HAY BARN FIRE BRINGS GRIEF TO CITY, TOO

Small Boys Start Plenty When Flames Break Out Tuesday

STREET FLOODED

Small boys and a match—if they were to blame at all, wrought havoc and disc[illegible] bounded degree yesterday [illegible].

Many [illegible] flat accusation vote, after [illegible] the cause of all its retroac[illegible]t is believed they [illegible].

The [illegible] broke out under conditions indicating juvenile carelessness, and in addition to visiting a property loss of over $6,000 on the Wichita Feed and Fuel company it finally involved the fire, water and street departments in a glorious mess of mud and inconvenience.

Discovered After 2.

The blaze was discovered a little after 2 o'clock in the feed company warehouse at Mill and Galveston streets. An alarm brought two companies to the scene, but before they arrived flames had shot clear through a building piled high with dry hay. It would have been bad enough to fight under favorable conditions, but firemen ran into trouble before they ever got within a block of the blazing structure.

Prior to the fire's inception, a valve on a 10-inch water main running down Mill street directly in front of the building had broken and a lake of water three feet deep and half a block long covered the street. The water department had shut off pressure to repair the break, but when the flames broke out it was found all the plugs around it were tied onto that particular main.

Water Turned On.

Water was promptly turned on, and a geyser shot 30 feet into the air. For an hour it sprayed the whole neighborhood, but in the meantime it gave some plug pressure and fire fighting started in earnest. Two plug lines were laid but these were not enough so a pumper was sent to another plug to start operations through a 2,000 foot line of rubber.

Even this, though, made too slow progress against the stubborn blaze so a second pumper was run to a precarious perch between the lake in the street and the burning building. A suction line was dropped into the water and thus another strong stream was obtained. Luck was on the right side in this, for the hissing fountain from the big main was constantly feeding the lagoon and furnished an ample supply for the pumper which would have soon drained it otherwise.

For more than an hour firemen poured thousands of gallons of water into the smouldering stacks of hay and then, with the fire under control, pressure was again shut off for a time until the broken main could be repaired. With water once more available, another long seige of fighting was necessary to tear apart all the smoking bales and extinguish every spark.

But still further trouble was encountered.

Truck Gets Stuck.

When its line had been unloaded, the central station hose truck was parked near the edge of the lake. No one paid attention to it while the fire was at its height, but when work was finished it was found the water had risen until one side of the truck had sunk deep into the softened earth and mud. The heavy machine was totally incapable of pulling out under its own power, so Chief McClure appealed to George Dobson, street superintendent, who was directing some road excavations on Eighteenth street just a block distant. A huge caterpillar truck was pulling a grader and this was taken down to the stalled truck. A logging chain was hitched between the two and with many snorts and puffs the tractor dragged the truck to solid ground.

Officials of the feed company, which was acquired just a few days ago by J. C. Mytinger company, said the only explanation they could give as to the cause of the blaze was small boys playing with matches. Constant trouble has been experienced from this source, they say. At least one disastrous fire is known to have been started at the place by youngsters and it is believed yesterday's blaze was also attributal to this.

Loss to stock was about $2,000, it was estimated, while the waterhouse had a valuation of around $4,500.

Johnson Out of Police Campaign

An announcement that he would be unable to continue the race on account of personal affairs was made Tuesday morning by Frank E. Johnson in withdrawing from the police commissioners campaign. Mr. Johnson, in a statement issued at the same time, thanked his friends for the support they were according him.

His withdrawal leaves an original field of eight narrowed down to three men. At one time eight candidates had announced their intention of running but only seven filed nominating petitions. Four have since withdrawn.

MORE WEATHER VARIETIES

Wichita Falls Is "Threatened" By Weather Man, But That's All.

Wichita Falls got another variety of threats from the weather man Tuesday—and as usual, that was all they amounted to.

For a time yesterday morning and then around the middle of the afternoon it appeared that the heavens might open and give some of the greatly needed moisture. But they didn't. The high wind that continued to prevail all day eventually blew the cloud banks away.

It was a raw, cold and disagreeable period from which no immediate relief is offered.

THE WEATHER

Little Willie caught on a nail while sliding down the barn roof Tuesday. Pants required twelve stitches; boy seven.

The weather as observed by the Wichita Falls Electric company: Maximum temperature, 75; minimum temperature, 53; at 5 p. m., 66; precipitation, 0; forecast, clear; maximum wind velocity, 24 miles per hour; average, 16 miles per hour; barometer, 29.12.

OKLAHOMA: Wednesday and Thursday partly cloudy to cloudy.

EAST TEXAS: Wednesday and Thursday partly cloudy to cloudy, warmer in northeast portion.

WEST TEXAS: Wednesday and Thursday partly cloudy.

OIL TAXES IN ARREARS WILL BE COLLECTED

State Comptroller Starts In Pursuit of Over Thirty Companies

AUSTIN, March 31. — The state comptroller has started on the trail of oil companies delinquent in the payment of gross production taxes on both oil and gasoline. An examination discloses so far that there are 30 companies in Texas which are behind anywhere from a few hundred to several thousand dollars. Suits have been prepared by the attorney general in a number of the cases.

Comptroller Sam H. Terrell has put several extra auditors to work in the gross production tax division of his department to run down the delinquent accounts. The attorney general had held that all these accounts are a prior lien on the property of the companies. Following this ruling, Mr. Terrell has devised a new blank form for gross production reports to show a detailed description of the kind and extent of the properties owned by the companies, so the state may know what property to attach in case of delinquency.

The department is to continue checking up on all the delinquents said, E. J. Martin, chief auditor of the division.

Robertson Home Fund Now $1,326

Contributions of $45, received Tuesday by W. C. Witcher and N. A. Ferguson, trustees for the Mrs. Hattie Robertson home building fund, brought the total thus far turned in for Mrs. Robertson to $1,326.50. A total of $1,281.50 had been turned in up to Tuesday morning.

Donations to the fund should be sent to the trustees in care of the Wichita State Bank and Trust company.

Following were the contributions yesterday:

TO SUPPORT FARM RELIEF

Plan to Unite All of Various Farming Interests in Country.

WASHINGTON, March 31. — A plan to unite all of the various farming interests in the country in support of an agricultural relief program for enactment at the next session of congress was announced today by Representative Dickinson, republican, Iowa, one of the house farm bloc leaders.

Mr. Dickinson has drafted a bill, which he said would be submitted to all agricultural organizations for study and suggestions in an effort to concentrate all interests behind one measure.

SHOULD KNOW CRUDE THREAT RESULT TODAY

Balcones Tests Due To Reach Bottom Of Chalk

THREE DRILLING

Entire Story Depends On Depth Woodbine Is Topped

The story of the year's second big crude market threat should be known tomorrow morning, say late dispatches from the zone of the Balcones fault wildcatting last night.

The three Henderson and Kaufman county wildcats, located as near right as geology could locate, were drilling in the Austin chalk, that "key" formation for the mammoth central Texas pools, such as Powell, Mexia, Wortham, and should reach the bottom and drill into the top of the Woodbine series sometime late today or tonight.

Where these three wells get the bottom of the Austin chalk will tell in advance whether 2.25 oil will survive the week, for if that "depth" is right, they'll stand ready to open any one of them, the newest and furthest north of the Balcones fault zone pools, pools that rise overnight to 100,000 barrels a day output.

In Henderson county Cranfill-Murchison-Fain were drilling yesterday in the hard chalk at 2,465 feet, this formation topped at 2,270 feet, in their No. 1, Al Springer, James Gardner survey, about 17 miles northeast of Corsicana. The soft chalk had been encountered at 2,228 feet. Sixteen hundred feet east Penn-Windsor Humphries et al No. 1, Murphy, James Gardner survey, was drilling in hard shale at 2,209 feet, no chalk yet.

Humble's Millions.

Nearly three miles north on the other end of the Humble's million dollar untested block of 6,000 acres Murchison and Fain and Marland's O. P. Duff No. 1, Ybarbo survey, Kaufman county, found the top of the chalk at 2,420 feet, and was last reported drilling past 2,574 feet in the hard chalk yet.

The top of the chalk is not always a criterion for forecasting wells on the Balcones system, the slant of the fault oftentimes permiting a well to top the "key" on the downthrow side of the fault, and pass through into the lowest and most productive of the Woodbine formations, the well logging on a comparatively few feet of the chalk. Hence it may be that, while the Murchison-Fain-Marland No. 1, Duff, topped the "key" low, that it will bet only a "thin" chalk and top the Woodbine "right" After all, in which event, judging by the performance along the Balcones, it should make a better well than the Cranfill et al No. 1, Springer, topped its chalk "high," if that it makes a well.

Bazette "Bazooz."

The first big threat of the year came at Bazette where millions were invested, and lost, when a gusher high produced only a gas well. The same area is being tested now, Gulf-Kirby, their tests drilling at 2,035 feet, having topped the chalk at 2,004, and showing for another gas well.

A major share in two of the Buffalo-Mabank wells mentioned above in Kaufman and Henders[illegible] are owned by Wichita Falls operators. Murchison-Fain, promoters through osuth Archer successes, and Cranfill Brothers Oil company, associated prominently with both central Texas and north Texas development.

GRAIN DELIVERIES DROP

New Low Mark Established At Chicago For Day.

CHICAGO, March 31.—Grain deliveries established new low marks today on the present movement, but after starting on the toboggan which resulted in a ten cent decline for May wheat yesterday, nearly all deliveries made a rapid recovery during the last hour of trading with the markets closing near where they closed yesterday for the various grades.

The slump was said to have been due to belated liquidation and stop order selling. Commission house buying and short covering brought the market back up, but it was still fluctuating erratically at the close.

Insanity Jury Is Selected for Girl

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—A jury of nine men and three women was selected at 6 o'clock tonight to determine the mental competency of Dorothy Ellingson. Judge Luckback then adjourned court until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when testimony will begin.

Triplets Born In Wichita

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Yellow Norwich, 716 Tenth street, triplets—a boy and two girls. Mrs. Norwich is doing nicely.

Appropriate to such auspicious occasion the Record News runs this on its front page this morning, and sends its congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Norwich. We are informed that the youngsters, who came into this world a week ago last Friday are healthy, weighing less than an ounce for their combined little selves. They will live, the attending physician states.

Unfortunately, Mr. Norwich has deserted his wife, however, and is now sojourning with a vampire who coaxed him away from the faithful mother who has just presented him with triplets.

We forgot to state that Mr. and Mrs. Yellow Norwich are a couple of the daintiest canary birds you ever saw down at the Morgan Floral company.

Spring is here.

Plan to Centralize State Government

AUSTIN, March 31.—(AP)—The move to take the state government "off of wheels and centralize it in Austin" received impetus today when a reduction of eight in the personnel of the weights and measures and markets and warehouses departments, effective May 1, was announced by W. D. Cowan, commissioner.

This, the second reduction made by Mr. Cowan since he took office about [illegible] ago, was worked out in conference with Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, Cowan said, and will result in a saving of $24,000 to the state. Such a move was one of the campaign promises of former Gov. James E. Ferguson, Mr. Cowan said.

STOP MOVIE DECEPTION

Film Titles Must Bear Old Titles As Well as New.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Motion picture films, when re-issued under changed titles, must bear their old titles as prominently as their new, the federal trade commission held today in an order against four respondents in New York, Philadelphia and Boston.

The commission charged that while "The Three Musketeers," a film featuring Douglas Fairbanks, was being shown in New York, the respondents reissued an old Fairbanks film entitled "D'Artagnan" under the title of "The Three Musketeers" using advertising matter designed to mislead the public as to the re-issued [illegible] as the latter [illegible] were [illegible] of such [illegible]

C. A. Timms of the University of Texas, was elected secretary-treasurer. H. G. James of the University of Texas was re-elected editor of the quarterly. Vice presidents elected are: G. B. Dealey of Dallas; F. F. Blachly, University of Oklahoma, and D. Y. Thomas, University of Arkansas.

GUESTS ARE VACCINATED.

Case of Small Pox Is Discovered In Houston Hotel.

HOUSTON, March 31.—Wholesale vaccination was in progress at a local hotel, Tuesday, following the discovery of a case of small pox among the guests late Monday night. Chief Quarantine Officers H. O. Johnson removed the patient to the pest house and vaccinated 25 guests in the hotel.

The case was the last one to be reported during the month of March, there being no new cases Tuesday. There were 59 cases reported during the month and n odeaths from the disease.

WANTS PRISON VETO.

Texas Senator Asks That Relocation Act Be Stopped by Governor.

AUSTIN, March 31.—Senator R. H. Bowers of Caldwell Tuesday urged Governor Ferguson to veto the prison relocation bill, during a conference at the governor's office. His visit followed a meeting Monday afternoon between the governor and Representative Claude D. Teer, author of the relocation bill and women representing eight of the largest statewide women's organizations when approval of the measure was asked.

NO PHONES FOR HELP.

Attorney General Rules That County Assistant Officials Not Entitled.

AUSTIN, March 31.—(AP)—Some county officials may have to "shout out of the window," as a result of a ruling by the attorney general's department that counties are "not" authorized under the law to supply telephones to their officials. Only in cases where there are excess fees in any department, may the telephones be paid for by the counties.

"Lest Delegates Drink," Clarendon Sheriff Will Attend C.-C. Convention

CLARENDON, March 31. — Announcement was made Monday by Secretary J. H. Burris and Sam M. Braswell that, in accord with the request of officials of the West Texas chamber of commerce, of which Braswell is a director, delegates to the convention from Clarendon would be expected to observe the eighteenth amendment. Furthermore, it was announced that Sheriff H. C. (Total-Abstainer) Brumley was going along to help them observe it.

"I can't ascertain whether they are afraid they can't keep their bone-dry resolutions and want me along to help them, or whether in event they do slip they prefer to be corralled by home talent," Brumley stated Monday. "I don't know whether I am a necessity or a precaution, but in any event I am going to operate with the Mineral Wells police by keeping tab on Clarendon boys and promise to keep them sober to vote for Amarillo for the 1926 convention."

So Clarendon is going down prepared to observe the request and to help enforce it.

'FRIEND' VISITS WICHITAN, THEN HI-JACKS HIM

J. B. Scarbrough, Holliday Creamery, Victim of Attack Tuesday Night

SEARCH FOR MAN

Assailant Visits With Him 30 Minutes Then Slugs Him With Hammer

J. B. Scarbrough, night manager of the Holliday Creamery, is in the general hospital and at an early hour this morning police were seeking a man who shortly before midnight attacked Scarbrough with a small sledge hammer in what is supposed to have been an attempt to rob the creamery company safe. Scarbrough sustained severe scalp wounds, at least, but it was not thought he had been seriously injured otherwise. He said three blows were rained on his head and that he was knocked down.

Officers Called.

City police, called to the scene, were given the name and description of the man Scarbrought said assaulted him. The victim said he was a personal friend and had sat in the office with him 30 minutes Tuesday night before the attack was made.

"I turned my back," Scarbrough told Joe Persley, city motorcycle officer, "and the first thing I knew he was hitting me."

Holds Assailant.

Scarbrough grappled with his assailant and held him for several minutes but finally became so weak from loss of blood the intruder broke away and ran. The police were then summoned and later a Burris-Dalton ambulance was called to take him to the hospital.

The man for whom a search is now being made is said to have worked at a local bottling company.

Scarbrough's home is at 1401 N. Sixth street.

Mrs. Purdy Will Not Appear for Husband

TULSA, Okla., March 31—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Purdy, divorced wife of Eugene Purdy, accused slayer of E. S. Hutchison, wealthy Tulsa lumber man will not appear on the witness stand in defense of her former husband, attorneys for Purdy today announced.

Attorneys for the state said that they had not definitely decided as to whether they would call Mrs. Purdy as a witness for the prosecution.

Proceedings in the trial of Purdy which opened before Judge W. B. Williams in the Tulsa county district court on Monday moved slowly today. When the court recessed tonight, the first jury panel of 150 men had been exhausted and examination of an additional panel of 100 men had begun.

MADDOX LEAVES OFFICE

No Successor Appears Here Yet For Highway Post.

With the departure for Austin of E. F. Maddox, engineer in charge of state highway work here, the local office was left yesterday without a superintendent. W. A. Oberchain, understood to be on his way here from the capitol, had failed to put in an appearance late in the afternoon. It is presumed he was delayed somewhere on the road and will show up, perhaps today.

Mr. Maddox will resign his place with the department, he indicated yesterday prior to his departure, rather than accept a position at Paris to which he was to have been transferred.

The change here is one of many being made in the state highway department under the newly elected Ferguson administration.

Boundary Men to Meet on April 7

AUSTIN, March 31. — The Red River boundary commission of U. S. supreme court, will resume its work of marking the boundary line between Texas and Oklahoma in eleven Texas counties over the 600 mile line from Quanah to Texarkana, A. A. Stiles, member, announced. The commissioners Stiles and A. D. Kidder, will hold their first public hearing at Wichita Falls, April 7, next at Vernon, then Quanah, then at other points. Commissioner Stiles said, "It is important that people appear before the boundary commission and give all possible information as to the real location of the boundary cut bank of the river." The boundary line is to be fixed at the south bank of the Red river as it was in 1821.

ROTARY GOVERNOR DIES.

San Antonio Man, Head of 13th District Dies After Illness.

SAN ANTONIO, March 31.—George C. Holmgreen, vice president of th eAlamo Iron works and Rotary governor to rthe 13th (Texas) district died at a local hospital this evening. He had been ill three weeks following a visit to Galveston, where he attended a district Rotary conference.

Waurika Holds Man For Bank Robbery

WAURIKA, Okla., March 31.—Walter O'Quinn, former resident of this city, was arrested in Oklahoma City by Oklahoma City police this morning and brought to Waurika this afternoon by Sheriff Driskill of Jefferson county.

O'Quinn, who was implicated in the Addington bank robbery of last spring by confession of Page Bohannon, now serving a 25-year sentence for connection with the robbery, will be arraigned in the Jefferson county court Wednesday morning.

Silver Lining In A Dark Cloud

Park Commissioner Rescues Aged Woman From Eviction on Front Street

J. H. PATTON, Park Commissioner.

A LOT with an unencumbered title and her tiny cabin set up on it in good shape will be the happy circumstance in which Mrs. D. A. Robertson, an aged victim of the Front street squabbles, will find herself in a few days.

Mrs. Robertson's story was unfolded to the city council Monday night and showed her as one in no wise to blame for conditions that conspired to rob her of her home. Her predicament aroused the commiseration of the counsel and, not because they had to, but because they were genuinely sympathetic, Mayor Shepherd and the commissioners started a fund from their own pockets designed to make an initial payment on a lot the woman said she could buy for $25 down.

Commissioner J. H. Patton, to whom Mrs. Robertson first appealed for aid, brought the matter to the attention of his colleagues and took the lead in the matter. The $25 raised at the council meeting was turned over to Mr. Patton and Tuesday voluntary subscriptions came in sufficient to raise it to $50.

Through J. L. Jackson, a local real estate man, Mr. Patton found a lot 25 by 150 feet on Wichita street, north of the river, that could be purchased for $50 even. Mr. Jackson was one of the voluntary contributors to the fund, and he and Mr. Patton together, engineered the deal that acquired the land. It is said to be a tract of ample proportions and ideal location for the small house in which Mrs. Robertson has been living.

A deed to the place will be placed in the woman's hands today and, to make the work complete, the city will supply men and equipment needed to move the tiny structure across the river and set it up on the new site.

SHEAN GRILLED IN EFFORT TO SAVE CHAPMAN

Underworld Character Is On Stand in Hands Of Bandit's Lawyers

HARTFORD, Conn., March 31.—The underworld and some of its nationally known characters furnished the background for today's session of Gerald Chapman's trial for murder.

Frederick J. Grochl, Chapman's chief counsel attempted to discredit the testimony given against his client yesterday by the state's principal witness, Walter E. Shean, the Springfield, Mass., advertising man, whose confession caused the spectacular mail robber's indictment for murder.

Says He's Innocent

Shean, on the stand yesterday, depicted himself as the innocent victim of Chapman, ending in the accusation that the mail looter had led him into the robbery of Davidson and Leventhal's department store in New Britain last October 12, and the subsequent murder of Patrolman James Skelly.

Grochl, through merciless questioning of Shean today, most of it prompted by Chapman, brought the admission of the witness that he had for eight years been an associate of nationally known criminals, and had evaded criminal prosecution before only through the intercession of his wealthy family.

Today brought state's side near its close. The state's attorney, Hugh M. Alcorn, told Judge Jennings at adjournment that tomorrow morning would see the last of his witnesses. Both sides predicted the trial would said this week.

CHARGED WITH ABDUCTION

New York Woman Criminal Held For Boys Disappearance

NEW YORK, March 31.—Charged with having kidnaped three-year-old Raimonde Van Mulaski, Jr., who has been missing since Sunday, Mary Jones, 41, was held without bail today pending examination Thursday. Prosecution attorneys say records show that the woman has participated in three bigamous marriages and four work house terms.

Police, after scouring the East Side, tonight had concluded the boy was dead—a victim, they said, of the Jones woman's determination to be revenged for having been arrested last week on instigation of the boy's father on a charge of stealing a scarf and pin from the home.

ALCOHOL BARREL STOLEN.

Austin Police Search for Thief Who Took Liquid from Hospital.

AUSTIN, March 31.—The theft of a barrel containing 20 gallons of alcohol from the Emergency hospital, Seventh and Brazos street, a week ago, is under investigation by federal authorities, it was said Tuesday.

The half-filled barrel of alcohol was taken from a closet on the first floor of the hospital during the early morning hours a week ago, according to Dr. F. C. Gregg. The lock on the door was pried off and the barrel carried out and loaded on a truck and hauled away.

MA TO GO TO FIESTA.

Governor and Family Will Spend Week in San Antonio.

SAN ANTONIO, March 31.—Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson and members of her family will spend fiesta week, April 20 to 26 in San Antonio, the governor participating in all formal festivities. She will be guest of honor at the Battle of Flowers association luncheon to be held on San Jacinto day Tuesday, April 21.

The Fergusons will appear in the fiesta parade on Friday, April 24, the governor riding in an automobile accompanied by John Williams, president of the Fiesta de San Jacinto association. They will also attend the fete on Wednesday, April 22.

REPORT SHOWS POLICE BUSIER IN PAST YEAR

More Cases Handled And Fines Imposed, Says McConnell

A total of 3,262 cases were docketed by the city police department during the fiscal year ending at midnight last night, according to the annual report of the department's activities compiled by C. B. McConnell, police sergeant and ex-officio corporation clerk. This is a gain of 364 cases over the fiscal year ending March 31, 1924, which saw 2,898 cases docketed.

The department during the past year was more active in every respect than in the 12 months previous, Mr. McConnell's report reveals. Fines imposed this year ran to $19,844.50, against $18,603.10 of the year previous. Fines paid and bonds forfeited amounted to $17,043 for 1924 and $15,293.50 for 1923.

May Is Banner Month

May, 1924, was the banner month in department annals so far as docket cases were concerned. A total of 354 cases were handled then. July was second with 344 and April third with 329. August, the hottest month of the year, saw the least number handled—215.

April led in number of convictions obtained, 111, followed by July with 98. A total of 885 convictions were obtained in all. Other proceedings for the whole year were as follows: Bonds forefeited, 1,485; cases dismissed, 660; not guilty, 173; appealed, 23; transferred to county, 42; transferred to federal, 10; transferred to juvenile, 7; judgments set aside, 34; men remanded to jail, 124.

Leads in Fines.

April also led in the amount of fines imposed and fines collected. Of the former, that month's sum was $2,317, and of the latter $1,856. July was second with $2,151 imposed and $1,832 collected.

Total collections in fines were $17,043; fines paid by laying in jail, $396; paid, by street work, 89; escaped, $144; suspended, $1,649.50; released, $903.

Kimbro-Klan Suit Is Given to Jury

HOUSTON, March 31.—The suit of the ku klux klan against George B. Kimbro, Jr., for $25,000 alleged due it by the former officer, went to the jury this afternoon.

BURK WOMAN DIES.

Mrs. Barnie Gilbreath Suffers Fatal Illness; Funeral Incomplete.

BURKBURNETT, March 31.—Mrs. Barnie Gilbreath, 24, died here this afternoon at 2 o'clock following a short illness. She is survived by her husband, Barnie Gilbreath, of the Gross-Harrison Motor company, and three children, the eldest of which is 4 years old and the youngest an infant of 10 days.

Funeral arrangements are being withheld pending arrival of relatives.

Crude Output Is Up 11,000 Bbls.

TULSA, Okla., March 31.—Heavy oil production is increasing throughout the country and light oil production has been steadily decreasing the Oil and Gas Journal will point out this week.

Mid-Continent production increased 2,978 barrels a day during the week ending March 28, the Oil and Gas Journal will say. Total average daily was 1,011,930 barrels. The total average production for the United States was 1,951,630 an increase of 11,367 barrels a day.

Oklahoma last week showed an increase of 8,000 barrels.

North central Texas averaged 145,550 last week; 143,623 the week before. Powell, Mexia, Currie, Richland and Kansas dropped 1,000 barrels last week.

Gulf coast last week averaged 103,975; 96,785 the week previous. Eastern increased 1,750 to an average of 102,200. California showed a loss of 1,500 barrels.

OZZY WOOD IS BACK TO DENY HE IS "BROKE"

"Starts all Over Again" After Losing Heavily At Gambling

"A JOVIAL FELLOW"

Real Estate Agents Offer Him a Job But he Spurns Offers

TAMPA, Fla., March 31.—Osborne Wood came back to his native land today to "start all over again."

As for being "broke," however, a junior officer on board the federal shipping board vessel West Chetac said Wood was "loaded with money."

Wood arrived off Tampa early today on board the West Chetac and was brought up the bay on a private yacht chartered by newspaper men. He discussed his reported gambling losses at European resorts freely and laughed at the reports that when he boarded the West Chetac in Cadiz, Spain, his fortune, estimated at approximately one million dollars had dwindled to two one dollar bills.

"It is true that during the four months in Europe I threw away a large portion of my winnings on Wall Street in gambling resorts," the son of Major General Leonard Wood, governor of the Philippine Islands said. "But I still have plenty—enough not to worry," he added.

Counts On Luck.

"If I have the same luck through my Wall Street broker as I did a short time ago, I think I will be able to recover what I lost during my stay in Europe," he continued. Wood declined to state the exact amount of his losses nor would he attempt to make an estimate of the largest amount lost in a single night. "What's the use to talk about it now? Whenever it comes easy—easy it goes," he declared.

The crew of the West Chetac, lying at quarantine, cheered Wood as he departed. "A jovial fellow," was the captain's comment. "A clean cut sport," added the chief engineer.

Wood's bank roll came into play shortly after the freighter reached quarantine. A Tampa realty representative was on hand to financially "take care" of the "broke" youngster, but on catching sight of Wood's wallet tucked his own $1,000 back into his pocket and did not make Wood an offer to become a real estate agent as he had planned.

Wood gave another real estate representative encouragement by saying that he was considering offers submitted by several firms, but later said that in all probability he would leave Tampa at once for California.

Waits On Mrs. Wood.

Wood proved a reluctant talker. Asked whether he planned a reconciliation with his wife, he said that was a matter entirely up to Mrs. Wood. To prevent further questions on this subject he added "you may quote me as saying 'Mr. Wood does not care to be quoted on the subject'."

The spending orgy started, he said, shortly after he arrived in Paris last year. He left Manila after he resigned from the United States army and took a trip through the Suez canal "just to take a look at things." His luck stayed with him until he went to Athens, Greece and there he lost heavily, Wood said.

A trip back to Paris thence Deauville, Biarritz, again to Paris, thence to Madrid, Barcelona and another hop back to Madrid failed "to change my luck," he said. In Barcelona he met up with officers of the West Chetac and decided to return to America.

"I was in no hurry to leave except I met up with this bunch of good fellows and decided that it would be better to come across on a freighter than on a regular passenger ship loaded down with bored passengers," he declared.

Ranchera of King Estate, 93, Dead

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, March 31.—Mrs. Henrietta King of Kingsville, Texas, one of America's richest women and the owner of the world's largest ranch, died at her home at 10 o'clock tonight at the age of 93.

Mrs. King was the widow of the late Captain Richard King, one of the pioneer figures in south Texas. One daughter, Mrs. Robert J. Kleberg, of Kingsville, survives her. There are a number of grand children and great grand children.

Southeast Corner of Archer County Is Getting Big Spudder-Star Play

Lone Producer Causes Shallow Drilling Flurry

Northwest Jack County Well Starting Up Again

ONE OFFSET STARTING

Six Riggs In All Should Be Running Within Few Days

The extreme southeast corner of Archer county should see six rigs running within a week or ten days, unless unforeseen complications set in. With a single well producing about 10 barrels of 36.9 degree gravity oil a day from a series of producing sands below 600 feet is the cause of the flurry for this hitherto disregarded portion of the county, the little spudders and Star machines taking off the bulk of the drilling for the shallow pay.

Single Producer Is Making About 14 Barrels.

Since Nicholson et al's No. 1 Prodeaux, located approximately midway east and west on the north line of the south John Dorsey survey, abstract 122, was placed on the pump recently it has dropped off to about 10 barrels a day which it seems to be holding steady. The well is located about 10 miles from the nearest production in the Miller pool, in the extreme southeastern portion of the county.

In the northwest corner of the adjoining 40 acres to the east M. D. Cerf and Ilsing of Fort Worth are setting up a spudder to offset the producer, their No. 1, Prideaux. (Northwest corner of block 18, Fraley subdivision).

Approximately a quarter mile west, and across the survey line to the north (SE corner of lot 14, W. J. Fraley subdivision) W. E. (Bert) Dolman spudding with a 28 Star rig, No. 1, Prideaux.

About three-quarters of a mile to the west on the R. O. Prideaux land, J. J. Hand survey, abstract 181, Benton and others have closed a deal for a test, location not yet made.

Bradford Setting Up Spudder, McMurtray.

C. C. Bradford has made a location and is setting up a model D spudder about three miles northwest of the lone producer on the W. J. McMurtray farm, M. Galan survey, abstract 137.

Two miles north of the well on the Jess Prideaux land Bain and others are underreaming pipe to 1,000 feet in the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of block 1868, abstract 349, TE&LCO survey. This is a large Star machine.

Phillips and others test in Jack county on the J. M. Pruitt farm, in the northeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 1, SPRRCO survey, abstract 577, is starting up again after spudding and shutting down to allow a settlement of litigation on the farm.

Pipeline Prospective When 50 Barrels Reached.

A major pipeline company has promised the area a pipeline for their oil when as much as 50 barrels a day is obtained from wells there, and there is every indication that this will be forthcoming soon.

Analysis of the oil shows it to have a high naptha content, but to be lacking in both gasoline and parafin. It is green in appearance, much like that of other Archer county oil, and tests 36.9 degrees Baume igravity.

Muse, Schlegel

Muse and Robertson have tested the sand at 1,195-1,208 feet in their No. 1, B. Schlegel, in the southwest corner of their north twenty acres on the Schlegel farm BB&CRRCO survey, Gambrell pool, and have a salt water well at that depth.

Burton-Wynne, Jeske

Burton and Wynne yesterday were drilling below 1,200 feet in their No. 1, Jeske, (map wrong for ownership, shows Brown) block 6, BBB&CRR survey, abstract 826, just north of Texhoma's Morrits Phillips producer, after passing up a little sand topped at 1,186 feet.

S. S. S., Wilson

The S. S. S. Drilling company's No. 1, Tad Wilson, in section 12, H&TC RR survey, north of the Waite Phillips pool, was drilling yesterday at about 1,550 feet with the expectation of picking up their sand sometime in the next day or so at about 1,640 feet.

Little, Youngblood

The Little Oil company has abandoned its No. 1, Youngblood, in the northeast quarter of section 77, H&T CRR survey, block 14, north of the South Vernon field, central Wilbarger county, at a total depth of 2,240 feet.

North Wilbarger Test

Stidham-Thrasher-Hamilton-Shadbolt have finished up their No. 1, C. Neal, four miles northwest of Doan, in the center of the northwest forty acres of the southeast quarter of section 34, H&TCRR survey, block 11, north Wilbarger county, total depth given as 2,204 feet.

Waite Phillips Leases

Wilson, Archer.

Waite Phillips is drilling past a last reported depth of 1,628 feet on the No. 1, Tad Wilson, south of Mankins after getting a show of sand at about 1,575 feet. The well is located near the center of the south half of the Ben Howard survey, abstract 179, northwest Archer county.

Wolf, SW Archer.

Waite Phillips is down past 1,364 feet in his No. 1, Wolf, located near the center of the north 400 acres of the west 480 acres of the BBB&CRR survey, abstract 43, northeast of Swastika, southwest Archer county, after coring a foot of blue sand at that depth.

Woodrum, NW Archer.

Waite Phillips has spudded on his No. 1, Woodrum, located about three miles southeast of the Waite Phillips pool northwest Archer county, in the northwest corner of block 83, Torebia Lesova survey, abstract 257.

Science Still Debates Origin of Oil, Whether Organic Or Inorganic

New York State Geologist Favors Theory of Origin In Extinct Animal Life.

The origin of petroleum, animal, vegetable, or inorganic?

Did myriads of small animals probably marine, settle the scores of their small lives, die and sink to the bottom of a prehistoric sea to work out their larger sphere in the destiny of man as drops each of petroleum, or was it plant life that died and under the press of ages became petroleum? Or was it neither, and is petroleum the result of certain chemical combinations, as is entirely possible?

With all the advances that science has made in recent years, this question is still much mooted, declared Doctor John M. Clarke, state geologist of New York in an address before the American Association of Petroleum Geologists at their annual convention at Wichita, Kansas, last week.

Thirty-Eight American Treatises Disagree.

"Thirty-eight American treatises on the origin of petroleum show that ere is no unity of judgement on those vital matters," he declared. "One man has his idea based on the things he has seen, another has a vastly different idea based on the things he has seen, and neither knows.

"No one sees oil in the making. There are no ponds nor lakes where the observor can actually behold the conversion of living products into their mineral constituents. Break open a section of black lime in my state of New York, find a fossil shell, and inside you will see a minute drop of oil, unquestionably an irrefutable proof of the origin of that particular drop of oil.

Inorganic Theory is Entirely Possible.

"On the other hand no questions of the possibility of the formations of hydro-carbons by the chemical reaction between superheated steam and the metallic carbides deep below the surface of the earth, or in some other such manner."

But while granting the possibility of the inorganic origin of oil Doctor Clarke went on to say that in his own opinion oil came originally from animal life,

"It is fair to say that whenever an organism carrying in its system carbon-hydrogen compounds die and is buried away under something that will prevent a quick oxidation, that a bituminous product results. All of my experience gives me convincing preference though not prejudice, in favor of the major contribution to oil production by the animals of the past."

News Of The Fields

Texhoma Leases

Harbison, Archer.

Texhoma Oil and Refining company has set casing on a sand at 1,320 feet in their No. 13, Harbison, in their Swastika holdings at a depth of 1,320 feet, and will test. No. 14 spudded yesterday and No. 15 is expected to spud today.

Covert, Wilbarger.

Texhoma Oil and Refining company was drilling yesterday at past 1,370 feet in gray lime in its No. 1, Covert, northeast corner of the southeast quarter of section 7, block 16, north Wilbarger county.

Gambrell, Young.

Texhoma Oil and Refining company was drilling yesterday below 600 feet on its No. 8, Gambrell, 300 feet south of the No. 7, which is in the northwest corner of its lease in the BBB&CRRCO survey, abstract 31, northwest of Olney, north Young county.

Baley, Wichita.

Texhoma-Hunter were setting casing yesterday to test a sand at 1,330 feet in their No. 3, Baley, Henry Hastie survey, abstract 98, about three miles east of Cashion school house, southeast of Burkburnett, Wichita county.

Montague County.

Texhoma was coring a sand at 1,370 feet yesterday in their No. 3, Howard, midway between Nos. 1 and 2, north Nocona, Montague county, but were undecided about setting casing to test. The 1,400-foot pay at which this test is intended to produce should be picked up somewhere in the next few feet.

In the gas area the No. 1, Lemon, is drilling in hard sand at 473 feet.

Wheeler County Test

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company and W. O'Brien are building a standard rig over their No. 1 J. H. Jackson, 330 feet west and 1,675 feet north of the southeast corner of section 11, H&GNRRCO survey, block 27, Wheeler county, about a mile north of the Whittington producer.

Hudspeth County

J. K. Knight and several associates of Oakland have started a wildcat well in Hudspeth county, Texas, about 100 miles east of El Paso. After two months drilling with standard cable tools they are down some 240 feet, going slowly to test out the formation. The location is about a mile south of the Boole well, which was lost through mechanical accidents, at about 1,200 feet.

Jenson, Vernon

Jenson Oil company lost the seat Monday on their No. 1, Vernon, J. Poitevant survey, abstract 1874, north of Olney and just southwest of the old Creighton hole, and were engaged early yesterday in pulling casing to reseat on the sand at 1,078-87 feet with two feet of dry sand below that at 1,087-89 feet, north Young county.

Levy et al, Wheeler

Levy-Kane are drilling at past 1,810 feet in their No. 1, Wheeler, located in the southwest corner of the north half of the northeast quarter of section 56, block 14, H&TCRR survey, eastern Wilbarger county.

Murchison-Fain, Haygood

Murchison and Fain were drilling yesterday below a last reported depth of 575 feet on their No. 2, Haygood, located south of the No. 1, on the east line of their Haygood lease, offsetting the Lee Wilson No. 3 to the west, TE&LCO survey, block 237, southwest edge of the Litchfield pool, north Young county.

Kentucy, Geraldine

The Kentucky Oil corporation's No. 1, George Parish, in the southeast corner of section 98, ATNCL, Geraldine, was drilling yesterday morning at 1,340 feet in hard lime.

GAS IS TESTED 7 TIMES BEFORE USE

An idea of the numerous tests given petroleum products before they reach the consumer is given by Cosden Oil Dispatch, the official organ of the Cosden Sales corporation, which says gasoline is tested seven times before it leaves a Cosden plant; naptha is tested seven times; kerosene, 6; distillate, 4; gas oil, 4; fuel oil, 4; neutrals, 8; and bright stock, 9.

TANKWAGON CUT

Standard of Louisiana cut their tankwagon price on gasoline in their territory one cent yesterday, dropping that commodity at Tallulah to 16 1-2 cents. There were no local cuts.

Market Is Slow Here With New Navy At 10 1-4

Coming Spring-Summer Demand Looked to Help Some

Refiners quotations of New Navy gasoline, the standard motor fuel, here yesterday stood at 10 1-4 cents, with 10 1-2 cents asked, though no sales at that price were reported. Standard Oil company of Indiana has bought and is buying a large amount of that product at 10 1-4 cents, while Gulf Refining company also bought a large quantity at the same price. Pierce Oil corporation has bought much 58-60, 450 end point, gasoline, at 10 cents. The last two are bought for April shipments.

For the most part, gasoline is being run into storage in anticipation of rising prices with the coming of the heavy spring and summer demand.

With their orders filled, exporters are out of the market and 64-66 gravity, 375 end point, gasoline for export is slow at 12 3-4 ti 13 cents. Fuel oil is weak at $1.30 to $1.35 in Fort Worth, the quotations giving a 10-cent spread. Gas oils are firm at 3 1-3 cents a gallon and water white kerosene weak at 4 1-4 cents, with refiners quoting it at 4 1-2 cents.

Natural, or absorption gasoline, is also slow. Grade "A" is priced at 9 cents, grade "B" at 8 cents and grade "C" at 7 1-4 cents.

Crude Oil Stocks

Pipe line and tank farm stocks of crude oil in the United States during February were 350,612,000 barrels, an increase of 403,000 barrels, says the United States geological survey. During January stocks were drawn on for 1,741,000 barrels, totaling at the end of the month 350,208,000.

Marketers Meet Soon

National Petroleum Marketers association is preparing for its annual convention at Chicago April 7, 8 and 9. L. V. Nichols president, has styled it the "greatest independent oil industrial conference ever held" in announcements sent out, heading the invitations, "oil follies for 1925," and then submitting a list of questions relating to conditions and the future of the oil industry.

Redrilling Job

Atlantic Oil Producing company and others were drilling at past 2,378 feet in hard lime yesterday in their No. 1, Waggoner, the old Atwood Reeves hole, located in the northwest corner of the south half of the southeast quarter of section 24, H&TCRR survey, block 4, southeast of the Noble well about three and one-half miles, eastern Wilbarger county.

The old hole was washed out successfully to 2,108 feet, the old depth, a few days being required for this job and little difficulty being experienced. It was drilled further, to the depth given above, the well to date however, looking as if it had missed entirely the Noble horizon at just below 2,200 feet. The lime at 2,378 feet had lasted for more than seventeen feet.

Atlantic Leases

Parrish, Archer.

Atlantic Oil Producing company was drilling yesterday below 1,588½ feet in lime in its Parrish-C-2, its southwest lease in section 26, H&TC RR survey, abstract 1197, north Archer county. The A-6, in the east lease was down 900 feet.

Hayter, Archer.

Atlantic No. 2, Hayter, south of No. 1, in the southeast quarter of block 1598, TE&LCO survey, southwest Harmel area was shut down for water yesterday at 275 feet.

Waggoner, Wilbarger.

Atlantic's northeast offset to the Levy-Ryan producer in the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of section 51, block 14, H&TCRR survey, was drilling yesterday at past 1,275 feet.

Zipperle, Wilbarger.

Atlantic Oil Producing company's No. 1, Zipperle, in the southwest corner of its forty acres in section 80, block 14, Wilbarger county was drilling yesterday 1,294 feet; No. 2, just north, was down 1,287; No. 3, in the northwest corner of the lease is drilling at 450 feet.

Miriam Affixes Her Signature To Amnesty Bill

'The Pleasure is Mine,' Says Wife as She Clears His Name

AUSTIN, March 31.—The hand of the first woman governor of Texas, holding a golden pen, moved across a sheet of white paper today and wrote one of the most precious words in the English language, "pardon," to James E. Ferguson it is a word of exquisite meaning.

The signature of Miriam A. Ferguson, appended to senate bill number 252 restored at one stroke the full political rights of her husband taken from him by impeachment in 1917, in so far as those rights can be restored by legislative enactment and executive approval.

"I have signed my name many hundred times since becoming governor, but this is the happiest signature I have written," said Mrs. Ferguson as she laid down the pen of gold. It was the end of a seven-year fight up and down the political hills and valleys of Texas.

The oratory on the bill continued through the afternoon and that night, shortly before middight ,the bill was passed to third reading by a vote of 20 to 53. Two days later it was finally passed by virtually the same vote, after efforts failed to eliminate its retroactive feature.

The measure has been on Mrs. Ferguson's desk since its passage, and many believed the delay meant that perhaps she would let it become a law without her signature.

She had until April 8 to act.

The bill does not mention James E. Ferguson by name, but it states that "every person against whom any judgement of conviction has heretofore been rendered by the senate of the state of Texas in any impeachment case, shall be and is hereby released of any and all acts and offenses of which he was so convicted by said senate of the state of Texas, upon any charge or proceedings of impeachment."

DeMille's Pictures Enter Hays Concern

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—The Cecil B. DeMille Pictures corporation, which recently took over the Ince Studios here, announced today it had joined the motion picture producers and distribbutors of America, the organization headed by Will H. Hays.

DeMille in announcing the affiliation said:

"Mr. Hays has done splendidly in creating added public confidence in our great industry."

Coincidentally the Cinema corporation of America, holding company of the DeMille corporation, announced it had insured Cecil B. DeMille for $1,000,000.

Interesting People

IRVIN P MYERSON

ATHENS, Ga., March 31.—The most unique way of earning money to go through college appears to have been discovered by Irvin P. Myerson, student in the University of Georgia.

He is "working" his way through school by writing love letters. His professional title is "counsellor in amour."

Love letters are viewed with suspicion since Irvin's occupation became known on the campus, as he has both male and female "clients," but he is as busy as ever.

Irvin does not adhere to forms. He endeavors to make each love letter express the individuality of the person supposed to be composing it.

Counties May Build Highways in Cities

AUSTIN, March 31.—County commissioners courts have authority to issue notes for construction of highways through cities, the attorney general held today. The question came from the commissioners of Wichita county, who contemplate construction of a county road through Wichita Falls.

What Would We Do Without Them?

Editor's note: This is one of a series of short articles published daily in the Record News seeking to present folks of Wichita Falls who are as important in their sphere as the biggest business man, or the richest banker is essential to the welfare and progress of any community.

"MAY I wait on you please?" asks the polite little clerk behind the notion counter as the careless shopper paws over a tray full of goods, mixing and tangling the stock only to pass on without apology to another counter.

Meanwhile the little clerk keeps her temper, even straightens the tumbled stock for the twentieth time that morning and turns to greet cheerfully the next shopper.

"Clerking is not hard," says Miss Viola Mae Williams, salesgirl in a local store," if you like people and have a sense of humor. You can enjoy the funny side of the day then, without being bothered by the troublesome things shoppers often do.

Keep Youth in Your Figure

You cannot control age but you can control your figure. Exercise will help keep your body strong and supple. Diet will keep your weight down where it should be. But this is not sufficient. You must keep your proportions youthful. You can do this in one way and only one way—through "Figure-Grooming."

"Figure-Grooming" erases those tell-tale sagging lines and smooths out the tendencies figures have to accumulate surplus breadths where it should not be. It persuades figures into slim, youthful lines.

The ideal means to "Figure-Grooming" is the Modart Corset. Without detracting in any way from aboslute comfort Modart makes permanent the greater grace and beauty that you earn with your dieting and exercise. It makes figures look young, feel young and stay young.

Just see our Modart corsetiere. Her "Figure-Grooming" service is offered without obligation.

HE HOPES TO COME BACK.

Senator Eugene Miller of Parker county is one of the boys of the upper house. He has announced that he will be a candidate for re-election. He drew a short term of two years in the recent senatorial lottery for long and short terms. He represents the twenty-second district, consisting of the counties of Palo Pinto, Jack, Wise, Denton, Montague and Parker.

He saw service in the lower house of the thirty-eighth legislature. In 1924 he defeated for the senatorial nomination, Roy Coffey, the terror of the petroleum kings of Texas.

Coffey had three terms in the lower house to his credit. He was the author of the five per cent gross production tax on crude at the well bill. He was defeated in three great battles in three legislatures. Then he became a candidate for the upper house and was put away by the youngster from Weatherford. Senator Miller is a state university man. He was one of the fourteen, who, with the assistance of Barry Miller, saved the educational appropriation bill from defeat in the closing hours of the thirty-ninth legislature.

He carried Denton county over Roy Coffey. The College of Industrial Arts and the North Texas Teachers' college, located at Denton in Senator Miller's district, were given liberal appropriations, largely due to his successful efforts.

The twenty-second is known as the shoe string district. Think of a district that begins in Palo Pinto county on the south, covers Jack on the west, crosses Montague and Wise on the northwest and then finishes in Denton county on the east. This is the district that Miller represents and it requires some campaigning to cover it.

Roy Coffey, the terror of the oil group, has moved from Wise county to Dallas county. He is a resident of John Davis' district. Dallas is a commercial city. Dallas is for big business and the biggest business of Texas today is the oil industry, and it is only in its infancy.

WHY PLANTERS COMPLAIN.

It is said that the eastern half of the southern Cotton Belt, including Louisiana and Mississippi, has received ample winter moisture and all accounts tend to show that farmers in the eastern belt are preparing to increase their acreage of cotton and make a vigorous effort to produce a liberal crop.

Secretary Hester of the New Orleans cotton exchange says one drawback to the efforts of the growers is the relative high price of fertilizer which has greatly cut down the sales. If it isn't one drawback it is another.

However there is a gleam of hope. President Coolidge has named his Muscle Shoals commission. There are five members. Four were picked from the east and the west, and one from the south and the southwest.

Former Senator Napoleon Bonapart Dial of South Carolina is the southern member. He is a lame duck democrat. President Coolidge found him in lame duck alley. He was defeated for re-election to the senate by one Coleman Livingston Blease, known to fame as Cole Blaze in the politics and among the politicians of South Carolina.

Dial is a big business democrat. He is interested in many industries. He isn't a government ownership democrat. He believes that public utilities should be handled by private effort and private capital.

Now what is to become of Muscle Shoals? Are the farmers to be given cheap fertilizer? Go ask Henry Ford. If he declines to talk, then go ask Napoleon Bonapart Dial of South Carolina. He knows.

MONEY IN OIL.

And now the annual report of the Associated Oil company and its subs for 1924 shows net earnings of more than $14,000,000 in 1924, a gain of 15 per cent in net earnings over the year 1923. Is there money in oil? That depends.

There is a vast difference between stocks which represent stablized companies and the stock sold by fly-by-night operators. Lest we forget Dr. Frederick B. Cook has decided to take his medicine and go to Leavenworth to begin serving his sentence.

His appeal for a new trial was denied and the federal circuit court of appeals affirmed the judgment of the lower court. This appears to be the finish of the man who discovered the North Pole or at least made the Danish scientist believe that he had discovered the pole.

Promoter Cobk began life in the city of Brooklyn in a very modest way. Now he will begin life behind the bars of a federal prison. He has a sixteen-year stretch to serve. He was an oil promoter. He was convicted of selling stock to a hundred thousand suckers.

He is said to be financially broke. If so, there was no money in oil, for the notorious explorer.

HE PICKED AN ARMY MAN.

Andrew W. Mellon has picked Lincoln C. Andrews of New York as assistant secretary of the treasury. Andrews will have charge of the foreign debt situation. He is a retired army officer and was at one time chief executive of the New York transit commission. He is the author of several books on milltary subjects and is an expert when it comes to taxation and finance. He isn't a politician. He votes the republican ticket when he feels like it and lets it go at that.

HE WAS A PUBLIC BENEFACTOR.

Thomas Raycroft is dead. He was 85 when they placed his mortal remains in a Pennsylvania grave yard. What was his claim to fame? He was builder of the first oil refinery in the Pennsylvania field. He devised a crude refinery in Pittsburg in 1860 or 65 years ago.

When the first oil well was discovered by Colonel Francis Blake, near Titusville in 1859, Raycroft was a youth in Pittsburgh, having come there from Cork, Ireland, where he was born. As the story reads, late that year the barrels of oil came down the river to Pittsburgh, but up to that time no way had been found of putting the oil to commercial use.

By the use of Raycroft's refinery kerosine oil was provided for use in lamps. This made him a public benefactor. Now the light of Asia is the kerosine lamp. It is the light of the world, in its darkest places, for that matter.

Now the petroleum industry represents an investment of many billions of dollars. Texas alone has several hundred refineries. Thomas Raycroft never had a publicity agent. He had never been rated among the oil billionaires, but he was the builder of the first oil refinery in America and his refinery sent kerosine on its way to light the world.

A BUSY COLONEL.

Colonel A. E. Humphreys is not going to retire from the wildcating business on account of the hugh fortune which is his. He has his eye on 23 defined structures in Henderson, Kaufman, Montague and other counties.

He is going to keep eight strings of tools going, but most of his activity for the present will be in the Nocona field, in Montague county, where he has about a year and a half of development work planned out.

Wherever the colonel goes with his wildcatters, the gushers are brought in. This has been his record in Texas since he invaded the state and began the work of accumulating a collosal fortune. It is rumored that he is going to invest some of his many millions in industrial enterprise in Texas.

The hour is at hand, the movement is ripe and the necessity is apparent. Texas should be made the greatest textile manufacturing state in this union of states.

MATERIALISM.

Books are now being published which represent the feeling at the close of the war.

I have just recently seen a book which contains all of the moral slump that came over the world after the war. It tries to give expression to the vein of post-war pessimism which is undoubtedly on the increase.

The hero, a ruthless materialist, finds everything turns to ashes in his mouth. He makes money and finds it valueless. He loves, but finds that he can live easily without it. He acquires power but discovers no use for it.

It is "Ecclesiastes" brought up to date, but it does fill me with misgivings to see so many people whose philosophy is so arid that they care for nothing.

It is as silly to dwell upon the impermanence of human delights as it is to pretend they are permanent. The theory advocated by Browning that a man should care intensely for something, but that it doesn't matter what that something is, has a great deal to recommend it.

In war time we took things seriously. There were prizes to be won and battles to be fought. But there is danger that after this shall come the reaction when we take nothing seriously.

No war can be fought without a great deal of idealism for men will not throw away their lives for nothing.

From the peak of this idealism it is natural that we may slump into materialism and that pessimism should be rampant for awhile. But this cannot last, for the pessimist is not a true interpreter of life.

The only unforgiveable offense a man can commit against life is to cease caring. For to live at all is to care, that is, it is to value the ideals above all things.

Doubtless in time the pendulum will soon swing back and the present's drop into materialism, pessimism and indifference will be succeeded by the rise in interest in all things.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.
Mutual Aid Societies.

A man recently died in New York City who had made a vast fortune.

Because he lived, many hundred thousand people have had reasonably priced food served to them in immaculate cleanliness.

This man's first object was perhaps to build up a fortune for himself.

But he was wise enough to see that the best way to build up a fortune for himself was to give to other people something that they had not been able to secure before at the same price.

And so his life was helpful—not only to the swarms of people who patronized the many eating places he had established, but to many hundreds of men and women who worked for him, many of whom have become independent on their own account from work in highly paid executive positions.

Selfishness, when harnessed, can do a great deal of good.

The desire of most business men is to accumulate money.

But they cannot accumulate money successfully without building up big establishments, and big establishments cannot be profitable without giving to people some sort of service that they could not otherwise procure on the same terms.

Thus, while the millionaire's income may be out of proportion to his effort, it could not be gained unless he helped others—not only those whom he had employed, but those who have purchased from him.

We prate of independence but there is no real independence on the face of the earth.

For our morning coffee or our afternoon tea we are dependent on labors in South America or Asia, as well as on the merchants who bring these things to us, and the captains and sailors of the ships that bring them.

For every article of clothing we wear we are indebted to somebody. And because we can buy these things far more cheaply than we could make them—if we could make them at all—our debt is increased.

This world consists of a great number of mutual aid societies, in which few of the members are acquainted with more than a few of the other members.

We do not know, nor do we need to know the farmer who raises the wheat that we eat in our bread, or the mechanic who helped to make the great harvester and threshing machine which takes the wheat from the ear and makes it ready for the mill.

We do not know the miller, nor the people who ship the grain. But we owe them something for our bread, nevertheless.

No man can be successful in the world without helping others to success. And that ought to be an object for success far greater than the money and comfort and possibly fame that it brings.

Others provide us with our food and clothing and automobiles and amusement, and we repay as far as we can with our labor.

Most of us are square at the end of our lives, if we have honestly earned our livings. Yet if we toil for others, as we do, we ought to remember that others toil for us also, even if they don't know it.

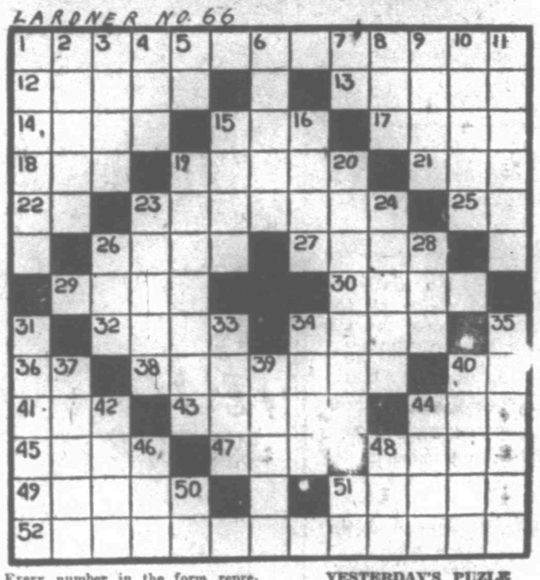

Some of them get undue profits of course, but in time everything will be evened out, and the mutual aid society will be a great democratic going concern, in which envy and hard feelings will have no place.

Cross-Word Puzzle

LARDNER NO. 66

Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may of course begin a horizontal and a vertical. The definitions for the correct words to fill the form are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross clues to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions.

Hope to Start on Fire House Soon

Hopes are held out by Fire Chief J. L. McClure that a start on the city's new fire station at Tyler and Avenue C can be made within the next two weeks. Plans for the building are about complete and all other details have been arranged, but the actual work is being held up until the city's financial program for the fiscal year opening today is entirely straightened out.

A new pumper truck with which to equip the station has been ordered by the city council and will be delivered sometime in June. A considerable quantity of new hose has also been purchased.

Suddith Jury In Disagreement On Insurance Issue

Unable to Arrive at a Verdict After More Than Day of Work

Despite ther announcements that they were unable to agree on a verdict, jurors in the case of W. S. Suddith vs. the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company were instructed Tuesday afternoon by Judge William H. Atwell in federal court to return Wednesday morning and resume their deliberations. The jury spent several hours Monday afternoon and all day Tuesday in a futile attempt to come to an agreement.

The case is one in which the plaintiff seeks compensation insurance over the death of his son, Frank Suddith, who was shot and killed while on duty in a Henrietta cotton gin in September, 1921. He contends the fact that the boy was working at the time of his death renders his employers liable for compensated insurance payments.

The industrial accident board refused the claim and the matter has been carried to the federal court for settlement.

OIL RIG UNDER DISPUTE.

More Truth Than Poetry

TOO MUCH NEUTRALITY

A naturalist informs us that
Our summer troubles would be fewer
If we did not regard the bat
As an uncanny evil-doer.
They say it has no will to hurt
(No disposition could be sweeter),
And is an active and expert
Mosquito eater.

I do not like a bat at all,
I do not like the squeaks he utters,
When through my porch at even fall,
He wheels and swoops and darts and flutters,
As in the brooding gloom I sit.
His whizzes past my head affright me,
And I am sure that if he bit,
The brute would bite me.

And furthermore, with battle songs
That rob me of my calm and quiet,
Mosquitoes come in countless throngs
To make of me their evening diet.
In vain my swats and slaps and spats—
They have no power to abate them,
Nor can a half a score of bats
Intimidate them.

In fact when bats were most around
New-wakened from their day-time slumbers,
Mosquitoes, I have always found,
Are here in vastly greater numbers.
That bats have rights, of course I know;
Far be it from me to mistreat 'em,
But if they hate mosquitoes so,
Why don't they eat 'em?

WE KNOW WHAT THEY ARE

It does not surprise us to learn from a scientific article that certain plants grow hair. For many years we've been bobbing them with a lawn mower.

GOOD ENOUGH FOR THE PROLETARIAT

The president can afford a wooden mechanical horse, but most of us get our daily exercise on the tin kind that Henry Ford builds for us.

-OF COURSE

Jazz music we learn mitigates the noises of the New York streets. Similia similibus curantur.

Irrigation

Leveling Land for Irrigation.

A land owner has asked us to take up the matter of preparing land for irrigation. We have touched upon this matter from time to time during the past three years but now that so many people are becoming personally interested from a practical standpoint it is perhaps pertinent to discuss it.

Before taking up the question of the actual preparation it would be well to say something about the selection of the tract to be placed under irrigation.

Naturally every farmer, unless he intends to irrigate his entire holdings, would rather select for his first year's planting that portion which will irrigate easiest and cost the least for putting it in shape.

One thing to be avoided unless you have a long purse and want to spend money for experience is a tract with but little general fall and covered with small sand dunes or little hills alternating with slight depressions.

Practically every acre of such a tract has to be gone over with a fresno and the bumps pulled into the hollows until the whole thing is leveled. It takes an expert to do this efficiently. That it is an expensive operation can be easily demonstrated by trying a few acres.

Then after you think you have the whole field all in good shape so that it will irrigate properly you will find that the first irrigation will cause the dirt you have hauled into the fills to sink. This means that it all has to be gone over again next year.

It generally takes two years or more to get such a piece of land in shape so that it will irrigate perfectly.

Shriner's Circus Ticket Prizes To Be Diamond Rings

Popularity Race Promises To Be Close With Many Candidates Entering

A popularity contest with three diamond rings as the first second and third prizes boasts 17 entries who are racing in ticket sales for the Shrine circus, sponsoring the contest.

According to the plan, each ticket to the Shrine circus sold by a contestant, or by a Shriner for a contestant, entitles the contestant to ten votes.

The date of the circus is the week of May 4, and though much preliminary work will be done immediately by the entrants, the real race will narrow down during the last two weeks of the race.

Entries are not closed, it was announced by Paul Von Allmen, and the following contestants are beginning immediately on active work: Misses Josephine Cummings, Irene Taylor, Jim Covey, Nell Ivey, Fern Simmons, Willie Mae Walker, Nina Stover, Thelma Thornton, Lillian Brannon, Gladys Lane, Thelma Kelly, Dorothy Sapp, and Mesdames Greene, Pauline Smith, E. F. Berry and R. D. Thompson.

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE.

Aries.

The conditions that prevailed the latter part of yesterday show today a steady and continuous improvement, until at about noon you will sense a feeling of courage and optimism which will put new life into you and give you that assurance which is so essential to the successful prosecution of any undertaking you may have in hand. Any enterprise, that is based on good judgment, can be launched today with every prospect of ultimate success, and the signs counsel forceful activity and tireless energy. In the evening, the aspects—although not quite so inspiring—are benign, and you will, as a consequence, view with complacency and satisfaction the efforts you made earlier in the day.

Normalcy is a term that can be fitly applied to the child born today, both in a physical and a temperamental sense. This child, according to the signs, will be normally healthy, both in mind and body. Whilst it may not be destined to make its mark in the world, it will be endowed with many lovable qualities that will endear it to one an dall. It will not be very ambitious, and will probably not be prepared at any time to sacrifice its comfort, or that of others—for the carrying out of any program that might, if put into execution, bring it either wealth or distinction. If a girl, it will become a good wife and mother. If a boy, a good husband and father.

If today is your birthday, you are not very ambitious and not persistent in working to attain your object. You have a normal intellect. Your erudition is more superficial than fundamental. You are a good conversationalist, and, possessing a retentive memory, have acquired a reputation for alertness of mind and keenness of perception. You cannot initimate as well as you can imitate; as a consequence, you are more fitted to fill a sub-ordinate position, than become a master or mistress of Destiny.

You are impulsively affectionate, but not so constant as others would like you to be; your attachments are more transitory than permanent. You always crave what is hard to get; Temperamentally, you typify the old adage that "expectation is sweeter than realization."

Successful people born on this date are:

SOCIETY

CIVIC LEAGUE IN EXECUTIVE MEET.

At an executive meeting of the Civic league held Tuesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A., plans were furthered for the clean-up campaign that is now under way.

Reports were made from all of the precinct chairmen and all reports were favorable. The women are making every house in the town and are getting a pledge from the property owners that they will clean up their properties. It was reported that every one was co-operating to the fullest extent. The colored people are cleaning their alleys and cutting all weeds. The principal of the school is having the boys in the school clean the property around the school.

The trash men state that they have already hauled over two and a half times as many loads as they did last year during the whole campaign.

Those who are taking part in this clean-up are Mesdames A. R. Bleakley, L. C. Blakley, E. E. Stewart, Frank Mercer, Fred Barron, H. M. Larkin, E. P. Bass, T. R. Bruson, Mollie McElroy, Eddie Williams, W. D. Cook, O. W. Harvey, Strief, Gaffney, W. J. Morgareidge, Dave Shepherd, W. M. Scott, Walter McAbee and Miss Lillian Fain.

LADIES' BIBLE CLASS MEETS.

The Ladies' Bible class of the First Church of Christ met Tuesday afternoon at the church in a regular study hour.

The lesson for the afternoon was taken from the first and second chapter of Thessalonians. At the close of the study hour volunteers were called to visit the hospital and the homes where there was sick. Several names of new members were given so that they might be called upon.

Those present were Mesdames Sosbee, Collard, Hill, Kirkland, Gilland, Scott, Dobson, Stirman, Westfall, Anderson Rhine, Blanton, Spike, Titts, Rhoades, Wolfe, Bonowsky and Freeman.

GRACE METHODISTS ENTERTAIN MONDAY

The members of the Grace Methodist church entertained Monday evening with a dinner and program, inviting as their special guests the prospective members of the church.

The entire basement of the church was prettily decorated in purple and white, in keeping with the Lenten season. The dining room just having been redecorated and newly painted made a lovely setting for the occasion. The tables were pretty with centerpieces of spring flowers and lighted candles of purple and white at either end.

After the banquet Rev. Miller took charge of the program, which included the following members: Piano solo, Lee Erwin; reading, Miss Pearle Smith; violin solo, Miss Vivian Railey, accompanied by Mrs. Carrie Wilcox; vocal solo, Carlton Bowman, accompanied by Lee Erwin; solo, George Taylor, and reading, Miss Thelma Caire, accompanied by Mrs. Vera Caire.

Rev. Miller gave a short talk on the outlook for the Grace Methodist church for the future, stating that in his judgment Grace Methodist, situated as it is in such a nice down town corner, has an opportunity of giving increasing service to the community. He predicted a prosperous future for the church.

After the program, community singing was conducted and the guests were dismissed by joining hands and singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Those enjoying the lovely hospitality were Messrs and Mesdames Eric Albert, D. A. Allen, A. L. Andree, W. H. Bachman, J. T. Bently, George Barth, B. L. Bryans, S. F. Blue, W. B. Corlett, H. E. Crain, G. L. Dorrance, W. L. Dalton, J. B. Dollard, Ralph Davis, T. G. Fletcher, J. F. Friberg, A. E. Friberg, O. L. Gibbs, Lee Gray, H. L. Hunter, C. B. Jetter, Otto Juhl, I. W. Karrenbrock, G. W. Kirby, Francis Killingsworth, Fern Leland, Gladys Moline, Mary Helen Ross, Louise Bachman, Mildred Ratliff, Catherine Reese, Vivian Railey, Maude Swartz, Lavita Smith, Pearle Smith, Vera Cain, Thelma Cain, Birdie Simmons, Alma Jo Short, Emma Taylor, Agnes Turner, Sarah Watson, Helen Wallace and Messrs C. A. Wilcox, John Turner, M. B. Snyder, Charlie Ross, Herbert Karrenbrock, C. W. Jetter, E. G. Cocke and Carlton Bowman.

FORUM HOLDS EXECUTIVE MEET.

At an executive meeting of the board of the Woman's Forum held Tuesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A., Mrs. G. D. Anderson was elected to fill the place of second vice-president and chairman of the membership committee, from which Mrs. W. W. Silk has resigned on account of ill health. Mrs. W. W. Fraser was elected to the chairmanship of the literary department; Mrs. A. R. Bleakley was appointed the delegate to represent the Forum at the annual meeting of the first district of Texas Federation of Woman's clubs which will meet in Fort Worth April the 6, 7, and 8; Mrs. Hubert Harrison was made chairman of the finance committee and Mrs. G. D. Anderson was appointed to head the membership drive.

According to announcement the dues for the coming year will be $5. If the initiation fee of $3 is paid now only the $5 will have to be paid next year but those waiting until next year to join the Forum will have to pay $8.

The drive for the new Forum members under the direction of Mrs. G. D. Anderson will begin immediately. Mrs. Anderson is going to try and reach every woman in the city. Especially does she wish to reach the women who have recently moved into Wichita Falls and do not as yet belong to any club. The only requisition for membership is a good moral character and a desire to do good earnest work. The new members do not have to be passed upon now before they can become a member but if the membership is held out until next fall the executive board must first pass upon them before they can come into the club.

A good program is being planned for the coming year. At least two nationally known lecturers will be brought to Wichita Falls and five or more other good lecturers.

An invitation is extended to every woman in the city to join the Forum. It isn't necessary that they belong to some other club in the city, as is the opinion of some. All those interested are asked to call Mrs. G. D. Anderson or mail her a check for $3 which are now the dues.

ALATHEAN CLASS IN PRE-EASTER AFFAIR

Quite one of the loveliest of all pre-Easter celebrations was the pretty spring luncheon held by the members of the Alathean class of the First Baptist church at the Kemp hotel, celebrating their third birthday.

The guests were received at the door by the president, past president and the present officers of the club, which included Mesdames J. E. Ward, C. C. Jones, J. C. Walker, John M. Martin, G. I. Brown, S. E. Haddox, H. A. Withers, R. M. Hurley, Effil Rhoades, LeRoy Moore and John Covenes.

The luncheon room was elaborately decorated in the spring colors and flowers. Tall baskets were filled with the flowers. At either end of the piano was tall gold baskets filled with pink and green spring flowers. The large banquet table was centered with a huge birthday cake with three light colored candles burning on it. All around the table the candles were lighted and pretty green and pink favors were at each place.

The following program was given: Piano solo, Mrs. F. R. Collard; invocation, Rev. Lincoln McConnell; song, Mrs. Jerry Schaefer; "Our Birthday Cake," Mrs. C. C. Jones; violin duet, Mrs. Jouette Bonner and C. R. Eyasen; presentation of the new candle for 1925, Mrs. John Martin; song, William Young; "My Class," Mrs. J. E. Ward; speech, Rev. Lincoln McConnell; talk, Rev. O. L. Powers. The program was ended by members of the class singing "take off" songs about the ministers and various members.

Those present were Mesdames F. R. Collard, Jerry Schaeffer, C. P. Burton, J. W. Nossett, J. M. Martin, J. M. Bonner, Ben C. Ackerman, J. S. Walker, D. O. Johnson, Charles Featherstone, S. E. LITERATURE DEPT. TO HEAR M'CONNELL.

The literature department of the Woman's Forum announce that they will have Dr. Lincoln McConnell, Oklahoma evangelist who is holding the revival at the Baptist church, speak on "Amusements of Today." Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. sharply at 3 o'clock. Each member is allowed the privilege of bringing one guest. All are urged to be present.

Little Jack Conner, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Conner of Fort Worth, is visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Sheldon, 700 Denver street, announce the arrival of a son, William Knowles Sheldon, at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, March 31. Young Mr. Sheldon, who escaped April Fool's day so luckily, weighed 7½ pounds, and is reported with his mother to be resting well at the Sheldon home.

Mrs. M. S. Thomas and sons, Miege and Bowman, of 1209 Kemp, will leave Wednesday morning in their car for a three weeks' trip to Kansas City.

Junior College Takes Practice Tilt From First Baptists

Top O' Morn Stuff

By BRUCE CROSS

NO FOOLIN'

THIS MAY BE APRIL FOOLS' DAY EVERYWHERE, BUT IT'S JUST PLAIN OLD APRIL 1, OR JUST ANOTHER DAY LIKE THE REST AS FAR AS ACTIVITIES AT THE SPUDDER PLANT THIS AFTERNOON ARE CONCERNED.

There'll be no foolin' in Tanner's orchard between the hours of 1:30 p. m. and 4.

Distracted Ozone.

The Skipper has been heavily handicapped the past two days in putting his charges through anything like a systematic practice session. Chill breezes and lots of moist landscape thwarted the Spuds almost entirely Monday.

High velocity zephyrs cavorting riotously around the Tanner establishment yesterday caused the General to forego resumption of the varsity-scrub private series.

Outfielders in Danger.

Fly chasing came near to proving disastrous. Bud's prize gardners engaged in a bit of outfielding exercise, but were in danger of their lives throughout the session. Surprising dexterity at dodging and side-stepping is all that saved Fitzgerald and Callaghan from being popped on their noble noodles by the seemingly drunken sphere as it wobbled and swerved earthward, cutting up all kinds of foolish antics caused by traversing air pockets and cross-current gales.

Ping Bodie did his fielding and hitting from a rocking chair in the club house. The rollicking port gardner is stove up with a lame leg gathered in when he took that tumble Sunday during the Denver-Spudder final.

Infielders dashed through a speedy workout, but the real cayenne was displayed during a pair of pepper pastimes.

The month of March reversed the procession. Instead of coming in like a lion and passing out like a lamb, she tip-toed in, settled down quietly and then suddenly waxed boisterous, and tore out again in feline fury. Double crossed Tanner.

Ping Strikes Out Kane.

Says Ping, sense he, "If Harry Kane can't umpire baseball any better than he can play pinochle, Gawd pity some of these ball players this summer," or words to that effect.

4'So far, he hasn't been umpiring as good," orated the great man. But Mr. Bodie was merely joking; no doubt. The outburst was caused by the wind-up of a six-game pinochle tournament put on yesterday by our Ping and Umpire Kane. The outfielder took all six tilts.

Prexy Harvey and John Parker, Cotton expert and king of Texas league ticket dispensers will forsake Spud headquarters tomorrow for the annual convention of the Texas cotton association in Austin. The office won't be left flat, though, for Secretary Gray expects to struggle along all by his lonesome keeping things ship-shape.

One On Cy.

"YOU'LL never know," said Cy [illegible] Williams, "what the future holds in store. That's why I don't make many resolutions. In the spring of 1911 we—and when I say 'we' I mean the Notre Dame track team—were in a meet with the University of Chicago. Well, the high hurdles event was held early that meet, so another hurdler and I washed up and ducked away to see the Chicago Cubs play. I had never seen the Cubs.

"And I didn't see much of them that day. We arrived at the ball park late and the best seats we could get were away up in the back of the upper grandstand, with fans on our necks and shoulders and in our laps.

"I was entirely disgusted and I said to my boy friend: 'Well, this is the last time I ever get caught in this ball park as long as I live.'

"Yes, it was about a year later, in the summer of 1912, that I signed with the Cubs and could be caught in that park every day the Cubs played at home."

HORNSBY HIT .500.

Hornsby's batting average has been expanding every year. St. Louis enthusiasts are visioning him as the first big league star to hit .500 for a complete season. There may be something in it, because the favorite topic of talk among National league pitchers in Florida is "how to pitch to Hornsby."

* * *

Just as in olden times, say, two or three years ago, the American league hurlers used to stay up nights arguing on how to hurl to Ruth.

* * *

These Youngsters!

Yes, youth will be served. One of the best hitting outfielders we have seen this spring, says The Record News correspondent, is a fellow named Wheat of Brooklyn. This will be his seventeenth season in a Flatbush uniform.

Commish Closes Dempsey Case

NEW YORK, March 31.—(AP)—The state athletic commission today definitely closed the Dempsey case in which it sought to force Jack Dempsey into a title match with Harry Wills or Tommy Gibbons and returned the certified checks of $2,500 each which the two challengers had posted to bind the match.

McCOY BEATS LEVY

DALLAS, March 31.—Johnny McCoy of Cleveland was given the newspapermen's decision in his ten round mill with Warren Levy of Dallas here last night. McCoy was given eight of the ten rounds and finished unscathed.

MACOMBER, YANKEE TURFMAN IS AIMING AT VICTORY IN FIVE ENGLISH RACE-TRACK CLASSICS

American Expects to Have 50 Separate Entries for British Turf Events Next Season

Englishmen are quite willing to concede our supremacy in baseball. They also will admit they do not have the teams to match our college football elevens. Baseball and football are not played in England.

When it comes to sports that are close to the British heart, it is difficult to wrench a confession that Uncle Sam is on a par with John Bull.

Due to our Olympic and Davis cup triumphs, the English may admit we have the edge in track and field and tennis. Britons also have a wholesome respect for Walter Hagen and the golfing skill of several other Americans.

But cricket and soccer and horse racing have a greater claim on British affections than any of the sports we have named.

The turf, the crease and the soccer fields are intertwined with British history. They are as deeply rooted as baseball in this country; perhaps more so.

England long has been a leader in these sports. When a British critic, therefore, raises his pen to praise American progress in any one of the three, it's a safe guess that Uncle Sam is in the immediate vicinity of the foreground.

Following are the words of a critic on the staff of the People, a London publication, regarding an American turfman:

"The man who shortly will own more race horses than any other person in the history of the turf; the man who at present has the largest number of horses in training in this country; the man who soon will sport his colors on the courses of Britain, France, America, Belgium, Germany, Spain, Ireland; the man whose stud farms in Britain, France and America bid fair to be second to none in the world; the man who is out to win the five big English classics—the man, Andrew K. Macomber.

* * * *

"And this American oil magnate is a comparative newcomer to the English racing world. It was only seven years ago when he bought the racing interests of the famous French Vanderbilt stable."

* * * *

A Modest Batter.

Mr. Macomber's plans for his drives on the English classics are not yet fully mature, the Englishman writes in effect, but even this year he will have twelve candidates from which to pick for the ancient Derby at Epsom, which has been run, with few interruptions, for almost a century and a half.

The American turfman expects to have more than fifty separate entries in 1920 and the following year for the chief classics of England.

Reports have gained widespread circulation abroad to the effect that Mr. Macomber has made a fortune betting on his winners. It was said, supposedly on good authority, that the American was "down heavy" in the Cesarewitch of 1923 on his Rose Prince, which won at the profitable figure of 25 to 1.

The English writer gives the lie to these stories. He states Mr. Macomber is one of the most modest of gamblers and that he risks less in a week than some "punters" place on one race. The owner's stake in Rose Prince was 5 pounds each way at 16 to 1.

* * * *

"The betting side of the game has never appealed to me much," the American is quoted as saying. "I am first of all a lover of the thoroughbred and enjoy the thrills of a great race without the incentive of betting."

* * * *

Golden Boss Luckiest Purchase.

Golden Boss is considered by Mr. Macomber as his luckiest purchase since he started to race in England. The son of The Boss went through to the end of his racing career without a single defeat.

This so impressed his owner that he decided to retire him to stud after two victories last season. He now intends to make him the sire of a new race of sprinters to carry on the traditions of The Boss.

Rose Prince is placed second to Golden Boss. In his first race in England Rose Prince won the 1923 Cesarewitch with comparative ease from a good field, including Teresina, which had proved its worth at St. Leger a month before.

"That Rose Prince won in the Cesarewitch," the article reads, "was in itself an illustration of the glorious uncertainty of the turf. About a month before Rose Prince ran in a race in France and was beaten on the post. On that form he did not have a ghost of a chance in the Newmarket race and it had been decided to scratch him from the fixture. A telegram to that effect had been made out by the trainer and dispatched to the postoffice.

"The next day the secret of the horse's indifferent form was discovered and the French trainer expressed his regret that there had been the precipitate scratching. The 'lad' who had been sent with the telegram then admitted he had forgotten to send it in, and therefore the horse was still in the race.

* * * *

"A trial spin proved he was better, and so Rose Prince was sent to England and won at great odds a few days later.

* * * *

Prospects of Parth.

"This year Parth is the main hope of the Macomber party. It was at first intended to retire him to the stud at the end of his second season. Plans were altered and Parth won the Jubilee after a thrilling fight with Verdict.

"The only other success with Parth was over the two miles of the Churchill Stakes course at Ascot, and that success encouraged the stable to think that the horse could stay.

"This year it is Mr. Macomber's intention to start off with the Lincolnshire handicap, and after that the horse will have another try for the Jubilee, a race in which he is certain to be top weight.

"The Macomber stable was strengthened last season when several horses from France were imported, including Thundercloud II, Fleet Cloud, Red Cloud, Le Pierre de Tanville and Torchbearer II.

"High hopes are placed on the 4-year-old Statheros, a son of Stedfast, which has made great improvement, and on Sun God II, a 3-year-old of promise. Sun God II is one of the Derby entries this year, but there are doubts as to whether he will be right up to the classic standard.

* * * *

"Fleet Cloud and Thundercloud II are expected to prove very smart sprinters. One of these should take the place of Golden Boss as the star performer over sprint distances.

* * * *

Macomber's Sportsmanship.

"It is fortunate for Mr. Macomber that he is a millionaire well able to afford the luxury of owning and breeding race horses, for his hobby is costing him hundreds of thousands of pounds at the present time, and very little of that returns to him in stakes or winning bets.

"His sportsmanship is reflected in his attitude toward his trainers and his jockeys. There have been at times cutting criticisms of this or that trainer serving him, and last season O'Neill was scored severely for his riding of Parth. The one man who had not a word of reproach or blame was the man most interested—the owner.

"Mr. Macomber says it is easy to be wise after the event and easier still to ride races from the grandstand, but he prefers to trust the man in the saddle."

* * * *

The sportsmanship, ability, aggressiveness and generosity of Andrew K. Macomber have won over English turfdom.

Beaumont Loses In Initial Round Basket Tourney

CHICAGO, March 31.—Teams representing the south, the west and the central section, were numbered among winners in the first eight conflicts for nation-wide recognition in the national interscholastic invitation basketball tournament of the University of Chicago which opened here today.

The west suffered more keenly than other sections in the early eliminations. The south continued strongly in the running with representative teams from Durham, N. C., Marshallville, Ga., El Reno, Okla., cleared into the second round of the tourney. The west found victories in quintets from Laramie, Wyo., and Greeley Colo., St. Paul, Minn., Wakegan, Ills. and Devil's Lake, N. D., were the other winners.

The Hume-Fogg five from Nashville, Tenn., failed to hold up a reputation that preceded it to the tournament losing to the St. Paul, Minn., quintet, 22 to 19, but only after a supreme effort just before the finish that nearly turned the tide. Several thrilling contests resulted from early games.

Durham, N. C., 39; Helena, Mont., 16.

Game Wardens Banquet Boyd

AUSTIN, March 31.—(AP)—Deputy game wardens from all parts of Texas were in Austin today to attend a farewell banquet for W. W. Boyd of Decatur, retiring game, fish and oyster commissioner. The banquet will be held tonight.

Honor guests will be T. E. Hubby of Waco, who tomorrow takes over the commissionership, and F. W. Burford of Belton, new chief deputy.

More than 30 deputy wardens, several accompanied by their wives, are in Austin.

The ceremonies will be in charge of Representative H. W. Wells of Edna, former chief deputy, and sponsorer of protective game legislation in the thirty-ninth legislature.

Mr. Boyd, on relinquishing his office tomorrow, will return to his home to enter business.

Better Watch Those Tigers This Year.

The Tigers have always been a hitting club. Ty Cobb has led that offensive for years. It has almost carried them to the pennant each year. They have lacked the pitching. But they seem to have more of that this year. So watch 'em.

Crites Allows Losing Club But Pair of Bingles

Indians Win 7 to 1—Deems Absconds With Home Plate

The Junior college Indians emerged victorious over the First Baptist church nine in a short practice tilt Tuesday afternoon by the score of 7 to 1. Only two bingles were credited off the slants of "Skinny" Crites, Indian slab artist.

The Baptist's lone tally came in the opening round. Morgan opened the frame with a slashing triple to right. Snodgrass punched one to right for one cushion and Morgan romped home.

The Redskins jumped on the slants of Snodgrass, youthful star of both the Indians and the Baptists. Snodgrass was nicked for eight safeties in three frames. These bingles spliced in with five bases on balls were the downfall of the Baptist nine.

"Dummy" Deems gave the fans a thrill in the third when the third sacker found no one looking in his general direction and made a clean steal of home.

Mike Caskey and Ray Hershi were the hitting stars of the game. Each of these lads smacked the agate for two hits each, one of Caskey's went for two sacks.

Davis caught a nice game behind the bat for the Baptists. This maskman held the Indians well in check on the paths. He picked several off who had ventured too far.

The score by innings:

Baptist	100—1
Indians	133—7

Batteries: Snodgrass and Davis. Crites and Hershi.

Owls Jump On Longhorns, 8 to 3

AUSTIN, March 31.—Home runs by Decamers and Hale in the third inning off Lefty Williamson accounted for five runs, the Rice Owls winning the first game of the conference season, 8 to 3, from the Texas Longhorns here today. Hale rapped out another home run in the eighth with two runners aboard, pushing the total Owl scores to eight.

Williamson started off as though the Owls would be soft meat, fanning the first three batters to face him. Fisher's single, a sacrifice hit by Fox, an error by Smalley, G. Bloxsom's single accounted for the first Owl run, while Decamers and Hale followed with the blows that boosted the total to five.

Texas scored in the seventh on an error by Wilford on a throw to get Kibbie at first, Thompson's single and Smalley's double. A walk, a hit batsman and Clements' single had previously put over a run in the sixth.

Wood was invincible in the pinches and was given good support in the field.

Score by innings:

Rice	005 000 030—8 6 1
Texas	000 001 200—3 7 3

Wood and Hale; Williamson, Clement, Cox and Leissner.

BAYLOR ATHLETES INJURED

WACO, March 31.—Gordon Bell of Crowell, first baseman of the Baylor university baseball team and Leland Phillips of Lexia, utility player, were seriously hurt late Monday when the car in which they were returning from Coolidge went into a ditch.

Baylor Beats Trinity, 6 to 4

WACO, March 31.—A crashing line drive by Captain Carl (Jake) Freeze, one of the most beautiful home runs ever witnessed at Carroll Field, chilled the victory aspirations of the Trinity Tigers this afternoon. The blow came at the psychological moment and made possible a Bear victory over the Tigers by a score of 6 to 4.

Score by innings: R H E

Trinity	200 001 100—4	8	0
Baylor	102 000 12x—6	8	2

Batteries: Littlejohn and P. Price; Freeze and Jones.

NAT'L GIRLS CAGE TITLE PLAY MONDAY

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., March 31.—The 1925 girls' national interscholastic basketball championship will be decided for the first time in the east next Monday night in the Hempstead high school gymnasium.

The Guthrie high team of Guthrie, Okla., which won the title last year, arrived today, ten players strong, to prepare for its game with Struthers high of Youngstown, Ohio, Friday night. Saturday evening, Burlington high of Burlington, Vt., plays the Hempstead high girls five, and Monday night the winners of the two semi-final contests meet to decide the championship. Each team claims the title in its section of the country.

Depuy Injunction Petition Refused

WACO, Texas, March 31.—Judge Sam R. Scott in the 74th district court this afternoon refused to grant H. A. Dupuy's petition for an injunction to prevent the Waco baseball club operating in Waco.

Quanah Defeats Chillicothe, 7-6

QUANAH, March 31.—Opening the baseball season the local high school boys defeated the Chillicothe school at the Quanah fair park 7 to 6. It was a good game and well played by both teams. Taking two or three errors out it would have been an exceptional game. Sensational fielding by Stephenson of Quanah and Allred of Chillicothe added spice to the exhibition.

The visitors had the game sewed up until the seventh inning when long hits and untimely errors gave Quanah the lead. Again in the ninth the visitors tied the score and an extra inning had to be played. A well hit single by Norman drove in the winning score for Quanah in the tenth.

VON ELMS IMPROVING

George Von Elm, who was runner-up to Bobby Jones in last years' golfing amateur championship, is improving so steadily that he may give Bobby a very close battle soon. Von Elm has been winning some of the western state titles and has developed a habit of shooting a couple of strokes under par in his important matches.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

by James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

With the coming of the tonic-filled days and nights of the Red Moon, a change came over Baree. Nepeese, the trapper's daughter, had made a pet of him, but Baree was half wolf and at the call of the wolves he fled, to join his own, as Pierrot, the trapper, had predicted. "Go, Baree," Nepeese enjoined him. "But you must come back." Baree entered the woods and joined Maheegum, a young she-wolf, who also was seeking the pack. The ears of both were attuned for the slightest sounds from the wolves.

The snow grew deeper under their feet. In the open spaces they waded through it to their knees, and it continued to fall in a vast white cloud that descended steadily out of the sky. It was near midnight when it stopped. The clouds drifted away from under the stars and the moon, and for a long time Baree and Maheegun stood without moving, looking down from the bald crest of a ridge upon a wonderful world.

An hour after they entered the plain there came suddenly out of the west the tonguing of the wolf-pack. It was not far distant, probably not more than a mile along the foot of the ridge, and the sharp, quick yapping that followed the first outburst was evidence that the long-fanged hunters had put up a hidden game, a caribou or young moose, and were close at its heels. At the voice of her own people Maheegun laid her ears close to her head and was off like an arrow from a bow.

The unexpectedness of her movement and the swiftness of her flight put Baree well behind her in the race over the plain. She was running blindly, favored by luck. For an interval of perhaps five minutes the pack were so near to their game that they made no sound, and the chase swung full into the face of Maheegun and Baree. The latter was not half a dozen lengths behind the young wolf when a crashing in the brush directly ahead stopped them so sharply that they tore up the snow with their braced forefeet and squat haunches. Ten seconds later a caribou burst through and flashed across an open not more than twenty yards from where they stood. They could hear its swift panting as it disappeared. And then came the pack.

"At sight of those swiftly moving gray bodies Baree's heart leaped for an instant into his throat."

At sight of those swiftly moving gray bodies Baree's heart leaped for an instant into his throat. He forgot Maheegun, and that she had run away from him. The moon and the stars went out of existence for him. He no longer sensed the chill of the snow under his feet. He was wolf—all wolf. With the warm scent of the caribou in his nostrils, and the passion to kill sweeping through him like fire, he darted after the pack.

It was as if Baree had belonged to the pack always. He had joined it naturally, as other stray wolves had joined it from out of the bush; there had been no ostentation, no welcome such as Maheegun had given him in the open, and no hostility. He belonged with these slim, swift-footed outlaws of the old forests, and his own jaws snapped and his blood ran hot as the smell of the caribou grew heavier, and the sound of its crashing body nearer.

It seemed to him they were almost at its heel when they swept into an open plain, a stretch of barren without a tree or a shrub, brilliant in the light of the stars and moon. Across its unbroken carpet of snow sped the caribou a spare hundred yards ahead of the pack. Now the two leading hunters no longer followed directly in the trail, but shot out at an angle, one to the right and the other to the left of the pursued, and like well-trained soldiers the pack split in halves and spread out fan-shape in the final charge.

The two ends of the fan forged ahead and closed in, until the leaders were running almost abreast of the caribou, with fifty or sixty feet separating them from the pursued. Thus, adroitly and swiftly, with deadly precision, the pack had formed a horseshoe cordon of fangs from which there was but one course of flight—straight ahead.

Baree had found his place in the lower rim of the horseshoe, so that he was fairly well in the rear when the climax came. The plain made a sudden dip. Straight ahead was the gleam of water—water shimmering softly in the starglow, and the sight of it sent a final great spurt of blood through the caribou's bursting heart. Forty seconds would tell the story—forty seconds of a last spurt for life, of a final tremendous effort to escape death. Baree felt the sudden thrill of these moments, and he forged ahead with the others in that lower rim of the horseshoe as one of the leading wolves made a lunge for the young bull's ham-string. It was a clean miss. A second wolf darted in. And this one also missed.

There was no time for others to take their place. From the broken end of the horseshoe Baree heard the caribou's heavy plunge into water. When Baree joined the pack, a maddened, mouth-frothing, snarling horde, Napamoos, the young bull, was well out in the river and swimming steadily for the opposite shore.

The restless movements of the waters ceased now. A new and wondering interest held them rigid. Fangs closed sharply. A little in the open Baree saw Maheegun, with a big gray wolf standing near her. He went to her again, and this time she remained with flattened ears until he was sniffing her neck. And then, with a vicious snarl, she snapped at him. Her teeth sank deep in the soft flesh of his shoulder, and at the unexpectedness and pain of her attack, he let out a yelp. The next instant the big gray wolf was at him.

Again caught unexpectedly, Baree went down with the wolf's fangs at his throat. But in him was the blood of Kazan, the flesh and bone and sinew of Kazan, and for the first time in his life he fought as Kazan fought on that terrible day at the top of the Sun Rock.

That fight, if it had been fair, would have been a victory for Baree, even in his youth and inexperience. In fairness the pack should have waited; it was a law of the pack to wait—until one was done for. But Baree was black; he was a stranger, an interloper, a creature whom they noticed now in a moment when their blood was hot with the rage and disappointment of killers who had missed their prey. A second wolf sprang in, striking Baree treacherously from the flank; and while he was in the snow, his jaws crushing the foreleg of his first foe, the pack was on him en masse.

Such an attack on the young caribou bull would have meant death in less than a minute. Every fang would have found its hold. Baree, by the fortunate circumstance that he was under his first two assailants and protected by their bodies, was saved from being torn instantly into pieces. He knew that he was fighting for his life. Over him the horde of beasts rolled and twisted and snarled; he felt the burning pain of teeth sinking into his flesh; he was smothered; a hundred knives seemed cutting him into pieces; yet no sound—not a whimper or a cry—came from him now in the horror and hopelessness of it all.

It would have ended in another half-minute had the struggle not been at the very edge of the bank. Undermined by the erosion of the spring floods, a section of this bank suddenly gave way, and with it went Baree and half the pack. In a flash Baree thought of the water and the escaping caribou. For a bare instant the cave-in had set him free of the pack, and in that space he gave a single leap over the gray backs of his enemies into the deep water of the stream. Close behind him half a dozen jaws snapped shut on empty air. As it had saved the caribou, so this strip of water shimmering in the glow of the moon and stars had saved Baree.

The stream was not more than a hundred feet in width, but it cost Baree close to a losing struggle to get across it. Until he dragged himself out on the opposite shore, the extent of his injuries was not impressed upon him fully. One hind leg, for the time, was useless; his forward left shoulder was laid open to the bone; his head and body were torn and cut; and as he dragged himself slowly away from the stream, the trail he left in the snow was a red path of blood. It trickled from his panting jaws, between which his tongue was bleeding; it ran down his legs and flanks and belly, and it dripped from his ears, one of which was slit clean for two inches as though cut with a knife. His instincts were dazed, his perception of things clouded as if by a veil drawn close over his eyes.

President Gets New Name of Bear Ribs

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The name of Bear Ribs was bestowed upon President Coolidge today by the Indians of the Kenel district of North Dakota in recognition of the citizens' rights granted to them. The name is that which was borne by a chief of the Hunkapapes who was killed when he sought to teach the Indians the white man's way after peace had first been brought about between the Indians and the white men.

"We now know that Bear Ribs was right," the letter from the Kenel Indians said, "and because he was a far seeing, progressive man, we now give you the name Bear Ribs by which you will be known to our tribe."

LEGAL NOTICE

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.
THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the sheriff or any constable of Wichita county, greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Dora Lowery by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 78th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in May A. D. 1925, the same being the 4th day of May A. D. 1925, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the —day of March A. D. 1925 in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 16722B wherein W. N. Lowery is plaintiff and Dora Lowery is defendant, and said petition alleging that on October 5, 1921, plaintiff was lawfully married to defendant in Wichita county, Texas; that they continued to live together as husband and wife until the 27th of March, 1922, at which time the defendant deserted the plaintiff with intention of permanently abandoning him, since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife; that said marriage relation still exists. Plaintiff prays for judgment dissolving said marriage relation, for costs of suit, and for general and special relief.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 23d day of March A. D. 1925.

A. F. KERR, Clerk
District Court, Wichita Co., Texas.
(Seal) By Eunice Jackson, Deputy.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS.
To the Sheriff of any Constable of Wichita County; Greeting:
You are hereby commanded to summon Raymond Arnett and Dora Arnett and all unknown heirs by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 30th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in May, A. D. 1925, the same being the fourth day of May, A. D., 1925. Then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 28th day of March, A. D., 1925 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 16294-B wherein, Marion Arnett and A. C. Arnett are plaintiffs and Raymond Arnett and Dora Arnett and all unknown heirs are defendants and said petition alleging, that Marion Arnett is a man 41 years old and A. C. Arnett is a man 39 years old and that they are the only heirs of Thomas Arnett, now deceased and Lutisha Arnett, his first wife, and their mother, Lutisha Arnett died on the 20th day of December, 1920, and that their father, Thomas Arnett, later married Dora Fowler and that a son was born to Thomas Arnett and Dora Fowler Arnett, his second wife, by the name of Raymond and no other children were born to them.

That their father, Thomas Arnett, and Dora Fowler Arnett separated in the year 1906 and were never divorced and that Dora Arnett took Raymond Arnett with her when she separated from Thomas Arnett and that at this time plaintiffs have made diligent search for Raymond Arnett and his mother, Dora Arnett, and have been unable to ascertain their whereabouts.

That Thomas Arnett, who died on the 20th day of March, 1925, left the following described property, to wit: Lots 5 and 6 in block 28 of the Sibley-Taylor addition to the city of Wichita Falls, Wichita county, Texas.

Plaintiffs allege that they are the owners of the above described property but because of the facts set out above a cloud is on the title and they are unable to convey this property, and cannot give a clear title to same. Wherefore plaintiffs pray the court that Raymond Arnett and Dora Arnett and all unknown heirs be cited to appear and answer herein, and that plaintiffs have judgment removing cloud from the title and for title and possession of above described lands and premises and that each have an undivided one-half interest in and to the above described property and for costs of suit, etc.

Herein fail not, but have before said court at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your returns thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 30th day of March, A. D., 1925.

(Seal) A. F. KERR, Clerk,
District Court Wichita County, Texas.
By EUNICE JACKSON, Deputy.

Saws For The Goose

By VIOLA BROTHERS SHORE

1. Just sayin' "I do" to the minister, makes you married. But it don't make you a wife.
2. The less time somebody takes askin' you a question, the more time you better take answerin' it.
3. It might be the same scenery you're seein' for the seventh time, but it don't hit you the same.
4. It ain't necessarily a sign of goodness if your kid don't never answer you back. He might be just sly or dumb.
5. One cloud can hide the whole sun. But not for long.
6. It means some'm to be praised by the people that's in a position to pick on you and get away with it.
7. You ain't ever really foolin' your doctor, your mother-in-law or the girl that shares your stateroom on a long trip.
8. What if you did lose a stone—ain't you still got the ring? And if you lost the ring, too, ain't you still got the finger?
9. A woman'll mourn for a dead parent for years—for a dead husband till she gets another—for a dead child, forever.
10. You won't enjoy the fragrance of skunk cabbages, even if you water them with attar of roses.

And Saws For The Gander

1. A man might admit he had no excuse for lyin'. But never for bein' in a temper.
2. The feller that don't carry his umbrella on cloudy days might get caught in the rain. But the guy that always carries his, even in clear weather, is just as likely as not to leave it somewheres.
3. You have to be pretty keen on arguments, to enjoy one with the fed'ral government.
4. It's a lotta fun to command a few. But darn little to command many.
5. You don't have to be a hard man to be a good commander. But you can't be a soft one.
6. There's a whale of a difference between demandin' and commandin'
7. You're lucky if you got a kid that'll stand up for his rights, even to you. The best horses comes from wild colts that handled proper.
8. Standin' the cold is partly a matter of endurance and stren'th and partly havin' a warm coat.
9. A smelt is as good a buy as a salmon if they both been out of water three days.
10. If you are strong, you don't have to be so smooth. And if you are smooth you don't have to be so strong.

Oklahoma Indians Not Subject to Tax

WASHINGTON, March 31. — Incomes of Oklahoma Quapaw Indians are not subject to federal income tax laws, Attorney General Sargent ruled in a decision submitted today to the interior department. The Indians receive rentals and royalties from leases on their allotted land which is rich in zinc deposits. The decision stated that none of the Quapaw treaties contains any provisions subjecting their lands to state or federal taxation.

Stop Murder Trial, Start Insanity Case

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Judge Harold Louderback adjourned the murder trial of 16-year-old Dorothy Ellingson from this afternoon until April 6. A hearing into the sanity of the child matricide was begun.

Selection of a jury to try the issue of sanity was begun. Alienists on both sides have been summoned to testify. It was estimated that more than a day might be required to complete the jury.

TO RETURN LAWRENCE

Officers Leave to Bring Alleged Murderer Back to Fort Worth.

FORT WORTH, March 31. — On receipt of extradition papers from Austin for "Rube" Lawrence, Deputy Sheriff Tom Snow and County Detective Henry Hamilton, will leave for Phoenix, Ariz., to return him here for trial on charges of robbery with firearms. The death penalty will be sought.

"Rube" Lawrence, who is already charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Joe Norman of Mineral Wells, near here last June, is to be indicted on charges of robbery with firearms, District Attorney Hunger said.

BANDITS PLAN DEFENSE.

Polytechnic Bank Robbers Confer With Attorneys at Fort Worth.

FORT WORTH, March 31.—Plans for the defense of C. F. Owen and O. S. Murray, held in county jail on a charge of robbery of the Polytechnic bank, are being laid today by Owen's father, F. G. Owen, a retired planter and business man of Palatchie, Miss., who arrived here today. Owen is an uncle of Murray.

There was an effectionate meeting between the father and son at the county jail today when the father visited his son.

NEW YORK, March 31.—The stock market took a decided turn for the better today despite a series of adverse developments. Selling throughout the session. Strong buying support was in evidence throughout the day, closing quotations in most of the popular issues showing net gains of 1 to 5 points.

Bear traders found plenty of excuses in their efforts to bring about a renewal of liquidation. These included the failure of a curb market firm which had been interested in stocks on the big board; the marking up of the renewal rate on call money to 4½ per cent, the highest opening rate of the year; another break in wheat prices which carried May futures to the lowest price since last September and the declaration of only the regular dividend on American Can which inspired some selling by traders who had expected either a stock split up or an extra cash disbursement.

Offerings were well absorbed on every break with the result that considerable short covering took place during the day. Only 26 issues established new low prices for the year, as compared with 125 yesterday and some of those actually closed at net gains on the day. The list of new lows included Illinois Central, Chicago and Alton common and preferred, Anaconda, Inspiration, Colorado Fuel and Lima Locomotive.

U. S. Steel common showed a net gain of 1⅜ at 115⅜. Baldwin moved up 2⅜ to 111 or nearly 5 points above yesterday's low. American Can closed 2⅜ points higher at 162⅜, after selling as low as 158⅜.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe jumped 8 points to 165.

Weakness of American Hide and Leather preferred which broke nearly 8 points to 59 and then rallied to 62, and of Pittsburgh terminal coal, which broke 12 points to 40 and then rallied at 41⅜ was directly traceable to the failure of the curb market firm, which is reported to have been "long" on both stocks at much higher prices and was accordingly "sold out" on the announcement of its inability to meet its obligations.

Constructive forces also were at work in the railroad group, Canadian Pacific leading the advance with a gain of 3⅜ points to 141⅜. New York Central, Norfolk and Western, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Reading, Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio, Wabash preferred "A", Lackawanna and several others showing net gains of a point or more.

Call money held steady at 4½ per cent the relatively high rate reflecting the heavy month-end demand for funds. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Reactionary tendencies cropped out in the foreign exchange market. Heavy offerings of French francs carried demand bills down about 5 points to around 5.28 cents. Demand sterling held fairly steady around $4.77⅝. Norwegian kroner broke about 9 points to 15.23 cents and moderate recessions took place in most of the other European rates. The South American exchanges were slightly higher.

NEW ORLEANS, March 31.—The cotton market developed a steadier tone today, although there were further rains in the western belt. After opening 7 to 13 points higher, it eased off until July traded at 24.57 and October 23.70, or 5 points below yesterday's close. On a good rally, July traded at 24.87 and October 24.05 in the early afternoon or 25 to 30 points above the previous close. The market reacted under covering moderately in the late trading but the close showed net gains for the day of 15 to 18 points.

The decline which followed the initial advance was due mainly to private reports of rains in Texas and an official forecast for unsettled weather and showers in the western belt. Some fresh selling resulted, owing to the weakness in stocks and grain.

The good rally which started a little before noon and extended into the early afternoon was largely due to covering by shorts on the impression that the market had become oversold and there existed a temporary short interest. The rally was also helped by a recovery in stocks, principally United States Steel. The final reaction was partly due to selling by ring traders on the expectation that the government weekly weather report, due to the evening tomorrow, would be very favorable owing to the recent rains in the west and the good weather in the western half of the belt.

The day's exports were liberal, 44,630 bales, but the market paid no attention to statistics.

FORT WORTH, March 31. — Under more moderate receipts, the cattle market made better progress Tuesday, and Monday's price levels were fairly well maintained. Cows and yearlings made up the bulk of the receipts, the number of beef steers on hand being relatively small. The yard estimate for 2,500 head of cattle and 600 calves.

Most of the steer buying was restricted to small lots of medium to fairly good quality. The market was no better than steady with the Monday decline, but trading displayed more activity.

Sales of cows were in keeping with Monday's average, and the supply was cashed in within a seasonable hour. Good individuals again ranged up to $7.00 and $7.25, and two carloads were desirable enough to notch, $5.90.

Evangelists Drawing Big Revival Crowds

Selecman Speaks At Strand During Noon Lunch Hour

Methodist Minister Takes Up Ten Commandments In Talk

"Thou shalt not kill" and "Thou shalt not steal" were the two of the Ten Commandments taken up by Dr. C. C. Selecman at the Strand theater Tuesday noon in the second sermon of a series of five in which he is discussing "The Ten Commandments as Applied to Wichita Falls and America in the Twentieth Century."

Before a large audience, the speaker, in thirty minutes, presented his thought forcefully and interestingly. His speech is concise and easily understood, and the noon services seem to be meeting with high favor among business people, from the increasing crowds who come to the theatre.

"One of the greatest needs of the present day is a revival of the old homespun virtues of upright honesty, not because the law, the sheriff, society or decency compel a man to be honest, but because he, himself, wants to be honest.

Three Ways to Possess.

"There are three ways of possessing property. One is to earn it, another is to have it given to you, and the third is to steal it in certain genteel ways. There are many forms of dishonesty, from the housebreaker and the bank robber to the forger.

I want to make two observations; first, that a reckless disregard for human property usually goes hand in hand with a reckless disregard for human life," Dr. Selecman declared, opening his sermon on "The Sacredness of Human Property and Life." "A hold-up man, or a housebreaker, is usually at heart a murderer. If murder is necessary for the carrying on of his work, or for his escape from punishment.

"The second observation is that murder, lawlessness and rebellion do not have their roots in the Ten Commandments or in the Bible, or in faith in God. Rebellion is rampant in Russia today.

"The institution of private property is fostered by the Bible. To abolish this right of private property would be to deal human society to the foundations.

"This thing of honesty, when applied to our every day life, is a something and a mighty doctrine. Nothing would give religion a more thoroughly respectable foundation, and a greater prestige than to know that men and women of the church pay what they promise to pay. When church men defend their good name and honesty by paying their religious dues, men are going to respect the religion we profess.

Disregard For Lives.

"There's an open season on lawlessness this spring," was quoted from a recent newspaper by Dr. Selecman, who stated that from the modern prevalence of murders and suicides, it looked as though human life were mighty cheap.

"Nowadays one can kill a man," the speaker declared, "and the first hope is that he won't be caught. The second hope is that he may not be convicted. The third hope is that if convicted, skilful criminal lawyers can find a way for a new trial. The fourth hope if that fails, is an appeal. The fifth chance is a suspended sentence, and if this fails, the sixth chance for liberty is a pardon.

"It has come to pass that a murderer, and lawless, can run loose in society. This thing has got to stop and I don't know how we can, go about it unless we lift up a standard of moral law from Sinai's rugged heights. 'Thou shalt not kill.'

"There is something godlike and supernatural in man, for he was created in the image of God." This degrade the sacredness of human life.

Dr. Selecman served heavily the criminal carelessness over the country which was causing accidental death of people by the wholesale. He compared equal for human life, he declared, might be attributed to the war, or to the lost faith of the people in the treaties of Judas because they were unworthy and slow. The mood with which lawless was dealt in England, he stated, had made killing rare in that country.

"I am in favor of capital punishment. I see no right in taking it away from a man's individual responsibility for a murderous act."

"Flirting With Death."

The so-called "flirting with death" and "human life" stunts were disallowed by the speaker as a means of educating the populace with a deep regard for the sanctity of human life.

He expressed his hearty approval of good healthy efforts for ventilation, sanitation, pure water, the combating of disease and conserving human life, stating that they should be as sacred to the public as the Decalog and said "Glorify Be Excelsis."

"The proper regard for human life will help us find a better way to settle national and international problems, than the wholesale slaughter of war," Dr. Selecman declared in closing. "If we regard human life, we will respect human property."

The speaker stated that he would lecture on the three commandments regarding reference to God, reverence to parents and reverence to the Sabbath in his Wednesday noon Thursday, he announced, would be devoted to the commandment, "Thou shalt not commit adultery."

"I will say nothing sentimental, trashy nor irreverent in the presence of womankind on this delicate subject," the doctor stated, "but I will speak in plain terms on the sex question as it concerns modesty, our homes and our young people.

Rev. J. M. Royston led the prayer and Marion Porter led the song service with Mrs. J. W. Akin at the piano.

"Sin" Is Subject Of Great Sermon By Dr. McConnell

To-Night's Sermon Will Be on Second Coming Of Christ

"The Second Coming to Earth Again," to be announced by Dr. Lincoln McConnell, noted Oklahoma City evangelist, for his sermon this (Wednesday) evening, at the First Baptist church, where he has been addressing large crowds nightly. Christ's second coming, and how and when it will take place will be discussed by the evangelist.

"In speaking to your souls tonight," stated Dr. McConnell at the opening of his Monday evening sermon on "Sin, and His Consequence," drawing a clear picture for his audience of the human soul and how it exhibits the animal traits. Animals, he declared, did not have souls, and therefore had no power to distinguish between moral right and wrong.

"Your moral sense you reason, memory, expression, conscience and an attribute of moral nature. That intelligence is what makes a man differ from a mere physical machine.

"People in Wichita Falls are murdering their souls. You've got people with dead souls in your town. People are walking about in living corpses, but their souls are gone.

"There are deliberate sin in the world today that cripples and ruins their souls. The murder of their souls is infinitely worse than injury to their bodies, for they will exist for their bodies 70 or 80 years, and their souls on forever. The act of death is the inescapable conqueror of sin.

Sin Kills, Vision

Stating that sin destroyed moral vision, self respect, self esteem and finally destroyed shame, Dr. McConnell continued his forceful and clear illustrations.

"Every time you sin, you stifle a voice at your mother's knee. You keep on sinning until you lose the power to see right from wrong. Do you think sinners would enjoy what they're doing if they could see the lions in it, and the consequences to follow? All of them will tell you they could see the harm in what they're doing.

"Sin proceeds until it destroys self respect and finally shame. In its ruthless eating away, it destroys conscience, that friendly sentinel of the soul, the friendly watchman of your well being placed in your soul by God for your protection.

"We must save you sin against conscience, the less conscience you've got."

Dr. McConnell stated that the person cannot be God until the thread of spiritual consciousness and interest is cut on their lives or is lost on a dead
