was good accompanied by a red Medoc.

Postal Ad Is Banned

CPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Postmaster General Louis F. Rie banished an advertisement containing a bikini clad girl from the Southwestern Cape Telephone Directory.

Rive said he had "never seen the girl and it is not her that I object to. It is the principel involved ... In future all postoffice publications will need my approval before we start printing."

4-H Girl Returns From Washington

WILMA STIRL

Wilma Stirl, Scurry County 4-H Member, has just returned from Washington, D.C. where she participated in the National Citizenship Short Course and Talent Club Tour.

Telling about her trip, Wilma said she and 58 other Texas 4-H Club members were a part of the 205 4-H'ers from 5 states who participated in this event.

Enroute the Texas Delegation visited Nashville and the Grand Old Opry, and Jefferson's home, Monticello.

While at the National 4-H Center in Washington the group had workshops on citizenship in the morning and sightseeing tours of the Capitol City in the afternoon.

Workshop subjects were "You and Yourself," "You and Others" and "You and the World."

"We started out by looking at ourself, at who we were, and what we had done", Miss Stirl commented. "Then we looked at how our lives affect others, and on to what each of us as an individual can do for America and for the World.

In small discussion groups, the short course members talked about environment problems and what they as individuals can do about them.

Wilma said "We learned a much deeper meaning of citizenship and a greater appreciation of our American heritage. In Arlington Cemetery we visited the tomb of the unknown soldier, and the Kennedy's grave sites; all the rows of white crosses, marking the graves of men who died so that we might be free made an impression on me that I think it would not have without our workshops on our own role as citizens."

Other events on the agenda included lunch with their congressman, a personal tour of the capitol, a visit to the Supreme Court and to the Library of Congress, the Federal Bureau of Printing and Engraving, and all the usual sight seeing tours. A boat ride on the Potomac took the group to Mount Vernon. That night they visited the Washington Memorial.

"It was a breath taking experience", Wilma relates, "Everyone agreed this was really the Heart of America; on the East side the Capitol, South, the Jefferson Memorial, West, the Lincoln Memorial, and on the North, the White House. We knew we would never all be there again. It was a very special moment. We wished every young person in America could share it.

Asked if she felt the Citizenship Workshop was worthwhile, Wilma wished that every citizen could participate in one.

"You wouldn't take citizenship for granted the way we usually do, any way not soon", Wilma said.

Couple Weds Here In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Deborah Jane Sims and Michael Edward Koen III exchanged nuptial vows in a double ring ceremony read at 2 p.m. Saturday, June 19, at the First Baptist Church in Snyder. The Rev. Ronnie Travis, pastor of Hopewell Baptist Church, Olton, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Darrell N. Sims, 3111 Thirty-eighth Place, Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. O. Kenton Jones, Edinburg, Texas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of pure silk organza with Alencon and Venise laces. The transparent sheer organza Victorian silhouette was designed with a dainty knotted Venise lace striping the sculptured bodice and front of the A-line skirt, creating a panel effect. Appliques of Alencon lace flower motifs formed a high scalloped neckline and cascaded down the front panel intermingled with pearl embroidery. The full long puffed sleeves were cuffed and edged with Venise lace at the wrist. Draping softly from a soft double bow at the back bodice was the wispy organza full chapel train enhanced with Alencon lace motif applique and edged with Venise lace. Her silk illusion veil was held by a profile tiara of Venise lace petals with miniature pearls. Her gown was borrowed from her matron of honor, Mrs. Jan Terrett of Lubbock. She carried a bridal bouquet of cascade design of white feathered carnations centered with a white gardenia accented with satin streamers and English ivy on a white satin Bible given to her by her sister, Miss Patti Sims.

Miss Patti Sims, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a formal gown of mint green crepe, featuring an empire waist, long Juliet sleeves, with edgings of rose-centered white lace over mint green satin ribbon. A green silk hat, edged with the lace and ribbon of the dress completed the costume. She carried a traditional nosegay of yellow, pink and white Marquerite daisies with lavender statice and mint green satin streamer, carrying out the pastel shades of each bridesmaids dress. Mrs. Tommy Terrett of Lubbock was matron-of-honor, Miss Kathy Sims of Snyder, cousin of the bride and Miss Vicki Shroyer of Snyder were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of lilac, yellow, and blue fashioned after the maid of honor. Each carried the traditional nosegays.

James Koen of Edinburg served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Roy Polleck, Ted Koen, and Richard Todd, all of Edinburg.

Guests were registered by Miss Lynne Koen, sister of the groom and then seated by Lanny Jones, Lubbock, Tommy Terrett, Lubbock and David Thompson of Snyder.

The mother of the bride wore a lilac-shaded two piece knit suit accented with white collar and cuffs. White accessories completed the suit. The groom's mother chose a mint-green chiffon dress with a sleeveless coat. Gardenia corsages were worn by both.

Mrs. Wayne Bethel, organist, presented prelude music. After the chime of the hour, she accompained Mrs. Stanley Nowlin, aunt of the bride, as she sang "The Twelfth of Never" and as the couple knelt at the altar, "The Lord's Prayer."

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Church. The bride's table was laid with a pure Irish linen, cut-work cloth over yellow linen which belongs to the bride's grandmother, Mrs. W. D. Sims. Centering the table was a memory candle decorated with pink, white and yellow daisies with lavender statice and leather leaf. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with roses and topped with satin wedding bells. Serving at the bride's table were Mrs. L. T. Dent, Misses Jan Williamson and Brenda Shroyer, all of Snyder.

The groom's table was laid with an Irish linen cloth, and held an arrangement of white, yellow, lavender and mint green Majestic daisies. Chocolate cake and coffee were served by Miss Melody Jones of Lubbock, Misses Leah Koen of Edinburg and Jan Sims of Snyder. Table appointments were in crystal and silver.

Those in the house-party included Mrs. W. D. Sims, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Nuel Mebane, Mrs. Bobby James and Mrs. Cliff Hale.

For a wedding trip to Padre Island, the bride chose a red linen A-line dress, with star point collar, edged in white daisies. Her accessories were red with the gardenia corsage from her wedding bouquet completing her costume.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Snyder High School and is attending Texas Tech, where she is a Junior. She is employed by Dunlap's of Lubbock.

The groom is a 1969 graduate of Edinburg High School and is attending Texas Tech University as a Junior. The couple will make their home at 1616 B Main, Lubbock.

Out of town guests attending were from Lubbock, Edinburg, Ausitn, Midland, Wilson, Slaton, Roby, and Rotan.

The groom's parents were hosts to a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the American Restaurant.

MRS. EDDIE TRENT WAUSON

Kathy Boren Becomes Mrs. Eddie T. Wauson

Kathy Jo Boren and Eddie Trent Wauson were united in marriage at two o'clock in the afternoon on Saturday, July 3rd in the First Christian Church. Rev. Robert McArthur, minister of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Joseph Boren, 4501 Denison. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie W. Wauson of Hurst, Texas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white embroidered cotton batiste. The gown featured long, full sleeves and an empire waist-line accented with yellow cotton lace. She wore a white picture hat embroidered with white and yellow flowers. The brim of the hat was encircled by yellow satin ribbon with long yellow streamers. Her old fashioned bouquet was composed of white and yellow snowflake daisies.

The bride also wore a small silver cross necklace, a gift of the groom, a blue garter made by her great-aunt, Mrs. W. R. Denman of Robert Lee, and a cameo brooch belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. A. J. Bilbo of Robert Lee, which her mother wore in her wedding.

Miss Suzanne Martin was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length dress of yellow dotted swiss, featuring an empire waist and short, puffed sleeves. She also wore a white picture hat, its brim encircled with yellow satin ribbon. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisy poms.

Wesley Wauson of Austin, cousin of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Tim Wauson of San Antonio, cousin of the groom, and Bebo and John Boren, brothers of the bride.

Candlelighters were Kristi and Derek Wauson, sister and brother of the groom. Kristi wore a yellow floor-length gown fashioned like that of the maid of honor, and a wristlet corsage of daisies.

Vows were exchanged before the communion table, which held a white memory candle and was flanked by seven-branch candelabra entwined with ivy. Brass urns holding golden day lilies and white daisies completed the setting. Mrs. Wendell Rehm, organist, played the love theme from "Romeo and Juliet," "More," "No Other Love," theme from "Love Story," and "Walk Hand in Hand" preceding the ceremony.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Mrs. Lyle Riggs, cousin of the bride, registered guests. Mrs. Rudy Robinson of Dallas, cousin of the bride, served the wedding cake and Miss Julie Wauson of Hurst, sister of the groom, served punch. Other members of house party were Cathy Hurst, Mrs. Jimmy Ramage of Odessa, and Jan Kay of Alpine, cousin of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Wauson will live in the Arlington Square North apartments in Arlington. Mr. Wauson is presently employed there with Texas-Tennessee Industries. The couple plans to attend the University of Texas at Arlington, where the groom is majoring in pre-med.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, was held Friday night at the Steak House. A luncheon honoring the bride and groom was given Saturday by Mrs. John Boren and Mrs. Ross Blanchard, Jr., aunts of the bride, in the home of Mrs. Boren.

Meeting Daily Milk Needs

COLLEGE STATION — Do I have to drink milk? That's an often repeated question, says Frances Reasonover, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M University.

Drinking milk isn't the only way to meet the daily milk requirement, Miss Reasonover points out. Children and pregnant women, who need 3 or more cups of milk a day, and teens and nursing mothers, who need 4 or more cups daily, probably must consume a large part of the milk as a beverage, but they don't have to drink all of it.

Several milk products and other foods supply about as much calcium as one cup fresh whole milk or one cup milk made from nonfat dry milk. These include 1 cup custard; 1 cup pudding made from milk and cornstarch; 1 cup osyter stew; 1 1-13 cups canned cream soup prepared with an equal volume of milk; 1-3 of a 14-inch pizza with cheese topping; ¾ cup homemade macaroni and cheese; and 1 milk shake made with ¾ cup milk and ½ cup ice cream.

Or, you may add nonfat dry milk to other foods. For example, "eat" part of your daily milk need in meat loaf, Miss Reasonover suggests.

Ballet Company Sells Patron Seats

NEW YORK (AP) — Instead of holding a benefit performance during its summer season, American Ballet Theater will sell special Patron Seats for all performances.

Patron Seats are being sold for $15, which is the regular price of $7.95, plus a contribution to the ballet company.

The company is dancing at the New York State Theater through Aug. 8.

MR. AND MRS. BILL GLEN LEE

Sims, Lee Vows Solomnized In First Baptist Church

Miss Thelma Rebecca (Becky) Sims and Bill Glen Lee were united in marriage June 11, at 7:30 p.m. in First Baptist Church. Rev. Jack Riley officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Darrell N. Sims and Mr. and Mrs. Glen G. Lee, both of Snyder.

Gayle Turner registered guests in the brides' book as they arrived. The registry table was highlighted with a vase of carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace full formal length gown fashioned in the Southern belle style. The bodice was fitted and scalloped at the neck with the full lace skirt also scalloped. The long sleeves and train, which trailed several feet behind the bride, was of sheer imported lace.

The bride wore a blue garter and pennies in her shoe. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations accented with baby's breath and centered with a white cattleya orchid.

Linda Thompson, who wore a pink empire formal, was maid of honor. Judy Martin, who wore a yellow gown and Dianne Eime, who wore a pink gown were bridesmaids. The gowns were all fashioned alike. They carried yellow and pink feathered carnations accented with baby's breath and long streamers.

Johnny Lee, brother of the groom, served as best man. Jerry Tate and Willie Riley were groomsmen. Tommy Hollis and Roy Lee ushered guests.

The mother of the bride wore a green and white knit dress with white shoes and gloves. The mother of the groom wore a blue dress with a white pearl necklace and shoes to match. Their costumes were accentuated with a corsage of white feathered carnations.

Mrs. Wayne Bethel played the traditional "Wedding March." Mrs. Stanley Nowlin, aunt of the bride, accompanied by Mrs. Bethel, sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "The Lord's Prayer" followed by the recessional.

The reception was held at Martha Ann Woman's Club. The table was covered with a white cloth and accented with the bridesmaids' bouquets. The four tiered wedding cake decorated with four pink and yellow roses on each layer, was topped with a miniature bride and groom with satin wedding bells over their heads. Appointments of silver and crystal were used. Patti Sims, sister of the bride and Mrs. Stanley Nowlin presided at the serving table.

For the wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wore a white sheer tiered dress lined in satin with a satin pink empire bow. She wore the white cattley orchid from the center of the bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Snyder until the end of July when they will move to San Angelo where they will make their home and attend Angelo State University.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at Carlos' Little Mexico.

MR. AND MRS. VOLLIE DEAN SHIPP

Daugherty, Shipp Wed At Fluvanna June 26

Linda Margaret Daugherty and Vollie Dean Shipp were married Saturday evening June 26, at the Church of Christ at Fluvanna. Edward M. Steph, minister of the church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Alvis Daugherty of Fluvanna. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shipp of Rotan.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a white Anti-bellum gown of organdy and chantilly lace. The all-lace bodice was fashioned with a high duchess neckline and long full lace sleeves which were gathered to deep lace cuffs. The belled skirt featured a tiered panel down the center front with alternating tiers of organza and lace. A chapel length train was attached to the gown at the shoulder and was edged in the lace motif. Her veil of fingertip illusion was softly gathered to a bonnet accented in lace and organza flowerlets. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis.

The bride wore a new penny in her shoe, and a blue garter. For something old and borrowed, she wore a gold collar pin that belonged to her paternal great-great-grandmother.

Miss Nancy Thompson of Dallas attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert C. Daugherty of Lubbock, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Connie Reeder of Carrollton, and Miss Marsha Mills of Alpine. The attendants wore identical gowns of green organza over yellow taffeta fashioned with Empire bodice, short puffed sleeves, and high round neckline and accented at the neckline and waist with white lace insertion with yellow satin ribbon. Their headdresses were bows formed from matching insertion and ribbon. Each bridesmaid wore short white gloves and carried a single, long-stemmed yellow rose.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece dress of pale blue double knit styled with a wide belt and darker blue buttons.

The groom's mother wore a dress of blue knit fashioned with long full sleeves of matching blue organza. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow cymbidium orchids.

Raygene Shipp of Hereford was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Wayne Higgins, of Lubbock; Bob Hayter of Fort Stockton; and Stephen Roger Daugherty, of Fluvanna; brother of the bride.

Vows were exchanged before tall brass candelabra holding cathedral tapers. Baskets of white roses, peonies, and stephanotis were used on each side of the candelabra.

Carla Jones of Fluvanna lighted the tapers to begin the ceremony. She wore a yellow dress featuring a dropped waistline and pleated skirt. Tiny flowers embroidered in green decorated the bodice front. She wore a corsage of white snowflake mums.

A capella wedding music was presented by Mrs. Garth Austin, Mrs. Alfred Lieb. Mrs. Wade Davis, Mrs. Pat Gilstrap, Ross Gillum, and Gary Parks. Miss Paula Fortenberry of Lubbock sang "For All We Know" before the wedding processional. Following the vows, she sang "If You Think I Love You Now".

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth overlaid with lace. A bouquet of white Killian daisies and snowflake mums centered the table, and two yellow tapers in crystal candelabra were arranged at each end of the bouquet. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a heart decorated with ruffled tulle, satin bells, and tiny organza florets. Sugar bells and tiny yellow rosebuds with pale green leaves ornamented each tier. Misses Bobbi Henderson and Diana Williams, both of Lubbock, served cake and punch.

A cloth of dark brown decorator burlap covered the bridegroom's table, which was centered with a basket of large yellow daisies. Misses Paula and Robertanne Turner, of Fluvanna, served cake and coffee.

Mrs. Joe Max Edmiston of Eldorado presided at the bride's book.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Fluvanna High School and for the past two years has attended Texas Tech University at Lubbock.

The bridegroom is a 1969 graduate of Rotan High School and attended Cisco Junior College. He is employed by Crofoot Feedlot in Lubbock.

For their wedding trip, the bride wore a sleeveless coat-dress of white pique fashioned with wide lapels and accented with gold buttons. Her accessories were of black patent.

Guests attended the wedding were from Dimmett, Hereford, Rotan, Snyder, Belton, Nolanville, Alpine, Lubbock, Big Spring, Dallas, Fort Stockton, Eldorado, and Carrollton, Texas, and from Willcox, Arizona, and Portales and Fort Summer, New Mexico.

As a salad or dessert, drain canned cling peach halves and fill with a mixture of softened cream cheese, chopped nuts and grated lemon rind.

MR. AND MRS. RONNY GLENN FRANKS

Nancy Barron Weds Ronny Franks

Nancy Ann Barron and Ronny Glenn Franks were united in marriage in an informal double ring ceremony at the First United Methodist Church, Friday evening, June 25. Rev. Wallace Kirby officiated. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn G. Barron, 3005 Denison and Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Franks, 2706 Ave. Z.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white nylon crepe dress with a lace sleeveless coat designed and made by her mother. Her only attendent was her sister, Nita Lee Barron who wore a sky blue nylon crepe dress similarly designed like the bride's dress. The bride carried a white Bible, carried by her mother at her wedding, topped with a cascading arrangement of white carnations. For something old she wore a gold ring formally belonging to her great grandmother. For something blue, she wore a blue garter given to her by her sister, and she also traditionally wore a penny in her shoe minted the year of the groom's and her birth. The maid of honor carried a nosegay arrangement of blue and white carnations with lavender accents.

Donny Franks was his brother's best man.

The altar was decorated with a white memory candle, sent as a gift from the bride's great aunt, surrounded with an arrangement of blue tinted daisies and greenery. On each side of the candle were two smaller candles used by the bride and groom to light the memory candle signifying the union of two lives as one. Also used in the decorations were potted white mums.

Mrs. Wendell Rehm furnished wedding music.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Assisting in the serving were Donna Couch and Mrs. James Merritt of Snyder and Mrs. Hollis Ford of Big Spring, aunt of the bride. The table was decorated with a white lace cloth over blue with the memory candle used at the ceremony, as a centerpiece. Silver and crystal appointments were used. The three tiered wedding cake was served with coffee and punch.

Out of town guest included Mrs. Fred Linville, maternal grandmother of the bride and Mrs. Guy Barron, paternal grandmother, both of Waco. Grandparents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Evans and Mrs. C. D. Franks of Snyder.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Snyder High and attended Howard County Jr. College. The groom is a graduate of Sherman High School, 1968, and attended Lubbock Christian College and Howard County Jr. College. He is employed at the Bell-Seale Funeral Home. The couple will reside at 110 Milburn, Snyder.

John E. Baileys To Be Honored On 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Bailey will be honored with an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, July 11, commemorating their silver wedding anniversary. The event will be held in their home, 2904 Ave. W.

Hosting the event will be their children, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lieb of Lubbock, Miss Karen Bailey of Snyder and Gary Bailey of Snyder.

Mr. Bailey was born in Carthage, Missouri, March 6, 1919. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Baley of Carthage, Missouri. He is a veteran of World War II serving as a corporal in the Marine Corp.

Mrs. Bailey was born in Scurry county, near Ira, February 2, 1922. She is the daughter of the late Joe A. Thompson and Mrs. Joe A. Thompson, who presently resides near Ira.

Mr. Bailey and the former Jennetta Thompson were married July 12, 1946, in the home of Miss Anna Baley in Carthage, Missouri, where they resided until 1949.

Mr. Bailey is a building contractor in Snyder and has been since moving here.

Friends of the family are invited to call between the appointed hours and join them in the celebration of their 25th anniversary.

Pikes Peak Road Expensive

COLORAD SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The 20-mile highway up 14,110 foot Pikes Peak, which overshadows this city, is considered one of the most expensive to maintain in the world.

Seven million cubic feet of snow must be removed from the road when clearing begins each spring. Once the snow has been cleared and the road opened, water from the melting snow fields presents a drainage problem, sometimes washing away huge sections of pavement.

Dean Rusk Comments On Pentagon Papers

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk says he and the administration in which he served underestimated the determination of the North Vietnamese but says there was "no deliberate attempt to deceive anybody" during the 1964 presidential election.

Rusk spoke to several interviewers Friday, becoming the highest ranking member of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations to comment on the publication of the top secret Pentagon study of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Rusk said he was speaking out on the controversy because he could not "remain silent forever."

According to the Pentagon study, as reported in The New York Times on June 14, the Johnson administration reached a general concensus on Sept. 7, 1964 that bombing attacks would probably have to be launched against North Vietnam "early in the new year."

During his 1964 campaign for re-election, President Lyndon B. Johnson said he knew of no such plans.

Rusk told the Athens, Ga., Daily News that in 1964 Johnson "had no plans to bomb North Vietnam during the campaign, although there were people on the staff who were working out all sorts of contigencies, but these were not President Johnson's plans."

Later, in an interview with NBC-TV taped in Atlanta, Rusk said:

"As far as general policy is concerned, there was no deception. I can't find any justification for the charge of deceit."

Rusk, currently a professor of international law at the University of Georgia, served eight years as Secretary of State under Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson.

He told newsmen after the NBC interview that he had telephoned President Johnson at his ranch in Texas after reading the first installment of the Pentagon papers in The Times "because I'd never heard of the study."

As for administration miscalculations Rusk told NBC: "I personally think we underestimated the resistance and determination of the North Vietnamese ...

"... I thought when we had established a position in Vietnam which it could be clearly impossible to overrun, then they would pull back or negotiate."

In an interview televised on the CBS Evening News with Walter Cronkite, Rusk said: "... in looking back on it ... I personally underestimated the tenacity of the Nort Vietnamese."

While talking to NBC Rusk said: "I think in retrospect that we made a mistake in not pressing much harder to insist that the United Nations take up this situation (Indochina) and make it their business."

At one point in the conversation, Rusk claimed that Johnson had been confronted with a new situation after the 1964 election when North Vietnam sent regular army units into the South.

"I don't believe there was any deliberate attempt to deceive anybody during that period," he concluded.

Laird On Way To Far East

By KENT STURGIS
Associated Press Writer

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, on his way to a 17-day Far East tour, has denied a report that the Pentagon wants President Nixon to withdraw U.S. troops at a faster rate than now planned.

"The situation is just a little bit the opposite ..." Laird told newsmen Friday at Elmendorf Air Force Base near Anchorage. "The Joint Chiefs' recommendation, I think is not quite up to the 14,200 that we're following now, but it is reasonably close."

Laird commented on a Los Angeles Times report that quoted sources in Washington as saying for the first time the Joint Chiefs of Staff want fewer, not more, men in Vietnam. The report speculated the military wants the pull-out rate increased to about 20,000 per month.

"There is some disagreement within the Department of Defense," Laird said. "The chiefs of staff and others have recommended a somewhat lower rate, but it is not a substantially lower rate of withdrawal than that approved by the President of the United States."

The Times said the joint chiefs contend the troops are not needed now, particularly because U.S. combat forces are being removed first from Vietnam and the remaining logistical and backup forces are becoming more vulnerable to assault.

After his overnight stay here, Laird is to depart for Japan, where he will visit July 4-11 as the guest of the government and people of Japan. Then he will fly to South Korea to take part in the annual bilateral security consultative meeting of U.S. and South Korean defense and diplomatic officials.

TO KEEP HIM ALIVE

Glue Sniffer's Rights Violated

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dazed and trembling from the effects of 10 years of glue sniffing, Barry Draper stood before a judge who said, "I'm going to violate your constitutional rights, but it might keep you alive."

Criminal Court Judge Alfonso Sepe then ordered Draper, 26, held on a charge of parole violation, even though Draper was not represented by an attorney and was not offered a chance to seek representation.

Draper appeared in court Friday after his probation officer, Gerard Verzaal, found him lying "flat on his back" on a boat he owned.

Verzaal, 23, said Draper "couldn't stand up, had infected sores all over his body and had a high fever."

Verzaal said he took Draper, a veteran, to a Veterans Administration Hospital for treatment, but the hospital wouldn't admit him. A county hospital also said Draper did not need in-patient care.

Verzaal, who had a parolee die of heroin overdose last year, said Draper had been sniffing glue since he was 16, "and I'm afraid he's going to die.

"I'd rather see him in Raiford Prison for three years than see him die on the street," Verzaal said. "At least he'd be alive those three years.

"He's not a danger to society, but he's going to die if he doesn't get help," Verzaal told the judge.

Judge Sepe watched Draper, who stood mute throughout the hearing, then ordered him examined immediately by court-appointed physicians. Judge Sepe said he wanted Draper examined for possible brain damage as well as his obvious physical ailments.

Draper was first arrested in 1965 on charges of possession of burglary tools, breaking and entering and petty larceny. He was placed on two year probation, which has been extended regularly.

Three months ago, Draper was arrested on charges of glue sniffing and possession of marijuana. Judge Sepe extended his probagion for another year.

Business Off In Major Cities

AUSTIN (AP)—All but two of Texas' 20 major cities recorded declines in business activity during May, the Burau of Business Research reports.

Corpus Christi and Fort Worth registered 4 and 3 per cent hikes, respectively, based on seasonally adjusted figures.

Dallas dropped 11 per cent, San Antonio 9 and Houston 2.

All cities except Beaumont still show a gain for the first five months of this year compared with the same period in 1970. Beaumont had a 1 per cent drop.

Sharpest gainers for the five-month comparison were Corpus Christi 21 per cent, Fort Worth 17, San Angelo 17, San Antonio 16, Port Arthur 16, Austin 13, Wichita Falls 13, and El Paso 12.

Houston and Dallas recorded 9 and 8 per cent gains, respectively.

Deadly Road

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — Local authorities have asked the Rome government to close down to traffic Sicily's new superhighway. In five months time, it has proved the deadliest road in Europe.

The road, which was opened traffic last December, has totaled more than 500 car accidents and 16 deaths.

4-H Group Plans For District Horse Show

Members of the Scurry County 4-H Horsemanship Club are making plans to participate in the district show scheduled Wednesday in Tulia.

Scores made at the county show here in May determined the eligibility to participate in the district show.

The Scurry County Club has some 38 members, and those who will go to the district show were either finalists or alternates at the county show.

Last year, Scurry County had three members to qualify at the district show. For the past two years, they have had the grand champion mares, owned by Connie Courtney and Vicki Johnson, respectively. Connie Courtney's mare placed 7th out of 46 mares at the state show in Fort Worth.

The top 30 chosen at the district show will go to the state show in Fort Worth, which is set for Aug. 27-29. Approximately 35 counties with some 250 to 300 entries will be represented in the district event at Tulia.

Entries will be judged in halter, showmanship, western pleasure, reining, barrel racing and pole bending.

London Is Copters' Haven

LONDON (AP) — London is becoming a busy place for helicopters. Battersea Heliport reported 1970 was a record year for traffic at landing ground on the River Thames. It had a daily average of 19 takeoffs or landings.

Sleeper Gets Suspended Sentene

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Doveton Hale Helps, 54, was charged with housebreaking with intent to commit a crime "unknown to the prosecutor" after he was discovered asleep inside a government school. Helps testified that's all he broke in for—to sleep. The court gave him a suspended sentence.

Suit Filed On KFC

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Unit Inc. of Dallas, a Texas real estate firm, has filed suit in the Delaware Superior Court here against Kentucky Fried Chicken Corp., alleging "fraud and misrepresentation" to manipulate the price of stock illegally.

Unit Inc. claimed Kentucky Fried Chicken reneged on an agreement which would have authorized Unit to sell for $20 million, various Kentucky Fried Chicken real estate holdings, which Kentucky Fried Chicken would then have leased back. Unit said Kentucky Fried Chicken "never intended to fulfill the agreement."

Kentucky Fried Chicken is chartered in Delaware, but based in Louisville, Ky.

Unit also secured an order attaching 117,000 shares of common stock owned by John Y. Brown Jr., president and chief executive of Kentucky Fried Chicken, to insure his appearance in court. The stock is valued at $2.5 million.

Unit claimed Kentucky Fried Chicken entered the agreement in 1969 "solely for the purpose of showing Kentucky Fried Chicken and its stock among investment bankers in order to improve the market price of Kentucky Fried Chicken on the New York Stock Exchange and to improperly arouse interest in a proposed public issue of Kentucky Fried Chicken stock then under contemplation."

AUTO MANUFACTURERS CONTEND

Anti-Pollutant Devices Answer To Car Pollution

By HOWARD BENEDICT
Associated Press Writer

The internal combustion engine, darling of those who love big, powerful automobiles, is the demon of the auto pollution story.

Environmentalists and others are pressuring Detroit to clean it up—or to develop an alternate engine. There are several substitute candidates, including power plants run by steam, electricity, heat, freon or natural gas. There's even a "wind-up" car operated by an old-fashioned flywheel.

Late last year, Congress added to the Clear Air Act of 1970 a tough set of standards that require manufacturers to produce a virtually pollution-free auto by 1976.

Under the new law, signed by President Nixon, cars built in the mid-1970s must emit 97 per cent less carbon monoxide than their counterparts a decade ago. The exhausts must be 98 per cent freer of hydrocarbons and 90 per cent freer of oxides of nitrogen.

The law gives the government the authority to stop production of automobiles which fail to meet these standards.

Detroit says the standards are so strict that automotive engineers are going to have to come up with drastic changes. The industry says that while new-type engines may be the wave of the future, it would be impossible to have a mass-produced substitute for the internal combustion engine by 1976.

The immediate answer, the manufacturers contend, is to develop effective anti-pollutant devices for the engine.

Under government and public prodding, they have added a number of such devices starting with 1968 models. These have added an average $80 to the price of a car. Federal studies show that automotive air pollution in the United States has declined nearly 20 per cent since its peak in 1967.

Most of the 1971 models have less powerful engines with reduced compression ratios, allowing the use of lower octane gasolines. This has permitted oil companies to market low-lead or lead-free gasolines. But these cost two to four cents more per gallon and motorists have been reluctant to switch. The oil industry reports sales of unleaded gas represent less than 5 per cent of the market share.

Lead is one pollutant emitted from exhaust pipes. Because the human body excretes lead slowly, it can accumulate in man. So far, however, no studies have linked illnesses or deaths from lead poisoning to atmospheric lead concentrates.

Other pollutants from the internal combustion engine are:

—Hydrocarbons, which usually result from partial combustion of gasoline. Some are not poisonous in normal atmospheric conditions. But others, the so-called aromatic hydrocarbons, have caused cancer when applied to the skin of laboratory animals. These also contribute to the formation of smog.

—Carbon monoxide, also a product of incomplete burning. The government considers a concentration of nine parts per million the safe limit. Ten parts per million can cause changes in the heart and blood vessels. Many people suffer from headache and dizziness when exposed to 100 parts per million, a common concentration in heavy traffic. Readings as high as 370 parts have been recorded inside cars caught in traffic jams in Los Angeles, the nation's most acute auto pollution area.

The California Department of Health reports carbon monoxide fumes may cause hundreds of deaths each year in the Los Angeles area, mostly among the elderly and infirm.

—Nitric oxide, which results when nitrogen and oxygen, both plentiful in the atmosphere, combine. The chemical reaction requires heat, which is provided by auto engines. Nitric oxide is irritating and it tends to change into nitrogen dioxide, which contributes to smog and which some researchers believe damages the lungs.

The automobile isn't the sole offender. Industrial plants and incinerators also foul the air. But government studies indicate about 50 per cent of U.S. air pollution consists of automotive wastes, with carbon monoxide the single largest pollutant.

The most promising antipollution device for meeting the 1976 auto standards is a catalytic converter, a muffler-like canister intended to reduce carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon emissions dramatically by changing them to harmless water vapor.

A major problem is that such converters are not practical with leaded gasoline. The lead builds up in the device and after a few thousand miles makes it ineffective. Catalytic converters also are not very effective while the engine warms up, which is the peak exhaust emission period. And they change nitric oxide into ammonia, another pollutant.

But research continues, and General Motors hopes to have effective catalysts in some cars by 1973 and across the board in 1975. Ford is running experimental tests of the device with 1971 cars in the Detroit area.

Another drawback is the possibility the device will raise gasoline consumption by as much as 25 per cent and add as much as $500 to the price of a car.

These efforts do not impress some environmentalists who say the answer lies not in trying to clean up the current engine but in finding a new, non-polluting way to power the automobile.

So the search is on for a replacement for the internal combustion engine. Results so far have not been extremely promising.

One alternative receiving considerable attention is the rotary-piston German-developed Wankel engine. It is still an internal combustion engine but it is quite different from the orthodox power plant. It is much smaller and has about 40 per cent fewer moving parts.

Junior Editors Quiz on POTTO

QUESTION: What is the potto and what is its African name?

ANSWER: The potto, an animal which lives in West Africa, belongs to a large group of mammals which includes apes and man, and to the group of animals known as a lemur or sloth. It looks more like a squirrel than a monkey.

It lives in a colony and travels at night. It is a very slow-moving animal and feeds on insects, fruit and eggs. This little animal makes loud sounds which can be heard miles away.

The most unusual characteristics of this animal is the fact that it has a thumb and an index finger. It can hang head downward with its grasping tail. The fur is wooly and a yellowish brown in color. Females may bear one or two young in a year.

The potto is friendly and amusing at times and makes an interesting and lovable pet. It requires warm quarters in order to survive in captivity. It is known in tropical Africa as the kinkajou and is found in the tropical forests all the way from Mexico to Brazil.

Cut Grid Scholarships?

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — An NCAA financial aids committee has recommended that schools be limited to granting 30 football scholarships per year and that the size of scholarships be based on the individual need of the student.

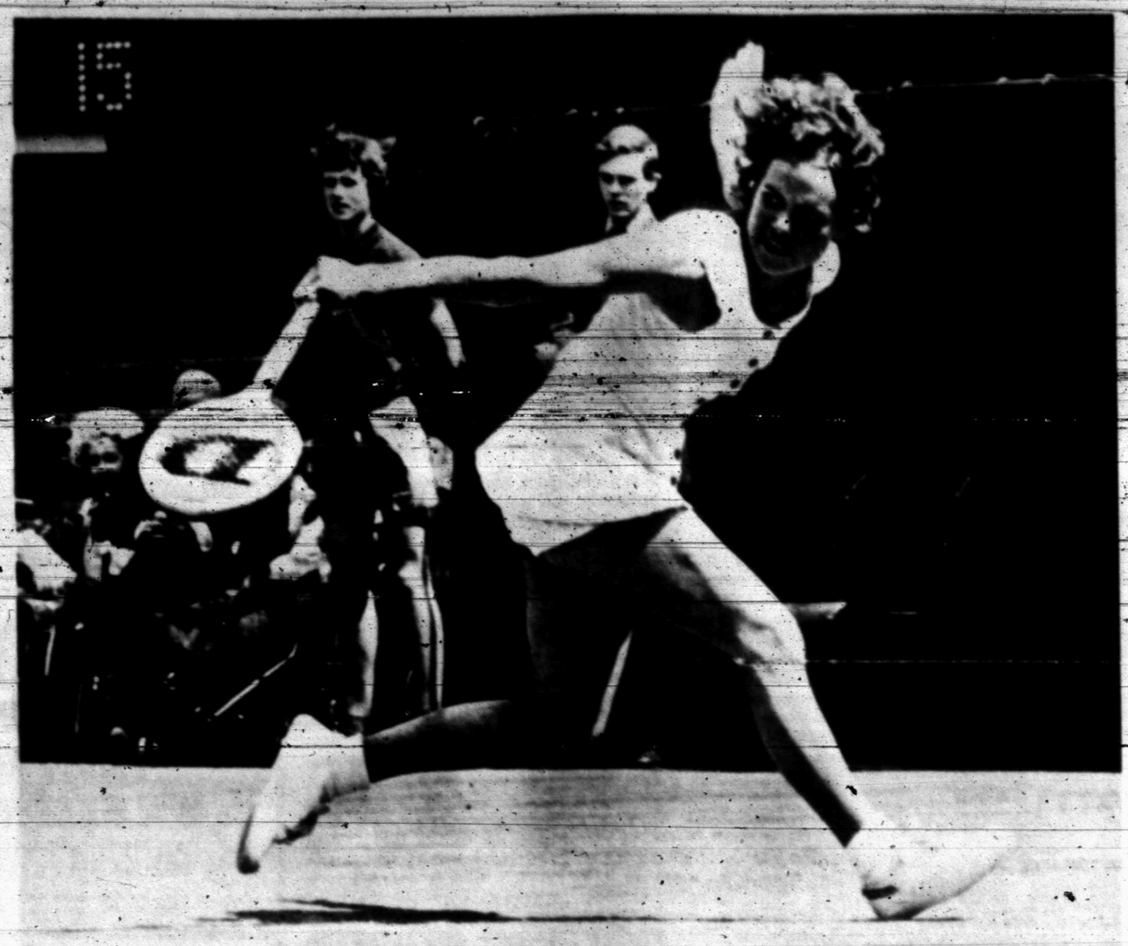

William J. Flynn of Boston College, the chairman of the committee, said other recommendations will be made at August and November meetings of the policy directing NCAA Council. They center around a six-man limit on basketball scholarships, restrictions on the size of coaching staffs and a uniform signing date for national letters of intent, he said.

The coaching staff limit would be eight fulltime and three part-time football coaches, three full time and one part time basketball coaches and comparable limitations in other sports.

The scholarship limit and the need formula would result in a saving of 50 per cent or more on money spent on scholarships at the average school, Flynn said.

He added that a uniform national signing date would further result in reduced recruiting expenses.

The committee, in recommending scholarships on a need basis, prepared tables based on net income as shown on income tax returns.

WINS TITLE — Australia's Evonne Goolagong defeated Margaret Court, also of Australia, 6-4, 6-1 to win the women's championship at Wimbledon. Giants, A's Win FL Tilts

The Giants flailed the Cardinals 22-8 and the Athletics pounded the Indians 22-6 in two Farm League tilts held Friday night in Towle Park.

Giant pitcher K. Riley twirled a 4-hitter, giving up a single and a double to Gary Eckert, a double to Walt Williams, and a single to Donald Bennett. The Giants smashed nine hits including two doubles by K. Wortham, a single and a double by D. Bennett, three singles by M. Rax and a single and a double by T. Holder.

The Athletics bombed Tribe pitchers for 13 hits, including a triple by K. Harbin, two doubles and two singles by Thomas Salmon, a double and a single by Asher Wright, a double by Joe Lopez, two singles by David Zajeck, and singles by Dennis Wright, S. Lee, and Randy Tate.

The Tribe collected eight hits. G. Murphree, H. Barbosa and T. Romero each stroked two singles while D. Hill and J. Lopez each hit one single.

Pinkerton Is Harlingen Champ

HARLINGEN (AP) — T. R. Pinkerton of Beaumont shot a one over par 73 at Harlingen Municipal Friday to win the 27th annual Texas Association of Lefthanded Golfers State Tournament by five shots.

Pinkerton's 72-hole total was 302, which is 14 over par. Finishing second was Jack Dozier of San Antonio with 307, followed by Bob Campbell of Fort Worth with 309 and 54-hole leader Bill Randall of Dallas with 310.

Pinkerton turned the front side in one-under-par 34 with one birdie, and collected two birdies against four bogeys on the back side.

Shy Goolagong Wins Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP — Evonne Goolagong is 19 years old, shy, brown-skinned, sunny-tempered, an Australian aborigine. She is also a Wimbledon champion.

Despite her tender age, Miss Goolagong had little trouble defeating the two women who had dominated tennis in recent years, Billie Jean King and Margaret Court, to win the women's singles crown at Wimbledon.

In Wednesday's semi-finals, Miss Goolagong upset Mrs. King in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4. Then, in the first all-Australian women's final Friday, she upended the top-seeded Mrs. Court, also in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1.

At 19 years, 11 months, she is the youngest Wimbledon champion since Brazil's Maria Bueno won her first title in 1959 at 19 years, 8 months.

Center court at Wimbledon is a long ways from Barellan, the settlement of sheep raisers about 400 miles south of Sydney where Miss Goolagong was born and where her family still lives.

Many Aborigines still live as nomads in the Great Outback, Australia's vast inland wilderness. Some have settled in cities, while others live on the outskirts of small towns like Barellan, where Evonne's father is a sheep-shearer.

Evonne was 'discovered' where visitors from Sydney happened to see her playing on Barellan's one tennis court. She was 9 at the time.

At age 11 she was brought to Sydney for intensive coaching under veteran Vic Edwares. Two years later Edwards convinced Evonne's parents to allow him to adopt her as a member of his family.

Since then, under Edwards' steady tutelage, Evonne has improved steadily. For the past year, Edwards has predicted Miss Goolagong would win at Wimbledon by 1974.

"I never thought she would win Wimbledon as soon as this," Edwards said. "I still say 1974 is when she will realize her full potential. She will make a lot of progress yet."

Her youthful innocence may have been one of Evonne's biggest weapons at Wimbledon. It never crossed her mind that a 19-year-old kid wasn't supposed to beat people like Mrs. King and Mrs. Court.

Miss Goolagong told newsmen she was nervous before her match with Mrs. Court-but only briefly. "As soon as I got out there I forgot my nerves and started playing," Evonne said.

Miss Goolagong will be competing in a few tournaments, including the Canadian Open in Toronto, before going home to Australia, according to Edwards. But as of now, she will not be playing in the U.S. Open at Forest Hills.

Astros, Dodgers Win; San Francisco Loses

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Gibson doesn't think he scares the San Francisco Giants and it's likely that Friday night's version of the San Francisco Giants didn't scare Bob Gibson.

Playing without Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and Dick Dietz, the Giants were no match for Gibson and bowed 7-2 as the fireballing right-hander of the St. Louis Cardinals broke a personal four-game losing streak and won for the first time since May 14. Part of that stretch was spent on the disabled list.

Elsewhere in the National League, Los Angeles trounced San Diego 5-2, Atlanta nipped the New York Mets 3-2, Pittsburgh whipped the Chicago Cubs 5-1, Houston edged Cincinnati 3-2 and Montreal downed Philadelphia 4-2 with the Phillies taking the nightcap 8-4.

American League scores: Detroit 3, Baltimore 1; New York Yankees 6, Boston 0; Chicago White Sox 2, Kansas City 1; Milwaukee 5, Minnesota 0 and Washington 6, Cleveland 3.

Gibson's triumph was his ninth straight over the Giants since Gaylord Perry pitched a no-hitter to beat him back in September 1968.

Gibson, 5-7, finished with a four-hitter but trailed 2-0 until consecutive home runs by Matty Alou and Jose Cruz off Steve Stone tied the score in the fourth.

The Cards snapped the tie and chased Stone with three runs in the fifth. Gerry McNertney doubled, Dal Maxvill singled him home and Gibson also singled. The second run scored on Lou Brock's double play grounder and the third on a pair of walks and Joe Torre's single. Alou and Cruz hit successive sacrifice flies in the seventh.

The defeat sliced the Giants' lead in the NL West to 5½ games over Los Angeles.

Bill Buckner drove in five runs with his third homer and three singles to pace the Dodgers over the Padres. Willie Crawford also homered and rookie Doyle Alexander posted his first major league victory, scattering 12 hits, including a pair of run-scoring doubles by Clarence Gaston.

Buckner and the Dodgers started against Clay Kirby with a two-run homer in the second inning. He singled a run home in the sixth and laced a bases-loaded single in the ninth.

Rookie Earl Williams elted a tie-breaking home run in the eighth inning to lift the Braves over the Mets, who dropped four games behind Pittsburgh in the NL East.

Ron Reed, tagged for 10 hits in five innings, settled down and retired the last 13 Mets in order. Meanwhile, the Braves rallied with single runs in the sixth, on Mike Lum's single, and seventh, on Ralph Garr's double, before Williams connected off Danny Frisella.

Fourth-inning home runs by Bob Robertson and Gene Alley highlighted a 14-hit attack that carried the Pirates past the Cubs. Chicago ace Ferguson Jenkins surrendered 10 hits and all five runs before leaving for a pinch hitter. Pittsburgh's Bob Moose scattered seven hits and then departed for a two-week military tour.

Bob Watson's eighth-inning single off Gary Nolan enabled the Astros to nip the Reds. It followed Roger Metzger's infield hit, a sacrifice and an intentional walk. Jim Wynn drove in the first two Houston runs with a bunt single and his third homer.

Larry Dierker, who dropped his last three decisions, finally notched his 11th win but needed help from Fred Gladding in the ninth when his arm tightened.

Dave McDonald drove in two runs with a homer and sacrifice fly and Dan McGinn hurled a four-hitter, his first complete game since last August, as the Expos handed Rick Wise his second consecutive setback since his no-hitter against Cincinnati.

Deron Johnson, who homered in the opener, rapped two of the Phillies' four doubles in the nightcap they also had two triples as they chased Bill Stoneman in the sixth. Woody Fryman came on in the third inning and blanked the Expos the rest of the way on two hits, striking out eight.

Javelina Stadium Can Seat 17,000

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Two new seating sections for Texas A&I's Javelina Stadium will give the school one of the largest seating capacities of any college division team in Texas.

Additions of 1,750 seats to each end of the present permanent section on the west side of the stadium will raise the total seating capacity to 17,000.

Construction of the new sections will be completed by Sept. 1

Oilers Slip Past Buffs 7-3

The Oilers slipped past the Buffs 7-3 in an exciting Junior Teenage League tilt held in Towle Park Friday night.

Oiler hurler Robert Braziel gave up only three hits-a double to Jerry Bob Lee and two singles to Micky Neeves.

The Oilers broke a 3-3 tie in the 6th inning with a 4-run outburst. Two walks, an error and successive singles by David Wilson and Phil Robinson accounted for the margin of victory.

Other Oiler hits included a double by Hubert Crayton, a double by Jerry Webb, two singles by Larry Johns, and single base hits by Barry Keller, Robert Braziel and Bobby Wall.

Pokes Open 12th Pre-season Camp

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. — The Dallas Cowboys open their 12th pre-season training camp this week, determined to maintain the spirit and cohesiveness that propelled them in 1970 to their best season ever.

The drive toward a repeat National Football Conference title and Super Bowl VI begins Friday when some 80 rookies report to California Lutheran College, site of the Cowboys camp since 1963.

Arriving with the rookies will be 1970 taxi squadders Doug Mooers, John Fitzgerald and Joe Williams, and second-year man Bob Asher.

Missing from the rookie dorm will be No. 1 draft choice Today Smith, No. 2 choice Isaac Thomas and third-round pick Bill Gregory. All will play in the College All-Star game in Chicago against the Baltimore Colts on July 30. They report to the All-Star camp Thursday.

The Cowboys' veteran quarterbacks, Craig Morton and Roger Staubach, center Dave Manders and offensive lineman Halvor Hagen will arrive here July 11. All of the veterans will be in camp by July 16.

There's optimism among the Cowboys, sparked by the seven straight victories that put them in the Super Bowl and by off-season trades that brought wide receiver Lance Alworth and tight end Billy Truax, among others, to Dallas.

"This is the best potential offensively we've ever had," says Cowboys Coach Tom Landry. "And, based on the last eight games of last year, it's by far the best defense we've ever had."

Landry cautions, however, "You can't live in the past or on potential. You have to live out there this season."

The Cowboys placed great emphasis on the running game in their closing rush last year. Now, with Alworth and Truax, newcomers Gloster Richardson and Wendell Tucker, veterans Bob Hayes, Mike Ditka, Reggie Rucker and Margene Adkins, some changes could be in store.

"It's got to bring a great deal of emphasis to the passing game," says Landry. "The potential has to be great. The chance for the easy touchdown is there again."

It won't be an easy transition. "Our whole offense has to rejell", Landry says. "It's completely different now with the new personnel. We've got to adjust to the strengths of our people.

"There's a lot of individual talent there, but that doesn't necessarily make a team. It takes time to make a team."

A fierce battle is expected for the No. 1 quarterback position. Craig Morton, the starter for the past two seasons, had surgery on his right elbow during the off-season. It was the second straight year on the operating table for Morton, who had a separated shoulder repaired after the 1969 campaign. He says his arm now is as good as new.

Roger Staubach, Morton's backup man in '69 and '70, makes no secret of his desire to be No. 1. And, says Landry, Staubach now has the experience to make his "first real challenge" for the job.

At running back, 1969 Rookie of the Year Calvin Hill will try to regain his old position from 1970 rookie sensation Duane Thomas.

Walt Garrison appears set at the other running back spot.

The offensive line - tackles Rayfield Wright and Ralph Neely, guards John Niland and Blaine Nye and center Manders - returns intact.

All 11 starters are back on defense, including second-year free safeties Charlie Waters and Cliff Harris. They divided starting time last year and will be vying for the No. 1 spot in camp.

The other 10 defenders also will be difficult to dislodge. They are ends George Andrie and Larry Cole; tackles, Bob Lilly and Jethro Pugh; linebackers Chuck Howley, Lee Roy Jordan and Dave Edwards; cornerbacks Mel Renfro and Herb Adderley, and strong safety Cornell Green.

All in all, it looks like an extremely tough year for rookies. Leading candidates to make the squad include Smith, Isaac Thomas and Gregory, along with running back Sam Scarber, selected before Gregory in the third round.

The Cowboys will train at Thousand Oaks up to the preseason opener at Los Angeles Aug. 6. They'll return to Dallas after the game.

A's, Cards Win In LL

The Athletics scalped the Indians 12-7 and the Cardinals clipped the Giants 20-0 in two Little League games held in Towle Park Friday night.

The Athletics erupted for six runs in the 2nd inning to take command in their game against the Tribe. They scored in every inning except the 6th. Bryan Walton knocked a home run for the A's, Toney Cobb doubled, and Royce Corbell doubled and singled. Gerald Snyder stroked two singles while Charles Cobb and Richard Cryaton each hit one single. For the Indians, Darrell Lester hit a home run, Dray Sikes and Doug Vaughn doubled, and Brad Browning hit two singles. Anthony Lewis had one single.

Cardinal pitcher R. Beard twirled a 1-hitter, giving up only a single to B. Rollins. The Cards collected 18 hits, including a home run, a double and two singles by Beard, two doubles and three singles by T. Falls, a double and a single by S. Everton, a double and a single by M. Anderson, a double and a single by M. Duke, a double by R. Ille, and two singles by T. Franks. The Cards scored in every inning, but the game was halted after four frames.

Amarillo Stops San Antonio 6-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Randy Mohler of the Amarillo Giants did it again last night, with a little help from his friends.

His friends included teammate Bob Frazier, who highlighted a five-run seventh inning rally with a three run homer that brought the Giants into a 5-5 tie with San Antonio after trailing 5-0, and Dick White, whose righth inning triple set up an RBI single by Mohler that gave Amarillo a 6-5 victory.

In other games east division leader Asheville beat Jacksonville 7-2, Central leader Arkansas smashed runnerup Memphis 8-2, Shreveport swept two games from Birmingham 9-6 and 2-1, Dallas-Fort Worth shut out Albuquerque 2-0, Charlotte rolled over Montgomery 9-0 and Savannah at Charlotte was postponed because of rain.

Studies Underway On New Uses For Cotton

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — A newly established nutrition research group at Texas Woman's University will give expanded emphasis to studies of cottonseed as a source of food.

The studies are to be added to the numerous projects conducted by the University's Research Institute involving uses of cotton for clothing and household applications.

Both fiber and food studies are supported by the Natural Fibers and Food Protein Committee, formerly the Cotton Research Committee of Texas.

Texas Woman's University President John A. Guinn is the chairman of this agency which also includes the presidents of the University of Texas at Austin, Texas A&M University and Texas Tech University.

The institute director, Dr. Pauline Beery Mack, who has studied protein requirements of more than 20,000 persons, directs the new studies. She will be assisted by a nine-member team of physicians and nutrition researchers.

Dr. Karl F. Mattil, professor of soil and crop sciences and director of the Food Products Research Department of the Texas Engineering Experiment Station, Texas A&M, will be consultant for the Denton group.

In the past, a pigment (gossypol) in cottonseed restricted its use as a food source. The pigment glands, which appear as dark specks in ordinary cotton seeds, impart a dark reddish color to crude cottonseed oil and a yellowish brown color to cottonseed meal.

The pigment not only introduces an undesirable color in oil and seed products but can also cause adverse metabolic effects if fed to human beings.

Now a glandless cotton, one free of this pigment, has been produced, a development in which geneticists at Texas A&M played a major part.

Oil produced from glandless cottonseed has a light yellow color. It requires a minimum of processing and has extensive uses as unsaturated fat.

Cottonseed protein from glandless seed is almost white. This protein can be fed with complete safety not only to farm animals but also to human beings.

The rising cost of animal protein—meat, milk and eggs—has intensified consumer interest in vegetable protein.

During the past two decades nutrition research in U.S. laboratories, including those at Texas Woman's University has included projects aimed at increasing the availability of food protein from vegetable sources. Cotton has received special attention recently.

"The introductory work of the TWU Research Institute in this field," Dr. Mack said, "has been to design recipes for the use of glandless cottonseed protein in food products and to perform tests on the acceptability of the recipes."

This form of vegetable protein has been used successfully at the university in bread, cake and cookies, meat loaf, rice and other carbohydrate dishes.

"Nutrition research work by TWU staff members has shown that animal protein can be supplemented by vegetable protein satisfactorily so as to increase the total consumption of protein, which is badly needed in many diets of persons of all economic levels," Dr. Mack said.

"Vegetable protein cannot entirely take the place of animal protein because of its composition, but it can increase the overall amount of protein consumed," she said. "Protein from glandless cottonseed meal is among the best in composition of the vegetable proteins."

Dr. Mack expects research on protein from cottonseed meal to assist Texas in becoming an international source of superior food protein.

Job Ideas For Women

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: It will be necessary for me to find a job as I am a widow with teenage children, and expenses are becoming more than I can handle. What I know a lot of women would appreciate is a list of job ideas, and how much training is needed. -- S.Y., Des Moines

Here is a sampling of career possibilities expanded from a list originally developed by the New York State Women's Program. The educational requirements are approximate, and indicated by the following code:

3rd Student Convicted

HOUSTON (AP) — A third college student was convicted Friday of insulting the American flag and Dist. Judge Joseph M. Guarino gave William C. Holland, 19, a two-year probated sentence.

Holland, a Rice University student, was found guilty of desecrating the flag in the early morning hours of May 1, 1970, during an incident at the school.

Glen Van Slyke III, 21, a Rice graduate, was given an eight-year probated sentence earlier and Bill Case, 19, a former Rice student, was given a two-year probated sentence for flag desecrations during the same incident in a trial this week.

Holland pleaded not guilty to the charge and said that at the time of the incident he was protesting the invasion of American group troops into Cambodia.

14-Story Fall Kills Worker

DALLAS (AP) — A 14-story fall killed a workman Friday at the 40-story Trammell Crow office tower being built on the east side of the downtown district.

Quick action of a coworker saved another man.

Thomas Sansom, 35, plunged to death through the center of the unfinished skyscraper after a section of freshly poured concrete floor in the 38th story collapsed under his cart, which carried 1,000 pounds of concrete.

The body was found on the 24th floor.

Police said Dennis Peyton stopped the slide of an unidentified fellow workman into the opening by using a long pole to flip against a guard rail. The falling man grabbed the rail and was lifted to safety.

Nearly every organ in the body can be kept functioning by a machine.

Bureau Cuts Down Drug Flow

PARIS (AP) — The U.S. Narcotics Bureau is claiming major successes in cutting down the flow of heroin from Europe and the Middle East to the United States.

But the bureau's director for Europe, John T. Cusack, acknowledges that the French processing labs that turn morphine base into heroin are still unattached. And he says Turkish opium growers continue high production, although officials there are trying to dry up the black market and have agreed to stop growing opium next year.

Cusack based his claim of success on narcotics seizures made by European police departments with the assistance of intelligence, expertise or money from the U.S. Narcotics Bureau.

In the first six months of 1971, 1,353 kilos of heroin and morphine base were seized from Spain to Turkey with American assistance. This compared with 306 kilos in all of 1970, he said. In France alone 548 kilos of heroin base were seized during the first half of year, compared to last year's 12-month total of 449. A kilo is 2.2 pounds.

The figures become meaningful in terms of the 5,000 kilos of heroin refined from morphine base on a one to one ratio—that are smuggled into the United States from Europe and the Middle East every year.

The increased seizures are attributed to growing concern within Europe about narcotics and an expansion of U.S. operations on the Continent since last fall.

But all the seizures have been outside the laboratories in the Marseilles area where processing is concentrated.

An American close to the drug situation said: "No one knows better than we do that we're not getting the labs. It's the French police. They're making a whole lot of progress, but quite frankly the capability of their new people is not just not up to it yet. They're hitting the traffickers which is fine and important, but we're still not into the final stage."

Reports from Associated Press bureaus indicate a general toughening in attitudes:

Ankara—Turkish police are using a $3 million U.S. loan to train a 420-man narcotics squad and have confiscated this year twice the amount of illicit opium seized in any previous year.

Two-Day Dance Long Remembered

BOONE'S BLUFF, Tex. (AP) — Today's young swingers may have a warped view of life in frontier Texas, especially if they have never heard of the two-day dance in this East Texas pine woods country.

Life, even when loading cotton, may not have been quite so grim as one would imagine.

The event occurred in the early spring of 1870 on the steamboat Graham anchored at the foot of Boone's Bluff.

The Graham, like all sternwheelers plying the Neches, had to come upstream and return while the river was high. The Graham was piloted by a Capt. Weiss when it churned up the winding river from Beaumont to Boone's Bluff for a cargo of cotton.

While bales of cotton were being loaded on the lower deck, a ball was in progress for two days on the upper deck.

News of plans for the ball had spread throughout a wide East Texas area from Woodville to Moscow.

And when the exciting event began, there were representatives from most of the pioneer families in the territory—the Kirbys, Caubles, Burches, Whiteheads, Barclays, Paynes, Seamonses, Barheses, Cruses, Priests, Sturrocks, Hallmarks, Fortenberrys and others.

The dance began at four o'clock in the afternoon and lasted until four or five o'clock in the morning. Popular fiddle numbers, with Uncle Tom Seamons the leading fiddler, furnished the music.

"Sally Goodin," the "French Breakdown," and other popular tunes of the day furnished plenty of rhythm for young ladies in hoop-skirts and their male partners—most of whom were dressed in homespun and wore high hats called "bee gums." A number of young men also had pistols strapped to their belts, "fashion extras" taken for granted in those days.

It was said that the astute Capt. Weiss sponsored the ball to advertise his new steamboat and get a big cargo of cotton. If so, the scheme was most successful.

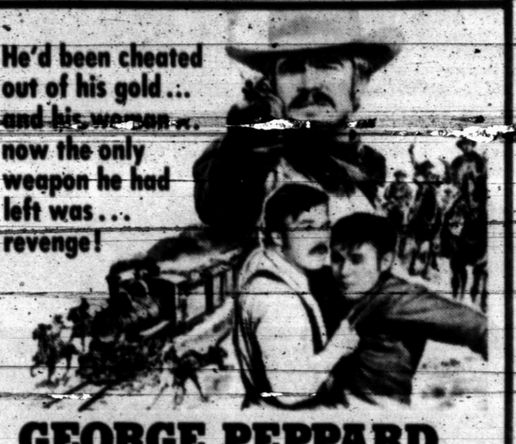

When the Graham lifted anchor at Boone's Bluff it had a record load of cotton bales bound for Galveston via Beaumont.

And guests returned to their homes with such glowing accounts of the big two-day ball on the Graham that memories of it have been kept alive from 1870 to 1971.

Mamie To Wed Third Time

HONOLULU (AP) — Recuperating from Dysentery suffered while touring Vietnam, actress Mamie Van Doren says she plans to marry for the third time.

The blonde actress announced Friday she plans to marry Army Maj. James P. Hughes of Atlanta, Ga., who arrived here Thursday to vacation with her. She did not give details of the wedding plans.

WANT ADS DO THE JOB FAST!

Lady Is Dogcatcher

DALLAS (AP) — People in Dallas who call the city for help in their problems with mad dogs, wild horses or any other animal are sometimes surprised these days when a female answers the call.

To add a little variety to her life, 26-year-old Shuah Siemer, who owns seven dogs, three cats and two parrots, became a dogcatcher.

Miss Siemer says that women actually have somewhat of an advantage over male "dog wardens."

"It is usually a woman who feeds a dog and so even the most vicious of the dogs we are called upon to catch respond much better to the women than to the men. In fact, I don't ever think I've ever run into a vicious dog on the job."

Although dogs seem to take to her right away, Shuah said that sometimes the people insist that she go back to the animal shelter and let a man do the job.

"But I stand firm," she said. "I tell them I am well qualified and that I am perfectly capable of doing the job. Then I proceed to do it."

In her spare time, she teaches a dog obedience class and also a class on poodle grooming. Her own dogs are all standard poodles.

Blaiberg Widow Seeks Seclusion

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Mrs. Eileen Blum, widow of early heart transplant recipient Philip Blaiberg, has wound up her affairs in South Africa and returned to Israel and her new husband.

Asked where in Israel she lived with government official Herbert Blum, she replied "we have a country house near the coast, but I'm not saying where. All the newspapers are trying to find out, but we want to be left alone."

AN OPPORTUNITY THAT TALKS
If you are currently seeking a business opportunity that offers you a supplemental income at present with the potential to become a full time occupation; we have a program that will be of interest to you.
We are a major corporation in the 5 billion dollar vending industry. We have developed a unique "TALKING VENDING MACHINE" that is taking the industry by storm. This is a quality product dispensing only nationally advertised snacks and candy.
You should have some free time and an automobile to service and maintain your equipment. This is a sound business venture, and as such will require initiative and responsibility, but offers unusual income potential.

Researchers Growing Cancer Causing Virus

HOUSTON (AP) — Researchers at M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute said Friday they have succeeded in growing in a test tube a virus believed to cause some forms of human cancer.

They said the isolation of the spherical-shaped "Type C virus" opens the door for definitive studies into the exact relationship of viruses to some human cancers.

Two Anderson virologists, Dr. Elizabeth S. Priori and Dr. Leon Dmochowski, headed the team which made the discovery.

Some scientists have suspected that viruses play a vital role in some human cancers. But while many have been able to prove viruses cause cancer in lower animals, it has never been shown conclusively the same is true for humans.

The virus grown here in human tissue was extracted from cells grown in tissue culture and obtained originally from a biopsy of a child with Burkitt's lymphoma, the researchers said.

Lymphoma is a cancer of the human lymphatic system. Burkitt's lymphoma frequently involves bones of the face and knees and is predominantly found in African children.

The virus was observed originally in 1957 by Dmochowski and C. E. Grey in lymph nodes of a leukemic patient at Anderson.

Dmochowski said the Type C virus particles isolated from the human lymphoma are identical in apperance to those known to cause leukemia in all non-human animals.

The significant finding in the virus' isolation, he said, is that it is neither a contaminant nor an animal virus.

Dmochowski said his findings were proved through an exhaustive series of test and then verified by scientific teams at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Center of New York and at the National Cancer Institute.

Until now, no one had been able to grow the virus in the test tube so it could be studied carefully to determine its cancer causing properties.

"The availability of this virus provides a tool of great potential for investigation of the role of viruses in human cancer and perhaps even for vaccination studies," Dr. Priori said.

"Scientists can now determine whether in the test tube the virus is capable of transforming normal human cells into cancer cells, and if so, how it accomplishes this.

"Ideally, some day we would hope to be able to vaccinate all children against some types of cancer ... And while it is too soon to say that will be possible, I believe we have the beginning of a new research era now," Dmochowski said.

64 Beauties Seek Miss Texas Title

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Miss Texas pageant marks a decade in Fort Worth this week with 64 contestants vying for the title and with the reigning Miss America on hand.

A record $6,500 in scholarships await the winner, finalists and others.

The 64 beauties began arriving Sunday for the week-long pageant, which, for the first time, is moving from Will Rogers Auditorium to the theatre of the convention center.

Phyllis George, Miss America, will appear as a dancer in each of three nights of preliminary competition as well as in Saturday night's coronation show.

Miss George, a Denton beauty representing Dallas here a year ago, is the first Texas representative to win the national title since Jo-Carroll Dennison of Tyler became Miss America in 1942.

Now Mrs. Russell Stoneham of Pacific Palisades, Calif., the 1942 Miss America returns this year as a member of the judges panel.

Joining Miss George as featured entertainers will be vocalist Joe DeVito; Miss Texas, Bellinda Myrick of Odessa; and Maria Beale Fletcher, Miss America of 1962, mistress of ceremonies.

The former Miss Irving, Sandra Hogan, and the former Miss Richardson, Lisa Bryan, will appear as dancers.

Besides earning the right to represent the state in the Miss America pageant, the winner receives a $2,500 scholarship, a $3,000 wardrobe and a $500 fashion award.

Unless she follows in Miss George's footsteps in Atlantic City, she will reign a year as Miss Texas, appearing around the state as Texas' first lady of beauty.

Should she win the Miss America crown, the first runner-up will assume the state title, as was the case last year with Miss Myrick.

This marks the 10th consecutive year for the pageant to be held in Fort Worth.

A pageant spokesman said the state pageant and the 64 affiliated local preliminaries will have awarded more than $32,000 in scholarships this year.

The show will be telecast regionally by KTVT-Fort Worth beginning Saturday at 10:15 p.m.

NY Police Fear Gangland War

By LARRY SIMONBERG
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The police say they have learned that the shooting of Joseph A. Colombo Sr., resulted from a power struggle in the "Italian underworld community" and they fear a general gangland war may break out.

Colombo, the reputed leader of a Brooklyn underworld family, was shot and critically wounded Monday prior to a rally of the Italian-American Civil Rights League, which he founded. Police say Jerome A. Johnson, 24, fired three shots at Colombo and then himself was slain by an unknown gunman.

"It looks at this time that Johnson, the black man who shot Colombo and was in turn slain, was a hired gunman—hired by the Italian underworld community," Robert Daley, deputy police commissioner for press relations, said Friday.

"A plot was approved several days before the shooting," he said. "They did not intend to stop with Colombo. There's only been one shooting so far and we'd like to keep it that way."

Daley would not reveal the names of the persons the police believe were behind the plot, nor would he identify other alleged targets. But he said that detectives were guarding a number of underworld figures.

Colombo, 48, remained in a coma in critical condition at Roosevelt Hospital, today. Doctors reported some "spontaneous reflex movement" Friday.

Johnson, using press credentials supplied by the league, was operating a movie camera and photographing Colombo before the start of the rally in Manhattan's Columbus Circle, according to police.

Suddenly, he shot Colombo three times with a 7.65 mm automatic pistol—possibly aided by an accomplice—and was shot and killed by someone with a .38-caliber revolver, police said.

Daley said that the latest information developed by police indicated that there were "two hit men, Johnson and the man who hit Johnson." He said police thought it possible that Johnson was doublecrossed as part of the plot.

Before disclosing the police theory of the plot, Daley displayed the movie camera he said Johnson was using at the rally.

He said it had been rented in Boston, and Johnson had paid for it with a bad check. He would not explain how the police obtained the camera, which earlier they had said was missing. Daley said it contained 500 feet of exposed film.

A report that Johnson had been offered $200,000 and safe transit out of the country was called "trivel" by Daley.

The spokesman also scoffed at a report that the others marked for death were Jiggs Forlano, Carmine (The Snake) Persico, Hugh (Apples) McIntosh and Joe Iannuci, all said to be members of Colombo's alleged underworld family.

When it's rose-picking time in Bulgaria the workers go into the fields long before dawn.
