The meal will cost $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for children under twelve or a donation.

The Invocation beginning the ceremonies was given by Jack McPhaul. Jim Burkett led members and guests in song. Buddy Telchik assisted Jim in singing "Home Home On The Range". Mr. Jack McPhaul

ATTENTION

The Sad Story of 5 Million Cattle that Rob our Economy

That's Right, Beef Imported into the U.S. is Equivalent to 5,000,000 Head of Cattle

(equivalent to the combined herds in S.D., N.D., Mont., Wyo., & Colo.)

USDA figures show 984,000 live cattle were imported into the U.S. in 1976, last year for which full year figures are available. USDA figures for the first five months of 1977 show a 13% increase in live cattle imports. That increase applied for the whole year equals imports of 1,109,000

IN ADDITION:
2 billion pounds of Boned, Boxed, Frozen beef is imported annually. 4,000,000
At 500 pounds cow beef per head, it equals 8,000,000
TOTAL HEAD, More than 5,000,000!

If Our Cattlemen Could Be Permitted to Raise those 5 Million Cattle

150 million acres of cropland could be converted to grassland. That would reduce our cropland more than a 20% set aside, helping relieve wheat and feed grain stocks, and raise grain prices!

Protein and supplement suppliers would sell feed for those 5 million more cattle

Veterinarians and vet supply outlets would sell supplies and services for 5 million more cattle

Raising those 5 million extra cattle would provide jobs for hundreds, maybe thousands of people

Trucks and processors would handle 5 million more cattle

There would be tax revenue from 5 million more cattle

Responsible use of an Import Tariff can prevent this robbery!

After 200 years American civilization has reached the stage where mere survival of the citizenry is no longer a big worry, so that government and society are now concerned instead with all sorts of minima: wages, annual income, medical care, nutrition, education, comfort, and even happiness. On the other hand, hardly any mention is made of the effort required to provide these good things. The general trend is toward fewer and fewer demands, as at school; for instance, where teachers may be fired if they set standards above students minimum ability or desire to learn. The minimum wage law has no corresponding minimum productivity requirement--no one can be prosecuted for sleeping on the job. Union and government wage demands are made without differentiating between the slacker and the worker.

The good news is that the times are past when the lazy, unproductive, or deliberately unemployed were looked upon as anti-establishment heroes. Disdain for the social order is no longer an acceptable excuse for dropping out and refusing to participate, meaning to work and pay one's way. The parasitical, unwashed flower children, who never were harmless, are no longer in vogue, now after they have ruined the lives of thousands of impressionable young people.

The smart young folks of today, and there are more of these all the time, have discovered that the good life, the rewarding life, is the one of maximum effort rather than minimum; making the fullest use of mind and body rather than waste and wreckage. The real satisfaction is not in throwing it all away to smell the flowers and listen to the music, but in accomplishing, creating, and being in on the great things going on, like a trip to the moon, the discovery of a vaccine, a great ballet production, the development of a community, of merely the extension of oneself to the absolute limit. Flowers and music are best enjoyed while tired and resting. The T.V. boys are right about "Gusto".

Hardly anyone can predict the future, but for the eager beaver, willing to put out extra effort or work the ten-hour day, or give more than the required minimum, the present times are the good times in America, particularly in the Southwest, like in no other place in the world. Anyone who doubts it should visit with the next "illegal alien" he runs a cross or read a few chapters of the "Gulag Archipelago". Those who are content with the minimum, or less, perhaps should heed the good words from Rusk--"Get moving or get off the track, 'cause this train is coming through here and it's going to run right over you."

Let her roll!!

JOB STRESS

People who have jobs with a lot of stress and human contact face an occupational hazard as disabling as physical dangers confronting construction workers. "Burn-out" can occur when a job has too much stress too long and a person's mental, and sometimes physical, resources are almost exhausted.

Police, welfare workers, psychologists, clergy, and physicians are just a few of the workers who may become burned-out. Symptoms vary but they can include depression, fatigue, cynicism, inability to concentrate, increased use of alcohol and other drugs, or a behavior change. In a text prepared for the Texas Medical Association's (TMA) recent convention, Teresa Stallworth, M.D., a San Antonio psychiatrist, said a talker may stop talking, or a dependable worker may not show up regularly. Suspicion, short temper, a sense of helplessness and other symptoms can increase until finally the person falls into a disabling sense of exhaustion.

In her presentation to the TMA Section on Psychiatry, Dr. Stallworth said another job-related mental problem is "destination sickness." This occurs when a worker has great doubts about choice of profession and has a growing sense of dissatisfaction with a current job.

FOREIGN POLICY

WASHINGTON, D.C.-- THE FOREIGN POLICY OF THE CARTER ADMINISTRATION is seemingly one of making enemies of our friends by trying to make friends of our enemies.

IN LATIN AMERICA, OUR TREATMENT OF CERTAIN NATIONS, which in the past and present proved our strongest allies, is either being criticized or ignored at the same time we are giving away the Panama Canal. Although the effort to "normalize" our relations with Cuba has been the mode in the last year, that idea is somewhat cooling off because of Castro's venture in revolution in Africa.

BOTH CUBA AND PANAMA ARE IN THE MARXIST CAMP AND antagonistic to the United States, but our policy has been to favor them. Chili, Argentina, Brazil, and Nicaragua are anti-communist and pro-American in their posture. They have been targets of heavy criticism from our Country.

NICARAGUA COMES AS THE MOST RECENT AND CLEAR EXAMPLE. Trujillo of Panama and Castro of Cuba are not elected but Nicaragua is held up as a violator of human rights under a President who was elected by the people. In the case of Rhodesia, we and the British agreed to support the proposition of majority rule worked out between Prime Minister Ian Smith and two prominent black leaders to hold open elections on a one-man-one-vote procedure.

THIS IS THE SAME DEMAND MADE BY THE GUERRILLA TRIBAL leaders in Angola and Mozambique, but who turned down the offer, and continue to head the band of marauders across the Rhodesian border. Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe were invited back to Rhodesia to cooperate under the new agreement but have refused to do so. Now it seems that they are highly regarded by the State Department and our United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young.

THIS, HOWEVER, IS NOT WHAT THE GUERRILLAS in neighboring countries just outside Rhodesia will agree to. Since they are supported by Russia, it is obvious that what they want is a government of their own making which means to establish a Marxist dictatorship under their command.

THESE GUERRILLA FIGHTERS AGAINST RHODESIA AND THEIR FOLLOWERS have been invited to return to Rhodesia and take part in the elections. They have been promised total amnesty with no reprisals out, the offer has been turned down. The transition government with Prime Minister Smith as Chairman, Bishop Abel Muzorewa, Jeremiah Chirau and Reverend Sithole, joined in the invitation to the dissidents to return. The infused. All the things they have been saying they wanted and have been fighting for have now been settled, yet, they want no part in forming a new government.

THE MAJORITY RULE IS ASSURED, OF COURSE, SINCE THESE THREE in Rhodesia's transition government represent at least 85 percent of the black voters of the country.

IT IS INCONCEIVABLE THAT WE SHOULD TAKE THE SIDE OF these revolutionaries instead of being consistent in carrying out what was originally recommended and to which we gave our support along with the British.

AS WEAK AS WE ARE IN OUR INFLUENCE IN AFRICA AND THE Middle East, it seems we choose to shop around in poor speculation for highly doubtful friends while criticizing those who have proved to be our friends.

SAFETY CORNER

HIGHWAY SAFETY

Be careful on highways. Mark farm machinery with slow moving vehicle (SMV) emblems. Avoid excessive speed (could cause bouncing), avoid road banks and ditches (could cause roll over) and be careful crossing bridges. Mark equipment that protrudes into the road. Use a red flag for day, a flashing light for night.

Victims of "tired breadwinner," a job-related syndrome that may occur in midlife, can have physical complaints and strong dependency needs, especially if the job has lost a sense of importance to the worker.

Assistant superintendents can be disabled by dissatisfaction occurring when the person has a lot of responsibility and not much ultimate authority.

"Organizational stress syndrome" may be the cause of an entire group's problem, evidenced by irrational anger at one person, repeatedly handling but never solving certain complaints, or a general breakdown of communication and rules in the organization.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Texas Electric Service Company, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of its intent to implement new rate schedules for electric service in areas served by the company, effective July 5, 1978, or as soon thereafter as permitted by law.

The new schedules will result in a 24.43 percent increase in the adjusted gross revenue of the company.

A complete copy of the new rate schedules is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality. Copies are also available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices.

What's Hap-Nin Around Town

The BIG NEWS is the wonderful RAIN we have all received in Borden County this past week. Reports are from two inches to over five inches. Heard that Billy Wills was putting in water gaps early in the week. It has been so long since I heard anyone was putting in water gaps that it really sounded good.

When a lot of folks go fishing all you hear about are the BIG ones that got away. But when Blain Dyess and Perry Smith go fishing they bring home the proof. Blain and Perry went to Robert Lee early in the week and both caught 8lb. stripe bass.

Tommy and Debby Varner left June 3rd, for Sul Ross where they will be attending summer school.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Bennett and children were visiting over the Memorial Holidays with his parents, Willis Bennett and friends.

Ed and Sharon Huddleston and boys are in Ft. Worth for the summer. Ed is getting in some practice in one of the big law firms there.

Saw Frank Farmer in Gail this week. Frank is home on leave from the Navy. He will be stationed at Naval Base in Connecticut.

Buster and Jean Taylor and boys left for Fun Valley, South Fork, Colorado June 1st. They will meet Melisa and Joe Hamcock, Creighton and Susan and Darrell Taylor. Darrell is going to school and in his spare time he manages a chicken farm where they care for 500,000 laying hens.

Ty Wills did not have too happy a birthday on Memorial Day he fell from the tractor his dad was working on and broke his leg.

Denice Currey had her tonsils out in Big Spring last week. She is home now and doing well.

Word was received here Tues. that Mrs. Sterling Williams is in the Hospital in Snyder. We hope that she improves and is able to be home soon and back to work at Gail. We miss you Gladys.

We want to welcome a new family to Gail. Larry and Grace Clark. Larry is working for Aub Stokes. They moved here from Barnhart.

Thank You

To all those wonderful people who offered their assistance during Kimball's recent illness.

EMERGENCY HAYING AND GRAZING OF SET-ASIDE AC- RES

Emergency haying and grazing of set-aside acres may be authorized in some instances. There has not been any producers in Borden County authorized to hay or graze set-aside acres.

Emergency haying and grazing is limited to a producer who is approved for feed under the Emergency Feed Program.

The acreage for haying and grazing is limited to the total allowance approved under the Emergency Feed Program.

The period for haying or grazing cannot extend past July 1, 1978.

Harvesting hay from set-aside acres to be stored for future use is prohibited. ANY hay cut from set-aside acres must be fed by the producer during his approved feeding period.

Producers must be approved prior to haying or grazing set-aside acres. This is an individual basis. You cannot graze set-aside acres past June 1 without prior written approval from this office.

Please be careful with the provisions of this emergency haying and grazing of set-aside acres. Don't jeopardize your disaster or target price payments by not complying with your set-aside requirements.

Please check with this office about the emergency haying and grazing of set-aside acres prior to your use of the acreage. The provisions of the program are very restrictive. Again, check with us first.

RESTRICTING OSHA APPLAUDED

By
U. S. Representative
Bob Krueger

WASHINGTON—The u.s. supreme Court's recent decision that federal inspectors from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) must have search warrants before they can make unannounced safety checks is welcome news--particularly to small businessmen already overburdened by bureaucratic red tape.

Government bureaucracies in general, and OSHA in particular, have already intruded too much in our public and private lives and I am pleased that in this instance, the Supreme Court has reasserted the right of the individual.

The Fourth Amendment to the Constitution plainly prohibits unreasonable searches and seizures and requires warrants. Police agencies have lived by those rules since 1789; OSHA should be no exception.

But requiring a search warrant alone isn't the final solution to problems small businessmen have encountered in dealing with OSHA and its requirements.

We also need legislation which will change the current policy which allows OSHA to fine businessmen the very first time inspectors spot a safety violation.

For small businessmen in particular, with often limited resources, this policy is unfair. I am co-sponsoring legislation which would require OSHA to issue warnings rather than citations to businesses with 25 or fewer employees the first time a violation is recorded.

I have no quarrel with OSHA'S goal--that of making sure employees have safe working conditions and preventing serious occupational diseases. Safeguards must be built in to guarantee that businesses fulfill these very basic responsibilities to their employees.

Knapp Home Demonstration Club

Mrs. Blanche Murry of Snyder hosted the regular monthly meeting of the Knapp Home Demonstration Club on June 1st at the Knapp center. A covered dish luncheon was enjoyed by eleven members and Miss Ruby Butt, former HD Agent.

Plate favors were small crocheted baskets filled with candy and nuts and the center piece was an arrangement of crocheted roses.

During the business session the group agreed to have a field day on June 15th and go as a group to tour the cotton mill at Post, Texas.

Next meeting for the Club will be July 6th. Place to be announced.

But a fine line exists between the definition of "precautionary" or "preventive" measures and nitpicking regulations. Measures intended as safeguards can turn into liabilities if they create more problems than they solve.

OSHA tends to be guilty of the latter. Since it was put into effect in 1970, it has created numerous problems for both large and small businesses. According to the hundreds of letters about OSHA I began receiving as soon as I arrived in Washington three years ago, small businessmen in particular have found it difficult to make a living and meet the often overly-detailed OSHA safety requirements.

I hoped they would receive some relief when earlier this year OSHA announced it would end the enforcement of some 1,100 especially useless regulations. But the implementation of that new policy has already extended beyond the initially stated five-month period, and whether it will provide as much relief as hoped for has yet to be seen.

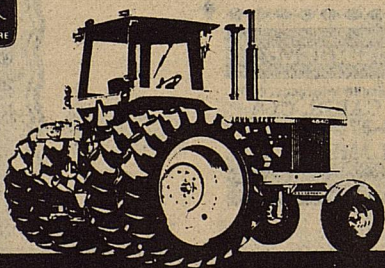

The situation is indeed ironic: It takes more than five months to undo regulations which apparently weren't necessary to begin with.

The situation will not be resolved by the Supreme Court's decision concerning inspection searches. Some people, in face, think that the warrants will become a mere formality.

But the decision does bind one particular arm of bureaucratic power in favor of the individual's rights--and that is definitely a step in the right direction.

Ambulance News

We have been lucky the past few weeks in not needing the Ambulance; however Sunday afternoon the ambulance was called to the K.T. Reddells' residence. Their grandson, George Reddell visiting from Houston, was injured on his Mini-Bike, and was taken to Cogdell Medical Center in Snyder. He was able to come back to his Grandparents Sunday night, but has a broken collar bone. Get well soon George.

Gail Lions Club has made a Generous Donation to the Ambulance Fund.

We would like to remind everyone again of the E.M.T. meetings held every 2nd week in each month. This month, June 14th, a film will be shown on the Basic Life Supports, such as choking, heart attacks, etc. Mr. Dean Williams-Paramedic and Andy Anderson-E.M.T. will be officiating over the meeting. This will be held at 8:00 P.M. in the Science Room in Borden County High School.

We want to let Mr. Killian know just how much we all appreciate the work he has done in helping with the Ambulance Runs, just don't know what we will do without him. Mr. Killian you will be greatly missed, thanks again for your help.

HEALTH TIPS

Lying in an emergency room in a foreign country is not a handy time to look up the translation for "I am allergic to penicillin." Yet about 24 million U.S. citizens, a group approximately twice the size of Texas' population, will increase their medical risks by traveling to a foreign country this year.

Traveling itself is not a risk for most people. But if an accident should occur, valuable time can be lost or serious mistakes made because language barriers prevent traveler and doctor from communicating well. There can be problems even in the U.S. and other English-speaking countries because medical information may not be quickly available.

People planning a trip should take several simple precautions to help themselves overcome any medical mishaps, said John L. Bradley, M.D., in a paper for presentation to public health officers meeting during the Texas Medical Association's annual convention. His suggestions and TMA advice include carrying: An extra pair of eyeglasses and prescription; Extra supplies of necessary drugs, clearly labeled; A piece of paper listing allergies (especially to drugs), all drugs currently being taken, chronic diseases, blood type and immunization record.

Immunizations especially are important for people traveling abroad. For instance, there were about 740 polio cases in Mexico last year so people should be fully immunized before going, said Dr. Bradley, medical director of Texas Department of Health Region Three, headquartered in El Paso.

The local health department and many physicians' offices can tell which immunizations are recommended or required for visiting foreign countries.

Malaria and other diseases still are common in some nations so a person also should ask about preventive treatment for diseases for which they cannot receive immunizations.

Once in a foreign country, it may be more difficult to find medical help, especially a physician who speaks English. U.S. embassies or consulates often can give suggestions. Or several organizations can provide lists before someone leaves the U.S. Contact International Association for Medical Assistance to Travelers, 350 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10001, for a free directory (donations accepted). Inter-medie Inc., 777 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017, charges $6-10 for its directory and services. International SOS Assistance, 1420 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19102, offers varied assistance that includes a physician list, medical emergency transportation to the U.S. and other services. Its fees range from $1 a day to $70 a year.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

"Why do you call this enthusiastic stew?" asked a diner.

"Because," explained the waiter, "the chef put everything he had into it."

That is what the early believers did. They put everything they had into living for the Lord, and they turned the world upside down.

Ice water never moved a steam engine an inch. And this world will never be moved by cold Christians with correct heads. There must be the consumed Christians with hot hearts as well as correct heads.

When a person has the gift of enthusiasm which comes from abandoning all to the Almighty, nothing can stop him or her. It is to the Christians who live in this manner that our Lord will give His greatest rewards. They are the ones who bring honor and glory to His name.

If you cannot get enthusiastic about the Lord, something is wrong.

Get alone with Him. Confess your sins to Him and claim the cleansing. Let go and let Him have His way. Then put motion to your devotion, some expression to your impression. Yes, put everything you have into living for Him.

LOVE THY NEIGHBOR

Often we look upon one another not as the Lord teaches us to do in His word. Here are a few of His words to remind us.

Exodus 20:16; Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

Lev. 19:18; Thou shalt not avenge, nor bear any grudge against the children of thy people, but thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself: I am the Lord.

Prov. 24:28; Be not a witness against thy neighbor without cause, and deceive NOT with thy lips.

Prov. 25:8-10; Go not forth hostile to strive, lest thou know not what to do in the end thereof, when thy neighbor hath put thee to shame.

Debate thy cause with thy neighbor himself, and disclose not a secret to another, Lest he that heareth it put thee to shame, and thine infamy turn not away.

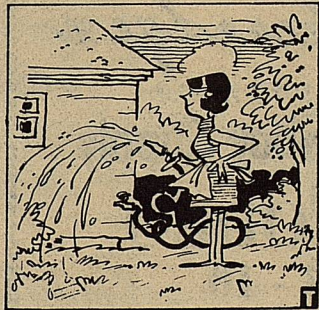

Prov. 25:18; A man that beareth false witness against his neighbor is a club of war, and a sword, and a sharp arrow.

Galatians 5:14; For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: Thor shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

Save Water And Money

Properly maintained landscape plants can add significantly to the financial worth of your property, and so it's a good idea to learn the amount of water plants actually require.

Most plants can suffer as much, if not more, from excessive watering as from too little. Here is a useful guideline suggested by the "Green Survival" professionals in the American Association of Nurserymen.

A LITTLE WATER GOES A LONG WAY toward healthy trees, and they go a long way toward high property value.

Most trees, shrubs and other plants growing in the yard are seriously thirsty every week to 10 days. If there is not about the equivalent of an inch of rainfall over that period of time, then all those plants should be given sufficient water to make sure it reaches down to soak the root system.

For very little water, you can have a lot of lovely green around your house.

Dr. Stallworth says several steps can help deal with these types of problems. Her suggestions include:

---Seeking psychological counselling as soon as problems become painful;

---Getting regular, enjoyable physical exercise;

---Saying "no" to extra hours of work or volunteer projects too closely related to work;

---Looking at personal needs, expectations and goals to find a suitable job and adequate level of stress that is interesting but not excessive;

---Learning brief, simple relaxation techniques. Dr. Stallworth does not encourage deep forms of meditation, encounter groups or intense self-analysis for people fighting burn-out.
