President Re-Emphasizes His Decision Not To Run

Two Charged In Illegal Sales

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The FBI today arrested two men, one a federal official — and charged them with diversion of surplus government rope.

Capt. Manuel Gonzalez, 42, assistant chief of the division of ship repair and maintenance for the U. S. Maritime Administration, was arrested in Commerce Department building in Washington.

Emile Schmidt, 65, used rope buyer, was taken into custody by FBI agents in New Orleans.

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover said Gonzalez was charged with embezzling and selling without authority some 170,000 pounds of rope valued at about $3500.

Schmidt, he said, was charged with receiving a portion of the goods, which had been in storage aboard the reserve fleet of the Maritime Administration at Beaumont, Tex.

Capt. Gonzalez, a former Navy commander was in charge of that fleet when the rope was disposed of between January, 1951, and March, 1952, Hoover said.

Gonzalez was promoted in March of this year to his present position in the Maritime Administration. He resides in Hyattsville, Md.

The FBI said today's arrests make a total of eight persons who have been taken into custody in recent weeks in an investigation involving embezzlements from the Beaumont reserve fleet supplies.

Vet Recreation Hall Will Be Re-Opened

American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Disabled Veterans Recreation Hall at 131 S. Russell has been re-opened this week to all service men and ex-service men.

Penn Harris is to be in charge during the open hours from 12 noon to midnight. Hall is upstairs in the American Legion building.

Texas GOP Calls In Lawyers To Decide Date Of Convention

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Texas Republicans have put their lawyers to work on a mighty important question—when can they hold their July precinct conventions?

Some say July 19 — that's a week before the July 26, Democratic primary. Some say they must be July 26, same day as the primary.

It's a problem of interpreting Texas' new election laws.

Stovall Services To Be Held Friday

Funeral services for Guy Stovall, a Pampa carpenter for 27 years, will be held at 10 a. m. Friday at the Duengel-Carmichael Chapel, with J. P. Crenshaw officiating.

Mr. Stovall, 62, died yesterday at the American Hotel courts. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Joan Paronto and Mrs. Bert Prigmore; his father, F. R. Stovall; two brothers, H. S. Stovall, Hamlin, Tex., and Alton Stovall, Borger; and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Ballew, Levelland, Tex., Mrs. Olive Smith, Lubbock, and Mrs. Theima Carter, Van Nuys, Calif.

Funeral services will be Joe Brown J. E. Gilbert, Lee Moore, F. H. Paronto, Roy Whitlock and Jim Washington.

Burial will be at Fairview Cemetery.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman said today he will attend the Democratic national convention after it has chosen its presidential nominee — and he will not be that nominee.

The President added that he'd like to attend the whole Chicago convention but won't do so because his presence might create a disturbance.

Truman was told at his press conference some Republicans have said he is engaged in a "devious plot" to get the nomination for himself.

This he denied and said such charges usually originate in warped minds.

At yesterday's statement by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower added: "The Democrats have been in power too long. Truman replied it is up to the people to decide that."

Declined Comment — He declined further comment on Eisenhower's opening campaign speech, saying he is not at all interested in the Republican convention race.

Likewise, Truman declined to get into the controversy between Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft over Eisenhower's air power views. He said with a grin that the GOP's quarrels please him very much but he's not going to get mixed up in them.

Taft said last Sunday that a steady deterioration of American air strength began while Eisenhower was chief of staff. Eisenhower replied at a news conference Tuesday that he always has favored a strong air force and expects air power to be dominant in any future war.

No Legislation — On other matters today, Truman said:

1. He does not plan to send Congress any legislation dealing with the steel strike, and expects air power to be dominant in any future war.

2. He has no comment, on the Supreme Court's ruling that his seizure of the steel industry was illegal. A reporter recalled his previous statement that nobody can take away his powers of seizure in an emergency, and asked if he would elucidate. Truman said he would at a later date.

Bert A. Howell Inc. offers complete air-conditioning service from the same day. For the law says flatly here that that's illegal.

The Republican precinct conventions in July serve the same purpose as the Democratic primary — they both lead to nomination of the party candidates for elective offices in Texas.

But the national picture is mixed up in them this year. Supporters of Sen. Robert Taft for president figure that Republican precinct conventions and the Democratic primary on the same day will see many of what they call the overnight Republicans fall by the wayside.

Local Temperature Takes Slight Drop — Temperatures today for the area dropped slightly from yesterday's high of 87 degrees and a low of 60. At 10 a. m. today the mercury stood at 74, six degrees lower than the 80 registered yesterday at the same time.

Ike Says U.S. Should Shed Umbrella Of Fear

Peace, Security Said Real Campaign Aim

ABILENE, Kan. — (P) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today the paramount issue of the political campaign is "real peace and security in the world."

The five-star general, a candidate for the Republican nomination, said in a press conference this morning he hopes the country can get out from under "the umbrella of fear and doubt and hysteria" he said now covers the country.

Declaring that he intends to "speak out as frankly as I know how" on the issues of the day, Eisenhower added:

1. He hasn't "the slightest idea" whether he can defeat Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the GOP nomination.

2. He would consult Gen. Douglas MacArthur on Asiatic policies if he became President.

3. There is no political connection between him and the Truman administration which would prevent him from attacking the Democratic record.

4. He believes the states primarily should handle the question of creating Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC).

5. He will support the Republican presidential nominee if he doesn't get the prize himself — on the assumption that the GOP platform will be satisfactory.

Education Problems — 6. The states can handle education problems better than the federal government.

7. "Our government needs a searching going over" by some one who has had no connection with the Democratic administration of the last 20 years.

8. Agriculture must not be permitted to suffer but he doesn't know at this time the exact measure of price supports that should be given by the federal government.

9. The Truman administration must take the responsibility for the "fragile loss" of China.

10. He supports a Feb. 6, 1950, declaration by Senate Republicans on foreign and domestic policies.

Fairness, Equality — The five-star general, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said he is for "fairness and equality" for all types of Americans.

The issue of a compulsory Fair Employment Practices Commission is one of the most explosive in the political campaign.

Eisenhower said that the federal government should do everything it can to prevent a further tightening of the Red squeeze on the city.

Queen Elizabeth II ... turns 26

Elizabeth II Celebrates First Birthday As Queen

LONDON — (AP) — Elizabeth II celebrated her first official birthday as Britain's reigning monarch today and the weather-eman said it would be warm and dry for the pomp and ceremony here.

The Queen turned 26 on April 21, but her predecessor, King George VI, died on the throne, pulled for the official birthday celebration a time in which the uncertain British climate was more likely to be favorable.

Around the globe and Commonwealth, her local subjects, too, had been going quiet. It was the first big celebration since official mourning ended last Sunday for her father, the late King George VI.

Here in London the chief ceremonial was the troops of the color in the house guards parade grounds near Buckingham Palace.

East-West Fight In Red-Ringed Berlin Continues Unabated

BERLIN — (AP) — The East-West tug of war in Red-ringed Berlin continued unabated today after a night of frontier kidnappings and shootings.

The Russians slapped back their ban on American patrols operating on the superhighway from Berlin to West Germany and the Communist press threatened a further tightening of the Red squeeze on the city.

The Red papers spoke ominously of "direct blows."

West Berlin police increased protective measures along the perilous frontier areas bordering the surrounding Russian zone after two women were grabbed last night by Russian soldiers and German Communist police.

The westerners doubled to 200 the number of alarm boxes scattered along the perimeter for use in quickly summoning police.

100,000 Jobless From Steel Strike

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Unemployment resulting from the strike of 600,000 CIO United Steelworkers climbed toward the 100,000 mark today.

More and more workers went on the idle list even as top executives of the major steel firms and the union gathered at Washington for renewed peace talks.

Some 9,000 employees of the Pennsylvania railroad were furloughed today.

Most of the idle are miners and railroaders. It is estimated some 25,000 coal miners are employed in mines owned by steel companies — are laid off. More than 20,000 railroaders have been furloughed. The remainder of those laid off are in steel industries, such as iron ore mines, crews of lake steamers which haul ore, dock workers and others.

Several thousand upper Mid-west iron ore miners are also striking as they are members of the United Steelworkers Union. In addition to Michigan's mines, they include some seen in upper Michigan and 700 in northern Wisconsin.

One ship on the Great Lakes are being ordered into ports. If the strike continues more than 200 freighters will be laid up by Sunday and some 7000 sailors will be on the beach.

As the strike goes into its fourth day it is clearly, in some instances the pocketing is just of the taken variety.

There are not many signs of financial distress among the strikers, or their families. However, grocers and meat dealers say the strikers' housewives are buying cautiously — they're shopping for bargains.

Maybank Outvoted — Nearly 750,000 workers were idled by the strike. These included the 650,000 steel workers, along with almost 100,000 others furloughed in coal mines, railroads, shipping and docks serving steel mills.

The Senate after voting sharp restrictions on the powers and functions of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB), turned to a proposal by Sen. Maybank (D-S.C.) to end the strike.

Maybank's plan, opposed by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) and other legislators influential in framing labor laws, calls for a 120-day ban on strikes in defense-industrial activities, settlement recommendations from a new seven-man board, and industry seizure if the board's terms are rejected.

HST Heads Blood Bank Of Kid Group — President Truman has agreed to be honorary chairman of the "Kids of America Blood Bank," but he regretfully turned down an invitation to give a pint of his own blood for the wounded in Korea.

"I think you will find that the blood of a 68-year-old man is not fit for the boys," Truman told 13-year-old Jimmy Carrick of Pittsburgh, Pa., who extended the invitation yesterday. The President added that this is the view of doctors.

Young Carrick visited the White House as "Kid of the Year," having been chosen in a competition sponsored by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce and the "Kids and Company" television program.

4-H Club Members Leave Here Sunday For State Roundup — County 4-H boys and girls leave Sunday for College Station to attend the annual 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M June 9-11.

Foster Whaley, county agent, and Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent, are two of the four supervisors from this district attending. J. M. Simms, Dallas County, and Mrs. Mary W. Jones, Perryton, will be the other two.

Attending from Shirley girls clubs will be Johnnie Mae Duer, Bluebell, and Shirley Keel, Pampa High School, who were winners in the county dress revue this year. Mrs. Roland Dauer will go as leader.

Boys going will be John Loyd Carruth, Jimmy Keel, and Bulch Reynolds of Pampa, and Glen Harris, Kingsmill, winners in the grass team contest. The boys are to be sponsored by the Pampa Kiwanis Club.

Recognition for achievement and entertainment are the main objectives of the roundup which will include approximately 1,000 4-H members and adult leaders.

Dr. Orion Carter Is Lions Speaker

A farewell speech by Dr. Orion Carter of the First Methodist Church was featured at the weekly meeting of the Pampa Lions Club in the basement of the Methodist Church. Dr. Carter is leaving to become superintendent of the Big Spring district, near Abilene.

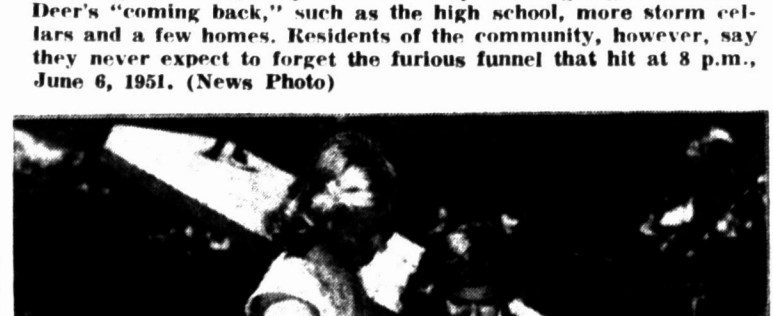

He said that he had enjoyed "every contact" he had had in Pampa and that he would be ever grateful to all Pampans. He is leaving a son in Pampa who is employed at Cabot.

Dr. Carter spoke of the man who would replace him, Rev. T. M. Johnston. Rev. Johnston has been assistant superintendent of the Vernon district. Dr. Carter called him "one of the finest mixers—in the best sense of the word." He also mentioned the new district superintendent, Dr. J. Edmond Kirby, who was one of his schoolmates.

Toastmaster of the meeting was Sherman White, president of the Lions Club.

ONE YEAR AGO — A freak "white tornado" struck White Deer, Texas, one year ago today. Pictured above is a view of the damage left in the wake. In the following year most of the homes have been rebuilt, some better than they were originally. Much activity is still going on in White Deer's "coming back," such as the high school, more storm cellars and a few homes. Residents of the community, however, say they never expect to forget the furious funnel that hit at 8 p. m., June 6, 1951. (News Photo)

NAME AND DATE 'LEASE' — Following the tornado last year the R. A. Thompson storm cellar is brim-full at the sight of ominous weather. To keep track of all the "callers" the Thompsons are keeping a guest register. Holding the book is Mrs. Thompson's granddaughter, Kay Kay Bruner, 9, and on the left her friend, Kay Gueyer, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gueyer. The list is really growing as the cellar capacity is more than 40 people. (News Photo)

White Deer Takes No Chances These Days

By DOLORES DAVIS — Since the eve of June 6, a year ago, at the sound of three sharp blasts of the fire siren a ghost town atmosphere pervades White Deer. If it weren't for a forgotten light, or the cacophony of forgotten radios, a stranger might not know it is an inhabited town.

The siren is the signal warning citizens of approaching tornado clouds. The system was inaugurated after the devastating twister that razed more than a third of the residential area of White Deer a year ago tomorrow.

The "white tornado" ripped through the community shortly after 8 o'clock that night moving in, contrary to popular opinion, out of the northeast.

In its wake the funnel left a lasting impression by its impartial savagery and terrific destruction. However, a deeper imprint was made in the minds of the people. Residents admit to near hysteria when the skies become ominous.

Hazel Reese, teen-age daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Reese, spoke for all the community when she said, "no, we haven't forgotten it, but we'd like to."

Many new storm cellars were built during the year and the consensus is that there are plenty to accommodate all residents. And so much time is being spent in the cellars that they are becoming quite the social gathering places.

The R. A. Thompsons' cellar, visited by more than 40 people last June 6 is always open to residents seeking shelter. In fact, a guest register has been placed in the cellar.

Mrs. Thompson said, "It's strictly a come-as-you-are invitation. Nothing formal about our gatherings. One time though we were complete, corsages and all. As sure as two and two is four it all ways rains when school lets out and this year was no exception. When the storm hit the ladies were attending a reception at the school and dashed over in their Sunday best, all wearing a corsage."

Damage to the Thompson home is yet in the process of being repaired with the final job of repapering being done now.

The Floyd Harrisons were on their way to church when they became aware of the storm last year and after determining its course, drove in the opposite direction. Looking back they saw the funnel drop and upon their return to town seeking shelter. In fact, a guest

Mrs. Harrison says she was napped for days and is not quite over it yet but is so busy recovering that she has little time to think about it. They had to rebuild from the ground up. Much of the work they did themselves.

The Harrison are among the few who did not head for storm cellars. They prefer to attempt to outlive the tornadoes.

But it is an ill wind that blows no good. The tornado blew an exceptionally prosperous year into being for the White Deer Lumber Co., Inc. Zane Hall of the lumber company said, "business boomed."

The town had a real facelift. New materials and new style in architecture of homes is evident with the majority of building being done in the west side of town where most of the damage was done.

The greatest activity going on now is where construction is under way on the new high school. After the tornado ruined most of the school, it was necessary to tear down the rest for safety's sake. The new building planned will be a one story affair spread out over more ground to take place of the old three story building. Right now the new high school is just a big hole in the ground but White Deer citizens visualizing its completeness give word pictures of it with pride in their voices.

But with all the apparent recovery from the disaster there remains much that the lumber yard can't supply. Cotty Fleming was sitting on the porch with his dog in the path of the twister. Cotty was injured but his dog was killed. On this anniversary of White Deer's greatest disaster, Cotty doesn't have another dog.

Taft Holds Narrow Lead In S. D. Vote

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. — (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio today held a 591-vote lead over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in South Dakota's bitterly contested Republican primary, with only 15 precincts missing.

Although Taft supporters claimed victory, former Governor George T. Mickelson, who headed the Eisenhower slate of delegates, refused to concede pending the official count of ballots Saturday by the county canvassing boards.

Fourteen delegates are at stake. The returns with only 16 precincts missing: Taft 64,700; Eisenhower 63,109.

At least five of the missing precincts will not be known until the official county canvass Saturday. The election judges locked in the ballot cans the duplicate polling books of four precincts in Perkins County.

There the two candidates were running neck-and-neck. Another poll book was sealed with the ballots in a Brookings County precinct — a county which registered heavily for Taft.

Taft supporters early Wednesday claimed a victory after their candidate had doggedly maintained a shaky lead since 10:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Mickelson contended the narrow Taft margin still left the Taft win in doubt, and because of the closeness of the race that it was an Eisenhower victory in a Taft stronghold, even if the Ohioan did poll four to five hundred more votes.

Pampa Ready For Circus

Box seats are ready, tickets are on sale, and plans are continuing for the Elks - sponsored Gainesville Community Circus to be at the Pampa rodeo grounds June 27-28.

J. W. C. Tooley, exalted ruler of the Elks, has announced that concessions for the circus are being given to the Boy Scouts, the sale of programs to the Girl Scouts, and a per cent of the program advertising to Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority.

Elks profits will go to Texas Elks Crippled Children's Hospital at Ottine and the orphanage at Panhandle.

The circus, composed of members of the Gainesville Community, features a three-ring show with a group of family acts. The organization is 22 years old and is the third largest circus in the nation. The community was paid tribute this year by the Circus Fans of America Association who met in Gainesville May 6.

Business men, professionals, even ministers - make up the acts of acrobats, dancing tight wire artists, jugglers, clowns, horse back riders, balancing skills, animal training, and other features.

Presbyterian minister in Gainesville is one of the clowns, said Tooley.

Tickets are on sale now at Wilson Drug, Clyde's Pharmacy, Malone and Keel Pharmacy, Richard Drug, and with all members of the Elks Lodge.

IKK SAYS

But he said the specific issue of FEPC should be handled by the states. This is the view taken by many Democrats in the South, where friends have contended Eisenhower would run strongly if he wins the nomination.

Centralized Power
Eisenhower said he is against centralizing power in the federal government because he said that would lead to socialism and dictatorship.

Declaring he is against "socialization of medicine," Eisenhower said he favors private aid for medical education.

Eisenhower has called the loss of China a great international tragedy of our times.

Today he referred to the loss as "an international disaster of the first magnitude."

He refused in a press conference to blame any individuals for China's loss, but he added: "The party in power has to take some responsibility for the losses we have suffered."

Eisenhower said he did not have any prescription for bringing the Korean war to a close.

"We've got to stand firm, try to reduce our losses and try to get a satisfactory armistice," he said.

Gov. Warren's Total Nears Million Mark

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Gov. Earl Warren's vote in Tuesday's Republican presidential primary neared the million mark today and Eisenhower supporters hailed his victory as a slap at Sen. Robert A. Taft.

The record-smashing primary — close to 3,500,000 Californians voted — insured Warren a key role at the GOP national convention.

His 2-to-1 defeat of a home state "free choice" slate led by Rep. Thomas H. Werdell gave the governor 70 pledged delegates.

In addition he won six votes in Wisconsin April 1 to help his own chances as a possible compromise candidate or as a deadlock breaker.

The nearly complete count, from 19,453 of the 19,730 precincts, showed Warren 994,220; Werdell 508,251.

State and national campaign leaders for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower quickly issued jubilant statements emphasizing that the Werdell group favored Taft — while their own organization had endorsed Warren.

Taft did not enter the primary and personally played clear of the bitter Warren-Werdell battle. However, Werdell himself named Taft as his first choice and splinter factions supporting the Ohio senator urged Californians to elect the anti-Warren slate.

Although Warren campaigned in Wisconsin with the help of Eisenhower boosters, he was declared repeatedly he is not tied up with any candidate.

Piano Team Is Featured

Albert and Josephine Malacara, a Mexican brother and sister piano team from Amarillo, will be featured at the Friday afternoon and evening sessions of a two-day piano showing at the Wilson Piano Salon this Friday and Saturday.

The team has studied piano at the Amarillo Musical Art Conservatory as students of Miss Melvin Busch for the past six years. They practice at home on twin pianos bought and paid for by themselves, said Mrs. Ray C. Wilson, manager of the salon.

Advance students of local piano teachers will also be performing during the showing. Students of Mrs. Lilly Hartsfield, Mrs. May Foreman Carr, Mrs. Ernestine Scott, Mrs. H. A. Yoder, Mrs. Lois Fagan, Miss Elise Donaldson, and Mrs. W. H. H. have been asked to participate.

New-model pianos will be shown at the salon from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. both days.

Labor Red Tape Cancels Concert
LIVERPOOL, Eng. — (AP) — Beniamino Gigli, noted Italian tenor, offered to sing for Korean-bound British troops he met at a pier here last night just before he sailed for Canada.

"But," he explained somewhat puzzled, "I am told that I can't because of what you call 'red tape.'"

Former Pastor Here Is National Officer
Rev. Robert Boshen, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here from 1937 to 44, was named vice-moderator of the General Assembly of Presbyterian Churches, USA, at a meeting of the assembly in New York City recently.

He is also to serve as chairman of the committee on national missions for the Presbyterian Synod of Texas.

Rev. Boshen is now pastor of the Hemphill Presbyterian Church in Fort Worth.

B&G HOSIERY SHOPS

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There's a battle of wits going on at 20th-Fox studios, so I dropped out to get caught in the crossfire.

The wits are Fred Allen and Oscar Levant, two of the most widely quoted genies of our time. Both are appearing as confidence men in "The Ransom of Red Head," an Allen production. "Bagdad on the Subway." The script couldn't be as good as the byplay that occurs on the set.

I found Levant and Allen wearing their usual sour expressions. Then they started spotting. Or at least Allen did. He was quiet, which is unusual for Oscar.

"They just saw yesterday's rushes," remarked Allen, "and they're awarding the Academy Awards early this year."

Wait until they see today's rushes, Allen added. "They'll take the Oscars back."

I commented that his were Allen's second trip to the Coast this year. He appeared earlier in another episode picture, "We're Not Married."

"I'm in an episode called," said Allen. "When they need someone to close a door, they send for me. They'd afraid to put me in a full-length picture. No, I don't think I'll be back again. I'm afraid I just got in out of my head."

"I've been a fendin' of oblivion for several years now. When I appear on television, the audience rushes to the movies. When I'm in the movies, they rush home to television. I keep the audience in constant motion."

I learned that Allen was driving a car in the picture, and it's just about the first time he has personally tangled with the automotive age. He's a non-driver, and had to take lessons on the sudio prop, a 1912 model.

"I've never owned a driver's license," he admitted. "I'm the only driver in California who uses a Screen Actors Guild card for a license."

"I drove once before—in a Jack Benny picture. The producer sent me out to the San Fernando hills to look for a place where I had a sense where I had to drive right up to the lights and cameras. The producer saw the set-up and decided to have the car pulled into the scene by ropes."

"I never had a license because you can never park in front of the place you live in New York. Traffic is terrible and you have to leave your car in a garage blocks from your home. Traffic tickets are a menace. Why."

"Good Humor" man was paying 50 cents protection every day to the cop so he wouldn't get a ticket in our block.

their goggles and dusters and rehearse the scene. Action was stopped when the director, Howard Hawks, decided the brook in the background wasn't lively enough. While Levant stood with a worried expression, Allen reported to me on his new TV career.

"We've tried a new format, a quiz show," he explained. "It gives me a chance to talk to people, and I don't have the pressure of a variety show. I'll do it on film, so the best parts can be picked out of the same as Groucho. Marx, Groucho and Bing Crosby had done in radio."

"Actually, it's the same thing I used to do on radio. Everything's been done before. I used to have a feature called 'People Wouldn't Expect to Meet.' Now the same sort of thing is on 'What's My Line?' But I'm not claiming anything. In this business, an old timer is someone who was alive yesterday."

"I think this next season in TV is going to be the tough one. Milton Berle was the sensation of early TV because there were only four hundred thousand sets being bought every month. He could keep using other people's material because there was always a new audience. Now the audience is stable, and on the best shows will survive."

As I was leaving, it looked as though Levant was getting ready to go to the set. But he couldn't get a word in edgewise with Allen, and he continued his silence.

Reports Favorable in WTCC Campaign

Work is continuing today on the West Texas Chamber of Commerce membership drive with a list of 90 prospective members to be contacted, according to G. S. Vineyard, director.

Early reports indicate a "Successful start," said Vineyard. Members of the WTCC staff here to campaign include Fred Husbands, executive vice-president and general manager, Abilene; Ralph Duncan, community service department, Haskell; and James W. Hays, manager of the Panhandle-Plains office in Plainview.

Staff members were accompanied by Roy Bourland, director at large, Pampa, to a kickoff breakfast in Borger Wednesday as part of the current WTCC campaign in 22 Panhandle towns.

Bourland praised the "spirit of cooperation among the West Texas towns."

A new home for the pastor of Trinity Baptist Church was bought this week at 412 N. Zimmers and Rev. and Mrs. Collins Webb moved to it yesterday.

This is part of an expansion and building program now in progress at the church, said Rev. Webb.

An auditorium, to be converted into an educational building later, is now under construction on property adjoining the present church building and new parsonage.

In order to reward employees for service and to add to the present security program for the benefit of employees, Levine's has established a profit-sharing program. In addition to its life insurance and hospitalization benefits, the corporation now provides a means whereby its employes may build an estate and-or a retirement fund. This plan is not a contributory plan, but is one which is maintained entirely from a surplus of the corporation's annual earnings; the employes are sharing not only in the contributions but also, in the earnings	of the fund. The plan was established and made effective Feb. 2, 1951, for the benefit of employes who had been employed for a period of one year; and new employe participants will be added each year when they have attained one year's service with the company. Not only does the plan provide for credits after five years of membership in the plan, but also provides a sure and systematic growth of available cash benefits	each year thereafter until at the end of ten years, 100 percent of a participant's account may become available for distribution; however, such credits may be left and continue to grow for the exclusive benefit of the employe participant. Adequate provision was made to protect the young men and women of loving hearts who may be called upon to serve in the armed forces

Fights Fire With Fire

Once again Frank Chodorow, associate editor of Human Events, have come up with another good idea. This time it is his account in "Spotlight" for the formation of "The Intercollegiate Society of Individuals."

As Chodorow points out: "You cannot destroy socialism by attacking its effects. You have got to get at the idea before it becomes a habit of mind. And the natural terrain for such an assault is the college campus."

"Hence the founding of an Intercollegiate Society of Individuals. The strategy of the Society is based on the known fact that at every college there are students who instinctively reject collectivism. These 'natural' individuals are, however, usually ill-equipped to oppose the propaganda to which they are subjected. They do not have the individualist answer unless they happen to stumble over it in their extra-curricular reading or unless they are in communication with a more experienced libertarian. They are disturbed by what they are told, but their dissidence takes no shape, finds no expression, seldom develops at all. And, they are lonely."

"It is proposed that these mavericks of the campus be encouraged to seek one another out, to talk things over, to learn how best to understand to meet the propaganda that passes for 'liberalism,' to find ways and means of articulating their dissidence and most important, to strengthen their inner convictions by intellectual companionship with kindred spirits."

"In short, those who have formed this Society propose to encourage the formation of individualist cells — and that's the best name for them — in the colleges. Some forty years ago, at a time when the ideology was generally looked upon as a foreign fantasy, impossible of implementation in a free and informed country, socialism took root in similar collegiate cells. Out of them came the heady and dedicated intellectuals who now teach socialism, the writers who now thrive on spreading it, and the legislators who now threaten to destroy what is left of the American tradition. If this method of indoctrination paid off so well for collectivism, why cannot it do as well for freedom?"

"It is not the purpose of the Society to father any action movement. If something of that nature does arise, it will come spontaneously from the students. The intent of the Society is to teach individualism — economic, philosophical and spiritual — as a counter-agent to the collectivism to which the students are exposed. The presumption is that ideas have consequences; right action can only come from right ideas."

"The plan is, first, to locate students who are interested. The Society has a desk at 1136 Eighteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., and is soliciting correspondence from such students, or from parents whose sons and daughters have shown a disinclination to accept the socialist thought-pattern. Out of such correspondence it is hoped to start incipient cells."

Charges Miss Point

This paper can hardly be considered "Pro-McCarthy" in the long argument over the disclosures of Sen. Joseph McCarthy of the number of Communists in our federal government employ.

We have felt that the greatest danger we faced was not from the Communists McCarthy has dug out of the State Department and other government agencies even though Truman admits that there have been 348 discharges "on loyalty grounds." Our greatest danger is from those who profess to be "good, loyal Americans" but who consistently have advocated, voted for and worked for exactly the same thing the Communists have sought.

Admittedly we have a rather low opinion of most of the legislators and government officials in Washington and there are few on either side of the political fence that we feel merit the unqualified support of those who favor a definitely limited government.

Thus, we have not been an ardent champion of Sen. McCarthy and view his campaign against the Communists with less enthusiasm than many of his followers.

It does seem odd, however, that the hue and cry against the Wisconsin senator is being pushed to the fullest by Sen. William Benton, a fast-talking Democrat from Connecticut. According to McCarthy, his opponent Benton fails to come into court with clean hands. Benton, it appears, has been selling his publications and films directly to the State Department while McCarthy at least had the good grace to sell his booklet to a private concern with an RFC loan. Moreover it remains a fact that whether the accusations against McCarthy by Benton of "unethical" conduct in the Lustron affair are Communist-inspired or not, that they are right down the Communist line.

In the investigation of McCarthy and in all of the work he has done in exposing active Communists within the government we feel that he could have been much better employed digging out the real danger to our American tradition of liberty that stands threatened — not by Communists but by those who profess to be believers in liberty and a government based on moral principle but who work tirelessly to achieve the very end sought by the Communist ideology.

Better Jobs

By R. C. MOILES

"They Preached Liberty"

I am enjoying the book "They Preached Liberty" by Franklin P. Coe. "They Preached Liberty" refers to the sermons preached from 1750 to 1789 that tended to result in the Declaration of Independence. I am under obligation to Rev. Waser, pastor of the Congregational Church of Pasadena for calling my attention to this book and loaning it to me.

I want to quote some further statements from these sermons. Daniel Shute in an Election Sermon in 1768 said:

"Mysteries in civil government relative to the rights of the people, like mysteries in the laws of religion, may be pretended, — and to the like purpose of slavery."

Here is a short quotation, but it is a whole sermon in one line. It was made by Samuel West in an Election Sermon at Boston in 1776: "Where tyranny begins government ends."

Would that people in this day and age would realize that as a government becomes tyrannical and oppressive and arbitrary it ceases to be a real government.

In the last year of Jonathan Mayhew's life in 1776 he preached a sermon on "To Guard With Wakeful Attention." He said:

"History affords no example of any nation, country, or people, long free, who did not take some care of themselves; and endeavor to guard and secure their own liberties. Power is of a grasping, encroaching nature, in all beings, except in Him to whom it emphatically 'belongeth' . . . Power aims at extending itself, and operating according to mere will, wherever it meets with no balance, check, control, or opposition of any kind. For which reason it will always be necessary for those who would preserve and perpetuate their liberties, to guard them with a wakeful attention."

Jason Haven in 1769 in an Election Sermon expressed how government should be supported in his sermon under the heading of "Not Charity, But Justice." He said:

"It is incumbent on a people cheerfully to support civil government. This is not to be viewed as part of charity and generosity, but of justice. The support of those who employ their time and talents to serve the public, should be made easy and honorable. Those who diligently attend to the duties of their stations have care, labor, and anxiety enough; People should not increase these by withholding from them an adequate reward for their services."

Charles Turner in 1773 made this statement in his Election Sermon on "Price of Liberty":

"While liberty is fruitful in trade, industry, wealth, learning, religion, and nobility virtue, all that is great and good and happy; slavery clogs every sublimer movement of the soul, prevents everything excellent and virtuous, and is the source of vice and universal misery among a people. But if a few general terms can give no tolerable idea of the blessings of freedom, let them be learned from the story books; let their richness be estimated by the price that has been paid for them, in lands that have been favored with them, and particularly by our Progenitors. Heaven grant that the present generation may come by a just sense of the excellency of their civil and sacred immunities, as may be necessary for the same, at a cheaper rate, than by experience of such sufferings as our ancestors underwent."

Would that people in this day and age realize how liberty produces mental blessings and religion, whether government or individual, produces poverty and misery.

Able Men In 1780, when our forefathers were in the Revolutionary War, Simon Howard had an Election Sermon under the heading of "Able Men." He preached at that time:

"By 'able men' may be intended men of courage, of firmness and resolution of mind; — men that will not sink into despondency at the sight of difficulties, or desert their duty at the approach of danger; — men that will hazard their lives in defense of the public, either against internal sedition or external enemies; that will not fear the resentment of turbulent, factious men; men that will decide seasonably upon matters of importance, and firmly abide by their decision, not wavering with every wind that blows. 'Able men' may be further intended men capable of enduring the burden and fatigue of government; — men that have not broken or debilitated their bodies or minds by the effeminating pleasures of luxury, intemperance, or dissipation. The supreme government of people is always a burden of great weight, though more difficult at times than others. It cannot be managed well without great diligence and application."

He is not calling it a strike, but he says the Steel Workers have no contract and are therefore not obligated to work. Such reasoning is not in the realm of sanity. It could not enter the mind of a freedom-loving man who wants to maintain his freedom and his personal integrity.

About 75 percent of the working force of this country are working without contract. By Murray's argument, we are not obligated to work. Let's all quit! Management at large has no contract with the people. Why should management keep on managing? No reason at all! The farmers have no contract. Why should the farmers keep on producing beyond their own personal needs? No reason at all! Not under Philip Murray's philosophy.

But if, by acting under this insane idea, we should all stop working, just where would Philip Murray and his Steel Workers be? And just where would all of us be, to include our boys in Korea? If we were all organized and permitted ourselves to be completely subjected to the whims and fancies of professional flesh peddlers and labor racketeers, the wheels of this great nation would grind to a stop within hours, leaving us helpless and open to conquest and plunder.

NO COMPROMISE Further, under the argument that the members of organized labor must have higher and higher pay for less and less work, it is clear that those of us who are not organized are paying the freight for this internal plundering of the nation's wealth.

It is just as clear that if we should all organize, and the average pay of all workers should be advanced to the average pay of those now under the thumb of Philip Murray et al, none of us would get anywhere. We would just be chasing our tails in an everlasting spiral of rising wages and rising costs, and we would be paying tribute to a dictatorship of labor bosses.

Like wise, under the domination of dual leadership, i.e. the AFL vs. the CIO, along with a catalyst such as John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers, we would soon be caught in a power struggle of union against union, which could lead to nothing but eventual strife and civil war.

The same symptoms may come from infections, especially what is called epidemic encephalitis, which is a virus infection of the brain sometimes spoken of as American sleeping sickness. When Parkinson's disease develops from this cause, it is as likely to be as common in women as in men and may come early in life.

It is a nervous condition because it comes from damage to a certain portion of the brain not connected with the thinking processes. Probably the most common form is that which develops in older people — men more often than women — as a result of some obscure process which may be connected with

Is There A Subversive Movement In Public Schools?

(This is the seventeenth installment on the talk given March 21 by Rep. Paul W. Shaffer of Michigan in the House of Representatives.)

VII. CLASS WAR IN THE CLASSROOM

Should the public school classroom become a battleground of the class war?

(Dare the School Build a New Social Order? pp. 50-52.)

The implications of this view are developed in the "call to the teachers of the Nation."

Even the taxpayers have no special claim on the schools; they are but the tax collectors of society; ultimately school revenue comes from all who labor by hand or brain. This the teachers should never forget. Their loyalty therefore goes to the great body of the laboring population — to the farmers, the industrial workers, and the other members of the producing classes of the Nation. They owe nothing to the present economic system, except to improve it; they owe nothing to any privileged caste, except to strip it of its privileges (pp. 19-20).

One of the most vigorous advocates of collectivism-through-the-schools during the past 20 years has been Dr. Theodore G. Brannell, professor of education at New York University. Dr. Brannell held that "realistically minded teachers might profit by greater acquaintance with Marx." While disclaiming advocacy of Marxism, Brannell pointed out that "several of his 'Marx'-basic postulates are likewise those of a considerable group of progressive educators, especially his belief 'that the profit system is the root of all social troubles' and his insistence 'that collectivism has to replace it' — Karl Marx and the American Teacher, Social Frontier, November 1935, pages 53-56.

Brannell called attention to Marx's statement in a letter to his friend Kugelman that "the solution cannot proceed along pleasant lines." He emphasized the Marxian principle that "the opposition of the class in control of capitalist society is so tremendous that nothing short of counter-revolution frequently bordering upon, indeed crystallizing into, illegality will suffice to defeat it." Brannell declared that in Marx's view violence was to be characterized categorically as immoral under all circumstances.

New Presidential Secretary Will Write Truman Speeches

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Truman has just added a new member to his official household whose record at the Pentagon promises no improvement in a White House staff frequently rebuked in official congressional reports for their unethical conduct. He will be given house-along with such convicted peddlers as the Vaughans, Dawsons and Gramhams.

The latest addition to the secretariat, which is undergoing expansion in anticipation of the national campaign, is Clayton Fritchey, a former New Orleans newspaperman.

He was promoted to his new post after a relatively short service as head of the Public Information Office of the Defense Department.

CENSOR — His last official act in that job was to issue an order which was a deliberate falsification of facts fully known to him. It is one of the most barefacedly dishonest documents to be distributed in a period when almost every official paper and utterance bear the imprint of partisan propaganda, or seek to conceal the truth.

Before giving the details of this fraudulent transaction, it should be noted that Fritchey has been responsible for almost all Pentagon publicity dealing with rearmament, the "police action" in Korea and the "Cold War" against Russia. He passed on the question of what news should be given out or withheld, and the form in which it should be issued. He was the press censor.

Secondly, although he has not been assigned to any specific duties at the White House, his training and experience obviously equip him only to write speeches for administration spokesmen in the presidential contest, and to polish official statements on political and governmental subjects. He is not an expert in any particular field.

past and prospective responsibilities, inasmuch as they concern the American people's right to information of vital importance to them, make Truman's choice of him an extremely important matter. It transcends the question of personalities.

MASSACRE — Although the reasons behind Fritchey's overnight shift from the Pentagon to the White House were recently hinted at here, it is necessary to review them briefly for an understanding of the sequel. They depict the Louisiana man as the kind of captain who is the first to desert a sinking ship.

Fritchey's Public Information office has been the target of another former New Orleans editor, Rep. F. Edward Hebert. In the fields of newspaper work and government the two have been feuding for years. As a member of the Armed Services Committee and an investigator of military extravagance, Hebert singled out his old rival's office for financial massacre.

In the Defense Appropriation Act as passed by the House, the funds for the office of Public Information were cut from a requested $1,200,000 to a mere $155,000. This may necessitate an eventual reduction of 75 per cent of the men and women, officers and civilians, in that unit.

Instead of being executive editor of a large staff, Fritchey would become only a country correspondent, to use newspaper terminology.

Russian Menace Accented In Memoirs Of Former U.S. Envoy

By WESTBROOK FEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Adm. William H. Standley, whose experiences as our ambassador in Moscow have been sketched related here these last few days, is one of our old Democrats who now sees the Soviet Russian menace to our country which was recklessly fostered by the Roosevelt-Truman regime. He did not appreciate the danger then but he is now doing his best to redeem the situation by revealing information showing the quality of the Roosevelt government's dealings with Moscow.

He is 80 years old and, although he is not physically feeble, still politics is out of his line and the most he can do is make a few speeches, most of them to small audiences, usually of Republicans. He just wants his information to be effective and to be effective it must be presented to the public before election day and, preferably, before the conventions. I have read most of the manuscript of his memoirs, written not for profit as Eisenhower's were, but for the public knowledge, and I believe that with a little professional revision, which is necessary in most such cases, it would make a book of historical value.

The story is a depressing one. Admiral Standley tells us that an agent of the American Red Cross, a man named Hubbell, was sent to Moscow with him to try to solve the mystery of the disappearance of American Red Cross supplies. The Russians would never account for anything and the ambassador believed they were using American Red Cross and American relief supplies for their armies. Mr. Hubbell wanted to give the Russians three fine ambulances, completely equipped. Standley said he wouldn't approve any more gifts until they permitted American agents to witness the issue of the stuff to the recipients. Mr. Hubbell soon learned his lesson and the offer of the three ambulances never was made.

It may be remembered that Norman Davis, a sort of housepet of the Roosevelt family, had been made president of the American Red Cross, a $25,000 job which had become a patronage position for the first time. Davis had been a roving ambassador for some time and he was typical of the character of the Roosevelt appointees. Roosevelt preferred men whom he could patronize, men who needed his genteel largess, bestowed at no cost to himself, however.

"An important act in the Red Cross play and also a lesson to the Russians was the visit to the Soviet Union and the circumstances surrounding it, of Arthur Sulzberger, owner and editor of the New York Times," the admiral's story says. "A message was received from President Roosevelt which read as follows: 'Mr. Arthur Sulzberger of the New York Times is a director of the International Red Cross. He desires to visit the Soviet Union in the interest of the society. It is requested that you obtain the necessary permission and visas.'"

Roy W. Howard, of the Scripps-Howard papers, an old-time working reporter with a brilliant record of exclusive interviews with Lloyd George, Stalin, and Hitler and an audience with the Japanese Emperor, who was then regarded by his subjects as a divine person, had applied for permission to go to some of the fronts. Roosevelt turned him down on the ground that he was not a reporter but a publisher and was well served by the porters he had in the field. Joseph Medill Patterson, publisher of the New York News, got the same brush-off. But Howard later received an intimation that if he would later on, the Red Cross man he could make it. Howard declined. Howard and Patterson were on the outs with Roosevelt. Sulzberger's Times remained friendly and was to support him for his fourth term.

Admiral Standley writes that he took up the request for a visa for Sulzberger with the foreign office and was told that Stalin wanted to know whether Sulzberger was coming to Russia solely in the interests of the Red Cross.

"Dr." the admiral writes, "was he coming as an editor and newspaper man? I promptly replied that President Roosevelt's message stated that he was coming as a representative of the International Red Cross and that I was sure he was not coming as a newspaper man. This did not satisfy Stalin who came back promptly with a request that I get this assurance from Roosevelt, himself. This was promptly forthcoming and just as promptly was the permission granted and visas issued."

Standley invited Sulzberger to be his guest at the embassy and Sulzberger, in accepting, asked whether Standley could also accommodate his secretary. He could.

"Rather to my astonishment in view of the messages previously referred to, when Sulzberger's secretary appeared, he was no other than Mr. Jimmy Reston, the New York Times' most experienced reporter," the admiral's story reads. "The matter was never referred to again but I felt sure the Russians considered that they had been duped. By an interesting coincidence Mr. Cy Sulzberger, a New York Times reporter assigned to the Middle East, was in Moscow at the time and frequently, with Reston, the three of them went into a huddle. So, in addition to the Red Cross and the American Embassy, Mr. Sulzberger had his own line of communication and information."

"When I returned home, President Roosevelt told me that when Sulzberger, imbued with the general desire of newspapermen to see behind the Iron Curtain, requested authority to go to Russia, the President replied: 'Arthur, if I ask for authority for you to go to Moscow every newspaperman in the country will also want to go. I couldn't stand the pressure. But you are a director of the International Red Cross. Why don't you ask to go in that capacity?' And Mrs. Sulzberger replied that his desire was to go to Russia in any capacity and so he came as a director of the Red Cross."

A Soldier Goes Home . . .

Gaiety Left In The Foxhole

DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
PUSAN, Korea — (NEA) — The long line of men inches forward slowly. They drag their heavy barracks bags with them as they move and lean wearily on their rifles when they stop. They are quiet. Many bow their heads slightly, or sit on the ground for a few seconds before they have to move again. They don't look like men who are going home. Yet they are. The line moves to a rickety table, where a supply sergeant has his papers weighted down with stones against the biting winter wind. The men are turning in their equipment. This is the first stop before they go home.

It's a joyous occasion, but the joy is bottled up inside them. There is none of the spontaneous kidding around you'd expect. And the soldiers who are stationed here permanently say it's always the same story — no gaiety.

Three of the men in line, just off a train from the front, sum up the general reaction. "We're kind of tired from the train ride," they say. "But mostly it's because we're sort of forgotten how to act nuts and have a big time. You get pretty well beaten down up there and it takes a while to get over that."

The three — Pfc. Ralph Fleming, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Pfc. George Jensen, Hall, N. Y.; Pvt. Elmer Thompson, Pulteney, N. Y. — move up a few feet toward the table.

"Another thing. We've had to learn how to cover up being scared. So you automatically cover up being glad. But you'll never know how glad we are to be getting out of here. Nobody will ever know how glad."

This place is a dreary, fenced-in compound. It's like almost every Army camp in Korea, only more so. The big difference is the opening statement read to all the new men as they come in by plump, jovial Cpl. Alfred Zalud of New York. He starts out like this: "Welcome to Company B, 8069th Replacement Battalion. Our mission here is to receive, process and ship you on your way home as soon as possible."

Suddenly the place becomes a paradise. As Cpl. Charles E. Hehman of Columbia City, Ind., a twice-er, he drops into a bridge club where he happens to be. Charles H. Sanders, of New York travels quite a bit as sales manager for a cigarette company. On a recent trip to Cincinnati, Mr. Sanders, one of the ranking players in the country, had to find a remarkable play to fulfill the contract in the hand shown today.

West opened the jack of diamonds, and Mr. Sanders won in gummy with the ace. He promptly led three top clubs from the dummy, discarding low diamonds from his hand.

The average player would probably try to draw trumps next. Mr. Sanders, however, saw no reason to give the opponents a chance to defeat the contract if the distribution happened to be frakish.

His opponents happened to be two of the best players in the country, and he knew that they would take a great delight in hornsogging the visiting expert, if they could.

After running the three top clubs, Mr. Sanders proceeded to lead out the top hearts. The ace of hearts was safely chased, but West ruffed the king of hearts. West could not afford to lead two rounds of trumps, since then Mr. Sanders would take his contract with four trump tricks, two hearts, a diamond and three clubs. West therefore returned a diamond, forcing declarer to ruff. Declarer now made the key play of leading his low heart. East won with the ten of hearts and could not find a way to defeat the contract. If he returned anything but a trump South would surely be able to ruff his queen of hearts with dummy's queen of spades.

If East returned a trump, two rounds of trumps would permit declarer to draw all of the trumps and cash his queen of hearts safely at the end.

wounded infantryman with more than nine months of front line duty, explains it:

"Up until you hear those words, you're never quite sure that you are actually going back. The Army changes its mind so much, even when you're on the train for Pusan, it's hard to believe. But I believe it now. And am I happy?"

The men being sent home from here, with a brief stop in Japan, rarely have to spend more than a day or two waiting for the ship to pick them up. They embark right behind, and down a hill, from where they make their short stop.

Whether or not by design, the enlisted men have far better quarters and treatment at this stop than do the officers.

But there's very little squawking by anyone here as to how they are treated. They all love every minute of it.

PAD Official Says Oil Supply Okay

ATLANTIC — (AP) — The world generally has enough oil but any new emergency would quickly empty its slim reserves, a petroleum Administration for Defense official says.

C. E. Davis, PAD assistant deputy administrator for domestic operations, said there are a couple of trouble spots: residual fuel oil and aviation gasoline, both scarce.

Except for these, Davis said, the supply situation looks pretty good.

Church Is Dangerous

MAKE-UP WON'T HIDE CALENDAR LOOK

But this scientific way may avoid showing monthly "nerve". All the make-up in the world can't take that drawn, nervous look out of your eyes each month. But here's a modern way that has helped many women and girls who suffer from calendar misery, nervousness and its signs. It's a medicine, a tested medicine that helps build strength and resistance each month — so, after a time, many women feel no monthly slump at all. Also helps relax jittery nerves, sleep better. Look, feel your normal, happy self. Ask your dealer for Cardui. (Says: "Cardui-see-ye").

Henny Youngman Is Known On Broadway As Comics' Comic

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — Henny Youngman is known along Broadway as a man so funny that even other comedians laugh at him.

"This is rare, indeed, as most comedians regard each other in terms of rivalry rather than laughter. But this 'comic's comic' is different from most of the breed, who are given to private melancholy. He not only has spent his life making fun. Fun is his life."

Top Entertainer
Henny, now 46, is one of the nation's top night club entertainers. Some connoisseurs of the industry say he is the equal of Groucho Marx, Fred Allen, Bob Hope, or Milton Berle. He is often a guest star on other shows, but has never had a national television show of his own. "After 20 years of knocking around the country, I'd like to have my own show," he said. "If I don't, I guess the only way I'll get rich is through my feet."

He explained he had "radioactive toes." And his theory of gaining wealth through them is "to walk barefoot through Canada until I hit a uranium mine." Comedians stuck for a sure-fire fast line or a quip often come to Youngman for help. And he always has one handy — or makes up one on the spot. He is a walking file case of thousands of jokes, old, middle-aged, and new ones ready to be born. "I need a lot," he said. "For a six-minute show I have to have 40 good jokes."

Gives Away Jokes
The curse of Henry, whose habitat is Times Square and who looms around it like a polar bear in a brown coat, is that he gives away jokes as fast as he can think them up. "Just a minute," he says, stopping a friend, and begins throwing ing a jest a second. All free. Just to test Henny's staccato wit, I asked him to make a joke about wives I should have known better. Without even a pause Henny began rattling: "Now, you take my wife and there's an offer."

"My wife cost me a fortune. She went into a department store, broke her leg — and what happened? They gift-wrapped it."

"My wife talks so much that when I got back from Miami her tongue was sunburned. Now she's on a new tack. She colors her hair different every week. She's got a convertible top. She's also got the newest thing in hairdos — a poodle cut. Makes her look like a new man."

"I just bought my wife a mink outfit — a rifle and a trap. Last week she learned to drive our car. This week she learned how to aim it. Is she careful? She's so careful she only drives in safety zones. When she sticks her hand out the window, it proves only one thing: the window is open."

Henny halted, looked at his watch, and said he was late for a rehearsal of the Milton Berle show. As he left, he was still muttering rapid-fire patter: "My wife read it was good to wash her hair in beer. She tried it. It didn't do her hair any good, but now she has the happiest dandruff in town. 'Ya got enough?'"

Museum Gets Private Support
ST. LOUIS — (AP) — The newly formed contributing membership society of the City Art Museum has made an initial donation of $10,000 to help build up the museum's art collection. Ten persons each gave $1,000 for life memberships. Up to this

Scouts Plan Vote Campaign

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — A massive plan to "get out the vote" for the November election—spearheaded by the Boy Scouts of America—has been endorsed by the Freedoms Foundation.

Under the plan Scouts will hang paper liberty bells on an estimated 30 million front door knobs across the nation on Nov. 1. And on election eve Scouts will ask every householder to turn on his porchlight if he intends to vote.

The big drive was outlined at a meeting of business and civic leaders here by Kenneth D. Wells, president of the Freedoms Foundation, which is working with the Scouts in the undertaking. Wells said Scouts have already prepared and are circulating placards urging citizens to register and vote.

"We believe this will be one of the most massive distributions of materials in the history of the United States," he said.

The drive marks the first time the Scouts or the foundation has joined with another group in a national undertaking, Wells said.

The institution had been the only major art museum in the country which operated without the support of private membership.

All Stores Affected By OPS Allowance

Markup increases allowed food stores last week by the Office of Price Stabilization apply to all types of stores, whether they are independents, chain units, or supermarkets, food price officials of the district OPS said today.

At the same time, regional OPS food officials issued a statement commending those individual food stores and those associations of food stores which have announced that they will not raise existing prices as allowed under the new amendments to the grocery regulations.

"Naturally, none of our regulations require firms to sell as high as the ceiling prices set for any commodities," pointed out Frank C. Tomlinson, OPS re-

Meter Unlike Wife

DENVER — (AP) — Traffic Policeman Joe Breusch says he found this scrawled on a card stuck in a downtown parking meter:

"Out of order, won't take money. Gad, how I wish my wife was like that."

On the other hand, those who state they will not have to raise prices as high as a new ceiling are indicating they are taking very seriously the problems we have in fighting inflation and it is cheering to see that numerous firms and trade associations are cooperating voluntarily in our inflation control program."

GREETING FOR RIDGWAY—French Communists in Paris gave Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway a rough reception when he arrived to take over command of the NATO forces in Europe. Here are some of the street demonstrators, quickly dispersed by police, carrying placards calling Ridgway "the American Monster" and bearing other uncomplimentary slogans.

Imagine An Odorless World!

McLemore Starts Campaign To Keep Doggy Smell On Dogs

By HENRY MCLEMORE

My voice is a small one, and probably won't be heard as far as the next county, but I must raise it against the tidal wave of chlorophyll that threatens to engulf this country.

Unless someone takes a stand, and is joined by thousands of others, the human nose will become as unimportant as a soda cracker store in a desert.

I got to thinking along this line when, inadvertently, I assure you, my television set came up with a program that counseled every dog owner to see that his dog's food contained chlorophyll so that the dog wouldn't smell like a dog.

What in the world is a dog supposed to smell like if not like a dog? This was the question I asked myself even before I twisted the dial to get Miss Cadet on Mars. If a man cares enough about a dog to have one, he likes the Canine No. 5 odor that goes with him.

Who wants to pick up a dog and miss that grand, glorious, lovely, warm, earthy odor that is compounded of fur, a few fleas, a dash of all the delightful doggy places he has sought out for fun and companionship? Don't tell me that a dog should smell like a rose, or a pot of incense, or a field of clover. If he did, he wouldn't be a dog.

If a man loves a dog, he even loves the way he smells when he is wet and drying out in front of a fire. Admitted that the dog won't give off a perfume that a man would care to bottle and peddle in department stores — but it's a fine smell all the same.

If the chlorophyll peddlers are allowed to have their way there is no telling where they'll end. The world will become odorless. Campers will be advised to seek their coffee and bacon in the stuff (either that or have the bacon and coffee brush their teeth with chlorophyll — loaded paste) so that the harsh aromas of coffee and bacon in the morning won't disturb their slumber. Mothers will be taught to slip a chlorophyll tablet in their babies' mouths so that, say, a baby girl won't have that heavenly smell at the nape of her neck when you kiss her there and you feel her little fingers touching your ears and her tiny toes kicking against your chest.

Owners of homes along the seashore will place pots of chlorophyll or cast tablets in the ocean, so that the winds that come in from the sea will not bring the perfume of foreign lands, the dark sweetness of seaweed, the bracing odor of salt and water at low tide and high tide. The ocean will smell like a new light bulb.

Smell and memories that are all tied up together will vanish. The aunts' smell of a favorite aunt — a smell that is made up of love, gingerbread, encompassing lap, kind words, iodine, doughnuts, buttermilk, and an always open door — will be no more. A stick of gum will rid your favorite aunt of a perfume as sweet as anything ever distilled in France.

She'll mean no more to your nose than a telephone pole in a gingham apron.

Those to you who feel the way I do, and who want to preserve the lovely odors of this world, write me in care of your second cousin and I'll see what can be done.

Teen-Agers Report To Stockholders

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — (AP) — These incorporated teen-agers wound up their first year of business recently with a report to stockholders — the purchasers of 50-cent shares in their manufacturing company which makes wooden table protectors.

The corporation, organized by members of the Allegheny School, is known as the Creekside Crafts Co. It was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce which furnished the equipment to make the wooden pieces designed to permit hot pans and kettles to be placed on the table.

Ruth Millett

Men, you have a champion. In reply to a recent column in which I maintained that the best clothing dollar a man spends is the one that goes on his wife's back, since a woman is a walking advertisement of her husband's success, Mr. Edward J. Meeman, editor of the Memphis Press-Scimitar took me to task in an editorial in his newspaper.

His main point was: "Ruth, you're talking to men as men used to talk to women. They didn't get away with it and you won't. Men used to say that a woman's place was in the home and that if they had any opinions different from their husbands they shouldn't express them."

"Now you are saying that men should be content to wear good clothes vicariously through their wives. True enough, a woman should be well dressed and now, always, never fear, she sees to it that she is."

"But a woman's new dress will never excuse a man for looking other than spruce. The effect of social life, where women's clothes are seen, on business is exaggerated. A businessman is principally judged on how he looks between 9 and 5. That's when he sells and makes the money with which to deck out his wife for parties. You don't sell much in a frayed suit, whether it be goods or your own services."

There you are, men. That gets your side of the argument into print and so ably that it may even make your wife go to the clothes closet to see whether or not you've been getting your full share of the family's clothing dollar.

But wait. Mr. Meeman has one more word to say on the subject. Woman, he often accused of always demanding the last word in any argument. But I'm going to reverse the usual order and give the last word to Mr. Meeman.

His final summing up is this: "A man need not dress like a peacock. Neither, my dear Ruth, can he afford to put his good appearance in his wife's name."

When washing woodwork, use a well-soaped toothbrush or peccolator brush to coax soil from window frame corners and door grooves.

Cannon, a honored Dr. W. Calvin Jones Dan Gribson, Duke Balthrop, this week with a barbecue held at the Danziger picnic grounds, south of Pampa.

Dr. Jones and his family are moving to Roanoke, Va., where he will study for two years. Quizzes were formed following the barbecue, and singing provided entertainment for the evening.

Mack Hiatt, president of the Pampa group, conducted a short business meeting. A miniature barber pole trophy was presented to Dr. Jones for his work as national board member, southwest district officer, and local chapter member.

Members and guests from Borger included Don Hurst, Don Hamm, Cecil Morris, A. D. East, and ham, Warren Hall, and Charles Hamilton.

Among the Pampans present were John Locke, Max Presnall, Lonnie Williams, Bill Hutchins.

Among those present for the reunions were Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Goddin of Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. Brown and sons, Mr. and Mrs. David Brown of Chicago, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Brown and son, Port Hueneme, Calif.

Since children's feet grow so rapidly they should be checked for size every two to four months.

Kit Kat Klub Entertains Rushees With Indian Party Held In Miller Home

First of a series of summer rush parties planned by the Kit Kat Klub was held earlier this week in the home of Miss Greta Miller. The outdoor social carried out an "Indian" theme.

As rushees arrived, they were given Indian headbands with a feather and their names on them. The buffet was served in the backyard. After the serving, a short program was presented by Christine Pierce, who sang "Indian Love Call," and Claudette Matheny who sang "I'll Walk Alone." Each rushee then introduced herself. The members and sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Pobst were introduced and songs were sung by the group.

Rushees attending were Marcheta Hall, Glenda Dudley, Janice McWright, Nelda S. M. R. L., Margie Roundtree, Pat Taylor, Charlotte Hoggatt, Carol Foster, Carol Paxson, Donna Crossman, Patsy Darby, Jerrie Sloan, Ruth Abernathy, Charlie Black, Martha Wicker, Gaylon Lard, Mary Brummett, Charlotte Parker, Betty Bullard, Peggy Ward, Patsy Ward, Jo Tooley, Nancy Jameson, and Marlene Kolb.

Members attending were: Misses Wynell Weathered, Carolyn Dial, Alice Seawright, Adelaide Skelly, Joan Cantrell, Ann Perkins, Harriet Schwartz, Jill Chapman, Vivien Brake, Phebe Carter, Greta Miller, Marty June Montgomery, Marva Su Stone, Virginia Marlow, Jiggie Qualls, Claudette Matheny, Christine Pierce, Janice Baker, Miss Pierce, and Miss Miller.

Skin Reconditioning Begins With Cleanser

By AILCIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
Summer may make the flowers bloom, but it will do nothing for your weather-beaten skin unless you supply some supplemental aid.

Start with your basic cleansing technique. There is a special soil-absorbing fluid cleanser which actually helps you to restore the precious natural oils to your skin. It leaves no wax, gum or paraffin to clog your pores, because it contains none of these ingredients. You simply apply the cleanser, leave it on for a moment and then wipe it away, or needn't massage, rub or pat. The preparation has been designed to hold a particle of dust or make-up in suspension until wiped away.

Use the cleanser at least three times a day, and more often, if necessary, until your skin is smooth and lovely again. And once your complexion is back in condition, think of the fluid as a cleanser to be applied in the morning and evening.

If you do any traveling or work in an office, you'll find the long slender bottle convenient to handle. Because of the preparation's special formula, there is little chance of spilling it in your luggage or desk drawer.

It's no surprise, at this time of year, that your complexion is dried out and sallow-looking. But if you take immediate action—it won't be long.

CUR TOWN

by
Wanda Campbell

June couldn't be more perfect and our happy brides are leading the song of June . . . Lots of nice things are happening to our town's young brides-to-be, but last night that something nice included a bridegroom to-be! . . . Sometimes we forget this other important person at the wedding and he gets lost under the pile of ribbons and gift packages . . . the girl's whispers about the trousseau and talk of silver and china patterns . . . all woman's talk that leaves the bridegroom a forgotten man . . . But Wednesday night Jack Sutton son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sutton, went to a bridal shower as "co-honoree" with Martha Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Parks, who will become his bride Saturday . . . Few pre-nuptial events have been more festive . . . The fact of the matter, the fellows at the shower "stole the show" and Jack proved bridegrooms can have fun opening packages, too . . . especially when packages hold a shining electric roaster from the hostesses. Highlight of the evening was a "mock wedding" (planned by Mrs. Henry Ellis) which was a complete surprise to the honored guests . . . Some of the antics during the ceremony probably even surprised the participants . . . The "demure bride" (Eddie Marlow) hid behind a white veil and wore a red dress with white ruffles that looked like something left over from a Kit Kat Bowerly Ball . . . She entered with her "father" (Dale Shackelford) who was informal in overalls and boots. Preceding the bride were: "the flower-girl" (Leon Taylor) who wore ice blue satin; the "ring bearer" (Bo Jack Phillips) who wore short pants and carried handkerchiefs on a dainty satin pillow; and the "bridesmaid" (Hugh Gracey) who wore a blue net gown . . . All girls in the wedding party "wobbled" in on high heels . . . The bridesmaid wore a large picture hat atop her "mop of hair" (literally) . . . Before the exchange of vows, John Friau sang "Always" and then made a quick change to a Harvester jacket and "frosh" cap to serve as best man for the "bridegroom" (John High) . . . The ceremony was performed by a dignified and serious (?) preacher, James Gallemore . . . There was a recessional too, "It's Later Than You Think" . . . The honored guests, whose wedding climaxes a high school college romance, had a wonderful time and their party is sure to set a precedent here . . . The hostesses planned a perfect evening . . . Guests too, had fun and joined in the song of June and fell in love with youth, gaiety, brides like Martha . . . and bridegrooms like Jack!

Woman's Work Never Done; Especially In North Pole

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — There are times when almost any woman thinks that keeping house is both a trial and a bore. But whenever you reach the point where you'd like to throw the whole house out the living room window, you might consider the idea of keeping house at the North Pole.

For one young woman named Elsie Gillis has done just exactly that and she'll probably never again complain about civilization. Without preparation or training she was launched into a life where she had to get meals using polar bear steaks, seal and walrus livers, Arctic hare, ptarmigan (Arctic birds) and char (Arctic fish). She got water by

Pre-Nuptial Party Honors Miss Parks, Mr. Sutton

Miss Martha Parks and Mr. Jack Sutton, who are to be married Saturday in the First Christian church, were honored at a miscellaneous shower Wednesday night at the Pampa Country Club.

Hostesses included Mmes. P. O. Sanders, H. C. Wilson, Gene Sidwell, C. E. High, Henry Ellis, James Hopkins and B. Baldrige.

The ball room was decorated with baskets of flowers for the occasion. Gifts were arranged on a long table covered with a white cloth, and other tables were centered with candles.

The refreshment table, covered with a white organdy cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white roses, mock orange, blossoms and baby breath. Candles in silver holders flanked the floral arrangement, and a silver punch bowl was placed at one end of the table. Miss Martha Hopkins presided at the table.

Orchid streamers, attached to the table with limited carnations, carried out the bride-elect's chosen colors, orchid and white. Miss Elaine Ellis assisted with the registration of guests.

Entertainment for the evening was a "mock wedding" planned by Mrs. Henry Ellis. Assisting with program arrangements were Mrs. E. L. Gallemore, Mrs. Jessie Stroup, and Mrs. W. F. Taylor.

Participating in the "wedding" were Eddie Marlow, bride; John High, bridegroom; James Gallemore, preacher; Leon Taylor, flower girl; Bo Jack Phillips, ring bearer; John Friau, best man and vocalist; Dale Shackelford, the father; and Hugh Gracey, bridesmaid.

The "wedding vows" were exchanged before an improvised altar flanked by candelabra and baskets of carnations. Miss Ellis provided wedding music, and accompanied the vocalist.

Signing the guest book were Dr. and Mrs. C. E. High, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gallemore, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Reeves, Jr., Mrs. Wayne Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sidwell, Mr. and Mrs. B. Baldrige, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Jameson, Mrs. Stroup, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Parks Mr. and Mrs. W. F.

melting ice as she went along. Actually, she was keeping a kind of boarding house at Arctic Bay, the point farthest north at which a white woman is permitted to live. With her were her husband, John, and three other young officers of the meteorological station.

On a recent trip to New York from Toronto, now her home, Mrs. Gillis talked about her experiences. She added that, since her return from the Far North, her hair has turned prematurely gray.

"My husband's assignment to the Arctic was for a year," she explained. "And the only way I could go at all was to sign up as cook for him and the three other men at the weather station."

"We had ordered supplies sent up, of course, but after the 500-mile journey was over and we were getting settled, we discovered that 900 pounds of fresh meat all we'd expected to have for the year, had been left by mistake at Churchill, 1500 miles south. There was no way of transporting it. Right then I started to improvise steaks and chops from seals and polar bears."

The nearest neighbors were Canon and Mrs. Jack Turner, who lived 10 miles away. They were able to pay exactly one visit, by dog team, during the year. Aside from this mad social whirl, life was made up of bread-baking bouts, everlasting ice and snow, occasional Eskimo parties.

One little Eskimo woman usually would turn up wearing a one-piece suit of men's long-sleeved combinations topped by a bright print cotton dress with short sleeves. There were no movies, no radio programs, mail once a year and no television.

But housekeeping in the far north did have its advantages. Since there was no cook to whom she could be compared, her "boarders" considered Mrs. Gillis tops and she got lots of praise at every meal. And there were electric lights in the house, indoor plumbing and coal for heat.

But in the land of ice and water, there was so little fresh water that when an iceberg once turned up practically in the back yard, it was a real luxury.

One outstandingly good thing came out of the trip north: a book link Elsie Gillis did with Eugene Myles. It's called "North Pole Boarding House," and in it Mrs. Gillis delivers her personal blueprint for keeping house at Arctic Bay.

Keeping Figure Calls For Measurement Chart

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Keeping your figure in line calls for more than dieting and indiscriminate exercising. You should get into the habit of taking a monthly tape-measure check-up.

Draw a simple little chart for yourself, allotting a line for every one of your figure dimensions. Start with your neck measurement and work down. The chart should cover the twelve months of the year.

Then, as the months pass by, you will be able to tell if inches are staying put, or getting out of hand. Whenever you find yourself getting a little too plump in any area, mark the figure on your chart in red.

Next, begin to concentrate all your exercising on this area. Think, too, of whether or not your clothes are helping to give your figure the proper emphasis.

Dieting is certainly vital for the overweight figure, but it will not control inches no matter what your weight. If your hips seem to have taken on dominating proportions, for instance, dieting won't get them back into shape. Exercise is what they need.

Chart your way to a lovelier figure with the help of your tape-measure. If you go about the whole matter with a definite aim in mind, you will have no difficulty at all.

Major Deal Starting To Pay Off For Sox As Kell, Evers And Trout Beat Cleveland

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

This may be the year that Tom Yawkey is rewarded for his costly and unceasing efforts to bring an American League pennant to Boston.

The generous owner of the Red Sox found out painfully that pennants couldn't be bought. Yawkey then set up an expensive farm system. It produced a pennant in 1918 and heartaches ever since.

Yawkey, far from discouraged, tried another method. Tuesday he okayed a one-million-dollar deal that brought four veterans from Detroit in exchange for infielders Johnny Pesky, Walt Doro, Fred Hatfield, Pitcher Bill Wright and Outfielder Don Lenhardt.

The trade already has paid the Red Sox dividends. Three of the newcomers, Third Baseman Kell, Outfielder Hoot Evers, and Pitcher Dizzy Trout teamed up yesterday to lead the Sox to a 13-11 triumph over the Cleveland Indians. The other Tiger acquired in the deal, Shortstop Johnny Pesky, didn't play. The victory enabled the Red Sox to take over the lead from the Indians.

Crack Homers
Kell and Evers each cracked a home run and drove in three runs apiece. Trout, working in relief, gained his second victory. Boston took an early lead over the Indians, rolling up an 8-2 advantage against Bobby Feller in two innings but lefty Mel Parnell couldn't hold it. The Indians chased Parnell in the fifth when they scored five runs to tie the score at 5-5.

Kell broke the tie in the bottom of the fifth with a two-run homer off Steve Gromek. All told the Red Sox collected 15 hits including five singles by Billy Goodman, Larry Doby was Cleveland's big gun. He drove in six runs on a homer, triple, double and single.

The New York Yankees climbed into third place, 1-1-2 games behind Boston and five percentage points ahead of Washington, by beating the Chicago White Sox, 6-3.

Ed Lopat, with help in the ninth from Bob Hogue, gained credit for his second victory. The Yankees clipped Joe Dobson for all of their 13 hits and runs in six innings. Yogi Berra, with a homer and single, and Irv Noren, with three singles, led the Yankee attack.

Little Bobby Shantz turned in his eighth straight victory and his ninth of the season as the Athletics shaded Detroit, 4-3, in a night game at Philadelphia. Eddie Joost's two-run homer in the fourth decided the issue in a game delayed an hour and 21 minutes by rain.

Rush Beats Giants
In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers stretched their lead to two games, downing the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-4, in a night game while the runner-up New York Giants bowed, 6-2, to Chicago in the afternoon.

Jackie Robinson pointed out a single, double and home run to lead Brooklyn to its seventh straight victory over the Pirates. Duke Smider also homered for Brooklyn while Ralph Kiner socked his eighth for Pittsburgh. Carl Erskine, with help in the ninth from Billy Loes, was the winner and Bob Friend the loser.

Big Bob Rush recorded his seventh consecutive triumph for Chicago in beating the Giants. The Giant scored twice in the fourth to check Rush's consecutive scoreless inning streak at 82. Then the Cubs rolled Larry Jansen for five runs in the seventh to wipe out a 2-1 deficit. Hank Sauer belted his 12th homer for Chicago in the fifth.

Cloyd Boyer came up with his second shutout of the season as the Cardinals defeated the Boston Braves, 6-0, in a night game at St. Louis. Boyer allowed four hits, fanned seven and walked none.

The Reds outlasted the Philadelphia Phillies, 10-8, in a night game at Cincinnati. The Reds scored seven runs in the second and led, 8-1, going into the sixth when the Phils tied it with a seven-run rally. The Reds broke it up with two in the eighth. Grady Hatton singled home the winning run and Willard Marshall's fly drove across the insurance marker.

By MURRAY ROSE
PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The fourth and most lucrative episode in the Jersey Joe Walcott-Ezzard Charles road series will be unveiled tonight with Charles rated a 2-1 favorite to make boxing history and become the first former heavyweight king to win back his crown.

Forecasts of fair weather for the 9 p.m. (EST) 15-rounder in Municipal Stadium, site of many historic events in sports, boosted Promoter Herman Taylor's confidence that about 35,000 will pay $250,000 to see the scrap. Taylor said he already had $150,000 in the till and predicted a bumper last day sale.

The bout will be broadcast and telecast coast-to-coast with a 75-mile area around Philadelphia blacked out of the telecast.

With $175,000 paid for the radio-TV rights, this latest, and no doubt last, number in the three-year old rivalry appears a cinch to eclipse the financial take of the other three stops in Chicago, Detroit and Pittsburgh.

It was in Pittsburgh last July 18 that the heavy fisted tight-knuckled Walcott uncorked a perfect left hook to knock out the champion in the seventh round.

After Another KO
"I'll be out to knock him out again," said the 38-year-old Camden miracle man in his last public statement. "I've got my number and he knows it."

"He's got the title. I'll have to go after him and get it," said the solemn-faced and determined Charles.

If the challenger follows through on his statement the fight could be the best of the series that started with a waitz game at Cincinnati. The Reds scored seven runs in the second and led, 8-1, going into the sixth when the Phils tied it with a seven-run rally. The Reds broke it up with two in the eighth. Grady Hatton singled home the winning run and Willard Marshall's fly drove across the insurance marker.

Sports Roundup

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — This is the night for which the boxing clan has been waiting. That is, it's the night everyone has been anxious to get out of the way in order to begin concentrating on the "big" scrap between Sugar Ray Robinson and Joey Maxim on June 23 in New York.

The International Boxing Club, which owns the principals in tonight's bout between one moment while we look at that program—Ezzard Charles and Jersey Joe Walcott, as well as Robinson and Maxim, has been in an awkward position for several weeks. Its publicity chief, Murray Goodman, has developed a bad case of the jitters.

Being at least a silent partner in tonight's promotion, the monopoly has had to go through the motions of whooping things up for Walcott, who seems to be the heavyweight champion, and Charles, his favorite opponent. But at the same time, it plainly was not to the IBC's advantage to knock itself out on this one when it has the year's choicest event coming up in less than three weeks.

The result has been a publicity campaign marked by fine moderation and restraint. Both Jersey Joe and Ezzard did their training at remote points as nearly inaccessible as possible.

Return Match
Such news as has trickled out from the two camps lacked inspiration. There have been no reports of either the champion or the challenger turning tiger for a day and butchering his sparring mates. Neither man has even waxed warlike in conversation. Perhaps the nearest either has come to uttering a threat was Walcott's reported statement that "I have to win this one and retain the title for my family and for President Truman, a great friend of the little fellow."

The winner probably will be Charles. If he doesn't do it this time, Ezzard will the next time they meet, or the time after that. Sooner or later the only bass fiddle player among the heavyweights will become the first man ever to regain his title. We will continue to pick him until he does.

The chances that some other fighter will break up the act seem remote. By this time both of tonight's principals know all about having "return" clauses in their contracts. If Ezzard wins—and it's his turn—they'll have to find some city willing to stage the fifth round.

As a further complication, there appears to be no "outsider" capable of giving either Charles or Walcott much trouble. Seldom in boxing history must two heavyweights have dominated the field so thoroughly.

Rocky Marciano is a faint threat to the very best of the lot. In his opinion, Rocky's best bet is to lie low for three or four more years and then grab the title by default.

Fine Misses In Iron Man Stunt
AMARILLO — (AP) — Johnny Fine, Amarillo right-hander, almost got away with a spectacular iron-man trick in Wednesday night's double header here. But after pitching the Gold Sox to a two-hit 3-0 shutout in the twilight game and holding a 4-1 lead as he went the seventh inning of the afterpiece, he faltered and the Lamson Lobos finally won it in nine rounds, 6-4.

The nightcap victory was credited to Ed Arthur, who had relieved Ralph Carrier after the latter was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the Lobos' seventh period rally. The loss was charged to Ray Price, the third Amarillo victim. Fine, who had been released last week by the former owners of the Gold Sox, then signed again after Pete Knapp took over the club last Sunday, had a no-hitter for six innings of the first event. It was spoiled by Don Stokes' crossbatted single to left. The other Lobos hit was a scratch hopper by Pat Lorenzo.

Umpire Jim Tongate expelled Manager Jay Haney and Joe Fortin of the Lobos after a seven-inning rhabarbar in the second game.

Indians Take Narrow Lead In Torrid Texas League Play

By CHARLEY ESKEW
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a snail's pace for sure, but Oklahoma City's Indians raced ahead in the Texas League last night out of a four-way tie.

The Indians took advantage of a trick in figures to add a percentage point to their first place hole-making a difference of two points over second place Beaumont.

The Sooner State club had a point on the others before, having played fewer games.

The whacky chase which yesterday had the cellar club just three games out reeled off three double-headers to make more breathing room.

Houston was the only one of the top four to lose—dividing a pair with Fort Worth 7-3 and 1-3 to fall out of the lead. The Oilers won the first Fort Worth had taken in seven clashes with the Oilers.

Dallas slipped from first, yet won. The Eagles stopped San Antonio 4-1. Beaumont snapped their six-game losing string and halted Tulsa after six straight successes, taking a twin bill 3-2 and 11-6.

Oklahoma City rapped Shreveport 7-4 and 8-4.

Hubbers, Dukes Divide Twin Bill
ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — Lubbock divided a doubleheader with Albuquerque last night to retain second place in the West Texas-New Mexico League standings. The visitors took the opener 7-3, then bowed 4-3 in the nightcap.

A two-run double by Dick Burgett, right fielder for the Albuquerque Dukes, produced the tying and winning tallies in the fifth frame of the second game. Jerry Folkman twirled a seven-inning shutout for Albuquerque to claim the victory. Julio Moreno, who gave way to Dick Leeder in the first inning and hit 3 for 3 in the nightcap.

Ray Machado scattered six hits as winner of the first game limping back to exhibit one of the finest pieces of shortstopping seen here in many days.

Jeandron made three sensational at bats that had the stands buzzing. He speared a scorching inner by Phillips to engineer the only double killing of the game.

Burrus Selects West Texas State
AMARILLO — (AP) — Ray Burrus, Canyon High School athlete, will attend West Texas State College, Gus Miller, WTS coach, said yesterday.

Burrus, all-star football, basketball and track star, asked Miller to announce his decision so other schools "would leave him alone," Miller said.

Oilers Sell Kirby
TULSA — (AP) — Tulsa Oilers' President Grayle Howett announced yesterday that Outfielder Kirby had been sold to Paris, Tex., of the Class B Big State League.

He also said that John Temple, star second baseman on the 1951 Texas League club, would join the club in Beaumont Friday, on a 24-hour recall basis from the Cincinnati Reds.

CLOVIS — (AP) — A mighty home run blast by Virgil Richardson with Francis Rice ahead in the first inning was all that Carroll (Red) Dial needed to pitch the Clovis Pioneers to a 3-1 victory over the Pampa Oilers here last night.

Dial shaded lanky right-hander Bob Votaw in a tight round battle to carry out his eighth victory of the campaign. He scattered eight hits in masterful fashion and didn't issue a base on balls. The outcome gave the Pioneers a clean sweep of the three-game series. It was Clovis ninth victory in 10 starts over the Oilers.

Tonight the Oilers return home to open a brief three-game stand with the Lubbock Hubbers, who divided a twin bill with the Oilers last night. Max Mobberg, 7-3, will be starting pitcher for Pampa. Tonight's game is a special attraction, the first ladies night of the season. All ladies will be admitted in for the price of a tax ticket. Game time is 8:15.

For the second night in succession, the Oilers ousted the Pioneers but they just couldn't shake the hex which Clovis has cast over them.

Rally Misses
A triple by Manny Temes and Stan Bartkowski's single produces the lone Pampa run in the first but for the remainder of the clash, the Oilers were helpless at the hands of Dial, who came up with his best performance to date.

Dial yielded a single to Decl Woldt in the third, another to Norman Auerbach in the fourth and a one-baser to Temes in the sixth and a single to Don Moore in the seventh. Never was he in any serious danger.

However in the ninth the Oilers showed signs of life when Jake Phillips rapped a bare grounder past third and Moore cracked a single to left after two down. But Dial rose to the task and fanned Votaw, batter Ted Tate to end the game.

The Pioneers added their third as Sonny Tims walked and raced to third when Votaw threw Rice's sacrifice into right field. Pemberton lashed a single to center to score Tims. Votaw settled down and retired the side with out further damage.

Votaw was stung after being tapped for a double by Rice and Richardson's roundtripper in the initial frame, allowing only four harmless singles the rest of the distance.

The battle was fast and snappy dotted by numerous fielding sparklers. Defensive hero was Clovis Shortstop Johnny Jeandron. After stopping Dick Woldt's tricky grounder with his face early in the game, Jeandron came back to exhibit one of the finest pieces of shortstopping seen here in many days.

Jeandron made three sensational at bats that had the stands buzzing. He speared a scorching inner by Phillips to engineer the only double killing of the game.

Partners Named By G-Sox Owner
AMARILLO — (AP) — Four fellow baseball enthusiasts, all in the cattle business, have become partners of Pete Knapp in ownership of the Amarillo Gold Sox. Knapp announced Wednesday.

They are Charlie Ford and Tony Dowler of Amarillo, Guy Todd, a Crowley resident, and Bud Patton, who was Knapp's associate in operating the club in 1950, and who has returned from Phoenix, Ariz., where they had been in business together.

Sox Strengthened, Says Stengel

NEW YORK — (AP) — Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees thinks the recent nine-man player deal between Boston and Detroit will make the Red Sox a strong pennant contender.

The wily manager of the defending champions refused to be pinned down as to which team he thought got the better of the trade that sent George Kell, Hoot Evers, Dixie Trout and Johnny Ligon to Boston in exchange for Walt Dropo, Don Lenhardt, Fred Hatfield, Johnny Pesky and Bill Wright.

He did say, however, that the new players, especially Kell and Evers, would make the Red Sox a tougher team for the Yankees to beat.

"Those fellows always played well against us when they were with Detroit," Casey said. "Now that they're with Boston it will make that club so much harder for us to beat."

Jack Burke Tops Money Winners

CHICAGO — (AP) — Jack Burke, Jr., the Texas terror, heads the PGA money winning list as well as the Vardon Trophy and Ryder Cup standings, official figures showed today.

Lloyd Mangrum, veteran Chicago campaigner, picked up the Colonial Open's first check as well as taking the Western Open to boost his earnings by $5100 to $3096 and second place behind Burke. Burke has totalled $12,465.

Carey Middlecoff dropped from second to third on the list with $8,106 while Doug Ford held fourth with $7,845.

Burke maintained the Vardon Trophy pace with an average of 70.47 strokes through 48 rounds with Mangrum moving in as the closest challenger with 70.64 in 28. The same pair ranks one-two in Ryder Cup points.

Trio Of Umpires Inked By League

AMARILLO — (AP) — Three new umpires have been signed by the West Texas-New Mexico League, according to President Ray Winkler.

Don Lackey of Loda, Ill., reported to Clovis Tuesday night and worked the game there as his first assignment.

Joe Coppa of Philadelphia reported to Amarillo last night but was unable to work in either end of a double header with Lamesa because his uniforms were misplaced by the bus company during the trip from the east.

Third of the newcomers, Jack Collins of Providence, R. I., is scheduled to arrive in a few days. Winkler said. A veteran of four seasons' experience, Collins has been recommended as an umpire good enough for Class A ball.

Lackey was out of baseball last season but in 1949 he was with Illinois State League. Coppa was with the Ohio-Indiana loop last year.

Arcaro To Ride One Count Saturday

NEW YORK — (AP) — Eddie Arcaro, who has won five Kentucky Derbies and the Preakness Stakes four times for a record, has his spurs set for a fifth Belmont Stakes Saturday aboard Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' One Count.

Of course, there's several horses with such names as Blue Man, Sub Fleet and Armageddon ready to dispute One Count in the $100,000 three-year-old classic at Belmont Park.

But Senior Arcaro, who has won most of this country's major stake races, certainly never hurt a horse by his presence in the saddle, and one count will be getting his share of attention at the betting windows.

Prior to the Preakness May 17, One Count, a brown son of the great Count Fleet, won by himself eight lengths in the van at Belmont Park in the Preakness he got third behind Blue Man and Jampol, and Eddie expects one count to improve in the mile and one half Belmont.

"They told me not to hit him in the Preakness," Arcaro said. "But I looked as though I was beaten, and with all that money involved, I had to belt him a few times."

"Maybe he'll run better under the whip, because he showed me something in the Preakness when I dug into him."

Texas, Arizona Open Competition

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas and Arizona, a couple of teams that make a habit of getting into the NCAA playoffs, tangled tonight at 8 p.m.

Five Arizona Wildcats from the 1950 team that lost a two-out-of-three series to Texas are back for revenge. Their chances are considered good, Arizona rating a slim favorite because of superior pitching strength.

Texas—which is pretty much a one-pitcher team this year—will put its hope in right-hander Luther Scarborough in the opener. He sports an 11-1 record for the year.

Coach Frank Sancet called on Robbins Risher (6-4) to start. Winner of the best of three games will represent District 6 in the national collegiate tournament next week in Omaha, Neb.

Texas is bidding for its fourth NCAA tournament appearance in six years, while Arizona is making its third straight try. The Wildcats were bounced out by Texas in 1950 and by Texas A&M in 1951 in the district playoff.

Texas bowed to California, the eventual national champion, in the 1947 semifinals, then won the crown in 1949 and 1950. Southwest Conference champion year, the Longhorns passed up NCAA participation those two years.

Dale Imel On State AAU Team

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — The San Antonio Athletic Club's team members who will represent Texas at the national AAU track and field meet at Long Beach, Calif., were named yesterday.

Erich Pohl, South Texas AAU registrar, made the announcement. He said most of the men will compete in the NCAA meet at Berkeley, Calif., June 13 and 14 and will be able to participate in the Long Beach meet June 20 and 21.

The team includes: 100 and 200-meter dashes: Dean Smith and Charles Thomas, Texas; Goode, SMU; and Ray Renfro, North Texas State.

5,000-meter run: Dale Imel, North Texas State.

110-meter high hurdles: Val Joe Walker, SMU; and Herbert Herndon, Prairie View.

High jump: Walt Davis, Texas A&M; and Charles Holding, East Texas State.

Shot put and discus throw: Darrow Hooper, Texas A&M.

Reagan Captures Schoolboy Crown

AUSTIN — (AP) — John Reagan of Houston is champion of Texas Schoolboy Baseball and its Jack Schultes has wound up the season with 15 victories against no defeats.

Schultes pitched Reagan to an 8-5 victory over Crozier Tech of Dallas last night to take the title.

Waco won third place in the tournament, beating Laredo 4-2.

season but in 1949 he was with Illinois State League. Coppa was with the Ohio-Indiana loop last year.

Saxton Winner Over Rawlings

CHICAGO — (AP) — Muscular Johnny Saxton followed out his plans of crowding, covering and connecting to whip rangy Luther Rawlings last night and register his 29th consecutive ring victory without a loss.

The New York welterweight, outweighing his Chicago opponent 147 to 144½ pounds, showed off his teaming left hook and close-in artistry before a mere 2,411 customers in Chicago Stadium.

The group, smallest of the 1952 Stadium season, paid $7.191.

Rush's Phantom Sticking Hitters

CHICAGO — (AP) — Bob Rush and his phantom pitch are making suckers out of National League sluggers.

"That's a good name for his speed ball," said Dixie Dean who watched the 6 foot 5 inch Chicago Cub right-hander set down the New York Giants on six hits and a 6-2 decision for his seventh straight win yesterday.

"They can't see it, and even if they do it does funny tricks," continued Dean, once the blazing-ball ace of the senior circuit.

"I've seen Rush in three games this year and he's the fastest pitcher in the league. I'll bet he'll lead in pitching this season, should get 20 wins easily."

Dean makes a swooping gesture with his hands when trying to describe Rush's phantom ball. "It comes in fast and hopping like," he appraised, "it ain't nothin' to be a fast thrower in a straight line. But when that fast ball is hoppin' and jumpin', then, buddy, you've got something."

Rush has a curve, but he doesn't need to show it much. Just enough to give the batters a smell of it now and then.

"He's big and durable and this year knows how to make better use of his bigness — he leans into the pitch. Yep, the lad's got it."

Rush, himself, calls his pitch "a sinking fast ball."

Carter Loses In Oklahoma City Golf

Buster Carter, lone remaining Pampa junior golfer in the Oklahoma City Junior Golf Tournament, was knocked from the meet yesterday afternoon on the Lincoln Park course, 5 and 4, by Don Easley.

Ronnie Mullins, who had also entered, was eliminated in the first round on Tuesday.

Also eliminated yesterday was young Johnny Farquhar, son of pro Vern Farquhar of Amarillo. Rex Baxter of Amarillo, tournament medalist, won his second round match.

Louisiana Trying To Defeat Dallas

DALLAS — (AP) — Baseball followers speculated today on what effect a proposed law in Louisiana to bar Negroes from competing with whites in athletics would have on the Texas League.

Shreveport is a member of the Texas League and such a law would prevent Dallas using Dave Hoskins, its Negro pitcher, when it played at Shreveport.

The law was proposed in a bill introduced in the Louisiana Senate by Sen. B. H. Rogers of Grand Cane. Rogers said it was designed largely to prevent Negroes from competing with whites in professional baseball.

Rogers said if Negroes are allowed to continue to play with whites "it will break up the league."

Bourne Peeters, president of the Shreveport club, declined comment on the proposed law. "I have absolutely no comment," he said.

President J. Alvin Gardner of the Texas League said "the Texas League always has observed the law and will, of course, do so in the event Louisiana passes a law prohibiting participation of Negroes and whites together in athletics."

Hoskins is the ace of the Texas pitching staff. Inability to use him while playing at Shreveport would cripple Dallas' chances in the Texas League race.

Five New Marks At Compton Meet

COMPTON, Calif. — (AP) — There were five new best marks of the year for the nation's track and field stars to aim at today, topped by a toss of 58 feet 5 1-2 registered by Yale's gift to the world's shotputting ranks, Jim Fuchs.

Fuchs, who holds the world record at 58 feet 10 1-2 inches, equalled his own American record with a performance last night in the annual Compton Invitational Track and Field Meet. He set the American mark in near-by Los Angeles in 1950 and matched it on his first put last night. His world mark was set in Europe.

Other "best of 1952" marks reached here were:

Mal Whitfield, U. S. Air Force, with 1:19.6 in the 880-yard run.

Bill Miller, Navy Olympian, 239 feet 3 7-8 in the javelin.

Card of Thanks
AND I HEARD A GREAT VOICE OUT OF HEAVEN SAYING, "BILLY, THE TABERNACLE OF GOD IS WITH MEN, AND HE WILL DWELL WITH THEM. AND HE SHALL BE WITH THEM, AND BE THEIR GOD."
We missed him in the place of prayer, and by the heart-felt light, like eyes that look through tears.

There seems a shadow on the day, this smile no longer cheers, a dimness on the stars of night, like eyes that look through tears.
Alone unto our Father's will, one thought bathed in His love, that He whose love exceeded ours, hath taken home his child.

Fold him, O Father, in thine arms, and let him henceforth be an angel of love between our human hearts and thee. JOHN C. BROWNING
We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness shown us during the recent loss of our dear husband and father. We offer special thanks for the beautiful flowers, the comforting words of Rev. Lawrence Barrett and Rev. V. F. Vanderburg and the beautiful song service by Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Gilstrap, and the impressive last rites of the Duendel-Carmichael Funeral Home. May God bless each and everyone.

Rep. Walter Rogers Blisters Administration On Tidelands

Rep. Walter Rogers blistered the national administration and its supporters in President Truman's veto of the bill that would return off-shore submerged lands to the states of California, Texas, Louisiana and part of Florida. Instead of dividing his letter into the usual two or three subjects, Rogers devoted it entirely to the issue. His letter follows: "The veto of the tidelands bill by the President came as no surprise. The veto message reached the Senate at 2 p. m. May 26. At the time I was sitting in the Senate Chamber along with Congressmen Poage, Ikard, Pickett, and Teague. We received some of the first copies of the message after it was delivered to the Senate.

The reason that the message went back to the Senate rather than the House is because the bill that was finally passed was a Senate bill, S. J. Res. 20.

The Senate will vote on the question of overriding the veto sometime between June 5 and June 10 under present plans. Should the Senate override the veto, the matter will then come to the House, where there is no question about overriding the veto. That is, if the Senate overrides the veto, the tidelands question will finally be settled right. Should the Senate fail to override the veto, the matter will have suffered another setback.

I say another setback for the reason that a failure on the part of the Senate to override the veto does not mean that the issue is settled. This fight will never be relaxed until this matter is settled right and these lands returned to their rightful owners.

"Much has been said about the present President of the United States being set in his ways and obstinate. Some say this is a basic Missouri trait. Be that as it may, I can tell the President of the United States and all other interested parties that they don't know the meaning of the phrase 'set in their ways' or the word 'obstinate' until they try to run over a bunch of Texans. That is exactly what they have done and they are getting ready to take their medicine. If they think for one minute that we as Texans have ever entertained the idea of submitting to this rank and flagrant misuse of property rights and this legalized larceny on the part of the Federal Government, they are in for the saddest awakening of their questionable careers.

"The President's veto message clearly exhibits that the INFAMOUS GREED prompting this attempted theft in the first instance is still the only grounds upon which they stand in their sordid attempt to justify an act that has no parallel in the criminal annals of this nation. The tidelands steal that began with the reversal of position by Harold Ickes will go down in the history of this country as the greatest crime that was ever perpetrated by a government upon its patriotic and law-abiding citizenry. Nothing can ever erase the black mark caused by the warped philosophy that prompted centralized government scoundrels to make this raid. It can, however, be dimmed by a full restoration of the property stolen, the acknowledgment that a wrong has been committed, a confession by these wrong-doers that they have violated the spirit and the word of the Constitution and the written law of this great land, and a humble request by each of them that they be allowed to re-deed their lives to the basic philosophy of truth, history and Americanism.

The House stands ready, able, and willing to meet its responsibilities to the people of the coastal states who have been subjected to this unethical and ignominious treatment at the hands of the federal government. I only hope and pray that the Senate will permit the light of truth to shine upon its chambers and measure up to the glorious traditions of fairness and justice so necessary for the survival of our union.

In my newsletter last week I told you of some incidents concerning the tidelands question that indicate the complete lack of knowledge of the true issues involved. The President's veto message reflects either a total lack of knowledge of the basic principles involved or a deliberate attempt to write around these basic principles and to justify an admitted wrong by question-begging tactics. The entire tidelands steal was prompted and prosecuted by greed is revealed in the following paragraph contained in the veto message:

"Until recent years little or no attention was paid to the question of who owned these lands under the open sea since they were for all practical purposes without value. But about twenty years ago oil began to be produced in substantial quantities from the submerged lands off the coast of California. Then, for the first time, the legal question of ownership became important and was given serious consideration."

"Yes, the Federal Government never had title to these lands, never claimed title to these lands, and in fact denied that the Federal Government had title to these lands, until long after potential oil development became apparent. The states were permitted to make leases on these lands that were not questioned by the Federal Government, and all of the written law fully supported the state ownership. It was when the vast riches in these lands began to be realized, long after the first oil production, that the scheming and cunning minds of a small group of men, prompted by greed and spurred on by a lust for power, conceived the trickery and the chicanery that finally resulted in the Supreme Court of the United States pulling out of the hat an unheard of theory of real property law and sovereign power that cast a cloud upon the title to every piece of privately owned property in the United States and its possessions.

"For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows."

Fifty per cent of all patients entering hospital in the United States are admitted because of injury or violence.
