

All for Good Grooming

Just before the two-day Mitchell County 4-H & FFA Livestock Show got underway, Friday, these two Loraine High School boys spent pre-judging hours carefully grooming their favorite lamb-entries. At left is James Mahon, sophomore student, clipping away at a lamb he fed and groomed for the annual boys' show.

James is son of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Mahon. Gary Finley, right, also snipping, shaping, and readying is son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finley. Gary is another Loraine sophomore. Out of camera range their FFA coach, Raymond Holt, stood looking on—or supervising the clipping.

Little League Election Meet Set Tuesday

Little League workers will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday night to elect a president and to plan next season. Little League meeting is to be held in Lone Wolf Electric Coop building.

Art Dibble, who announced time and place for the meeting, said "Anyone interested in helping with the Little League in any way should either be at this meeting or let me know where you would like to work."

Work on Little League field, said Dibble, is progressing and will be completed by early spring practice time. Little League managers from the season just past have been working on the field and diamond all fall, Dibble reported, and "the field will be in much better shape next season."

Deep Freeze Grips C. City

Blizzard, Blue Norther, or deep freeze whatever it's tagged, the weather is bad in Colorado City. From a high of 67 in early hours of Friday, before the cold front arrived as predicted, the thermometer reading slid down to a 16° low, Friday-morning. By 5 p. m., Friday, temperature had risen just 2° to a day's high of 18°.

Saturday morning's low was one for the weather record. It read 3°. By noon Colorado City's official weather station, City Hall, offered little promise of moderation. Reading at noon stood at 7°.

Light snow and a blowing sleet with north wind gusting up to 25 miles per hour fell intermittently at mid-morning, Saturday.

Prediction for Saturday night and Sunday at press time was: "cold and older." Expected reading? Zero. On Jan. 14.

4-H Brother-Sister Team

4-H & FFA

Hines & Blair Show Champion Lambs

Savage Africa Here Tuesday

Professional big game hunter and director of SAFARI, Clyde Sussens, will show a film "Savage Africa" in Civic House at 8 p. m. Tuesday. Sussens, a native and citizen of South Africa where he grew up on a farm outside Johannesburg, filmed the movie himself. He is now showing it on a cross country tour of Texas. Weather Near Zero For Judging Second day of the '63 Mitchell County 4-H & FFA Livestock Show opened in 3 degree weather. Judging of sheep began at 9:30 Saturday morning and was completed about noon.

By then, the coldest weather here in years had warmed up to 7 degrees. Friendly competition between young feeders was none the less warm as the show went into the afternoon judging to pick Grand Champion and Reserve Champion steers.

Here to judge the show was Ronald Davenport, professor of Animal Husbandry, Texas Technological College, Lubbock. Also judging were: Robert Lee, High School Ag teacher, was sheep classifier and Billy Roach, Scurry County Agent, was swine showmanship judge.

Assisting with swine show were two local business men, R. J. Hoback, Bob Hill, E. Carter, Holdover director, Francis Reeder, are retiring president Winn.

Veterans Service Officer Is Praised

J. P. (Jim) Hestand, County Service officer for Veterans Affairs Commission, received recently a letter of commendation. Copy of the letter written by Charles L. Morris, executive director of the Commission in Texas, was sent to Mitchell County Commissioner Court. The letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Hestand: During the past year, $56,913.00 was paid to veterans and their families in your county. Please bear in mind that this amount represents only the cases that were handled through the Veterans Affairs Commission and the organizations with which we are accredited.

We realize that none of these benefits were automatic in any sense of the word. The benefits that are available to disabled veterans and their families from the State and Federal governments must be applied for. The size of the awards in many cases that you have done an outstanding job of assisting the claimants in your county in making proper application, and in most instances you are the one who developed the claims in order that payments might be made. We feel that the counties can make no better investment than to maintain a competent Service Officer such as you, to provide the deserving veteran with the kind of aid which they should receive from a grateful community which they served during time of war.

It has been a pleasure to work with you this past year and we wish to commend you for rendering such valuable service to the veterans, their dependents and their survivors as evidenced by the record in this office.

Sincerely yours, CHARLES L. MORRIS, Executive Director, CLM:pre

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family.
Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Last year U. S. fishermen spent a total of $52,851,224 for licenses. Hunters plunked down $84,026,782.

These are figures just released by the United States Department of Interior. For the first time the total figures include all 50 states.

In total 48,941,177 sports fishermen and 11,768,800 hunters bought licenses.

Actually, even these staggering figures do not include all who hunt and fish. Many sportsmen need no licenses because of age, relative exemptions, or methods of fishing. Also, there are a great many hunters and fishermen who fail to pay their share of the cost of wildlife conservation by going without licenses.

Texas ranked eighth in the sale of fishing licenses. Receipts totaled $1,875,308 for 872,236 licenses.

It must be remembered, however, that Texas has a universal license of $2.50 for all fishermen, including commercial. As such it is the lowest priced license in the U. S.

All other states issue non-resident licenses for just a few days of fishing, at a much higher price than Texas for a whole year.

Texas ranked tenth in the sale of hunting licenses. A total of $1,652,631 was paid in Texas for 502,805 licenses. Of this total 3,971 were non-resident buyers. The non-resident license sells for $25, except in the case of the migratory bird license which sells for $5.

New York ranked first in hunting licenses purchased, with a total of $5,783,999 received for 972,635 licenses issued, of which 38,614 were non-resident.

California trailed all other states in fishing licenses with $4,218,457 received from 3,466,989 licenses, of which 3,26,469 were non-resident.

Other states with more fish licenses than Texas were Wisconsin, $3,257,233 for 1,079,819 for 3,308,715 licenses; 234,100 of them non-resident; New York, $2,296,243 for 735,000 licenses; 46,818 non-resident; Minnesota, $2,296,246 for 1,418,275 licenses; 305,584 non-resident; Missouri, $2,186,265 for 636,345 licenses; 99,257 non-resident; and Pennsylvania, $1,998,669 for 597,716 licenses; 24,088 non-resident.

In hunting, other states ahead of Texas were Michigan, $4,834,419 for 1,149,476 licenses; 17,812 non-resident; Pennsylvania, $4,334,575 for 1,265,316 licenses; 46,486 non-resident; California, $3,759,747 for 1,308,399 licenses; 1,608 non-resident; Colorado, $3,307,068 for 374,959 licenses; 62,734 non-resident (mostly Texans); Wisconsin, $2,721,720 for 671,317 licenses; 9,641 non-resident; Washington, $2,077,869 for 560,363 licenses; 751 non-resident; Wyoming, $1,011,171 for 172,029 licenses; 56,427 non-resident; and Oregon, $1,834,129 for 625,571 licenses; 3,350 non-resident.

All these figures represent not only the fishing and hunting licenses, but the special tags permits, etc., which would in some cases include commercial fishing licenses. But they do represent the total number of persons paying money for some type of license.

These figures should be significant to Texans, who have the greatest deer population in the United States and some of the best fishing waters. They also should be very significant to those who have not taken hunting and fishing seriously as an economic asset.

It also is generally recognized that Texans make up the bulk of the hunters and fishermen who go to Colorado, and even a greater portion of those who go to Wyoming.

With Texas wildlife population on the increase more landowners making their property available to hunters and more dams being constructed which will impound good fishing waters, these figures in Texas are likely to increase heavily within the next few years.

This will provide more funds for the development of the wildlife resources in more limited areas. And areas are becoming more limited every year with the increase in population and the expansion of our urban areas.

Top Salesman

Ricka Guita, left, and Alexis Cowan, display their prizes they won in the Colorado City High School magazine sales contest. The girls won the prizes for being the top salesmen. Beverley Grubbs, not shown, was also named one of the top salesmen. Each saleswoman who sold a set quota of the magazines was awarded a stuffed miniature wolf.

For instance, one interstate highway across Texas built to construction alone is knocking out a lot of good hunting territory. This means that the conservation program must make provisions for this wildlife in wider areas. This is done with the aid of funds from the hunting and fishing licenses.

POOR RUTHIE'S ALMANAC

SILENCE is golden all right, all right. And sometimes silence is just plain yellow.

A WOLF in sheep's clothing may or may not feast with lions. It could be with the Kiwanis. Or Rotarians.

WHERE there's smoke there's a cigaret. Look before you leap. And you won't. Never say die. Say rinse. Or Miss Clairol. Eat, drink and be merry. For tomorrow you may die.

THE QUALITY of mercy is not strained. It doesn't need to be. It's instant.

A FRIEND in need is a fine way indeed to stay broke. If at first you don't succeed just who do you think you are?

A burned child dreads the hair brush. If wishes were ducktails we'd all be dead drunk.

A FOOL there was and she said her prayer. Even as you and me. To a hard-workin' man, not a millionaire—Rocks in her head, you see!

DUST thou art to dust returneth was not spoken of the soul.

It was spoken, probably, of wind in the West Texas bowl.

PEOPLE who get up early hate. People who get up late. People who lie late abed despise. People who hop up at early sunrise.

NOSSES are red, fingers are blue. With this 'ere weather what can you do?

IF A BODY meet a body at the Livestock Show. If a body's stayin' out there. When it's 'bout to snow. Everybody has a lassie or is some lad's Pa or Ma. Unless of course it's some reporter hopin' for a thaw.

EVERYBODY in Mitchell County knows that all you need to do to change the weather from good to bad is set the 4-H & FFA Livestock Show dates. This County's new Ag building, though, is really something! Within its newly expanded walls there's real comfort, no matter how the "north wind doth blow."

SHOW RING is in a separate—and new—addition to Mitchell County's Agricultural Building, west Highway 50 just beyond ColTex Refinery. Bleacher seats were full of parents and fans of young swine showmen during judging Friday afternoon. There was a big butane stove blazing away to warm things up for spectators.

SAW first pretty Mrs. Bruce Byrne, Landers Community, whose son Byron and attractive daughter Sharon were both showing five lambs each.

Spied next Raymond Holt, Loraline FFA teacher and coach, supervising grooming of lambs being shown by James Mahon (son of Royce and Margaret, by the way) and Gary Finley, son of the Charles Finleys.

CAME ACROSS Bob Fee Jr., dark-haired wife Pat, and their son Jim Aaron who entered both calves and pigs this time. Bob Fee Sr. was there as a spectator. Ditto Otto Jones, Owen Trulock, Jimmie Kelley, Hallie Norman, Parker Jarmon. And the 'Jedge', Elmer Martin.

Seated on front row of the grand stand were parents of Norman Corbell, route 3, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Corbell, and Nancy Cooper (Mrs. Mickey) who was there to root for her husband's brother Robert Cooper, a 4-H contender.

BUSTY BOYS named Don Gregson, and Don Goss were would you believe it—found in a pig-pen shining up live pig skin until it shone like wet sea lions in the sun.

Both were showing swine bred by T. J. Goss III, a last year's exhibitor. T. J. Goss II, proud papa, was side-lining, too.

COFFEE-BREAKING downtown were Jeff Taylor, Fred Marberry, Bob Ratliff, Bob May. A couple of oil men, Bob Robinson and Jim Edison. Henry Lewis, new owner of the Baker, sampling the soup de jour. Little Copeland, Amarie Gann Hall (Mrs. Price).

The north wind doth blow
And we shall have snow
And what will us workin' gals do?
Extra socks to the knees,
We'll try not to freeze—
And look like some lost Eskimo.

Mildew is a Problem—Those little black specks are actually a fungus that grow in damp fabrics. The best way to remove them is to soak the item over night in a bleach solution, one tablespoon to a cup of water. After soaking, it should be laundered in good hot water with a heavy duty detergent then hung out in bright sunlight to dry. Fabrics that cannot be bleached with chlorine bleach must be treated with the milder perborate bleach. This will take longer to work and may not be as effective. Where hot water and a heavy detergent cannot be used, warm water and a milder washing product must be substituted.

PEGGY'S

Paragraphs

By PEGGY BELVIN

LOST MY so carefully gained extra three pounds this week.

Came down with what the doctor cheerfully diagnosed as "flu bug."

Should be a miracle drug called, "BAN THE BUG." Got so tired of my bare little bedroom (as of now, still without curtains), while I tried to bring the bug to bay with pills, vaporizer, the trusty old jar of Vicks, more pills, fruit juice and a goodly portion of moaning and groaning.

But even a number of painfully injected shots of Penicillin couldn't make the bug leave until he got good and ready.

EVEN WITHOUT the added inconvenience of a cold or other winter discomfort, this weather is enough to make anyone miserable.

I may change my story in the sweltering heat of next summer, but right now there's nothing I hate more than ugly winter weather.

But winter doesn't have to be ugly. It can be all softness and light, with the sun playing on snowdrifts and ice making beautiful works of art out of plain, every-day things.

But our winter weather so far has been just plain ugly. It's been too cold to go outdoors, and when you do get outdoors, there's nothing to see.

JUST THE POOR TREES standing there in their leafless nakedness and the whole world looking like it had shriveled up and died to wait for the summer sun to revive it.

But Saturday morning, a few snowflakes tried their best to fail. We may get a little beauty of this long, cold winter yet.

WAS SO CLOSE to getting that bedspread I've been wanting for so long.

My Mom gifted me with a couple of books of trading stamps last week, and was so thrilling to find that a lovely coverlet was available for just the amount of stamps I had.

So, clutching the books, I raced to the redemption center and claimed my prize. And the clerk there started counting the pages in each book.

Broke my heart when I found out that the books didn't have nearly enough pages.

WENT BAWLING BACK TO MOM, explained my predicament and wanted to know just how such an embarrassing thing could happen.

But Mom was as mystified as I. The mystery was solved, however, as soon as we reached home.

My angelic little sis had torn out part of the pages of each book, and was so proud of her accomplishment.

"So they'll be easier to get, fail quick," she explained.

Don't know what I'd do without all the help I get from the Junior Department.

SINGLE-RING VOWS DEC. 28

Shirley Walraven Wed To James Leroy Bynum

Single-ring vows performed December 28 in the Austin Street Baptist Church united Miss Shirley Ann Walraven and James Leroy Bynum in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Walraven of Houston Street, Colorado City, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Bynum, 330 Hickory St., Anna Henderson, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. Rev. Thomas C. Moore read the ceremony before an arch of greenery centered with wedding bells with a white satin bow. Tall baskets of white gladiolas and stock stood on either side of the arch.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, with a brocaded lace bodice accented with seed pearls and sequins. The neckline was scalloped and the long fitted sleeves flared to points at her wrists. The waltz-length skirt was trimmed with appliques to match the bodice and featured two miniature bows in the back.

Her elbow-length veil of white illusion cascaded from a half-hat of velvet, shed pearls and flowers. She carried a bridal bouquet of white miniature mums atop a white Bible and with white satin streamers.

The Wedding March was played by Linda Rosa of Colorado City.

Mrs. Dan Phueffer, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of pastel blue, accented by a corsage of white carnations pinned at the left shoulder.

Misses Sherrie and Garley

Meban, cousin of the bride, and Earl Walraven, brother of the bride.

A reception in the church annex immediately followed the wedding. The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth over blue. The 3-tiered wedding cake was white with blue-rose trim with a miniature bride and groom on top. Appointments were in crystal and silver.

For a honeymoon trip to Abilene, the bride chose a beige dress with a short jacket. She wore black accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride attended Colorado City High School. The groom attended Lorraine High School. Out-of-town wedding guests from Fort Worth, Grandview, Odessa, Killeen and Los Angeles.

The couple is residing in Anna Henderson.
