Q. Will the mistletoe be removed from the mesquite trees in Ruddick Park soon?
A. City Manager Steve Shutt said the mistletoe needs to be removed because it is a parasite and will eventually kill the 30 to 40 trees in the park. He said arrangements are being made to have a crew of Wallace Unit inmates perform the work.

Fire singes TU plant

The TU Electric Co. power plant south of Colorado City is making repairs from a very damaging turbine fire, and plans are to have the turbine running again by June 1.

Several contractors have been summoned from Dallas and East Texas to fix damages associated with a Monday, Feb. 23, blaze in Unit 6, the company's biggest steam turbine, Plant Manager Dale Higginbotham said.

At 2:50 p.m. that day, a cable in a cable tray with other cables overheated and shorted out, setting the cables' insulation on fire and then shutting the turbine down, Higginbotham said.

There were no injuries.

"We have a turbine fire protection system that was installed two years ago, and it did activate and essentially extinguished the fire," the plant manager said.

"We had three sprinkler heads that did fuse. We expect that the damages would have been extremely high if they had not worked. There is some doubt if the fire could have been fought effectively because of the amount of smoke and the location where the fire began.

"It would have been difficult to get access to."

Higginbotham said, however, that plant employees responded quickly with fire-fighting equipment "to make sure we did not have any more damage."

Volunteer firefighters from Colorado City hurried to the scene but found that the fire was already out, he said.

"We do appreciate the efforts of the volunteeer fire department," he said. "They responded very well."

Higginbotham said the fire was on the mezzanine level along the north plant wall just north of the main steam stop valve on the Unit 6 turbine.

The plant has five steam turbines, including the 500-megawat No. 6, and six combustion turbines.

"That's a good-sized steam turbine, the largest one at this plant," he said.

Higginbotham said the damages had not been finally estimated because the contractors "haven't fully disassembled all the equipment and determined the cost associated with it."

He said having the fire in the springtime was fortunate in a way because electrical consumer demands are relatively low and the company will have time to make repairs before summertime.

He said other plants throughout the TU system are making up the difference, with none in particular being tapped.

Races wrap in county

Election Day Tuesday!

Two contested county commissioners' races will be settled here when voters go to the polls in Tuesday's party primary elections.

It's Pct. 2 Commissioner Carl Guelker against Scott Morton of Westbrook and Pct. 4 incumbent Bill Preston of Loraine against Kelley Mayo, and all four men had final comments early this week as the races wound down.

They are all Democrats.

"The campaign has been going fine," said Guelker, who seeks a third four-year term. "I have been well-received by people in my door-to-door campaign that I caught at home and visited with.

"I would just appeal to the voters to study any and all issues and vote for the individual they would feel meets the qualifications that they need and want in their county commissioner."

Morton said his campaign has also been going well, based on his plan to be a full-time commissioner.

Referring to Guelker's farming and ranching interests, Morton said a full-time worker in any job can do "twice to three times as much" work as a part-timer.

He said his work toward a business management degree at Western Texas College would also be an asset.

Seeking a sixth term, Preston said his only remaining comment was, "Please vote."

Mayo criticized Preston for buying a $193,000 reclaimer for road work at West Texas Equipment Co. in Abilene last year, and he said an outside contractor should not have been allowed to build the Hillcrest Additon housing development in the northwestern part of town.

The reclaimer is currently being used in the Col-Tex roadbase-making project by

Helping folks is her game

Bertie Kidd spent many years farming and keeping books in Texas and New Mexico, but she never forgot her teenaged ambition to do something for service veterans.

Born Bertie Redman in a farming family in 1930 at Buford, north of Colorado City, she was in her early teens while her three older brothers and a brother-in-law fought in World War II.

"Working with veterans is a job that I first heard about when I was about 15, and I thought right then, 'Boy, if I ever can, that's the job I want!' she said.

"I just thought if I could do that, it would be one little thing I could do to thank them, because goodness knows they saved our hides."

Ms. Kidd, 67, married when she was a senior at Colorado High School in 1947, had three children in three years, divorced and married Milton

City, school posts draw interest

Some incumbents had filed for re-election while others were still holding off Tuesday in the city council and school board elections that will be held on Saturday, May 2.

The filing deadline is Wednesday, March 18.

Place 7 Colorado School Board member Roxie Strain had filed for re-election, but Place 3 member Diana Garza had not.

All three Colorado City City Council incumbents had signed up -- Gary Redwine for Place 3, A. W. Rowe for Place 4 and Faye Ross for Place 6.

None of the Mitchell County Hospital Board incumbents, Kenneth Beasley, Virgil Stone or Dale Geiger, had filed.

In Loraine, neither incumbent school board member, Rosemary Aguilar nor Frank Garcia, had filed, but all three Loraine City Council members had -- Lee Matlock, Chrystene Hall and Kay Barnett.

Mary Crisp of Loraine has also filed for the city council race.

The trend was reversed in Westbrook, where both school board incumbents had filed but none of the city council members had.

Westbrook school trustees Cleburne Rich and Warren Zant are being opposed by political newcomers Robert Chambers and Sarah Petty.

Coach James, players football-ready

If anyone is afraid to tackle Colorado High School's new District 3 3-A competition next year, it isn't new Head Football Coach and Athletic Director Gerald James or his players.

Given a new two-year contract after a Thursday night school board meeting, Coach James said Friday that he is looking forward to the competition.

The board was in an executive, or closed meeting, from 6:30 to 9:15 and then announced that James' contract will pay him $45,000 a year.

It also accepted the resignations of former head football coach Bill Grissom, who resigned to coach at Coleman, and middle school coach and history teacher Yardy Powell.

All members were present.

"Perryton knocked Denver City out of the playoffs the week before we played Perryton, so we've seen them on film," James said, referring to last year's Class 3-A state football playoffs.

"They went 10-0 and barely beat Seminole. Seminole was 9-1. They lost (all-state running back) Toby

Col-Tex project gains steam

Work is beginning this week on the Col-Tex Refinery clean-up that Fina Oil & Chemical Co. of Dallas has been spearheading for the past four years.

Environmental Recycling Co. of Prairieville, La., has moved trailerhouses and equipment onto the site just southwest of Colorado City to begin recycling petroleum-soaked soil and making it into roadbase for road-paving projects.

Fina engineer Danny Kite said about 15,000 yards of roadbase will be mixed from the refinery soil, crushed concrete and an emulsion for the city and county to use in roadbase for paving projects.

The Mitchell County Commissioners Court plans to use the first roadbase to pave a dirt road leading nearly a half-mile from the Interstate 20 access road to the entrance of the new Hillcrest Addition in the northwestern part of town.

A reclaimer machine supplied by Pct. 4 Commissioner Bill Preston is being used to dig into the soil at the old refinery site and provide materials for the roadbase-manufacturing project.

Kite said he did not want to reveal the amount of Fina's contract with Environmental Recycling, but he said it is for "a bunch."

The work to clean up the riverside property, where three "ponds" containing asphalt will be dug up, is only a pilot project preparatory to moving the work south to an elevated area where 30 such ponds have been marked off and covered with steel netting to keep birds and wildlife out.

One of the hilltop ponds is about 200 yards long and 75 yards wide.

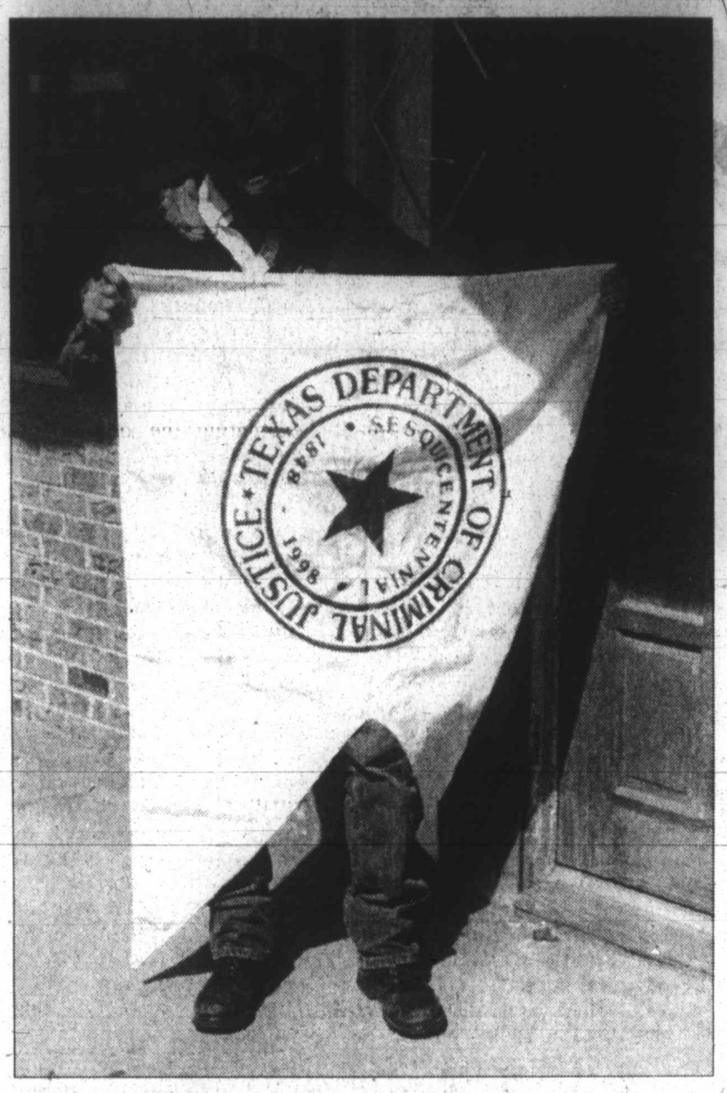

Kite said that a much larger job will begin either this summer or next spring, and Fina will sell roadbase from it to recover some of its costs.

County trucks are being used to move broken concrete from an I-20 construction waste site northwest of Colorado City and just north of the highway to a storage area west of the riverside roadbase manufacturing site.

Kite said not enough concrete will be obtained from the I-20 site, so commissioners will bring in more from old concrete foundations in various locations around the county.

THE 150th YEAR of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice will be celebrated this year as this Sesquicentennial flag, stenciled at the Wallace Unit here, is flown above prisons throughout the state. Showing the flag is prison official Norman Neves.

First flags printed here

TDCJ's 150th

The Texas Department of Criminal Justice's garment factories are usually not in the flag-manufacturing business, but this is an unusual year -- the 150th, or sesquicentennial, anniversary of the department.

So the garment factory at Colorado City's Wallace Unit will be in the flag business long enough to stencil flags for the TDCJ's 107 units and administrative offices around the state.

Wallace Unit factory cutting room supervisor Norman Neves said most of the flags are being stenciled here to be finished at garment factories downstate.

Region 4 Director Doug Dretke of Beeville said Jerry Turner, a Windham School teacher at the Boyd Unit in Teague in East Texas, got the celebration started last year when he wrote to TDCJ Director Wayne Scott, noting that the 150th anniversary was coming up.

The flag design was developed by the department's industrial division, based on a design the department already uses, Dretke said.

Now there are plans to build a monument and Monument Plaza outside the Texas Prison Museum that is being constructed off Interstate 45 in north Huntsville to replace the existing smaller museum in Huntsville.

A Sept. 11 dedication ceremony has been scheduled, and Dretke said all Texas cities with prison units, including Colorado City, will be invited to send a delegation.

Although the first flags are being tailored with tails to make them last longer in high winds, the final design might be in a more standard rectangle, he said.

They are white with blue lettering.

The TDCJ began in 1848 as the Texas Prison System. It was renamed the Texas Department of Corrections in 1957 and became the Texas Department of Criminal Justice in 1989.

"The focus of the recognition is going to be on the correctional employees," Dretke said.

"This a unique place in time and history to draw attention to the correctional employees throughout our history who have dedicated their careers to public service and, really, toward our mission of public safety -- correctional officers, counselors and teachers."

Monument Plaza will feature brick "pavers" with the names of past and present employees. Relatives and families may purchase the pavers for prices ranging from the basic $25 paver to as much as $200 for a more elaborate marker.

Dretke said corporate sponsors are also getting involved in the project.

Monument Plaza will also feature a "Time Line" exhibit where visitors may walk around and see illustrations of the department's history.

Turner, the Windham Unit teacher, has written a series of historical articles that will be distributed to newspapers around the state on such figures as Abner Cook, who designed the department's original unit, the Walls Unit in Huntsville, and the Texas Governor's Mansion.

Dretke said the Madisonville Post Office in East Texas will make a special postmark for Sept. 11 to commemorate the sesquicentennial, and the postmark will be available to other cities with prison units.

Region 4 Assistant Director Charlie Bell said the monument design has been narrowed to two proposals and the TDCJ Sesquicentennial Committee is considering its final choice.

March Railhead is in two weeks

The first of three scheduled Railhead Trade Days for 1998 will be held in downtown Colorado City on March 21-22, and more than 6,000 people are expected to attend the weekend event.

Many unique gift items will be available from the 100 vendors participating in the March Railhead, including personalized doormats, bird houses, sports cards, gourmet jellies and jams, woodwork, handmade soap, sterling silver jewelry and hand crafted furniture.

"The March Railhead is usually the best show of the year," said Railhead committee member Richy Womack. "More than 100 vendors will be here, and if the weather is good, we can expect to have 5,500 to 6,500 people attend."

There are still indoor and outdoor vendor spaces available, but they are expected to sell out by the end of this week . For more information on the Railhead Trade Days, contact the Chamber of Commerce at 915-728-3403.

Democrats knock insurance hikes

The 1998 political season is reaching its first big high point with Tuesday's primary elections, and the Democrats, with only three contested races on their statewide ballot, are looking more toward the Nov. 3 general election.

Jorge Ramirez, executive director of the Texas Democratic Party in Austin, indicated that his major interest is in the three referenda on the bottom of the ballot -- on patients' choosing their own physicians , banning taxes on food and medicine and recruiting and retaining teachers.

"I think we are going to have a very good turnout," Ramirez said. "The issues are on our side, and as a result Democrats and independents are going to come out and vote."

The referenda ask 1) if the law should be changed to require health maintenance organizations (HMO's) to offer Texans an option to choose their own docors, 2) if a constitutional amendment should be passed to prohibit sales taxes on food and medicine and 3) if a plan should be adopted to recruit and retain teachers and if computers should be made available to all students.

Ramirez said the Democrats' opposition to food and medicine taxes "contrasts very well with the Republicans'" because Houston Republican Rep. Talmadge Heflin tried to pass an 11-percent tax on those items last year in order to give big corporations a tax break.

"The tax proposal by Heflin would have put a $1,360 tax increase on each family in Texas over five years," Ramirez said.

"The insurance industry had a record year of profits this past year, and I don't think the Republican Party has delivered on their promises to provide insurance relief to the people of Texas.

"George Bush promised to lower insurance rates, and we have seen increases for housing and auto insurance. He is a very likeable person, but I think when folks focus on the issues, they will vote for the party that's going to make a difference in their lives, the Democratic Party."

Ramirez said automobile insurance premiums have increased by 11 percent in metropolitian areas while home-owners' insurance has jumped by 14 percent statewide.

"Insurance industry profits have reached an all-time high," he said. "George Bush says Texas is doing just fine on insurance costs, but I don't think the average working class Texan believes him.

"Gov. Bush has been delinquent when it comes to helping the average Texan."

Ramirez noted that Gov. Bush vetoed the 1995 Patient Protection Act, which would have given patients the right to choose their own doctor.

"The Republicans owe favors to the HMO's," he said.

There are only three contested races on the statewide Democratic ballot -- for attorney general, railroad commissioner and commissioner of agriculture.

Former Attorney General Jim Mattox is opposed for renomination by Texas Court of Criminal Appeals Justice Morris Overstreet and attorney Gene Kelly of Universal City, near San Antonio.

Attorney Joe Henderson of Huntsville is running for railroad commissioner against Austin Realtor Gary Dugger.

State Rep. Pete Patterson of Brookston, near Paris in Lamar County, is running for agriculture commissioner against Brownsville agricultural consultant Ernesto DeLeon.

Ramirez indicated that the Democrats expect Texas' traditional "ticket-splitters" to be out in force later this year, voting for some Republicans and some Democrats.

He said Houston businessman Paul Hobby, a candidate for state comptroller who is unopposed in the Democratic primary, is already making a difference in reviving partisan enthusiasm in his hometown, which Ramirez said will lead the state in a renewed independent-minded mood.

Westbrook woman aces two transplants

Glenda Wallace's life has been saved twice, once by a brother and once by a stranger.

The transplant was performed in Dallas when she was 17, between her junior and senior high school years, and she graduated on schedule in 1991 as class valedictorian.

Then for some reason, possibly because the anti-rejection medicine was too strong, that kidney started failing two years ago while she was attending Western Texas College in Snyder.

Miss Wallace underwent dialysis at home and then at the South Plains Kidney Disease Center in Lubbock until an organ donor with matching tissue and blood was found and she received another transplant on Jan. 27 at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Now she has her second new lease on life and is planning to take her 1996 associate degree in accounting from WTC and seek a bachelor's degree in business education at Angelo State University in San Angelo or the University of Texas-Permain Basin in Odessa.

She also plans to marry her fiance, Romero Fuentes of Westbrook.

"Her outlook is wonderful," said her mother, Linda Wallace, who works at Pack-N-Ship at 1045 Hickory St. "Her faith in the Lord has just been very strong.

"I don't know if I could ever go through what she has been through and have the faith that she has had."

The Wallaces are members of the First Baptist Church of Westbrook.

Asked her opinion of the national organ donor system, Miss Wallace said she gets very emotional about the realization that another person had to die so she could live.

The donor and city where the kidney came from remain secret, but she has written a note to the donor's family, delivered by her surgeon, Dr. G. Baird Helfrich, to thank them.

"I think it's a wonderful idea, but I had a lot of mixed feelings about it because I knew someone had to die," she said. "So that bothered me.

"I was able to write a letter to the family, and I told them it was a wonderful thing you did at a time when you have just lost someone you loved.

"Someone has just died, and then in the next sentence they are asked, 'Will you donate their organs?'"

She said if people want their organs donated, they should tell their families so the survivors will know what answer to give.

Miss Wallace's brother Lee, 33, lives in Whitney, in Hill County, and her brother James, 36, is in Snyder. Her father, Glen Wallace, lives in Irving.

MIRACLE WOMAN Glenda Wallace of Westbrook has survived two kidney transplants in the 1990's, and between the two she graduated from Western Texas College in Snyder.

No chance for bugs in county this year

Four counties in the Low Rolling Plains, including Mitchell County, are getting a new Integrated Pest Management (IPM) program to reduce insect damage to their cotton, sorghum and wheat crops.

Stephen P. Biles, 26, has been appointed area IPM agent, based in Sweetwater to supervise work in Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry and Jones counties.

He has just joined the Texas Agricultural Extension Service after working as a student assistant and field technician at Texas A&M University in College Station, where he earned B. S. degrees in entomology, or insect science, and agronomy.

Four field scouts will be hired to check 10 to 25 fields weekly in each county after consultations with county agents and producers.

They will be employed through the Texas Pest Management Association with funds donated by banks, agribusinesses and county funds in each county.

"We need somebody that's responsible, preferably someone with cotton experience because they're going to be working quite a bit on their own," Biles said.

"They're going to be in farmers' fields, so they need to be somebody the farmers can rely on."

He said the scouts will be watching for weeds and plant diseases along with cotton boll worms, tobacco bud worms, fall Army worms, beet Army worms, cotton flea hoppers and cotton aphids.

"The boll weevil will be pretty much taken care of by the Boll Weevil Eradication Program," he said.

Biles said the IPM program started in the early 1970's, but this will be its first work in the Low Rolling Plains.

Mitchell County Agent Vance Christie said the IPM is important in part because the Boll Weevil Eradication Program is expected to allow some "secondary" insects like aphids and flea hoppers to emerge.

He explained that the field scout will not be working throughout the county but will concentrate on the designated survey fields as an indication of the county's overall situation.

"The next step will be to meet with the county ag committee to look at different areas for the survey fields that this scout is going to be responsible for," Christie said.

He said candidates for the scouting position will be discussed when the committee meets in mid-March, along with an appointee from Mitchell County to serve on the four-county steering committee that will oversee the project.

State IPM Coordinator Tom Fuchs of San Angelo said Biles "has the cotton background and familiarity with A&M and IPM programs to make this effort a success.

"This educational program has two main missions," Dr. Fuchs said. "The first deals with keeping local growers abreast of the insect and crop development happenings in their fields. The second deals with demonstrating new practices and technologies."

Fuchs said computer databases will be developed from strategically based "indicator fields," and Biles will disseminate management suggestions with newsletters, field meetings, electronic methods, workshops and county meetings.

"The support and assistance of the county extension agents in conducting all aspects of the program are crucial to its success," he said. "This includes designing, implementing and evaluating the demonstrations and being an integral part of the resulting education efforts."

Biles, the son of a Southern Baptist minister, was born in Corsicana and went through grade school and most of high school in Houston before graduating from Cooper High School in Abilene.

He is working on an M. S. degree in agronomy at A&M.

His research work at the university included conducting small plot research, maintaining cotton and soybean crops, data procurement, plant mapping and data entry.

He was also an assistant or intern in programs with the Delta & Pine Co., Micro-Flo and the BASF Corp.

His wife Jamie is a schoolteacher.

MC jail is "A-okay"

Mitchell County Jail last Tuesday passed its annual inspection by an official of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards, who registered only a couple of minor complaints.

Sheriff Patrick Toombs said inspector Paul Scarborough of Tulia wanted a hose rack and a fire extinguisher moved to different locations upstairs in the two-story jail.

The Jail Standards Commission required two major changes in the early 1990's -- the construction of an outside recreation area and the installation of a commode and sink in the dayroom upstairs.

The fenced recreation area cost about $18,000, and each inmate is allowed three hours in it per week.

Sheriff Toombs said the jail had an average daily population (ADP) of 16.7 inmates last year, under its legal maximum of 27.

The ADP was 16 in 1996 and 14.4 in 1995.

"It's gone up each year," the sheriff said.

He said his major problem with the jail is in its staffing because state law requires a jailer on each floor when there are inmates on both floors.

In a single-story jail, he noted, one jailer may supervise up to 48 inmates.

The jail has three cells and a detoxification cell downstairs and seven cells and a dayroom upstairs.

Toombs said it housed around 27 inmates numerous times last year.

Women inmates are kept in the downstairs cells.

He employs four full-time jailers, a part-time jailer, three full-time deputy sheriffs and DARE Officer Tommy Dill.

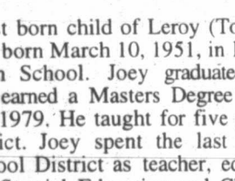

Office Deputy Rachel Winn is also a certified jailer, and the chief jailer is Loraine Hawthorn.

The jail was built in 1955.

How Do You Write A Classified Ad That Gets Results?

BE THOROUGH

Sure you want your ad to stand out from the rest, but don't skimp on the sort of information that sells. The item's condition, size, age, brand name and color are some of the basics readers want to know. Without them, your ad may be passed by.

STEER CLER OF ABBREVIATIONS

OK, so you want to include all the important basics, now don't confuse your reader by using strange abbreviations. What is perfectly clear to you may be perfectly unrecognizable to someone else!

BE HONEST

Exaggerating your item's finer points may bring in a lot of responses, but a buyer who's misled won't appreciate it - and will take his business somewhere else.

STATE YOUR PRICE

The cost of an item is one of the most important concerns of Classified readers. Ads showing prices are ones which get results. Giving a price also serves to "weed out" those buyers not in your price range.

BE ACCESSIBLE

Including a telephone number or address puts you in touch with potential buyers. Be sure to state the hours you can be reached: a caller who can't get through the first time often won't call again.

Don't hesitate to call with any questions or problems you may have. Our professionally trained staff knows the ropes and would be happy to pass their know-how on to you. That's why we're here: to help you get the results you deserve!

Water board appointed

Higginbotham, Gayle named

No one will ever steal West Texas' water now.

Enacting the comprehensive new water bill passed by the Texas Legislature last year in Austin, the Texas Water Development Board has designated 16 regional water planning areas and appointed board members for each one.

Mitchell County is included in Region F with 29 other counties.

State Rep. David Counts of Knox City, chairman of the House Committee on Natural Resources, said Monday that he is satisfied with the progress of the plan so far.

"I would like to have one or two more on there that I know are good people, but I think these people are adequate to do the study we need to have done and coordinate the survey in these regions," Counts said.

The board will inventory all Region F water, groundwater as well as surface water, and project area water needs to the year 2050.

Rep. Counts said the board will try to ensure that the region has "enough water of the right quality in the right place at the right time" over the next half-century.

And he said the specter of water trucks draining Lake Spence near Robert Lee to take water to San Antonio and other water-poor metropolitan areas has been eliminated.

"We changed the law on inter-basin transfer, and that's going to have a major effect on us having the ability to protect our rural water," Counts said.

Region F board members include Dale Higginbotham, manager of the TU Electric Co. plant south of Colordo City, and Snyder City Manager John Gayle.

Counts said Higginbotham was a good appointment because he will be able to determine "how much he and all the other industrial users might need to keep electricity going into homes.

"He'll have the resources of his entire company to come in and help analyze those things," the representative said. "I think it's a good situation."

He said Gayle was city manager at Tulia, which is about the same size as Colorado City, before coming to Snyder and had to deal with a serious water shortage there.

"Tulia had some significant water problems that he had to go through, trying to get a new source of surface water for that city, so he brings a lot of experience to the table," Counts said.

A spokesman for the Texas Water Development Board said Senate Bill 1, the new water bill, required the regional boards to be named by Nov. 1, but officials got ahead of schedule to give them more time to work on their plans, which are due by Sept. 1, 2000.

Board members were appointed by categories of the interest groups they represent.

They are the retired Aubrey Edwards of Tom Green County from the general public;

County Judges Marilyn Egan of Runnels County and Jeffrey Sutton of Crockett County;

Will Wilde of San Angelo Utilities and Len Wilson of the City of Andrews;

John W. Lassiter of Huntsman Polymers in Ector County;

Farmers Kenneth Dierschke of Tom Green County and John W. Jones of McCulloch County;

Environmentalist Frances Mertz of the San Angelo Nature Center;

Small businessman Stuart Coleman of Coleman Distributing in Brown County;

Stephen Brown of the Upper Colorado River Authority in Tom Green County and two other counties and John Grant of the Colorado River Water District in Howard County and 15 other counties;

Loye Tankersley of the Irion County Underground Water Conservation District and Cindy Cawley of the Plateau Underground Water Conservation District in Schleicher County;

Richard Gist of the Zephyr water utility in Brown County and Braulia Natividad of the Madera Valley water utility in Reeves County;

And attorneys Ray Stoker of Ector County and Steven C. Hofer of Midland County.

BILLY JOE ROBINETTE, a 1993 graduate of Colorado High, has successfully completed the 4 1/2 month U.S. Border Patrol Academy at Charleston, South Carolina. He attended the academy from July 16 to November 25, 1997 and is now stationed in Alamogordo, New Mexico. Mattox says law needs changing

By Jim Mattox

In the debate surrounding murderess Karla Faye Tucker's execution, legal commentators had a field day portraying Texans as harsh dealers in death, implying our legal system is not far removed from a "hang 'em high" mentality.

And I am like most Texans, proud of our tough-on-crime stance and a proponent of the death penalty when warranted. We are credited nationally with breaking the logjam and moving the death penalty forward through aggressive litigation during my tenure as attorney general from 1983 to 1990.

During my years as Texas Attorney General, I saw enough victims -- and enough criminals -- to believe there are times when the State has a right, if not the obligation, to terminate life.

In Texas, those who commit heinous crimes know full well the likely consequence. I hope that knowledge serves as a deterrent.

What our system does not do is give jurors all the information they need in determining life and death. What juries are not told: when the defendant is convicted of capital murder, but not sentenced to die, that defendant must serve at least 40 years. No parole before then.

If jurors knew that, they would, and should, be able to consider individual circumstances -- among them, exceptional youth, childhood neglect or abuse, drugs, emotional outrage or an uncontrollable urge for revenge -- that might result in life behind bars rather than death.

If voters choose me again to be "the people's lawyer," I will act on a recent memorandum signed by four of the nine members of the U. S. Supreme Court. It suggests that not informing jurors about how tough our parole eligibility standards are "unquestionably tips the scales in favor of a death penalty that a fully informed jury might not impose."

We must put all the cards on the table for juries. I would urge the legislature to make this happen so that no citizen has to rule on life or death without having all the facts. Failing that, I would empower the governor with the authority to commute death to a true life sentence without parole.

If the governor is not granted that authority, then the Board of Pardons and Paroles should establish for its citizen members clear guidelines on what weight can be put on religious conversion or the simple fact that the condemned has changed to the extent they are no threat and are making contributions to humankind even from behind bars.

Full disclosure should also be expanded to the public before proceedings of the Pardons and Parole Board. Public hearings, testimony and discussion would go a long way toward guaranteeing the public safety in these difficult cases.

What juries need is the guarantee that a life sentence is just that, nothing less. Texas is one of 11 states that allows the death penalty but does not allow a true life sentence without possibility of parole. It is essential that we get right with juries and make a life sentence

The World Champion Hog Caller

By Tumbleweed Smith

You really ought to meet Roxanne Ward. She calls hogs. She can make the most god-awful grunts and snorts and yells that can be heard for miles. She has called hogs from the moon roof of a limousine on 5th Avenue in New York City for a late night television show. She gets calls in the middle of the night from radio stations halfway around the world wanting her to call hogs on the air live. She does it gladly. Roxanne loves show biz.

She is the world champion hog caller and will sell you a video that teaches you how to call hogs.

Nobody calls hogs like Roxanne Ward. She starts out with a high pitched yell, then slides up the scale to a higher note. Next she yells, "Hey Hog!" twice. Then come the staccato grunts and snorts. She repeats the call a couple of times. If you're on a farm with pigs running wild, watch out. They're going to come to Roxanne. She thinks that's pretty amazing.

Roxanne, who lives near Littlefield, says there's a story behind her hog calling. "I was raised on hog farms," she says. "I'm the oldest of four girls and pigs listen to me better than my sisters, so I spend a lot of time in the hog pen."

She owns a pot bellied pig. "His name is Oscar Mayer," says Roxanne. "No, that's not what you think. He has a future. He's not going to grow up to be a weenie."

She has perfected her art to an extremely high level. The World Championship Hog Calling Contest is held at Weatherford, Oklahoma and she has won it twice. "I've entered other hog calling contests, too, and have won every single one I've entered," says Roxanne.

She practices every day. "It's a good thing I live in the country, 'cause I call every morning and every night. I've spent a lot of time in pig pens in my life. My parents never did have to worry about where I was. They knew I was out with the pigs."

These days she's bringing home some bacon with her hog calling. In addition to her videos that she sells, she is getting paid to make appearances all over the country.

Since she turned pro, she has flown in her first airplane, ridden in her first limousine, had her first cappuccino (she didn't like it), got her first glimpse of an ocean, and has become a celebrity. She is recognized in airports and people ask for her autograph.

Roxanne has never met a stranger and likes to make people laugh. She loves to visit and will sit down and talk to anybody.

Her bank in Littlefield has recognized her celebrity status. The bank supplied her with checks that have the phrase "World Champion Hog Caller" printed beneath her name.

"I really don't care what people think," says Roxanne. "But you know what? A lot of people like hog calling."

Maybe they just like the person doing the calling.

GED classes will continue through May

Contrary to last spring, when local GED classes were stopped in mid-April, the classes will continue this year through May at the Wallace Center off Hwy. 208 in southeastern Colorado City.

Instructor Bob Reily said he and Colorado Middle School history teacher Orphie Conner will teach through May 25 with free classes from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. each Monday.

Reily said there is no set number of classes in the high school diploma-equivalency program and that students may take the test when they consider themselves ready.

The tests are given regularly at Western Texas College in Snyder, Howard College in Big Spring and Texas State Technical College in Sweetwater.

The program is sponsored by People for Progress Inc. in Sweetwater.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Letter to Editor:

As just a Sonora fan and spectator (and a grandmother of a player) I would really like to commend you and your players. You allowed us here in Sonora to enjoy and celebrate an undefeated season by being really good sports about all the fanfare. There are other schools in our district who would not have allowed that, and this fan really appreciated it. You ALL are a class act! Thank you.

Most sincerely,
Doris Rousselot

exactly what those two words say they are.

If we knew all of the condemned like we knew Karla Faye Tucker, we would then be able to make an enlightened determination as to whether we had the collective stomach to execute.

Most of the time, yes, we will. Other times, armed with full knowledge, we might choose life without parole instead.

But Texas, like 39 other staes, needs that option. Now, we have none.

(Editor's note: Jim Mattox of Austin was a Dallas congressman before being elected Texas attorney general in 1982, and he witnessed most of the 36 executions that were performed during his tenure. He is seeking the Democratic nomination for attorney general on the March 10 ballot.)

Re-Elect

Carl Guelker

Mitchell County Commissioner

Pct. 2

To the voters of Precinct Two:

I am Carl Guelker, candidate for re-election to the office of County Commissioner Precinct Two. I have tried to visit with each of you personally, but I was unable to reach some of you. Therefore, I ask that you accept this letter as my appeal for your vote in the primary election.

I want you to know that I take this job seriously and I am committed to fulfilling the duties of the office. I am available day or night to address the needs of the people of Mitchell County. Whether it is the landowner, resident, sheriff's office, fire department or youth, I have been ready and willing to help.

One thing I will not do is make promises I can't keep. It is easy to tell voters "Sure, we can pave that road" and "I will cut your taxes", but fulfilling them is not easy. Someone has to pay the bills for the improvements and that is you, the taxpayer. I know you work hard for your money and you would prefer to spend it yourself. I keep this in mind each time I consider spending your tax dollar. I try to make the improvements that we so badly need and keep the taxes down.

Economic develoment is very important to the community. A large tax base reduces the tax burden on everyone. I have actively pursued business growth and job opportunities. I will continue to work closely with the Board of Economic Development in pursit of opportunities for Mitchell County.

Please remember, I'm not a politician, but your neighbor and fellow taxpayer. I ask you to exercise your right to vote. It does make a defference. Only two votes decided the outcome of the last election. Please help me continue to be a voice for the taxpayers.

Respectfully,

Carl Guelker

YOUR VOTE MAKES A DIFFERENCE!

KIDD

Kidd in Lovington, N. M., in 1952.

"I got so smart, I got married," she said.

"Milton and I farmed north of Lovington for 19 years, and we got up to 'broke' and came home."

Kidd worked in the oilfield and she kept books at Buford Gin until the county veterans service position came open at Mitchell County Courthouse.

Ms. Kidd applied but was told she had to be a veteran or a veteran's wife to be considered. Four or five veterans also applied but eventually turned the appointment down, so in April 1980 she had the job she had always wanted.

"Would you believe none of them would have it?" she asked. "That's when I got the most prized job I could ever have, working with the veterans."

She helped veterans with their problems with the Veterans Administration, took them to the VA Hospital in Big Spring, found discharge papers, marriage licenses and birth certificates for them and, in her free time, helped elderly people with Medicaid and insurance problems.

She worked with the Red Cross for three years and in the government's commodity plan to provide food for low-income people, unloading a monthly truck shipment at the Westbrook ag barn, the Wallace Center here and the Loraine Senior Citizens Center.

She retired from the veterans' office in 1993 because her husband had contracted cancer. He died six months later.

"People have always been so very good to me that I have just wanted to pass it on," she said.

"There've been times in my life when I don't know what I would have done if I had not had people in the community to help me, and the Lord has really blessed me in being able to help these people."

For her many contributions, she was named "Citizen of the Year" at the Saturday, Feb. 21, Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce Banquet.

Wallace and Ware Unit Warden Rodney Cooper made the presentation, saying her indefatigable work and colorful style have made her beloved throughout the county.

Warden Cooper mentioned that she often travels with her three Chinese pug dogs, Muggsy, Pugsley and Daisy, and tail-less mongrel cat, taking elderly and low-income people to doctor's appointments and on other errands.

Heavily involved in the Christmas in April program to refurbish old and delapidated houses, she prepares applications, researches tax records and verifies applicants' eligibility, Warden Cooper told the audience of 200 people at the Civic Center.

Ms. Kidd also identifies abandoned structures over the county and obtains releases from property owners to have them dismantled and recycled.

She estimates that 80 to 100 homes have been remodeled since Christmas in April started in 1994.

And she organizes work crews from the prison units and prepares meals and takes them to inmates three days a week.

"The citizens of Mitchell County are proud to acknowledge Bertie Kidd for her countless hours of volunteer service to the community," the warden said.

Ms. Kidd's two daughters, Pat Whitzel of Colorado City and Katie Stone of Rockport, tricked her into attending the banquet after she had first said she "would like to see Monte Jones, but not $13 worth."

The Rev. Jones portrays chuckwagon cook Biscuits O'Bryan.

"Katie sent me the money for tickets, so they knew what was going on," she said. "I fell for it hook, line and sinker.

"The longer Warden Cooper talked, the more I wondered who it was. I had no idea until he mentioned my filing cabinet oven.

"Nobody else uses an oven for a filing cabinet."

Ms. Kidd has a particular soft spot for the crews of inmates who work in Colorado City and Mitchell County, lately cleaning lots in the Sands area in the northwestern part of town and in tearing down delapidated houses in various locations.

She goes to one crew one day and the other the next with lunchtime sandwiches, cake and chips.

"I get really tickled at them because they say anything from the free world tastes better than what they're used to," she said.

"It is hard for me to realize that they've done something to be locked up for. They are just very nice, mannerly young men, anxious to do anything for us.

"When we drive up with the food, here they come. I never have to lift a hand for anything."

Kidd's telephone rings a lot, but her son Dann lives with her and helps with her many activities.

There was a flood of calls after the chamber banquet, and the phone is always ringing with the kind of requests that she likes to get.

"There will always be people who want something for nothing," she said. "I get fooled sometimes, but most of the time I know well enough whether or not they really are in need.

"People call me wanting me to do this, that or the other, pick up medicine, take them to the doctor or just go visit with them.

"A lot of these old people have nobody and they just need somebody to talk to."

Ms. Kidd has three granddaughters and a great-grandson. Her three brothers and one sister are all deceased.

FINA

Answering concerns about pollution and the use of the roadbase in city and county roads, Kite said there are only two ponds that have hazardous chemicals in them.

The 75-by-200-yard pond on the hilltop, or Col-Tex I Area Former Tank Farm, for example, is like the riverside ponds in that it contains only an asphalt-like petroleum substance that was a by-product of gasoline refining.

Of the 30 ponds in the hilltop tank farm area, only two contain hazardous chemicals -- one with benzyne and the other with lead.

Kite said he does not know what will be done with the materials in those ponds and Fina "will evaluate what options are available."

The engineer said he will have a sample from each 1,500-yard pile of roadbase tested for hazardous chemicals at two different laboratories owned by two different companies in Houston and Austin.

"We've tested the materials already as they are in the ponds," Kite said. "They've been shown not to be hazardous, and we are not going to add anything else in the process of making the asphalt that is considered hazardous, either.

"The Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission has approved the work and our plan to do this work. We think it's a real win-win situation for us and for the county."

The reclaimer and three bulldozers will be digging out soil to a depth of about two feet, and the riverside and tank farm areas will be landscaped after the projects are finished and planted with new vegetation, Kite said.

A line of equipment has been brought in to make the roadbase -- a crusher to grind up the concrete, a pug mill to mix in soil, crushed concrete, caliche and emulsion and a conveyor belt to pile the roadbase into 10 1,500-yard piles.

Kite said the emulsion has special qualities that will enable to the roadbase to form a crust and stay moist enough for up to two years to be used in road-paving.

It stays in the moist state until packed, when it becomes rock-hard, the engineer said.

Dennis Patton of Geraghty & Miller Inc. of Midland, the consulting firm hired by Fina, said the I-20 concrete will provide only about 25 percent of the concrete needed, so local sub-contractor Steve Rich has been hired to bring in concrete from a number of locations in Colorado City.

Patton said old foundations will be broken up at 835 E. Eighth St., 1746 Plum St., 928 E. First St., north of the railroad, 709 Front St. and Plum and Hidalgo Sts.

County commissioners have also said they will bring in concrete from various old foundations outside the city.

FOOTBALL

Shain, but I hear they have a lot behind him that are pretty good.

"It will be just another good challenge for us. I think we can play with any of those people."

James, former first assistant under Grissom, has turned his head baseball coaching duties over to his former baseball assistant, Doug Boone, who will be assisted by Jerold Epperson.

Colorado schools have been moved out of District 4 3-A and into District 3 3-A with Brownfield, Lamesa, Slaton, Denver City and Seminole.

James said the Colorado Wolves' 1998 football season has just been set -- in order, Ballinger, Stamford, 1997 State 2-A Champion Stanton, Clyde and Sonora in non-district play and Denver City, Brownfield, Lamesa, Seminole and Slaton in district competition.

Pre-season scrimmages will be against Breckenridge and Midland Christian.

"Everything is hitting at the same time right now, and it's real hectic," James said, adding that he is also working on next year's basketball schedules.

James is the high school health teacher, and he said a substitute teacher has been hired to assume his classroom duties for the time being.

James, 34, attended high school at Leonard, in Fannin County near Bonham, and graduated from East Texas State University at Commerce in 1986.

He began his coaching career at Haltom City, in Tarrant County, on the junior high level and was a high school varsity football assistant for five years and defensive coordinator there for two years before coming to Colorado City in 1995.

He has been defensive coordinator here.

James and his wife Denise have no children. They are members of the United Methodist Church.

"I'm looking forward to getting into spring football, and I appreciate the support the school board has shown me," he said.

Mayo said free street paving should not be provided in the Hillcrest Addition because other city residents who live on dirt streets would be required to pay for paving in front of their houses.

He said the commissioners court should not have taken away the county agent's pickup truck and stock trailer last year and provided a vehicle allowance instead because that creates personal liability insurance problems for the agent when he transports school students and their animals to stock shows.

Voters will go to Voting Pct. 1 at the CISD Administration Building at 534 E. 11th St., Pct. 2 at the Westbrook School Tax Office at 102 E. Bertner St. in Westbrook, Pct. 025 at Oak Street Baptist Church at 805 Oak St., Pct. 3 at Mitchell County Courthouse, Pct. 4 at the Loraine Senior Citizens Center at 123 S. Main St. in Loraine and Pct. 046 at Calvary Baptist Church at 1025 E. 15th St.

The voting precincts, which are not the same as the bigger commissioners' precincts, will all be joint polling places for both parties except for Pct. 4 in Loraine, where only Democrats will vote.

Loraine Republicans will vote at Voting Pct. 046 at Calvary Baptist Church.

County Clerk Debby Carlock reported that 113 Democrats and 14 Republicans had voted early at 5 p.m. Tuesday. The early voting deadline is 5 p.m. Friday.

Elect

KELLEY MAYO

County Commissioner, Precinct 4

- Conservative management of our hard earned tax dollars.
- Budget constraints and budget cuts
- Equality in service with improved service and reduced spending.
- Maintain and utilize equipment for the full life expectancy.
- A dedicated representative of the people that will listen to their concerns and be available.
- Supporting economic growth in our community through new and existing businesses.

If you feel it is time for a change, I would appreciate your vote of confidence by electing me as your county commissioner.

COOK'S CORNER

Jolene Blankenship didn't have much time to practice her cooking skills as a young lady. She spent a lot of time watching her mother and grandmother in the kitchen while growing up and after she married, her mother was there to answer any questions always. And of course, lots of trial and error came into play when she was learning to cook.

One of Jolene's specialties is preparing food for large groups. For almost 10 years, she and a few other members of the First Baptist Church cooked for the students who frequented the Baptist Student Union at Western Texas College in Snyder. When the students heard that Jolene's group was cooking, they all brought their friends and enjoyed the fine cooking. At times, they prepared meals for over 300 students.

When asked about her favorite food, Jolene laughed, "Anything chocolate." She said that one of her family's favorite things is a chocolate brownie-type cake with pecans and a chocolate glaze on top. That sounds so good!

Jolene and her husband, Tex moved here from Wewoka, Oklahoma in 1965. They have two grown children, Leisa and Rodney and eight grandchildren.

Since Jolene knows how to prepare things for large groups, she shared some of her recipes for that purpose with us. With all kinds of student banquets coming up, these recipes will probably come in handy.

VALENTINE'S DAY ROYALTY: Betty and Hulen Bagwell are named 1998 Valentine's Day King and Queen at the Wallace Center. This year's king and queen was announced during a special Valentine's Day program February 12. The program included romantic songs of the past sung by Tandy Curlee.

John Merritt

Merritt receives promotion at Texas Utilities

John T. Merritt, a native of Colorado City, has been elected vice president of Texas Utilities Fuel Company (TUFCO). Merritt will oversee TUFCO's planning, regulatory and gas control operations.

A 30-year employee of TU Electric, Merritt began his career as a field engineer at the Big Brown lignite plant near Fairfield, Texas. He has also served as director of engineering and construction for fossil generation. Most recently, Merritt was director of pipeline engineering, planning and field operations.

Merritt's mother, Mabel Merritt, lives in Colorado City.

The 54-year old Merritt and his wife Barbara have two sons; Mark and Matthew. The family attends the First United Methodist Church in Duncanville, where Merritt recently acted as chairman of the administrative board.

Merritt is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the Southern Gas Association.

Trail Ride for Rehab to be held April 17th

The Spring Trail Ride for Rehab is scheduled for Lambshead Ranch near Albany. Registration will begin April 17 after 3 p.m. and continues Saturday, April 18 beginning at 8 a.m. Volunteer Trail Ride chairmen are Kelly Gill, Mac Sayles, and Thomas Hicks.

The weekend will feature a day-long ride on Saturday and a shorter ride on Sunday morning, and three meals will be served. Saturday evening entertainment will be provided by Jean Prescott, named Female Vocalist of the Year by the Academy of Western Artists in 1996 and 1997 and Female Entertainer of the Year by the Western Music Association. Other weekend activities will include an auction of numerous items, a raffle of spurs made by R.F. Ford, and a Sunday morning worship service.

The historic Lambshead Ranch, located north of Albany in Shackelford and Throckmorton counties, was founded in the 1870's by J.A. Matthews. The Matthews and Reynolds families settled the area in the 1850's and 1860's when Comanche Indian raids were still common. This working ranch is known worldwide for raising Hereford cattle, its' emphasis on historical preservation, and for many years being the home of the legendary rancher, Watt Matthews, who recently passed away. The ranch contains some 40,000 acres along the Clear Fork of the Brazos River and was once part of the 1850's route for the Butterfield Stage line which connected St. Louise and San Francisco. The AV brand used by the Ranch was first registered in 1885. (Information courtesy of Historic Ranches of Texas by Dr. Lawrence Clayton.)

Event co-chairman Thomas Hicks said, "This is a rare opportunity to see and explore one of the most beautiful and historic ranches in Texas. We are really looking forward to the ride."

Expenses for the event are underwritten by Lawrence Hall Chevrolet, which means that participants' fees will go directly to treatment services at West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene and San Angelo.

Cost for the trail ride is $40 minimum per adult and $15 minimum per child 12 and under. Pre-registration and a $25 deposit is required. A negative Coggins test is also required.

To sign up for the trail ride or for additional information, contact John Thomas--Abilene, (915) 793-3508, Eva Horton--San Angelo, (915) 949-9535, or after 7 p.m., Mac Sayles--Tuscola, (915) 554-7884.

Hutchinson begins AHA fund raiser

Hutchinson Elementary students will be collecting donations for the American Heart Association as a part of the Jump Rope for Heart campaign. Students dedicate time in P.E. jumping rope, then they ask friends and neighbors to donate to the American Heart Association. Students will earn prizes according to how much money they collect.

Last year students collected $3,600 in this area. Hutchinson students appreciate the help they receive from our community.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Southwestern Bell) filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) to charge an additional 26 cents per month per line to recover costs for providing Expanded Local Calling service (ELC) to certain Texas Customers.

The 26 cents per month surcharge would not be billed to customers who receive ELC. However, customers who receive ELC and pay less than the maximum $3.50 a month residential ELC charge or less than the maximum $7 business ELC charge will have to pay the additional 26 cents per month charge.

Expanded Local Calling was created in 1993 by Texas legislation that requires telephone companies to provide toll-free calling between small towns that share a community of interest such as a school or hospital district. The legislation allows telephone companies to recover costs not paid through customer charges by applying a surcharge to all other customers in the state who do not receive the ELC service or who do not pay the maximum ELC rate. The maximum monthly ELC rate allowed under state law is $3.50 per line for residential customers and $7 per line for business customers.

Southwestern Bell estimates that the 26 cents per month per line charge will recover the $27 million annual cost of providing ELC service that is not recovered from ELC rates.

If approved by the PUC, the monthly statewide surcharge of 26 cents per line per month will begin with the April, 1998 billing cycles, with an agreement to refund all or part of the charge if the PUC does not approve it.

For questions about the reasons for the charge, please call the Southwestern Bell Business Office listed in your directory.

The PUC assigned Docket Number 18513 to this proceeding. The deadline for intervention in this matter is March 31, 1998. Persons who wish to intervene or comment in these proceedings should notify the PUC by March 31, 1998. All requests to intervene should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, P.O. Box 13326, Austin, TX, 78711-3326. For information intervening, please call the PUC at 1-888-782-8477 or at 512-936-7120.

AVISO PUBLICO

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Southwestern Bell) presentó una solicitud ante la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas (PUC) para cobrar 26 centavos más al mes por línea para recuperar los costos por el servicio de Llamadas Locales Ampliadas (ELC) a ciertos clientes en Texas.

El cargo de 26 centavos al mes no se cobrará a los clientes que reciben ELC. Sin embargo, los clientes que reciben ELC y pagan menos del máximo de $3.50 al mes por el servicio ELC residencial o menos del máximo de $7 por el servicio ELC comercial, tendrán que pagar 26 centavos adicionales a su pago mensual.

El servicio de Llamadas Locales Ampliadas (ELC) fue establecido en 1993 por la legislación del estado de Texas y requiere que las compañías prestadoras de servicios telefónicos ofrezcan llamadas de larga distancia gratuitas entre pequeñas poblaciones que comparten un interés común tales como distritos escolares y de hospitales. Esta ley permite que las compañías telefónicas recuperen los costos no pagados mediante cargos a clientes, a través de un cargo a todos los demás clientes en el estado que no reciben el servicio ELC o que no pagan la tarifa máxima del servicio ELC. La tarifa máxima mensual permitida por la ley estatal es $3.50 por línea para clientes con servicio residencial y $7 por línea para clientes con servicio comercial.

Southwestern Bell calcula que los 26 centavos al mes por línea cubrirán los $27 millones del costo anual del servicio ELC que no está cubierto por las tarifas de ELC.

Si la PUC autoriza el cargo mensual estatal de 26 centavos al mes por línea éste comenzará a partir de los ciclos de facturación de abril 1998, con el acuerdo de reembolsar todo o parte del cargo si la PUC no lo autoriza.

Para preguntas relacionadas con este cargo, por favor llame a la Oficina Local de Southwestern Bell listada en su directorio telefónico.

La PUC asignó el número de registro de 18513 a este procedimiento. El plazo de intervención sobre este asunto terminará el 31 de marzo de 1998. Las personas que deseen intervenir o hacer comentarios sobre este procedimiento deberán notificar a la PUC antes del 31 de marzo de 1998. Todas las solicitudes de intervención deberán enviarse por correo a Public Utility Commission of Texas, P.O. Box 13326, Austin, TX 78711-3326. Para mayor información sobre la intervención, por favor comuníquese con la PUC al 1-888-782-8477 o al 512-936-7120.

Notes from the Colorado Independent School District

"Why Brain-Based Learning?

By Kitten Arthur, Kelley Elementary
Colorado Independent School District

Because of the advancements in magnetic resonance imaging (MRI), for the first time in education history, researchers are actually able to watch what happens to the brain while it is thinking and processing information. Before you despair that this article will be "too scientific," let me tell you what this new science has discovered: "Experience is the best teacher." This age-old truism is at the heart of the newest discoveries to affect what teachers do in the classroom. And for teachers, who work with young minds every day, this "new" knowledge is invaluable.

At the Commissioner's Reading conference last week in Austin, various nationally known speakers addressed how best to influence reading instruction in the public schools. Over and over again, although no one actually "aid" the words, the speakers reinforced the concept of brain-based learning; experience is the best teacher. In order for children to process new information, they have to learn by doing, not just listening or watching. They must be immersed in the learning experience and develop that knowledge base upon which all further comprehension will be founded. As parents and teachers, there is no greater gift we can give our children than field trips, science projects, lots of reading together, and speaking with students rather than at them. Yes, just conversing with students builds that all-important knowledge base.

Research has shown that, in an average 14 hour waking day, a child spoken to 50 times per hour will hear 700 utterances. A child spoken to 800 times per hour will hear more than 11,000 utterances. In one year, that amounts to the difference between exposure to 250,000 utterances versus 4 million utterances. Which child do you suppose would have written more fluently on this week's TAAS writing test? No question.

And good vocabulary development enhances not only writing ability, it obviously improves reading as well. If you have a bigger vocabulary, you can read better, and will read more. If you read more, you will develop a bigger vocabulary. The result of this two-way relationship is that, without intervention, "the rich get richer and the poor get poorer." On the average, children add two to three thousand words a year to their reading vocabularies. But children who do not have rich experiences will acquire far fewer words each year, and by the 6th grade, some students will know up to 8000 more words than their peers!

Kelley Elementary is committed to offering our students as many experiences as possible. Each grade level has a year long theme which encompasses the general scope of the social studies and science curriculum, and reading and math activities enhance that theme. We believe strongly in the brain-based approach to education, and have offered our students experiences through trips to the Science Spectrum in Lubbock, the Abilene Zoo, the Rattlesnake Roundup, a dairy farm in Snyder, the Abilene Reporter News, and local trips to the Spade Ranch, Lake Colorado City State Park, the downtown area to study local government, our banks, the public library, our newspaper office, and others. In addition, Kelley celebrates learning with special theme days: 100th Day, Fall Festival Day, Western Heritage Day, Fraction Day, and others. The possibilities are endless for experiential learning at school.

For parents, churches, and community members, the possibilities are also endless. Challenge yourselves to enhance your students' experiences and increase their oral and written vocabularies. Converse with children, ask questions, discuss television shows with the, take them on picnics, visit the zoo, discover the wonders and science in your own backyards, and if possible, take trips outside our world of Mitchell County and experience new foods and places--and don't forget to discuss them!

Last summer, several friends took our children to Port Aransas and Corpus Christi. The beach, the sun, touring the battleship Lexington, and eating new foods were all part of the rich experiences we enjoyed together. The interesting part, however, was that more than six months later, one of the kindergartners was playing Pictionary with her family and drew the word "aircraft carrier." Her father felt that the word was too difficult for her, but to his surprise, she quickly sketched a near perfect rendition of the Lexington and her brothers knew exactly what the answer was How was she able to accomplish this feat at only 5 years? The answer is that complicated science of "brain-based learning," experience.

Para las familias de habla Español:

Esta noticia dice que ustedes necesitan platicar con sus hijos y vayan a muchos lugares, porque experiencia es el mejor modo para aprender. Las mas experienceas que le den asus hijos, su vocabulario y lenguaje aumentara. Vocabulario y lenguaje dan una fundacion para una mejor educacion.

Chambers, Moody score high on ACT

Chris Chambers and Kristin Moody

Chris Chambers, seventeen-year-old Westbrook High junior has received a phenomenal ACT college entrance exam score--35 out of a perfect 36 composite score. Chris did, in fact, receive a perfect score of 36 in Reading with 35 in Science, 35 in English and 33 in Mathematics.

The all-round student participates in numerous academic and athletic activities as well as enjoying hobbies such as web page design, guitar, and water skiing. Last year Chris, as a sophomore, placed second in calculator applications at the State UIL Meet. Currently, he is practicing for UIL competition in calculator applications, number sense, mathematics, computer science (programming), and accounting. Chris also is a member of the football and basketball teams.

Future plans include enrolling at CalTech with a major in computer science.

Chris is the son of Robert and Christine Chambers, and Joyce and Monty Rich. Chris's maternal grandmother is Mrs. Rex McKenney, and his paternal grandmother is Mrs. Ruby Chambers.

Westbrook High counselor, Hontas Hines, believes the small classes in which students enjoy individual attention in addition to the testing schedule used at the high school, help raise the school's overall college entrance scores. All students take the PLAN (preliminary ACT) as sophomores and the PSAT (preliminary SAT) as juniors. Theses scores are used to plan courses and to develop test-taking skills which will enhance strengths and strengthen weaknesses. Mr. Maxey Ware, English teacher, and Mr. David Williams, math teacher, tutor in groups and individually throughout the year to help students prepare for the ACT and/or SAT. In January of their junior year, students are encouraged to take the ACT for a final evaluation before taking the test again as seniors. This program has produced several students with scores above 30. Westbrook has also received commendations from TEA for its exceptionally high ACT scores as well as for the high percentage of seniors taking college entrance exams.

Another junior, Kristin Moody, received a 34 in both English and Reading. Kristin has a year now to concentrate on raising her Math score to match the English and Reading scores.

Kristin also participates in many school activities. Recently, she showed the 1st place middle-weight OPB Pig at the San Antonio Livestock Show. Last year, Kristin advanced to State in computer applications and has sights on winning a 1st place this year. She will also compete in computer science. Kristin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Moody.

Both school administrators are impressed with the fine showing of these students. Doc Rowell, Principal, said he had worked in eight schools but had never heard of any other students with such a high score. Superintendent Tommy Hancock compliments the entire faculty for providing the community's children a learning environment which offers its students opportunities to do well.

Lady Wolves have many memories

By Sandy McSpadden

Colorado's fabulous four senior Lady basketballers tossed their garments in a pile Wednesday, knowing they probably played their final organized basketball game Tuesday night in a 52-41 quarter final loss to Slaton. None of the girls have college athletic scholarships at this time.

Bettina Bridgford, Mica Merrell, Barbara Rivera, and Jana Redwine have been starters off and on for the Colorado Wolves for the past three years. Add junior Kendra Anderson to that group, because she's played with them for three seasons and luckily she still has one to go.

The girls have won over 60 games, losing just 23. Their three year district record is an unbelievable 29-1. They played in five playoff games, reaching the final eight in the region twice. Their playoff number is second only to the Wolves' State Finalist team of 1947, and they have won more games over a three year span that any team in Colorado history. They've all shared the leadership roll for the team, nothing unique among great players on great teams, but they are unique young ladies.

One of the leaders is stylish Bettina Bridgford. The tall, lanky Bridgford made the ultimate player's sacrifice Tuesday night in the loss to Slaton in Snyder. Knowing that the Wolves had to get the ball to have a chance to win and with four fouls, the 5'8" Lady Wolf waited only seconds for another player with fewer fouls to come to her rescue. It didn't happen. Bridgford went out and committed a foul, putting herself out of the game. That's heavy play and that's team play. The dark haired Bridgford smiles with genuine worth and says her teammates have been the most important thing to her.

"We stayed together as freshmen and switched out playing with the Junior Varsity that year. This year we had a kinda utopia feel--like if we played to our potential we couldn't be beat," Bridgford added. "I'm going to miss it (basketball). As I said my closest friends are the team. If we ever had a conflict, we always left the problem at the door. I really believe when we played to our potential we couldn't be beaten," she concluded.

Brown-haired Jana Redwine at 5'4", the shortest of the quintet, spoke of their experiences as a group. "We went to Leta Andrew's camp, all of us except Barbara. She's an awesome coach. I learned everything there. She even taught me how to shoot. Ironically, Andrew's Granbury team came from behind to defeat Canyon 39-38, just prior to the Wolves taking the court Tuesday night.) We were a team more this year than at any other time of our lives." What does Redwine remember? "My surgery, and sitting on the bench. Then the first time I shot the ball it went in and I knew everything would be all right," she said.

"It's been lots of fun and I think we were a team more this year than ever," mentioned forward Mica Merrell. "We had adversity. First Jana was injured, then the death of Belinda Miles hit us hard, and Ann Marie Scott's ankle kept acting up. It took a lot of courage because we fought mentally for everything that we won," stated Merrell.

The 5'7" thief of the group is slim, petite senior Barbara Rivera, who had an unbelievable 110 steals during district play, said the girls were her family. "I thought we'd get to the regional tournament, but like Coach Leverton said as long as we know we did our best we were successful."

Finally the last dominant Wolf Warrior spoke. "I'm going to miss these girls--it's been a long ride and it's the most fun I've had playing ball. I think I was as sad as the seniors were when we played our last home game. We had great confidence in each other," said junior Kendra Anderson. Anderson led the Wild Bunch in points with 501, and a 17.9 per game average. She led in rebounds with 271, and blocked 31 shots.

In reminiscing, the girls agreed on two things. Darrin Leverton was a very structured and excellent coach. They couldn't have accomplished this feat without him. They also agreed that officiating could change the style of their play.

"Yeah," quipped Merrell, "my confidence was down because I didn't want another traveling call--so I was tentative in driving the basket." "It threw our confidence in the last game,-- that's for sure," Redwine and Rivera said. They were referring to four walking violations in the Slaton game called by officials in their first four offensive trips down the court. There is no doubt thinking about it put on extra baggage offensively. And so these four will be remembered in the annals of Colorado High and maybe even Colorado City. These Champions of 1997-98.

Where will you find these fantastic ladies 50 years from now? You can always find them in the Colorado Record dated March 5, 1998, just like the State finalists of 1947. They set some records to talk about.

Grape Creek tops JV Wolves in local tournament

The Colorado Wolves JV baseball season opened in a March whirlwind as Grape Creek's JV won the JV Tournament whipping Colorado City 10-0 at A.W. Phillips Park, Friday.

Grape Creek's Bill Simmons tossed a no hit game against the young Wolves, fanning five in the championship finals.

Colorado City reached the finals on the arm of C.J. Hurst as they corralled Crane 6-5. Andrew Spear went 1-4, scoring twice, and Tino Selvera was 1-2, scoring one. Chris Vanderslice got one hit on one at bat scoring Luke Fambro and Tim Boyd.

Colorado exploded for five runs in the fifth to tie the game.

Colorado and Crane tied for second with one win and one loss. Lamesa finished last, losing two games.

Wolves softballers win 2

Oh what a difference a year makes!

The Colorado Wolves softballers tripped Midland Christian 5-4 winning their first game of the Midland Softball tournament Friday, and their first game of the season.

Veteran Ann Marie Scott twirled to catcher Staci Turnbow, giving up six hits and getting five strikeouts. Scott, a great stick, had two base hits, got on base three times and scored three runs. Kim Hall had two singles for Colorado City, and stoled home for a run. Amanda Rivera, the Wolves solid first baseman, stroked a sacrifice fly to bring Scott home with the winning run.

Kendra Anderson, Rivera, Turnbow, and Victoria Williams all hit singles, and Jamie Mason hit a sacrifice fly as the Wolves took a 4-1 lead over Midland in the first.

Midland capitalized on 11 base hits and six errors in the third inning to beat Colorado 15-4 in the second game of the tournament.

The Lady Wolves defeated Midland Lee in the third game of the tournament 10-6.

Colorado erupted for five runs in the second as Kim Sharp led with a single, followed by singles from Sharie Ritchey, Anderson, Rivera, and Edwina Ceballos, driving in four runs.

In the third, the Lady Wolves had a two out rally behind the bats of Rivera and Ceballos, scoring Anderson and Scott.

Colorado took an 8-2 lead in the fourth on a home run by Kim Hall. Lee picked up three runs in the bottom of the fourth.

Scott and Anderson led off the fifth with hits, and Ceballos tripled to drive in two runs.

The strong-armed Scott gave way to Hall in second inning of game four against the Greenwood Rangerettes, but the Greenwood bunch banged out a 12-0 lead, and continued the third inning with four runs on six base hits for a 16-4 shellacking of the Wolves.

The Wolves finished the tournament 2-2, and will play Loraine here Friday, March 6.

"I'm real proud of our kids. We didn't have much practice time, in fact the basketball players didn't have any practice time. We have 14 kids out, and they're all going to be a boost for the team. Ann Marie (Scott) is pitching great, an I think maybe we can get her some help with Kim Hall," concluded girls Coach Linda Mathis.

Bulldogs lose doubleheader

Hawley swept a double header from the Loraine Bulldogs, 25-2, and 18-3 Friday in Loraine.

Hawley out hit the Bulldogs in the first game 19-3. Jesse McDaniel and Jacob Smith singled, while Kody Hurst rapped a two bagger. The Dogs managed only five hits in the night cap. Rene Garcia, Luis Rico, T.J. Aguilar and Roman Martinez all singled.

The 'Dogs will play Midland Christian Friday, March 6 in Loraine at 4:30 p.m.

Wolves win powerlifting

It was a gala affair at the powerlifting meet held at the high school gym Saturday, as high school athletes, coaches, teachers and townsfolk assisted in the meet.

It was better than a Chamber of Commerce affair, as Colorado City won first place in the 15 team field amassing 37 points. Crane was second with 24 and Hamlin was third with 20.

Colorado senior strong man Jeff Anzaldua, won first place in the 220 pound weight class with a total lift of 1,305 pounds. Junior football player Rashad Walthall got a second place with 1180. Javier Quintero also had a second with 1175. In the 114 lb. class Colorado picked up points from second through fifth. Phillip Tarin of Crane won with 650, followed by Colorado City's Adam Myers (565), Mario Quintero (550), Chase Ratliff (475), and Ashton Anderson at 450.

Micah Brannan came in third in the 123 lb. class with 840, and Tony Leaños grabbed a third with 865 in the 148 lb. group.

Ricky Molina was fourth in the 220 lb. group with 1050, and sophomore Drew Potter lifted 1090 in the 275 weight class.

Mason wins; will travel to state meet

Junior Jamie Mason shed her basketball uniform on Wednesday and turned around and won the Regional I powerlifting meet at Cisco Saturday with a lift of 665 total pounds.

The Regional Champion Mason won the 132 classification and will go to the state meet at Killeen, Texas on March 27

Michelle Guelker was third in the 3A division and fifth overall with 585 pounds.

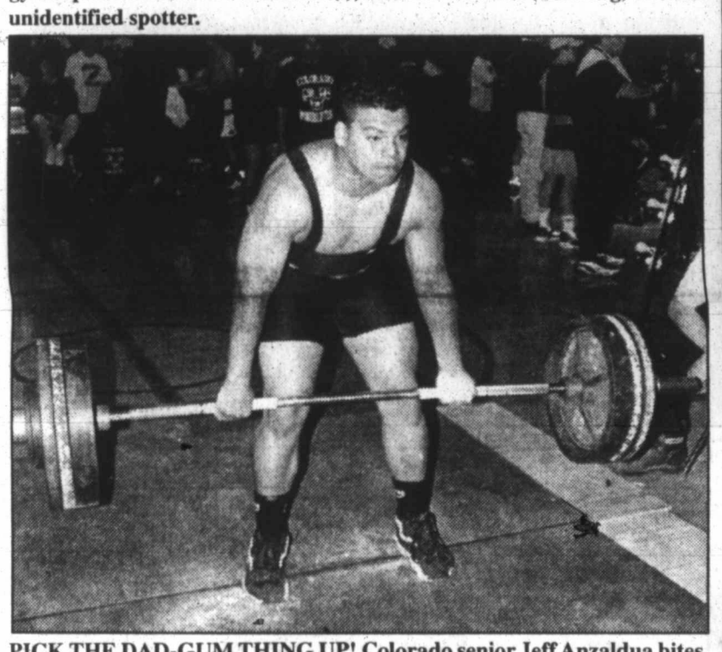

The Regional competition included class A–4A.

US LADIES CAN CARRY OUR WEIGHT. Michelle Guelker (l) and Jamie Mason posed after winning in the regional powerlifting meet held at Cisco. Mason won the meet and will go on to state at Kileen, Texas. Guelker placed third in the 3A competition.

PICK THE DAD-GUM THING UP! Colorado senior Jeff Anzaldua bites his lip as he makes his last lift Saturday at the high school gym. Anzaldua was first place and the Wolves won the meet.

Colorado linksters win first place at Midland

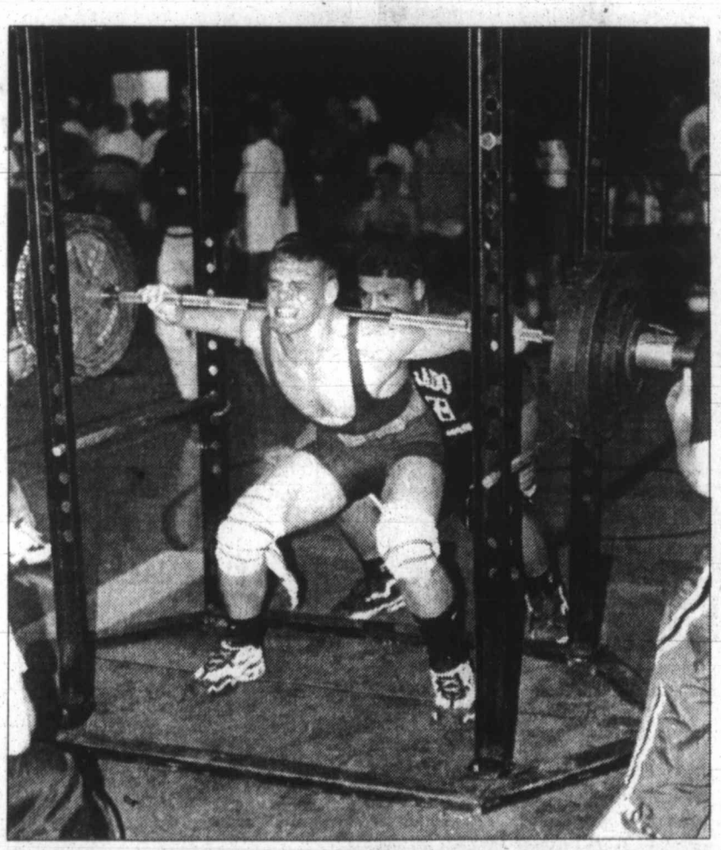

The Colorado Boys linksters were second in the golf tourney at Reagan County with a stroke total of 336 for 18 holes, Thursday, February 24.

Adam Myers finished third on the medalist chase with a 78.

The Wolves won first at Midland two weeks ago with an 18 hole total of 342. Clay Eades was a second place medalist finisher with a 78.

The Colorado City Lady linksters were third at Abilene with a 413 stroke total, and they finished fifth at Snyder on Friday, February 20.

Senior Nikol Swann was medalist at Abilene, and was a fifth in the medal chase at Snyder with a 27 hole total of 133. The teams' stroke total was 632.

I DON'T KNOW IF I CAN! Chris Fambro struggles to get the weight up in the powerlifting meet held in the Colorado High School gym Saturday.

Colorado wins season opener over Rotan, 2-1

Nobody scored an earned run, but the Colorado Wolves gave Coach Doug Boone his first win as a head baseball coach, tripping Rotan - 2-1 Friday, February 27, in Rotan.

Brett Hoyle raced home from third on a Yellowhammer error with the first run, and senior third baseman Jeff Anzaldua stoled home from third on a throwing mistake by Rotan.

Adam Molina, Chris Fambro, Anzaldua, Randy Byington and Armando Rocha all got a hit for the Wolves.

Winning pitcher Abel Bonilla hurled four innings, giving up three hits, two walks, and getting four strikeouts. Fambro came in for the save, giving up one hit and one run in three innings. Fambro notched three K's.

The Wolves meet Winters in the Merkel tournament at 4 p.m. Thursday.

SPORTS NOTES

Little League managers' meeting

There will be a Little League managers' meeting on Wednesday, March 4th at 8 p.m. at the Colorado City Fire Station. All managers need to be present or send a representative.

Little League baseball tryouts

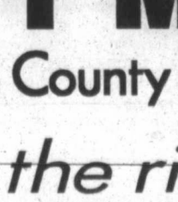

Tryouts for all players whose "league age" is 10, 11, or 12 will be held on Monday, March 9th, at 5:30 p.m. at the Little League field in Ruddick Park. This is for the Major League. If your player was on a Major League team last year he will not have to try out.

Tryouts for all players whose "league age" is 8 or 9 will be held on Tuesday, March 10th, at 5:30 p.m. at the Little League field in Ruddick Park. This is for the Minor League. If your player was on a Minor League team last year, he will not have to try out.

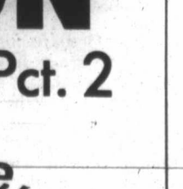

Players will remain on the same team as last year unless they move to a different league.

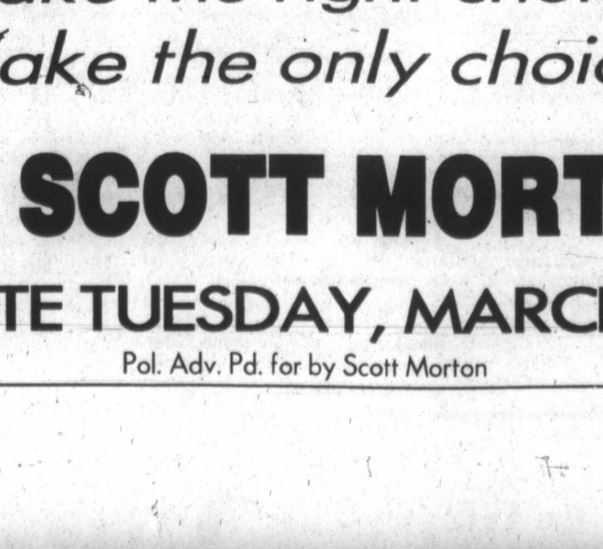

"League age" is the age of the player as of Aug. 1, 1998.

Late registration will be continue through March 9th. Registration forms are available at Ratliff Insurance Agency and The City National Bank.

C-City Record to sponsor Basketball Contest

Along with a consortium of other Texas newspapers, the Colorado City Record will participate in a statewide basketball contest promotion involving the upcoming NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament.

The statewide winner of the March Madness contest, called "the biggest office pool in Texas" by its promoter, will win a $1,000 cash prize. There will also be a local winner of a smaller prize in each participating community. In the Colorado City area, the local winner will receive $100.

The object of the game is to amass as many of the possible 300 points as you can by correctly selecting winners of the games. The tournament begins March 12. The contestant who garners the most of the 300 points statewide will win the $1,000 prize. The contestant locally who garners the most of the 300 points is the local winner.

The contest entry form will be published in next week's Record. Because the 64-team field won't be known at the time of publication, contestants will need to hold on to their entry until Sunday, March 8, when the pairings and seeding for the tourney will be announced. Then, simply write the 64 team names into the 64 boxes provided, making sure that regions and seed numbers are correct.

Simply clip the entry from the paper and fill in your picks -- right on through the championship game, to be played March 30. The Final Four tournament will be held in San Antonio March 28-30.

The contest is run by a Denver-based firm, POWER POINTS, Inc., which also operates the Texas POWER POINTS Football Contest.

All contest entries must be received by the Record by noon Thursday, March 12. Simply mailing them by then will not be enough. Winners will be announced in the Record on April 2. A sample of the contest is shown below.

All entries must be in the Record office by noon Thursday, March 12.

USE THESE SEED NUMBERS -- NOT TEAM NAMES - TO INDICATE YOUR SELECTIONS

USE THESE SEED NUMBERS -- NOT TEAM NAMES - TO INDICATE YOUR SELECTIONS

OFFICIAL RULES

1. Object of the game is to amass as many of the 300 points as you can. Using seed numbers -- not team names -- select a winner from each of the eight first-round games in each of the four regions. Then, moving across the brackets, continue projecting winners -- using seed numbers, NOT team names -- right on through to the Final Four. Earn points as designated. Now, using TEAM NAMES, select winners of the two semi-final games and the Championship Game. The Contestant statewide whose correct answers garner the most of the 300 possible wins $1,000.00.
2. Deadline to enter contest is noon EST on Thursday, March 12.
3. Contestants must fill in Tiebreaker box -- total points scored by both teams in the Championship Game. Should this not produce a winner, a drawing will be held among those still tied.
4. Contestants must print name, address, etc. in the space provided below.
5. Contestants must be at least 8 (eight) years of age by March 8, 1998 in order to participate.
6. Limit: One entry statewide per person. Group entries, 'systems' or other attempts to enter multiple entries will be disqualified. Filling out extra entries, then putting your friends and relatives names on them violates this rule. Any such entries will be destroyed before grading. In this and all other matters, decisions of the judges are final.
7. No purchase necessary. Facsimile game entry forms will be accepted.
8. Employees of this newspaper and their immediate families are ineligible to participate.
9. Neither the newspaper nor any participant will be responsible for illegible entry forms or those lost, stolen or damaged in any way.
10. No points are awarded in case any game is not played for any reason.
11. In addition to the state prize of $1,000.00, a local winner from each participating town will be announced as well. Local winner in this area will receive the following prize.

Cotton meeting March 19th

A Permian Basin Cotton Production Meeting will be held in conjunction with the West Texas Ag Expo in Big Spring on March 19, 1998. The meeting, ag. conference and trade show will be held at the Dorothy Garret coliseum on the Howard College campus.

All area agricultural producers are encouraged to attend the conference. In addition to access to the trade show booths that will feature the latest in technology, equipment, and other ag products, attendees will receive 4 C.E.U.'s, a notebook, and a sponsored meal.

The agenda will feature discussions on the following topics:

- Weevil Eradication-Does It Work?
- Facts of the Cotton Boll Weevil on the Southern High Plains
- Cotton Marketing Update and Risk Management.
- Cotton Production
- Pesticide Laws & Regulations

The meeting is schedule to begin at 9:00 a.m. and C.E.U. certificates will be provided to participants that afternoon. Contact Vance Christie at the Mitchell county Extension Office for more information. Educational Programs of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, age, religion, disability or national origin.

IRS sends advisors to Abilene Mar. 5&6

Congressman Charlie Stenholm announced that in response to several requests from his office, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has agreed to send advisors to Abilene to provide free help to area residents seeking help and advice in completing their federal tax forms. The IRS Advice Days are set for Thursday, March 5 from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. and Saturday, March 7 from 10:00 to 2:00 p.m. The location for both days will be the Abilene Post Office located downtown at 341 Pine Street.

IRS Acting District Director Ellen Murphy encouraged residents to bring with them all income information, including W-2 and 1099 forms, social security cards or Individual Taxpayer identification numbers for all dependents and any other relevant documents and forms. "Don't forget that those useful items could include receipts, medical bills or statements, past federal, state and local tax statements, home mortgage interest reports, contributions and miscellaneous expenses, and a copy of last year's tax return," Murphy commented.

IRS representatives will meet with citizens one-on-one throughout the two day sessions. Individuals are encouraged to schedule an appointment by calling (915) 676-5711. Walk-ins will receive service as well.

loraine news

Greetings to one and all. I hope you had a good week. March came in like a lamb and was a sunny beautiful day. Since we are likely to experience some El Nino effects maybe it will tame the March winds or redirect it to the north pole where no one would notice. What winds we did have recently didn't blow away my leaves, so I still have plenty for sale. Of course, you are expected to bag your own. I promise to sell them dirt cheap. Wind, wind go away, come again some other day in August.

***

Wayne and Lenetta Dubose with Ham and Blondie Hamilton made a recent trip to several points south in Texas and also over into Mexico. They went to Zapata, TX, crossed the border and shopped some in Mexico, then went to Corpus Christi where they visited with Wayne Dubose' family. On to San Antonio to shop and to dine.. a lovely trip for all and a fun trip.

"Like Father, Like Son"

One evening when having dinner with friends, the father in the family suggested to his 10 year old son that he ought to give up something for lent. Something that would really hurt, such as candy. The boy hesitated, and finally asked what his father was giving up.

"Both your mother and I are giving up liquor," the father replied.

"But before dinner you were drinking something."

"Yes," acknowledged the father, "that was sherry. We gave up hard liquor."

The boy thought a minute, then said, "well, I think I'll give up hard candy."
