Oklahoma-Texas Singers Will Hold 2-Day Convention in City

Visitors From 34 Counties to Meet During Week-End

Wellington will be host city to the Oklahoma-Texas District Singers Association Saturday and Sunday, October 12 and 13, when between 4,000 and 5,000 singers are expected to gather for the annual convention.

The sessions will be held in the municipal auditorium. All local arrangements are under the direction of S. B. Owen, second vice-president, and Mrs. Alvin Horton, secretary.

This will be the largest gathering of singers to be held in the entire area this year, and officers are estimating that it will be the largest for this association since before World War II. Members will come from the 34 counties lying in the eastern Panhandle and western Oklahoma, in addition to visitors from more than half a dozen states who have already indicated they will attend.

Some of the outstanding quartets, trios, and duets available in this area will be featured on the two-day program, including those from Wichita Falls, Dallas, Oklahoma City, Elk City, Amarillo, and other points. The All-Star Quartet of Wichita Falls has already notified officials that its members will be here and Frank Stamps, publisher of the Stamps song books of Dallas is to attend.

The first session of the singing convention will be held Saturday afternoon, beginning at 2:00 p.m. and lasting two hours. The Saturday night session will begin at 8:00 p.m.

The Sunday session, beginning at 10:00 a.m., will be the high point of the convention. The afternoon session will close at 4:00 p.m. A short business session at which new officers will be named will be held shortly before the convention ends.

Officers for this year are Ed Dudek of Willow, Okla., president; M. H. Conn of Childress, first vice-president; Mr. Owen, second vice-president; and Mrs. Horton, secretary.

"We especially invite every person in Collingsworth County who likes good singing, and who enjoys taking part in it, to attend. We are particularly happy that the singers should choose Wellington for three of their last four conventions, when they had the towns of 34 counties to choose from. They like to come here and we feel that every citizen of the town and county is glad to have them," Mrs. Horton said.

Local officers are seeking additional beds to care for those singers who plan to stay overnight, and any person who can furnish one or more beds is asked to call Mrs. Horton at phone number 353-W or to see Mr. Owen at 1107 El Paso Street.

Landowners Ask Soil District By 12 to 1 Vote

Collingsworth County landowners voted a 255 to 21 approval of the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District in the election held Saturday, October 5. This was an approximately 12 to 1 vote in favor of the district.

While this showed overwhelming support of the proposal, the total vote was estimated at only about half what it would have been if the heavy rain which fell throughout the day had not kept many rural owners away from the polls.

The vote has been submitted to the State Soil Conservation Board at Temple and that body will have the final word on the formation of the district.

"We are confident beyond doubt that the board will give its approval. In view of the bad weather prevailing, we believe that there will be sufficient proof that the farmers of the county want a soil conservation district and are willing to support it," Jake Tarter, polling chairman for the county said.

He added that approximately 30 landowners who were unable to get to a voting box because of the mud phoned him to vote for them by proxy but this, he added, was not allowed.

"It gave evidence, however, of the interest in the election. The proportion of those phoning who favored the district was approximately the same as those who cast their votes," he said.

The voting by boxes was:

| Box | For | Against |
|---|---|---|
| Wellington | 162 | 15 |
| Rolla | 6 | 0 |
| Dodson | 15 | 0 |
| Quail | 44 | 2 |
| Lutie | 6 | 1 |
| Samnorwood | 22 | 3 |
| TOTAL | 255 | 21 |

MISSIONARY SPEAKER
Mrs. O. J. Goulter, a returned missionary to China, will speak at the First Christian Church Monday evening, October 14. The public is invited to attend.

Six-Inch Rain Drenches Area During Week

Six inches of rain, falling in four days, gave the county the best period of moisture it has had in recent years, although crop gathering is at a standstill and cotton and feed growers feel the need for clear weather is urgent.

The rain was general over the Panhandle and western Oklahoma area, but did not extend far to the south of here.

Friday marked the beginning of the rainy spell, and during that day and night .33 of an inch fell. Saturday brought 1.65 inches of rain and Sunday morning another 1.85 was measured. One and forty-four hundredths fell Sunday night and three-fourths of an inch during Monday, bringing the total to 6.02 inches.

J. M. Strong, who is in charge of the government rain gauge here, reported that this was the largest amount of rain the county has received during a similar period since the gauge was installed three years ago, and for some time prior to that.

Rockets Primed For Bout With Clarendon Broncs

The Wellington Skyrockets will leave their home field to meet the Clarendon Bronchos on their opponents' gridiron Friday night, October 11. This will be the third conference game for the Rockets, but the first one played away from home.

From all information received here, this year's Broncs are a stronger team than last year and one that will be no pushover for the wearers of the red and white. They are coached by E. J. McKnight, who has been putting the boys through a course of strenuous workouts.

In their first game, the Broncs lost to Chillicothe 13 to 0, then came up to beat the Class B Estelline team by 40 or 50 points. Their first conference game against Lakeview gave them a 27 to 0 victory.

Friday, playing in rain on an already slushy field, Clarendon held the Lefors Pirates to a tie.

The Rockets are all ready to go, and the boys are working out on their own wet field, Coach Al Duncan has reported. Barring injuries between now and Friday night, all Rockets will be in shape for action, Duncan said.

Bowling Alley Is Opened in City

They have extended a cordial invitation to the people of the county to visit their new business here.

Rocket Player Injured Friday to Be Back in Clarendon Game

John D. Ingram, a member of the Skyrocket football squad who was injured in the game with Wheeler Friday night, was returned to his home Saturday after being treated in St. Joseph's Hospital.

He returned to school Monday and Coach Al Duncan indicated that he will be able to play in the Rocket-Clarendon game this week.

Ingram is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ingram.

Legislator Seeks Action on OPA Control of Meat Prices

The meat shortage is beginning to get action from the politicians at last.

Here the situation became so bad that R. L. Templeton, representative-elect of the 122nd Legislative District, decided it shouldn't be too hard to get rid of any regulation as unpopular as OPA's control over meat prices. He couldn't find anybody who liked OPA. The farmers and ranchers didn't like it because they couldn't sell at a profit. Grocers didn't like it because it hurt their business. And customers told him they were tired of looking at weiners and meat loaf.

So he decided to let it be known that the people of this legislative district want a special session of Congress to remove price controls on meat.

Beginning here in Wellington, he circulated such a petition and found so many ready signers that he circulated petitions in every town in the 122nd district. Upon their completion, the petitions will be presented to Congressman Eugene Worley, who will be asked to see that President Truman reads and acts upon the petitions.

Teacher Salary Agreement Made

An agreement mutually satisfactory to the Wellington school board and to the teachers of the system in the matter of the salaries the latter shall receive was worked out in a meeting Monday night, October 7, it was announced the following day.

Teachers will receive a 15 per cent increase over the 1945-46 salaries paid. Ten per cent of this will be paid currently and five per cent next summer when the state apportionment money is received by the district, Supt. Logan Cummings said.

Some Improvement Is Seen in Condition of R. S. Montague

R. S. Montague, veteran mail carrier, who has been seriously ill, is reported by members of his family to be somewhat improved Tuesday, October 8, and he is believed to be doing as well as could be expected.

Mr. Montague has been at his home since September 21, after two weeks in St. Joseph's Hospital, where he underwent a major operation on September 9.

Postal Receipts Drop 16 Per Cent For Three Quarters

Postal receipts for the first three quarters of 1946 are down approximately 16 per cent from the same period last year, R. F. Curry, postmaster for Wellington, said Monday, October 7.

The receipts to date total $17,-107.91.

For the first quarter, they amounted to $5,952.71; for the second, $5,744.50; and for the third, $5,410.70.

The greatest per cent of loss came during the first quarter of the year.

Practically the entire loss can be attributed to the drop in overseas air mail letters and parcels which during 1945 went to men in the armed forces in all parts of the world.

Missionary to Speak Monday

Mrs. O. J. Goulter, a missionary to China for 20 years, will speak at the First Christian Church in Wellington Monday evening, October 14, at 7:30 p.m., Rev. J. F. Mathews, pastor, has announced.

A cordial invitation has been extended to the members of all churches in Wellington, and to all others interested in mission work, to attend Mrs. Goulter's lecture.

Going to China first in 1922, Mrs. Goulter and her husband entered the field under the auspices of the United Christian Missionary Society. They did evangelistic work at Hofei until 1927, when, during an uprising against foreigners, they went down the Yangstze River to Shanghai, and later to the Philippine Islands. They later returned to China.

Mrs. Goulter returned to the United States in 1940, but her husband remained and became a prisoner of the Japanese when war was declared, not reaching the United States until April of this year.

"Mrs. Goulter can give us a clear picture of the work the missionaries have done in China, what it means to that nation and to us. We feel each one of you will find her talk interesting and enjoyable," Rev. Mathews said.

One per cent if paid during December.

This discount is on all state and county taxes that are collected by the county tax collector.

In the past, only parcels weighing two ounces or less could be sent by air mail.

Shooting Affray Injures Four

One colored man was jailed and four other persons were treated for gunshot wounds as the result of a shooting affray in the Flats Friday, October 4, officers reported.

Three charges of assault and attempt to murder have been filed against James Loyd, who at the time of the trouble was out on bond on a charge of rape.

The injured, who included two women and a baby, were Orufus Washington, who operates a barbecue pit in the colored section of town, Ruby Jewel Grant and her baby son, and Gertrude Whitmore. None of their injuries were regarded as serious, and after treatment in St. Joseph's Hospital they were released.

Witnesses told local officers that Loyd and the Whitmore woman had had trouble during the day and that he returned to the house where she and the others were staying and opened fire with a shotgun. Washington was shot when he came to investigate the trouble.

Mangum Teacher Is Named to High School English Position

Miss Irene Parker of Mangum, Okla., began work last week as freshman English instructor in Wellington high school, completing the faculty for the current year.

Miss Parker is a graduate of Southwestern Technological College at Weatherford, Okla., with a major in English and speech. She taught several years in that state.

The Shinnery School has been contracted into Wellington for the remainder of the year, and the teacher and students began their work here Monday, October 7, Supt. Logan Cummings has announced.

Mrs. Marvin Somerville, teacher, will teach the second grade in East Ward.

Only five students are enrolled at Shinnery this year, and a full-length term was not possible with this small number, Mr. Cumings said.

R. H. Crane Buys The Fresno Store From J. A. Battle

J. A. Battle this week announced the sale of the Fresno Store to R. H. Crane, who has farmed in that community for a number of years. He has lived in the area since 1921 and is widely known among the people of that section of the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Battle have operated the store for nearly three years. They will make their future home in Wellington.

"The store will be operated on the same principles, and the same courteous service will be shown that you have known in the past. We have enjoyed your friendship and your patronage and we are happy that we can turn the store over to a man who knows the business and the interests of the people," Mr. Battle said.

Kiwanis Urges Church Attendance in Oct.

The Kiwanis Club this week reminded Wellington citizens that October has been designated as All-Out Church Attendance Month, and that during this time an effort is being made to increase attendance at nine churches in the city.

Rev. Austin Moore, chairman of the religious committee for the club, pointed out that while attendance the first Sunday was affected by bad weather, three Sundays remain in the month in which church attendance can be raised.

"We ask that you attend the church of your choice. Every church in Wellington needs your support and your attendance. If you are not now a church member, the churches give you a cordial invitation to come to their services. Among the nine churches here, there is one which you can call your church home," Rev. Moore said.

Fire Attacks A Home Every Two Minutes in U. S.

Fire starts in an American home every two minutes on the average, day and night, all the year round, warns the National Board of Fire Underwriters in calling attention to the increasing threat of fire. Destruction by fire in 1946 is highest in history, and all householders have been urged to take safety precautions.

While the housing shortage is causing nationwide concern, these safety steps are recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters not only for Fire Prevention week but for every week in the year.

Be careful with matches and smoking materials. Keep ash trays handy. Don't smoke in bed.

Be sure you have proper fuses in your box as "safety valves" for your electric system, and do not substitute fuses of larger amperage than your electrician advises—15 amperes usually is correct. Have all electrical work or extension of wiring done by an expert electrician.

Do not look for gas leaks with an open flame. Call the gas company if you think you have a leak.

Keep candles or open lights away from combustible decorations and costumes—and warn smokers, too.

Clear out papers, rubbish, litter and discarded items from attics, cellars and closets frequently.

Keep paint and oil rags or mops in tightly closed metal cans, unless you can dispose of them at once.

Place metal screens in front of fireplaces.

Empty hot ashes into metal containers instead of wood boxes or cartons.

Clean chimneys, furnaces, and stoves of soot. Check them carefully and have needed repairs made. Call in a heating expert if your furnace is inefficient and does not provide enough heat.

Look for beams or partitions that are blackened by heat radiated from a furnace or stove. Safe clearance for hot parts of heating plant should be at least 18 inches. If this is not possible insulate with asbestos.

Do not use gasoline, benzine or naphtha or other inflammable liquids for cleaning anywhere in the house, and do not store them.

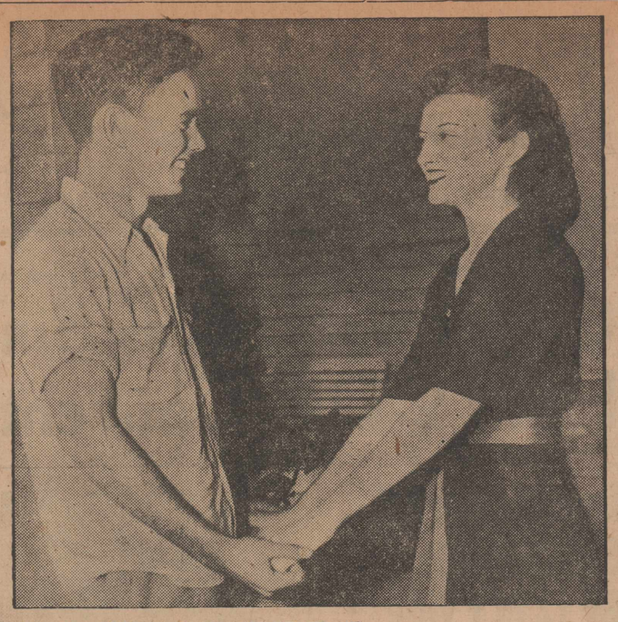

Do not use kerosene to quicken fires.

The Quail Future Farmer judging team competed in the contests sponsored at the Childress Fair Saturday, September 28. The team placed seventh, with Herbert Shanks high point man for the team.

With the prices high and bond buying heavy both spending and saving are on a high plane.

AT 19, SHE TALKS FIRST TIME

Learning to talk for the first time in her life, 19-year-old Alice Henley of Beaumont, Tex., greets her sweetheart, Roman Bruce, of China, Tex., at the Parker Foundation for Speech Correction, Dallas. Diphtheria cost Alice the power of speech while she was still a baby. Her recovery was made possible by John G. Goodhue, Beaumont oil man, who saw her working in his son's laundry. Dr. Claude C. Cody of Houston performed two operations, and the rest is just a matter of learning.

Big Potatoes Grown on Frank Ivy Farm Mile North of Wellington

Dry weather and hot sunshine failed to halt the growth of sweet potatoes in a patch on the Frank Ivy farm a mile north of town, it was shown when they were dug last week.

One potatoe tipped the scales at four pounds, and was sent by Mr. Ivy to be displayed in The Wellington Leader.

Not all the potatoes have been dug, and it is believed that there are probably others just as big in the ground.

Apparentely most bathing beauties believe in keeping their powder dry.

Questions on Veterans Aid

Q. What amount of guaranty may be issued on behalf of any one eligible veteran?

A. Up to $4,000 on real estate or up to $2,000 on personal property or business loans, and not more than 50 per cent of any loan may be guaranteed.

Q. If part of the guaranty has been used, how is the remaining guaranty computed?

A. To compute the used guaranty, subtract the amount of realty loan from $4,000. The sum remaining is the amount of realty guaranty available, or half that amount is the sum of personal property or business loan guaranty available.

Q. Are there any circumstances under which the guaranty may exceed 50 per cent of the loan?

A. Yes. Where a Federal Agency has made or is to make a guaranteed or insured loan for any of the eligible purposes, and the veteran needs a fully guaranteed second loan. This second loan may be fully guaranteed if—

(a) the amount is not in excess of the veteran's available guarantee, and

(b) the loan is not in excess of 20 per cent of the purchase price or cost.

Q. May several veterans use the guaranty to acquire property jointly?

A. Yes; but the total amount guaranteed may not exceed 50 per cent of the loan or the total entitlement for guaranty of the veterans, whichever is lesser. No loan may be guaranteed to exceed 50 per cent except a loan seconadry to one made, guaranteed or insured by a Federal Agency.

Q. May a lender require security, in addition to the property being purchased, if the lender is not satisfied with the loan without additional security?

A. Yes. This is a matter between the veteran and the lender. The VA does not object to its being given if the veteran is willing to give it.

Q. Is the guaranty or insurance privilege of a veteran restored to its original amount when the indebtedness is repaid?

A. No.

Rockets Defeat Wheeler 32-4 on Muddy Gridiron

A Skyrocket eleven that left no doubt in the minds of its fans as to the outcome of the game, overwhelmed the Wheeler Mustangs 34 to 4 on muddy Powell Field Friday night, October 4.

The Rockets scored in the first, second and third quarters. Four of these came after the Rockets had taken the ball deep into Mustang territory, from where short dashes netted the touchdowns. The other, however, came on a long 30 yard right end run by Junior Orr, playing at right half position.

The Mustangs took two points in the second quarter and two in the fourth, after Wellington fumbled and quick Wheeler action gave the two safeties.

In addition to Orr, Combs and Moore scored for Wellington.

Opening the game, Lowrie received the kick-off for Wheeler and the Mustangs were able to take the ball up to their 32 yard line before they lost it on downs. The Rockets also lost the ball in that area, and the Mustangs fared no better and again the ball went over on their 35 yard line. Runs by Moore and Combs advanced the ball steadily downfield to the three yard line, from where Moore, Rocket left half, went over for the first touchdown. Orr hit center for the extra point.

The Rockets had started their second goal line march when the quarter ended, and with the opening of the second period, Moore and Combs on short runs got the ball in position for the latter to make his 5-yard run through center for a touchdown. He then went through center for the extra point.

Hubbard returned the punt to his 40 yard line, then picked up a few more yards before Lowrie quick-kicked 47 yards to the Rocket 8 yard line—the longest punt of the evening for either side. The Rockets gained about 12 yards but a penalty for clipping put the ball back on their 5 yard mark. Moore punted in the end zone, but a Wheeler player blocked the punt and another Wheeler man covered the ball for a safety.

Wheeler fumbled the kickoff and McPherson recovered for the Rockets. The ball was advanced up through center field, then Orr took it around right end 30 yards for the Rockets' third score. The try for the extra point was no good.

The half ended 20 to 2.

Early in the third, Strickland, Moore, and Ingram took turns carrying the ball downfield, and Orr took a short sprint with the ball for the fourth touchdown.

In that same period, Strickland intercepted a pass from Lowrie to Martin on the 40 yard line and returned to the Wheeler 30. Moore, Strickland and Combs again drove downfield and set the stage for Moore to go over right tackle for the final Rocket score. Wellington failed to make the extra point.

A short time later Lowrie quick-kicked and the ball was killed on the Wheeler two yard line. On the next play a touchback gave Wheeler their final two points of the game.

The starting lineup included:

Texas Farm Income Up During July

AUSTIN—Texas farmers received 29 per cent more money from sale of their products during July than they did during June, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports. According to estimates by the Bureau, the income for July was greater than any month since November, 1945.

The $127,447,000 received by Texas farmers during July brought their income for the year thus far to within 1.3 per cent of the total income for the first seven months of 1945. By July 31 farmers had received $555,114,000 for their 1946 crops, as compared with $562,655,000 at the same time last year.

The index of farm cash income, based on the 1935-39 period, stood at 333.7 in July, as compared with 265.4 in June 1946 and 235.0 in July 1945.

Largely accounting for the exceptionally large income during July were the increases in prices of the more important farm commodities and exceptionally large wheat crop harvested in West Texas. Overshadowing the second smallest crop of cotton in over five decades was the sharp (16.5 per cent) rise in the price of cotton, which was particularly significant in increasing the cash income of the Rio Grande Valley and the coastal bend areas.

With a bumper crop of wheat threshed in the Panhandle and a 5.2 per cent rist in wheat prices in Texas, cash income in West Texas was considerably higher than in June and was well above the July 1945 level. Livestock price increases ranged from 10 to 13 per cent and were significant in adding to the money income of Texas farmers.

With the exception of the income from wheat marketings, the high cash receipts during June resulted primarily from rapidly rising prices during the first month of uncontrolled markets.

Children's Diseases Serious in Winter

AUSTIN—Young children may suffer as much from winter illnesses as they do from those commonly known as "summer complaints," in the opinion of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, and his advice to parents as the winter season approaches is to guard babies and young children against these winter health hazards.

Influenza, tonsilitis, pneumonia, bronchitis, and asthma are included among those diseases which may be dangerous winter illnesses among young children since they affect the respiratory or breathing system. Such disease as pneumonia may develop from a neglected cold, they may follow as an after-effect of measles or whooping cough, or they may occur suddenly and with very little warning. These diseases of the respiratory system are more prevalent in winter than in summer and are much more difficult to combat than digestive ailments such as summer complaints.

"These winter diseases are particularly dangerous to babies and young children," Dr. Cox stated. "Nearly all of them are spread through secretions from the nose and mouth. Children not in vigorous health are naturally more susceptible to these complaints and the first line of defense," Dr. Cox cautioned, "is to strengthen the powers of resistance against disease; the second is to keep them under medical supervision and the third is to make sure they avoid contact with others who have coughs, colds, or fevers."

HYDRAULIC POWR-TROL . . NEWEST DEVELOPMENT IN FARM EQUIPMENT ANNOUNCED BY LOCAL JOHN DEERE DEALER

POWR-TROL ELIMINATES LIFTING, LOWERING AND REGULATING FARM EQUIPMENT By HAND

The Wellington Motor & Tractor Company is announcing one of the most important new farm equipment developments in recent years —the new John Deere Hydraulic Powr-Trol.

Engineered by John Deere, this time- and labor-saving device is a radical departure from the conventional method of lifting, lowering, and regulating drawn implements by hand. Safe, smooth, positive, hydraulic power does the job —relieves the operator of reaching for hand-lift levers on drawn implements, lifting and lowering by hand, and tugging on ropes. He merely drives the tractor and watches his work.

At a touch on a convenient control lever, Powr-Trol RAISES AND LOWERS plow bottoms or disks . . . grain drill openers . . . mower cutter bars . . . combine platforms . . . corn picker gatherers . . . potato digger shovels etc.—ANGLES AND STRAIGHTENS disk harrow gangs—INSTANTLY changes the working angle, depth, or height of drawn implements to meet varying field and crop conditions without stopping the tractor or even slowing down.

Powr-Trol operates drawn implements by means of a single remote cylinder which attaches to the implement and is connected to the tractor by two hoses. The cylinder has a double action. Moving the control lever backward or forward exerts hydraulic pressure through the hoses in either directon to force a piston rod in or out of the cylinder, thereby actuating the equipment. This not only assures a positive lift but it also forces and holds the implement to its work in any position selected by the operator. Two speeds are provided so that the operator can rase or lower the implement in a jiffy, or slowly to secure any accurate in-between position.

Integral equipment is operated from the rock shaft by the same control lever in much the same manner as with the hydraulic power lift, pioneered by John Deere, excepting for an important new feature — accurate, variable depth control. The operator can quickly and easily secure any desired intermediate working position between maximum lift and maximum depth by touching the control lever and releasing it when the desired position has been reached. This can be done while the tractor is in motion or stationary.

The new John Deere Hydraulic Powr-Trol means easier, faster, better work on every job. It's an exclusive John Deere feature, designed for John Deere Models "A," "B," and "GM" Tractors and companion John Deere farm equipment. Powr-Trols will be available in very limited quantities during the next few months. However, everything is being done at the factory to increase production and, in line with the John Deere policy of offering John Deere owners the advantages of modern improvements wherever possible, the new Powr-Trol has been designed to fit the above tractors now in the field which are equipped with a hydraulic power lift having a drop-regulating valve. Change-over assemblies will be available at a later date.

All John Deere integral equipment which works with the hydraulic power lift on the above tractors is adaptable to Powr-Trol without change. Change-over parts for converting certain older John Deere drawn implements to remote-cylinder operation are in the process of design or manufacture.

REDDY KILOWATT'S five year war record stands out as one of the great industrial achievements of all time. During this period, more than eleven million kilowatts of generating machinery were installed and $3,000,000,000 was spent for power stations, transmission lines and other facilities.

A total of 300,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of electric power was generated for war purposes, of which the business-managed, tax-paying electric companies supplied 83⅓ per cent.

Revenue from the sale of power generated for war purposes amounted to $2,350,000,000 and almost the same amount, $2,194,000,000 was paid in direct federal taxes.

Oh, yes! During this five year period, price of electric services by business-managed electric companies was reduced by 11 per cent.

That's freedom of enterprise at work when all the cards are down.

Gospel Of Christ
(Rom. 1:16)
THE LORD'S DAY

There is much error today concerning the Sabbath. Many persons speak of the "Christian Sabbath." Sabbath means rest. The term "Christian Sabbath" is not in the Bible. The sabbath was a Hebrew institution, was not given to any Gentile, and the reason for it precluded its being given to any others. "Remember thou wast a servant in the land of Egypt, and the Lord thy God brought thee out . . . . ;therefore the Lord thy God commanded thee to keep the sabbath day." Deut. 5:15. It is as reasonable for a white Gentile to observe the negro's "Juneteenth" as the Hebrew sabbath.

This Jewish sabbath was to cease. "I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast days, her new moons, and her sabbaths." Hos. 2:11. They did cease. "Blotting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us and contrary to us, and took it out of His way nailing it to His cross . . . Let no man therefore judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of an holy day, or of the sabbath days." Col. 2:14-16. If you believe the Bible the question is settled.

"The seventh day is the sabbath." Ex. 20:10. The next day is the first day of the week. Jesus rose from the dead on that day, so it is the day to remember him. "Upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached to them." Acts 20:7. The first day of the week is the "Lord's Day."

Rent Survey to Be Made in City

The Rent Director has issued a warning to all landlords that a survey will be made in this area in the near future to ascertain the number of violations of the Rent Regulations in the following respects: (1) the number of houses, apartments, or rooms which are now rented but have not been registered with the Area Rent Office, (2) the number of houses, apartments, or rooms which are now rented differently than the way they are registered with the area rent office, and (3) the number of failures to file change in tenancy statements.

Landlords will be given an opportunity to register their property prior to the survey. Also if the landlord is in doubt as to whether the present tenant's name and proper mailing address has been submitted to the area rent office, they should request the proper forms at their earliest convenience and submit this information.

This notice is given in order that the landlords might have an opportunity to voluntarily comply with the rent regulations rather than waiting for the rent control office to uncover these violations.

Assistance in filling out registration statements will be given to those who wish to call at the Area Rent Office, which is located at 125 1-2 Commerce Street, Childress. If it is impossible to make a personal call to the office, the forms needed will be mailed upon request.

Scarlet Fever On Increase

AUSTIN — The State Department of Health has just issued a warning in regard to scarlet fever, as the number of cases usually increases during the fall-months. The majority of deaths from this disease occur from October through February.

Scarlet fever is a very contagious and serious disease. Grown people may contract it, but children under 15 years are especially apt to have it, if exposed. It is especially dangerous for children under 5 years, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, warns mothers to "not let your children take any chances with scarlet fever. Call the doctor as soon as the first symptoms appear."

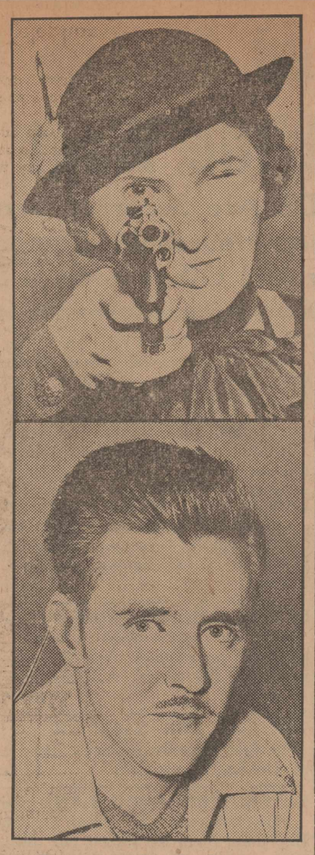

If your child has contracted scarlet fever, the first signs you may notice are that he seems tired, restless and out of sorts. Usually, there is a sore throat, chills, vomiting, or convulsions and fever. His skin is dry and hot. His tongue is furred, and, under this white covering, it is red and swollen. In ordinary cases, these early signs are followed in a day or two by a rash. Little flat red points, close together, appear first on the neck and chest and soon the rash, very red in color, spreads over most of the body.

The doctor is required by law to report the case to the local health officer. Do your part by following carefully the quarantine instructions which the health officer will give you, since a severe or fatal case of scarlet fever may develop from contact with some one who has only a light attack. Children who have had scarlet fever, or who have been exposed, must not return to school until permission is given by the health officer and physician.

Six-Inch Rain -

well as stockmen, report that nothing could be better. Farmers with cotton and feed, however, feel that while the rain will do much toward giving a good ground season, it has meant considerable loss to them, since it has prevented small bolls and young feed from maturing and they will be unable to mature before frost.

PICKS WRONG GAL

Robert Secor (bottom), say Chicago police, is a poor picker. They report he accosted Policewoman Alice McCarthy (top) in a park and when he tripped her and knocked her down, she yanked a revolver from her purse, shot him twice in the chest. On the police force 22 years, she is a crack shot.

A son, Kenneth Paul, was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Branum in Amarillo, September 28. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Branum of Wellington.

A Ghost Rises In South Texas

COLLEGE STATION—Texas is noted as a land of experiments in colonization and now and then echoes are heard from an enterprise to capitalize the land and climate which began with high hopes in the distant years but crumbled when the unpredictable Texas weather took over. The ghosts of a long ago settlement in the extreme southeastern corner of Lavaca County are stirring, says County Agricultural Agent G. C. King.

More than 35 years ago, he relates, several hundred families were brought down from the north to colonize the region. Each bought five to ten acre plots of land and planted orange orchards. A town was laid out, a hotel and a number of homes were built, and a high school erected "In fact, Providence City at one time had a population of 500 persons."

Things went well for a few years, but one winter a bitter blue norther blew in and killed the orange trees. As a result most of the settlers became discourged and returned north where winter was winter and crops grew only in summer.

As time moved on experience taught that successful farming was in the soil and not citrus. Accordingly, says Mr. King, the owners now are sinking 10-inch wells about 900 feet deep and plan to put most of the land in this one-time settlement into rice this fall.

"It will be the first rice grown in Lavaca County," he explains. "but a few miles across the border in Colorado County rice has done well." It is hoped that the adventure with rice will prove more profitable than the attempt at orange culture in the early years of the new century.

Personal

Mrs. J. M. Shields of Los Angeles visited several days last week in the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. P. M. Shields, and with friends here. Mrs. Shields and her family lived in Wellington for many years.

R. L. Gillentine and H. F. Weir made a business trip to Fort Worth this week.

Mrs. Grady Van Pelt spent the week end in Amarillo visiting with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Van Pelt.

Mrs. Thelma Fisher spent the week end in Amarillo visiting relatives.

Tyler Electric Changes Name

J. Beryl Faulkner announced this week that he has purchased the complete stock of Tyler Electric and is changing the name of the store to Plains Electric.

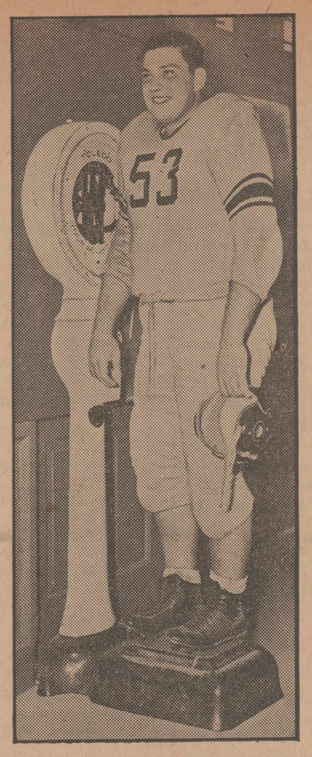

Formerly owned jointly by R. H. Tyler and J. B. Faulkner, Tyler Electric was established in Wellington nearly two years ago, shortly after both Tyler and Faulkner were released from the Armed Forces. Since that time the business has been steadily growing and not long ago they opened a new store in Clarendon.

Mr. Tyler has taken over the store in Clarendon, leaving the Wellington store to Faulkner.

According to Mr. Faulkner there will be no changes in the policies of the business other than to give you better and faster service. New stock is being added as fast as it becomes available, and only the best of everything is stocked.

Electrical refrigeration service, formerly offered by the store, has been discontinued and will be handled in the future by Mr. Tyler from his home here.

Massachusetts was the first state to receive an Indian name. It was named after a bay and means "near the great hills."

NOT SO HEAVY

Rumor has it that Jim Kekeris, the Missouri Tigers' all-Big Six Conference tackle, weighs 300 pounds, but he denies it. To silence doubters, he takes to the scales, above, and shows that he tips the beam at a mere 284 1-2 pounds.

J. D. Wilson Heads Hillsboro Schools

J. D. Wilson, former county superintendent of this county and a resident here for a number of years, Is now head of the Hillsboro Public Schools.

After leaving here, Mr. Wilson headed the schools at Paducah for several years, then went to Ballinger in the capacity of superintendent.

'The Divine Creed' Is Subject of Sermon At Christian Church

All members are urged to attend, and a cordial invitation is extended to visitors.

Are Returning Veterans "Different"?

During the war you heard a lot about how hard it was going to be for returning veterans to get adjusted to civilian life . . . how they'd be "different."

Well, plenty of them have returned to our town, and a finer, steadier bunch you couldn't ask for. Most of them are back at the same jobs . . . going with the same nice home-town girls (getting married, some of them, and setting up families) . . . renewing the same old friendships.

Even their amusements are the same. Nothing more exciting than fishing Seward's creek or pitching horseshoes . . . enjoying an outdoor barbecue with friendly wholesome beer and pleasant talk.

If they've changed at all it's in the direction of maturity and tolerance . . . tolerance for everything except dictators, and those who would destroy our democratic principles of live and let live. And from where I sit, that's another reason to be proud of them.

OIL-PLATES Your Engine!

IN the great San Francisco-Oakland bridge, a tremendous tug-of-war goes on continuously between gravity and molecular attraction. Because the attractive force between the molecules in the cables balances gravity's down-pull the bridge stays up.

Through continuous experiment with the mighty forces of molecular attraction, Conoco scientists are able to produce new and better oils for America's motorists. For instance, by utilizing forces of molecular attraction, a special ingredient of Conoco N*th* motor oil is bonded to working surfaces of your engine, so that cylinder walls are OIL-PLATED.

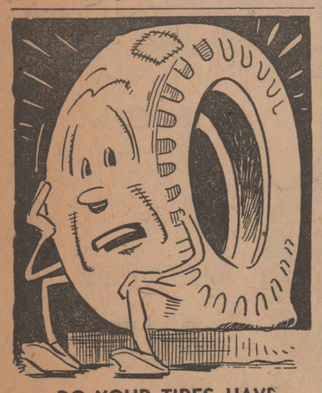

And because molecular attraction holds Conoco OIL-PLATING up where it belongs...prevents it from all draining down to the crankcase, even overnight... you get these benefits:

added protection when your engine starts up
added protection from corrosive action added protection from wear that leads to fouling sludge and carbon added smooth, silent miles

That's why to OIL-PLATE now...at Your Conoco Mileage Merchant's. Look for the red triangle. Continental Oil Company

Katy Resumes Pullman Service

DALLAS — Donald V. Fraser, president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad, announced this week that set-out Pullman sleeping car service between Austin and Dallas-Fort Worth will be resumed effective October 15 (southbound) and October 16 (northbound). Under this arrangement, Pullman berths may be occupied at Dallas and Fort Worth at 9:30 p.m. for departures at 11:00 p.m., the cars to be parked at Austin for occupancy until 8:00 a.m. the following morning. Northbound the cars may be occupied at Austin at 9:30 p.m. for departure on the 1:15 a.m. train, with occupancy at Dallas and Fort Worth until 8:00 a.m.

Mr. Fraser pointed out that this is a resumption of service discontinued in December, 1942, because of wartime requirements. "A careful study discloses that there is now a demand for this service," Mr. Fraser said, "and the Katy is anxious to provide service to meet the needs of the citizens of these three key cities of Texas." Mr. Fraser said he is hopeful patronage indicated by the present demand will justify continuance of the service as a profitable arrangement.

Consumption of Cotton Rises

AUSTIN—The consumption of cotton by Texas mills totaled 18,899 bales during August 1946, representing an increase of 8 per cent over the amount used in August of last year and almost 8 per cent more than was consumed in July of this year, according to data compiled by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas in cooperation with the Department of Commerce.

Although there was an increase of 3 per cent in the amount of cotton linters used by Texas industries over the corresponding month of last year, the total of 1,340 bales consumed in August was 46 per cent less than the number of bales used in July of this year.

DIMES CAN ADD UP

That dime looks mighty small, but it's the symbol of a good-sized headache for the four Chicago waitresses in the picture. They have been informed that they are being assessed $645 income tax on tips for the last two years. Pictured pointing to the root of their trouble are, left to right, Attorney James A. O'Callaghan, whom they consulted; Ruby Turn, Edith R. Eppley, Della Deacy, and Myrtle Wood.

Farm and Ranch Chatter

With Layne Beaty, WBAP, Fort Worth

It doesn't seem to do very well in Texas, except in the wetter areas but a vine called kudzu is stopping erosion in gullies and ditches and stream banks nearly everywhere in Alabama, where this writer spent a few days recently.

The plant, a perennial which requires 40 inches of rainfall at least is a legume, which puts down a root at every joint and makes big green leaves, which cattle graze. Some farmers even cut and bale the leaves.

A visit to the campus of Tuskegee Instute, for Negroes, included a look at the personal museum of the late Dr. George Washington Carver. Among the many amazing things this famous scientist developed is a way to make dye from Johnson grass.

Other Alabama sights include the monument erected by citizens of the town of Enterprize to honor the boll weevil, which in 1917 turned to a diversified program with peanuts outranking cotton as the main cash crop. Now, however, there is a peanut leaf worm which is doing almost as much damage as did the boll weevil.

A. W. Slocum, speaking from WBAP studios, told a nationwide audience last week on the "News of the World" program, that the public won't get much meat as long as there is a ceiling price on live meat and none on grain feeds. Mr. Slocum, with his brothers, Jeff and Fred, have 2500 steers on feed and grass at Cresson, in Hood county.

About a hundred Grayson county dairymen are enthusiastic about their month-old insemination cooperative. Some of all principal dairy breeds is shipped by rail overnight from Muskogee, Oklahoma, to Denison, and used next morning in Grayson county.

Collin county, latest to elect a soil conservation district, is not electing its board of supervisors. McKinney, the county seat, has erected three new sheet metal barns for the big annual county livestock show.

Cotton crop insurance for 1947 will be slightly altered to make for better coverage at the various stages of production. We suggest you see your county AAA officials if you're interested.

Cotton pickers are in demand now in practially every cotton section of the state except in the lower Rio Grand Valley and the coastal bend areas. Cotton in Northeast Texas is reported running up without blooms, almost all damaged by boll weevils, with a heavy infestation of adult weevils.

Experts agree that next year's insects should be combatted now by an early harvest and destruction of the cotton stalks, to starve the insects out. Plowing under of stalks is recommended. burning is equally effective as an insect control measure, but returns no humus to the soil.

Fire Kills More People Than War

Since 1920, more Americans have lost their lives by fire than in all the devastating battles of World War II, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. In the last decade, 100,000 victims have been claimed by fire, and 170,000 more have been seriously burned, many of them disfigured for life.

Fire Prevention Week is being observed this week. During the week and during every other week the American people can effectively prevent fire by following a few simple rules. Ninety per cent of all fires, big and little, are preventable. The National Fire Waste Council offers these suggestions to the homeowner and business man:

Check from cellar to attic for rubbish—and get rid of it. Check heating systems. Keep ashes in metal containers and shield fireplaces with screens. Don't smoke in bed, and keep plenty of ash trays handy. Don't clean your clothes at home with flammable agents. Never bring gasoline into the house for any purpose. Keep matches away from children. Replace frayed electric cords and defective electric appliances.

There's nothing difficult or costly about these rules. And their observance would save this country thousands of lives and hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property every year. The big job of fire prevention simply consists of all of us doing little jobs regularly and conscientiously.

Editorial

The War Department, confronted with a dislike for compulsory military service that is universal but more effective in a democracy where votes can determine policy than elsewhere, has watered down its plans for blanket service in its new plan. The Army is keenly aware that until we live in a less hazardous world, the country must be prepared for eventuality. The United States must face that fact. It is the argument for required service. It is sober (and sobering), highly disagreeable but nevertheless a fact. Homeopathic treatment will not cure it.

The plan proposed by Secretary Patterson is as sugar-coated as military authority can make it in hopes of congressional sanction. Teaching the young idea to shoot is to be achieved somewhere in the 17-20 age bracket. The Army wants, sensibly, a basic six months training. It wants an additional six months of the same or an equivalent in ROTC training or preparation in college for a specialist career while tethered to the enlisted reserve.

It can be foreseen that the ROTC provision if adopted will almost automatically force senior colleges not offering this training to provide it. There are other objections to compulsory training, of course. The plain truth is that it is unpalatable on any terms. Equally plain is the truth that we risk too much by not having it.

Granted that the war of the future may be so unlike the war of the past that it is entirely possible that no training can be set up fitted to it. Preparation for some eventuality is better than no preparation at all. Sensible people do not discard insorance against loss becausé of ignorance of what loss they may suffer. Sensible people also hope that it may never be necessary to realize on insurance claims. Certainly the nation holds the hope that it may never have another war, but experience is against realization.

On the credit side, there is not only some assurance of prepared defensive strength, but the certainty that young America will be physically improved by Army attention to and repair of its defects, by grounding in health and sanitation habits that most draftees will retain throughout life. Other advantages depend on the capacity of the Army for leadership and forethought. Compulsorily trained American youngsters may emerge from servce self-disciplined and with broader knowledge of their country and its needs.

The Army plan merits commendation for its heroic effort to satisfy all requirements of a many-sided problem. Congress in acting upon it must keep in mind that a bad training bill is worse than none at all.—The Dallas Morning News.

Other Editors Say

• Fall Scene

The usual fall time scene was noted on the streets of Vernon Saturday. Numerous trucks parked around the court house square that hod brought in Mexican families to pick cotton. A mother nursing the youngest member of the set. Soda pop, all-day suckers and sweets from the local bakeries being enjoyed by other little fellows of the tribe.

Sometimes these trucks that bring in our neighbors from across the Rio Grande, stand at a given spot for several hours during the day. The mother takes care of the children while the head of the family, along with others that sometimes make up the picking force, scout the country for cotton to pick. We have heard some farmers say that some of these Mexican families are more dependable in harvest fields than Negroes and lots of white folks.—Charles P. Ross in The Vernon Times.

• Now If All the Cotton—

If all the cotton in Hall County were as good as the one stalk brought to The Democrat office last week, this county's gins might expect to have a bumper job of ginning some 75 or 80 thousand bales this year.

The stalk, brought in by Harless Robertson, came from his farm near Lakeview, which George Wiggins is farming. A total of 85 bolls were on the stalk when Robertson pulled it from the field.

But Robertson went on to say that nearby was cotton with hardly any bolls on the stalks—so please don't get too optimistic. —The Memphis Democrat.

BOYCE HOUSE "Gives You Texas"

Your columnist has been interested all his life in public affairs

Away back yonder in the seventh grade, I lived in Mississippi, famed for its political oratory, and heard some of the spellbinders of the era that produced Senators James K. Vardaman and John Sharp Williams. Then, in high school days in Memphis, Tennessee, I heard William Jennings Bryan, Senator Bob La Follette (the original) and former Governor Malcolm R. Patterson, the greatest political orator I've ever heard.

The subject of keenest interest to me in high school was debating Our coach was a young red-headed, dynamic teacher from Texas, James Leonard Highsaw, who used to live in Delta and Collin counties. I took every subject he taught; economics, government, history and sociology. Then after school three of his favorite "boys" would meet in his room and we would prepare for next debate until it grew too dark to see.

We debated such subjects as the one-house legislature, initiative and recall, captial punishment, government ownership of utilities and the tariff.

We had two literary societies and debated within our society, also in inter-society contests and with other high schools. My two colleagues on the high school team were orators. Sterling Tracy won the State high school oratorical championship and, in the University of Wisconsin, he won the oratorical championship of the "Big Ten." Clifford Davis is about to begin his fourth term in Congress.

Your columnist lacked the speaking ability of these two and tried to make up for his deficiency by studying hard on the subject. In the rebuttal, where the speaking has to be extemporaneous, I used to attain a speed of 200 words a minute. The other boys were generous and elected me captain of the team.

Rural Fire Losses Heavy

COLLEGE STATION—In connection with Fire Prevention Week, beginning October 6, President Harry S. Truman has asked "every citizen to do his part by learning how to detect and eliminate all possible causes of fires in his home and in his business."

According to a U. S. Department of Agriculture report received by the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, the answer to the President's request must come to a great extent from the rural people. Last year, fire destroyed $200,000,000 in rural property—almost half of total fire losses in the United States. Fire also took 3500 lives on farms last year and 30,000,000 acres of forest land were destroyed by fire. These losses are now at a 16-year high and are climbing steadily.

For every week as well as Fire Prevention Week, the Department of Agriculture has made these suggestions to rural people for stopping fire losses:

Keep handy at all times at least a few fire-fighting tools, such as water pails, tall ladders and fire extinguishers. Establish fire breaks around haystacks, farm buildings and maturing crops of high fire hazard and go over the farm carefully looking for fire hazards and getting rid of them. Enlist the aid of local fire officials in making frequent inspections of premises; install proper lightning rods; and try to make new buildings fire-safe. Remember that the best way to fight fire is to keep it from starting.

Garson and Gable In 'Adventure'

Clark Gable and Greer Garson together for the first time spell "Adventure!" That's the title of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's Academy Award filled drama which unites two of the greatest box-office names of all time on the Ritz screen.

Not only does the picture bring these two great champions together, but is has Victor Fleming, the man responsible for such history-making films as "Gone With the Wind," "Test Pilot" and "A Guy Named Joe," as director.

For the first time in three and a half years, Clark Gable trades his Major's uniform for screen grab. As bo'sun of the Merchant Marine freighter, "Minnie Tolbert," he is seen as a rough, tough sailor. It is the two-fisted, virile type of role which has made Gable a box-office champion for ten years, a record unequaled by any other actor is Hollywood.

Miss Garson, too, changes characterizations completely. She tosses aside her bustle of "Madame Curie" and "Mrs. Parkington" for Irene-designed clothes of today. As Emily, pretty but strait-laced librarian who discovers she has a temper to match her red hair when she meets Gable, the actress has a chance to display her talents not only for the emotional roles which have brought her an Academy Award, but the sophisticated comedy which made her a favorite of the London stage.

Stellar support for the spectacular duo is provided by Joan Blondell as the flip and fast talking roommate of Miss Garson. Another Academy Award winner in the cast is Thomas Mitchell as Mudgin, "the man who loses his soul." Also in the cast are Tom Tully, John Qualen, Richard Haydn and the vivacious Lina Romay who not only makes her screen debut as a full-fledged actress but receives her first screen kiss from Gable.

With five Academy Award winners—Gable, Garson, Fleming, Mitchell and Cinimatographer Joseph Ruttenberg togather in "Adventure," the picture combines stars, romance, adventure, humor, tragedy and laughter, culminating in the most exciting drama of the year.

Fires Increase In Cold Weather

Cold weather brings more fires. Firemen are kept busier than ever saving lives and putting out fires in fall and winter weather, warns the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Census Bureau figures averaged for six years show deaths from fire increase almost 150 per cent from August to January. Destruction of property by fire mounts up 50 per cent in the same months.

One cause of this jump in destructive fires is starting furnaces and stoves for cold weather season without first checking them for defects and cleaning pipes and flues. Under heavy winter use more equipment becomes dangerous and causes fires.

The following safety steps are recommended before real winter sets in: Inspect heating plants and chimneys. Clean out soot throughly. Look for worn, damaged or rusted parts in equipment and have them replaced or repaired. Check the smokepipe for holes through which sparks might fly; replace if necessary. If chimney is cracked or if mortor is damaged, have repairs made.

Look especially for burnable material blackened by radiated heat because of insufficient space between stove and wall. The minimum safe clearance is 18 inches. If cleanance cannot be increased, insulate with sheet asbestos. Be sure the method of operating the heating plant is safe. Never "force" a furnace that does not provide enough heat. Instead, call in a heating expert to make the plant function efficiently.

Always put ashes in metal containers. Place a metal screen in front of the fireplace to protect children who play too close to the fire, and to prevent hot sparks setting fire to rugs and flooring. Keep portable oil heaters in safe condition and place them where they can't be knocked over or ignite curtains.

These safety suggestions are offered as part of the Fire Prevention week program to save lives and property.
