Gruesome Slayings Bared By Woman

(By The Associated Press)

SEATTLE, May 24. — Detective Chief Ernest Yoris said late today Mrs. Mary Eleanor Smith, 72, confessed in detail she and her son, Decasto Earl Mayer, 43, killed Dorothy La Casse and Ole Larson at Ananconda Mont., in 1921.

Yoris said she told of the slayings before she and Mayer were arraigned for first degree murder in connection with the disappearance 10 years ago of James Eugene Bassett of Annapolis Md.

Disposed Of Body

She already had confessed Mayer slew Bassett for his automobile, and they disposed of his dismembered body.

Yoris said she confessed Larson was slain after Mayer forced him at pistol-point to write a check for $800, and that Mayer shot the girl in his bedroom Nov. 21, 1921, and she saw him drag the body into the kitchen next morning and dismember it.

He said she confessed she helped Mayer hide the remains in a roadside ditch running from the Anaconda smelter toward Warm Springs, on the Anaconda-Butte road.

Visited His Mother

Yoris said Mrs. Smith said Mayer induced Larson to visit his mother, and he was slain and his body similarly disposed of.

Yoris said Mrs. Smith confessed she cashed Larson's check; that she kept and wore Miss La Casse's nightgown and redeemed one of the girl's two diamond rings she said Mayer pawned in Salt Lake City.

Uncle Not Present

John Cudahy, United States minister to Ireland and uncle of the bride, did not attend the quiet service at a Presbyterian church.

Ickes sailed from New York May 18 to marry the girl who had worked in Washington in the national park service, a bureau of Ickes' department, and who first became acquainted with him at a White House party.

Tall, slim, with reddish gold hair and freckles, the bride is the sister of Mrs. Wilmarth Ickes of Winnetka, Ill., widow of the secretary's stepson. She is well known in Chicago where Ickes was a lawyer before his appointment to the cabinet in 1933.

Alert Young Women Often Investigate The Credit Rating Of Prospective Husbands

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, May 24 — Cupid sometimes consults the card-index file before he lets the dart fly, Texas credit men were told today.

C. C. Witchell, San Antonio, told delegates to a credit convention here today that it is not unusual for alert young women to investigate the credit risk rating of their prospective husbands. Quite frequently they decline to go through with the ceremony if they get an adverse report, he said.

Speakers had explained that a woman who is a good credit risk loses that status if she marries a man with a bad rating. A men's credit rating remains good even though he marries a woman whose rating is not so good.

A shortening of installment terms to not more than 12 to 18 months was urged in the furniture section meeting. W. S. Holman, San Antonio, who presided, said a shortening of installment terms would improve the service because it would require less money to operate.

G. A. Marbach, San Antonio, was elected president of the Associated Retail Credit Men of Texas. Mike Weinstein, Houston, and C. A. Caldwell, Dallas.

Revamped Plan Now Will Face Senate Action

Efforts To Attach Amendments To Measure Are Beaten Back By Supporters Of Proposal

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 24 — An overpowering coalition, consisting largely of northern Democrats and Republicans, pushed the wage-hour bill through the house of representatives tonight by a vote of 314 to 97.

Many southern Democrats fought to the last, but without success, to force adoption of amendments giving the South lower wage minima than the North.

The measure, as it passed, applies the same standards in all sections of interstate industry, with few exceptions. It calls for a minimum wage starting at 25 cents an hour the first year, and increasing five cents each year until it attains 40 cents. It provides for maximum weekly hours dropping from 44 the first year to 40 after the second.

Amendments Approved

Few amendments penetrated the defense thrown about the bill by its supporters. In the late hours of debate, however, amendments were approved exempting the fishing industry, newspapers of less than 3,000 circulation and child movie actors from the application of the measure.

The last amendment, dubbed the "Shirley Temple Clause," was proposed by Representative Kramer (D-Calif).

Earlier a committee amendment exempting the businesses of processing perishable farm and sea food products was accepted, together with an amendment by Representative Biermann (D-Ia) exempting those engaged in the packing, canning, etc., of farm commodities, if employed in the area of production.

The vote tonight did not end the wage-hour fight, by any means. The measure must now go to the senate, which passed a much different labor standards bill last year. Parliamentarians said that southern senators opposed to the legislation

A fire truck from Eagle Pass extinguished the flames.

Secret Study For Purpose Of Improving Dirigibles Made

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)— A secret study is being undertaken for the purpose of improving dirigibles, President Roosevelt disclosed today.

He informed reporters he himself was directing the investigation, which will be along different lines from numerous earlier inquiries.

Sister, 53, And Brother, 55, Travel 2,100 Miles After Years Of Searching To See Each Other In Lubbock For First Time

By SYLVIA SMITH

THEY traveled 2,100 miles to meet for the first time—and Lubbock was the setting.

"Hattie, this is your brother, Allie."

Thus, a brother and sister whose combined ages total 108, acknowledged introductions enthusiastically this week.

Mrs. Hattie De Camp, 53, of Liberal, Kas., and her brother, T. A. Smith, 55, of Alturas, Calif., are celebrating the occasion in Mrs. De Camp's daughter's home, Mrs. C. P. Collier of 2117 Eighteenth street.

When Mrs. De Camp was six weeks old and Smith nearly two years, their mother died. They and four other children were adopted into separate homes. All except Mrs. De Camp and Smith were fortunate in locating each other years ago. The younger two were completely unaware of the other's whereabouts until recently, with the aid of an Iowa postmaster, they were successful in their search.

Merlin, a son, brought Mrs. De Camp to Lubbock about a week ago then returned to Liberal.

Mrs. Shelia Jones and Bill Smith, children of T. A. Smith, are with him. The three of them will leave today to accompany Mrs. De Camp to Liberal, visiting other members of the family en route.

After a few days stay, the California group will return to Alturas via Denver, Colo. and Salt Lake City, Utah.

Alturas is approximately 1,800 miles from Lubbock, Liberal 300.

It's a small world! said the visitors.

Kidnaping Of "Henry Ford Of Britain" Is Blocked; Two Men Held By Police

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 24.—Two men were arrested tonight in a daring attempt to kidnap Viscount Nuffield, the "Henry Ford of Britain," who has given millions of dollars away to charity.

The men were seized after they had entered Lord Nuffield's office at the Cowley motor works near Oxford and ordered the magnate to enter their automobile.

Plant Was Closed

The plant already had closed for the night.

A friend of Nuffield's in a nearby office heard the men's voices and called police.

The two men were arrested quickly.

Britain, where kidnaping is virtually without precedent, was amazed.

Britons frequently have held the United States up to scorn for kidnapings there and because of the fact Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh sought refuge in England.

Identities Are Unknown

The two men were held incommunicado. Officials refused to disclose their identities. They will be brought before a magistrate tomorrow.

Silver-haired and nervous, Nuffield has given away nearly $100,000,000 in the past 15 years.

Known as the "Henry Ford of Britain" because of his mass production of low-priced Morris autos, he frequently works alone at night in his private office.

No Compromise Fight Sought On Relief Bill

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Administration leaders in the senate called tonight for a "no compromise" fight against a proposal to restrict P.W.A.'s authority to finance municipally-owned power projects.

The restriction, pencilled into the $3,247,000,000 spending-lending bill by the senate appropriations committee, would prohibit use of P.W.A. funds for building plants which would compete with existing privately-owned systems whose rates were subject to public regulation.

Elimination Favored

Senator Barkley of Kentucky and Senator Norris (Ind-Neb), staunch administration supporter, said they favored complete elimination of the restriction.

Debate on the lending-spending measure proceeded at a snail's pace today. Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) talked most of the afternoon in support of his proposal to send negroes to Africa.

Bilbo offered an amendment authorizing the president to use relief funds for this purpose.

He said at least 2,000,000 negroes would take advantage of any program to send them to Africa. "It would solve the whole problem of unemployment," he asserted.

Despite the sluggish tempo of today's debate, leaders hoped for passage of the bill this week.

Second Alcatraz Death Results

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24. — A second death resulted today from the abortive escape plot by a trio of Alcatraz federal prison inmates when R. C. Cline, 36, senior guard official, died from bludgeoning by the three convicts, one of whom was fatally wounded by another guard.

Federal prosecutors moved immediately to bring murder charges against the surviving convicts for the death of Cline, who was beaten insensible with a claw hammer. He died at 5:10 p. m., some 24 hours after the attempted escape.

Assistant United States Attorney A. J. Zirpoli said he would ask federal grand jury indictments against convicts Rufus Franklin, who was wounded in the shoulder, and James C. Lucas, both long term prisoners. Their co-conspirator, Thomas R. Limerick, was killed by a guard.

Zirpoli said the death penalty would be asked for the convicts.

Cline, who is survived by a widow and four children living on the rock-bound prison island, entered the federal service in 1931 and had been at Alcatraz since May 13, 1934.

Electric Chair Not Awaiting Young Killer

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 24.—With eyes brimming tears, 16-year-old Donald Carroll, jr., learned today the end of the road will not be the electric chair for the "suicide pact" slaying of his sweetheart, 18-year-old Charlotte Mathiesen.

Terming the case "unique in American courts" with the dead girl's parents siding with the boy who killed their daughter — Prosecutor Joseph V. Loscalzo told the all-male jury:

Weighed By Sympathy

"I realize you men are weighed down by sympathy, and frankly I say to you I am of the same feeling.

"The state asks a fair and just verdict, without meaning the death penalty."

The young New York university student broke down once and sobbed when Detective Edward Hattrick testified Donald told him shortly after the slaying:

"I held her in my arms and kissed her as she died. First she pulled the trigger, but it only clicked and she said, 'I don't think I can do it,' and she put the gun in my hand.

"After the shot," the officer continued to quote Carroll, "I heard a funny noise from her mouth like a last drop of water running into a sink. Then I knew she was dead."

Detective Hattrick said Donald cried out:

"I was supposed to kill myself, too, but I lost my nerve. Oh, why didn't I kill myself!"

Mrs. Christina Mathiesen, grey-haired mother of the slain girl, who has said she loves Donald "as though he were my own son," took the stand for only a few seconds to testify that she had identified the body of her daughter at the morgue.

Kindly Officers Play Trick On Boy; Now He's On His Way Back To Midland Home

"SHUCKS, all I had to do was lift my hand and people gave me a ride" boasted little Don Adams and his 200 miles in nine hours seemed to prove it.

Dressed in knee pants, light shirt, battered straw hat, and with some belongings done up in blue print material and slung over his shoulder on a stick, the lad was every inch the hobo except for the whiskers.

The 6-year-old passed through Lubbock on his way back to his Midland home at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, riding in state now, on a bus.

Unsuspecting of the trick which kindly Plainview officers had played on him, the lad still thinks he is on his way to Denver to see his grandmother.

"They said I was so far off the road that they would put me on the bus to get back on the track," asserted the small boy, confidently. He exhibited money given him and announced he will buy grandma a "surprise present when I get there."

Missing from his Midland home since Monday afternoon, Don has been the object of a widespread search in which the Lubbock radio station cooperated. He was taken to the sheriff's department in Plainview by a passing motorist who gave him a lift.

Freight Rates Receive Boost

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 24.—An order increasing rail freight rates 10 per cent on many commodities and five per cent on some agricultural products, lumber and logs was announced today by the railroad commission. Application of Texas railroads for a general boost of 15 per cent was denied.

The regulating body said it authorized increases to permit larger revenues for railroads made necessary by increased operating costs.

Some Are Prohibited

Effective until Dec. 31, 1939, the order permitted no increase in rates on cottonseed and cottonseed products; lignite, coal and coke; sand, gravel, crushed stone and asphalt rock; livestock, fruits and vegetables; tin cans to the Rio Grande valley; cement for distances 75 miles and less and when destined for the Marshall Ford dam construction near Austin; gasoline and refined petroleum oils for 160 miles and less, and special rates on newsprint paper from the port cities to Texas points.

The commission did not allow the rates to, from or between Texas differential territory to be increased. It provided however, that if the common point territory rate with the increase was, in any instance, higher than the present rate, the common point rate would apply.

ON TAKING VACATIONS

WITHIN a short time the shores of the restless ocean, the mountain streams, the primeval villages, the mountain slopes and the summer resorts will be calling the weary to rest. All busy men and women need recreation and rest. There are times when absolute cessation from work, whether regular or exceptional, is a duty. There is a time to refrain from working as well as a time to work, if a person is to conserve his energy and give the best account of himself to his employer.

Laziness is one thing, mental inactivity is another, while it is only the conscientiously busy man who has a right, when necessary, to do nothing and knows how to do it with good grace and profit.

THERE can be no greater joy than comes from recreation in the open. Boating, swimming, horseback riding, tennis, horse-show pitching and hill climbing invigorate the body and mind. A vacation period should be a time of recreation.

Noting the Lubbock teachers who are planning to spend the summer in study we could not help but make a silent wish that each will allow herself a few days between the end of one semester and the beginning of a new school term in September to lose the feel of the classroom. She and her pupils will profit if she does so.

SCATTERINGS

NOMINATION for a sophisticated set of twins: six-year-old Bobbie Jean and Billie Dean Bryant who discuss their ambitions for musical and dancing careers with as much ease and hope as the Hollywood starlets. Their father recently bought them a violin and they hope to learn to play, although one of them wistfully said recently she hopes she takes a vacation this summer . . . Neil Armstrong, the blond lad who sang "The Blind Ploughman" with such feeling Monday night at Senior High school commencement, may be the answer to the question "What are we going to do when Elton Plowman and Rex Webster graduate from Tech?" His voice, although untrained, is sweet and sure.

A LESSER man than Doctor Arrowood might have been upset at the experience of a half-starved cat crossing the stage just after he had sent home his first point in a graducation talk. Personally, we believe if the seniors forget everything else he said and remember the one remark, "No matter what happens to you, remember it could be worse" they will not have attended the exercises in vain.

Last night I walked beneath the stars
O'er buttercups and clover;
I watched the sky 'till the moon had climbed
To the top of the tower, then over.
I chased the firefly in his play,
Rejoicing in the weather;
I gathered bits of fallen stars
And pieced them back together.
I hummed a haunting pagan song
As I danced on nimble feet,
And I laughed aloud for youth is gay
And the breath of the night is sweet.
When the white moon sank I scampered home
And sang myself to sleep,
But all my neighbors raised shocked brows
At the hours that I keep.

Good Advice About Constipation!

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with any ailment is to get at its cause. If you're constipated, don't fiddle with makeshift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble!

Chances are you won't have to look very far, if you eat just the things most people do. Most likely, you don't get enough "bulk"! And "bulk" doesn't mean just a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is what you lack, your ticket is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars"! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Cardenas Leaders Do Not Take Cedillo Revolt Seriously

Little Interest Is Exhibited

MEXICO CITY, May 24. (AP)—A competent neutral military observer said today the Lazaro Cardenas government apparently was not "taking very seriously" general Saturnino Cedillo's uprising in San Luis Ptosi.

Defense ministry officials — the few not on vacation—showed only desultory interest in dispatches from the war zone, this source said, and were described as feeling President Cardenas was merely "playing safe" in concentrating six infantry battalions, seven cavalry regiments, 18 warplanes and assorted units of specialists in the state.

Planes Being Used

Dispatches filtering through military channels yesterday indicated General Genovevo Rivas Guillen, state military commander, was using planes for the first time to bomb rebel concentrations operating in scattered areas.

But the effects of the bombardments about Cardenas, Las Tablas and Canoas were not revealed.

Persons familiar with the geography of San Luis Potosi and adjoining states expressed the belief Cedillo, reported yesterday to have set up headquarters at Montebello, about eight miles east of his captured estate Las Palomas, would move slowly eastward toward the wilder country around Morelos Viejos on the Mexico-Laredo highway.

Held Out For Months

Water, cattle and game are to be had there in abundance, it was said, and with the rainy season approaching, Cedillo might hold out for months — as he did for years against Carranza.

Meanwhile, Rutilio Alamilla Valdes, secretary of state of San Luis Potosi, who fled the capital of that state Saturday night, was arrested here when police gained access to the house where he was hiding by posing as a mailman.

Alamilla served under Governor Mateo Hernandez Netro, who also fled Saturday night.

Before leaving, Hernandez Netro named Miguel Alvarez Acosta, chief justice of the state superior court, to succeed him.

Text Made Public

But the government press department made public the text of President Cardenas' message to congress last night, asking it to vacate San Luis Potosi state powers and name provisional officials pending elections. Already Col. Leandro Sanchez, of the army, had been named head of the police department of the city of San Luis Potosi.

Other arrests were expected to follow that of Alamilla as the result of the appearance of Cedillista manifestos calling for opposition to Cardenas.

Porch Was Mined

Government soldiers sprawled on the front porch of the Cedillo estate revealed the handful of Cedillistas guarding the hacienda tried to set off underground mines when the troops arrived. They found the front porch also mined, they said.

In an effort to keep the Mexico-Laredo highway to the United States open the war ministry reported troops disarmed police at Tamazunchale and other points.

In the adjoining state of Queretaro a well organized band of 300 rebels raided the Galindo, Miranda and La Noria ranches, taking horses and disarming agrarians in the neighborhoods.

Federal troops were sent in pursuit though there was no information that the band was connected with the Cedillo movement.

SAFTI-FLIGHT—"America's Safest Tire"—This is the best tire that Fisk knows how to build ... both in its internal construction and in its incomparable safety tread. It costs more to make than ordinary tires, and is classed as a DeLuxe Tire ... but it actually sells for very little more than first line tires of conventional tread construction.

AIR-FLIGHT—This is one of the best ... if not actually THE best ... conventional tread tires built today. It differs from Safti-Flight only in its tread, which costs less to manufacture ... so that Air-Flight costs you less money.

AIR-FLIGHT A-S.—Sturdy, well-made, dependable ... made to sell at a moderate price. Size for size, it contains more cord than similar grade tires made by other manufacturers. It is a little less expensive to build than Air-Flight, and costs you less for this reason.

FISK "75"—A better tire for the money than competition offers at the same price ... but if you want very lowest possible first cost we recommend the Windsor. This tire is called the "75" because it costs you 75% as much as the Air-Flight.

WINDSOR—Built for the car owner who wants good, dependable transportation at low first cost. It is the lowest-priced tire in the Fisk Line, but an outstanding value.

ALL FISK MILEAGE IS SAFE MILEAGE—Regardless of the Fisk Tire that you choose from this group, you have definite assurance that it will deliver mileage in accordance with the price you pay for it ... that you will get your full money's worth in service PLUS unmatched safety factors which have made Fisk Tires the choice of thinking motorists throughout America. Before you buy any tires ... See Your Fisk Dealer.

Little Fighters Set For Scrap

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 24.—Barney Ross and Henry Armstrong, two great little scrappers who came together over the 15-round route at the Garden bowl on Thursday night, virtually completed training today. Both are finely drawn and impatient to go.

Ross, the welterweight champ, went through four or five rounds of limbering-up at Stillman's gym. Armstrong stuck to his camp at Pompton Lakes.

Good Gate In Sight

Popular interest in the bout increased. Promoter Mike Jacobs insisted the gate would reach $200,000 if the weather remained clear and warm.

There isn't going to be much difference in the weights when the two crawl between the ropes, despite the fast there is supposed to be the entire lightweight division between them. Ross, who agreed to make 142 pounds, was a perspiring 141 1-2 when he finished work today, and Armstrong has been hovering around his stipulated minimum of 135.

Jim Braddock, the ex-heavyweight champ, watched Ross work and said he thought those extra pounds Armstrong is toting around would cause the negro's defeat.

Jim's voice, of course, was only one of the many. Armstrong isn't lacking supporters. About two out of every three writers, fight managers, trainers and gambling men are stringing along with Ross.

Sampson Tackles Teuton In Main Event Tonight

TONIGHT'S SCHEDULE

Main event—Carl von Bromberg of Germany vs. Dick Sampson of Denton. Best two out of three falls or two-hour time limit.

Semi-final—George Hartay of Hungary vs. Buzz Reynolds of Cincinnati. One fall or 30 minutes.

Curtain raiser — Soldier Thomas of Washington vs. Dizzy Dilly Davis of Houston. One fall or 20 minutes.

Time and place—8:30 p. m., the Auditorium.

Back to main event at the Auditorium, Dick Sampson will attempt tonight to regain some of the lost prestige he lost when Andy Tremaine pinned his ears back not long ago. His opponent will be the aggressive Teuton, Carl von Bromberg.

In his last encounter here Sampson turned villainous and lost some of the following he enjoyed as an orthodox wrestler. Up to the time Tremaine defeated him he was on top of the heap here.

Von Bromberg is a fast worker and may give Sampson some trouble, may even give him too much trouble.

At any rate if the Denton footballer tries the rough tactics the German can handle himself. It should be an interesting scrap.

George Hartay, the workable little Hungarian, will vie with Buzz Reynolds in the preliminary. Hartay is fast and hard to beat by the boys in this circuit.

Dizzy Dilly Davis of Houston meets Soldier Thomas in the curtain raiser.

Davis keeps the referee on his toes all of the time watching his underhand methods, but at the same time puts over some good holds. Thomas is no angel himself and they may exchange plenty of blows.

John Nemanic will serve as referee.

Rich Holiday Race Is Definitely Off

NEW YORK, May 24 (AP)—The $100,000 holiday match race between War Admiral and Seabiscuit is off.

In an unexpected announcement today, Charles S. Howard, San Francisco owner of Seabiscuit, said his colt was in no condition to match strides with Samuel D. Riddle's fleet son of Man O' War at Belmont park Monday in the first big match race in this country since Zev whipped Papyrus at the same track in 1923.

Indications that Seabiscuit's legs were bothering him became apparent several days ago, according to Howard.

Charley Yates Takes Hero Role In British Amateur

By SCOTTY RESTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

TROON, Scotland, May 24—Charley Yates of Atlanta, self-confessed comedian of the United States Walker Cup team, tonight was both the hero and the villain of the British Amateur golf championship.

Putting magically and turning even mistakes into winners, Happy Charley defeated Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, second favorite, on a stymie at the nineteenth of their first-round match to lead six Americans into the third day of competition.

Yates' stock rose sharply as a possible successor to Robert Sweeny, American-born defending champion, who did not play today.

Three Americans Ousted

Yates' victory took the spotlight from the match in which Omaha's Johnny Goodman, United States champion and tournament favorite, downed Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 4 and 2. Billows followed Fischer and Marvin (Bud) Ward of Olympia, Wash., to the sidelines.

The remaining American survivors are: Captain Francis Ouimet of Boston, who eliminated Dr. William Twedell, 1936 British team captain, 4 and 3; Charles (Chuck) Kocsis of Detroit, who whipped William Peacock of Britain, 3 and 2; and Fred Haas, jr., of New Orleans who swamped Scottish A. J. Ashworth, 7 and 6, and Reynolds Smith of Dallas, who reached the second round yesterday.

Haas Draws Attention

Today's play, which also saw British Walker Cupper Gordon Peters reach the third round and two of his mates, Leonard Crawley and Hector Thomson, gain the second, reduced the field to 98. By tomorrow night only 32 will be left.

The major upset of the day was Ward's defeat by Albert W. Briscoe, former West of Ireland champion, who gets a crack at Goodman tomorrow.

The boy beginning to attract attention is Haas. He's in a comparatively easy bracket and he's hitting the ball well. In fact Henry Cotton, seeing him in action today, remarked, "I think he swings his club better thany any of the newscomers on the American team."

Goodman Gets Early Lead

Goodman, his all-round play a bit disappointing to some critics, applied the pressure when necessary to oust Billows today. Johnny won three of the first six holes and was never headed.

Feature matches tomorrow should be between Yates and Frank Pennink, British Walker Cupper and English amateur champion in 1937 and 1938, and Ouimet and Cecil Ewing, Irish star who played on the British team two years ago.

Amateurs For Cup Play Named

DALLAS, May 24. (AP)—Fourteen amateurs with glittering tournament records today were named to the Texas Cup squad that will meet the Texas P.G.A.'s band of salaried players at Tyler on June 19.

Newly crowned state champion Bobby Riegel of Beaumont, the former Southern amateur titlist who moved to Texas 18 months ago, headed a list of young "veterans."

Other named included:

Amateurs Are Listed

Reynolds Smith of Dallas, who may not be back from the Walker Cup matches in time to compete; Walter Emery, Houston Invitation champion; Morris Norton of Wichita Falls, West Texas titleholder; David Davis of Tyler; Billy Bob Coffey of Fort Worth; Iverson Martin, the "Cinderella Kid" from Fort Worth who went to the state finals; Dennis Lavender, Dallas' colorful state muny champion; Jack Munger, former Southern champion; Don Schumacher, Trans-Mississippi king; and David Goldman, all of Dallas.

Named as alternates were Reuben Albaugh, Dallas' freckled distance hitter; O'Hara Watts, recent winner of the Little Rock invitation, and Lonnie Wendland, San Antonio's ranking amateur.

Team Is Not Ranked

The cup matches will climax a three-day links carnival for the pros. Qualifying rounds for the Nation P.G.A. and the 72-hole Texas P.G.A. tournament also will be held at Tyler's Willow Brook course.

Ben Lee Boynton of Dallas, member of a committee including Marvin Leonard of Fort Worth and Fred Schoellkopf of Dallas, said invitations had been forwarded the amateurs by Frank M. Lewis of San Antonio, Texas Golf association president.

The amateur team was not ranked, non-playing Captain Boynton saying places would be allotted the day of the matches. The series now stands deadlocked, the amateurs and pros having won a match each.

Silver Keys Displace Rats As Intramural Champs At Tech

Bagging the rubber game of the short series to decide the intramural champion of Texas Tech, the Silver Keys regained the title for the social clubs Tuesday afternoon.

The Keys beat the Rats, Independent league winners, 3 to 2 on the college diamond.

A. J. Carpenter turned in his second win the three days by holding the Rats to four hits, one a double by Phillips. Eddie Wapp limited the winners to two hits, but five Rat miscues allowed the Keys to put over two unearned runs.

After the Keys had scored once on two fielding errors in the opening frame and again in the third on their first hit and another error, the Rats bunched two bases on balls, an error and a single to knot the count. White's single batted the second run across.

Carpenter's single and errors in the fourth gave the Keys their margin of victory. The Key hurler fanned three in the final inning.

The Rats were defending champions.

Arguments Will Be Heard Today

Final arguments in the case of W. W. Kurlees and others against Montgomery Ward & Co., will be made in United States district court this morning, starting at 10 o'clock.

Practically all of yesterday was spent in hearing the case, with Judge William Hawley Atwell presiding. Both sides rested at 5 o'clock and C. S. Williams, one of the attorneys for Kurlees, and C. C. Crenshaw for the defendant, made arguments of 20 minutes each.

Expert Witness Expected

Defense introduced a number of expert witnesses in the case, which involved the destruction of the Kurlees house southeast of Plainview, and a claim that a kerosene hot water heater purchased from the defendants was the cause. Frank Day, Plainview, is a partner of Williams and E. L. Klett, Lubbock attorney, is associated in the case. George W. Dupree, Crenshaw's partner, will speak this morning.

Tuesday night after hearing testimony in the case of Western Casualty & Surety Co., against Chas. O. Trimble, K. R. Kilgore, W. R. Guthrie and others, Judge Atwell ruled for the plaintiffs. The case was over an insurance policy on a truck, carried by Trimble with the plaintiff, involved in an accident near Seminole Oct. 27.

Appraisers Appointed

W. A. McGowan, Dallas, represented the casualty company and John W. Norrels and W. A. Griffis, Seagraves, Trimble and others.

Judge Atwell named A. E. Lewis, Muleshoe; G. J. Garth and Ed Hulse of Baileyboro as appraisers in a case involving 1,4440.31 acres of land in Bailey county, in a suit brought by the U. S. government. They are to make appraisal and return a figure within 20 days.

Default judgment was given in the case of the United States against L. T. Tipton. C. C. Crenshaw, representing W. J. Meredith in his suit against the City of Littlefield, announced a refunding plan was being worked out. The case is to be ready for settlement by July 2.

were in a position to fight it with everything up to and including a filibuster.

Although frankly worried about this opposition, which could conceivably delay adjournment of congress for many weeks, administration leaders were elated at their smashing victory in the house.

Old Bill Killed

Only last December, the house had "killed the bill" by sending it back to the labor committee for revision. But it was a much different bill from that on which today's action was based.

The old measure would have empowered a government agency to prescribe minimum wages and maximum hours for selected industries. This power was limited by a proviso that the minimum wages thus prescribed should not exceed 40 cents an hour and that the maximum hours should not go below 40 a week. Such flexible provisions were also in the bill passed by the senate last year.

The wide differences between the senate measure and the present house bill were the cause of the new troubles facing the legislation.

Chance To Filibuster

Ordinarily, the measure passed tonight would be submitted at once to a conference between representatives of the house and senate.

But to get the legislation "into conference" a motion to that effect had to be made in the senate, and the motion was debatable. Thus the southern senators were presented with an open opportunity to use the filibustering powers they demonstrated themselves to possess in blocking a vote on the anti-lynching bill last winter.

Although opposed to the bill in any event, the Southerners were particularly concerned by the fact that while the senate bill provided for a lower minimum wage in the South than in the North, the house bill did not.

No southern senator had openly said that a filibuster would develop.

Gains Many Friends

It was, however, the very fact that the southern differential was knocked out of the bill that brought the measure many new friends in the house—northern and eastern Republicans and conservative Democrats.

Another factor obviously prominent in the house's change of heart was that while the American Federation of Labor opposed December's bill, it supported the new version, as did also the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Southern Move Crushed

The Southerners tried desperately to get the differential back in the bill. The first amendment offered, by Representative Ramspeck (D-Ga), would have restored it. The move was crushed by the coalition of Republicans and northern Democrats, 139 to 170, and Mrs. Norton (D-NJ), leader of the drive for the measure, beamed at the 2 to 1 majority.

Amendment after amendment—to make the minimum wage 25 cents, 40 cents, 53 1-3 cents, to exempt this or that industry, to fix maximum hours at 30 or 48 to the week—received the same rough treatment.

Trade Show Program Reaches Final Day

Final-day program of the Russell Morrison annual trade show is expected to attract many beauty operators and shop owners from over the territory who were unable to attend Monday and Tuesday and is expected to increase total attendance to more than 1,500 including friends who accompany those registering for the show.

Clyde Cale of Dallas, who is acting as master of ceremonies, will open today's program which will consist of lectures by exhibitors, a final day style revue, and the answering of questions asked by beauty operators who have attended.

A dance and floor show beginning tonight at 9:30 at the Lubbock hotel will climax the three-day event.

This is the seventh year that Morrison has conducted the show in Lubbock, with registration figures increasing each year. Twenty-seven exhibitors contracted for floor space to give talks and demonstrations on what they offer to the third largest industry in the United States.

Plane Crash

course, officials asserted. Harold Crary, U.A.L. vice president, described the crash as the line's first accident on the Newark-Cleveland run in 44,000 trips in the last 11 years.

Describes Crash

Joseph Rades, who lives near the crash scene, reported the plane was in flames and flying low as it roared over his home, half a mile from a wooded ravine in which it crashed.

Rades said the airliner was "absolutely demolished—not a thing was left of it but wreckage.

"I was seated on the porch at home when I heard the plane's motors. It flew so low, I knew the pilot must have been in trouble, but the motors didn't seem to be missing.

Flames Shoot High

"As it passed over I saw it was in flames. For a moment, I was afraid it was going to strike the house. Shortly after it roared past I heard a crash.

"I ran to the ravine, where I could see flames above the low trees. The fire was so high I couldn't get close."

The crash occurred in a sparsely settled section near Independence village, a suburb, ten miles south of the center of Cleveland. The ship was headed toward the Cleveland airport about eight miles west.

Whole Section Afire

Special Policeman James Walter of neighboring Garfield Heights village said the whole front section of the ship was afire.

James Doran, an eyewitness, reported that he saw the plane cruising about fifty feet above the ground with all lights on as though seeking a place to land.

"Suddenly fire broke out amidships," he said, "and the plane crashed. It almost hit my barn. I ran toward the wreck. The plane was demolished and burning."

Let's Look At Alcatraz

WITHOUT advocating in any degree the coddling of criminals, there seems justification to wonder at times whether life in Alcatraz, the nation's so-called "Devil's island," is not more of a living hell than would meet the approval of the humanitarian instincts of even the "hardest-boiled" law-abiding citizen.

Cognizance is taken in this statement of the fact that Alcatraz prison is the place designed for keeping the worst, the most dangerous and the most incorrigible criminals. Many of them considered themselves fortunate to escape the gallows, the gas chamber or the electric chair. Theoretically, most of them deserve the most severe punishment that can be meted to them. Theoretically, they are due no sympathy.

Thus no law-abiding citizen could frown upon an iron discipline for them. No one wants them to have an easy time of it in prison. Yet, at the same time, no humanitarian would endorse the kind of discipline and punishment within the walls which drives even criminals insane; which "cracks" their brains to such an extent that they deliberately will seek death in preference to a longer continuation behind those walls

Perhaps the discipline in Alcatraz does not exceed the bounds of reason. There have been evidences, however, that it does. Recent attempts at escape, for example, have supplied some of the evidences because the prisoners undoubtedly know better than anyone on the outside could just how forlorn is their hope of success. Yet, intermittently such chances are taken—chances that even a sane criminal would hardly take.

THEN there is an indicator even more convincing. That is the almost absolute censorship which surrounds Alcatraz. What goes on there is known to a very few—and those few would not tell of improper doings because they would suffer if knowledge of inhumanity or brutality became public property. Even the prisoners released from Alcatraz have little to say, and in at least a few cases, their silence could be explained by fear of reprisals if they talked.

It, of course, is supposed to be true—certainly it is a fact proclaimed by those having to do with the operation of the prison—that the personnel there is hand-picked; that only the very best men are assigned to duty on the island. It goes without saying that one of the essential qualifications of those "best" men is that they be extremely "hard boiled." That, perhaps, is as it should be. But the secrecy of what goes on within the walls recalls that savage third-degree methods were accepted police practice throughout the nation until public indignation put a stop to it.

Repeating that we do not suggest that Alcatraz prisoners should be allowed to forget for an instant that they are being punished, let us consider for an instant the case of the French "Devil's island" off the South American coast.

There the punishment of prisoners became so atrocious that it still is a blot upon the name of France. Let us guard against allowing the name, "Alcatraz," becoming a stain upon mercy in the United States.

Rewards Help, Sometimes

MANY parents and school teachers frown on the methods of a New Jersey druggist who offered a free ice cream soda to each pupil in a nearby school who received an "A" grade in deportment.

But regardless of what the attitude may be toward the sodas, parents and teachers might do well to ponder the results of that offer. Of the 250 pupils in the school, 110—a record number—qualified for and demanded their reward. The prospect of a soda doubtless was responsible for a number of "A" ratings which otherwise might not have been so high.

Thus is demonstrated the value of something good to eat or drink, something to appeal to the stomach, to inspire youngsters—those say between the ages of one and 100—to do better things. It is a condition which may demonstrate just how thin is the veneer of civilization, but nonetheless it is a fact. It is an idea which might be capitalized to advantage elsewhere.

The One-Minute Sermon

Deliver me from bloodguiltiness, O God, thou God of my salvation and my tongue shall sing aloud of thy righteousness.

O Lord, open thou my lips; and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise.

For thou desirest not sacrifice; else would I give it; thou delightest not in burnt offerings.—Psalms 51: 14-16.

AVALANCHE EDIT CHAPTER 17. WED MAY 25—TRIAL FLIGHT .. CAST OF CHARACTERS

JACKIE DUNN — heroine; she wanted to fly.

ROGER BRECKNER — hero; he wanted to test the stratosphere.

BERYL MELROSE—wealthy widow; she wanted Roger.

EVELYN LA FARGE — Jackie's mother; she wanted a son-in-law.

Yesterday; Jackie decides to go to Roger and new hope shines for her in the gravest crisis of her life.

CHAPTER XVII

John Paul Scott not only chartered a private plane so that Jackie could fly to Roger, but he took Jackie to the airport, saw to it that she had every comfort, and even offered, at the last moment, to go with her.

"See here, Miss Jacqueline," he said in his deliberate, precise way, "it does not seem right, a young girl like you, starting off on such a jorney alone. I shall be glad to accompany you, if you wish me too, my dear. Of course, it would be too much for your dear mother.'

Jackie smiled at the idea of Evelyn, who had never put foot in a plane, undertaking such a trip. But she was touched at Mr. Scott's suggestion. Why, he wasn't such an impossible person after all! He was human, understanding, kind, underneath his polished exterior. Perhaps she would not mind having to call him "father" some day.

"Thank you just the same," she said, "but I wouldn't think of asking you to go with me. I know what an extremely busy man you are. I appreciate, oh! much more than I ever can tell you, all that you have done for me. And I don't mind going alone. Not the least bit. I shall be quite all right, truly I shall."

"I expect you will," Mr. Scott said. He shook hands gravely. "Young girls do such remarkable things these days. Young men, too. Take that young man of yours—he's got a great deal of courage, so much, my dear, that he is bound to pull through. He'll get places—I see that now—without any help from me!" There actually was a twinkle in Mr. Scott's eyes, as he said this; Jackie knew he was recalling the dinner party when he had offered to help Roger, and Roger's indignant reply that he would not accept charity.

Mr. Scott had soared clear up to the sky again, in Jackie's estimation. He appreciated Roger, all right. He had paid a fine compliment to his courage. Jackie surprised both herself and Mr. Scott by turning before she got into the plane, that stood ready to take off now, to throw him a kiss from her fingertips. "Good-by," she called. "And thank you again. A million times!"

Mr. Scott so far forgot his dignity as to run a few steps, bareheaded, hat in hand, beside the plane—and to throw Jackie a kiss in return.

Even when the plane had left the ground, soaring up, up into the clouds, Jackie, looking back, could see him standing, waving his hat frantically, until Mr. Scott, and the airport, and the earth itself, became so small as to be almost indistinguishable, only a blurred unreality.

The ship kept steadily climbing higher, passing through a bank of lovely whipped-cream clouds, until they lay, like a foamy ocean of fluffy white spray beneath, separating the plane from the world below, shutting it out completely.

It was the most beautiful sight Jackie ever had seen, riding over the tops of the clouds, watching the tiny dark shadow of the plane cast on them, following along, so that it seemed indeed as though the world had been left behind.

Fear and doubt and anxiety dropped from Jackie's heart, as well. They could not exist in such a clean, celestial world, bathed in pure sublimity. She knew that Roger would live. He could not die. As Mr. Scott had said, Roger's courage was too big—he was bound to pull through.

Would he be glad when he knew that she had flown to him? Would Roger know that she loved him now, had always loved him? If she had not been such a blind little fool! Oh! she would prove her love, she would make him see how big it was. She would try to match his wonderful courage, be worthy of him. For now, this Jackie who had grown up, knew that she would be content just to spend all the rest of her life in loving Roger, belonging to him. She no longer wanted to do something big and important in itself—her old cry and protest. Just loving Roger would be big enough to fill all her days. That was all she wanted from life now.

The plane was beginning to nose down; the lovely clouds had drifted away. The green earth with its hills and valleys, its tiny villages and rivers—and there in the distance, puffing along in absurd miniature, a toy train—was spread out, like a symmetrical map.

They were to land at Kylertown. Jackie found that Mr. Scott had wired ahead for a car to be on hand to meet the plane and to take her the rest of the way. In a short while now she would be at Roger's side. Another wire had made reservation for her at the closest hotel; her baggage could be taken there, but she would not lose even that much time, but would go direct to the hospital.

This last part of the jorney was the most tedious. It seemed to Jackie now that she was so near her journey's end, it would never really come. The minutes dragged by painful degrees, delaying progress. Anxiety rose in her heart once more, so that she was filled with a a feverish impatience, her whole self actually trembling perceptibly.

But all journeys must have an ending. This one came at last. Jackie went up the steps that led to the hospital, opened the heavy door. At the receptionist's desk she gave her name, asked if she might see Roger as soon as possible.

"If you'll sit down and wait a few minutes," the young woman at the desk said, with a brisk, efficient smile, "I'll see." She led the way into the waiting room.

Oh, didn't she know that each added minute was an eternity!

This eternity, too, came to an end. A stiffly starched nurse bore down on Jackie, indicating with a nod of her head, that Jackie was to follow her. "We were expecting you," she said.

Apparently Mr. Scott had not overlooking anything. Jackie wondered how he had managed to accomplish so much within such a short while.

The hospital was shrouded in that muffled silence that somehow always seems more still, more ominous than any other silence, the long narrow corridors were empty and silent, too, save for muffled noises, lowered tones, that came mysteriously, one knew not how near tragedy, from behind the closed doors. The strong sickly-sweet odor of disinfectant hung heavy on the air.

Before such a door the nurse finally paused. She turned, before opening it, "I must warn you," she cautioned in a low monotone, "not to excite our patient. This is the first day he has been himself. You must be very careful."

"Oh, I promise. . . . I'll be very careful, indeed!" Jackie returned.

But when the door was opened and she caught her first glimpse of Roger, lying so quiet and white in the high narrow bed, his head swathed in bandages, his eyes closed, it was not so easy to keep her word. She wanted to cry out his name, to run to him, throw herself on her knees down by his side.

It took all the self control she could summon to walk quietly across that little room, to lean down, to murmur his name, "Roger . . . it's Jackie. I . . . I've come to see you."

She saw his eyelids flutter open, recognition dawn slowly in them, his lips twist in an attempt to smile. He looked so unlike the Roger she once knew, gay, laughing, strong and brown and vital, that shocked despair seized her, filling her with an enormous pity. The taste of salt was strong on her lips.

She turned away for a moment . . . she must get hold of herself . . . she must be brave. . . .

It was only then that she saw that another woman was in the room—Beryl Melrose, stepping beside her, slipping an arm around her waist.

Planning Session Is Arranged On Friday

A mass meeting will be held Friday night at 8 o'clock in the east ballroom of Lubbock hotel to attempt to revive city planning for Lubbock, according to announcement at the chamber of commerce Tuesday.

Principal speaker will be Major A. E. Wood, director of the state planning board, who is to explain the law as applied to city planning.

Major Wood has accepted an invitation to arrive here a day in advance of the monthly meeting Saturday of the state planning board of which A. H. Leidigh, dean of agriculture at Texas Technological college, is a member.

Details Being Arranged

Those associated in arranging details are George M. Garrett, division engineer of the state highway department and president of the technical club, O. V. Adams, dean of engineering at Tech. and O. A. St. Clair, chairman of the city planning committee of the technical club.

One phase of the law to be explained by Major Wood and one which may citizens misunderstand, according to those in charge, is that any city plan for Lubbock concerns only the future. Many seem under the impression, it was explained, that adoption of city planning would force the razing of many existing buildings. That cannot be done, chamber officials said.

Letters of invitation to attend the Friday night meeting were prepared for mailing Wednesday.

The gathering will attempt to revive a movement to create a city planning commission which seemingly was assured of success when the 1929 depression brought an abrupt halt to activities.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

FOREIGN nations, for perhaps the first time, have fallen down on their most important diplomatic front—the American capital—at the very moment when they should be making their best bid for Washington's backing. The prestige and influence of their representatives here are incredibly low.

The diplomatic dean—Sir Ronald Lindsay of Great Britain—has been reported ready for retirement because of his minor but discernible blunders. He has pressed the Roosevelt administration so hard for vocal endorsement of the Chamberlain government that he has lost his usefulness for the future. Japan's Saito has alienated powerful interests by his satirical, cold-blooded attitude toward Tokyo's Chinese invasion. German Ambassador Dieckhoff is new and inexperienced. So is Monsieur St. Quentin from Paris. Most of them rub the American people—and officials—the wrong way. Mussolini's man—Fulvio Suvich—is hideawaying.

It's the fashion to belittle this country's foreign representatives. In the past they have consisted of political contributors or personal pets of the man in the White House. But with a few exceptions, Mr. Roosevelt's appointees and promotions have raised the standard of our foreign service. They can look the world in the face, for they don't owe any man—which is more than their diplomatic opposite numbers can say.

CREDIT: A private check of China's financial resources in the United States has appalled secret sleuths of the Japanese government. Every Chinese laundryman is contributing his shirt to his country's war chest—and perhaps the customers' shirts, too.

It is understood here that millions of dollars have been deposited to Chiang Kai-Shek's credit in American banks, chiefly New York and San Francisco. There are numerous Chinese millionaires in the United States, and they have vied with hard-working natives of the lower brackets to rush financial aid to the home folks. The same unity of spirit which has transformed this peaceful people into a fighting race prevails here. It is estimated that their credit here and in other countries, particularly Great Britain, at least matches Japan's.

The diplomatic intelligence services of western nations are aware of China's financial reserves throughout the world. The Chinese have seen to that. And since wars are won with money as well as men, of which China has plenty, the knowledge explains why Washington and London and Paris are making sentimental bets on the apparent underdog.

REQUISITE: Experienced Congressional leaders discount the temporary revival of Roosevelt prestige on Capitol Hill. It's a human rather than a political reaction, and will probably exercise no lasting influence on party or legislative policies

Long before the Florida primary the get-together spirit was animating recalcitrant Democrats, as Whirligig reported at the time. After repelling the White House on tax and reorganization schemes, the leaders begged young blades to take it easy. They didn't want to discredit the President or themselves. The net result of the treat-him-nice movement will be scanty—at the most an innocuous wage-hour law (that's not sure) and a skimpy reorganization makeshift. You can discount enactment of the recovery bill, for no Congress ever voted against dishing out cash to constituents.

The presidential gain will be psychological rather than practical. It will permit him to argue that he still controls Congress and his party—that he has not failed as a leader of men. But unless he can lead men back to work between now and November, the politicos will desert, again. They're still in a rebellious mood.

ENTRENCHED: Alf Landon has struck a hot issue in his demand that F.D.R. discard Mayor Frank Hague as vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Capitol Hill mailbags bulge with denunciations of the Jerseyman's dictatorial attitude and contempt for the crowd.

Even Friend Farley is worried. His attitude is that Frank is a fine fellow, but sometimes he goes too far—loses his head. To be fair, neither Mr. Roosevelt nor Mr. Farley has the authority to fire Hague from his political office. That power is vested in the committee itself. But if the President asked Mr. Farley to call them together, and let it be known that the tough mayor was persona non grata, there would be a gentle decapitation—or maybe a resignation. Hague could hardly laugh at such a petition. Yet he might.

It won't be done, however. Hague will have New Jersey's delegation in his vest pocket when he attends the 1940 convention. He will also decide whether Jersey will vote Republican or Democrat. So he can kill wage-hour bills and suppress free speech so long as he controls the votes. It's only one of many embarrassments the New Deal suffers from having given so many hostages to the bosses in 1932 and 1936—Pendergast, Nash-Kelley, etc.

LIMIT: Several Congressmen with a sense of humor are framing a bill to restrict the literary output of appointive or elected federal officials. They don't know yet whether they mean business or not, but the idea is gaining puckish support on Capitol Hill.

The itching fingers of political litterateurs who never wrote a book or magazine article have provoked less fortunate officials. The latter think that writing for profit while in office tends to lower the dignity of the government. They have no complaint against memoirs published after the author quits public life, but they believe that he should devote all his time to his duties so long as he is on the public payroll.

Under the contemplated scheme there would be no complete ban on afterhours writing. The idea seems to be to restrict the amount which an official could sell in one year to a maximum. The amount suggested is $2,500—the same sun, incidentally, which a Congressman can spend for election costs under the corrupt practices act.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

WELL-POSTED New Yorkers were seriously concerned last week about reports that President Roosevelt might veto the new tax bill. It is known that he isn't at all pleased with it despite the face-saving compromise between House and Senate conferees that retained the principle of the undistributed profits tax.

The President remains thoroughly sold on this levy, more as a means of forcing the distribution of corporate wealth than as a revenue-raiser. Its drastic modification by Congress as a concession to encourage business is a distasteful dose for him to swallow. There is little doubt that he would personally prefer to leave the business morale, wrecking all hopes of peace and understanding between the administration and private enterprise.

According to financial men with first-rate Washington contacts, Mr. Roosevelt was tempted to consider this dramatic challenge to Congress and business by Senator Pepper's sweeping triumph in the Florida primary. He was inclined to construe it as a popular mandate to stick to his original program, regardless of conservative moans and curses. New York leaders hope that the Pennsylvania primary results will tone done his reactions.

ROLE: Mussolini was sparring with ghosts when he recently proclaimed that the dictator nations would fight together to the end if the democratic countries attempted to interfere with their ambitions by force of arms. The democracies are most unlikely to do so—least of all Great Britain.

Britain is trying to put up a bold front to cover a hollow shell. Her economic situation is bad and getting worse. Her armament program is nowhere near as advanced as feverish publicity would indicate. The bonds of empire are of questionable strength. She must avoid war at all costs.

Her role, as Chamberlain and his backers see it, is to be middleman and banker for the Rome-Berlin axis—at a profit, of course—not to sling rocks at dictators' windows.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"Here's the key to our house, Mrs. Boggs. Wag's food is in the pantry. Don't forget the canary—and defrost the refrigerator, sprinkle the lawn and forward our mail. Are you sure it's no trouble?"

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says there are two classes of citizens: those who raise a great fuss about things that can't be helped—and those who are in the saddle.

Upon Mayor La Guardia's triumpant return from Oklahoma and West Texas, a New York newspaper cracked:

"We don't know how large the cowboy vote is in the five boroughs of Greater New York, but whatever it is, Mayor La Guardia seems to have it corraled for the next election.

SPEAKING of Mayor La Guardia, we learn of a rumor "down state" that the fiery New Yorker "is being considered for the presidency of the University of Texas."

That rumor is a bright and shining example of how foolish rumors can be; of how someone can have a brainstorm, repeat it and then see how it spreads.

In all fairness to the mayor of New York, he probably wouldn't want the presidency of the University of Texas—or of any university, anywhere.

No dummy, Mayor La Guardia knows he is not fitted for such a post, and has reason to believe that the field of politics offers him much more than any other field. That's why The Plainsman is sure that La Guardia wouldn't touch the university presidency with a 10-foot pole—even if were offered him.

BUT there is another side to the story, too.

While The Plainsman looks with askance at a lot of the actions of the "university gang" and the board of regents of the institution, he or no one else can say that the gold-plated, diamond-studded college at Austin is in the hands of goofs. No, sir. Smart men guide the destinies of the university, and if you don't believe it, look how the big school is getting away with 99 per cent of the grapes.

It is foolish to think for a minute that the regents of Texas U. would offer the presidency to a politician who has had no experience along that line.

While they may go out of the state for a successor to the late, great Dr. "Benny" Benedict, even that is not necessary.

There are men right here in Texas with the background and experience to capably fill the position—much more eligible than New York's mayor or anyone else of his type.

Therefore, you can mark it down on your cuff that the "down state" rumor is as screwy as a $2 watch.

That Man on Avenue Q says if the people who hate debt were placed end to end, they would issue bonds for something.

ALL of us, upon occasion, are approached by individuals who seek to sell us something which, they solemnly assure us, "has no commercial background."

The woods are full of persons who are operating enterprises which are, to hear them tell it, "solely to do a service to mankind."

Well, maybe The Plainsman is unduly cynical about such things.

But when a guy comes along just to do us an "essential service", we start looking at the hole card.

Just the other day a fellow was in the office with one of those "services" which "meant nothing to him except the opportunity of doing us good."

As he got into his spell, we did just what we do when some guy starts preaching about his ethics.

We put our hand on our pocketbook—and kept it there until he got out of the office.

WE couldn't help but note that the great "humanitarian service" he was promoting was backed by expensive brochures.

Neither could we help but notice that the price he quoted for doing us good was considerably higher than it needed to be.

So we politely, but firmly, declined to be done good by.

And we've felt pretty good about it ever since.

Beware of the fellow who claims his sole aim in life is to dance through daisies, spreading joy and comfort and "with no thought to himself."

There may be a few who are sincere in such matters but they are far between.

Most of us—and rightly so—want to do a service for the other fellow in our business transactions, but we also want to help ourselves.

And the majority of people who claim otherwise are merely sailing under false colors.

THE other day The Plainsman was discussing the West Texas-New Mexico baseball league with a couple of his boys.

One is on his way to 11 years; the other is halfway between 6 and 7.

"Who do you want to see win?" we asked them, more to make conversation than for any other reason

"Lubbock!" cried the older one, who has reached the normal American stage of pride in ownership, quasi-ownership and association. "I'm for Lubbock!"

"Who are you for, Punkin" we asked the younger one.

He thought a moment and replied with a grin:

"I'm for the winner!"

It occurred to The Plainsman that the woods are full of people who are always for "the winner."

It is a matter of record that the temptation to join the crowd, to climb aboard the bandwagon, to get into the parade boosting that which is popular, is more than many of us can avoid.

Human nature, it seems, would much rather ride a winner than go down with a loser, even though in our hearts we know that the loser represents a principle much more admirable than that of the winner.

IT'S pretty easy to sacrifice principle to avoid criticism or defeat.

But anybody can do that.

Someone once said, "Only the game fish swim upstream", and he was right.

Anyone can climb on a bandwagon but only a few will march ahead, flags flying and bands playing, in the face of unpopularity and rigid opposition.

The political campaign hasn't gone far enough yet for this to crop up.

But it won't be long before you'll be hearing people say:

"I'd vote for Blank, because he's the best man and his platform is more sensible. But his opponent is going to win and I don't want to waste my vote. So I guess I can't vote for Blank."

The Plainsman doesn't know why expressing a choice in a political race could be constrained to mean "wasting a vote."

The principle of democratic government rests upon the ideal of the individual citizen expressing a preference—not upon his trying to guess which man will win, and then voting for him.

THIS world, this nation, this state would all be better off if the people everywhere would forget about the winners and support the thing and the men they have reason to believe are right.

But very often it is costly to stick with principle.

So maybe it's asking too much of human nature to suggest that it do so, come what may.

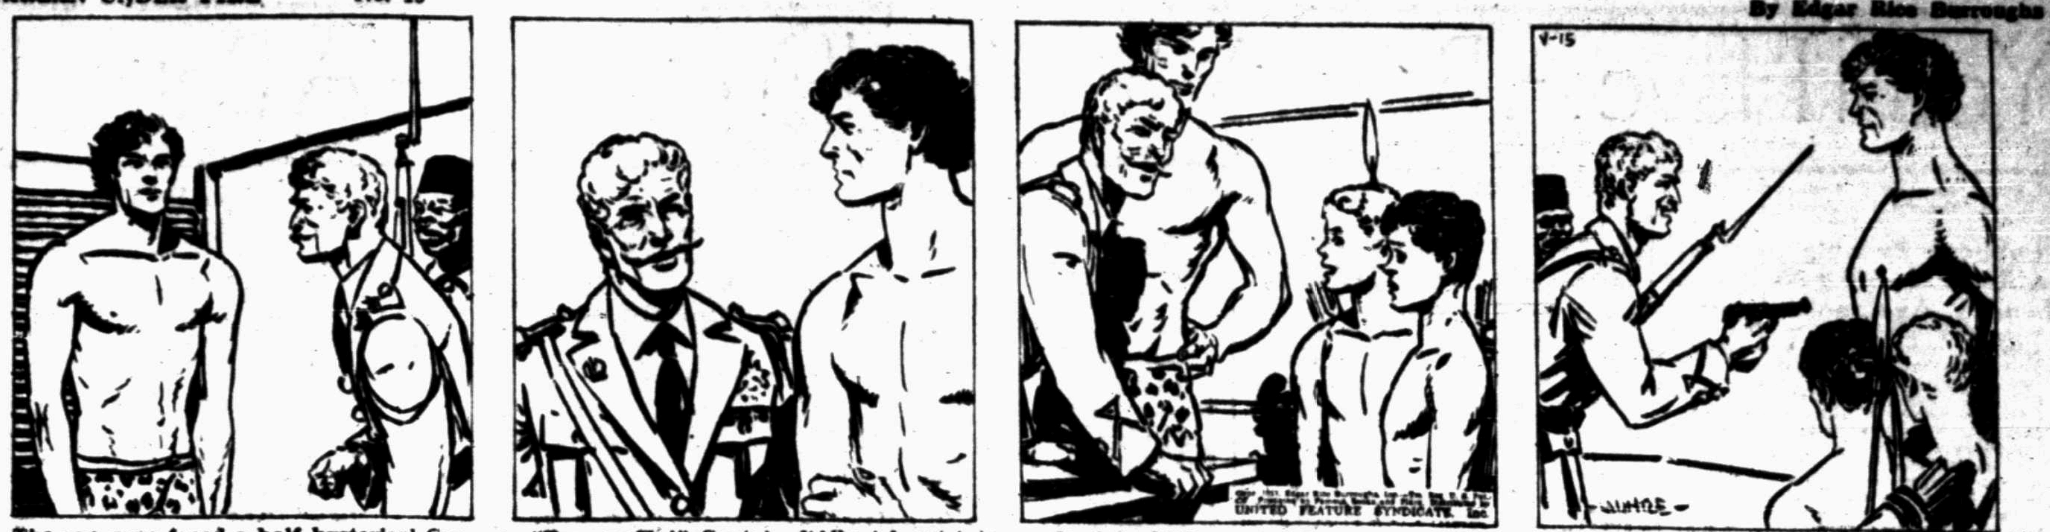
TARZAN UNDER FIRE No. 15 By Edgar Rice Burroughs



The ape-man faced a half-hysterical Captain d'Albert, shouting, pleading: "Give me back my child!" The prisoner drew himself up majestically. "I am no kidnaper. I am Tarzan of the Apes—in England, a peer; in Africa, an honest creature of the wilderness."

"Tarzan, Ha!" Captain d'Albert burst into a shrill laugh. "There is no such person. Tarzan is an invention of the ignorant jungle folk, a legend." Dick could hold his tongue no longer. "He is, too, Tarzan," the youngster declared defiantly; "he's our cousin."

Captain d'Albert considered the two wild-looking lads. They, too, he surmised, had probably been kidnaped, or had abandoned their homes to follow this jungle tramp, under the illusion that he was really the mighty Tarzan, hero of many a thrilling adventure.

Somehow, Captain d'Albert felt, he must pry the truth from this white savage. Suddenly, in a fit of grief-begotten madness, he whipped out his revolver and leveled it at Tarzan's breast. "Tell me where is my child, or I'll put a bullet through you!"

YOUNG Jersey Heifer, fresh, giving 3½ gallons a day. No. 1. Price Is Reasonable. 1112 Ave. P.

FOR SALE: 100 to 300 high grade Rambouilet ewes. Solid mouthes, fat, ready to buck, $4.00 per head. R. E. Davis, 2150 Swenson street, Abilene, Texas.

GOOD team six-year-old horses. "kinda snorty." A. L. Payne, Lubbock, Rt. 6.

CHOICE dairy heifers $8.00. Registered bulls. Shawnee Dairy Cattle Co., San Antonio, Texas.

Closing of this week found us with numerous order buyers, but not enough good butcher cattle were included in this week's offerings to supply their needs.

The trade interests are generally agreeable on the one point that values are 25 to 50c higher for the week.

With prices advancing sharply, as they are now doing, we are expecting you to bring us in good butcher cattle so that we can fill our buyers' orders.

With our sales—both Tuesday and Friday—beginning at 10:00 a. m. it enables you to get your stock sold and collected for at much earlier hour than was the case in the past when the sales started at 1:00 p. m.

We have the buyers—you bring us the cattle, and we feel sure you will be pleased with the returns your cattle will bring you.

Attendance Awards Are Given Lions

Attendance awards to 21 members of the Lions club for having perfect attendance between Sept. 1 last year and April 30, this year, were made by Lions International and distributed yesterday by C. A. Sanford in a special ceremony at the luncheon in the Hilton hotel. Four of the recipients were absent.

Sanford also presented a key pin to Campbell Elkins for securing two new members. V. H. Moore, secretary, pointed out Elkins had been reported to Lions International one month and the next as a key member. T. H. Pipkin was received as a new member.

H. J. Bingham, second vice president, was in charge in the absence of President W. H. Evans, in San Antonio attending a state Lions meeting. A message was received from him.

Earl Ince was program chairman. W. E. (Highpockets) Overton and his orchestra presented a program of music which included four selections by the group, a jig, three piano solos by Overton and a combination song and orchestra number.

W. B. Irvin reported that Prof. B. F. Fronabarger, Canyon, who spoke at the recent Lions convention, was injured on his return to his home, at Plainview. A blood transfusion was necessary. The secretary was instructed to write a letter of thanks and appreciation to him for his work.

SELLING UNDERMINES MARKET

NEW YORK, May 24. (AP)—Late selling undermined the stock market today after early attempts at a rally had met with little success.

Minor gains and losses were about evenly divided until the final hour when a revival of European war fears and lack of substantial hopefulness in domestic trade developments prompted speculative quarters to lighten commitments.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .5 of a point at 38.6. Transfers totaled 416,700 shares compared with 328,020 yesterday which was the smallest aggregate in around 4 years.

Selected steels tilted forward in initial dealings, along with favored coppers, utilities, rails and specialties. Few were able to emerge with advances.

In addition to other factors, brokers thought the recent slide of major commodities had much to do with cooling sentiment for stocks.

The battle over the wage-hour and pump-priming measures in congress was also seen as a buying restraint.

Conspicuous losers included U. S. Steel at 41⅞, Bethlehem 43½, Chrysler 41⅜, Sears Roebuck 53¼, International Harvester 51¼, Douglas Aircraft 43⅛, Texas Corp. 35⅜, Anaconda 24½, Kennecott 30⅛, Westinghouse 74¾, Union Carbide 65 and Du Pont 98⅜.

Most rails and utilities held set-backs to small amounts. Retaining modest advances were U. S. Gypsum at 69¾, American Can 86½, and Pacific Gas 26½.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, May 24. (AP) — Cotton prices slipped off to the lowest levels since the start of the year today under persistent foreign liquidation and local selling. The close was barely steady at net decline of 14 to 16 points.

Lower foreign markets and favorable weather in the belt appeared to be the only incentives behind the desire to liquidate while buying was held in check by the growing tension abroad and disappointing reports from textile markets.

Last prices were at the bottom with July at 8.48, Oct. at 8.55@8.56, Dec. at 8.58, Jan. at 8.58, March at 8.62-bid and May at 8.68-bid.

Spots were barely steady and middling eased 17 points to 8.50. Sales totaled 664 bales.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 24. (AP) — Cotton eased to the lowest levels since January today under foreign selling and tired long liquidation. October declined from 8.54@8.43 and closed at 8.44, with final quotations 12 to 16 points net lower.

The market opened 4 to 7 points lower in response to easiness of foreign markets. Temporary resistance at these levels as trade buying at limits and scattered local and New Orleans buying, appeared, was overcome as foreign selling, especially from Bombay, persisted. Early buyers resold on the more favorable weather in the south and as prices sagged into new low ground for the movement, old longs sold out.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, May 24. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 8.41 cents a pound, average for the past thirty market days 8.73 cents a pound.

The prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, delivered Lubbock. Grain—S. E. Cone Grain and Seed company. Following prices being bid by Lubbock grain dealers. Cotton—Blocker Cotton company. All prices subject to change during day.

Class To Be Given In Homes Of Students Started Here

A class which will be given in the homes of the students was opened yesterday at the Junior High school by Isle Wolf and Pauline Hooser, both teachers in that school. About 40 students registered for the course and will be under the direction of the two teachers for two weeks. During that time a project will be started that will be carried on in the individual students home for the next two and one-half months.

Miss Wolf will be at the school again today to register any other girl who would like to enter. Prerequisite for the course is at least the first course in Homemaking that is offered in the Lubbock public schools.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 24. (AP)—Despite renewal of war tension in Europe, Chicago wheat prices plunged down 2⅜ cents a bushel today to fresh 4-year bottom records.

Unexpected sharp breaks in Liverpool quotations, together with official announcement Great Britain had acquired vast secret reserve stores of wheat and other foodstuffs, preceded the market tumbles here. Another factor tending to depress Chicago values was apparent absence of any worthwhile North American export business.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1¼ to 2⅛ cents lower compared with 73⅜@73¼, corn ⅜ to ⅞ down, May 56½@56⅜, July 57⅜@57¾, oats ⅛ to ⅜ off, rye showing ⅞ to 2½ drop, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents fall.

Naturalization For Four Administered

Four former British subjects at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon denounced their mother country and swore allegiance to the United States in naturalization proceedings in Federal court.

Applicants were Myrtle Marie Roberts of Levelland, Leonard Rosslyn Day, a military instructor at Texas Technological college; Albert Lieske of Crosbyton, and Bernard W. Kieran of Lubbock.

The oath was a mere formality, all the applicants having been examined by federal authorities prior to the hearing and sworn statements have been taken from witnesses.

Kieran, who until recently did not know he was not a citizen, told authorities he had been voting since the election in which Benjamin Harrison was elected president. He said he voted for Harrison.

He said his parents were naturalized when he was an infant, and he thought he automatically became a citizen. Kieran was the construction engineer when the Crosby county court house was constructed a quarter of a century ago.

Lubbock's Mail Sets A Record

Surpassing the record of any other week in the history of the postoffice here, 5,770 pieces of mail, was Lubbock's contribution to the success of national airmail week, Postmaster Amos Howard advised the chamber of commerce Tuesday morning.

Of that total, 4,546 pieces were mailed here Thursday, when airmail test planes connected Lubbock with trans-continental lines at Amarillo, Big Spring and San Antonio. Of that mail, 226 pieces were mailed too late to be placed aboard the special planes.

To Attend Meeting

Announcement also was made that C. E. Maedgen, chairman of the chamber's aviation committee, and Dick Shinkle, secretary, will go to Big Spring Wednesday for a special meeting of representatives of cities along the route of a proposed airline from Amarillo to San Antonio serving Lubbock, Big Spring and San Angelo.

They are to complete a brief to be presented in person to officials of the postoffice department in Washington May 31 or June 1 urging that a mail contract be awarded for such a line.

Each city is to be represented on the Washington committee. They are to travel by plane, leaving from Dallas Saturday, it was announced.

Candidates For Office Are To Open Drives Within Few Days

District, county and precinct office candidates will open campaigns in earnest in a few days.

Announcement of three speaking dates and of three picnics, at each of which rival aspirants may stick a tentative toe into the political waters and test early temperatures, was made this morning by G. V. Pardue, Lubbock attorney who has been named chairman of the democratic candidates bloc and charged with arranging for speaking engagements.

Shot and shell will fly first the night of June 15 at Posey, he said. June 20 candidates will mount the stump at Becton, June 22 at Roosevelt.

Picnics will be the night of June 30 at Carlisle park, between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh streets; the night of July 7 at Pioneer park, between Sixth and Seventh streets, and the night of July 14 at Mackenzie state park.

Of immediate concern is the slowness with which communities have indicated their wishes for specific dates to entertain candidates, said Pardue.

"I should appreciate early communications designating dates such communities would like to have the candidates," he said.

Was Unable To Work Before The Gly-Cas

Had Been Confined To Bed Five Months With Dreadful Rheumatism, Now Every Ache And Pain Gone; Feeling Fine

"Gly-Cas gave me the results I had hoped for all of these years and was unable to find in any other medicine," said Mr. A. H. Witter, 105 Brush St., Austin, Texas. "My health had been a "wreck" for the past two years and I had been unable to work all this time. For five months rheumatism crippled me so I was confined to bed. For eight months I had been unable to raise my hand to my shoulders. My system was so full of poison that my kidneys were soon affected, up all hours of the night and sleep was impossible. All I could see ahead of me was continued suffering — until I was persuaded to give this new Gly-Cas a trial—it was wonderful.

MR. A. H. WITTER

"Gly-Cas wasted no time in going to the very source of my health troubles," continued Mr. Witter. "The poisons were quickly driven from my system, that dreadful rheumatism has been relieved, every ache and pain has gone and I can get around with ease. I actually feel well and ready to work again. My kidneys have been regulated, I sleep the entire night through and my former strength and energy has been restored. Gly-Cas is the very medicine I should have had years before."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

Committee To Plan Memorial Day Observance Is Chosen

A joint committee to arrange memorial day observance here Monday was announced Tuesday by A. C. Jackson, commander of Allen Bros. American Legion post, and Terrell H. St. Clair, commander of Lubbock Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Members of the committee are Dr. C. B. Qualia, R. W. Wright, W. E. Lavender, C. E. Lenning and H. D. Woods.

Another committee headed by George Berry is to be named to work with the Legion auxiliary in arranging a program for a special joint meeting Monday night.

While program for the Memorial day activities is yet to be completed, in general outline it probably will include a brief service at Allen Bros. hall Monday morning, the decoration of the graves of all ex-service men of all wars and the firing of a salute over one grave chosen as the exemplification of all.

Travel Over Mexico Highway Is Reported To Be Safe

LAREDO, May 24. (AP)—Tourists arriving here from Mexico City via the Pan-American highway reported normal travel conditions and showed little concern over rebel activities in San Luis Potosi.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Douglas of Omaha, Neb., arrived last night and telegraphed relatives their trip was normal. H. E. Johnson and his family, Mexico City residents, and Mrs. Curtis Vinson of Mexico City, wife of a former Texas newspaperman, reported similarly after crossing the international bridge.

Juan Frias, manager of the Monterrey Chamber of Commerce, reported the "highway safe in every particular" and added his organization would warn motorists if there was the slightest doubt as to their safety.

Tendency Toward Bureaucracy Scored By John Lee Smith

MEXIA, May 24. (AP)—John Lee Smith, candidate for lieutenant governor, in a speech here today scored what he termed a tendency away from democracy toward bureaucracy.

"It is the same process that has destroyed popular government in other times," he declared.

Electric eels have to keep their batteries charged. Their power to shock is exhausted easily and must be built up by rest and food.

Whether you're talking across the street or to San Francisco, it doesn't "just happen" that you hear clearly and easily over the telephone. One reason you can do it: Western Electric telephones, precision manufactured for the entire Bell System, are the same all over the country.
