Aircraft Plants In Paris Area Are Pounded

Daylight Raids Among Heaviest On West Europe

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 3 — American Flying Fortresses attacked the Caudron-Renault aircraft factory on the outskirts of Paris and an aircraft assembly plant at Leulan les Mureaux, northwest of Paris, in a daylight attack today as Allied invasion forces stormed onto the Italian mainland, a joint British-American communique announced.

Other formations of Flying Fortresses and Marauder medium bombers attacked five enemy air fields in northern France, said the bulletin issued by the British Air ministry and the U. S. army's European theater headquarters.

1,000 ALLIED PLANES

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP) — More than 1,000 Allied planes took part in the offensive against the continent today, it was indicated.

The Fortresses attacking the plane factory and assembly plant met heavy opposition and shot down 23 enemy fighters. Only a few enemy planes were encountered by the bombers carrying out the other attacks.

Widespread Assaults

The bombers, which blackened the skies throughout the day in one of the war's most widespread series of daylight assaults on western Europe, were escorted by American Thunderbolts and RAF, dominion and Allied Spitfires.

The Thunderbolts blasted four enemy fighters out of the sky and the Spitfires knocked down two others.

Eight heavy bombers and two fighters were reported missing from the raids.

Results of the damage created by the attackers in their sledge-hammer blows at Axis air power were not included in the communique.

In sun-darkening swarms, Flying Fortresses and swift Marauders swept across the channel under cover of swift-striking Thunderbolts.

Londoners Cheer Flight

Londoners got a view of part of the returning formations, approximately 150 Fortresses flying northward over the city as persons in the street stopped and cheered.

The Paris radio said in a broadcast heard by the Associated Press that an "extensive raid" was made on the Paris region, adding that the main target was the left bank of the Seine.

The daylight attacks followed night blows by the RAF against Axis airfields and other targets in northern France and the low countries. An Air ministry communique said other aircraft laid

Allies Knock Out Salamaua Airdrome

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 3. (AP) — The Allied campaign for northeastern New Guinea appears, for the moment at least, to have knocked out the Japanese air force from besieged Salamaua all the 550 miles to the Dutch New Guinea border.

In earlier stages of the Allied drive on Salamaua, Japanese planes raided forward mountain positions ranged far to strike across the Owen Stanley mountains at Port Moresby and down the coast from Salamaua in the region of Buna.

Today's Allied communique, reporting the wiping out of Japanese Army headquarters, warehouses, fuel and ammunition stores in and around Madang, said the raiding Liberators and Mitchells found only one grounded enemy plane among targets for their more than 206 tons of bombs. Escorting Lightnings did not encounter an interceptor.

The Salamaua airdrome, now within rifle range of Allied jungle fighters, is unserviceable to the enemy. Fifteen miles above it at Lae, site of another Japanese airdrome, today's communique reported a 23-ton bombing raid without mention of air opposition.

There was no further report on the fighting at Salamaua.

SINKWICH IS DISCHARGED

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., Sept. 3 (U.P.) — Frank Sinkwich, all-American backfield star on the University of Georgia's Orange and Rose bowl football teams the past two years, was discharged by the Marines today because of physical disabilities.

Weather Report

EAST TEXAS: Little temperature change this afternoon, tonight and Saturday forenoon; scattered thundershowers east and south portions this afternoon and in interior of south portion tonight.

Reds Open 'Grand Offensive'

Nazis Report New Push In Central Donets Basin

LONDON, Sept. 3. (AP) — The German radio announced today that the Soviet army had launched a grand offensive in the central Donets basin area of south Russia early this morning.

The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, failed to locate more precisely the reported push. The Russians have been driving forward in this area for several days and yesterday announced important gains, including the capture of the cities of Voroshilovsk, Slavyanoserbsk and Lisichansk.

The German announcement said that "since the early hour of today the expected Russian attack in the central Donets has been in full swing. The Russians employed hundreds of heavy artillery batteries and fighter formations according to the principles of their well known attrition tactics. There are as yet no further details about the course of this new large-scale action."

Nazis Fall Back

The Germans meanwhile fell back before other Soviet drives that cut the main Nazi rail link between the central and southern sectors 150 miles from Kiev and crashed into the Smolensk defense perimeter for a gain of six miles.

Five Red armies were engaged in the gigantic Soviet offensive, which threatened the entire German battle line on the eastern front.

Russian Advance Continues

The speed of the Russian advance, which already has cracked the enemy's 1941 invasion lines, indicated that the Germans were retreating along the whole southern front in an apparent attempt to get behind their Dnieper river defense system. Russian generals were giving them no rest, throwing immense fores of men and motorized equipment into the offensive.

Capture of the Ukraine stronghold of Sumy, 90 miles northwest of Kharkov by Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's command was announced personally by Marshal Stalin in an order of the day yesterday, while a communique told of the storming of Krolevets and Yampol on the important Bryansk-Kiev railway linking the southern and central fronts.

Cities Are Captured

The Donets basin drive yielded the cities of Voroshilovsk, Slavyanoserbsk and Lisichansk, while Budenovka, 20 miles from Mariupol, fell to the Red Amy troops in their push along the rim of the sea of Azov, the communique said.

The Russian bulletin, which was recorded by the Soviet monitor here, emphasized that the Germans were battling stubbornly all along the 600-mile front in their effort to get the bulk of their armies safely across the Dnieper.

Nearly 10,000 German dead were counted in yesterday's fighting as the Soviet troops carried their advance through 250 villages and towns, many of them of strategic importance, for a two-day bag of nearly 550 enemy-held localities.

Germans Falling Back Fast Before Other Assaults

Feelings Lifted At News Of Invasion

Russians May Not Be Fully Satisfied; Nazis Expected To Make Stand In North

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Word that Allied soldiers are surging on to the mainland soil of Europe brought a strong psychological lift today to London although the news was no surprise.

While there was a measure of disappointment among the more ardent "second fronters" who had hoped the next blow would fall from the west, there seemed general acceptance of the idea that the battle of Italy would have to be fought through to victory before the United Nations would be free to bring their fullest land, air and sea forces to bear on the main European enemy.

The invasion of Italy was not expected fully to satisfy the Russians, whose press only yesterday was complaining that the Sicilian campaign had not drawn off a single German division from the Russian front.

Other Invasion Threats

The drive across the strait of Messina fell into the familiar pattern of the slow-but-sure Allied offensive in the Mediterranean, but it was quickly noted that American and French ground forces and many British divisions were not involved at this stage, leaving them free for other jobs—jobs that might send them ashore anywhere from southern France to the Balkans.

There is scant feeling here that the Italian peninsula might fall by default—even if peace were made with Rome. It is believed the Germans are prepared to make determined effort to keep the invaders away from air and land bases in northern Italy as long as possible.

The German strength—probably around 13 divisions—is reported largely north of Rome, but about half of the strength of the three Nazi divisions which fought in Sicily escaped to the mainland to join two or three others then stationed south of Naples.

It is not known here how much of this force was moved north, but it is believed certain the Germans left plenty of men behind to make

Colorful British Eighth Army Is In Limelight

(By The Associated Press)

Britain's Eighth Army, about which a great military tradition has gathered in less than a year and which spearheaded the Allied invasion of the European mainland today, received its accolade from its equally famous commander, General Sir Bernard Law Montgomery — "Fighting Monty"— last April 10.

"I doubt," he said, "if our empire has ever possessed such a fighting machine as the Eighth army; you have made its name a household word all over the world."

Makeup About Same

The Eighth, as it drove into Sicily nearly two months ago, differed slightly in the makeup from the force which stopped Rommel at El Alamein and then chased his Africa Corps halway across Africa to its doom in Tunisia.

The Eighth Army has varied from four to seven or eight divisions, from 80,000 to 160,000 men, counting supporting and supply units.

For this first landing on the continent the Allied commander in chief, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, is using only one of his many armies, the one most fully tested in battle.

But along the African coast and Sicily it is known that he has at his disposal at least four other armies, including the American Seventh commanded by Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, jr., which made a record in the conquest of Sicily that caused military men to rank it alongside the Eighth as one of the world's elite fighting forces.

Eisenhower's other armies are

Higher Meat Prices Okayed

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 3 (AP) — Mayor F. H. LaGuardia stood before 1,500 western cattlemen yesterday and endorsed higher legal meat prices for his 7,000,000 New York constituents.

He seconded the proposal of Harry Coffee, president of the Omaha stockyards, that the recent OPA rollback of meat prices be rolled back up at a cost of six cents a pound to the consumer.

"If we thought we could get our meat within six cents of the authorized rolled back price," LaGuardia told the meeting called to consider the problems of meat and feed producers, "I'd sign up right now for you for all the meat our 7,000,000 people could eat."

Favor Management Plan

Producers and feeders from 27 states attended the one-day conference and wound up voting resolutions asking adoption of the industry's proposed meat-management plan, and seeking the aid of congressmen who attended.

The plan, speakers said, would regulate demand by flexible, sliding ration point values, disposing of the need for retail price ceilings and slaughter quotas. (Slaughter quotas were suspended Wednesday until Oct. 31, by the War Food administration).

Invited to speak after a day of questioning and listening, Mayor LaGuardia conceded forthwith the right of the meat producer to what he is asking.

"We in New York know that if you men can't produce, we don't eat. Our problem back there involves prices that you don't even get a shot at. We can't buy a piece of meat in New York at ceiling price!"

In one resolution the cattlemen asked that "the responsible government agencies dealing with the war food program clear the track so that the war meat board can properly function, and to see that threats of further government controls which would hamper rather than help be immediately stopped."

Advance GOP Guard Arrives For Meeting

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., Sept. 3 (AP)—The advance guard of members of the Republican war council arrived here early today for the conference which will convene officially Monday.

Among early arrivals were Harrison E. Spangler, chairman of the Republican National committee, Senator Arthur H. Vanderberg, of Michigan and several governors.

Preliminary conference committee meetings will begin tonight to continue through Sunday.

Divorce Suit Filed By James Cromwell

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 3. (U.P.)—James H. R. Cromwell, former minister to Canada, filed suit for divorce today against his wife, Doris Duke Cromwell, heiress to the Duke fortune.

Cromwell, now living at the Robert Treat hotel in Newark, charged desertion. Mrs. Cromwell announced recently she would set up residence in Reno.

Cromwell's brief petition, filed in New Jersey chancery court, alleged the desertion took place in May, 1940.

Public Warned On Use Of Utilities

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP) — The public was warned today that electric power, fuel, water, gas, telephone and telegraph facilities are being strained too far. A drive will start about Sept. 15 toward voluntary conservation.

The government and utilities will put on the campaign designed, a War Production board spokesman said, to avert hardship. Some industrial areas already have been hit by shortages of these public services.

The advertising and promotion campaign will get its finishing touches today at a meeting of representatives of all the industries and the four government agencies concerned — WPB, Interior department, Office of Defense transportation (ODT) and the Office of War Information (OWI).

EVANGELIST DIES

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 3 (U.P.) — Rev. Charles D. Tillman, well-known singer, evangelist and hymn writer, died at a private hospital here yesterday after a lengthy illness. He was 82.

Jap Shipping Losses Heavy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Secretary Knox announced today that one-third of Japan's total merchant shipping, approximately 2,500,000 tons, has been destroyed.

The Navy chief declared this destruction of one of Japan's most vital war resources was chiefly accomplished by American submarine, although all United Nations sea and air forces have participated in the sinkings.

Slows Jap Progress

Knox agreed with a questioner at his press conference that the enemy's loss of cargo tonnage was impairing the ability of the Japanese to exploit profitably their rich territories in the southwest Pacific.

Whether this loss of tonnage was responsible for the withdrawal from Kiska island in the north Pacific, and from islands in the central Solomons in the southwest Pacific, Knox said he did not know. But he added that those withdrawals certainly had been brought about by overseas communication difficulties.

ALLIES TAKE HEAVY TOLL OF ENEMY AIRCRAFT

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Sept. 3 (AP) — Indicative of the heightened tempo of war in the Pacific, Allied planes during August took the largest toll of enemy aircraft yet reported.

General headquarters summary of its August communiques today disclosed the destruction of 584 Japanese planes and the probable annihilation of 33 more and the damaging of 31.

Allied losses for the period were listed at 145 planes, two thirds of them bombers.

Mexican Workers May Not Be Used In Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 3. (U.P.) — It appeared today that Texas farmers would not be able to get workers from Mexico to harvest their crops.

Word was received by the Texas Extension service from the War Food administration that Mexican nationals would not be brought into Texas for farm work in the near future.

C. Horn, assistant state extension agent, said he believed the decision was reached because of recent charges that Texans have discriminated against Mexicans.

Axis Radio Indicates Fall Of Scilla, Reggio Calabria

BRITISH, CANADIAN INVADERS FORGING AHEAD IN TWO THRUSTS; HEAVY FIGHTING IS BELIEVED UNDERWAY

BY ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

British 8th army troops stormed into Italy from Sicily today, opening the long-awaited invasion of Hitler's European fortress, and a German broacast indicated that the Allies had occupied both Scilla and Reggio Calabria on the toe of the Italian boot.

The two cities are on the Italian west coast, directly across the strait from Messina.

The Nazi radio said the invasion forces had penetrated as far as Scilla on the coast road, and another tank-led column had thrust eastward from Reggio Calabria.

Dispatches said that more than ten hours after British Tommies and Canadians swarmed across Messina straits in a series of predawn landings they were locked in fierce battle with the enemy.

An Algiers broadcast said the Allies "have established a bridgehead on the Calabrian coast," but dispatches from Allied headquarters spoke several times of "the landings"—indicating the invaders had struck at more than one point.

The assault was the first of several expected invasions of the continent.

Blow By Yanks Seen

In London, Gen. Sir Robert Gordon-Finlayson declared "we can be quite sure that the 7th U. S. army" — which was not involved in the original attack—"is destined by General Eisenhower to land somewhere in Italy very soon.

"The 7th army will have been assigned a very important task."

(The United Nations radio at Algiers in a broadcast recorded by U. S. government monitors at 8 a. m., Eastern War time, said British troops had swept ashore past "knocked-out pillboxes, coastal batteries and road blocks" and was working through lemon and olive groves, ditches and minefields toward a 6,000-foot range of mountains.)

Warships Support Attack

The invasion force was supported by an armada of Allied cruisers, destroyers, monitors apd gunboats hurling broadsides into the enemy's shore defenses and by great fleets of British and American planes which dumped tons of explosives on gun positions, trenches and the battered communications network behind them.

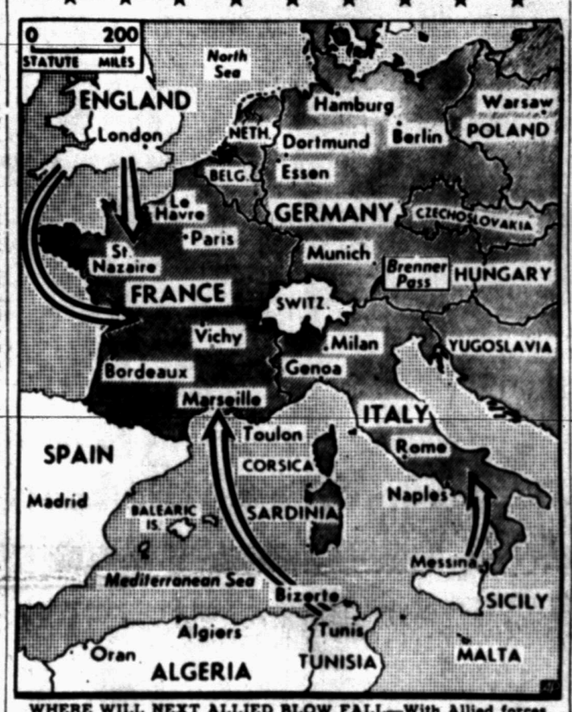

There still was no definite word of the degree of resistance, but it was certain the invaders had cut out a difficult task for themselves as the fighting was over rugged terrain, marked by crags and cliffs close to shore which lent themselves naturally to defense.

Italian headquarters said the Allies had begun operations against the Calabrian coast, on the toe of the Italian boot, "on a vast scale."

An official Allied spokesman said Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's veterans were engaged in "heavy fighting."

There was no report of any invasion spearhead having been thrown back after the first landings, which came at 4:30 a. m. (9:30 p. m., Thursday, Central War

WHERE WILL NEXT ALLIED BLOW FALL—With Allied forces rapidly gaining a foothold in southern Italy following a historic landing early today, people throughout the world tensely awaited the next blow. That multiple attacks might be expected was indicated by the Allied Headquarters reports which referred to "the invasions".

Fortresses Knock Out Vital Axis Rail Line

Reconnaissance Shows Main Axis Artery Of Reinforcement Cut Near Brenner Pass

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS In North Africa, Sept. 3. —U. S. Flying Fortresses knocked out the vital railroad line from the Brenner pass into Italy—the German highway for defense of the peninsula—yesterday in their deepest blow into Italy from North Africa.

They blasted Bolzano, Trento and Bologna, and an official headquarters announcement today declared photographic reconnaissance showed "this main artery of German reinforcements which have been pouring into Italy is now cluttered with wreckage at least temporarily."

Most of the railway line was severed when bombs destroyed the railway bridge at Bolzano 35 miles south of Brenner pass. The railroad at Trento 30 miles farther south was cut by four direct hits.

Blows Well Timed

The raids on Bolzano and Trento obviously were timed to deprive the Axis high command of its most important route of reinforcement and supply between Germany and Italy at a moment when the greatest demands were about to be made upon it to combat the Allied invasion.

"The Bolzano railroad bridge carrying the line from the Brenner pass has been hit and broken," the Northwest African Air forces communique said. "Hits also were made on the yards and adjacent tracks.

"At Trento, also on the route from the Brenner pass, the railway also was blocked and a road bridge broken."

Fires and explosions were touched off in warehouses and railway yards at Bologna.

The Fortresses flew the entire distance to the three railway cen-

Livestock Shipments In Texas Increased

AUSTIN, Sept. 3 (U.P.) — Texas shipped 56,826 cars of livestock to interstate markets and Fort Worth during the first seven months of this year, compared with 51,846 cars for the equivalent time a year ago, the University of Texas bureau of business research reported here today.

Cattle and hog shipments counted for the gain. Sheep were about the same, while calves declined, the bureau found.

TROOPS STREAMING ACROSS

ALLIED PHOTOGRAPHIC RECONNAISSANCE FIELD, North Africa, Sept. 3. (1:30 P.M.) (U.P.) — The first pilot returning from the Italian mainland battlefront said today that he saw Allied warships streaming toward the coast at 10 a. m., their guns spitting fire against the shore as they snaked back and forth around invasion barges.

ARNOLD STIRS SPECULATION

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Arrival in London of Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. Army Air forces, a few hours before Allied troops landed on the Italian mainland today heightened speculation that he is here to effect a further coordination of ground and air forces for an anticipated invasion of the continent from the British isles.

SEA, AIR FORCES ABSENT

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, Sept. 3. (U.P.)—A pilot who flew over the straits of Messina said today that neither sea nor air forces of the Axis challenged the British and Canadian amphibious landings on the Italian mainland.

VATICAN CHIEF TO U. S.

LONDON, Sept. 3. (AP) — Enrico Galeazzi, governor of Vatican City, left Lisbon by clipper Wednesday night for the United States, a Reuters dispatch reported today. The purpose of his visit was not disclosed, Reuters said, but there was speculation here on the possibility that it was connected with negotiations to make Rome an open city.

General Requested To Withdraw Order

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP) — Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, jr., has been requested by high Washington authorities to withdraw his military order forbidding any further court action in the Hawaiian habeas corpus controversy.

"D. C. Speaker," the mythical spokesman for capital sources that will not be named, reported today that unless General Richardson, commander of the Army's Hawaiian department, backs down in his dispute with a federal court judge there the matter may be taken over by War and Justice department officials.

As a face-saving measure, Speaker said, Judge Delbert Metzger may be asked to withdraw his order holding the general in contempt for refusing to produce two military prisoners on habeas corpus writs. It was after the contempt ruling that General Richardson issued his order suspending civil court action in the case.

Banking Firms To Be Closed Labor Day

Reminders that banks and First Federal Savings and Loan association will be closed and that the postoffice will observe a partial holiday for labor day Monday were given this morning.

Otherwise, the rule of business as usual will prevail in Lubbock Monday. Merchants who are member firms of the Retail Merchants association will open and close at the usual times. Official offices also will be open throughout the day.

The usual first Monday dollar day bargains will be on sale.

Postmaster Amos Howard announced that one delivery of mail will be made in the business district, but none in residential areas. Parcel post and special deliveries will be made. The general delivery window will be open from 11 a. m. until 1 p. m. Other windows will be closed throughout the day.

German Prisoners Aiding In Cotton Harvest Improve; Might Average 100 Pounds A Day

MADISONVILLE, Sept. 3 (AP)—What kind of cotton pickers do German prisoners of war make?

After they learned the cotton sack wasn't to be slung from their neck, wasn't to be made into a basket, or wasn't to be left in the row while they picked a handful and walked back to stuff it in, they improved and farmers in Madison county using their services hope they will get up to an average of a hundred pounds a day.

A hundred pounds isn't much cotton for a veteran picker, but with 300 prisoners working on one farm, that's twenty bales a day.

Are Helping Farmers

One of the first farmers in this area to use the war prisoner labor, W. M. Forrest, owner of the Forrest plantation on the Trinity river in Madison county, says it's helping out.

The war prisoners, brought from the internment camp near Huntsville, are billeted in the Midway school house. The farmer pays the government at the rate of a dollar a hundred pounds of cotton picked, and the prisoners get the regulation 80 cents a day.

Toughened by their fighting in North Africa, many of the young Nazis work without shirts, wearing only shorts and boots or shoes and no knee-pads. Some go bareheaded, despite the blazing sun. Most of them are inveterate Nazis, confident Germany will win. They seem glad of the opportunity to get out of their compound at the internment camp.

AUSTIN, Sept. 3 (AP) — Texas postal receipts totaled $2,014,460 in July, an increase of a third of a million dollars over the $1,680,019 collected for the same month a year ago, the University of Texas bureau of business research reports.

Dallas led other Texas cities, with $442,686 in receipts compared with $393,156 last year.

Others (latest figure first) include: Lubbock $29,374 and 23,988.

Eye-Witness Account Of Invasion Given

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 3. (AP) — The first eyewitness account of the Allied landing operations in southern Italy today came from the pilot of an American bomber. Pilot Officer G. Basrich of Iowa.

Returning from a flight over the invasion area, Basrich said:

"We saw colossal explosions and watched what appeared to be a great artillery duel near the strait of Messina."

News Briefs

Mrs. A. B. Slagle has been removed to her home, 1615 Eighteenth street, from St. Mary's hospital, where she underwent major surgery Saturday.

Sgt. and Mrs. Ray Pigg, formerly of Lubbock, are parents of a son, who has been named Danny Ray, born Saturday in Washington, D. C., according to report Wednesday by the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Farrar, Lubbock, route 6. Mrs. Pigg is the former Gypsy Farrar.

A message advising that her brother-in-law, Odus C. Stewart, is seriously ill after a heart attack in his home in Inglewood, Calif., was received Wednesday by Mrs. J. W. Bush, residing on Levelland highway. Stewart formerly resided in Lubbock.

Mrs. Sylva Wheelock, 69, of 1216 Broadway, was resting better this morning, it was reported at West Texas hospital. Suffering a heart condition, she was taken to the hospital Thursday. Her condition is not considered critical.

Deputy Sheriff Parum Posey Thursday afternoon decried the practice of shooting doves from telephone lines. "Hunters the other afternoon put the entire communications system from Lubbock to Lubbock Army Air field out of commission," he said. "Shots punctured a lead cable and short-circuited the lines it carried." Posey said the act possibly was committed without knowledge of damage that would be caused, but termed such negligence "nothing short of sabotage of the war effort." He cited criminal penalties at law and asked that all have the patriotism to "protect all Army property — particularly property of such importance as communications."

Theft of a $60 watch from Jack Smith of 4202 Avenue J and car keys and several attached trinkets from J. M. Lackey of one mile from Lubbock on the Idalou road were reported to police. it was announced this morning. Three suspects were named.

Damage action of B. R. Onstott against Z. P. Lusk was being tried today in Crosby county 72nd district court, before J. E. Vickers, special judge, and a jury. Onstott was on the stand for cross-examination when Thursday's court session was adjourned. Elner Parrish, charged with forgery, was found insane earlier Thursday, and was committed to an asylum.

The weekly Saturday night dance for soldiers will again be staged on the cement tennis courts at Texas Technological college, from 9 o'clock until midnight, according to Miss Leona Gelin, supervisor of Lubbock soldiers centers.

PARENTS OF SON

A son, James Edward, weighing 7 pounds and 11 ounces, was born to Ensign and Mrs. James Samson, jr., Aug. 30 in the Naval hospital at Norfolk, Va. Ensign Samson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Samson, 2312 Thirteenth street.

Personals

Lt. and Mrs. Ralph Williamson of Marianna, Fla., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Daniell, 1711 Eighteenth street; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Williamson of Wolfforth and his sister, Mrs. W. H. McKelvy, Lubbock.

Miss Mary Paul Long, 2313 Twentieth street, has gone to Odessa where she teaches speech in the public school system.

Major Arthur L. Fuchs, former induction officer at West Texas Recruiting office here, has returned to Camp Swift, near Austin, after spending a few days leave visiting friends in Lubbock.

Ensign and Mrs. Armond Samson of Norman, Okla., are spending a seven day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Samson, 2312 Thirteenth street. Ensign Samson is an instructor at the Naval base there.

Free Canning Jars Going At Fast Clip

A rushing business developed this morning at the office of the county farm agent, Fourteenth street and Avenue Q, after the announcement by C. C. Brookshier, assistant agent, that glass jars suitable for many types of canning were to be had there free.

He estimated that approximately 40 requests for jars were received before 10 a. m., and the rush continued. He had no idea how long the available supply might last, but the indications were that it wouldn't be long.

The jars came from Lubbock Army Air field — a truck load of them, and were given away without any requirement other than the promise that they would be used for the home canning of tomatoes and other vegetables. Some were equipped with regular lids and some with victory tops, with which the screw lid can be used over and over, Brookshier said.

The assistant agent was hopeful that additional supplies of the jars might be obtained from LAAF, but he had no assurance on this point. The only statement he could make was that "we'll give them away as long as they last, which might not be very long."

CONSTIPATION
We find that any part of the human body becoming inactive over a period of time becomes atrophied (wasted away). This is what becomes of the colon after a person has been constipated over a few years time. When this happens, laxatives must be employed continuously. The quickest solution to a problem of this kind is internal baths-colon therapy given by technicians qualified for this particular work. This treatment exercises the colon, and at the same time cleaning and removing any kinks that would interfere with its normal movement.

Governor Will Make Long Trip

AUSTIN, Sept. 3 (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson will leave his office here tomorrow for the longest absence since he became governor of Texas in mid-summer of 1941.

The trip will keep him out of his Austin office until Sept. 13. Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith of Throckmorton will be acting governor.

Previous trips since Stevenson became governor took him to an eastern seaboard to inspect a Texas military unit and to Newport News for the launching of the U. S. S. Houston.

Governor Stevenson will leave Saturday for his ranch near Junction. He will spend the night there but be up before daybreak to start a drive to Alpine to tender a deed to the Big Bend park's 700,000 acres there to M. R. Tillotson of Santa Fe, N. M., regional director of the National Park service.

Program At Alpine

Tillotson will be met at El Paso by a representative of the State Parks service and be taken to Alpine for the exercises. The program includes a dinner for the governor and Tillotson at Sul Ross college. There will be a review of the WACS stationed at Alpine.

A number of State Parks board members and the board's executive secretary Frank Quinn will be present for the occasion. Board Vice-Chairman Raymond L. Dillard of Mexia and Board Member Wendell Mayes of Brownwood both expect to attend. Also present will be State Sen. H. L. Winfield of Fort Stockton and Rep. Cal Huffman of Eagle Pass, and members of the attorney general's staff who prepared titles to the area.

A particularly interested attendant will be Robert L. Cartledge, auditor of the State Parks board. He is a former auditor of the state parks board. He is a former resident of Terlingua and one of the early advocates of the park project.

C. Of C. Claims Credit

Alpine Chamber of Commerce claims credit for originating the Big Bend park movement. Many others helped in the movement and by land donations, purchases and expenditure of $1,500,000 state appropriation the big tract was completed. Quinn was administrative agent for the state purchases with former Rep. E. E. Townsend local agent.

For Sunday's exercises general Chairman Johnny Newell is to use a gaval made of 13 rare native woods from trees in the park. The gavel was made by H. Nagle of Port Arthur.

Lloyd Wade who has been caretaker for the park under its state ownership is to be continued as general foreman by National Parks service. The national park service will have but a skeleton force in Big Bend park immediately. Expansion and development are expected to be an early after-war project.

On Programs At El Paso

After leaving Alpine, Gov. Stevenson will stop briefly at Marfa and go on to El Paso where he is to participate in a round table discussion Sunday night, and in the Labor Day celebration Monday.

Tuesday morning he is scheduled to leave for a week's tour on northern Mexico, visiting all states of Mexico that border Texas. He will go to the third Tamaulipas state exposition at Victoria. Other stops on his Mexico itinerary are to be at Chihuahua, Torreon, Parras, Saltillo and Monterrey.

Officers Meet With FBI Men

Sixty-two members of the police and sheriff's departments, Texas rangers and others officers met with agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation here Thursday afternoon for a discussion of wartime law enforcement problems.

Speakers were R. G. Danner, agent in charge of the FBI office in Dallas; Don Reeder, chief of Lubbock police; Hoyt W. Curry, chief of Plainview police, and Capt. N. R. Smith, commanding officer of the Lubbock district of the state highway patrol.

War Information

Danner spoke on maintaining security of war information, explaining that enemy agents are not persons who go about with a "sign on their back," but instead are clever persons of nondescript appearance who coordinate with ease snatches of conversation and are able, as a result, to furnish Axis powers such vital information as ship sailings, performances of new type planes and composition and route of troop movements.

Reeder spoke on press relations; Curry defined juvenile delinquency in a wartime present and a post-war readjustment period, and Captain Smith stressed the dual necessity of keeping down traffic mishaps; to preserve human life and conserve vital tires and moving machine parts.

The meeting, a monthly gathering of peace officers and FBI officials, was held in Llanos theater, at 1419 Avenue G.

Packers Convicted On Meat Violations

DETROIT, Sept. 3. (AP) — Three Detroit meat packers were given prison sentences and heavy fines today in federal court by Judge Frank A. Picard following their convictions on charges of violating Office of Price administration regulations in the sale of meat.

Edward Garber, head of the Garber Packing Co., was sentenced to ten years in prison and fined $14,000. Judge Picard later modified Garber's sentence by ruling that in the event he pays the fine seven years would be dropped from his prison term. A jury found Garber guilty on 14 counts.

A six-month prison term and a $4,000 fine was given David Aaron, head of the Bay State Packing Co., who pleaded guilty to selling meat above ceiling prices. Charles H. Klegon, secretary treasurer of the United Beef company, who pleaded guilty to charges of selling beef above ceiling prices, was sentenced to six months imprisonment and a $2,500 fine.

More than half a dozen separate races of orang-utan are recognized in Borneo.

WPB To Discontinue Collection Of Hose

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP) — Collection of used silk and nylon stockings under the wartime salvage program will be discontinued after September 30, the War Production board announced today.

Paul C. Cabot, director of WPB's salvage division, said the public response to the stocking salvage appeal has been "amazing." More than 46,000,000 pairs of used stockings were collected up to August 31.

STRIKE IN GREECE

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP) —Radio France at Algiers said today a new general strike had broken out in Greece, because Bulgarian troops had extended their occupation to the "the whole of Greece," except Salonika.

Rep. Fulmer Urges Definite Farm Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP) — A demand for "a definite farm program in black and white" was made today by Rep. Fulmer (D-SC), chairman of the House agriculture committee.

In letters to Food Administrator Marvin Jones and Price Administrator Prentiss Brown, he said:

"The farmers would like to know whether or not we are going to continue a program whereby perhaps two or more people operating in connection with the various agencies will have the power to override each other at will, all of which in the base has been bringing about serious confusion.

"The time has arrived that we should have a definite program in black and white, given to the farmers at the earliest possible date, concerning production, distribution and price fixing of the various crops that will be planted and harvested between now and next spring, as well as for the 12 months during 1944."

He asked them to precent a program to the committee Sept. 20.

WHEAT GOAL SET

PLAINVIEW — Hale's wheat goal for next planting is up 35.4 per cent, or 225,000 acres. City authorities, on complaint of residents in the neighborhood, have ordered a group of Mexican farm laborers to evacuate the camp provided for them at the dairy barn, where they first were given permission to live. Six new cases of infantile paralysis were admitted for treatment at the local hospital the past week.

Tips On Thrift May Help You

WISE housewives are busy these days, learning every little trick they can to make the most of what food their budgets and their ration books permit them to have. But a recent survey indicates that there still remains too much of that characteristic American wastefulness that made thrifty Europeans look at us with raised eyebrows.

Here are a few hints to remember, when buying food and preparing meals, that will help you to get the most out of your purchases. In the first place, plan your shopping carefully before you start. Then buy all your family will need, but do not prepare too much, with consequent wastage. What with gas rationing and tire scarcity, more and more housewives are turning to their neighborhood stores for convenience and "personal" service.

Keep Peelings Thin

When you peel potatoes, keep the peelings thin. You'll be surprised at the amount of potato this saves over a period. To avoid bruising, store cooking greens piled loosely, and handle fruits gently. Don't leave berries piled up in their original box, but spread them out in a flat container, like a tray. This avoids bruising and contact of any spoiled berries with the good ones.

Never store unwashed vegetables in the refrigerator. Onions, potatoes, butter, flour and glassed foods should be stored away from the light. Avoid freezing potatoes and apples and keep bananas at room temperature. After cooking vegetables, save the juices for soups, gravies, cold drinks and appetizers.

Keep Custards Cold

Keep cooking fats in clean, covered jars and store in a dark, cool place. Cool and cover custards quickly and keep them cold. Mayonnaise must be kept cool—but not cold, or it will separate. Eggs, on the other hand, should be kept very cold, and in an open crock, so that the cold air can get at them easily.

To avoid mold, always cool homemade cake and breads before storing and in the summertime, always store bread, well-wrapped, in the refrigerator.

With meat so precious nowadays, it rates super-extra attention. All raw meat should be stored in the refrigerator uncovered. The opposite is true of cooked meats, which should be carefully covered. Chopped meat spoils easily, because in total, its particles present hundreds of surfaces for the operations of the germs that make meat "go bad." Chopped meat should be eaten the same day you buy it. Don't put it in the refrigerator in its original wrapping paper, but place it in a clean dish, under the freezing unit, if possible, and cover lightly. If you must leave it overnight, cook it first.

And lastly, remember the first and most vital economy is to throw away food that is even slightly tainted.

Half-Hour Meal Puts Tomatoes, Squash, Oranges In Same Dish

Tomato halves
Boiled potato slices cut lengthwise ½ inch thick
Lightly cooked summer or scallop squash (whole, if small; sliced, if large)
Unpeeled slices of oranges
Bacon, thin ham slices, or chops

Salt and pepper the tomato halves. If the meat suggested is not ample, put a cube of cheese on each tomato half.

Scoop a well in the squash. Season the part removed as desired. Dot with butter, margarine or other fat.

Leave the unpeeled orange slices as they are or spread with butter and brown sugar.

Start the chops five minutes ahead of the rest and then boil all for 10 to 15 minutes.

A VICTORY GARDEN SPECIAL

Broiled Zucchini Boats: Cut large Italian or other squash from the Victory garden into halves lengthwise. (Any neighbor will give you some!)

Parboil or steam just a little—only enough to make them tender but not enough for them to collapse. Scoop out centers. Combine with desired seasonings such as soft bread crumbs, lemon juice, salt, pepper, butter or margarine. Cover with grated cheese and broil 'til hot and golden brown. Serve with lemon quarters. Delicious and nutritious.

FOOD NUTRITION and Point Rationing NEWS

EDITOR'S NOTE: This feature is presented each Friday with hope that it will be of benefit to Avalanche-Journal readers in these days of rationing and nutrition problems.

Glorify Those Vegetables By Keying Your Meals To Nutrition-Packed Meat Alternates

By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER
Associated Press Food Editor

GREEN and yellow vegetables, fresh from Victory Garden or market, are now at their health-building best for workers on the home front.

So key your menus to make the most of these nutrition-packed foods. Summer vegetables take on main-dish proportions by adding cheese, eggs and milk for extra protein and bone-building calcium.

As alternates or extenders for meat, they save precious red ration points and are easy on the food budget. If there are scarcities in butter and margarine, plan on feeding the family more green or yellow vegetables or more eggs.

CORN FAIRFAX rates an "E" as a main dish for summer dinners. It requires a short baking time to give it a crusty, appetizing topper. Simmer 5 minutes, ¼ cup each minced onions and celery in 4 tablespoons bacon fat. Add 2 cups corn (cooked, leftover or cut from fresh ears), 2/3 cup cooked green beans and 1 tablespoon minced parsley. Cook slowly 5 minutes, add 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon paprika. Blend througholy and stir in 1½ cups milk. After 4 minutes of slow cooking, add 2 eggs, beaten (these step up nutrition) and when mixed pour into a buttered, shallow baking dish. Cover with 2/3 cup dried bread or cracker crumbs blended with 4 tablespoons butter or margarine and 1/3 cup grated cheese. Bake 15 minutes in a moderately hot oven. If preferred, this crumb covered dish can be broiled for 5 minutes to give the brown top coating. Enough to serve four generously.

MEATLESS MEAL: Vegetable plate de luxe.

MEATLESS MEAL

½ cup milk
¼ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
½ cup real mayonnaise
6 hard cooked eggs, halved cooked mashed potatoes
½ cup chopped, roasted peanuts
Cooked string beans
Cooked carrots

Beat mayonaise and milk together with the seasonings in the top of double boiler, over boiling water until well blended. Add halved eggs and cook 5 minutes. Arrange the hot mashed potatoes, topped with peanuts on a chop plate; also the string beans and carrots. Place the mayonnaise and egg sauce in a bowl in the center. Will serve six.

Shiny green peppers put more flavor in some of the bland vegetables. Peppers are now coming into their own in many Victory gardens and they make interesting containers for vegetable blends. PEPPERS VICTORY are make like this: Select 4 peppers of moderate size. Cut off the tops and discard the pulp. Scissors are convenient for this job. To cut down the baking time, cover the peppers with boiling water and simmer 5 minutes in a covered pan. Drain and rinse in cold water. (This helps keep the pepper cases firm.) Now for the filling: Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and add 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon each paprika and cook until a thick sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add 1 cup cooked cauliflower, spinach or carrots and 1 hard-cooked egg, diced. Stuff the pepper cases and cover with ½ cup ready-to-serve breakfast cereal with 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, blended. Arrange stuffed peppers in shallow pan, add ¼ inch boiling water and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. To save fuel and increase dinner interest bake a Peach Cobbler or Dutch Blueberry Dessert at the same time.

VEGETABLE SOUFFLE CHAMPION needs long, slow baking. Melt 3 tablespoons margarine or butter and add ¼ cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon paprika. Add 1½ cups milk, 3 egg yolks and ½ teaspoon each of chopped onions and parsley. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until thick and creamy. Add ½ cup grated cheese, 1 cup each of cooked carrots and peas. Simmer 5 minutes or until cheese has blended. Lightly fold in 3 egg whites, beaten. Pour into greased baking dish. Bake an hour in pan of water in moderately slow oven—about 325 degrees F. Serve in dish in which baked.

Since PRUNE BRAN LOAF needs the same slow cooking as souffles, I am giving you the recipe that I used last night for dinner. This bread is good, served warm the first meal. It is moist and will keep a couple of days. Try it. Mix together 1½ cups flour, 1 cup bran, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 2/3 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons shortening, melted, 1 cup chopped cooked prunes, 1 cup buttermilk, ½ cup prune juice and 1 egg.

Pour the bread mixture into a loaf pan lined with waxed paper. Bake 1½ hours in a moderately slow oven (325). I started the bread before placing the souffle in the oven so that both foods were finished at the same time. A tossed green salad and chilled melon completed this summer dinner menu.

When serving waffles for dessert try this blend to spread over the top of hot waffles. Mix together equal portions of butter or margarine, white cream cheese (unrationed) and maple sirup.

MEAT, edible fats and oils, including butter, and cheeses and canned fish—Red stamps X and Y vailed now and Z will become valid Sept. 5, remaining good through Oct. 2.

PROCESSED FOOD — Blue stamps R, S, and T will be valid through Sept. 20. Blue stamps U, V and W became valid Sept. 1 and remain good through Oct. 20.

SUGAR — Stamp 14 in Book 1 good for five pounds through Oct. 31. Stamps 15 and 16 in Book 1 valid for five pounds of sugar each for home canning. Housewives may apply at local boards for supplementary home canning rations, if essential.

SHOES—Stamp 18 valid for one pair through Oct. 31.

MILEAGE RATIONING

GASOLINE—No. 7 coupons in new "A" sheets valid through Sept. 21 for three gallons. Motorists who have not renewed "A" rations may obtain application forms from service stations. The forms, properly filled in, are to be mailed to the county war price and rationing board, along with the current tire inspection record and back cover of the "A" book which has expired.

TIRE INSPECTION—"A" book holders required to have second official inspections by Sept. 30; "B" book holders, third inspection by Oct. 31; "C" book holders, fourth inspection by Nov. 30, and "T" book holders must obtain second inspection within six months from last date of inspection or every 5,000 miles, which ever comes first.

TIRES—If official tire inspector recommends tire replacement, applications may be made to ration board for tire ration certificate. Tires rationed on basis of tire inspections and county quotas available, with most essential mileage coming first. Passenger recaps may be secured without certificates.

OTHER RATIONING—Eligible purchasers needing new automobiles, bicycles, typewriters, rubber footwear, new domestic heating and cooking stoves and other commodities (except farm machinery and pressure cookers) on which sales might be restriced may see their local ration board. Persons wishing to obtain farm machinery and pressure cookers should see their county USDA war board.

War Makes British Better Cooks; Used To Boil The Flavor Completely Out Of Food

By DUDLEY ANN HARMON
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 3 — It took the war to make cooks of the British, and according to an American woman who came here with one assignment—to eat—they are finally learning and almost have stopped boiling the flavor and vitamins out of vegetables.

Miss Annette Snapper of Milwaukee, Wis., who has eaten her way through workmen's restaurants, luxury hotels, Red Cross centers and middle-class restaurant in 18 small towns and cities, here to report to America's hotels and restaurants on her return, said today that Lord Woolton, the minister of food, taught the British housewife how to cook and conserve.

Had Grand Meals

"I've had grand meals in cheap restaurants here. They have far less to make them with than Americans do and are doing a better job with what they have," Miss Snapper said.

Miss Snapper, who describes herself as "the eyes and ears of the restaurant world," said she believed that food administration in the United States should be under a food czar like Lord Woolton and added 'our problem would be easier if rationing, prices and distribution were centered in a single organization as here."

Waiters Can't Snap

"The British have done a wonderful job," she said. "I met one hotelkeeper who served meals all through the blitz and whose hotel is understaffed. He forbids his waiters to turn on guests and snap, "Don't you know there's a war on.'"

Visiting hotels taken over for refugees from Gibraltar and for Polishexiles and evacuees from Malta, Miss Snapper said she was impressed by the number of mouths which Britain feeds. "If Americans could see how their food keeps such people alive, they would stop grousing," she said.

She pointed out, too, that food from the United States supplies American soldiers and the Red Cross which, in Britain, operates in the largest chain of hotels in the world.

Will Tell Washington

Miss Snapper said that when she returns to the United States she will tell Washington officials that the British rationing system for hotels is better. Luxury hotels, she said, are allowed to charge a cover, though meals must be a standard price of one dollar.

"In Washington they're trying to level first-class hotels more costly in service down to the cheaper ones which are not so expensive to run," she said.

Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat

Different For Dinner—Meat Biscuit Rolls

Here's a wonderful way to give your family a hearty meat meal even if you're low on red points. You need only 1 lb. of ground beef, pork or lamb to make enough of these filling meat biscuit rolls to serve 5 or 6 people.

If you want to be sure of top quality and fine flavor look for the Armour Star brand on whatever meat you buy.

RECIPE: In a frying pan, brown 1 lb. ground meat, ½ cup chopped onion, ½ cup chopped green pepper in 3 tbsps. Cloverbloom Butter or drippings.

Make biscuit dough by sifting 2 cups flour, ½ tsp. salt, 3 tsps. baking powder. Cut in ¼ cup Armour's Star Lard and add ½ cup cold milk slowly until the ingredients are moist. Roll out on a floured board to about ¼ inch thickness. Brush with melted meat drippings. Spread with meat mixture and roll like jelly roll. If dough is too soft, chill in refrigerator first, then cut in 1½ inch slices. Place in greased pan, cut side up, brush tops with melted butter. Bake 20-25 minutes at 450° F. Serve with brown gravy or mushroom sauce. 5-6 servings.

Invasion Prelude To The Big Show

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The invasion of Italy is a further heartening exhibition of already great and rapidly growing Allied striking power, and we are warranted in having full confidence in the outcome.

We shouldn't make the mistake, however, of pinning our expectations too high on the assumption that this is the anxiously awaited continental operation—the much-debated "second front"—which one of these days in conjunction with the Russians most certainly will create the giant vise which will break Herr Hitler's bones.

This is a big show, but it isn't THE big show. Indeed, it is emphasized at Allied headquarters in North Africa that it isn't the opening of a "second front" but just continuation of the campaign which was begun there and was continued with the conquest of Sicily.

Is Job To Be Done

Invasion of Italy is a job which had to be done, and it will be immensely useful in many ways. Still I have a hunch that there are other things the Allies would rather be doing right now than cleaning up this peninsula which is merely an appendage of the continent and cannot bring the western United Nations armies immediately to grips with the Nazi forces within Hitler's European fortress.

Indeed, it's my suggestion that we watchers keep one eye on the unfolding of the drama in Italy, and the other cocked in the direction of other possible invasion points. The Allies have more than this one trick in their old kit bags.

The invading forces swarmed ashore in lower Italy with the expectation of encountering stiff resistance, and according to the Algiers radio the British and Canadian troops of the Eighth Army—spearhead of the operation — already have run into it.

One of the main assets the Allies will acquire by overrunning Italy will be air bases in the north from which they can extend their bombing of the eastern part of the reich and occupied territories. Another great prize would be the acquisition of the Italian Navy—greatly whittled down through years of war but still containing many useful warships. There is hope that the fleet may be taken over intact.

Of course, knocking Italy out of the war represents an immense gain, but the country already is virtually impotent from the standpoint of offensive warfare.

We shall have to take the bitter with the sweet, though. Among the liabilities we shall acquire if we overrun all Italy will be the necessity of putting a force of several hundred thousand men into the country for garrison duty. The Allies also will have to help feed 40,000,000 hungry Italian mouths, and find the cargo vessels on which to move supplies to the little country.

Six Airmen Rescued After Crash In Sea

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Six survivors of an American Liberator crew who drifted five days in the Bay of Biscay after being shot down by 10 Junkers-88s have been rescued by a naval vessel and landed at a south coast port, the air ministry news service reported today.

The plane "G for George," working in cooperation with the coastal command, fought for at least half an hour before being forced down into the sea, badly damaged.

Lt. Silas M. Girder was the plane's pilot and 2nd Lt. Charles H. Moore, of Seguin, Texas, was second pilot.

Lt. Girder suffered head injuries in the crash into the sea. Lt. Moore was uninjured.

Many Attend SPAAF Show

The open house staged at South Plains Army Air field Thursday afternoon drew crowds estimated at more than 5,000 people, officials of the field reported.

Taking the wraps off the motorless ships for the first such public exhibition at SPAAF, the "Home of the Winged Commandos" played host as the field climaxed its first birthday observance and "South Plains Army Air Field Day" in Texas.

The type of training being offered around the clock at the big field north of the city was vividly portrayed for the visitors.

Was Dress Parade

Twin-engined towplanes raced down the runways with the giant 15-place cargo and troop-carrying gliders. The Navy's A-25 dive bomber made its public bow at SPAAF with an exhibition of glider towing. The motorless ships roared in at low levels for "blitz" landings" and skimmed over obstacles to land within a few yards of their objectives. One towplane pulled two big gliders at once. Chemical warfare experts put on an exhibition of incendiaries, and methods of combatting them.

Officials Among Visitors

Heading the list of more than 5,000 visitors was Brig. Gen. Aubrey Hornsby, commanding general of the 34nd Flying Wing, and Mayor Carl E. Slaton of Lubbock and members of his party, all guests of Col. Norman B. Olson, commanding officer at SPAAF.

Following the incendiary demonstration of various types of fire bombs being used in this conflict, a flight of Lockheed C-60 towplanes rolled into position. The long nylon tow ropes were attached. The ships roared down the runway and into the sky. This was repeated at minute intervals until the flight of planes and gliders were out of sight.

Then another towplane rolled into position and two of the giant cargo and troop-carrying gliders were attached on a single rope. The double tow was ready. The plane sped down the concrete strip, and into the air, back around the field and low over the objective, both gliders cutting loose and skimming an obstacle by only a few feet for perfect landings.

As a surprise offering of the afternoon, the crowd was treated to an exhibition of the Navy's A-25 dive bomber, a powerful single engined plane pulling the glider. The glider is even larger than the dive bomber itself.

Commander, Aide Die In Plane Crash

AJO, Ariz., Sept. 3 (AP)—Maj. George L. Adams, 33, commanding officer of the Ajo Army Air field, and Capt. C. C. Knight, 25, director of gunnery, were killed Thursday when an advanced training plane crashed on a routine flight 10 miles north of here.

Adams, a graduate of the University of Utah, lived for a few minutes after the accident at 11:30 a. m. The field, which serves as a gunnery base for Williams Field, large twin-engine training school near Phoenix, had been under his guidance for about two months.

Knight entered the air corps in February, 1941, later graduatig from Kelly Field, Tex.

WHY TAKE HARSH LAXATIVES?

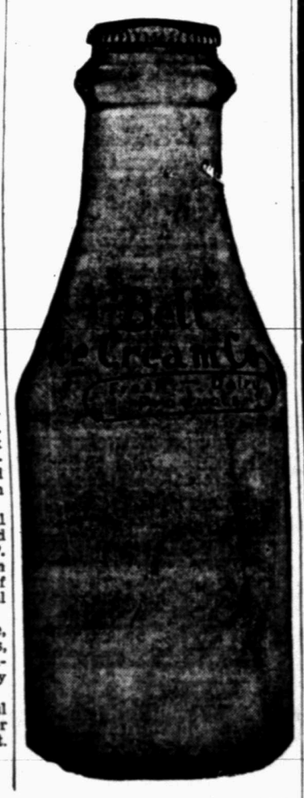

Simple Fresh Fruit Drink Makes Purgatives Unnecessary for Most People

Here's a way to overcome constipation without harsh laxatives. Drink juice of 1 Sunkist Lemon in a glass of water first thing on arising.

Most people find this all they need—stimulates normal bowel action day after day!

Lemon and water is good for you. Lemons are among the richest sources of vitamin C, which combats fatigue, helps resist colds and infections. They supply valuable amounts of vitamins B, and P. They pep up appetite. They alkalinize, aid digestion. Lemon and water has a fresh tang too—clears the mouth, wakes you up, starts you going.

Try this grand wake-up drink 10 mornings. See if it doesn't help you! Use California Sunkist Lemons. Adv.

Yanks May Set New Record In Series

Fourteenth Straight Series Is Record

By GLEN PERKINS
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. — The New York Yankees today opened a five-game series with the Washington Senators, the results of which may tie a 31—year major league record.

If victorious in three of the five games, the New Yorkers will have won their last 14 consecutive series, a feat accomplished only by the New York Giants of 1912. The Giants also figured in the modern record of 13 which was tied Monday by the Yankees.

Tigers Take Two

In yesterday's three American league games the Cleveland Indians defeated the Chicago White Sox and the Detroit Tigers took a doubleheader from the St. Louis Browns.

Southpaw Al Smith hurled the Tribe to its 15th victory in 20 games with the White Sox when he turned in a five-hit pitching performance for a 2-1 edge. Orval Grove hurled hitless ball for Chicago until the sixth inning, when, with two out, Cleveland scored both its runs.

The Tigers' double win was their second straight bargain bill victory over the Brownies and was accomplished by scores of 5-4 and 8-5. Dizzy Trout registered his 16th triumph in the opener when two last inning runs snipped a St. Louis lead. Hal Newhouser's win in the nightcap ended his nine-game losing streak.

In the National league the Brooklyn Dodgers came behind to defeat the New York Giants, 5-4, and extend their victory string to six. Two runs in the eighth inning tied the count, and Luis Olmo's single drove in the winning run in the ninth.

Hiram Bithorn pitched the Chicago Cubs to a three hit, 3-1 triumph over the second place Cincinnati Reds. A walk issued by Elmer Riddle to Ed Stanky with the bases full and Stan Hack's single accounted for all the Bruins' runs in the second inning.

The Boston Braves defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2, in 10 innings. Butch Nieman's triple in the extra frame scored two runs, enabling the Braves to overshadow a one-run Philadelphia rally in the home half of the 10th. Al Javery was the winner.

Yesterday's star—Hi Bithorn, whose three-hit pitching performance enabled the Chicago Cubs to defeat the Cincinnati Reds.

LAAF And Pampa To Play Here Sunday

Winners of 12 out of 14 games this summer against the best clubs in the Panhandle, the Pampa Air field Fliers, under the management of a former Lubbock resident, S/Sgt. W. R. McInturff, will play Lubbock Army Air field Saturday and Sunday at Hubber park.

Sgt. Sam West of the local Fliers probably will pitch T/Sgt. W. G. Hardwick Sunday but is undecided about his Saturday starter, who will be either Sgt. Danny Gold or Cpl. Hunter Hollis, who has been ailing with a sore arm.

Both games will start at 3 p.m.

It will be the final game of the season for the Pampa nine.

Sgt. McInturff played the first part of the season in the outfield but has benched himself the past few games because of the recurrence of an old injury.

Longhorn Material Not All Trainees

AUSTIN, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Navy has done its bit for the University of Texas football team by supplying plenty of material but a tentative starting lineup today included four boys who are not trainees.

Three of these are backfielders—Ralph Park and Joe Billy Baumgardner at halves and Bobby Coy Lee at full—all from Austin. The other is Joe Parker, wingman from Wichita Falls.

Tomorrow or Saturday the coaches will get a look at the freshman crop.

S. M. U. Has 60 Grid Prospects

Three Groups Of Players On Squad

(This is another of a series dealing with football prospects in the nation's colleges.)

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 3. — There was a get-acquainted party out at Southern Methodist university when Coach James H. Stewart opened fall practice. He had three groups — freshmen, squadmen and Navy trainees — who hadn't been introduced.

The 60-odd huskies soon became one big happy family and gave every indication of carrying on the tradition of football's flying circus.

Needs Some Tackles

The team will not be as strong as last year but should be about as good in the air.

"We will have a good starting team if we can dig up some tackles," Stewart said. "We won't have many reserves."

On the basis of veteran material as compared to other schools, the Mustangs should be fighting for the conference title.

Four lettermen return, including Abel Gonzales, one of the country's finest passers and runners. Four lettermen in other years would be called slim prospects. But not in wartime, especially the quality of the four veterans—Gonzales; Wayne Shaw, another top passer; C. D. Allen well-qualified fullback, and Ray Rasor, one of the best guards you'll find anywhere.

Ten Are Experienced

SMU has ten men who have played college football. Abe Croft, end, and Ed Cloud, center, were on the squad last year. From the V-12 unit come Tom Johnson, letterman end at Baylor last fall, and W. A. Shaw, guard on the Hardin-Simmons team in 1942. Pat Tindell, a back who placed at Trinity university before it quit football, and W. E. Gipson, for two years fullback on the Kilgore junior college eleven, are at SMU as transfers.

Bill Squires and Charles Weber, backs; Claud Hill, end, and Glyn Roper, guard, are up from last year's freshman team. Squires rounds out what looks like one of SMU's best passing combinations.

The schedule:

Sept. 25—Tulsa at Dallas. Oct. 2—North Texas Agricultural college at Dallas. Oct. 9—Naval Air Technical Training center at Memphis. Oct. 16—Rice at Dallas. Oct. 23 — Tulane at New Orleans. Oct. 30—Texas at Dallas. Nov. 6—Texas A. and M. at College Station. Nov. 13—Arkansas at San Antonio. Nov. 20—Texas Tech at Dallas. Nov. 27 — Texas Christian at Fort Worth.

Dallas Will Seek AAU Girls Tourney

DALLAS, Sept. 3 (AP) — Dallas will seek the girls national AAU basketball tournament scheduled for next February, it was decided at a meeting of local sports representatives today.

Graham Pierce, president of the southwestern AAU, outlined a program aimed at underwriting the tournament to the extent of $3500.

A committee will be named to solicit this amount in pledges from Dallas business men with the understanding that gate receipts from the tournament will be used to repay the money.

The national tournament will be awarded in December and Pierce said Dallas had an excellent chance of landing it if it furnishes the required guarantee.

If the tourney is held here it will be at the Dallas High school field house and last five nights with probably 16 teams competing. It also is planned to bring girls teams from Mexico City for exhibition games.

San Angelo Star Is Lost To The Army

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 3 (U.P.) — Milton Rathbone, the outstanding member of the San Angelo High school football team, was out of the sports picture today.

Jaycees Take City's Softball Title Again

The Jaycees made it two straight over Tech Faculty Thursday to cop the championship of the Lubbock business and professional softball league. Tech went down 5 to 3.

The Jaycees, first half champions, won the first game of the play-off series 1-0 Tuesday night.

Tech lacked scoring punch, letting numerous potential scorers die on base. They out-hit the Jaycees 6 to 3.

Battery for Tech was "Whizzer" White and Wilkins; for the Jaycees, W. L. Wise and Conditt.

Nix Said To White, Armstrong Battle

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3 (AP) — There will be no Henry Armstrong-Slugger White fight here Sept. 18.

Everett Sanders of the California Athletic commission said today he would not consent to the scheduled 10-round contest because of the possible harm to Armstrong, who has been advised by physicians that if he continues his ring career he may lost his sight.

Sept. 22.

"There goes one-third of our offensive," Coach Jewell Wallace moaned when he learned that his triple-threat back was drafted.

Segura Defeats Grant But He Still Faces Top-Flight Foes

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (U.P.) — Safely past Bitsy (The Giant Killer) Grant, Pancho Segura of Ecuador faced another difficult assignment today in Seymour Greenberg of Chicago — only man to beat him this year — in the quarter-finals of the National Amateur Tennis championships.

The swarthy Pancho defeated the aging Grant in the third round at Forest Hills yesterday, 6-3, 6-1.

Now the going gets rougher, with the field reduced to eight and every one a title threat.

Greenberg, former clay court king, advanced yesterday with a 6-4, 6-3 win over Charles Oliver, Perth Amboy, N. J. Accompanying him into the quarter-finals were Corp. Frankie Parker of Los Angeles, top-seeded; Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, seeded third; Bill Talbert, Indianapolis, ranked fourth; Lieut. Joe Hunt, Annapolis, rated seventh, and Lieut. Elwood Cooke, Pensacola, Fla., seeded eighth.

Norton Now Ready For Training Grind

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Sept. 3 (AP)—Returning today from Wichita Falls, Coach Homer Norton of Texas A. and M. brought his ten Aggie footballers back to buckle down for a hard grind in preparation for a nine-game season against Bryan Air field Sept. 25.

Line Coach Bill James arrived this week from Kerrville and took charge of a squad of 50 forward wall hopefuls. Manning Smith's backs worked this week on passing and punting.

Approximately one-fifth of the human race is Chinese.

Forty Teams Enter Softball Tourney

HOUSTON, Sept. 3 (U.P.)—A total of 40 softball teams were on hand today, ready to open competition in the state tournament of the Texas Amateur Sofball association.

Proceeds from the three-day play will go the Army-Navy relief societies.

Finals will be played Sunday night at Buff stadium. The field contains 16 service teams and 18 civilian teams. The six women's teams will play a double elimination, while the men will play a single.

Lindale park the defending champions, open their battle for the state title against the Long Reach Machine works of Houston.

That Girl on Broadway says like gold, truth is rarely found in pure form.

Blessed are the pessimists. Almost every day now brings them something new to worry about!

UNDER the assumption that everybody likes to get his mind off the war, and other more prosaic things, once in awhile, we can't think of any better way to offer up a change of pace than by throwing out an unusual challenge.

It isn't an original challenge. It may not be original with the man to whom it is ascribed. But, anyway, Bruce Barton offered it in print in the American Magazine 'way back in 1924, and The Reader's Digest reprinted it in its August number of that year.

So deathless has the challenge proven that it is included in The Reader's Digest's collection of its best, all-time offerings. Therefore, it must be pretty generally agreed that Mr. Barton "had something."

Here is Mr. Barton's challenge:

"You and I will give a dinner tonight, and our guests shall be five men we choose, out of all who have ever lived.

"Whom shall we invite?"

There are no holds barred among mortal men who have left their stamp upon the world since earliest records.

Under this condition, which five would be your choice?

MR. BARTON makes his choice, and it is a good one. Ruling out Caesar, Napoleon, Alexander, Croesus and Charlemagne, because all of them lived tumultous lives and died by violence or in disappointment, Mr. Barton advises "we want no embittered old men at our supper." It is much better, says he, to include only men who succeeded; good companions, wealthy men — but by 'wealthy' he does not speak in terms of the world's goods. Instead, he wants men wealthy in thought, in deeds, in honor, in talent.

The five men chosen by Barton, crack advertising executive, author and former congressman, include the name of only one man who has lived in more recent years. Here is his list:

Socrates, because he was so wealthy in common sense, and because he undoubtedly would be "the life of the party."

Dr. Samuel Johnson, because he was the world's richest talker.

Samuel Pepys, because he was the richest man who ever lived in the possession of boundless and insatiable curiosity; because "he would have seen so many curious and interesting things that we failed to see; and would tell about them so well."

Montaigne, because he was so rich in the knowledge of himself. "No franker man ever lived than Montaigne," says Barton, who insists that the great French essayist was wholly free from self-deception. And surely he must have been, for it was Montaigne who observed that every man has deserved hanging five or six times, and confessed he was no exception! Barton put Montaigne on his list because "he discovers us to ourselves, a unique and splendid gift of service."

Lincoln, because he was so rich in patience and faith, "his patience, which could wait without weariness or hopelessness . . . the faith that never lost its grip, or abandoned its power to smile."

Mr. Barton observes that his guest list comprises none who was rich in money, because those "rich merely in money would not interest us."

His five, he points out, "owned the world; they were not owned by it. As Beecher owned every flower and garden in Brooklyn; as Thoreau owned every orchard and bird in Concord, as Pepys owned every exciting event in London, they possessed themselves of the experiences of all with whom they came into contact; of all good books, good talk, good thinking, good friends. (They were) richer in the only real wealth, which is Life."

NO one can deny that Bruce Barton made a fine choice of dinner companions under the rules he laid down. Any of us would be thrilled — and fortunate — beyond words if it were possible for us to spend an evening of companionship with these men.

But there have been others, too, in this world who would comprise out-standing lists of similar proportions, so The Plainsman has one to offer for another mythical party.

Our list, compiled in collaboration with Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president of Texas Tech:

Will Rogers, who like Socrates on Mr. Barton's list, had a great wealth of common sense and who, too, would be the life of the party.

Confucius, for his deep wisdom; for his innate knowledge of life as it always has been; who appears from the record to have been the wisest of all philosophers.

Genghis Khan, the great Mongolian warrior who by sheer, raw force of character was among the greatest leaders of men the world has ever seen, hence the possessor of electric mental and physical powers.

Robert E. Lee, not for the military prowess for which he is celebrated, but for his great virtues, unsurpassed by man.

Thomas Edison, because any gathering these days should include a man familiar with the modern sciences; and certainly Edison's vast mind has given the modern world more in the way of convenience than any other man who ever lived.

Many readers will disagree with our list. Some may disagree with the five men put forth by Bruce Barton.

We invite comment on this interesting subject. We invite readers to send in their own lists, with reasons for their selections.

Can you offer a better one?

There are many sensitive, mistreated souls whom the world doesn't appreciate. It coldly appraises their ability by what they've accomplished, instead of by what they could do if they really tried.

HOW would you like to be able to: Pile the wife and kids into the family bus and set out for a last-minute vacation swing around the country? . . . Drive up in front of your favorite tire dealer's place and say "new sixplys, all around?" . . . Say to the Little Woman, "Well, I picked out our new car today?" . . . Drop by the neighborhood store and see that goodlooking Smith kid who used to work there, but who's now swapping lead with the Japs in the South Pacific? . . . Get a $40 suit for $40? . . . And a larrupin' good steak dinner at a price you can afford to pay?

One Is Beloved

BY LOUISE PLATT HAUCK

(Copyright, 1943, NEA Service, Inc.)

YESTERDAY Bob tries to convince Sue that his marriage with Cecily meant nothing. She says she would never have married him if she'd known about it.

Chapter 20

Cecily's Experiment

"Then, in spite of what you may feel about it now, Sue, I'm glad you didn't know," he said almost savagely. "You're mine, my wife—and after a while you'll understand. We'll put the whole thing out of our minds. Sweet, you've been happy with me? Our marriage has been a success?"

"Nothing is a success that's founded on deceit, Bob. Don't you see—can't you see? I—I—you're a stranger to me; not my husband at all. The man I thought I was marrying would be incapable of this terrible thing. Ours—in the real sense—isn't a marriage at all!"

"That's nonsense, Sue. You're talking like a silly, idealistic school girl. I'm exactly what you believed me to be last June—what I've been since you first saw me. It's the boy who married Cecily who's the stranger, as much a stranger to me as he could possibly be to you! Snap out of it, darling! We're both making tragedy out of the flimsiest kind of farce. It's all in the past, anyhow. Give your husband a kiss, and let Cecily slip back into the oblivion from which she should never have emerged."

His bracing tone did her good. It was true that what was done was done, she reminded herself. Nothing she could say, or feel, or even do would alter the situation in the slightest. Her job was to make of her marriage the best relationship possible. Heaping reproaches on Bob's head would help nobody. She could never feel quite the same toward him, he would never be to her the wise and splendid young man with whom she had been first, but that was her own private trial to be borne.

"It's all been smooth sailing so far," she mused. "Bob's given me everything and I've accepted it because I'm his wife. I must accept this—this distasteful knowledge for the same reason. I've preached a lot to Allen about overlooking the things in Pats he dislikes. I'd better do a little practicing for a change now."

She leaned forward docilely and kissed him.

"I expect I have been making a mountain out of a molehill, Bob; or not that quite! It's a blow—knowing you've been married before, knowing you're kept the fact to yourself all this time. But I agree that being angry about it won't undo it."

Incredulous joy shone in his face.

"You forgive me, sweet?"

She rested her check against his wearily. "Not forgive so much, as try to forget!"

Puzzling Behavior

She walked with him to the car the next morning, her hand in his arm down the long flagged walk that led to the street. She was cheerful though her eyes were shadowed and she had not regained her own healthy color. Bob, seated at the wheel, leaned down for a last word.

"Cecily will probably come to the office this morning, sweet. You realize that, don't you?"

She nodded. It seemed to her of supreme unimportance what Cecily did now. Yesterday's devastation had been too great to permit of additional hurt.

But she as well as Bob was puzzled by Cecily's behavior in the days, the actual weeks and months that followed.

For the former Mrs. Robert Trenton did not resume her interrupted journey Eastward, but lingered on in St. Joseph. She stayed at her hotel for a week or two, then moved into a small apartment, and eventually to a furnished house which she stocked with servants.

"Because I like it here" she said gaily in answer to Bob's annoyed questions. "This is a charming town. I don't wonder you decided to settle here." And as he scowled his disapproval: "It's a free country, my dear," she reminded him.

He knew by this time that a fundamental mischief actuated her. Only twenty-four years old, she had traveled too much, lived too hard, known too many undisciplined men and women among the moving picture folk in California. The sedate placidity of his old Southern town tempted her to gamin-like experiment.

She had been deeply amused at the ripple her very presence here had caused among Bob's friends. She wired various intimates in the East and in California for letters of introduction and soon the Country Club set was calling on her; and not only calling on her but entertaining her, somewhat to their own surprise.

She was pretty, she was amusing, her clothes were new and exciting. These were always dramatic possibilities when she and the young Trentons were invited to the same affairs.

Sue faced the situation with the pretty dignity which was innate with her. They called each other "Cecily" and "Sue," exchanged amiable remarks when they found themselves together; but not even Barbara Webb had the temerity to discuss Bob's first wife with his second.

"Sue, I'm getting any punishment that was coming to me for deceiving you about her," Bob said one evening. It was significant that he never referred to Cecily by name. Nor did Sue need to ask whom he meant by "she" and "her." "You'd think she'd have better taste than to select this one town out of all America to stay in: live in, so far is I know. She's bought a car!"

"She'll tire of it after a while," Sue told him quietly. They were driving to the Club where, they both knew, it was more than likely they would encounter Cecily. It's a thrill to her, that's all, being here with you—and me. No one pays any attention to divorce or remarriage in California, you know, so I suppose the mild shock she causes here entertains her. She'll get tired of it and leave pretty soon. Meanwhile—"

"Meanwhile she's putting you through a devilishly hard time!" he said hotly. "Don't think I don't realize how difficult it is for you, sweet! I do. That's why I say I'm getting mine for concealing the truth from you. She can't hurt me except through you, and she knows it, darn her!"

"Oh, no, Bob! She's not in the least malicious. She probably thinks I'm as amused as she is. If it wasn't for Patsy—" she stopped abruptly.

'Perfect Weapon'

"What's Patsy got to do with it? She doesn't even know her, does she?"

"They've — met," she replied slowly. "Pats is terribly taken with her."

"Pats would be! I'll drop a word to Allen—"

She clutched his arm. "Bob, you shan't! Think what a perfect weapon it would give Pats against me!"

He was puzzled. "Why on earth should Pats need a weapon against you? Everybody knows what an angel you've been to her. And I'll say for Pats," he went on with masculine blindness, "that at last she's begun to appreciate you! She told me not long ago that you were more like a sister to her than her own are. No, if Pats is having anything to do with—her, it's because she's got some distorted idea of loyalty to you and me. Better put her right on the subject, sweet."

Sue was silent. Patsy had hailed Mrs. Meade Trenton's advent with—figuratively speaking—loud cries of joy and delight. Finding that Cecily's careless generosity was even more lavish than Sue's own, the allegiance of Allen's wife had instantly been transferred to the newcomer.

Maggie was increasingly indignant at the cocktail parties which were daily affairs now in the apartment. It required all Sue's influence over the old woman to prevent her from leaving at once. Men flocked to the amusing Mrs. Trenton's side, who had remained aloofly indifferent to Pats.

Allen was helpless. "It seems so blamed disloyal to you, Sis," he told her late one afternoon, sitting in the garden, his head in his hands. He had driven out early to talk to her before Bob's arrival. "In her present condition, I can't say much. She goes into hysterics at the least hint of disapproval. She's discharged Van Ness and—"

"Discharged Dr. Van Ness! Why, he brought you and me into the world Allen! He was Dad's doctor. He—"

"I know. She took care not to say a word about it to me until she'd called in that young pipsqueak, Laif Baker. As a matter of fact, I didn't know it until I telephoned Van Ness myself to see how he thought Pats was coming along, and he told me she'd fired him from the case. I hopped it around to his office as quick as I could get there, but he was pretty cool toward me. Pats must have outdone herself in rudeness to him."

Sue's eyes were stern. "Our dear Dr. Van Ness! I can hardly believe it, Allen!"

"It's a fact! And young Baker gives me thunder if Pats so much as sheds a tear—and gosh, how many she can shed if I cross her about anything! He declares he'll put her in the hospital if she can't have peace at home. So there I am, Sue!" His unhappy voice trailed into silence.

"Never mind, Buddy! The baby's due next month and then things will be different. Cecily can hard-

TOO MANY 'LOOSE' PREDICTIONS

It is difficult to understand how any useful purpose can be served by many of the predictions of dire things to come for our enemies.

On the same day this week, three of our most voluble prognosticators gave voice to predictions which leave an impression of questionable wisdom. Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox and Vice Admiral John S. McCain, deputy chief of operations for air, had quite a bit to say about forthcoming bombing raids upon Tokio. Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, a visitor in Australia, predicted a big offensive in the Pacific "soon."

Actually, their statements meant nothing because no one, except perhaps themselves, knows what they meant by "soon." To them, "soon" might mean the next two or three years. But, to most people, the term means a few weeks or, at most, a few months. Thus, loose predictions invite the sort of misinterpretation which could lead to a momentary lift in morale, followed by a sag resulting from disappointment. Such sags are likely to result in such things as production declines. They should not, but it is human nature that they almost invariably do.

Loose predictions can't do any good. They don't even disturb the enemy. Therefore, it would seem better if fewer of them were made except there is a genuine prospect that they can be followed by action.

GOP chieftains are jumping jittery over Wendell Willkie's self-determination to campaign for Joe Hanley for lieutenant governor of New York state. They are afraid he will make out of this local election, with national significance, a sounding-board for his "kampf" to again be the Republican presidential candidate. Hanley's strength is with the upstate farmers and small-towners. And if Willkie pops off with any of his pro-Stalin and other "liberal" theories and post-war visions, he might scare the intensely conservative electorate north of New York City and "help" Hanley into a licking . . . Willkie scorned the regular political channels and long-distanced Hanley from Rushville with his assurances of active support. This is highly irregular party behavior . . . The Republicans fear that if Willkie makes definite pronouncements, and, thereby, national copy, many may regard them as statements of Republican policy in the forthcoming presidential election. The GOP has no wish to be identified with, much less committed to, any part of a platform originating with its 1940 candidate, acting independently and spontaneously.

Terrible Weariness Overtakes U. S. Forces In Sicily

Men Drive Doggedly On, Despite Exhaustion

BY ERNIE PYLE
Journal Roving Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN SICILY — (By Wireless) — Outside of the occasional peaks of bitter fighting and heavy casualties that highlight military operation, I believe the outstanding trait in any campaign is the terrible weariness that gradually comes over everybody.

Soldiers become exhausted in mind and in soul as well as physically. They acquire a weariness that is mixed up with boredom and lack of all gaiety. To lump them all together, you just get damn sick of it all.

ERNIE PYLE

The infantry reaches a stage of exhaustion that is incomprehensible to you folks back home. The men in the First division, for instance, were in the lines 28 days — walking and fighting all that time, day and night.

After a few days of such activity, soldiers pass the point of known human weariness. From then on they go into a sort of second wind daze. They keep going largely because the other fellow does and because you can't really do anything else.

Mental Exhaustion Common

Have you ever in your life worked so hard and so long that you didn't remember how many days it was since you ate last or didn't recognize your friends when you saw them? I never have either but in the First division, during that long, hard fight around Troina, a company runner one day came slogging up to a certain captain and said, excitedly, "I've got to find Captain Blank right away. Important message.

The captain said, "But I am Captain Blank. Don't you recognize me?"

And the runner said, "I've got to find Capt. Blank right away." And he went dashing off. They had to run to catch him.

MEN in battle reach that stage and still go on and on. As for the rest of the Army — supply troops, truck drivers, hospital men, engineers — they too become exhausted but not so inhumanly. With them and with us correspondents it's the ceaselessness, the endlessness of everything that finally worms its way through you and gradually starts to devour you.

It's the perpetual dust choking you, the hard ground wracking your muscles, the snatched food sitting ill on your stomach, the heat and the flies and dirty feet and the constant roar of engines and the perpetual moving and the never settling down and the go, go, go, night and day, and on through the night again. Eventually it all works itself into an emotional tapestry of one dull, dead pattern — yesterday is tomorrow and Troina is Randazzo and when will we ever stop and, God, I'm so tired.

I've noticed this feeling has begun to overtake the war correspondents themselves. It is true we don't fight on and on like the infantry, that we are usually under fire only briefly and that, indeed, we live better than the average soldier. Yet our lives are strangely consuming in that we do live primitively and at the same time must delve into ourselves and do creative writing.

Correspondents Really Slave

That statement may lay me open to wise cracks, but however it may seem to you, writing is an exhausting and tearing thing. Most of the correspondents actually work like slaves. Especially is this true of the press association men. A great part of the time they go from dawn till midnight or 2 a. m.

I'm sure they turn in as much toil in a week as any newspaperman at home does in two weeks. We travel continuously, move camp every few days, eat out, sleep out, write wherever we can and just never catch up on sleep, rest, cleanliness, or anything else normal.

The result is that all of us who have been with the thing for more than a year have finally grown befogged. We are grimy, mentally as well as physically. We've drained our emotions until they cringe from being called out from hiding. We look at bravery and death and battlefield waste and new countries almost as blind men, seeing only faintly and not really wanting to see at all.

JUST in the past month the oldtimers among the correspondents have been talking for the first time about wanting to go home for a while. They want a change, something to freshen their outlook. They feel they have lost their perspective by being too close for too long.

I am not writing this to make heroes of the correspondents because only a few look upon themselves in any dramatic light whatever. I am writing it merely to let you know that correspondents too can get damn sick of war—and deadly tired.

New Federal Jury List Is Ordered

An order to purge the jury box and refill it with the names of not less than 500 men has been received by Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commissioner and deputy federal court clerk in Lubbock, that official said today.

The box not been purged since April, 1939, Mrs. Fluke said. The order came from Judge T. Whitfield Davidson in Dallas, Aug. 30. Dr. Harry L. Kent, administrative assistant at Texas Technological college, is jury commissioner appointed by the court for Lubbock. Mrs. Fluke is the other member of the jury commission, serving by virtue of her position as commissioner and deputy clerk. Under the law, the two have to be of opposite political faiths, and in this case Dr. Kent is a Republican and Mrs. Fluke a Democrat.

Mrs. Fluke said there yet remain more than 300 names, the minimum legal number at any time, in the box, but due to war conditions and so many men in service and absent from their homes for other reasons, it has become difficult to obtain a jury from the ordinary panel that is drawn.

The next term of court is to be convened in Lubbock November 22.

Allies Take 2 Italian Towns

time.)

"Allied forces under the command of General Eisenhower have continued their advance," said a bulletin from Allied headquarters.

"British and Canadian troops of the 8th army, supported by Allied sea and air power, attacked across the strait of Messina early today and landed on the mainland of Italy."

Dispatches said crowded Allied invasion barges, troop - landing craft and amphibious jeeps, sweeping across the strait under cover of a moonless night, landed on the beaches opposite Messina.

ALLIES ADVANCING

MADRID, Sept. 3 (U.P.)—Late morning reports from the Italian frontier said today that Allied invasion forces were advancing through south Italy along a vital road in the direction of railroad junctions.

The initial attack apparently struck in the vicinity of Reggio Calabria (pop. 50,000), bomb-battered ferry terminus.

7th Army In Reserve

British and Canadian troops led the assault, while Lt.-Gen. George S. Patton's American 7th army, co-victors in the 38-day conquest of Sicily, was held in reserve.

Dispatches said an armada of "many hundreds" of troop jammed ships and barges made up the attacking force. As they sped across the narrow Messina straits, Allied long-range guns on the Sicilian coast laid down a terrific barrage in Axis defenses. Warships bombarded the beaches, blowing up barbed-wire entanglements and machinegun posts, and a great swarm of American and RAF warplanes formed a protective cover overhead.

Success Indicated

An Italian communique implied that the attack had gained at least preliminary success, announcing tersely:

"Last night the enemy, who in the past had attempted isolated landings which were then promptly repulsed, began operations against the Calabrian coast facing Messina."

It made no mention of the new full-dress landings having been repulsed.

The invasion, the first time the Allies have set foot on European mainland soil in great force since the retreat from Greece in April, 1941, came just 19 days after the end of the Sicilian campaign and on the fourth anniversary of the day Great Britain declared war on Germany.

First announcement of the invasion came from Allied headquarters shortly after 7 a. m. today (midnight, Central War time).

Appeals To Italians

The Allied-controlled Algiers radio broadcast special appeals to the Italian people to welcome the Allies "as liberators in the same fashion their forefathers welcomed Garibaldi."

Dispatches from Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters said it was emphasized there that the attack was not to be regarded as a "second front" but rather as a continuation of the North African and Sicilian campaigns.

The landing came after two weeks of intense air bombardment of southern Italy, attacks that almost without exception were aimed at railway and other communication facilities to disrupt enemy troop and supply movements.

Warships Blasted Coast

On frequent occasions, too, Allied warships steamed up to the coasts for inshore bombardments.

Fierce German opposition was expected on the mainland.

Explosives cast from Sicily by Allied artillery in the early stages of the landings were said to have silenced several enemy guns even before the first assault craft neared shore.

The thrust was made opposite Messina in the vicinity of Reggio Calabria, mainland ferry port which has been attacked by air almost daily for several months.

The strait there is a mere seven miles wide, and northwards it narrows down to about two miles—distances that could be spanned by boat in less than half an hour.

Reconnaissance Stabs

The landings were preceded by several reconnaissance stabs at the enemy shore, commando-type jabs which Axis radios had described as attempts at invasion but which in reality were only exploratory.

The invasion was the first Allied land attack on the European mainland since the Dieppe raid in August, 1942.

(In a broadcast this morning from Algiers, John Daly, CBS correspondent, reported the invasion was preceeded by a number of successful commando and reconnaissance missions in the past few nights.

(Daly said these missions were successful in helping to knock out enemy coastal defenses, and at the same time, he said, they reported valuable information back to attack headquarters.

(Daly said details were lacking as to exactly where the landings occurred, although in general they took place along the Calabrian peninsula. Daly said the Germans were believed to have done most of the initial fighting in the first phase against the invasion forces).

YOUTH IS KILLED

GREGGTON, Sept. 3 (U.P.)—Funeral services were planned today for Jack Spivey, 14, who was killed yesterday when he darted between Army vehicles in a convoy and was struck by a civilian automobile in the other lane on a highway near here.

Attack Started At Dawn

The Allied air fleets started their attack at the crack of dawn, and observers on the British coast reported that formations of bombers — flying very high and in perfect formation — swept overhead steadily for 30 minutes.

The bombers were accompanied by swarms of fighters, some of which came streaking back across the channel as a second wave of heavy bombers drummed their way eastward.

Pre-Flight Officer Talks At Civic Club

Thoroughness of the pre-flight training of students now in uniform as aviation cadets at Texas Technological college was described today before members of the American Business club, Hilton hotel, by Lt. Louis C. Grinnell, intelligence officer and one of the military instructors now on duty at Tech.

The program was arranged by J. E. Maisen, who introduced Lt. Dale S. Briggs, also an instructor, who in turn presented Lt. Grinnell.

The speaker said the boys now at Tech are of two classes, those who volunteer as 17-year-olds and are called two weeks after they reach their 18th birthdays, and those who have seen service overseas and have been returned to take the courses in college for training as officers.

Judge Atchinson Dies In Breckenridge Home

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 3. (AP)—Judge Bryan H. Atchinson, 47, district judge of the 92nd district court, died here last night of a heart attack.

A native of Parker county who moved to Stephens county when he was a child, Judge Atchinson had been county judge four years and was in his seventh year as district judge.

He was a World war I veteran. Funeral services were to be held this morning. His widow and a daughter, Carol, survive.

RAPIST SLAIN—Willie Stevens, confessed rapist of small girls at New Orleans, is shown here nursing arm wounds inflicted by a U. S. Coast Guard officer when the officer's young daughter cried "that's the man" who attacked her. Stevens was killed Wednesday by a detective who said the prisoner grabbed for his gun while en route to jail.

Political Circles Ponder Effects Of O'Daniel Outburst

HOUSTON, Sept. 3 (U.P.) — Political circles contemplated the effect today of Sen. W. Lee (Pass the Biscuits Pappy) O'Daniel's most caustic of several recent speeches against "bungling bureaucracy" which, he said last night, may even bring about the rationing of biscuits.

In a 15-point governmental reform speech delivered at Houston — which in other seasons would sound like a political platform—O'Daniel deplored rationing, among other things, and said that "now the rationers are looking forward to the possibility that in 1944 we may have to ration bread —and biscuits."

Hits Meat Rationing

He said meat rationing was "pure unadulterated razzle-dazzle and nobody with an ounce of pig brains can justify such nonsense."

O'Daniel was in his best anti-professional politician form when he called down the ill will of the "rank and file" upon the heads of "high-powered," "master-mind," and "college-bred" bureaucrats whom he charged with recently suggesting "that the churches substitute the Atlantic Charter for the Ten Commandments."

Outstanding of O'Daniel's 15 reforms was a proposed constitutional amendment which would limit the terms of office of the President, the vice-president and members of the Senate and House of Representatives to six years.

"Every six years," O'Daniel said, "we would have a new president, and there would not be any question about one man holding that office until his children all get old enough to succeed him."

Not Given Much Chance

However, O'Daniel didn't think that the proposal had much chance of being adopted, and asked all of his audience who believed that it would ever be submitted to Congress to "please stand on your heads."

O'Daniel attacked federal bureaus and listed most of the current stories pertaining to regulators' lack of knowledge of that which is to be regulated — the sheep-raiser who was told to change lambing season, the farmer who was told to take the shoes off his horses each night to prevent wear, the executive who asked how many steers would have calves in the spring.

The present administration's domestic policy was denounced by O'Daniel as a philosophy "which has offered a reward for indolence and has placed a badge of honor on shiftlessness" . . . a philosophy which has assumed that "all the brains in the nation are concentrated on the banks of the Potomac river."

ters unescorted, but only one plane out of the three formations was lost.

Other Allied air fleets ripped railway communications and airdromes throughout southern Italy and as far north as the Naples area.

Medium bombers, with an escort of long-range fighters, concentrated a heavy attack on railway yards at Cancello, near Naples, blocking lines radiating from the yard.

Strong fighter opposition was encountered, but 23 enemy aircraft were shot down. Ten escorting Allied fighters were lost.

Medium, light and fighter-bombers hit railway communications and enemy positions at many positions in southern Italy. An ammunition dump was blown up and one of a number of barges attacked were set afire.

Commissioner Has Laundry Worry Too

MACON, Ga., Sept. 3 (AP) — Commissioner Frank L. Forrester of the state board of workmen's compensation was presiding at a hearing.

"I take in washing for 50 cents a week," a witness testified.

"Do you want another customer?" the commissioner asked eagerly.

Suit has been filed in federal court in Lubbock against Mrs. Gladys Louise Price, of Garza county, for an alleged balance of $47.20 due on a note made by T. L. Price, now deceased, and Mrs. Price, for $264.45 on Sept. 30, 1939, in favor of a lumber company doing interstate business. When Price died he left a will and direction that his widow be made executrix of their estate. The suit grew out of proceedings in Garza county court, where the will is being probated.

Arch S. Underwood of Lubbock, president of Texas Compress and Warehouse company, was announced by Gov. Coke Stevenson in Austin Wednesday as an appointee to a 31 member post-war economic planning commission for Texas, according to an Associated Press dispatch. Gibb Gilchrist, dean of engineering at Texas A. & M. college, was appointed commission chairman.

Memorial services to honor Lt. A. F. Reese, jr., pilot in the U. S. Army air forces, who lost his life in action during the recent Sicilian invasion, are planned to be held in the First Methodist church in Shallowater at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, it was announced today. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Reese, sr., of Shallowater.

Announcement of the promotions of two South Plains men were made today by the War department. James W. Ross of Hale Center and Troy N. Pickens of Slaton were promoted to first lieutenants in the Air Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Miller, formerly of Bartlesville, Okla., and Borger, Tex., are in Lubbock today looking over possibilities of settling here. Mr. Miller long has been in the refining business. If he decides to make his home here, he probably will be joined later by his brother and family.

Tommie Raney of 1927 Avenue N this afternoon informed police his bike had been stolen, from near Avalanche-Journal publications.

Seven Dead In Crash Of Two Liberators

FORT WORTH, Sept. 3 (AP) — Two four-engined B-24 Liberator bombers from Fort Worth Army Air field collided early today at about 2,000 feet over Birdville, crashed two miles away and burned with the loss of seven men, three in one plane and four in the other.

Only three bodies were immediately recovered, all of them having been thrown from one plane which fell in a wheat field two miles east of Birdville, near here.

One body was found 100 yards from the wreckage and the other two several hundred yards from the plane.

No bodies were recovered from the other plane, which broke in two in mid-air and plummeted to earth a mile southeast of the other craft, in a brush-covered creek bed.

Maj. L. L. Gilbert, sub-depot commander at the air field, took charge of the plane which fell in the creek bed, and Capt. J. L. Buckmaster assumed charge of the other wreckage.

The giant ships were on a routine training flight.

Kitchen Worker Held In WAC Murder Case

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 3 (U.P.)—Investigation of the assault-slaying of WAC Corporal Maoma Ridings was stepped up today with the arrest of Robert de Armond, 40, a Claypool hotel kitchen worker who was previously convicted of attempting to rape a 10-year-old girl.

Lt. Noel Jones of the homicide squad said De Armond had a "significant" scratch on his left hand and became confused when asked to re-enact his movements last Saturday night at the time the pretty 32-year-old Camp Atterbury WAC was brutally slashed to death in her hotel room.

Chronic Wanderer, 3, Identified By Tag

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 3 (AP) — A 3-year-old boy found wandering on the street offered no mystery to Pittsburgh police, for on his overalls was pinned this tag:

"Charles Germyer, 44 Wyoming street, Pittsburgh, Pa., Mt. Washington, HE-6617."

They called the number and the child's mother explained:

"Oh, he's always running away, riding streetcars and inclines. A neighbor girl put the tag on him."

Lubbock Girl In WAC Contingent In Africa

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 3. (AP) — A new detachment of WACS arrived today to take over clerical jobs at Allied headquarters, supporting the fighting men who moved onto the Italian mainland just a few hours earlier.

Wearing steel helmets and carrying heavy packs on their backs, the girls lined up in military formation to be greeted by Maj Gen. E. S. Hughes, deputy theater commander who said, "we're glad to see you; we've been waiting for you a long time. We'll house and feed you and make you work like hell."

Included in the the group was Second Lt. Georgene V. McCawley, Lubbock, Texas.

Relief In Sight On Textile Shortage

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP) — The shortage of cotton textiles which has plagued the civilian market for months may begin to clear up considerably by the end of this year.

The big "if" is whether lack of skilled help may offset an improved situation for civilians caused by cancellation of many Army orders for cotton goods.

If the labor problem does not become markedly worse in the current and last quarters of 1943, the present scarcity of denims for overalls, work shirts, jeans, drills and whipcords for trousers stands to be partly remedied by Jan. 1, trade circles said.

Better civilian supplies of sheets, pillowcases, bath towels and print cloths also were forecast. The latter would encompass more women's sport, street and play dresses, bedspreads, smocks, rompers, drapes and aprons.

Mill experts said exacting Office of Price administration ceilings hampered their efforts to increase production because they could not afford to pay employes time and one-half or double for overtime and still make a legitimate profit.

Boys Hunt Foxhole In Hotel Corridor

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3 (AP) — A truck driver dumped a packing case outside a downtown hotel, the crash resounding throughout the building.

A Marine sergeant and a Navy chief petty officer, just home from the Solomons, leaped from their beds and dashed into the corridor, half asleep. They collided in the hall, grappled and became fully awake.

"No foxholes out here," said Navy Chief Albert Musen sheepishly.

"Nope, guess we don't need any," replied Sgt. Theodore Roosevelt Pretzer, and both went back to bed.

Navy Enlisted Men To Get Grey Suits

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP) — Grey working uniforms for naval enlisted men aboard ship will be substituted for the present white uniforms.

Blue dungarees will continue to be worn for work on ship and ashore but issuance of the grey working uniforms, the Navy said today, is expected to ease the wear on dungarees and thereby reduce replacements.

Specifications for the new undress greys are now being drawn up and large quantities of grey cotton twill are being purchased, but it will be several months before general issue starts.

184 CARGO VESSELS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP) — The Maritime commission reported today 164 cargo vessels were delivered by the nation's shipyards last month, six more than were produced in July.

'Super-Duper' Agency Is Seen

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP) — Leon Henderson, former chief of the Office of Price administration, predicted today the creation of a "super-duper agency" to help iron out conflicts between business, government and military services over control of the nation's economic system after the war.

"The coming battles," Henderson wrote in the magazine, "Common Sense" will "revolve around the policies the government should follow in: the disposition of plants, facilities, surpluses or raw materials and finished goods; the termination clauses in war contracts, which will bring disputes about the method and time of payment for completed and uncompleted materials; the disposition of reconversion reserves—the tax-free money that companies may keep out of current income as a fund for post-war purposes; new ownership of alien property and incentive taxation for post-war purposes."

Military Competition Seen

Henderson said the military services will have "great competitive assets which might be developed on the market and prevent orderly resumption of peace-time production."

"The total sums for public works, available or estimated," he said, "look puny beside this concentration of economic power in the hands of the military. This is big stuff—too big to be under the control of the bureaucrats, unless, of course, they have met a payroll or run an investment house. Better keep it away, also, from the boys who have carried precints."

extensive demolitions and fight a delaying action of the type which made the last stage of the Sicilian conquest a slow business.

The quality of the Italian resistance is more of a question mark, but many Italian troops certainly are made of sterner stuff than the Sicilian coastal divisions and may fight well, at least for a while.

The Allies were believed to have plenty of men, ships and planes to strike in at the peninsula farther north and cut off the southern defenses if the going in the south became too slow.

There are no definite indications where the Germans might make a major stand, but it is assumed they would take advantage of the rugged Apennines line running diagonally across the peninsula from La Spezia to Rimini, probably falling back from there to Po and perhaps ultimately to Alpine defenses from the northern tip of the Adriatic to the Swiss border.

the British First, under General Sir K. A. N. Anderson, the American Fifth under Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark and the newly formed and armed French forces led by General Henri Giraud.

In addition the Allies have in the eastern Mediterranean area the British Ninth and Tenth armies commanded by General Sir Henry Maitland Wilson. The six armies which back the Eighth probably total between 750,000 and a million men.

In addition to these ground forces the Allies are throwing against the southern bulwarks of the European fortress tremendous concentrations of naval and air power, the former commanded by Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham, the latter by Air Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder. Americans make up sizeable portions of both the naval and air forces.

Driver Almost Skids Into Reform School

A 16-year-old boy who skidded tires on the car he was driving 80 feet Thursday night almost skidded into the boys reformatory at Gatesville, he was informed this morning when taken before John W. Wilson, city-county juvenile counsellor.

The boy and three others, 15, 16 and 17, were speeding up and down 1800-block Avenue E. Children have a habit of playing in that block. W. E. Maddings of 1806 Avenue E put a stop to the lawlessness. He ran his car in front of the ybuths, forced them to stop and held them for arrival of police.

The driver of the car is under parole to his California father, under mandate of a Comanche court. He was informed he would be returned to custody of that court if another case of law-breaking is reported against him.

He was driving the car of a South Plains farmer for whom he is to work, police said.

'Big Push' May Be Just A Beginning

By CARL CRAMER
Associated Press Foreign Staff

At last the western Allies are fighting again on the continent of Europe.

Two years and four months after the gallant British expeditionary force was thrust from Greece, four years to the day after Britain's entry into the war, a British Army once more is locked in combat with Adolf Hitler's legions on the continent he claimed for his own.

Eighth Army In Lead

The spearhead of the invasion for which the world has waited so long is that battle-tested Eighth Army which turned back to Nazi surge at El Alamein, its high water mark. Canadians fight alongside General Montgomery's British veterans.

The announcement of the big push made no mention of the Eighth's companion army, the American Seventh, now ranked by some its equal in skill and fighting qualities. This raises the possibility that today's landing in southern Italy may be only the first of a series of thrusts at the bastions of Hitler's fortress Europe, to come soon in rapid succession.

The British empire and the United States have been building this blow for years and they expect it to be the killer.

Thus opens a new phase in the world's most brutal, costly and destructive war.

These general background facts stand out. Hitler is caught in a merciless squeeze between the Red Army and the British-American combination.

While his lines are bending in the Ukraine before the relentless pounding of Stalin's warriors he must now make major dispositions to meet the new onslaught from the south and the threat of others from the west.

Whether the invasion of Italy satisfies Stalin's demand for a second front remains to be seen, but the fact is that even before today the Nazi high command had been compelled to withdraw forces from the east. The steady Russian progress certainly is not impeded by this fact.

The scope of the new campaign remains to be revealed but it is certain that its development will involve amphibious operations that will dwarf the previous landings in North Africa and Sicily.

What the Allies have begun is an assault on an entire continent well defended by a formidable, centralized military and industrial power.

This continent, a veritable hedgehog, is inhabited by 300,000,000 persons. The frontiers Hitler must defend total 11,000 miles. If his satellites remain loyal — of which there is much doubt—he may have 10,000,000 men for its defense.

ly come to the apartment while Patsy's in the hospital and by the time she is home again, Cecily may be gone. Just don't worry about it, Allen!"

"It's a fine note, my wife entertaining my brother-in-law's first wife! And my sister practically clothing Pats herself!"

Again Sue was silent. It seemed to her she was always having to impose silence on herself these days. It was not she, but Cecily who was buying the lace-and-satin negligees, the cobwebby night gowns, the dashing silver and gold mules that Pats exhibited proudly. She thought such garments not only unsuitable for the wife of a struggling young engineer, but a little vulgar as well. They affronted her love for the severely simple, the beauty of texture and line rather than lavishness.

San Antonio Officers En Route For Youths

San Antonio officers were reported en route to Lubbock this morning to accept custody of three youths—two of them 17 and the other 15—who were arrested here Thursday for investigation into a San Antonio hijacking.

Jess Hardy and John Truly, both of the police, arrested the youths when the three bought a ticket to a motion picture theater and had started in.

San Antonio's message was cryptic, informing that one of the youths "has a gun and will use it; use caution in arresting him."

The gun was found in the youths' belongings, at a railway station. The three had spent the night at a small hotel here, they said.

There were no further details of the robbery, the sheriff's department said.

Two Officers Killed In Crash Of Trainer

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Sept. 3 (AP)—Two officers of an infantry division were killed in the crash of a plane at Eubank's Corner in the A. P. Hill military reservation, the post announced today.

They were identified at their division headquarters as Lt. J. S. Williams, the pilot, of Amarillo, Tex., and Lt. Robert W. Henning, observer, of Hartford, Conn. They were attached to a headquarters battery and were engaged in a training mission when their plane crashed yesterday and burned. Both were said be single.

Dispute Arises Over Tax Plans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—A heated controversy between Treasury Secretary Morgenthau and the congressional tax staff broke open today, causing doubts in competent capitol hill quarters that a new general revenue act, with higher wartime levies, can be written in 1943.

The schism developed after the congressional tax staff sought to obtain information from the Bureau of Internal Revenue and other agencies, without channeling such requests through the treasury.

Morgenthau Resents Tactics

It is understood that Morgenthau resents the tax staff engaging in such tactics. The cabinet member is said to be ready to go into the courts to maintain his position, possibly with the contention that such procedure is an unconstitutional interference with executive authority.

The tax staff can use a subpoena to obtain the desired information—if such action is approved by the joint committee on internal revenue taxation.

This joint committee is headed by Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Finance committee, with Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means committee, the vice chairman. Colin F. Stam heads the staff of tax experts employed by Congress under supervision of the joint committee.

Committee Plans Studies

Doughton has announced that the ways and means committee will begin study of a new general revenue measure, looking toward higher levies. But informed persons on capitol hill see a possibility of delay in completion of the measure until next spring.

If there is such a delay, and new rates on individual or corporate incomes may not become effective until 1945, because the ways and means committee opposes any retroactive taxes.

A similar controversy developed between the treasury and the tax staff last year, and Congress forthwith wrote into the 1942 general revenue act a proviso that the staff legally may obtain information from any government department or bureau, as it pleases, without consulting the treasury department.

Some treasury officials are understood to doubt the constitutionality of such a procedure.

Morgenthau is said to feel that the congressional staff might handicap a precise administration tax program. The congressional staff has not been invited to attend inter-departmental sessions on taxation held at the treasury.

The congressional tax staff takes the position that it has no desire to interfere but wants information by which to devise a program of its own.

Mrs. W. E. Lavender Dies Here Today

Mrs. W. E. Lavender, resident of Lubbock 20 years, died of a malignant ailment at 5:30 o'clock this morning at her home at 1707 Avenue K.

Funeral services will be conducted at 6 o'clock Saturday night at the First Presbyterian church, with Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Active pallbearers will be Roy Gamble, Louie F. Moore, Milton West, Harry Morris, Clifford Williams and A. F. Holt. Honorary bearers will be J. D. Jones, Ed D. Allen, George W. Dupree, John H. Moore, Robert Allen, Walter G. Alderson, J. H. Hawkins, J. E. Hunt, Altus Sansom, Charles L. Adams, H. B. Bryan and Nolan Whitlow.

Mrs. Lavender is a former deputy county clerk.

She is survived by her husband; two brothers, Major Ralph E. Lanham of Camp Lee, Va., and Homer Lanham of Temple.

Camp Fannin Soldier Faces Rape Charge

TYLER, Sept. 3. (U.P.) — Sgt. Othal B. Faulkner, who lived at Antlers, Okla., before joining the Army eight years ago, went to trial at Camp Fannin today on charges of raping a 13-year-old girl who went with him on an automobile ride after she was told to leave a tavern because of age.

The girl told authorities that she and two other girls were walking on a Kilgore street one afternoon recently when they were picked up by two soldiers in a car. After a time, she said, the other two girls and one of the soldiers left her and the other soldier, who she said was Faulkner, alone in the car and they drove out into the country, where the attack allegedly occurred.

Faulkner is married.

He was stationed at the Tyler induction center at the time of his arrest.

FEED PRICES STUDIED

DALLAS, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Office of Price administration is seeking means to roll back feed prices to levels consistent with present milk prices and OPA regional representatives will meet in Washington week after next to discuss the situation, says C. W. Nichols, OPA price executive of this region.

Reduced Living Costs Promised

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (U.P.) — Acting Price Administrator Chester Bowles today promised Congress that the cost of living would be pounded down to September, 1942, levels and kept there for the duration.

It was contained in OPA's reply to a demand by Chairman Adolph J. Sabath, (D-Ill) of the House rules committee for immediate action to protect the consuming public from "outrageous and criminal" retail prices.

Sabath wrote letters to both the OPA and War Food Administrator Marvin Jones bittterly denouncing the administration's policy of acceding to the "unappreciative" farm bloc's "demand and clamor for more and more benefits."

Farmers' Benefits Cited

"No informed and honest man can deny," Sabath wrote, "the great benefits granted to the farmers by this administration . . . What a contrast as to what has not been done for them by Republican administrations. In view of their lack of appreciation, we should not continue to be the softies any longer and should cease to accede to the demands of so-called agricultural leaders to increase prices which are now absolutely unjustified."

He said that even with an increase in income "only a small percentage of farmers pay an income tax, which is in glaring contrast to the tax paid by labor, small business men, etc."

Bowles, in his reply, said his agency had nothing to do with taxes or manpower, but that Congress had imposed certain important restraints upon the power of OPA to impose ceilings and that any change in basic policy in this respect must come from the Congress itself.

He was optimistic about the results of the administration's new price stabilization program and the new food program.

"The food program, the details of which are now being worked out, will, we believe, complete the job and restore the cost of living to the September, 1942, levels.

"Once that objective has been accomplished, our policy will be to maintain the cost of living at that level for the duration."
