Rev. Burns and his family are due to move here within a few days, according to Muri Phipps, a member of the church.

He is 26 years of age and has been preaching about 10 years.

His wife is a former child evangelist of the Assembly of God Church.

They have two children.

Road Supervisor Reports New Phone Number

County road supervisor Joe Alex Coleman has a new phone number, he announced this week for the benefit of those who may want to report road damage.

Coleman's new number is 447-2549.

He and his family recently moved to the home they bought from Mrs. Chester Hunter at 1212 Bowie Street. They formerly lived two miles north of town.

E. A. Singley Dies Suddenly on Saturday

E. A. Singley, who came here more than 60 years ago and who for 50 years guided one of Wellington's sturdiest and most basic businesses, died suddenly at his home at 6:40 p.m. Saturday, June 8.

This was only a short time after he returned home from Singley Mill and Elevator. He had spent the day there, just as he did every day, for he was active in the business to the end of his life.

Mr. Singley was 88 and would have observed his 89th birthday on June 27.

It is an old timer indeed who can remember the time before Mr. Singley entered the coal and grain business with his brother, H. E. Singley, now of Lubbock, in 1910.

Then, as now, it was a conservative business, in keeping with Mr. Singley's beliefs, yet within that sound framework, he pioneered many new steps in Collingsworth agriculture, and his thinking concerning the county's farm economy was such as to help the county keep in the forefront in agriculture.

Elbert A. Singley was born in Prosperity, South Carolina, June 27, 1874. His parents, J. W. and Tarsy M. Shealy Singley, both were natives of that state.

When Mr. Singley was still a child, the family came west, first to Texas, settling at Belcherville. Later they went to the Indian Territory, when the Indian tribes still were most of the inhabitants.

During these years Mr. Singley absorbed a vast knowledge of the Indians and their ways, knowledge that was to remain with him.

The family lived for a number of years at Mountain View.

Mr. Singley took part in the famous run into the Cherokee Strip, that saw the opening of a vast and rich prairie to settlement. He was too young to file on land, but to the end of his life, his eyes twinkled when he told of it.

A country farther west still beckoned, and in 1900 Mr. Singley, with his parents and others in his family, came to Collingsworth county, settling in the Cross Roads community.

During 1903, he operated a general store and was postmaster at Exum, later to become Shamrock. In 1904, he returned to Wellington and on Dec. 28 was married to Miss Maude Jones, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Jones.

They farmed at Cross Roads until 1910, when he entered business here. At first the Singley brothers sold coal and bought grain—then mostly head maize and corn.

In 1916, they opened a flour mill in connection with their business. During World War I, with the government taking most of the wheat, they made flour from maize, to be used by Wellington housewives.

Mr. Singley sold the business to his brother in 1928 and moved to Levelland. He remained there until 1933, when they came back to Wellington, and again bought the business, continuing the familiar name, the Singley Mill and Elevator.

About 20 years ago he sold an interest in the business to his only son, Jones Singley.

Mr. Singley had been a mem-

Heavy Rains Continue Over Most of County

An already soaked Collingsworth county continued to get moisture during the week, but this time the rain, while more damaging, fell by areas and communities, rather than over the county as a whole.

Rain up to four inches fell in a brief period Thursday, June 6, in the north and west-central parts of the county. Hail accompanied it in some communities, wiping out crops just coming through the ground.

Tuesday the immediate Wellington area in a half hour received from 1.5 to more than 2 inches of rain, with some crop damage.

On the whole, farmers agree the benefits from the moisture far outweigh the damage to crops so far. Ranchers see only good from any amount of rain they may have had.

Several business firms have reported damage to electrical equipment from the lightning that accompanied the rain Tuesday evening.

Heaviest rainfall Thursday was in an area from west of Abra to south of Marella.

Buck Breeding reported 4.3 inches with hail, and 4 inches fell through the Marella section.

Dozier received 2.6 inches of rain, measured by James Throckmorton, and between there and Abra Gus Gooch received 3.3 and Ed Brown 2.6 inches.

A circular cloud was seen southwest of Dozier, but no funnel actually formed, residents said.

That same night Samnorwood received 1.4 inches, Cecil Brown said. No rain fell Tuesday.

Nearer the county line, Polly O'Neil reported that he has received 8.25 ins. altogether and

Legion-Auxiliary Program

Four From County at Boys and Girls State

Three Collingsworth county boys and a girl are attending Boys State and Girls State in Austin this week, sponsored by the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary.

The Wellington Auxiliary unit sponsored Ann Baggett of Quail at Girls State. The alternate, had Ann been unable to go, was Rose Montgomery of Wellington.

The boys are Jimmy Martindale of Samnorwood, Dwayne Campbell of Quail, and Bryan Hatch of Wellington.

Helping the Frank King Post to send three boys this year were the Rotary Club and the Kiwanis Club.

Each boy or girl chosen for the honor is selected on the basis of scholarship, citizenship, character and ability to get along with others. The candidate must be recommended by the school in which he or she is a student. Each also must have just completed the junior year in high school.

Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Baggett of Quail, and has been outstanding as a Future Homemaker, is a good student, and in the 11 years she has attended school, has been absent only four days.

Rose is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Montgomery. She also has been outstanding as a Future Homemaker and has served the chapter as an officer.

Martindale, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Buck Martindale of Dozier, is an athlete, as well as an excellent student at Samnorwood. He is active as a Future Farmer.

Also a leader in FFA work is Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Campbell of Quail. He has participated both in chapter and Greenbelt District activities.

Hatch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hatch of Wellington, and while he has shown leadership in a number of school organizations, he is recognized for his excellent work in the high school band.

Man Injured in Collision

A Childress man received emergency treatment for head cuts at St. Joseph's Hospital and was then released, following a station wagon-pickup collision three and a half miles north of Wellington Wednesday afternoon, June 5, Sheriff John Rainey reported.

The collision occurred in front of the Horace Mallard orchard, the sheriff said, as Hunter Peters started to turn into the Mallard place, his 1948 pickup collided with the 1963 station wagon driven by Bill Johnson, manager of the Montgomery Ward store in Childress.

Johnson was en route to the McLean rodeo where he was to meet his wife.

Later reports from Childress said that Johnson entered the Childress Hospital suffering from deep lacerations about the head and face.

Peters was accompanied by a small grandson.

Rev. Stewart Resigns as City Pastor

The Rev. A. D. Stewart resigned as pastor of the Assembly of God and he and his family have moved to Colorado.

He has been in ill health and does not plan to take another pastorate at this time, according to Muri Phipps, a member of the church. At the time they left, the family did not know at what town in Colorado they will live.

Rev. and Mrs. Stewart have two sons, Calvin, who formerly worked at City Grocery, and Doyle, who was graduated from the eighth grade this spring as one of the six high ranking students.

Rev. Michael Has Amputation

The Rev. J. F. Michael, beloved dean of Wellington's clergy, underwent surgery Thursday, June, in St. Joseph's Hospital for the amputation of his right leg, just above the knee.

Hospital attendants said Wednesday morning, June 12, that is is getting along fine and is able to sit up in a chair.

He is able to have a limited amount of company.

The surgery was necessary because of an ailment from which Rev. Michael has suffered for some years.

A former pastor of First Methodist Church, Rev. Michael came out of retirement several years ago to accept the pastorate of the Methodist Churches at Dodson and Kelly.

NORWOOD LIONS OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS

row, from left, are A. F. Wischkaemper Jr., J. H. Oldham, who is new president of the Norwood club, Franklin Knoll and Albert Oldham. The installation was held at a ladies night meeting and barbecue, at which members of the Shamrock Club and their wives were guests. The installation was held at the Lions Park, just east of the Samnorwood school.—Leader Staff Photo.

V. J. Simpson Dies Tuesday at Age of 81

V. J. Simpson, who was a leader in community and farm life over a long period of years before his retirement, died in St. Joseph's Hospital at 9:20 p.m. Tuesday, June 11. His death followed a number of months of failing health.

Mr. Simpson was 81 years of age. The family home is at 1011 Ennis Street.

Funeral services will be conducted at First Baptist Church Thursday at 2 p.m., with Dr. Glenn Hickey, pastor, officiating, and burial will be in the North Wellington Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Virgil Joe Simpson was a native Texan, born at Terrell March 1, 1882. He was the son of Joe and Annie Hamilton Simpson.

He was married to Miss Jennie L. King at Jacksboro on Dec. 24, 1911. Two years later they moved to South Texas and made their home at Edna from 1913 until 1925, when the family came to Collingsworth county.

In the Midway community where the family lived for a long period, Mr. Simpson, although a quiet and modest man, by the influence of his own life provided a leadership that reached beyond his own area. He had the welfare of his community sincerely at heart and he valued those things that gave stability and growth to such community institutions as the school and the church.

Mr. Simpson became a member of the Baptist church 61 years ago and at the time of his death was a member of First Baptist Church.

He was a deacon in the church and for many years he taught a Sunday school class and was Sunday school superintendent.

Those who knew him through the years, however, regarded him beyond his work in the community and the church—they found in him a devoted friend and neighbor.

Mr. Simpson is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jennie L. Simpson of the home; and two daughters, Mrs. Frank Fourmentin, who is a staff member of The Wellington Leader; and

Good News on Screwworm Control Work

There was good news this week from the officials of the screwworm eradication program and also a word of warning. They reported that the number of screwworm cases in Texas in April totaled 357 compared with 2,633 during April 1962, a very sizeable drop. Also, that only 574 cases were reported during the first four months of 1963 as compared with 3,085 cases for the same period last year.

Authorities credited the combined factors of a severe insect-killing winter, heavy releases of sterile flies and good cooperation from farmers and ranchers who are detecting and treating infestations for the decrease in screwworm incidence.

They warned, however, that livestockmen cannot afford to relax their vigilance because eradication has not yet been achieved. The native fly population must be kept down by preventing the development and spread of screwworm flies, they said.

Livestockmen are urged to inspect their animals at least twice a week, treat wounds and infestations, collect samples from infested wounds and report cases to eradication headquarters at Mission, or to the county agent or vocational agriculture teacher. Periodic spraying of livestock with Coral or Korlan is also recommended.

Producers have been noting fast action when a sample is confirmed as screwworms. In most instances, sterile flies have been dropped in the area where the infestation was found the following day after the sample was identified in Mission.

Livestock in and near the infested area are sprayed at program expense by inspectors. Eradication workers hope to continue to treat each case promptly and feel this can be done as long as producers do their part in preventing any large increase in cases.

Gerald Hardy of Livingston brought his youngest daughter, Helen Jo, here for the summer with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Leach. With them were his oldest daughter, Mrs. June Ann Rhoden and baby of Houston. They visited also with his parents and his mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hardy and Mrs. R. S. Montague.

Leon Garcia, who was graduated from Samnorwood high school this spring, is attending the summer session of Wayland College, Plainview. He is the son of Mrs. Mary Zermino.

IN MISSION WORK IN MICHIGAN

The Rev. Claude Newton Roy was commissioned earlier this year by the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention to work as a missionary in western Michigan. He is the son of H. Lee Roy, now of Athens, Tenn. Originally from Wellington, Roy attended Baylor University, Howard Payne College, Brownwood, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and Texas Wesleyan College, Fort Worth. He was pastor of churches at Moline, Denton and Fort Worth, Texas, and Althus and Carter, Okla., and at Battle Creek, Mich. He is married and has one daughter and two sons.

What
difference

Grandma may talk about the good old days, but a whole team of horses couldn't drag her back to an old fashioned kitchen. When you compare the two pictures, you observe an important fact. All the marvelously improved conveniences you see are made possible by electricity — every single one. Yes, electricity makes the difference, and what a difference it makes! It eliminates drudgery and creates more leisure time by performing countless tasks in the home at the flip of a switch. It turns factory wheels, lights the darkness, and does all these things effortlessly and economically. That is one of two reasons why the use of electricity is increasing here in the Center of the Southwest. The other is that more people, more businesses, more industries are coming our way. Our expansion program is keyed to this increase, for we are convinced our service area faces GROWTH UNLIMITED.

This Season Calls for Added Caution on Our Highways

Of all seasons when extra caution is called for on the highway, this is at the top of the list.

We are fortunate in that so far we have escaped a fatal accident this spring and summer, but there have been a number of minor accidents, any one of which could have been a major one.

This is the season when we drive more, both on business and for pleasure. There is more traffic to watch on the highway, but there is more in the growing fields alongside to attract our attention, too.

For some weeks now combines and trucks used in the wheat harvest will be on the highway every hour of the day and night. Here there is an added responsibility on the car driver, for he should remember that these machines and trucks, so essential to our economy, are much harder to maneuver than is the more agile car.

School children, out and on the highway, vacationers, and the increased driving that comes naturally with summer, all play their part in making driving one of our more hazardous summer activities.

Our record is good so far. Our law enforcement officers are vigilant, our highways in this area are in good condition. But it is the careful driver who can keep Collingsworth free of a heartbreaking major accident.

Officers seized a crude still, confiscated 150 gallons of mash and arrested three men. Numerous arrests were made for stealing gas.

CROSSROADS REPORT

I see where the United Nations educational bureau here a while back spent $500,000 on a project in Haiti to combat illiteracy.

The dope is that after the money was all gone, it was figured out they had managed to teach 50 people how to read, which comes to $10,000 per educatee.

My cheap reader neighbor says this is not so bad, because he notes that many commentators on the U.S. Constitution have had a lot more than that spent on their educations, and they still can't read.

I see where the Greeks are putting up a statue of former President Truman, to show their appreciation for some help he gave them while he was in office.

My re-thinker neighbor says when he first heard about this, he figured these people must be very desperate for somebody to put up a statue of.

But, he says, we may be putting up statues of Mr. Truman ourselves before long, as every day the folks in Washington are teaching us to appreciate him more.

I see where President Kennedy showed up for work the other day with a cut finger which he got while slicing bread.

Then later on a high Senator burned his hand while cooking breakfast, and this kind of news ought to be managed out of the papers.

On account of voting housekeepers, male and female, who hear about this, might start doubting a leader's dexterity with big national projects if he can't even make a sandwich or fry bacon without hurting himself.

I see where a self-propelled postman in California solved his dog relations problem by taking a large dog with him on his daily rounds.

Which is just the working of an old Law of Nature, that the likelihood of getting licked will take the fight out of man or beast.

So this postman discovered that longer teeth brings peace better than accommodation, soft talk, or appealing to an enemy's better nature, but now he will have to watch out for people trying to disarm him by proposing a dog ban.

A total of 272 persons was enrolled in the school, with 208 the largest number to attend any one session. Average attendance was 196 nightly, and 138 were present for every session. A small pocket Bible encyclopedia was given as an award to those who had perfect attendance records.

A new feature of the school was a lectureship for the adult class, featuring visiting preachers each evening. Men speaking to this group were Eugene Henderson, Shamrock; Robert Frahm, Wheeler; Lloyd Shirley, Memphis; Don Willingham, Hollis; and Grandol Forehand.

Following the school a picnic at the city park was enjoyed by many of the pupils, parents and teachers on Saturday morning.

The Rev. James Glasscock, formerly of Wellington, received his master of theology degree in American Church history from Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J., Tuesday, June 11.

Rev. Glasscock, a member of the Northwest Conference of the Methodist Church, was assigned to St. James Methodist Church in Abilene, a church a little more than a year old with a growing congregation.

Before entering Princeton in September, he was associate pastor of First Methodist Church, Brownfield.

His wife is teaching in New Jersey, and will join her husband around July 1.

The young pastor, who is the son of John Glasscock, now of Shamrock, was graduated from Wellington high school, then received the bachelor of arts degree from McMurry College, Abilene, and bachelor of divinity degree from Perkins School of Theology of Southern Methodist University.

He said the accident involved a 1955 GMC pickup driven by Patricia O'Hair, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross O'Hair, and the 1963 Chevrolet driven by Robert Owens. Both cars were headed north and the accident occurred as Miss O'Hair started to make a left turn just as Owens started to pass, according to Chief Marsh.

There was several hundred dollars damage to the Owens car, he added.

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Self were Mmes. Ethel Dingler, Eunice Man, Clara Mae Carter, and Donald Belew of Clarendon.

Late Business News Highlight

For the general economy condition continues to grow that business expansion will carry through summer months. Chase Manhattan Bank economists believe capital investment could climb to an annual rate of $42.5 billion by year-end, up some 13% from 1962. . . Railroad carloadings continued their upward swing, rising 3.5% in the week ended June 1 from the similar 1962 week. While they trail 1962 by 2% so far this year, they remain above 1961's pace by more than 4.5%.

. . . Last week's brisk rate of auto production boosted 1963 assemblies to more than 3.5 million, up from 3.2 million a year earlier. Ford is the only producer with fewer assemblies than in 1962. Chrysler's 1963 output thus far has topped 1962
by almost 62%. . . A flood of teenage jobless into the U.
S. work force sent unemployment up in mid-May to a rate of 5.9% of the work force, compared with 5.7% a month
earlier. . . Employment, too, climbed, hitting a new peak of just over 69 million persons.

. . . The House Ways and Means committee rejected Administration efforts to place tougher taxation on oil and other industries using the mineral depletion allowance. . . Retail store sales rose to $4.7 billion in the week ended June 1, up 5% from the 1962 week and 2% from the previous week.

. . . Construction spending in May rose to an annual rate of $62.7 billion, up from almost $60.5 billion in April. . . President Kennedy ordered development of a supersonic jetliner.

. . . And consumer installment credit outstanding shot higher in April by some $530 million over the March level and the largest monthly gain since Nov.
1962.

Caution prevailed in the stock market last week. Volume on the New York Stock Exchange swelled to its highest level in a year, totaling around 28 million shares.

Once again the Dow Jones
Industrial Average was thwarted in its attempt to burst thru the 734.91 peak set in Dec.
1961. It closed Friday at 722.41, losing 4.55 points on the week.
It dropped 4.46 of those points in the sharp sell-off in Friday's final hour of trading.

Traders seemed to be "cleaning up" so they wouldn't be too heavily invested over the week end.

General business news remained favorable.

Retail sales, paced by autos which had their best May on record from all indications;
construction expenditures, rail freight loadings, and business expansion expectations all were on the rise. A flood of teenagers into the work force, however, pushed unemployment up to 5.9% of the work force in mid-May. Still, the total number employed bulged to just over 69 million, a new record.

There was continued concern over labor-management negotiations in key industries, particularly rails, where it is hoped a strike will be averted this week. Deadline for contract settlement between management and five on-train unions is midnight June 11. Speculation continues as to whether the government would step in to halt
a strike if one is declared.

Various stock groups reacted to news about the industries they represent. Tobacco stocks were staggered by a Florida Supreme Court ruling that a tobacco company could be held liable for death caused by smoking cigarettes.

Rails eased at fear of a possible rail strike. A significant development in the rail industry was announcement by Mo-Pac and Santa Fe that they will begin studying plans to merge the big lines into one 24,000-mile line. It would be the nation's largest.

Pres. Kennedy's order for a supersonic transport to be developed stimulated aircraft issues. Boeing and Douglas rose on news they had been appointed to study design for a maneuverable research laboratory which would be launched into space.

Auto stocks continued strong.
May proved to be an excellent

The WRIGHT Slant on Washington

By CONGRESSMAN JIM WRIGHT

By Congressman Jim Wright

Our historic tradition of civilian control over the military is coming under careful and renewed scrutiny on several fronts.

Not since outgoing President Eisenhower uttered his now famous warning against the dangers inherent in the growing economic power of the Military-Industrial complex has so much attention been directed to the civilian-military balance of power in this country.

There is evidence, for one thing, of a growing if belated realization that the TFX probe in the McClellan Committee has been used as a sounding board
by certain elements in the military to carry on a vendetta against Secretary McNamara,
the Secretary of Defense since Forrestal to make a real effort to run the establishment instead of just letting it run itself.

If it hadn't been the TFX,
it would have been something else. A certain group in the military, riding high since World War II, has been accustomed to having its own way. They are out to "get" McNamara on one pretext or another. He is equally determined to make the traditional rule of civilian control stick.

The issue in the present instance is McNamara's unyielding vow to make unification a reality in areas where total savings could run into billions.
Senior officers in the various military arms, accustomed to going their separate ways and promoting ever-expanding tables of organization with ever-broader opportunities for promotion in the several services, have been crossed for the first time, and they don't like it.

But the deeper issue is whether civilian control of the military, a cardinal pillar of the American system, can continue to be a fact in this day of sophisticated weaponry, and not just an outworn theory. Odds are that McNamara will win.
He is tough minded and durable, and the President stands unflinchingly behind him.

On another front, the property of members of Congress holding reserve commissions has been questioned. Once for-bidden on grounds that this violated the clear line of demarcation between the Legislative and Executive branches, this practice has become commonplace since World War II when certain members of Congress took leaves of absence to defend our nation's freedom on the field of battle and retained their reserve commissions at the end of hostilities.

A special Senate study is underway to determine from a constitutional point of view whether a conflict exists. If it should be determined that the two are in any sense incompatible in principle, then I as one member of Congress will willingly resign my commission which I have held since 1942, twelve years before I ran for Congress.

Mike Wischkaemper, a spring graduate of Samnorwood high school, has enrolled as a freshman in the summer session of Texas Tech, Lubbock. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F.
Wischkaemper, Jr.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

When he was running for office, Governor John Connally said he did not believe in deficit spending and he repeated the statement after he took office. What a politician says when he is running for office and what he does after he gets in office are often entirely different. But yesterday Gov. Connally proved that he meant what he said by lopping off $12.4 million from the state budget for the next two years.

This action took courage, because Gov. Connally was and is in favor of raising the educational standards of Texas and much of the expenditures he vetoed were for building construction on the campuses of state colleges and universities. He explained his veto with a chart headed "Brains vs Bricks" and said the legislature had short-changed his higher education program on the brains side by $14 million while adding $7.1 million on the "bricks" side. There will be criticism of course, but the fact remains that buildings do not educate anyone, but teachers do. Gov. Connally has put the emphasis on the primary essential in raising educational standards.

Perhaps we should not complain overly much about too much rain, for most of New Mexico is still in the grip of a severe drought. There is a lot of difference in not being able to plant because it is too wet and not being able to plant because it is too dry. Fast maturing cotton varieties have lengthened our cotton planting season until July and it still makes open cotton of a good grade before frost.

Lindy McDaniel, who made such a record with the Cardinals as a relief pitcher, is now going strong in the same role with the Chicago Cubs. Last week he saved a game against San Francisco and then proceeded to win it in the last half of the 10th inning by hitting a home run. This enabled his team to take over first place in the National League for one day at least. At the present time St. Louis is on top; but only a game and a half separate the four leaders in the league.

Church to Honor Fathers

In a special service at First Christian Church on Father's Day, June 16, particular emphasis will be given to the obligation of fathers to lead in the spiritual development of their children. The message will be presented by the minister, Gilbert Forrest, at the morning hour of worship. His topic will be "Orphans in Heaven." The entire community is extended a welcome to hear this message and join in these services.

The Sunday night topic will be "Is Instrumental Music in Church Wrong?" This message is one of a series on Bible answers to popular questions. The Sunday night service begins at 8:00 p.m.

E. A. Singley

(Continued from page one) ber of the Lutheran Church since he was a boy. As there was no church of that faith in Wellington, he attended the services of the Methodist church, and was one of those who helped to build the present church.

Funeral services for Mr. Singley were conducted Monday at 2:30 p.m. at the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. Davis Edens officiating.

Pall bearers were Elbert Waddell, John Sherman, Esdel Bartlett, Louis Allred, Lewis Morris, Shelton Nunnally, Fred Cox, Ralph Tennison and Zook Thomas.

Burial was in West Wellington Cemetery under the direction of Kelson Funeral Home.

Surviving Mr. Singley are his wife, of the home; one son and one daughter: Jones Singley of Wellington and Mrs. Helen Sue Jones of Indianapolis, Indiana. There are eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren. One sister and one brother also survive, Mrs. W. W. Sugg of Wellington, and H. E. Singley of Lubbock. Two children preceded him in death, Frances, the wife of Gene Lucker of Levelland, and Berniece, in childhood.

V. J. Simpson

(Continued from page one) Mrs. T. A. Nichols of Shamrock. There is one grandson, Richard Fourmentin. Two sisters also survive: Mrs. Ruth Moore and Miss Fay Simpson of Beaumont.

OFF TO BOYS STATE

These three, delegates to Boys State, Austin, had received the money for their trip. From left, they are Bryan Hatch of Wellington, Jimmy Martin-dale of Samnorwood and Dwayne Campbell of Quail. The trip is sponsored by the Frank King Post of the American Legion, and two other organizations joined the Legion in providing financing. These were the Rotary Club and Kiwanis Club. This made it possible for three boys to attend Boys State, now in progress, instead of one. The money was presented by John Coleman, and according to Boys State rules, is all in $1 bills.

Here Since 1957

There's More to this Midland Bermuda Than Anyone Thought

Midland bermuda grass, just this year recommended in the Panhandle as a cold tolerant hybrid that is producing high yields of forage under irrigation, has been grown quietly in Collingsworth as a dry-land grass since 1957.

Following reports last week of yields expected under irrigation in the county, Oran Starkey mentioned casually that he set out some on his farm near Salt Fork River 6 years ago. Temple Slay also has some.

More questions brought some interesting information.

Noting that sprigging is now done by machines, Starkey recalled that he sprigged his in by hand in the spring of 1957, it covered the ground that summer and he grazed 35 head on an acre that first fall.

"The next year, I took some to my place east of town and put it on a tank dam. It stayed there and spread, and every year when the native grass dries up, it stays green," Starkey said. He is getting ready to set out 10 more acres—also on dry land.

Starkey thinks his Midland Bermuda would furnish more grazing if he would fertilize it. "With average rainfall, it will carry two to three head of yearlings per acre," he explained.

"When I put it in, sprigs were $2.00 per bushel whole sale. I got mine from a fellow who came up to buy some sorghum alumn seed from me," Starkey added.

He also sows biennial clover in his Midland Bermuda. That lengthens the grazing period, since it comes out before the grass does.

Starkey is happy to see the grass put out on a more extensive scale here. He is sold on it and his own experience is encouraging.

Midland Bermuda, according to information from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, was developed at the Georgia Coastal Experiment Station and is a cross between coastal bermuda grass and the cold-hardy Indiana Common Bermuda.

As it is a hybrid, it does not make seed and has to be sprigged.

The Extension Service recommends fertilization and irrigation.

Starkey, who has grown it as a dry-land crop, has some practical pointers he can pass on to those who are interested.

Jack Stewart Dies of Injuries

Jack A. Stewart, 48, who formerly lived here, died in an Amarillo hospital Sunday, June 9, of injuries received May 24 when his tractor overturned with him at his ranch near Goodnight.

Mr. Stewart was the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Roberts of the Rolla community.

Funeral services were conducted at the Church of Christ in Clarendon, where he grew up, Tuesday at 2 p.m. Officiating was Min. Paul Lusby of Amarillo, with whom he became friends while living here, assisted by Min. Tom Anderson of Claude.

Burial was in the Union Hill Cemetery at Lakeview under the direction of Murphy's of Clarendon.

Mr. Stewart had worked with livestock most of his life and he followed that business here.

Last year, his ranch was the setting for part of the just-released motion picture, "Hud," and Mr. Stewart had the part of a cowboy in a number of the scenes.

He was married to Miss Viola Roberts Oct. 24, 1942, at Memphis.

Upon leaving here in the mid-1950's, Mr. Stewart lived at Hedley for several years, moving to Goodnight in 1958.

He was a member of the Church of Christ, and of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

Surviving are his wife; one daughter and four sons, all of the home: Belinda Carol; Jake Don; Terry Glen; and Jerry Lyn, who are twins; and Darrell Ray. Other survivors are his father, Tom Stewart of Clarendon; a sister and brother: Mrs. Anna Lee Compton of Farmersville, Calif., and Ray A. Stewart of Clarendon.

Darrel Hale Buys Choice Jewelry Here

Announcement was made this week that Darrel Hale of Shamrock has bought the Choice Jewelry and will operate it, along with his store in Shamrock. He will operate it as Hale's Jewelry. At the same time, Hale announced that Mrs. Jack Sanford has been named manager of the Wellington store, but he will be here each day.

Choice is disposing of his business here in order that he may return to college to complete work toward his degree. Mrs. Choice and their children have already gone to Lawton, where her parents live, and he will join them there. He has not definitely decided where he will enroll.

Hale, who operates a complete jewelry, has lived at Shamrock much of the time for the last 12 years. For a period of time, however, he and his family lived at Yukon, Okla., and he continued to own a store there until the first of this year.

He was reared in Illinois and received his training in horology at the Amarillo Watchmakers Institute.

He is married to the former Wanda Weeks, who at one time lived between Wellington and Shamrock. They have three children, Mike 9, and twins, Kathy and Randy 7.

He is active in Shamrock civic affairs and said he will also be active in working for the welfare of Wellington.

Mrs. Sanford moved here several years ago from Victoria, but prior to that she and her family lived in Childress. She was raised in Wichita Falls.

Band Plans Car Wash

The Wellington high school band will hold a car wash Saturday, June 15, the first in a series of money-raising events by which they will finance their trip to Dallas in October, when they are invited to play at the State Fair of Texas.

The car wash will be held at Phipps Station, at 9th and Haskell streets, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"There will be plenty of band members on hand to wash all cars and we will do a good job on every one," said Carol Blain and Dan Warrick, who are helping with arrangements.

Reservations may be made by calling Carol at 447-2408 or 447-5609, or Dan at 447-5720.

Fin-Feather-Fur In Collingsworth

Only six persons appeared at the hearing held here Monday morning, June 10, on proposed changes in the game laws. Conducting the hearing were three representatives of the Texas Game and Fish Commission: Norrel Wallace, hearing officer and information officer from San Angelo; L. D. Lewis, fish-San Angelo; L. D. Lewis, fish-San Angelo, and Houston Green, game biologist from Paducah.

"We're proud of the rains and prospects for a good quail crop are as good as they have been in a long time," Green told The Wellington Leader.

His information more concerned this county than did Lewis', who remarked he'd like to see some lakes up here so he could send up some fish.

The rains didn't hurt the quail, and if it broke up some that were setting, they will go right back to nesting, Green pointed out.

Warricks Dealer for Sol-U-Phos

Warrick Feed Store has been appointed the new dealer in this area for Arcadian Sol-U-Phos liquid fertilizer, a product already well known in this area.

Four new storage tanks were erected to handle the product, and a number of portable customer tanks were added.

"We are happy to be the dealer for this fine product in the Wellington area. You will get the same service on this product as on all other products handled by us," said Velman Warrick, owner.

Heavy Rains

The rain Tuesday extended only a few miles west of Wellington, but the cloud traveled east and in the Kelley community from 2 to 3 inches fell.

County Agent Cecil Regier said Wednesday morning farmers reported to him they will have to replant crops that were just coming through.

Dodson received one inch of rain, Fred Powers said, but to the east, around Sandy, and to the southeast toward Hollis, hail fell.
