College fund drive receipts past $750,000

Donations and pledges exceed $750,000 toward the goal for the new college building, according to Don Lane, chairman of the Pampa Center Foundation board.

Several donations, including the $125,000 committed by Celanese over a five-year period helped push the totals upward.

The alumni of Clarendon College-Pampa Center will be taking donations of $20 per square foot awarding a "square foot button" for the new building at the CC-Pampa Center tent during Chautauqua, according to Brenda Zedlitz, chairman. Pampa Area Foundation for Outdoor Art will also sell tickets at the tent to the art garden tour set for Sunday, Sept. 20, with the proceeds going to the new college building.

Another feature at the tent will be a video showing on long distance learning. The video will partially explain the technology involved in this instruction tool to be provided at the CC-Pampa Center's new classroom building, giving students an opportunity to take course work beyond the two-year, junior college level.

This self-paced type of course instruction includes interaction via e-mail, the world-wide web page and two-way video conferencing. Students can actively seek out information in a database and share their work on the Internet. This information highway can include computers, interactive videos, satellite transmission, instructional and cable television.

"Long distance learning has been successful at to other places, and it meets the needs of the students," said Joe Kyle Reeve, dean of CC-Pampa Center.

Stereo, CD bandits hit players' pickups while boys at game

By JEFF WEST
Staff Writer

Four pickups belonging to Pampa High football players were broken into last night while the players were in Lubbock for a football game.

Stereo equipment, primarily compact disc players, speakers, and CDs were taken. Police reports list nearly $3,000 worth of goods as missing. The vehicles also had damage where entry was gained.

The pickups, belonging to Kris Lee Davis, Cody Michael Sheppard, Randall Paul Ellis, and Jess Edward Baker, were all parked on the Pampa High School parking lot when the thief or thieves struck. The exact time of the robberies is not known but occurred sometime between 2:15 yesterday afternoon and 1:15 this morning, according to police reports. Several of the vehicles had the driver's side window smashed in while one had a sliding window in the back of a pickup cab broken out.

While there are no firm suspects at this time the police are following up on some leads according to Pampa Chief of Police Charlie Morris.

"We've had a rash of criminal mischief in that area from Mary Ellen to Duncan over the last few months," Morris said. "We'd ask the good citizens to keep an eye out, and if they see anybody who doesn't seem to belong to call us and we'd sure check them out."

He also said that the police strongly recommend that citizens not keep valuables in their vehicles.

The amount stolen could make these break-ins a felony according to Texas law. Anyone with information about these burglaries may be eligible for a cash reward if the call Crime Stoppers at 669-2222. Callers remain anonymous.

Stephanie Braddock and Breland Scott in full gothic style show the fashion statement they want to make by wearing all black with eye make-up that goes beyond the norm.

'Gothic' eye makeup put off limits at PHS

Dress code restrictions placed on a handful of Pampa High School students last week are being enforced to minimize disruption or interferences to school operations, according to school administrators.

Students wearing face make-up as part of a style referred to as "gothic" were brought into vice-principal Floyd Sackett's office last week and told not to wear the typical of the style black designs around their eyes.

Sackett, who is vice-principal over discipline, was filling in for principal John Kendall who was out of town for the week on a family emergency. Superintendent Dr. Dawson Orr said school principals, or the designees, in this case, are given the judgment call to evaluate if dress is a disruption. If it is, then "certainly steps are taken to ensure a safe learning environment," said

Orr. "Gothic is a style like any other style," said student Stephanie Braddock.

Senior Breland Scott said the gothic style has to do with seeing beauty in things that are not necessarily bright and happy.

The students who dress in this style wear black or dark colors and wear make-up that includes dark shades of lipstick and designs drawn around the eyes that may look like

Worldwide child porn sting involves Texans Computer seizures made

CONROE, Texas (AP) — The tendrils of a worldwide child pornography investigation reached across 14 countries and into the homes of two Texas residents.

The raids late Tuesday led to almost four dozen arrests worldwide of suspected members of the Wonderland Club who, according to authorities, exchanged thousands of pornographic images of children via cyberspace.

In Texas, U.S. Customs officials executed search warrants at two homes, north of Dallas in Allen, and the other in the southeast Texas city of Willis. Those raids occurred simultaneously with 30 other raids in 22 states.

No one was arrested in either raid, but investigators in both locations seized computer hardware and software. "We assisted in the investigation as well as serving the search warrant," Allen Sgt. Randy Carter told the Plano Star-Courier. "But we weren't in so deep that we (participated) worldwide."

The raid in Willis, about 30 miles north of Houston, took place at a mobile home, the (Conroe) Courier reported. No one was arrested there.

In Houston, U.S. Customs spokeswoman Judy Turner said there were relatively few arrests in the United States because there was enough probable cause to search for evidence, but not enough yet to make arrests.

"With the sophistication of computer crime, you take the equipment, but have to break the

Fair Housing training seminar to be held in Austin

AUSTIN — There's no place like home, but, for too many people with disabilities finding accessible housing is an intimidating process. ADAPT of Texas and the City of Austin have joined forces to eliminate the information barrier for people who want to know more about housing issues.

"Fair Housing Rights for People with Disabilities-Solving the Mystery," is a training seminar targeted to people with disabilities who want to learn more about advocating for their rights to accessible housing. Participants will learn about the laws that protect them from housing discrimination, their rights to access and reasonable accommodation and community resources they can tap into for information and assistance.

Karen Tamley and Beto Berrera of Access Living in Chicago, IL, will conduct the training. Members of ADAPT and the Disability Rights Action Coalition for Housing, Tamley and Berrera are recognized nationally for their expertise in fair housing issues and effective training techniques. Local housing experts from the Austin Tenant's Council, Legal Aid and Advocacy Inc. will join them for the day-long seminar.

The training is scheduled from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 19 at Our Lady of Guadalupe Church, 1206 E. 9th St., in Austin. Training is free, but participants must register to attend. Registration packets are available at ADAPT of Texas, 1339 Lamar Square Blvd., Suite 101, Austin, TX 78704, 512-442-0252 (voice/TDD).

Labor Day: End of summer but not end of fire danger

AMARILLO — A careless spark could ruin your holiday weekend! Many families across the Texas Panhandle will be spending their Labor Day holiday outdoors. And though this is a week-end aimed at relaxation, the Texas Forest Service is asking residents to not take a "rest" on fire prevention.

"The threat of wildfire remains extreme," said Lee McNeely, leader of the High Plains Fire Prevention Team in Amarillo. "The rain has brought some relief but not enough to move the Panhandle out of danger," he added.

High temperatures, dry vegetation, little moisture and high winds continue to make the fire danger extreme and very real. This year represents the worst drought in 103 years in the state of Texas.

Enjoy this weekend but remember:

- Check area burn ban status before striking a match.
- When barbecuing keep a hose or fire extinguisher close at hand, clear the area down to bare soil, be sure fire is out before leaving your grill and douse all coals with water when finished.

- Dispose of smoking materials in an ashtray or crush in bare soil.
- Drive and park vehicles in areas with short or no grass. Tall grass in contact with hot exhaust systems can start fires.

The Texas Forest Service High Plains Fire Prevention Team urges you to be alert, to be safe and to be responsible this holiday week-end.

Minister's musings...

There was a time in America when there was a reverence for God, a respect for our elderly, parents were parents, and children were children.

But somewhere along the way to a better life, everything has changed. There is no longer a reverence for God, or even the slightest fear of "him who can destroy, body, and soul in hell" (Matthew 10:28).

There is no longer a respect for our elderly, but rather a feeling of inconvenience toward them. There is no time to stop and talk with them, to listen to and learn from their experiences. Apparently their value to our culture has been reduced to nothing more than to push the aside and move them out of the way, in order to make room for our computers and the Internet. The apostle Paul wrote in the book of Titus (2:2-7), concerning the value of our older men and women to the church and to the society.

By Pastor Frankie L. Lemons

Minister at the Gospel of Jesus Christ

So as we search for the answers to the questions: Why is there no reverence for God? Why is there no respect for our elderly? Why are our children so disobedient and rebellious?

As for myself as a minister of the Gospel of Jesus Christ the answer is very simple. We have indeed left the ways of God and have commenced to follow our own ways and understanding. This is not the way God intended for us to go. (Proverbs 3:5,6), "Trust in the lord with all your heart and learn not on your understanding." (v:6) "in all your ways acknowledge him, and he will make your paths straight."

I believe in God who is our creator, I know that he knows what is best for us. So my prayer for America and my home town of Pampa, is that we will do as God told Israel to do in (Jeremiah 6:16); This is what the lord says: "Stand at the crossroads and look; ask where the good way is, and walk in it, and you will find rest for your souls, But you said, 'we will not walk in it.'" Let us not become like Israel and say we will not walk in God's way. Solomon wrote in (Proverbs 16:25) "There is a way that seems right to a man, but in the end it leads to death."

We are standing at the crossroads which way will we choose? Our children are depending on us.

Public invited to study books of Romans, Psalms

Special classes this week will focus on Romans and Psalms at Hi-Land Christian Church.

On Wednesday night, Sept. 9, at 7:30 p.m., a special in-depth study of Romans will resume at Hi-Land Christian Church. This study comes complete with weekly "pop tests" and a final exam.

Pastor Mike Sublett says, "I guarantee two things for anyone who attends this class every week: one-they will have a new best friend in their Bible; it will be the book of Romans and two-they will know Romans better than any other book in the Bible."

A special devotional study of Psalms will begin on Thursday night, Sept. 10 at 7:30 p.m. Julie Long, minister of music at Hi-Land Christian, will be leading the journey. Both classes are open to the public and will be held at Hi-Land Christian Church, 1615 N. Banks St. Child care provided.

Good Shepherd revival

Don't forget to call home...

Dear Wanda,

I suspect after you start the Appalachian Trail and phone home the first time, your folks will be bragging all over town about their daughter the hiker. Parents tend to brag publicly even as they worry privately about their child.

When I was nine years old, I decided to go to Georgia Tech. My dad, a firefighter with a Depression-era eighth grade education preferred I graduate from high school and get a good secretarial job with the city government of my hometown. My mom thought it might be okay to go to junior college, but every girl should learn to type so "she would have something to fall back on."

All I wanted was to go to Georgia Tech. It is hard to articulate why, but as it was, I was the first girl from my high school to go to Tech. I never thought it mattered to my parents that I did so.

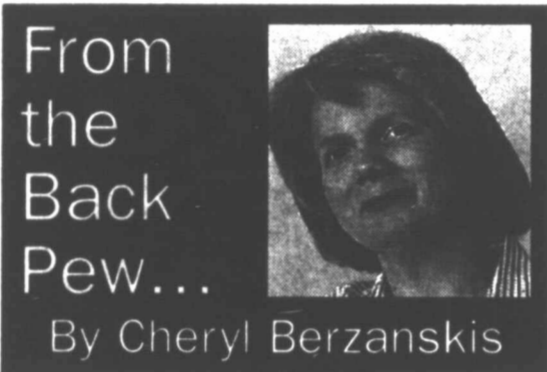

My husband and I married young and my oldest son was born while I was still in school. My folks kept him every finals week, every mid-term week and at every excuse they could manufacture. Daddy brought us food from the garden, Mama sewed me clothes and they had our old car repaired.

They could not give career advice or help me pick my schedule, but they helped me in the only ways they knew how. They really did care.

One day not many years ago, my late father said how proud he was of me for graduating from Tech. I guess I had figured it out, but it was good to hear him say it.

Our family lives very differently from the way I was raised. We travel, continue our education and let our kids be fabulously adventuresome. When daughter Laurie wanted to go abroad last year at 15, we let her. What she wanted, we wanted. When the boys announced their intention to hike the AT like you, our only question was, "Maine to Georgia or Georgia to Maine?"

From the Back Pew...
By Cheryl Berzanskis

I think this drive to foster our children's dreams comes from having all my childish dreams denied except to attend Tech. My parents were 40 and 36 when I was born. Two sons had already died.

I was the last ditch effort and my parents were determined to never grieve a child's death again.

Activities of my childhood years were very limited. Swimming was almost always forbidden because you might drown; you might get lost spelunking and you might fall rappelling. And driving 50 miles away to Atlanta to shop or eat out? "You'll get killed running up and down that highway. Don't you know how many people have died at Pumpkinvine Creek Bridge?"

Like your worried parents, Wanda, we call our selves conservative but for us that refers to economic and political theory. Adventure is about having fun every day of your life.

Your parents will help you hike the AT in the only ways they know how - probably with equipment or a prepaid phone card or more advice than you want. Hike on, dream on and be grateful they love you enough to worry. And call home soon.

Your friend, Cheryl

Ministry hosts Bible seminar at Jordan Unit

By Jerry Guthrie
Unit reporter

Prison Fellowship Ministry hosted by a two-day Bible study seminar recently at the Rufe Jordan Unit in Pampa. The seminar, titled "Love and War," taught the forty-eight inmate participants about Gods agape (unconditional) love.

Prison Fellowship Ministry (PFM) has a rich and interesting conception. Ex-presidential aide Chuck Colson founded the ministry in 1976 after his release from prison. Today, PFM has a outreach into eighty-five countries. This international ministry publishes the "Inside Journal" Christian newspaper and sponsors "Angel Tree" gift program. Chuck Colson's PFM now reaches inside the walls of all federal and state penal institutions.

Patricia Herman and her assistant Greg led the inmates through all five sessions of the seminars bible study. Eight area PFM volunteers wee small-group leaders instructing and advertising the inmates on each session's topic.

PFM seminars have a unique hands on group interactive teaching style. Each of the five sessions uses skits to display the session topic in relation to morals and ethics. Each small group then has a lengthy discussion based on Bible Scriptures and Bible history allowing time for personal testimony in relation to me topic.

Session one entitled "One is Not Enough" covered the importance of realizing the importance of a proper relationship verses a counterfeit relationship. The scriptures in Proverbs 17:17 and 18:24 sum up lesson one. Proverbs 17:17 states "that a friend loves you all the time" and 18:24 says "some friends may ruin you, but a true friend will be more loyal than a brother".

Session two through five were outlined to show the difference in building walls in a relationship and building bridges for a relationship. The walls are described as "I love you "if or as I love you "because". Both of these hold conditions and are not conducive to a whole relationship. God does not hold conditions on you to have his love. This whole love can be said to be "In spite of" love.

For example, have you ever said "I love you in spite of your faults". This type of love builds a relationship that is unconditional love. God's love is exactly that unconditional and free. God's love is truthful, honest and loyal. These are the keys to a full and lasting rich personal relationship.

Love and War Seminar inmate participants wish to thank the Biscuit Ministry for the excellent tasty breads they furnished and sincerely wish to give our heartfelt love to the volunteers who give their time and energy to guide us toward our common goal of loving our neighbor as God loves you.

Frank Discussion Can Shore Up Family's Eroding Relationship

DEAR ABBY: Our son-in-law — I'll call him Mack — has become very antagonistic toward my husband and me recently. At first it was subtle, but it is getting worse. Mack and our daughter, "Gina," live about five hours away, so we do not see them often. It is very puzzling.

We have always adored Mack, but now it seems he does everything he can think of to annoy us. For instance, he now refuses to attend church with us when he and Gina visit our home. Numerous other little things also irritate me, and I'm becoming increasingly unhappy with him.

Frankly, Abby, it has reached the point where I no longer want to be around him or have him in my home.

Should I do anything about this, or let it alone?

J.A. IN W.VA.

DEAR J.A.: It's important for in-laws to have at least a civil relationship with their children's spouses, so please try to get to the bottom of this change in your son-in-law's behavior.

Communication is usually the key to successful resolution of family problems. Call Mack and ask him to level with you about why he's treating you differently. What he says may hurt, but it can also give you a basis on which to begin mending the rift — if there is one. If you can work this out, you will all be winners, especially if Mack and Gina have children in the future.

DEAR ABBY: Recently, you printed the job description for a best man. Will you please print a job description for the maid/matron of honor, or suggest a book that would explain her duties?

MATRON OF HONOR

DEAR MATRON: My booklet titled "How to Have a Lovely Wedding" explains not only the duties of the best man, but also those of the other members of the wedding party, as well as countless details that need to be attended to in order to have a memorable wedding. However, since you asked, following are the duties of the maid/matron of honor:

"Usually the sister of the bride is chosen; or if she has no sister, then her closest friend.

"The groom's sister need not be maid or matron of honor unless she is the bride's close friend.

"She generally entertains for the bride before the wedding. "She attends rehearsal, assists the bride in dressing for the ceremony, provides the 'something borrowed and something blue,' looks after the guests and clergyman, and stands in the receiving line at the reception.

"During the ceremony, she will hold the bridegroom's ring (if it is a double-ring ceremony) and hand it to the bride at the proper time.

"She will also assist in arranging the bride's veil after the ceremony.

"Don't forget, she is essential as a witness."

DEAR ABBY: I just had to respond to "Mr. Forgettable." I, too, have one of those forgettable faces.

I can be standing three feet from people I have known for years, and they don't recognize me. So I have made it work for me. I am a private investigator in the Deep South. And when people find out that I am a P.I., they are so interested in what I do, they don't forget me anymore.

HOPES TO STAY FORGETTABLE, GULFPORT, MISS.

DEAR HOPES: You are clever to have turned what some might consider a handicap into an asset. I'll wager you are very adept at your profession.

VOLLEYBALL

BRISCOE — Fort Elliott defeated Paducah, 15-2, 15-4, in volleyball action earlier this week.

Setters Susie Luttrell, Janae Goad and Amber Estes led Fort Elliott's offense. Reagan Meadows and Lee Scales had some outstanding defensive plays.

The Lady Cougars are now 5-3 for the season.

FOOTBALL

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The biggest surprise out of the Dallas Cowboys' preseason — besides the 0-5 record — was the development of free agent wide receiver Jeff Ogden.

One of 16 free agents trying to make the team, Ogden beat out such incumbents as Stepfret Williams and Macey Brooks.

In Sunday's game against Arizona, if coach Chan Gailey calls for a four-receiver set with Eric Bjornson playing tight end, then rookie Ogden of Eastern Washington will be in the game.

"It's all still a little numbing," said Ogden when he learned he had made the team. "It's hard to believe that someone can come out of a small school without being drafted and make a team like the Cowboys."

Ogden said he had to get over the daily sight of high-profile players he had seen winning Super Bowls.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A lot has been made of California's schedule.

The Golden Bears will be taking on the likes of Nebraska, travel to Norman to play Oklahoma and open conference play later this month against defending Pac-10 champion Washington State.

Cal coach Tom Holmoe wants to make sure his players don't get ahead of themselves. After all, they play host to Houston on Saturday in an opener for both teams.

"For us, the only thing we can think about right now is Houston," Holmoe said. "We feel that we will be prepared for Houston. Obviously, the first game, there are a few jitters because you are not exactly sure what they are going to do, what new wrinkles they have. But what we are certain of is where we are at and that has got me excited."

The teams are starting the season against each other for the second straight year. Cal won at Houston 35-3 last year behind a 321-yard passing performance by Justin Vedder, who is back for his second season as Cal's quarterback.

"They're a very dangerous football on any given day and their quarterback is a play-making guy for them," Houston coach Kim Helton said. "I just hope we play better. If we do, it will be an exciting game."

Both teams are coming off 3-8 campaigns last year. Cal, though, returns 17 starters, including nine on defense while Houston has 12 players who will be making their first starts Saturday.

Helton said the Cougars defense has been almost totally rebuilt.

"I have no idea what to expect," he said. "We have too many who have never played a Division I team."

Offensively, Houston is led by tailback Ketric Sanford, who enters his junior season with 1,383 career rushing yards to rank 23rd on the school's all-time list. His backup, Vaughn Inniss, is also a force off the bench.

"They have a lot of guys on that field that can strike from anywhere," Holmoe said. "Vaughn Inniss and Ketric Sanford will be two of the better guys we face. We are going to need to practice because we are going to see a lot of great tailbacks in the Pac-10."

Vedder will be trying to pick up where he left off last year. He finished with 2,718 yards and hopes to improve his ratio of touchdown passes (20) to interceptions (14).

Harvesters humble Estacado in opener

LUBBOCK — Pampa took full advantage of Lubbock Estacado's erratic offense to claim a 14-0 win in the season opener Thursday night at Lowrey Field. Pampa's defense did a number on Estacado, recovering four fumbles and holding the Matadors to only 96 yards of total offense to avenge last season's 19-3 loss.

Despite losing quarterback Justin Roark to a knee injury in the first half, a pair of second-quarter touchdown runs by fullback Erich Greer held up for the remainder of the contest.

Estacado drove deep into Pampa territory late in the first quarter, but Chris Scott lost the handle on the ball and safety Jarred Bowles recovered on the Harvester 13. After that, it was a pair of 15-yard penalties by the Matador defense and a quarterback scramble that put the Harvesters in position for their first score. On a third-down play, Roark picked up 18 yards to the Matador three, but the senior signal-caller had to be helped from the field after sustaining a knee injury.

Reserve quarterback Kaleb Snelgrooves came in and kept the Harvester offense on track. Two plays later, Greer plunged over from the two at the 7:59 mark of the second quarter.

Near the end of the second quarter, Estacado running back Patrick Sanders was hit hard by the Pampa defenders, coughing up the ball to Harvester linebacker Kris Davis on the Matador 11. Three plays later, Greer scored on a six-yard run. The Harvesters decided to try for two on the conversion and tailback Curtis Johnson was able to scramble for the score on a broken play. That made it 14-0 with 2:34 to go in the first half.

Greer led all rushers with 63 yards on 21 carries. Johnson added 41 yards on 10 carries. Pampa stayed mainly with a ground attack to eat up the clock after gaining a two-touchdown lead. Roark completed 2 of 3 pass attempts for 13 yards before he was sidelined. Snelgrooves was 1 for 1 for 6 yards. Sophomore flanker Armando Tarango caught 2 passes for 19 yards.

Pampa's defense, especially the secondary, seemed to always be in the right place at the right time. Bowles recovered a pair of fumbles and broke up a pair of passes. Near the end of the third quarter, cornerback Randy Snelgrooves had one of the biggest defensive plays of the night when he turned at just the right moment, leaped and batted down Sanders' long pass near the Harvester five-yard line. Lineman Calvin Tucker also recovered a fumble.

Pampa's offense lost two fumbles, both in the second half inside Harvester territory.

"I'm really proud of our defensive guys," said Pampa head coach Dennis Cavalier. "Defense is something we emphasize first and foremost in our program."

Shutting out Estacado after giving up the ball like we did is a remarkable feat."

Vikings have homefield advantage over Bucs

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer

The Minnesota Vikings went through the exhibition season unbeaten, in part because new owner Red McCombs wanted to sell tickets and Dennis Green obliged him by keeping the first team in longer than usual.

So in some circles, the Vikings have supplanted Tampa Bay as the heir apparent to Green Bay in the NFC Central, the NFL's strongest division. Not that the Bucs are bad, but while their new stadium is being readied, they have to begin the season at Minnesota and Green Bay.

The Vikings are favored by three points over the Bucs. That margin is the home field, which is even bigger indoors in the Metrodome. Yes, McCombs' sales tricks are working.

Tampa Bay was 2-3 in exhibitions, but for the first time in its history it didn't have to sell tickets — the Bucs are coming off their first winning season since 1982 and are opening that new stadium.

They have expectations, too — "Are the Bucs ready for the Bowl?" is the question on the cover of one national magazine.

Tony Dungy just wants them ready for Minnesota.

OSU-KU highlights Big 12 action

By The Associated Press

For the second straight year, Oklahoma State will open its season playing a conference game on the road.

The Cowboys, who used a 21-14 victory at Iowa State as a springboard to a 6-0 start last fall, begin this season Saturday in Lawrence, Kan., against the Jayhawks. The game, which kicks off at 2:30 p.m., will be televised on ABC.

Another national telecast showcases Colorado against Colorado State at a neutral site, Denver's Mile High Stadium. ESPN will show that 9 p.m. kickoff.

Other noteworthy games include Mack Brown making his debut as Texas coach against New Mexico State and redshirt freshman Eric Crouch possibly making his debut as starting quarterback for No. 4 Nebraska (1-0) against Alabama-Birmingham.

Crouch's status will depend on how sophomore Bobby Newcombe's injured left knee feels. Newcombe partially tore a ligament in last Saturday's 56-27 victory over Louisiana Tech.

In other action, Kansas State opens its weak non-conference schedule against Indiana State, Missouri coach Larry Smith faces his alma mater Bowling Green, Oklahoma hosts North Texas in the debut of Eagles coach Darrell Dickey, Texas Tech plays host to Texas-El Paso and Iowa State plays Texas Christian. Texas A&M is off following a 23-14 loss to Florida State on Monday night in the Kickoff Classic.

After this weekend, Baylor will be the only league team yet to have played. The Bears open next weekend at Oregon State. The Kansas-Oklahoma State matchup will be the 55th meeting in a 75-year-old series, led 28-23-3 by the Jayhawks. Kansas won the last six games they were Big Eight foes; this is the first battle as Big 12 rivals.

The Jayhawks will be trying to keep alive their home-field success.

Despite going 5-6 last year, they won five of their six games at Memorial Stadium, losing only to Nebraska.

Mustangs roll past WF JV's

WICHITA FALLS — Aaron Dunnam scored three touchdowns and rushed for 232 yards on 21 carries to lead Wheeler past the Wichita Falls JV, 32-6, on Thursday night.

Dunnam scored on runs of 2, 21 and 65 yards as the Mustangs took an early lead and never trailed. They led 7-0 after the opening quarter and by halftime it was 19-0. Dunnam scored on runs of 21 and 65 yards in the third quarter to complete the Wheeler scoring.

Dunnam also threw a 5-yard touchdown pass to Michael Montgomery. Caleb Finsterwald added a 2-yard touchdown run.

The Mustangs rolled up 461 yards total offense, including 422 on the ground. They held Wichita Falls JV to 31 rushing yards, and 203 overall.

Ricky Bauer tallied Wichita Fall's only score on a 5-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Canadian linemen

Canadian seniors Joseph Davina (78) and Rex Lovelace are expected to see plenty of action in the line when the Wildcats travel to Gruver tonight for the 1998 football opener.

Schedule cools off Mighty Mac and Sammy; both play tonight

By STEVEN WINE
AP Sports Writer

Finally, there's someone who can shut down Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa: the schedule-maker.

The sluggers' teams took Thursday off, and the home-run race resumes tonight. McGwire, who needs three homers to break Roger Maris' record of 61, returns home as the St. Louis Cardinals begin a three-game series against Cincinnati. The Chicago Cubs and Sosa, who has 56 homers, play at Pittsburgh.

Since Maris doesn't seem to stand a chance, the greater drama may be whether McGwire can stay ahead of Sosa. And then there's this tantalizing question: How many homers will Mighty Mac hit?

The pause in the race allowed time for a little back-to-school math:

— With 23 games remaining, McGwire is averaging a home run every 2.4 games. At that pace, he'll hit 69 homers.

— McGwire homered 15 times last September. If he duplicates that finish, he'll hit 70.

— McGwire has 12 homers in the past 16 days. At that rate, he'll finish with 77.

— On Tuesday and Wednesday, McGwire had consecutive two-homer games for the first time as a Cardinal. If he keeps up that pace — two homers per game — he'll hit 105.

Sosa clearly has his work cut out for him.

"I'm not trying to catch Mark McGwire," he said. "Mark's the man."

One projection has McGwire breaking Maris' record Thursday at Cincinnati. But the Cardinals slugger dislikes speculation about the timing of No. 62.

"When it's meant to be done — if it's meant to be done — it will be done," he said. "When? I think everybody will know."

It should be noted that all projections might be skewed because McGwire's three most recent games were against the Florida Marlins, who have the worst pitching staff in the NL. He sent Florida's fans into a frenzy

Wednesday by hitting two tape-measure home runs for the second consecutive night.

"The best thing that has happened is that this has been good for baseball," McGwire said. "Fans are embracing the game."

The last-place Marlins deserve credit because they pitched to McGwire. They just didn't do it very well.

McGwire's four moonshots over Miami averaged 469 feet. He went 5-for-11 in the three-game series with four walks, raising his average to .299. His 145 bases on balls lead the majors.

"He hasn't lost his patience," Florida manager Jim Leyland said. "He hasn't expanded his strike zone. He's not panicking."

"It astounds me how strong his mind is," Cardinals manager Tony La Russa said. "His mind is actually stronger than his body."

And his body inspires awe. Players on both teams were astonished by homer No. 58, a sinker from Brian Edmondson that was inside and, according to McGwire, three inches off the ground.

Shootout expected at Sun Devil Stadium between No. 7 Arizona State and No. 18 Washington

By DENNIS WASZAK Jr.
Associated Press Writer

The person in charge of the Sun Devil Stadium scoreboard might be quite busy during Arizona State's game against Washington.

The No. 8 Sun Devils, expected to have one of the top offenses in the nation, take on the No. 18 Huskies and one of the top passers in the country Saturday night in a game likely to feature frequent trips into the end zone.

"From our scrimmages and what I've read about their scrimmages, it sounds that way," Washington coach Jim Lambright said of the possible shootout. "You've got two offenses that have a chance to move the ball real well."

Huskies quarterback Brock Huard, a 6-foot-5 junior, has already enjoyed success at Sun Devil Stadium.

Almost two years ago to the day, Huard came off the bench in the fourth quarter to rally the Huskies from a 42-21 deficit to a 42-42 tie before Washington finally lost 45-42.

Sophomore wide receiver Ja'Warren Hooker, the NCAA indoor 55-meter champion who holds the Huskies' record in the 100 at 10.18 seconds, is Huard's main target.

"They're going to complete some balls, and they may complete some long ones," Arizona State coach Bruce Snyder said. "That's what they're very good at. Ja'Warren Hooker is the fastest man in the league. He can run right through a secondary if you're not paying attention."

Arizona State's offense features a long list of big-play performers, including tailback J.R. Redmond, quarterback Ryan Kealy and wide receivers Lenzie Jackson, Kenny Mitchell, Tariq McDonald, Creig Spann and Kendrick Bates, one of the best tight ends in the Pac-10.

"There's no way, man for man, you can cover everyone on our team," said Redmond, the No. 1 tailback after two seasons as an often-spectacular backup.

In other games Saturday involving ranked teams, No. 1 Ohio State is at No. 11 West Virginia; The Citadel is at No. 3 Florida; Alabama-Birmingham is at No. 4 Nebraska; No. 5 Michigan is at No. 22 Notre Dame; Indiana State is at No. 6 Kansas State; No. 10 Tennessee is at No. 17 Syracuse.

Miami, Ohio, is at No. 12 North Carolina; No. 21 Southern Mississippi is at No. 13 Penn State; Kent at No. 19 Georgia; No. 20 Wisconsin is at San Diego State; No. 23 Michigan State is at Oregon and No. 15 Colorado State takes on Colorado at Denver.

No. 2 Florida, No. 7 UCLA, No. 9 LSU and No. 14 Texas A&M are idle.

The Buckeyes-Mountaineers game, sold out for months, is just the second time the teams from neighboring states have played since 1903, is being dubbed the "Border War."

"There's no question that this game is probably the biggest opener we've ever had," West Virginia coach Don Nehlen said. "First off, they're No. 1, and No. 2, they can get on a bus and drive here."

The last time Ohio State was No.

Air Force helicopters collide; 12 aboard unaccounted-for

By ROBERT MACY
Associated Press Writer

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Two Air Force helicopters crashed early today during a training mission over Nevada, and the fate of the 12 people on board was unknown.

The HH60G Pave Hawk helicopters, part of a rescue squadron based at Nellis Air Force Base, were on a night training mission when they crashed about 1 a.m. PDT. The wreckage of the helicopters was found about an hour later.

Gen. Theodore Lay, commander of the 57th Wing at Nellis, said families of crew members were being contacted. Authorities gave no information on whether anyone survived.

Maj. Byron James, an Air Force spokesman at the Pentagon, said the two helicopters apparently collided. But Lay said he was not sure whether it was a collision or whether the two helicopters both crashed into the rugged mountainous terrain in which they were operating.

The HH60G Pave Hawk helicopters, based at Nellis Air Force Base, were on a night training mission when they crashed about 1 a.m.

The crash site is 25 miles north of Indian Springs, Nev., a remote auxiliary Nellis air field 33 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

The bombing and gunnery range covers 5,200 square miles, and is a highly restricted area. It is the site of some of the world's most sophisticated aerial exercises, including Red Flag aerial war games that draw pilots from around the world.

Nellis spokesman Mike Estrada said the terrain where the helicopters crashed is some of the most difficult on the sprawling range.

"Our folks had a pretty difficult time getting up to the crash site," Estrada said.

A team of search and rescue and emergency forces from the Air Force, Bureau of Land Management and Department of Energy were working with local authorities.

The Air Force owns only 10 of the $12 million Pave Hawk helicopters of the type that crashed today. They normally carry a crew of four people, two pilots, a flight engineer and a gunner. They are built by Sikorsky Aircraft Corp.

The Nellis helicopters are part of the 66th Rescue Squadron, the largest rescue squadron in the Air Force. Units just recently returned from duty in Turkey and Southeast Asia.

U.S. unemployment holds at 4.5 percent in August

By ALICE ANN LOVE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. unemployment rate held steady at 4.5 percent in August as other manufacturing job losses outweighed the return to work of laborers affected by strikes at General Motors earlier this summer.

August's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was the same as in June and July, when about 150,000 workers in automotive and other factories were either on strike or laid off because of strike-related production slowdowns, the Labor Department said today.

Although most of the striked workers returned to work in August, the unemployment rate did not recover to the 4.3 percent low of April and May — the best since 1970.

"Overall, I still believe that the fundamental underpinnings of this economy are very strong and very steady, but clearly we are seeing the effects of the Asian situation," said Labor Secretary Alexis Herman.

Economic hard times in Asia have dampened demand for U.S. products there. Also, currency devaluation has made Asian imports cheaper and more attractive to consumers here.

Net job growth across all U.S. employment sectors in August was 365,000, compared to a slightly better than originally reported gain of 68,000 jobs in July.

But the gain of 95,000 manufacturing jobs in August would have actually been a loss of 55,000 without the return of workers after GM settled its labor disputes the last week in July.

Taking July and August together, gains in total U.S.

employment averaged 217,000 jobs a month, compared to an average monthly gain of 244,000 for the first half of 1998.

Clothing and other textile manufacturing jobs declined by 18,000 in August. Employment in the manufacturing of electronic equipment components dropped by 6,000 jobs, and food and related products manufacturing lost 4,000 jobs.

Construction employment, however, was up again in August, by another 16,000 jobs, in part reflecting a boom in home sales. Since October, the construction industry has added 261,000 jobs.

Also growing in August was employment in the service sector, which jumped by 135,000 jobs. Temporary-help services led the gain, adding 42,000 jobs. Computer and data-processing services jobs were up by 11,000.

Transportation and public utilities added 24,000 jobs in August, with about 12,000 of those coming in trucking and warehousing.

Retail employment, including at bars and restaurants, was up 16,000 in August after a much bigger 97,000-job gain in July.

Employment grew by 13,000 jobs in finance, insurance and real estate, but that was a substantially smaller rise than monthly average gains of 23,000 during the previous 12 months.

Government employment, boosted by teachers returning to work, was up by 57,000 jobs.

Although faltering fortunes in Asia have contributed to a sharp slowdown in U.S. economic growth — from a 5.5 percent annual rate during the first three months of this year to a 1.6 percent rate from April through June — the impact on U.S. jobs has so far been minimal.

Outside manufacturing, service and other employment sectors continue to report gains.

"There are signs that the economy is weaker now than it has been," said economist Sandra Shaber of the WEFA Group in Eddystone, Pa. "But even if companies now are seeing slower production, slower orders, slower sales, they don't immediately lay people off."

After an erratic week on Wall Street that began with a 513-point drop in the Dow Jones industrial average on Monday, the blue-chip index today opened higher, but reversed course and was down at mid-morning.

The jittery markets have some, including the National Association of Manufacturers, calling on the Federal Reserve to cut U.S. interest rates as a hedge against the encroachment here of Asian financial woes.

But with jobs so far remaining plentiful, that argument is less likely to sway the Fed's Open Market Committee, next scheduled to meet Sept. 29.

In fact, worries persist that labor shortages could pressure wages higher, cutting corporate profits and increasing inflation.

In August, average hourly wages grew by 7 cents to $12.86 — a faster pace than the 3-cent increases recorded in each of the previous three months.

The average work week of 34.6 hours was unchanged in August.

The unemployment rate for black Americans dropped in August to 9.0 percent from 9.7 percent in July. Unemployment among Hispanics rose to 7.5 percent from 7.2 percent, and for whites to 4.0 percent from 3.8 percent.

Unemployment among teenagers of all races rose in August to 15 percent, from 13.8 percent in July.

Heat goes on

DALLAS (AP) — It's September, but the scorching summer of 1998 is still sizzling.

North Texas logged its 53rd day of 100-degree temperatures on Thursday, making this the second-hottest summer on record. The hottest was 1980, with 69 days over 100. There were 52 triple-digit days in 1953.

The whole northern half of Texas was baked on Thursday. The hottest spots were Fort Worth, Mineral Wells and McKinney at 107. Abilene, Austin, Corsicana, Childress, Denton, Longview, Paris, Terrell, Tyler, Waco and Wichita Falls all got over 100.

"This summer is going to go down as the second-warmest and second-driest on record," Skip Ely, meteorologist in charge of the National Weather Service office in Fort Worth, told The Dallas Morning News.

The number of 100-degree days is expected to continue growing through the Labor Day weekend. The temperature could reach 103 today, Saturday and Sunday.

Worse yet, there's almost no chance for rain.

"There is a little cool front along the Canadian border, but I don't think it's going to make it down there anytime soon," said Guy Pearson, a meteorologist with WeatherData Inc.

The continued heat means another heat-related record is on the horizon — the most 100-degree days in September. There were six September days over 100 in 1951, but it hasn't been that hot since. The normal high temperature this time of year is 88.

Forecasters say the scorching summer may translate into a milder winter.

Ely's winter prediction — less rain and warmer temperatures than usual — centers on the La Nina weather pattern. A non-scientific study of four of the hottest summers on record supports the prediction.

In 1952, 1954, 1956 and 1980, summer temperatures consistently topped 100 degrees. The falls and winters following those summers recorded generally warmer-than-average temperatures.
