Slaying Suspects Jailed At Amarillo

Nation Promised Ample Protection Against "Profiteers"

New Steps In Relief Plans Are Outlined

Stern Warning That Government Will Step In Is Given Food Speculators; Conference Of Leaders Is Held

No Food Shortage

No Basic Change In Policies That Have Been Pursued To Help Farmer Are Planned In Immediate Future

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. — The president today sternly warned "profiteers" and "speculators" that the government would step in if they attempted to take advantage of the drouth situation.

Talking to newspapermen, Mr. Roosevelt said he thought existing legislation gave federal authorities ample power to protect the nation against unwarranted increases in the price of food.

Leaders Summoned

He followed this by summoning to the White House Secretaries Wallace, Ickes, Perkins and others to discuss what additional steps are necessary to provide relief for those hardest hit by the dry siege.

Within the scope of that parley were crop plans for next year and methods to prevent gouging of the nation's consumers.

Mr. Roosevelt said he did not anticipate emergencies beyond those existing; that there was plenty of food, despite decimation of crops in wide areas, but that if a crisis arise, due to the maneuvering of selfish interests, he was prepared to meet it.

Beyond that, he gave his approval to Secretary Wallace's administration of the agricultural adjustment act and to the law itself. No basic change in the policies that have been pursued to help the farmer, he indicated, are contemplated. At the time the farm act was passed, the president frankly termed it an experiment. But from his words today, he regards it as an experiment that has proved its soundness.

Speculation Evident

There was immediate speculation as to the powers which the government might employ should there be a recurrence of speculation which forced the wheat market up last July, then dropped it with a bang.

Most of the president's time at his semi-weekly press conference was given to developments and ramifications of the nation's most sustained dry siege. He reviewed the present situation, showed a surprising knowledge of grain exchange operations and the past history of speculation in these marts.

Mr. Roosevelt's reiterated statement that there are food supplies

Hunt For Stanton Will Be Dropped

MORA, N. M., Aug. 15. (AP) — A posse of eight men who continued the search yesterday for Ed (Perchmouth) Stanton and Willie Doupe who escaped from a Lubbock, Texas, jail June 24, camped all night in the wild mountain area west of here and resumed their manhunt today.

Sheriff Eugenio Chavez of Mora county said he had received no report from the posse and assumed that no trace of the two fugitives had been found. He said definitely, however, that if no trace is found today the hunt will be called off. Officers began their manhunt Monday.

Police Forces Of Canada In Search

Strong On Faith

Albert Teester, 39-year-old preacher near Sylva, N. C., is shown as he slowly recovered from the effects of a rattlesnake bite to which he had submitted, he said, because "Jesus told me to do it." The incident, he said, proved "faith" could cure without the aid of medicine. Note his greatly swollen arm.

Royal Mounties Out To Get Their Man In Kidnap Case

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 15.—The full power of Canadian police forces was thrown today into the search for John S. Labatt and his kidnapers as the family of the wealthy brewer failed to make an expected contact with the abductors.

The 24-hour period mentioned in a note demanding $150,000 ransom expired without further word from the persons who introduced kidnaping in Canada.

Brother In Toronto

Hugh Labatt, brother of the victim, said by a source close to the family to have been named as go-between, was in a Toronto hotel, surrounded at times by police.

A spokesman for the family, Claude Savage, London attorney, said finally that contact cannot be made in Toronto because of the large number of persons interested in the movements of Hugh Labatt.

CONTACT MADE

TORONTO, Aug. 16. (Thursday) (AP)—Hugh Labatt was reported to have been in communication with the kidnapers of his brother, John S. Labatt, wealthy brewery head, at 1 o'clock this morning.

The attorney was advised, he said, that Labatt no longer expects to get in touch with the kidnapers of his brother in Toronto, but the next move was not revealed.

Mounties Join Search

The famous Royal Canadian mounted police joined with provincial authorities and municipal forces in seeking clues.

The territory between Sarnia and London, the route on which Labatt disappeared yesterday morning, was searched thoroughly by police and volunteers.

A representative of the family said that, ignoring the warning that Labatt would be killed if police were informed, they notified not only Canadian authorities, but also asked the aid of the United States department of justice and Detroit police.

Further details about the note which was left in Labatt's car when it was abandoned here revealed that on the back of the communication was a penciled notation supposed to have been written by John Labatt, naming Hugh as go-between.

Fugitive Back In Death Cell

"Same Durn Scenery," States Palmer As He Is Returned To Huntsville; Faces Death In A Few Weeks

(By The Associated Press)

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 15—Shackled and closely guarded, Joe Palmer was brought back from Paducah, Ky., today and locked in the same death cell from which he escaped July 22 in Texas' most spectacular prison break.

"Same durn scenery," the condemned gunman muttered as the cell door clanged shut behind him. Palmer, who twice this year escaped prison but has been unable to evade recapture, will be electrocuted late in November, or in December, for the shooting of a prison guard.

Sentenced In Slaying

The sharp faced, beady-eyed desperado was sentenced to death for the slaying of Major Crowson, guard at Eastham state prison farm, in a bloody break there Jan. 16. He was retaken and, while in the state penitentiary here awaiting execution, participated in the July escape.

Today, he was brought by train as far as Dallas, loaded in an automobile in the railroad yards and rushed back to the penitentiary here. Bud Russell, the prison agent who returned him, said Palmer maintained a sullen silence on the trip. Lee Simmons, superintendent of the Texas prison system, met them at Dallas and escorted them into Huntsville.

"Yes, I'm back," said Palmer as Warden W. W. Waid greeted him. Then the convict lapsed into silence as he was marched to his old cell.

Curtailment Of Feeding And Herd Reduction Recommended

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. —(AP)—Reduction of livestock herds and curtailment of feeding operations were recommended by the agriculture department today to offset dwindling supplies of feed resulting from drouth conditions.

The department's report said "there is yet no way to determine exactly the extent to which the various kinds of livestock will be affected but some rough approximations serve to show the very great changes that will have to be made to reduce feed consumption to the supplies in sight."

SIGN CONTRACTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (AP) — The federal housing administration announced tonight that 1,131 banks, with total resources of over eight billion dollars, had signed contracts to make loans for property improvements and repairs.

Another Big Step Toward A Full-Strength Navy Taken

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (AP)—Another big step toward a full treaty strength fleet was taken today when the navy department received bids for the construction of twelve warships from thirteen shipbuilding companies.

Twelve more vessels in the new construction program are to be built in many yards but the awards are not to be made until the fall.

Bids, opened today by Secretary Swanson in the presence of the high commanding admirals, showed a sharp increase in the anticipated costs due to higher labor and material costs. Indications were the total cost for the program expected to be around $50,000,000 would be jumped to between $60,000,000 and $65,000,000.

Peaceful Settlement Looms; Fruit Peddler To Be Moved

BRECKENRIDGE, Aug. 15. (AP)—A peaceful settlement of the controversy which arose when J. W. Roman, a vegetable peddler, refused to move from the site of Breckenridge's new postoffice, was in sight tonight, Sheriff J. W. Morrow having arranged to move Roman's stand to another lot.

Midnight tonight is the legal time limit allowed under a writ of illegal entry and detainer obtained by the government in a legal action instituted to force Roman to leave the site. Roman has given no indication he will post bond to make a trial necessary and has intimated to the sheriff he will quietly submit to being moved.

BLACK RESIGNS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (AP) — Eugene R. Black today resigned as governor of the federal reserve board and assumed the job of interpreter between the nation's banks and its government.

His resignation was accepted by President Roosevelt with the statement that "I am glad you are undertaking a new and important task."

State Leader Paid Tribute At Convention

Annual Banquet Of Texas Baby Chick Association Is Held Last Night; Demke Again Is Chosen President

Will Close Today

Discussions On Hatchery Code Will Feature Today's Sessions; Next Convention City Will Be Selected

MEMBERS of the Texas Baby Chick association climaxed their annual banquet last night by paying a tribute to President A. H. Demke of Stephenville, presenting him with a fine wrist watch and announcing his re-election as head of the association for another year. The banquet was held in Hotel Lubbock and was attended by approximately 200 members of the association.

Mrs. T. J. Clark of Gainesville was re-elected secretary-treasurer by the board of directors. C. G. Schlettinger of Weimar was named vice president and H. H. Drumm of Brenham, International Baby Chick association director. Women members of the association presented Mrs. Clark with a desk set.

Full Day's Program

The banquet closed a full day's program of discussions on technical problems pertaining to the poultry raising and hatchery industries.

Discussions on the hatchery code by Berley Winton, Kansas City, senior marketing expert of the AAA and J. A. Hannah, also of Kansas City, president of the International Baby Check association will feature today's sessions. Roundtable discussion of power bills and a proposed egg grading law for Texas will also be held today.

W. F. Munnerlyn of the Texas A. & M. staff presided over last night's banquet as toastmaster. Music was furnished by Jimmie Thornhill's orchestra during the meal and selections on the evening program included dances by Miss Nancy Favor; accordion duet numbers by Misses Louise Garrison and Willette Waters; "The Man With the Musical Nose" by Geo. Meiser; Indian club stunt by Paul Silvey; instrumental and vocal numbers by radio entertainers and a humorous talk by Mr. Schlettinger.

Appointment Announced

Dr. D. H. Reid, head of the poultry department of A. & M., called on various hatcherymen from over the state for testimonials on Mr. Demke's tenure of office as president and J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, announced the appointment of Mr. Demke as "honorary advisor for the state department of agriculture." J. A. Hannah, president of the international

This map, prepared by the United States department of agriculture, gives an indication at a glance of the extent to which ravages of the drouth have made themselves felt in almost all parts of the country. Crop losses have been so severe in large farming areas that Secretary Wallace has announced there probably will be a lessening of crop restrictions next year.

Kingfish Smiles Broadly As Obedient Solons Order Probe In New Orleans

Action Described As Similar To That In New York

(By The Associated Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 15.—Senator Huey P. Long smiled broadly today as his obedient legislators adopted a resolution to investigate the officialdom of New Orleans.

The action of the special house session was described as similar to the New York City investigation by Samuel Seabury, which resulted in the resignation of Mayor James J. Walker. It was aimed at Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans, bitter enemy of Long since his old regular organization defeated the senator's candidates at the January election.

Procedure Changed

The house quickly voted to change its methods of procedure to speed action on what anti-administrationists describe as a number of "spite" bills against New Orleans.

The rules were suspended, and all measures were sent pell mell to one committee which met immediately to report them out for third reading at a night session. The spectacular procedure will permit final passage of all the legislation tomorrow morning.

The senate, where Long holds a comfortable majority, met for a short time and adjourned, waiting to act on measures passed by the house.

Regulars Overwhelmed

Walmsley's old regular members of the legislature fought biterly against the steamroller tactics, but

Two Brothers Are Seriously Injured In Auto Accident

ALPINE, Aug. 15. (AP) — Two brothers, Louis and Leo Domb of San Francisco, were critically injured, Leo probably fatally, when their automobile crashed into an embankment near a highway west of here late today.

The unconscious men were taken from their machine by two Alpine residents and rushed to a hospital. Their car bore a Florida license plate.

Two-Day Reunion Of Old Settlers Of West Texas Expected To Draw Crowd Of 15,000; Big Program Is Planned

(By Staff Correspondent)

CROSBYTON, Aug. 15—Honoring the first man to build a permanent residence on the South Plains of Texas, the ninth annual West Texas Old Settlers association picnic will be held at the Hank Smith rock house, ten miles north of here, Thursday and Friday.

It was this same house that Hank Smith built in the late 70's, the first structure other than a tent to be set up in this vast area.

Born In Germany

Uncle Hank was born in Germany August 15, 1836 and today was the 98th anniversary of his birth. He came as a lad to America, settled in Northern Ohio, came west, became a wagon train driver, went to California, fought Indians in Arizona and served in the United States army during the Civil war.

After the war he came to Texas, secured a government hay contract at old Fort Griffin and then came to the South Plains to build a mammoth buffalo hunting project for a wealthy Pennsylvania young man who went broke.

Secures Rock House

Out of the work he had done for this youth, named Tasker, Mr. Smith secured the old rock house, then unfinished. It was started about 1877 or 1878 and while building it, workmen lived in a dugout a few hundred yards away.

Here the Smith family grew to manhood and womanhood. Uncle Hank and his wife were the counselors and advisors of all new-comers to this section for a generation. The cowboys got their mail at the postoffice where Mrs. Smith was postmistress. They all knew the family and were attached to them.

During all the years Mr. and Mrs. Smith lived at the rock house, they participated in community affairs and did much towards the building of this section.

Some nine years ago it was de-

Changes Loom In NRA Units

Blue Eagle Board Of Directors To Supplant One Man's Control Is Envisioned By Hugh Johnson

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—A blue eagle board of directors supplanting his one-man control and a special agency for harmonizing code-rule with anti-trust laws were envisioned by Hugh S. Johnson today as essential for the NRA of tomorrow.

In this picture his own colorful blossom of coded industry would diminish, if not vanish altogether.

Might Be Chairman

"If the president wants me to," Johnson said, "I might act as chairman of this board if it was part time, but I couldn't give full time."

But he added with a chuckle, "I'm not trying to save a place for myself."

Johnson was in good spirits as he discussed NRA problems with the press for the first time since his yestern trip.

He saw the new organization as possible of fulfillment "within two or three months," and said the plan then would be recommended to congress for permanent enactment. The law which created NRA expires next June.

Future Discussed

Just now, the subject of NRA'S future is being worked out by Johnson and Donald Richberg, emergency council director, for presentation to the president.

Richberg is giving particular atten to reconciling NRA with anti-trust laws. A return to anti-trust principals has figured prominently in demand of NRA critics, including Senators Borah (R. IDA.) and Nye

Scientists Go Down More Than Half Mile In Ocean

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 15. (AP) — Dr. William Beebe and Otis Barton, American scientists, spent five minutes at a depth of more than half a mile under the ocean surface today, achieving a new record for deep sea diving in their two-ton "bathysphere."

The Americans reached a depth of 3,028 feet, bettering their record of last Saturday by 518 feet and their goal of half a mile by 334.

Federal Cash Is Allotted To Texas For August Work

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (AP)—The relief administration announced today grants of $6,193,400 to Ohio and $1,400,000 to Texas for August relief.

The Texas allotment was divided as follows: $400,000 for additional drouth relief and $1,000,000 for handling and processing of cattle.

Pioneers Of Lubbock And The South Plains Hold Annual Gathering Today

WHEN the old timers of Lubbock and the South Plains meet this afternoon at Shannon park, under the grove of trees by the lake, early days in this area of a third of a century or more ago will be recalled.

The program is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock and about 6 there will be a basket picnic supper with each family group bringing enough food for its own use. After that, it is up to each group to decide whether to go home or remain and talk some more.

No set program has been arranged. The old timers will gather and recall the days when there was not so much to talk about as there is now. Old timers are classed as those who came to this section during or prior to 1900.

Families are invited, especially those where the father or mother has passed on.

Numerous former residents here, and others, have sent word they plan to attend. Many from other counties are expected, as well as those in Lubbock county.

During the afternoon officers for the Lubbock County Pioneer's association will be named. D. E. Meredith is president and Mrs. P. B. Penney is secretary-treasurer.

"In other years," George R. Bean, one of the association members said last night, "the affair has been held up on the caprock. This year it will be down below."

Police Report Victim's Body Not Identified

Tentative Identification Of Shooting Victim As "Pretty Boy" Floyd Rumored But Is Declared False

Woman Released

One Of Suspects Is An Ex-Convict From Hale County And Second Man Says Home Is In Earth

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Aug. 15.—Two suspects, one an ex-convict, in the slaying late Tuesday of an unidentified man near Shamrock are held here.

The two men, traveling with a woman in a maroon late model coach answering the description of the car seen leaving the scene of the shooting, were arrested near Canyon.

Gun Found In Car

In the car officers found a .32 caliber automatic pistol and four clips of cartridges, a large canvas apparently blood-stained and a set of Texas license plates.

A single license plate, identified as stolen since Tuesday noon from a woman's car in Childress, was attached to their car.

Both men, questioned at great length, deny any knowledge of the shooting.

Amarillo police, officers of Potter and Randall counties, and a department of justice agent are conducting the investigation.

Body Unidentified

Meanwhile, officers at Shamrock are attempting to lift the veil of mystery from the identity of the victim, slain by hitch-hikers who took his car, or by gangsters who took the man for a ride.

Tentative identification of the victim as "Pretty Boy" Floyd, was rumored today at police headquarters, but fingerprint classifications made by Deputy Sheriff Walter Davis at Shamrock do not tally with Floyd's prints.

The two suspects were taken into custody when they gave conflicting accounts to state highway patrolmen.

Ownership Established

Ownership of the car in which they were traveling was established, but neither suspect would admit knowledge of the stolen license plate found on the car, which was purchased in Plainview.

One of the suspects has served two years in the state penitentiary at Huntsville for burglary in Hale county.

The other suspect told officers his home is in Earth, Texas.

Both answer descriptions given by the only eye-witness to the shooting, officers claim.

Conflicting Accounts

As the questioning progressed this afternoon, the two men continued to give conflicting accounts of their whereabouts.

A woman, who posed as the wife of one suspect, was not held.

W. H. Duke, a farmer about 12 miles west of Shamrock was the

Johnson Sounds Relief Warning

AUSTIN, Aug. 15. (AP)—Texas relief clients were instructed "to vote for whomever you please," and relief employes warned not to take sides politically today by Adam Johnson, Texas relief director.

A general order for political neutrality in runoff campaigns was issued after the national emergency council at Washington notified Johnson they had received complaints of political activity in Texas relief.

"Politics has no place in the Texas relief organization, and no man need sell his birthright for a mess of pottage," Johnson said.

"The relief commission granted me authority to suspend any employe taking sides in campaigns and I intend to exercise this authority if the occasion demands."

Two Distinguished Families United By Marriage Of Pair

WOODSTOCK, Vt., Aug. 15. (AP)—Two of America's most distinguished families were united today when Miss Mary French, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John French of Greenwich, Conn., and New York, became the bride of Laurance Spelman Rockefeller of New York, son of John D. Rockefeller, jr., and grandson of the founder of the Standard Oil empire.

A gathering of more than 300 filled the quaint Congregational church, simply decorated with green ferns. Rev. Herbert Hines officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

OUR dislike for "Little Benny" of Evening Journal comic strip fame was increased when we saw his clever little stunt in Sunday's paper. Picking up a woman's purse Benny instantly threw it away when he saw the initials "M. T." on it. Well, we'll have L. B. know that those are our initials and our purse is not empty. Furthermore our head isn't as empty as his!

On Friday night week, August 24, Lubbock's first version of a Hollywood premiere will be staged in front of the Palace theater. C. B. (Brownie) Akers, famous locally for his yard-wide grin and after dinner speeches, will officiate as master of ceremonies.

Perhaps you've never seen a Hollywood premiere but you've read of them. Sid Grauman stages them in front of his Chinese theater in Hollywood and all the stars come decked in their finest. They have an opportunity to speak a few words to their "dear public" and retire in a flood of vari-colored lights. By the applause they can tell just how much favor they have with their public.

Brownie is planning just such a show for Lubbock but on much more simple lines. Already a number of prominent persons have been selected as cinema star impersonators to appear at the premiere but others are needed. Those entering will be given a chance to do a little skit, dance or sing in impersonation of their chosen star.

POACHERS BLAST FISH

CORK, (AP)—Slaughter of fish in Irish rivers by poachers using high explosives has become so great that special police have been assigned to protective duty and arms have been given to bailiffs. The latter were compelled to turn in their weapons a year ago as part of a law and order drive.

Local Youngster Gets Mail In Early For Santa Claus

Determined to be the first youngster to write Santa Clause, Donnie Sanders addressed a letter to the patron saint of the children and mailed it to him at the North Pole. There was no return address and the purple lithographic stamp to carry it to its destination was lacking.

"Please bring me a car," Donnie asked in the letter, along with many other lines of childish scribble that Santa alone can read.

An Unusual Suit For Fall

This unusual fall suit, designed by Nettie Rosenstein, features a red and gray plaid jacket of a woven material that resembles the hand-hooked rugs. The skirt and gloves are of soft gray wool. The jacket material gives to each curve of the figure but doesn't stretch.

They Get Their Regular Exercise

Lubbock Postmen Don't Have To Walk To And From Work To Get In Their "Daily Dozen;" They Get Plenty On Job

Lubbock postmen don't have to walk to and from work to get their daily exercise. Their work includes about six hours of walking each day.

Without the dozens of extra miles added by crossing back and forth across the street, going from the sidewalk to the mail boxes and back and climbing stairs, seventy-seven miles are covered by the ten postmen daily. The mileage would be almost doubled by this extra walking.

Shortest Of Ten

A route which includes fourteen blocks in the business section, covered by postman number one three times daily, is the shortest of the ten. Even this is not considered an easy route for there is a great deal more mail to be delivered in the business section and numbers of stairs to be climbed. Also, during June the average amount of mail carried daily by the two postmen in the business section was 164 pounds.

No postman is allowed to carry more than 50 pounds of mail at one time, but they carry more than this during the day for they make the routes more than once and they pick up mail from the storage boxes from time to time. The average carried daily by each postman in the residential section during June was 107 pounds. Postman number seven carried a total of 229 pounds during one day.

Average Deliveries

During June the average number of pieces of mail delivered in the business section was 1312 and in the residential section it was 798.

The longest route includes 84 blocks near the edge of the residential section. Although the postman on this route has more walking to do, he has less mail to deliver.

If a route begins more than half a mile away from the postoffice, the postman has to be taken to its beginning. There are only three which begin that far away. Most of them start near the office and end quite a distance away and the postmen ride back.

Twice each year the superintendent of routes walks around with each of the postmen and makes any revisions necessary in the division of routes.

There are three substitute carriers.

"It is not easy for anyone to begin walking the required number of miles and carrying the mail," the superintendent of routes said. "It is a matter of becoming accustomed to it."

Bula High School Folk Are Home From Summer Tour

Sixty Bula High school students, teachers, P. O. Smith, superintendent, and a few patrons returned late Tuesday afternoon from a bus tour of New Mexico and parts of Colorado. Bula is 20 miles west of Littlefield.

The itinerary included visits to Santa Fe, Las Vegas, Taos, Montezuma, Cimarron canyon and San Juan pueblo.

Misses Helen Jackson and Corene Ratliff and Miss Esther Mae Smith of Sudan, teachers, and Mr. and Mrs. Smith accompanied the students. A similiar trip has been planned for next summer. The group went in school buses.

Mr. Pearce who has been with the company for 18 years will start in his new position Monday, August 20 at the home office in Abilene. There are thirteen wholesale units throughout West and North Texas. In most of the towns, as in Lubbock, Red & White food products are handled.

Well-Known Jurist Speaks For Hunter At Big Reunion

Judge John C. Kay, Wichita Falls, well-known jurist and long a personal friend of Tom Hunter, candidate for governor, will speak on Mr. Hunter's behalf at the West Texas Old Settlers reunion at Crosbyton, Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, W. P. Soash, secretary of the South Plains Hunter-for-Governor club, announced last night.

A delegation of Hunter supporters will accompany Judge Kay to Crosbyton and the state park in Blanco canyon.

Jacobs Recovers To Win Way To Quarter-Finals In Women's National Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 15. (AP)—Seven seeded stars—two from Great Britain—and one non-seeded player survived the third round of the 47th Women's National tennis championship today. Champion Helen Jacobs staged a courageous comeback to stave off elimination.

Completely out-stroked and outmaneuvered in the first set, Miss Jacobs applied the pressure mercilessly in the following two sets and disposed of Mrs. Mary Greef Harris of Kansas City, a former first ten luminary, 5-7, 6-2, 6-2.

With Miss Jacobs in gaining the quarter-final round were three other first ten ranking Americans, Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass., Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles, and Baroness Maude Levi of Minden, Nev., who scored the biggest upset of the tournament yesterday when she vanquished Betty Nuthall, the former British holder of the title, in straight sets.

Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and the veteran Elizabeth Ryan, who was born in California but lives in England, advanced to the round of eight along with Freda James and Katherine Stammers of England.

Lawyer Beaten To Block Sale

Bidder At Tax Sale Severely Beaten By Group Of Farmers In Missouri; Victim Tells Of Threats

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., Aug. 15. (AP)—Charles L. Waugh, St. Louis attorney for a committee of holders of drainage district bonds, was beaten severely today by a group of farmers gathered here for a tax sale.

Waugh said he was attacked by a group of men in the hall of the Pemiscot county courthouse after being asked if he intended to bid on tax sales scheduled to be held today by Sheriff S. E. Juden. Four stitches were necessary to close several wounds in Waugh's head, but his condition was not serious.

Threats Made

"If you go on with this you are going to get the——beat out of you," Waugh said he was informed by one of the men.

The attorney related that he had been in Sheriff Juden's office on the first floor of the building and was accosted as he sought to follow the sheriff to a courtroom on the third floor.

Sales of 15 farms were scheduled today to satisfy judgments obtained by drainage districts against the owners of the properties for nonpayment of taxes.

Waugh said Sheriff Juden asked him after the attack if he could identify his attackers. The attorney explained he did not see his assailants among the 150 or 200 men then in the courthouse but thought he could identify them.

Capitol Chatter From Austin

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Aug. 15. (AP)—What percentage of his support a candidate defeated in the first primary can swing to one of the participants in the runoff is a topic for major speculation in political circles these days.

The outcome of the approaching runoff between James V. Allred, attorney general, and Tom F. Hunter for the Democratic nomination for governor will depend on the votes of those who backed unsuccessful candidates.

An analysis of the official tabulation issued by the state Democratic executive committee on the first primary showed that Hunter and Allred accounted for approximately 54 per cent of the total vote. Allred received about 30 per cent and Hunter 24.

This leaves 46 per cent scattered between the four unsuccessful contestants. Allred must obtain approximately 21 per cent of the total scattered vote to win and Hunter approximately 27 per cent.

C. C. McDonald, who polled about 20 per cent of the vote, has announced he would actively support Hunter. Clint Small, who ran fourth, has said he personally would vote for Hunter but would take no hand in the election.

Neither Edgar Witt, who was fifth, nor Maury Hughes, who trailed the field, have indicated a preference and are not expected to attempt to influence the choice of their supporters in the runoff.

McDonald, instead of advising his adherents how they should vote announced he would follow their decision as expressed by a poll. The poll showed Hunter to be a favorite in the McDonald camp and McDonald forthwith girded himself for the fray in behalf of Hunter.

How many of the McDonald-Ferguson votes will go to Hunter is a question to which the political prophets would like to know the answer. They also would like to be informed what effect Small's noncommittal attitude will have on the Amarillo senator's followers and the preferences of those who followed Witt's and Hughes' banners.

Hughes apparently took his defeat good naturedly. Shortly after the returns showed he was last and Witt was fifth he called Witt's campaign headquarters and joked about keeping Witt out of last place.

MEASURE EXPORTS

WARSAW. (AP)—The number of Polish tourists to Yugoslavia is measuring the amount of goods exportable to that country. Softball Clubs Invited To Play In Tourney Here

Sixteen players to the team, and no limit on the number of teams. A pot of gold to the winner, a lesser purse to the runner up, a portion to the third place winner. Two or more games daily. The softball championship of the South Plains at stake.

That's the outline for the first softball tournament ever conducted here, scheduled to begin next Monday afternoon, to continue through the week or as long as the entry list demands.

With eight or a dozen teams already entered, either directly or conditionally, and about twice that number expected to enter, the tournament is practically assured. It is open to all teams of the South Plains.

Deadline on entries is noon Saturday, August 18. Play will begin at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon if interest continues as it has for the past month or so.

An entrance fee of $4 will be expected from each team at the time of entry. The "gate" will go into a separate fund for prize money.

Teams may register at the Avalanche-Journal or the J. and J. Sporting Goods store.

Fourteen Softball Teams To Play In State Tournament

AUSTIN, Aug. 15. (AP)—Fourteen soft ball teams were registered today for competition in the second annual state tournament of the Texas Amateur Athletic federation here Friday and Saturday.

Teams entered were from San Antonio, Waco, Beaumont, Port Arthur (two teams), Randolph Field, Houston, Commerce, Yoakum, Luling, Georgetown and Austin (two teams).

Competition for the title won last year by an Austin team in a tournament at San Antonio was expected to be keen.

James Garrison, Austin recreational director, said other teams expected to enter were from San Angelo, Fort Worth and the Rio Grande valley league.

cided to hold a reunion on Uncle Hank's birthday anniversary, to honor his memory as a pioneer. An association was formed, with a group of directors from all sections of this part of the state.

This is the ninth annual reunion. It will be held on the old grounds, within sight of the rock house in a grove in a park that is a state park.

A carnival company has been secured for the two days. There will be roller skating in the afternoon and dancing at night, talks by the old timers and others, genuine old fashioned barbecue from a chuckwagon. Johnny Parker is in charge of the barbecue.

Only Two Speakers

There will be only two speakers, Mrs. Lon V. Smith, Floydada, a pioneer woman and Judge Clark M. Mullican, Lubbock. Mrs. Smith speaks Thursday afternoon and Judge Mullican Friday at 2:30.

Besides these there will be short talks by old timers and a general reunion of early day residents.

J. B. Jenkins, Floydada business man, is president; R. B. "Uncle Bob" Smith, Mount Blanco, vice-president; Will F. Ezell, Crosbyton, secretary, and W. T. Dunn, Crosbyton, treasurer.

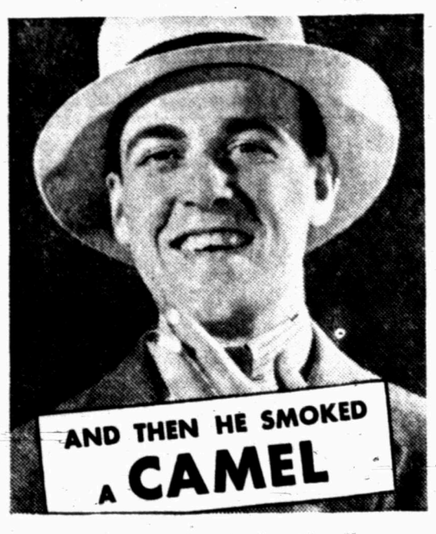

A crowd of 15,000 is expected this year, according to Mr. Smith. There will be no political speaking, as previously planned. Judge Mullican will address the old timers on early day events.

Yanks End Detroit Streak With 8 To 2 Win; Giants Divide With Pittsburgh

Johnny Broaca Helps Yankees Reduce Margin

Freshman Hurler Keeps Blows Well Scattered; Athletics Win Double Bill Over White Sox In Philadelphia

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP) — The Yankees ended Detroit's 14 game winning streak and reduced the Tigers' American League lead to 5 1-2 games today as they won the third game of their "crucial" series 8 to 2 behind the fine pitching of Johnny Broaca.

The "freshman" right hander from Yale granted ten hits but he scattered them so effectively that the Tigers were blanketed in every inning but the sixth. The Yanks drove Tommy Bridges to cover in five innings and continued against Carl Fischer and Luke Hamlin. They scored against all three Tiger hurlers, getting to Bridges for five runs and six hits before he retired.

McShain Must Wait Another Day To Win A Match For Wife; Webber Too Much In Spirited Main Event Here

Detton And Clingman Thrill Crowd In No-Fall Bout

Maybe this Vic Webber, New York's gift to Southwestern wrestling, deserves a chance at the title after all. Maybe so.

He whipped Danny McShain last night in straight falls—the second and third. And Mr. McShain was wrestling. Wrestling like he never wrestled before. Wrestling for his new bride. And for the huge crowd of fans who stood by without so much as a whisper during the impressive ceremony.

Just when it looked like McShain, who was seen in a new light last night, was going to wrap Mr. Webber up in everything but cellophane and toss him at his bride's feet for a nuptial trophy, the tide suddenly turned, and Webber turned on the heat with it.

McShain went down under a fierce slugging, rabbit-punching, jaw-cracking attack as fast as he could get up, then he hoisted Webber for a spin. It went haywire, somehow. He landed on the bottom, spread-eagled, and Webber fell on with a smother for the third and decisive fall.

Wins First Fall

It must have been a great disappointment to McShain, who really tried hard. For the first time in his career here, he acted the perfect gentleman—well, nearly a gentleman. He laid aside his villainous role and executed legal holds and slams that fans doubted he possessed in his repertoire. He was the fans favorite, all right. He took the first fall 30 minutes after he had stepped from the ring with quaking knees and a bride on his arm, and it looked like he was ready to go.

Withholding his deadly drop-kick until late in the fall, McShain caught Webber under the chin with it a few times, slammed him and smothered for the first fall in 18 minutes.

In the dressing room, pacing nervously up and down, he declared 'it wouldn't last long. One more fall, and he'd march triumphant out of the packed Auditorium—with Mrs. McShain.

But it didn't work just like that. Webber, slightly heavier, probably more settled, tore into McShain with fists, feet and everything but the time-keeper's hammer. McShain tried to keep it clean, and they both absorbed a lot of legal punishment. They came out of Indian stake holds. Danny by scheming and Webber via the ropes. A barrage of rabbit punches and straight rights to the jaw followed by a slam, brought Webber the second fall in 19 minutes.

The last fall was over in four minutes. They spun each other about, McShain doing a neat airplane, but falling the wrong way.

Webber, too, put on his best local fight. He scrammed for the ropes to come out of punishing holds, and received a lot of verbal vegetables for his pains. But he was the best man last night, even if Dory Detton did act in that capacity a few minutes earlier.

They Greet Detton

And speaking of Detton! The patrons yelled their pleasure at the Utah Mormon's return, and then never let up their yelling for the full 30 minutes that he and Otis Clingman grappled in the stirring semi-final. Folks said it was the best match they'd ever seen, unless it was Clingman's and Detton's main event last spring.

From start to finish they put out everything they had to make it a highly entertaining contest. Clean and strictly legitimate all the way, it was truly a superb bit of wrestling.

For every trick one of them had, the other had a block for it. They exchanged all kinds of holds, nearly, in a fast exhibition of wrestling as laid down by the code and desired by the fans.

A better matched pair rarely hits the ring, and when it happens it's an event, not a common wrestling match. They tied each other up with grapevines and toe-holds that looked like a pretzel twister's nightmare. Quick as lightning they would break away, and have at it again. It looked like six of one and half a dozen of the other, so smoothly and evenly did they oppose each other.

Mackey Is Winner

Cyclone Mackey, scrapping veteran from Clovis, applied a fast whirling spin, a slam and a smother to pin Doug Henderson, classy little welterweight from Dallas, in 14 minutes of their scheduled 20-minute prelim. It was a fair fight.

And Take It From Danny, Marrying Is Harder On The Nerves Than Mat Groveling; Wedding Is Impressive

BY MARGARET TURNER
Woman's Editor

"And so they were married—"

As handsome an Irishman as ever leaped through the ropes of the wrestling ring, Daniel W. McShain of Seattle, Wash., and a petite brown-eyed girl of the Plains, Miss Irene Rosetta Adair of Pampa, took the marriage vows Wednesday evening before a strange altar — improvised in the ring at Sled Allen's Auditorium.

The whole town had been invited and about 1,800 turned out. Fearing the enthusiastic guests would throw raspberries instead of orchids, Durwood Bradley requested them to remember that they were ladies and gentlemen. They did and how! You could have heard a pin drop so quiet was the house.

The Dettons And Dutch

Mrs. J. B. Galland played the universal strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin. Two tiny flower girls, Mary Lou Jones and Beverly June Fanning, both dressed in pale pink, were the first to walk up the steps. Then came Danny, dressed in white flannels and dark coat, accompanied by Dory Detton of Salt Lake City, who would have officiated as best man if Dutch Mantell had not hogged the whole show. Dory wore gray flannels and dark coat.

Mrs. Dory Detton, wearing a blue and white sports dress and carrying purple dahlias, was matron of honor. Last came the bride, lovely in a white Chinese crepe suit with corresponding accessories. Her bouquet was pale pink roses. She was accompanied by Dutch Mantell of Amarillo, who gave her away.

Will He Obey

The Rev. A. W. Gordon, minister of Asbury Methodist church, performed the ceremony. Danny's vows were spoken in an inaudible voice and the bride didn't have to say "obey." In fact the reading of the vows did not take as much time as the fade-out kiss that Alfred Alvert Joseph de le Reguardia, (Dutch Mantell to you), bestowed on the bride the minute that the amen was said. Then Danny kissed her and the recessional was in order.

Mrs. McShain was proudly displaying her white and yellow gold wedding ring set with tiny diamonds in the interval that Danny dressed for his bout. It matched an engagement ring that Danny had given her several weeks ago. She is an enthusiastic ring worm, and cheered lustily for her groom in the main bout last night. She met her husband when he first came to Pampa to wrestle.

Danny has attended the University of Washington, where he won acclaim as a wrestler. He is typically Irish. Gray-green eyes are set under a curly mop of dark brown curly hair.

The newlyweds remained here Wednesday night. Today they are to leave for Amarillo, where they will be at home for several weeks.

There will be no tournament golf for Johnny Fischer, U. S. Walker cup player, until the National amateur at Brookline, Mass. He lost 14 pounds playing in Britain this summer.

Lord Jim Winner Hambletonian And $25,000 In Cash

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—L. E. Mefford's Lord Jim of Columbus, Ohio, driven by Hugh Parshall, today won the $25,000 Hambletonian before a crowd of 35,000, winning the fourth and final heat after capturing the second mile. Muscletone from C. B. Shaffer's Cold Stream stud, of Lexington, victor in the third heat, was second and Princess Peg, owned by the Lyle brothers of Plainfield, N. J., third.

Trotting the final mile in 2:04 1-4, Lord Jim captured the winner's purse of $14,506.81 after dividing the first three heats with Muscletone and Princess Peg.

The Guy Axworthy colt finished with two lengths to spare while Muscletone closed fast to beat Princess Peg a length for the place.

Auto Parts Team Wins Pennant In Softball League

The Quicksall-Pryor auto parts team became undisputed champion of the local "American" softball league yesterday when it defeated McIlhaney's Creamery, 8 to 6, in the final of a three-game play-off series.

The auto parts team won the first game, 13 to 7, Monday, and lost a 10 to 7 decision Tuesday.

Quicksall-Pryor will meet the Swift & Company team, winners of both halves of the "National" league pennant chase, in a "little world series" for the softball championship of Lubbock in a series probably beginning today.

All three of the teams probably will enter the softball tournament beginning next Monday at College Avenue park. Official entry of Swift & Company was received yesterday.

Yesterday's lineups:

McIlhaney's—Branch, 1b; Crawford, lf; Nichols, c; Bailey, 1ss; Roberts, 3b; Kyle, 2b; Elliott, cf; Long, p; Scoggins, rf; Murdock, rss.

Quicksall-Pryor—Scott, rss; Bernhardt, 3b; Lawson, 2b; Allen, lss; Price, p; Barton, c; Tracey, 1b; Pipkin, rf; L. Blagg, cf; D. Blagg, lf.

Kyle hit two home runs for the losers, and Price banged one for the auto parts club.

Shields Throws Bombshell Into Newport Tournament By Defaulting All Matches

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 15. (AP)—A bombshell in the form of the default of the defending champion, Francis X. Shields, today stunned the Newport Casino tennis field into comparative idleness.

News of the withdrawal of the country's first ranking player cast such a blight on the program that only three singles matches and 12 doubles competitions were decided.

Shields' default was due to a leg injury, suffered in England and aggravated on shipboard. However, it did not prevent him from keeping his doubles engagement. J. Gilbert Hall of New York, the only unseeded player remaining in the quest for the singles' title, slipped into the quarter finals round by the default. There he will meet Frankie Parker, of Spring Lake, N. J.

Bijan "Bitsy" Grant of Atlanta, the new national clay court champion, gained a bracket on the field and the first place in the semi-finals with a five set victory over the higher ranked Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J., 6-3, 6-4, 4-6, 5-7, 6-2.

Next Step Up To Dizzy And Paul, Who Don't Take Trip

Still Thinking Cards Need Them, Dean Rebels Remain Aloof But In Camp; Bosses Make No Advances

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15.—The fined and suspended Dean brothers, Dizzy and Paul, stood by tonight for an S O S from the Cardinals.

Instead of departing on an announced fishing trip to Florida, Dizzy and Paul remained in St. Louis, confident that the Cardinals cannot get along without them.

But Sam Breadon, club president, insisted he would have no honeyed words for the brilliant young pitchers.

"The next move is up to the Deans," Breadon insisted, adding that he would stand squarely behind Manager Frankie Frisch and make no advances to the "rebels."

An Expensive Temper

The brothers went to the Cardinal office today for their semi-monthly pay checks and Dizzy received another shock when he found he also had been penalized $36 as the cost of two uniforms he is said to have destroyed yesterday when Manager Frisch informed him he had been fined $100 and suspended.

"I don't think that was nice," Dizzy said. "I was mad and lost my temper when I tore the uniforms but they weren't destroyed. They could have been mended."

The fines resulted fro mthe failure of the Deans to accompany the Cardinals to Detroit for an exhibition game Monday and the suspensions followed a row with Frisch when the manager told them of the fines.

Club officials have announced that the pitchers can return to active duty whenever they are ready to accept club rules and discipline, but that the fines will stand.

Maurice McCarthy, former Walker Cup golfer, lost no time in introducing himself to Ohio's golfing fraternity. Moving to Cleveland last year, he won the Ohio Amateur Championship the first time he tried.

South Plains Golf Players To Enter Annual Tourney

The South Plains Invitation tournament, an annual one-day fixture at Meadowbrook Golf club here, promises to be one of the largest events of its kind next Sunday when out of town players vie with locals in the medal play contest.

Thirty-six holes of golf—eighteen in the morning and eighteen in the afternoon—will constitute the tournament.

The morning round will go as the qualifying score, determining into which flight players will fall for the afternoon round. Afternoon scores will be added to the morning total for a grand total to determine winners.

Flights will be arranged at noon, and there will be as many flights as the entry list justifies. Tournament officials have announced that the difference in strokes within a flight will not be so great as to make it impossible for any player to win.

Prizes will be given to winners of each flight.

Members of the South Plains league, which recently concluded its 1933 season, are especially invited to enter the tournament, but the field is not limited to them. All players anywhere on the South Plains are invited to participate. Invitations have been mailed to golfing leaders in every town of the section, but those who do not receive written invitations are urged not to feel slighted. There will be room and entertainment for all.

Play will begin at any time Sunday morning, in time for 18 holes before noon.

Contract Form Gets Approval

Purchasers And Sellers Are Required To Follow Regulations In East Texas; Hot Oil Is Barred

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (AP)—Approval of a contract form to be used by purchasers and sellers of gasoline in the East Texas area to cover supplies from current production was announced today by Oil Administrator Ickes.

Ickes recently approved a form of contract to apply to purchases of gasoline in storage. Both forms are part of the oil administration's program for balancing the supply of gasoline and crude oil to needs of consumption and are intended to alleviate distressing market conditions through the purchase of surplus quantities.

Hot Oil Barred

Both require the seller not to purchase or process "hot" crude oil produced in excess of legal allowable, or produce gasoline in excess of allowable gasoline.

In recommending the new contract for current production of gasoline, the petroleum administrative board advised Ickes a substantial group of refiners, now party to a court action attacking the oil code, had declined to enter into contracts under the first form.

The refiners, the board contended, feared they might prejudice their legal position in the pending litigation because the first form requires the signature of Administrator Ickes as a party to the contract. The new form omits that provision. It requires, instead, that the contract shall be filed with the petroleum administrative board within ten days after execution by the seller and purchaser.

Leaders of the industry, the planning and co-ordination committee and the board advised Ickes a contract of this form should be authorized to enable the purchasing of production in the East Texas area which tended toward unsettled gasoline marketing conditions.

The department of justice held the form of contract was not contrary to the anti-trust laws.

Raging Forest Fires Defy All Efforts To Block Them

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 15. (AP)—Great clouds of smoke from several sections of central Idaho and from the Jackson Hole country of Wyoming indicated today that raging forest fires had not yielded to armies of fighting men.

Fanned by the wind, a lightning-set fire raged up Tejon pass in the Jackson Hole country. Two hundred men from Wyoming and Idaho fought the blaze.

Approximately 4,000 men were on the fire lines in the Selway and Clearwater forests of central Idaho where nearly 20,000 acres of timber either were ablaze or charred, smoking ruins. The forst fire in the Selway country has ranged over 10,000 acres.

Dry, windy weather made conditions in the woods precarious.

Falling Of One Of Largest Meteors In History Of Plains Is Recalled

(Special To The Avalanche)

ABERNATHY, Aug. 15.—"Meteor Sets Fire to Field Near Canyon" said a newspaper headline recently.

The story beneath the headline telling of the meteor firing wheat stubble on the R. B. Gist place near Canyon, recalled to numerous pioneers the falling of one of the largest meteors in history near Abernathy several years ago.

Sale Negotiated

Nine miles north of here, in 1902 the largest meteor, known as the Estacado meteor, was brought to the notice of the scientific world by N. M. Akeson of Hale Center, who negotiated for its sale to a northern university. The two pieces of this meteor lay for many years on the old Harrington place north of here, and were quite a landmark for the early settlers in this region. One piece weighed 640 pounds and the other, 380. The largest piece was sold for $500.

In 1915 north of Hale Center, Harl Lightmire found a number of meteorites, weighing from one to 12 pounds.

Fragments of another meteor, weighing altogether 28 pounds, were discovered by Z. T. Huff on his place near Plainview. Numerous other small meteories and fragments have been found on farms in this area.

Search Is Started

Learning of the frequent findings of meteors and fragments here, Professor H. H. Nininger of the Colorado Museum of Natural History came to the plains of Texas and began searching for them on farms in this section. He is described by the Literary Digest as "the only man in the world who makes his living chasing meteors."

He bought the fragments found on the Huff place and also purchased fragments from other farms. He stated they were being used as weights to hold doors open, to weight milk buckets down in water troughs and for other purposes for which rocks come in handy in a country where few rocks are to be found.

Pays $1 Per Pound

In purchasing the meteors he pays $1 per pound.

He stated this section has become known as one of the richest in the world for finding the stray particles which find their way to the earth from other planets. He stated he believed many more could be found here. "There is no use for them except as subjects of study, but for this purpose they are prized highly," he said on a recent visit here. "To recognize them, look for dark heavy stones, which, by grinding on an emery wheel, show particles of bright nickel steel."

Meteors found in this section are classed as "stony" and contain only small particles of metal. They are especially heavy and may be of any shape or size, he said.

Nininger, who is the author of a book, "This Stone Pelted Planet," has placed most of the meteors found in this area in the museum in Colorado.

Auditorium And Gymnasium Is Now Nearing Completion

Levelland hopes to have its new high school auditorium and gymnasium completed by September 1, or by the first week in September, C. M. Elder, secretary of the Levelland Chamber of Commerce said while here yesterday.

"The contractor, W. M. Moss, is just finishing the work," he said. "We hope to get in by the first of next month."

Slaton Boosters Visit In Lubbock

A group of Slaton supporters of Judge Clark M. Mullican in his congressional nomination race, stopped here yesterday afternoon shortly before 6 o'clock to stage a "rally" enroute home from a trip to half a dozen other towns.

"We visited Southland, Post, Tahoka, Brownfield, Meadow, Ropes and Lubbock, "said Allen J. Payne, secretary of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce. "Madison Rayborn, one of our young attorneys, made the principal talks.

"We found that Judge Mullican was gaining votes every place we visited."

A 25-piece band accompanied the booster club. Mr. Rayborn spoke at the corner of Broadway and Texas to a crowd of several hundred people. He had good crowds during the day.

Mullican Is In Southern Part Of District Today

Swinging through the south part of the district, Judge Clark M. Mullican, candidate for the Democratic nomination for congress in the 19th district has three addresses today it was announced by his headquarters here.

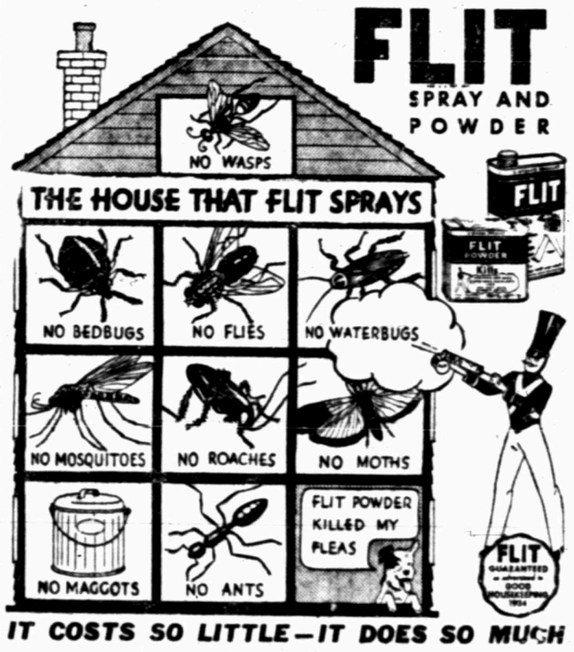

At 10 o'clock this morning he speaks at Stanton, in Martin county; at 3 o'clock at O'Donnell and at 8:30 at Tahoka.

Friday afternoon he makes a non-political talk at Mount Blanco, in Crosby county.

Good crowds attended yesterday's meetings, it was reported. At Snyder in the morning one of the largest crowds of the campaign was reported. At Colorado in the afternoon there was a good crowd and at night at Big Spring another good crowd.

You'll Save on a Ford V-8 from the day you buy it

LOW FIRST COST

$505 and up, F. O. B. Detroit. Ford V-8 prices are at their 1934 low.

LOW UPKEEP COST

The new Ford V-8 is the most economical car to run that Ford has ever built.

HIGH TURN-IN VALUE

Year after year the record shows that Ford cars retain an unusually great percentage of their original value.

THE Ford V-8 would be a great buy even at a much higher price. It's the only V-8 selling for less than $2500. Ford alone has been able to put a V-8 engine in a low price car.

The first cost of a Ford V-8 is decidedly low. But that saving is only the beginning . . .

Ford V-8 valves never need grinding. Carbon removal is virtually eliminated. The new Ford V-8 consumes less gasoline and oil than last year's Ford which made such a great record for economy. And Ford V-8 parts cost from 23 to 54% less than parts for any other car.

In addition, on that distant day your Ford V-8 earns its honorable retirement, you'll find that it has a high trade-in value. The record of years proves it.

The Duty Of The College

TEXAS Technological college's location in Lubbock lends added interest here to a public utterance recently made by Dr. Karl G. Miller, University of Pennsylvania psychologist.

Not new but surprisingly novel in expression, Doctor Miller's idea has been thought of by many who dared not say what they wanted to say. But says he:

"The American college must recognize more fully its responsibilities to the student whose interests are not primarily intellectual as well as to the prospective scholar. From my contact with the parents of boys seeking admission to the university I feel that the proud father wants his son to go through a ripening process, to make many contacts, to become interested in many things, to have a good deal of fun and to do reasonably well in his studies.

"Unless I am mistaken, the inculcation of true scholarship, the love of learning, the inspiration for research—these do not appear in the definition of college education as it exists in the minds of prospective students and their parents."

Had the professor's candor gone a little bit farther he might have said that it is just as well, for how many institutions of higher learning could meet the scholarly needs of the inspired student and how many profound scholars could the world absorb without starving them?

The modern conception of a college and university is not a place where erudite professors are made, but a factory for the development of everyday brains and culture.

TOO MANY TEACHERS

Educators have no more cause for complaining about the surplus of teachers than members of other professions and trades have for lamenting a state of competition which has been ruinous to their incomes. Nor has the one group better cause than the others for demanding the curtailment of professional school enrollments. If the teachers think theirs is a special case it is because they are in the public pay, have been educated largely at the public's expense and would like to be considered privileged characters, as all of us do.

But would it be wise for the teachers' colleges, normal schools and other institutions for the production of school teachers to shut down either partially or wholly until the number of school jobs catches up with the number of persons to fill them, as advocated by some educators?

From the point of view of the teacher it is an excellent idea since it would mean jobs for all and better pay for many. But might it not lead to serious consequences? Unless carefully managed and every eventuality accurately foreseen such a program would shortly lead to a serious shortage of teaching material and poorer schools.

Only through a surplus of teachers can the schools be sure of an adequate supply of good teachers. Not every boy or girl with a teacher's certificate is qualified to teach school but as long as there were enough jobs to go around all were assured of a school.

ECONOMY AND SPEED

A new incentive to less speed and more safety in automobile driving is offered by Clarence P. Taylor of the Massachusetts motor vehicle department.

Pleas emphasizing the dangers of fast driving, supported by mounting fatality figures, have failed to bring the desired result.

But maybe Mr. Taylor has found the secret.

It is much more expensive to the autoist, says the Massachusetts man, to drive fast than at a moderate rate of speed. He supports his claims with figures, indicating he has given some real study to the question he discusses.

An automobile can be most economically operated, he explains, at speeds up to 30 miles an hour. Beyond that, the cost per mile in gasoline and in wear and tear, rapidly increases. Twice as much gas will be used, for instance, in traveling at 75 miles an hour as at 20 miles.

The average motorist is economically-minded. If he can be persuaded that moderate speed means less demand on his pocketbook, it may be that he will not be so quick to step on the gas.

Alas! If the rich boy doesn't work, he is a worthless loafer; if he does, he is taking some poor man's job.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

AN economist whose job it is to chart trends for one of our biggest corporations has been busy the past few days with his crystal ball analyzing nationalization of silver and its probable effect on the future. In view of current confusion, his findings are interesting.

A further definite increase in price levels is foreseen within the next six months.

Wages will follow, but even slower than usual. Purchasing power will therefore lag unless the New Deal can convince business it must stop the current practice of building profits faster than the payroll.

As our chart-builder sees it, nationalization of silver was a shrewd alternative to further reduction of the gold content of the dollar. One or the other was necessary and a second hack at gold content would have had a bad psychological effect.

Practically, he expects the effect on commodity prices will be the same.

That leaves it up to the employers to decide whether they are willing to cut immediate profits long enough to build up purchasing power and start the ball rolling.

GRIEF: Official Washington isn't anticipating an overly pleasant winter.

Plans are in the making for an even bigger federal work relief program than is now in operation.

Latest figures compiled by the Federal Emergency Relief administration show that 17,085,371 individuals are the recipients of either direct relief or work relief.

This stupendous total breaks down as follows:

On direct relief—2,576,167 families in which there are 11,223,179 individuals, and 435,108 single men and women.

On work relief—1,175,908 families in which there are 5,365,348 individuals, and 61,736 men and women.

FERA is moving all possible people from direct to work relief but it is a difficult task.

It is hard, for instance, to find projects on which women can earn their way. Men can be put to work on roads, in wood piles and at all manner of manual labor whereas the field for women's organized effort has sharp restrictions.

One substantial outlet for female labor has been stimulated by the drouth. They are being put to work canning the foodstuffs which provide a cornerstone for drouth relief.

Another problem is the matter of persuading states and communities to furnish materials for various types of building projects.

Big corporations are not adding to improved conditions. Washington has received confidential reports that many are continuing to lay off men in order to build up the black ink contrast with last year's red.

Officials who have been holding the fort at FERA are hoping administrator Harry Hopkins is bringing back some pertinent ideas from his survey of the manner in which European countries have been tackling their phases of the world problem.

GUARANTEE: The Federal Housing administration has about given up the idea of arranging general reductions in building material costs as an inducement to widespread home repair and modernization. If individual communities can bring them about it will be okay with Washington but the job of persuading basic industries is a little too tough.

Administrator Moffett and his men are encouraged, though, by the early results of their salesmanship efforts on the banks that will have to loan John Public the money. They say many small institutions had been cold under the misapprehension that Uncle Sam was guaranteeing only 20 per cent of each individual loan. The fact is the government guarantees 20 per cent of the total loaned. Thus, if 100 homeowners borrowed $1,000 each and 20 defaulted, the bank would still be safely in the black with interest.

Taking time by the forelock, 18,000 insurance guarantees were sent out to approved banks without waiting for the formality of application. Now it's just a question of selling you and me the idea of going into easy debt.

NOTES: One of the leading agitators in eastern shipbuilding worker circles is a 27-year-old man who formerly taught psychology in an eastern college. . . . Before becoming a strike fomenter he went to sea and got first-hand reactions from the men-before-the-mast which he is now applying psychologically on the shipyard workers. . . . The latest explanation of the Treasury's removal of its gold from San Francisco to Denver is that all our bullion is destined to move inland shortly, now that silver also has been nationalized. . . . No "war scare" is involved—it is just a normal precaution which any nation would embody in its scheme of defense against unforseen eventualities.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

INFORMED New York conservatives fail to share in the excitement about silver nationalization.

It's all right with them if Senator Thomas wants to hail it as "the overthrow of the world-wide gold bloc." In fact they hope he continues to feel that way about it so he'll ease up on other inflationary efforts. But so far as real inflationary effects are concerned they rate it a rabbit masquerading as a lion.

They point out that the total quantity of privately owned silver available to be nationalized is only around 100,000,000 ounces. Even if silver certificates are promptly issued against the full amount the increase in circulating currency will be as noticeable as an anthill added to a mountain. Moreover they won't stay in circulation because there's plenty of cash already in existence to meet the current needs of trade. Experts claim the certificates will either drive a comparable volume of Federal Reserve notes into retirement or find their own way back to the Treasury's vaults via the banks—there to gather dust.

It's safe not to take it too seriously when you read that we're now on the highroad to heaven—or to hades—because silver has become a federal monopoly.

SPELL: Then what is all the shooting for?

New York sources in close contact with Washington say there was a double purpose behind the move—psychological and political.

The psychological influence was plainly in evidence the day the announcement was made. The stock market made whoopee. The dollar tumbled in foreign exchange. All over Wall Street you heard it said that inflation—the real thing—was here at last.

That was the idea. Insiders call it a beautiful example of the Roosevelt technique—to get results by shadow-boxing whenever possible—thus eliminating the danger of a flareback that might ensue from genuine inflation. The exhilaration won't last long. But while it does it will stir up activity and optimism—which is all to the good even if temporary. All it will tone down the clamor for other forms of inflation and give the administration a breathing spell before it has to decide for or against more serious methods of cheapening the dollar.

And of course the profit the Treasury will make on silver may come in handy later on.

QUIET: Wall Street figures the political angle as equally important. Nationalization paves the way for further steps that might be useful in September or October.

Suppose the government decides to step up the price paid domestic producers for newly mined silver—say to 85 cents an ounce. That wouldn't have been so simple while there was a free domestic silver market — because the price discrepancy would have churned up hurtful confusion in normal trading channels. But with private traders out of the picture the Treasury will be able to do almost anything it likes without fear of having its plans crossed up by individual operators.

Well-posted New Yorkers look for a jump in the price received by American silver miles before election. Nothing could be better calculated to make the silver states happy.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE BLIND AUTO MECHANIC

The story of Fred A. Wilcox, Ripley, N. Y. garage owner, provides a paradox unequalled in the automobile industry, for in the last 12 years he has serviced thousands of automobiles—supplied them with gas and oil—repaired thousands of tires—adjusted carburetors—and every other automotive job from cleaning spark plugs to overhauling entire motors. Yet he has never seen an automobile.

When Mr. Wilcox was but a small boy, more than fifty years ago, he suffered the loss of his eyesight. With the advent of the automobile, he became interested in them and has since mastered the art of repairing the delicate motor parts purely by his sense of touch and memory of where parts belong. All his tools are carefully pigeon-holed where he can pick them up immediately, and his finished jobs are excellently done.

His simple philosophy accounts for his unequalled success in life—"Stick to it or starve."

LAFITTE THE PIRATE

On November 24, 1813, William C. Claiborne, Governor of Louisiana, issued a proclamation offering $500 for the arrest of Jean Lafitte the pirate who, with his brother and a gang of 100 men, ran a freebooter and smuggling settlement on a group of secluded islands in Barataria Bay about 40 miles south of New Orleans. Two days later, Lafitte's proclamation appeared beside that of the Governor, offering $1500 for the arrest of Governor Claiborne.

While the Governor had to remain indoors busy with the problems of the War with England, Lafitte and his companions continued to swagger through the streets unmolested. Only a short time later however, law and order prevailed again, when Governor Claiborne obtained an indictment, with which a Federal Navy and Army force raided the Barataria settlement and arrested the privateers, who were brought to trial.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANE TERRY comes to New York determined to show her home town and especially AMY JACKSON that she can make a success of her life. Amy had been her best friend until HOWARD JACKSON broke the engagement Jane forced on him and married Amy. Unable to bear the sight of Amy's happiness, Jane obtains a job in a New York real estate office.

Jane is clever and soon is making an excellent salary. She has an affair with ROGER THORPE, who is married. Later she tires of him and when he offers to bear the expense of their child she dismisses him contemptuously.

In her desperate plight Jane turns to Amy for help. Howard is touring Germany and Amy comes to New York. She stays until the baby is born and then, horrified because Jane insists on giving her daughter away, agrees to take it with the understanding that Jane never shall reclaim the child.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVIII

Now that she had taken the child for her own Amy was in a turmoil of doubt. What would Howard say when he came back and found that she had done this without consulting him! What would her father and mother think! And what an exacting, overwhelming responsibility she had assumed! Taking proper care of an infant is not, she discovered at once, a mere matter of feminine instinct, but an expert and complicated craft, with a considerable dash of science.

Miss McNeal instructed, disapprovingly, on bathing, clothing, routine. Doctor Lacey also instructed, without enthusiasm, on formulas of feeding, mixtures and temperatures. Amy tried to learn everything at once, for she wanted to get away, to go home, to be out of sight and sound of Jane, because the revulsion that had come to her at Jane's light-hearted ridding herself of the child persisted, increased. She hid it as far as she could, but it was there and affected their relation. They were drawing away from each other. Jane was stronger each day and her only concern was to put this whole sorry business behind her and get back to work. Her satisfaction was almost flippant. She couldn't, she said very often, have had a better break.

But she knew how Amy felt. She knew that Amy could not gloss over or condone what she had done. It amused Jane a little that Amy shouldn't be shocked at her having the child, only at her giving it away. It annoyed her, too. She did not fancy Amy's sitting in judgment on her and there were moments when she considered taking the child away from Amy and sending it to be adopted as she had planned in the first place.

This she did not dare to do. She was, though she would not have owned it even to herself, afraid of Amy's anger and contempt, and so long as they were hidden, she could pretend they did not exist and that every-thing was right between them.

The honesty that she had used to Amy before the child was born disappeared. Neither could Amy be honest. So they talked together as little as possible. Amy concerned herself with the child and tried to still her great anxiety for Howard's saftey, for no word had come from him.

The reports of Americans marooned in Europe and their trials and tribulations were now coming through and added to her fears. She planned to go back to Marburg at the first moment Doctor Lacey said a child so very young might safely travel. The apartment was crowded and uncomfortable and Emma sulked about the extra work. It would be a relief to everyone when Amy could go.

When that day finally did arrive there was so much to do to get ready, everything was confused and hurried, that there was no chance for any private conversation between the two friends. Jane and Miss McNeal both went with Amy to the train, established her and the child in a drawing room and then the nurse said goodby and hurried off. Amy and Jane were left in the tight stuffy little place.

"I suppose I ought to be very grateful," Jane began. In the dim light she looked blooming and carefree. Her color had come back. She had gone out to the hairdresser while Amy was packing. She had put on a smart frock and hat.

Amy glanced up from arranging pillows carefully about the child and, seeing Jane's smile, her constraint dropped and her despising

Slaton Man Writes Concerning Co-Operation Of Cities

Editor, The Avalanche: I read your editorial in Sunday morning's paper and I hasten to compliment you upon the article, and the fine spirit in which it was written.

There certainly can be nothing gained by one city fighting another. I supported Judge Mullican in the first primary and will support him in the run-off because he is an able jurist with wide experience in public affairs and a knowledge of the needs of the district he will represent. Equipped with the ability, experience and the will to do, I am sure he can walk right into the halls of Congress, pull off his coat and go right to work.

I am sure if Mr. Mahon were equipped with the same ability, experience and knowledge he would do the same thing.

But back to the article of co-operation, I am getting a little bit weary in co-operating with Lubbock and helping to elect Lubbock men to office, and when it is all over we have nothing left but the co-operation. I feel sure that in voicing my own sentiments I am voicing the sentiments of the larger portion of our citizenship.

I have lived here since 1921, and I believe I am pretty well acquainted with the temper and disposition of our citizens. As you know, during that time we have had our ups and downs, and have fought among ourselves, to our own hurt. In my opinion we are now more nearly united than we have been since I have been here, and I believe you realize that when we all get our backs together in a huddle we almost, if not altogether, hold the balance of power.

If Lubbock and Lubbock officials will in deed and in truth show their appreciation of Slaton's co-operation with her in a few years from now Slaton will be in the suburbs of Lubbock.

Very respectfully,
J. W. Buchanan,
Slaton.

Douglas Fairbanks Returns But He Refuses To Talk About His Affairs

NEW YORK, Aug 15. (AP)—Douglas Fairbanks, the movie actor, came back to America today after a year and two months abroad. He displayed extreme politeness but said nothing about a possible reconciliation with his famous wife, Mary Pickford.

"I understand that you would like to know about things," he told reporters, "but my private life is my own and I will not discuss it."

Shown a telegraphic dispatch in which his estranged wife said she wants to meet him in Hollywood soon, he laughed, and said:

"That's very funny. I don't know anything about it."

Fairbanks said he planned to board an airplane at noon tomorrow for Denver, Colo., where he will attend the funeral of his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Fairbanks.

"I dreaded this," he said in answer to one of the other recurrent questions about his domestic affairs.

In the end, somebody asked him about Lady Ashley, whose name has been linked with his in European news dispatches on several occasions. He frowned:

"Please!" he said, "there is nothing I can say, or will say."

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR, No 76

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Werper had fired all but a single cartridge, when, during a lull in the fighting, he called aloud to his opponent, "Achmet Zek," he cried, "Allah alone knows which one of us may leave our bones to rot where he lies upon this trail today if we keep up our foolish fighting. You wish the contents of the pouch I wear about my waist, and I wish my life and my liberty more than I do the jewels. Let us each, then, take that which he most desires and go our separate ways in peace."

"I will lay the pouch upon the carcass of my horse," he continued, "where you may see it, and you, in turn, will lay your gun upon your horse, with the butt toward me. Then I will go away, leaving the pouch to you, and you will let me go in safety. I want only my life and my freedom." The Arab thought in silence for a moment. Then he spoke. His reply was influenced by the fact that he had expended his last shot. "Go your way, then," he growled, "leaving the pouch in plain sight. See, I lay my gun as you want. Go."

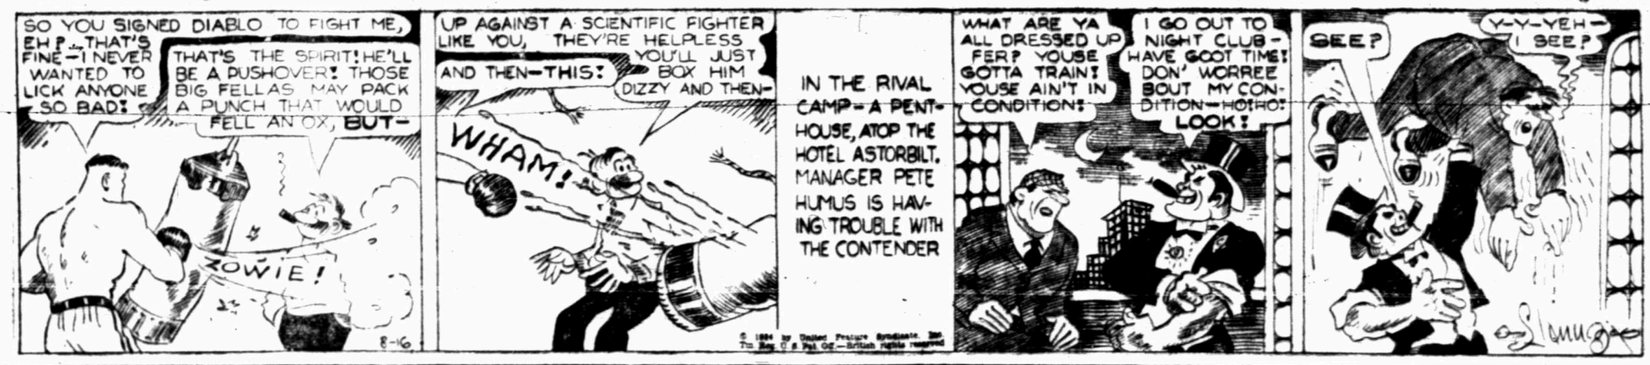

Werper removed the pouch from about his waist. Sorrowfully and affectionately he let his fingers press the hard outlines of the contents. Ah, if he could but extract a handful of the precious stones! But Achmet Zek was standing now, his eagle eyes commanding a plain view of the Belgian and his every act. Regretfully Werper laid the pouch, its contents undisturbed, upon the body of his horse, rose, and taking his rifle with him, backed slowly down the trail until a turn hid him from the view of the watchful Arab.

Even then Achmet Zek did not advance, fearing some treachery. Nor were his suspicions groundless. No sooner had Werper passed out of range of the Arab's vision, than he halted behind the bole of a tree. From here he had a good view of his dead horse and his pouch. Raising his rifle he covered the spot where the Arab's person must appear when he came forward to seize the treasure. But Achmet Zek was no fool. Grasping his gun he entered the tangled vegetation walling the trail and crawled along, never once exposing his body.

R. F. BAYLESS, Secretary.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 16

Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Section 1 of Article 8 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

"Section 1. Taxation to be equal and uniform as to real estate and to be equal and uniform as to all reasonable classifications of property and occupation and income taxes; exemptions; limitations upon counties, cities, etc.

"Taxation of real property shall be equal and uniform. All property in this State, whether owned by natural persons or corporations, other than municipal, shall be taxed in proportion to its value, which shall be ascertained as may be provided by law. The Legislature may by general laws make reasonable classifications of all property other than real property for the purpose of taxation, and may impose different rates thereon; provided that the taxation of all property in any class shall be equal and uniform. The Legislature may impose a poll tax. It may also impose occupation taxes, both upon natural persons and upon corporations, other than municipal, doing business in this State. It may also tax incomes of both natural persons and corporations other than municipal, except that persons engaged in mechanical and agricultural pursuits shall never be required to pay an occupation tax; provided that Two Hundred Fifty ($250.00) Dollars worth of household and kitchen furniture, belonging to each family in the State, shall be exempt from taxation, and provided further that the occupation tax levied by any county, city or town for any year on persons or corporations pursuing any profession or business, shall not exceed one-half of the tax levied by the State for the same period of such profession or business."

Section 2. The foregoing amendment to the Constitution of Texas shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1934. At this election, all voters favoring said amendment shall write, or have printed, on their ballots the words:

"For the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas providing that taxation of real property shall be equal and uniform; and that all property in this State, other than that owned by municipal corporations, shall be taxed in proportion to its value as ascertained as may be provided by law; and providing that the Legislature may make reasonable classifications of all property, other than real property, for the purpose of taxation, and that the taxation of all property in any class shall be equal and uniform; and providing further that the Legislature may impose poll tax and occupation tax and income tax and exempting from occupation tax persons engaged in mechanical and agricultural pursuits; and exempting from taxation Two Hundred Fifty ($250.00) Dollars worth of household and kitchen furniture belonging to each family, and providing that the occupation tax levied by any county, city or town shall not exceed one-half that levied by the State for the same period."

Those voters opposing said proposed Amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words:

"Against the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas providing that taxation of real property shall be equal and uniform, and that all property in this State, other than that owned by municipal corporations shall be taxed in proportion to its value as ascertained as may be provided by law; and providing that the Legislature may make reasonable classification of all property, other than real property for the purpose of taxation; and that the taxation of all property in any class shall be equal and uniform; and providing further that the Legislature may impose poll tax and occupation tax and income tax, and exempting from occupation tax persons engaged in mechanical and agricultural pursuits; exempting from taxation Two Hundred Fifty ($250.00) Dollars worth of household and kitchen furniture belonging to each family, and providing that the occupation tax levied by any county, city or town shall not exceed one-half that levied by the State for the same period."

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 2

Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That the Constitution of the State of Texas, Article 16, be amended by adding thereto another Section, Section 61, which shall read as follows:

"Section 61. All district officers in the State and all county officers in counties having a population of twenty thousand (20,000) or more, according to the then last preceding Federal census, shall hereafter be compensated on a salary basis. In all counties of this State the Commissioners' Court shall be authorized to determine whether precinct officers shall be compensated on a fee basis or on a salary basis; and in counties having a population of less than twenty thousand (20,000) according to the then last preceding Federal census, the Commissioners' Court shall also have the authority to determine whether county officers shall be compensated on a fee basis or on a salary basis. All fees earned by district, county or precinct officers shall be paid into the County Treasury where earned, for the account of the proper fund, provided that fees incurred by the State, county and any municipality, or in case where pauper's oath is filed, shall be paid to the County Treasury, when collected, and provided that where any officer is compensated wholly on a fee basis, such fees may be retained by such officer, or paid into the Treasury of the county as the Commissioners' Court may direct. All Notaries Public, County Surveyors and Public Weighers shall continue to be compensated on a fee basis."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to vote of the qualified voters of this State and the next general election to be held on Tuesday, after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1934, at which election all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words:

"For the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas adding Section 61 to Article XVI, abolishing the fee system of compensating all district officers and all county officers in counties having a population of twenty thousand (20,000) or more, and authorizing the Commissioners' Court to determine whether County officers in counties containing less than twenty thousand (20,000) population shall be compensated on a fee basis or a salary basis; and authorizing the Commissioners' Court in all counties of this State to determine whether precinct officers shall be compensated on a fee or a salary basis."

"Against the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas adding Section 61 to Article XVI, abolishing the fee system of compensating all district officers and all county officers in counties having a population of twenty thousand (20,000) or more; and authorizing the Commissioners' Court to determine whether county officers in counties containing less than twenty thousand (20,000) population shall be compensated on a fee basis or a salary basis and authorizing the Commissioners' Court in all counties of this State to determine whether precinct officers shall be compensated on a fee or a salary basis."

Each voter shall scratch out with pen or pencil the clause which he desires to vote against so as to indicate whether he is voting for or against said proposed amendment.

Secretary of State.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 14

Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That there be added to Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Texas a new section to be numbered Section 2-A and to have five (5) lettered subdivisions and which section shall read as follows:

"Section 2-A.

"(a) General management and control of the affairs of the County shall hereafter be vested in the Commissioners' Court, provided that in the exercise of powers not specifically granted to the Commissioners' Court by the Constitution and Amendments thereto, the Court shall be subject to the authority of the Legislature of the State, and the Court shall also be subject to all general laws of the State now in force not in conflict with the provisions of this Amendment until such laws are modified or repealed.

"(b) All duties heretofore performed by the Clerk of the District Court and the County Clerk shall hereafter be performed by an officer to be known as Record Clerk; all duties heretofore performed by the County Tax Assessor and the County Tax Collector shall hereafter be performed by one officer known as Tax Clerk; and in the counties where the sheriff performs the duties of the Tax Collector he may hereafter perform the duties of the Tax Clerk. The Record Clerk and the Tax Clerk shall be elected to hold office for a term of two (2) years and until their successors shall be elected and qualified. The Commissioners Court shall have authority to combine the office of County Treasurer and office of County Surveyor, or to combine either, or both, of said offices with any county office. Within the maximum and minimum limits prescribed by the Legislature the Commissioners' Court shall have authority to fix the compensation of all county and precinct officers except County Auditor, County Judge and County Commissioners. The Legislature shall fix the compensation of District Judges, District Attorneys, County Judges and the County Commissioners and may provide for a County auditor and prescribe his duties and fix his compensation and the number and compensation of his assistants. The Commissioners' Court shall fix the compensation of and determine the number of deputies assistants and clerical personnel of all precinct officers and county officers except the county auditor.

"(c) City and county officers and employees may, in addition to their duties as such city and county officers or employees, be required to perform such other similar duties for cities, towns and districts within the county, or for the county, as may be mutually agreed upon and contracted for between the Commissioners' Court of said county and governing board, or boards, of such cities, towns and districts; and the cost of such service shall be provided for in said contracts and paid by such county, cities, towns or districts into the Treasury of the county or city, town or district, as provided for in said contract. All such contracts shall be approved by the Attorney General of this State and such contracts shall not cover a period longer than two (2) years.

"(d) The Legislature shall have authority, by general law, to provide for complete forms of county government and organizations different from that provided for in this Constitution to become effective in any county when submitted in such manner as may be prescribed by the Legislature to the qualified voters of such county in an election held for such purpose and approved by a majority of the qualified voters in said election. Provided, however, that no such law shall impair the power of the Commissioners' Court to determine the compensation of county and precinct officers other than the County Auditor, to fix the number of assistants, deputies, and clerical personnel which said officers may employ; nor shall such general law change the present constitutional limitations as the particular and total tax levies for any or all county purposes; nor shall such general law change the present constitutional limitations on counties to incur public debts.

"(e) In any and all cases where provisions of the Constitution of this State are in conflict with the provisions of this Amendment, the provision of this Amendment (Section 2-A, Article IX) shall control; provided, however, should any county adopt a Home Rule Charter under authority of any provisions of the State Constitution or Amendment thereto, this Amendment shall not be applicable to such county."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the electors of this State, qualified to vote on Constitutional Amendments, at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1934, at which election each ballot shall have printed thereon the words:

"For the Amendment of Article IX of the State Constitution by adding Section 2-A thereto, giving the Commissioners' Court general management and control of county affairs, and authorizing the Legislature to provide more economical forms of county government and different than as now provided by law."

"Against the Amendment of Article IX of the State Constitution by adding Section 2-A thereto, giving the Commissioners' Court general management and control of county affairs, and authorizing the Legislature to provide more economical forms of county gvernment, and different than as now provided by law."

Each voter shall scratch out with pen or pencil the clause which he desires to vote against so as to indicate whether he is voting for or against said proposed amendment.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 13

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Section 3 of Article VIII of the Constitution of the State of Texas be so amended as to hereinafter read as follows:

"Section 3. Taxes shall be levied and collected by general laws and for public purposes only; and the total amount of revenue which the State shall be authorized to collect during such biennium from taxes, licenses, permits and fees, (except fees paid by students to state educational institutions, and except rentals, houses and royalties obtained from public lands and other public property) shall not exceed a sum reasonably estimated to equal the product obtained by multiplying the number of the inhabitants of this State by the sum of Twenty-two and 50-100 ($22.50) Dollars; provided, however, the total amount of such revenue which may be so collected, shall be reduced by the amount of any surplus funds or unexpended appropriations remaining at the close of the preceding biennium. The expenditures of the State government of funds derived from the sources above referred to shall never exceed during any biennium, a sum equal to the product obtained by multiplying the number of inhabitants of this State by the sum of Twenty-two and 50-100 ($22.50) Dollars, provided however, that the population of the State (in determining the amount of revenue which may be collected thus obtained) shall be determined by the then last preceding Federal census, to which population shall be added or deducted, as the case may be, for each year that has lapsed since the last preceding Federal census, the average yearly increase or decrease of the population as shown by said Federal census when compared with the Federal census which immediately preceded said last Federal census. Provided, further, that in case of war, riots, or insurrection, or a statewide calamity caused by earthquake, fire, flood or an epidemic which seriously threatens the health of the citizens of this State, the Legislature shall have authority, by a two-thirds vote of both Houses, to suspend for a definite period this constitution limitation as to the amount of money which may be collected and expended during the biennium."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the electors of this State qualified to vote on constitutional amendments at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D., 1934, at which election each ballot shall have printed thereon the words:

"For the Amendment of Section 3 or Article VIII of the State Constitution providing for the levying and collection of taxes and fixing the maximum amount thereof which can be collected and expended each biennium."

"Against the Amendment of Section 3 of Article VIII of the State Constitution providing for the levying and collection of taxes and fixing the maximum amount thereof which can be collected and expended each biennium."

Each voter shall scratch out with pen or pencil the clauses which he desires to vote against, so as to indicate whether he is voting for or against said proposed amendment.

WALL STREET REPORT

BY FREDERICK GARDNER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Deprived of inflationary stimulus, the stock market drifted toward slightly lower levels today in extremely quiet trading.

Movements were mixed. Speculative interest shifted from metals and other recent inflation favorites to building, tobacco and special issues directly affected by the day's news.

A further recovery in the dollar against foreign exchanges and in bonds, including U. S. treasury obligations, marked the waning of the inflation fever that flared up last week on the announcement of nationalization of silver.

Commodities, along with stocks, suffered a loss of bullish favor. A further decline carried wheat down to levels that were more than 11 cents under last Friday's peaks, although cotton turned upward again.

Overnight reflection on the arrangement for gold exports from the United States and latest monetary developments in Washington convinced some observers that the treasury would stick close to sound money policies. The dollar rose to levels that precluded further gold exports.

The share market manifested some disappointment over failure of the railroads to obtain a temporary injunction against enforcement of the railway pension bill passed by the last congress. That news, however, was offset in a measure by declaration of the usual quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share on American Telephone and Telegraph stock.

The net result of the day's uncertain movements was a loss of five-tenths of a point in the average for 90 stocks compiled by the Standard Statistics Co., carrying it down to 71.8. Volume totaled 474,-750 shares compared with 531,300 yesterday.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 15. (AP)—Although comparatively quiet during the morning the cotton market became active and firm in the afternoon under the stimulating influences of good cables, a bullish weekly weather report and a report from Washington that it was proposed to fix the loan value of cotton at 13 cents a pound. The market closed steady at net advances for the day of 12 to 15 points.

The opening was steady but somewhat irregular. Liverpool cables were better than due, but sterling was easier.

The weekly weather and crop report was fully as bullish as expected and as the market did not advance further after it was issued it was assumed that the report had been discounted.

The market became more active and decidedly firmer during the afternoon with good trade buying and shorts covering. A further stimulant was a rumor from Washington to the effect that it was proposed to make the loan value 13 cents a pound. Prices made new highs for the day in the late trading with October at 13.44 and December at 13.59, or 14 to 16 points above the previous close. There was a slight reaction of a point or two at the end. October closed at 13.43, or 15 points net higher for the day and December at 13.57, or 12 points net higher.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 5 penny points up.

Port receipts 6,385, for week 30,858, for season 108,577, last season 170,446. Exports 5,455, for week 34,390, for season 138,047, last season 291,269. Port stock 2,389,730, last year 2,909,043. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 33,168, last year 55,483. Spot sales at southern markets 5,182, last year 10,842.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. (AP)—Cotton rallied today on covering and a scattering demand from trade or commission house sources. December contracts which had sold off from 13.52@13.44 during the earlier trading advanced to 13.62 in the late afternoon and closed at 13.60, the general market finished steady at net advances of 13 to 17 points.

Early price movements were narrow. After improving 4 to 6 points the market met enough selling to effect net losses of 9 to 11 points, but later the trend swung upward with October selling at 13.48 and May at 13.86 or about 14 to 17 points net higher. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best.

Exports today 5,455, making 124,633 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 2,383,-510.

The range follows:

	High	Low	Last
Oct.	13.48	13.29	13.47-48
Dec.	13.62	13.44	13.60-61
Jan.	13.66	13.49	13.65
March	13.79	13.60	13.78
May	13.86	13.66	13.86
July	13.91	13.73	13.91

Spot quiet; middling 13.60.

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 15. (AP)—Receipts of 35,000 cattle at eleven markets compared with 42,564 actually received on Wednesday of last week and 36,300 the corresponding day a year ago. Little change was made in prices of slaughter steers and yearlings. Fed kinds show some strength while western grassers moved slowly at steady to slightly lower rates. Stocker and feeder classes cashed unevenly. At Chicago 9.00 was reached for best weighty steers, several loads with weight bringing 8.00@8.75 and weighty heifers 7.00. Straight grassers sold largely from 3.25@4.40 at river points.

A total of around 46,000 hogs was 20,000 less than last Wednesday's arrival and 25,000 under receipts of the same day a year ago. Most sales show advances of 15-35. A high mark since September, 1931 was reached when 6.15 was paid for choice butcher weights at St. Louis and Chicago.

Fed lamb prices ruled steady with instances of a 15 loss at some points. A few yearlings sales were made at unchanged levels. Aged sheep and feeders were also unchanged. At Chicago choice native lambs to shippers scored 7.10 with bulk at that point 6.75 and down. Fed yearlings scaling 75@80 lbs. cashed at 5.85 at St. Joseph. Some Texas offerings brought 5.35 at Kansas City.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Aug. 15. (AP)—Hogs 800 including 335 directs; early truck sales 15 to 25 higher, later sales 25 to 40 higher than Tuesday's truck market; no rail hogs offered; top 5.90; truck hogs 5.60@5.90; packing sows 4.25@4.50, few 4.75.

Cattle 1,200 commercial 2,500 government, calves 1,200 commercial government, commercial receipts mostly small lots and mixed butcher cattle; practically no slaughter steers included; general trade other classes on peddling basis, quotably in line with recent declines; fed yearlings 4.50@5.25; plainer grades 3.50; fat cows up to 2.60; slaughter calves steady, heavies 3.00@3.50; cull sorts 1.50@2.00.

Sheep 900 including 313 through; all classes steady; fat lambs mostly 5.00@5.50; fat yearlings 4.50@4.75; aged fat wethers 3.00; aged fat ewes 2.75, feeder yealing 3.00.

Advance estimates August 16—commercial cattle and calves 3,000, government cattle and calves 1,700; hogs 1,000; sheep 800.

LOS ANGELES REPORT

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 15. —Hogs 600, include 160 direct; locals 15 to 40 higher 155-214 lbs. 6.10@6.25; 195 lbs. 6.00; strictly good light grain feds quotable to 6.50; few common to medium packing sows 3.25@3.75.

Cattle 1,200, government 124, generally steady, some cows stronger, medium fed steers 5.40@5.60; load held above 6.00; pastured and cake fed steers 4.75@5.00; 3 loads Idaho grass steers 4.85, odd lots common down to 4.00; good cows 3.60@4.00; common to medium 2.75@3.50; cutters 1.35@2.60; odd bulls up to 3.60.

Calves 600, government 45, steady. Medium to good vealers 6.00, choice quotable to 7.00; medium calves 4.75@5.00; heavies 4.50 down.

Sheep 700, slow, steady to weak, 2 decks mostly medium 200 lb. wooled lambs 5.85; 2 decks shorn 80 lb. island ewes 2.90.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Aug. 15. (AP)—Steady demand was reported Wednesday for all offerings on the Fort Worth grain market.

Prices quoted by the grain committee of the Fort Worth grain and cotton exchange, based on bids, offers and actual sales to midday Wednesday, ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to delivery point:

Delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: wheat No. 1 hard 1.10@1.13. Barley No. 2 nominally 80@81; No. 3 nominally 79@80. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally 1.87@1.90; No. 3 milo nominally 1.85@1.88. No. 2 kafir nominally 1.75@1.77; No. 3 milo nominally 1.73@1.75.

Delivered Texas common points or group three—corn No. 2 white 98 3-4@99 3-4; No. 2 yellow 96 3-4@97 1-4. Oats No. 2 red 58 1-2@59 1-2; No. 3 red 57 1-2@58 1-2.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 15. (AP)—Disturbed by uncertainties over reports of proposed measures at Washington touching control of crops and food prices, Chicago wheat values underwent material fresh tumbles today.

Big breaks in European wheat quotations, partly a result of general rains relieving Australian drouth, were a contributing bearish influence. It was the fifth successive day of an irregular downward trend of prices here, and the extreme overnight fall of wheat today was 2 5-8 cents a bushel, carrying the market to about 11 cents under last Friday's top point.

Wheat in Chicago closed nervous, 7-8 to 1 3-4 lower than yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to 3-8 higher, oats 1-4 to 5-8 down, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to 12 cents advance.

Directors Selected

Selection of two new directors and the re-election of two old ones marked a business session Wednesday. John Chisholm of Brownfield and Roy Conway of Hereford were named, the former for three years and the latter for one year. Mr. Schietinger and Mrs. Carl Hoffman of Argyle were re-elected for three-year terms. Hold-over directors are: President A. H. Demke of Stephenville, Frank White, jr., of Clarendon, H. H. Drumm of Brenham, Walter Carter of Ennis, Roy McDonald of Dallas and Mrs. T. J. Clark of Gainesville.

Selection of the 1935 convention city will take place in today's session. Mineral Wells and Amarillo have extended invitations but Amarillo wants the convention in 1936 if the practice of taking it to other sections of the state in alternate years is continued.

Talks Are Heard

Dr. Jull, Dean Davis of John Tarleton, Mr. McDonald, Mr. Heywang, Mr. Brownell, Dr. North, Mr. Shade, were heard in talks on Wednesday's program. A paper by W. O. Ramshaw of Salt Lake, Utah, was read by Mr. E. N. Holmgreen also, Mr. Ramshaw being unable to attend.

Improvement of flocks, egg selection and grading, breeding, feeding, modern methods of pedigreeing and developments of the industry were topics of discussions.

Roy Lynnes, editor of the Poultry Supply Dealer, Chicago and Mr. Holmgreen will be heard in talks on this afternoon's program prior to the business session and adjournment. Report of the resolutions and power bill committees and the egg grading law proposal will feature the business session.

Nine states are represented in the convention either by delegates or speakers. Every hatchery in the state of New Mexico has a representative here and fifty cities in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma constitute the registration.

The convention closes late this afternoon.

Drouth Problem

in plenty was reinforced later in the day by an official review of the drouth and its ravages.

Damage Is Worse

The department of agriculture's report said frankly that damage up to August 15 had exceeded expectations and was much worse than any previous year on record.

But "food supplies for the nation as a whole are ample" the review said, adding that "stocks of bread grains and of several other food products are large."

Other White House observations on the drouth and the problems it has raised were:

That the $25,000,000 drouth relief fund voted by congress is thought to be ample to take care of relief needs and is sufficient, at least, until after congress returns.

There is no present prospect of a new organization outside AAA and the relief agencies to take care, either of relief needs, or to watch profiteering and speculation.

Watching Exchanges

The government is keeping a close watch on the commodity exchanges since there is some evidence that speculators have transferred their operations to them from the stock market.

The drouth has reduced the surpluses in wheat, and other crops as well, ahead of time—from two to three years before the AAA expected the burdensome accumulations to vanish. As a result, plans will be revised and acreage restrictions relaxed or abandoned in some cases.

Officials are studying proposals for a "reserve" of grain and other foodstuffs to hold in reserve against "lean" years.

Additional machinery to curb speculation is planned. This may mean the passage of exchange legislation at the next session.

That the president believes food prices have gone up very little as a direct result of the doruth.

Important Discoveries On Defects In Newly Born Babes Are Announced

BRYAN, Aug. 15. (AP)—Important discoveries upon the occurrence of eye defects and diseases in newly born babes, possibly pointing the way to preventing or overcoming them, were made recently, officials of the Texas agricultural experiment station believe.

Three litters of pigs, all with defective eyes, farrowed at the station, have given evidence of the profound effects of vitamin A upon the development and functioning of the animal body. The experiments leading to the discoveries were made by Fred Hale, chief of the division of swine husbandry.

Two Possible Causes

Two possible causes, inheritance or deficiency in vitamin A, were assigned as the cause for an entire litter of 11 pigs being born without eyes. The history of heredity, however, taught that this would occur only once in about four million times even though both parents were carriers of this defect. In this case the dam had been fed on a ration, deficient in vitamin A and the evidence therefore pointed to the lack of vitamin A as the cause.

Seeking to establish this theory, Hale worked during 1933, with only a limited knowledge of the measures necessary, to deplete the bodies of mature sows of vitamin A. The results were unsatisfactory.

Placed On Ration

In 1933 Hale took two five months old gilts, unrelated to the sow that farrowed the eyeless pigs, and for 17 days placed them on a ration deficient in vitamin A but abundant in all other elements. At the end of the period one had become so weak it could not walk and the other's gait was extremely wabbly. The gilt that was down appeared to be past recovery but it was given two ounces of cod liver oil—in other words a good shot of vitamin A.

It recovered sufficiently in one day to walk and 14 days later both were bred to a boar of another breed than the sow that had farrowed the eyeless pigs.

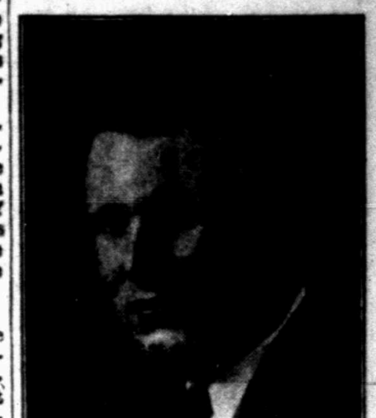

The gilts then were placed on a vitamin A deficiency ration for 30 days after breeding, which is the period during which the eye develops in pigs. At the end of that period Hale placed both gilts on a ration so abundant in vitamin A that they would have every chance to develop normal litters.

Various Combinations

When the two gilts farrowed the one that had received no vitamin A produced a litter of 10 eyeless pigs. The other that had been given cod liver oil farrowed a litter of 14 with various combinations of eyes. Some had no eyes, others had one normal eye and one small eye, some had but one eye, but all were blind. Autopsy of the pigs that died showed that some had but one kidney and others none.

A. B. Conner, director of the station, who watched the experiments stated that they may furnish the explanation of cases of weak and defective eyes found in humans at birth and may lead to an explanation of other defective organs in the human body. Since the functional eye is in fact a nerve it is entirely possible, he said, that the lack of vitamin A during the prenatal period may effect the nervous system of the embryo. This discovery from research with farm animals may be of profound importance to the future welfare of the human race Conner said.

Former President

J. A. Hannah, managing agent of the national breeder and hatchery coordinating committee, is here to attend convention sessions of the Texas Baby Chick association. Mr. Hannah was president of the International Baby Chick Association for the year 1933-34. He speaks on "The Code For 1935" today.

Abernathy Plans To Aid Plainview

ABERNATHY, Aug. 15.—Abernathy has already begun preparations for assisting Plainview in entertaining the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in 1935. Hale county cheese, manufactured in Abernathy at Struve cheese factory, has already been made and stored away for ripening for nine months. F. W. Struve, partner with his brother, Ben F., in the local plant, states American cheese should be ripened at least three months before being eaten. "This we have put away will be in excellent condition for serving the W. T. C. C. boys," he said.

Duke ran to a telephone and notified officers.

The farmer gave good general descriptions of the two men, officers said. The witness said the car bore an Oklahoma license.

Hearing Gets Oil Attention

Operators In The East Texas Field Highly Interested In Case Set For Friday In Federal Court At Sherman

KILGORE, Aug. 15. (AP)—Oil men, particularly those operating in East Texas fields, turned their attention today to the hearing set for Friday in Federal Judge Randolph Bryant's court at Sherman of the case of the Superior Petroleum corporation, et al, vs. the Texas railroad commission, testing the validity of the latest commission order.

The order requires that tenders be granted by the commission on all refined products of petroleum with the exception of gasoline and kerosene before such can be moved. A similar order applying to gasoline and kerosene is expected to be issued soon. Commission officials and many oil men believed that the two orders, if properly enforced, would solve the "hot oil" traffic in East Texas.

Plants Closed Down

Practically every topping plant in East Texas has closed down since the first order became effective last week, commission officials said. "Hot oil" operators admit they are doomed if the order is upheld and enforced. Some of them were said to feel that their day is over and a few are reported to be preparing to move out of East Texas, while others think that they can beat the commission's order and continue. The latter are marking time until the federal court decision is handed down.

"With the possible exception of a few tank wagons hauling gasoline made from hot oil from the field, there is no excess production leaving East Texas," said Captain E. N. Stanley, chief of the East Texas division of the railroad commission. "There may still be some theft and some over-production of crude oil but it is not going out of the field."

Numbers of refiners have called on Stanley, he said, and told him that they are for the regulation; that it looked to them like the salvation of the legitimate refiner.

Reorganization Of System Of Accounting Recommended

AUSTIN, Aug. 15. (AP)—Reorganization of the accounting system of the Texas relief administration in five phases was recommended today by T. B. Trotter company of Houston, engaged to survey relief administrative departments.

Adam Johnson, state director, said the survey was ordered to "eliminate overlapping functions and duplication of effort, and at the same time relieve county administrators of detail work which may be concentrated in the central office."

Trotter tentatively recommended establishment of a control record of all expenditures; a pre-audit system on purchase orders; a tabulating section to analyze expenditures by counties; a daily accounting of outstanding purchase commitments and cash balances, and a general ledger of assets and liabilities.

The audit also will review the organizational set up of the administration.

Large Crowds Attending A Revival Of Salvation Army

Large crods have been attending revival at the Salvation Army hall, 709 Thirteenth street, conducted by Rev. J. N. Churchill, father of Captain John Churchill, commandant. So well attended have been the meetings that it has been necessary to move outside on the lots between the Army hall and the home, at 701 Thirteenth street. Services begin at 8:30 each night.

Eleven persons so far have been converted or reclaimed. The meetings will continue this week and next.

"The people are praying for rain," said Reverend Churchill, a minister of the Nazarene church. "Let us return to our God and He will return to us. God has never failed to bless the righteousness of His own people, who bless Him with their lives."

Local Recruiting Office Is Inspected By Army Officers

Captain Thomas G. Hansen, jr., and Technical Sergeant K. R. Lenzen, both of Fort Bliss, were here Wednesday inspecting the local recruiting office.

The officers left for Clovis, N. M., and from there they will go to Phoenix. Sergeant J. R. Maples is in charge of the Lubbock office. He said there were a number of vacancies in the cavalry and field artillery at Fort Bliss.

Jobless Families Start Life Anew

This is one of the houses on the community farm launched at Woodlake, Texas, by the federal government for 100 familes whose heads are unemployed. Each has modern conveniences and is different from the others. Residents will engage in agricultural work on the 1,500 acres comprising the community, and in craftsmanship. Officials believe each family will become self-supporting and be able to pay $18 a month on the cost of the home.

leaped out. "You needn't be grateful. All you need to do is to remember thas this child is mine. And if you ever try to claim her I'll tell the whole story."

Jane struck back, subtly, sweetly, but with the sharpest blow she could deal. "I'm glad to give the child to you, Amy, since you have none of your own—if you hadn't taken Howard Jackson away from me this would have been his child, remember. I shan't claim her."

"Howard didn't want you," said Amy, "and you know it. I don't suppose he'll want this child of yours either—that's one reason why you must never claim her—"

Jane was pale now, but she recovered her sense. "Don't let's quarrel again. It's so foolish to quarrel—"

"I'm not quarreling with you, but I won't stand your lies. You want always to twist things so you're not to blame. Well, this can't be twisted. I've always loved you, Jane, no matter what you did, but this is— I don't know—it's as if you—you had no—no integrity in your soul."

"Integrity in my soul! That's only a fancy phrase! It doesn't mean anything. Why don't you look at the whole thing sensibly as I've asked you to before. What on earth would I do with a baby?"

"This isn't a baby, it's your baby, or it was—now it's mine. If we talked for a thousand years we'd never agree. Stay out of my life, Jane—I don't want you there any more. Goodby." She did not offer to shake hands, she did not want to touch or come near Jane.

Jane waited a second. "Goodby," she said as last, and went out. Through the window Amy could see her walking quickly along the platform, head up, slight and young and buoyant.

"I hope I never see her again", thought Amy. "I wouldn't have believed—no, I wouldn't have believed—she didn't even look at the baby, or say a word about her or to her." She was trembling, shaken by her rare passionate anger. She could not remember when she had ever been so angry before. The porter came and one part of her mind busied itself with practical matters, fresh ice to pack the supply of prepared food for the child, and then the necessary warming of it at the right intervals; she sent for something to eat for herself, she arranged her baggage and wraps for the most space. But all the time another part of her wask beck with Jane, repeating the warning never to intrude again into the peace and truth of her life.

In the morning Amy's father and mother were both at the train and when they saw her they ran toward her exclaiming together: "Word's come through from Howard—he's in Norway and he's all right." Her father caught her: "Look out, dear, don't faint!" for she had turned weak and dizzy with the joy of the good news. Then they all talked at the same time and Amy looked from one to the other, resting in their sure and stable affection, returning it, feeling herself bound round once more in its dear familiar security. As they got into a cab Mrs. Lowe took the baby. "How tiny!" she said. "Neither of us quite believed it when you wrote you'd adopted a baby. What's her name?"

"Mother, she hasn't any. You might choose one. I'm too worn out. Do you think it was a crazy thing to do? Do you, Father?"

"Oh, rather crazy. But nice. She looks a healthy young one," answered her father.

"She's a darling, very good. Only there's a lot more taking care of babies than I imagined. We'll talk about her after awhile. Tell me about Howard, every single thing you know."

They didn't, it now seemed, know very much beyond the fact that he and Professor Ellert had managed to get to Norway, but how and when they would be able to leave there no one could tell. The State Department was trying to arrange passage. "I knew this war was coming," said Professor Lowe, "but I didn't expect it quite so soon. It should have been two or three years later."

"They didn't consult you!" mocked his wife gently.

The cab turned off toward the Crescent. "Oh, Mother," said Amy, "I won't go home with you. I think I ought to get back into my own house and establish the baby there. She has so much paraphernalia it will muss up your kitchen and bother old Lilian."

"But darling, you're more than welcome to muss up the kitchen and I don't believe Lilian will mind very much."

"Mother, you know she'll rave."

In the end it was arranged that Amy should go to her own house and that her mother would stay with her for the first few days. "But I'll go on home now," said Mrs. Lowe, "and bring back things for lunch, and your old cradle."

"And any of my old baby clothes you've got tucked away. She has hardly anything to wear."

GRINDS OUT LAWS

BERLIN. (AP) — The third reich does not lack for new laws and decrees. From December 21, 1933, to June 29, 1934, it is announced, the Hitler cabinet promulgated 77 federal laws and 218 decrees dealing with everything from theaters to street traffic.

Unique Device Helping Sales

ABERNATHY, Aug. 15—Drawing attention to articles he sells, Anton Zeman, operator of a service station here, has manufactured a unique device which draws attention every day from passing motorists and home folks.

Zeman's device consists of two large cut-out figures, resembling George McManus' famous comic characters, Maggie and Jiggs, which are animated by a wind propeller. As the propeller turns it causes Maggie to lambast Jiggs with a rolling pin. Jiggs, in turn, pumps away at an ordinary size tire pump, to which is attached a well-known brand of inner tube.

The figures stand about three feet high and are very life-like. Painted in bright colors, the device never fails to attract the eye of passers-by.

Persons Too Ill To Vote At Regular Boxes Are Asked To Call County Clerk Ed Allen

Persons who are bedfast, or unable to leave their homes to vote, may participate in the second primary August 25, provided they get in touch with Ed Allen, county clerk, before noon of Monday, August 20.

"I will be willing to go to the home of any one who is ill in bed and unable to come to the polls and vote," Mr. Allen said, "and to take a ballot with me for them." Election judges advise they will not be able to get away on election day, so I am willing to help in any way I can along that line. However, I cannot accept any calls after noon of Monday."

Mr. Allen has made several such trips, including one to the Lubbock sanitarium late yesterday.

Long Trip Is To Open Today

Publishers And Aviation Officials Leave Miami Today On 15,000-Mile Journey To The West Indies

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. (AP) — A group of publishers and aviation officials is scheduled to leave Miami tomorrow on a 15-day, 15,00-mile flight to the West Indies and east coast countries of South America.

The itinerary includes visits to 12 countries and colonies for the purpose of obtaining personal knowledge of commercial and social trends in South America.

The flight is to be made in the "Brazilian Clipper," new commercial flying boat which is to be christened at ceremonies in Rio De Janeiro by Senora Getulio Vargas, wife of the president of Brazil.

Those In Group

In the group making the trip are these eight members and a special representative of the Associated Press:

Frank E. Gannett, chairman of the Gannett newspapers; James G. Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville Banner and president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers association; Roy Howard, publisher of the New York World-Telegram; Paul Patterson, publisher of the Baltimore Sun; John Cowles, associate publisher of the Des Moines Register and Tribune; Jerome D. Barnum, publisher of the Syracuse Post-Standard and vice-president of the American Newspaper Publishers association; H. V. Jenkins, publisher of the Savannah Morning News and the Savannah Press; Among G. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, and William F. Brooks, executive assistant to the general manager of the Associated Press.

Former Senator Reed In Attack

DETROIT, Aug. 15. (AP)—The Detroit News today quotes former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri in an interview as criticising what he termed "running the nation's affairs by politicians and college professors in Washington."

"If the government only would realize," the News quoted Reed as saying "that the people of this country have brains — business brains — then we might have a chance to get back to normal times."

Asked whether business is not better, Reed said:

"Very little, and that little has resulted in sipte of what the government has done and not because of it. If there is any improvement it has been wrought by plunging the country into debt, by broadcasting money. It's just like a man who borrows money and for a time has some to spend, but who in the end must bear the burden of his borrowing."

Farmer Dead And Son Hurt As Result Of A Fist Fight

ADA, Okla., Aug. 15. (AP)—A farmer is dead and his son wounded seriously as the result of a fist fight over location of a brush arbor for a revival meeting.

Charley Lamar, 67, was shot and killed and his son, Bill, 26, wounded at the home of Earl Mayfield, 28, late yesterday. Mayfield was held for questioning. A few hours earlier, authorities said, Mayfield and another son of Lamar engaged in a fist fight over location of the arbor.

All the men are farmers of near Beebe.

The bureau of air commerce has adopted black and Galatea orange as the colors to be used on its official airplanes. Galatea is a brownish orange shade.

Milk Strike Is Thought Averted

FORT WORTH, Aug. 15. (AP) — Fort Worth's milk strike apparently was averted today as word was received from the federal government that such action would jeopardize the AAA license agreement which is expected to be placed in effect Sept. 1.

Word that the federal agreement would be placed in operation here in 15 days was expected to result in withdrawal of wholesale producers from the threatened strike.

Meanwhile, distributors moved to put in effect Friday an agreement which will boost the retail price of milk here from 10 cents to 12 cents per quart and the price of buttermilk from 8 to 9 cents a quart.

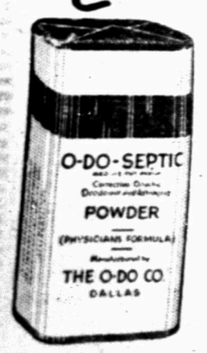

This agreement, which will raise the prices paid producers, was rejected last week at a producers' meeting as not sufficient to take care of advancing feed costs.

Young Illness Victim May Have Contracted A New One

For 61 days Bobby Burnett, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Burnett, Slaton, has been in the Lubbock sanitarium fighting against a series of diseases, measles, sleeping sickness and rheumatism. Now he may have heart disease in connection with the latter.

When received at the sanitarium he was unconscious, a victim of lethargic encephalitis. He has virtually recovered from both measles and sleeping sickness but it was indicated he may be developing a heart disease.

With MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN,

"Why are Old Golds so throat-easy, yet so delightful to the taste?"

asks Margaret Sullavan

[RECENT OLD GOLD CONVERT]

Dear Miss Sullavan:—

To be easy on the throat, a cigarette must be made of mild, slow-burning tobaccos. But some people make the mistake of confusing mildness with flatness.

As a matter of fact, the smoothest and mildest tobaccos are also the best tasting—the most enjoyable to smoke. The same sun-ripening and aging that help to develop smoothness impart flavor and character, too.

So it's not strange, after all, that Old Golds possess both taste appeal and throat-ease to such a marked degree. For in the choicest tobaccos these two virtues just naturally go hand in hand.

Sincerely,
P. LORILLARD COMPANY, INC.
ESTABLISHED 1760

P. S.:—To put it briefly, Miss Sullavan: No better tobacco grows than is used in Old Gold. And it's pure. That's why Old Golds are easy on the THROAT and NERVES.
