

No One Appears Before Hearing on Water Tax

Directors of the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 conducted the hearing on the tax rate for the district Monday, June 13.

Not one person appeared before the board during the session which opened at 10 a.m., according to George Roberts, a member of the board.

This hearing is prescribed by law, but in its effect it does no more than the voters of the district had already done in the April 25 election setting the 25 cent tax rate.

Dan Henard, chairman of the board, presided at the hearing and Richard Craig of Austin, one of the attorneys for the water district, was present.

Early Tuesday, Henard, along with Henry Sullivan, chairman of the county OEDP and Mayor Hiram Cudd left for Washington to confer with Congressman Walter Rogers on matters concerning the proposed Salt Fork Dam.

Rain Measures Up to One Inch Tuesday Night

Rain which fell over the county Tuesday night, June 14, varied from .20 up to approximately an inch, with the heavier fall reported in a strip across the south part of the county.

Wellington received .40, according to Weather Bureau measurements at the State Highway Department.

At Dodson, Raymond Cearley, manager of the Farmers Co-op Enterprises reported that the area received from one half to .90 inch.

Like the remainder of the county, a considerable cotton acreage is not planted around Dodson, and the areas receiving the heavier amounts will not have the moisture to put their seed in the ground. Some growers in the area receiving lighter rainfalls were questioning Wednesday morning if they had received enough to plant.

Lloyd Langley of Quail said .60 was measured there. To the south, the moisture measured an inch and in other sections it was .40.

The area around Marella and along Salt Fork received approximately half an inch.

Between 70 and 80 percent of the cotton is planted in the Quail area, Langley estimated, and about half of this is up. The Tuesday night rain was "sure fine" for that in the ground but not up, he added.

The rain was lighter north of Salt Fork. J. L. Alexander reported that he measured .20 at his home west of Lutie, and received about the same amount on a place he works in the Needwood community, 9 miles east of Lutie.

Registration will start in the foyer of the gymnasium at 1 p.m., the afternoon will be given over to visiting, and a barbecue dinner will be served at 5:30. Morgan of Dozier, who are members of the ticket committee.

"Most Successful"

29 Added in Chamber of Commerce Drive

Addition of 29 new members to the Chamber of Commerce represents one of the most intensive membership drives in recent years, N. M. Higdon, manager, has revealed.

Jeff Wilson, drive chairman, said that more members, especially individual members from all parts of the county, are needed. He stressed that the Chamber's activities and its work are for every section of Collingsworth.

"It is the combined efforts of all of us that will give Collingsworth County and the Wellington trade area its strength to move forward," Wilson declared.

He urged that anyone interested in membership who has not been contacted to get in touch with him or with the chamber office.

These new members are: Cherokee Inn, Owens Super breakaway calf roping, 9 through 14 years; tie-down calf roping, 15 through 17 years; open calf roping, 20 years and under.

There will be ribbon roping for a boy and girl team 14 through 17 years.

The office of Sheriff John Rainey is headquarters for the rodeo and entry closing time is 5 p.m. Friday, June 17.

Bowen said enthusiasm is rising and the VFW is well pleased with the number of entries to date.

Three prizes will be awarded each night in each event and trophies will go to those with the best time for both nights. The exception is a belt buckle prize to be awarded in the open calf roping division.

The acceptance of a trophy will not affect a young participant's Interscholastic League eligibility, said the sponsors. Acceptance of a belt buckle does affect TIL eligibility of a student, it was added.

The best all around cowgirl and cowboy will be chosen at the end of the rodeo.

Replacement Sought

T. E. Lennon Resigns as Dodson Superintendent

T. E. Lennon, superintendent of the Dodson Schools for 20 years, submitted his resignation to the school board at its June meeting. This becomes effective August 15.

Mr. Lennon was elected county superintendent of schools in the First Democratic Primary.

The Dodson school board is now taking applications for a superintendent to succeed him. Mrs. Lennon will continue to teach the fifth and sixth grades in the Dodson system, and as the family owns its home in Dodson, they plan to continue making their home there.

The board also elected Mrs. Lonnie Roberts to teach English and biology in high school, replacing Mrs. Floyd Roberts who moved to Binger. Mrs. Roberts taught first and second grades until last year, when she went to the high school.

Mr. Lennon will be no stranger to the office of county superintendent when he takes over its duties Jan. 1, for he was county superintendent in Greer County almost 6 years before coming to Dodson, serving an elective term and two full terms.

He has been in the teaching and school administration field 39 years, all of it in Greer and Collingsworth Counties.

His first school was at Dean, and later he taught at J-Buckle, Fairview and Ozark.

In presenting his resignation, Mr. Lennon expressed to the board his appreciation for its cooperation and for the friendship of the community.

Skimping on Milk Poor Economy

Cutting family food costs by skimping on milk is poor economy, says Miss Louise Mason, Extension nutritionist at Texas A&M University.

Without enough milk, one can hardly provide meals that meet the family's calcium needs — and milk is also a good buy for high quality protein, the B-vitamins, riboflavin, and other vitamins and minerals necessary for healthy growth.

Save by comparing prices, checking to see if milk companies in your area offer discounts on large home deliveries, and pricing large containers, watching for specials on canned evaporated milk, and checking skim milk and non-fat dry milk prices.

Ag Exports May Reach Record

A U.S. Department of Agriculture announcement predicts that agricultural exports in the 1966 fiscal year, ending June 30, may reach a record high of more than $6.5 billion.

By 1970 U.S. annual exports of farm products could possibly reach $8 billion. Agricultural exports account for about a fourth of all U.S. exports and are vital to the nation's balance-of-payments situation.

Texas agricultural producers have a vital stake in the nation's export sales.

If Texas highways look a little overgrown at times, it's not because the highway department is falling down on its maintenance operations.

WTD NOTEBOOK—PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

INDUSTRIAL PROSPECTS ... a must in Economic Development

Obtaining leads on industries that might locate in a community is one of the hardest parts of any sound economic development program. The lack of an industrial prospecting program that produces several leads may cause serious mistakes by a community in financing or other endeavors to attract unsound or unattractive industry. A community needs a well balanced program, combining all the techniques and utilizing all of the sources that will give it increased effectiveness and chances for real success.

LOCAL PEOPLE AS A SOURCE OF INDUSTRIAL PROSPECTS — usually provide a sound reason or give the community a competitive advantage in attracting the industry.

—BUSINESSMEN—should ask the company representatives they buy from if the company needs additional manufacturing facilities to serve this market area, also, service stations, restaurants and motel people can ask their customers.

—CITIZENS—who know someone that works for an industry should inquire if that industry might be interested in locating a plant.

—EXISTING INDUSTRY—may need a companion industry to supply them with raw materials or services. Expansion of existing industry is sound economic development.

—LOCAL IDEAS—can provide leads for the local people to establish an industry of their own or attract a certain type industry.

—EX-CITIZENS—should be contacted, advising them and asking their help to obtain leads on any industry that could logically locate in the town.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ACTIVITY — should utilize such programs as direct mail, asking local citizens to call on industries when they are on a trip — watching all news media for possible leads or indications that a company might expand.

COOPERATION WITH OTHER AGENCIES — such as utilities, banks, railroads, regional and state development organizations can provide leads for new industry. Keep all of these organizations fully advised of the local programs, advantages, activities and community interest for attracting new industry for improved economy in your community.

ANY and ALL industrial leads should be handled through and by the local group that has been delegated this responsibility, usually the Chamber of Commerce.

Ask your WTU local manager for additional information and services available.

In Summer, Future Homemakers Carry Out Projects of Own Choosing

There's one group of high school girls who attend "classes" in summer, too. They are the Future Homemakers, and for the vacation period, their classroom is their homes.

Mrs. Dee Coleman, home-making teacher, supervises the girls as they carry out summer projects that are a requirement of their course, but which are of their own choosing.

These classes meet at 1:30 each Thursday in the home ec department.

Knitting was popular last summer, and Mrs. Coleman has organized another class.

But this year, some of the girls are learning crewelwork, a form of embroidery that goes far back in the history of household adornment, and which is enjoying a revival in recent years.

One Future Homemaker is refinishing an antique chair. Others cook and sew and one is re-papering the hall of the family home.

Another chose as her home project the spring housecleaning for her mother, who works.

And still another is making the going-away suit she will wear on her wedding trip!

Kimberly and Karen, small daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Goforth, returned early this week after visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goforth in Amarillo.

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

WE'RE FEEDING RATS IN INDIA

People have written to me from time to time reporting what their Congressman said when petitioned by the home folks to reduce the size of the Federal budget and cut taxes.

A standard reply from the Congressmen whose records show an uninterrupted series of votes for spending programs to "aid" everything under the sun, goes like this: "It isn't as simple as it seems. You tell me where you would cut the budget."

Since the budget is voluminous and is not seen by one citizen out of a million, the Congressman's strategy is usually effective. Only a few citizens are well enough informed to accept such a challenge.

Since there are so few instances where results of "foreign aid" have been worth the cost and so many glaring instances where they haven't, this is a good area to focus the taxpayer's spotlight. For instance, in the foreign aid program proposed by the Administration for the fiscal year beginning July 1, there were these items: $917 million in military assistance; $2,469 million in economic aid; $1,617 million in "Food for Peace" funds, and $490 million for "other purposes."

The total is not a mere $3.4 billion as mentioned in most news dispatches; the total is $5.5 billion.

Billions for Leftist Dictators

There have been incidents of effective foreign aid, but in the massive amounts that have been poured out over the globe in the last 20 years, much of the spending has worked against United States interests, astounding amounts of money have been grossly wasted, and billions have gone directly into the hands of dictators who subsequently have been shown to be working with the Communists. Nkrumah in Ghana

Dorcas Class Has Social

The Dorcas Sunday School class of the First Methodist Church met Monday night, June 13 in the home of Mrs. Beatrice West with Mrs. R. L. Karnes and Mrs. W. F. Vaughan as co-hostesses with Mrs. West.

After supper was served the group played games.

Those attending were Mrs. Barney Cook, Mrs. W. A. Bennett, Mrs. Emma Jones, Mrs. S. L. Lindsey, Mrs. Walter Franks, Mrs. J. B. Clark, Mrs. John Henard, Mrs. R. H. Ball, Mrs. W. E. Brewster, Mrs. Mamie Somerville, Mrs. Jennie Holcomb, the Rev. and Mrs. Ellis Todd, and the hostesses.

LaNell Bryan of Dalhart and Kathie Bryan of Amarillo are visiting this week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rolan Bryan.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roberts and Joseph of Las Cruces, N. M., recently visited her father, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Savage and her aunt, Mrs. E. D. Slay.

Iowa has 25% of all Grade A soil in the U.S. and Sukarno in Indonesia are prime examples.

Ignoring the fact that Nkrumah identified himself as a "Marxist," the U.S. helped establish him as President of Ghana in 1947 and poured $159 million of our money into his coffers. Now banished from his country, reports say he has many millions in personal funds hidden in foreign banks.

Sukarno received nearly $2 billion of our "foreign aid" after we'd used our prestige to install him in a nation he and his left-wing rabble had virtually seized from the Netherlands.

It took a popular revolt of the Army to force him and his Red colleagues out of control. He is said to have a personal fortune in Swiss banks. These are hard facts; but they are facts.

Rat Famine Needed

When Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India visited President Johnson recently he reassured her that India would receive several million additional tons of American wheat out of the "Food for Peace" funds in our "foreign aid" outlay.

We have been sending millions of tons of wheat to India in recent years to "help combat famine." An Associated Press dispatch from New Delhi by the AP's foreign correspondent, Joe McGowan, Jr., reports as follows on the "famine":

"The millions of tons of wheat the United States sends to India this year will not equal the amount devoured by India's unchecked hordes of rats. A health ministry report estimates India has 2.4 billion rats—five for each of the country's 480 million persons. It estimates the rats eat more than 26 million tons of cereal grain each year.

The grain lost to rats would not only relieve the present threat of famine, but would transform India into a nation probably able to feed itself.

Money Down Rat Hole

"During 1964, when India had a record crop of 88 million tons of grain, she still had to import 6.7 million tons of surplus wheat from the United States. The influential Times of India, in praising the United States for its offer of emergency shipments of wheat, criticized authorities at home for not taking steps to halt what it called 'colossal national waste'." One stumbling block is the reluctance of many Indians to kill any living thing.

Some people catch rats in their home by using a cage-like device, then turn the rats loose in the fields."

India has received $4.7 billion of U.S. "foreign aid" in addition to emergency shipments of our wheat. Isn't it about time we quit sending billions, and send rat poison, along with an ultimatum declaring that until India rids itself of rats, at least to the extent of halting the astounding waste of foodstuff, no further "aid" will be sent?

Production figures indicate India could feed herself. Our wheat, in a sense, has been for the rats, the survival of 2.4 billion of them while people starve. Here is an answer to the Congressman's question: "Where would you cut?"

132 Counties Studied

WEST TEXAS HAS 3 MILLION PEOPLE; $7 BILLION MARKET

EL PASO.—The 132-county area served by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has grown into a $7 billion market with a population in excess of 3,200,000 people, Beeman Fisher of Fort Worth, WTCC president, has reported.

In speaking on the subject, "What Makes West Texas Tick" Fisher presented for the first time statistics from a new survey of the 132-county area.

Fisher, who is president of Texas Electric Service Co., pointed out that this means the total $7 billion personal income of the people in this area exceeds that of any of 28 other states in the nation. It also is one-third of the Texas state total.

It also means, he said, that the total personal income in the area approximates $27 million a day for the more than one million workers who live and work here.

Fisher reported that there are about 118,000 farmers and ranchers in the area and that their 1965 cash income exceeded $1.1 billion. The 1965 cotton harvest approximated 3,175,000 bales, and almost 200,000 bushels of grain sorghum were harvested. These farmers and ranchers have banked about $300 million from cattle sales, but there are about four million cattle and calves remaining on the ranches of West Texas, and 300,000 head are being fed in commercial feed lots in West Texas.

West Texans also received $42 million last year from 4.5 million sheep and 28 million in mohair alone from some 4 million goats in West Texas, Fisher said.

He emphasized the importance of tourism and income received for products and services from those visiting the area to enjoy the cultural assets and recreational facilities. These visitors, on the average, he said, pump about $40 a day into the economy of the area.

In the West Texas area, there now are some 32,160 air-conditioned hotel and motel rooms with 428 swimming pools for the pleasure of visitors. In addition, there are 1,953 holes of golf, 57 museums, 42 art galleries, and 10 full-sized zoos. In addition, there are also 4,180 churches, 28 community theatres, 5,487 clubs and organizations, and more than 15,000 modern retail stores.

The speaker said that the new survey showed there are about 150,000 workers now employed in West Texas factories producing $1.5 billion in value added by manufacture.

In the past 15 years, Fisher said, factory employment has been rising at 4 percent per year in West Texas, while the state has risen at 3 percent a year, and the national increase has been about 1.5 percent.

In referring to the petroleum industry, Fisher said that in 1965, 600 million barrels of crude oil and three trillion cubic feet of gas, valued at more than $2.1 billion, were produced and that this was about one-eighth of the nation's supply.

In addition to reviewing area wide statistics, Fisher listed new industries and expansions in West Texas cities and towns and said that these new industries and expansions accounted for 9,300 new jobs.

Make This Vacation One That Is Fun In Texas

There is no better time than Vacation 1966 to see the immense variety of pleasure travel offered in Texas, part of it close to home . . . some of it more distant than the vacations trips most of us take.

History and progress are combined with geography that is both vast and varied to provide a colorful trip to any part of the state you wish.

For the family with only a few days to spend or who doesn't want to travel far, there is Palo Duro and the lakes of the High Plains . . . or the fish-filled water in North Texas.

Those planning a more extensive tour can profit by securing a copy of the Texas Highway Department's new travel brochure, "Texas — America's Fun-lier."

This new publication illustrates a cross section of Texas vacation variety, including historical, amusement and recreational features, outlining a brand of fun for everyone.

Vacationing in Texas can be fun — more fun if you know what there is to see.

News Letter

by U. S. Senator Ralph W. Yarborough

This week I want to talk about the problems of production and the problem of marketing in Texas.

Something is wrong when the Texas housewife is asked to pay more for Texas meat products just because of the unjust freight rates the Texas poultry and livestock industries are forced to pay on food grains that fatten poultry and livestock.

These industries are in grave danger in Texas because of the unequal, unjust railroad freight rates on coarse grain shipments. The freight rates on a ton of feed grain are three times as high per ton mile from Kansas City to Texas as they are on a ton mile of feed grain shipped from Kansas City to areas east of the Mississippi River that compete with Texas.

It means that a Texas housewife, if this keeps up, would have to pay more for locally Texas produced broilers and beef than she did for the same items shipped in from east of the Mississippi River. These freight rates on feed grains must be reduced or the Texas chicken and beef producers will lose their markets.

This situation has come about because of the action of the Southern Railroad, serving the southeastern states, in lowering shipments to the southeastern states east of the Mississippi River.

It now costs only $4.23 per ton to haul a ton of feed grain from St. Louis, Mo., to states east of the Mississippi River—Mississippi and Alabama—while it costs $10.60 per ton to haul the feed grains the same distance to Bronson, Texas.

So, a broiler producer east of the Mississippi can get his feed grains at about a third of the cost per ton mile insofar as freight rates are concerned. He can sell his products in Houston—including the cost of transportation — for one-half cent less than a broiler producer can produce these broilers for right there near Houston in Harris County, itself.

The reason is obvious. The southeastern producer pays less than half what the Texas producer has to pay per ton mile.

Agriculture has always been one of the most important factors in the economy of Texas and the Southwest. We cannot afford to let it suffer unjustly from outside competition.

With the cost of living of constant concern to the meat-buying housewife, anything that can be done to help lower the final cost to her—while keeping a fair price for the producer, the farmer—must be done.

The Texas members of the poultry and livestock industries are keenly aware of this; they want fair freight rates so that they can sell meat more cheaply. Recently a delegation of them, led by Steele Wright of Nacogdoches, went over this

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

News is that some self-protective young bucks from around over the country have moved to Canada, which puts them out of reach of their draft boards.

My old sorehead neighbor says this is good riddance as far as the U.S. is concerned, but it's a dirty trick to play on Canada.

In fact, he says, if very many of these draft refugees go north, he wouldn't be surprised if the Canadians file a damage suit in the World Court, charging us with polluting their population.

There is a news gap on how the South African official's 6-problem with me.

I have requested Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to file an official complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission for fair freight rates on feed grain from the Midwest into the Southwest. The Secretary can do this under the law of 1938, passed to help farmers in cases like this where a farmer doesn't have the money to spend to correct freight rates by himself. The Secretary of Agriculture is ordered to do it for all the farmers and that is what we requested.

The Texas housewife should get the break of lower competitive prices when she does to the market to buy meat, poultry and eggs. These higher freight rates of feed grains mean higher prices for meat for the housewife. The farmer and the rancher get blamed for the higher price, but they don't get the profit. That goes into the freight rate.

month plan turned out, where-by he encouraged every white family in that nation to celebrate their country's fifth Independence Day by having a baby.

My biologist neighbor says ordinarily a program like this to help equalize the ration of white to black people in a country's population would have to be planned a little more than six months in advance.

But he says this machine age has done wonders, and it may be the South African whites have automated the old-fashioned people - production process.

The deputy chief people planner in the Office of Economic Opportunity says we are a divided nation, between those who have and those who have not.

Which he and his cohorts aim to fix, by federal Robin Hoodism; taking from the haves and giving 25 or 30 percent of the take to the have nots, and keeping the rest for themselves.

But my semi-have neighbor says the main object in life is to get more than somebody else has, and living will be plumb pointless when the redistributors get everybody but themselves whittled down to the same size house, car, and debt.

I see where Washington is giving the Lord more competition all the time in the Good Works business.

Like whereas the Bible promises mansions in Heaven for the righteous, our new rent subsidy program will provide multi-bathroom mansions here and now for righteous voters.

My subsidizy neighbor says LBJ's offer has got more customer appeal because of its immediacy, and because the Bible doesn't say how the Heavenly mansions are fixed for bathrooms.

Cash Checks Slowly

Here Are

25 Good Reasons Why!!!

- 1—Don't let yourself be hurried when cashing checks.
- 2—Check-passers try to work fast—you take your time.
- 3—All strangers are not crooks — but most crooks are strangers.
- 4—Always have check endorsed in your presence.
- 5—Know your endorser—or be prepared to pay if the check bounces.
- 6—Insist on positive identification.
- 7—Printed checks can be forgeries; they can also have been stolen and then forged.
- 8—Government checks also can be stolen and forged.
- 9—Remember — credentials also can be forged.
- 10—Make sure that the endorsement on the check corresponds with the payee's name.
- 11—Compare the endorser's signature with maker's, they may be by the same hand.
- 12—If suspicious, start stalling—call the bank.
- 13—Be extra careful of two-signature endorsements.
- 14—When you stall, a suspect usually leaves in a hurry—often leaving you the check. If suspect leaves check, please mail it to the BBB.
- 15—Remember—holidays are the favorite time for check-passers.
- 16—Ask yourself why the passer is offering you, rather than the bank, this check to cash.
- 17—Counter checks are for use at banks.
- 18—Look twice at all rubber - stamped checks.
- 19—Watch for misspellings, particularly of maker's name: watch also for omissions of maker's name.
- 20—Hesitate on alterations.
- 21—Remember—payee's name can be altered; amounts raised, and dates can be changed.
- 22—Record ID data before paying. This can be noted on back or face of check.
- 23—If possible, get birth date from ID card.
- 24—Social Security numbers are valueless for identification purposes.
- 25—License plate numbers provide better identification than driver's licenses.

PROPOSED AREA SALT CONTROL PROJECTS

This is the over all area Red River salt control project proposed by the Corps of Army Engineers. Two concern Collingsworth, the collection system and brine dam and reservoir on Elm Creek just east of the Texas-Oklahoma State line, the other the Brine Dam on Dry Salt Creek which will lie in the southwest part of the county or immediately south of the county line. Counties are not indicated on the Corps of Engineers map. Heavy lines on streams indicate salt sources the proposed reservoirs are indicated in black behind the brine dams. At upper right, at the junction of North Fork and Elm Fork, is Lugart, or Altus Reservoir. Reservoirs in lighter color in the lower part of the map were previously recommended.

Guard Holds Firing Drill at Ft. Sill

With 100 percent attendance, members of Wellington's National Guard unit participated in a firing drill at Fort Sill, Oklahoma Saturday and Sunday, June 11 and 12. Capt. James Chappell is battery commander.

The firing batteries were Battery A of the 131st Artillery, 49th Armored Division, Wellington, Battery B of Shamrock under Lt. Neal Gray, acting commander in the absence of Capt. Rex Peebles; and Battery C of Vernon, commanded by Lt. Charles Cook. Headquarters Battery of Wichita Falls, under Col. John J. Stocton, battalion commander, provided command supervision and personnel, along with ammunition and rations.

"The entire operation was set up to test on-the-job readiness," said Capt. Chappell in explaining the trip as preparation for the annual summer camp.

Recruits of Battery A, in a night maneuver, received training in bivouacking, setting up tents and trenching them for rainy weather, field sanitation, scout and patrol work and instruction in bayonet use.

The remainder of the battery laid their weapons Saturday night and firing began at 7:30 a.m. Sunday.

Capt. Chappell termed the mission a success. These participating batteries were in the old section of Fort Sill, beyond Medicine Creek.

They were supported by the 709th Artillery Battalion at Fort Sill, which furnished the weapons and a cadre to maintain them. All firing personnel were guardsmen.

Wellington's Battery A continues to be number one in maintenance in the entire 49th Division, although it is being crowded by a unit in Rio Grande Valley, Capt. Chappell said.

Officers leading the drill for Battery A were Lt. George Raab, forward observer, Lt. Sammy Helmers, training officer, Lt. Leonard King, Jr., executive officer, and First Sergeant Jess Wilson.

Lt. Raab of Hollis, joined the battery only recently. A veteran of the Korean War, he is an artillery officer and elected to join the Wellington unit rather than the armored unit at Hollis. He is assistant county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration in Harmon County.

People Buy More During The Summer Months Than Most Other Seasons

Many of us are accustomed to speaking of the dull summer months which may have been partially true in another day and a different economy; but the actual facts happen to be the opposite.

Year after year figures released by the United States Department of Commerce show that people buy more during the summer months than almost any other season of the year.

They are buying clothes for travel, luggage for travel and hundreds of other items connected with vacations and summer; but they are also buying items for recreation at home during the long interesting days of summer.

They are buying air conditioners, refrigerators, cook out appliances, lawn and garden supplies and hundreds of other items that are a part of home living during the summer months.

In fact if it were not for the tremendous sales that start in late November and continue through December, the summer months would exceed any other season.

Knowing these facts, forward looking merchants plan their sales promotions in advance and on a stepped up scale at the very beginning of summer. Let us help you in building advertisements that will increase your summer sales.

Kendrick was their accompanist.

Groves received a third division in cornet solo competition, with the judge's comment that it was not quite a first. Regina Ferguson was his accompanist.

Accompanying the contestants to Austin were Mr. and Mrs. James Larson, Mrs. Tom Ferguson, Mrs. Claude Groves, Mrs. Louise Kendrick and Mr. and Mrs. Milford Harris.

New Team Stars in Walt Disney's 'The Ugly Dachshund'

Two of Hollywood's brightest young talents, Dean Jones and Suzanne Pleshette, are co-starring for the first time in Walt Disney's rollicking comedy, "The Ugly Dachshund," and a refreshing new movie team is born.

"The Ugly Dachshund" is the featured motion picture in Walt

Disney's "perfect program" of entertainment, which also includes the fully animated cartoon featurette, "Winnie the Pooh and the Honey Tree."

The recent revival of sophisticated comedies in films has produced unbeatable combinations like Doris Day and Rock Hudson, Shirley Mac Laine and Jack Lemmon, Sophia Loren and Marcello Mastroianni. An enthusiastic preview audience response to Suzanne and Dean in their initial teaming makes them the next most likely comedy-combo to join this distinguished group.

Romantic comedies of the thirties and forties produced perennial screen teams like William Powell and Myrna Loy, Carey Grant and Irene Dunne, Fred MacMurray and Claudette Colbert, Spencer Tracy and Katherine Hepburn. But when lighter movie fare gave way to stark realism after World War II, these popular duos were split up to continue separate careers in more dramatic undertakings.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER
Thursday, June 16, 1966

With Hollywood making every effort to recapture its glamorous past, the romantic comedy team is once again back in vogue. The pairing of two exciting screen personalities has always brought moviegoers back to the boxoffice, and with veteran showman Walt Disney well aware of this fact, it seems inevitable that Suzanne Pleshette and Dean Jones will be returning for an encore in the near future. Filmed in brilliant Technicolor, "The Ugly Dachshund" also stars Charlie Ruggles and was directed by Norman Tokar and co-produced by Winston Hibler. It shows here at the Bronco Drive-in Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and at the Ritz Saturday matinee.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

If you think that local police peace officers in a county seat town such as ours are dismayed, and they are, over the recent ruling of the Supreme Court on questioning suspects, then think of the plight of the law enforcement officers in the metropolitan areas. In those teeming jungles of crime and violence there is organized crime; there are race riots, plain riots, organized demonstrations with its potential for violence as well as the untold individual felonies that are common to every community.

In the face of these known evils the highest court in the land issues a decision which makes the law enforcement officer the protector of the criminal instead of the apprehender. It means that confessions will have to meet a strict test of "voluntariness" before the confession can be admitted as evidence in court. What thief, murderer or rapist is going to voluntarily admit that he committed the crime? It is an evil ruling and should be repealed.

One district attorney said: "They, the court, have no understanding of police problems. They have never met a snarling hood in a dark alley—they are writing new laws. The innocent people of our community are going to pay for this foolishness." And dissenting Justice John M. Harlan said: "It was a hazardous experiment at a time when the crime rate in this country is the cause of growing concern."

Only five more days remain until the first day of summer after which this days will start getting shorter and hotter for a time. The poet who wrote:

What is so rare as a day in June?

Then if ever, come perfect day did not live in the United States. He lived in England where it is often foggy and unpleasantly chilly even in May and September and a sunny day in June was a rare and beautiful event.

Here in the Southwest, June is not our most beautiful month by any manner of means being exceeded in beauty by September, October and in many years on through February. Instead June is a time of anxiety about planting crops, the condition of the grass and the variable and extreme weather. It is a time of storms, hail, high winds and floods and in some years it is a time of searing hot winds from the southwest.

Dennis Holland had not planted up to Tuesday and therefore needed rain; but he said that he was not looking for one of those "equalizers" such as they had on the south plains recently which cost millions of dollars in property loss as well as that much more in the loss of young crops. The winners here tell me that the growers out there have been down here in droves seeking cottonseed.

There is some good news concerning crops. Insect surveys show that the infestation is very light for this time of the year.

Patrol Inspector Places Open

A new examination for Immigration Patrol Inspector has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission, for filling positions paying $6,269 a year with the Immigration and Naturalization Service of the U. S. Department of Justice.

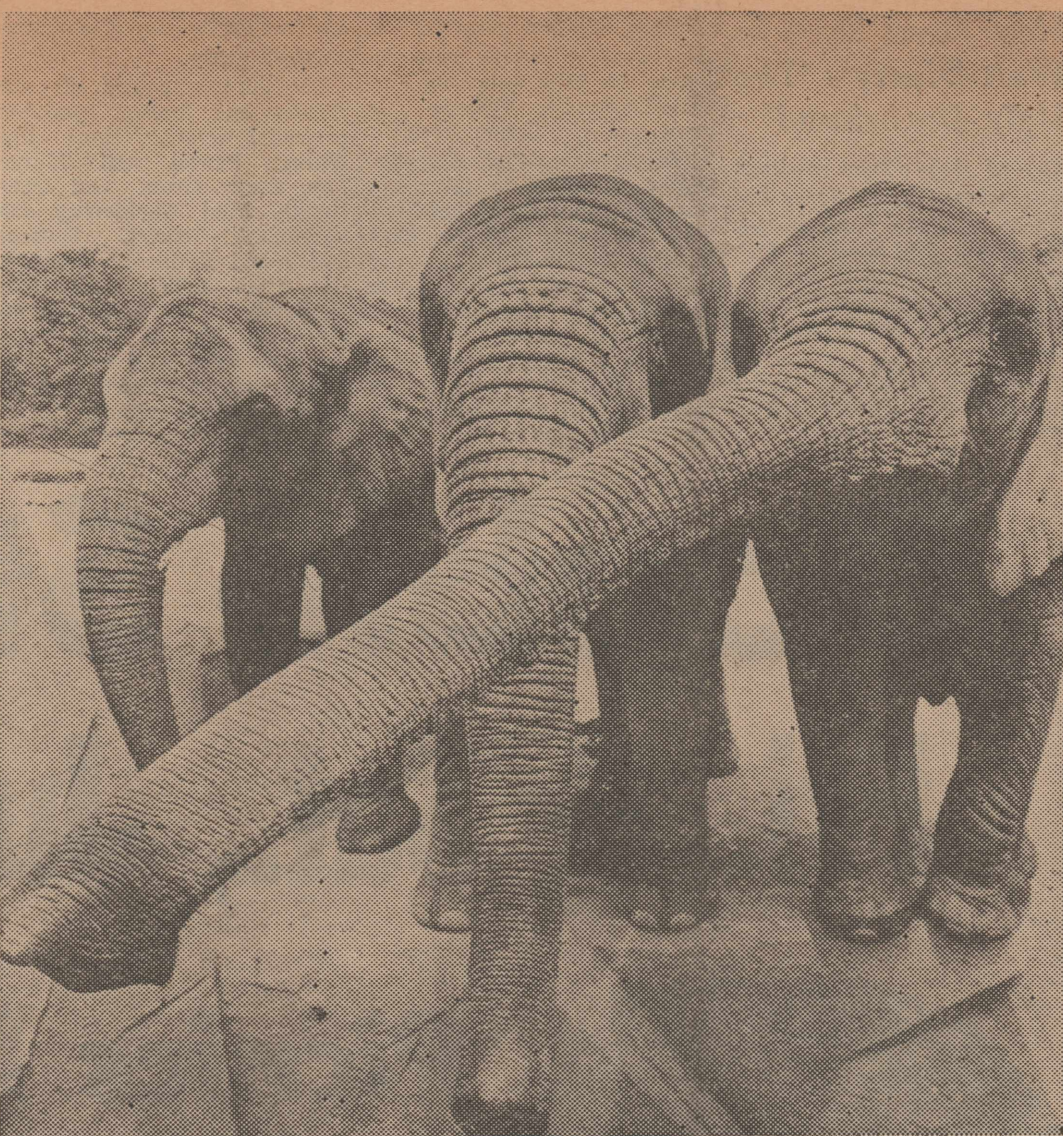

These positions offer young men interested in immigration law enforcement an opportunity to begin a new career in such work with on-the-job training for positions of greater responsibility. No experience is required for these positions. To qualify, applicants must pass a written test of verbal abilities, judgment and aptitude for learning a foreign language; those who pass the test will be interviewed to determine if they have the personal qualities needed for the work. Since the duties are arduous, applicants must be in sound physical condition.

Full information is given in Announcement No. 398 B. Applicants who file by July 15, 1966 will be scheduled for the first test Aug. 20. Three additional tests have been scheduled. The final date for applying is Feb. 15, 1967. Applications should be sent to the Board of Examiners, Immigration and Naturalization Service, Washington, D.C. 20536.

Announcements and appropriate application forms may be obtained from many post offices throughout the country, from the Board of Examiners above, or from the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D.C. 20415.

PLANT DISEASE PREVENTION PROVES BEST TREATMENT

COLLEGE STATION.—Once an ornamental plant becomes badly diseased, it is almost impossible to nurse it back to health.

Homeowners will do well to remember this rule, Dr. C. Wendell Horne, Extension plant pathologist at Texas A&M University, advises.

"It's difficult, if not impossible, to eradicate organisms from a badly diseased plant," the pathologist pointed out. "For this reason, every effort should be made to prevent introduction of disease-causing organisms on plant material or in soil."

Mild disease conditions are not always easy to detect when buying ornamentals, he said. Dealing with a reputable nurseryman is the best insurance against getting puny plants.

Plants in poor growth condition are usually more susceptible to disease. Use of adapted plants along with good horticultural practices will help to prevent trouble, Horne explained.

He recommended that all diseased branches be removed as soon as seen. Pruning wounds should be treated with a specially prepared material (available at garden stores) to stop entrance of wood decaying organisms.

But even good cultural and sanitation practices might fall short at times, he added. This is the time to use specially formulated chemicals, which are safe when applied according to directions.

Fungicide applications should begin when disease development first appears and should continue at 7 to 14-day intervals as long as weather conditions are favorable for the disease. Addition of a household detergent at the rate of one teaspoonful per gallon will help get a more uniform covering of the chemical on the plant.

Cunningham Boy Dies at Lubbock

Allen Cunningham, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cunningham of Whiteface, died at 5 a.m. Wednesday, June 15 in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock. He had suffered from leukemia about six years.

Students will be able to check out books and return them the following week.

How Are Your Picnic Manners?

COLLEGE STATION.— This is the season for outdoor living. Are you and your family enjoying the wonders of nature by picnicking, camping or motoring?

If we act like responsible Texans, all of us will be able to enjoy the natural beauty of our state, says Miss Lucille Moore, Extension recreation specialist at Texas A&M University. Our parks, forests and roadsides are our vacation outdoor living rooms. If some of us are careless, all vacationers will suffer, adds the specialist.

Careless vacationers destroy our forests by fires and pollute streams and camp sites with discarded rubbish. Plants and animals may be killed by this careless disregard by vacationers. Careless campers may start ruts and erosion by driving off the roads provided for their use.

You will be a good citizen if you follow good outdoor manners when vacationing.

1. Keep a trash bag in the car, and use it.
2. Carve a stick, not a tree.
3. Leave the flowers and plants for others to enjoy. They will die if you pick them, anyway.
4. Keep a safe distance from wild animals.
5. Be careful with fires. Douse the campfire an extra time.
6. Drive on roads.
7. Curb the urge to throw things into the water or off high places.
8. Leave the wonders of nature and history where they belong.

NOTICE

Adventures in ADVERTISING

TOMBSTONE TERRITORY

Before World War I Fairy Soap was the largest seller on the American market. Mother used it as a beauty aid. Junior used it in the bath tub. Sister used it to shampoo her hair. And father used it to wash that portion of his face which wasn't covered with mustache and mutton chops. In magazines, on bill boards and in newspapers, you would see advertisements of Fairy Soap.

During the first great war the demand for Fairy Soap was so great that the manufacturers dropped their huge advertising program with an eye to making a bigger profit. They figured Fairy Soap was so well known it would carry itself. They were wrong. Other far sighted soap manufacturers stepped in with appealing advertising campaigns and took over the market. Fairy Soap was never able to come back and today lies in the graveyard alongside the Gold Dust Twins, Saint Jacobs Oil, Melon's Baby Food, Dolly Varden Chocolates, Omar cigarettes, Maxwell automobiles and many other products that died a natural economic death due to lack of advertising.
