MAYOR PROCLAIMS BASEBALL DAY IN PAMPA TOMORROW CLUBMEN FACE ROAD RUNNERS

His '36 Smile?

Mayor W. A. Bratton of Pampa today issued the following proclamation:

The week of April 7 to 13 has been designated throughout the United States as BASEBALL WEEK, and it should receive the enthusiastic support of every sport-loving individual.

April 11 has been designated as the opening day in the City of Pampa and its has a two-fold objective: First and foremost, the civic clubmen are desirous of raising funds to carry on their work of caring for crippled and underprivileged children, that they might at least have an even break with the rest of the world, physically. They have given of their time to form a club to make a creditable showing worthy of your support; second, in arranging this game it is the desire of the clubmen to become better acquainted, and to have the public become better acquainted with the personnel of the Pampa Road Runners, an organization destined to bring more publicity to the City of Pampa than any other group in the year 1935.

Now, therefore, I, W. A. Bratton, Mayor of the City of Pampa, do hereby designate Thursday, April 11, as opening day for baseball in Pampa, and I earnestly request that every individual who cares for the welfare of the unfortunate children, contribute to their relief by attending this opening game.

Testimony whereof, I hereto sign my name and seal of office, this 10th day of April, 1935.

W. A. Bratton, Mayor.

The STORY of EASTER

The next day, Monday of His passion week, Jesus returned to Jerusalem and went direct to the Temple. There He found scenes of desecration against which, during His public life, He had protested many times. Oxen, sheep, and lambs were budded together in the sacred precincts, while all about traders were shouting and pilgrims disputed with money-changers. Suddenly, above the din, was heard a loud, clear voice: "My House shall be

Testimony Ends In Hamlin Case

AMARILLO, April 10. (AP)—Testimony closed today in the trial of George S. Hamlin, who is charged with the hammer slaying of his wife here last January 4.

Judge E. C. Nelson announced that it might require two days to prepare his charge to the jury. The defense closed with another attempt to link L. D. Lewis, former Amarillo railroad man, with the case. Kenneth Busick, milk driver, was returned to the stand. He testified that he had noticed a "Levi" car near the Hamlin home early one morning last December, instead of on another street as state witnesses had testified.

Gene Elio, Amarillo newspaperman, was called by the defense and testified that he had noticed little change in the defendant's actions when the jury left the room.

Virgil Beavers, police fingerprint expert, testified that prints found in the Hamlin home were not made by Lewis.

City Officials Go To Meeting

Legislation—state and federal—affecting municipalities will be studied by city officials at Greenville this week. Invitations were sent to 500 Texas officials.

Pampa will be represented by Mayor W. A. Bratton, City Manager C. L. Stine, and L. D. Duval, street superintendent. Mr. Duval went along especially to inspect street grading machinery at Dallas. The local men were particularly interested in such things as federal loans, tax proposals, a possible federal underpass project for Cuyler street, and handling of relief during the period in which the PWA bill is being spent. They will return during the coming week-end.

'BARROW TO MAYORALTY'
PICKER, April 10. (AP)—Fred Gray, mayor-elect of Picher, prepared today to quit his job as a wheelbarrow pusher on a PWA flood control project here to take over his new duties as mayor.

Mrs. F. C. Nelson underwent a tonsillectomy at Worley hospital yesterday.

I Heard...

That a man and woman and their small daughter passed through Pampa yesterday, headed for the west. They said that four other children had died of "dust pneumonia" at their home in eastern Colorado and that they had decided to leave everything and go somewhere that the dust didn't blow.

OIL MEN ARE MEETING FROM FOUR STATES

MID-CONTINENT API IS HOLDING SESSION IN AMARILLO

AMARILLO, April 10. (AP)—The history of the Panhandle oil field was detailed by speakers at the spring convention of the Mid-Continent Petroleum Institute here today.

More than 300 delegates had registered for the two-day session at noon, and the total was expected to reach near 1,000 by tonight.

Dr. Charles N. Gould, director of the Oklahoma geological survey, recounted the surveys which resulted in the discovery of the Panhandle pool.

James O. Guleke, of Amarillo, member of the state board of education, substituted for Col. E. O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, on the program. Colonel Thompson was unable to attend on account of illness.

Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war, is scheduled to speak tomorrow on "national defense."

A barbecue tonight and a banquet and musical comedy tomorrow night have been arranged for the visitors.

Oil men of the Panhandle field today turned toward the biggest session of the industry ever held in this section—the meeting of the production division of the Mid-Continent Petroleum Institute at Amarillo.

The Panhandle chapter, largely staffed by Pampa field executives since organization, is host to the convention. A full program of instructive talks and entertainment

Eureka! Certain Death for Lawn Pests Announced

Dandelions can be exterminated at no great cost, excepting time and patience. Ed Foran, sexton at Pampa Cemetery, has discovered. Mr. Foran secured a formula for killing the pestiferous weeds. He has given it a thorough test and found that it will really do the job.

The solution will not only kill dandelions but many other types of weeds which infest lawns in this section of the country. Mr. Foran has cleared his lawn of dandelions and has also used the solution at the cemetery, with equal success.

The killing liquid is easily prepared at small cost. It consists of one part of creosote and four parts of kerosene, thoroughly mixed. Mr. Foran says the best way to use the solution is to put it in an oil can and then squirt a few drops in the bud or bowl where the leaves and flower stem start.

It requires only a few drops and the effect is sudden. Within 30 minutes after the application, the entire weed turns black and is dead. If the dandelion has already bloomed, a drop or two on the flower will kill it and keep it from going to seed.

NAZIS CHOP OFF HEADS OF 2 MEN, ONE A JEW, ACCUSED OF HORST WESSEL SLAYING

New German National Anthem Named for Victim of 'Political Hatred' Plot

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

BERLIN, April 10.—The same medieval battle-axe which fell on the necks of two noblemen spies six weeks ago lopped the heads today of two men accused of a crime committed of political hatred.

Sally Eppstein, a 28-year-old Jew, and Hans Ziegler, 34-year-old Aryan, went to the execution block in Ploetzensee prison's gloomy courtyard for the slaying of Horst Wessel, the martyred bard of Nazism.

Once more the 67-year-old official executioner donned his top hat, kid gloves and talcoat to perform his gruesome task. The two prisoners had been informed at 6 p. m., last night, to prepare "for your last 12 hours."

IOWA STUDENTS ARE OUSTED IN HOUSE SCANDAL

Chapter Accused of Keeping 'Disorderly House'

IOWA CITY, Iowa, April 10. (AP)—An ultimatum demanding a "thorough cleanup" of student morals, with a grand jury inquiry the penalty for non-compliance, confronted University of Iowa officials today.

The threat of the grand jury action came from County Attorney A. E. Baldwin, and followed indefinite suspension of twenty-three members of the Phi Beta Delta fraternity and the disbanding of the Iowa chapter on charges of keeping a "disorderly house."

"If there is not a thorough cleanup of conditions which exist in fraternities, I intend to begin an investigation of my own when the grand jury convenes May 6," the prosecutor said.

There was no indication today, however, university officials intended to follow the course demanded by Baldwin. Dean of Men Robert E. Rensow said the case was closed as far as the fraternity was concerned.

"That is not true, and they know it is not true," the dean replied to charges by the fraternity that two girls in the case "circulated freely from fraternity to fraternity."

SUMMER BAND PROJECT MADE POSSIBLE HERE

SCHOOL BOARD, B. C. D. TO KEEP DIRECTOR IN VACATION

A summer band project for Pampa as part of the recreation program was assured through favorable action by the Board of Education this week. The Board will pay half of the cost and the B. C. D. the rest.

Roy Wallrabenstein, high school band director and music teacher, will have charge of the summer work, details of which will be announced soon. The band will be made available for the Pre-Centennial, summer intercommunity relations trips, and similar occasions, and will provide a worthwhile activity for the vacation period.

The school trustees also approved a city proposal to place double tennis courts on the grounds of the Baker and Woodrow Wilson schools, where there is adequate space.

In canvassing the trustee elections returns, the Board also decided by lot which new member would serve one year and which two would serve three years. C. P. Buckler drew the one-year term. Tom Rose and Roger McConnell will serve three years. C. T. Hunkapillar and J. M. Daugherty are the members whose terms did not expire this year. The drawing was necessary to provide an even tenure for the 5-man board.

In the election of officers, President Hunkapillar, Vice-President Daugherty, and Secretary Buckler were returned to their old places.

LATE NEWS

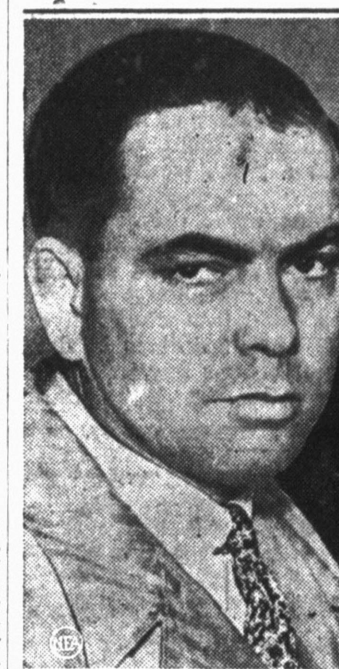

CHICAGO, April 10. (AP)—Dizzy Dean, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, and Buck Newsum, pitcher for the St. Louis Browns, were absolved today of accepting a "bonus" of $5,000 each from a St. Louis furniture dealer at a hearing before Baseball Commissioner Landis. The money was received as payment on a contract for Dean and Newsum to make 33 radio appearances for the furniture company.

WASHINGTON, April 10. (AP)—A new neutrality plan for the United States in the event of a future war will be discussed by President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull at a conference arranged for this afternoon.

NEW ORLEANS, April 10. (AP)—The police and fire departments of the city of New Orleans today were placed under the control of the state police and fire boards, dominated by the Huey P. Long political organization, by a four to three decision of the state supreme court setting aside preliminary injunctions ordered by Judge Hugh C. Cagle, of civil district court.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 10. (AP)—A delegation of more than 300 farmers, home owners, tenants and laborers marched on the capital today with a petition demanding the legislature submit to a popular vote a proposed amendment for a graduated land tax.

He didn't owe Uncle Sam a penny in income tax. But C. H. It is not my make-up to shift the cost of that protection on to others." After one governmental refusal, his check finally was accepted. (The treasury recently announced that gifts received from patriots since 1862 total more than $1,500,000.)

GARNER BREAKS SENATE CUSTOM IN 'REBELLION'

Decides He'll Name Own Choices as Conferees

WASHINGTON, April 10. (AP)—Vice President Garner's one-man "rebellion" over an old senate custom brought on mild opposition today among veterans of the "great deliberative body in the world."

The Texan announced yesterday that hereafter, in naming conferees to handle bills sent to conference with the house, he will "exercise discretion" to see that a majority of the senate's representatives are in sympathy with the legislation.

Heretofore, the vice president has accepted the recommendations of the chairman of the committee handling the bill, and by tradition, ranking members of the committee have been named.

This seniority method brought some criticism when the $4,880,000 relief bill was pending. Senator Robinson, democratic leader, asserting that four of the senate conferees were "enemies" of the bill.

Senator Coppelard (D., N. Y.) of the relief bill conferees said that while he would never object to "so fair and just a man as Vice President Garner making the appointments, nevertheless, he still believes the old system is better."

Flowery Setting For Lions Show

Pampa Lions and the young ladies assisting them went through a lengthy rehearsal of the 1935 musical show last night.

Director John Sturgeon, who has been out of the city for several days, was pleased to find that the cast had made substantial progress in learning the opening overture during his absence.

This year's show will be based on a spring theme. The stage setting will be a "riot" of flowers, and costumes will follow the same theme.

The next rehearsal will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the city auditorium.

YOUNG FARMER SLAIN
ORANGE, April 10. (AP)—Weiden Teale, 20, a farmer, was shot to death on a country road five miles north of here last night. No arrests had been made today, although officers said they expected to make one shortly. Teale was traveling north in a car with four young men when shot. A small caliber bullet entered his left shoulder and pierced his heart.

Mrs. Carl Luten was called to Harper, Kan., yesterday by the serious illness of her father, R. W. Parker. She was accompanied by Mrs. A. E. Arnold.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CONFEREES BAR HARMONY

HOUSE, SENATE PLANS IN CONFLICT WITH EACH OTHER

AUSTIN, April 10. (AP)—A possible deadlock over submission of repeal of state prohibition loomed in the Texas legislature today when the house instructed its conferees to adhere to the house bill submission plan, previously rejected by the senate.

Strong opposition was manifested to the motion to instruct the house conferees, but prohibitionists joined with some wets to carry the proposal, 75 to 58. Under the house plan the electorate would vote both on straight repeal and on repeal with a mandatory state monopoly over liquor sales.

The senate had instructed its committee to bring in an amendment that would bar open saloons. A majority of the senate conferees was regarded as favorable to submission of straight repeal with the legislature to have a free hand in regulating the liquor traffic. Two senate committeemen favored the house proposal.

The house proposition adopted, 134 to 7, was defeated in the senate by three votes.

Representative Alfred Petch of Fredericksburg, an anti-prohibitionist, offered the motion to instruct. He asserted 20 members of the senate, a two-thirds majority, would vote for the house resolution if it was rewritten.

"We might as well not have a conferees committee if we are going to hog tie the members," Representative Kenneth McCalla of Houston asserted.

McCalla's sentiments were echoed by Representative R. Emmett Morse of Houston, chief of the house prohibition repeal forces.

"The house plan is fair to both sides and the people have a right to determine what system they want to replace prohibition," Representative Herman Jones of Decatur said.

New Dust Storms Are on the Way

KANSAS CITY, April 10. (AP)—A "gully-washing" rain hoped for in the dust-ridden plains areas today did not fall. Snow and showers were reported in some sections.

A pall of dust enveloped central and western Kansas.

Harry Wahlgren, a federal weather observer in Oklahoma, predicted new dust storms on the way and also a 20-degree temperature drop in the state before tomorrow.

Dust continued in southeastern Colorado although other portions of the state had rain or snow.

Snow, rain and dust were reported from Nebraska.

Dust was blowing in the upper Texas Panhandle.

One of the worst areas today was in the vicinity of Goodland in extreme western Kansas. There a blizzard of dust formed a "black blizzard" driven in on a high north wind.

Activity of all kinds virtually was suspended. No progress could be made in the campaign to plow blowing fields for there was too much dust to permit anyone to work outdoors. Highway travel came to a halt and operation of trains was seriously hampered.

At Norton, Kan., there was a mixture of rain and dust. Motorists slipped and slithered through muddy roads and on wet pavement while stifled at the same time by the dust in the air.

RESOLUTION DEFEATED

AUSTIN, April 10. (AP)—A resolution proposing a constitutional convention to redraft Texas' widely amended constitution was defeated today in the house of representatives, 33 to 91. The resolution by Representative J. Franklin Spears of San Antonio would have submitted to popular vote the question of a constitutional convention. The house action killed the movement until the next regular session of the legislature.

...e followed this policy because we believed in rugged individualism. We said that to pass a drivers' license law would encroach on personal liberty. We have tried this plan and have found that the mounting toll of fatalities compared unfavorably with those states who did more about the problem. And now it is time to consider a license law.

Such a law would be vexing to those who do not wish to give even one hour of their time to save thousands of lives. But a license is no better than the year-round attention given to its provisions. We tried a compulsory headlight testing law but found that one test a year was not enough. Hundreds of thousands of valuable corrections were made, however.

Were the license law applied with such a once-a-year interest, it would be useless. The highway patrol which we are setting up with such good results could enforce the license law with the assistance of local authorities. A small license fee, say 15 cents a year, would pay for the system.

A license law would weed out unfit drivers. Withdrawal of driving license would be a form of punishment which should cause wantonly reckless motorists to think. Those who habitually drive while drunk should have no licenses. Rigid enforcement of a good law would save a thousand lives annually plus millions of dollars in damages. There is a standard drivers' license law which has been tried with success in other states. The legislature should give such a law a trial.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—In all probability, the senate munitions committee's drastic plan for eliminating war profits won't get to first base.

The Nye committee, shocked by revelation of practices in the war supplies racket and the record of World War profiteering, did its job too well.

The chief idea behind the proposal to limit individual salaries to $10,000 in wartime and to keep corporation net gains down to 3 per cent is to minimize the economic dislocations of war—from which the world still suffers—by a pay-as-you-go policy.

But Congress is full of conservatives and they consider the bill much too radical. The committee bill, urged on by Senators Nye, Clark, Bone, Pope, and others, may pass the senate.

It would then probably be mislaid in the House, though there's some chance for a greatly modified measure similar to the McSwain price-fixing bill.

Even Bernard M. Baruch, whose influence is strong with conservative Democratic senators, considers the proposals for limitation of incomes and profits far too drastic.

You can expect to hear the bill called "Socialistic" and "Communist" and to see it licked with the plea that its passage would threaten the national safety.

All that could save the bill would be some national clamor for it—of which there is no sign.

The active-minded press agent of Congresswoman Virginia Jenckes of Indiana, who was once quoted as promising to "build her up like Garbo," is now seeking to build her up like Barbara Frichie.

His first idea was a Jenckes campaign to have flagpoles put on top of the new government buildings, with the insinuation that sinister influences had been at work in the plans of the architects.

Then it was observed that in the case of new buildings where there's no flagpole atop, the poles projected out over the entrances.

But now Mrs. Jenckes and her resourceful press agent have discovered three flagpoles in front of the local railroad station which they insist haven't flown Old Glory for months.

And correspondents have just received copies of letters to executives of six railroads, wherein Mrs. Jenckes makes indignant protest and demands action.

New Dealers who were out to circumscribe the powers of Comptroller General John R. McCarl, watchdog over federal expenditures, found McCarl a red-hot potato.

McCarl's position seems even stronger than it was before Secretary of the Navy Swanson decided to defy him as to legality of transportation expenses of retiring officers.

Swanson backed down rather abjectly and the New Dealers got cold feet when McCarl's powerful friends in congress came charging to his rescue.

Now it has been discovered that McCarl sat in with the Senate and House conferees who grafted the joker for the work-relief bill which demanded that at least one-third of expenditures go for labor.

And it would be up to McCarl to rule whether expenditures complied with the act.

That one of the reasons why Roosevelt demanded that the joker be tossed out.

Oklahoma supreme court stated recently: "We have went into the case further than we should." But not far enough into the grammar.

Hoover's new job as director of an insurance company has nothing to do with his efforts to sell the country on his policies.

With one state after another outlawing heart balm suits, it won't be long before a man can court without ending up in one.

Every star in the Pleiades group has its own independent motion, says a science article. Must be a burlesque outfit.

New radio compass enables a plane to fly straight to the station broadcasting. The device is probably put to a severe test, though, when a crooner comes on.

Remember the good old days, when the people used to support the government, and not vice versa?

Under the new anti-heart balm laws, women will have to stop using the males to defraud.

...the Republic of Texas. He also feared the increasing of Great Britain in the new Republic. October 16, 1845, he opened negotiations. Powerful, dominating Sam Houston would not consent to any terms unless his two most urgent requests were granted: one was the treaty have the two-thirds majority necessary for its ratification in the senate, and the other was that the United States use its army and navy to protect Texas during the pending of negotiations. There could be no repetition of the Alamo and Goliad! Finally satisfied, the treaty was ratified in Washington April 12, 1844. The senate rejected it June 8th.

Rejection was a great blow to Texans. They had fully expected to become a part of the Union almost immediately, and some took it as a personal affront that their state was rejected.

"Is it for the interest of the throw from the citizens of the United States and not salute their flag with them?

"It is a narrow-minded and illiberal policy that would limit the extent of a representative Republic to a slander on the great system of American liberty to say that it should be confined to a small territory... the stars that shone on the American banner indicate the glorious hopes and aspirations of the illustrious founder of American liberty, and as new stars have from time to time blazed forth and have joined to the first thirteen, so may new constellations be added, until they illuminate the whole firmament."

We who have always known Texas as a part of the United States will give public honor and homage to those who eventually saw the fulfillment of their dreams through succeeding generations. Texas, 1936!

Hoover, Smith Lead March For Salvation Army

NEW YORK, April 10/11.—Herbert Hoover of Palo Alto, Calif., and Alfred Emanuel Smith of New York were better acquainted today.

Responding to invitations of the citizen's appeal for the Salvation army, the former president and his 1928 opponent for the presidency spoke from the same platform last night.

On behalf of the army's campaign for $50,000 to balance its $1,887,725 budget for the next fiscal year, the two men emphasized the need for continued support of private charity despite government relief.

Before the meeting they were guests of honor at a dinner. Walking side by side, they led the grand march of patrons and patronesses and chatted good-naturedly while taking their places.

Mr. Hoover made no mention of the 1928 campaign but Mr. Smith said: "Close to seven years ago President Hoover and I were talking at each other from various meeting places throughout the United States. Tonight we are talking at you, but we are talking in the interest of the Salvation army drive."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of pills, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you efficient, strong and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They can't make the bowels and a man's nervous system get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have those flat, bloated and your breath is foul. Headaches break out in blinding or head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when you consider the fact that they are so small.

But don't take for liver pills, Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of a substitute. 25-cent drug stores. © 1935 C. M. Co.

France Moves To Employ Force To Maintain Peace

Latin Nations Will Put Pressure on Britain

BY JOSEPH E. SHARKEY.
(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)

STRESA, Italy, April 10.—France's move to put teeth in the League of Nations covenant by agreements to employ force for the maintenance of European peace created a sensation here today.

Officials gathered for tomorrow's tripartite conference interpreted the proposal to mean that France regards the political situation in Europe as dangerous as a consequence of Germany's repudiation of the military clauses of the treaty of Versailles.

Observers also construed the move as signifying that whatever other nations may do, France and Russia are determined to go ahead with a pact of mutual military assistance.

As Premier Mussolini is known to want realities instead of glowing phrases as the fruit of the Stresa conversations, the impression here is that the two Latin nations will bring powerful pressure to bear on Great Britain's statesmen to join in a concrete program.

It is generally regarded that they will press for an agreement to use force for the preservation of Europe's peace within the meaning of the sanctions provisions of the League of Nations covenant.

France's objective was seen as an attempt to restrain Germany in the event of a military gesture or push in Menel or Austria, for example, and definitely bind the powers in an armed front against Germany in the event of an unequivocal German aggression.

The Franco-Russian initiative is believed in informed circles to prove the determination of the two nations to make the league covenant a living reality and by the same token certify the Kellogg pact outlawing war.

There is now before the league a resolution to harmonize the Kellogg pact with the league covenant. The South American anti-war pact advanced by Argentina also will be studied in this connection.

Swiftly moving events indicate that the Stresa parleys will have a powerful influence on the league's destiny. Both France and Russia are basing their foreign policy on Geneva, with Moscow recently showing more zeal for this procedure than France.

Mussolini generally was regarded as cold toward the league at the time he demanded reform of its covenant a year ago. His attitude is believed to have been radically altered since Italy has improved her relations with the Little Entente and especially since she has progressed in reaching an understanding with Yugoslavia.

Italy's policy is largely affected by the fact that any German push southward in an attempt to annex Austria or Hungary would be as vital to her security as to that of the Little Entente.

Pessimism is expressed in some quarters that even if a collective security system with German participation emerges from the Stresa deliberations, the powers will continue their defensive preparations and negotiations for regional accords of mutual assistance because of fear of the reich.

Scores of plain-clothes detectives and fascist carabinieri swarmed thru this picturesque community on the shores of Lake Maggiore in preparation for the arrival of the statesmen.

Every traveler who approached Stresa was compelled to exhibit his credentials many miles outside the town as authorities exerted every possible effort to safeguard the diplomats.

Charles Bryan in Lead for Mayor of Nebraska Capital

LINCOLN, Neb., April 10 (AP).—Charles W. Bryan, brother of the late William Jennings Bryan, "The Commoner," was back in the political saddle today with a nomination for mayor of Lincoln.

Bryan, three-time governor of Nebraska, polled a larger vote in yesterday's non-partisan primary than any of the 44 other candidates for the 10 nominations to the five seats on Lincoln's city council.

In the city election May 7, Bryan will be opposed by City Councilman Ernest M. Bair who desires advancement to mayor. Bryan's total unofficial vote in 80 of the 81 precincts was 9,399 and Bair's 6,219.

JAYCEES AND BUSINESS MEN SEE SKELLY GASOLINE PLANT

Courteous Employees Conduct Tours and Explain How Fuels Are Made.

Pampa Jaycees, joined by a number of other business men, made up a party totaling 42 which yesterday hunched with officials and employees of the Skelly Schaefer gasoline plant west of here.

District Supt. J. E. Carlson, Plant Supt. F. E. Fisher, and employees expressed their welcome and conducted the visitors on a highly enjoyable trip through the million dollar plant. Harry McCabe of the plant staff arranged for the affair and for the meal served under the direction of R. C. Heaton of the Skelly eating house.

President H. L. Polley of the Jaycees expressed the pleasure of the Pampans in being guests of the plant. Music during the meal was furnished by a Skelly string trio.

The group was divided and employee-guides conducted visitors thru each unit of the plant. Hundreds of questions were asked and answered.

For many of the Pampans it was the first tour of such a plant, although they had lived here for a number of years.

Chas. Maisel of the Jaycees' inter-community relations committee said that other trips will be made into the oil field.

OLD AND NEW RUSSIA TOPIC OF LECTURER

MRS. STOKER SPEAKS TO 100 WOMEN AT CLUB PROGRAM

Centuries will be required for Soviet Russia to build up a culture comparable to that existing before the revolution, Mrs. Leah House Stoker of St. Louis, said speaking in an open forum meeting of federated clubs at the Presbyterian church yesterday. About 100 women heard her.

She was introduced by Mrs. F. E. Leech, whose house guest she is this week. Mrs. T. F. Morton, president of the Council of Women's clubs, presided.

Mrs. Stoker, who learned to love the old Russia by visiting there, learning the language, and becoming acquainted with the people, their art, folk-lore, and music, deplored present conditions.

She told of conversations with Russian friends who are now exiled, who describe the lot of most Russians of the peasant class as most unhappy. The peasants are practically the only survivors of the old regime, as most of the royalists are dead or expropriated.

As a background for this unhappiness, Mrs. Stoker spoke of country life before the revolution, the love of home, of religion, and of industry characteristic of the people.

Communist propaganda that is being spread all over the world, even to the remote sections of the United States, was named by the speaker as a serious danger. She urged her hearers to examine carefully the soviet publications, dramatic productions, and motion pictures that are being widely distributed, and mentioned the spread of communistic teaching by some teachers in American schools.

Presidents of the Twentieth Century clubs, El Progreso, Civic Culture clubs, Child study club, and Arno Art club acted as hostesses for the lecture.

PREACHER SAYS SOME MEMBERS HURT CHURCHES

Sermon Last Night Is Addressed to The Fearful

"The greatest need of the world today is for every member who does not intend to live a fine, upright Christian life to get out of the churches and leave a clean slate for those who do," said Rev. H. R. Whitley in his sermon at the revival service at the First Baptist church yesterday morning. The trouble with our churches now, he said, is that they harbor too many members who are not true Christians at heart.

We term China, a nation with more radio broadcasting stations than any city in the United States, a heathen country, Rev. Whitley explained, because China does not have Christianity—it follows that we are a heathen nation because certainly the masses of our people do not have Christianity, he continued.

Last night Rev. Whitley spoke especially to that group of people who say they would like to be religious but are afraid to try because of possible failure. He said that the two chief things we hear in dealing with unsaved people are, first, "You have hypocrites in the church; therefore I will never come in," and second, "I don't believe I could hold out, and I am afraid to try."

"We are not told to hold out—we are told to believe," he said, "so remember these things: To try and fail cannot hurt since nothing can make the unsaved man's condition worse than it already is; you don't have to save yourself—Jesus saves you, and God not only saves—He keeps. Man does not have to live a perfect life to get to heaven; his faith in Jesus becomes a substitute for a perfect life. Man can sit in a rocking chair, fold his arms, and do nothing and sin the sin of omission. It is not what we do or fail to do that determines our salvation; it is our faith in Christ. Conduct after salvation does determine reward, and the Christian is rewarded according to his degree of faithfulness, whether it be thirty-fold, sixty-fold, or a hundred-fold."

Good crowds were present at both services, and song services were conducted by C. O. Huber in such a way as to prepare the congregations for the messages that followed. Four united with the church, three of whom came for baptism.

UTILITY BILL REPORTED OUT BY COMMITTEE

SENATE ACT DIFFERS FROM ALLRED'S PLAN

AUSTIN, April 10 (AP)—The senate today received from its state affairs committee a bill to establish a state commission to regulate public utilities and its sponsors planned to seek early passage.

The bill was drafted by a sub-committee and differed in many respects from the administration favored regulation bill, prepared by Dr. R. H. Montgomery, professor of economics at the University of Texas, which is pending as a special order in the house.

The senate proposal would give the commission original jurisdiction over all rates, would permit the commission to get charges on a reasonable valuation and subject utility operating charges to review.

The house measure would throw stringent regulations around holding companies and would provide for rates on a prudent investment cost. Ready for a conference committee was a resolution to submit repeal of prohibition. The senate rejected house amendments proposing dual submission of straight repeal and repeal with a mandatory state monopoly over liquor sales.

Senate conferees were instructed to bring back a resolution that would effectively close the way to repeal of open saloons, a move proposed by a bloc favoring a state monopoly. Objections of wet leaders that the instruction would be a stumbling block to submission were disregarded while prohibitionists charged the wets with attempting to obtain repeal without any constitutional limitation.

Action was deferred by the senate state affairs committee on a house bill to stop gas wastage in the Panhandle. Objections were made to a prohibition against use of sweet gas in gasoline, the senate plan with the residue to be burned in carbon black manufacture if a market is not available.

The house bill would prohibit use of sweet gas for other than light and fuel and would ban the "popping" of gas into the air from gasoline stripping plants.

The senate received from the house a bill to appropriate $11,744,734 for maintenance of state highways during the next biennium, an increase of $172,490 in the current appropriation.

A strong effort to increase salaries of state employees receiving less than $100 monthly by 10 per cent was defeated in a close vote.

Working with maximum efficiency the house at a two-hour session last night finally passed three senate bills and sent the senate 29 house proposals. Diversion of income from oil wells in the state-owned bed of the Sabine river from the general revenue to the permanent school fund and allocation for another two years of all receipts from the cigarette tax to the available school fund were among the house bills approved.

General Goering And Actress Wed

BERLIN, April 10 (AP)—General Hermann Wilhelm Goering, reich minister, and Frau Emmy Sonnemann, 38-year-old actress, were married today in a 13-minute ceremony in Berlin's city hall.

Reichswehrminister Hitler, clad in his brown uniform, was one of the two witnesses.

A vast crowd in city hall square, standing on rooftops and craning necks from windows, shouted itself hoarse as the bridal couple entered the municipal building. No spectators were admitted to the ceremony, however, except members of the wedding party.

The marriage was solemnized by tall Mayor Heinrich Sahn, clad in a somber Prince Albert coat and top hat with the heavy golden chain of his office hung about his shoulders. He was assisted by Julius Lippert, state commissioner for Berlin.

GREAT RICHES

by Mateel Howe Farnham

SYNOPSIS: James Stimson, 111, last of the New Concord, Kas. Stimsons with the exception of his maiden Aunt Sarah, has been compelled to forego college because Sarah lost most of the family money. James has read law in Judge Holcomb's office, however, and the Judge is convinced he has a prodigy under his wing. New Concord's women, meanwhile, have started to find James a suitable wife.

The burning question of who would make the best and most thoroughly competent wife for James remained unsettled though not undiscussed, until the second year after he had been admitted to the bar and had been promised a junior partnership in the firm of Stimson and Holcomb as soon as he had earned it. The Judge, in spite of his affection, was far too shrewd to make things too easy for his favorite. As James's clientele was as yet confined largely to those Nappy rounded up and brought in to him and as he could not, to save his soul, charge a deuce a large fee, it seemed for a while as if his fate might remain unsettled for many years longer.

The ladies, however, were not discouraged. They told themselves they had expected to wait. Meanwhile, the matter offered neverending subject for discussion and pleasurable weighing of pros and cons. The mothers with marriageable daughters naturally enough never mentioned their names—that, of course, would have been considered the height of indecency—but there was not a girl anywhere near suitable age or condition in New Concord who was not at one time or another under consideration.

Chapter 13 JANE NORTHRUP

The ladies were agreed on one point at least. Beauty they decided finally might be a help, but could be waived. Charm of manner and consideration for older people were considered indispensable.

Serious-mindedness was debatable as was a fondness for the sterner sex as well as an aptitude for church work.

But the self-elected arbiters of James's destiny set so high a standard as their ideal for his mate that it seemed for a long while that they never would agree and that James would be left to bungle along unaided and marry in the usual hit or miss fashion.

And then when they were most discouraged, in a regular "Isn't-Truth - Stranger - Than - Fiction" fashion, just after the ladies had come up bump against an insurmountable impasse, Jane Adelaide Northrup returned home from two years' schooling in New England followed by a year in Europe.

The ideal was suddenly found and the quest ended. As they all joyfully agreed it really seemed too good to be true.

That Jane passed with flying colors every test that the most subtle ingenuity of feminine intellect could devise showed the stuff that she was made of. Even the most exacting of James' friends, even those who had cherished secret hopes for their own daughters, agreed that Jane seemed to have been made to order as the perfect wife for the brilliant but impractical embryo statesman.

The little circle of earnest enthusiasts drew a deep breath of complete satisfaction as they rested after solving their problem.

As Miss Julia remarked, "It did seem that Providence was looking out for James all the while, just like the Judge had said."

There remained only the minor matter of arranging to throw the chosen two together so that they might fall properly in love. For of course it was to be a love match; nothing less for Dr. Jim's son was to be thought of. Their part was merely to guide a young man's fancy.

Jane Northrup had left home three years earlier an overgrown, rather forward, pert and much spoiled only daughter of New Concord's richest citizen. No one except Jane's father and mother had thought then that she gave promise of good looks or charm.

But she returned so lovely a thing to look at, so perfectly mannered and polished and "finished" a product that her native town felt a warm glow of pride in producing her.

Jane undoubtedly possessed what is known in New Concord as "a head on her shoulders" and she very evidently had used it to the best possible advantage. She dressed beautifully, carried herself well, made the most of every good point.

As she walked down North Fifth street, apparently quite unconscious of her young alluring slenderness, the women smiled at her. As she passed along Commercial street, all masculine eyes followed her, gleaming complete approbation.

Every belt and buckle of Jane's was always in place, every flounce smooth and straight, every dark strand of satiny hair just where it should be. Jane possessed the rare gift of being able to go to a picnic wearing a white dress and of coming back as fresh and immaculate as when she set out, while every other girl present would return flushed and untidy.

She was blessed besides with a clear white skin that seldom burned or chapped, with quantities of dark wavy hair, which she wore in a braid on her head like a crown and with deeply fringed sparkling black eyes.

Jane's physical charms were but the beginning of her utter desirability. Everything James lacked Jane had in abundance. She was confident enough for two for one thing, she had money, stacks and stacks of it, (or at least her father had), and she was practical and sensible enough for a half dozen.

Look how she took hold when her mother was ill and ran that Kermess and raised the money for the Women's Rest Room—a really marvelous achievement for a girl of twenty-two.

Moreover, Jane had blood almost as blue as James' own, at least on the Northrup side (Mrs. Northrup coming from Wisconsin and nobody knowing much about her family) and to cap it all Jane's childhood pertness had developed into a truly delightful cleverness. Indeed Jane was soon famed far and wide for her witty speeches and the aptness of her quick replies.

A widely quoted bon mot was Jane's careless assertion that when she met someone she found she could not interest by any exertion she talked about herself so that one of them at least should have a good time.

Another, referring to Tom Sniffens, who had a rich brother-in-law named Axel Dodsworth, was that Tom probably never would amount to much as long as he "had an axel to grind." It was agreed in all of New Concord that Jane would "shine" in Washington society and be a great help to her husband.

Is it any wonder then that the good ladies who had James' career so much at heart felt that James and Jane were "made" for each other—by a complacent Omnipotent Providence?

Or is it any wonder that there was bewilderment and confusion exceeding all bounds when James, after meeting the new Jane a dozen or more times and after dining with her, dancing with her, pick-nicking with her in the moonlight, and seeming to make the most favorable impressions upon the paragon herself, out of a clear sky, after knowing her all his life, suddenly seemed to notice little Leslie Harris for the first time, and thereupon dropped Jane as abruptly and unexpectedly as if she had been made of nettles.

Every spare hour of his thereafter was devoted to Leslie—Leslie Harris, the printer's daughter—Leslie of all people! No wonder Miss Julia and Miss Sarah and Aunt Lou and all their friends wrung their hands in deep despair.

Nevertheless, as Miss Julia said herself, they might have expected it. Wasn't it exactly like him? They should have been prepared.

(Copyright, 1935, Mateel H. Farnham)

Tomorrow, the sewing circle gives Leslie the once over.

Mrs. Vanderbilt Is Dust Victim

AMARILLO, April 10. (AP)—Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., dust-bound in Amarillo, wondered "how much longer these storms will have to keep up before everyone moves out."

Mrs. Vanderbilt, the former Helen Varner of Clarksburg, W. Va., left early Tuesday by automobile for Albuquerque, N. M., where she had planned to meet her journalist-husband, but was forced to turn back by a stifling "duster."

She said her first experience with a dust storm had convinced her that newspapers did not exaggerate. She was further irked because she lost a $100 wager by failing to reach Albuquerque ahead of her husband. He left her at Dallas to fill a speaking engagement at Kansas City.

HUGE FRAUDS ARE BARED IN ALIEN RACKET

CORRUPT IMMIGRATION EMPLOYEES TO BE INDICTED

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—

"Stunning revelations" were promised by the government today as it announced it had evidence of thousands of frauds in the immigration and naturalization service from 1923 to 1933. It moved to oust a number of employees and start wholesale criminal prosecutions.

The bill paid by illegally-entered aliens to a ring of bribe-takers in the service and "fixers" outside was estimated at $1,000,000 or more.

"Revelations go startling in character have come to light that investigators believe the actual extent of corruption and fraud has been but partially disclosed," said a statement issued by the labor department last night after a secret investigation of alleged frauds in the New York district.

The recent indictment of Michael J. Hogan, a former congressman who was confidential clerk to the collector of customs at the port of New York, was noted by the department.

Samuel H. Kaufman of New York, special assistant attorney general appointed to prosecute the immigration racketeers, has been given evidence intended to support 25 criminal prosecutions involving 30 to 35 individuals.

Deportation of 42 aliens arrested for unlawful residence in this country, filing of 200 proceedings to cancel fraudulent citizenships and institutions of charges designed to remove a number of employees still in the service were promised.

Investigators reported evidence that large sums of money had been extorted from illegally-entered aliens seeking naturalization or other protection against deportation.

"Sums ranging up to $100 are alleged to have been paid in cases involving false witnesses or passing of an applicant who had failed in his test of knowledge of the government or his ability to speak English," the labor department said.

"It is alleged that fees ranging from $300 to $1,200 were levied in cases involving fraudulent or altered manifest records, where it was desirable to obtain a record that would safeguard an alien from deportation or procure citizenship status by showing his legal admission at the port of New York for permanent residence."

Gangsters and "crooked attorneys" were reported to have shared "fixing" fees with present or former employees of the immigration and naturalization service.

"Revelations go startling in character have come to light that investigators believe the actual extent of corruption and fraud has been but partially disclosed," said a statement issued by the labor department last night after a secret investigation of alleged frauds in the New York district.

The recent indictment of Michael J. Hogan, a former congressman who was confidential clerk to the collector of customs at the port of New York, was noted by the department.

Are you using 1924 oil in your 1934-35 car?

Plain mineral oils are obsolete! You need a Germ Processed* oil for today's car!

★ What is the Germ Process?

The Germ Process is a patented method, used only by Continental, of giving oil certain valuable qualities that straight mineral oil does not naturally possess.

A small quantity of concentrated oily essence, a compound discovered by Continental scientists, is added to highly refined oil. This results in more oiliness and 2 to 4 times greater film strength than mineral oils—and the ability to penetrate and combine with metal surfaces.

BACK in 1924 most cars had less than 60 horsepower, and any high-quality motor oil could lubricate them properly.

But today's cars range from 80 to 180 horsepower and the average is over 100. With increased power have come like increases in bearing pressure and crankcase temperature. Oil today must do a job undreamed of ten years ago.

Yet motor oils generally have no more oiliness and film strength now than they had 10 years ago. New refining methods have recently come into use to make oils free from carbon and sludge. But the new refining processes have lowered instead of increased film strength and oiliness—the very qualities on which depends an oil's lubricating value!

There is one exception—Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. It, too, is free from carbon and sludge troubles. But more important, Timken Machine tests prove that the new Germ Process* puts into this oil 2 to 4 times the film strength of any straight mineral oil!

That extra film strength enables Germ Processed Oil to stay on the job and prevent wear under the most extreme pressures and heat. It helps Germ Processed Oil give long mileage, as proved by the famous Indianapolis Destruction Test.

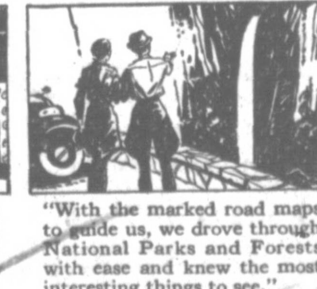

Plain mineral oils were all right ten years ago—today they are becoming obsolete. Say "O. K.—Drain" and fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil—custom-made for today's cars!

tribute just prior to the next election campaign.

Those robbers who held up a train were real employers—they found a passenger train with people riding on it.

And sure, we'll all return to dust. But when we do we don't want to be as conscious of it as we have this spring.

Musing of the moment: Pampa ought to be a tennis court. There is no cleaner game for young and old. And the shame of it is that Pampa right now hasn't a single court which is up to Inter-scholastic League standards.

Those courts the City is talking about will certainly be welcome.

Brevitorials BUSINESS MEN of Pampa joined the Jaycees yesterday in a visit to the Skelly Schafer gasoline plant west of here. It was the kind of trip which should be made often by city residents.

To a preponderant extent, such plants make the present Pampa possible. A trip through the plants shows the millions of dollars spent in capital outlay and in annual payrolls.

It shows the many men who are necessary to operate the plants. It reveals the skill and intelligence necessary to make oil products. Above all, it shows the courtesy and good fellowship of the officials and employees. The oil business requires brains as well as brawn.

Oil men are among the smartest in the world. It is a pleasure to live in a well-regulated oil field such as ours and to know the men and women and children who develop our natural resource. It is enlightening to know the huge cost of operation, and to see that the oil business is not the "velvet" often believed.

LONG-DRAWN-OUT things are vexatious. There's the Sims-Culbertson bridge racket, for instance. In our opinion, it is one of the most trivial and commercialized exhibitions ever given.

The monopoly of it is so great that the reporters have to write hundreds of words about feet clashing under the table. Ridiculous!

Similarly long trials like the hamlin case show how we have permitted the rights of the defendant to be so protected that his attorney is able to prolong testimony for weeks, "trying" witness after witness rather than the defendant. The really relevant testimony could be presented in a week.

In all probability, the opinion of most of the jurors was fixed weeks ago and nothing henceforth to be introduced will have much effect. Modern trials leave far too little to the judgment and discretion of the judge and jury. Common sense is confused by a legal and technical strait-jacket. One absurdity calls for another until one side is as much the victim of circumstances as the other.

MONEY. LOTS of folks imagine that they would like to see inflation. It is erroneously imagined that anything that puts money into circulation is inflation. It depends upon the type and backing of the medium of exchange.

There is plenty of money now, but it is frozen by fear—fear of not being able to operate at a profit. To circulate money artificially is to create a type of inflation which raises prices without spurring business expansion. Inflation carried to the extreme means more and more money and less and less of activity. This of course is ruinous. Money

Stories in STAMPS The Black Swan of Australia

NOWHERE except in Australia can be found the strange black swan that has become the symbol of western Australia, where it has been found in greatest numbers.

The nearest relative to this peculiar bird is the black-necked swan of South America. In the rest of the world, swans are all white.

The Swan river, most important stream of western Australia, is named for this bird, which was discovered by a Dutch navigator in 1697. In 1929, Australia commemorated the colonization of western Australia 100 years earlier with 1½ penny dull red stamp depicting the black swan, which is as representative of that continent as the kangaroo.

SECOND TALK IN A REVIVAL SERIES GIVEN

Gifts Sent Orphans Home From Church Of Christ

"A complete plan of salvation is given in the Bible, which is sufficient for his needs," said Evangelist Jesse Wiseman in his second sermon on The Gospel and Its Power at Central Church of Christ last evening.

He is speaking at revival services there daily at 10 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. To the service last evening, members brought gifts for the Boies orphans home, which is supported by Churches of Christ. A truck from the home was there to take the donations.

Continuing his sermon, the evangelist said, "God made man, and made a plan to fit the man. That plan must not be changed. We precipitated money. This is especially true of those who have incomes which will approximately advance with rising prices. Those whose incomes are stationary will be less able to pay for goods on instalments, inasmuch as their output for groceries, rentals, etc., will be greater. School teachers and others on contract salaries have much to lose and little to gain through inflation.

But when prices rise, THINGS are of intrinsic and lasting value and MONEY's value takes flights often unpredictable. . . . Analysis of the business outlook should call for buying of articles which can be used for several years and which, bought at today's low prices, will be appreciated as prices advance. Now is a good time to buy.

WHO WANTS inflation? In some degree, the merchants welcome a small amount of it. Prosperity—profits—go with rising prices. The man who buys and sells can well use moderate inflation. The man who sells more than he buys, such as the farmer (before AAA), can use inflation to advantage. The man with debts and the privilege of paying at will can benefit if his income rises. Mistakenly, many laboring folk wish inflation because it means higher wages. What they really desire is activity, the opportunity to work, coupled with an increase in real wages—as contrasted with monetary wages—which goes with sound prosperity. Inflation of ten means a decline in real wages, however much the wage in terms of dollars mounts.

FOR INSTANCE, wages do not increase with rising prices, at least not proportionately. If monthly wages rise 10 per cent and prices 15 per cent, inflation has cut real wages 5 per cent. That's inflation of a kind we don't want. Many business men are not able to raise the price of their product proportionately to inflation, hence they cannot meet salary increase demands. All of us are both creditors and debtors. Our employers, our insurance companies, our banks—if we have bank accounts—owe us. We owe those from whom we buy on credit. When we find that the money owed us—wages, for instance—will buy less and less of a commodity (due to rising prices), we know that inflation is taking place.

AS JULIAN BARRETT told Jaycees recently, approaching inflation calls for reasonable buying. Installment buying should always be in a well calculated proportion to average expected income. But to buy an article on credit at today's prices means that it will be easier to pay it with next summer's de-

WHY AMERICA PREFERS BUDWEISER

1. Its distinctive taste and delightful tang have made it America's first choice for three generations.

2. Its quality has made it the biggest selling bottled beer in history and built the largest brewery in the world.

3. Brewed by the same formula since 1876—always uniform—everywhere.

4. Not artificially carbonated—BUDWEISER is twice fermented for natural carbonation and sparkle.

5. Brewed from the cream of the barley crop and the choicest selection of domestic and imported Bohemian hops.

6. One brewery that makes its own Malt-Anheuser-Busch never buys it from outside sources.

7. Pioneers in pasteurization of bottled beer—every bottle sterilized.

RAIN AT BALLINGER

SAN ANGELO, April 10 (AP)—Rainfall amounting to one inch at Ballinger, 121 inches at Coleman and 37 inch at Brownwood was reported here this morning. San Angelo received only .04 inch, and rain clouds apparently passed up over surrounding territory.

to cleanse him from leprosy, but at first he rebelled. He wanted to change the plan. He finally submitted, and was cleansed."

The public is invited to these revival meetings. Announcement was made today that the ladies' Bible class will have its regular meeting this week.

Naaman understood God's plan.

Those whose incomes are stationary will be less able to pay for goods on instalments, inasmuch as their output for groceries, rentals, etc., will be greater. School teachers and others on contract salaries have much to lose and little to gain through inflation.

But when prices rise, THINGS are of intrinsic and lasting value and MONEY's value takes flights often unpredictable. . . . Analysis of the business outlook should call for buying of articles which can be used for several years and which, bought at today's low prices, will be appreciated as prices advance. Now is a good time to buy.

WHO WANTS inflation? In some degree, the merchants welcome a small amount of it. Prosperity—profits—go with rising prices. The man who buys and sells can well use moderate inflation. The man who sells more than he buys, such as the farmer (before AAA), can use inflation to advantage. The man with debts and the privilege of paying at will can benefit if his income rises. Mistakenly, many laboring folk wish inflation because it means higher wages. What they really desire is activity, the opportunity to work, coupled with an increase in real wages—as contrasted with monetary wages—which goes with sound prosperity. Inflation of ten means a decline in real wages, however much the wage in terms of dollars mounts.

FOR INSTANCE, wages do not increase with rising prices, at least not proportionately. If monthly wages rise 10 per cent and prices 15 per cent, inflation has cut real wages 5 per cent. That's inflation of a kind we don't want. Many business men are not able to raise the price of their product proportionately to inflation, hence they cannot meet salary increase demands. All of us are both creditors and debtors. Our employers, our insurance companies, our banks—if we have bank accounts—owe us. We owe those from whom we buy on credit. When we find that the money owed us—wages, for instance—will buy less and less of a commodity (due to rising prices), we know that inflation is taking place.

AS JULIAN BARRETT told Jaycees recently, approaching inflation calls for reasonable buying. Installment buying should always be in a well calculated proportion to average expected income. But to buy an article on credit at today's prices means that it will be easier to pay it with next summer's de-

ROAD RUNNERS AND CIVIC CLUBMEN TO OPEN BASEBALL SEASON TOMORROW

CRIPPLED TOTS WILL BENEFIT FROM OPENER

CLUBMEN EXPECTED TO GIVE FOES TOUGH AFTERNOON

What—Opening of the 1935 baseball season.
When—Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.
Where—Road Runner park.
Between—Pampa Road Runners and Civic Clubmen.
Why—To raise money for crippled and underprivileged children's funds of the club.
Admission—40 cents.

Pampa baseball fans, and prospective fans who want to help a worthy cause, will move to Road Runner park tomorrow afternoon when the 1935 baseball season is officially ushered in. The fans will be in their seats on time because of the opening ceremony.

Promptly at 4 o'clock J. S. Wynne will put on a Road Runner cap and step to the mound. T. D. Hobart will don mask and glove to receive the opening throw, that is, if J. T. Crawford doesn't knock it out of the lot. The three men are among the oldest residents of Pampa.

The game is not expected to be a walk-away for the Road Runners. Manager W. A. Bratton of the clubmen has secured the services of three Road Runner hurlers, Lee Daney, Bill Hardin, and Joe Berry, and of Catcher Tank Horton. All three hurlers will see mound duty during the game.

Other members of the team will be clubmen who have been giving of their time and energy to get in shape to play the game. Several of the citizen players could step into Road Runner uniforms as substitutes to devote their time to baseball.

Manager Grover Seitz of the Road Runners will have George

Bulla and Carl Stewart for mound duty, with Lyle behind the bat. He will also present several newcomers to Pampa. They include: Dallas Patton, outfielder, who was sold to Toronto in the International league, but who failed to report because of salary difficulties; Al Summers, last year with Elmira in the New York-Penn league; Don Bailey, last season with Northern Tank Car company of Tulsa; Joe Berry, voted the most valuable player in the Western league last year, and Floyd Lyle, a former Western leaguer. Returning to Pampa will be Sam Seeling, who was a member of the famous Pampa Grays in 1927.

The probable clubman starting lineup will be Dr. R. M. Johnson, first base; Roy Bourland, second base; Odus Mitchell, shortstop; W. B. Weathered, third base; Dr. H. Hicks, left field; L. L. Sone, center field; Jack Goldston, right field, and the Road Runner battery.

The Road Runners will be seen in action again Sunday afternoon when they meet the fast Ponca City Angels, returning from spring training in Los Angeles. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock with admission 40 cents.

Road Runner prospects for 1935 have been under hot bombardment among fans. Sunday will give the club a chance to study the club against about as strong competition as they should meet this season. The 500 additional reserved seats will be available for the Sunday game but not for tomorrow's contest.

Dodgers Still Top Standings

NEW YORK, April 10. (AP)—Casey Stengel's surprising Brooklyn Dodgers still top the standings of the "grapefruit league," but the National league as a whole trails the American by a wide margin.

Of the 86 games the two league have played this spring, the American has won 47 and the National 39.

The Dodgers, undefeated in their jousts with American league outfits, head the standings with six victories. Of the other National league representatives, however, only the Phillies and Cincinnati Reds, generally picked to finish in seventh and eighth places in the forth-

DIZZY CALLED ON CARPET BY JUDGE LANDIS

IS ASKED TO EXPLAIN HOW HE CAME BY BONUSES

ST. LOUIS, April 10. (AP)—The high finances of Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean, St. Louis Cardinals' eccentric pitcher, were to undergo the scrutiny of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, at Chicago today.

A surprise companion of the Red Bird hurler, as he entrained for Chicago last night, was Louis (Bud) Newsum, St. Louis Browns' pitcher. The two players slipped away from their hotel before they could be questioned by reporters, but baseball men were agreed Judge Landis had made up his mind to explain the "bonuses" they were reported to have received from an East St. Louis, Ill., sports enthusiast.

Dean is said to have told reporters the East St. Louis business man paid him $5,000 to sign his 1935 Cardinals contract. The pitcher was quoted as saying he and Newsum were the recipients last year of a $100 "bonus" for each game they won. Dean won 30, Newsum 15.

The sportsman, according to Dean's reported story, made the $5,000 payment when the pitcher was at odds-end with the Cardinals management over his demands for a $25,000 salary.

"He didn't want to see me sold or traded to another club and agreed to make up the difference," Dean is reported to have said. "I signed with the Cardinals for $19,500."

There is no baseball rule against accepting such gifts, sports authorities said, but they pointed out the baseball commissioner has long been opposed to players receiving compensation beyond their specified salaries.

coming pennant races, have gained better than an even break.

The New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox together have accounted for seven of the eight games by which the American leaguers lead. The Yankees have won nine out of fourteen contests with the National league and the White Sox 11 of 19.

An unexpected development has been the failure of the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants. These two clubs are expected to fight it out for the flag the Cardinals won a year ago, but the Cardinals have lost eight of ten games and the Giants 12 of 20.

HICKS REELECTED PRESIDENT OF COUNTRY CLUB FOR 1935

Dr. H. H. Hicks was re-elected president of the Pampa Country Club for another year at yesterday's meeting of stockholders, held in the White Deer Land building. R. G. Allen was elected vice-president and C. P. Buckler was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Two new directors were added, making the board consist of the three officers and Siler Paulkner and Mack Graham, named yesterday, and the old members, Clyde Fatheree, M. K. Brown, C. S. Barrett, and Lynn Boyd, re-elected.

First sod has been turned for the clubhouse, which will be completed by May 31. Laying of concrete for the foundation should be completed by the end of the week, with construction of the frame work starting next week.

The clubhouse will be west of the tee box on hole 18, which will necessitate re-numbering of all the holes. It will not be necessary to change any of the holes, however. The clubhouse will consist of a large dining hall or clubroom, kitchen, rest rooms, lounges, locker rooms, and showers.

Revision of the by-laws, setting of the amount of dues, and new rules will be worked for the directors at a future meeting.

Dr. Hicks has not selected his committees, but will do so immediately, he told the directors.

TEXAS LEAGUE OPENING RITES ARE COLORFUL

GOVERNOR WILL TOSS FIRST BALL AT SANTONE

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Texas league clubs today faced the barrier in the unfolding of a 161-game championship schedule featuring the Shaughnessy play-off plan for the third consecutive season.

Today's schedule:
San Antonio at Beaumont, day.
Oklahoma City at Tulsa, day.

Fort Worth at Dallas, night.
Galveston at Houston, night.

Beaumont scheduled the most impressive opening with Governor James V. Alfred tossing the first ball. President J. Alvin Gardner of the league, Nesbit, state adjutant general, Charles Lockhart, state treasurer, Clyde Smith, assistant secretary of state, and city and county officials accepted owner Rube Stuart's invitation to join the festivities of opening day.

Manager "Dutch" Lorbeer, piloting the Exporters for the second straight season, planned to pitch Joseph T. Hare or Clarence Phillips, righthanders. Pilot Henry Severid of San Antonio said he would send Earl Caldwell to the mound against the Exporters. The advance ticket sale indicated a crowd of 7,500 persons. It is the consensus of sports writers that Beaumont will win this year's bunting.

Mayor T. A. Penney of Tulsa declared a half holiday to assure a large attendance at the Oklahoma City and Tulsa game. After yesterday's final workout, Manager Art Griggs said he would start Bill Posedel against the Indians. Posedel won 15 and lost 16 games for the 1934 Oilers. "My team is in fine condition and I am pleased with the results in the spring training camp," Griggs said.

A marine squad accompanied by bugle notes from two girls members of the black battalion of San Houston high school will officiate tonight at Houston. The girls will present flowers to Manager Ira Smith of Houston and Jack Mealey of Galveston. Mayor Oscar Holcomb will hurl the first ball in County Judge Henry Ward Bill Beckman, league veteran, drew the opening mound assignment for Houston, and big Tom Davis got it for Galveston.

Bob Tarleton of the Steers said he expected a crowd of 10,000 to-night when Dallas battles Fort Worth. He said the advance ticket sale had been the heaviest in years. Manager Byrne James of the Steers said he would start Sal Ghatta against the Cats. Skipper Jack Heving, making his Texas league debut, took over his Fort Worth pitchers, and said he probably would nominate Fred Johnson or George Milstead.

The league race starts with six new managers. They are: Byrne James at Dallas, Art Griggs at Tulsa, Bert Niehoff at Oklahoma City, Jack Mealey at Galveston, Johnny Heving at Fort Worth, and Ira Smith at Houston. James played second base for Dallas last season. Art Griggs formerly managed Tulsa and has served as president of the Oilers for several years. Bert Niehoff is up from the Southern association where his teams won sectional pennants and Dixie series. Jack Mealey was promoted from regular catcher to manager of Galveston last winter when Billy Webb resigned.

BARNEY ROSS WHIPS YAKIMA NEGRO BOXER

REMARKABLE SHOWING MADE BY GAME BLACK

SEATTLE, April 10. (AP)—A limp and some good experience was about all Henry Woods had gained today after making an attempt to knock the junior welterweight crown off the sturdy head of Barney Ross of Chicago in a 12-round fight.

The game Yakima, Wash., negro made a remarkable showing in staying the whole distance with the lightweight and junior welterweight champion after taking a vicious canvas-clout in the third round of the bout here last night.

Ross nearly put an end to things in the third when he blasted a right glove on Woods and sent him sprawling to the floor. The negro took the count of nine and appeared to have senses when he jumped back on his feet but he began to limp badly. After weathering another barrage of blows before the bell he complained of an injured leg between rounds.

Referee Tommy McCarthy told

ed from managerial duties to accept a coaching position with the Chicago White Sox. Johnny Heving and Ira Smith are out of the American association. Heving a catcher and Smith a pitcher.

Woods he would have to continue fighting and the negro did his best hopping around on one leg like a jack-rabbit. Ross tried to measure him but was unable to find the bouncing Woods from long range. After the eighth round Woods seemed to have full use of his right leg again.

Dr. J. S. Thomas, examining physician of the state boxing commission, said Woods ankle showed no signs of a sprain, but added that he might have pulled a muscle in the leg.

It was the first world's championship fight ever held in Seattle and a capacity crowd of around 6,000 fans filled the civic auditorium.

Reserve Seats For Ball Games Selling Rapidly

Pampa baseball fans may now secure comfortable season reserve seats for all games at Road Runner park this season. The seats went on sale at Pampa Drug No. 1 yesterday afternoon, and, judging by the early rush, it should not be long before the 500 available seats will be gone.

The season ticket costs only $2.50 and it will entitle the holder to the same seat throughout the season, including the Junior chamber of commerce baseball tournament. Game admission this season will continue to be small.

Comfortable backs are being installed in the reserve section. Many fans would rather sit in the grandstand than have a box. There is plenty of leg room in the grandstand and the type of back secured will allow the occupant to lean back in a comfortable position.

The grandstand will be enlarged to make room for the general admission customers. The reserve will be available Sunday afternoon when the Road Runners meet the Ponca City Angels.

Over their pie and coffee truck drivers praise their FORD V-8's

80 HORSEPOWER V-8 TRUCK ENGINE

The Ford V-8 80 h. p. engine is an ideal power plant for haulage work. It has ample power for tough jobs. Yet it is as economical as a four.

Important features include Dual carburetion, exhaust valve seat inserts, high-leaded bronze floating connecting rod bearings, cast alloy steel crankshaft and cam shaft, aluminum alloy pistons, a new crankcase ventilator, and large impeller type water pump.

The compactness of the V-type engine together with its new forward location gives greater loading space ahead of the rear axle.

Ford also offers the low cost Engine Exchange Plan and other exchange privileges—such as generator, fuel pump, carburetor, etc.—that materially reduce maintenance costs.

HUMAN nature is much the same—everywhere. If a driver likes his truck he takes good care of it... But if it is hard to ride... if it lacks power or speed... if the brakes won't hold and need frequent adjustments—if the clutch slips or the engine over-heats—look out, for there is a truck that's headed for the scrap heap.

Drivers brag about their Ford V-8's—they like the way the 80 h. p. engine handles heavy loads. They like the husky full-floating rear axle with torque-tube drive and radius rods—the rib-cooled brakes—the new centriforce clutch and the comfort of the roomy insulated cab. Drivers take good care of their Ford V-8 trucks—they haul more tons more miles and earn owners more profits.

Regardless of your haulage needs you will find by investigation that Ford V-8 trucks will do a better job at less cost per ton mile.

Mrs. Stoker Talks To Local Seniors

After speaking to the high school student body in chapel this morning, Mrs. Lelah Stoker of St. Louis talked to seniors about college life, and how to get the most from it.

Tomorrow from 9 to 11 a. m. she will confer with smaller groups of seniors about their problems, whether or not they plan to attend college.

In her talk this morning she told the prospective students that college is no place to play, that harder courses should be chosen and that necessity for outside work is no handicap.

To students who are not going to college, she advised a reading list with which they can keep up their studies. She urged the purchase of good books, but only those volumes which the purchaser would wish to keep.

CHICAGO, April 10. (AP)—Shooting upward 3 cents a bushel, wheat made brisk response today to general speculative buying based on foreign market strength and bullish domestic weather conditions.

Dust storms of exceptional severity southwest were reported. There was also considerable evening up of accounts so as to prepare for the United States government crop report to be issued this afternoon.

Wheat closed strong, 1 1/2-2 1/2 above yesterday's finish. May 94 1/4, corn 1/2 to 1 cent up, May 1 1/4-1 1/2, oats 1/4-1/2 advanced, and provisions showing 2 cents to 12 cents gain.

Contest for 4-H Clubs Announced

Prizes making it possible for 58 outstanding 4-H club members residing in counties traversed by the Santa Fe railroad to attend the forthcoming 14th national club congress to be held in connection with the International Livestock exposition are offered through the national committee on boys and girls clubs work.

The prizes are for club members who never before have attended the two great Chicago events to which over 1,000 4-H boys and girls go as delegates. They are offered in the seven states of Arizona, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Texas, and total $4,500. Contestants are required to submit records to their county agent, and winners are selected by state leaders.

Winners in the 1934 contests included Curtis Shafter of Gray county and James A. Morgan of Wheeler county.

31 Farmers Attend Meeting in Pampa

Thirty-one farmers attended the regular monthly session of the Pampa Farm association Monday evening.

Vacational entertainment was provided by the Benton brothers. Dr. J. L. Lester and County Agent Ralph Thomas made short talks, which were followed by a general discussion.

A program committee composed of Guy Farrington, Atlas Stallings, and Dave Turock was appointed.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 10. (AP)—Early gains failed to be permanent, however, and before midday the initial advances were lost and active positions were from 3 to 6 points lower.

A report from Washington that President Roosevelt had stated agricultural benefit payments would not be taken from the work relief funds was said to be the main reason for the about-face in the market.

May dipped to 11.18, July to 11.27, October to 10.89 and December to 10.98 when this report appeared, but the decline was orderly and offerings were well taken at a scale down by the trade and professionals.

Parker Hanna, district agent, and E. N. Helmgreen, chairman of the state corn-hog board of review, were here Tuesday in conference with County Agent Ralph Thomas. Mr. Helmgreen said he found local applications in excellent condition. These will be tabulated and sent to College Station.

Sims Must Use High-Pressure Bridge to Win

NEW YORK, April 10. (AP)—Kibitzers who have stood by for rubber after rubber in the Sims-Culbertson bridge battle looked forward to some high-pressure playing today with most of the interest centered on P. Hal Sims.

Sims and his wife, Dorothy, are trailing Ely and Josephine Culbertson by 13,700 at the end of 122 rubbers in the 150-rubber match, and the opinion at Rockefeller's club is that the Sims' chance of coming out on top depends almost entirely on what they do in the two sessions today.

Culbertson said he considered today's play the most important of the match. He said that if he and his wife can hold the bulk of their lead in the next ten rubbers, he will be ready to claim the victory which seems to be headed in their direction.

Sims, however, asserted he will put up a real battle today if he and his wife hold any honor cards at all.

Ten rubbers were played yesterday, each side winning five, with the Sims making a net gain for the day of 640 points. At one point in the 116th rubber, however, the Culbertson lead had mounted to 16,470 points, a new high for the match.

Twenty-eight rubbers remain to be played before the match ends Friday night. To overcome the Culbertson lead, Sims and his wife must make an average gain of 500 points a rubber.

The 115th rubber may be played again, the result of an argument which developed when Culbertson took 18 minutes before deciding on the play of a card.

Culbertson went into his reverie while playing a five-heart contract which he eventually made. Sims, however, accused Culbertson of giving false information by remarking he would be down one or two tricks. The hand was sealed and Sims was given 24 hours to file a protest. If he does protest and it is allowed by the chief referee, Walter Bienecke, the rubber will be replayed.

At the end of the 122nd rubber, the Culbertsons had won 67 rubbers to 55 for the Sims, with a point score of 102,190 to 88,490.

The honor count for 697 hands shows the Sims leading in aces, 1404 to 1384; kings, 1414 to 1374, and queens, 1410 to 1378.
