Hanoi Warned Against Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House and State Department have issued sharp reminders to the Communists after weighing evidence that Hanoi is infiltrating South Vietnam with men and heavy equipment in violation of the cease-fire agreement.

In virtually identical language, spokesmen for the President and for the secretary of state Tuesday reminded Hanoi publicly as well as through diplomatic channels that the Paris pact specifically forbids an arms buildup in South Vietnam.

Government intelligence sources decline to be specific about the number of men and the amount of material that may have crossed over, but Pentagon officials earlier acknowledged that as many as 30,000 North Vietnamese troops had moved down the Ho Chi Minh trail into Laos.

Also, The Associated Press reported last month that more than 250 tanks had rolled down the supply trail along with several large artillery pieces, armored personnel carriers and large quantities of ammunition.

Any military buildup in Laos caused by another country would, in itself, violate the agreement signed in Paris Jan. 27 by the United States, Hanoi, Saigon and the Viet Cong.

Washington is delaying a formal protest until it can get a clearer idea of Hanoi's intent, the precise amount of infiltration and specific timing of the movements.

In Paris, meanwhile, the Viet Cong issued a statement accusing the Saigon government of violating the agreement by conducting military operations and failing to release civilian prisoners.

On the U.S. side, another reason for diplomatic care is concern for the release of American prisoners still held by the Communists.

And, yet, the stiff stand taken Tuesday at the White House and the State Department represents a considerable change in public attitude.

For example, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Sunday on CBS' Face the Nation: "I am quite optimistic that the agreement will work, that the cease-fire will be effective, that our POWs will all be returned on time, that we will have all of our troops out of there by March 28, and that the cease-fire will continue to be effective."

The change in mood developed first at the White House. Gerald L. Warren, deputy press secretary, was asked the expected question whether President Nixon is concerned about evidence that the agreement is being violated.

"We are adhering to the agreement and we expect all parties to adhere to the agreement," he said.

Warren added: "I can tell you we are using every means of communication that we have to express our position on this subject."

Troop Withdrawal Program Resumes

SAIGON (AP) — The United States temporarily resumed troop withdrawals from South Vietnam today to match the release of 108 American prisoners by North Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced.

Spokesmen said there were 6,926 American troops in South Vietnam as the withdrawal program got underway again.

Troop withdrawals had been halted since Sunday while the United States awaited the release of the prisoners.

The Viet Cong have announced they will release another 32 U.S. POWs in Hanoi Friday.

U.S. spokesmen said by week's end phase three of both the prisoner repatriation and the troop withdrawal will be complete. This means the Communists will have freed about three-fourths of the 585 American prisoners it held Jan. 27 when the cease-fire was signed, while the United States will have withdrawn about 75 per cent of its 23,500 troops.

The Communists still hold 146 American prisoners. They are to be repatriated by March 28, the deadline for the release of all POWs under the cease-fire.

The U.S. delegation to the four-party Joint Military Commission has told the Communists the fourth and final phase of American troop withdrawals will not begin until they turn over the list of the last group of U.S. POWs scheduled for release and fix the date.

At Clark Air Base in the Philippines, Adm. Noel Gayler, commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific, said the rate of American troop withdrawals from Vietnam has been changed so "the last man coming out ... will exactly correspond with the last POW released."

Raging Winds Hit Pampa Area

WIND DAMAGE--Residences and business firms reported various damages from the wind storm which swept across the city Tuesday and continued in diminished form today. The car port of Danny Strawn, 1800 N. Sumner, above, gives evidence of the effect of the strong winds upon structures around the city. (See other photo, Page 2.)

Smart Pampans yesterday were those who ventured out only with bricks in their pockets as westerly winds hit an unofficial 80 miles per hour in gusts.

That unofficial estimate was made at Perry Lefors Field where the greatest wind damage was suffered by...would you believe...the wind gauge!

Officials considered the stress of the instrument and fixed an estimated velocity at which pieces of the gauge took off into the wild blue yonder.

There was some slight hanger damage at the field, but no planes suffered from the buffeting wind.

It was a different story in the city where residents had just breathed sighs of relief that tornadoes over the state had missed the area when the strong westerly winds hit.

First reported damage was the canopy of the service station at Gibson's on Perryton Parkway. This was followed by damage to the north door of city hall and to the police station portal.

Actual ripples in the plate glass windows on the south side of the Hughes building could be seen.

Greatest residential damage was reported from the north part of town where at least a half-dozen carports were lifted away by the force of the winds. Here and there, particularly along Duncan St., crumpled TV masts were spotted and at some addresses yard light standards lay on the lawns or had been caught by hedges.

The giant antenna at Coronado Inn stood bowed over as though praying the winds would cease.

Large sections of roofing material from the Pampa Youth Center building were tossed into the air like so much waste paper and one of the skylights of that structure was also blown out. The TV antenna was bowed over.

Already damaged by the ice storms which struck the city during the late fall and winter seasons, many trees and shrubs lost more branches to the devastating force of the wind.

Tumble weeds rolled into the city, even into the downtown shopping areas, and lodged against fences and houses and trees and underneath some cars.

The wind, coupled with the rays of the sun, aided in drying the ground soaked from the weekend's rain and snow.

Normally, squally Panhandle winds grow calm with gathering darkness but this was not the case Tuesday night as gusts continued to lash the area.

In the midst of it Cabot's twin-engined aircraft landed at Perry Lefors Field with pilots reporting a six and a half hour fight against the prevailing winds on a flight that normally takes two hours or less.

To date, no area injuries from the wind or its damaging effects have been reported.

The rest of the state was not so fortunate, with tornadic winds that overturned a family car near Big Spring, injuring the occupants, and toppled a school bus into a ditch east of Tyler, requiring treatment for 20 injured school children.

Tonight and tomorrow, winds should calm to a mere 20 miles per hour with cloud cover increasing and rain probability standing at 30 per cent.

Lawmakers To Debate Legislative Bribery Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Barring unforeseen delays, the House planned to take up Speaker Price Daniel Jr.'s "legislative bribery" bill today.

Six bills were on the calendar ahead of that key measure in Daniel's "reform" program, however, plus a program by "Athletes in Action," a religious group.

One of the measures ahead of the legislative bribery bill was an endangered species bill which the House tentatively approved Tuesday, 89-52. Sponsored by Rep. Fred Agnich, R-Dallas, the bill would authorize the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to protect non-game animals and to issue regulations safeguarding species in danger of extinction. Certain animals would not be protected, however—coyotes, cougars, bobcats, red foxes and prairie dogs.

The "legislative bribery" bill is designed to prevent speaker candidates and their backers from making promises—or threats—concerning legislation, appointments and possible economic benefits in exchange for votes.

Such tactics were a major criticism against the regime of former Speaker Gus Mutscher and his "team" by a number of House "reformers," including Daniel.

The bill has gone through several rewrites, and still another version was prepared for consideration today as a substitute. Daniel said it was the best so far.

Daniel's legislative bribery bill was the first of his "reform" package to be placed on the calendar following last week's three-day debacle that ended with passage of his ethics bill in a crippled form. Some viewed the weakening of the measure, through the elimination of most of its public financial disclosure provisions, as a sign of poor leadership by the speaker.

"I have butterflies in my stomach," a Daniel ally said of the upcoming legislative bribery debate.

Part of the House-passed lobbyist control bill; another Daniel "reform" measure, was held unconstitutional by Atty. Gen. John Hill Tuesday as it was heard by a Senate committee.

In legislative action Tuesday, the Senate passed to the House, 25-5, a bill prohibiting creation of any new state colleges and universities without approval by two-thirds of the Texas College Coordinating Board. Legislators in the past have routinely ignored board recommendations in the creation of new schools.

"We have created so many new colleges and universities that none of them can ever become a first class school. I think we are destroying higher education in Texas," said Sen. Charles Herring, D-Austin.

Herring said chambers of commerce have come to Austin for new colleges "year after year," but "when you want taxes to pay for them, you can't find these chamber of commerce men."

Sen. H. J. "Doc" Blanchard, D-Lubbock, criticized the bill.

"This takes the right to act on higher education away from the Senate and puts it in the hands of an agency," Blanchard said.

Senators also adopted, 25-5, a resolution asking the coordinating board to make a new study of higher education needs through 1980.

The Senate action coincided with the receipt of a letter to senators and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby from Gov. Dolph Briscoe, asking for restrictions on the growth of the higher education system.

He asked that the coordinating board be given authority to regulate the growth of state colleges and universities.

Pam-Tex Starting Feeder Production

A new line of manufacturing at the Pam-Tex Co., Inc., on Alcock St. was announced this forenoon by Ken Richardson, president of the corporation, at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office attended by Chamber, Industrial Foundation, city, and county officials along with members of the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Committee.

The new product line is a mobile cattle feeder designed for use on farms and ranches and particularly for pre-feeding cattle before placing them in feed lots.

Demand for this particular product prompted the local company to go into manufacture of the new feeder which is constructed of 16-guage steel and raintained on wheels which makes it portable from one part of the farm or ranch to another.

Although the new line has just recently been put into production, company officials say sales have soared to the point that Pam-Tex has been working overtime to fulfill orders already received.

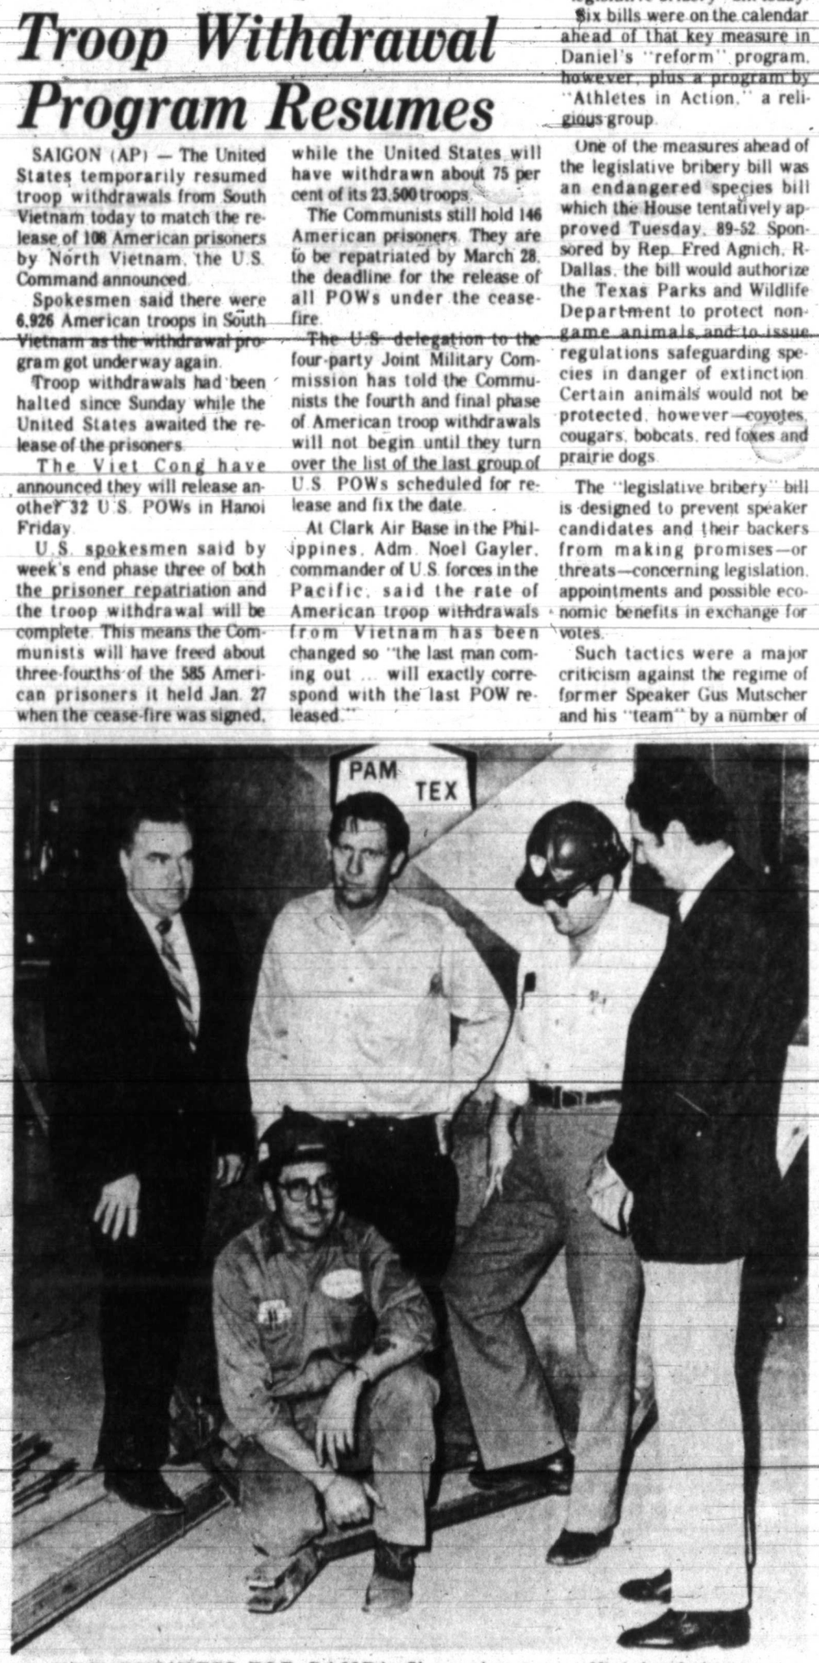

The original Pam-Tex Corp. was started in Pampa 13 years ago by Ed Myatt and Ralph Milliron and recently was acquired by Richardson, president; Bill Garrett, vice president; and Irvin A. Hungerford, vice president.

Since the first of the year 33 steel buildings have either been completed or are under construction in eight states in the southwestern area. The company maintains a complete engineering and drafting department and a building can be engineered and put under construction in short order to meet demands of business and industry. Large buildings with clear spans from 120 to 150 feet are not uncommon in their construction.

In addition to steel as the basic product, the company uses wood, brick, concrete block, and decorative stone to enhance the beauty of construction.

With the addition of protable feeders to the company's line of manufacuring, eight to ten more new people, and a possibility of a complete new shift, are expected to be added to the local payroll which already amount to 36 people with an annual payroll of a quarter of a million dollars.

Kay Fancher, chairman of the Chamber's Industrial Committee, said, "In my opinion our area can look to more industrial development in the agri-business field."

ON DEATH PENALTY

Nixon Presents Crime Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon urged Congress today to speedily restore the death penalty for treason, sabotage and espionage and for kidnaping and hijacking resulting in death.

He also asked that stiff new penalties be set for heroin traffickers, that the insanity defense be sharply restricted.

In a message to Congress—the sixth in his series of State of the Union reports—Nixon talked tough declaring "the only way to attack crime in America is the way crime attacks our people—without pity."

He said his proposed death penalty statute was carefully written to overcome a Supreme Court decision last June ruling capital punishment unconstitutional.

Nixon said the court's 5-4 decision hinged on a finding that the death penalty was unconstitutional "only insofar as it is applied arbitrarily and capriciously."

"I believe the best way to accommodate the reservations of the court is to authorize the automatic imposition of the death penalty where it is warranted," he said.

His proposal sets his procedure.

After conviction on a capital offense, a hearing would be held to determine if there were "aggravating factors or mitigating factors."

If a jury finds there are mitigating factors—such as "the youth of the defendant" or the defendant's mental capacity—"the death sentence is prohibited . . ."

But if the jury finds there are aggravating factors—including "the creation of a grave risk of danger to the national security or to the life of another person, or the killing of another person, imposition of the death penalty by the judge would be mandatory" if no mitigating factors exist.

"I do not contend that the death penalty is a panacea that will cure crime," Nixon said. But he added that capital punishment is a valuable deterrent."

Along with the death penalty statute, Nixon asked for immediate congressional approval to slam shut what he called "an escape hatch for those how are responsible for the menace of drugs."

That escape hatch, he said, is the present set of federal laws allowing laxity in sentencing of heroin and morphine traffickers.

His legislation would set these penalties:

—A mandatory sentence of 5 to 15 years "for the first offense of trafficking in less than four ounces of a mixture or substance containing heroin or morphine . . ."

—A mandatory sentence of 10 years to life for a first offense in trafficking in four or more ounces of heroin or morphine.

High School Sets Rodeo

The annual Pampa High School Rodeo has been scheduled for March 23 and 24 at Recreation Park east of the city, it was announced today by Bob Skaggs, cosponsor of the event.

The first day's program will get underway at 7:30 p.m. Two shows are on tap for March 24. The first will be at 2 p.m. and the second at 7:30.

Events in the rodeo include boys bareback riding, calf roping, ribbon roping, bull riding and team roping.

Girls will participate in barrel racing, pole bending, goat tying and calf dobbing.

Stock producer for the rodeo is James Martin of Spearman. Jerry Fulton is the announcer and Sammy Whatley is the clown for the shows.

Books for the rodeo close this Friday.

PACKAGE GROWS

POOLE, England (AP) — Funny things happened when postman Fred Hallum threw a parcel into his van. The parcel hissed and began to grow. Finally the paper covering burst and out popped a self-inflating life jacket — fully inflated. Despite amusement among Devon post office workers, the recipient, Anthony Poole, didn't find it so funny. He's a life-saving instructor.

Officials To Attend Hearing

A six-man delegation of Pampa city officials is planning to attend the public hearing in Amarillo tomorrow on the proposed $34,000 improvement of the city's sewage treatment plant.

The group will include Mayor Milo Carlson, City Manager Mack Wofford, City Attorney Bob Gordon, City Commissioners Leo Braswell and Arthur Rohde and Gene Barber of the Merriman and Barber consultant engineering firm.

The hearing is scheduled before an examiner of the Texas Water Quality Board and will be at 10 a.m. in Conference Room C at the Amarillo Municipal Bldg.

Board approval of the City of Pampa's application for an amended waste control order would allow the existing facilities at Plant No. 2 to be improved to a proposed design capacity of 22,000 population, abandoning use of Plant No. 1.

The proposed improved plant, to be in operation in March, 1974, is located about two miles northeast of the Pampa city limits adjacent to Red Deer Creek.

Treated effluent from the proposed facilities, to be in operation in March, 1974, will be discharged into Red Deer Creek, thence into the South Canadian River.

Utility, Insurance Rate Hikes On Agenda At School Board

Costs, taxes and policy appear to be the order of importance for 24 action items on the Pampa school board meeting agenda of 39 points for consideration tonight.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at Carver Center on Albert St.

While not in order of their appearance on the agenda, electric service and insurance will probably take the biggest bite of the evening out of operating funds.

Southwestern Public Service had served advanced notice that there would be an adjustment in rates for the Pampa Independent School District. Members of the panel admitted that they had been expecting it for sometime since it has been a number of years since the system had a rate increase for electric power.

Board members anticipated rising insurance costs, too, since premiums represent the inflated cost of replacing units over initial premiums for coverage.

In the area of policy, the board will consider the adoption of a ruling to employ only personnel residing in the school district. This would be made effective for the 1973-74 school year.

The Pampa Classroom Teachers Association will present recommendations for the school calendar for 1973-74.

Chief change in the tentative calendar is the "in-service" days in summer. These have been reduced and the surplus days programed immediately following Christmas. Students are sure to approve whether the board does or not, for this gives them added yule holidays.

Much of the agenda is occupied with scheduling including summer school, conventions and other events important to the school year ahead.

Immediately following the regular business session, the board will go into executive session to discuss personnel matters.

Military Watching Elections

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Parliament resumes voting today for a new president after four ballots that rejected the military candidate despite tanks and riot police around the building and scores of generals in the balcony.

Senate President Tekin Ariburun of the Justice party led the four ballots but could not muster the majorities necessary for election. His chief opponent was former Gen. Faruk Gurler; who until last week was chief of the general staff.

Ariburun got 282 votes on the first ballot, 284 on the second, 285 on the third and 276 on the fourth. Gurler had 175, 176, 186 and 200 votes. Ferruh Bozbeyli of the right-wing Democratic party ran third with 45 and 47 votes.

For election on the first two ballots, a two-thirds majority —or 423 of the 634 votes in the two houses—was needed. On later ballots, a simple majority of 318 was necessary, but the antimilitary vote was reduced by the boycott of the second largest party, the left-of-center Republican Peoples party. It said the martial law ban on election statements amounted to one-sided censorship that allowed only praise of one candidate and no criticism.

This was a reference to Gurler, whose candidacy was backed by the threat of new military intervention should someone else win.

The army has been filling the presidency of Turkey since a military coup in 1960 ousted President Celal Bayar and Premier Adnan Menderes of the Democrat party. Gen. Cemal Gursel, the leader of the coup, succeeded Bayar. When illness forced Gursel to retire in 1966, the chief of the general staff, Gen. Cevdet Sunay, replaced him for a seven-year term.

Voters Deaden Dreams For Trinity River Plan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Voters struck down a $150 million tax-bond issue vital to the Trinity canal project, but supporters wre reluctant today to call it a dead issue.

"I don't consider it dead," said David Brune, general manager of the Trinity River Authority (TRA), architect of the proposed $1.6 billion canal and river development program.

"I say this—it is either temporarily or permanently set aside. That would be my estimate," Brune told newsmen today.

"At some future date we'll assess whether or not we would want to come back to the voters with another proposition ... There's no way to project what's going to be the outcome."

Nine of 17 counties in the Trinity River basin Tuesday spurned the proposal, which called for a maximum property tax of 15 cents per $100 valuation and authority to issue $150 million in improvement bonds.

Dallas and Tarrant Counties, which held the balance of power, rejected the issue and swung the total vote to a substantial majority in opposition to the dual proposal.

The outcome dealt a severe and perhaps fatal blow to a plan to open the Trinity River to navigation from Fort Worth to the Gulf of Mexico via a 335-mile canal.

Henry Fulcher of Dallas, a leader of the opposition to the project, called the outcome "a landmark decision in some ways. You have the local population, as it were, turning down the type of large-scale water project that has been added to our federal budget year after year ...

"It shows that people still can unite and work with very little money, sheer determination and plenty of legwork to turn back a sophisticated and high pressure advertising campaign," Fulcher said.

"Technically speaking, we could bring it back before the voters in 40 days, but I don't think this would be realistic," Brune said.

Asked if a new Trinity development program, without navigational provisions might be designed and placed again before voters, he replied:

"I couldn't speculate on that at this time because I just don't know."

Asked to pinpoint the reason for voter rejection, Brune said:

"I think we failed to some extent to articulate adequately the economic issues favorable to the project. I also think there were many side issues raised that obviously caught the attention of the voter and caused concern about the project."

Cates Seeking Honorary Page

An interesting and educational experience at the State Capitol is open to any youngster between the ages of 12 and 16, according to State Rep. Phil Cates.

He, or she may be named an honorary page of the House of Representatives. As such, he may have a special tour of the state capitol and observe the legislative process from the floor of the house while he sits beside his own state representative.

Also, he will have his picture made with Rep. Cates, and will receive a certificate of congratulations signed by House Speaker Price Daniel and Rep. Cates.

Cates said that he would be pleased to name any young person who is planning to be in Austin during the session as an honorary page if given a few days notice to make arrangements.

Students Take Tour Of City

Third grade students at Baker School made a tour of Pampa yesterday to see what makes a city tick.

Escorted by their teachers, Mrs. Rachel Jones and Mrs. Vivian Craig, they visited City Hall, Central Fire Station, Lovett Memorial Library, Coronado Inn and had hospitals and other buildings pointed out to them.

For many of the children it was their first time to get a close look at Pampa.

They asked questions galore and returned to their classrooms with a better understanding of what happens and why in their home town, according to Mrs. Jones.

The teachers explained that the trip was one of a series of tours planned as part of the pupils' initiation into social studies.

Fire Strikes Borger Store

BORGER--An early morning fire virtually destroyed Smithy's Furniture and Appliance Store on Main Street with damage estimated in excess of $250,000.

It took firefighters about an hour to bring the blaze under control. They managed to accomplish this while keeping it from spreading to adjacent buildings.

The interior of the store was gutted including a showroom of brand new furniture. Appliances were destroyed on the main floor where the roof fell in. Used appliances in a storeroom at the rear of the structure and in the basement suffered heavy smoke and water damage.

The owner of of the store, a landmark on Borger's main stem, said he was insured but felt his coverage would only partly account for the loss.

Cause of the fire has not yet been ascertained.

Lobbying Bill Gets Difficulty

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sponsors of a House-passed lobby control bill remain optimistic even though the measure ran into constitutional difficulties in the Senate Jurisprudence Committee Tuesday.

"I still believe it has a chance for survival even in the face of the attorney general's opinion," said Sen. Bob Gammage, D-Houston, who sponsors the bill along with Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas.

He referred to a ruling personally delivered to the committee by Atty. Gen. John Hill minutes before testimony began. It found several parts of the bill unconstitutional.

Hill said it was all right for the legislature to register and regulate lobbyists "based on amounts so spent."

But he found the bill unconstitutional where it forced registration not only of lobbyists per se, but also of persons who "merely make expenditures to solicit others ... to communicate directly with members of the executive or legislative branches."

Such a provision, he said, "impermissibly burdens the right of free speech in the context of the proposed legislation."

Also faulted by Hill were provisions in the bill which made "arbitrary discriminations" by exempting newsmen, pastors, and some others from regulation. He also said it was wrong to regulate judicial personnel but not other state officials.

On the request of Mauzy, who said Hill's objections should be resolved in the measure before sending it to the full Senate, the bill was sent to a special subcommittee picked for a careful balance of opposing views.

Rep. John Bigham, sponsor of the bill in the House, was the only witness for the proposal.

"I hope none of us are as naive as the freshman legislator who said he hadn't seen money change hands and he didn't think it influenced legislation," Bigham told the committee. "Well, we're here to trace the flow."

Bigham offered to work with senators to revise objectionable provisions, insofar as they wouldn't "gut" the bill.

Police Thwart Burglary Try

Pampa police said they believe quick action and the burglar alarm thwarted a break-in at the Montgomery Ward store last night.

Two officers were in the immediate vicinity when they were notified the alarm had just sounded.

Glass in a door of the auto service area had been broken to gain entry. The alarm was tripped when the service door to the store proper was opened.

A store official summoned to the scene found nothing amiss but the broken glass, police said.

A 19-year-old Pampa youth, observed leaving the vicinity as officers arrived, was questioned, according to the report of the incident.

Officers said he denied implication in the break-in. However officers reported they found a key in his possession to a room at the Coronado Inn ... the same room from which two television sets have been taken in recent weeks.

According to the account, the youth also denied part in these thefts but admitted he obtained the key while employed at the Coronado Inn. Police say they will continue their investigation.

St. Patrick's Day Going To Redskins This Year

By RAY BAXTER

There is a rumor that residents of Shamrock are "giving St. Patrick's Day to the Indians."

If true, there is going to be a heap big pile of tomahawks and shillelaghs at the "Irish Pow-Wow" Friday and Saturday!

Irish Pow-Wow...that's the theme this year for what is billed as the nation's number two St. Patrick's Day celebration. It is expected to attract at least 25,000 folks who will transfuse the 3,000 population economy of clover city with some $75,000 in new money.

--And that's a lot of wampum or long green, dependin' on your ancestry!

Actually, the Indian theme is to honor that particular American of the West growing out of the success of last year's celebration that honored the cowboy. Nobody is expecting serious trouble as long as those redskins wear their green breechcloths.

Shamrock's St. Patrick's Day shennaigans began back in 1938 when the school's popular bandmaster, the late Glenn Truax, sold the city fathers on the idea of a pageant right from the auld sod.

With a different theme each year for these 27 years, the celebration has been called many things but never a failure.

Despite the mingling of feathered war bonnets with the tall Irish Kadies, the entertainment is along traditional lines...parade, beauty contest, fiddlers contest, country-and-western concert, teen dance, square dance, annual dance and the big banquet Friday night.

The world's most famous Cajun, Justin Wilson, is the speaker for the kick-off banquet.

While Old Settlers registration starts at 9 a.m. Saturday, the celebration gets underway officially at 9:30 with ceremonies and the parade moves at 11 a.m.

Jim Hensley is chairman of the celebration this year, with the ever-present assistance of Bill Howe, editor of the Shamrock Texan.

Indians And Government To Continue Negotiations

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Representatives of the federal government and militant Indians occupying this tiny village on the Pine Ridge Reservation were to continue negotiations today.

However, on Tuesday, the reservation-governing Oglala Sioux Tribal Council passed a resolution asking Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) police to remove all nontribesmen from the reservation, home of about 11,000 Oglalas.

The council, meeting for the first time since the Feb. 27 takeover of Wounded Knee, also approved a resolution saying the American Indian Movement (AIM) would be held responsible for all acts of violence while its members remained on the reservation. AIM spearheaded the takeover of Wounded Knee.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Harlington Wood said the talks would continue today and added, "There will be no move to take Wounded Knee while negotiations are in progress."

Wood met with militant Indian leaders for two hours Tuesday and later issued a statement saying he believed the talks had been "productive, friendly and businesslike."

The lawyer for the Indians, Ramon Roubideaux of Rapid City, S.D., said the talks "settled nothing."

About 300 federal marshals, FBI agents and BIA police, backed by 17 armored personnel carriers, maintained a tight blockade on roads leading into the village to cut off the flow of food and supplies.

Commissioners Attend Meeting

Gray County Judge Don Cain and commissioners Mary Dwyer and Joe Clarke are in Amarillo attending the spring meeting of the Panhandle County Judges and Commissioners Association today.

The meeting, called to order at 10 a.m. by Woody Pond, Randall County judge, was to include addresses by Kenneth A. Douglas, executive director, Texas Association of Counties, and State Rep. Ben Bynum.

Following an afternoon business session, those attending are to participate in a question-and-answer forum on problems of the commissioners court.

This meeting will be followed by West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association in Lubbock March 28-30.

The annual state meeting of county judges and commissioners is set for Sept. 30-Oct. 2.

Pythians To Visit In Amarillo Lodge

Pampa Lodge No. 480, Knights of Pythias, met in regular session Tuesday evening. Plans were announced for all members to meet at the Lodge Hall Thursday at 6 p.m. and leave from there in a group to attend the district meeting to be held at Amarillo Lodge 479.

Dinner will be served at 6:45 p.m. and Lodge will open at 8 p.m.

Russell S. Hardin Lubbock, Supreme Representative of Texas Pythian Lodge, will be the guest speaker.

Members of Pampa Lodge rank team will confer the rank of Knight on two Amarillo members. Other Lodges have been invited.

Group Studies Purple Martins

Purple martins, the birds that won the hearts and the attention of many Pampans last summer, were the "stars" of the meeting of Explorer Post 86 last night.

The program, presented in three parts, was designed to answer local interest in the species with specific information and to promote Pampa as the purple martin capital of the Panhandle.

A short movie was presented first on the colorful little birds, then results of a survey on them taken locally last summer was reviewed. Finally, Vernon Hall conducted a question-and-answer and discussion period.

Explorer Post 86, sponsored by the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District, met at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the courthouse annex. Jack Williams, of the Soil and Conservation Service, acts as adviser to the scout troop.

Pirate Pardoned

Jean Laffitte, famed buccaneer, was pardoned by President James Madison, for his assistance to Gen. Andrew Jackson in the Battle of New Orleans.

Artist To Show Paintings

The Pampa Fine Arts Association will present the "artist of the year" Homer D. Johnson, and his paintings at a reception from 2-5 p.m. Sunday at The Gallery, 516 W. Kingsmill, open to the public.

The Gallery will also be open from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Robert Lincecum is in charge of arrangements for the showing. Mrs. Ernest Wilkinson, visual arts chairman, and Ted Gikas, miscellaneous arts chairman, representatives of the board of directors, will also attend the show.

Hostesses for Sunday will be Mrs. Eben Warner and Mrs. George Snell. Other hostesses include Mrs. William Campaigne and Mrs. David Tucker, Monday, and Mrs. J.B. Maguire and Mrs. David Holt, Tuesday.

A special showing and reception for members of the Association will be presented Saturday.

Hostesses for the special showing include Mmes. William Charlton, Jack Reeve, William Tuke, R.A. Johnson, John B. McCrery, Joe Gordon and Dudley Steele.

China Gaslights

Gaslighting may have been used first in China in the 10th century when natural gas was captured in bags or bladders as it escaped from the ground. When they wanted light, the Chinese pricked holes in the bags and ignited the gas as it leaked out.

Mainly About Skellytown

Mr. and Mrs. Dicky Lovinggood, Canyon, former residents, are the parents of a boy born Saturday at Neblett Hospital, Canyon. He weighed 6 lbs., 8 oz. and has been named Jerrid Heath. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R.S. Marlar, Skellytown, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lovinggood, Spearman.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Orion Brock, Dimmitt; Mrs. Judy Wilemon and children, Lefors, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Forsdick, Lubbock, and Claude Brock, Pampa.

Inmates Slate Chess Contest

HUNTSVILLE—Forty-eight inmates of the Texas Department of Corrections will pit their combined skills against those of John Hall, a United States Chess Federation Master, in a chess exhibition to be held at the Huntsville Unit on Thursday.

The inmates participating in the exhibition were selected from 12 of the Department's 14 units. All qualified on the basis of their chess skills and experience.

Hall, who will direct the exhibition, has been regarded as one of the strongest players to ever come out of the Southwestern United States. His credits include winning the 1968 Invitational Texas State Championship and the Southwest United States Open Championship in 1971. Hall also serves as editor of "Chess Digest."

Schulz Analyzes Cartoon

Charles Schulz, creator of the popular comic strip, "Peanuts," which appears daily in The Pampa News, will psychoanalyze his pen-and-ink "children" when he appears at 9 a.m. Thursday with Dinah Shore on her "Dinah's Place" television show on Channel 4.

The show will give viewers a deeper inner look at the cartoonist whom Dinah describes as a "man who shares his fears and dreams through the characters he draws."

Showing some of his drawings, Schulz explained them this way:

Charlie Brown, uneasy and scared as he waits in the doctor's office to have an X-ray taken: "I suppose these are fears which almost all of us have when we finally have to go to the doctor for something we dread."

Charlie Brown going off to summer camp: "Ive always felt kind of deeply about this because I think we have a tendency to force some of these kids to go off to camp and they really don't want to go. Linus is afraid that if he goes off and comes back his parents will have moved away.

"Woodstock has a flying problem. If he gets more than 10 feet in the air, he gets beep bleats. He always hoped when he grew up he'd become an eagle, but there's no way this is going to happen."

Snoopy, in one drawing, takes Woodstock to where he was born only to find it is a parking lot: "He'll never be able to return to where he was a puppy, and this is terrible."

Bobby Keesee 'Middle-Aged Soldier Of Misfortune' POW

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Bobby Joe Keesee, the lone civilian to be released in Hanoi Wednesday, is a middle-aged soldier of misfortune who hijacked a Thai charter plane 2½ years ago and forced the pilot to fly him to North Vietnam.

He's also an Army deserter with a prison record in Arizona who once sought refuge in Cuba. But Fidel Castro wouldn't have him.

Bira Air, the Thai charter company, said Keesee hired one of its single-engine Cessnas in September 1970 at $60 an hour on the pretext he was scouting locatons for a motion picture.

The pilot, Sangiem Poomketkaew, said he flew Keesee all over northeast Thiland for four days and on the fifth took off from Ubon to return to Bangkok.

"We had been flying for about 20 minutes when the foreigner pulled a gun and said, "Fly that way,' pointing to Laos and Vietnam," the pilot said.

The pilot said the plane was hit in the tail by ground fire and was forced to land in Laos.

"When we landed, villagers and children ran around the plane. He jumped out with a small James Bond briefcase and walked across the sand to the village," the pilot said.

A Bangkok newspaper reported at the time that Keesee arrived from Manila on Aug. 31, 1970, gave his age as 36, and said he had been held prisoner by Palestinian guerrillas in Jordan for 36 hours two months before.

Keesee's sister, Mrs. T. O. Riley of Amarillo, Tex., said in 1962 that he was born in Allison, Tex., the youngest of six children, and that she raised him from the time he was a year old.

She said he quit school in the eighth grade, later enlisted in the National Guard and then joined the paratroopers in 1951.

Mrs. Riley said Keesee was wounded during the Korean War and was given the Purple Heart and other medals. She said a steel plate had to be put in his head for a head wound he suffered.

The sister said Keesee served 11 years in the Army, much of the time overseas.

Jelly Bean Government

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan tells children who visit his office, "State government in California runs on jelly beans."

To prove his point, he takes the lid off the fancy wooden tobacco humidor on the big table in his cabinet room and pulls out a handful of jelly beans.

In the reception room outside, a 15-inch-high glass cannister is filled with jelly beans. A smaller glass cannister filled with the candy sits on a shelf behind the governor's desk in his private office. Smaller jars and dishes of jelly beans are found on desks in other offices in the governor's suite of the Capitol.

"It all started as a joke. But it caught on. Once you get on jelly beans you never outgrow them," Reagan told a visitor.

Reagan explained that he started chewing jelly beans as a substitute for cigarettes when he stopped smoking during his acting days in Hollywood, "and I just got in the habit."

Shortly after he took office as California's governor in January 1967, an aide brought him some jelly beans for his new office.

The candy has been a part of the office supplies ever since.

"I have to laugh at it myself. Sometimes in cabinet meetings, when the debate on serious issues is really intense, you can look down the table and see the cabinet members passing the jelly bean jar around," Reagan said.

"If we ever run out of jelly beans—well, I don't know how this state could function.

Paid with hope, she never cashes in

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: For 25 years I have been very close to a widower. I am divorced. This man owned considerable rental property, and I lived in one of his apartments. I paid rent like everybody else, but I cooked for him and helped him rent and clean apartments when tenants vacated them. I was a trouble-shooter for violations, inspectors, routine checks, etc.

He was close with his money and paid me nothing. I didn't demand anything because he often talked about "our future" when he would sell his property and we would retire together in Florida or Palm Springs. He was 75 and I am 72.

He had one 83-year-old brother with whom he was not friendly. Also some nieces and nephews. To make it short, this gentleman was recently found dead of a heart attack. I was called immediately since I am the only one he ever spoke of.

I heard he left no will, or any mention of me. A friend advised me to put in a claim for the work I did. I was not exactly a common-law wife, but I was more like a free maid, housekeeper, rental manager and his best friend for 25 years. Do moral issues count in court? Or is it too much of a longshot? I don't want to make a fool of myself.

LOST OUT

DEAR LOST: Take the facts to a lawyer. And this should be a lesson to others; get it in writing!

DEAR ABBY: My husband received a wedding invitation addressed to "Mr." only—no mention of his wife. The people who sent it have met me, so I can't imagine why they would exclude me. My husband doesn't work with either one of them, so it can't be a business friendship. [It was sent to our home.]

What really hurt me more than anything was the fact that my husband accepted the invitation!

Maybe I am stupid, but this has me puzzled. Do you think my husband should have accepted? MRS. NOBODY

DEAR MRS.: Had your husband asked if your name was left out on purpose or by mistake, he would have known whether to accept. He should have asked.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a 10-month-old baby, and we've never had a sitter, but we wanted to go to a late party last Saturday night, so we asked my mother-in-law to sit for us. She seemed happy to do it, and we knew we could trust her with the baby.

When we got home, did she ever let us have it! She said I was a very poor housekeeper, from the condition of my refrigerator, cupboards and closets. Also, that I didn't do my laundry often enough from the looks of my stuffed clothes hampers. [Abby, I go to the laundromat twice a week.] Then she said we ought to be ashamed of ourselves for running up such big bills, and she named off some of them. She had actually snooped into our desk drawers and looked over our bills.

My husband just kept his eyes on the floor all the while she was talking, and I was too shocked and hurt to say a word.

I have lost all affection for her now. How should I act toward her in the future? HURT

DEAR HURT: I wouldn't ask her to sit again. In time, if she regrets her actions and tries to make amends, I'd go the 70 x 7 route.

Senior Center Corner

By Laura Belle Cornelius

The Pampa Garden Club was hostess to the Seniors last Thursday.

Members participating were Mmes. W.R. Campbell, Lois Young, Ruth Ayers and W.E. Campaign.

A visitor from Sacremento, Calif., won the door prize, and Mrs. Baldwin and Mrs. Rosa Lee Wedge received the prize for the women. U.S. Russell, who is visiting his sister, Mrs. Lillian Snow, was a visitor.

We are happy to have back with us Mrs. Hudson, Mae Green, and Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. E.J. O'Mara have returned from a six months stay in Brownsville. Glad to have them home.

Mrs. Lillie Fulton spent last weekend in Alanreed with her son Jerry and family.

Mrs. Edith Lawrence received the birthday gift from the Altrusans, and expresses her appreciation. "It is wonderful having birthdays like the one I just had."

Friends from Perryton, Mmes Jim Woodworth, Vida Coffee, and Maudie Leslie, Oklahoma City, in my home recently. Relatives visiting were Mrs. H.F. Barnhart and Mr. and Mrs. John Barnhart, Kress, visited also.

Many friends sent cards, letters, candy and flowers, just what it takes to make "the world go around."

Mrs. Jay Flanagan was reported as very ill.

Altrusans present were Louise Sewell, Marian Jamison, Olive Hills, Lillian Snow and Lora Dunn.

Opening lead—♣ Q

By Oswald & James Jacoby

A rubber bridge player would have no problem with today's hand. He would win the club lead and say to himself, "If trumps break 2-2, I will try to make seven, but if they don't break I will just draw trumps; concede a trick to the ace of hearts and take the small slam."

That is eminently correct in rubber bridge but duplicate is a different matter. When Phyllis (Mrs. Stanley) Smith of Detroit played it in the mixed pairs at the Hawaiian regional, she won the club lead; played her ace of spades; led a second spade to dummy's queen and stopped to think about seven.

She finally decided to risk the play of a diamond from dummy on the theory that if East (who held the last trump) were void of diamonds he would almost surely have doubled six spades to get a diamond lead so she called for dummy's ace of diamonds.

West dropped the 10. Phyllis thought a while longer and led the king of diamonds. West's jack dropped and there were no more problems. She pulled the last trump; discarded a heart and two clubs on the diamonds and claimed seven.

The extra trick turned out to be worth two match points only, but she had taken virtually no risk and the top score helped Phyllis and her partner, Jim Zommerman of Cleveland, win the event in a photo finish.

CARD Sense

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
		1 ♦	Dble
2 ♦	Pass	Pass	Dble
Pass	Pass	Pass

You, South hold:

♠ A K 5 4 ♥ A Q 6 3 ♦ 2 ♣ K Q 10 7

What do you lead?

A—The deuce of diamonds. Your high cards will keep. Start to exhaust the enemy trumps.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of passing over West's two diamonds your partner has bid two hearts. What do you do now?

Nail Polish Delights

Nail polish colors leave room for lots of choice. From brazen reds to delicate pastels, the new colors bring attention to your fingertips. For a professional look use a base coat, two coats of color and a top coat to make it almost chip resistant.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

THURSDAY, MARCH 15

Your birthday today: Vigorous effort at readjustment runs thru your daily living for this coming year. Today's natives have a generally sensuous nature, a talent for making smooth explanations.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Get the small points lined up without making a fuss. Home life is better, but crowded for the time being.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Social factors rise and inspire you to more effective performance. Your money seems to buy very little.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: The unexpected is quite likely. Nothing to do but be all ready to move in almost any direction.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Success comes with persistence, even tho the day seems to drag on. The young in spirit have many secrets to share.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Determine your course within the limits of existing plans before the events of the day confuse matters. Early starting does not help.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Aside from premature assumptions, it's an excellent time for all sorts of productive effort. Make room for new friends.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: You may have to take many steps to attend the work you have set up. See that you claim all the reward; credit where it is due.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Get on the ball, make contact where you think help can be found. Today is a day for reminiscence.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Convert theory into practice, take account of the errors you make, try again. This is a good time to plan for distant travels.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Midday brings a spark of interest when you'd given up arousing it. Follow impulse rather than written plans.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: You are in your element, able to surprise and interest people with a new story. Find at least a little time for prayer.

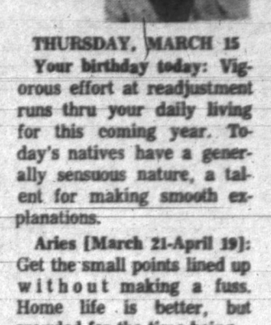

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Take special care with anything that runs a temperature or carries an electrical charge. Your friends seem determined to lead you into schemes beyond your depth. Think it over and then say "no."

A Break for Full Figures

Dresses with elasticized or drawstring waistlines and with neat box pleats are good for half sizes or women with fuller figures.

Go Mad for Hats

Hats stay around for warmer weather and styles range from the fuzzy beret to the floppy brim hat.

College Notes

WACO — John C. Holloway of Pampa was one of 18 Baylor University School of Law students to receive juris doctor degrees in winter quarter graduation ceremonies Feb. 24.

Holloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Holloway, 1234 Mary Ellen, attended Texas Tech University in Lubbock before transferring to Baylor.

Angus S. McSwain Jr., dean of the law school, presided during the graduation in the Courtroom of Morrison Constitution Hall on the Baylor campus.

Baylor President Abner V. McCall, who was dean of the law school from 1948 to 1959, was the program speaker. He stressed the need for more lawyers to administer a "growing complexity of law."

ABILENE — Cynthia Carter of Pampa, a junior pianist, will be participating in Hardin-Simmons University's annual Indiana crusade March 16-25.

Twenty-one revival teams will visit various churches in Indiana, with each team consisting of a minister, song leader, pianist and fellowship leaders.

Miss Carter will be going to First Southern Baptist Church in New Albany, Ind.

CANYON — Barry Winborne, Pampa senior, has pledged Alpha Kappa Psi natjonal business fraternity at West Texas State University.

Winborne, a marketing major, is the son of Jake Winborne, 1017 S. Dwight.

Officers of the organization include Frank Shull, Amarillo, president; Charles Dwyer, Midland, vice president; Michael Billings, Seagraves, secretary; and Dave Teter, San Antonio, treasurer.

WACO — The Department of Physics at Baylor University will conduct its third annual pre-college student science training program in experimental physics for high school students June 4 through July 28, Dr. Herbert D. Schwetman, chairman of the department, has announced.

The program is limited to 12 outstanding students who have a strong interest in physics and who have completed their junior years in high school, Schwetman said.

Cost of the program is $270, including room, board, books trips and social activities for the eight weeks.

Prospective participants should request application forms from Schwetman at Department of Physics, Baylor University, Waco, Tex., 76703. Applications must be received by April 10.

LUBBOCK — Six students from Pampa were among those qualifying for the dean's honor list for the fall semester in the College of Business Administration at Texas Tech University.

Students recognized for their high academic achievement in the school included Bobbye C. Jamison and Stella L. Bowermon, freshmen; James P. Little, sophomore; and seniors Judith F. Campbell, Dan A. Craig and David A. Bray.

CANYON — Two students from Pampa were among 20 girls initiated into Alpha Delta Pi, national social sorority, at West Texas State University.

Initiated were Nancy Featherston, junior secretarial studies major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Featherston, 2136 N. Russell, and Suzanne Walters, freshman nursing major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.M. Walters, 1520 Coffee.

Alpha Delta Pi is one of five national social sororities on the WTSU campus. Laura Childers of Slaton is president of the organization.

The 20 new members were among the fall semester ADP pledge class.

ABILENE — Two students from Pampa visited McMurry College Feb. 23-24 along with 400 high school students from all over Texas and New Mexico and elsewhere during the annual Student Weekend.

Visiting the campus were Rick Hoyler and Randy Holt, both Pampa High School students.

The young visitors saw a student-produced musical, slept in dormitories, ate in the college cafeteria, talked with professors in their areas of interest, saw a basketball game and attended a party.

Prize Product

Napoleon III, looking for a satisfactory butter substitute, offered a prize for an ersatz spread during the Franco-Prussian War of 1870. Oleomargarine was developed as a result.

Knit Ident

Fishermen from the Aran Islands, who ply their trade off Ireland's coast in small boats, wear sweaters knitted by their women. Since each woman develops her own pattern of stitches, the sweaters serve as identification when the body of a man lost at sea washes ashore.

Social Security Q And A

Have you a question about social security? Address it to Howard L. Weatherly, Branch Manager, Social Security Administration, 1541 North Hobart, Pampa, Texas 79065. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.

By HOWARD L. WEATHERLY

Q. I would like to know if Medicare will pay for the oxygen I use at home.

A. Yes. Oxygen that is medically necessary is covered and Part B of Medicare will pay 80 per cent of the allowable charge, after the $60 deductible has been met. A statement of medical necessity from your doctor is required and should be attached to any itemized bills sent to Medicare for payment.

Q. Why did Medicare not pay 80 per cent of my doctor bills?

A. Medicare pays 80 per cent of the allowable charges for covered services after the first $60 in each calendar year. The allowable charge for a particular service is the usual charge made by most of the physicians in your area for that service.

If your doctor's bill exceeds the usual charge for that service in your area, Medicare's payment will be based only on the usual charge.

Q. I do not believe Medicare paid enough on my doctor bill. Is there any way I can have this claim reconsidered?

A. Yes. Contact your local social security office or nearest representative for an explanation of the Medicare payment and the appeal procedure available to you.

Consumer Protection Harmful?

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — "Consumer protection" by the Food and Drug Administration may be doing more harm than good, according to two articles in the current issue of a national medical journal.

Citing a recent article by economist Milton Friedman, which urged repeal of 1962 amendments to the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, Dr. Francis A. Davis, publisher of Private Practice magazine, warns that the FDA's compliance with the law may actually "condemn innocent people to death" by withholding approval of new drug products.

Davis, who publishes Private Practice for the national Congress of County Medical Societies, points to an estimate by UCLA Professor Sam Peltzman that a mere two-year delay in introduction of the drugs which conquered tuberculosis might have meant as many as 45,000 additional TB deaths in the United States.

Criticizing extended FDA delays in approval of new drugs — delays which Friedman blames on "unduly stringent" requirements — Davis warns that while it is difficult to evaluatte a drug that is not available, "it is not difficult to evaluate the help of 63 new drugs each year."

(In 1959 the FDA had approved 63 new drug products for marketing; 10 years later, only four new drugs were approved in the course of a year.)

Davis' criticism is echoed by Dr. Hans Engel, in a Private Practice article which claims that the FDA is in a dilemma of its own, forced to take unwise actions in order to comply with Congressional directives.

As an example, Engel cites the so-called "Delaney Amendment" of 1962, which requires withdrawal of any additive found to induce cancer in man or animal.

It was this requirement that led the FDA to withdraw cyclamates from the market despite a statement by Dr. Jesse Steinfeld, then deputy assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, who reported "there is absolutely no evidence to demonstrate in any way that the use of cyclamates has caused cancer in man."

The cyclamate withdrawal, Engel writes, was precipitated by a test in which rats were fed a cyclamate dosage equivalent to human intake of 875 bottles of diet soft drink every day for 35 years.

As a result of the Delaney amendment and the Kefauver-Harris amendment of the same year, requiring the FDA to evaluate drug effectiveness as well as safety, harsh standards have been imposed which have made valuable discoveries unavailable to physicians and patients in this country, Engel says.

"Today," he writes, "American physicians are prevented from using a large number of drugs proven effective and relatively safe in many other countries — and many of these drugs were developed in the United States."

Engel argues for a change in federal laws to restrict the FDA to removal of drug products which researchers determine are more harmful then beneficial, and then only if more effective or safer drugs exist for treatment of the same disease.

Senior A.J. Brewer Is 1973 Hustling Harvester

Pampa's senior point guard A.J. Brewer was named the recipient of the Hustling Harvester award last night at the annual basketball banquet in the Robert E. Lee Junior High cafeteria.

Senior Pernie Fallon was crowned Basketball Queen at the affair. Other queen candidates were Shannon Hills and Heidi Kolb.

Freddy Wilbon was named the winner of the team's Free Throw and Rebound awards. Those are earned awards based on percentages. Wilbon had 235 rebounds and shot 71.5 per cent from the foul line this year.

Following the introduction of the Harvester and Shocker squads and the crowning of the Queen, Pampa coach Robert McPherson outlined the qualities that he looked for in determining who would receive the Hustling Harvester award — attitude, co-operation, effort, attendance at practices and games and desire.

Before naming Brewer as this year's honoree, McPherson stated that it was a very difficult choice to make this year because every member of the team had the required attributes.

Upon accepting the award Brewer said it was, "The greatest honor I've ever received," and that, "Everyone on the team was a Hustling Harvester."

Brewer then presented a gift from the team to McPherson. It was a plaque inscribed "Robert McPherson — Amarillo Globe-New Coach of the Year" for 1972-73.

Harvesters introduced at the banquet were seniors Brewer, Wilbon, Steve Richardson, Bill Simon, Ricky Van Smith and Tim Holt.

Juniors: Ricky Beesley, Ray Powell, Keith Samples and Randy Warner. Sophomores: Billy Wilbon and Howie Lewis. Managers: Jerry Sims and J.R. Hollis.

Speaker for the banquet was the Reverend Jimmy Bond, former all-state basketball player at Pampa High School and NAIA All-American at Pasadena (Calif.) College.

The emphasis of his talk was on the need of all people, particularly young people, to have a "Why" to live.

He spoke of the feeling of peoples today that there is much wrong with the world that needs to be changed and concluded by saying, "When we put ourselves together we put the world together."

Master of ceremonies for the banquet was Floyd Watson. The Reverend Claude Cone of the First Baptist Church gave the invocation.

Athletic Director Ed Lehnick introduced the Harvester and junior high coaches. The banquet was sponsored by the Harvester Booster Club.

Pampa Going To Hereford Tourney

The Harvester baseball team went through final practices today before going to Hereford for a seven-team tourney there tomorrow through Saturday.

Teams entered in the tournament are Pampa, Hereford, Dumas, Levelland, Borger, Canyon and Big Spring.

In tomorrow's play Dumas goes against Levelland, Pampa plays Borger (for the third time this year), Hereford plays Canyon and Big Spring drew a bye.

Slated to start for the Harvesters are pitcher Gary Davis, shortstop Toddy Black, second baseman Ricky Bigham, first baseman Terry Moore, left fielder Mike Robbins.

Centerfielder A.J. Brewer, catcher Bobby Hendricks, rightfielder Rick Musgrave and third baseman Bill Simon.

Pampa carries a 2-3 season record into the tournament.

Assisting Coach Jim White this year are Scott Dunham and Floyd Hood.

Dunham is working with the pitchers and catchers and White said, "He is doing a real good job with a young, inexperienced group of boys."

Hood is coaching the outfield and is also doing a fine job this year.

Basketball Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I know it doesn't make much sense if you look at the score," Memphis Coach Bob Bass sighed, "but I really didn't think we played that badly. I think it was the fact that the Colonels played extremely well."

Unfortunately, Bass and his Tams had to look at the scoreboard.

It read: Kentucky 139, Memphis 103.

It also read the Tams right out of the American Basketball Association playoffs. Tuesday night's loss, the Tams' 11th in a row, extinguished their hopes of catching the East Division's fourth-place New York Nets.

So while Memphis looks unhappily forward to seats in the stands, the elimination battle swings its full attention to the West, where Dallas and San Diego are trying to avoid just such a fate.

Each had a chance Tuesday night to get the edge over the other. But neither took advantage of the chance in the ABA's only other games. Dallas fell to the Utah Stars 131-118 and San Diego was dumped by the Denver Rockets 114-96. It kept Dallas half a game ahead of San Diego—and the Chaparrals have three more games to play than do the last-place Conquistadors.

In the National Basketball Association, Los Angeles defeated Buffalo 121-112, New York beat Phoenix 115-111, Baltimore edged Kansas City-Omaha 103-99, Chicago swamped Seattle 104-89, Cleveland whipped Atlanta 115-107 and Golden State turned back Portland 109-101.

The Colonels, who closed within 2½ games of idle Carolina, the Eastern front-runner, had the game tucked away by the end of the first quarter, when they rushed out to a 34-16 lead. The score ballooned to 53-26 midway in the second period and that was that.

Eight Colonels scored in double figures led by Rich Mount's 21 points, as 20 apiece by Louie Dampier and Dan Issel. Les Hunter had 26 for the Tams.

Like Memphis, the Conquistadors were put out of their misery quickly. "The game was decided in the first quarter when we outscored them 26-12," said Denver Coach Alex Hannum. "They missed some pretty good shots but I like to think our defense had something to do with it."

By the half, the Rockets had a 53-38 lead, which widened to as many as 22 points in the third period. Ralph Simpson had 30 points for Denver. Simmie Hill got 24 for San Diego, 15 of them in the fourth quarter to keep the score respectable.

Utah, leading by a slender 65-61 at the half, blew the Chaps off the floor with 12 straight points at the start of the third period. The Stars hit 63 per cent of their shots in that quarter and Zelmo Beaty, who scored 26 points, ignited a series of fast breaks in the period with 11 rebounds.

Billy Tohill Is Critical

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Billy Tohill, head football coach of Texas Christian University, suffered critical injuries today in a traffic crash on an access road near Loop 820 and U.S. 81 South in Fort Worth.

He was taken to Peter Smith Hospital.

The accident occurred around 6:30 a.m.

Tohill, 33, took over the head coaching job late in 1971 when Coach Jim Pittman collapsed during the Baylor-TCU game and died shortly thereafter in a Waco hospital. Tohill had been Pittman's chief aide.

No other person was injured in the accident.

A major accident involving several cars and a truck had occurred at the spot not long before. Indications wer that Tohill swerved to avoid the wreckage and crashed into road signs and other structures beside the road.

IKE WON FOR SPARTANS

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Pitcher Larry Ike, now the property of the Detroit Tigers, won a record 23 games over three varsity seasons for Michigan State.

Olga Has Fan Club

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Russia's tiny gymnast Olga Korbut keeps saying she isn't a star, but she hasn't convinced her fan club.

Olga and five other members of Soviet Union's touring women's gymnastics team arrived here Tuesday for an exhibition tonight and were greeted by signs declaring "Russians We Love You" and "No. 1 Russian-Olga."

Topping it off was a color poster of Miss Korbut and a message "Welcome to California, USSR Olympic Gymnasts. From the Olga Korbut Fan Club."

The 4-foot-10 inch Olga, eyes red from a cold that kept her from performing Monday night at Buffalo, grinned and waved and said through an interpreter that she is feeling much better.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX

American League West

Wilbur Wood

PROSPECTUS: The White Sox have made one of the most remarkable turnarounds in baseball history. They improved by 70 games in two years, going from 50 games under .500 in 1970 to 20 games over .500 last season. They were so bad in '70 that the club had new uniforms made to infuse a new look; the players' names were taken off their backs. Relief pitcher Steve Hamilton said it was done to protect the players from the fans. Now, with Dick Allen, league MVP, and two 20-game winners, Wilbur Wood and Stan Bahnsen, plus a strong hitter obtained in trade, Ken Henderson, and the expected return of former league homer leader, Bill Melton, the White Sox are as tough a team as there is.

PITCHING: Chicago has the magician, Johnny Sain, as pitching coach. Wherever he has coached, there has been a 20-game winner, from Whitey Ford to Jim Kaat to Denny McLain to Wood and Bahnsen. Terry Forster, 21 years old, also emerged as one of league's best relievers.

INFIELD: Allen at first is incomparable, when happy. And he has been joyous at 35th St. Sox are weak in field at second. Mike Andrews can hit but has sore arm. Shortstop is hurting at plate, with Rich Morales and Lee Richard. Melton should be back at third after mid-season back injury.

OUTFIELD: Carlos May seems fully recovered from Marine accident in which he shot off part of his throwing-hand thumb. Hit 12 homers and had 68 runs batted in while going for .308 batting average. Henderson in center is strong addition, from San Francisco. Swift Pat Kelly and Rick Reichardt will be the third and fourth outfielders.

CATCHING: Ed Herrmann ("I'm the slowest runner in baseball"—.249, 10 homers last season—and Tom Egan, who got angry at Sox announcer Harry Caray when he said Egan wasn't hitting well (Egan finished with a .191 average), will share the catching.

Predicted Finish: First in West.

OAKLAND ATHLETICS

American League West

Reggie Jackson

PROSPECTUS: The most preposterous as well as the most successful team in baseball last season. Green and gold uniforms, a donkey mascot and an owner who has Napoleonic delusions. All this and a world championship, too. Can Charlie Finley's nine do it again? Well, they'll be dressed like that again, anyway. But they traded off Mike Epstein, power-hitting first baseman, and Matty Alou, .300-hitting outfielder. Yet they have Vida Blue, Ken Holtzman, Sal Bando, Compy Campaneris, Reggie Jackson, Jim Hunter, Blue Moon Odom, Rollie Fingers. A goodly selection of stars, enough to be creditable in any pennant race.

PITCHING: Blue, after MVP year in 1971, was only 6-10 when he finally came back from '72 holdout. He is expected to win 20 this time. Odom, Hunter and Holtzman are proven big-league winners. Fingers, Paul Lindblad and Dave Hamilton are fine relievers. One of best staffs in baseball.

INFIELD: World Series hero Gene Tenace is expected to be at first. Will he maintain hitting surge? Second base is weak, with 11 men having played it last season. Dick Green is best bet. Sal Bando and Campy Campaneris at third and short are tops in league.

OUTFIELD: Joe Rudi, .305 with 19 homers; power-hitting Jackson, who had injured leg and missed World Series but says he is nearly ready to go again in right; and either Angel Mangual or George Hendrick in center. Solid group.

CATCHING: Dave Duncan, who lost starting job to Tenace at mid-season, will be behind the plate again. Backup will of course be Tenace, who can come in from first base.

Predicted Finish: Second in West.

Baseball Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gaylord Perry, the American League's Cy Young Award winner in 1972, appears ready to open the season, but Tom Seaver, former National League Cy Young winner, is unlikely to make it for the opener.

Perry, named the AL's top pitcher after compiling a 24-16 record in his first season in the league, looked razor sharp Tuesday as the Cleveland Indians blanked the California Angels 3-0 in an exhibition game shortened to 4½ innings by rain.

The lanky right-hander went the distance, shackling the Angels on five scattered singles and striking out four.

Seaver, meanwhile, was back in his hotel room as the New York Mets lost to the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-2 on Joe Ferguson's pinch-hit, grand-slam home run in the ninth inning.

The NL's 1969 Cy Young winner was sent back to the hotel for the third straight day, suffering from a serious throat infection. Seaver, being treated with penicillin, has yet to pitch this spring, and Manager Yogi Berra said, "If he doesn't pitch soon, he will not get enough work in down here (in Florida) to be ready for the opener" on April 6.

While Seaver was disconsolately nursing his sore throat, outfielders Rusty Staub and Willie Mays made their long-awaited spring debuts for the Mets. Staub, the last Mets' holdout, singled in the game's first run and Mays, fined $500 Sunday for leaving camp without permission, doubled his first time up.

The Dodgers overcame a 2-1 deficit in the ninth on singles by Willie Crawford and Tom Paciorek, Ron Cey's walk and Ferguson's homer on the first pitch thrown to him by rookie Hank Webb.

Cleveland scored all the runs Perry needed in the fourth inning, two on Jack Brohamer's single and the other on Charlie Spikes' sacrifice fly.

Elsewhere, another former Giant, first baseman Orlando Cepeda, continued his strong comeback with the Boston Red Sox. Cepeda, the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1967 when he was with the St. Louis Cardinals, has undergone four knee operations in recent years.

But he seems to have recuperated well. As Boston's designated hitter, he drove in three runs with a homer and a single, sparking the Red Sox to a 7-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Cepeda now has four hits, four RBI, two walks and a sacrifice fly in four exhibition games. Reggie Smith and Tommie Harper also homered for Boston.

"I Won't Pay" Pres. Chub Feeney Fines Durocher $250

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Leo Durocher says he usually doesn't mind getting slapped with a fine or two—but not this time. The fiery manager of the Houston Astros says he'll quit baseball and haul the National League into court before he'll cough up $250 to Chub Feeney.

Leo the Lip watched with pleasure Tuesday as his Astros downed Boston 4-3 in an exhibition game. Then the smile twisted into a snarl as he opened the telegram from the National League president.

It told Durocher he'd been assessed $250 for interfering with his team's meeting with Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, in Pompano Beach, Fla., on Monday.

"It's payable before the first of the season," Durocher fumed. "There's no way I'll pay that or let the Houston club pay it. I will resign and take them to court. I can't see what authority he has," he said of Feeney. "I'm mad! I'm hotter than a $12 bill. Before I pay this fine I'll talk to my attorney and get legal advice. But the way I feel right now, there's no way I'll pay the fine.

"If I was wrong," he said, a bit more calmly, "I'll pay the $250. If I was wrong, I wouldn't argue about it one bit. I've been fined many times since I've been in baseball and I've never once argued about a fine—never once! I've paid it. That's that. If I'm wrong, I'm wrong.

"In this particular case, I know I'm not wrong. I just don't understand how I can get a wire cold and not have anybody get my side of the story.

Spec Richardson, vice president and general manager of the Astros, gave complete backing to Durocher, who repeatedly explained that the Astros hadn't even wanted to meet with Miller in the first place.

"Leo is 100 per cent correct. This was a grandstand show for the public by Miller," Richardson said.

SEES ONE HURLER LESS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Star relief pitcher Sparky Lyle of the New York Yankees feels the designated hitter rule to be used in the American League this year will take one pitcher from every staff in the league. Instead of 10 pitchers teams will carry nine.

Says Lyle: "No longer will you need a long relief man who is also called the middle-inning reliever." Lyle thinks the Detroit Tigers are helped by the rule because "they have such guys as Al Kaline and Gates Brown."

Lyle was in Pittsburgh for the Dapper Dan dinner at which he was honored. At the dinner, the late Roberto Clemente was named to Pittsburgh's Hall of Fame.

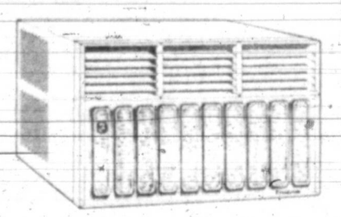

TOPS ALL PACERS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In three seasons, 4-year-old pacer Albatross earned a record $1,201,470 by winning 59 of his 71 starts. The son of Meadow Skipper — Voodoo Hanover paced a record mile in 1:54 4/5 during 1972 and retired with 36 races in two minutes or faster for the mile.

The pacer was developed by Harry Harvey and earlier last season was syndicated by Amicable Stable for two and one-half million dollars. For the second straight year Albatross was voted "harness horse of the year."

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

"EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE"

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

IRS And Sensitivity

The IRS rein, unlike heavenly rain, does not fall upon the just and unjust alike.

This information was developed by a Senate subcommittee under Senator Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M. A Washington couple disclosed that the Internal Revenue Service was using a special report form for so-called "sensitive cases." Such sensitivity embraced political bigwigs, prominent business figures, union bosses, mobsters, entertainers and organizations with political smite.

According to United Press International, the directive defined sensitive cases as those "which, if they become known, would be of considerable public interest, resulting in inquiries or criticism directed to the national office, particularly by the mass media or members of Congress."

What we gather from this is that the IRS, quite understandably, does not desire publication about its activities when such publication could adversely bear on procedures and policies that the IRS has been using. To some extent the IRS derives its power to collect taxes from the willingness of tax payers to be taxed in a reasonable amount for the sake of preserving order under the established government. But now that taxation has reached an unreasonable level in relation to the dollars that the tax payer retains, news of unjust or misunderstood procedures and policies diminishes the willingness to comply with IRS regulation. In other words, enforcement becomes harder, and it takes more IRS energy to obtain the same amount of collection. That is equivalent to a diminishment of IRS power.

Secondly, the IRS relies to some extent upon harassment and bluff to subdue the tax payer. Among these methods are audits of the relatively low-earning tax payer and attachments of property without a court order. While such methods may not be illegal, they are not necessarily legal either. At any rate the tactics do not sit well with the victim. Usually he settles for some amount of the IRS claim, preferring to pay what he considers an unjust sum for the sake of his time and his peace of mind. However, occasionally a victim comes along who does not subdue easily. A news account of his resistance serves to awaken conversational sympathy among those tax payers who have been dealt like treatment, and the government's main money-collecting tool declines in public favor.

We think it will be a long time before resentment against the IRS builds to the point that some corrective such as the Liberty Amendment — which would repeal the personal income tax — is enacted into law. As the Declaration of Independence so precisely states, "mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed." And that is as it should be. We would hope that persons within the IRS, especially those at the policy level, would heed the rising resentment and communicate to Congress the probable consequences of it. That the IRS has discovered some cases are "sensitive" should be sufficient evidence that more tax payers are likely to become so.

Resist Not Evil

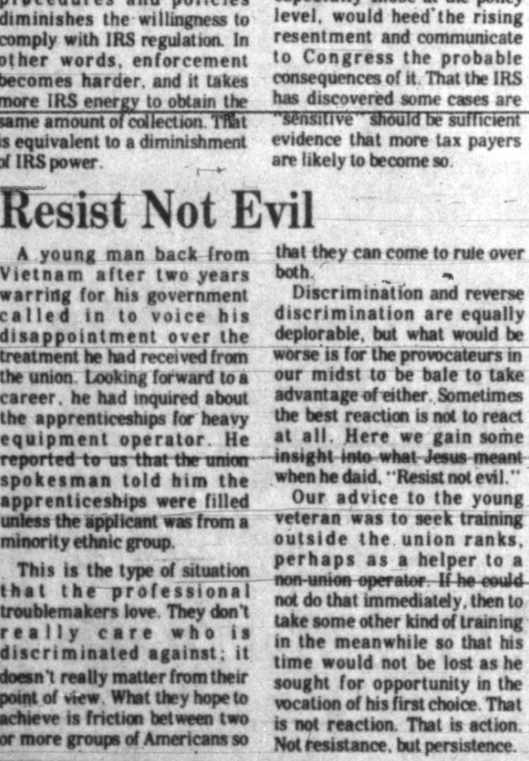

A young man back from Vietnam after two years warring for his government called in to voice his disappointment over the treatment he had received from the union. Looking forward to a career, he had inquired about the apprenticeships for heavy equipment operator. He reported to us that the union spokesman told him the apprenticeships were filled unless the applicant was from a minority ethnic group.

This is the type of situation that the professional troublemakers love. They don't really care who is discriminated against; it doesn't really matter from their point of view. What they hope to achieve is friction between two or more groups of Americans so that they can come to rule over both.

Discrimination and reverse discrimination are equally deplorable, but what would be worse is for the provocateurs in our midst to be bale to take advantage of either. Sometimes the best reaction is not to react at all. Here we gain some insight into what Jesus meant when he daid, "Resist not evil."

Our advice to the young veteran was to seek training outside the union ranks, perhaps as a helper to a non-union operator. If he could not do that immediately, then to take some other kind of training in the meanwhile so that his time would not be lost as he sought for opportunity in the vocation of his first choice. That is not reaction. That is action. Not resistance, but persistence.

Crossroads Report

Dear Editor:

I see where the Supreme Court's pro-abortion ruling said "... additional offspring may force upon a woman a distressful life... mental and physical health may be taxed by child care."

Whch some will say is a foreseeable and avoidable situation rather than one to be cured by judicially-approved fetuscide.

But this may offer some hope that extension of this principle eventually will provide relief for folks who try the distressful life of child-caring for a while and find they don't like it.

* * *

Numerous superminds say that "society" is to blame when unemployment prevails and therefore had ought to see that same is eliminated.

Which my Old Disgruntlist neighbor says is true, if it is kept in mind that such jobless citizens are themselves members of that mean old "society" which is responsible for their condition.

But, being unemployed these days is considered by the social experts to be somebody else's fault, even if a citizen is unemployed because he doesn't know anything that makes him useful to anybody, or does sloppy work when he gets hired.

* * *

I see where government has ordered auto makers to produce cars which don't pollute the air by 1975.

Which, if it works, will revolutionize society. Edicts can be issued to the entrepreneurish to produce non-harmful cigarettes, typewriters that never misspell words, refrigerators that never get empty, etc.

In fact, this system might even be used to require parents to produce children that don't pollute society by turning into thieves, bureaucrats, and other types of environmental hazards.

* * *

I see where every time somebody gets held up or murdered with a pistol, we hear loud screams for legislation to outlaw firearms.

After which, of course, we would need laws to outlaw autos, germs, rich food, etc., which kill more people than guns.

But all of this would be futile. We already have laws which outlaw killing, but nobody wishing to kill pays much attention to them because the only sensible penalty for violation of same has been outlawed.

* * *

Apparently the U.S. Postal Service, formerly the Post Office Department, is learning all of the tricks of the free enterprise system.

Such as they are pushing air mail service (11 cents) over first class (8 cents) business, apparently fumbling around with the cheaper stuff so the air mail will arrive first and sell the customer on paying the extra 3 cents.

This is sometimes called "switching" in business circles and is the practice of persuading customers to switch to higher-priced items or to make them wish they had.

* * *

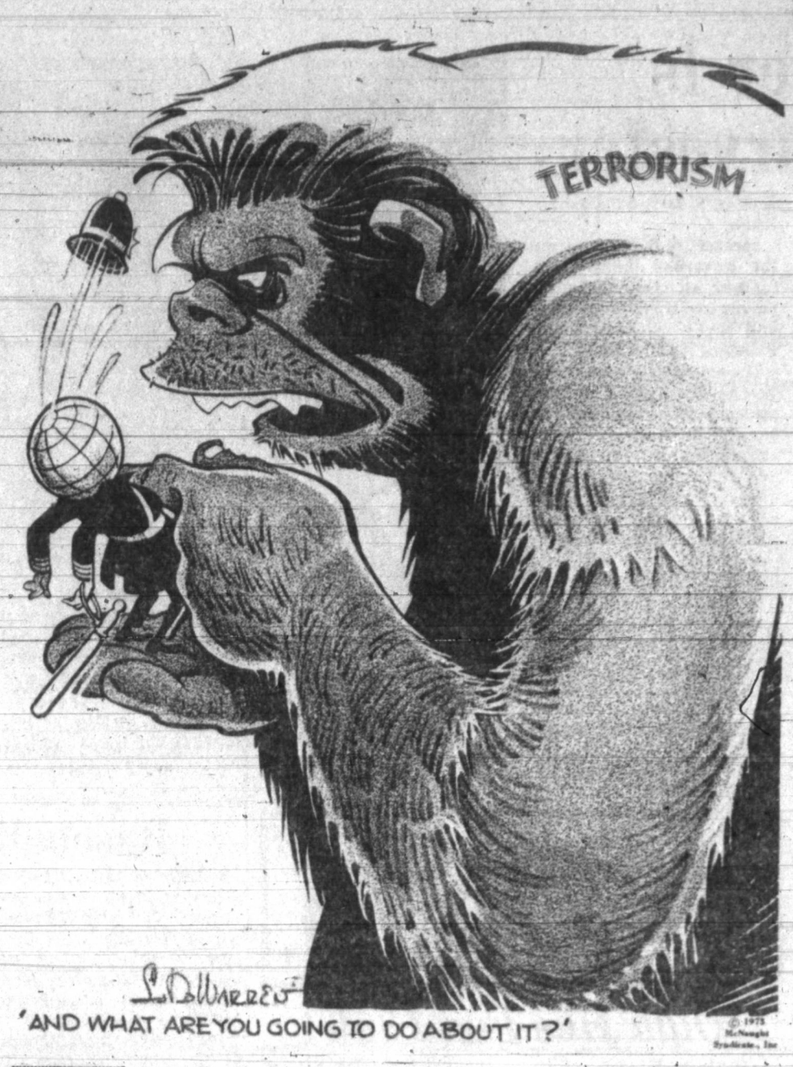

It looks like our quarter-century-old sufferance with the rich uncle syndrome has reached the crisis stage.

Some high-educated economists are now learning what us peonry has always known: there ain't no purse that doesn't have a bottom.

But the current "dollar crisis" may work in our favor. If the dollar gets cheap enough, the countries we have been wet-nursing may refuse to take any more of the measly things, and we can use them to pay off some of our dear-dollar borrowings.

Farm Jobs Down 800,000 by 1975

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — We are again making mistakes which were responsible in considerable measure for the buildup of huge slums in our major cities. During the several decades in which farm workers, displaced by advancing technology in agriculture, migrated to urban centers in search of work.

Talks with Agriculture Department officials indicate that current technological advances insure that by 1975 this nation's farms will need 800,000 fewer workers than in 1968.

Some 200,000 of this reduction may be among migrant workers displaced by gains in the mechanical harvesting of fruits and vegetables. Here the expected impact will be most severe in Oregon, Michigan, North Carolina, California and Texas, involving such crops as grapes, tomatoes, beans and cherries.

Recent studies show that national, state and local governments have done poorly overall in setting up workable programs for retraining farm workers and in providing jobs through economic development.

Especially hard hit are migrant and seasonal farmworkers, yet the General Accounting Office has found systematic coordinated plans have not been established by federal, state or local governments. Spot checks in seven crucial agricultural counties in California, Florida, Michigan, New York, Texas and Washington make clear why Mr. Nixon plans major surgery in manpower and other social programs sponsored by Washington.

The Office of Economic Opportunity funded adult basic education programs in two of the critical sample counties. According to an OEO evaluation report on one, farm workers were receiving very few measurable benefits. A report on the other said the program "had not significantly improved the employability of the participants."

An OEO vocational program in a third area (including parts of two counties) was more successful. Of the 60 graduates, 31 had found nonagricultural jobs at the time of the study. But the 31 was a drop in the bucket considering the thousands of migrant workers who will lose their jobs in the next few years in that area.

In one of the seven counties the Labor Department-funded farm labor offices had not attempted to determine the number of unemployed farm workers, had not attempted to determine the impace mechanization will have, had not started programs to help farm workers upgrade their occupational skills. The offices had referred "a few" farm workers to nonagricultural positions and training programs.

In three counties no federally funded manpower training programs existed specifically for the estimated 30,000 migrant and other seasonal farm workers. The manpower services of state labor offices consisted primarily of referring agricultural workers to farm jobs.

In one county, out of 8,400 farm workers, 180 migrant and seasonal workers were placed in permanent nonfarm jobs in the year reviewed. In a second county, the state office enrolled only three farm workers in nonfarm training in 10 months. In the third county, 20 to 25 migrant and other seasonal workers were enrolled in general vocational training courses in 12 months. Spot checks indicate that in this county about 22 migrant and seasonal workers were placed in nonagricultural work in a nine-month period.

Budget "Facts"

For those of this audience who have "always wanted to know about the federal budget but were afraid to ask because you didn't want to sound stupid," commentator Dick West offers the following:

Q. The new budget President Nixon sent to Congress this week calls for the government to spend $268.7 billion in the next fiscal year. What is a billion, anyway?

A. Every country has some sort of basic monetary unit. In Britain it is the pound, in France the franc, in Germany the mark, in the United States it is the billion.

Q. Okay, what's a fiscal year?

A. A fiscal year is the amount of time it takes the government to spend $268.7 billion.

Q. the budget has been variously described as "austere" and "bare bones." What could possibly be austere about $268.7 billion?

A. The austere part is the $.7 billion. Everything on the other side of the decimal point goes for bare bones.

Q. Isn't $268 billion an awful lot to spend on bare bones?

A. Not with meat prices the way they are today.

Q. One of the visual aids prepared by the Office of Management and Budget shows the "budget dollar" sliced up like a pie. Is there some sort of symbolism in this illustration?

A. Yes. The pie-like drawing symbolizes that the budget makes mincemeat out of the taxpayers.

Question Box

QUESTION: A Washington Post political writer has proposed that the Democratic Congress take steps to repeal the 22nd Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, which limits President Nixon and all other presidents to two terms. Would this be beneficial?

ANSWER: It not only would not be beneficial; it would be harmful, in our estimation. It would return to the situation of 1944 when a man who was dying and apparently knew it, ran for office and was reelected only because the people had great faith in him as an individual. It would be a step toward perpetuation of an individual in office, as in the monarchies of old.

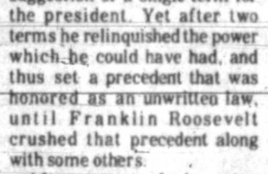

There have been several suggestions for changing the presidential terfn. Lyndon Johnson within recent times has suggested that the President be elected for one six-year term. In a case like that a chief executive theoretically would not be eyeing the next election with his every act. We do not know, but believe no one should serve perpetually in any government office.

The limitation of the term of President was an early concern in the Republic. Thomas Jefferson in 1787 wrote James Madison: "Experience concurs with reason in concluding that the first magistrate will always be reelected if the Constitution permits it." George Washington disagreed with Jefferson's suggestion of a single term for the president. Yet after two terms he relinquished the power which he could have had, and thus set a precedent that was honored as an unwritten law, until Franklin Roosevelt crushed that precedent along with some others.

After years of observing political government in action, we have come to the conclusion that no one should hold any public office for more than six or eight years. Currently, there is great criticism of senators and representatives gaining seniority and controlling the high powered committees. If all were limited to six or eight years, this problem would not exist.

It may be claimed that the nation would lose the experienced legislators. We believe that the amount of experience has not benefited the people, but has served more to benefit the politicians.

Some cities already have limited their councilmen and commissioners to two four-year terms. Whether the people benefit may be questioned, so long as a full-time administrator is permitted to hold office virtually for life. We suggest a limit on the administrators as well as the legislators.

Los Angeles doesn't have worse smog than many another town. They just have better press agents for the stuff.

Nixon Learned Well From Predecessors

President Nixon now has achieved what he perhaps sincerely thinks will be peace in Southeast Asia. A cold chill ran down my spine when I read the conditions under which there will be an armistice. North Vietnamese troops will remain and the Viet Cong will have a voice in determining the conditions of the plebiscite which is to determine what kind of government the South Vietnamese will have.

Since I spent the first five years after the end of World War II in Europe, I remember very vividly what happened over there. The Russians were occupation troops in the eastern European countries – Poland, Romania, Bulgaria, Eastern Germany, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and even part of my native Austria. Groups from all political parties were supposed to start elections. Elections were indeed held, but it did not take long before one after the other of those countries which were under Russian occupation disappeared behind the Iron Curtain.

That Austria nowadays is not an Iron Curtain country is due mostly to the energy of General Mark Clark, who was then the American High Commissioner and to whom Austria owes a never-ending debt of gratitude. All this is very irrelevant, of course, to our American peacenik friends, who never lived in a country that was run by a dictator, be he Fascist or Communist, and who have no first hand experience of what it feels like to be in a bomb shelter and not know whether one will be alive the next minute.

It has been so that eventually all countries in which the Communists or one of their cover organizations had any say in the determination of election eventually went Communist, and I am sad to think that the same will happen in South Vietham, after all the sacrifices that the South Vietnamese have made and all the sacrifices of American lives and American health.

It is so short-sighted to think only of the present and not of the future. It is so easy to claim that we have no business in Vietnam and that what happens in Vietnam has no influence on the United States. Since World War II, there have been only retreats of the West and gains of the Communist East. Eastern Europe has fallen to the Communists, thanks to President Roosevelt, who presented it to them on a silver platter. Cuba has fallen into the hands of the Communists, although President Eisenhower could very easily have prevented it at the time.

The same President Eisenhower stood idly by when the Russians overthrew a popularly supported government in Hungary in 2956. President Kennedy gave only very feeble support to the would-be invaders at the Bay of Pigs. All President Johnson did when the Russians invaded Czechoslovakia in 1968 was to raise a finger and say: Now, now there, bad boys!

Where were all the protesters in the instances when Communist forces brutally took over these countries, patently against the will of their population? Where were the peace activists on their high moral horse when Hungarians were dying in a battle that was doomed to be lost by them, fighting off the tanks of the Russian invaders in 1956?

It is very sad that President Nixon had not the courage to follow the dictates of what he must have known was necessary in order to curb the expansion of Communism in the world. He has now delivered not only Vietnam, but also Cambodia and Laos to the Communists, on a silver platter.

When are the American people going to wake up? When this country is going to be surrounded by Communist neighbors, wajting for the plum to ripen and fall into their lap? President Nixon's predecessors have taught him well!

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The proportion of American adults with at least a high school diploma went from 43 per cent in 1970 to 60 per cent in 1971, The World Almanac notes. Among persons 20 to 29, who would have completed high school more recently, the proportion with a high school education increased from 65 per cent to 82 per cent for whites, and from 40 per cent to 62 per cent for Negroes.

KANGAROOS MAY BE ENDANGERED

WASHINGTON (AP) — All of Australia's big kangaroos will be classified as endangered species under a proposal by Secretary of the Interior Rogers C.B. Morton. If the listing stands up it will be illegal to import the animals or their hides.

In all, Morton would add 18 animals and birds to the list of foreign endangered species, including 17 from Australia. Eight more were proposed for the American list, including the eastern cougar, long considered extinct but now reported occasionally, the Utah prairie dog, northern Rocky Mountain wolf, Mississippi sandhill crane, Puerto Rican whip-poor-will and Santa Barbara song sparrow.

If you make good grades at school

You're the one we want
(especially if you plan to go to college)

We've noticed it. Our best carriers all seem to be above-average students. Perhaps it's because in the daily management of their routes, they apply the lessons they learn in the classroom. Like arithmetic in making change and in keeping a record of their profits. Or, maybe it's because newspaper route management is just one of those things a good student can do well. In any case, if your grades are A's and B's and you plan to go to college, we want to hear from you. We can show you how to build a savings account that can be a help when you get there. Why not get started today... by calling us. There may be a route available in your neighborhood.

THE WORDS OF CHRIST

BY DAVID POLING

"And I tell you, Ask and it will be given you; seek and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you. For every one who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened."
Luke 11

It may be slightly surprising to some readers to learn that in this New Testament passage Jesus is teaching his followers not only to pray but what to expect! In a word, everything. In a lavish, open manner Jesus is teaching his friends to understand that God is concerned about their welfare and responsive to their needs.

It would be childish to suddenly consider such instruction to be the start of a shopping list, ready to find its way in our petitions. On the other hand, Jesus has just said that God is not the only Creator, Judge and Ruler — but He is a Father. And He is a loving Father who anticipates the needs and yearnings of His children.

This is an entirely new concept in the history of man, and surely in the history of religion. A God who cares, who is a Father, and who responds to the prayers of His children. Jesus' argument was simple and convincing: If you who are evil know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will the heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him?

Retired Federal Employes Set Meeting In Amarillo

AMARILLO — Palo Duro Chapter 1248 of the National Association of Retired Federal Employes will host the annual convention of District 12 of the Texas State NARFE Association at noon Thursday, March 15, at Wyatt's Cafeteria in Sunset Center.

Members of the host chapter and Amarillo Chapter 245, Plainview Chapter 743 and the X.I.T. Chapter at Littlefield will be in attendance.

Mayor L. Ray Vahue of Amarillo will attend the luncheon at noon and welcome the visitors to Amarillo. Other speakers at the convention will include Field Vice-President Luther L. Miller of Texarkana, State Association President Noel D. Patterson of Dallas, State Vice-President Vernon Bell of Lubbock and Twelfth District Chairman John F. Moyer of Amarillo.

Moyer will introduce the speakers and conduct the convention program.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Clarence raises a crucial question about the newspaper's vital defense of citizens against crime and the Mafia. Clergymen and physicians enjoy "privileged communication" to protect the confessions of parishioners and patients. Shouldn't reporters have the same immunity?

CASE W-551: Clarence G., aged 22, is a law student.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "you are both an Applied Psychologist and Psychiatrist, so I need your professional advice.

"Do you feel that newspaper reporters should be forced by the courts to reveal the sources of their information?

"On many occasions, the newspapers get access to vital information about criminal or gangster or Mafia operations before the police do so.

"By what they call the 'grapevine' route, they seem able to discover many pertinent facts that solve murders or expose corruption in government.

"But the Supreme Court seems to feel they should be compelled to name the sources of their secret data."

PRIVILEGED COMMUNICATION

Personally, I favor granting newspaper reporters the same "privileged communication" protection that priests and physicians offer their parishioners or patients.

And here are my psychological reasons:

(1) Many informants against the Mafia or political "bosses" will refuse to offer vital information about crimes if they know their names will be publicized.

"I don't want to become involved," is thus the standard excuse of otherwise honest citizens when they have watched crimes being committed outside their own windows.

You readers will recall some of the heinous attacks on women, which were idly witnessed by people in neighboring New York apartments.

They didn't go to the victim's aid nor even call the police, for they "didn't want to become involved."

But such people are more willing to tip off the newspaper by phone or confide in a reporter.

(2) People fear reprisals by gangster hoodlums or the Mafia if they notify the police.

For they figure they may be called to testify and thus their identity will be discovered, with possible death to themselves or family.

But when they merely inform the newspaper, they know it will do the investigating without implicating such informants.

(3) Despite the general public's high regard for the FBI and most of our police officials, laymen still worry somewhat about possible secret connections of policemen with gangsters.

In the past year, here in Chicago, for example, several policemen have been accused of blackmailing tavern owners and extorting "protection" money from other business firms.

Newspapers, on the contrary, are looked upon as independent defenders of the public.

Congressman J. D. Waggonner (La.) thus lauded the Dayton (O.) JOURNAL HERALD for its investigation of the alleged links between Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and organized crime.

"Why is it," Waggonner inquired, "that two reporters, working without subpoena power, without staff and without the full investigative force of the Executive and Legislative branches of the federal government, should uncover this information after a special subcommittee of this House failed to do so?"

Shakespeare summed up the public's reaction to newspaper reporters when he stated:

"Men wearing rapiers are afraid of goose quills."

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)
