MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

By H. N. F.

Former Congressman Scott Ferris of the Sixth Oklahoma district may be the successor of the Hon. George E. White of Ohio as chairman of the National Democratic Committee. This is the gossip of the corridors of the national capital. George E. White may be the democratic nominee for governor of Ohio. National Committeeman Thomas B. Love of Texas favored a change in the chairmanship and the reorganization of the committee as well as of the party but as Love is a candidate for United States senator and it is unlikely that he will play a hand in national politics the coming year. Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, and the Hon. Scott Ferris are said to be close friends, and Ferris, should a change be made, will have the support of many southern and western leaders. He was chairman for several years of the Democratic national congressional committee and his services in those years were invaluable to his party. Although defeated for the senatorship in Oklahoma in 1920 there are thousands of Oklahoma democrats who believe that Ferris will come back and that Oklahoma is sure to land the democratic column next year. Ferris is in the prime of life, a capable organizer, an able speaker, has the courage of conviction and all the other elements of leadership.

Texans are ever on the map. W. S. Paddock of Fort Worth, was elected vice-president from Texas of the American Bar Association which held its annual convention in Cincinnati. Vice-presidents of the organization are elected from each of the forty-eight states and Paddock was the choice of Texas. He was told by lawyers from all sections of the country that the business turnover had been reached, that business is increasing in the steel manufacturing districts; that New York bankers are accepting cattle paper more than any other form of security; that Federal Judge Landis' settlement of the wage dispute would stimulate a hundred million dollars worth of building construction which has been held up in the city of Chicago due to strikes and lockouts of the labor organizations. Politically speaking, Mr. Paddock declared that "even those least tied to the administration were inclined to remain quite and give the hundred per cent republican control a chance to accomplish something." Incidentally H. N. F. compliments those "least tied" to the administration for their wise choice. What else is there for the poor democratic girl to do but remain quiet? W. B. Paddock is a native Texan, one of the leaders of the Tarrant county bar, a foremost leader in civic advancement, a champion of educational progress and the son of Former Mayor B. B. Paddock, one of the builders of the West. Texas lawyers made no mistake when they made him vice-president for Texas of the American Bar Association.

This is the view point of the editor of the Abilene Daily Reporter: The Dallas News declares editorially that the movement which West Texas started several years ago to obtain an agricultural and mechanical college, while it failed itself, resulted in a flock of other educational institutions being established by the legislators. Governor Neff, it says, approved an appropriation of $175,000 for the Nacogdoches Normal, which is only 75 miles from a similar institution, but exacted a promise that the money would not be taken from the treasury before 1922. A West Texan would feel at liberty to ask the governor why he killed outright the second West Texas A. & M. bill, instead of holding it in abeyance like the Nacogdoches Normal—also like the senatorial redistricting bill. It probably will do no good to ask. The News has fought valiantly for the West Texas A. & M. in the last campaign. It thought then and it thinks now that West Texas is entitled to this institution. There can be no doubt on that score, but West Texas has not been fortunate in getting what it needs on what it has a right to expect. It must content itself with what ever is doled out to it by the legislature. Why should they content themselves with what is "doled out to them?" Why not re-organize and battle for all which is due them? Men get that which they fight for and if they are intelligent and tenacious fighters they are certain to be generous winners. West Texas should continue to battle for an A. & M. College for the boys of the West when there is fighting to be done get out on the firing line and do it. Only the quiter takes the crumb thrown from the table of the political Lazarus.

A. B. O'Flaherty is the editor and general manager of the Cisco Daily News. This is his leader as it appeared in the Sunday number of his paper: "The First Monday trades idea is again gaining considerable headway in West Texas, says Porter Whaley, of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The plan of having each month a special day when farmers may bring their truck, poultry, stock and the like to town for trading and bargaining purposes—the merchants to have special sales and a public auctioneer to be provided—will undoubtedly promote trade and business and itis also a powerful factor in diversification. The farmer's wife, it is said, is especially fond of the monthly trades day. Some months ago the Retail Merchants association of Cisco named Wednesday of each week as special trades days and, according to Secretary Battaile, many of the merchants participating reported steady increase in trade as a result. This trade increase continued as long

Life's Grim Tragedy Darkens Days of Silver Sheet Comedian

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Rose (Fatty) Arbuckle, defendant in a dramatic police court murder arraignment this morning spent the afternoon at a coroner's inquest into the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, a film actress whose life he is charged with having taken.

Tonight he went back to his cell to await the outcome of a grand jury investigation in which Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont, a member of the party in Arbuckle's hotel suite a week ago from which the death of Miss Rappe ensued, was expected to be the leading witness.

She did not testify at the opening session of the inquest, the district attorney saying that her appearance today previous to the grand jury session would handicap the authorities. Instead the story of Miss Rappe's removal from Arbuckle's suite, her treatment in another hotel room and later at a hospital, her death and the post mortem examination, was told by physicians and others.

Although his part in the affair was the center of interest, he himself was an almost unnoticed figure at the inquest, a sharp contrast to the arraignment where a sea of faces banked the court room like a prize fight arena and a dozen petty law violators pressed unshaven faces against the steel grating of the prisoner's dock.

Describes Actress' Death.

The most vivid account of Miss Rappe's last hours was given before the inquest by Mrs. Sidi Wirt Spreckles, widow of John D. Spreckles, Jr., who was called to the hospital last Friday morning. "To think that I have lived such a quiet life and that I should have gotten into such a party" were among Miss Rappe's last words, Mrs. Spreckles said in a formal statement to district attorney Mathew Brady.

Unable to hide his deep concern, Arbuckle tried to avoid the court ordeal begging that he be allowed to remain in his cell and away from the throng that he was told were pressing against the court doors for a sight of him.

He had a serious, downcast look. He was silent and smoked cigarettes throughout the day.

So long was the process of bringing Arbuckle into court delayed that Police Judge Daniel S. O'Brien demanded that the prisoner be produced.

"I have Arbuckle's case on the calendar," he said, "and he must be brought into the court room. He must accept the same treatment accorded other prisoners.

Finally he came after the usual array of police court cases had been disposed of. As he entered the court room through a side door a battery of flashlights opened upon him. Arbuckle was unmindful of this, but when court advised him that he would have to stand trial on a charge of murder he drooped and his hands trembled.

Woman Accuses Arbuckle.

A few moments, Mrs. Delmont had staggered from the court room after affixing her name to a bit of paper which said that Arbuckle was accused of murdering Miss Rappe and which constituted the formal charge. Only a few hours aways from a sick bed where the tragedy that overwhelmed the party had sent her, she was weak and halting and hardly able for the ordeal. The party in Arbuckle's rooms appeared as the event from which Miss Rapp'e death followed, physicians at the inquest testified, but were unable to say what was the exact cause, whether from injuries or from illness due to excessive use of liquor.

Prohibition authorities began an investigation today, summoning Thomas J. Coleman, manager of the Hotel St. Francis for questioning regarding the liquor said to have been drunk at the party.

Miss Rappe Unconscious.

Harry J. Boyle, assistant manager of the hotel testified at the inquest that when called to Arbuckle's suite he found Mrs. Delmont and Al Seminacher who were said to have accompanied Miss Rappe to San Francisco from Los Angeles sitting on the edge of a bed where Miss Rappe lay moaning and unconscious.

Arbuckle himself picked up Miss Rape and carried her down the hotel corridor to another room where she stayed until being taken to the hospital three days later, according to Boyle's testimony. At the door of this room, however, the film comedian's strength gave out, Boyle said, and Boyle had to complete the journey.

Boyle testified that Arbuckle and another member of the party told him Miss Rappe had only three drinks.

Too much liquor was the diagnosis given by Dr. Olav Kaarboe, the first physician called in, according to Kaarboe's own statement. At that time there was no evidence of serious injury, he said. Dr. M. E. Rumwell testified that he was called into the case to succeed the second physician, Dr. Arthur Beardslee. He said Miss Rappe's condition did not seem serious until Thursday of last week when a consultation was held.

Dr. Rumwell said there was nothing to indicate she had suffered from any violence until the post-mortem examination when he said evidence of internal injury was found.

The inquest will be resumed tomorrow.

Before the inquest Arbuckle's attorneys, learning of the cancellation of the showings of pictures in which the comedian is the star, issued a statement asking the public to withhold judgment until the court has rendered its verdict.

The statement said in part:

"With a full knowledge of our position as attorneys, we assert that Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle is innocent of any and all charges made against him in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe; and that the courts of California will sustain our confidence in his innocence.

"We appeal to conscience and the heart of the American public to hold in abeyance any judgment until the courts have determined upon the guilt or innocence of our client. We, with complete knowledge of all facts, know that he is innocent.

"The patrons of the silent drama, having a knowledge of the smiles and the heart of 'Fatty' Arbuckle will not believe that he is guilty of the charges against him until proved in a court of justice."

The manager of the Hotel St. Francis, where Arbuckle has suite, was ordered today to appear before the district federal prohibition enforcement officer to be questioned regarding liquor said to have been drunk by the Arbuckle party.

BUSINESS IN SOUTH GROWS MUCH BETTER

Treasury and Federal Reserve Board Officials Declare Conditions in Dixieland Improving.

Status Will Be Reflected in Other Sections Through Release of Demand for Cotton Credits.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Conditions throughout the south now reflect a greatly improved tone, officials said tonight, both the treasury and the federal reserve board reporting a lessened demand for credit from that section. The view was expresse by high treasury officials that the purchasing power of the south should be sustained through the winter as a result of the improvement in the cotton market.

Better business in the south, it was asserted could be expected to have its effect upon the country generally and by a reduction in the credit needs of the cotton states makes available more money for other sections. In coal and steel, however, according to the treasury, little improvement is in sight at present.

ARBUCKLE'S BOHEMIAN PARTIES SHOCKED BLASE FILMDOM FOLK

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12—Roscoe Arbuckle's "parties" have been the talk of Los Angeles film circles for some time. Generous by nature and always looking for amusement and a good time, "Fatty" is host often to some of the fastest members of the film set, either at his magnificent Los Angeles home or at some beach resort. Since his separation from Minta Dufree, his wife, who will not divorce him, he has had affairs with several actresses of the screen, and his name has been connected with other Los Angeles women.

The star's parties are bringing him to grief, it seems. He was accused of being a member of a notorious road house party near Boston several months ago, in which several film executives participated. Charges were made against the district attorney of Middlesex County, Massachusetts, for accepting hush money from the film magnates in quieting reports of the affair. Arbuckle issued a statement following public accusation brought against him, that he was not present on the occasion, although he had confessed he had expected to attend.

Last month in Chicago Arbuckle broke up another party it is claimed, when he threw a club sandwich and other eatables into the face of a waiter at the Congress hotel. He was taken to a police station, jumped a $50 bond when he hurried home the next day, declaring when he reached Los Angeles the incident was acloesd chapter.

Film circles still talk of the party Arbuckle gave at his home on last New Year's eve. The guests upon arrival were told they were to witness the star's marriage to Dorothy Wallace, picture actress, and that the preacher had been bidden. Although Fatty is a practical "kidder," the announcement was taken seriously and was confirmed by Miss Wallace herself, who was present on the occasion and was receiving the guests. But as the stores, for which Fatty's cellar is noted, reached the living room and the guests things began to happen. The star and his fancee had a violent quarrel, later in the evening it is said and the affair was declared off.

DISCONTINUE OFFICE HELD BY J. MARTIN

City Council Votes to Abolish Assistant Attorneyship and Authorizes 15 Days' Pay.

Action of E. M. Mann Draws Heated Remarks From Fire and Police Commissioner Fitts.

Spirited squabbling over the naming of an assistant city attorney which resulted in the discontinuation of the services of John M. Martin in that capacity, the voting of him pay for 15 days services and the thanks of the council for that service and further resulting in a show of heat on the part of Police Commissioner Fitts toward City Attorney Mann, who was responsible for the falure of that appointment, featured Monday night's meeting of the city council.

Other features included evidence of the council's decision to vigorously proceed for the collection of over $65,000 in delinquent taxes due the city, the solution of the electric light extension to the Scotland addition and the ordering in of certain lines in that section by the council, and the final passage of the traffic ordinance proposed by Mr. Fitts at the instance of various local organizations interested in the project.

Renders Opinions

Opinion by City Attorney Mann holding that the curfew ordinance, proposed by R. L. Yates, admittedly a desirable thing, would be invalid under Texas laws, and another opinion to the effect that though property owners owning homesteis were not liable for paving in front of their properties, they were liable for their proportionate share of the cost of paving street intersections and could be proceeded against for the same.

The squabble over the city attorney arose through the calling attention of the council to the fact that the city charter provided that the city attorney should name his assistant, with the approval of the council. Furthermore it came out that City Attorney Mann did not name Mr. Martin, who was employed by Commissioners Bonner and Fitts after a discussion with other members of the council. It appeared that he had talked with both about it, more particularly Mr. Fitts on whose motion the assistant was allowed him on account of the piling up of work of the office. He admitted that he had expressed

HIGH WATERS SUBSIDING IN SOUTH TEXAS

Many Sections Report Lowland Flooded and Crops and Livestock Swept Away Before Floods.

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 12.—Headwaters into the Colorado and Brazos rivers in central Texas are falling, reports showed Monday and additional flood damage is now confined to areas along these two streams as they flow southward, the floods decreasing in destructiveness due to rains being sectional rather than general.

At last reports the Colorado was over the first bank at Wharton, but the city is not in danger. Lowlands, however, for miles above are inundated and property and crop loss is heavy. Much has been moved out, as the residents were warned of the impending flood and this has kept down the damage.

Along the Brazos reports show that the river is going over its banks in several places above Richmond and is rising steadily there. This section is not in danger as it is comparatively high. Below Richmond considerable area will be flooded in the next two days, it is anticipated, as the banks of the stream are lower.

Damage Totals $10,000,000

Property and crop loss in central Texas is augumented as full reports begin to come in. Careful calculation practically confirms the estimate that the damage will amount to ten million dollars with possibly another million from damage below the badly damaged section. Loss of life, outside the San Antonio area, is unknown. Reports of lives being lost around Taylor still lack information but communication is bad this section and authentic reports cannot be had. Barring deaths among persons reported marooned, the only confirmed casualties are nine of possibly 11 drowned. Late in the afternoon Cameron reported that airplanes were being used to search the flooded districts of the Little river near Cameron for the

John W. Bradley Favors Trade Excursion at Least Every Month

"At least one trade trip a month should be taken by Wichita Falls merchants and business men to the towns of this trade territory to let these neighbors of ours know that we have what they need and that we are worthy of their patronage. What we want to keep before this trade territory is the fact that Wichita Falls is their market place just as surely as it is the home of the citizens within the city limits," says John W. Bradley, of the North Texas Furniture company and a long time resident of the "City That Faith Built."

Mr. Bradley, apostle of the "glad hand" of the old fashioned kind, says "first make your customers your friends, show them that you are interested in them and show them that the sale is incidental and that continued friendship is what counts."

"With a payed network of roads extending out of Wichita Falls in every direction a fine start of which the present roads to the Lake and to Iowa Park are examples, closer connection with the small towns in this trade territory can be cemented," Mr. Bradley says.

"Why, with such a system all of the surrounding towns will be suburbs of Wichita Falls and they will come to look upon this city much their city as ours," he enthusiastically declares, "and they will feel a pride in the growth of their city.

"Trade trips, barbeques, fairs and other ways of getting together, are a means toward the end of the better understanding for the mutual good.

"The trips which the towns of this section will make to this city during the month of October will go far toward developing the spirit of neighborliness," he says.

"We have started off with the right foot from the very start and have made it plain to the towns of this trade territory that we do not wish to hinder business of the smaller towns. What they can buy from the smaller stores they should and we are making no effort to step in and cut out the merchants in these towns of what is rightfully theirs.

"What we wish to do is to sell the buyers in the smaller towns is what they cannot buy at home. It is natural to see that the smaller stores cannot keep as full and vaired a supply of merchandise as can the stores in Wichita Falls."

"Another thing that this city should be proud of is the spirit of the merchants and business men. Even these in direct competition with each other have a friendly spirit, fostered by the various luncheon clubs and healthy competition is what we in Wichita Falls live on.

"If it were not for wide awake merchants recognizing the value of honest and above board competition, outsiders would step in and garner some of the fruits of good business.

"From personal observation in other cities not sa far away from Wichita Falls I know that the spirit here is much better than in some places. In some cities the merchants try to cut each other's throats while some outsider who knows the value sound business laws enters the field and supplies the want."

CONGRESS TO DO SOMETHING FOR IDLE MEN

General Belief That National Legislators Will Contribute Towards Better Conditions.

Eugene Meyer, Jr., Believes Railroad Funding Bill Will Give Work to Millions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—There is a growing belief in Washington that congress, upon reconvening in a few days, will not only be inclined, but will be able to put through quickly some additional legislation which it is felt may further improve the general business situation in the country. Already there are indications along certain lines of business improvement. Some of the legislation already enacted is expected to be of considerable help in establishing business. And legislation which it is believed congress may enact soon after reconvening is expected by many who have been studying the situation to complete the conditions necessary to starting business back to its old time activity.

EUGENE MEYER, JR.

Three things seem to be essential to the restoration of normal business conditions—transportation activity, farm prosperity and building construction. It is pretty generally conceded that if the railroads get into a position where they can keep up their maintenance and equipment and be in a position to handle business properly and reasonably; and if prosperity is brought again to the farms of the country and the needed buildings for which every section of the United States is clamoring, are put under course of construction, such a period of prosperity will follow as has not been witnessed since several years before the war.

Railroad Funding Will Aid.

There was considerable opposition to the proposed railroad funding bill while congress was in session, and it was a question whether such legislation could be enacted or not. But reports have come to Washington indicating a change of mind upon the part of the people in many sections of the country and the belief is entertained here that this chance of sentiment will have its affect upon congress and that the railroad funding bill will be taken up and passed, in accordance with the president's wishes, shortly after the congressional mill begins to grind again.

In the opinion of Eugene Meyer jr., managing director of the war, finance corporation, the employment of a million men would immediately follow the passage of the railroad funding bill. This number, in the opinion of Mr. Meyer, would be considerably augmented by the indirect labor involved in producing and transporting timber for ties and iron and steel used for maintenance and repairs. The requirements in the way of iron and steel, he believes, would start the

BURKBURNETT TO ENTERTAIN ON SEPT. 23-24

Planning a gala entertainment which is expected to outstrip the glories of the watermelon feasts of "before the boom" fame, citizens of Burkburnett announce a big two day celebration on September 23 and 24, which is destined to include every form of entertainment from dancing and games to a balloon ascension.

To finance the affair, which Secretary Spence of the Burkburnett Chamber of Commerce declares is expected to attract hundreds of visitors from every section of Northwest Texas and points in Oklahoma, a big auction sale will be held on the morning of September 24. The articles to be sold at the auction will be donated to the celebration fund by citizens of Burkburnett.

To insure the success of the entertainment every citizen of Burkburnett is called upon to assist in advertising the event and all persons owning cars are asked to call at the Burkburnett Chamber of Commerce and obtain a pennant, advertising the affair.

The program is announced as follows in the Burkburnett Star:

Friday, September 23, beginning at 10:30 a. m., and lasting until 12:00 noon, a great auction sale will be held.

"From 12:00 noon until 1:30 p. m. a free barbecue will be served on Main street. This promises to be a real treat in the barbecue line, as arrangements have been made with an experienced man to handle this and give the old fashioned barbecue meat, cooked over the pit.

"From 2:00 p. m., until 5:00 p. m. a rodeo will be held at Hardin park. Several local farmers are putting this on and are making every effort to show something worth while.

"This is the complete program for the day; then at night is when the general fun will start. On the streets there will be everything that ever did create excitement. The American Legion and Y. M. C. A. are combining their efforts, trying to raise a fund for home charities association, and they tell us that they will not fail. This excitement will be on Main street and you will be sorry should you miss it.

The program committee is not willing at this time to definitely announce the program for the second day, Saturday, but they assure us that it will be even better than the one announced for the day before.

JOHNSON TO TELL CLUB OF NEWEST LAWS

A subject of interest to citizens of Wichita Falls and vicinity, "How Laws Enacted at the Recent Sessions of the State Legislature Affect This City," will be discussed by B. F. Johnson, representative from this district, at the regular weekly luncheon of the University club Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel. This talk was postponed at the last meeting on account of Mr. Johnson's absence from the city.

The musical program will consist of violin selections by Jarrell Goss, who has delighted local audiences on several previous occasions. Prof. Frank Loew will accompany the violinist.

REVOLUTIONARY PASTOR EXTENDS HIS RESIGNATION

By Associated Press.

CHANUTE, Kan., Sept. 12.—The Rev. Earl A. Blackman's annual resignation again has been rejected by the congregation of the Christian church of Chanute.

Once a year, regularly, since the war, the Rev. Mr. Blackman has given his parishioners the choice of accepting his advocacy of boxing bouts, dancing and pool, or of hiring a new pastor. While the vote each year has been heavily in his favor, it is by no means unanimous.

"You will find me in the boxing ring, the dance halls, the lodge halls, the pool halls, perhaps in the alleys, or wherever men congregate, if I continue to preach to the Christian church of Chanute," was the ultimatum contained in the ministers recent resignation.

Not only was the resignation rejected,—the congregation voted its pastor an increase in salary. This he refused to accept, declaring he was amply paid, and that he arns something in addition to his salary by refereeing boxing bouts. He makes no secret of the fact. Furthermore, he declares he has a "double reason for enhancing his earning capacity.

"Twins recently came to our house," he said, "if some person is to be paid for refereeing and I do the work satisfactorily. I ought to have the money to help support those twins."

His services as a referee are today in much demand in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma. His presence in the ring is regarded as a guarantee of a clean fight. His influence in making boxing a popular sport has been felt throughout this section.

It was while he was chaplain of the 137th infantry of the 35th division in France that the Rev. Mr. Blackman became a devotee of the fistic game. He was known as "the fighting parson of the 35th" and justly so, for he not only supervised but engaged in many boxing bouts.

In his own church the Chanute minister has put into practice his theory that the church sponsor both boxing and dancing in the church.

OVERSLEEPS AND FIRE DAMAGES HOUSE

An unguarded wood burning cook stove was reported by firemen to have occasioned the blaze which damaged the home of J. P. Young, 412 Lake street, Sunday morning at about 5:30 o'clock.

According to firemen, Mrs. Young asserted that she rose and started the fire preparatory to cooking breakfast and had gone back to bed for a short rest. A few minutes later the family was awakened by the fire. The damage was estimated by firemen to be approximately $300. Firemen did not learn Monday if the house was insured.

Boy Scouts Who Will Explore With Shackleton Fitted for Job

LONDON, Sept. 12.—"Shackleton chooses Marr and Mooney, but he would like to take the whole lot."

In these words Sir Ernest Shackleton announced his selection of the Boy Scouts who will be cabin boys on his ship, the Quest, on the voyage to the Antarctic. Ten Boy Scouts had been selected by a process of elimination from all who yearned to accompany their hero on his great adventure. Shackleton went to the headquarters of the Boy Scouts' association and looked over the ten, the pick of thousands. Determined as is the explorer and quick of decision, he could not make a choice from so fine a lot.

"I'll sleep over it," he said wisely.

Decides to Take Both.

But next day he was still at a loss. So there will be two cabin boys on the Quest.

The lucky lads, the envy of every British youth, are:

Patrol Leader J. W. S. Marr, nineteen, of Aberdeen, and Patrol Leader N. B. Mooney, seventeen, of Kirkwall, Orkney.

"Both boys are perfectly fitted for the job," said Sir Ernest. "And both have special qualifications that will make them useful members of the expedition. So I will take them both."

Mooney traveled 800 miles to present himself to Shackleton. In his lonely northern home the boy has acquired taciturnity.

"Can you swim?" Sir Ernest asked Mooney, who is small in stature but wiry, rather shy, of the fine Scotch type.

The boy only nodded his head.

"What have you done at swimming?"

Mooney, still silent, pointed to a medal he had won in a natatorial competition.

"How far can you swim?" Sir Ernest persisted.

"Quarter of a mile, sir," answered Mooney, wasting no words.

That pleased Shackleton. Here was a youngster who could swim a quarter of a mile, yet the fact had to be dragged out of him.

Marr is a big, hefty fellow—just the sort of a boy one would like in a boat when ten miles from home with a strong adverse tide running. He is a cheery soul, with a smile for everybody and a "never-say-die" expression. But he is not all beef; he has plenty of brains. This is proved by the fact that as a student at Aberdeen university he has passed six examinations on scientific subjects.

Marr was backed by all Scotland as one of the finest products of the country. Who can say that Shackleton has not chosen well in selecting two lads from the north? They have this in common: they have been brought up in an atmosphere that breeds hardy men, in a region where the fight with the elements never ends, and where they have learned that to fail is to go under. And the same spirit imbues them both. Marr voiced it:

"I want to be with Sir Ernest Shackleton and serve him in what ever he tells me to do."

SCHOOLS OPEN WITH OVER 5000 IN ATTENDANCE

With at least 5,000 students in possession of their books and class room and lesson assignments, class work will be opened with prospects for a bigger and more successful year of school work in Wichita Falls than ever before, it was announced Monday night at the close of a busy enrollment day at all buildings.

Without exception, Lee Clark, superintendent, announced every school seems to be showing a bigger opening day enrollment than ever before and with prospects of seeing the attendance reach the 6,000 mark in the near future.

With the cast parts to approximately 1,000 desks, which were shipped about a month ago, lost in transit, W. W. Brown, business manager, announced that a number of students will be asked to bear with officials and use other furniture until the parts can be located.

Chairs have been borrowed and installed in the Senior high school auditorium in new buildings for the use of students. Students in the Bowie addition will be housed in the church building, which was used last year, until the new Bowie school building, which is now under construction, is completed.

The issuance of school books, it was reported, was carried through without a hitch, plenty of books having been distributed to each of the different buildings before the opening of school, to cover the needs of all.

Among the attendance reports received late Monday afternoon by Superintendent Clark were: Senior High school approximately 700; Junior High school 351; Austin school 914; Alamo school 716; San Jacinto school 600; Sam Houston school 365; Travis school 273, and the Washington school for negroes 228. In commenting on the attendance, Mr. Clark said that in all probability it will be necessary to make some further changes in the district lines, now obtaining, in order to more evenly distribute pupils among the schools.

LIONS HOLD FIRST FEAST AT LUNCHEON

The initial meeting of the newly organized Lions club was held with enthusiasm as the dominant feature, Monday noon at the Kemp hotel. Something like 25 local business and professional men gathered together and from the expressions coming from members this club is prepared to take its place along with the other clubs of the city which are dedicated to the upbuilding of the welfare of the city and the promotion of better relationship between the citizens.

J. B. Hatchett, first vice president, presided in the absence of S. A. L. Morgan, president, who was out of the city.

The organization of the local club has been made by R. L. McKinney, of Dallas, field worker, who has been here in the interests of the club something like a month.

C. F. Carter, sporting editor of the Record News, was elected editor of the "Cub," official publication of the organization.

ADVANCE PRICE ON SHEETINGS TO 11 1-2 CENTS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Cotton goods merchants made tentative advances on several lines today. Brown sheetings, one house advanced to a basis of 11 1-2 cents for four yard, 56x60's on sheetings and 24 cents for eight ounce tickings. Another advanced bleached cottons two cents a yard. Yarn spinner generally refused to quote prices for future delivery owing to uncertainty of raw cotton values. Wool goods were quiet, but steady. Raw silk was slightly higher. Calcutta shipments of burlaps for August reached 64,000,000 yards, for the North American contingent.

Differs With Fitts

It developed however that he had demurred in a conversation with Commissioner Fitts, in the naming of a certain lawyer, and had suggested several others, to which Mr. Fitts objected.

"It was because they were not lawyers and were not competent," Mr. Fitts said in discussing that. It was also brought out later that Martin had gone to Mann and that he had expressed himself as being pleased to have his assistance.

When it came to the question of his naming an assistant he said that he believed Mr. Martin had done good work, and he would not oppose his being named by the council for it, but frankly said that he had had another man in mind for the place and did not honestly feel that he could name Mr. Martin for the reason that he had not and would not have appointed him.

Judge Bonner interposed before a vote could be taken for the acceptance of Mr. Mann's willingness to have Mr. Martin's services continued and insisted that the entire letter and spirit of the charter provision be complied with, and that unless Mr. Mann made a recommendation the matter go over. Commissioner Curlee concurred in this.

Following this on motion of Judge Bonner the appropriation for pay for Mr. Martin's services was adopted as was the vote of thanks for Mr. Martin's services—the vote of some members of the council voting on the latter, if any, not being clearly audible. None opposed it.

Mr. Fitts then offered a motion that Mr. Martin be employed by the council as special city prosecutor, which died for want of a second.

Asked for a recommendation Mr. Mann expressed a willingness to confer with Commissioner Fitts. The latter replied, however: "Nothing doing with me. We had a man down there who is one of the best in Wichita Falls—"

The city attorney declared that the work of the office had piled up to the extent that one man could not handle it. At another place during the proceedings he indicated an intention of offering the appointment of Zeb Nixon for the approval of the council.

Delinquent Taxes

The matter came up during a discussion by the mayor of the amount of money due on delinquent taxes, amounting to more than $65,000—money which it was agreed the city could and should use. The mayor gave as his opinion that with the two men in the city attorney's office this matter could vigorously be followed up. It was also brought out that much of this money was owed by representative property owners who, to use the words of one member of the body, were "deliberately riding on their taxes."

The Scotland light extension problem, which has figured at each council meeting for the past several weeks, was solved at the instance of Mayor Cline, who took that on his hands at the last council meeting, and who asked Judge Bonner to incorporate the findings in a motion which would "hold water" in court.

Order Electric Extension.

In presenting the matter, Mayor Cline said that he had been careful to avoid going to any length where the electric light company might "go to court and lick us."

The extension proposed will be made by the company, under protest, it is understood, inasmuch as they are in litigation with A. L. Huey, one of the original owners of the Scotland addition, in which light extensions figure.

The motion as finally adopted follows:

"1. That the Wichita Falls Electric company, a corporation, having a franchise to furnish electric current in the City of Wichita Falls, Texas, and to use the streets and alleys of the city for the purpose of erecting its poles and wires and being the only company in said city furnishing such service and having a franchise, be and it is hereby required to forthwith extend its service from its present extension at Broadway and 10th streets Scotland addition, in a Southerly direction to the alley between 9th and 10th streets; thence east down said alley one block and west down said alley one block to serve all houses with electric current the rear of which abuts upon said alley, it appearing to the counsel that there are now about twenty houses to be served by this extension, about twelve of which are already wired.

"2. It is further ordered that said company be and it is hereby required to extend said service south on Broadway street, a distance of one block to the alley between North 9th and North 8th streets; thence both east and west down said alley a distance of one block in either direction to serve the houses now erected, the back ends of which abut upon said alley, it appearing to the counsel that there are now about twenty houses now so erected, about twelve houses are ready to take said service.

"3. It is further ordered that said company be and it is hereby required to extend its main lines south on North Broadway street to the alley between North 5th and North 6th streets and,

Further Extensions.

"4. Further, that when as many as six residents in Block 16 have had their houses properly wired so that service can be extended to them from the alley between North 7th and North 8th streets have made application in the usual way according to the rules of said company for service, it appearing that there are now but about seven houses in said Block 16, then and thereupon the said company is required to extend its service to said six or more houses.

"5. And it is further ordered in the same manner and upon the same terms and conditions that whenever the residents of Block 15, 17, 18, 23 or 24 shall have six houses properly wired, so that service can be extended to them from the alley at the back of such houses and six or more of the residents of said blocks or any of them shall have made application to said company under its rules for service then and thereupon be and it is hereby required to extend its said service upon the usual terms to such six or more applicants."

The problem of the opening of Front street, which has also figured at a number of council sessions, was briefly discussed, but was allowed to go over pending the settlement of some existing litigation.

An ordinance proposed by hotel owners in lieu of the one up for final passage eliminating hotel runners altogether, went over for further investigation. The substitute ordinance proposed for licensing for hotel runners at a charge of $12.50 each six months, except in the cases of proprietors who may solicit patronage free.

This was objected to by the city attorney as being class legislation, and consequently invalid.

Commissioner Fitts also objected on the grounds that it defeated the purpose of the original ordinance, which was to eliminate entirely such solicitations, which he declared amounted to a nuisance in and about the union passenger station.

Traffic Ordinance.

The traffic ordinance requires the ranking of cars, instead of parking on Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth streets, downtown, and on all streets in the residence district. It also prohibits the stopping for more than two minutes of cars in the street behind a row of ranked or parked cars prohibits the cutting inside a car making a turn at intersection, and a number of provisions in the state highway law, including the provision for two head and one rear light on all cars, and the operation of cars by children under 16 years of age.

Finance Commissioner Reed and Dr. A. H. Douglass of the city health bureau, were authorized to appraise sell cars belonging to the city and now used by members of the department to the men who were using them, thereafter requiring them to provide their own cars, the city furnishing nothing but oil and gasoline. A permit to install a grocery store in the lower room of a garage on Avenue F between Monroe and Polk was issued to L. B. Gray.

A request for the opening of a road to the new negro school from Seventh street across the intervening lands was taken under advisement.

Special to the Record News.

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 12.—Charles Halper is a recent comer from New York to this city. He has made large investments here and built three apartment houses. It is said the present housing shortage made the scheme a very attractive one and Halper took advantage of it. All streets will be graveled, wide sidewalks built and gas, electric current, water and sewerage has already been started.

ONE HUNDRED LIVES LOST IN TAYLOR FLOODS

Many of the structures, especially along Alazan creek, were small and poorly built.

The death list remained at forty-nine tonight.

Most of the dead have been buried. One family of seven was buried in one grave.

The death list remained at forty-nine tonight.

Most of the dead have been buried. One family of seven was buried in one grave. Where more than one member of a family was drowned, one grave frequently was used.

Various civic organizations this afternoon began consideration of plans for lending financial assistance to business men who lost heavily in the flood, and may need help. It was reported that a number would need aid in re-establishing their businesses. Appointment of an adjustment committee composed of representatives of a number of organizations was decided upon. It will meet with a committee of the chamber of commerce and determine what will be needed in the way of credit, obtaining new stocks and remodelling of buildings and fixtures.

Estimates that about $1,000,000 worth of dry goods could be salvaged if cleaned within the next twenty-four hours, were made this evening. The facilitie sof the laundry at Camp Travis were offered by Major General John L. Hinds, and probably will be used. It has a capacity greater than all the San Antonio laundries combined.

Offers of financial or other assistance were received by city officials today from about forty cities in various arts of the country. The offers were declined with thanks.

Establish Tent City

The Red Cross was authorized today to establish a tent city at St. Louis and Medina streets in which to care for homeless flood sufferers. Permission to use the ground there, which has sewer and water connection, was given by the city. The United States army will be asked for 500 tents and 2,000 cots, Red Cross workers said. The Red Cross will furnish the bedding.

Many of the Mexicans who lived in the path of the waters returned to their homes, or what was left of them and are reported to have been living in the ruins. Sanitary inspectors under the direction of the city and county health boards have been given orders to compel the inhabitants to clean up, and if that cannot be done safely to health, to move.

Every effort is being made by the authorities to get the districts which were under water cleaned and disinfected. Plenty of labor at $2.50 a day has been obtained for the property owners requiring help. There have been volunteers especially for street cleaning. The federal authorities furnished twenty large trucks to haul off debris, and the city employed more than 100 extra men to load the trucks. That sort of traffic is given right of way over all other.

To Resurface Streets

The wood blocks torn from the pavements are being hauled to one place and those not broken will be salvaged and used for patching streets. The city engineer said all the streets which will have to be resurfaced could be repaved within three weeks after the money is available. The question of funds for that work has not been considered seriously yet, it is said, as efforts now are on cleaning away the debris.

The majority of the soldiers who have been on guard duty will be withdrawn early tomorrow, it was said tonight. Police, American legion men, and a small number of soldiers will take over the work of directing traffic, and keeping the curious out of districts where their presence would interfere with the work of cleaning up

WARNS BRITAIN ON RESTRICTING ULSTER CONGRESS

By Associated Press.

BELFAST, Sept. 12.—Warning to the British government against circumscribing the powers of the new Ulster parliament was given by Hugh O'Neill, speaker of the parliament, in an address yesterday. He declared "any diminution of the rights and privileges of the new Ulster parliament as a result of the projected negotiations between members of the British cabinet and the Sinn Fein would lead to a bitter civil war in Ireland."

"The war would become world wide," he continued, "there would be hundreds of thousands of people from the United States and possibly from the British colonies and dependencies, who would come to the aid of southern Ireland."

HARDING APPROVES RAIL CERTIFICATES

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Sale at par and accrued interest of $7,500,000 par value of railroad equipment trust certificates held by the government with the approval of President Harding, was announced today by the director general of railroads, Davis.

mining of ore and coal, their transportation and the operation of iron furnaces and steel plants. He holds that the purchasing power these men would have through the opening of employment to them would put an additional number of men to work and start commerce upon a new field of activity.

Think With Meyer.

The hope of Mr. Meyer may not be concurred in to its full extent by all persons who have gvien the matter consideration, but there is little doubt in the minds of persons in public life in Washington that the passage of the railroad funding bill would place that industry upon a basis which would enable it to increase its activities very materially and extend them into many side lines of employment.

Already the agricultural situation is regarded as greatly improved. The increased price of cotton and the growing demand for cotton is regarded here as one of the most hopeful signs which has been seen in several years. The buying power of the cotton states it is believed will be restored to normal and financial and commercial conditions throughout the south are expected to improve materially as a result of the new demand for this staple crop of some thirteen states with a population of nearly 30,000,000.

The entire agricultural industry seems to be taking a more hopeful view of the general situation and optimism prevails among those who are in a position to know what is going on among the farmers. While the farmers generally have suffered severely in the last two years, they have come safely through what is believed to be the worst period which they may expect to fact, and the leaders of activities in their behalf seem confident as to the outlook.

Capper for Farmers.

The farmer has no more active supporter and friend than Senator Capper of Kansas, who is regarded here as representative of the farming interests and eager to assist the tillers of the soil in any possible way, through legislation or otherwise. In his weekly newspaper he recently printed an editorial in regard to the work of the present session of congress in which he says:

"Its outstanding achievement in constructive legislation has been its great work for agriculture. It has laid a new and firm foundation for national prosperity. No like amount of legislation beneficial to the farming industry, and therefore to national welfare, has, in my opinion, ever been accomplished by any preceding congress."

If the foundation has been laid for agricultural prosperity and improved conditions are already in sight, it is not too much to hope that the farmer may have passed the worst and be about to enter upon a repewed period of prosperity.

The hope is expressed by those in public life that the passage of the new tax bill, which is not expected to be delayed long after congress reconvenes, will make the money market decidedly easier and will open up the means of carrying out the great building program of the country which has only been held back through lack of money.

All Will Be Helped.

With the railroads rebuilding or repairing their properties and employing a million men in addition to those now employed; with agricultural interests experiencing a new prosperity and satisfied as to the outlook for the immediate future; and with the building of the nation resuming activity and the consequent employment of labor and purchase of material; the outlook is regarded by those who are watching the course of congress as most hopeful. And the belief is freely expressed here in Washington that if congress promptly carries out the program laid out for it the business interests of the country will be able before very long to resume their normal activity and get the country back again into a period of prosperity.

KIMBERLIN RETURNS FROM BUYING TRIP

Sam Kimberlin, of Kimberlin's Store, Tenth and Indiana streets, has just returned from New York where he spent fifteen days in buying merchandise for his store. Both silk and woolen dresses, suits, coats, furs and blouses were bought and the goods are already arriving in the city.

Mr. Kimberlin reports that there has been a material reduction in the price of certain lines of merchandise over the prices asked a month ago, and that he was able to make many advantageous buys. He reported that many buyers from the South were very late this season in invading th market and that under the heavy buying which is now going on prices are advancing a little.

Mr. Kimberlin found one model of the "House of Youth" dresses being worn by Marilynn Miller, Broadway's most popular star, who is now appearing in "Sally." The same model which is being worn by Miss Miller is being displayed in the windows of Kimberlin's today.

HOLD CHURCH WITHOUT BOND FOR MURDERS

Coroner's Jury Holds Youth for Slaying Auto Salesman.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—A coroner's jury investigating the deaths of Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl A. Ausmus, automobile salesmen, returned a verdict today finding that they came to their death through external violence inflicted by Harvey W. Church and recommended that he be held to the grand jury on a charge of murder in both cases without bail.

Church, a twenty year old youth, heard the verdict calmly. His face showed no nervousness or emotion as he faced a crowd of several hundred jeering men after the inquest. "There's the murderer," was the cry and it was necessary to call a squad of patrolmen to clear a way through the threatening crowd for the prisoner.

Yesterday, according to police, Church confessed that he killed the two men alone and single handed to obtain possession of a $5,400 automobile for which he was negotiating. The body of Daugherty was found Friday in the Desplaines river and that of Ausmus in a garage behind the Church home on Saturday. Church was arrested Friday night at Adams, Wisconsin.

How to Get Relief From Rheumatism

Scientists Agree That the Cause Is Due to Waste Products in the Blood.

The blood is the means by which all tissues, muscles, ligaments and flesh of the body are directly or indirectly nourished. It is also thru the blood stream that worn-out tissues and waste products are cast out of the system.

When waste products accumulate, they are a menace to life. They cause a lowered vitality, many skin disorders and rheumatism. Genuine relief from rheumatism can be had only by correcting the basic trouble —waste products.

Thousands and thousands of men and women during the past 50 years have cleared their blood of waste products with S. S. S. It is the ideal remedy for rheumatism, because it removes the poisonous waste matter which is causing the trouble. There are no bad after effects and the result is wonderful. Begin taking S. S. S. today and write for 56-page illustrated booklet, "Facts About the Blood"—free.

Personal medical advice, without charge, may also be had by sending a complete description of your case. Address Chief Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., 732 S. S. S. Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga. All drug stores sell S. S. S.

COTTON HANDLERS' STRIKE CONTINUES

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12.—The strike of cotton handlers at the port of New Orleans will continue, according to a statement issued from the headquarters of the cotton employes protective association today.

The six union organizations representing the various classes of workers have rejected the basis of settlement submitted to them as a result of the conference with Governor Parker.

Meanwhile the public and private cotton warehouses of the city are recruiting labor to take the places of the strikers and say they will have little trouble in keeping cotton moving.

FIVE OIL TANKS EXPLODE WITH LITTLE DAMAGE

By Associated Press.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 12.—Explosion of five tanks of the Imperial Oil company's plant at Dartmouth, on the east side of Halifax harbor, early today with rumblings that were felt in this city, caused the evacuation of half of the homes in Halifax.

Those who had gone through the explosion of December, 1917, when the munition ship Mont Blanc blew up and wrecked a third of Halifax with loss of 1,200 lives, thought it was another such disaster.

Indications were that there had been neither loss of life or serious damage.

NEFF APPOINTS COMMITTEE TO PROBE CHARGES

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 12.—Governor Neff late today appointed a committee composed of Captains W. H. Richardson, J. O. Bradfield and W. T. Wroe, all of Austin, and members of John B. Hood Camp confederate veterans, to make an investigation of complaints of alleged mistreatment of inmates of the Confederate home. The appointment of this committee was authorized by a resolution adopted in the senate at the first called session of the Thirty-seventh legislature.

STOPS AUCTION OF UNEMPLOYED

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 12.—Auctions of the unemployed, which it was proposed to start in Baltimore today, will not be permitted by state and city officials, they announced today just as a crowd of jobless, seafaring men were preparing to march from the harbor front to hold a "sale" on the city hall plaza.

Governor Ritchie telephoned from Annapolis forbidding the auction, on the ground that the auction would violate the selfrespect of the working man.

ANOTHER VIEWPOINT—OR THE STORY AS TOLD BY O. C. HARRISON.

(From the Baylor County Banner)

The trade excursionists returned to their starting point Thursday night, after having visited 23 towns, so the speakers said. These speakers said at first that the trip had taken about 300 miles. They got this up to 350 or 400, and Editor Fitzgerald said the cooks scrambled 500 eggs for breakfast at Throckmorton. All this sort of thing makes it hard for a mild man like the Banner editor to get at the facts in the case. And to make matters worse, the gang stopped just beyond the bridge on the way in and decided that "mum" was the word and no tales would be told. This seals up forever lips that might have very interesting things to tell, and causes this narrative, which otherwise might be interesting, to be nothing but a valley of dry bones. For instance, we might repeat what Hamp Fancher said about short and long dresses at Throckmorton, after saying that he always spoke of the ladies in a gentlemanly manner, and about those poker pennies in his pocket. And in refutation of his there and some rather spicy tales concerning conduct of Hons. I. O. Newton and Joe A. Wheat on some trips to Kansas City with cattle. But as said before, our lips are as a sealed book, and nothing much will be said about this trip except mention of a few of the places where we went and condition of crops.

Speaking of crops reminds us again of Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald. You know he and his partner, Mr. Charles G. Manuel of the Wichita Record News joined our party at Archer City. Mr. Fitzgerald happens to be quite a noted character in Texas, and he is a ready speaker at all times, so his presence was invaluable to the trippers. If this aforesaid noted character were not so well known by readers of this paper we might at this time undertake a description of him, which we could give word for word as it came about fourteen times from the facil tongue of the right honorable Joe A. Wheat, with variations by the honorable Newton. Well, back to the place of beginning. Mr. Fitzgerald, who is not a man to give offense, had a good word for the cotton crop of whatever place he might be in, stating that the crop at each place was the finest he had seen this year in Texas. But the Colonel or Major or whatever his title happens to be, never failed to boost the Baylor County Fair and Rodeo, and if his hearers believe half he told them they will be here in droves for 62 miles south and west. There was only one place where the Colonel, which would probably be about the right rank, did not need to boost the Fair and that was Throckmorton. He began there talking about the hospitality of that place and kept it up all the way to Seymour. He was standing on a brick pile and telling it to the crowd as the editor pulled for his office, and if we are allowed a guess, it was the first thing he told about when he got home. He told 'em he was going home after the Fair and when he was rested up a bit he was going to get his wife and in his car was going to Throckmorton and stay as long as he d—— pleased. Mr. Manuel got pictures of our hosts and will run them in The Record News, together with a complete write up of the trip, including names of the trippers. Also, they are both coming back and stay the three days of the Fair.

But oh boy! that night at Throckmorton. Say, they took us out on the Frank Rhoades ranch north of the town, at a beautiful place on Elm Creek, and with Rhoades and John Davis as hosts the Seymour boys got treated like kings one time in their lives. None of those present will forget that night, and the only reason we do not attempt a complete description of it is because those who did not get to go would feel so badly they would not enjoy the Fair. But those eats. There may have been as good meats and things in past history, but that was before history was studied by the bunch that lined up behind John Davis' chuck wagon.

Quite a number came out from Throckmorton and there was band music and a jollification meeting afterwards, with old timers such as H. H. Fancher, W. H. Francis, E. L. Craddock, etc., as speakers. And they did justice to the occasion, without "going through Webstera." The only thing that was not done here perfectly was the sleeping, all except the editor, he didn't see a thing.

What we intended to do when this thing was started was to tell first thing first, but we have gone thus far with only a casual mention of the band. Do you know, anything that band might happen to want would be provided if the Fair boosters knew about it. All you have to do is to say "band" and they'll yell like as if the band was playing Dixie. The band was the life of the trip, and it would have been dead as a ghost without them. And Charlie Chaplin, as depicted by John Croft. The original Charlie is going to have to look well to his laurels, and it was many a laugh that was caused by the fake band director.

Yes, the trip was a success. The boosters were received everywhere with enthusiasm. The fun would have paid for the trouble in the first place, and in the second place, enough friendly interest was caused in the town to justify the tour. And there fill be a lot more people at the Fair on account of this trip, or there are a lot of cheerful liars on the line of march.

Do you care for a log of this trip? How we left such and such a place twenty minutes before eleven and how the whole procession stopped until Bill Lowry had time to recover from being banged against the car top when Bedford Fancher failed to slow down to 45 in crossing a high culvert? Something of this may be undertaken later, and surely we must tell about visiting editors in other places, when the crowd wondered why the scribe always made for some back street as soon as the cars hit a town. But this is being written while the other boys are catching up with a night's sleep, and if this does not suggest anything much in regard to the trip, we'll just mention in the next paragraph the names of the towns visited, and you can supply the rest from imagination. Sorter like "Fitz" said when asked where the Fair would be held, said it would be held at the park or on the hill or wherever his audience wanted it held.

The party started from Seymour about 7:30 Wednesday morning, and stops were made at the following points: Mabelle, Dundee, Archer, Megargel, Olney, Newcastle, Elbert and to Throckmorton for the night. Next morning bright and early a straight shoot west was made to Rule. Up the Orient then to Rochester and O'Brien, and to Knox City for lunch. Lunch was served each day by the Seymour Chamber of Commerce, being brought out from Young's Cafe by Messrs. S. H. Curry and Percy Hinton. Leaving Knox City, Benjamin was reached, after which the party doubled back to Rhineland, Munday, Goree and Bomarton. Also, the party made Seymour as the last stop, where they received an enthusiastic reception. A very good story can be made of details of the trip and this will be undertaken next week.

The following were in the party, the first named in each group being chauffeur: Mr. C. M. Russey was pathfinder and very ably directed the routing and the plan of march at each place, with Claude Russey, R. N. Johnson; Jess Cockerell, T. W. George, A. J. Cooper, Joe Buck Jones; A. L. Baker, Will Carter, Bartley Harris, Louis Belvins; R. K. Whiteside, A. E. McNeill, Gerald Davis, Cedric Harrison; O. P. Caldwell, Walter Grey, O. C. Harrison; H. H. Fancher, F. F. Fisher, E. L. Craddock, Chas. G. Manuel, I. E. Cockerell; J. T. Lively, Henry Carter, Bob Jones, W. H. Miller; Burwell Smith, John Croft; Horace Lankford, John Henson; W. H. Francis, Tom Suttlemyer, Chas. Webb; Geo. Plants, Lloyd Henson, E. E. Starkey, A. M. Davenport; Bedford Fancher, W. T. Britton, W. J. Lowry, Draper Lowry; I. O. Newton, Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, Joe A. Wheat, W. B. Alexander; A. H. Kerr, L. Briggs, F. L. Knight, Buster Haughey; Frank Davis, G. W. Andruss, A. E. Richmond, Chas. Richmond, E. T. Goss, W. P. McLarty, Mr. Jones and W. B. Murphy. Mayor Jas. A. Britain and Hon. J. A. Wood were with the party the first day, but had to come home that night.

The Hub Garage and F. L. Knight took along mechanics to see that the cars were kept in good condition. They found quit a bit to do on the 300 mile round.

A PLATE A PLATE "FOR 'LL THAT."

History repeats itself. King George and Queen Mary of England gave a dinner in honor of President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and the famous royal gold plate service was taken out of the vault for the occasion. There are American politicians who did not love Woodrow Wilson. They seized upon the gold plate incident and criticized their president because he did not drag Mrs. Wilson away from the royal table at Windsor Castle because the gold plate service that cost thousands of pounds decorated the banquet board. It was a demagogish display on the part of the politicians. An American gentleman when he is invited to a home is not supposed to notice his plate whether it be made of gold or pewter. He is to the manner born and when in Rome "be a Roman" is his motto. President Harding visited New York and was a visitor at the Rits Carlton. In honor of the President of the United States, the manager is setting the dinner table Sunday used the solid gold service, a prized possession of the hotel. "Take those away and bring regular dishes" said the president. A waiter executed his orders. A matter of taste perhaps but why the display of temper or the call for regular dishes? It matters not where a man goes, whether his entertainer be a plutocrat or a proletarian, fault should not be found with the dishes.

"SMILE—D—N YE! SMILE."

Secretary Herbert Hoover after making a survey of the agriculture situation predicts that the farmers will again be prosperous in the near future. Do you know that for the first 17 days in August exports of American wheat were 34,000,000 bushels which is four times that of August in pre-war years. Wheat is climbing; cotton is climbing; steel is climbing; the Mexican oil situation is encouraging and optimism is prevailing the country over. There are men who are floundering in the Slough Despond. They are thinking of the cheap paper prosperity and paper profits in the wartime. These are the men who have refused to take their losses. They are facing the sunset instead of the morning sunrise.

Coleman is a West Texas county. Coleman farmers are picking a large crop of cotton. Gins are running day and night. Merchants are encouraged by signs of prosperity. Banks are feeling stronger. Loans on cotton basis are being made cautiously and a citizen of that county says "the whole tone of business is stronger." Sure. These are the signs of the times exery-where down in Texas.

Postmaster General Will Hays is responsible for this: "Everyone knows that there is ahead the greatest era of expansion and prosperity the world have ever seen." Hays is a sane and sensible individual. He has vision and a man who has vision is a safe prophet.

The report, which will cover the geological features of the section with special attention to the conservation of the oil and gas, will be printed in bulletin form for the benefit of the operators and will be the first of its kind compiled on this field. EVIL REPORT.

I hold that Amos Aikenside is all pure wool and three feet wide. I've dealt with him for many moons and got the worth of my doubloons. He's sold me milk and melted ice, and always at a decent price. Men say that Amos must be watched; his moral character is botched, and if he gets a chance, they say, he'll bring his harpoon into play. My neighbors sometimes say, "Gadzooks, why patronize that prince of crooks?" Perhaps the truth has not been told; who knows what grudges they may hold against this amos Aikenside, who sells fresh henfruit, plain or fried? Perhaps their hatred is bestowed because he asked for what they owed; for many people's heads get sore when they lose credit at the store. Perhaps they hate this Amos jay because he doesn't vote their way. A score of reasons might be found why they rear up when he's around, but while old Amos treats me right I shall not say to him, "Good night." What others say about a gent does not impress me worth a cent, so long as he seems good and straight, and give full measure, honest weight. Of worth man cannot be a judge if he is moved by every grudge that drooling gossips may expound, with futile heat and empty sound.—Copyright by George Matthew Adams.

It was a hot night and all of the benches in the park were occupied. Lovers were swearing eternal fidelity to each other. Men who had failed in life were resting. Women sat looking at the stars. A policeman walked by and a poor woman took a sandwich out of a newspaper and began to eat it. The fountain played on, and the noise of the water was cooling. Suddenly a shot rang out. A poor creature had decided that it was not worth while. He was dead when the ambulance doctor came.

Breakfast Stories

The tramp, who had been to the house prospecting, came out and joined his companion on the roadside.

"What luck?" asked the waiting one.

"None," growled the other. "I don't like this business of asking for bread and getting a stone."

"Well," said the first one in a tone of philosophic resignation and grim humor, "tain't as bad as askin' for bread and gettin' a bulldog."

Simon fumbled in his trousers pockets. It wasn't there. The conductor smiled pleasantly and waited.

Simon Skinflint felt in his vest pockets. It wasn't there.

Smiling not quite so pleasantly, the conductor gave him more time.

Then he searched his coat pockets. They didn't produce the ticket either.

Once more old Simon dived deep into his pockets, delved deeper into his wallet, but no ticket could be found.

Just as the conductor, with a menacing leer, rolled up his sleeves and reached over to grab old Simon by the back of collar and seat of his trousers, the old man found the ticket.

"Dear me! Why, here it is!" he cried, as though he had just found it. "I had it in my mouth all the time."

And he handed over the ticket just as the train drew out.

"Confound it!" he muttered, angrily. "It took me a long time to suck last month's date off that old ticket anyway."

And it is a case where 'murder will out, for they just can't keep from telling where they themselves think they could be improved. Except for that, easily fooled men might readily imagine them to be perfect. A wise Providence seems to have decreed that they should tote fair, to the extent of warning men of their imperfections.'

"I want to see my father very particular,' said a boy to the gatekeeper at a cricket match where his father was acting as umpire. He was passed through and hurried up to his father. 'Mother says she wants that pocket of sandwiches back,' he said.

"Sandwiches back!" exclaimed the surprised parent. "I ate them an hour ago.'

"Then you'll have to clean your shoes with salmon and shrimp paste," replied the youngster. "Mother put the brown shoe polish in those sandwiches!"

as the movement was pushed by advertising special bargains for Wednesday. Benefit from special trades days, of course, is cumulative; that is, when properly handled, the movement gains momentum from each additional trades day. Just why the local plan was permitted to drag after securing a good head of steam is hard to determine. Whatever the reason may have been, the fact stands out that when the necessary publicity and push was abridged or eliminated entirely, the trade increase stopped in like proportion. There could be no other result. "Everlastingly at it" must be the motto of the merchant who desires increased trade. Ballinger started her First Monday trades day on September 5, and Quanah, Texline, Stamford and Burkburnett are arranging for permanent special trades days. The slogan, "Every Farm a Factory," which is being used in the joint West Texas Chamber of Commerce Dairy Cow, Poultry, Baby Beef campaign, gains especial significance through the institution of these special trades days. Oftentimes the best poultry, stock and swine is brought in to be traded and the propagation of better breeds and stocks on additional farms is the result. It is announced that C. C. French of the Fort Worth Stockyards company, expects to visit a number of cities on First Monday or Trades day, telling the people about porkers and baby beef." Those who get trade is those who go after it. There is a way to get it and wise business men know the road.

There is an up-to-date editor pushing the pencil for the Newcastle Register. Speaking of cotton this is his view point: "The cotton market has been behaving nicely during the past few days and business is taking on its old time "pep" and the farmers are coming into town with much better spirit on account of it. The price has practically doubled since the season opened and the marker is still soaring. Some are predicting a price of 20 cents before the season closes. The farmer all over the South responded to the reduced acreage propoganda and nature comes along and still further reduced the crop. Besides Germany has gotten in the market and has already taken 2,000,000 bales."

The officer of the day was striding down the lines trying to avoid tripping over his sword, and to look as if the welfare of the camp rested on his shoulders.

"Do you always shave outside, my man?" he asked.

"Of course!" was the reply. "Did you think I was fur-lined?"—From Answers, London.

Who's Who

FREDERICK E. GUEST

Of all the members of the Lloyd George government there is probably no one who enjoys such universal popularity or who has so many friends as Frederick E. Guest, minister in charge of the royal air department, and who has the military, the naval and the civilian aviation of Great Britain under his direction and control. He arrived in New York recently to join his American wife, the former Amy Phipps, daughter of Henry Phipps of New York, at the country house which she purchased a few months ago at Roslyn, Long Island.

CAPTAIN GUEST

It was reported last winter that he was about to be raised to the peerage as Lord Bournemouth and to take up the appointment of governor-general of the commonwealth of Australia. But the premier found it impracticable to spare him from the house of commons, and so in due course he was promoted from the position of financial secretary of the treasury and chief government whip to that of minister of the air.

A younger brother of Lord Wimborne, Major Freddie Guest has had a somewhat eventful career. He has been everywhere. Very rich, through his multi-millionaire father, despite his having been a younger son, he went out to South Africa some years before the Boer war and was suspiciously near to Johannesburg at the time of the Jameson raid. Afterward he joined Kitchener, and as an officer of the camel corps took part in the reconquest of the Sudan and in the battle and capture of Khartum.

He was a captain of the first life guards in the Boer war of a score of years ago, and in the subsequent times of peace did some soldiering out in India. He spent much of his time in exploring the interior of Africa and of Asia, and also prospecting in Alaska. From 1912 to 1914 he was a member of King George's household as its treasurer, but went to France on the outbreak of the great war on the staff of the then British generalissimo, Lord French, winning the distinguished service order, the legion of honor and a military commandership of the order of the British empire.

After a brief spell at home during the war, engaged in organizing the national service department, he felt the need of seeing some more fighting, and accordingly joined Gen. Jan Smuts in that arduous East Africa campaign when ended in the conquest of all Germany's vast territory in that portion of the dark continent.

Freddie Guest's American wife shares his popularity and is one of the most successful hostesses in London, where she owns the beautiful house which the late Alfred Beit, the South African diamond multi-millionaire, built for himself, regardless of expense, in Park Lane. When the war broke out she gave up this house to the British government for use as a military hospital for wounded officers and men, and in 1917, on the United States coming into the war, she, with the consent of the prime minister, turned it over to the American military authorities for a similar purpose. She organized and equipped the important Wounded Allies hospital at Malo-les-Bains in France in 1914 for the use of French and English wounded.

TEXAS FARMER COULDN'T WORK FOR TWO YEARS

"For over two years I couldn't do a lick of work on my farm, but I'm working from sun-up to sundown every day now and feeling fine," said R. L. Bryant, a well-to-do farmer of Garland, Texas.

"My trouble all came from my stomach. I had no appetite and finally got so weak I had to lie around the house all the time. I fell off thirty pounds in weight, too.

"Since Tanlac toned up my stomach I'm like a new man and there isn't a hand on the farm that can do a bigger day's work than I can. I'm gaining in weight, too, and feel better and stronger than I have in years."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Store; in Electra by Tarlton Drug Store; in Burkburnett by West End Drug Store; and by all leading druggists.—adv.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

THE DISGRUNTLED WIVES MEET.

The disgruntled wives' club was in high feather when Cherry proudly escorted by Jack, arrived at Beth Wilders' door some few minutes later. For disgruntled wives, the young women congregated round a snapping fire, certainly belied their name. Even Jack could see this, as he "peeked" into the cozy room before leaving.

Cherry was greeted with cheers as she appeared and Beth came forward immediately to do honors to this most welcome guest.

"You sure do bring Faith and Hope into the room with you, Cherry, dear," said she as she kissed the smiling girl's rosy cheeks. "We've been waiting most patiently for our fellow conspirator and there's so much to discuss that we just don't know where to begin."

Cherry giggled at this and suggested beginning with a cup of coffee. In the happiness of the past few days she had come perilously near to forgetting that there were such things in the world as disgruntled wives or any but contented ones like herself.

Still she remembered that there were many other girls in Wellsburg who had not the good fortune to be married to her Ned. And their cause was her cause, as she had solemnly promised some time ago.

Over their steaming coffee cups the various wives sat and laughed heartily at the jokes and the bits of news that Cherry regaled them with. As one of them put it, "You certainly don't look as if you had one little thing disturbing you in your married life, Mrs. Randall."

"Oh, these you make a mistake," answered Cherry quickly, setting down her cup as she spoke. "I've heaps of things." And she told of her encounter with her mother-in-law some few hours back. The story was greeted with smiles and nodding of the heads and Cherry knew that one and all understood.

"Now then, have you girls finished reading the books I prescribed for you last week?" she asked sternly. "Beth, did you read every word in Ellen Key's 'Love and Marriage'? Yes? Very good. I hope you understood that brilliant lady's philosophy. And will be able to apply some of it to your own home life."

"Rose, what did you think of May Sinclair's 'Mary Olivier'?"

At Rose Marshall's appreciative criticism of that book Cherry clapped her hands enthusiastically. "Who ever said that the young wives of Wellsburg were not interested in modern literature?" she asked smiling around at the group. "I'm proud of every one of you. So there."

"Billy and I have been getting along worse than ever, in spite of 'Advice to the Young Wife' that you begged me to read," wailed a tired-eyed little blonde, Harriet Dell, sadly. "He seems to get a bit crosser and more exacting every day. I don't know how to handle him any more. I'm as tired as he is when he comes home, but he never seems to think so. Judging from the way he acts."

"Give him a vacation," suggested Cherry wisely. "He's run down, nothing could possibly help him or you till he's played for a while. Pack his grip and send him off to the woods for two weeks, dear girl."

WOMAN-I-TORIALS

Men Cooks—Why Not?

Kansas Agricultural College is encouraging men students to learn how food is prepared, which foods are most nutritious, and how to combine them to make a balanced meal. The motive is to help men select meals when away from home as well as to understand what goes on in their own kitchens. It will come in handy when wife is away from him on her summer vacation or when she is sick—if ever—and why shouldn't he help sometimes in these days of domestic help shortage? Women are learning mechanics and studying engines in Wellesley. Why shouldn't men in Kansas learn how to cook?

The Woman Citizen

Women are confining their governmental activities mostly to those matters which concern women and children and the home directly. This shows their natural modesty, singleness of aim, and intention to limit themselves to those affairs upon which they are well informed. In general this is becoming—but, woman, as citizen, shoul speedily inform herself on all which concerns the welfare of her country.

Of course she cannot do this in detail, for many questions must be left for the experts to work out. Woman should read the papers, especially the political and governmental columns, and know what is going on in these lines and the arguments pro and con of the leading questions and activities.

Women's Clubs are easily "worked" by the propagandist. It often happens that the promoter of a bill will get word to women's club meetings urging that they endorse certain measures. Of course, the best side of the case is presented, sometimes facts are completely distorted, and many benevolently intentioned women will sanction these measures without cool, detailed investigation. We should take care to keep our skirts clear of the charge of sentimentalism which the anti-suffragists have been predicting for us all these years, and must prove ourselves hard and clear headed and thorough when it comes to placing our influence back of any piece of legislation.

HAIL, SCHOOL!

As a people, we love education. One of the first things the colonists did in America was to establish schools. We have just shown anew our appreciation of education by increasing teacher's wages nearly fifty per cent. Touring the country, one notes in each village an over-towering building—the school house—the pride of the community, on which it has seemingly out-done itself. And well it may! The occupants of that building are the citizens of tomorrow.

It is September; the bell has rung, and we are back again at school. But not all. Every one of the United States has now a compulsory education law, but how different are these laws in the different states. There should be a Federal law. Education is too valuable to be left to the states, many of whom deal with it carelessly.

One state requires attendance at school only until twelve years of age, and some as few as twelve weeks a year. In some the laws are so laxly enforced that any child may easily be exempted from school attendance. In the country, affairs are worse than in cities. Some rural communities require only a few weeks of school a year, while cities in those states require nine months.

England and France, whose schooling suffered by war more than ours, are now out-stripping us in educational laws. In England every child, even those employed, must attend school at least 320 hours each year until he is eighteen.

In Massachusetts, our most cultured state, only about half of those who should be are in high school. The average child gets only about seven years schooling. Of each 1,000 who enter school, 634 reach the eighth grade, 342 the high school, 140 graduate, 72 enter college, 30 graduate from college. Where are the almost ninety-and-nine?

Boston Women's Clubs investigated and found that they are staying out chiefly because of "economic pressure at home" or because they "preferred to go to work." Both causes are remediable. No state should allow its children to go uneducated on account of poverty. Schools should be made more interesting and the children compelled to attend.

Here is work for Women's Clubs and for Statesmen.

And here is wor for each Father and each Mother in each home; to provide the background, day in and day out, from September to June, that each child may make a business of school and put his whole heart into it.

How? By the following means:

1. See that the whole regime of the household is adapted to the business of school life. Hours, meals, work, atmosphere, family program—all should serve the best interests of the school child.
2. See that the child has a regular bed time, early enough, and that he keeps this appointment.
3. See that he gets up and off to school in time.
4. See that he is well nourished, eats regularly and at such periods as best suits his school program—and his ravenous little stomach.
5. See that he does not have so much work outside of school that it interferes with his studies.
6. See that he has a place to study at home; warm, quiet, and without being interrupted.
7. Treat his school work with such respect that he will feel its importantance.
8. See that he is clothed for school in clean, simple, comfortable, garments, enough like those of the other children that he will not be conspicuous.
9. Do not allow outside interests to divert him from school, keep him out late, nor consume too much of his time and energy.
10. See that he has plenty of fresh air; a well ventilated school room, and home, bed-room windows open during sleeping hours, and at least two hours out doors daily.
11. See that he has sufficient recreation. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

This will give the school child but little time to help at home or in business. Adults must carry the world's burdens while the children study.

Making Amends

Mrs. Miggles, a nervous and inexperienced hostess, rose hurriedly as one of her guests finished the song she was singing.

"Ladies and er—er—gentlemen," said she, nervously clutching at the side of her gown, "before Miss Caulcatt began she asked me to apologize for her voice, but I omitted to do so. So—er—so—er, I apologize now!"

—From the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

With the Women of Today

Mrs. W. D. Separk.

"Even Betsy Ross herself had no more of a thrill than I did when I sewed up my first awning," is the claim of Mrs. W. D. Separk of Durham, North Carolina. Mrs. Separk is the first woman awning maker in North Carolina and perhaps in the entire south. She made the first awning ever used in her home town some twenty-five years ago.

For about twenty years she carried on the work by herself, but when her trade grew to such proportions that she had to have the awnings made she continued to make the measurements and see to it that the completed job was all right. Her motto, she asserts, has always been, "Satisfactory service to all," and she always lives up to it.

Mrs. Separk was one of the first and possibly the first woman contractor in the state. She now controls the greater part of the awning trade for Durham besides shipping to all nearby towns.

Women are losing ground in the fight with men for jobs in general industry, reports to the department of labor in Washington show. Only in clerical positions are they holding their own.

Nearly 500,000 women and girls are enrolled in the nation's army of jobs by hundreds of thousands during and after the war, now are going back to the home, the desk, or the schoolroom, and into other positions where they will not compete with male breadwinners, according to the best information obtainable by the government.

In clerical positions and lighter forms of work women are continuing to obtain and occupy positions as before.

WOMEN MAY WIN SEATS IN CANADIAN SENATE

Efforts to have the British-North America act amended so that women can serve in the senate of Canada, have been pledged by Premier Meighen in case his unionist government is returned to power at the coming general election. He informed a meeting of women recently if he should be successful at the election one of his first steps would be to seek the necessary amendment.

Marching With the Legion

Rita Gould.

Miss Rita Gould's war service began in France, whither she went in 1918 to cheer the American doughboys, but she did not forget the veterans when they slipped back into "civies." Nor did she forget the disabled men. She has spent most of the summer of 1921 in government hospitals and at recreation camps entertaining the disabled veterans, who have not been as popular since the close of the war as they were when they started overseas.

At the close of her summer's work, Miss Gould announced through S. Rankin Drew post of the American Legion, New York city, that she was offering her services gratis to all posts of the Legion in the cities she will visit this fall and winter on a theatrical tour. Miss Gould has appeared at soldiers' benefits given by the Drew post, which is named for the first American actor to die in France. The membership of the post is composed of theatrical folk, newspapermen and members of the moving picture fraternity.

Pitching horseshoes is the most popular sport in Oklahoma. Tennis is second and golf a poor third. This, at least, is indicated by entries received for the American Le September 26 and 27. The tournament will be held in connection with the annual convention of the Oklahoma department of the Legion.

A survey made by the American Legion has disclosed that shell shock victims of the World War who, following demobilization, went to the country to live, have in most cases recovered their health. Those who stayed in the cities after the war, for the most part, have not recovered.

Football, always the favorite game in the army and navy, is expected to have an unprecedented run of popularity this season. American Legion post throughout the country are organizing teams for inter-post competition. Davidson county post in Tennessee has started a movement for the formation of a football league among Legion posts of that state.

Four members of the American Legion of Youngstown, Ohio, are hiking to Kansas City to attend the national convention of the Legion and incidentally to win a wager that they could not walk from their home town to Kansas City in two months.

Busy indeed are three members of the executive committee of the Great Falls, Mont., post of the American Legion. They are likewise heads of the barbers' union, the cooks' union and the Typographical union of the city.

President Harding has accepted an invitation to be honorary chairman of the New York American Legion's Victory ball at the Waldorf-Astoria on the eve of Armistice Day. Delegates to the disarmament conference have been invited to attend.

TODAY'S RECIPES.

Brioche Cakes—Add one-quarter of a cupful of sugar to one cupful of scalded milk. When lukewarm add one-third of a yeast cake softened in warm water and one and a half cupfuls of flour. Let rise, and when light and full of bubbles add two beaten eggs, one-quarter of a cupful of melted butter, one-quarter of a teaspoon of salt, the grated rind and juice of half a lemon and one and a half cupfuls of flour. Cover and again let rise until light. Mould on a board, cut in rounds and place a small ball of the dough in the center of each. Lay in pans, and after they have stood for twenty minutes glaze and bake for twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

White Grape Juice Gravy—Mince a small green pepper and half an onion and cook until soft, without browning, in two tablespoonfuls of butter substitute. Remove the onion and pepper, blend in two tablespoonfuls of flour and add gradually one pint of white grape juice. Stir constantly until the sauce boils and is smooth, and add the beaten yolk of one egg, salt and celery salt to taste and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Cook for a moment or two to shet the egg and serve immediately.

DISHWASHING IDEAS.

In the first place, is your sink the right height to save you from round shoulders and a backache? If, when you stand erect close to the sink, your finger tips touch the bottom of the sink, it is high enough. If not, you can get the same results by raising your dishpan.

One woman says that she has found that a granite hand basin turned upside down raises her dishpan the desired number of inches.

When you serve your meals it takes but a moment to fill the empty pots and pans with water, and it saves time and energy when washing them. Remembering to rinse or soak your greasy dishes first with hot water, and dishes that have had egg, milk or pastry foods in them first with cold water, is a practical point.

When dishes are scraped and piled together in order they never seem many. But do you realize that putting the dirty dishes on the right-hand side of your dishpan and yourself, the next time you wash the drainer for the clean ones on the left saves time and energy?

It is reasonable enough, for you naturally pick up a dish with your right hand, put it into the water, hold it in your left hand when washing it, and with the least number of movements take it out with that same hand to put it in the drainer close by. Conservation of motion means saving of energy.

On the whole, dish wiping is unnecessary and unsanitary. Rinsing with hot water dries china better than a towel, leaving only glasses and silverware to be hand wiped.

For all his knowledge,
He began at the bottom and worked his way up.
When John leaves school,
He inverts the rule,
From the top he works down—for he can't stay up.

She's known him but a week?"
"Precisely—for the reason
You need no farther seek."

Mrs. Solomon Says:

For little brother or sister who will be left at home lonely when the others start off to school, the wise mother will provide some new and interesting toy or two to beguile the long hours of playing alone. She will need to take the littlest one more closely into her chumship to keep him entertained.

GIRLS! BLEACH SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

Fort Worth Wins 1921 Texas League Pennant

SPUDS LOSE AFTER SEVEN BRILLIANT INNINGS, WHEN HOLLY WEAKENS IN EIGHTH

By C. F. CARTER

THE FORT WORTH PANTHERS, THE BEST BASEBALL CLUB IN THE LONE STAR STATE, YESTERDAY AFTERNOON WON THE 1921 TEXAS LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP, BEATING THE SPUDDERS 5 TO 1 IN THE OPENING GAME OF THE LAST HOME SERIES HERE AND TAKING A CLEAN LEAD OF SIX AND ONE-HALF GAMES. SHOULD THE SPUDDERS WIN EVERY GAME OF THE REMAINING HALF DOZEN, FORT WORTH WOULD STILL CLING TO HER CHAMPIONSHIP CROWN BY THE MARGIN OF HALF A GAME.

The Spudders went down fighting yesterday afternoon at Athletic Park. For seven innings, the two clubs battled neck and neck with the score a one-all tie. Jack Hollingsworth weakened in the eighth, and Fort Worth hits, plus some mighty unfortunate breaks against the home club, broke up the duel and gave the Panthers a lead that could not be overcome.

The luck of the game repeatedly broke against the Spudders. A startling and sensational leaping one-hand catch by Cecil Coombs in the third inning of a wallop to deep center by Holly was one bit of hard luck that robbed the Spudders of a chance to score—while another wretched break came in the eighth frame when Clarence Kraft received credit for a two-bagger and scored two men on a looping, weak little hit back of first base. Kraft swung hard at the ball, and caught it far down on the handle of his bat near his gripping fingers—the pill drifted lazily up and over Works' head, and hit the ground a bare foot inside the foul line and hardly forty feet back of the initial sack. It was the flukiest kind of a base hit, and Kraft was laughing when he pulled up at second base.

DON'T WEAKEN NOW.

THE HOPE OF A PENNANT FOR WICHITA FALLS IS GONE—BUT A PLUCKY, FIGHTING BALL CLUB DID ITS BEST AGAINST ACCIDENTS, INJURIES AND MISFORTUNES THAT WOULD HAVE DUMPED INTO THE BASEMENT A CLUB WITH LESS FIGHTING HEART. AND THE FIGHT IS NOT YET OVER, FANS. THE BOYS HAVE A CRUEL BATTLE ON THEIR HANDS TO KEEP THEIR LEAD OVER THE DALLAS MARINES FOR SECOND PLACE. DALLAS IS FACING SHREVEPORT, A CLUB THAT HAS ALREADY PARTED WITH ITS TWO GREATEST TWIRLERS, WHILE THE SPUDS MUST CONTINUE TO BATTLE THE PANTHERS' FULL STRENGTH. IT'S UP TO EVERY LOYAL FAN IN THE CITY TO STAY WITH THE BOYS TO THE FINISH; TO FILL THAT GRANDSTAND EVERY DAY AND TO PULL HARD FOR THE SPUDDERS.

The Spuds yesterday got away to a one-run lead in the second inning, when a bad infield peg and a juggled ball in the outfield made it possible to score on one hit.

Danny Clark reached first safely when Topper Rigney, hurrying Danny's grounder to short, whipped the ball low to first. Jake Miller, back in the game but limping badly, forced Danny at second, Kraft to Rigney. Benny Allen caught one of "Buzzer Bill" Whittaker's shoots squarely on the nose—but the pill rode on a line into Coombs' hands in center. Caddy Works drew a base on balls, and Frank Kitchens came through with a clean, hard-hit single to right. Jake limped to third, kept on going and scored while Ziggy Sears was juggling the ball in the outfield. Works, sent home by poor coaching, was an easy out at the plate, Sears to Hoffman to Haworth.

The Spudders had another chance to score in the fourth, when, after McDonald had popped to Kraft, Clark was safe on Stellbauer's error in left field. Miller singled over Haley's head, putting Danny on second—but Benny Allen fanned and Works was tossed out by Whittaker.

The Cats tied the score in the fifth, Kraft leading off with a two-bagger over Tex McDonald's head. The ball ordinarily would have been an easy one to handle, but it bounded sharply off the Bermuda grass and shot over Tex's head so high he was barely able to touch it with his gloved fingers. Hoffman flied out to Miller in left and Kraft went to third while Gross was throwing out Haley. Rigney was safe and Kraft scored when Gross fumbled the former's hit to short. Haworth made the third out, short to first.

The Spudders continued to plug away and in their half of the fifth got Frank Kitchens around to third base with two out—but Danny Gross was unable to find Bill Whittaker for a hit that would score the Spudder backstop. Holly and Whittaker continued to mow down opposing batters with monotonous regularity—until the disastrous eighth.

Ruin in the Eighth.

Holly struck out Whittaker for a starter, then walked Coombs who moved to third when Sears contributed a single to right. With the count 3 and 2 on him, Bill Stellbauer doubled to center, scoring Coombs and putting Ziggy Sears on third. Clarence Kraft then dashed all Spudder hopes with the pitiful, apologetic, weak-lunged little two base push-hit over Works' head described earlier. Sears and Stellbauer scored, and Kraft came home a minute later when Hoffman singled to center. Haley hit to Gross, but Clark dropped Danny's toss to second and Haley and Hoffman were both safe. Rigney flied out to Miller and Holly threw out Haworth.

The Spudders made a last desperate effort in the eighth, but the best they could do was to get two men on the sacks. Jack Johnston, batting for Holly, grounded out to Rigney. Red Josefson dragged one down the first base line and beat it out safely. Buddy Tanner, swinging a stick for Danny Gross, laid one against the left field fence for two bases, Josefson going to third. Buddy's wallop was a hard one, and for several seconds looked good for the circuit. Tex McDonald popped weakly out to Haley and Clark, after working Whittaker into a 3 to 2 hole, went out to Kraft unassisted.

Uncle Jimmy Sewell hurled the ninth frame for the Spudders and struck out Whittaker and Sears and forced Coombs to pop up to Tanner. In the Spuds' half, George Bischoff, batting for Allen, raised the fans' hopes a wee bit when he was hit by a pitched ball, and a minute later stole second. Jake Miller, however, had flied out to left earlier, Works also placed one in Stellbauer's glove and Haley threw out Kitchens.

A crowd of more than 2,000 fans witnessed the game, and gave the Spudders a good hand when they took the field for fielding practice before the battel. Let's turn out just as strongly today, and show Jakey Atz and his Clawin' Cats that the whole City has still got the old fight and hustle, penant or no penant.

WISDOM and WORSE

By C. F. C.

Good-by, ol' flag. You sure didn't know for a long time where you'd spend the winter, eh?

Smile, fans, darn you, smile!

Billy Bee, Fort Worth scribe, sat with us in the press coop on the roof, and Billy had to admit the Spudder fans were good sports when they gave Cecil Coombs a big hand after his sensational catch of Holly's smash in the third inning.

Ah, well, the war's over and we can all afford now to forget the arguments, dissensions, squabbles and sarcasm that flowed wildly free when the old race was hot. We poured it on Fort Worth when we had the chance, and Fort Worth poured it back on us when the tables turned. Every dog has his day.

So many folks have said nice things to us in advance regarding that little book o' baseball verse of ours that is coming out today that we'll be doggoned if we don't half believe we may make enough money out of it to take that vacation after all! Now, we got kinda shoved into this proposition by one or two of our friends, and it's up to all our friends to help pull us out. All we gotta say is that if them there books don't sell, Ed Railey the printer and your Uncle Nick are both going to have a tough winter!

Of course, we could blow our own horn loudly right at this stage of the game, and assert that each copy of this little book is worth at least a ten-spot; that it contains some of the world's greatest literary gems, etc., etc. But Lord! what a liar we'd be! You're the judges of the book's worth. It's intended as a souvenir of the 1921 season. It contains bits of verse about the Spudders, and also about baseball players in general; the verses were written to amuse and entertain the readers of the Record News sport page, and if the book gives you as much pleasure through the winter as the writing of the verses gave us during the summer just closing—why we'll all be happy! And, by gum, we may have a swell vacation at that!

When we received a letter from a Spudder fan in Kansas a week ago we believed that interest in our boys had spread to just about its territorial limit—but yesterday Charlie Smith, former Texas sport writer, contributed an epistle from 'way down in Miami, Fla., picking an All-Star Texas league team, and unburdening himself as follows:

"Having been sports editor of one of the South Texas papers during the greater part of the current season I feel qualified to give my choice of an all-star Texas league team, in compliance with the stories on such that you have been running for the past few weeks. Here it is, and why:

"Catcher, Johnny Brock, San Antonio—He is a heady catcher, a hard hitter, and a fast base runner. Ask Cecil Griggs if little Johnny can't pull off some good stunts when the team is in a hole.

"Pitchers: Do I have to say why I pick the elongated Mutt Williams? Then there is Abe Bowman, who is as good a pitcher as there is in the Texas League, and a perfectly good pill buster. Slim McGrew of Galveston is, in my opinion, no back number when it comes to tossing the kalsomine over the rubber. Bugs Pate, of the Cats, is a hard customer when it comes to working on the mound, and that boy can sure hit, too. And, to cap it all, we might place Jack Hollingsworth on the flingers' list, 'cause that overhead ball of his keeps 'em guessing when the boy is right, and he is usually right, too.

"At first base I would unhesitatingly choose Dutch Schliebner, of Galveston. The boy can get the pegs even if he has to dig a tunnel to scoop 'em up, and he can occasionally bust a fence or two with his drives.

"Second base goes to Mr. Hoffman, who has a bad habit of getting most everything that comes his way, and in addition he hits pretty nearly everything that a pitcher throws at him, usually the short, snappy hit that really counts.

"McDonald, of the Spudders, rightly deserves mention as third sacker. Everybody knows why. Why not give the short stop position to Rigney? He's a pippin at that position, and can hit sometimes when the opposition don't want 'em.

"And as to the outfield, well, there's Shreveport Jackson in left, Joe Connolly, of San Antonio, in center, and Hefty Munson, of Dallas, in right. There's three of the prettiest fielders in the league, and every one of them can hit the old apple when hits are needed most.

"For utility man I would choose Johnny Nee of the Bears, who I might say is one of the most dependable pinch hitters pasttiming in the Texas loop, and at the same time able to hold down any position in the infield or outfield creditably.

"There you are, sir, and I believe that that team could show their heels to any other team in the world, bar none."

WICHITA HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL PROS. ECTS BRIGHT, SAYS HARBAUGH; EIGHT OF LAST YEAR'S TEAM BACK

Football prospects for the local high school eleven look bright, according to A. G. Harbaugh, football coach. Eight of last year's team are back fighting for positions on the eleven.

Twenty-five prospective candidates for the team have been working out regularly for the past week at the Junior High school grounds. Most of the preliminary work consist of passing and kicking the ball, tackling and running with the ball. Scrimmage wark will start later this week.

Coach Harbaugh has the job of building a team around Bill Walker, the 170-lb. fullback, who is said to be the best fullback in this part of the state. Captain Leo Haney is back at center and sure of his position. His husky frame proved a tower of defensive strength on last year's team.

Albert Chewning, the midget quarter, is back after his old job. He proved to be a sensational broken field runner last year. Charlie Miller, former Peacock Military school quarterback, is also trying for that position.

Among the old men to return are Harold Macheckney, Joe Keeval, Bennett Moore, Clifford Waggoner, Go-man Kenley and Haywood Weldon.

Coach Harbaugh is a former Knox college player and has been coaching football teams for a number of years. He coached the Montana Agricultural college for two years, and Tonopah High school eleven at Tonopah, Nevada, for several years.

The team is tackling a strong schedule which includes Electra here on October 8, Burkburnett, Henrietta and Bowie for the first part of the season. After that games will be booked with winning teams from the southern part of the district around Fort Worth.

Owing to the great rivalry between Electra and Wichita Falls high schools, the locals feel that their hardest game comes on October 8th. Electra has defeated local high teams for four years straight, so this year's team wants to avenge every defeat suffered by foregoing teams.

A comparison of the two teams will give Electra the best end, as their winning team of last year comes back almost intact. However, with good coaching, the local eleven may upset precent and defeat Electra. Lack of proper coaching has handicapped the local teams for a number of years, but high school authorities feel that they now have a man who can work wonders with the team.

STANDING IN DAVE. PAUL BAT AND BALL LEAGUE

Only two more days remain for the fans to cast their votes in Dave Paul's silver bat and silver ball contest. Today and tomorrow ballots will be received as usual, and on Thursday afternoon before the last home stand of the Spudders against the Cats, the popular jeweler will have the two beautiful trophies presented to the Spud whose admirers have given him the greatest number of votes. Mayor Cline or Judge Weldon will probably make the presentation speech.

The standing in the contest last night was as follows:

Bescher	1195
McDonald	883

Nearly all ships carry a horseshoe.

Usually it is nailed somewhere in the stern. The horseshoe has been a fetish with sailors ever since Nelson nailed one to the mast of the Victory.

The earth's envelope of air is now estimated to extend for 300 miles above it.

WILL OUTLINE JUNKET PLANS AT LUNCHEON

Plans for the first two of the planned trades excursions, as outlined in an exclusive story in the Sunday Record News, areto be completed at a special meeting of the members of the Business Council, Chamber of Commerce and of the trades extension committee of the Retail Merchants association, in which the dates of the two excursions in question were set—that to Seymour for the Baylor county fair for Friday of this week and that tot Breckenridge, to celebrate the completion of the railroad to that point, for Tuesday of next week.

The Retail Merchants association will sponsor the first trip, which will be made by automobile. The Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the Breckenridge trip, which will be made by special train over the Wichita Falls and Southern.

Tuesday was selected as the date for the trip rather than September 22, which had been entirely selected, on account of the former date being that for the delivery of the charter of the local Shrine temple by the imperial potentate of the order.

Mayor Cline will be the official representative of Wichita Falls on both occasions.

Committees to arrange for details of the trip to Seymour, in which it is hoped to enlist from 50 to 100 cars, were appointed at a meeting of the Retail Merchants association directors Monday afternoon.

J. C. Mytinger, W. O. Beeman and T. P. Duncan were named as a committee to assure representation of the manufacturing interests; Burton Stayton and Jack Barnard of the retailers; and R. E. Penick and Joe B. Harris to take care of the wholesalers. John W. Thomas, J. W. Chatham, Jr. and Bert Bean were named as an advertising and general arrangements committee. Devising distinctive decorations for the cars which take part in the trip will be part of their duties.

SPUDS DIDN'T WANT TO PLAY THE CHICKS ANYWAY--TOO TOUGH

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 12.—Memphis gained clear title to the 1921 Southern Association pennant by defeating Birmingham, 3 to 2, in the first game of today's doubleheader at Birmingham, the victory giving Memphis an eight game advantage over New Orleans, runners-up in the race for the championship and assuring the Chickasaws a lead at the end of the season of at least seven points over New Orleans even should the Pelicans win and Memphis lose all the remaining games.

HURLED FROM TANK CAR TO INSTANT DEATH

Hurled fifteen feet into the air so that his body fell a distance of ten feet from the car, Frank Amen, 27, years of age, world war veteran and employe of the Lone Star Tank Car Co., was almost instantly killed about 9:30 o'clock Monday morning when the dome of an oil tank can was blown off, while the tank was being given a pressure test.

The accident occurred near the company plant, about three miles from town on the Burkburnett road. The deceased was directly over the dome when it was blown from its fastenings, according to witnesses. His head and features were reported crushed almost beyond recognition.

Amen was a member of Co. B., 359th Infantry, of the Ninetieth division and was gassed three times during his active service in the trenches, friends here said. He had been in Wichita Falls about two years and had been in the employ of the Lone Star Tank Co., about one year when his death occurred.

The body was removed to a local undertaking establishment, where it is being held pending the arrival of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Amen of Pilot Point.

Nick's Little Book Will Be a Source of Chuckles This Winter, a Real Souvenir of the 1921 Season. Be Sure and Get Your Copy Early.

Nick Carter's writ a book, they say,
In fact, the guy admits it;
He wants some coin to take a trip,
Here's hoping that he gits it!

His merry wit has chased the clouds
Of sadness from our system;
No matter if the Spuds do lose
And Panther fans all hiss them.

And when the Spudders win a game,
Oh, Boy! There's balm in Gilead;
It's "Hail the Chief," and "The Gang's All Here,"
('Twas Nick wrote Homer's "Illiad.")

So pass the word on to the gang,
If you've got a diamond, hock it;
Be ready to look old Nick in the face
With his jingle book in your pocket.

OFFER KIWANIS CLUB PROGRAM DURING WINTER

An offer by Dr. Stout of Texas Woman's college, and lieutenant governor of this district of Kiwanis clubs, to furnish the Wichita Falls Kiwanis club with a musical program by talented and nationally known performers this fall was made public Monday at the Kiwanis luncheon by Dr. M. H. Hoover, president of the club.

"Such an entertainment will enable the Kiwanis club to raise money to carry on some of its proposed plans for civic betterment and park improvement work, by loaning the well known artists on the teaching staff of this college, and will supply a need in this city this fall for high class attractions of this nature," Dr. Hoover said.

The services of the artists, which Dr. Stout has put at the disposal of the local club will be free, deducting only for the actual expenses of bringing them here, he said. While no action was taken on the offer, it is understood that the club is grateful to Dr. Stout and will consider the offer.

Repartee took the place of the announced reports on the district convention of Kiwanis clubs at San Antonio attended by local delegates, and charges and counter charges were hurled back and forth, making it in all a good natured gathering. Excellent music by Miss Mary Clark, violinist, and Miss Louise Clark, harpist, added to the program of the day.

Julian Bobo, district trustee, expressed the feeling of the local delegation at the inspiring talks and other features of the convention and said that the spirit of fellowship and co-operation between the different representatives of the Texas and Oklahoma clubs was such as to prove the value of Kiwanis as a factor in civic life. Mr. Bobo said there was so much to be told about the convention he would hold part of the report over to a later date at which time he would deal more in detail on some of the stunts shown and the ideas brought out.

As soon as Mr. Bobo finished Joe Stokes took the floor, (and in justice to Ben Neal it should be said that the whole matter smacks of a frame-up), and proceeded to reveal some of the inner secrets of the secretary's conduct while "fraternizing" with the Oklahoma City Kiwanis delegation. Ben's protest that the testimony should be thrown out was to no avail. Doc Hoover, president of the local club and another delegate, failed to utter anything in defense of his fellow member.

As Joe Art gave the silent boosts, why should he not win the attendance prize? He did. What it was nobody seemed to know since it was wrapped up and carried the legend, "Do Not Open 'Til Christmas." Harry Baum wielded the chairman's gavel with great gusto.

Three new members, Joe Sherrod, Charles Nolen and Jim Barnard, were greeted with a welcome address by Raymond Myers.

SHASTA LAND OF WONDERS.

Shasta county, California, is the land of wonders. The latest is the dancing egg. It is laid by an as yet undetermined insect on the leaves of oak trees. Masses of these eggs cling to the under side of the leaf and as they advance toward maturity they drop to the ground and dance about. By holding an oak twig containing any number of eggs to one's ear a cracking sound may be heard, like the spitting of electric sparks. The shell contains a tiny grub, working for release. In many towns collections of the eggs are on exhibition. When laid on a table these eggs bound about and spring into the air, sometimes to a height of sixteen inches. They are particularly active in the early morning.

FROM AROUND THE STATE

HEREFORD

HEREFORD, Texas, Sept. 12.—Ten more cases of Old Scotch, two cases of alcohol and one case of beer have been seized in this section, this time in Parmer county, near Bovina. The officer who made the haul was Deputy Sheriff Press Abbott of Bovina. A Stevens roadster containing two young men and the hootch was snared by the alert officer just before sundown. The men were given an examining trial before Justice of the Peace at Farwell and their bonds set at $500 and $1000. One of them made the bond but at last reports the second man was still in jail. It was a Stevens roadster that got away the night Sheriff Purcell made his memorable haul here in the spring.

CLARENDON

CLARENDON, Texas, Sept. 12.—A big hog sale was recently held at Silver Cress hog ranch, the home of F. M. Clark of Hedley. Six hundred people were present and gilts sold as high as $510, some to be shipped out of the state.

CISCO

CISCO, Texas, Sept. 12.—The Pleasant Hill Marketing association which in the last year of its activity shipped more than $100,000 worth of live stock to the market has been revived. It had been defunct for two years. Fifty farmers met, revived the association and decided to start with a shipment of hogs and sheep on September 20. More than 300 farmers are members of the association.

"Putnam is taking business which rightfully belongs to Cisco," is the complaint of the Daily News, which says "Putnam is providing adequate marketing facilities for the farmer and Cisco is not. All the cotton the country round is going to Putnam and the farmers gin."

Miss Ava Lucille Vernon of Wichita Falls, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. C. Green, returned home Friday.

Miss Nora Stewart of Wichita Falls was in the city yesterday.

NEWCASTLE

NEWCASTLE, Texas, Sept. 12.—R. A. Choat, of the First National was in Wichita Falls on business matters.

W. P. and Mrs. Slaton have returned from their ten days' motor trip through Memphis, Plainview, Lubbock and other Panhandle points. W. P. is back on the job at Thomas-Slaton & Burris' greatly refreshed by his outing and ready for a big fall business promised in 20 cent cotton.

Speaking of the visit to this city of the Baylor county Fair visitors the Newcastle Register carried the following: "Sixteen "autofuls" of live wire boosters from Seymour honored Newcastle with a visit Wednesday. They were out on a tour in the interest of the Baylor County Fair at Seymour on September 15, 16 and 17. They had a band along with them and gave us a street concert interspersed with glad hand speeches. The principal speaker was Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, editor of the Wichita Falls Record News, and a West Texas booster from Boosterville, State of Utellum. From here this delegation turned west to Throckmorton and the Register is sure Newcastle appreciated this visit and is sending our ball team up there next week to help entertain the Fair crowds."

ARCHER CITY

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Sept. 12.—Archer City schools began today. There was a very large enrollment. Archer City has a first class school and eight and one-half credits to start with this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dillard and son of Wichita Falls visited relatives here last week.

Charles S. Richardson, one of the leading business men of Archer County, predicts a fair share of prosperity owing to the recent advance in the price of cotton and the hopeful outlook for the live stock industry. R. E. Lee, who speaks for Henry Ford in Archer City and vicinity, is another business man who is optimistic over the business outlook.

BELLEVUE.

BELLEVUE, Texas, Sept. 12.—Upwards of a hundred bales of cotton have been ginned here since the season began.

Miss Lelia Smith is visiting in Wichita Falls.

GOREE.

GOREE, Texas, Sept. 12.—Cotton is two or three weeks earlier and is opening very rapidly. Schools of Knox county will begin earlier this year than for several years past. Goree, Munday and Gillespie public schools began last week. Benjamin public school began today while Knox City will open for the new term the coming Tuesday.

Evangelist Joseph S. Walker will begin a meeting for the Church of Christ at Munday this evening. He is a noted advanced teacher of the Bible.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Prices were called to Wichita Falls on account of the death of Mrs. Prices' father which occurred Friday last.

Editor E. L. Covey of the Advocate gave Congressman Lucian W. Parrish a big boost in his paper last week and advised the Democrats of Texas to elect Mr. Parrisch to the United States Senate.

H. H. Brooks has bought a half interest in the Southwestern Journal published at Knox City and will be the business manager of the paper. L. B. Hammock will continue to act as editor. Mr. Brooks is a brother to Dr. Samuel Palmer Brooks, president of Baylor University.

"With banners flying and horns honking, more than a score eof cars filled with business men, lawyers, ministers and newspaper men entered Goree, and soon Main street was filled with people to meet the visitors," says the Goree News of this week. "The bands of both Goree and Seymour entertained with some very fine selections. The Hon. Ollie Newton of Seymour made an address in which he discussed the Baylor County Fair and what they proposed to do this year. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, editor of the Record News of Wichita Falls, made a short address in which he complimented the Goree band and the fine country about here.

SEYMOUR.

SEYMOUR, Texas, Sept. 12.—A slow and steady downpour of rain began falling here at an early hour this morning. It is still raining and about one-half inch had fallen to nine o'clock today. The rain has extended over the entire county. Very little damage will result to cotton and it will be of immeasurable benefit to grass and prepared land for fall sowing.

BRITISH PRINCE MAY SHATTER JAP CUSTOMS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 12.—When President Harding wishes to visit the theater, as he does from time to time, he mentions the fact to the White House head usher a few hours in advance, and the head usher telephones the manager of the theater to make sure the presidential box is reserved. The Secret Service is also notified, in order that operatives may be stationed in various parts of the audience, a precaution never neglected since the fatal shooting of Abraham Lincoln in the old Ford Theatre here.

At first sight this seems a bit complicated, but in reality it is as simple so far as the president himself is concerned, as when Bill Jones or John Doe go to the movies. There is no long-drawn-out discussion as to the propriety of the visit, or the effect it may have upon the country at large, and the President and Mrs. Harding have been known to decide upon a theater party only a few hours in advance of the event.

In Japan matters are not so simple. There mere suggestion that the Japanese Crown Prince might entertain the Prince of Wales when he arrives in Japan next spring by taking hi mto the theatre has aroused a controversy which is spreading throughout the Empire. For a member of the Imperial household to visit a theater frequented by ordinary human beings is absolutely unprecedented, and a not inconsiderable portion of the more conservative Japanese are scandalized at the thought of such a thing, according to diplomatic reports received in Washington.

Liberals Favor Browen Barriers.

Nevertheless, there is undoubtedly a large liberal element, including some powerful liberal leaders and a few of the more conservative who are eager to see some of the old barriers between the Imperial household of the people broken down. Indeed, according to a statement attributed to an officer of the household, one of the motives for the European tour of the Crown Prince Hirohito was to enable him to observe the relations between the royalty of Europe and the subjects.

So far has the talk of entertainment of the Prince of Wales n Tokio proceeded that theatrical managers in the Japanese capital are already vying with each other as to whether they will have the privilege of being the first to entertain any member of the Japanese Imperial family, and at the same time provide amusement for the future King of England.

The plan to make a visit to some Tokio theatre a part of the Prince of Wales' entertainment was suggested partly because of the fact that the same sort of entertainment was provided for the Crown Prince of Japan in London. The influential newspaper Yomiuri, commenting on the decision of the Department of the Imperial Household to give consideration to such a programme, recalls the fact that several years ago, when the National Literary Society was founded in Tokio, with Takejiro Tokonami, the Home Mission at its head, it was planned to have some Imperial person visit the theatre, but the widespread objections made the scheme impossible.

Precedent at Variance.

Under the Japanese theory a theatre where the Emperor visits would have to be regarded as an extension of the Imperial household. Sanitary and police precautions must be taken on the responsibility of the authorities of the Imperial Household Department.

In addition there is the all-important matter of precedent. No imperial personage ever before in the history of Japan visited a theatre publicly. Breaking this precedent is regarded as a most serious matter.

If the British heir should visit a theatre the Japanese Crown Prince would have to accompany his guest. Possibly the Empress would also be a member of the party. Widely ramifying complications are expected as a result of this record-breaking innovation in the affairs of the Imperial household.

When Prince Arthur of Connaught visited the Kabukize, 40,000 yen or more was spent in fitting up the theatre for his reception. If the British heir is to visit a Japanese theater, the concensus of opinion points to the Imperial Theatre as the most likely to be selected. In account of the competition among the atrical managers for the honor, the authorities are keeping all their plans and preparations secret.

GUNPOWDER INVENTION.

The Chinese were long credited with the invention of gunpowder, but not long ago evidence was adduced to indicate that this is a mistake, and that the Arabians did not as commonly supposed, introduce gunpowder into Europe during the eighth and ninth centuries, says the Washington Star. It is believed by the most competent authorities now that the manufacture of the first gunpowder was based upon the "Fire Book" of Marcus Graecus, which appeared in Constantinople about the middle of the thirteenth century. This was the source from which Roger Bacon, Albertus Magnus and Thomas Aquinas derived their knowledge of gunpowder. The first use of gunpowder to drive projectiles is ascribed to a monk, Berthold Schwartz, whose discovery was made accidentally while preparing the mixture for medicinal purposes.

JEALOUSLY GUARD CHAPEL.

The most jealously guarded apartment in England is that known as the chapel of the Pyx. The vault is only accessible through double doors, opened by on fewer than six keys and permission to enter requires the signature of the chancellor of the exchequer, the financial secretary of the treasury and the controller of the exchequer. Once the treasury of the kings of England, this immense strong underground chamber was used until the year 1904 for the safekeeping of the gold and silver standards used every five years by the mint authorities. Toward the close of that year, however, these standards were transferred, together with other valuables, to the royal mint on Tower hill, and the vault now holds little or nothing to tempt an enterprising burglar.

WELL FURNISHES COOL AIR FOR REFRIGERATOR

By Associated Press.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 12.—An artesian well which years ago ceased to produce water and now sends forth a strong blast of cold, dry air is the property of Mrs. Jacob Lowenstein, who uses it to cool the refrigerator, to dry the washing and to keep the house cool in hot weather.

At one time, Mrs. Lowenstein said, the air blast was so strong that its roar could be heard a block away. Neighbors complained and an attempt was made to close the well by filling it with sand and gravel, but the current was so strong that the stones were blown out of the shaft.

Mrs. Lowenstein then had the well capped and arranged a system of faucets by which she floods her house with the cold air as she desires. It has replaced ice in her refrigerator and dries the washing in less than an hour. During the hot months her home is popular with the neighbors whose electric fans are ineffective in comparson to Mrs. Lowenstein's cold air blast. In rainy weather a blast of the dry air drives out the dampness in a short time.

The well was driven thirty-seven years ago and since it went dry has poured forth the air current continuously and without variation in force. George Sanzenbacker, engineer of the Newark Water Department has examined the well and is unable to give any explanation for the phenomenon. It is seventy-nine feet deed and far the first ten years produced excellent water.

COTTON HAS UNEASY DAY ON STORMS

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. — There was a continuance of excitement and further violent fluctuations in the cotton market here today. An early advance on the Texas storm scare met heavy general selling, much of which seemed to come from the South, and it was followed by a break which, in the case of October, was not checked until it brought the maximum fluctuation rule into play. That delivery held off from 21.50, the early high point, to 19.50 and closed at 19.57. The break in late months was less severe and last prices were several points up from the lowest, but the final tone of the market was easy at a net decline of 80 to 120 points.

The influence of the Texas storm news was shown by a sensational advance in Liverpool before the local opening and after starting irregularly at an advance of 25 points to a decline of 7 points, active months sold 20 to 75 points net higher. At 21.18 for December and 20.65 for January, the market met increased offerings, which included heavy Southern selling supposedly to hedge purchases of spot cotton in the belt. There was good buying for trade account on a scale down and after showing net losses of about 90 to 125 points, the market rallied sharply, but weakened again during the afternoon under continued heavy liquidation and hedging. December broke to 19.40 and January to 19.10, with active months showing declines of 130 to 200 points from the best. Reports that the gulf storm, which appeared threatening toward the end of last week, was passing out to sea, and a private report placing the midmonth condition of the crop at 47, whic hindicated no more than the average deterioration since the end of last August, were considered factors on the decline. There was also a feeling that the Texas storm had been chiefly injurious to the grade of open cotton, and that any cotton lost in the bottom lands might be offset by the filling out of bolls elsewhere. Most of the local brokers, however, attributed the break to liquidation in an averbought market.

N. O. COTTON MARKET.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12.—After a very brief show of strength on the opening today the cotton market fell off under liquidation of long contracts, remained depressed and finally closed at net losses on the session of 80 to 110 points. It was a day of wide and nervous fluctuations and while there were many partial recoveries, the strength that has been so prominent of late was missing.

The opening bulge was due to a sharp rise in Liverpool and to a multitude of telegrams from Texas telling of enormous damage to the crop in that state by excessive rains, high winds and washouts of last week but after October touched 21.00 cents a pound the selling out by longs commenced and a sharp break resulted which landed prices 50 to 105 points under the close of last week.

For a while the tone was steadier and partial recoveries came about but these always invited further liquidation so that prices moved up and down with rather moderate limits until bulletins from the weather bureau indicating that the hurricane was moving out into the Atlantic and away from the cotton region had their effect. Then there were further breaks. Added selling resulted in continued weakness of foreign exchange and lowest prices were reached on rumors of the possibility of a moratorium for Germany. Here the more active months were 110 to 112 points under close of Saturday, October falling 19.03. In the late trading the market was highly unsettled and price changes were made in a nervous manner. Just on the close there were small upturns and the last bid on October was at 19.15.

CALF MARKET BRISK AND UP FIFTY CENTS

FORT WORTH, Sept. 12.—The calf market was unusually brisk today with about five buyers after calves and around 3,000 head offered. Prices gained 50c despite the fact that quality was common. No choice light calves were here and the market on that class was not tested, but a car of heavies, averaging over 300 pounds, sold at $6.50. Steers sold on a steady basis and on cows and yearlings the trade carried a strong tone. Cattle receipts were 2,000 head.

Shippers and outside buyers secured practically all the good hogs that were available out of the 1,500 head supply. The market was active and steady. Order buyers paid $8.60 and $8.50 for several cars, but the packer top was $8.40. Bulk sales ranged from $8.25 to $8.60. Pigs sold at $6.50 to $7.00.

About 2,000 head were yarded in the sheep division, but around 1,500 were stocker lambs for which the demand was weak. Killers remained steady. Some ewes brought $3.00 and plain lambs sold at $5.00. Quotations:

COUNTRY WITHOUT NAVY, ARMY OR NATIONAL DEBT

By Associated Press.

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Sept. 12.—A country without an army, without a navy, without a national debt and without an income tax; where the romance of the South Seas still lives, and where every male reaching the age of sixteen years must own eight and one-quarter acres of land to sustain his own family—a statute obligation which is fulfilled by a magnanimous government granting him the land gratis.

Such is Tonga, the last remaining native kingdom in the Pacific ocean, according to the description furnished by Tui Vakanao, premier of the island, who was here recently.

Premier Vakanoa said that the people of Tonga are very contented. They have their own monarch, ministry, flag and parliment of seven members elected by the people and an equal number chosen by the nobles or hereditary chiefs.

At the end of last March, Premier Vanakoa said the kingdom had a surplus of more than 100,00 pounds revenue over its expenditure after paying for all public works.

Males reaching the age of sixteen are granted their land and must plant enough cocoanuts, yams and other food to sustain their families and to pay their educational tax, which practically completes their civic duties, he said.

The premier has an attractive personality. His English is excellent, although he confesses to a slight timidity because all his education was obtained in a Tongan school. He has been premier since 1912.

WHEAT HAS SETBACK ON MONEY NEWS

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Sharp setbacks in the price of wheat took place today with traders giving special attention to new low record quotations for German marks and to a decided increase of the United States visible supply. Prices closed heavy 3 1-2 to 4 1-2 cents net lower. December 129 to 129 1-4 and May 1.33 1-2 to 1.33 1-2.

Corn lost 1-4 to 4-8@3-4 cents, and oats 5-8 to 1 cent. In provisions the outcome was unchanged to 30 cents down.

Wheat finished near the lowest point of the day. Bears put particular stress on the demoralization of German marks as indicating a poor outlook for export trade.

Corn and oats declined with wheat. Frost reports from South Dakota, and Wisconsin appeared to have practically no effect on values. Provisions were governed by the hog market, which at first was steady, but later had an evident downward slant.

Oats increased 1,947,000 bushels.
Rye decreased 195,000 bushels.
Barley increased 509,000 bushels.

STOCKS RULED BY SETIMENTAL CONSIDERATION

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The reactionary course of today's stock market seemed to be governed to an unwonted degree by sentimental and technical considerations. Irregular reversals accompanied the forenoon's trading, but leaders made up much of their loss later, only to fall back again in the final hour.

Another turbulent session in the cotton market and some reduction of available call and time funds also figured in the unstable but fairly extensive dealings. Sales approximated 700,000 shares.

Last week's favorites of the oil, steel, equipment and motor groups, notably Mexican petroleum, Baldwin and American Locomotive, Bethlehem, Crucible and United States Steels and Studebaker, sustained net losses of one to three half points.

Sugars, tobaccos, chemicals and shippings also registered declines of 1 to 4 points.

Dealers in exchange were prepared for the additional slump in German exchange, London quoting a new low record before the opening of this market.

French, Belgian, Italian and Spanish bills also were down.

Trading in bonds diminished from last week's activity and price changes were mostly towards lower levels. This applied to liberty issues and most of the foreign war flotations, but a few convertible rails made slight gains. Total sales, par values $10,775,000.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.
THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF WICHITA COUNTY, GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to summon unknown owners of Lot 5, Block 53, in the city of Electra, Wichita County, Texas, by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the Eighty-ninth District Court of Wichita County, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls on the first Monday in October, A. D., 1921, the same being the 3rd day of October, A. D., 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 12th day of August, A. D., 1921, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 11360-C wherein John Houser is plaintiff and unknown owners of Lot 5, Block 53, in the city of Electra, Texas, is defendant and said petition alleging that the city of Electra is a city duly incorporated under the laws of the State of Texas and as a part of its charter has adopted the benefit of the provisions of chapter 11, title 22 of the Revised Statute of 1911 and in compliance with said law ordered street improvements to be done the street known as Gleason avenue in said city and ordered said street to be paved. Whereas in compliance with the provisions of said law an assessment against said lot 5 in block 53 and against the unknown owners thereof in the sum of $259.00 was made on account of the pro rata cost of said paving. That all provisions in law required were done. That on January 13, 1920, the city of Electra by and through its mayor and city secretary, issued to J. N. Jordan, contractor, an assignable certificate in compliance with said law, for the sum of $259.00 assessed against said lot 5 in block 53 aforesaid, and against the owner thereof on account of said paving. That under said certificate one payment was due on Jantuary 13, 1921, for the sum of $51.80 which is long past due and unpaid and it has become necessary to file suit and foreclose the whole indebtedness of $259.00 that said indebtedness bears interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum and reasonable attorney fees in case suit is brought. That such attorneys fees is $150.00. That in the early summer of 1921 said city of Electra by reason of the taxes on said lot 5, block 53, in the amount of $51.19 having not been paid, sought by law to subject lot 5, block 53, to sale. That to protect his intrest it became necessary for plaintiff to pay off the taxes in arrears on said lot 5 in block 53 in the sum of $51.19. That plaintiff is now the owner by said assignment of said certificate and the liens and rights thereunder. That the owners of said lots are unknown.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays for citation by publication as required by law for judgment establishing his debt and lien and awarding him the amount of taxes paid against said property and the unknown owners thereof and for foreclosure of said lien for cost of suit, attorney fees, etc.

WARM DAY FOR THIS NEWLYWED

Despite the cooling influences of "Job's comforters" Monday was a warm day for W. J. Webb, secretary of local masonic bodies.

It all happened, according to certain well known masons because late last week, Mr. Webb was at last enrolled among the lists of benedicts.

The entertainment was begun early Monday afternoon when Deputy Sheriff H. C. Dakan very guilelessly requested the victim to visit his office on business. Here he was informed that he was under arrest on a serious charge, but with surprising agility managed to affect his escape.

Running the gamut of known methods for harassing newly weds, the entertainment reached its heighth, when with Joe Ward as captain of the "torture squad," Mr. Webb was almost forcibly torn from his home about 10 o'clock Monday night and whisked away in an automobile.

He was taken to a local swimming pool, and partially clad forced to slide down a chute the chute into the water while his erstwhile fraternal brothers gave helpful advice on "what is the proper way to hit the water."

Permitted to reclothe himself with a few articles of raiment the victim was then removed to a busy corner on Tenth street and "permitted" to entertain the public at large with a shimmy dance to the strains of piccolo and trap drum until a policeman approached and then it was suggested he be arrested for appearing in public, so informally clad.

While at the home of Mr. Webb, however, the "torture squad" left a hansome set of aluminum cookery ware the gift of a number of his friends.

BOBO WILL HAVE HEARING TODAY

FORMER POLICEMAN CHARGED WITH MAKING WHISKEY

J. O. Bobo, former police officer, will have a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Lantz today on a charge of having in his possession equipment for the illicit manufacture of liquor.

Bobo was arrested by Constable Morgan and Deputies Lay, Miles and Belcher in connection with the raiding of a house on the Petrolia road where a still and six 54 gallon barrels of mash were captured.

A. R. Barker, who was taken into custody by the officers in connection with the raid, was released and charges against him dismissed when he satisfied officers he had no connection with the still.

WICHITA FALLS WILL BE HOST TO AUTO PARTY

Wichita Falls will be host to the executive officers of the Colorado-to-the-Gulf Highway association next Saturday, when the party which is making an inspection of the entire route from Denver to the Gulf will stop off here.

Entertainment for the visitors during their stay here will consist of a luncheon by the Wichita Falls Automotive Dealers association, according to F. D. Keim, president of the association, in charge of details.

The party was scheduled to leave Denver Monday, arriving in Texline Wednesday afternoon and in Amarillo Thursday night. Stops will be made at the principal towns along the route, according to the plans.

TAX COLLECTIONS WILL COMMENCE ON OCTOBER 1

County, state and poll tax collections will begin promptly on October 1, according to County Tax Collector Tittle, despite delay in the preparation of the tax rolls through delay in getting the state tax rate. Amounts of taxes will be obtained from the rendition books, it is stated, while the preparation of the tax rolls will be rushed to completion as early in the "tax paying season" as possible.

TEXAS FARM LANDS HAVE VALUE BOOST

Special to the Record News

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. — A heavy increase in the value of farm land and buildings; a decrease in the number of farms and a pretty general increase in the number of farms operated by negroes are the outstanding points in the reports issued today by the Census Bureau for a dozen counties in Northeastern and Central Texas.

The total values of farm land and buildings and the percentages of increase from 1910 to 1920 for these counties is as follows: Fannin, $58,664,320, an increase of 214.3%; Grayson, $57,907,158, an increase of 142.4%; Hill, $60,500,481, an increase of 100.3%; Hunt, $56,717,424, on increase of 200.2%; Kaufman, $52,865,157, an increase of 248.9%; Lamar, $50,284,893, an increase of 232.9%; Limestone, $33,830,945, an increase of 93.5%; McLennan, $57,922,731, an increase of 79%; Milam, $30,269,368, an increase of 104.6%; Navarro, $57,523,038, an increase of 168.2%; Rockwall, $17,824,355, an increase of 231.3%; Travis, $34,601,078, an increase of 54.9%.

The number of farms increased in Kaufman, Lamar, Limestone, Milam, Navarro and Rockwall counties and decreased in the remainder of the counties in this report. The number of farms in these counties is given as follows: Fannin, 6,338; Grayson, 5,589; Hill, 4,959; Hunt, 5,135; Kaufman, 4,398; Lamar, 6,831; Limestone, 5,095; McLennan, 5,709; Milam, 5,605; navarro, 6,293; Rockwall, 1,075; and Travis, 3,469.

The number of negro farmers in Rockwall county increased an even 500% between 1910 and 1920, there having been 27 in the former year and 162 in the latter. Navarro county, with 1,587 negro farmers, has the largest number in any of the counties in today's report, while Kaufman, Lamar, Limestone, McLennan and Milam each has more than 1,000 negro farmers. The number of negro farmers increased 21% in Hill county; 8.4 in Hunt; 60.9 in Kaufman; 31.9 in Lamar; 28.4 in Limestone, 2.2 in McLennan; 11.2 in Milam; 61 in Navarro; and 6.9 in Travis. The only decreases in the number of colored farmers were 9.8 in Fannin county and 0.3 in Grayson.

The number of tenants on farms increased during the ten-year period in Kaufman, Lamar, Limestone, Milam, Navarro, Rockwall and Travis counties; and decreased in Fannin, Grayson, Hill, Hunt and McLennan.

With the exception of Navarro and Rockwall counties, which showed respectively 1% and 1.4% increase, every county in this report shows a decrase in the number of acres in farms in 1920. Several of these counties, however, show an increased percentage in the number of improved farms, showing a tendency to smaller farms, but greater improvement of these farms.

The number of acres in farms in the twelve counties for which the report is made is as follows: Fannin, 460,727; Grayson, 508,520; Hill, 500,570; Hunt, 482,751; Kaufman, 397,980; Lamar, 450,761; Limestone, 462,388; McLennan, 568,590; Milam, 480,353; Navarro, 565,919; Rockwall, 85,480; Travis, 479,675.

TEXAS TAKES FIRST RANK WITH MOHAIR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—While Texas ranks first in the production of wool and mohair as well as in the production of butter on farms, still it is not among the leading states in the value of livestock products from farms, as shown by a report of the census bureau made public.

The total value of all livestock products, which does not include the value of livestock sold or slaughtered, for the United States at large in 1919 was $2,667,738,931, and increase of 126.5 per cent. Of this amount the value for Texas was $87,899,772, compared with $38,097,904 in 1909, an increase of more than 100 per cent.

The states reporting the largest values for live stock products in 1919 were New York, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Iowa, each of which exceeded $130,000,000. New York lead with $225,465,739. Compared with this the total value of livestock products in Texas is comparatively small, although the increase in the ten years covered by the census was entirely satisfactory.

Seven states reported dairy products valued at more than $70,000,000. Wisconsin led with $180,306,599 and New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Minnesota, Illinois and Michigan followed in the order named. The value of the dairy products of Texas for 1919 was $32,999,946, compared with $15,679,924 in 1909. This also showed an increase of more than 100 per cent.

The total value of chickens raised and eggs produced in the United States in 1919 was $1,047,989,919, an increase of 105.8 per cent. The states reporting the largest values for chickens and eggs in 1919 were Iowa with $70,212,544, followed by Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana, each with more tran $50,000,000. The total value of chickens and eggs in Texas for 1919 was $43,440,899, compared with $19,424,711 in 1909.

Texas led all states in the production of wool and mohair, with a total value for 1919 of $10,422,304, compared with $2,670,561 in 1909. Montana and Ohio each had a total value of more than $10,000,000 and Wyoming, Idaho and Oregon were only slightly below this figure.

The total value of the wool and mohair produced in the United States in 1919 was $124,006,768, of which it may be seen that Texas produced about one-twelfth. The value of wool and mohair for 1909 in the whole country was $66,373,925.

California led all the states in the production of honey and wax, with Texas a close second in 1919. Out of a total value for the United States of $14,230,155 in 1919, the California product of honey and wax was valued at $1,133,990, with Texas second with a value of $1,007,123. Other leading states in the production of honey were New York, Iowa and Wisconsin.

War on a Big Landlord; Or the Story of Wm. Scully

Pledge of a Scully Tenant

He must "break out" each year as many acres of new land as the agent of the estate requires.

He must sow at least a fourth of his acreage to small grains each year.

He must sow some alfalfa.

He must rotate crops, fertilize the soil and make necessary improvements.

TOPEKA, Sept. 12.—British aristocracy has a hard time in democratic Kansas.

While tenants on the farms of the Scully estate in Missouri and Illinois are reported well satisfied with the 20 per cent reduction in rents just announced, the Kansas farmers are holding out for a 40 per cent cut.

It has been so always.

In the early '90's a Populist legislature in Kansas passed an alien property law, forcing William Scully, then a British subject, to become a citizen of the United States in order to hold his land in Kansas.

Made Him Hunt New Tenants

When "Lord" Scully, as Kansas called him, incorporated a clause in his leases requiring his tenants to sow at least 20 per cent of the land they rented to alfalfa, it was Kansas farmers who refused to sign the leases and forced the owner to seek a hundred or more new tenants.

It was Kansas that gained additional concessions from the Scully estate, continually by a constant cry against absentee landlordism.

It was Kansas tenants, who no more than three weeks ago, announced a rebellion against high rents and forced the recent reduction.

And now it is Kansas that is holding out for a still greater cut in rents.

Lands Valued at 25 Millions

The Scully estate, founded about 1850 by William Scully, an Irish immigrant, is credited with owning more than two hundred thousand acres of rich farm land in Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas. The value of the land is estimated at more than 25 million dollars.

Scully obtained much of the land from the government at $1.25 an acre and much of it he got for even less from soldiers returned from the Mexican war, who had been granted land scrip and were glad to part with it for a small amount of cash.

His first land purchases were made in Logan County, Illinois. Illinois was practically the "edge of cultivation" then, but Scully pushed westward, traveling on horseback over Missouri and Kansas, examining soil over great areas and taking up lands which appealed to him.

Lived in United States

He lived in the United States practically continuously from the time of his first arrival here, but he did not become a citizen until forced to do so. He then took up a residence in Washington, which he maintained until his death in 1906.

The estate now is owned by William Scully's two sonss, Frederick and Thomas.

A rule of the family to never sell any land has been violated only once. William Scully is said to have sold a farm, many years ago, to a friend who had done him a kindness.

Tenants Are Treated Well

The Scully tenants are treated well as a rule, and generally are satisfied. Many of them have themselves become wealthy under the Scully plan of tenantry.

The Scully farms are leased only on terms of a straight cash rent, based on acreage. Tenants are required to provide their implements and all improvements, except wells, cisterns, foundations for buildings and shade and fruit trees. They are, however, encouraged to use modern methods and equipment. The estate always has shared losses in years when crops have failed.

The cut in rents announced last week came promptly when tenants demanded a reduction.

But Kansas says it isn't enough.

DISBURSEMENTS OF COUNTY TOTAL $1,740,431.40

Disbursements in Wichita county since the first of the year have amounted to $1,740,431.40, W. W. Murphy, county auditor, reported to the county commissioners Monday. This money was paid out through more than 4,000 accounts, and discounts saved the county by prompt payments of bills had amounted to more than $5,000, he reported. He made the report in asking permission to employ an additional assistant in his office, a request which was granted by the commissioners. In making the request, he said that during the road building program sufficient extra work as to require his entire personal time was necessary.

AUSTIN BELLMEN GIVEN WHIPPING

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 12.—Two negro men, both about 35 years old, were taken to a lonely spot in the country tonight and whipped. The negroes were Sherman White and Theodore Feamster. Both are bell boys in two of the smaller hotels of Austin. After being whipped they were dumped out of an automobile on Congress avenue and ordered to go to the Austin American office and tell a reporter the story of the whipping.

Glass making is one of the great national industries in Belgium. There is scarcely a civilized nation in the wirld that is not more or less dependent on Belgium for window glass, mirrors and table glass.

Gondolas, those fascinating water taxis of Venice, are to be put into commission on the Thames. A London builder is fabricating a fleet from real Venetian models. All the comfortable fittings will be provided.

An odd suggestion was recently made as to conserving wheat. It is proposed to crush or rough grind wheat, then soften with super-heated steam and compress in hard blocks and store until wanted, when a simple crushing process would fit it for flour manufacture.

Seamless boats are now molded out of thin steel. A plate of the metal is run into a huge hydraulic press, which forces or stamps it into the form of a boat and turns it out virtually ready for the sea.

The sun is only due south in the heavens at noon on four days in the year.

MAYOR'S CAMPAIGN CLOSES IN NEW YORK FOR REPUBLICANS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The liveliest primary campaign New York has seen in many years closed tonight with the spotlight focused on the four-cornered contest tomorrow for the Republican nomination for mayor.

More than 1,000,000 enrolled Republicans and Democrats are entitled to express their preference as to candidates for city, county and borough office and for the assembly. It will be the first mayoralty campaign in which women can vote.

As Tammany Hall, has redesignated John F. Hylan for mayor and there are comparatively few contests of importance among the Democrats, the main public interest is in the Republican mayoralty nomination. All the candidates—Henry H. Curran, president of the Borough of Manhattan, F. H. Leguardi, president of the board of aldermen, Judge Reuben L. Haskell, of Brooklyn and former supte senator W. M. Bennett, of Brooklyn, expressed themselves as confident of victory.

KEMP EXPECTS BOND SALE TO BE CONSUMATED

"We are working away at the proposition—it is a big one and requires time," was the reply of J. A. Kemp, chairman of the board for irrigation District No. 1, when questioned with regard to negotiations for the sale of the irrigation district bonds.

He expects to make a definite announcement in a couple of days more, he said. Mr. Kemp said, however, that authorization for the printing of the bonds had been given, and the contract let to a St. Louis house.

RESIGNS AS LABOR BODY TREASURER

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Daniel J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of teamsters, has resigned as treasurer and member of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor and his resignation will be acted on by the executive council at a meeting November 14, according to the current issue of Labor, a Weekly railway union paper.

Disagreement with President Gompers as to representation at the forthcoming unemployment conference was the cause of the resignation, the article says.

The incident which led to Tobin's resignation, the article says, occurred at Atlantic City when Gompers suggested that if he were invited to attend the Harding unemployment conference he would go as an authorized representative of the federation. Mr. Tobin is quoted as having declared that he was not in favor of more talk.

"We are suffering from too much talk in Washington," Mr. Tobin is quoted as saying. "What the unemployed want is work, not more talk. There has been too much running to see Secretary of Labor Davis, too much going to an administration that is unfriendly toward labor. In my opinion the sooner labor officials quit catering to the administration, the better it will be for everybody."

When Tobin's motion was defeated he left the meeting.

Although the water of Niagara Falls is really clear, it appears green as it falls. This is said to be due to carbonic acid gas.

MASEL BROWN WINS ESSAY TEST PRIZE

The Mother Love Essay Contest put on by the Record News offering as prizes passes to the special performances of Goldwyn tremendous production "The Old Nest" showing at the Olympic Theatre 4 days starting Wednesday ended Saturday night. The first prize of ten choice seats was won by Masel Brown, P. O. box 962, Wichita Falls, Texas, and second prize of five seats by Mrs. R. E. Fleming, 1815 Fillmore street.

Winners of single seats are: Miss Ethel Bain, 503 1-2 Seventh street.

The first prize letter follows:

"There is one vision that never fades from the soul and that is the vision of a dear old mother who, so often in your childhood took you to her bosom and healed your little heartaches with kind words and sympathy.

"Mother love and the dear old home is most highly esteemed and honored, than anything else through lifes career. Now in our modern world things are just the same. Home and mother will never change. Its just a world of strife, shut out, and a world of love shut in, "The golden setting in which the brightest jewel is mother.

"Mother will never forsake you no matter how far you may wonder through the paths of shame. That is, if she is a real, true mother, her heart is as dear as gold, she will always gather you into the fold.

"No man in all his weary wonderings ever goes out beyond the overshadowing arch of home. Memories of mother and home are always with him and in his dreams he thinks of home as a little hollow scooped out of the windy hill of the world where he can be shielded by mother love from its cares and annoyance. Let him stand on the surf beaten coast of the Atlantic or roam over western wilds and every dash of wave and murmur of the breeze will whisper—'Home, Sweet Home.'

"Set him down among the glaciers of the north and even there thoughts of home to warm, to be chilled by the eternal frosts, will float in upon him, those memories so dear.

"Let him rove through the green-waving groves and over the sunny slopes of the south and in the smile of the soft skies and in the kiss of the balmy breeze—home will live again."

The winners may call at the ticket office of the Olympic Theatre for their respective prizes.

"DAMON" DOES A "PYTHIAS"

One more discord in a Damon and Pythias friendship was sounded Monday afternoon when a negro woman went into the police station seeking aid in the recovery of $29.00.

"He was a mighty good friend o' my husban'," the negress said, "an' he tol' me my husban' wanted $29 to make bond and get out o' jail."

After the enterprising "friend" had gotten possession of the $29, a part of which the negress was forced to borrow, the erstwhile Damon caught a 2 o'clock train for Fort Worth, officers said.

WHAT MADE THE CHANGE?

This Woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a New Woman

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had bearing-down pains so badly I could hardly stand up. I was white and very thin and nervous, had a poor appetite and only weighed 112 pounds. I took ten bottles without missing one dose and gave it a fair trial. When I finished the last bottle everyone asked me what made the wonderful change in me. I told them about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I recommend it wherever I can. I give you permission to publish this letter to help suffering women as your remedies are a godsend and made a new woman of me."—Mrs. F. A. Baker, 4749 Butler St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Why will women drag around day after day, suffering from backache, bearing-down pains, nervousness and "the blues," enduring a miserable existence when they have such evidence as the above that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable remedy for such troubles. For nearly forty years this grand old root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health.
