Reds Swarm Down To Almost Encircle Kiev

German Defense Lines Crumbling

Soviet Says Large Forces Are Routed

By JUDSON O'QUINN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Saturday, Nov. 6 — Soviet forces swarmed down from the north into the northern and western suburbs of Kiev to outflank that historic catherdral city and surrounded it on 3 sides in a major new Russian drive that broke through two German defense lines, Moscow announced today.

Entrenched for more than a month on a Dnieper river island a few hundred yards from the eastern cliffs of Kiev, the Russians suddenly pounced down on the city from their bridgehead in the north and in a 16-mile advance in 24 hours broke the German defense lines one after the other.

Large Forces Routed

The Russians captured Priorka, three miles north of Kiev, and then smashed into Svyatoshin, four miles to the west, cutting first the railway to Korosten, 82 miles to the northwest, then the road to Zhitomir, 80 miles to the west.

"Large enemy forces were routed," said the Moscow midnight communique supplement recorded by the Soviet monitor.

"The enemy is desperately trying to halt the advance of the Soviet troops. He is hastily bringing up reserves of infantry and tanks and throwing them into the battle from the march.

"Eleven Hitlerite counter-attacks were repulsed with heavy losses to them. About 3,000 German officers and men were wiped out."

The Russians said their troops wrecked 28 German tanks and many guns and trucks in their advance, and in one sector captured 45 field guns, 72 mortars, 140 machineguns, nine large supply dumps and other war material.

Only One Escape Route

The Germans now could escape only to the southwest, and the city appeared doomed as the Russian drive gained momentum.

The Germans were expected to begin evacuating the centuries-old "mother of Russian cities" shortly, if they have not already begun their retreat.

"The battle for the possession of Kiev is now in progress," a Berlin broadcast had said earlier.

Cleaning up in the south between the Dnieper river and the Black Sea the Russians "completely cleared the German Fascist in-

Japs Open New Drive In China

CHUNGKING, Nov. 5 (AP) — Striking out along a 90-mile front in the Yangtze-Tungting Lake area, scene last May of a disastrous Japanese campaign, 30,000 Japanese backed by large reserves have scored general gains in an apparent desperate effort to forestall a general Allied offensive, the Chinese announced today.

(American trained Chinese troops are engaging in almost continual small clashes with the Japanese in northern Burma where "the Chinese are advancing to protect a supply road being constructed by American and Chinese engineering troops from Assam to the Burma road," a British communique from New Delhi announced.

(Associated Press dispatches from the area said the Chinese had advanced 100 miles into Burma from the Ledo road in northeastern India and occupied the upper half of the Hukawn valley —about half way across the northern tip of Burma. Death of the first American soldier from enemy action in the area was reported.

Fear Allied Offensive

Comparing the newest Japanese thrust with their unsuccessful October offensives along the Salween in southwestern China and in the Nanking-Shanghai-Hangchow area of eastern China last month, Maj. Gen. C. C. Tseng, Army spokesman, said the Japanese feared an Allied offensive would be keyed to the plans of Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten in Burma.

In this case, he added, the Jap-

Heavy Jap Convoys Steam For Rabaul

Great Naval And Air Battles Presaged As Frantic Nips Seek To Check Allies

By WILLIAM F. BONI
Associated Press Staff Writer

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Saturday, Nov. 6—Presaging heavy naval and air battles to come, Japan is rushing both heavy and light cruisers and destroyers down from Truk to Rabaul in a frantic effort to halt the Allied drive up the Solomons, headquarters disclosed today.

It appeared likely that at least five such convoys now are southbound over the 800 miles from Truk toward Kavieng, New Ireland, and Rabaul, New Britain.

19 In Largest Convoy

The largest convoy spotted by Allied reconnaissance planes included five heavy cruisers, three light cruisers, five destroyers, two corvettes, a whaling ship and three freighters of which one probably is a transport.

General MacArthur said the Japanese are trying to "retrieve the situation at Rabaul" where American planes in eight raids since Oct. 12 have sunk six destroyers, damaged two heavy cruisers, a destroyer tender, a submarine, a submarine tender, as well as sunk a considerable tonnage of large merchant vessels. In those raids, more than 700 Japanese planes have been destroyed or damaged.

These heavy blows have kept Rabaul largely neutralized and unable to effectively cope with the invasion of Bougainville 260 miles to the southeast at Empress Augusta Bay.

At least one of the many convoys sighted already has been bombed with hits on two cargo vessels.

The biggest 19-ship group was sighted in the early morning Thursday northwest of Mussau island whiih is above the northwestern tip of New Ireland.

On Friday morning, nine ships including destroyers and possibly cruisers were spotted on a southeasterly course at a point about 60 miles from Kavieng.

That same morning, a Liberator bombed a destroyer in a convoy north of Mussau. This convoy was proceeding in two sections. There were three destroyers and three cargo ships in one section, a heavy cruiser, two destroyers and a tanker in the other.

Another One Sighted

Two hundred miles northeast of Mussau, two heavy cruisers, four light cruisers and three destroyers were sighted.

In daylight Wednesday, a strong formation of Liberators from the South Pacific command of Adm. William F. Halsey attacked a six-ship formation 135 miles northeast of Kavieng. One cargo ship was left listing and another set afire.

Four of twenty escorting fighters were shot down for certain and three others probably were downed against the loss of one Liberator in the attack.

Three destroyers raised intense anti-aircraft fire.

Although there was no doubt the Japanese, making the most of their interior seaborne lines of communication, were busily reinforcing Rabaul the possibility was considered that some of the reports of the patrolling planes were duplications.

A spokesman for General MacArthur emphasied there still was no indication so far that the main Japanese battle fleet is moving into position for combat.

The most reasonable explanation is the Japs either are sending out a number of small "task forces" or are intending to assemble a major task force at some such marshalling point as Rabaul.

On Bougainville, United States Marines which landed Monday are continuing to consolidate positions which have bypassed a strong enemy garrison on that island's south coast.

New Mine Wage Scale Approved

One Point Is Left Open For Argument

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP) — The War Labor board tonight approved the Ickes-Lewis coal wage scale with a qualification which leaves one point still open to possible controversy.

The board split 11 to 1 on the seven-months old wage dispute which shut down the nation's mines three times at a cost of more than 40,000,000 tons of coal.

Public Member Dissents

The new wage agreement worked out by John L. Lewis and Interior Secretary Ickes provides for daily earnings of $8.50, an increase of $1.50 over the old contract. The work day is also extended by the agreement.

Public member Wayne L. Morse filed the lone dissent.

The point which the board qualified deals with the miners who are paid by the ton or on some other piecework basis rather than by the hour. The board said the condition it set forth on this point is to assure conformity with the wage scale it proposed for hourly workers in its decision on the Illinois contract last week.

Statement By Davis

Chairman William H. Davis said in an accompanying statement:

"The contract signed by Secretary Ickes and the president of the United Mine Workers pays the day rate mine workers $1.50 for an extra full hour of work each day. This is what they would get under the present contract. When corrected for tonnage workers it will be within the limits of the national wage stabilization policy because the increased daily earnings will then all be in payment for increased production of coal.

"Under the contract with the government the extra pay is for extra work paid for at the old rate or for overtime pay required by the fair labor standards act."

Sheriff Hutson Home From Coast Inquiry

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 5. (Special) —Sheriff Sam Hutson of Littlefield returned to his home Friday after spending several days on the Texas Gulf coast and in Central Texas investigating the murder mystery of Dr. and Mrs. Roy E. Hunt of Littlefield who were killed in their home on Oct. 26.

Sheriff Hutson said, upon his return, "I am very tired, but there is nothing new to report on the case."

Sheriff Hutson told newsmen that one of his main purposes for the trip was to "get acquainted with the peace officers in those cities who are carrying on the investigation of the Hunt murder."

SOYBEANS MOVING IN

DALLAS, Nov. 5 (AP)—Additional soybeans now moving to Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas and Louisiana mills will make 5,416,000 bushels available for crushing, A. L. Ward, of the National Cottonseed Products association, said he was informed by Commodity Credit corporation.

CENTER OF ACTION — Following a Marine landing early this week at Empress Augusta bay on Bougainville, largest of the Solomons group, events apparently are shaping up for a major sea clash, as Japs appear to be sending in more ships and planes to Rabaul to replace those lost in shattering blows by Allied bombers nd warships.

Lend-Lease For Britain Assailed

Title To Holdings Asked In Payment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—The Truman investigating committee, saying lend-lease "was never intended as a device" to shift Britain's war cost here, suggested today the British might give us some of their foreign holdings of oil and metals as partial payment.

In a comprehensive report on committee also criticized reports it attributed to "Army officials" that the War department will keep soldiers in uniform—working on war contracts in a sort of post war WPA—until private industry can assure them of jobs.

Beyond Authority

"Such suggestions are beyond the authority of the War department," the report declared.

If Britain can't get to her own oil reserves and can't pay cash for petroleum from us, the committee suggested:

"Consideration be given as to whether she should not pay for the petroleum obtained from us by transferring to us her ownership of an equivalent value of foreign petroleum reserves or of the English-held securities of the corporations having title to such reserves."

Declaring English and Dutch-controlled rubber regulaions hindered building our own pre-war stockpile of rubber, the committee said also that "consideration should be given now as to the terms and conditions under which any such rubber monopoly should be continued after the war."

Not Victimized Again

"We should insure that we will never again be the victims of a plan . . . by which we were forced in the twenties to pay exorbitant prices for rubber at the same time we were being called Shylocks in the English press for requesting repayment of war loans which we made to England."

It suggested the United States turn its attention now to the possibility of acquiring rights in British-owned metal deposits and the right to get manganese from post-war Russia "in return for lend-lease articles furnished it now."

Russia And Czechs To Sign Alliance

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP) — Erection of a new barrier to future German aggression was revealed today with the disclosure that Russia and Czechoslovakia have agreed on a 20-year military alliance.

Czech president, Edward Benes soon will make a long-postponed trip to Moscow to sign the treaty, it was said by the responsible diplomatic sources who told of the agreement.

Negotiations on the pact have been completed, it was said, in terms almost identical with the British-Russian alliance signed in May, 1942.

Jones Testifies For Private Industry

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP) — Jesse Jones told the Senate's Post-War Economic Planning committee today that private industry should be given an opportunity to purchase, on easy terms, government-built war plants which represent a total investment of $15,000,000,000 or more.

The Secretary of Commerce, testifying behind closed doors, said the government-financed plants should be made available for purchase by private businessmen, to the extent they wanted such plants and could afford to take them over. To carry out such a policy, he was quoted as saying, it would be necessary to permit installment purchases.

Dyess Makes Celebration A Tribute To Those Not Back

By POTTS BOSWELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBANY, Texas, Nov. 5. — Lt. Col. William E. Dyess, described as "one of the greatest heroes of the whole war," safe home after being reported a prisoner of the Japanese, told a community gathering tonight "Let's just say we'll make it a tribute to the boys who are not back."

A brief address closed a simple program in his honor for which his friends and former neighbors gathered under the lights of the high school football field. He told them, as they already knew from the word spread about, that he could not talk about any of his experiences during the last two years.

"I have one story, and I'll stick to it, he said. "A boat sailed from San Francisco two years ago. I jumped that boat, got back in California, and I've been incognito in a zoot suit."

The town folk, who had watched Dyess grow up; who had thrilled to stories of his heroism on Bataan; who grieved with his parents when they were informed he was a prisoner, stood up as the tall, broad-shouldered, 27-year-old airman stepped to the microphone.

They were silent, briefly, after he told them at the end he regarded their "wanting him back" as the greatest honor which would ever come to him and added:

"I love every one of you."

J. Carter King, jr., the youthful mayor, was master of ceremonies and introduced Dyess, the flier's wife, his mother and father.

"I'm sure when the war is over and all the story is told he will be one of the greatest heroes of the whole war," the mayor said.

Senate Adopts Post-War Plan Overwhelmingly

Only Five Vote In Opposition To Bill On Moscow Parley

By HOWARD FLIEGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5— The United States Senate voted overwhelmingly today to back up the Moscow four-power declaration for an international organization to keep the world at peace.

The vote was 85 to 5 in favor of a post-war policy resolution sponsored by the foreign relations committee. It climaxed two weeks of debate that frequently bristled with angry arguments over the part this country should play in the affairs of the world after the war.

The opposition votes came from Senators Johnson (R-Calif), Langer (R-ND), Reynolds (D-NC), Shipstead (R-Minn) and Wheeler (D-Mont).

As the final vote was announced Senator Lucas (D-Ill) shouted "this is the end of a glorious day in the Senate of the United States."

By its vote the Senate caught up with the Moscow declaration between the United States, Britain, Russia and China which was announced last Monday — settling many of the questions over which the chamber had argued for a week.

As finally adopted this is the heart of the resolution authored by Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the foreign relations committee:

"Resolved: . . . that the United States, acting through its constitutional processes, join with free and sovereign nations in the establishment and maintenance of international authority with power to prevent aggression and to preserve the peace of the world.

Need Is Recognized

"That the Senate recognizes the necessity of there being established at the earliest practicable date a general international organization, based on the principle of the sovereign equality of all peace-loving states, and open to membership by all such states, large and small, for the maintenance of international peace and security.

"That, pursuant to the constitution of the United States, any treaty made to effect the purposes of this resolution, on behalf of the government of the United States with any other nation or any association of nations, shall be made only by and with the advice and consent of the Senate of the United States, provided two thirds of the senators present concur."

The last paragraph was put in by the foreign relations committee to meet the expressed fears of some senators that the resolution could be taken by the President as

German Efforts Not Slackening

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 5 (AP) — Positive evidence comes from Germany that Nazi leaders are not slackening in the war effort despite signs of a growing spirit of defeatism and troubles within Austria.

The fact that a mighty fleet of American multi-motored bombers again attacked Wilhelmshaven and that the RAF was forced to return with more tons of explosive for Duesseldorf and Cologne this week was evidence that the Germans, during the past five months, have succeeded in resuming production in bomb-damaged war industries.

Other signs that Germany is mustering all her available strength were seen in a report that 19 Army divisions were shifted from important sectors of Europe to provide protective cover for the east front retreat and that bomb-shattered Hamburg again was in shape for use as a shipping and submarine assembly point.

Said Incredible

"It is incredible what the Germans have succeeded in doing around the harbor," a traveler said.

There have been unconfirmed rumors that a state of emergency was declared in numerous German cities, but there has been no confirmation and a Swedish traveler who came from Danzig Monday said "I heard nothing about such troubles within Germany. There is no lack of food in Danzig as the workers engaged in heavy labor get three times the normal ration. Evidently the masses of German people want peace and are convinced that Germany won't win the war but at the same time many believe that the present situation is only a question of incidental setbacks and that Germany is unbeatable.

Lubbock Sgt. Wins 'Namesake' Honors

LOWRY FIELD, Colo., Nov. 5. (AP)—Squadron mates of 1st Sgt. P. G. Hartman rose to the occasion when the stork arrived with a boy, instead of a girl, which the Hartmans had expected.

"Name him after one of the men in the outfit," the soldiers suggested. "Put everybody's name in a box, pick out one and there you are."

Winner in the "drawing" was T./Sgt. Mont Walker of Lubbock, Texas.

Synthetic Oil Works And Vital Railway Yards Pulverized By 1,000-Plane Foray

By ROBERT STURDEVANT
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Saturday, Nov. 6—A great force of American heavy bombers—as large as the record fleet of 700 which hit Wilhelmshaven Wednesday—bombed Gelsenkirche, site of three of the greatest synthetic oil works in Europe, yesterday, and attacked the vital railway yards at Muenster.

With a bountiful escort of Thunderbolts and Lightnings swelling the American formations to upwards of 1,000 planes, the Fortresses and Liberators pounded the two important western German cities during what was apparently one of the heaviest attacks ever made on Germany.

Heavy Tonnage Loosed

Possibly 2,000 tons of bombs were loosed on the two cities, to equal the amount dropped during the raid on Wilhelmshaven.

Ten heavy bombers, two medium ones, and five fighters were missing from the day's operations, which included attacks on military targets in northern France and Belgium.

The attack on Wilhelmshaven had cost five heavy U. S. bombers.

The communique said that "Flying Fortresses and Liberators in as large a force as the record-breaking number which attacked Wilhelmshaven in daylight Wednesday were escorted by Thunderbolts and Lightnings throughout the operation."

It previously had been announced that 700 bombers participated in the 2,000-ton Wilhelmshaven raid.

38 Nazis Downed

Today's communique said 38 enemy fighters were destroyed by the American planes—20 by the bombers and 18 by the accompanying fighters.

Amid indications that Allied night raiders again were striking deep into Germany early today to continue another prolonged round-the-clock assault on Adolf Hitler's European fortress, the U. S. Eighth Air force announcement disclosed that Marauder, Mitchell, and Typhoon bombers were over northern France in force in daylight yesterday.

Railway Center

Muenster, capital of Westphalia in northwestern Germany, is an important railway center close to the strategic Dortmund-Ems canal. It lies approximately 60 miles northeast of Duesseldorf, plastered Wednesday night by the RAF.

Gelsenkirchen, besides being an important industrial city, is on the important Dortmund-Hamm railway. It lies 20 miles west of Dortmund in Westphalia and 20 miles northeast of Duesseldorf. It is the site of the greatest synthetic oil works in Europe.

Lt. Frank M. Moss Missing In Action

Second Lt. Frank M. Moss, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Moss, 1712 Eighteenth street, was listed as missing in action in a War department announcement Friday. His parents last received word from him when he wrote that he was with Johnny Rodger's group in New Guinea under Gen. Douglas MacArthur. His last known raid was Oct. 12, when a raid was made on Rabaul.

MOSS

Lt. Moss was a graduate of Slaton High school. He was a member of the National Guard and in 1941 was mobilized into the field artillery of the Army. After serving a year in the Army, he re-enlisted into the Air corps and received training at Kelly Field, Victoria and Midland.

The War department reported him missing in the Mediterranean area, where he was a bombardier on a Liberator bomber, indicating he had been transferred from the Pacific.

Leaders Agree On War Plans

China Conference Revealed By FDR

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—In a momentous conference at Chungking, American, British and Chinese military men have reached complete agreement on the conduct and supply of continental operations against the Japanese, President Roosevelt announced today.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press-radio conference that the conference was extremely successful but he could not go into details.

He did say that among those attending was Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, the Allied supreme commander in southeast Asia. This suggested that the conference was primarily concerned with coordination of all forces for the reconquest of Burma which there was nothing to indicate, however, whether a move against Burma is now imminent.

Other Discussions

In other discussions of the war, the President:

1. Indicated that the island-hopping stage of American operations in the Southwest Pacific is in its last phases. He said that in attacking Bougainville island the American forces are getting set to knock out Rabaul, the key Japanese base in that whole area. Once it is liquidated, he intimated, more massive blows will follow.

2. Said that the Moscow conference's decisions made no change in the status of General George C. Marshall, the Army chief of staff. (There have been reports that Marshall has been selected to direct an invasion of Europe by American and British troops based in the British Isles.) Mr. Roosevelt also said the Moscow conference undoubtedly would lead to other meetings on closer coordination of military operations and supplies. He is still hopeful, he said, of a meeting with Premier Stalin but had nothing new on that.

Mr. Roosevelt said that in addition to Mountbatten those attending the Chungking conference included Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, American commander in the Burma-China-India theater; Major General Clair L. Chennault, commander of American Air forces in China; Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commanding general of the Army Service forces; Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, and Chinese military men.

Just when the conference was held was not disclosed but Mr. Roosevelt said Somervell already has returned to this country.

QUEEN FORGETS

LONDON, Nov. 5. (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and the Duchess of Kent, visiting a disabled servicemen's handicraft exhibition yesterday, saw several scarves they wished to buy. The best they could do, however, was to ask to have them set aside—because both the queen and the duchess had forgotten to bring their ration books.

Armies Overrun Score Of Towns

Nazis Say Venafro Already Evacuated

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 5. — Halfway to Rome from its bloody Salerno beachhead, the American Fifth Army streamed through shattered German defenses to the flooded mouth of the Garigliano river on the Mediterranean today, while the hard-driving British Eighth Army slashed on toward the enemy's main supply lifeline to the Trigno river sector on the Adriatic.

The two armies together overran more than a score of towns and villages in their advances yesterday, it was disclosed at headquarters today.

Fall Said Imminent

American troops were fighting on the heights overlooking Venafro, a central anchor of the Nazis' collapsed Massico ridge line, and the city's fall was believed imminent. All along the Fifth Army front German troops were falling back under continuous, heavy pressure toward their next stand along the Aurunci mountain range.

(DNB, German news agency, announced that Nazi troops had evacuated Venafro.)

Hope was revived that Allied forces would fight their way into Rome, now only 75 miles away, by Christmas or New Year's.

After days of savage fighting, in which numerous Nazi tank-led counterattacks were repulsed, the Eighth Army captured the heavily-defended town of San Salvo near the mouth of the Trigno yesterday, an Allied communique announced. The final charge that carried San Salvo was aided by two British destroyers that stood off and blasted the Nazis from their entrenchments.

Highway Route Closed

British and Canadian mountain fighters who stormed into the inland communication center of Isernia in darkness yesterday morning pushed on north toward a main lateral highway extending from the Apennines to Vasto on the Adriatic.

This road had been the avenue of supply for German forces opposing the Eighth Army along the Trigno river. With its loss the enemy quickly will find its present positions untenable on this "back-door" route to Rome.

Vatican City Is Said Attacked

LONDON, Saturday, Nov. 6 (AP) The German Transocean news agency was recorded by Reuters in a broadcast early today as saying that "Allied aircraft attacked Vatican City" at 9 p. m. last night "causing considerable damage."

There was no confirmation from Allied or any other sources of this supposed attack.

The Nazi propaganda agency added: "Four large bombs fell within approximately 100 yards of St. Peter's cathedral."

In leaflets dropped over Rome during an Allied daylight raid on rail targets last July 19, the Italians were told:

"It is possible that in order to lend plausibility to their lying statements, the Fascist government or their German associates will themselves arrange for bombs to be dropped in the center of Rome and even on Vatican City.

"We leave it to your intelligence to decide whether it is likely that we should waste our efforts on targets whose destruction is useless for our purpose."

Prominent Italian Held In Naples Jail

NAPLES, Nov. 3. (Delayed) (AP) —Allied military authorities today arrested an outstanding Italian industrialist, Paolo Signorini, on an unannounced charge and removed from city and provincial office several hundred known Fascist party leaders.

Signorini is being held in Naples prison, presumably for anti-Allied activity after the armistice.

Rebellious Japs Cool Down As Army's Bayonets Flash

TULE LAKE, Calif., Nov. 5. (AP) —Troops with fixed bayonets cooled the temper of 15,000 rebellious Japanese at this segregation center today after riots, assaults and destruction compelled civilian authorities to ask for military aid.

Tanks, armored cars and hundreds of troops kept a constant patrol of the 700-acre barracks city.

Sullen internees watched intently the construction of a high, barbed-wire fence barring them from Caucasian offices and quarters.

It was evident that the future was up to the internees themselves.

"Quiet has been restored," was the Army's only comment.

The troops, charged only with the external security of the project, as long as the War Relocation authority could retain control of focal points inside, moved into the administration area en masse after a civilian guard was beaten severely. More violence appeared imminent, and the WRA called for help.

Twenty internees were injured, and 500, their arms folded over their heads, were rounded up, at the points of bayonets, for questioning.

Long-smouldering resentment on the part of Tule Lake internees, nearly all of them proven or suspected disloyalists, first broke into the open last week.

With arrival of newcomers, particularly evacuees from Hawaii where most Japanese remained undisturbed, the picture changed. New leaders strove for power and control. Thousands fell into line.

The evacuees have refused to

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

THE TENTATIVE 1944 Victory garden program has as its goal 22 million, instead of this year's 20 million Victory gardens. Next year's gardeners are to be urged to find a suitable vacant lot now and get it ready for a community plot next year. These plots were found to have produced more than isolated backyard projects.

The seed situation is much better for next year. Rotenone, the insect spray dear to gardeners' hearts because it is not poison to humans, will be more plentiful. Confusing regulations which allowed the spraying of rotenone on your row of beans but not on cabbage have been removed.

GREETING CARDS

CHRISTMAS cards are already on sale in the midst of war's uncertainties. No one can predict what the next month and a half hold for us but Christmas, with what it stands for in the hearts of men, is something that holds steady.

The dislocation of normal home relations, the separation of people by distances, the deep fear of loneliness that is within all of us, intensified by dangers and anxieties surrounding us, all are partly dispelled by greeting cards. They serve a useful place in the lives of most of us.

One finds it difficult at times to write letters but even the busiest person can occasionally find time to send some sort of a greeting card.

Greeting cards have branched out from Christmas until they include messages for every holiday in the year—for every event in our lives. It seems there must be greeting cards for almost every possible occasion except a hanging.

MIDNIGHT GREMLINS

SOMETIMES we wonder what has happened to those little gremlins who used to deal such misery to the Eighth Air Force and the RAF a few months ago. If you recall, those little imps certainly upset the apple cart while air crews grappled with them on the sea, on the land and in the air. Lately there hasn't been anything said about them.

But Friday morning all of a sudden the Woman's Angle knew where at least one little gremlin is stationed. He's on a linotype machine in our office and so far as we can find out he works once a month. He must be skinny as well as mean looking and slightly colorless since he works only on the graveyard shift. In fact he's a midnight gremlin.

Not content with sliding down the "etaoin shrdlu" on the linotype, on first Thursday nights he waits for the report of the 1928 Luncheon club and then the havoc starts. One time he changed the name of the hotel where club was to meet; when we ran a correction he changed the name of the hostess, and (we don't expect you to believe this) the third attempt he changed the name of the society to the "Longhorn club."

The only thing that saved the face of the society department was a long acquaintanceship with most of the members. There is an amazing amount of understanding among members of the 1928 Luncheon club we're glad to report.

But imagine our surprise and chagrin Friday morning on reading an account of a luncheon the day before to discover that "Mr." R. A. Mills had been hostess. Now we know Mr. Mills and in his duties as head of the Tech artists course committee and his position as husband of a very active member of the First Christian Woman's council and his profession as professor of English at Tech college we know he's gone to several "hen" parties but so far as we know he's never given a luncheon for a woman's club.

Not content with that the impish little midnight gremlin spelled Mrs. Carden Green's name as "Camden" and jumped to an "F" instead of a "B" in Mrs. Conley's initials, omitted an "s" in Mrs. W. G. Murray's name and spelled Mrs. E. T. Pope's name as "Poe."

Sometimes when the air corps gremlins were challenged they disappeared, never to be heard from again and the Woman's Angle sincerely hopes since she has accused the linotype gremlin he will fold his tent as the Arabs, etc.

LOST JARDINIERE

DURING the Hallowe'en "lifting" season last week end when it was thought young people might have fun by removing porch furniture and leaving it either turned upside down in the yard or several houses down, all of the furniture was moved in at 1908 Tenth street. Early in the week it was placed back in its accustomed spot.

But on Thursday morning, long after time for such antics to have ceased, a 50-year-old jardiniere was missing from its accustomed place. The owners are perturbed because it could not mean as much to the ones who took it as to them. It was a brown, outdoor, pottery jardiniere and contained a century plant.

The owners are hoping it will be returned, even sans plant, since it is something of as heirloom and cannot be replaced.

In January, 1942, an estimated 18 million washing machines were in American homes.

Altrusa Program Features Speaker

"Inter-American Friendship" was the topic of a speech presented by Dr. O. A. Kinchen of the history department at Texas Technological college at a meeting of the Altrusa club Thursday night at the Hilton hotel. Miss Ella May Butler was hostess. Dr. Pauline Miller was program chairman.

The club voted to contribute twenty dollars toward an exchange scholarship fund to provide exchange students from our country and South America.

Miss Opal Wood, assistant in charge of food rationing in the district OPA office, talked on "What I Do."

Mrs. Leona Roffey and Miss Clara Pratt reported on a district Altrusa conference held in Fort Worth in October which they attended and in which 19 out of 26 clubs were represented.

Others present Thursday night were Mesdames Allie M. Dyer, Agnes Chapman, Olive Fluke and Miss Mozelle Craddock.

Army Personnel To Speak To AAUW

A Minnesota soldier who is the first man in the history of his state to preside in the Minnesota House of Representatives wearing the uniform of the United States Army will be one of the speakers at the regular meeting of the Lubbock chapter of the American Association of University Women att 3 o'clock this afternoon at South Plains Army Air field.

Staff Sgt. William E. Berlin of Hibbing, Minn., a member of the Minnesota legislature and a glider pilot student at SPAAF, will represent SPAAF at the meeting, which will feature military speakers.

Sergeant Hibbing, on his furlough in his home state, was assigned to preside over the House of Representatives, sitting as a committee of the whole.

Ninety Persons Will Call

The program, to be presented in the squadron dayroom of the 995th Quartermaster Platoon at SPAAF, will center about 'Our Resposibility to the Air Fields." About 90 persons are expected to attend the session, said Mrs. James G. Allen, president of the chapter. Also speaking for SPAAF will be Lieut. Eleanor R. Kemble, commanding officer of the WAC company at SPAAF.

Chaplain Randall T. Miller and Sgt. Roger Gayley of Lubbock Army Air field will represent LAAF.

The speakers will discuss the responsibility of citizens to the military and the military's responsibility to the community, Mrs. Allen said.

Another purpose of the meeting is to give members of the AAUW a chance to see the part the organization played in helping furnish the 995th dayroom, furnished by the AAUW in cooperation with an effort by other women's clubs and civic clubs of Lubbock and the South Plains area in furnishing dayrooms and wards at SPAAF with radios, rugs, writing tables, books and other such comforts.

Alpha Delta Chapter Hears Guest Speaker

Guest speaker, Mrs. W. W. Morris, spoke on "Living Sparks of Life" at a meeting of Alpha Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority at the Hilton hotel Thursday night. Mrs. Max Power presided for a business session during which plans were made for a dance Nov. 19 at the hotel.

Mrs. W. H. Galloway was program chairman. When the group meets Nov. 18 at 7:45 o'clock at the hotel, Miss Gladys Ruth Parnell will talk on "The Conduct of Friendship" and Mrs. Herbert T. Johnson will discuss "Conduct of Love."

Others present Thursday were Mesdames Harold Fulghum, Lucy Gene Skinner, Tommie McWilliams, Oretha Vannoy, Misses Nell Flanagan, Nina Scifres, Julia Lair and Ruby Lee Leary.

Army Publications Are Discussed At Meeting

"Army Journalism" was discussed by Sgt. Thad Rix of public relations office at South Plains Army Air field at the Thursday evening meeting of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary journalism fraternity for women, in the home of the sponsor, Mrs. James G. Allen, 3110 Twenty-first street.

Pfc. David Blair told of the publication of an army newspaper. Attending were Jane Gilmore, Vera Culwell, Ellen Helm, Dorothy Montgomery, Betty Davis, Virginia Forbes, Grace Jones, Margaret Long, and Mary Lynn Morris.

PERSONAL APPEARANCE: Oomph-girl Ann Sheridan likes bright wools under fur coats. This one is Forstmann's winter green sheer with bows of self-fabric.

Miss Pratt Explains How To Cook Chicken

"A good way to serve cold canned chicken is to slice it, dip in bread crumbs, beaten eggs and again in crumbs to make fried chicken steak," Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent, told Bectom Home Demonstration club members Wednesday afternoon at a meeting in the home of Mrs. R. A. Powell, home food supply demonstrator for an achievement program.

In an election of officers Mrs. N. A. Hunt was chosen president; Mrs. Jack Phipps, vice-president; Mrs. Oscar Paden, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Robert Collier, reporter and home supply demonstrator; Mrs. Collier and Mrs. Powell, council members; Mrs. E. L. Tarver, alternate, Mrs. O. J. Day, sr., home demonstrator.

Liberty Study Club Conducts Discussion

A program on current events was presented at a meeting of Liberty Study club in the home of Mrse. R. P. Onstott Wednesday. Mrs. C. E. Newton led a discussion on "What Should We Teach Our Children About War."

Mrs. Onstott talked on "Women in the War Effort." Named president in an election of officers was Mrs. O. A. Cooks. Other members attending were Mesdames Franz Heitler, W. Robertson and A. Hettler.

Drive For Dewey Gains Strength

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The movement to make Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York the 1944 Republican presidential nominee is proceeding jauntily here today despite his preelection statement that he would not be a candidate.

Some congressional Republicans accept the statement as taking Dewey out of the race, but others apparently do not believe it would prevent Dewey accepting a "draft" nomination if the Republican convention were deadlocked after a few ballots.

Veteran Due To Be Considered

Dewey may be warned that any strategy of waiting until 1948 to make his presidential bid might run head-on and disstrously into the matter of giving the 1948 presidential nomination to a war veteran—even a war hero. The high standing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in current GOP presidential polls is sufficient evidence that many Republicans already are thinking that way for 1944.

Also discernible here is the beginning of a congressional campaign to prevent the renomination of Wendell L. Willkie who ran away with the 1940 convention. Both movements were sparked to new energy by this week's election returns which weer uniformly favorable to the Republican party and are being counted by GOP leaders as the beginning of the end of President Roosevelt's domination of the electorate.

Dewey Current Favorite

Rep. Leo. T. Allen, R., Ill., reports that a poll of House Republicans shows Dewey the current favorite for next year's presidential honors and Willkie far down the list. He had replies from 167 of the 206 members polled and said the votes were distributed as follows: Dewey 89; MacArthur 30; Gov. John W. Bricker, Ohio, 12; Sen. Robert A. Taft, Ohio, 10; Gov. Earl Warren, Calif., 6; Willkie 6. Other scattered votes were strictly on a favorite-son basis.

Willkie and others who do not favor Dewey's 1944 candidacy are emphatic in accepting his disavowals of interest as effectively removing him from the contest. But some of the shrewdest Republican brains hereabouts are not convinced. Questioned by reporters in New York after Tuesday Republican triumphs there and elsewhere,, Dewey said:

"I am not and shall not become a candidate for the Republican nomination in 1944."

It is not suggested here that Dewey is responsible for any movement being made in his behalf for 1944. But some party leaders and lesser fry, anxiously seeking a man with whom they can check Willkie's aggressive bid for the nomination, apparently do not feel that the governor has placed himself beyond a "draft" movement. And if he has, they hope to talk him out of it.

"Pistol Packin' Mamma" Is Accused Of Being Highbrow By Artist Thomas Hart Benton

By PHILIP WECK
United Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Nov. 5. — For the first time in a varied and colorful career, "Pistol Packin' Mama" was accused today of being highbrow.

The theory that "mamma" is a lady was advanced by Thomas Hart Benton, an artist, who said the currently popular song is "true art."

A variety of musical authorities were quick to disagree.

And Al Dexter the Texan who wrote the ballad, allowed that he was plain dumbfounded.

Dispute Started In Lecture

"I'm a country boy," he said, "I don't know much about this art business."

The dispute over whether the song should be elevated from the juke boxes to the arts started after Benton addressed a University of Wisconsin audience at Madison earlier this week on "the meaning of a truly American art form."

Benton, a sharp-spoken exponent of realistic painting, said "Pistol Packin' Mamma" has a true are form and is leaving a "distinct imprint" on current American culture.

On Par With "Bananas"

"Perhaps it isn't as good as European art," he said, "but it's our own."

The painter put "Mamma" on a par with the 1920's tune "Yes We Have No Bananas" in taking a place in American art.

"From a quantity of art forms like 'Mama,' a truly national brand of art will form in the postwar world," he said.

Dexter, who is appearing at a Chicago theater, said Benton's estimation of the ballad left him puzzled.

Made The Song Simple

"I made the song kind of simple when I wrote it because these simple songs catch on easier," he explained.

"I never figured it was art."

Musical opinion on the subject of "Mama" lined up this way:

Roy Shields, a music director for the National Broadcasting company—"it's really elemental. I don't quite know what Benton means by art forms."

Rex Maupin, a music director for the blue network—"Benton apparently doesn't know a great deal about music."

Hans Lange, director of the Chicago symphony—"Never heard of it."

Rudolph Ganz, concert pianist and head of the Chicago Musical college—"Pistol Packin' who?"

Crimean Recovery To Alter Situation

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

One of the important results of the great Russian victory along the Lower Dnieper will be Russian reoccupation of the Crimea. It will alter the situation in the Black sea entirely and have a direct effect on the Balkans.

The Russian victory has dealt a staggering blow to the German army's strength on the Russian front through the heavy losses of men and material involved. By their renewed offensives above Kiev and on the central front, the Russians make it clear that they are going to keep the enemy engaged all the way up to the Baltic.

Reinforcements Impossible

That will make it next to impossible for the Germans to reinforce their weakened army in the south and repair the damage caused. Therefore it is improbable that the Germans will be able to hold along the Bug river, and their position along the Dniester, bordering Bessarabia, will be dubious.

It means Rumania will be exposed by land through Bessarabia, and by sea and air from the Crimea.

How many Germans have been left in the Crimea as a sacrifice to delay as long as possible the reoccupation of the peninsula and particularly the great base of Sevastopol there is no way of telling. Whatever their number, they cannot hold indefinitely, since they are completely cut off by land and can be supplied only by air or by a dangerous sea route.

Is Important Base

When the Russians regain Sevastopol, they will be in a position to establish undisputed sea and air control of the Black sea. Sevastopol is only about 250 miles from the Rumanian port of Constanta and less than that from the mouths of the Danube.

Below lies that Black sea coast of Bulgaria, with its ports of Varna and Burga. It is a question whether Bulgaria, which has not declared war on Russia, would permit the Germans to occupy and use these ports against her. Bulgaria, now aware of impending German defeat, could not regard such as other than suicide.

A determined Russian effort by land, sea and air to drive the Germans back into Rumania and eventuallyde prive them of the invaluable Ploesti oil fields therefore would seem to have good prospects of success.

Willard Rites Not Definitely Arranged

Definite funeral arrangements for Jess Willard of Lubbock, who was killed Wednesday morning when he was overcome by carbon monoxide while working at Elk's Basin near Cody, Wyoming, had not been made late Friday evening pending word from a brother, his wife announced.

Willard, who came to Lubbock in January, 1942, had been employed in Wyoming since July. He is survived by his widow, two sons, James and Joe Dan; three daughters, Vivian and Alma Faye, all of Lubbock, and Mrs. J. L. Beaty of Lorenzo; his parents; three brothers and five sisters.

New OPA Regulations On Sale Of Lumber

WASHINGTON Nov. 5. (AP) — The Office of Price administration (OPA) has ordered new regulations covering sales of southern pine lumber, including tighter inspection of shipments and additional restrictions on "new direct-mill distributors."

Acting to end what it termed widespread evasions of price control within the industry, the OPA yesterday decreed that beginning Nov. 15 shipments of all southern pine lumber which are not grademarked by a qualified inspection agency, and which contain more than 30 per cent of No. 1 common or higher grades, must ba accompanied by inspection certificates cannot be sold for more than the No. 2 ceiling price, the OPA ordered.

ATWOOD NEW DIRECTOR

DALLAS, Nov. 5. (AP)—Col. Roy S. Atwood has been assigned as inspector general and director of he control division, Eighth Service command, to succeed Col. Arthur W. Wilbourn, command headquarters said today.

BY, OF, and FOR THE PEOPLE

RECALLS OLD TIMES

Editor, The Avalanche: There should be a few old-timers on the South Plains, who savvy corn pone chittlings and black sorghum. Of course, we old-timers did not know a darn thing about vitamins. But in the above mentioned food, there surely were some valuable vitamins, for the old-timers did work had and thrive on the diet prescribed by nature. We had no dietitians to tell us what to eat. We had no doctors to advise us to reduce by eating certain foods. We ate what was handy and called it a meal. We ate sow belly, red hot onions, and sour dough biscuits, cooked in a dutch oven. We ate both fresh and dried beef, venison and bear meat. We worked hard, lived hard and spent the greater part of our lives in the wide open spaces.

So far as I can recall, we thought nothing about germs in milk or water. We lived in ignorance of many things which today are very essential to good health. Old Doc carried a few bottles of medicine along with his calomel, quinine, blue pills and castor oil, paregoric and whiskey was to be found in every home. If you broke a leg or an arm, Old Doc came and with brute strength set the limb, gave you some whiskey and went on his way. You soon recovered and with plenty of backbone and determination, you mounted a horse and rode off to see after your long horn steers or Spanish ponies. The old timer who lives to tell of such a life is often scorned by the modern day generation.

They can not realize the truth of the timer's statements, and some of the stories, although true, sound like Believe It or Not. Today the modern folks have everything at their finger-tips. However, they are lacking in happiness and contentment. That's why they need so many reducing diets. They fight germs constantly to survive.

"Ignorance is bliss" may not be the exact expression, but it will do for the present. Those old-timers were ignorant in many ways, but lived to tell the story. Will you, Mr. Modern man, live to do the same? I'm still a great believer in nature corn pone, sow belly and sour dough biscuits.

J. T. Lane,
Lubbock.

Lack Of Cotton Storage Serious

Scarcity of cotton storage space remained a serious problem here Friday, cotton industry representatives said.

Consequently, very few farmers were seeing any immediate money for their cotton.

There was warehouse space for only a small quanitity of bales, and thus the majority of farmers were without the warehouse receipts necessary to apply for a loan through the Commodity Credit corporation.

Most Of Low Grade Sold

Most cotton which was below loan qualifications was being sold, although some of it was being held at the possibility of a higher price. One authority estimated that only about 20 per cent of this year's Lubbock county crop is in that category.

Spokesmen for two firms said room was being found for cotton "now and then," while a representative of another company stated cotton was being taken occasionally for yard storage, despite the probability of considerable loss through weather damage.

It appeared what relief in store was to come slowly and sporadically, as cotton is removed to other points. Little success was reported in efforts by warehousemen for an agreement with the Commodity Credit corporation which would allow them to store cotton outside without risking financial loss.

Compress Needs Labor

Space for several thousand more bales could be arranged here if labor were available to operate the compresses, it was reported.

One firm has received shipping orders for 8,000 bales but more than a month may be required to move this amount, it was said. Another company will be able soon to move several thousand bales from its Brownield plant.

Bulk of the cotton ginned here is being left on gin yards. Several gin companies have obtained tracts elsewhere on which to put the cotton.

Response was reported slow to the Commodity Credit corporation's farm storage plan, in which the farmer can meet storage qualifications for loans at the same rate as that for warehouse storage.

Natural Gas Hearing Proposal Submitted

AUSTIN, Nov. 5. (AP)—Chairman Beauford Jester of the Texas Railroad commission said today he would submit for commission consideration a proposal for a series of hearings to determine the availability of natural gas in Texas.

The evidence would be used as a guide in determining the state's capacity to produce natural gas in relation to war and domestic needs.

No Limitations Being Planned On '44 Crops

Although no detailed information has been received in Lubbock on the 1944 Agricultural Adjustment agency program, Walte Y. Wells, AAA official, reminded Friday that, at least, no limitations are planned on acreage of any crop.

Next year's program, Wells said, mainly will concern conservation measures, "Congress has provided $300,000,000 for carrying out soil building practices such as terracing, contour farming, contour listing, turning under green manure crops, strip copping and many other similar practices," he stated.

The official added that support prices will be paid for grain sorghums, peanuts, soybeans and other crops that are needed in the war effort.

Lubbock Schools Buy $22,724.05 In Stamps And Bonds This Year

Lubbock schools have run up a total of $22,724.05 in war bonds and stamps during the September and October campaign, Mrs. Opal Cozby, publications director at the high school, announced Friday.

All ward schools and Junior High school appoint special days on which they sell stamps and bonds and at the high school bonds and stamps are sold each day during guidance period from 1 to 1:30 p. m.

Totals in the schools are as follows: High School, $4,092; Junior high, $6,002; George R. Bean, $2,211.05; K. Carter, $1,360.75; Central Ward, $205.45; Dupre, $419.65; Hunt, $2,961.30; Sanders, $659.10; Wilson, $4,126.10; and Dunbar, $686.65.

TOTAL OF $197.57 RAISED FOR SALVATION ARMY

Rites Set Today For Rev. Foote

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 5. (Special)—Funeral services will be read at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the Plainview First Methodist church for Rev. C. W. Foote, 67, retired Methodist minister of Plainview, who died early today in Plainview hospital, after a 10-day illness. Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, Plainview Methodist district superintendent who formerly was pastor of the Lubbock First Methodist church, will officiate with Rev. W. M. Pearce of Vernon, assisting.

The minister, who had held pastorages over his 40 years in the pulpit at Paducah, Quanah, Shamrock, Canyon, Tulia, Abernathy, and Slaton, where he was stationed four years, earlier had been superintendent of schools at Canadian, Claude and Chillicothe.

He was retired from the active ministry in the fall of 1941, but had been serving Plainview circuit in a supply capacity since January. He was making plans to attend sessions of the Northwest Methodist conference in Lubbock next week.

Rev. Foote was born Maroh 7, 1876.

Survivors are the widow; five sons, Dr. Gaston Foote, pastor of the First Methodist church of Montgomery, Ala., Cecil D. Foote of Floydada, M. F. Foote of Dallas, C. W. Foote, jr., of Canyon, and Lt. Joe Reeder Foote of Tampa, Fla.; two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Richerson of Roswell, N. M., and Mrs. John W. Stevens of Richmond, Texas, and several brothers and sisters.

Furloughs Up To 10 Per Cent To Be Given

Aussie Prisoners Beheaded By Japs

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa, Nov. 5. (AP)—Travelers from French Indo-China say that 22 Australian prisoners have been decapitated in that Japanese-occupied land for reasons unannounced.

They were a part of 985 prisoners held by the Japanese in Indo-China. A traveler said 350 Australians were still interned near Saigon and others were used in road and railroad work.

Their condition was described as pitiful. They are worked hard and are forced to beg bread from friendly natives, it was declared.

The travelers said eight United States Air officers who got out of the Philippines by crossing the China sea in a Chinese sampan were captured by the Japanese after their arrival at the port of Nhitran in April, 1942, but later escaped into China.

The airmen, their rank and home towns unstated, were listed as Ralph Frolick, H. Stevenson, Robert Hughes, James Ladson, A. H. James, R. T. Trion, E. A. Peterson and H. E. Brandt.

Censor Surprised To Receive Box Of Candy

LONDON, Nov. 5. (AP)—Lt. Seymour C. Karp of Sag Harbor, Long Island, who censors outgoing mail at an Eighth Air force fighter station, was surprised the other day to receive a box of salt water taffy from Miss Olive Brooker of Mercerville, N. J.

Karp was surprised because he is not acquainted with the young lady, but a note which accompanied the package explained everything.

"In appreciation," the note said, "for all the little holes you've cut in Bob's letters."

P. S. "Bob" is Sergt. Bob Miller of Mercerville.

Herron Funeral Is Set Here This Afternoon

Last rites will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Calvary Baptist church for William Harvey Herron of Rt. 2, Lubbock, who died at his home early Friday. Rev. C. J. McCarty will officiate, and interment will be in Lubbock cemetery under direction of Bryan McDonald & Son Funeral home.

Herron, 75, had been a resident of Lubbock county 18 years and is survived by four daughters, Mrs. L. A. Wardlow, Lubbock; Mrs. J B. Jones, Nola, Ark.; Mrs. Bryan White, Bloomington, Texas; and Mrs. A. Ellis, Houston; two sons, Robert Herron, Lubbock, and O. D. Herron of Amarillo, sixteen grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Pallbearers will include Paul Barrier, Newton Stokes, Veteal Lanham, Tom Dickson, S. E. Bell, Paschal Smart, and O. B. Hall.

Honorary pallbearers will be Hugh McClellan, H. B. Bryan, T. J. Wages, Ed Allen, Judge G. V. Pardue, W. A. Haynes, Jim McMahon, Dave Cummings, A. R. Varnell, Scott Ballard, Bob King and Jesse Chinn.

Westerner Sweetheart Named At Pep Rally

In a combination pep rally and presentation ceremony Friday morning at the Lubbock High school, Charlotte Scoggin, sophomore in Lubbock High school, was formally announced as sweetheart of the 1943 Westerner football squad.

The presentation was made by Jerry LeMond, senior pep, leader, following a special pep rally, and Betty Rountree and Jackie Lewis, nominees in the election, were Miss Scoggin's attendants.

Brookshier Advises Culling Of Flocks

Culling of poultry flocks to fit available housing was advised by acting County Agent C. C. Brookshier.

He said a suitable poultry house must have at least three square feet of space a hen.

Brookshier said that the poultryman should rid his yards of all roosters and hens having the following symptoms: shriveled combs, yellow legs and beaks, molts, weak and emaciated, grey eyes, saggy abdomen, coarse, and masculine heads.

Four things can be accomplished by careful culling, he said: conservation of feed, meat for the table, canned chicken and profits.

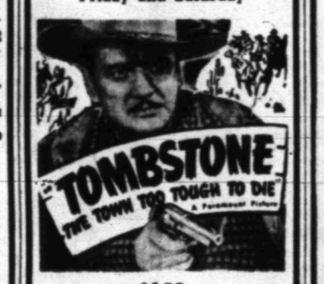

In pre-war years independent oil producers discovered about 70 per cent of the new oil fields found annually in the United States.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

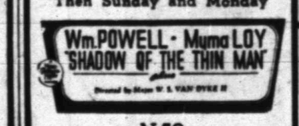

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Lubbock Wins Over Brownfield, 19-0

Grimes, Davis Lead Attack; Former Scores On 69 Yard Run; Line Smothers Cub Offense

By MACK TURNER
Avalanche Sports Editor

The Lubbock Westerners came to life in the fourth period Friday afternoon at Tech Stadium and rolled over the Brownfield Cubs 19 to 0 to annex the second conference win of the season for the locals.

The Westerners protected a 6 to 0 lead, gained in the first quarter, but were never seriously pressed as the stout Lubbock line battered down the running efforts of Billy Greenfield and mates all the way, and the visitors never offered but two scoring threats in the ball game, driving once to the 20 in the third period and to the 17 in the fourth.

Again it was Roy Grimes that sparked the belated drive for the Westerners. Coming into the game late, as he did a week ago, Grimes began to unlimber his loping gallops and reached pay dirt twice in the big fourth quarter, once on a 69-yard run.

In holding Brownfield to a net of 40 yards on the ground, the Westerner line played great ball from tip to tip, and picking an individual star would be hard to do. Pressley showed up very well on pass defense, roaming in the secondary to bat down passes, and he came up with two by interceptions.

Davis Carries Load

Johnny Davis again carried the brunt of the running attack and ripped off a number of nice gains, and accounted for the first Lubbock touchdown. He also played important parts in the other two.

The play of both teams were marred somewhat by fumbles at crucial times, and penalties also played important parts in the checking of several promising drives by both teams.

Lubbock took the kickoff, but could do little on the first attempt to work the ball down field and had to kick. They gained the first break of the ball game when Moore fumbled the ball and Lubbock recovered on the Brownfield 30.

Davis picked up a yard and Moyer failed to gain and it seemed that the Brownfield line would check them again, but Davis dropped back and fired a pass to Elston who was roped in on the 17.

Davis Scores

After an incomplete pass, Davis circled left end to the 13. An offside penalty pushed the ball down to the 8, then Davis made it first down on the 5. After Elston had failed to gain, Davis circled his right end to plunge over for the touchdown. A pass attempt for extra point was no good.

Late in the first quarter, Lubbock took over on a punt on its own 33 and launched another threatening drive. Davis picked up one yard, then Moyer smashed to the 45 for a first down as the quarter ended.

Brownfield drew a five-yard penalty, then held Lindsey and Davis for no gain, but Moyer steamrollered through the line and went to the Brownfield 45 for a first down.

Davis went to the 40 and Moyer added two more. Davis then fell in back of some nice interference and weaved his way down to the Brownfield 27. After an offside penalty against Brownfield, Moyer smashed to the 18 and Davis went on to the 12. S. Jones then intercepted Davis' pass on the goal line and fell forward on the two to smother the threat.

Brownfield Threat

Just before the third quarter ended, Brownfield began to click for the first time and offered it's first threat. Taking over on a punt on the Brownfield 47, the Cubs took to the air in a desperate effort to score. After one incomplete pass, Moore connected with K. Jones to the Lubbock 42.

Greenfield romped to the 38 and Moore added two more to the 36. Moore then hit K. Jones with another pass to reach the 27. After two passes had fallen incomplete, Moore romped to the 20. On the next play, Moore fumbled and Lubbock recovered on the 20.

It was from this point that Lubbock came to life and launched a sustained 80-yard march for it's second touchdown. Davis picked up three and Grimes added three more to the 26 as the quarter ended.

Grimes smashed to the 32 and Davis moved on to the 35. Grimes then broke into the clear, but a Cub managed to hang on his shirt tail and pull him in on the Brownfield 45, but before being pulled to earth he latteraled the ball off to Reiger who smashed down to the Brownfield 35. Davis weaved through to the 27, then fell in behind some more pretty blocking to work his way down to the 16. Grimes then took over, and smashed to the 10. An offside penalty put Lubbock back to the 15, but Grimes smashed back to the 10 and on the next play hit over his right tackle and followed the blocking of Strawn, Reiger and Lokey to reach pay dirt. Davis plunged center for the extra point.

Brownfield bounced back and again seemed to be rolling in a threatening manner. Taking the kickoff out of bounds, the Cubs started from the 35. After one incomplete pass, Moore hit Sears with an aerial to reach the Lubbock 48. Moore fired another to K. Jones who romped down to the Lubbock 17. After another incomplete pass, Pressley got in front of Moore's next heave and took the ball on his own 10 and stormed to the Lubbock 27.

Lubbock then held to the ball most of the time remaining, and Brownfield had time for but two futile plays before the game ended.

The Westerners clash Armistice Day with the Amarillo Golden Lookies in Amarillo for a battle that will likely decide the district championship with the Amarillo powerhouse heavy favorites to stop the game comeback of the Lubbock youngsters.

Firemen at the ball game had a busy afternoon, and were called upon to put out six fires that caught in the east stands from cigarettes dropped into cracks among peanut hulls.

Greyhound, spectacular trotter of 1935, is rated by many experts as one of the greatest of all time.

Arkansas Seeks First Grid Win In Houston

HOUSTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—A mighty jinx hovers over the University of Arkansas Razorbacks as they engage Rice Institute here Saturday, but on season records the two teams stack up as evenly matched.

Never has Arkansas snatched a victory in Houston. Back in 1922 the Porkers fought the Owls to a scoreless tie here but that's the best they ever have done. And the Porkers have lost their last 19 games in conference competition.

Arkansas has dropped four games this season and won one. Rice lost its first five games, then bounced back last week to down Texas Tech 13-0. Against mighty Texas, Arkasas fared better than the Owls, losing 0-34 compared with 0-58. For Rice.

The loss of J. P. Carpenter, a regular guard who entered Navy training, will weaken Arkansas.

The bulwark of the Rice line, right tackle Charley Malmberg, also will be missing. The Navy took Malmberg.

A crowd of 5,000 is expected.

Austin Maroons Lose In State's Schoolboy Feature For Friday

State schoolboy football's defending champion faltered by the wayside Friday night in the prize upset of the night as Jefferson of San Antonio punched out a 7 to 0 win over the Maroons to tie the San Antonioans for the district lead with Corpus Christi. It was the first conference loss for Austin.

It was also the second loss of the season for the Maroons, losing earlier in the season to John Reagan of Houston.

In another top game of the night, Bryan blasted Hillsboro by the decisive margin of 27 to 0 for the leadership in the Class B division of District 10 and puts Bryan in the favored spot to meet the Class A winner—either Waco or Temple—for the district crown.

Down in the Houston district, Jeff Davis bolstered it's leadership by handing John Reagan its second straight defeat, winning 12 to 7. While Jeff Davis leads the pack with only one defeat, it was the second conference loss for John Reagan, conquerer of Austin's Maroons.

The Waco Tigers again served warning on other teams by trampling a powerful Sherman eleven 25 to 6 Friday night in a non-conference game. Another game of interest was the 66 to 0 victory by Wichita Falls over Olney, coming with a show of power by the Coyotes just before the clash with the favored Vernon Lions.

Highland Park of Dallas rolled on, undefeated, in the manner well expected of Coach Rusty Russell's powerhouse, beating Arlington 55 to 6.

Sweetwater's high scoring grid machine romped over Abilene much as expected, winning 28 to 12 to run the season's scoring mark to 243 points.

Most of the state's top ranking teams were idle this week, getting plenty of rest for a heavy date Armistice Day with a number of crucial battles on the slate.

Star Backs Of South Meet On Atlanta Grid

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 5. (U.P.)—A duel between two of the South's best halfbacks—both strong contenders for All-American honors—will highlight a Southeastern Conference clash here Saturday between Georgia Tech and bowl-conscious Louisiana State University.

It will be Eddie Prokop, Tech's running and passing wizard, against Steve Van Buren, 200-pound super-charged tailback who has run, passed and kicked the L. S. U. Tigers to five victories in six starts this season.

Van Buren, a senior engineering student, is the only letterman on the non-military Tiger eleven, and he works behind a forward wall that is 100 per cent freshman.

Harmon's Parents Yet Hope For Safe Return

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 5. (AP)—For the second time this year the family of flier Tom Harmon, Michigan's All-American football star of recent years, was keeping a vigil for him today.

The parents, Louis Harmon, 70, and Mrs. Rose Harmon, 65, attended early mass at St. Mary's Catholic Cathedral, braving a cold rain to pray for Tom's second deliverance after receiving War Department word that he was missing in action over China since Oct. 30.

Last spring Lieut. Harmon survived a bomber crash in the Dutch Guiana jungles.

ARKANSAS DAY

CAMP WALLACE, Texas, Nov. 5. (AP)—Arkansas Day will be observed here Sunday when University of Arkansas football players will be honored guests of Arkansas soldiers stationed at the camp.

MARSHALL BEATEN

BOSTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—Bill Weinberg, 207, Chelsea, Mass., pounded his way to a win over Jack Marshal, 190, Dallas, Texas, in the feature attraction at the arena tonight.

Navy-Riddled Frogs Face Tech's Red Raiders Today

FORT WORTH, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Texas Christian Horned Frogs and the Texas Tech Red Raiders, their rosters dwindled to a low ebb by calls to arms, meet here Saturday on about even terms.

The Raiders will trot out an all-freshman team save one player. The Frogs will start only four freshmen, but six other players were rated only as second-stringer before the Navy shipped out the No. 1 men last Sunday.

So desperate was Coach Dutch Meyer's position during the week that he asked for volunteers, and three boys who have never played college football answered his call and may see action against Tech. They are Bill Pitt, San Antonio; Moose Green, Loraine, and Bill Thompson, Fort Worth.

One break for the Frogs was the arrival of Bill Squires, former El Paso High school star, as a Navy V-12 trainee. He was a sophomore sensation at Southern Methodist until he suffered a knee injury. The tall 165-pound tailback is still limping but may play a few minutes tomorrow.

TCU has won two and lost two games while Tech has won only two of seven games played.

A crowd of 4,000 is expected.

Mauriello Again Is Winner Over Savold

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Using the same script that worked successfully a year ago, Tami Mauriello came off the floor tonight to punch out his second ten-round decision victory over Lee Savold before a near capacity turnout in Madison Square Garden. Mauriello weighed 190 3-4; Savold 192 3-4.

Just as he did in their first meeting in October of last year, Mauriello got himself belabored in the early going as he let Savold "run out of gas," and then came along to win going away. Last time he was dumped by a Savold left hook before he was warmed up, and the same thing happened in the second round of tonight's carbon copy.

But down the stretch it was all Tami and a strongly partisan crowd of 14,987, who chipped in to a gross gate of $47,128, enjoyed the proceedings immensely as the Bronx belter took the last five rounds in a row. The Associated Press score card gave Mauriello six rounds, Savold two and called two even.

Andrews Power Downs O'Donnell Gridders

O'DONNELL, Nov. 5. (Special) The Andrews High school grid eleven rolled over the O'Donnell club here tonight 27 to 6 in a non-conference game. Andrews struck with steady, relentless driving power that O'Donnell was never able to stop.

Rhody and Roberts paced the winners throughout the game and played a great game on both offense and defense. McGallion and Davis carried the brunt of the O'Donnell attack with the Ratliff twins stars of the defense.

Red Grange of Illinois handled the ball only five times against Micihgan, Nov., 1924, but scored five touchdowns, four on runs of 45 yards or more.

Texans Sure Of Meat, If They Can Catch It

HOUSTON, Nov. 5. (AP) — Texans hitting the trail for unrationed meats will find plenty of deer, game birds, fish and rabbits this fall and next year, reports R. E. Callender of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

Limited ammunition supplies will not reduce the bag of deer of the white tail species said Callender. Production of thousands of pounds of fine rabbit meat will result from domestic rabbit culture by members of 4-H clubs.

Stocking of farm ponds by state and federal hatcheries will produce more pounds of fish per acre of water for the meat supply on farm and ranch homes, he said.

Callender said production of domestic rabbits for meat has become a major activity with members of boys' 4-H clubs and with adults. Many Rabbit Growers' Associations are being formed.

Beginning Aug. 1 thousands of hatchery fish were placed in farm ponds by state and federal hatcheries in cooperation with county agricultural agents. As a result, Callender said, 100,000 Texas farm ponds will contribute to the wartime food supply with fine fish.

Aggie Catfish Wallop Allen Academy, 31-6

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 5. (AP)—The Texas Aggie Catfish, with every man on the squad seeing action, rolled over Allen Academy 31-6 today in a game played at Kyle Field.

Bill Jordan of Waco led the scoring for Coach Lil Dimmitt's crew with two touchdowns. Kenneth Pogue, Adamson (Dallas) product, Dale Hughes of McLeod and Spike Larue of Goldwaite each contributed one touchdown. Joe Sacra of Denison accounted for the game's lone extra point.

Joe Turnage scored Allen Academy's only touchdown.

Army's Secret Weapon Against Irish May Be Passing Arm Of Kenna

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (U.P.)—Doug Kenna's passing arm is believed to be the "secret weapon" which Army has readied for its encounter with Notre Dame Saturday before 76,000 at Yankee stadium.

As the two football squads moved toward New York today, gridiron sleuths became convinced of a connection between (1) Kenna, mystery man of the current season; (2) this week's clandestine workouts at West Point, and (3) Lieut. Col. Earl Blaik's surprising aplomb.

Fullback Kenna, Army's most prominent candidate for All-America before the season opened, saw action in only one of the Cadets' six games—and then briefly. A "trick" knee that apparently refused to respond properly to treatment kept him on the bench until last Saturday's 13-13 tie with Pennsylvania. He went in twice in that game, for total of about five minutes. Experts remarked afterwards that Doug seemed to be the only effective Army performer on pass defense.

Since then it has been recalled that Kenna's potential all-round ability—particularly his passing proficiency—was a major reason why Coach Blaik installed the "T" system at West Point for the 1943 campaign. Although injuries postponed the Mississippi lad's varsity debut last season, Blaik was convinced that Kenna had what it takes to be the mainspring of the "T" attack. He's still convinced.

The sleuths believe that Blaik's confidence in Kenna's passing is responsible for the coach's unexpected calmness as the hour approaches for the Army caissons to roll against the mighty "Irish" who last week registered their sixth impressive victory, 33-6 over robust Navy.

Blaik admitted only yesterday that he expects Kenna to see plenty of action against Notre Dame, "if his trick knee holds up." He may not start the game, but he will be used without stint as replacement for Glenn Davis.

Red Blaik is smart enough to know that Army's only hope for victory is in a passing attack. Coach Frank Leahy, an expert in fashioning granite lines, has turned out such a formidable Notre Dame forward wall that Navy's rushing attempts netted the Sailors minus seven yards. Navy could gain only through the air: 13 completions of 38 tries yielding 188 yards.

Meanwhile in the rain-hampered Army-Pennsylvania contest, the Cadets were afraid to gamble with the slippery ball. They attempted only 14 passes, completing four for a gain of 46 yards. That failure to seek the airways was Army's big mistake at Philadelphia, Blaik admits.

Although Notre Dame is favored at 9-5, Army support is increasing because of the belief in that "secret weapon" — Doug Kenna's passing arm—a Mississippi bazooka.

Sudan Brushes Olton Aside By 19-0 Score

SUDAN, Nov. 5. (Special)—The Sudan High School grid machine continued to roll over all foes, nosing out Olton here this afternoon by a 13 to 0 count. Sudan will play the undefeated Levelland club for the conference title on Thanksgiving Day.

After a scoreless half, Miller took the opening kickoff of the second half and returned it 70 yards for the first touchdown. May, Sudan fullback, scored the second touchdown from eight yards out to climax a sustained scoring drive.

Franks was outstanding for Olton.

Spur Wallops Matador, 26-7

SPUR, Nov. 5. (Special) — The Spur Bulldogs struck hard and fast here tonight to pile up a long lead over the Matador Bull Fighters, then coasted in with a 26 to 7 victory.

Spur didn't wait long to start and Draper took the opening kickoff and weaved through the Matador team for a touchdown. Ball ran over the extra point. About midway in the first quarter, Ball smashed through the line for the second touchdown.

In the second period, Gammon broke through the line for another score, and Draper took a pass for the extra point.

Just before the halftime, Matador launched a sustained drive with Campbell going over from the 1 yard line. Simpson ran over the extra point.

In the third quarter, Roy Ball fired a touchdown pass to Draper that was good for 53 yards and the final score.

Spur reserves played the rest of the game and there was no more scoring.

Longhorns Groom Park For Fullback Duties

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 5. (U.P.)—Though limping from a knee injury, Ralph Park of Austin was being groomed today for a new position in the University of Texas backfield. Already this season Park has played both righ and left half back positions. Now he is learning fullback signals.

Loss of three substitute backs—Max Munn of Junction to the Navy, Bobby Coy Lee of Austin and Gerald Owens of Dallas because of scholastic ineligibility—left but two fullbacks, R. J. Callahan former Texas Tech player and Raul Perez of Coronado, Calif.

The Longhorns are scheduled for scrimmage Saturday, the first heavy work-out since defeating Southern Methodist.

The winner probably will emerge with a challenge for any collegiate eleven that currently lays claims to Southern honors.

Both elevens have played modified schedules so far this season, but each has shown considerable power, and major colleges in this area, which once used the small schools as "breathers," are eying them with respect.

Dain Clay, Cincinnati outfielder, won 10 letters in high school athletic competition at Cuyaroga Falls, Ohio.

Aggies-Mustangs Top Southwest Grid Card

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 5. (AP) — The rugged Texas Aggies, who find all opposition tough but themselves a little tougher, meet Southern Methodist's battling Mustangs here Saturday in the third Southwest Conference game for each team.

There have been few scoring splurges for the youthful Cadets, and in two of their last three games they had to take to the air to get enough scores to win, but they also have shown a great defense, not allowing a point since their wild battle with Louisiana State Oct. 9.

The Aggies enter the game with the only undefeated record in Texas college football. They escaped with a scoreless tie with the North Texas Aggies two weeks ago but otherwise have been in no great danger due to their strong defense.

Defeat for S. M. U. would definitely eliminate the Mustangs from the conference race since they have already lost one game. The Aggies need a victory to draw even with Texas, which has won there.

A crowd of 7,500 is expected to see the game.

Camp Wallace Looks To Strong Cage Squad

CAMP WALLACE, Tex., Nov. 5 (AP) — With plans underway for formation of a Service League composed of the best teams in this district, Camp Wallace will be shooting for the basketball service championship of Texas with a team built around a galaxy of former semi-pro and college stars.

The man who promises to make the team a threat in any league is Corporal Jack Smiley, a former member of the famous Illinois "Whiz Kids" team. Smiley recently was selected on the 1943 All-American college team.

Others turning out for opening practice included Cpl. Harold Neill, a Texan who plays both forward and guard; Pvt. Herman Phillips, former San Marcos State Teachers College player; and Pvt. Jack Battle, who as a freshman at Georgia Tech proved good enough to make the starting five.

Lieut. George W. Alexander, camp athletic officer, will direct the team.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Let's Make This One Stick!

MOST Americans doubtless are in full agreement with the suggestion voiced the other day by Lt. Gen. Simon B. Buckner, jr., commander of the Army's Department of Alaska, that U. S. forces must occupy Japan after victory to impress the people there with the fact of defeat.

It is generally agreed now that one of the worst mistakes made by the Allies after World War I was their failure to take over, for a time, all of Germany. As events turned out, the masses of Germany escaped first-hand observation of and experience with the real horrors of that war. Possibly if they had been made to experience horrors like those visited in that struggle upon the Belgians and the French, they would have been more reluctant to subject themselves and the world to its present deluge of blood. Perhaps they might have been as eager to keep the peace as were Belgians and Frenchmen who knew, from personal experience, just what war means.

In the last war, as now is a proved fact, the German militarists started preparing for the present struggle before the Armistice was signed on Nov. 11, 1918. They were aided in their preparations by the fact that the Allies did not occupy their country.

That must not happen with Japan. The Japanese must know that they have been crushingly defeated. This conviction must be brought home to them by the sight in their midst of the troops and the flags of the victorious Allies. They must see for themselves that they have been beaten.

Otherwise, their's will be the temptation to prepare, starting at once, for a war of vengeance as soon as they have regained strength. The "peace" that ends this war won't be a peace at all. It merely will be a truce—a prelude to a more horrible war in the years to come.

Handwriting On The Wall

WHILE none of the results of last Tuesday's elections could be termed a major upset, without an exception they were more decisively unfavorable to the New Deal than most observers expected.

Despite pre-election pretenses, it is generally acknowledged that the Democrats expected to lose the New York lieutenant-governor's race. But they didn't expect to lose by more than 300,000 votes. The same situation applied to practically all, if not all, the other contests.

Those endorsed or favored by the national administration did worse than the most pessimistic expectations of their supporters. Those on the other side did better than their most optimistic supporters expected.

Significance of the Republican victory in the border, and usually Democratic, state of Kentucky is unmistakable. If the New Deal fails to carry states like Kentucky next year, its defeat is certain.

Probably as significant as any contest was that for the mayoralty of Philadelphia, where Bernard Samuel, the stodgy Republican incumbent, won decisively from William C. Bullit, Democrat, a close friend of the President, a former ambassador to Russia and France, and a member of a "fine old family" in a city where "fine old families" usually count for a lot.

It is true, of course, that Philadelphia is traditionally a Republican city. But the Democratic bid in this contest was determined. Mr. Bullitt ran with the announced blessing of the White House. His was strictly a New Deal platform fashioned, of course, for its appeal to the voters of Philadelphia. Yet his defeat was decisive—and apparent from the moment the counting of votes was started. The result clearly reflected a growing disgust and distrust of all things that smack of the New Deal.

Significant, too, and most encouraging, was the outcome of the New Jersey gubernatorial contest, which Republican Walter Edge won decisively from Vincent J. Murphy, who had the support of another close friend of the President in the person of "Boss" Frank Hague of Newark. Hague came through as expected, delivering a majority of more than 100,000 to Murphy in Newark. But that only hope of victory for the Democrats wasn't enough. This was a victory for clean government over "dirty" machine politics.

Likewise it and the other results can be construed as nothing less than a most positive rebuke of the entire national administration..

The biggest objection we have to wars is that the wrong people get killed in them.

Play By Play

BY PAUL DAVID PRESTON

THE STORY: Blythe Miller is enraged when she hears Nancy Hale promise a gambler that she will give sleeping pills to Cadet Pilots Duane Hogan and Norman Dana, keep them from playing in the week's big service-college football game. Nancy a homeless, penniless young soldier's widow, has been living and working at Lincoln Field since she was rescued from an auto accident. Nancy is in love with Duane—at least she has seemed to be—and so is Blythe. Blythe has decided not to turn her over to the police because of Nancy's baby son. But she is worried because she feels that Nancy's treachery is somehow connected with a fat envelope in the desk of her father, Pop Miller, the football coach. She had seen the gambler coming from Pop's office. And now Pop sends her to borrow a loaded gun!

FAINT HEART

CHAPTER XV

Big Duane Hogan's presence seemed somehow to fill the entire Miller household. Mother Miller herself flitted around him admiringly fondly, slightly embarassing the young man. Would he have off his coat. Would he take this rocker. He must stay for lunch. Pop will be so glad you called again, he thinks so much of you. Blythe is in with him. It was so grand the way you played Saturday. When have you heard from home, and lunch will be ready in half an hour.

He got in a few yes ma'ams and no ma'ams and thank you ma'ams, and then Pop shouted for him.

"Come in here, you old knock-kneed son-of-a-gun you!"

"Duane isn't knock-kneed!" Blythe whispered.

"Spavined, like a run-down hoss!" Pop grinned as Duane entered.

"You get back in bed, Pop," Duane ordered, "Hi, Bly."

"Hello, Duane."

"Pop gonna live, you reckon?"

"I'm afraid so. He doesn't even sneeze."

"He better live. We got a game to play."

"Haven't we, though. Now listen to me, Hogan, confound your lazy soul. You got to shake the lead off and play ball Thursday, you understand? With Heavy Underwood at center, and you and Dana in the backfield—"

Duane grinned. "Sure, Pop."

"You been sloppin' around the field all season. Come Thursday, you git up and git!"

"I mean it! You go out this afternoon and stretch your legs. Make the other lads all know we got to have that State game! Got to!"

He said that last so vehemently, so meaningly, that both Duane and Blythe looked surprised. Duane's manner changed.

"I certainly will, sir," said he, seriously. "You bet."

All at once then Pop was staring off at nothing again. Deep in himself. After several seconds Blythe caught Duane's eye. She was afraid he might see some of the worry in her own heart. She inhaled deeply. She began then to make more small talk, with Duane. Pop heard, perhaps, but gave only a few grunts. His quick heartiness strangely had subsided from no apparent cause.

Mrs. Miller broke the strained situation by announcing lunch. She refused Pop permission to get up, then said she would bring her lunch into the bedroom to eat with him. Duane found himself in the cheerful, sunny breakfast nook, alone with Bly.

"This is good," he ventured. "I mean being here."

"Is it, Duane? Oh."

Hmm?" He looked at her, over a soup spoon. He must have caught the quick eagernes in her voice, Bly feared.

"I said—yes, Yes, it is, Duane. I'm so glad you could stay."

"Mom Miller always feeds a man well. Like my own mom at home."

"I'd love to meet your mother."

"You will."

They ate in silence while Bly contemplated that. What did he mean? Nothing, probably. No, jut a chance remark. Polite.

She lifted her eyes from her soup bowl to see him making crazy motions, paused with her lips parted as she watched.

Silently with his hands he did this and that. He was smiling boyishly. She felt that quickening of her pulse, that deep ecstacy which only Duane Hogan had ever stirred in her. Here was a priceless moment of intimacy with him again.

"I don't quite get that one," she admitted, smiling back at him. "Is is—do you mean—??

He laughed audibly then. "It's me, I guess. I'm not too good myself. What I was trying to say is—pass the crackers."

"Oh . . . Duane!"

"Mmm. But I just don't know what the Indian sign talk for 'Pass the crackers' is. Guess they didn't have crackers, hunh, Bly? I was trying to concoct something."

"I got the general idea that you wanted food brought, but—"

They laughed together; boy and girl, Indian sign talk.

"Can I have two? May I?"

"Silly! Take all you want. Mom will be angry if you leave any food at all, Duane."

"We won't leave much."

"I bet you did have fun on your ranch. Horses. Indians. All the things we read about."

"Fun, yep. Not many Indains in Texas, but some. Enough, I guess." He was drawly, as always. He reverted back to Pop, though. "You reckon Pop can get up tomorrow?"

That broke her charm of happiness. "Duane—tell me," she was instantly serious again, "I'm worried about Pop."

He stopped eating, looking at her, "Mmm?"

"I am! . . . Oh, he's—he's not very sick, I don't think. But—Duane, something else is bothering him!"

"What is?" The young man, too, was serious now.

"I—" She paused, looking out the window. After all, she mustn't tell Duane Hogan everything! Not yet! Not upset him, too, if there was to be a critical game in three days. Obviously Poo was depending heavily on Duane to carry through that encounter.

"What is, Bly?" he repeated.

"You remember last week at practice, when you came to me on the sideline and we talked. We said then that something was on Pop's mind."

"Yep. Pre-game jitters, I guess."

"No. . . . No, Duane, it was worse than that. There's actual danger, and Pop must be helped! I mean—!" She had already said more than she meant to, and she looked at Duane wide-eyed. "I mean—look, Duane, you like Nancy Hale, don't you? You really do?"

He swallowed, slowly, looking at her. "Sure. . . . But what's Nancy . . . Nancy, got to do with this? With Pop? Something cooking?"

Blythe avoided his eyes now, and was silent for a long moment. She fingered a bread roll nervously when she did speak again.

"Duane, if I speak rather frankly—I mean, it would distress you a great deal if—if Nancy were—if anything—"

She gave up. She just couldn't say it. Couldn't even hint anything further than that, concerning Nancy Hale's treachery. And yet—she ought to tell! Sooner or later she would have to! If Nancy Hale had agreed, for $1000, to drug Norman Dana and Duane Hogan himself, then she, Blythe, would simply have to put Duane on his guard. Or do something to protect him! But, without seeming spiteful or jealous or mean, without somehow getting herself in the wrong light—just how could she do it? How!

The telephone rang and Bly, glad for the interruption, called

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

WHEN you read stories like these you wonder if there will ever come a time without war and crime and treachery and deceit.

A 58-year-old Cleveland man was stricken with a heart attack in his car a few nights ago.

He signaled for help by feebly waving his handkerchief. An automobile stopped and two men walked over.

They reached into the stricken man's pocket, took out a wallet containing $45 and drove away.

What manner of human animals were these two?

What callousness, what rotten lack of every decent human instinct!

Yet, though this is fortunately an isolated case, how much nastiness there is among human beings in general.

In almost every office and every plant there is petty politics, cheap jealousy and ganging up on those who do their work and mind their own business.

In every neighborhood there are the malicious gossips who spread insidious stories about those whose friends they are supposed to be.

* * *

Don't we realize that life is so short, that all of us live on borrowed time, that none can escape that ultimate end?

Why don't we spend those few years to help make each other happy?

Isn't it much more satisfactory to give your fellow man a lift than to trip him to a fall?

I have never yet seen a worthwhile man or woman who has bothered about hurting people.

It's only the weak who tries to make himself look bigger by belittling another.

Strong men look forward, not down.

The weakling thinks that he will impress his boss by snitching on his fellow employes or lying about them.

I HAVE nothing but contempt for the sneak or the bully.

What's the use talking about peace and progress when human beings fight and quibble among themselves and keep the flame of hatred burning?

Those two fellows who stole the purse from a stricken man are bad enough.

But the man or woman who steals happiness from his fellow beings is not one bit better. I don't like rattlesnakes but the talebearer and gossipmonger doesn't even rattle before he strikes!

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

GENTLE, white-haired Philip Murray stands on trial for his life as a labor and political leader. At the CIO national convention in Philadelphia, New Dealers, including Mrs. Roosevelt and Vice President Henry A. Wallace, were commandeered as speakers in an attempt to preserve his dwindling prestige.

Phil's offense is that he combined with the White House in framing the Little Steel Formula, which limits workers' salary increases to a 15 per cent maximum above the level of September, 1941. Every informed unionist believes this arrangement was designed solely to block further raises for John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers. They have always regarded it as a display of partisanship rather than economics.

Now, however, this restrictive provision has backfired against members of the CIO, the Brotherhood and Railway Trainmen and the AFL. It keeps them, too, from carrying home fatter pay envelopes each Saturday night. Even the United Automobile Workers, a Murray outfit, has demanded that it be scrapped.

In Lewis' series of struggles with the National War Labor board, Murray and two other expelled UMW-ers — Van A. Bittner and John Brophy — opposed attempts by the coal diggers to get more money. These two are members of the federal agency. It is their presence on the board which prompted the UMW chieftain to characterize it as a "packed court" and to refuse to recognize its jurisdiction until it was legalized by an act of Congress.

FDR's friends were on hand to save Phil's tottering throne. But they had a fight on their hands for the first time since they began to coddle the boys in overalls.

INFLUENCE: Growing discontent with the White House on the part of workers is vividly illustrated in recent issues of "Labor." This intelligent and interesting weekly newspaper is owned by the 15 railway unions; it is their official organ in the capital.

The editor is "Ed" Keating, a former congressman from Colorado. He is an ultra liberal who has borne aloft a flaming torch for FDR for more than 11 years. No body of unionists, day in and day out, has been more faithful to the New Deal in all its forms.

But the last few issues have amounted to diatribes against the administration. It is as if "Izvestia" or "Pravda" called for a Communist uprising against the iron man in the Kremlin. The revolt has spread panic among the Democrats. Here are a few sample headlines:

"Rail Labor Chiefs Draw Battle Lines for Showdown on Pay Increases"—"Federal Officials Cause New Muddle in Wage Situation"—"Will WLB Forget Prejudices, Give Miners Square Deal?"—"Workers Ignored in New Rail Setup."

The Roseveltians have a right to be frightened, for no group carries more weight with the home folks than do trainmen. They meet and become well acquainted with a lot of voters. Their influence extends everywhere as they have local spokesmen at every crossroads town and junction. They take part in local civic and social activities and are inveterate joiners of the lodges.

For an office-seeker to antagonize the men who run and repair the trains is a quick method of committing political hara-kiri.

FRIENDS: Anglo-Russo-American differences publicized by the five senatorial globe-trotters—and Wendell Willkie—have not ruffled the surface of the harmony prevailing among these foremost powers of the United Nations. Bickerings have provoked headlines and parliamentary recriminations. But they have caused no bitterness among the Big Three leaders, their diplomats and their military commanders.

Chief credit must be allotted to President Roosevelt and Cordell Hull. FDR and Prime Minister Churchill are more than partners in a great cause; they have become personal friends. And all reports indicate that our Secretary of State has made a deep impression on Stalin by his candor, simplicity and unselfishness. "Uncle Joe" likes that type.

More important, perhaps, than the understanding among the head men is the teamwork of United States and British top rank soldiers in Italy, England and elsewhere. Officers like "Ike" Eisenhower, Ira Eaker and Mark Clark have proved to be diplomatic geniuses in getting along with their opposites. As in the first World war, Private Yank and Private Tommie may give one another a few bloody noses when they meet, but they are also handing a few to the Nazis.

Our generals were chosen by Chief of Staff George C. Marshall, himself a wise and human person, although they were unknown outside Army circles at the time of their appointments. But it was Mr. Roosevelt who picked General Marshall and okayed his selections.

Ironically, basic relations between Washington, London and Moscow are more friendly today than at any time since we entered the war.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

IF airpower cracks Teuton morale, the winning junkers will probably spend the next score years—as they did before—blaming the home front for Germany's defeat.

That alibi will be worthless, in the opinion of our staffs. To quote one of our eminent generals, "Reich statesmen and soldiers themselves booted the war because they were too cautious.

"Several times they had victory within their grasp—but they lost their nerve. At each decisive moment these supposedly hard-boiled mental titans lacked the wisdom of the serpent and displayed the timidity of the dove."

Their weakness is perplexing—he declares—in that the great Prussian teachers, Ludendorff, Schlieffen, Moltke and Clauswitz, unanimously advocated a dynamic strategy—the concentration of all they had on the knockout punch. Today's GHQ was historically informed and understood the art of war. Yet its marshals made four inexcusable blunders for which they must dearly pay.

DAWDLED: Obviously, the first colossal mistake was at Dunkirk. They allowed the English army to escape. Had they chased it across the Channel, they could have overwhelmed the British Isles. Never since the days of William the Conqueror was such an opportunity offered to a European foe; the chance presented in 1940 was completely muffed.

The second extraordinary error was softness shown toward vanquished France. This statement by the expert may seem inaccurate to the layman acquainted with the hardships imposed on that prostrate country.

But in a strict military sense Berlin was lenient to Vichy. It dillydallied about the fleet and especially concerning the occupation of North Africa. Not until Eisenhower landed did it move; then it was too late.

Third stupidity was failure to integrate Mediterranean strategy. On more than one occasion prior to Montgomery's appearance, the withdrawal of only five divisions from Hitler's pool of 300 and their deployment in Libya would have driven out the British and opened the path to the Persian oil fields and India.

Most people were dazzled by Churchill's courage when, followed Dunkirk, he sent to the Middle East one of the only two fully equipped divisions in England. They overlook how great the Egyptian peril must have seemed to the Prime Minister to force such an action.

German strategists conceived only a continental war—the type they had always fought—and did not grasp the scope and implications of a world conflict. While they dawdled, the British were reinforced—and the Yanks and Tommies trapped the desert fox.

Finally, the Nazis hesitated until Russia was fully armed before they struck. Washington and London rushed materiel to the Soviet. In not one of these four examples did the German High Command exhibit either brilliance or daring.

Here And There In Texas

By GORDON SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—Two astounding machines and an uncanny system of punched holes streamline the state's method of paying 187,000 old age pensioners monthly.

Without the machines and the punching system, combined services of about two dozen persons and 20 adding machines would be required in the Treasury department to handle the work. Instead, there are six employes in the treasury's pension division.

Specially built for the purpose, one of the machines separates and arranges the pension checks according to numerical order or serial number. The other machine does calculating, recording and balancing so rapidly the onlooker would become dizzy trying to see what is taking place.

The machines are set to perform complicated functions by scores of electrical wiring connections which can be arranged in various combinations.

Perforations Do The Job

The entire operation is based on the series of punched holes or perforations in the pension checks.

The perforations are made by similarly complicated machines in the checks at the Public Welfare Department. Pension check paper is similar to light-weight cardboard.

From the perforations and experienced Treasury or Welfare department employe can take a key chart and tell the check serial number, check number, date of issue, the pensioner's case number and the amount.

Up to 80 perforations can be made on a single check, each hole—hardly larger than a pencil lead point—arranged to reveal some information about the recipient.

* * *

AFTER a machine has arranged the checks in serial order, they are placed in another machine for posting. If one check is missing to break the consecutive order, the machine will print a small "m" on the recording sheet.

A mutilated check, however, is really a "wrench in the machinery." It stops operations, and generally mutilates the check more.

Pension checks aren't supposed to be bent or folded in the manner you would an ordinary check, but some oldsters insist on creasing them. Monthly the Treasury department has to punch duplicates for about 10,000 mutilated checks, but the originals are kept on file.

Many Improperly Endorsed

Generally, two manual jobs are required in the Treasury in connection with the pension checks. Each has to be turned by hand and checked for proper endorsement, and payment dates must be stamped on large books beside the check number and recipient's name.

Nearly a dozen checks are returned daily to banks because of improper endorsement. A recipient who cannot write must have a witness' signature when he makes his mark.

The Treasury department doesn't have to worry about forgeries. Pensioners, themselves, stymie such attempts. They are prompt in reporting when a check has been stolen or lost. Then a duplicate warrant is issued.

The Treasury department is notified of duplicates. Instances have been discovered where an oldster reported a check lost, another was issued and later both checks were cashed with endorsements. In these cases the duplicates were honored, while the person or firm who cashed the original check was the loser.

ON other occasions persons have attempted to increase amount of a pension check. The Treasury does not lose on this either—it's the person who did the cashing, thanks to one of the automatic machines.

The perforations show the original amount of the check, and though the sum may be raised, when the check goes into the machine for recording, it falls into the proper slot as punched.

Some Checks Written Off

Pension checks are cashable a maximum of three years after issuance. When the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, the state wrote off checks for $3,442 under the limitation.

The pensioners either had died or the checks were put away and forgotten.

The last legislature passed an act which permits a county judge to endorse for payment the last check which was issued to a pensioner after death.

When checks are written at the Welfare department the abbreviation "col" is printed after a negro recipient's name.

RECENTLY when a Treasury department employe was giving a demonstration on how the machines work, he selected a handful of checks at random from the files.

As he started his explanation of the perforations, the onlooker noticed that the first name of the pensioner was "Charity."

Smith Has Hard Luck

Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith has had hard luck about becoming acting governor of the state. Twice when Gov. Coke R. Stevenson has been absent from the state, Smith was away, too; and the honor fell to State Sen. A. M. Aikin, jr., of Paris.

Smith had better luck when the governor made his Good Will tour of Mexico. The other trips were hurried ones. The last one was so quickly arranged that Stevenson left for Washington from Fort Worth without returning to Austin.

This trip was uncontemplated when Smith left for a trip to Canada to visit Knights of Pythias lodges. He is Grand Chancellor of the Pythians.

Refugees Report Mining Of Rome

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BARI, Southern Italy, Nov. 3. (Delayed)—Refugees arriving here from Rome today said that city has been heavily mined and quoted the Germans as saying they will do to Rome and what they did to Naples, "eternal city or no eternal city."

Nazi engineers are mining all large buildings. There are tons of explosives under every ministry and all large hotels, bridges and the main adqueducts have been mines.

Time Devices Used

Some of the mines, the refugees reported, are equipped with time devices designed to set them off after the city is occupied by the Allies, the same tactic that resulted in heavy civilian casualties in Naples.

The refugees said the Germans purposed to destroy all Italian government records in order to leave a chaotic situation for those who come in to administer the country.

The city has been mapped, with squads assigned to districts to search every building, including private homes, for machinery, works of art, jewelry, silverware, even automobiles and tires and anything else that might be of value to the Italians or the Allies.

Civilians Are Warned

Civilians who attempt to defy or thwart this systematic looting are liable to be shot.

The Germans have not entered Vatican City, but have posted guards at its gates and pass on all who enter or leave.

Mussolini's new Fascist regime has mobilized all Italians between 18 and 52, with the Nazis enforcing the measure.

Anyone between these ages found on the streets is liable to be arrested, crowded aboard a train like cattle and taken to northern Italy or Germany for forced labor.

Rome's food supply is extremely serious, for the Germans are regularly requisitioning a large part of what produce is reaching the city.

NELMS DIES IN AFRICA

CAMP WALLACE, Nov. 5. (AP)—Lieut. Col. John G. Nelms, former commanding officer of the 35th training battalion of this anti-aircraft replacement training center, died Oct. 1 from wounds sustained on the North Africa front, the public relations office disclosed today.

SELLING DRIES UP

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Selling dried up and specialized recoveries came into today's stock market but many leaders still were unable to attract worthwhile bids.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .2 of a point at 49.3. Transfers totaled 795,080 shares compared with 1,-154,340 Thursday.

American Distilling ended with a net loss of ½ to 49.

Retaining modest advances were Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, American Water Works, Westinghouse and Johns-Manville.

American Can dropped 3 points at 83 and Dow chemical was off 1¼ at a low mark for the year. Eastman Kodak lost 2. Allied chemical 1¾ and Du Pont 16. Lesser setbacks were suffered by U. S. Steel, General Motors, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, American Telephone, Anaconda, Western Union, General Electric, Consolidated Edison and North American.

Ahead in the curb were Aluminum Ltd., American Gas, Electric Bond and Share, Glen Alden Coal and Lake Shore. In the minus ranks were Technicolor, Wright Hargreaves, Cuban Atlantic Sugar and Aluminum of America and American Cyanamid "B." Turnover here was 192,985 shares versus 260,595 yesterday.

New Jap Drive

anese hoped to forestall a drive which might break their cobweb lines up the Yangtze to Hankow.

Terming the drive "the last desperate struggle of a trapped animal," Sao Tang Pao, Army mouthpiece, said another crushing defeat for the invaders on the new front "might pave the way for a general counter-offensive from the China theater."

Army Asks Increased Allotments Of Meat

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—The War Food administration today ordered federally-inspected slaughterers to increase from 45 to 50 per cent the quantities of specified grades of beef that must be set aside for the armed services.

Affected are the utility, commercial, good and choice grades meeting Army specifications.

Knox Says Japs May Quit Base At Rabaul

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP) — The possibility that the Japanese may evacuate their once strong base at Rabaul in the Southwest Pacific was raised today by Secretary of the Navy Knox.

He based the possibility on the American campaign on Bougainville island where Marines are now battling the enemy.

"Possession of airfields on Bougainville," he said, "might cause the enemy to evacuate Rabaul without a fight. It's a remote probability, but it's still a possibility."

Knox also made public at a press conference a report on repair, conversion and overhaul of United Nations vessels under the lend-lease program, which showed that U. S. shipyards have completed work on 285 United Nations' vessels at a cost of approximately $167,000,000.

Advances In Italy

lied force had attempted to make a landing from the sea in the Pescara area, 40 miles up the Adriatic coast from the Eighth Army's present position and well north of Rome. There was no Allied confirmation of such a leapfrog tactic.)

Tough Fighting Ahead

Advancing steadily in the center, American units crossed the upper Volturno in front of Venafro and captured all high ground dominating the upper valley. Other forces occupied San Agapito, three miles south of Isernia, and Carpinone, six miles east of Isernia.

The second half of the drive to the Eternal City is expected to be fully as tough as the first half, but the Allies are imbued with confidence.

The Nazis' systematic pillaging of Rome is reported to be far progressed, and this in itself appeared to indicate that the enemy high command believed a sustained defense of the capital under overwhelming Allied air attack would be too costly for the political, military and religious prestige to be gained.

Seek To Reach Mountains

The enemy's current efforts since being thrown from Massico ridge and San Groce mountain appear to be concentrated on reaching the Aurunci mountains rather than in making a stand along the Garigliano river.

The advancing Allies have been retarded, however, by flood waters released as the Nazis blew up dams on the upper reaches of the river and opened sluice gates leading to irrigation canals in the coastal area.

"blank check" approval for any foreign alliance he may make.

"This resolution has in it the teeth of bayonets if necessary to preserve peace and prevent war," shouted Connally as the Senate prepared to vote on the long-argued document.

"It has the teeth of airplanes which bite with machine guns and bombs—the teeth of a great Navy, the teeth of artillery, if need be.

"But these are extreme measures to be employed only if negotiation fails."

As soon as he sat down the Senate began the roll-call that sent the resolution to passage.

Help In Locating His Bride Asked By Gob

HOUSTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—Former machine-gunner Jerry T. Venable, who returned to his home this week following a medical discharge, today asked for help in locating his bride.

Venable, who admitted that he had "knocked off at least two dozen Japs" in 18 sea battles, said that his bride had disappeared. He described her as:

"Pretty, with long brown hair, blue eyes, and weighs 110 pounds."

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (AP) — Grains advanced moderately today in relatively quiet trading, a little mill buying and some covering by previous short sellers aiding the upturn. Traders said the firmness was natural in view of the shake-out Wednesday and yesterday on war news and peace rumors.

At the close wheat was ⅝-¾ higher than yesterday's finish, December $1.37¼-⅜, May $1.34¾-⅞, rye was up ⅛-¼, December $1.13⅛-¼, oats were ¼ lower to ⅛ higher and barley was ahead ¾-1 cent.

Finnish Diplomat Is Said Going To Russia

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 5. (AP)—Dr. Juhu Paasikivi, Finnish diplomat who once before helped negotiate a peace with Russia, was reported today preparing to go again to Moscow on a similar mission, and while official denials came quickly they failed to dispel rumors of new Finnish efforts to quit the war.

The Swedish newspaper Social Demokraten, organ of the dominant Swedish party, reported that Paasikivi, who aided in the first Russo-Finnish peace negotiations in 1940, had been instructed to leave for Moscow.

"Finland's fate will be settled within a few days," the newspaper added.

Official denials — which might be expected at this stage whether the reports are true or not—were reported soon afterward by Berlin and by the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet which quoted a foreign office spokesman as saying the report was "absolutely false."

harvest crops for other centers. (Hundreds of volunteer internees have been brought in to do the work.)

They held national and local WRA officials virtual prisoners

TULE LAKE, Calif., Nov. 5 (AP) — Army troops which have taken over control of this segregation center used their tear gas tonight to break up a large gathering of Japanese, witnesses reported.

While Army authorities remained silent, observers said a group estimated variously at from 250 to 1,000 Japanese gathered apparently for a conference, but was dispersed by tear gas.

while demanding better food, oil streets, new Caucasian personnel.

They beat a medical officer, a construction employe, a guard.

From WRA statements and from observation it appears that the trouble sparks chiefly from:

The desire for recognized authority on the part of a few score internees who would govern the attitudes and actions of the thousands of others, some of whom might wish to live in quiet regardless of their loyalty;

The hope of forcing repatriation even before the end of the war, and recognition in Japan as martyr-heroes of the rising sun.

There are Christians, Buddhists and countless sects at Tule Lake. There are citizens of Japan and the United States. There are the Nisei (born and educated here, and citizens); there are the Kibei (born here and citizens, but educated in Japan); and there are the Issei (aliens, born in Japan).

It is to the Kibei to whom most of the trouble is ascribed.

Famous Bombardier Sues For Divorce

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 5. (AP)—Capt. Vincent B. Evans, bombardier on the "Memphis Belle" during the plane's missions over Europe, has filed suit in 96th district court here against Mrs. Dynusa Evans, "a resident of the state of Nevada."

The suit was filed by a Fort Worth attorney who said he did not know Evans' present station. Army associates said he was stationed at Midland, Texas, air force bombardier school.

The suit alleges the pair were married in Walla Walla, Wash., on August 10, 1942 and separated Sept. 9, 1943.

Evans alleged cruel and harsh treatment.

Frenchman Says Zero Hour May Be Nearing

LONDON, Nov. 5. (AP)—The zero hour for the invasion of France might strike at any moment, Jean Paquis, Paris radio military commentator, said tonight in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, adding that the newspaper, Paris-Soir, had published a late bulletin that large-scale ship movements had been observed off the southern coast of England.

Chemical Firms Are Indicted

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 5 (AP)—Charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, a federal grand jury returned indictments against the General Chemical company of New York, Merck and Co., Inc., of Rahway, N. J., the J. T. Baker Chemical company of Phillipsburg, N. J., the Mallinckrodt Chemical works of St. Louis, and seven individuals.

The indictment, presented to Judge Phillip Forman, said the defendants conspired to monopolize the manufacture and sale of laboratory chemicals in the United States and sought to eliminate competition by price fixing and by issuing identical terms and conditions of sale.

Individuals named were Leonard F. Eiklor of New York, director of fine chemicals for General Chemical; James J. Kerrigan of Summit, N. J (vice president of Merck and Co.; Joseph K. L. Snyder of Rahway, Merck's general sales director; John W. Wilson of Rahway, chief of Merck's price control department; Herbert H. Garis and Ralph A. Clark of Easton, Pa., president and vice president, respectively, of the Baker company; and Arnold D. Alt of St. Louis; chief of Mallinckrodt's laboratory chemicals division.

Samuel Flatow, special assistant to Attorney General Francis Biddle, said the indicted concerns manufacture 90 per cent of all laboratory chemicals produced in this country.

In St. Louis, John H. Holliday, counsel for the Mallinckrodt company, denied the charges, stating he believed the indictment probably concerned the company's dealings in chemical reagents, which he said constituted only a small part of its total business.

'Phantom' Turns Out To Be Robed Youth

The 'Phantom' of 26th street, that caused an entire block of Lubbock residents last night to go on the alert, turned out to be a case of late 'Halloween'—

At 10:30 p. m. police were informed that there was a prowler in the 2200 block, 26th street and a few minutes later an excited woman in the same neighborhood told police that "there's a drunk man, with a long black robe and a gun, lying down on a lawn across from my house" . . . This information sent all available police cars into the neighborhood and with the aid of two car loads of soldiers, a 15-year old boy was picked up and brought to the police station for questioning. He had on a long black robe, a silver and black mask and a long knife in scabbard. He was released in custody of his father after telling the juvenile authorities that he was looking for a boy who had stolen his bicycle a few minutes before.

Louisianan Named To Federal Judge's Post

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—President Roosevelt today nominated Elmo Pearce Lee, sr., Shreveport, La., as judge for the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals—the post for which the President originally nominated former Gov. James V. Allred of Texas.

The White House disclosed today that Allred, after his nomination was contested, asked the President to appoint another man.

The court has jurisdiction in Texas, Louisiana and Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and the Canal Zone.

Louisiana Senators Ellender and Overton, who had opposed Allred's nomination, along with Senator W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas, said they did not know whether there would be opposition to Lee in the Senate.

vaders from the territory of the peninsula south of the Dnieper delta," the communique said.

30 Towns Are Freed

Thirty towns and hamlets were taken back by the Soviet troops who now were opposite the mouth of the Bug river due south of Nikolaev and 50 miles across the Black Sea from Odessa. East of this position, where the Dnieper comes down from its wide bend, the Russians were facing Kherson across the stream.

But the battle for Kiev was the outstanding development of the day's hard fighting.

The Germans, meanwhile, filed their answer to Thursday's Moscow claims of casualties inflicted upon them in the Russians' successful summer and autumn offensives. The Germans announced the Russians lost 3,000,000 men in dead, wounded and prisoners as against the 2,700,000 German casualties announced by the Russians.

Moscow Decision Is Refused By France

ALGIERS, Nov. 5. (AP) — The French Committee of National Liberation announced today that it would refuse to consider as binding the decisions of the tripower London commission set up by the Moscow conference.

A committee statement issued after lengthy discussions of French foreign policy, said:

"It seems to the French Committee of National Liberation that the fate of Germany and her Allies cannot be examined and brought to proper conclusion without the participation of France.

"Therefore the committee must make known that decisions that might be taken concerning this subject would only engage France if she had participated in them under conditions conforming to her interests and those of all her Allies, and also taking into account French sacrifices for that common cause."

France was not invited to participate in the Moscow conference

Malaria Fever Cases Above Last Year's

AUSTIN, Nov. 5. (AP)—Malaria cases in Texas totaled 6,700 for the first nine months this year compared to 6,100 for the comparable period of 1942, the State Health department reported in a compilation today.

Incidence for the week ending Oct. 30 was at the seven-year median of 154 cases.

The department reported abovemedian incidence for dysentery, influenza, pneumonia, infantile paralysis and typhus fever but said typhus, with 21 cases, was at the lowest level since July.

Britons Are Going On 'Spending Spree'

LONDON, Nov. 5. (AP)—Clothing sales in Britain during September were the highest in three years and almost everyone apparently going on some kind of a spending spree as the result of the issuance of new ration coupons for a 12-months period.

For the country as a whole sales jumped 80 per cent over August, the last month of the old coupon book, the Board of Trade reported.

More Bad News Is Released For Japs

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

There was bad news for Japan last night from Washington as well as from the South Pacific, while Germany reeled under multiple blows by land, sea and air.

On top of the Moscow conference from which was born the vitally significant Anglo-American-Russian-Chinese war and peace pact, an Anglo-American-Chinese operational agreement has been worked out at Chungking weeks or months sooner than had been hoped for in Washington and London. It is designed, by President Roosevelt's definition, to unify United Nations operations against Japan throughout the whole continent of Asia from Burma to the Russian border.

SIMPSON

Bracketed with a Washington disclosure that the long-awaited American super bomber—B-29—is ready for battle action test, the Chungking agreement takes on special significance. The undisclosed but substantially increased radius of action and steppedup gun power of the monster-bombers ear-mark them for the Pacific-Asiatic theater, where distances are the greatest.

Adequate For Europe

Nazi held regions of Europe, including all Germany itself, are already under Allied bomb fire, from west and south, that overlaps. The present Fortresses and Liberators, hereafter to be styled "light-heavyweights" of the Allied air armadas, are adequate by every sign for the final devastating aerial blasting of Germany.

The big fellows, a year and more under development, may see action for special long-range missions in Europe as the war there comes to its final crisis. But it seems unquestionable that they were designed and will be used primarily to carry the fight to Japan.

This writer more than a year ago was allowed to see one of the B-29's in a hush-hush restricted area of a major airplane plant. He with others witnessed tests for wing elements of the ship and its landing gear that gave astounding evidence of the staunchness of construction. He had no doubt then and has none now that they are destined to deal as shattering blows on Japan's own home front and to Japanese war morale as their lesser yet still gigantic prototypes are dealing to the Reich and its defeat-dogged people.

Redoubled Sea Attack

The Sino-Allied agreement, foreshadowing heavy air blows at Nippon and its sea transportation arteries from the west, comes at a time when there are obvious preparations to redouble the attack by sea, air and ground from the east and in the southwest. It raises, as never before, the specter of many-fronted defensive war for Nippon's masters. That, too, at a time when Allied air, sea and ground power in the European theater is being applied with telling effects against Germany's flanks and the Russian master offensive is making smooth transition from summer-fall to an always deadly winter onslaught.

Pacific Coast Faces Transportation Crisis

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5. (AP)—The Pacific coast "faces a major transportation crisis" and "a potential gasoline shortage of drastic proportions," Lt. Gen. Delos C. Emmons said today in appealing for maximum cooperation with mileage regulation restrictions.

The commanding general of the Western Defense command, in a statement to the press, said increasing military needs made cooperation "absolutely essential if we are to provide our Armed forces with their essential requirements."

News Briefs

Nov. 19 has been set as the date for election of Lubbock county committeemen under the agricultural conservation program, it was announced Friday by Walter Y. Wells, Lubbock county AAA official. Committees of three members each will be named in 12 county districts, Wells said. In addition, there will be named two alternate members and a delegate to a county meeting in which members of a county committee will be elected.

Albert Blevins, 1503 Twenty-fifth street, is to leave today for Grapevine where he will attend funeral services for an aunt, Mrs. E. E. Higgins, pioneer resident of near Grapevine, who died at Fort Worth Friday.

Production Of Guayule Costly

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—The future of guayule as a commercial crop in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California depends on the post-war sources of rubber and whether the government wants to subsidize production as insurance.

This was brought out during hearings on the supplemental nation defense appropriation bill when C. M. Granger, forest service official, testified on the guayule program.

John Caswell, special representative of the office of rubber director, told the committee that the guayule program had been mapped out on a large scale, but that it was scaled down later, with the result that the cost of the guayule rubber so far produced ran about $3 per pound.

Only 25,000 Acres

The guayule program first was to include 75,000 acres, then was expanded to 500,000 acres. Actually, only 25,000 acres was put into cultivation, Caswell said, because food shortages dictated the utilization of men and equipment in other directions.

When Granger was asked by a committee member whether he believed private business interests could, in the post-war period, successfully operate a guayule rubber industry, the official replied:

"Private enterprise could not raise this kind of rubber now on a competitive basis, and somebody would have to ask for a subsidy for guayule rubber growers.

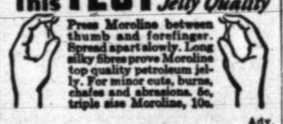

"If this becomes a permanent thing and rubber prices get down anywhere near where they were before, it might be something of that kind. It would depend upon the governmental policy as to whether they want to perpetuate such a program as insurance."

Report Made On Levelland Case

AUSTIN, Nov. 5. (U.P.)—Tom Sutherland of Austin who conducted an inquiry at Levelland at request of Gov. Coke R. Stevenson's good neighbor commission returned today and said his recommendation regarding the reported race "riot" there will be that there was no riot.

Sutherland said he will suggest that if feasible the commission send an attorney to assist local officers in prosecution of complaints that have been filed in connection with the disturbance.

Sutherland described the incident as an isolated one and distinctly not representative of the community attitude toward Mexicans. He said the farmers generally and the Hockley County Development association were sympathetic with the laborers and want them there. County officials were praised by Sutherland for their prompt and efficient handling of the situation.

Change In Ownership

His investigation, Sutherland related, disclosed that two days before the incident there had been a change in ownership of a cafe that had been accustomed to serving Mexicans. The new owner posted a notice that he would not serve them.

Vela Domingo, born at Seguin, Tex. and a resident of New Braunfels, Tex. went into the cafe to purchase cigarets. Domigo reported he was hit with a full soft drink bottle. Domingo went to the sheriff's office and the sheriff accompanied him to a justice of the peace office to make complaint.

Sutherland attributed the report of a threatened riot to the occurrence being at a time when many farm workers were gathered in town and their crowding around to find out what had happened. He said there was no crowd violence and that the gathering promptly dispersed at the sheriff's request. His information about a bottle being thrown through a cafe window was that a bottle thrown from the cafe was caught by a man outside and thrown back.

Texas Major Makes 99 Bombing Missions

NEW DELHI, Nov. 5. (U.P.)—Maj. Edward M. Garrett of Graham, Tex., who has a record of 99 bombing missions in the China-Burma-India theater, had an assignment today to return to the United States to help train air force personnel for fighting in this theater.

The 24-year-old major, who holds the Air Medal and the Distinguished Flying Cross for exploits during 271 combat hours, arrived in India in May of last year, ferrying one of the first medium bombers sent to this theater. Since then he has been made commander of the "Ringer" squadron of the 10th Air force.

Committee Named To Probe Cost Of Living

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (U.P.)—President Roosevelt today appointed five members of the War Labor board, representing industry, labor and the public, as a special committee to investigate the cost of living and report within 60 days.

Labor organizations have complained that the Labor departments' cost of living index does not truly reflect increased prices to consumers, and that the disparity between living costs increases and wage increases allowable under the "little steel" formula are greater than shown in the department's index.

The new committee will investigate the entire matter of living costs, Mr. Roosevelt said, including the accuracy of the Labor department's index.

The President told his news conference the investigating committee would comprise WLB Chairman William H. Davis, representing the public; George Meany, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, and R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile workers (CIO), representing labor; and H. B. Horton, treasurer of the Chicago Bridge and Iron Co., and George K. Batt, vice president of Dugan brothers, Newark, N. J., representing industry.

Guard's 'Open House' Date Here Changed

Texas State Guard officers announced Friday change of date of the 'open house" to be sponsored by the Lubbock companies from Sunday to Thursday, November 11.

The program, to be comprised of appropriate ceremonies and demonstrations, will be held att the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The event, officers said, is to mark "Texas State Guard Week" starting Sunday and proclaimed by Gov. Coke Stevenson.

The local companies, which are Company A and the headquarters detachment, will conduct a drive for enlistments during the week, it was announced.

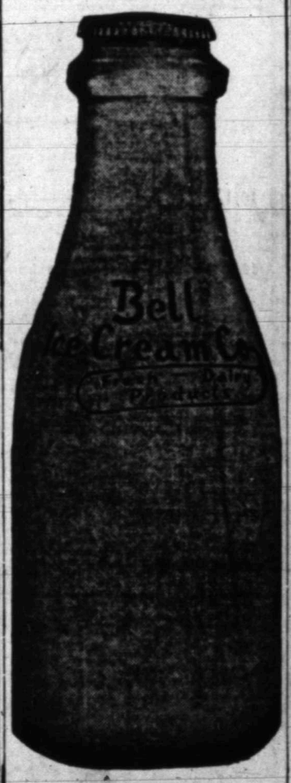

Officially opening the week will be a statewide radio broadcast from 3:30 to 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

MALARIA REPORT GIVEN

AUSTIN, Now. 5. (AP)—The state health department today reported 6,700 cases of malaria in Texas in the first nine months of 1943, an increase of 600 over the same period a year ago, and said that five counties accounted for one-third of the total. These counties were Bowie, Cass, Franklin, Marion and Lamar.

Welfare Duties Of Government Cited

AUSTIN, Nov. 5. (U.P.)—Miss Jane M. Hoey, director of the bureau of public assistance of the Federal Social Security board, gave members of the Texas Welfare association, meeting here today, standards of government responsibility for welfare of people.

Miss Hoey described these obligations as:

1. To see that the people have an opportunity to earn a living at wages sufficient to support a family of two children in decent surroundings.

2. To make available supplemental resources to families through social insurance or public assistance when income is cut off or interrupted.

3. To protect and provide for children who have no homes, or for those who come in conflict with the law.

The opportunity for remunerative employment, she aid, calls for providing public work when private employment is not possible.

Extra efforts to prevent closing of schools and to prevent relaxation of child protective labor law during wartime were recommended.
