STATE SEEKS MISTRIAL IN HALL-MILLS CASE

So This Is Texas

Cutting Cotton Acreage—
Children are Starving—
Only One Solution—
The Nation's Poorhouse.

By H. N. Fitzgerald.

"I AM talking particularly to your men who say 'I'll do just as I please with what's mine.' You miserable insects, here a few years, then gone like a shadow. But you can contend for the right to wreck the land that must support the life of your children and your children's children for centuries to come. You die, but the state lives on forever and the fertility of the soil is the life of the state."

* * *

THIS was the message hurled into the teeth of a mass meeting of Falls county bankers and farmers by O. H. Cross of McLennan county, business man and farmer, advocating a law limiting cotton acreage in Texas and throughout the cotton belt.

He sent his message straight from the shoulder.

He declared that farms which 20 years ago were producing half a bale to a bale to the acre do well to produce a quarter of a bale because of constant planting of cotton.

He is one of the foremost advocates of reduction of acreage by law under the skies of Texas.

* * *

HE goes to the musty records of the high courts of the land for his authority for acreage reduction.

For instance, this quotation from a decision by the supreme court of the United States: "The police power of the state embraces regulations designed to promote public confidence or the general prosperity or welfare, as well as those specifically intended to promote the public safety or the public health."

* * *

AS a clincher in advocacy of his proposal this Waco business man and farmer advocate said, "The state forces you to send your child to school.

"Can't the state stop you from doing that which will starve your children's children to death?"

This message, burning in its nature, should make the soil robbers of Texas stop and think and then act.

* * *

"IF New England had our cotton producing soil and climate, New England would have had the price stabilized at 40c a pound long ago."

This is true.

New England protects the products of its mills and factories by sending business men to congress and these business men, almost without exception, vote high tariffs on all the products of New England which enter into competition with the products of alien workers and alien nations.

* * *

SPEAKING of the law of supply and demand this fiery advocate of protection for the products of the south by restricting production and sane marketing, said, "As sure as you produce more of a commodity than the market will absorb, that commodity will become the football of commerce.

"Taking this surplus temporarily off the market amounts to but little.

"I have no patience with the Haughen bill or the McNary bill.

"They are socialism, rotten to the core.

"They would tax the people in order to buy up cotton at 20c a pound, which would mean more cotton grown the next year and the next until the land couldn't hold warehouses enough to hold it.

"Cut cotton acreage in half and our towns will ring with the hammer of prosperity.

"Everyone tells us 'organize and agree to cut your acreage but don't do it by law.'

"Rather stay poverty stricken than prosper through legislation."

* * *

OBJECT lessons are forcible lessons. They are made use of in all the schools from the kindergarten to the world college of adversity or rather to those who attend the last named and their name is Legion.

* * *

This is forceful, "God has given this monoply to the south. No man can explain why the south alone can raise this plant upon which the world so largely depends for its clothing. If we wilfully continue

GOULD VICTOR IN MAINE RACE TO U. S. SENATE

Republicans Keep Power In Upper House by Win In Pine Tree State

LOSER WILL CONTEST

Democratic Candidate Declares He'll Fight Election in Courts

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 29.(AP) Retention of republican control of the United States senate was assured by the election today of Arthur R. Gould, republican, by a majority of approximately 50,000 over Fulton J. Redman, democrat, as senator from Maine. He will complete the term of the late Senator Bert M. Fernald, expiring in 1931. With only 61 precincts missing and all the cities heard from the vote was: Gould 77,462; Redman 30,786.

DEFEATED DEMOCRAT TO TEST ELECTION

ELLSWORTH, Me., Nov. 29(AP) Fulton J. Redman, defeated democratic candidate for United States senator declared tonight that he had just begun to fight and would take the contest over the election of Arthur R. Gould of Presque Isle, his republican opponent, to Washington.

REDMAN'S MANAGER CONCEDES DEFEAT

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 29.(AP)—Daniel W. Coney, chairman of the democratic state committee at 8 o'clock tonight conceded the election of Arthur R. Gould, republican, in the contest for United States senator.

"AS GOES MAINE SO GOES THE NATION"

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 29.(AP) The old saying "as goes Maine, so goes the nation" took on a new meaning today. Continued republican control of the United States senate hung in the balance as the voters of the pine tree state turned out to elect a senator to succeed the late Senator Bert M. Fernald for the term expiring in 1931.

Arthur R. Gould, wealthy business man of Presque Isle and a leader in the affairs of Aroostook county, the great potato growing district was the republican nominee. His democratic opponent was Fulton J. Redman of Ellsworth, a lawyer.

It was Redman's second attempt. Two years ago Senator Fernald defeated him by a majority of 51,355.

Klan's Name Figures

Charges filed by a member of the ku klux klan and supported by Gov. Ralph O. Brewster, republican, that Gould had gone beyond the limit in his primary campaign stirred up great pre-election excitement. The charges were turned down by the secretary of state at a formal hearing as not backed by sufficient evidence.

Redman attacked Gould for his connection with a railroad project in New Brunswick some years ago in which promoters associated with him contributed to the campaign fund of the premier of the Canadian province. Gould replied that this was an old story and that he had advised against such contributions.

Campaign of Rumors

The campaign was further confused by rumors of future political aspirations of Maine republican leaders. Gould supporters charged that Governor Brewster was seeking the support of the klan to bring about his nomination for senator in 1928. In the governor's friends asserted that Gould had promised to throw his strength toward the renomination two years hence of Senator Frederick Hale, who had supported Gould. Still another factor was former Gov. Percival P. Baxter, runner-up in the four cornered republican primary contest who after the primary pledged his support to Gould.

Jury Hears Story Of Big Loan To Fall

Fergusons Plan To Establish Home In Austin When 'Ma' Quits Office

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. (AP)—Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson and James E. Ferguson will make Austin their home after they retire from the executive mansion, they have indicated in negotiations for the purchase of residence property here.

That former Gov. James E. Ferguson will engage in business or the practice of law here has been rumored. Mr. Ferguson Monday declined to discuss the matter, answering questions as to his locating here with "I have bought nothing."

It is known that Mr. Ferguson has discussed with a member of a real estate firm the purchase of a residence lot, and it has been rumored on the streets he is negotiating also on the purchase of a residence already constructed.

The Ferguson family home is at Temple.

Should the Fergusons locate here when Mrs. Ferguson also becomes an "ex," Austin will have the only family in the United States of which both husband and wife have held the office of state governor, Mrs. Nellie Ross of Wyoming, was also governor, but he died before her election.

Memphis Citizens Balked In Hunt For Drowned Boy's Body Hold Mass Meeting To Consider Further Steps

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 29.—Search for recovery of the body of Joe Parven, 20-year-old McKinney youth who was drowned in Deep Lake a week ago Sunday, has reached such proportions as to demand the attention of committees.

At a mass meeting of citizens of the city and county Monday, a committee, consisting of Mayor F. N. Foxhall, County Judge A. C. Hoffman, Dr. W. C. Dickey, president of the Hall County National bank; B. F. Cope and Harold Duke, the latter two of Deep Lake, were appointed to consider further steps in the search.

Steering Committee

This committee in turn appointed a steering committee consisting of J. B. Burnett, Tom Russell, Harold Butler, Rev. C. E. Jameson, T. N. Baker and T. Kittenger to work with them.

Both committees held a meeting Monday night to consider the question.

The search for Parven's body has gone on unremittingly since a week ago Sunday morning when Parven and Marion Cornell, with whom he was duck hunting, were thrown into the icy waters of Deep Lake when their boat capsized.

Cornell Rescued

Parven sank but Cornell was rescued after being in the water for over an hour.

The lake has been thoroughly dragged and a diver made explorations on the bottom

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Hunter Kills Squirrel After Wounding Himself

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (AP)—Crawling through a barbed wire fence while on a squirrel hunt, R. L. Campbell of Dallas was shot in the left leg by the accidental discharge of his shotgun Sunday. Campbell told doctors that while hobbling to his automobile, he saw a squirrel and despite his wound, shot it.

THREE REAL SHEIKS FROM ARABIA JUMP BARRIER IN TEXAS

GALVESTON, Nov. 29. (AP) Three real Arab sheiks from the deserts of Arabia were at large in the vicinity of Galveston today and six others were cooling their heels in the city bastile facing deportation proceedings.

The Arabs, members of the crew of the British steamer Wearbridge, deserted Saturday. The vessel sailed without them for Marseilles. Six were captured by immigration inspectors; three others were more fortunate. The sheiks sailed from Aden, on the Red sea.

NORRIS SEEKS MORE COUNSEL

Austin Firm of Attorneys Approached by Defense In Murder Case

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. (AP)—The Austin firm of White, Wilcox, Graves and Taylor, attorneys, has been invited to join the defense of the Rev. J. Frank Norris, who will go on trial here January 10 on a charge of murder of D. E. Chipps, wealthy lumberman. Reports from Fort Worth Monday night intimated that the Austin lawyers had been formally added to the defense battery, though Judge Ike D. White, senior member of the firm said that while the matter had been broached to him, no definite agreement had been entered.

Dayton Moses, leading defense counsel, is in Washington.

It is known that the Norris defense attorneys have approached the firm of Harris and Harris here on the question of their being added to the group of lawyers who will represent Dr. Norris. Judge June C. Harris said Monday night that no agreement has yet been reached with him.

The firm of which Judge Ike D. White is a member includes C. A. Wilcox, former District Judge Ireland Graves, and Q. C. Taylor.

SIX SLAIN FOR RAID ON RANCH

American Owner Defends His Mexican Land Against Confiscation

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 29.(AP) Twenty-five Mexican soldiers tonight guarded the Las Rucias ranch, four miles north of Matamoras, Mexico, where six men were killed today in a fight between agrarians and ranch employes.

The shooting occurred when Emilio Longoria, foreman of the ranch, arrived from Matamoras with several ranch employes. As he approached a body of 30 or 40 men who were moving houses onto the property, he was fired upon. His men returned the fire. Three agrarians and three renchmen were killed.

Soldiers in Charge

The soldiers in command of a major were dispatched to the scene with instructions to take charge of the situation, as soon as word reached Matamoras.

The ranch is valued at $750,000 and is in full cultivation, with 600 bales of cotton stored on the place, according to John G. Fernandez of Brownsville, one of the executors in charge of the property. The ranch is owned by the minor children of the late Juan H. Fernandez of Brownsville.

Armed Escort Given

The executors later sent Jose Rodriguez to the ranch as their representatives. He was given an escort of 10 soldiers.

The incident was reported to Washington by United States Vice-Consul Leonard of Matamoras.

SUICIDE PACT

Two Girls Found by Roadside With Empty Bottle

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 29. (AP)—The bodies of Miss Ruth Drake, 19, and Miss Sarah Lundstedt, 22, were found by the side of a borrowed automobile on the Salt Lake-Ogden highway last night. An empty bottle believed to have contained poison was found nearby and police expressed the belief that death followed a suicide pact. A letter found at the home of Miss Lundstedt signed "Ruth" is under investigation.

LITTLE BLACK BAG ALSO GETS VIEW OF JURY

Court Rules Evidence On Doheny's $100,000 Loans Okeh

EVIDENCE IS READ

Transcript of Testimony In Senate Quiz Read By Prosecution

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.(AP)—Raking over the white bones of the senate investigation into the leasing of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills oil reserves for four and a half hours today, the government presented to the jury in the Fall-Doheny criminal conspiracy trial the main structure of its case against the former secretary of interior and the California oil magnate.

Following a ruling by Justice Hoehling of the District of Columbia supreme court that the senate record was admissable as evidence in the present trial, Owen J. Roberts, and Atlee Pomerene, counsel for the government, read to the jury virtually a complete transcript of Doheny's testimony before the committee. They also read portions of Fall's statement to the committee regarding extension of his New Mexico ranch holdings while Elk Hills lease was under negotiation between representatives of Doheny's company and interior department officials.

Title Black Satchel.

The reading brought before the jurors evidence bearing upon the celebrated little black satchel in which $100,000 in cash was carried by Edward L. Doheny Jr., the defendant's son, from New York to Washington in November, 1921. The day also brought before the jury the $100,000 note of November 30, 1921, which Fall gave to Doheny to cover a loan which Doheny in his senate testimony described as an act "befriending a friend in need." From the senate record, also, came Fall's letter to the committee in which he said that the $100,000 which enabled him to finance extension of his land holdings had been loaned him by Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post.

The prosecution regards the $100,000 transaction as the foundation stone of its case and is ready to proceed with testimony through which it hopes to show that Doheny's loan to the cabinet officer charged with administration of the oil reserve was a factor in the award of the Elk Hills lease to Doheny's Pan-American petroleum company of California. Doheny testified before the senate committee he hoped to realize a profit of at least 100,000,000. profit of at least $100,000,000.

E. L. Mahoney, an audit clerk in the comptroller general's office, whose testimony was interrupted by the recess tonight, identified a prosecution exhibit as an expense voucher covering a trip by Fall from Washington to El Paso, Texas, Calixco, Calif., and Three Rivers, N. M., between December 1, 1921 and January 26, 1922. Previous testimony, from the senate record, had established the $100,000 cash transaction as having occurred in the Wardman Park hotel here on November 30, 1921, and had identified Three Rivers as the postoffice address of Fall's New Mexico ranch.

The Fall note went before the jury wtihout the signature which Doheny had several times informed the senate committee had been torn off and given to his

OLD BLIND BEGGAR PUT IN DALLAS JAIL FOUND TO BE RICH

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (AP)—A 77-year-old blind man, said to be wealthy, who was arrested here several months ago for begging on the streets, was arrested again Monday.

When placed in jail on the first occasion, he had several thousand dollars in his pocket, and was thereupon fined. Upon refusal to pay the fine he was sent to the workhouse.

Today only $4 was found in his pockets. At the police station he insisted on a careful count of every penny, while keeping up a running fire of caustic comment against the police. He was placed in jail.

Father Refuses To Reveal Place He Hid His Girl

Fort Worth Barber Placed In Jail On Charge of Court Contempt

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29.(AP)—Application for writ of habeas corpus will be filed with the state supreme court at Austin for release of William O. Stone, barber, sent to jail today by District Judge Bruce Young for contempt of court, Stone's attorney, Harvey P. Shead, said, announcing that he will leave for the capital Tuesday.

Stone's incarceration is the outgrowth of his alleged kidnaping of his daughter, Billy Mavine Stone, 8, and proceedings in which Mrs. Stone was granted a divorce on August 23.

At a hearing Saturday, Stone refused to tell the district court where his daughter is. Officers acted on a bench order committing Stone to jail. A complaint pending in justice court charges Stone with kidnaping the child and taking her from Fort Worth to La Grange, Ore., about August 15.

AUTO'S RATTLE FIRES SHOTGUN

Bandera Girl Dies and Her Escort Wounded in Freak Accident

BANDERA, Nov. 29.(AP)—Miss Jewel Langford, 16, of Bandera, was killed and Harry Dieckow of San Antonio was seriously wounded by the accidental discharge of a shotgun near here Sunday.

They were with a party hunting turkeys when the accident happened. Miss Langford died before she could be brought to town.

The shotgun was leaning against the running board of the automobile in which the couple was sitting. Vibration from the motor caused the gun to fall, striking the hammer against the running board, it was said.

MYSTERY NOTE INVOLVING JURY BASIS OF MOVE

Prosecutor Simpson Refuses To Reveal Contents Of Missive

MRS. HALL IS EXAMINED

Defendant Severely Grilled By State in Effort To Upset Testimony

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 29. (AP)—At the end of a day in which the defense rested its case and the state opened rebutial testimony, Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor in the Hall-Mills case announced that he is assembling material on which to base a motion for a mistrial.

The prosecutor said that the motion will not be made until the evidence in the trial has been submitted. A mysterious letter, which apparently followed a circuitous route about the court room, brought the announcement of the prospective effort to have a mistrial declared. It was reported that the letter did not contain allegations involving the defendants or their representatives. The letter was delivered by Simpson to Justice Charles W. Parker and Judge Frank L. Cleary.

Judge Keeps Silent

The prosecutor got it from John J. Underwood, inspector of the Jersey City police department, who in turn received it from Harry Walsh, one of his captains. Judge Cleary on adjournment of court, although he refused to discuss the contents of the letter said that it had been returned to the special prosecutor.

Simpson last week indicated that an effort might be made to have a mistrial declared when he procured affidavits from newspaper men that certain members of the jury had been seen "nodding and apparently asleep."

Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, resuming the stand today, proceeded calmly to the end of her cross examination and brief re-direct examination over a period of a few minutes more than two hours. She said today that she is convinced of her husband's regard for her at the time of his death, although she now knows that there was an attachment for Mrs. Elanor R. Mills of which she did not know at the time.

State Grills Mrs. Hall

The extended cross examination stressed what the state construed as inadequate spreading of an alarm for the missing minister by Mrs. Hall, the day after he left his home for the last time.

The prosecutor asked again and again as to steps taken in the Hall household to ascertain the whereabouts of the Rev. Edward W. Hall. Mrs. Hall replied in even tones that she had taken what she thought were the necessary steps.

The state also emphasized that the body of her husband was not taken to the Hall home, the widow replying each time that she asked that the body be returned to the house, but that John V. Hubbard, undertaker, had advised against it.

Never Saw Letters

The witness said that she never saw the love letters of Mrs. Mills to her husband nor those of the minister to the choir singer, until two weeks before this trial. She said that at her minister's advice she did not read the papers after her husband's death.

The prosecutor's plan of cross examination involved much repetition. He asked virtually the same questions several times, Justice Parker, on one occasion, checking the line of questioning with the statement: "You have been over that, Mr. Simpson."

Mrs. Hall again, under Simpson's questioning, flatly denied any connection with the crime on which she and her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, are being tried. Her "no" was emphatic as she replied to questions if she had gone to DeRussey's lane where her husband and Mrs. Mills were slain, had known of any meeting between the two there or had seen Mrs. Mills shot down.

Sisters Ou Stand

After Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Thodora Bonner and Mrs. Frances Voorhees, sisters of Mrs. Hall, went to the witness stand to tell of a summons from Mrs. Hall when her husband and their brother had not returned home Friday, after leaving early Thursday evening.

Both said the defendant was agitated and neither saw any scratch on her face as has been testified to by state's witnesses.

The defense was unsuccessful in getting into the record a statement from the sisters that both of them and their mother, until her death, were warm friends of Mrs. Hall.

Denial Permitted

Mrs. Bonner was permitted to deny that Mrs. Hall, while accompanying her home from a visit to Europe last year, had said anything about hoping Mrs. Jane Gibson was dead and that the only mistake she made was in sending garments to be dyed after the slaying.

An effort by the defense to get into the testimony that Mr. Hall's sister did not see their brother's body failed.

Trained Dallas Mouse 'Skins Cat' On Telephone While Typewriter Clicks

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (AP)—The cat and the canary, who, according to an old song, went lovingly to sea in a pea green boat, perhaps laid a precedent for Mrs. M. L. Mann, secretary to Federal Judge Edward R. Meek, and her trained mouse.

The "wee beastie," "skins the cat" on the secretary's telephone, sits erect like a squirrel and eats bits of food, while its endearing tricks dispel womenly terror.

The tiny creature ventured forth on the premises of the United States government here shortly after a large fat, taking advantage of the absence of United States Marshal Sam L. Gross, had invaded the office frightening all the women deputies. After a sanguinary struggle, the rat was executed by the men of the office who had been called in by the frantic women.

When the mouse tip-toed timorously from hiding, Mrs. Mann bethought herself to attempt other methods of maintaining feminine supremacy. She tried taming, and in a week had made a pet of the small rodent. Once it climbed on the hem of her dress, and she surprised herself by allowing it to. While friendly to Mrs. Mann, the mouse scampers away when anyone else approaches.

Boy, 8, Willing To Give Up Part Of His Gifts To Poor, He Tells Santa

For a boy seven years old, who'll be eight on December 12, the letter to Santa Claus printed below is unusually good. That was St. Nick's verdict Monday night in his radiogram from his North Pole palace in announcing the day's winner for the $2 award in The Wichita Falls Record News Santa Claus letter contest.

Wichita Falls, Texas,
November 29, 1926.

Dear Santa Claus:
I would like to have a cowboy suit, cowboy boots and a pair of cowboy spurs and some candy and some fruits. But if you do not have enough things for all the children don't bring me so much and take some things to some boy who doesn't have any daddy or mother. I hope I will see you before Christmas.

W. C. MARTIN JR.

P. S. I will be eight years old Dec. 12, 1926.

The Santa Claus letter contest continues for two weeks with the best letter printed each day drawing an award of $2. Little Miss Elizabeth Jameson, writing from Memphis, Texas, was the first winner. Little W. C. Martin Jr., of Wichita Falls, is the winner today. Send in your letter to Santa Claus in care of The Record News and maybe you'll win the next $2 prize.

Oh, by the way, one little contestant addressed his letter to Santa Claus yesterday simply: "Mr. Santa Claus" without any other designation. But the mail man knew where to send the letter and it reached The Record News office safely.

MEXICO FINDS OIL LAW EASY

Big Companies Agree to Obey Petroleum Statutes, Is Reported

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 29.(AP)—Foreign Minister Saenz today issued a statement in which he declared that Mexico's land and petroleum laws, which have met with protest from the United States are being enforced without difficulty and that only a few of the big oil companies have not yet announced their intention to comply with them.

"In spite of campaigns abroad against compliance with the land and petroleum law the regulations are being enforced without difficulty and its application is an accomplished fact," the statement said.

"In general all foreign companies, American, British, French and others have taken steps to comply and only a few have not yet announced their intention of so doing before the end of the year."

Observers Mystified

This statement has only served to mystify observers here, because none of the oil companies have publicly admitted acceptance of the laws.

Apparently influences are being exerted so that by January 1, when the time limit for acceptance of the law requires, enough oil companies will have accepted the law to embarrass the American department of state by leaving it in the position of having little left to protest about.

However, this theory seems far from realization. The best available information in the befogged situation where the principal interests involve—the oil owners themselves — have refused or avoided public declarations is that the important American oil companies have, according to apparently reliable information but this they have refused to discuss.

Newspaper Comments

El Universal editorially calls attention to the significance of "the acceptance of the new petroleum and allen land law by the foremost British companies," and declares that this points out a path which leads to a solution of the entire oil problem.

The newspaper says that this "acceptance" disproves prolonged foreign arguments (by inference from the department of state at Washington) that the laws are retroactive and confiscatory, because such great British business interests would not accept anything prejudicial to their rights. All the present difficulty would be removed if the oil companies of other countries would follow the British example, El Universal says.

The Mexican embassy in Washington stated last Friday that it had been advised that all the British oil interests in Mexico, together with an important Dutch company, LaCorona and "some American and other corporations," had accepted the conditions of the Mexican oil and land law.

Officials of the foreign office in London today said that they were unable to confirm this report as far as it concerned British companies, but that they would be greatly surprised if it were true.

Jack, 18-Year-Old Cat, Spends Last Days Alone In $100-a-Month Flat

HORNELL, N. Y., Nov. 29. (AP)—Jack, an 18-year-old cat, who occupied a $100-a-month apartment all alone, has gone where all good cats go.

Jack died yesterday and his mortal remains were consigned for burial today in a dog's cemetery maintained by a lover of animals who refuses to charge owners of pets any fee for burial lots in his privately owned cemetery. This graveyard is rated here as the largest of its kind in the world.

Jack belonged to Frank L. Myers, who is not at all wealthy, but is a lover of animals, particularly of cats. Two years ago Myers closed his downtown place of business and moved a large animal family into a home in the suburbs. But Jack, pride of the animal household and for 16 years a favorite in the business establishment, disliked the new abode and twice returned to his old haunts.

Myers re-rented the place for his pet and thereafter went down twice a day in a taxi to feed him meat or fish until his ninth life was snuffed out yesterday by old age.

Kidnap Party On At Garden Screen

"Blue Streak" Picture Is Feature Production There Now

A fake kidnaping party which turns out to be real; the roar and heat and clatter of a huge smelter going full blast; the adventures of an intrepid young American in Mexico; fights galore, and the whole mass of flaming action shot, so to speak through the gauze curtain of burlesque—these are a few of the things that make "The Blue Streak" stand out from the ruck of "ordinary" pictures. The production, starring Richard Talmadge, is replete with swift-moving incident and laughs; and that is a hard combination to beat. It is now playing at the Garden theater. James Bell Smith wrote the story, while Director Noel Smith has handled the fine material accorded him with telling skill. Louise Lorraine takes the leading feminine role opposite Mr. Talmadge. Charles Clary, Henry Hebert, Charles Malles and Victor Dillingham are among those who have prominent roles in the cast.

SKIN NOW SOFT AND SMOOTH AS A BABY'S

After three years' suffering from eczema

Los Angeles, California, April 14: "For over three years my little daughter suffered with eczema on her arms, face, neck and hands. It seemed to me that I tried everything, but the trouble grew worse all the time. The itching was intense and made sleep almost impossible. One day a friend advised me to use Resinol so I bought a jar of ointment and a cake of soap, but I didn't believe it would do any good. You can imagine my surprise and joy when the itching stopped and healing began immediately. Now, after using two jars of ointment and a cake of soap my little girl's skin is as white and smooth as the day she was born." (Signed) J. H. Norris, 1579 Rockwood St.

INSANE FATHER SLAYS FAMILY

Marlow, Okla., Scene of Murder of Five By Use of Fire

MARLOW, Okla., Nov. 29. (AP) An entire family of five was killed at a farm five miles north of here early yesterday and their bodies cremated in a fire that destroyed their home.

Seymour was to have been taken to Oklahoma City yesterday for an examination to determine whether he was sane. He was believed to have been informed of the impending examination.

"Cascarets" for Costive Bowels, Headache, Colds

To-night! Clean your bowels and stop headache, colds, sour stomach

Get a 10-cent box now.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick-sour stomach and bad colds—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken. —Adv.

TEXAS-OKLAHOMA FAIR DATES FOR 1927 SET FOR OCT. 1 TO 6

SHEPHERD IN CHICAGO FOR FAIR MEETING

Annual Event to Be Staged On Bigger Scale Than Ever

The fifth annual Texas-Oklahoma fair will be held here October 1 to 6, 1927, it was announced Monday following setting of dates of a number of middle west and southwest fairs in Chicago where the International Association of Fairs and Expositions is being held.

Mayor R. E. Shepherd, who is secretary-manager of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association, is now in Chicago attending the sessions of the exposition. He will not return until next Saturday.

The Texas Cotton palace at Waco will be held October 22 to November 6 next year.

While in Chicago, Shepherd will make bookings for a number of vaudeville and other attractions to be used here next fall.

Extensive plans are under way for making the 1927 exposition bigger and better than ever.

Air Transport To Seek New Contract

Texas-Chicago Line Will Bid For Work to Eastern Air Fields

Col. Paul Henderson, general manager of the National Air Transport, Inc., operators of the contract air mail line between Chicago and Texas, with general headquarters in Chicago, announced today that the N. A. T. will bid for the government contract to fly air mail between Chicago and New York.

The bid will be made as the result of advertisement by the postmaster general on November 15, asking for bids for operation of the entire transcontinental air mail route from Chicago to New York. Letting of the contracts, which will be awarded January 15, will put the government out of the business of flying air mail entirely, in accordance with the announced policy of the post office department.

The N. A. T. recently closed a contract with the American Railway Express company to fly express not only over its present air mail route between Chicago and Texas but between Chicago and New York. Service over the entire route is scheduled to begin April 15 next. Eventually, when practical problems involved have been worked out, passenger service will be extended over the entire route of the N. A. T. from New York to Texas via Chicago and Kansas City.

They Are Not "Nuts" or "Bugs," But Mentally Deficient, Castner Declares

"The public may do a great service to persons who have been treated for mental diseases by refraining from calling them 'nuts' or 'bugs' and by saying they have been in a hospital for treatment," declared Dr. C. W. Castner, superintendent of the Wichita Falls State hospital, in a talk to the Kiwanis club Monday at the noon meeting at the Kemp.

"Insanity is a term used by the courts to denote the irresponsibility of persons suffering from mental disorders," Dr. Castner said.

Many Factors Involved

In speaking of causes of insanity, there may be an accumulation of factors where one of them may be the precipitating cause, he pointed out. Quoting from a survey made of hospitals of 267,617 patients, cause for the condition of 114,240 were unknown. It is thought now that ductless glands in the body may produce a toxin which later destroys the cells of the brain, and cause insanity, the speaker said. Physical diseases and brain tumors are responsible for cases of insanity.

"The exact cause of senile cases when persons become insane at the age of 65 or many at an earlier age, called pre-senile, is not known. Hardened arteries are found in many cases and it may be the arteries in the brain harden to the extent that the blood supply is kept down," Dr. Castner said.

No Hope For Sane

In speaking of mental deficiency, as exemplified in the idiot, imbecile or moron, he showed how no hope was held for such cases and that the patients lived from 40 to 50 years in institutions and costs from $300 to $400 per year to care for them. The survey also revealed that single men outnumber the married men in cases of insanity, and there are more married women insane than single women. It was also shown that of every 100,000 persons, 245 were insane, and recoveries are recorded in almost 50 per cent of the cases.

Burgess Funeral Services Are Held

Pioneer Wichita Falls Woman Is Burned Monday In Riverside

The funeral for Mrs. Frances C. Burgess, 82, who had made her home in Wichita Falls for the last 40 years, was held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs. I. A. Farris, 1208 Scott, where she had made her home. Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducted the service. Burial was in Riverside. Mrs. Burgess died Monday morning at 1 o'clock.

Surviving her are her two daughters, Mrs. Farris, and Miss Kate Burgess, principal of Travis school; two sons, Bob Burgess of Lake Charles, La., and Oliver Burgess of Arizona. She was the wife of William H. Burgess, former tax assessor, who died in 1892.

Pall bearers were W. A. Freear, W. W. Brown, J. H. Martin, A. C. Howard, W. L. Robertson and E. E. Fuller.

CHOIR WILL GIVE CANTATA

First Presbyterian Singers To Appear in Electra Tuesday Night

The choir of the First Presbyterian church, which presented the cantata, "Praise and Thanksgiving" Sunday night at the church, will give the program Tuesday night at the First Presbyterian church of Electra, according to Alva R. Willgus, director.

The members will meet at the church at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening and go to Electra where dinner will be served to them at 7 o'clock, and the program will start at 8 o'clock. The orchestra, which played the accompaniment for the choir, will also go to Electra.

"Praise and Thanksgiving" was written by W. J. Marsh of Fort Worth, a noted Texas composer. The music is tuneful, and the local church was crowded to its capacity Sunday night to hear the cantata which proved to be one of the enjoyable musical features of the year.

Soloists include Mrs. C. N. Cameron, soprano; Mrs. W. L. Underwood, contralto; Paul Von Allmen, tenor; Alva R. Willgus, baritone, and Stanley Raub, violinist.

BOBO FUNERAL

Services Held Monday in Merkle Chapel.

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Bell Bobo, 28, were held Monday afternoon from the Merkle chapel with Rev. C. S. McClung, pastor of Floral Heights Baptist church, in charge. Burial was in Riverside.

Mrs. Bobo, who died Sunday afternoon in a local hospital, is survived by two daughters, 12 and 14 years of age; her father, A. H. Stanley of Coleman, and two sisters, Mrs. J. S. Stonebach and Mrs. Guy Rogers, both of Burkburnett.

SOFT, SLOW MELODY, LOW LIGHT, FLAPPER EXCUSE FOR KISSES

MANILA, Nov. 29. (AP)—When the lights of the dance hall are dimmed; when the orchestra plays a soft, appealing waltz and a pretty girl is near—a man who kisses a girl in such a setting is a "victim of circumstances," the supreme court of the Philippine Islands ruled today.

In so ruling the court acquitted Severo Pancho, who was convicted in the court of first instance in Sorsogon province of kissing Marcelle Dayson, a professional dancing girl, against her wishes. The lower court imposed sentence of three and a half years.

The supreme court released him on the finding that there was a reasonable doubt as to his guilt.

Welfare Work On Another Angle

Miss Henricle Takes Up Rescue Measure for Allicted Kittens

"Count that day lost whose low descending sun

Welfare work in this community is not directed entirely to the little folk as was revealed this week by the actions of one of the workers. Miss Katherine Henricle, superintendent of the West Texas Children's Aid society, had been out of the city on a case and while driving along a highway near the city she heard the agonized, lonely "meow" of a kitten.

She stopped her car and got out. There came to meet her a fluffy little kitten, eager to see friends who might be friendly. It limped along, crying at burrs that were sticking in the soft portion of its feet. The welfare worker called to it, and immediately from the weeds and grass burrs growing at the edge of the gutter sprang four other little kittens.

They had shuffled along hunting food and the stickers had pricked their noses. Their feet were cut and bleeding and sore. All five were put in the automobile and before she went to rest, Miss Henricle had found a pleasant home for every one of the animals.

Mrs. Burton Advises Women On Motherhood and Companionship

"For several years I was denied the blessing of motherhood," writes Mrs. Margaret Burton of Kansas City, "I was terribly nervous and subject to periods of terrible suffering and melancholia. Now I am the proud mother of a beautiful little daughter and a true companion and inspiration to my husband. I believe hundreds of other women would like to know the secret of my happiness, and I will gladly reveal it to any married woman who will write me." Mrs. Burton offers her advice entirely without charge. She has nothing to sell. Letters should be addressed to Mrs. Margaret Burton, 71287 Massachussets, Kansas City, Mo. What Women Are Doing — Sophie Loeb's Chat — Recipes and Latest Fashions

SOPHIE IRENE LOEB Says—

About two years ago a fine family in this city lost a daughter in the flower of her youth. She was a leader of affairs and a most beautiful character.

She had everything in life for which to live—beauty, love, success, everything.

The blow was terrible to this father and mother, sister and brother. They are people who have taken an interest in the big efforts of the human game, but it seemed nothing could rouse them from the despair of the death of this daughter.

I never saw such a crushed group. They tried to be brave, but could not understand why fate had dealt them such a dreadful disaster.

It seemed to me that they would never rise above it, so terrible was their grief, so unhappy seemed the future to spread out to them. Often I thought of them, but always surrounded by this sorrow.

The other night I came to see this family and I shall never forget the joy I felt at the changed conditions. A new spirit had entered into their midst—the spirit of the dead loved one.

Somehow they had found the big light to face the future. Instead of mourning they were doing—doing the things she wanted them to do. Instead of folding her picture away and putting a dead floral wreath over it as one would to cover up a tomb, there was every kind of picture of her everywhere.

They have somehow absorbed the will of the dead girl and are carrying out her wishes, taking an interest in the world's work.

If ever such a thing could be, the spirit of her is right there every minute. At any rate, she is not dead. She is going on through those who loved her best. It is fine to behold.

I know another family. A similar sorrow came to them. But, oh, with a difference! It is some years now since it happened, but the curtains in the front room are drawn. There are tombstone wreaths all around where you can see them and pathetic flowers under glass cases.

One shudders when one visits this household, and you want to get away as quickly as possible.

It is all wrong, this continual mourning madness. Every effort should be put forth to banish it. A beautiful memory can be made to live rather than a dead thing.

This brave, courageous spirit must needs be cultivated today more than ever. As in the case of the first family I mentioned, good friends came and encouraged them to come out of their sorrows and make some sweetness out of it.

In a word, what greater work is there for every human to perform, the chime of cheer, wherever possible, and so quiet the dirge of distress?

It is certainly life saving.

SAVING THE WORLD

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Making reforms on paper, says the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, seems a favorite indoor sport of a large section of the population. The world is saved on paper a thousand times a week.

Fashions Blouse

BY MME. LISBETH

Tinselled crepe in iridescent shades combined with an accordian-pleated two-tiered skirt of beige crepe makes a pretty costume for everyday wear. The blouse in this case is a simple affair with a bloused effect and buttons at the sides to fit it closely at the hips. The sleeves are long, of course, with simple treatment and the beige crepe of which the skirt is made also makes the turnover collar.

At this season of the year the midseason showings are of especial interest. In Paris, recently, the Lenief collection was interesting for its tight hip effects achieved by tucks, or slightly fitted bodices accompanied by skirts which had tunics rounded at the front edge and decorated with all around fine pleating.

Sometimes the tunics of these skirts are formed of several tiers, and other skirts have flat tiers on which pleated sections are encrusted.

Pleating is featured prominently throughout the collection.

Some of the ensembles shown have dresses of printed crepe, and others have black dresses with touches of white or sand.

MAKING MODERN MENUS

Over the holidays it is fowl which claims attention over that of meat, and pie rises to the head of the list as far as desserts are concerned. Whether freshly served or re-heated, chicken and turkey lend themselves admirably to many a tasty dish.

ROAST CHICKEN, SOUTHERN STYLE

One roasting chicken, one and one-half cups cornmeal, two cups boiling water, two eggs, three tablespoons salt, one and three-fourths cups milk, one tablespoon cooking oil, one medium onion, one tablespoon fat ham, one teaspoon thyme, one teaspoon sage, three-fourths teaspoon pepper.

Pick clean, wash and dry the chicken. Dust with salt, pepper and powdered thyme and stuff with the following mixture: Make a cornbread. Pour the boiling water over the cornmeal and let stand until cool. Add one egg, well beaten, one teaspoon of salt, the cooking oil and one cup of milk. Beat well together and bake in an oiled shallow dripping pan at 400 degrees Fahrenheit. Let cool, crumble and add the onion, minced and cooked in the fat ham cut in tiny dice, one egg, the thyme, sage, pepper, two teaspoons of salt and three-fourths cup of milk. Mix well together. Stuff the chicken, truss and roast a delicate brown, having oven heated to 500 degrees Fahrenheit for first 15 minutes, 450 degrees for the next 10 minutes and then at 400 degrees for the remainder of an hour.

LEFT-OVER TURKEY IN RAMEKINS

Melt two tablespoons butter, add three tablespoons sifted flour and blend well. Add one cup cream, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon celery salt and one-eighth teaspoon black pepper and stir constantly until smooth and creamy and boiling point is reached. Add one cup sliced cold turkey, one-half cup cooked spaghetti and one-half cup sauted sliced mushrooms. Fill buttered ramekin dishes. Have ready about three-fourths cup buttered cracker crumbs and one-third cup grated Parmesan cheese. Sprinkle ramekins with cheese and crumbs and bake until brown.

MAPLE SUGAR PUMPKIN PIE

Beat four eggs, add one quart strained cooled pumpkin, two cups grated maple sugar, two teaspoons salt, two tablespoons ginger and three cups of rich milk. Mix well and turn into two plates lined with rich pastry. Bake about three-quarters of an hour in a moderate oven.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsilitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work, or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

THEY BURIED THE HATCHET

PORT HURON is a town in Michigan. All colors and creeds of men reside here. Port Huron boasts of Protestant and Catholic, Jew and Gentile, white man and black men. Port Huron has been fighting for a year over the Gods and creeds of its population. It is said the community was divided churches were divided, families were divided, fraternial and civic organizations were divided. Port Huron was a little hell where erstwhile a Quaker peace had reigned.

Then came Armistice day. Then came memories of the World war. Then came reason where fanaticism had taken root. Reason won. Fanaticism stacked arms. Men and women of all nationalities and creeds and colors, from Canada as well as the state, participated in the dedication of a flag pole at an international Armistice day celebration. There were 10,000 present.

A Methodist minister opened the ceremony. A Catholic priest who had been a World war chaplain delivered the dedicatory address for a flag pole donated to the church by a Jew and a flag donated by the William Jennings Bryan chapter of the ku klux klan. This was not all.

A Protestant postmaster presented the flagstaff and flag and asked that they be accepted by the church. A veteran of the Civil war, member of the grand army of the republic, carried the flag to the pole. Under the guidance of a negro World war veteran, the flag "slowly ascended to the peak of the flagstaff" and then the Catholic priest, who had been a war chaplain, eulogized the heroes who had died from the Civil war to the war in Flanders.

It was a great day for Port Huron. It was a great day for all concerned. It was an object lesson for men of all creeds and colors who are not citizens of Port Huron or Michigan. Men of creeds died in Flanders. Men of all colors died in France and Flanders. "Let us have peace," was the immortal declaration of a distinguished military chieftain in the long ago when the flag of the planters republic was furled forever and Grant declined to accept the sword of Lee.

History repeated itself at Port Huron and Port Huron grabbed the center of the stage and sent forth its message to the multitudes everywhere.

AWAY DOWN IN MAINE

ARTHUR R. GOULD is the republican nominee for United States senator away down in Maine. Fulton J. Redman is the democratic nominee. Arthur B. Gould, defeated klan candidate for the republican nomination. Now the democratic nominee and Rev. A. F. Leigh, leader of the klansmen in Maine, have broadcasted the news that in 1928 Gould made a payment of $100,000 to Prime Minister J. K. Fleming of New Brunswick in a little deal concerning railroads.

To be exact, Redman and Leigh allege that the republican nominee for senator bribed the prime minister of the Britain province and therefore he is unfit to sit in the upper house of lords. His opponents allege that he exceeded the legal limit of expenditures in the primary where he won his nomination, and now the allegations are to be investigated by the secretary of state, who is a republican regular who was not a supporter of Gould in the primary contest. Gould did not run away. He faced the enemy. He denied that he had paid a bribe of $100,000 to the prime minister of New Brunswick a number of years ago and asserted that such a sum was given as a contribution to a political party in New Brunswick by his business associates without his knowledge.

A man who has wicked partners often finds himself in trouble. Harry M. Daugherty for instance, he was close to Albert B. Fall. See what happened to Dougherty. Edward L. Doheny was close to Albert B. Fall. See what happened to Doheny? A simple minded man, ignorant of the pitfalls of the world cannot be too careful. He should not venture abroad without a special body guard to drive away the evil minded.

TOWN TALK—By H. F. J.

There is a growing suspicion in official and semi-official circles of the city that the new municipal auditorium will not be ready in time for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in May.

Some of the more optimistic still profess to see a possibility of getting the huge structure at least partially complete, but with actual construction work still a month or more away, the chances are growing more slim daily. No idea was ever entertained that the entire building, auditorium and city hall, could be in complete readiness by the time the West Texas chamber pours its legions into town. But the auditorium room proper with its seating capacity of more than 4,000 was looked upon as a possibility.

No one is to blame for the conditions as they exist. The voting, printing, approving and selling of half-million dollar bond issues are not matters to be consumated in a few days or even weeks. Neither is the designing or contracting for a building the size of the auditorium. As much haste as could properly be made has been exercised in the work but it is just too big an undertaking.

The situation as it now appears is more or less disconcerting but by no means inimical to the success of the convention. A large auditorium will be needed but the Junior college offers sufficient space for most of the sessions—if it is available. At Amarillo last spring the huge auditorium there was packed on only one occasion—the final meeting when election took place for the 1927 session. At all other meetings much smaller crowds were on hand.

However, while failure to have the new structure ready will not be fatal or even unduely damaging, that much will be gained if it is complete.

Sound Philosophy—Expert Advice On Perplexing Problems

DEAREST MISS DIX.—I have been married about three years, and I love my husband dearly, but we do not get along well together. We are always quarreling about something. I naturally defend myself, and then we are at it hammer and tongs. Don't you think that I have a right to take up for myself? —ANXIOUS WIFE.

Answer: You have the right, Anxious Wife, but women have so many rights that they cannot enforce without wronging themselves. Matrimony isn't a tribunal where justice is administered. It is a place of special privileges and perquisites and expedients.

Naturally, no woman wants to make a doormat of herself, and have her husband trample all over her, but she can't prevent that by fighting with him over everything that comes up. She may have all the right and justice in the world on her side, but it will do her no good if it estranges her husband from her, and makes the atmosphere of the household one of stress and storms.

No woman can get her rights in matrimony by standing up and battling for them. No woman can make her husband love her because it is his duty to love her. The kind of treatment she gets from her husband comes from his heart and not his head, and is the result of impulse, and not of logic.

So if you want your husband to love you, and enjoy being with you, and treat you with tenderness and consideration, just forget all about your rights and make yourself so pleasant and agreeable that he will want to hand you the world on a silver salver. Remember that the soft answer turneth away wrath, and that you can start something, or stop it, by your reply to a criticism.

Fault-finding falls flat before the one who admits a mistake and promises to improve. And an argument dies for lack of food to feed on, if you refuse to combat it, and agree that much is to be said on both sides of any subject.

It is the pacifists who invariably win out in the matrimonial warfare. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—A widower, 37 years old, well off, with no children, wishes to marry me. His only drawback is that he has a limited education, but I love him very dearly and have a great deal of respect for him.

"I am only 21, and am employed as a secretary, but I do not like business, but I do love housework, and long for the domestic life. Shall I marry this man or not? Is there too much difference in our ages? Should I let the fact that I am better educated than he come between us? Will he expect too much of me because he has been married before? I have no mother to go to, so will you advise me. LUCY.

ANSWER:

Your own heart must decide for you the question of whether you should marry the man or not, but if you love him, certainly his age and his not being a college graduate are no bar to the union. A girl of 21 who has had to make her own way in the world is years older in experience and knowledge of life than a domestic girl of the same age, and she is a wise woman who always selects a husband a good many years older than herself.

Boy husbands are not settled and reliable. They are seldom done sowing their wild oats crops and they are far more apt to wander away from their own fireside than in the mature man, who has had his playtime, and who longs for his own home and domestic pleasures. Also in these days there are few young husbands who are able to suport a wife in any sort of comfort. As a general thing it takes a man well along in his thirties be ablt to afford a wife.

Don't worry about a widower expecting too much of you as a wife. It is only the man who has never been married who is foolish enough to think that he is marrying an angel.

The man who has cut his eyeteeth on matrimony knows better. He has had a wife and he has learned about women from her.

He knows how to make allowances and to differentiate between temper and nerves, and how to sidestep little feminine peculiarities. A widower is always a preferred risk in matrimony.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am 19 and engaged to a young man who is going away to start in a new business. We will be separated for three years. He does not want me to go out with any one while he is gone. Should I promise or not? JANE.

ANSWER:

I think you would be very foolish to cut yourself off from all young companionship while the young man is away.

There next three years are crucial years in your life. They are years in which you will be growing and developing, in which you will be changing your view point almost from day to day, and in which, in justice to yourself, you will need as many human contacts as possible.

They are also years that should be the playtime of life. Carefree years in which you should sing and make merry and enjoy yourself, and it would be a crime for you to live them in solitude, shut away from your youthful friends, just because your fiance has had to leave the community in which you live.

You may be very sure that he isn't going to spend three years in hermit-like seclusion, with no feminine friends and companionship, and it would be a very bad thing for him if he did.

If you and the young man really love each other, the mere fact that you go around with other people will not affect your loyalty to each other.

If, after knowing Tom, Dick and Harry, you still prefer your John, and if after having known Sue and Helen and Mary he still finds you the only girl in the world it will make you the more sure that you are really mates.

And, if, on the other hand, your affection doesn't survive the test of going with other people, surely it is better to find that out before marriage than after marriage, for the world is full of men and women with whom you are bound to be brought into relationship, sooner or later.

And, anyway, a girl is an idiot who ever gives up all of her men friends for any one man until he takes her to the parson!—DOROTHY DIX.

Aunt Eppie Hogg, the Fattest Woman in 3 Counties

KELLYGRAMS . . . . . By Fred C. Kelly

Imagine that part of the charm city people find in the big woods is the honesty that prevails there. Last summer, in following a trail in the Maine woods, I came upon a rough shelter in which a camper had left a pack basket full of canned goods, a side of bacon and other articles that might have tasted firstrate to any tired traveler. The basket was suspended from a cross-bar by a piece of fishline, to keep it away from animals, but no effort had been made to conceal it from human eyes. Evidently it had been there for more than a week. Not many came that way, but those who did would not think of tampering with food belonging to another woods fan.

But think what would happen if you left a basket of food hanging to a tree near a city street!

People who love the woods enough to make long journeys for the sake of being in them, are honest in another way. They never, so far as I can discover, are four-flushers—never talk big or try to put on airs. The reason is, I presume, that a four-flusher would not go into the woods in the first place. He could gain nothing by being there. His abode is one of those places where greater artificiality prevails, such as a flashy big hotel. He thrives on being where others may look at him.

Then, too, probably the majesty of mile after mile of unbroken forest makes one feel small and insignificant.

At any rate, the fact remains that when you meet a man on a woodland trail, he is almost certain to be pleasant and agreeable, no matter how important he may be. One summer I came upon a stranger seated alone by a brook eating his lunch, and we at once began to talk about trout and methods of cooking, as if we were two boy scouts. Later I discovered that he was Professor Taussig, head of the department of economics at Harvard.

Look over the people in your own neighborhood, or among your acquaintances and note where they usually go on their vacations. Mentally sort out those who invariably seek the pompous spots and those who prefer to put on their old clothes occasionally and be children again aren't the ones you'd rather tie to.

BO BROADWAY . . . . . By Josef Van Raalte

NEW YORK, N. Y. (EFS)— A New York columnist announced that he "prefers" Ring Lardner to Rudyard Kipling.

It's that sort of stuff that keeps the smile on the face of the Tinsmith of Detroit and holds the Woolworth heirs to the Trail of the Lonesome Dime.

Ring Lardner and Kipling.
Bud Fisher and Michael Angelo.
Irving Berlin and Beethoven.
Filet mignon and hot dawgs.
O, tempora! O, morons!

* * *

A traveling outlooker reports that oyster stews cost but 35 cents in Pittsburgh, against 60 cents in New York. "Yet," he observes, "the smoky city is nearly 500 miles from the bivalve region, which lies at New York's front door."

He overlooks the fact, of course, that the price of 60 cents in New York includes pearls.

Priced at $32.50, New York shoe merchants are advertising the latest thing in footwear, called "Captain Kidd" boots.

The trade name, I suppose, being prompted by pride of ancestry.

Greenwich Village, with its attic studios, cellar restaurants and stable cabarets—where wide and wondrous ties were worn to hide a threadbare shirt, and inspiration soared and sang 'mid Chinese gods and dirt—is slipping into the realm of mournful tradition to the accompaniment of the wrecker's hammer and the staccato of the riveter.

Fourteen-story apartment houses with charlotte russe trimmings and liveried attendants are supplanting the rookeries of Bohemia. The funny little book shops are disappearing along with the creaking, painted signs featuring black cats and variegated parrots.

The long-haired lads and short-haired lassies have packed their Nietzsches, Schopenhauers, their rhyming dictionaries, copies of Havelock, Ellis, Freud, dog-eared back numbers of the Mercury and plaster busts of the heroes of the Radical Rennaissance, and have trekked across the river to Brooklyn Heights, down to Staten Island, up to the Bronx and back home to Texas and Indiana.

* * *

Harry Kemp, who some time ago deserted the village because it had degenerated into a place where "butchers are mistaken for poets and poets for butchers," has returned.

Harry tried life on the top floor of a tenement house on the East Side. The "polyglot boarding house" stuff didn't make much of a hit with the wandering rhymster. He found it too dirty.

"They don't clean the snow off the streets over there," said Harry. "Aside from that, there are too many dead cats lying around."

* * *

The villagers who have decided to remain in their old haunts are of the Lesser Breed who are not, and never were motivated by the real spirit of Bohemia.

When "dreams" don't pay, out the window with them and substitute something that can be translated into porterhouse steak, cigarettes and bootleg hooch.

Hence the trick book stalls and bizarre antique shops that today dot the neighborhood, spilling over into the fringe.

One proprietor of a Den for Dilettantes down there attires himself in cow puncher's rig. Another rigs himself out in the make-up of a comic opera pirate. And one "Bohemian" who used to write hand-forged verses for the newspapers gets hold of a house, paints the front, a la Peppe (the real estate king of the village) and now goes to Europe every summer on the profits of sub-letting to the "bourgeoisie."

NATIONAL POLITICS . . . . . By F. W. Wile

Coolidge Travels Cheaply

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge traveled in a private train on their trip home to Northampton to vote, at a total cost of the price of two round-trip tickets. They occupied a sumptuous private car for the price of two lower berths.

Private citizens pay about $100 a day rental for a private car, plus 25 full fares. As for a private train, the cost runs into the thousands.

The railroad travel bill of other presidents has been big. They have been charged regular rates. But Mr. Coolidge started some things when he made his first journey as president in a drawing room of a regular train. The railroads balked at the risks. When they found he would not hire a private train, they wanted to donate him one, but the law forbids that. So they accomplished the same result by indirection. The president's train on the railroad reports appears as a separate section of a regular train, run as a separate section for "operating convenience and safety." As a regular train, the regular tariff applies.

But only members of the president's party can get aboard the president's "section." Each member provides his own ticket. The private car, the private baggage car, the diner and the de luxe club car added without extra charge.

Mrs. Wilson Out of Mourning

Emerging from her long period of mourning, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson made her first official public appearance in Washington, since the death of her husband, when she was the guest of honor at a reception tendered her by the Women's National Democratic club. Ostensibly the reception was to welcome Mrs. Wilson home after her six months' European visit. But the affair was generally taken to mark her entrance as an active participant in the political councils of the Democrats. It is not anticipated that she will assume any official position, but rather that she will wield henceforth an extensive influence among the women of her party.

La Follette a Patient

"Young Bob" La Follette is undergoing treatment at the Mayo sanitarium in Rochester, Minn., for a pestiferous attack of phlebitis which overtook him during the recent campaign and persists in hanging on. One of his legs is affected and the doctors require the junior senator from Wisconsin to undergo a rigid rest-cure in bed as the surest means of hastening recovery. "Young Bob" is the poorest kind of a patient imaginable, when instructions call for inactivity, but the Mayos hope to have him in shape for resumption of his duties at Washington next month.

The senator's mother, Mrs. Robert Marion La Follette Sr., has arrived in Washington to put the family home in order, in confident expectation that "Bob" will be here to occupy it by December 6.

Berlin's Envoy Under Fire.

Baron Von Maltzan, the German ambassador at Washington, now under fire in Berlin for flying the American flag on Armistice day, isn't at all likely to be rebuked by his superiors in the Wilhelmstrasse. They'll probably say what John Hay once told to a delegation of Americans from Berlin, who journeyed all the way to Washington to protest about a certain attitude taken up by the late Ambassador Charlemange Tower. Secretary Hay listened patiently to the delegation's tale of woe. Then he said just four words: "Tower never makes mistakes." That ended the incident.

Baron Maltzan, who has dropped the noble "Von" from his name, is probably Germany's most experienced representative at a foreign diplomatic post. He knows the game he's played all his life, from A to Z, and from Peking to Washington.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch.

ALTOGETHER

And then I said to myself, said I,
When the first snow fell from the first gray sky,
"Well, what's a cloud, or a change of weather?
The sky's been blue for a long, long while,
The sun has warmed me many a mile,
So it's been a good sky, altogether.
I don't intend to forget about
The days I had with the snow left out."
And when I said to myself, said I,
"When a thing you sell or a thing you buy,
There must be times when you can't tell whether
You are going to lose or going to win,
But a lot of deals had a profit in,
So it's been a good year, altogether.
I don't intend to forget about
The days I had with the snow left out."

NEW BRICK HOMES

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Nov. 29—Three brick residences are under construction in this city, being erected for Will Neal, Luther Hill Smith and Chas. Wyman. Earl Stine's business building and the $25,000 office building of the Quanah sanitarium are taking shape and are included in this city's progressive building program.

Electra Chamber of Commerce To Resume Registered Pig Campaign

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Nov. 29.—A survey made last summer among those interested in agricultural affairs in the Electra district revealed the fact there was an average of less than one hog to each family in the rural districts.

A few years ago a number of large herds of the finest grade registered Poland Chinas were to be found along the Red river and north of the city, but the slump in the price of pork following the war, together with the fact that for three years there was practically no corn raised, caused the large hog breeders to dispose of their herds. This made a marked shortage of pigs. Even those desiring to obtain pigs were unable to do so.

Although Electra is noted for its dairy activities there is only a very small amount of skimmed milk fed to hogs. The local markets consuming practically all the milk, the poultry flocks on the farm generally utilizing that milk which was left.

The chamber of commerce and agriculture good will meetings held during the fall have been instrumental in placing eight registered Poland China sow pigs in that many communities in the Electra trade territory. This is in accordance with the idea of re-stocking the farms of the various communities with high grade hogs.

To Be Resumed

This campaign will be resumed after January, and eight more pigs will be given away for the chamber.

These hogs have been donated by various business firms of Electra through the mercantile bureau of the chamber of commerce and agriculture.

A contest was conducted in connection with the good will meetings held in the various communities, with the boy winning the pig in these contests together with his parents agreeing to care for the pig, and return one sow pig to the chamber next year to be used in perpetuating the campaign in Wichita county.

The boys in each community have become so enthused over the pig contest that many who failed to win a pig have induced their fathers to purchase a pig for them and start them in the hog business.

EAGER SHOPPERS THRONG STORES

Salesgirls Dread Bargain Days

Louisa was tired. From morning until night she had been on her feet in the busy department store. No matter how she felt, she must serve her customers with a smile. Her head throbbed and her feet ached. Week after week, she felt her strength ebbing until she was in a run-down condition, not fit to work.

"My mother suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound," she writes. "I took only three bottles and it brought me about all right." Through the Vegetable Compound, she found better health to do her work and she told the other girls about it.

That was several years ago. Louisa is now Mrs. L. J. Van Dyke of 1246 Spring St., Morrell Park, Baltimore, Md. She is the mother of three healthy, active children. She says that she found the tonic effect of the Vegetable Compound helpful to her during this entire period.

Every working girl knows that to do her work properly and easily she must have good health. She can not afford to lose time from her work.

Girls who suffer from a run-down condition should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Next Cold

One should keep on hand at all times the maximum help for a cold. If you take it at the first sneeze, not one cold in ten will get started. If you take it promptly when the cold develops, it will check the cold in 24 hours.

The best help ever evolved for a cold is called HILL'S. It was developed in one of the world's largest laboratories by combining a number of modern discoveries. It has proved itself so efficient, so quick, so complete that we paid $1,000,000 for it.

HILL'S does all things at once. It checks the cold, stops the fever, opens the bowels, eliminates the poisons and tones the entire system. After using, one generally feels much better than before the cold began.

If you have a cold, start HILL'S promptly. Every hour of delay brings new injury. Don't rely on any lesser help. When you once use HILL'S you will never forget the right way to deal with a cold.

THROW OFF THAT COLD BY TAKING KLOK-LAX

Take Klok-Lax at the first sign of distress and you will throw it off.

Stop using sickening drugs that get your stomach all out of fix. You have got to clean out the clogged wastes in your intestines and start a free bowel movement before you can get rid of a cold.

Klok-Lax is the new, improved way to treat a cold. It thoroughly cleans out your entire 28-foot intestinal canal. Then, the most miserable cold will disappear.

Better still, keep your bowels cleaned out all the time—keep your system purified by taking Klok-Lax regularly— and the chances are you will never take a cold.

Everybody is using Klok-Lax now! It's the thorough, effective way to keep from having constipation. That's why it is the best treatment for colds.

My dear Mr. Shaw:

After paging through your play, which I have so graciously consented to appear in and try to reproduce on the legitimate stage, I find flaws, proportionally and comparatively of a likened nature to which Mr. William Harrison Dempsey so unthoughtfully subjected himself with my extended left hand.

Unnaturally I am left-handed and I did nothing more than think in a southpaw fashion to dethrone William Harrison Dempsey—and the Mrs. Champion of the world. Your book should be left, if I am right.

I am at a loss as how to train for such phraseology, as accustomed as I am to three-minute rounds, with rest. Can you not make some such provision as to let the prelude take up the first two rounds? Also, there is the matter of the referee for the first three scenes. In boxing we term them preliminaries.

Also, there is the subject of an orchestra leader for the main go or shall we have three of the commission to lead the ringside. I do not wish to appear selfish, but I hope you understand I am not getting paid for fights I fought three years back and you did in getting the Noble prize for something or other you said that long ago.

I must have a guarantee. This, of course, is not reflection on your play. The audience must be in their seats three hours before orchestra time. I will weigh in at 2 o'clock the day of the opening.

(By the way, has Tex Rickard anything to do with this?)

There is also the question of hooks. Our agreement must be strictly in keeping with the Marquis of Shubert. I suggest you permit me to rewrite a few rounds leading up to your mentioning of pugilism. Your pugilistic stuff is O. K. You know as much about this as I do.

Hoping to hear from you soon, although I won't pay $2.50 for anything you write to me, I am,

JAMES J. TUNNEY,
World's Heavyweight Pugilist.

* * *

My dear Pugilist:

In answer to yours, concerning my play, I suggest you rewrite the whole thing. You know how to make things last 10 rounds better than Dempsey.

Not being as clever at boxing as you are at scanning through books, I refer you to my esteemed friend, William Shakespeare. He was left-handed. A left-handed writer would pen an ideal pugilette for a left-handed fighter. Especially in preparedness for a stage hook, or left hook, as you call it in English.

If you would really read the play, or even your press agent, you would find many instances therein where you could wear your bath robes. I refer you to plays on Broadway should you prefer full bedroom scenes.

Only today I am in receipt of a letter from Texas Rickard, who suggests that we take the main round to Chicago inasmuch as the Marquis of Queensbury, whom I understand are the three Dumb Dukes of the New York boxing commission, may object and want you to meet Harry Wills, the Al Jolson of fistcuffs, from the other corner.

Benny Friedman has just cabled that he will toss a football from your corner for $5000 as an added attraction. Mr. Pyle is after him to throw tennis balls at Suzanne. I also understand Mr. Pyle would reverse his standing on opening night and make an amateur out of you.

I will be chief promoter, or second, as you call it, the night of the show, or fight. You will appear at 10 o'clock, as is customary. The show should be over within 45 minutes, as I have learned of the pugilistic conditions in America.

Your esteemed sparring partner until gong time,

GEORGE SHAW.

P. S.—I have another play in mind. The climax comes when a plasterer falls from a ladder to the floor. I suggest you get in touch with Mr. Fred Fulton, as I am told he is fully acquainted with both ends of the work mentioned above. G. B. S.

The center held the football,
The play called for a buck,
But he was standing in the mud
And in the mud he stuck.

WON'T TURN PRO

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29. (AP) Denial that they would play professional football this season were made tonight by Bud Connaughton, the big guard of the Georgetown team, and John Butler, star center of the University of Pennsylvania eleven. It had been intimated by Charley Ogers, University of Pennsylvania halfback, that these two players would be among those turning professional and playing on his team against the New York Yankees next Saturday.

BREAKS OWN RECORD

BOSTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—Miss Eleanor Sears, society woman athlete, completed her hike from Providence, R. I., to her home here Monday in 9 hours and 52 minutes actual hiking time, breaking her record of last year by 43 minutes.

SECRET DRILL FOR COYOTES

Gates Closed While Squad Perfects System To Beat Ranger

Stalwarts of Wichita Falls high school, in quest of this city's first Texas football championship, went into secret session Monday behind barred gates of Spudder park. Practice in the strictest of privacy the remainder of the week while preparing to repulse the Ranger invasion Saturday will be in order, announced Head Coach Bud McCallum yesterday. Not even the closest followers and most ardent supporters of the Coyotes will be allowed to witness the workouts. Even old letter men catch the air and custodians of the park have been given orders to keep all gates locked while the squad is in action.

Coyote mentors realizing the herculeanity of the task before them as the hour nears for battle with the powerful West Texas mole-skin array are taking no chances on the slightest slip-up.

New Plays

A set of new plays was given the squad Monday and a number of old formations and maneuvers which were not used in the Lubbock melee were rehearsed and worked over again. Wichita Falls was not forced to call on its entire reportoire of plays to defeat the Westerners Saturday. The team that takes the field next Saturday is expected to be a faster, shiftier and more sensationally-moving eleven from that of the past week-end.

A touch of scrimmage was dished out for a portion of the squad Monday and before the dust of battle had cleared away, Lynch, halfback and Coyote race-horse, went down with an injured shoulder. He had hurt again the same member which was damaged earlier in the season.

It is more than likely scrimmage of a light nature will be on the card again Tuesday afternoon in which Captain Dobson for one, will see his share of labor, and Edmonson will swing into action. Both these worthies watched maneuvers from the sidelines Monday.

There is a possibility Jimmy Rayzor, injured quarterback, will be ready to step again by time of the Ranger inroad.

Ranger Aggressive

Cherry brings an exceptionally tough outfit to Wichita Falls in strife for the league quarter-final diadem and it is generally believed that the team which comes away the victor will walk right on through to the state final.

The Bulldog outfit is an aggressive eleven, smoother running than the Coyotes have shown themselves this season so far, quick on the jump and with a smart and varied attack built around the versatile Buster Mills, triple-threater of much power and a galloping cyclone at swinging around the ends. McKinney and Ewing will have their task cut and dried for them in trying to turn the speed demon back into the tackle or secondary defense at the line of scrimmage.

GRID FANS INVADE

Special Train to Bring Enthusiasts From Ranger

That the cities in the so-called Oil Belt of the central and west Texas take their football with more than passing interest is attested by preparations being made to bring a great crowd to Wichita Falls next Saturday when Ranger's Bulldogs battle the Wichita Falls Coyotes for the championship of west Texas.

A special train for fans is to be run from Ranger and more than 400 people are expected to accompany the Bulldogs, it was announced here Monday at the Wichita Falls and Southern offices. A special car will be attached to the regular rtain at Breckenridge to care for approximately 100 additional fans who will witness the championship struggle.

It is said that one and possibly more bands will be on hand to help the Bulldogs in their efforts to take the Coyote's measure.

NOT INELIGIBLE

Oak Cliff Players Okehed By District Football Committee

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29. (AP) John Hall and Robert Carver, members of the Oak Cliff high school football team of Dallas, upon whom protests were filed by Forest High of Dallas, were ruled eligible by the executive committee of district 3 here tonight.

Hall was sustained by the district committee subject to confirmation from Roy B. Henderson, secretary of the Texas Interscholastic league. Carver was declared eligible.

A confirmation from Henderson on Hall will certify Oak Cliff as the champions of district 3.

NOBODY WANTS TRIS' TRIBE

Everybody Denies Desire to Purchase Cleveland Indians.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29. (AP) If the Cleveland Indians are to be sold, as rumor says, nobody will admit he is buying them.

Former Governor Harry L. Davis, who is a friend of Manager Tris Speaker, and has been linked with rumors, says: "There has been a lot of talk about it, but I haven't considered buying the team and I don't know who has considered it."

Welfare Director Dudley S. Blossom, who, with his brother, John T. Blossom, has been named as a possible purchaser of the team, denies any intention of buying it.

Dallas Seeks Minor Meeting

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (AP)—A bid for the 1927 meeting of the National Association of Baseball clubs will be made by Dallas at a meeting of the association at Asheville, N. C., December 8, Doak Roberts, president of the Texas league and Walter Morris, secretary of the Dallas baseball club, will carry the invitation to Asheville.

Yaqui Ribbed Up For Wow Wow

Joe Told Chief Says Unkind Words, Mat Fracas Tonight

All hands were on deck Monday night, according to Matchmaker A. Ross, for this evening's double header mat program at the Majestic.

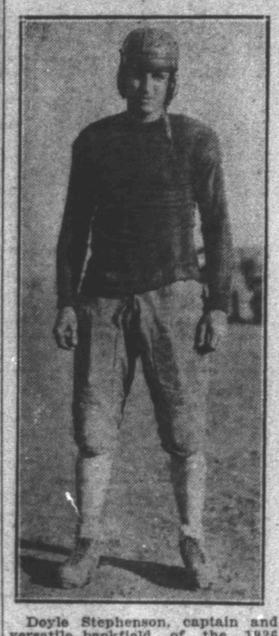

Yaqui Joe, the Sonora welterweight, meets Chief Wow Wow, the Oklahoma Indian welter. Charley Grip, Buffalo junior middleweight, battles Jack Vincent, the burly Chickasha light heavyweight. Both matches are to be two falls to a finish. The Grip-Vincent melee is to start promptly at 8:15, said Ross.

All four athletes were said to be in the best of physical condition with Grip none too confident about his ability to beat the tough Vincent but declaring he expects to give the big fellow a mean bit of mauling for his money. Grip has licked everything near his class that has been served to him here, so in order to obtain opponents he has started tackling the larger fellows. There are several enthusiastic followers of the popular Grip who believe Vincent will go the way all the rest of the Lithuanian's opponents have gone.

Yaqui Joe breezed in yesterday growling, "That Wow Wow say he hitta me. If he do me socko!"

Quite a bit of rivalry has been developed between the two Indians by different fans who have concocted uncomplimentary yarns each is supposed to have spieled off about the other. Joe has been ribbed and Wow Wow has been ribbed just a little more so.

Most Valuable

Doyle Stephenson, captain and versatile backfield of the 1926 Wichita Falls Junior college eleven was voted the most valuable player on the team this year in meeting of squad members Monday.

Steve proved himself a passer, punter and ball carrier of note beside waging a whale of a defensive game all season. He will be awarded a sweater by Hub Clothiers.

With George Moriarty

MANAGER OF DETROIT TIGERS

A rookie pitcher recently asked me if a cross-fire delivery would be of any particular benefit to a hurler. I recommend it in case it fits the pitcher's needs better than the other styles of delivery.

However, the cross-fire method can be a serious detriment to some pitchers, simply because it detracts from a naturalness that would give better results. The cross-fire pitcher steps sideways instead of straight ahead, with the forward foot. Such foot-action obliges him to pitch to the plate from an angle instead of a straight line, which style is pursued by the majority of mound men.

* * *

Cross-fire, therefore, is done for effectiveness that cannot be gained otherwise. It is undoubtedly harder to possess control in this manner, because a pitcher is off balance on each effort before the ball leaves his hands. Many pitchers have made reputations with this odd delivery, one of the foremost of whom was Eddie Plank, the old Mack southpaw. The average batsman, if given his choice, would much rather face the orthodox flinger who propels the ball from an erect position, sans the fancy side-teps.

Some pitchers resort to eccentric movements in an attempt to disconcert the batsman. This brings to mind Alex Ferguson, who pitched for Washington a few years ago. In every wind-up he used a little twist of the wrist motion, similar to that employed by the sleight-of-hand artist. Ehmke of the Athletics is the originator of the "hesitation" delivery that he effects by coming to a slight pause after he takes the forward step in his effort to the plate. Several years ago, in Japan, I saw a pitcher by the name of Tanaguchi, wind up his arm in reverse fashion with the hope of perplexing the batsmen.

* * *

One of the most ingenuious ideas belongs to Dazzy Vance, of the Brooklyn Dodgers. A few years ago it was noted that his shirt sleeve at the wrist gave a decided flapping-in-the-wind effect during his windup, and as he cut loose with the pitch. The general impression among the ball players was that Vance's shirt sleeve had become accidentally torn at the sleeve. Vance was satisfied to let that belief prevail. However, the months passed by, and time itself obliged the speed-ball star to buy a new shirt. Players observed that the new shirt also flapped at the wrist, and the secret was out. Vance had purposely slit the ends of the sleeve to distract the base-hit seekers during his windup.

The knuckle-ball is the most difficult of all freak deliveries, to control, and because of its eccentric flight, it is the hardest delivery to hit or catch successfully.

Ten years ago, Eddie Cicotte told me that no catcher could handle his knuckle-ball with any degree of certainty. At the time, I doubted Cicotte's claim, but the longer I umpired, the more I became convinced that he did not exaggerate. Cicotte later quit the delivery.

* * *

Eddie Summers was the first knuckle-ball pitcher of note to pitch in the American league. For a season or two he was a very successful pitcher with Detroit, but the first string catcher, Charley Schmidt encountered many injured digets on account of the knuckle-ball thrown by Summers. One day an amateur catcher appeared at the training camp with the boast that he could handle Summer's slants with ease. Then minutes later he left the park with sore shins and other damaged parts, because the majority of pitches had eluded his big glove.

* * *

The knuckle-ball is of the Frank Merriwell type of delivery. It is thrown off the knuckles of the first and second fingers just above the finger nails. It is the hardest to hit or catch because it takes the most erratic course. The batter first notes the effect of it about 15 feet in front of the plate. At that point, the seams are plainly seen, because the ball does not revolve like the fast one and the curve. In the last 15 feet of its course the ball deviates from a straight line in short, quick successive jerks.

* * *

The knuckle-ball defeats itself because it cannot be caught with any degree of sureness. It fools the batter, but it gets away from the catcher, and allows many base runners to advance on that account. Eddie Rommel of the Athletics, has more success with the queer slant than any other pitcher. My advice to a young pitcher is to steer clear of the knuckle-ball for the reason given herein. Do not experiment with it in practice, as it only tends to throw a pitcher off stride. Only a few pitchers have made good with this delivery, which is ample proof that it is a loss of time to attempt its mastery.

Cage Loopers Begin Buzzing

Organization and election of officers in the commercial basketball league is to be effected in meeting next Tuesday night at Landon-Hill company, it was decided Monday night in preliminary session of the cagers.

Four teams signified intention of joining the league this winter and three more were on the wavering point. The four sure-fire entrants were said to be Landon-Hill, Stephens Lumber company, Continental Oil and Refining company and a national guard quintet. These organizations were represented by Neal, Foster, Holt and Steinkoenig. Goldstucker of Hub Clothiers was present and Tyson represented the Panhandle company. Draughon Business college, last year's runner-up, was not represented at the meeting.

A committee consisting of Holt, Foster and Tyson was selected to look into the matter of a practice court and a court on which to stage match games. Also, the committee is to check up on how many teams desire entering the competition. A report will be made at next week's meeting.

TWO REAL LEADERS

Joesting and Oosterbaan Picked By Coaches as Limelighters

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. (AP)—The two outstanding players of the western conference this year in the opinion of football coaches who trained big ten teams are Herb Joesting, the Minnesota fullback who led the conference in points scored, and Bennie Oosterbaan, Michigan end. They were chosen unanimously by the coaches in the selection tonight for the Associated Press of first and second "all-conference" teams.

Close behind these two with but one or two votes lacking were Bennie Friedman, who captained the Michigan team to a tie for the conference championship; "Moon" Baker, the triple threat of the Northwestern backfield, Nelson of Iowa, practically the only line man on the Hawkeye team this year to hold his own with the opposition; Bernie Shivsley of Illinois who tied in votes with Ed Hess, Ohio State's all-American guard of last year and Reitsch, one of the two outstanding centers of the conference this year.

RED RETAINED AT PARIS

PARIS, Texas, Nov. 29. (AP)—Earl E. Snap, who piloted the Paris baseball a few weeks before the close of last season, has been retained as manager. He was manager of the Marshall club before coming to Paris, and previously had won three pennants in a row for the Paris Bear Cats.

SALOON IN AUTO

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—One of the last words in de luxe motor cars: Gentlemen's Sport sedan, equipped with miniature bar, ice box 'n everything. It is on view at a salon displaying a million dollars worth of cars, costing from $5000 to $17,000.

TRIBE CAGERS OUT THURSDAY

Ludgate Builds Club Around Crites at Center And Steve at Guard

Junior college cagers will answer first call for the 1927 season Thursday, it was announced Monday. Coach Ludgate has a likely but comparatively green squad from which to pick his regular quintet.

He expects to line up a number of practice games for the Christmas holidays.

Tribe moleskinners have disbanded and many of the football players will turn their attention to basketball.

Skinny Crites, last season's center, probably will be back in the limelight. He is one of two veterans Ludgate has to build his club around.

It is possible that Perk Ray, Coyote flash, will join the Indians after the high school football season closes. That will be next Saturday unless McCallum's eleven defeats the highly touted Ranger aggregation in bi-district play. Ray was the high school's leading goaler last season.

Stephenson, regular guard with the Indians under the tutelage of Frazee, is expected to return stronger than ever this year.

Wolf, reserve, and Harvey, guard, will don the abbreviated trunks again.

W. J. Howard, last season one of the Coyote mainstays, will turn out in competition for a forward position.

Ford and Rugeley are two promising candidates for berths.

Christians Lose Dozen Players

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29. (AP) Texas Christian university lost an even dozen men from its varsity football squad when the 1926 season closed, but the Frogs will be back with another powerful team next fall. It may not measure up to the eleven which maintained an undefeated record until the last day when the conference champions nosed out a 14 to 13 victory, but it will be a good one.

Of this year's team there will be returned such men as Rags Matthews, Bear, Wolf, Blackie Williams, Slim Steadman, Al Acker, Harold Evans, Jake Williams, Merlin Toler, Odie Thompson, Lowell Parrish, Amos Melton, Mack Nicklaus and Clarence Hays, 19 good men. In addition about 25 men will come up from the greatest freshman team T. C. U. has ever had. Then there will be "Buzz" Morgan, 170-pound flash, who was ineligible this year on account of a technicality, who will be ready for active service in 1927. Morgan went out for practice every day this season and learned a lot of football that will help him next fall.

CHAMPION PINCHED

Biff Commish Jumps Gene For Stage Exhibition Stuff

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion of the world, was arrested late today charged with violating the boxing law by appearing in an unlicensed exhibition. Earlier in the day Tunney received a summons to appear in magistrate's court tomorrow to answer a complaint of "boxing at an unlicensed club" during a vaudeville performance. The arrest followed Tunney's second appearance with sparring partners on the stage of a Broadway theater.

PRINCETON VS. CORNELL

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 29. (AP)—Cornell which replaced Harvard on the Princeton football schedule today was substituted for the crimson in track meets. Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the board of athletic control announced the signing of a two-year agreement under which the Princeton team goes to Ithaca next year and Cornell comes here in 1928.

TITLE GAME DEC. 8
Burleson Plays Decatur for Junior College Crown

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29. (AP) Burleson college of Greenville and Decatur Baptist college of Decatur will play December 8, for the Junior college championship of the state, it was decided at a meeting of representatives of the two schools in Fort Worth Monday.

The place of play is still undecided. The game probably will be on a neutral gridiron, either Fort Worth or Dallas.

MICKS OFF FOR COAST

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. (AP)—The Notre Dame football squad, accompanied by a special train filled with rooters, left here tonight for Los Angeles where they will play the University of Southern California on December 4. Shorn of their chance for national honors by the 19-0 Carnegie Tech defeat Saturday the rambling Rocks with their three interchangeable backfields still hold a threat for any gridiron squad.

MEET DECEMBER 14 AND 15

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Directors of the American league tonight were called to meet in Chicago, December 14 and 15, by Pres. Ban Johnson. The National league sessions have been called for the same dates in New York and the joint session of the major baseball magnates will follow, in Chicago, December 16.

FOOTBALL KILLS EIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP) Football with a toll of eight deaths and 200 major injuries proved less fatal during the season just closed than in 1925, when 20 youths were fatally hut. The bodly injured numbered only 50 in 1925, however.

WELL, WELL, WELL AND SO THE BETTING BOYS ARE GIVING 20 POINTS ON RANGER, ARE THEY? W-E-E-L, THEY MAY KNOW THEIR OWN BUSINESS.

* * *

But in a city that takes its football so seriously, a city victory-drunk as it were behind a team which believes itself fully capable of slapping the ears down on these ornery Ki-yotes by at least a 50 to 0 score, you naturally cannot blame 'em for making such sporting (?) offers.

* * *

Sure, if the Bulldogs are 50 points better it's a good gamble to give 20.

* * *

COUNTING EGGS—

Shortly before winning the district 2 championship from Cisco, the Ranger football team extended an invitation to the Loboes to attend the "Ranger-Oak Cliff game" in the SEMI-FINALS.

* * *

Bulldogs figured licking the winner of the Lubbock-Wichita Falls game a mere matter of form. In fact, the north Texas and Panhandle section never has been doped out as much of an obstacle to the rest of the Texas high teams in their scrambles for championships.

* * *

PIPE DREAMS?

What could be a more stunning surprise to Blair Cherry's ambitious eleven and the host of confident fans who will journey to Wichita Falls Saturday, for the bitterly-determined under dog to rise up and kick 'em in the pants by say a 20 to 7 score?

* * *

McCallum's charges have displayed their real ability only in streaks. The eleven has not functioned smoothly except at intervals, but in those intervals it looked like a wonder. The boys were very much off stride Saturday. They're just about due to hit their form against Ranger—or get beat.

* * *

Ho hum, don't take any of that 20-point money. You may be charged with robbery.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

Austin scribe in making his "all-picks" chose the best kicker, the best thrower and the like until he gets down to the best coach proposition and named Doc Stewart. That's the characteristic Texas university complex. Doc beat the Aggies this year. Doc's the best coach. No matter how unfortunate the breaks may have been, no matter how fluky the victory, if the Farmers had copped Doc would have been rated as the worst.

* * *

On second thought, perhaps Stewart had the scribe buffaloed. Doc, you know, all season told the Austin boys quite a few, where to head in, where to head out, and when to get off.

Waco, perennial finalist in the Texas football race, plays Temple today for the district 8 title. The teams fought to a 0-0 tie at Temple two weeks ago but Tyson's Tigers are in their own lair today.

HALP!

When Dutch Mantell wrestles in Wichita Falls invariably he asks the police to protect him. When Yaqui Joe wrestles in Houston he seeks protection against the police. Houston coppers came near to making it quite tough on Joe and Gus Anderson the other night when the Indian messed up the popular idol.

TRIS SPEAKER STEPS DOWN

Colorful "Spoke" Quits Game To Enter Business For Self, He Says

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29. (AP) Post season events which have brought about the passing of six big league baseball managers today erased another illustrious name from the active list when Tris Speaker, 38, manager of the Cleveland Indians, resigned the post he has held since mid-season, 1919.

The venerable Speaker announced that his long term of service in the major leagues was at an end and that he is joining Ty Cobb and other managers in the inactive list.

Speaker's resignation has been rumored for several months. "I considered quitting last year," the gray haired manager said, "but the Indians were in sixth place and I didn't want it said that I quit a rudderless ship. So I stuck it out another season.

Team In Second Place.

The Indians finished in second place in the American league last season and I can step out now without any question of my action."

Friends of "Spoke" added another reason for his resignation to his own. Tris said he is going into business but the manager's hitting and fielding record was cited as a further reason for his retirement. Tris dreaded the bench.

After making up a career in baseball second only to that of Ty Cobb, Tris knew that his days of active service were almost numbered. Only last season he benched himself when he saw his fielding was poor.

Greatest Outfielder.

He was acknowledged the "world's greatest outfielder." His "peg" was unerring and he covered a wide territory.

Therefore the veteran decided to step out while he was the Tris Speaker of old his friends believe.

Tris began his baseball career in Hubbard City, Texas, where he was studying to be a bookkeeper. He was playing with the Cleburne team of the North Texas league when the Boston Americans tried him out in 1908 and again in 1909. Thereafter he remained in the American league.

He was purchased by Cleveland in 1916 for $55,000. In mid-season in 1919 he was made amnager and in 1920 won the world's pennant for the Indians.

Club officials said today that Speaker's successor will not be chosen for a month, possibly six weeks.

Athletics Make Slender and Active Generation of Girls

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29. (AP) Modern feminine athletics were credited with producing a "slender and active generation of girls" by Larado Taft, eminent sculptor, here today for a lecture at Texas Christian university.

"When I was a boy, all the women died of consumption," Taft recalled. "That doesn't happen today and outdoor life is largely responsible.

"Of course I don't favor masculinity among women, but the modern athletic tendency has certainly made life more attractive from the feminine standpoint."

Taft, who maintains a studio in Chicago, came here from El Paso where he addressed the state teachers convention closing Saturday.

PATTERSON TO LEAD INDIANS

15 Earn Football Letters, Steve Most Valuable Player

Floyd Patterson of Burkburnett, steady hard-fighting center of the Tribe, received the unanimous vote of his teammates for the captaincy of the Indian eleven of '27, in a final gathering of the crew the college gymnasium Monday afternoon. "Pat," as he is known to his mates, proved a mainstay in the lineup all season. He was dependable and steady in every department of play, even taking over the signal calling job in the huddle when no quarterback with experience turned out for the team. Pat, too modest to follow the trend, cast his vote for McAninch, fullback, who made a phenomenal development during the latter part of the season.

Captain Doyle Stephenson received the overwhelming vote of the letter men for the honor of most valuable man on the squad and the privilege of receiving the Hub Clothiers award of a fine sweater offered earlier in the season to the man adjudged by the team the most valuable man on the eleven. Burks, hard-hitting tackle, and Patterson, center and captain-elect, also received mention each for this honor.

Fifteen players will receive the coveted W entitling them to wear the college sweater of Gold with the Maroon letter. The ones so honored are Stephenson, Patterson, McConnell, Keller, Rugely, Harvey, Burks, Thompson, Ford, Ricks, Boyd, Bland, Scoggin, McAninch and Gilchrist.

GRASS FIRES STILL BURN

Fire Department Kept On The Jump Answering Many Alarms

Grass fires continued to be the bane of fire department life in Wichita Falls when three more class came Monday, two of which were caused by grass and trash burning.

The Wichita Gin was endangered by the firing of a pile of burrs near the gin house but firemen extinguished the blaze without any damage.

A $15 damage was done by a fire in the kitchen of a residence at 2000 Grant street at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, the fire department doing good work in halting the blaze. A wall of the kitchen ignited from a hot water heater.

PAVING BRINGS NEW PROTEST

Adams Street Property Owners Kick On Proposed Improvement

Suggestions of court procedure and further hearings on the paving of Adams street, Third to Seventh, were made to the city council Monday night by C. K. Walsh, who is representing several property owners along the proposed paving project.

The hearing on this particular paving project was closed at a previous meeting of the council over the protest of the attorney, but the council passed the order only after it was disclosed that Judge Walsh had produced objections on less than one-third of the project considered.

Monday night, Judge Walsh again asked a hearing because of new developments in the case and stated that 19 property owners had given him authorization to take the matter into district court if necessary.

Owing to the fact that Mayor R. E. Shepherd was absent, Commissioner Patton, who was acting as mayor pro tem, suggested that Judge Walsh bring the matter up next Monday night.

Hearing was closed on the paving of Victory street, Duval to Harrison, after property owners had agreed for the paving.

Paving on Sunset Drive, Sixth to Seventh streets, and Sixth street Denver to Van Buren, which has been completed, was approved and accepted by the council.

NEAL ON TRIAL

Man Charged With Embezzlement Is Being Tried

Leroy Neal, charged with embezzlement, was arraigned in 89th district court Monday and the case was still being argued when court adjourned Monday afternoon.

Neal was charged with misappropriation of $90 while in the employ of the Chas. E. Watson Paint company of Wichita Falls, but in his testimony stated that he did not know what went with the money in question. He emphatically denied ever taking any money from the firm. He was still on the stand when court adjourned.

RIGHT-"BUSTER" MILLS, QUARTER BACK

fective forward passers in Texas high school circles. He carries the mail around the wings, too, with the speed and side-stepping adroitness of a Joel Hunt or some other fleet college pigskin toter. Mills caps off his offensive versatility with a dangerous field goal

Garland Hinman, Ranger's powerful 180-pound tackle, is putting in a bid for a position on Texas' mythical all-high school football eleven. The husky Hinman has been a demon both offensively and defensively this season with the Bulldogs. At the moment he probably is at the peak of as high school football career. In the championship game scheduled Saturday at Spudder park with Wichita Falls it is quite likely Coyote backs will detour Hinman's side of the line almost entirely, running their plays over the right flank.

Buster Mills, Ranger's versatile quarterback, comprises just about seven-tenths of Ranger's offensive. Mills ranks as one of the most effective threat. He probably is one of the cleverest drop-kickers seen on Texas gridirons in a number of years. He won two games this season for Ranger by his deadly toework. He does the bulk of the Bulldogs' punting, also.

DOG TAGS IN FOR NEW YEAR

Arrest and Death to Be Lot Of Pups Who Roam At Large

When old Rover, Bruno, Gyp or any other member of the canine population of Wichita Falls steps out for a walk after January 1 he had best have proper credentials of citizenship, or else—it will be the pound and ultimately the past for him. Such was the dire threat from city police headquarters Monday when they received several hundred new dog license tags for use during the coming year.

The new tags are made to brad onto the collar and give the number and year of the license. All dogs must have such tags or they will be subject to arrest and confinement by the city dog catcher. If uncalled for at the pound they will be shot.

FREED ON BOND

Local Youth Released After Being Charged With Fighting

Following statements from city police officers that he had resisted arrest and had created considerable disturbance at a local dance hall Saturday night, a Wichita Falls boy was released on $75 bond and a hearing set for this morning in corporation court Monday morning.

The boy is said to have been drunk and to have fought officers when they attempted to arrest him.

Another Wichita Falls man was assessed a heavy fine of $35 for drunkenness when it was disclosed that it was his fourth time to appear before the court within three weeks.

HE PLEADS GUILTY

B. T. Flatt plead guilty in federal district court Monday morning on a charge of violating the federal prohibition act.

Judge Wm. H. Atwell took due cognizance of the fact that Flatt was pleading guilty and assessed a small fine of $100.

SCHOOL STAFF PLANS OUTING

Wai-Kun Workers to Put On Kodak Party Wednesday Afternoon

A kodak party and pecan hunt is planned for Wednesday afternoon by members of the Wai-Kun staff at the Junion college. Pictures made on the party will be used in the feature section of the 1927 Wai-Kun (college annual) and the business of getting them made will be combined with the fun of the outing.

Plans for the annual banquet to be held Tuesday night, December 7, were also discussed in the meeting. Financial plans were presented by the financial sponsor R. O. Jonas, and special announcement was made regarding the play "Whose Little Bride Are You?" to be given December 16 and 17 at the college for the benefit of the Wai-Kun.

The resignation of Grady Snuggs, assistant business manager, was read and accepted.

Girl Drinks Poison Because Parents Object to Marriage

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 29. (AP)—Because her parents refused to sanction her marriage to her 16-year-old sweetheart, Gladys Linebaugh, 15, comitted suicide yesterday at her home six miles northwest of Maryville, Mo. While the boy, Ray Stewart, son of a neighboring farmer, was in the house talking to her parents she drank the poison and died half an hour later.

Howley Would Have Sisler Remain With Browns, He Says

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29. (AP)—Daniel P. Howley, new manager of the St. Louis Browns arrived late today and immediately went into conference with Phil Ball, owner and Bill Friel, business manager, on plans to rebuild the club.

Except to reiterate his desire that George Sisler, former manager, would remain on the team, Howley declined to comment on his plans.

Sam Breadon, president of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, is expected to arrive tomorrow from Florida and soon thereafter go into conference with Manager Rogers Hornsby to iron out difficulties which arose last season and to agree upon a salary for Hornsby which probably will make him the highest paid player-manager in baseball.

One St. Louis sports writer said today it was a "good guess" that Hornsby would be paid about $50,000 for managing the Cardinals in 1927.

COP SOUTHERN HONORS

Hendrix and Taylor Split Most Valuable Player Award

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 29.(AP) Harvey Hendrix, New Orleans outfielder and Tommy Taylor, Memphis infielder were jointly awarded the Southern association's $500 prize for the most valuable player today. Directors decided to divide the prize as the two players each received the same number of votes.

The directors voted to open the season April 12 next year and to meet in New Orleans February 14, for adoption of the playing schedule of 154 games.

Amarillo May Enter League

Half Interest Purchased In Western Loop Club Franchise

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 29. (AP)—The often threatened transfer of the St. Joseph Western League baseball franchise materialized today in the announcement of the sale of a half interest in the local club to W. P. Witherspoon of Amarillo, Texas, by E. B. Tracy, owner.

Plans of the new partnership include removal of the club to Amarillo. This cannot be accomplished until Amarillo obtains a release from class "B" protection, obtained recently by a group of Amarillo fans as part of plans for the formation of a new league of that classification. It is believed that this obstacle will be readily removed.

Sale price of the partnership was announced at $20,000 by Tracy. The St. Joseph owner announced before the close of the season that his club was on the market for another city due to poor attendance in St. Joseph. This is an annual threat of St. Joseph club owners and the press and the baseball public did not consider the matter seriously. Later Tracy announced that he was considering an offer to move the club to Amarillo but this too was taken lightly.

Sanction of the transaction will be taken at the meeting of club owners at Asheville, N. C., this week.

DUPEY TO STEP ASIDE.

AMARILLO, Nov. 29. (AP)—H. A. Dupey, holder of Amarillo protection in a proposed class "B" baseball league declared Monday he will not stand in the way of the city's entrance into the Western league.

Dupey's statement was interpreted as removing the most serious of the obstacles to the transferring of the St. Joseph franchise of the western league to Amarillo.

HUNTERS TRAPPED

Michigan Blizzard May Tie Up Lake Shipping

SAULTE STE MARIE, Mich., Nov. 29. (AP)—The upper Michigan peninsula district continued today in the grip of a blizzard which has trapped hundreds of hunters in the storm area as well as tied up shipping along the St. Mary's river and the Lake Superior district. So severe has been the blow to navigation that marine men forecast a premature end to the lake's shipping season.

That's what I call a cigarette

I MADE it myself . . . with Prince Albert and the makin's papers. Prince Albert? I hope to tell you! Sure, it's a real cigarette tobacco. I'll say it is! I ought to know. Been rolling 'em with P. A. so many years, I couldn't say when I started.

A cigarette made with good old P. A. is cool and sweet, like a glass of milk at the spring-house door. It has plenty of body, but is mild as Maytime in the valley. Fragrant . . . you know that the minute you open the tidy red tin. Fragrant as it burns too.

Another thing I like about P. A. for cigarettes is the way the toba[cco] cut. It stays right in the paper. Doesn't[dance] around with the first breeze that [comes] along. That means less waste in [both] tobacco and time. I can smoke one ri[ght] after the other without putting a wi[nning] edge on my tongue or throat.

If you want to make the best little cigarette you ever rolled, get some Prince Albert. Between times, try P. A. in your old jimmy-pipe. If you've wanted to smoke a pipe but felt you didn't dare, Prince Albert is your password to pipe-peace. I know . . . I smoke it both ways every day.

P. A. is sold everywhere. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

"Honey Lou"

BY BEATRICE BURTON

READ THIS FIRST:

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old "GRUMPY" WALLACK, head of the Wallack Fabric Mills. Honey Lou likes everyone at the mills except JOE MEADOWS, the shipping clerk, who makes love to her against her will.

JACK WALLACK, who comes to his father's mills to learn the business, falls in love with Honey Lou the minute he sees her. Brought up by an old-fashioned mother, Honey Lou is a mixture of flapper and clinging vine.

ANGELA ALLEN pretends to be a friend of Honey Lou and tells her not to take Jack seriously. Jack is very jealous of DR. STEVE MAYHEW, a friend of MARGRET, Honey Lou's sister.

Honey Lou goes to work with Margret in the office of Holy Cross hospital. One day she goes to tea with the wily Angelia and meets Jack's mother, whom Jack calls The Head, because she manages everything at home. She tells Honey Lou that "Grumpy" is not satisfied with his new secretary, ANN LUDLOW, the office vamp. Jack asks Honey Lou to work for his father, who is at home sick with lumbago, and Honey Lou promises that she will.

Honey Lou meets Angela, who tells her that Jack Wallack is taking her out to dance that evening. Honey Lou calls up TIM DONEGAL, determined to have him take her to the same place.

Honey Lou goes with Tim to the restaurant and he has been drinking. The place is raided by dry agents and Honey Lou escapes with Jack Wallack. Jack tells Honey Lou that he thought she was tricking him and ends by telling her that he loves her and wants her to marry him.

Honey Lou tells her mother that she is to marry Jack Wallack the next day but her mother asks her to wait and have a wedding. Honey Lou's engagement is announced and plans are made for the wedding.

She meets Angela downtown and she persuades her to open a charge account under the name of Mrs. Jack Wallack, Jr., and to put the shoes she is buying, along with some lingerie, on the account. But at home with Margret, who sees through Angela, she decides to take back the lingerie and Margret pays for the shoes for a wedding gift.

Jack and Honey Lou have a quiet home wedding and spend their honeymoon camping at Lake Tamay. In the meantime Steve visits the flat and breaks under the realization that Honey Lou is lost to him now.

Jack and Honey Lou return from their honeymoon and stay with the Wallacks while looking for a flat for themselves. Honey Lou tells Angela that they are anxious to start housekeeping. They find a s[illegible] flat on the next street to the Wallacks and The Head says Angela told her Honey Lou could not wait to get away from them. This angers Honey Lou and she cannot understand why Jack's mother is so cool toward her. Honey Lou starts shopping for furniture. She stops at the Wallack Mills office to see Ann Ludlow.

Ann tells Honey Lou why she sent for her. Honey Lou sees Joe Meadows and tells him he must marry Ann Ludlow at once and he agrees to do so.

Honey Lou and Jack settle down in their own flat with Mary Delaney, the cook. Margret comes home with Honey Lou for dinner and Steve Mayhew calls to take her home.

Angela comes over to help Honey Lou prepare dinner on Mary's night out. Jack phones he will not be home and Angela says she will call Tim Donegal and ask him to play cards with them, much against Honey Lou's wishes.

Angela has her way and Tim comes over. Later they meet at Sabine's, but Honey Lou refuses his invitation to tea. On the way over to spend the evening with The Head, Honey Lou stops to see Angela. Angela asks her if she told Jack about seeing Donegal. The Head sends Jack upstairs to see his father and tells Honey Lou she wants to talk to her.

The Head shows Honey Lou the bill for the shoes and lingerie she charged to Mrs. Jack Wallack Jr., before her marriage. She scolds Honey Lou for the money she has spent furnishing her house. Honey Lou makes up her mind she must not spend so much, but the next day Honey Lou goes to the beauty parlor to have her hair done and then goes shopping with Suzanne Clemens. On the way home Honey Lou stops to see Angela.

Angela tells Honey Lou she is going to have a party for her and Jack Saturday night. Honey Lou goes home and finds Jack reading poems about little houses in the country filled with love and happiness. Honey Lou decides to let Mary go in the morning, do her own work, and try to make the kind of home Jack wants. The next morning Angela calls and asks Honey Lou to go to town with her to pick out a new dress for the party. Honey Lou sees a dress she would like to buy.

Influenced by Angela, Honey Lou buys a dress which she knows she cannot afford. Angela tells Honey Lou Jack seems very much interested in his new secretary, Miss Ayres.

At the party Margret overhears Angela talking to Jack of Honey Lou.

Margaret overhears Angela telling Jack she tried to stop Honey Lou from buying the dress because she knew he could not afford it.

Tim Donegal tells of the card parties he has had with Honey Lou which angers Jack and he forbids Honey Lou to have Donegal in their home.

Honey Lou, angered by Jack's objections to Donegal, leaves the flat for her mother's home.

Honey Lou, angered by Jack's objections to Donegal leaves the flat for her mother's home. Margret tells her she has no reason to be jealous of Jane Ayres but to watch Angela. Honey Lou returns to the flat, a quarrel follows.

NOW GO WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER XLVI.

"My bus is down here in this measly little burg," Donegal said suddenly, as the car swept around the drive that led to the inn.

"Your car?" Angela asked, turning surprised eyes upon him. "Why how did it get down here, for pity's sake?"

"Oh, I left it here," Donegal answered, and said nothing more than that.

There was some curious connection between that car of his and the town he so often visited, surely, Honey Lou told herself. She wondered if Donegal was still coming down here two or three times a week as he had in the days when he had been in love with her.

"Do you still have your old leopard skins, Tom?" she asked him when they were sitting at a clean sparkling little table before the dining room fire.

He glanced up from the card the waitress had handed to him, and his blue eyes were smiling.

"Now, what made you think of my leopard skin rugs?" he asked her, and before she could answer he was giving the little waitress their order;

"Chicken soup, baked ham, candied Hubbard squash, salad, mince pie and coffee. How's that, girls?"

"That's fine," Honey Lou told him. "Why, I'll tell you how it happened to thing of your rugs, Tim. It was because you spoke of your car. I've always wanted to ask you about those rugs."

She turned to Angela, and a little flush burned like flame in her cheeks. "It was the funniest thing, Angela," she said, "Tim and I used to drive down here rather often, and there were always two rugs to tuck over my knees when we started, and only one when we came back. And sometimes even that one would vanish! It was just like a magician's trick—'Now you see it, now you don't see it!'" She laughed nervously.

Tim had his arms crossed on the table, and he was looking at her steadily and without the shadow of a smile on his usually gay face. All at once he turned to Angela.

"Now, what do you think of her, Angel?" he asked her sarcastically. "Her name ought to be Hawkshaw instead of Honey Lou. You'd think a girl with a name like Honey Lou wouldn't have any brains, wouldn't you? And instead of that she's a young detective!"

But he did not explain the mystery of the rugs, and no one spoke of them again during the meal.

When the last crumb of the delicious pie was eaten and the last drop of the perfect coffee drunk, Tim got up and said he must go.

"I want to see if the garage people have fixed it," he said. "You girls go and buy your Bristol glass and your spinning wheels, and I'll meet you here at five o'clock, say!"

"Oh, earlier than that!" Honey Lou begged him. "It will take us an hour and a half to get home, and I must be there by six. I must get home before Jack does!" She didn't want Jack to see her come driving up with Angela or Tim. She wanted to be there to greet him tonight—to put her arms around him and tell him she would be a better and more sensible wife from now on.

"Maybe I can borrow one of Mary's white aprons and put it on — just for a homey touch," she thought. "And I'll set the table, and move all my things back into Jack's rooms."

* * *

At four o'clock she and Angela were back at the inn with their treasures. Angela had bought an old Seth Thomas clock, and a pair of brass andirons—and Honey Lou for a wonder, had bought nothing at all!

"Why do we have to wait for Tim?" she asked Angela, when the hands of the clock in the inn pointed to four-thirty. "I really ought to get back to town. Can't we leave a note for him here, and tell him we've gone on ahead? He has his own car, anyhow."

"Which one of you is Miss Allen?" asked a man's voice behind them, and they both swung around and faced the owner of it.

He was a smallish man with pock-marked face under a cap of several sizes too large for him. In one of his hands was a folded telegram. paper that he held out to him.

Angela snatched it from him and read the "I am," she said and she [illegible] paler as she looked at it, dropped at the end—Read that!"

"I'll be right back," she started away she stammered as the quaint little across the lobby to the inn. "Sit there and wait for me, Honey Lou."

The writing across the sheet of plain paper was Donegal's writing, but it was wobbly, as if his hand had been shaking when he wrote the few words:

"Angela please come down and bail me out. These fools are charging me here on a bootleg charge. T. D."

"Arrested!"

Honey Lou knew she must have said the word aloud, for the clerk behind the desk looked up at her. She could see his face grinned at her.

Darkness had settled down over the peaceful scene from the windows like ebl[illegible] Angela came Tim with her.

She brok[illegible] heard him stumble Honey [illegible] of the side entrance, up the stairs hurried into the dining and she room. [illegible]d dropped down at the Time inside the door, and he first at her wildly. "Hawkshaw, lookatective!' he said thickly, thing his finger at her. "The Sherlock Holmes!"

"We can't take him home like this," Angela said calmly looking him over. "And we never could manage him, Honey Lou. We'll have to stay here until he sobers up."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

"We Can't Take Him Home Like This."

ELECTRA SOCIETY

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Nov. 29.—Miss Odia Hudson, who resides on the west pavement honored Miss Mary Lewis of Walter, Okla., with a delightfully planned party Friday evening at her home. The guests, about 50 in number, arrived early in the evening and spent the time playing games and enjoying music until a late hour when delightful refreshments were served.

THURSDAY BRIDGE CLUB.

Mrs. W. H. Chaffie was hostess to the Thursday Bridge club at her home when three tables of bridge were played in the living room. Mrs. V. L. Patter of Houston, a sister of Mrs. H. E. Morrow, was the honor guest and was given guest prize while Mrs. Sam Cummings showed her skill and took high score prize, which was a piece of silk lingerie. A two-course luncheon was served at the conclusion of the games to Mesdames Sam Cummings, S. B. Marchant, G. R. Davidson, Edward Schlaffke, H. E. Morrow, E. R. Brown, R. H. Cook, Matt Chaffie, H. B. Krohn, T. M. Hoxie and J. P. Marr.

PARTY AT COUNTRY CLUB

Mrs. P. L. Powell and Mrs. H. D. Miller entertained Friday afternoon at the Country club with four tables of bridge honoring her sister, Mrs. J. C. Vanderwoude of Dallas. Mrs. R. P. Prince won high score which was a hand-painted vase, while Mrs. Vanderwoude was awarded the guest prize, some fancy chains for the reading lamp. Miss Lydia Sheldon received a bridge set as consolation prize.

A salad coure was served to the following: Mesdames Ben W. Johnson of Dallas, R. P. Prince, L. J. Prince, J. F. Burton, W. T. Waggoner Jr., Charles F. Kolp, Ralph Watson, H. T. S. Totten, James Totten, C. F. Suggs, Jere Barnes, Claude Conyers, Misses Lydia and Emma Sheldon, Carrie Cross and Johnnie Jennings.

MR. ROBINSON HONORED.

J. E. Robinson, who has been confined to the Clinic hospital in Wichita Falls since September 28 was able to return to the home of his mother, Mrs. Robinson, nine miles south of the city for Thanksgiving. A Thanksgiving dinner was given in his honor, with the feast being served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cabe and children, of Wichita Falls, Mrs. M. C. Brotherton and son, Junior, of Kirkland, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wallace and children, Mrs. T. K. Bickley, Misses Maymie Lowe, Iva Bickley and Isabel Lambreth, and Messrs. E. FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia," in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this sour-ing waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

TRY A 25c BOTTLE

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

If Back Hurts or Bladder Is Troubling You, Take a Little Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

That You Can Enter the Great Contest—Would You Like a $500 Check for Christmas

$1,000.00

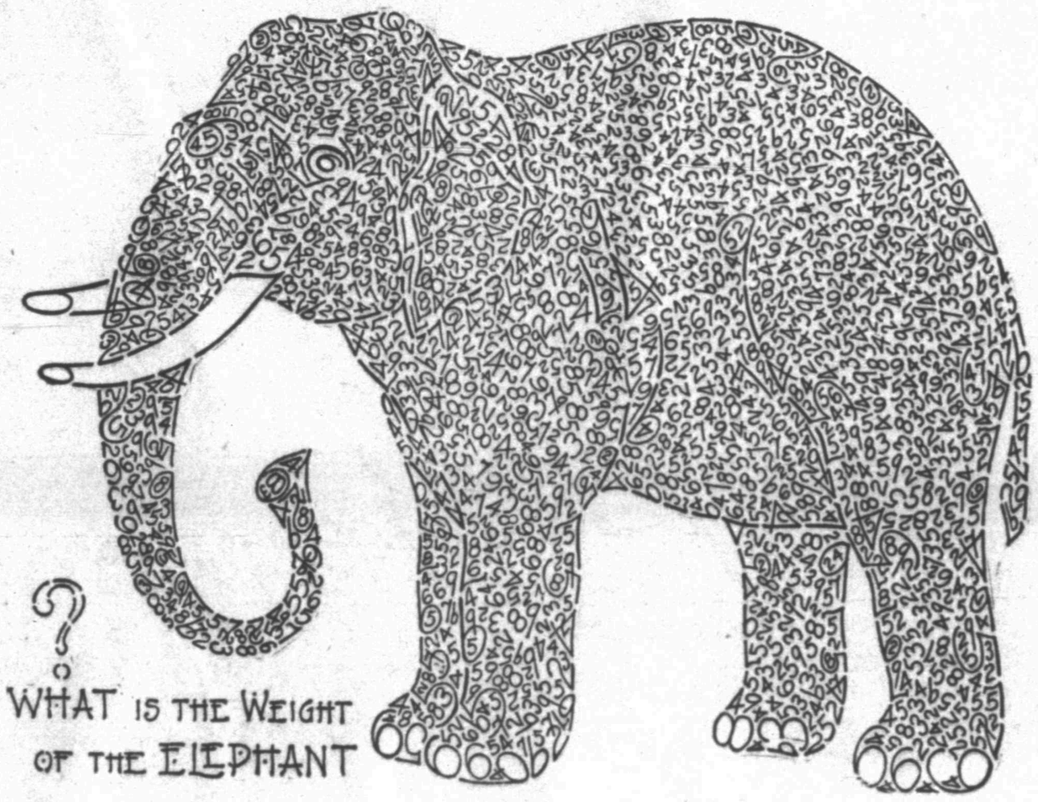

To Be Awarded the Winners, Try Your Skill Today

NOTICE: THERE IS ONLY ONE ELEPHANT USED IN THIS CAMPAIGN. THE CUT RUN EACH DAY IS THE SAME.

The Problem:

Simply Add Them Up to Get the Solution

There are no marks, lines or characters in the elephant figures. These figures range from 2 to 9, each standing alone. There are no "ones" or ciphers." Ther are no groups of figures such as "23" or "42." The heads of the "6's" are distinctly curved while the tails of the "9's" are straight, or practically so. There is no trick or illusion of any description in the chart.

General Rules of the Contest

This competition is open to all residents of the states of Texas and Oklahoma, except employes of The Record News and members of their families.

Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire provided a payment of one of the amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution. NO SOLUTION UN-ACCOMPANIED BY A SUBSCRIPTION PAYMENT WILL BE REGISTERED.

The Record News offers these prizes for individual effort. While it is proper for members of one household to work together or several friends, it is not permissible for more than one of those working in unison to send a solution of the puzzle. When in the judgment of the contest manager more than one member of the same family, or more than one of any number of persons he believes have worked together send in a solution of the puzzle, he reserves the right to refund subscriptions and return the solutions he believes have been submitted contrary to the foregoing rule. The Record News reserves the right to reject any solutions it believes have not been submitted under proper conditions. The Record News also reserves the right to finally decide any other questions or points which may arise and those entering the contest agree to abide by such decisions.

In the event of ties on this puzzle, as many prizes will be reserved as there are contestants tied, before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution. For instance, if five people were tied on the best solution, the first five prizes will be reserved for them, and they would be awarded the prizes in accordance with the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. That is, the one submitting the best solution of the second puzzle would receive the first prize; the one submitting the next best, the second, and so on.

Subscriptions may be NEW or RENEWALS. Both count the same.

Closing Date

The Great Elephant Puzzle Contest Will Close at Nine P. M. Wednesday, December 1, 1926.

The earlier you send in your solution the longer time you will have to go over your figures, AND SEND IN ANOTHER SOLUTION, if you find you can do better. Additional charts may be secured at any time by calling at the address below or sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope for mailing them. NO SOLUTION CAN BE CHANGED AFTER IT HAS BEEN ONCE REGISTERED.

Important Facts to Remember

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning a prize, it does affect the amount you will receive, should you win one of the first nine prizes, as the value of these prizes is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the prize list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning a prize. Accuracy is what counts. .... Not more than one prize will be awarded to any one person

Subscription Information

Payment for not less than three months or not more than awelve months subscription to the Record News must be sent with each solution.. The payment can apply on your own subscription, or can be made by or apply on another person's subscription.

Subscriptions can be new or renewals, both count the same. A new subscription is an order from a person who is not now taking the Record News. A renewal is a payment made by a person who is now taking the Record News from a carrier, an agent or direct from the Record News office by mail.

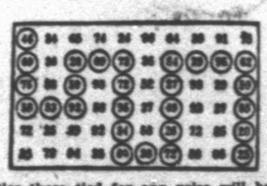

Two six-months subscriptions or four three-months subscriptions will count the same as one twelve-month subscription.

A person who is now taking the Record News and paying agent or carrier by the month can send in a three-, six- or twelve-months subscription to the puzzle manager with a solution. Carrier or agent will be notified of payment by the Record News and your subscription account will be credited accordingly.

Send Your Solution In Early, It Will Mean Extra Money To You.

We are going to give three prizes of $15.00, $10.00 and $5.00 for the first three correct solutions reaching the Record News office or post marked at your local postoffice. Get yours in early and win the extra prize.

Deciding Ties

In case of ties those tied for any prize will be presented with a second puzzle, which will consist of drawing circles around figures, like the accompanying chart, only larger, so that the figures thus connected when added together will total the greatest sum. If necessary this chart will be used four times, after which, should any ties remain, each contestant will receive full value of any prize tied for.

In case there are no ties on counting the Elephant no other puzzle, of course, will be precluted.

LANGE MURDER CASE DELAYED

Absence of Two Witnesses Is Followed by Order For Their Arrest

CALDWELL, Nov. 29.(AP)—Because of the absence of two witnesses, trial in the Burleson county district court of Kinch Shelburne and Charlie Balke, charged with the murder of Otto Lange, Monday was postponed until Tuesday. Attachments were issued for the witnesses.

Texas rangers assisted Merton L. Harris, district attorney, in the investigation which led to the indictment of Shelburne and Balke.

Lange was killed in 1923 on the porch of his home at Homerville. The killing took place at about 9 o'clock at night, Lange being shot as his wife, mother and daughter attempted to drag him into his house and out of the grasp of men seeking to abduct him. Several grand juries investigated the killing before indictments were returned.

District Attorney Harris is being assisted by Lud Williams of Waco, while State Senator R. S. Bowers and Hayes Bowers of Caldwell, John Mathis of Houston and Emil Simmang of Giddings represent the defendants.

News of The Fields

GULF, MILLER

Gulf Production company's wildcat test in Foard county, No. 1 Miller, is drilling at 2986 feet. This test is located in section 32, block 8, H. & T. C. survey.

STAHL, ET AL, MUELLER

Stahl, Lynch et al are moving off of their No. 1 Mueller in the Geo. Ivy survey, Cooke county, which was abandoned at a total depth of 2128 feet. The rig is being moved to No. 2 Dangelmyer which was temporarily abandoned at 958 feet and they will deepen this test to 2000 feet.

CONTINENTAL, MONTAGUE

Three new producers are added to the Nocona field in Montague county as the result of the successful operations of the Continental Oil company. Continental's No. 20 Rowland is making 32 barrels from sand at 1051-97 feet. Rowland B-6 is pumping 210 barrels daily from the 1070-1112-foot sand. Continental's No. 14 Howard is a 20-barreler in sand at 1334-67 feet.

SUN, GREEN

Sun Oil company is abandoning a test which would probably have made a producer had it not been for a fishing job. The well is No. 1-B Green, located west of Anarene in Archer county and in the Joseph Lewis survey, which had a sand at 1088 feet and oil rose in the hole 150 feet. The sand was given a dose of nitro as agitation and this brought on a fishing job which finally resulted in the well's abandonment. The rig will be skidded for another shaft.

ABERNATHY, DAYTON

A jolt to Cooke county's aspirations to another oil pool was landed when Abernathy's wildcat on the Dayton bailed salt water in a sand topped at 1393 feet. This test, which is located in the Frances Godley survey, is drilling deeper.

CONTINENTAL, ABERCROMBIE

Continental Oil company has abandoned as a duster its No. 1-B Abercrombie and Taylor located in abstract 1281, S. P. R. R. survey in Archer county. The depth of the hole is 1393 feet.

GULF, WAGGONER

GREEN, ET AL, M'COLLUM

J. H. Green and Bonner are drilling deeper after testing out a sand at 1218-51 feet which showed very little oil in their No. 1 McCollum, located in the Cromwell and Hawley survey in Cooke county.

The above picture shows C. W. Snider with Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of S. M. U. and a group of S. M. U. officials. The picture was taken at Dallas a short time after Mr. Snider's gift to the school was announced. A picture of Mr. Snider is also shown.

Reception For Sniders Today

Dallas School to Honor Local Man and Wife as Hall Opens

Southern Methodist university of Dallas will do honor Tuesday to two prominent Wichita Falls residents when the new $150,000 dormitory, presented to the school by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Snider of this city, is formally opened.

The dormitory is one of the finest in the southwest and will provide accommodations for a large number of women students at the school.

From 3 to 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon a public reception will be held in the new building and this will be followed by a dinner at 6 o'clock. From 8 to 10 o'clock a reception will be held with a program to be presented by the University Women's club, an organization composed of women instructors and wives of professors at S. M. U.

A number of Wichitans will attend the affair today. The local party will include J. T. Harrell, Oral Jones, N. H. Martin, W. W. Silk, Frank Timberlake, J. J. Perkins and Mr. S. S. McKinney. Miss Helen Snider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Snider, and Mrs. P. H. Moore and daughter of Kansas City, Mrs. Moore is a sister of Mrs. Snider.

MUSIC ENJOYED

Indian Melodies Presented at Club Meeting

Indian music of two different types was exemplified Monday morning at the regular meeting of the Junior College Music club, when Misses Hazel Champion and Frances Phillips sang for the club. Miss Lorene Tucker gave a piano selection.

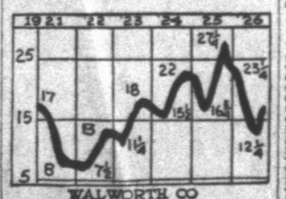

Miss Crystal Plammer was in charge of the meeting and presided over a short business session in the absence of the president.

BODY TO PARIS

The body of J. M. Bennett who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. G. Graham, 2003 Hayes street, was forwarded Monday morning by the Hines Mortuary to Paris for burial. Mr. Bennett is survived by Mrs. Graham and a son, W. P. Bennett of 1501 Travis.

The Walworth company is both a holding and operating company, engaged in the manufacture and sale of valves, fittings, tools steel products, cast iron products, and power piping material and the jobbing of plumbing and piping material. The concern controls a number of subsidiaries. Either itself or through its subsidiaries it owns plants in Kewanee, Ill., South Boston, Mass., Greensburgh, and Etena, Pa., and in Ohio and Alabama. Among the specialties of the company are the Stillson wrench and the Walmanco which have had a big bearing on modern steamfitting methods.

Funded debt totals $12,181,325. Capital stock outstanding consists of $1,000,000 in six per cent cumulative preferred shares of $50 par and 300,000 shares of no par common. Voting power rests with the common stock. In the six years ended in 1924 the net income of the company ranged from a deficit of $1,400.00 in 1921 to a profit of $1,434,947 in 1923. In 1925 net income amounted to $683,306 or $2.05 on each of the then outstanding common shares.

As of June 30, 1926, current assets were $14,508,010, current liabilities $2,785,298 and net working capital $11,722,712. Dividends on the old stock were paid from 1886 to 1917. On the stock of 20 par value dividends were paid from 1918 to the middle of 1925 at varying rates. On the common stock now outstanding, dividends of 45 cents each were paid on December 15, 1926. Dividends of 25 cents a share were paid on June 15 and September 15, 1926. Dividends have always been paid on the preferred.

Texas

to destroy the soil, we will in the future still retain our wonderful climate and our southern skies, but our farms will be destitute and our cities and towns will crumble."

* * *

THERE are alarmists who say that in the near future the Britons and the Germans and the French and the Belgians will grow their cotton in their colonies.

This argument does not appeal to the Texan.

"If our supremacy in cotton raising must be bought at the price of peonage, then let us lose the supremacy.

"But such is not the case.

"India's so-called cotton is comparable only to our linters.

"Take our famous Sea Island cotton plant it in India and it deteriorates quickly into the ordinary Indian cotton."

* * *

THEN jumping to the western hemisphere this advocate of reduction of acreage by law for soil and pocket protection said:

"In the western hemisphere Peru only can grow cotton equally in quality to ours and that is by irrigation.

* * *

Brazil was able last year to raise but 750,000 bales and that by irrigation.

South African cotton is of inferior staple.

Egypt and the Sudan can only compete with us in the quality of their cotton and they can raise it only through irrigation.

Their output is limited by the amount of water which they can obtain from the Nile river."

* * *

AND then the speaker invented a new name for the southern cotton empire patch. He christened it the Nation's Poorhouse.

* * *

COMPARISONS may not be appealing to those who refuse to think as well as read, to those who refuse to see with their eyes.

These are the words of this advocate of prosperity through crop diversification and business methods as applied to farming:

"Assuming that the inhabitants are equal in industry and intelligence, their prosperity depends upon advantages of climate and soil. In the white sand of Michigan where the sun refuses to shine more than eight hours a day, where they have to house their livestock from the severity of the weather, where during half the year the farmer cannot work in the field, there you will find handsome homes, banks rich in deposits, the dress and bearing of the people indicating their prosperity.

"And so you will find it as you come southward until you reach the land of cotton.

"Here, where the sun shines ten to fourteen hours a day and the soil produces everything a man can use and cotton has given us a monopoly of a material which clothes the world, here shacks and rags proclaim it the poorhouse of the nation."

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29. (AP)—The cotton market was very narrow today with the volume of trading restricted to small proportions and price fluctuations of the smallest sort. The continued favorable weather in the belt exerted a slightly bearish influence but the lack of support was based mainly on expectations of increased private crop estimates and a large estimate by the government on December 8. After easing off four to six points in the early trading the market rallied on a little trade buying, gaining five to six points from the early lows before noon. During the afternoon prices drifted aimlessly within the earlier range but gradually easing off toward the lows. The market rallied slightly in the late trading on shorts covering, but did not reach the earlier highs and finally closed steady, showing prices net unchanged for the day to three points decline.

Liverpool came in about two penny points lower than due and first trades here showed losses of two to five points. After rallying one to two points right after the opening the market eased off again, December trading down to 12.41, January to 12.43 and March to 12.54, or four to six points below the previous close.

Later in the morning prices rallied a little on some trade buying and near noon December traded up to 12.47, January to 12.48 and March to 12.60, or five to six points above the lows and net unchanged to one point above Saturday's close.

The market drifted during the afternoon within the earlier range but near the end rallied a few points on a little covering. Exports for the day totaled 49,589 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—The cotton market was quiet today with prices a shade easier under a little southern and local selling, or commission house liquidation. January contracts eased off from 12.41 to 12.36 and closed at 12.37, the general market closing steady, net unchanged to five points lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of three points to an advance of one point, most months being lower in response to relatively easy late cables from Liverpool. Offerings were comparatively light and were well sought after around the initial prices to steady the market, December selling up from 12.54 to 12.62, and March from 12.61 to 12.64.

This slight bulge seemed to meet a little more southern or local selling, however, and the market eased off again, reaching the lowest prices of the day in later trading, when December sold at 12.52 and March at 12.59.

A private crop report issued early estimated the final ginnings at 15,611,000 bales of 500 pounds, and while this figure was below recent estimates of the season's growth, it appeared to make a more bearish impression on sentiment than otherwise. The main factor on the decline, however, was supposed to be reiterated reports that the spot basis was a shade easier in some of the southern markets and that there was some selling of hedges against low grade cotton in the later months.

Private cables said hedge selling had neutralized end-month trade calling in the Liverpool market, and that demand for cotton cloth and yarns was quiet.

Exports today 49,589, making 2,936,-022 so far this season. Port receipts 54,731. United States port stocks, 2,895,054.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Surprise over the 386,000 bushels unexpected increase of the United States wheat visible supply total had a bearish effect on wheat values today. Chicago closing quotations for wheat were unsettled at the same as Saturday's finish to ⅝c lower with corn ⅜ to 1¼c off; oats ⅛@¼c to ½c down and provisions varying from 7c decline to 25c advance.

Liquidating sales of December corn and oats were a weakening factor in the feed grain markets. December corn went to around 5¼c under May, the widest difference thus far this season.

Provisions were irregular; lard tending to sag, but meats showing some advance.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—Stock prices broke sharply just before the close of today's market after having moved irregularly higher during the greater part of the session. Baldwin broke more than five points from its early high, scores of early gains of 1 to 2 points were materially reduced or wiped out and closing quotations disclosed a large number of net declines of 1 to 4 points.

The reaction was attributed in many quarters to the marking up of the call money rate to 5½ per cent, although this was generally regarded as temporary. The weekly federal reserve bank statement of brokers' loans, issued after the market closed, showed a reduction of $741,000 in the week ended last Wednesday. Banks reported a heavy withdrawal of funds by interior institutions in apparent anticipation of huge month-end demands.

Consolidated gas was bid up 3 points on the announcement of the United States supreme court decision upholding the company's main contentions in the so-called "dollar gas case," but it lost all but a fraction of its gain. From a stock market standpoint the other news developments of the day were rather colorless in character. Reports of a further reduction in steel mill operations in the Youngstown district were offset by rumors of an early dividend on Bethlehem Steel common, which closed fractionally higher at 47 after having touched 48⅝.

Transactions in U. S. Steel common comprised nearly one-tenth of the day's entire volume of business, the stock dropping from 150⅝ to 149¾ and then rallying to 148¾, off 1¾ net. General Motors reacted from 142⅞ to 138¾; Hudson from 47⅜ to 45; Mack Trucks from 100¾ to 97¾; Dupont from 163¾ to 166; Savage Arms from 76½ to 68, a new low, and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe from 221 to 214¾.

More than a score issues had established new peak prices for the year early in the session, the list including American Railway Express, Congress Cigar, Columbia Gas (new), Eureka Vacuum Cleaner, Phillips Petroleum, Texas Gulf Sulphur and Orpheum Circuit.

Rails yielded with the industrials despite the publication of a series of favorable October earnings statements. Most of the losses were fractional, although declines of a point or more were recorded by a few issues such as Atchison, New York Central, Rock Island and Frisco common.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

A brisk demand for French francs, which carried them up 8 points to around 2.70 cents, again featured the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling was slightly easier at $4.84 7-16 and the Norwegian krone broke 18 points to 25.22 cents.

HUFF WAIVES ALL PARK RIGHTS ON SITE OF CITY AUDITORIUM

TURNS OVER A NEW DEED TO VALUABLE LOT

Real Estate Given City Is Now Appraised as Worth At Least $100,000

A corrected deed and waiver of specifications in the original deed to the lot selected as a building site for the new city auditorium were tendered the city council Monday night by Judge R. E. Huff, who has originally deeded the lot to the city.

Twelve years ago Judge Huff, who owned the property, deeded the entire block to the city with the stipulation that it be used and improved as a free public park. At that time Judge Huff considered that a park in that section of the city was badly needed. He accordingly provided the site.

Years have passed and financial conditions of the park department would not permit improving of the lot as a first class park. This year when city officials decided on an auditorium, the block was deemed the most economical and appropriate place for the construction of the building. Officials consulted Judge Huff as to the clause which stipulated that the property be used as a park site, and he consented to sign a waiver of such stipulation. Following is Judge Huff's letter to the council:

Huff's Letter

To the mayor and city council:
Wichita Falls, Texas,
Gentlemen:

I herewith hand you my written waiver of the condition made February 20, 1914, that the city should improve and beautify block 238, as a public park. I do this as the people of Wichita Falls, by vote, have signified a wish that this property should be used as a site for the public auditorium.

While making no conditions whatever as to the diversion from the purpose stated in my original deed, I hope that the officers representatives of the city will use their best efforts to provide additional facilities for the pleasure and comfort of our people (especially children and mothers) during the summer months. I also hope that grounds surrounding the auditorium will be beautified and well kept.

Yours truly,
ROBERT E. HUFF.

Title Corrected

Accompanying this letter was a deed correcting the title as to block number and description and also a signed waiver of the clause above mentioned.

Several real estate dealers of the city recently estimated this block of ground as worth $100,000.

The city council accepted the deed and waiver and passed a resolution ordering City Attorney W. E. George to draft an appropriate resolution of thanks to Judge Huff for his favor and that this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the city records.

AGREE ON SUITS

Two Insurance Companies Pay Costs of Court Actions

Two agreed judgments were rendered Monday by Judge William H. Atwell in United States district court, both being issued in favor of plaintiffs against insurance companies.

W. S. Brandon was given a judgment against the Norwich Union Casualty company, after counsel for both sides had come to an agreement. Brandon was allowed $4,000 on an insurance policy and was also allowed attorneys' fees in the amount of $1,300. The defendants were ordered to pay costs of the suit also.

D. M. Cunyus was allowed $2,480 on a judgment granted after counsel had agreed, against the New Amsterdam Casualty company. The defendants also were ordered to pay court costs.

LIGHT IS ORDERED

Members of Congregation Win Plea for Illumination

Members of the Floral Heights Methodist church will be glad to learn that at last the city council has ordered erection of a street light in front of their church building.

Members of this church have requested this light from time to time, but the street department has been unable to meet it because of so many similar requests.

Robbery of the church last week has prompted the council to order a light for that building.

DIVORCES INCREASE

Marriages Also Gain In County In 1925

Marriages and divorces in Wichita county both showed gains in 1925 over the year 1924, according to reports just issued. In 1925 a total of 1,146 marriage licenses were issued against 1,091 for the 12 months of 1924. This represents a gain of 55.

In the divorce courts, 384 marital ventures went on the rocks in this county in 1925 against 308 for 1924, this representing a gain of 76.

PHILLIPS BACK

Guy Lehman Holley, a tinner of Munday, filed a petition of bankruptcy in federal court yesterday.

Holley sets forth his assets and liabilities and seeks a privilege of settlement with his creditors according to the bankrupt act.

The case will be delivered to the referee today and a hearing will probably be held within five days.

Eight Popular Victor Artists To Appear In Concert Here Tuesday

STANLY BAUGHMAN JAMES STANLEY CARL MATHIEU SAM HERMAN

One of the premier musical events of the season is scheduled for Wichita Falls tonight when the Eight Popular Victor artists appear in concert at the Junior college auditorium. They come here under the auspices of McConnell brothers, local Victrola agents. The concert starts at 8:15 p. m.

Tonight's program is a well-balanced arrangement of classical and popular numbers in which vocal and instrumental music both has a part. Solo, duets and quartets are scheduled with Henry Burr, Carl Mathieu, Billy Murray, James Stanley and Stanley Baughman in the vocal numbers. Frank Banta, pianist; Sam Herman, xylophone artist, and Monroe Silver, monologist, will also appear in numerous numbers.

The first half of the program will be devoted to a more or less humorous treatment of music, monologues and other divertisements. The latter half will be strictly musical with classic and semi-classic numbers handled as the artists alone can handle them.

A heavy advance sale of seats has been reported, but there are still a few choice reservations left.

"The-Place-Where-Many-Arrive" Has Plenty To Do In This City Every Day

The other day a young woman with a month-old baby arrived in a place in Wichita Falls where a lot of people arrive daily. Her husband had deserted her, and a brother on a farm near Randlett had written for her to come and make her home with him. But he'd failed to get the letter telling when she would be here.

So she went to a desk in the place - where - many - arrive and talked it over with the woman on duty. She didn't know where the farm was, and she hadn't a penny to do anything with.

The woman at the desk found out first that there was no telephone at the farm near Randlett. But the telephone operator, who generally has time merely to be courteous, had discovered who was talking. "Just wait a minute, and I'll see if I can't locate a telephone somewhere near them," she offered. In five or 10 minutes she reported again. "There's a telephone two miles from the farm," she said, and made the connection.

Had a Little Talk.

There was a little talk, and the woman at the desk turned to the worried and unhappy young mother. "This neighbor is mighty good," she said. "She says they'll get word as quick as they can to your brother."

Early in the afternoon the brother came in in his car, loaded the two in and turned homeward.

"People are mighty quick to help," Mrs. W. O. Davidson, who is Travelers' Aid secretary at the union station, says invariably when she tells of her work. "Sometimes I don't even have to ask them. They go for blocks to call people to the phone, when it isn't their responsibility at all. And I don't believe there are any public or private officials, or telephone girls, or any other kind of workers, in any other city as quick to do anybody a good turn as they are in Wichita Falls.

"We are always needing help and co-operation in Travelers' Aid work. We have to get in touch with people that it looks like had worked for days trying to get into inaccessible places. And we have to have service that isn't in the ordinary run of things, just because we're dealing with people and situations that are out of the ordinary run. But I could count the times on by fingers, in a number of years that people have refused to do all they could to help, regardless of the time and trouble."

—Because as Eddie Guest said, "Folks are what you make 'em."

Made Separate Unit

The Travelers Aid has been handled heretofore as part of the central welfare office but this year it has been made a separate and distinct agency with a board of directors and is a member of the national organization of Travelers' Aid.

A brief report of the activities of last year is as follows:

General information	6168
Assisted to trains	177
Assisted with tickets	70
Directed to city	660
Sent to rooms	234
Sent to welfare	23

Sent to Y. W. C. A. employment	58
Children in charge	102
Friends and relatives located	466
Long distance calls	264
Special cases handled	78
Total	8293

In addition, this department has handled about 2000 telegrams for travelers on incoming trains.

COLLIER IN PEN

Former Wichita Falls Mayor Returns to Huntsville

No application is now pending before Governor Miriam Ferguson for a pardon for former Mayor Frank Collier of this city, it was announced Monday in Austin. Collier has just returned to the state penitentiary at Huntsville to resume serving a three-year manslaughter sentence for the slaying of Elsie Robertson, his 19-year-old son-in-law. Robertson was killed on the night of February 14, 1925.

Collier has been at his home here for the past 39 days on a furlough granted by the governor because of a break in Mr. Collier's health. His furlough expired Monday and he returned Saturday to Huntsville.

It was announced Monday night from the governor's office that no pardon application for the former mayor had been filed.

CHARGES FILED

Reeves and Lewis Face Trial As Result of Fight

Charges were filed against Gus Reeves and Willie Lewis, negroes, for assault with intent to murder, by District Attorney Ben P. Allred Monday morning when the blacks were turned over to county authorities by the city police department.

The negroes engaged in a strenuous knife battle in a cafe on Park street late Sunday night and were still fighting when officers arrived on the scene. One negro was wielding a butcher knife and the other a pocket knife.

Reeves is still in the hospital and is said to be in a critical condition. Lewis is in the hospital, also, but his wounds are not considered serious.

COURT GRANTS CATTLE PLEA

Temporary Injunction Given By Martin Involving Sale Of Ranch

A temporary writ of injunction was granted in favor of James E. Parker, a resident of Wichita county, by Judge P. A. Martin in 89th district court Monday morning, restraining Leonard Parker and Leonard Parker Jr., from selling or rounding up any cattle on the Parker ranch in Grey county, Texas, or interfering with cattle on the ranch.

The petition was filed with the statement that James E. Parker had bought the ranch September 23, 1926; that the deed was signed by Leonard Parker and his wife, Rowena, and that the sale included all cattle on the ranch bearing a brand of circle "O" on the left shoulder and an "L" on the left hip.

Later, it was stated that Leonard Parker had attempted to get together 100 head of cattle which is claimed as the property of Leonard Parker Jr.

The injunction was granted upon the perfection of $2,500 bond by the plaintiff.

PRISONER ESCAPES

L. B. Clinkinscale Walks Off When Released As Trusty

L. B. Clinkinscale, charged with theft of an automobile, escaped from the county jail on Thanksgiving day, it was reported to Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court when the case came up for trial Monday morning.

A former trial on the same charge resulted in a hung jury, and Clinkinscale was held over in the county jail for a new trial.

Officers of the sheriff's department told the court they had released Clinkinscale as a trusty to assist in preparing the Thanksgiving dinner for prisoners in the jail and that he escaped at that time. Officers at Memphis, Texas, have been notified of the escape as that is the former home of Clinkinscale and it is thought he probably would return there.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

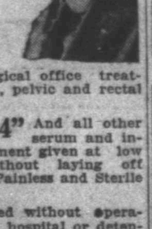

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

Jewish Feast Of Dedication Starts

Chanukah, Feast of Lights, Begins Tuesday, Lasts Eight Days

Chanukah, the Feast of Dedication, likewise known as the Feast of Lights, will be ushered in by the Jews of Wichita Falls tonight at their temple. This is a festival which lasts eight days.

A Chanukah entertainment will be given by the children of the Temple Israel Sabbath School Sunday evening at 7 o'clock and they have arranged a very interesting program for the event. Following is the historical sketch of the origin of the feast day:

The Syrian King Antiochus IV., or Epiphanes in the year 168 B. C., had decided to unify all the provinces and peoples of his kingdom. Following the idea of his predecessor Alexander the Great, he believed that this could be accomplished only by compelling all his subjects to adopt a common religion, that of the Greeks. For this reason, he issued a decree to the effect that only the Greek gods were to be worshiped and only the Greek religion was to be practiced. But the polytheism of the Greeks did not appeal to the Jews, who, alone of all the peoples of that time, worshiped the One God. Undaunted by the persecutions heaped upon them by the Syrians, undismayed by the profanation of their holy temple and the setting up of idols therein, the Jews, led at first by the aged priest Mattathias and after his death by his son Judas Maccabeus, successfully resisted the strong armies which the Syrians sent against them, defeated them repeatedly and finally marched triumphantly into Jerusalem. There they rededicated the temple to the service of the One God after it had remained defiled for exactly three years. The rededication took place on the 25th day of the Jewish month of Kisley, in the year 165 B. C., and it is commemoration of this glorious event that the Feast of Chanukah, or Dedication, is celebrated today.

The festival lasts for eight days, in accordance with an old legend which states that a single cruse of undefiled oil found in the temple at the time of the rededication burned for eight days through the miraculous intervention of God. For this reason the kindling of the lights in the home and in the synagogue is the most distinguishing feature of the festival. One candle is lit the first day, two on the second day, and so on until eight are kindled on the last day of the feast. Special prayers and scriptural readings are recited in the synagogue, but the holiday is nevertheless regarded as a minor one because there is no injunction against labor on that day.

In modern times the festival has assumed more and more the character of a children's celebration, a period of great joy, marked by the playing of games and the recounting of the great deeds of the Jewish heroes and martyrs of the past.
