McCloskey Council Is Denied Cross Examination; Records To Be Submitted To House Contest

(By Associated Press) SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 30.—Threats of contempt proceedings in Congress by Chairman Lehbach of the house committee investigating the disputed result of the 14th Texas District congressional race had a salutary effect in the hearing which ended today.

Anton Wozniak, one of three precinct election judges claiming to have lost or misplaced their copies of the official results, returned today with his copy, explaining he found it under his brother's trunk. This amused the crowd, which had to be quieted. Lehbach had told the judges to produce "hear from Washington," mentioning the seriousness of "contempt."

Examine Judges Closely
The committee closely examined election judges and county commissioners as to the method of counting, first results of which gave County Judge Augustus McCloskey, Democrat, victory by 300 votes over Republican Congressman Harry Wurzbach, who is contesting the validity of McCloskey's commissioner court canvass. Going behind this canvass, the committee ordered photostatic copies made of the original returns in the 17 disputed precincts.

McCloskey denied previous testimony that he was furnished an election judge's copy of precinct returns before the official result was announced. Sheriff-elect Alphonso Newton swore that he obtained the

Northcott Denies Murder Confession

Alleged "Murder Farm" Proprietor Is Arraigned On Charge of Killing A Mexican Youth

(By Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 30.—Arraigned on a charge of murder and awaiting arraignment on three more, Gordon Stewart Northcott, 21 years old Riverside chicken farmer, denied from his jail cell here tonight that he had confessed as officers announced, that he had killed an unidentified Mexican boy in Riverside.

Northcott was brought here today by Los Angeles and Riverside county officers from Vancouver, B. C., after a long delay due to extradition red tape.

Assessed of Four Deaths
In indictments, Northcott is accused of murdering four boys. Three indictments were returned in Riverside county and one in Los Angeles county. The Los Angeles indictment charges the rancher with the murder of a Mexican boy in this city. It was on the indictment that Northcott was suddenly and unexpectedly arraigned today and his trial date set for December 5.

New York Aggie Flies to Game

AUSTIN, Nov. 30. (P)—A "Loose Eagle" was discontinuously winging his way back to New York today. He had flown to Austin in his airplane to see his alma mater play Texas University in Thanksgiving's football game.

E. B. Anding of New York, who was graduated from Texas A. and M. in 1926 decided last Tuesday he wanted to mix with the Farmers for a spell. He started his air flyer and landed here Wednesday. He departed today for the return trip, glad he came but disappointed because Texas won.

Leave For Institute

DALLAS, Nov. 30. (P)—Several hundred Texas oil men will leave here on a special train tomorrow to attend the annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute at Chicago.

U.S. And Canadian Customs Officers Join Hands To Squelch Rum Running Along Water Boundaries

Driest Holidays Are Foreseen For Area Around Detroit

(By Associated Press) DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 30.—The United States and Canadian governments moved simultaneously today to crush the rum running and bootlegging rackets along the Detroit water boundary, estimated to represent a $50,000,000 a year industry.

While United States customs officials were arresting eleven border patrol inspectors on charges of accepting bribes and conspiracy to aid in the smuggling of liquor into the United States from Canada, provincial authorities were issuing orders for closing of thirty liquor export docks in Canadian border cities.

Dry Holiday Likely
The immediate effect of the cross-fire from both sides of the border is expected to be the driest holiday in the Detroit area in years.

The closing of export docks on the Canadian side of the border was issued by the Ontario Liquor Control Board, and W. D. Euler, minister of national revenue to centralize the liquor export business. In ten large docks to be under strict supervision of customs officers.

Gil Is Inaugurated Mexican President

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30.—(P)—Luis G. Calles is provisional president of Mexico, to serve one year until a regular president is elected.

He took over the reins of government today which were held by the slain president-elect Alvaro Obregon and pledged his administration to a continuance of the policies of President Plutarco Elias Calles, whom he succeeded.

He made special mention of his hope of continuing a mutual understanding with the United States.

Grand stands in the National Stadium were filled with more than 20,000 persons, including 2,000 persons wearing white suits and broad sashes.

After he had taken the oath, Porfirio Gil read a brief message outlining his policies and his confidence in the new government.

Coolidge Sends Message To New Mexican President

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. (P)—President Coolidge today sent a message to Provisional President Luis Porfirio Gil, of Mexico, saying:

"Upon the occasion of your inauguration as provisional president of Mexico, I wish to express my sincere good wishes for the success of your administration and for the prosperity and happiness of the people of Mexico."

Troop Six Wins Efficiency Award For Month; Adair Named For Honor

November Court of Honor for Lubbock Scouts Is Session Last Night; Gene Adair Approved For National Harmon Foundation Award by Court

Troop number Six, Boy Scouts of America, of the Lubbock district, won the efficiency contest for the month and was awarded the efficiency banner at the Court of Honor, held in the Ninety-Ninth district court room at the courthouse Friday night.

This troop, in spite of several handicaps, one of which is that it has been without a scoutmaster for several months, will keep this banner for a month, because it made a better record than any other of the seven troops in this district, making 17 points. Second place went to Troop number 7, with 9 points and third place to Troop 4, with eight points.

Edison Is Leader
George Edison, assistant scoutmaster of Troop Six, has been leading the organization since the scoutmaster left a few months ago. The Wasting A Million Dollars—Absolutely No!

Today Lubbock county voters go to the polls to make their wishes known on the bond issue. It is every citizen's duty to cast a ballot as his conscience dictates.

Opponents of Lubbock county's proposed bond issue have charged that the county would be wasting a million dollars in paving the paved roads as outlined in the plan of the Lubbock County Good Roads Association. State highway engineers—men who know their business—say that the county roads are of a high type, that they should last indefinitely and that the estimate is ample to secure this high type of roads. Where then is the waste?

It is an easy matter to fight anything that costs money. People of Lubbock county expect to spend some money in the development of their county agriculturally and commercially. The greatest vehicle to accomplish this is paved roads. The Morning Avalanche believes that the majority of Lubbock county people want paved roads and with them, continued development. The Morning Avalanche has no axe to grind—its ambition is to see the people of the Plains prosperous and happy. It believes that paved roads are a means to that end. A great need for all-weather roads is well known. Today is our chance to get them.
Forward with Lubbock county!

Moody Favors Law For Appointment Of Superintendents

Governor Says Appointment Of County Superintendents Would Eliminate Political Defects

(By Associated Press) SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 30.—Governor Moody will favor passage of a law by the 41st legislature providing for appointment of county superintendents instead of the election of the present officeholders. He declares today in a message to the 40th annual convention of the Texas State Teachers' association.

Such a law, he explained, would tend to remove this office from politics. He pointed out that practically every teacher has seen cases of a "handshaking" man being elected to office, when he was not well qualified for the work.

In addition to the general sessions, the 37 sections of the association met today for consideration of departmental problems, and throughout the whole day teachers took time to cast secret ballots for next year's officers.

Dr. P. W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, Lubbock, discussed college entrance requirements.

Robbers Hold Up Truck of Airmail

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 30. (P)—Two robbers held up an airmail truck on its way to Lambert-St. Louis field late today and escaped with five five sacks of outgoing airmail, including several registered packages. The amount of money contained in the packages has not been ascertained.

Harry C. Graham, driver of the mail car, a post office employee, accompanied by his wife, was driving toward the field on the outskirts of the city, when the robbers drove up and crowded the truck to the side of the road.

Rescue Ships Save Crew of Freighter

Disabled Canadian-American Ship Is Reached by Three Rescue Ships; The Steamer Lists 15 Degrees

(By Associated Press) SEATTLE, Nov. 30.—With three rescue vessels standing by and two more on route, the disabled Canadian-American Shipping company freighter Chief Macquille was walloping in the trough of the Pacific about 300 miles from Dutch Harbor, Alaska, today.

Forty men, eight white officers and a crew of 32 Chinese, were saved aboard the freighter, which was out of control with 15 feet of water in the engine room and a 15 degree list.

The Japanese steamer Montreal Maru was the first to reach the Macquille early today. The Montreal Maru was joined by the British freighter Atlantic City and the Japanese S. S. Yugen Maru. Another Japanese vessel, the Soudama Maru, was due at the scene later.

E. O. Smith Drops Dead In Cleburne Friday Afternoon

Local Man Succumbs To Sudden Illness While On Visit In Cleburne; Funeral Not Arranged

E. O. Smith, 55, 2318 Nineteenth street, manager of the E. O. Smith Lumber company, of this city, dropped dead at Cleburne Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, according to word received here Friday night by his brother, N. W. Smith, 1831 Ninth street.

At the time of his sudden death, Mr. Smith was hunting peccans with friends and relatives at Cleburne, where he and Mrs. Smith had gone to spend the Thanksgiving holidays. While picking up peccans he complained that he was tired and that he had a slight illness and others with him paid little attention to him, thinking he was merely resting for a while, until he fell prostrate. Death was probably due to acute indigestion or heart failure, it is thought.

At a late hour Friday night funeral arrangements were completed, it is not being known whether he would be brought to Lubbock for burial, or buried at Cleburne. The funeral will not be before Sunday, however.

Residence Permits Feature Building

With twenty-three permits totaling $112,800 issued, residences topped the building total during the past month, the records in the city office showed yesterday. The month's building totalled $181,000, bringing the year's figure to $3,988,198.

Business permits numbered four for a total of $23,500. Repairs made during the month were valued at $4,700 for seven permits. Two small garages were built for $300.

A residence permit was issued yesterday to J. E. Ocker. It was for a six room brick veneer at 1810 Seventh Street to cost $4,800.

Witchcraft Claims Another Victim In Pennsylvania; Aged Man Is Slain

(By Associated Press) YORK, Pa., Nov. 30.—Witchcraft has claimed another victim in Pennsylvania, the second in recent years.

The latest sacrifice on the altar of Vodoomism was Nelson D. Rehmeyer, 59, who lived alone on a lonely farm near Shrewsbury. He died when he resisted efforts of a superstitious—crazed man and two youths to cut a lock of hair from his head, which they wanted to bury eight feet under the ground to break the spell they believed had been cast over the family of Milton J. Hess.

The trio alleged to have slain Rehmeyer are in the York county jail. The two youths, John Curry, 14 years old, and Wilbert G. Hess, 18, have signed confessions. The third prisoner is John Byrner of York an alleged Vodoom doctor.

Rehmeyer's body was found yesterday by Oscar Gistfelder, a neighbor, who heard a mule braying.

Confessions Are Varied
The confessions varied with respect to the killing of Rehmeyer but agreed the trio went to Rehmeyer's home at night to get a lock of his hair, that a primitive battle with fists and clubs ensued and that Rehmeyer was killed. In an effort to do away with the body, taroene was poured over it and over a mattress and a blanket and then ignited.

Rehmeyer himself was a believer in the witchcraft that caused his death, investigators said.

Moody's Finance Group Agrees On Sterling's Plan

Plan Bond Issue

Counties Building Roads To Get Refunds Out Of Bond Issue; Plan Comes Before Committee, December 10

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Nov. 30.—Issuance of state bonds not to exceed $25,000,000 outstanding at any one time and pledging whatever portion of the revenue of the highway department is necessary to meet interest and principal, virtually was agreed on today by the sub-committee of the finance group of Governor Moody's highway legislation committee of 31, as the most practicable plan of constructing and maintaining a state system of public highways.

Generally it is acceptance of the plan advocated by R. E. Sterling, chairman of the highway commission.

Make Provisions Plan
Under the plan the legislature would make provision by law for sources of revenue, including license fees on motor vehicles, a tax on gasoline and other products of gas or petroleum and other ex-

Twenty-Eight Get Rabies Treatment

DALLAS, Nov. 30. (P)—Twenty-eight persons most of them children, began taking treatment against rabies infection here today as the result of the rampage of a dog in North Dallas several days ago.

Only 18 persons were known to have been bitten by the dog before it was killed and found to have rabies, but 10 other victims reported to city health authorities today after a warning had been broadcast.

GOEBEL FORCED DOWN

Dole Flight Winner Falls In Record Attempt

SCOTT FIELD, Ill., Nov. 30. (P)—Art Goebel, winner of the Dole prize for a flight to Hawaii, was forced down by a broken gas feed line near Trenton, Ill., about 12 miles east of here, about 9 o'clock tonight. He reached Scott Field after 10 p. m. and returned almost immediately to the plane. A landing strut also was snapped in the landing.

Goebel was flying his rebuilt "Woolarac" monoplane, and was on his way to attempt a new non-stop transcontinental record.

Stop Bank Run

MACON, Ga., Nov. 30. (P)—The arrival here early tonight of an armored motor truck from the federal reserve bank of Atlanta and three other trucks, bringing more than $5,000,000 appeared to have broken a run that started on four Macon banks today.

If They Pass

Lubbock county voters for the $2,004,000 road bond issue today, is the only "if" in the way for Lubbock to secure a $100,000, or bigger, milk plant, for manufacturing various products from milk—a plant that will employ several scores of men—a plant that will pay into the pocketbooks of hundreds of farmers, several hundred thousand dollars every year, according to F. H. Douthitt, president of the Douthitt Engineering company, operators of scores of similar milk plants all over the Middle West, with one in Texas, already operating, at Marshall.

Mr. Douthitt's telegram, received by the Lubbock chamber of commerce Friday, reads as follows, and is self-explanatory:

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 29, 1928. Chamber of Commerce Lubbock, Texas.

Just learned of coming election on good roads bonds and certainly hope the good roads bonds are approved at this election, as good roads serving dairymen around Lubbock will add ever so much more to their property and the prosperity of the county in general in one year than can be hoped for in the way of profits from tourists in several years.

We will invest at least $100,000 in a modern milk plant in Lubbock, to give dairymen a 365 day market for all the whole milk they can produce, which we can be assured of sufficient volume of milk on all-year roads within reasonable hauling distances from Lubbock. You have my figures showing the advantage to your community when the dairymen has a whole milk market, instead of having to sell farm-separated cream.

H. DOUTHITT, President Douthitt Engineering Co. This company as stated, has a milk plant at Marshall, erected at a cost of $200,000, recently opened and meeting with immediate success. The company guarantees a market of a manufactured product for such a plant.

If the bonds pass today, the company will immediately have a survey made to determine if there is a sufficient volume of milk in this section to justify the proposed plant. It is estimated that the plant will need the products from a minimum of 2,000 cows.

A representative of the Douthitt company was in Lubbock about six months ago, in the interest of this project, and Mr. Douthitt, himself, was here about two months ago.

The law says that any qualified property tax-paying voter may vote in bond elections such as this. This "qualified" term is explained as meaning that, whether or not a voter has paid taxes for this year on assessable property, real or personal, just so he is qualified to pay taxes, he may vote.

And, when you go to the polls, you do not have to have your poll tax receipt with you. The election judges are furnished with a list of all poll tax payers for this year. One must sign a statement that he or she has paid the poll tax for the year or present a poll tax receipt in person.

$2,004,000 Roads Program to Face Balloting Today

Leaders For Both Sides Have Been Working For And Against Program For Past Several Weeks

Heavy Vote Likely

Leaders Foresee Likelihood Of Heavy Vote Over Entire County On Project; Qualifications Listed

Today all of Lubbock county will march to the polls again to say their say on whether or not $2,004,000 in bonds will be voted for a county-wide system of good roads. The leaders of the two sides of the proposition—for or against the bonds—have been working hard for several weeks and will work hard all day long today, carrying voters to and from the polls and in urging the populace to go and exercise their votes.

Tax Payers Are Eligible
Who can vote on the proposition is a question that seems to have received considerable discussion during the past few days. From legal sources we have discovered this fact—that almost every citizen of Lubbock county, who has paid the 1928 poll tax, may cast a ballot.

The law says that any qualified property tax-paying voter may vote in bond elections such as this. This "qualified" term is explained as meaning that, whether or not a voter has paid taxes for this year on assessable property, real or personal, just so he is qualified to pay taxes, he may vote.

And, when you go to the polls, you do not have to have your poll tax receipt with you. The election judges are furnished with a list of all poll tax payers for this year. One must sign a statement that he or she has paid the poll tax for the year or present a poll tax receipt in person.

Slaton to Vote Strong for Bonds

Leader In Southeast Part of County Believe Issue Will Win; Business Men And Citizens Optimistic

By LLOYD A. WILSON Staff Correspondent

SLATON, Nov. 30.—When the voters of Slaton and in this section of Lubbock county go to the polls tomorrow, Saturday, Dec. 1, to cast their ballots on the proposed county road bond issue for Lubbock county, indications are that a strong vote for the bonds will be piled up, leaders believe.

Sentiment has been growing very rapidly in favor of the bond issue during the past several days, according to road bond proponents here and those taking the lead in the campaign. In such communities as Union, Posey, McClung, Acuff, Windrow, and other places, appeal is being made for the bonds will be piled up, leaders believe.

Breaks In Jail Lubbock Man Asks To Be Locked Up

It isn't often that any one just naturally breaks into jail, but it has happened. In fact it happened in Lubbock Friday, actually.

A certain white man, of his own volition went to the Lubbock county sheriff's office and asked for Sheriff Bud Johnson. When told he was not in the courthouse, he then asked for Chief Deputy Sheriff Vernice Ford. He, too, was absent, so he was asked what it was he wanted.

"Well, I'm drunk and want to be locked up."

He was accommodated. As soon as the keys had been turned in the lock to the jail door, he said: "I beat you to it. I've saved you a trip. You didn't have to come after me."

Investigation shows that this man had recently been sentenced by the sheriff's department that the next time he got drunk they would put him in jail.

Won't Be Outdone Rice Eds Adopt Fad Used by Co-eds

HOUSTON, Nov. 30.—Here or socks rolled down the limit is no longer a comfort to be enjoyed by females only. Five Rice Institute eds have shown that both sexes can play that game. The boys recently were the center of campus attraction when they appeared wearing golf nickers with brilliantly hued golf hose rolled low about their ankles.

"We're keeping up with the girls," was their only excuse. A few weeks ago several Rice girls introduced the stockings effect by wearing to class bright colored socks rolled around their shoe tops.

Has Record Clock Clock Wound 1874 Still Running

BEAUMONT, (P)—By an unusual gift to the city, Beaumont has a fund of $10,199,698.50 to be distributed to charities during a period of 99 years.

BEAUMONT, Nov. 30. (P)—Mrs. J. W. Gloor of Beaumont has claimed the non-stop clock running record of Texas with a Seth Thomas timepiece which she wound up in 1874, and which is still doing its daily tick-tock for 24-hours daily on the Gloor mantelpiece.

The only attention the old timepiece, which shows every indication of ticking out a life span of 70 years allotted the average human is its weekly winding every Sunday night. It has been a well behaved clock, too, except once in 1902, when it went on a rampage and struck 298 times without stopping.

AUSTIN, (P)—Reports of a committee of 15 appointed to study financial problems of the Texas Presbyterian Synod, South, will be made a special synod meeting here next February 5.

BEAUMONT, (P)—A unit of the old Spanish Trail Association was formed here when business men met with President Harrel G. Ayres recently.

Unusual Wedding Couple Wed Have Same Parents

WALLISVILLE, Nov. 30. (P)—One of the unusual circumstances of the recent marriage of Mrs. Nancy Pierce, 50, to John Whitten Wells, 19, both of Wallisville, was that both the bride and bridegroom had the same parents. This apparent inexplicable coincidence was possible because the bridegroom was an adopted son.

Mrs. Wells has seven children, six of them older than her husband, and six grandchildren.

A salad course was served to Mrs. John Jarrott, Mr. and Mrs. Hub Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winn, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Myrick, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sproule, Mrs. Myrick, Jr. and Mrs. D. K. Eberdant, Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Ater, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sherman, Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Canon, Mrs. Joe Hilton.

Club prizes went to Russell Myrick and Mrs. Sproule. Visitors prizes were won by Mrs. Danon and Dr. Ater.

Sculptress Describes New Woman

At the top, Mme. Mengarini is shown with Premier Mussolini and her husband of the Duce, recently done by official orders. Among her works is a War Memorial that was unveiled by the King and the facade of the new Ministry of Justice in Rome is a tribute to her skill. The inset is a close-up of the sculptress.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—"The modern woman is to be admired, though too often she is very superficial," she continued. "If that is the opinion of Fausta Vittoria Mengarini, herself a modern, and the official sculptress of Italy. Mme. Mengarini, recently arrived in America, has an exhibition at the Art Center.

"It is not our fault if some of us are superficial," she continued. "If too many women acquire a surface sophistication, a surface knowledge and pitter, without learning to think deeply, they are not altogether to blame.

"It is because our freedom is so new. We have had to fight for every inch of ground and use up our energies in catching up with men's opportunities. The woman of tomorrow will have no handicaps whatever. This generation's women had not had time to dig deeply into their brains and put them thoroughly to work."

A Good Fight
Mme. Mengarini really speaks for Italian feminists. For she herself waged a stiffer fight for women than American women have tasted for a long time.

At 18 she wished to enter the Fine Arts Academy. It was preposterous, at that time, for a girl to attend public classes. But her father, an influential Senator and eminent scientist, arranged it. She was the only girl student among 6,000 males. For the sake of conventions she was chaperoned to classes every day by a chambermaid.

Later, in an art competition to which she submitted a model under a masculine pseudonym, she won the award but was denied it, because she was a woman!

Fortunate Mme. Mengarini's family approved of her career. In

The Woman's Day

By Allene Sumner

Now it's the church which rises up to remark that wage-earning wives who labor for hire outside the home are a menace. Two religious journals broke out with articles to this effect within the last week or so. The Nashville "Christian Advocate" observes that of the great horde of working wives very few of them are working from necessity. It merely means a too-high standard of living when both husband and wife draw wages with a corresponding loss in the home of those things which cannot be bought with money but the death of which means misery, it declares.

"Often the proceeds of two pay checks are spent as quickly as where only the husband works," the article continues. "Frequently no money is laid aside; no home is purchased. Luxury and pleasure rule their desires."

"The 'Herald of Gospel Liberty' says: 'Literally thousands of husbands are being kept out of work today, and hence their homes out of financial support, or these husbands are receiving far lower wages than they should receive, simply because an equal number of wives who do not need the work and use it only for luxuries, are holding the jobs which otherwise they might have.'"

And yet all the poor souls who are trying to run homes and children and jobs are doing something criminal—taking bread out of poor men's mouths, neglecting the subtler things of home life—this and that, when the facts are most and when they are most needed.

And with all the tumult and shouting I continue to say that it is necessary and an outer situation that has called women out of the home and into the wage-earning world—not women who have created the situation for themselves.

And yet all the poor souls who are trying to run homes and children and jobs are doing something criminal—taking bread out of poor men's mouths, neglecting the subtler things of home life—this and that, when the facts are most and when they are most needed.

The author says that too much blab has been written about the perfectly efficient combination wife and wage-earner who manages to step out to work perfectly pressed and spotless after getting her perfectly breakfasted and perfectly attended three children off to school, leaving instructions to a maid, carrying of a perfect day's work as lady banker or ad writer or lawyer, and coming home to den pink chiffon like a perfect lady and grace her home as perfect hostess to a crowd of dinner guests.

All this sort so dumb at that, especially when the author points out that because of this rosy piece of fiction women are expected to be 200 per cent effective, 100 per cent in the home and 100 per cent out of it.

Leaving Tractor Running Is Costly Local Man Learns

Because one Lubbock citizen did not know how to crank a certain make of well-known tractor cost him almost the price of the tractor here Friday noon. The man's name was not learned, but the details of the event is known.

This man left the tractor in the street near his residence, motor running, while he went to eat his noon meal. Something happened. The motor got too hot, perhaps, as the thing exploded and the resultant fire did considerable damage.

A fire alarm was turned in to the Nineteenth Street fire station, according to Fire Chief W. E. Twitty, but the damage had been done by the time firemen arrived on the scene to put out the blaze.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINOWITZ

Eye massage must be most carefully done or it will do more harm than good. It is necessary that all massage movements focused on the delicate area of the eyes should be extremely light. Pulling or dragging motions will disfigure the eye tissues in an incredibly short time. An excellent massage movement is as follows: With your third and fourth fingers start at the bridge of the nose and stroke the upper eyelid up toward the brow with long, smooth strokes, almost as though you were combing the eyelids. Be sure to raise the eyelid with each movement, holding it just barely enough to remove it effectively without pulling to any noticeable degree. Repeat this for at least a half a dozen times on each eye.

Another movement is as follows: With your third and fourth fingers stroke the eyes from the bridge of the nose outward in fast, even movements. The eye should be completely relaxed, slightly closed during this movement.

The third massage movement that is effective in charming away the lines, wrinkles and crowfeet is a rotary motion. With the third finger work in tiny circles from the center toward the corner of the eyes, making all your little rotary movements upward and outward. Be sure that you have a light touch on this movement.

To brace the brows and strengthen the little eyelid muscles, rest your fingers on the table, the head of your hand against the top of the eyelid and press very gently upward.

But be sure that these movements are done with well-extended fingers, so as to glide softly and smoothly over the surface, thus avoiding any "pull" on the delicate tissues.

The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day

BREAKFAST — Northern spy apples, cereal, cream, crisp bacon, potatoes hashed in milk, muffins, marmalade, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Cream of spinach soup, croquettes, hearts of celery, toasted cheese sandwiches, caramel cornstarch pudding, grape juice.

DINNER — Braised shoulder of lamb with vegetables, stuffed green pepper salad, hot-water sponge cake, fruit in lemon jelly with whipped cream, bran rolls, milk, coffee.

Some homemade jelly or preserves will be a welcome addition to the dining menu. Whenever rolls are served jelly or jam is acceptable.

The luncheon dessert is planned especially for children. Keep in mind that whenever cornstarch is used it must be thoroughly cooked.

Caramel Cornstarch Pudding — Two cups scalded milk, 4 1-3 tablespoons cornstarch, 2-3 cup sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons cold milk, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 2 eggs.

Melt sugar slowly in an iron frying pan, stirring constantly until liquified. Add slowly to scalded milk, keeping the fire low and taking care mixture does not boil over. Stir cornstarch and salt in a smooth paste and stir into scalding hot milk and sugar mixture. Let caramel and milk become perfectly blended before adding cornstarch. Stir constantly until mixture thickens and then cook over hot water, stirring occasionally for thirty minutes. Remove from heat and stir in yolks of eggs well beaten. Beat hard and add whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Add vanilla and stir just enough to make smooth. Turn into a mold and chill. Serve with sugar and cream.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR DEC. 2

General Topic:—Paul Before His Judge.
Scripture Lesson:—Acts 24:24-27; 28:18-29.

24. But after certain days, Felix came with Drusilla, his wife, who was a Jewess, and sent for Paul, and heard him concerning the faith in Christ Jesus.

25. And as he reasoned of righteousness, and self control, and the judgment to come, Felix was terrified, and answered, Go thy way for this time; and when I have a convenient season, I will call thee unto me.

26. He hoped withal that money would be given him of Paul; wherefore also he sent for him the oftener, and communed with him.

27. But when two years were fulfilled, Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus; and desiring to gain favor with the Jews, Felix left Paul in bonds.

28. Wherefore, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision.

29. But declared both to them of Damascus first, and at Jerusalem, and throughout all the country of Judea, and also to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God, doing works which becometh repentance.

30. For this cause the Jews seized upon me, and assayed to kill me.

31. Having therefore obtained the help that is from God, I stand unto this day testifying both to small and great, saying nothing but what the prophets and Moses did say should come:

32. How that the Christ must suffer, and how that he first by the resurrection of the dead should proclaim light both to the people and to the Gentiles.

33. And thus made his defense, Festus saith with a loud voice, Paul, thou art mad, thy much learning is turning thee mad.

34. But Paul saith, I am not mad, but speak forth words of truth and soberness.

35. For the kings knowledge of these things, unto whom also I speak freely, for I am persuaded that none of these things is hidden from him; for this hath not been done in a corner.

36. King Agrippa, believest thou the prophets? I know that thou believest.

37. And Agrippa said unto Paul, with little persuasion thou shouldst fain make me a Christian.

38. And Paul said, I would to God, that whether with little or with much, not thou only, but also all that hear me this day, might become such as I am, except these bonds.

39. Time:—A. D. 59.
Place:—Caesarea, the Roman capital of Judea, on the southeast north-west of Jerusalem.

Golden Text:—I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision.—Acts 26:19.

Introduction
Five days after Paul arrived in Caesarea Acts 23:23, his Jewish brethren reached that place, Lystra bearing him to the Jews to look for Paul. Some of the elders of the Sanhedrin came, the Sadducees who were opposed to Paul, the Pharisees. With them they brought a hired advocate, a Roman lawyer named Tertullus, who would make a charge against Paul and be able to make it appear that Paul was seeking to overthrow the Roman power in Palestine.

Tertullus began in approved lawyer fashion by flattering the "most noble Felix," and praised his rule. Then he proceeded to charge Paul with being a pestiferous fellow, a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes, and—worst of all—a fomenter of Jewish insurrections in every land. Furthermore he declared that Paul had tried to profane the temple.

THE ARRIVAL OF AGRIPPA

Paul remained in prison for a time, and while he was expecting to be sent to Rome, King Agrippa arrived to greet Festus on his entrance into his rule. This personage was Herod Agrippa II, the son of Herod Agrippa I. He was the great-grandson of Herod the Great, and Drusilla, the illegal wife of Felix, was his sister.

Festus took an early opportunity to lay before him the puzzling case of Paul, giving him a fair synopsis of the matter. "Now," said Festus, "I am obliged to send this prisoner to Rome, and I do not know which charge to send with him. Perhaps you can help me here." In dandling robes the monarch sat on a sumptuous throne, Bernice by his side with Festus. It was a striking contrast when Paul, clanking his chains, was led into the scene of splendor. To the scowling eyes he and only a miserable prisoner, a wretched little Jew; but to a discerning spectator he appeared to be the only king in the hall, a man of towering intellect and masterful spirit. Indeed, Festus and Agrippa and Bernice are only known today because that prisoner stood before them for half an hour.

"The Help That Is From God." v. 24
"Having therefore obtained the help that is from God, I stand unto this day." "Therefore" calls attention to the violence of the attacks made upon Paul, the venom of his enemies, the variety and viciousness of their assaults, and their long continuance now for many years and in many lands; no aid except that of God could have preserved Paul to that day. The apostle had many friends, but they would have been powerless to save him without God's help. "Testifying both to small and great." God had told Paul that he was to preach Christ before kings (Acts 9:15), and here the prophecy was being fulfilled, but the apostle was just as ready to preach to the little handful of women at Philippi. "Saying nothing but what the prophets and Moses did say should come." "Moses" means the Pentateuch and "the prophets" all the rest of the Old Testament, for the historical books were counted by the Jews as prophetic.

Paul's Direct Appeal to Agrippa. v. 27, 28
"King Agrippa, believest thou the prophets? I know that thou believest." Agrippa had been educated in heathen Rome, but he was a Jewish king, and he must have believed in the great religious teachers of his race; thus believing, he must recognize that everything Paul had said about Jesus was in exact harmony with what they had foretold concerning the Messiah.

"And Paul said, I would to God, that whether with little or with much, not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, might become such as I am, except these bonds." Paul may have been relieved from chains in prison, but on this occasion he was certainly fettered, and perhaps he suffered all the time from this burden and indignity. Paul stood there a free man in Christ Jesus. And he will might wish that Agrippa stood in the same liberty instead of being the slave of sin.

With this impassioned utterance the hearing closed, and Festus with his guests withdrew to talk the matter over. They agreed that Paul had done nothing deserving imprisonment, still less death, and that he might have been freed if his appeal to the Emperor had not taken the case out of the jurisdiction of Festus. That appeal, however, was providential, for it brought Paul to Rome, where he had longed to go and brought him there in such a way as to give him a chance to speak for Christ before the sovereign of the Roman Empire himself.

"A Convenient Season"
"Some one has said that today has two great enemies—the one is yesterday, the other is tomorrow. Are we not reminded of that whenever we think of Felix, whose evil past was such a burden on him, and who talked of a convenient time—which never came?"—Rev. George H. Morrison D. D.

Felix and Drusilla did not understand that that hour when Paul stood before them was the pivotal hour upon which everything was poised, and that it tipped the wrong way.—T. De Witt Talmage.

working together is everything

It is the aim of the Bell System that anyone anywhere in the country can pick up a telephone and talk to anyone anywhere else clearly and without delay. That is the meaning of universal service. To provide it, the means of telephoning must be uniformly good. This company, for example, has full access to all the improvements and methods that are continually being made.

There are 5000 workers on the Bell staffs whose sole occupation is to develop constantly improving methods and equipment for the 350,000 employees of the Bell System to use in serving the public. The results of the efforts are evident, not only in the extension of telephone service across the Atlantic, but in the constantly improving local and long distance service at home.

The Bell System accepts its responsibility for a nationwide telephone service as a public trust.

New York Keyed Up Over Army-Stanford Battle Today

Five Major Gridiron Conflicts Will Furnish Excitement For Followers

Select Array Of Football Talent To Go In Action

Two Intersectional Games at New York and Southern California Top List Of Attractions For Today

By ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Nov. 30. (AP)—With the reverberations of Thanksgiving day still in the air, a small select array of college football talent will go into action tomorrow with eyes and ears trained upon events transpiring at New York and Los Angeles.

On opposite sides of the continent, intersectional rivalry will have its most spectacular days as Notre Dame's Ramblers invade the stronghold of Southern California while Stanford's Cardinals attack the Army's Ramparts in the Yankee Stadium.

These two big games head a scattered list of five major gridiron conflicts.

The unbeaten records of the University of Detroit and Boston college are at stake in their final games, the former against Georgetown at Detroit and the latter against their old New England rival, Holy Cross, at Boston.

Utah Has Title
Utah already has clinched the Rocky Mountain Conference title, but there will be no lack of interest in the traditional clash between Colorado College, led by the sensational "Dutch" Clark, and the Colorado Aggies at Fort Collins.

Predictions, based on the season's Southern California, Boston College, records and the "dope" favor Army, Detroit and Colorado College, but events of a later date may change the picture.

Consistent to the year's ups and downs, it would be appropriate for Holy Cross and Georgetown to snap two more "winners" records, Stanford to jolt the Army, Notre Dame to knock off Southern California and the Colorado Aggies to trim their old rivals.

None but the most optimistic Oregon State partisans had any idea that the Beavers would beat New York University's Juggermats yesterday, after transcontinental journey, much less trample the Violets completely.

Expect Record Crowd
Stanford's team saw this startling reversal at the Yankee Stadium and may demonstrate tomorrow whether they gained inspiration from the far western triumph. No matter how it goes, this game should be one of the most exciting of the year for a crowd expected to fill the big ballpark to its capacity of around 83,000.

Southern California, undefeated so far and tied only by California in its advance to the Pacific Coast championship, is expected to have its full strength ready to meet the invasion of Notre Dame. The Trojans, playing at home and with a more impressive record, figure to win but anything can happen when Coach Ruckel's pupils get loose.

Perfect Records at Stake
Detroit and Boston College have winning streaks of eight games in a row to protect, distinctions which these two teams share with Georgia Tech and Florida. The two southern eleven now tied for the Dixie leadership do not play tomorrow, each having registered one-sided victories yesterday. But they wind up their sectional season Dec. 8 when Tech plays Georgia at Atlanta and Florida opposes Tennessee at Knoxville.

The Tech Tornado, with one of the country's foremost aggregations, will carry the invading banner to Pasadena for the New York's classic with California.

Elsewhere the ebbing seasons have seen championships definitely decided. Here are five of the main winners, as compared with the 1927 champions:

Big Six—1928, Nebraska; 1927 Missouri.
Big Ten—1928, Illinois; 1927 Illinois.
Southwest—1928, University of Texas; 1927, Texas Aggies.
Rocky Mountain—1928, University of Utah; 1927, Colorado Aggies.
Pacific Coast—1928, Southern California; 1927, U. S. C.

WIN CROSS COUNTRY

Sam Houston Teachers Take T. I. A. A. Title

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 30. (AP)—The Sam Houston State Teachers College Bear Kats won the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association cross country title by out-running teams entered from Daniel Baker, Stephen F. Austin and Abilene Christian College.

The Bear Kats scored 23 points. Stephen F. Austin 41 and Daniel Baker 50. Abilene Christian won first and seventh places, but were not counted in the final tabulation as it was necessary to have five entries in place.

Vaughn of Abilene based out Hastings of Sam Houston to finish first in 15 minutes, 6 seconds, a new record.

SCHREINER WHIPS TEXAS
AUSTIN, Nov. 30. (AP)—The Schreiner Mountaineers defeated the Texas yardlings here today, 30 to 7.

The Kerrville eleven outlasted and outplayed the freshmen although the latter managed to put their best footing in the last period.

Strolling Down Sports Lane

With Allan Carney
Avalanche Sports Editor

Well, it's all over but the shouting. The howl of the fans, crying for the scalp of the enemy, the sound of the referee's whistle, the thud of the platoon and the impact of charging bodies have died away. Out of the wreckage of a thrilling football season comes glory and championships for some and the bitter dregs of defeat for that vast majority of teams which must lose in order that titles may be awarded. It was a great scrap from the first until the closing game. Upsets came fast and furious. Underdogs rose to supreme heights to down the favorites and in the majority of conferences the championship could not be awarded until the last game was played.

It was a great season from a number of standpoints. Intersectional rivalries and championship tilts made history for the grand old autumn pastime. Crowds which had never been assembled in a football stadium filled through the turnstiles to see the nation's best in action. The East, West, North and South alike had their big games. Competition rose to a fevered heat, teams were keyed up to the highest pitch for their outstanding games and the results were spectacular exhibitions that furnished football fans with thrills aplenty, giving them ample return for their money.

The season has uncovered football stars that have shone brilliantly throughout the entire schedule. While the most of these were backfield men, many linemen have taken their place among the illuminaries. Cagle of West Point and Strong of New York University have led their respective teams through successful seasons with their penetrating runs through the enemy lines. Both are certain to be named on the all-American eleven by a unanimous consent of the critics.

Recently a letter was published in this column from a fan who suggested that Lubbock High school play a post season game with the Tech Matadors. A mechanical oversight caused the name of the writer to be left out as well as an extra paragraph of comment by the named of this column. Our original statement about the matter which for some reason failed to appear called the reader's attention to the fact that such a game would prove disastrous to the high school coaches and furthermore that the high school coaches would not even consider such a contest.

The letter was signed "J. A. Allen and nine other Matador fans." It was published verbatim in pursuance of our policy of leaving the columns of this newspaper open to the comments of the readers. Both sides of a question will always be given equal space.

An answer to the above mentioned letter came from a number of irate fans whose letter brands the suggestion as absurd and insulting to the Tech football team.

Dear Sir:
In reply to the article of Nov. 29 about the idea of having a post season game between the Lubbock High Westerners and the Tech Matadors.

We think the idea absurd and would like to compliment the fan on his knowledge of football in classing a high school team with such men as are on the Tech squad. We consider it an insult to the football team and to their ability as football players.

We recognize the fact that Lubbock HI has a nice fighting little team with an excellent coach. But as it is, Lubbock HI has only an average team, and their chance with the Matadors would be equal to a rat on a cow's horn.

Henceforth please try to give Tech a little encouragement and credit, do not insist on bragging by publishing their names in comparison with a mere high school team and a weak one at that.

In siding Lubbock HI to obtain their longed for post-season game we refer them to Ideal HI, a school in their class.

With all due respect, we close.
ROSS BOHANNAN,
HOYT WATSON,
W. E. ROANE,
J. E. PICKETT.

On the whole we heartily endorse the sentiments of the above letter, but there are several noticeable exaggerations which cannot be overlooked. Lubbock High ranked as a Class A team, has just finished its football season by winning five out of six conference games, ranking second in the district. Yalob on the other hand is a class B school with out of the weakest teams in the district to which it belongs. It certainly cannot be classed with Lubbock. A team that has won eight out of nine games during the season surely cannot be called a weak one.

After all, the belief of one man or a dozen men in a city of 18,000 cannot be taken as the general sentiment. To take offense at what one man has written would seem entirely childish. It would indeed prove disastrous for

Record Throng To Witness Struggle In Yankee Stadium

Stanford Is First of Great California Teams To Invade Eastern Seaboard; Cardinals Are Heavier

BY F. G. VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 30. (AP)—The unique spectacle of the Army meeting Stanford University in a great intersectional climax to the football season in the east had sophisticated New York steamed up tonight.

Despite an all-day drizzle and predictions of rain tomorrow, a capacity crowd of 86,000 was assured for the Yankee stadium when the teams take the field at 1:30 o'clock. Not even in the bygone days of Army-Navy hysteria have New York fans registered more excitement over a football game.

Conspicuous in the outcome is rampant with the teams almost exactly even in public esteem.

Poised for their greatest efforts in this game which brings their campaigns to an end, the Army and Stanford teams were bivouacked in quiet quarters far from the noise of Broadway. In popular interest, the coming of the Stanford eleven, the first of the great California teams ever to appear on the eastern seaboard, has an appeal all its own.

Stanford Team Heavy
The size of the Stanford team, with its 232-pound tackle and 220-pound quarterback, especially has caused a stir. The California's eleven regulars averaging 190 pounds as compared with a little more than 182 for the Army.

A goodly share of Stanford's hopes of victory rest upon its guards, Post and Robesky, the latter a married man and a father. The Cardinal's success in stopping the elusive Red Cagle, Army's all-American half-back candidate, also is expected to weigh heavily in the result.

Both Warner and Ruff Jones, Army head coach, predict a close score. Each team has lost one game to date, the Army to Notre Dame and Stanford to Southern California.

The lineup:
Army Pos. Stanford
Humber 185 Center Robesky 203
Perry 207 Right Guard Artman 232
Messenger 188 Right Tackle Muller 172
Nave 162 Quarterback Fletcher 220
Cagle 187 Quarterback Wilton 157
Murrell 182 Right Halfback Hoffman 190

Average weight of teams: Stanford, 195; Army, 182 1/2.
Average weight of lines: Stanford, 191 7/8; Army 190 3/4.
Average weight of backfields: Stanford, 184; Army 168 1/4.

Texas' Capitol Is In Need of Repair

40-Year-Old Structure Must Have Repairs and Renovations, Board of Control Chairman Says

AUSTIN, Nov. 30.—Texas' red granite capitol building is not exactly tumbling down, but it is needing repairs and renovations badly, said R. B. Walsh, chairman of the Board of Control, in a statement today. The legislature cannot neglect the more than 40 year old structure longer, he said. It has been passive about the matter long enough, he believes.

"The legislature that meets in January certainly must appropriate money for repairs and renovations," he said. "Complaints are coming in from all parts of the building about dilapidated conditions and in some instances repairs are needed to the extent unless they are made more serious deterioration may set in."

Stones Are Cracking
Several of the large red granite stones in the portico at the north entrance to the building are badly cracked and the breach is widening steadily.

The breaks in the stone can be easily noticed from the window of the office of Fred T. Connerly, clerk of the Supreme Court, who has been watching them get bigger and bigger.

Now he has told the Board of Control about it and the legislature will be asked to take action regarding correcting these and other defects brought by time and inattention.

Completed in 1884
Texas traded 3,000,000 acres of public land for the capitol building the deal was consummated in 1880 and the structure completed and occupied in about 1884. The land at that time was appraised at 50 cents an acre.

All parties concerned if Tech and Lubbock High school become crosswise in their relations. Such is very unlikely and is certainly not necessary.

Win Over Woodrow May Bring Title To Sunset Eleven

Forest Avenue Lions Likely To Be Reinstated When Committee Acts On Case Quarterback

DALLAS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Sunset High School of Dallas probably won the championship of District 3 of the Interscholastic League and the right to meet the Cleburne Yellowjackets, District 4 title, next week by defeating Woodrow Wilson High of Dallas, 24 to 7, today.

There was a possibility that the Becons would lose the district honors to which they fall heir when the undefeated Forest Avenue Lions withdrew from the race several days ago. It was announced tonight that the district committee would meet again tomorrow to reconsider the case of Frank Tarranella, star Forest quarterback, who previously was declared to be over 20 years of age. It was said additional evidence had been uncovered to prove he was with the league age limit.

Georgia Tech To Meet California

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 30. (AP)—Faculty and Southern Conference approval has been given Georgia Tech to play the University of California New Year's day, at Pasadena, thus removing the last doubt that the Golden Tornado will be the eastern representative in the annual gridiron classic.

It will mark the third time within four years that a southern team has represented the eastern half of the United States in the tournament of roses.

STRIBLING GETS K. O.
CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 30. (AP)—W. L. "Young" Stribling, Macon, Ga., heavyweight knocked out Ray Neuman of Jersey City in the sixth round of their scheduled ten round bout here tonight.

MALONEY WINS DECISION
BOSTON, Nov. 30. (AP)—Jim Maloney, Boston heavyweight, out-slugged Johnny Risko of Cleveland for a ten round decision here tonight. Maloney was given seven of the ten rounds.

SEMINOLE GIRL ELECTED
ALPINE, Nov. 30. (AP)—Miss Jewel Morrow of Seminole, has been elected president of the Women's Athletic association of Sul Ross Teachers college here, the second to be organized in Texas.

Cheap Tubing

Many of the accidents attending the use of gas heating appliances reported each winter are due to cheap, unfit tubing.

Cheap tubing is a false and dangerous economy. To save a few pennies, the careless purchaser deliberately forfeits the protection of all those safeguards in the use of gas which have taken years of study and experience to perfect.

Rubber tubing should not be used wherever it is possible to use iron piping.

Matadors May Be Represented In All-Star Contest

Walker and Devitt Invited To Play In Post Season Game December 29 Between Selected Teams

When the all-star football performers of Texas meet on the gridiron December 29, in Fort Worth, there will likely be two members of the Matador football eleven in the thick of the battle, Captain Hanson Walker, halfback, and H. C. (Chubby) Devitt, the Tech gridder who have been invited to take part on the contest between a team taken from seniors on Southwest Conference eleven and another aggregation selected from members of the Texas Conference, T. I. A. A. and independent schools.

The game as originally planned called for a contest between a team made up of seniors from the Southwestern Conference and another team picked from Texas Conference squads. Recently the scene of the second group has been widened to take in the T. I. A. A. and independent schools. Frank Bricker, Simmons University member, was named to direct the Texas Conference team and Matty Ball, T. C. U. coach, was selected as the leader of the Southwest eleven.

Acceptance of the invitation depends on action of the athletic council of the college. Members of the body in a former meeting for this purpose decided against Tech players taking part since the school is not a member of either conference and is bidding for admission to the Southwestern conference.

Final Ruling Soon
E. W. Provenza, business manager of the college, said this morning that the final decision would be rendered immediately after the council returns from the Southwestern conference meeting in Dallas December 8.

Abilene Is Host To Hotel Group

ARRANGEMENTS for entertaining the annual meeting of the Texas Hotel association, to be held here Dec. 3-4, are practically completed, officials of the Abilene Hotel association, which will act as host for the 200 or more visitors expected to come to the convention, have announced.

Features of the entertainment program include a luncheon, banquet, and a barbecue at the Abilene Country club. The concluding part of the meeting will be a dance.

Several outstanding men in the hotel business will appear on the program of the meeting, which will be directed by W. C. O'Leary, Houston, president of the association.

Lufkin Farmers Prepare For Big Crop Next Year

LUFKIN, Nov. 30. (AP)—Tomato growers of Lufkin territory will plant at least 150 acres next year, the heaviest crop in the history of the Anglin county, they have announced. This will assure a minimum of 40 car loads.

The soil in the Clawson district, just north of Lufkin, is a red gravel particularly adapted to tomato culture.

BEAUMONT, Nov. 30. (AP)—Purchase of a site for a new Texas League baseball park here was announced today by Rube L. Stuart, owner of the Beaumont club. Work on the plant will be started next week and will be rushed for the season's opening next spring.

The new site includes 43 lots in the south part of the city, some two miles from the downtown section. President Stuart plans a modern park with a seating capacity of between 6,000 and 7,500.

WILL THE ROAD BONDS INCREASE RENTS

NO!

The Average Rent House In Lubbock Is Assessed at $2,000.00 By The County. County Taxes as a result of the Road Bonds will be Increased $10.60. That will be 85 1-3 cents per month more taxes the owner will have to pay as a maximum for Good Roads.

The Average 160 Acres of Land in the County is Assessed at $2,000.00. Taxes as a result of the Road Bonds will be increased $10.60. That is 6 2-3 cents per acre more taxes owner will have to pay as a maximum for Good Roads.

That is as much as Taxes can be increased. As a matter of fact they will never be increased that much.

The Increase certainly should not cause rents to be raised.

SCRIPTURE: Keep thy foot when thou goest to the house of God, and be more ready to hear than to give the sacrifice of fools; for they consider not that they do evil.

BE NOT RASH with thy mouth, and let not thine heart be hasty to utter any thing before God; for God is in Heaven, and thou upon earth; therefore let thy words be few.

DUTY TO VOTE: It is a duty that all of the people of Lubbock county owe to the community to vote in the election today on the road bond question.

There has been much talk of late regarding the issue, and the people have had an opportunity to become informed on the question before them, and everyone should be prepared to cast their vote today, either for the good roads or oppose them.

We feel that people will make no mistake in voting for the bonds, for we are sure that paved roads and hard surfaced roads are worth the money when the money is properly spent, and we are confident with the present capable group of commissioners that this part will be well taken care of.

If the bonds carry we are sure that within the next few months actual work will begin on the building of the roads, and there will be little delay in getting down to business and having the roads of Lubbock county up in good shape within a reasonable length of time.

Lubbock has led the Plains country for many years in matters of development, and we are sure that this will only be another instance that will quicken the pace and in a few years the entire South Plains will have hard-surfaced and paved roads.

BRIGHT PROMISES: The Los Angeles husband who is seeking a divorce from his lawless spouse because she has the very annoying habit of throwing dishes at him when angry, may withdraw the petition now that Waldemar Kaempfert, well known chemist is making some amazing but interesting predictions about chemistry and dishes.

Wives more interested in the dishwashing problem than divorces will refer to the case of the dining instruments. "How," they will say, "will there be dishes for luncheon if the breakfast dishes have dissolved in the dishwasher?" Simple enough, the chemist advises, one will purchase this table equipment by the crate at such a nominal cost that it will be cheaper to use new ones than clean the old.

But that is not all that chemistry will do for the weary housewife in the vague tomorrow. There not only will be no dishwashing but there will be no laundry day for sheets, pillow slips, towels, table linens, draperies, etc. All of these things will be made of synthetic fiber to be thrown away after being soiled.

Also there will be synthetic food which will be quite easy to prepare, better on the palate and simple to digest. Alloys will eliminate heavy weight; hence, furniture may be changed about with slightest effort, which will put the piano mover out of a job.

But before going further let me state that all of this is to take place several hundred years hence, therefore it wouldn't be fitting to break up one's supply of china, furniture and other household goods. The chemist is merely predicting that he will be the great leader of tomorrow like the explorer was in the early days of civilization. And the contingency is plausible indeed. Anything can happen in this age of wonders. Men and women laughed at Columbus when he passionately insisted upon his explorations that resulted in the discovery of America. Columbus, so doubt, would have smiled at hint of a feat like Lindbergh's. Succeeding generations could not conceive of the automobile, the radio but today these gifts have been thrust upon us moderns for our education and delectation. Then why not adobe dishes?

Strange Retelence: "It is true that Mabel has a secret sorrow?" "Heavens, yes! Hain't she told you about it?" "Hummus."

Tip For Londoners: "Eat onions in the winter," advises a doctor. "Then, if you get lost in the fog, your friends will soon find you—London Opinion."

One or the Other: "My wife is an inveterate smoker. Why, three times she's set the bed on fire with her cigarettes. Would you recommend a suit for divorce?" "Either that or a suit of asbestos pajamas."

Shaved Men: Girls have been given permission to smoke on the Erie train. We suppose something had to be done to stop the habit.

The Price Must Be Paid: "Your wife looks terribly upset. What's the matter?" "Why, she was assisting at a Ladies Aid rummage sale, took off her new hat and somebody sold it for 25 cents." "Growth Stems?"

NICKNAMES ARE TABOO IN ADDRESSING HOOVER

BY CHARLES F. STEWART Washington Correspondent for Central Press And The Morning Avalanche

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Our new national administration will stand on its dignity.

Correspondents who write of "Herbert"—meaning the president-elect, or president, after Mr. Hoover has taken the chief magistrate's oath, or affirmed—will specify find themselves in bad.

The caller who commits the offense orally, around the executive offices, where it has been quite the custom to mention "Calvin" and even "Cal," will do it at the risk of landing unceremoniously on the Pennsylvania avenue car tracks on his neck.

I got this tip recently from an individual high in G. O. P. circles, who probably knows what he is talking about.

It ought not to overstrain the most mediocre quality of intelligence to realize that it is poor form to address the president of the United States by his first name. So far as I am aware, it never has been done at a White House reception.

Mr. Hoover, it seems, objects to it under any circumstances, so far as he is concerned.

True, he had to submit to it a good many times during the campaign.

While that was on, his name, "Herbert" was belittled at him constantly, from crowd after crowd. Worse—sometimes he was called "Herb"—and even, twice or thrice—oh! crowning irreverence—"Herbie."

In an auditorium full of people and on railroad platforms, there always are some darn, disrespectful folks.

These familiarities were not very easy to resent in the midst of the pre-election fight.

It would not have been tactful for the candidate, when some enthusiast yelled "Hurrah for Herbie!" to have responded, to all and sundry, over the "mike," "Cut that out!"

Had it been possible to find the culprit in an audience of thousands, and reprimanded him privately, it might have been done. However, manifestly that was impractical. Perhaps it would have cost votes, too, and the G. O. P. managers did not know then that they were going to have so many to spare.

Now it is a form of freshness that Mr. Hoover means to discourage all he can; or, at any rate, so I hear.

To me it seems not altogether unreasonable for Mr. Hoover to be rather more sensitive concerning the casual use of his Christian moniker than Mr. Coolidge has been, relative to his.

They are utterly different types of men.

Mr. Coolidge is dignified, but not ponderous. There is no hint of the derogatory in referring to him by his first name. Mr. Hoover has bulk. It sounds snippy to designate so physically large a person by his nickname.

There is also a marked difference in their respective first names.

"Calvin," is as stern and somber a name as a statesman could ask to be called by. "Herbert" is an ordinary first name, like anybody's.

"Cal" is at least strong and masculine. "Herb" verges on the unceremonious.

As for "Herbie!"—If any vandal ever had spoken of President Coolidge as "Calvin," I reckon he, too, would have kicked.

PELLAGRA NOW FOUND IN ALL PARTS OF WORLD

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER Editor Journal of the American Medical Association

Considered formerly a disease largely limited to the southern parts of the United States, pellagra has been found in Minnesota and in Illinois, and indeed in all parts of the world.

In 1915 more than 10,000 died of this disease in the United States, and it is reported that in 1917 and 1918 at least 200,000 people in the southern portions of the United States suffered from it.

Rare in Winter: Pellagra usually occurs in the spring and new cases rarely occur in the fall and winter. It has been suggested that its cause might be an organism distributed by the bite of some insect, since many insects appear in the spring and disappear before fall.

However, more recent views incline to the belief that pellagra is due to a deficiency of certain substances in the diet, because it occurs largely among people who devote themselves to raising cotton and buy their food from the grocery store.

The first signs of pellagra are soreness of the mouth and tongue, disturbance of the bowels, a bronzing of the skin and later severe symptoms associated with the nervous system.

In Italy the peasants who suffer from pellagra live chiefly on cornmeal mush. In the United States people who suffer from this disease live largely on highly refined cornmeal, wheat flour, rice, sugar, molasses and pork.

Doctors who have made significant studies of the problem say that the diet of the person with pellagra contains three m's—meat, meal and molasses.

The cure of pellagra has been reported in many people by adding to their diet yeast, lean meats, fresh vegetables, eggs and milk. The use of a well balanced diet, including fresh fruits, is of course the most desirable method of cure.

Yeast is to be considered as a medical substitute when the need is urgent and the food supply difficult.

SO THINK WE

We think that if a fellow has enough ability he can succeed in his old home town in spite of the old saying that a prophet is without honor save in his own country.

We think it is possibly a very poor idea to name a child after some great man unless this great man is dead, for people have a habit of changing their size, and you might have occasion to regret it, and too the great men might have occasion to regret that some youngster who bears the name might be a little off sides.

We think that nearly everyone would be willing to save money if it could be done without cutting expenses any, but without having to do without all of the luxuries that they so much enjoy.

We think the nearest absolute contentment that we find in this country is in the man whose wife is earning the living for him.

We think that even some of these Lubbock husbands are so vain that they actually feel deathly sorry for every woman that is not his wife.

We think that even in this day and time that we still that we try to make something out of the children, for many of them will forgive us after they have grown up.

We think it is so hard for some people to make a living these days that they hold their position at the bottom of the ladder.

We think when a man tries to avoid any responsibility he is pretty certain to hold his position at the bottom of the ladder.

We think that possibly Hidalgo county is not very proud of the political muddle down there, but they will admit that they are rather proud of the onion and cabbage crop.

We think that President-Elect Herbert Hoover must have learned to shrug his shoulder with the genuine Central American accent, from the great ovation he has received in South America.

We think that possibly the Pilgrim Fathers would not be any better as stadium yellers as many of the athletes of this age are at bringing in the Thanksgiving turkey.

We think that satan may be an evolutionist, but with the tail that he is represented to have, he has not departed as far from his ancestors as the balance of men have.

We think that we were better off than a lot of other folks. We did not have any turkey for Thanksgiving, and hence we did not have any hash either. So there you are. Who said we were not lucky?

We think that most of us can tell how the road bond proposition went by this time tomorrow. We can not do more than guess at this time. We have this much tip on the result that we are willing to pass on. The opposition says the bonds will be defeated by a sixty to forty majority, and the bond proponents say it will be 70 to 30 for the bonds. We think that our reads should appreciate this friendly tip.

The Way Of The World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

INSTALLMENT FLYING: Airplane makers have learned a lesson from automobile dealers. They find a renter sale for planes when the buyer finds he can get one by paying a little down and a dollar a month for the rest of his natural life. Things look more inviting when we can keep them out of four figures. There are now about 7,000 privately-owned planes in the country. Plane production is small, but not smaller than was motor car production at the beginning. And the sales methods are more advanced than original automobile sales policies. The step which we see ahead is the step that will take us from a one-plane family to a two-plane family.

PUSHING OUT THE HORIZON: Dr. Millikan noted scientist, and Ambassador, who knows a great deal about optical instruments are co-operating with others to develop the largest telescope in the world. There is a 60-inch telescope at Ohio Wesleyan and a 72-inch instrument owned by the Canadian government. There is a 100-inch reflector on Mt. Wilson in California. That is the world's largest. The one now proposed will be a 200-inch telescope. Looking through this instrument the observer will see the canals on the planet Mars just as large as he finds them in the sky. It is a normal and proper attitude toward life. It is all wrong, but it is not normal. It is very important to keep the mind and body so healthy that courage will thrive within us. Then when new opportunity comes we shall not fear, even though it means breaking up and starting in a new field.

CONSTRUCT FREIGHT YARDS: BEAUMONT, Nov. 30. (P)—Construction of freight yards here to cost $1,000,000 by the Kansas City Southern Railway will get under way shortly after January 1. It has been announced by Charles E. Johnston, president of the road, who was here on an inspection trip.

FEARS OF COMMERCIAL WAR DECLARED GROUNDESS

By DR. JULIUS KLEIN Director of the U. S. Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

(Dr. Julius Klein was born in San Jose, Cal., in 1886. He was graduated from the University of California, and Paris. Dr. Klein made an investigation of Latin, American and Spanish history for a few years and served as instructor of Latin, American history and economics at Harvard university from 1915 to 1922. He was connected as chief of the Latin-American division of the U. S. Department of Commerce in Washington from 1917 to 1919. He has been director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce since 1921. Dr. Klein gained international recognition as a financial expert.)

Foreign trade is very much in the air these days. Many fear that over sea commercial adventuring may preface dangerous conflicts and rivalries abroad, believing that the American trade growth is the expense of others.

Vigorous commercial efforts abroad, it is alleged, will mean friction with other trading nations.

Trade struggles for trade supremacy, bitter competition that might eventually have dire consequences in the diplomatic, or even in the military sphere. After all, they say, wasn't it just such rivalries that started the war in 1914?

Such apprehensions, such comparisons with the present crisis, are quite as groundless in my opinion, as the fears inspired by "commercial imperialism" which, in some minds, may be conjured up by the old-time stories of foreign traders' cruel impositions on defenseless peoples. The truth of the matter is that the post-war world has been moving very definitely away from the idea not only of "exploitation" but also of commercial "combat."

This "age of commercial conflict" is plainly a contradiction in terms. The fact is that no true commerce is possible in conflict.

Modern war kills business. It may breed occasional rank growth of profiteers, but to the great body of commerce, it is immeasurably destructive.

Business today is rooted in credit and credit means confidence. American has not the slightest reason to view with disquietude our country's growing participation in world trade. It represents a contribution not only to our own welfare but to that of humanity at large.

line road is somewhat of a mystery to travelers. To buy a 100-foot strip six miles long is equal to seventy-five acres of land, which at the exorbitant price of $200 an acre would equal $15,000,000 for right of way over this strip. But buying the strip would save almost two miles of paving and give an almost straight line road from Lubbock to Lamesa. Now please do not get scared, for neither me nor any of my friends or relatives own a foot of the land involved in this strip. To do so will save money, time, gasoline and life. It is obvious that paved roads will soon be built all over West Texas, so it is not a matter of when we shall build them, or why, but how to build them so as to efficiently utilize every dollar invested in them. Graded roads are the cause of civilization, so why not build them straight?

DRAFT ACT IS OBJECTIVE: AUSTIN, Nov. 30. (P)—Passage of a universal draft act by the next congress is one of the principal objectives of the American League for the coming year. Rufus Scott, Jr., commander of the Texas department, said today in urging renewal of membership.

Mr. Editor: A net work of good roads will do more at the present time to benefit Lubbock county than anything we can do. To follow a strictly economic program, nothing is ever built piece at a time, so while we are at the business of building roads, let's do it in man fashion, and in the days to come, instead of regrets we will have pride for a task well done.

Lubbock city and county will continue to grow with good roads. We should be glad to help our neighbor towns of Siston, Idalou, Berton, McClung and Acuff to get roads. They have a need for the roads, it will enable them to get their produce to town and help them in every way. Whatever helps them helps the rest of Lubbock county.

Let's look at it from a broad viewpoint and leave out any petty jealousy. Let's both vote and work for the passage of the good roads bond, and retain our property and leadership.

Yours very truly, HOPE ELECTRIC CO. By E. L. HOPE.

It seems from indications that the road bonds will certainly carry in Lubbock county. This means that

HIGH FLIGHT

1928, by NEA Service Inc. WITH DEWEY GROVES "WHEN A GIRL LOVES" LOVE FOR TWO

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Yate introduces JERRY RAY, a shop girl, to ALESTER CARSTAINS when he crashes his airplane into the camp she is sharing with her roommate, MYRTLE. She likes his pilot, DAN HARVEY, but Alester is struck by her beauty and shows her attention.

Unable to buy a gown for a party he has invited her to, Jerry yields to the temptation to slip one from the store for the evening. When they found her for being "dry" at the party, Jerry drinks too much. A rowdy dancing partner throws her into the pool to revive her.

Dan appears to help her, but Alester takes her home. She is discharged from the store when she confesses about the dress. Jerry seeks another job, and is surprised one evening when Dan calls. He proposes and she tells him she does not believe in love but hopes to marry for money. He leaves after warning her.

Alester drives Jerry out to the deserted camp, where he makes advances, which she repulses. Dan happens by and Jerry makes Alester take her home. When he learns that she has lost her job on his account he uses his influence to get her a place in a store.

Rehearsals are hard for her, but she is befriended by Evelyn Starr, who is in love with JAEK TRANE. Evelyn gives a party and when Alester says he cannot take her, Jerry invites Dan. Jack takes exception to Jerry's presence in Evelyn's home and an unpleasant scene ensues. Then Alester arrives and demands that Jerry leave Dan and go home with him. She refuses and he leaves in a rage.

glanced over his shoulder. Then he stuck his hand in his coat pocket and pulled out a pack of cigars. The scene he had just glimpsed would not be brief, he reasoned. There would be time for a leisurely smoke.

Jerry put her tear-stained face against Dan's while he held her. She wished blindly that he would kiss her.

Dan fought off a corresponding desire. He was slightly bewildered by Jerry's change of heart, and he would not trust it.

He told himself that she did not believe that Alester would return to her. If he took advantage of her emotional weakness now she was sure to regret it when Alester appeared. Moreover, he reminded himself, she never had said, or even hinted, that she loved him. His wish had been father to that thought.

Just because she lay passive in his arms was no assurance that she'd willingly yield to his kisses. She was simply unstrung, and ready to snap on anyone's shoulder. This thought aroused Dan to action. He lifted Jerry away from him and she fell back against the leather upholstery with a suddenness that surprised her.

Dan stepped out of the cab and turned to assist her. Jerry looked at him with startled eyes. His face, now made plainly visible by the street lamp, was grim and set.

A wave of mortification swept over Jerry as she made her way out of the cab. It was with shame, that she thought of her yearning to Dan knew Alester Carstains well. He knew that he held fast to his purpose until it was achieved. And there was no mistaking, a second time, his interest in Jerry.

Alester had fallen hard. Well, Jerry could be relied upon, she trusted, to take care of herself. Dan acknowledged as the cab turned into her street. It looked at last as if she had a good chance to marry her million.

When they stopped before her door Jerry opened her eyes and set up straight. She put out a hand in the semi-darkness of the car and found one of Dan's.

"I'm sorry I got you into trouble," she said softly.

The driver reached around from his seat and opened the door. But his faces made no effort to move.

"Jerry," Dan said suddenly, "this may be the last time I'll see you. You know I love you," he added quickly, briskly.

Jerry withdrew her hand from his.

"No," he said, "I'm not going to make love to you. I know when I've lost," he added, holding his tense voice low. "At times I've thought I'd rather take you up and crash with you than have Alester win you." He went on hurriedly, "but my mind was black with despair in those moments, Jerry. I was afraid that you... well, I know better now. But don't be a fool, don't let people talk about you. That might be the one thing that would stand in the way of your ambition."

Jerry's voice came in tones pitched as low as his own, but not so steady when she answered.

"You're talking in riddles," she said. "I'll never see Alester again."

"Oh, yes you will," Dan assured her. "You're near your goal," he added with a false laugh, "but watch your step. Alester's family won't accept a tarnished reputation."

"Well..."

"You know what I mean," Dan interrupted. "It isn't what you do, Jerry. It's how it looks to the world. Be careful where you're seen and what you do. That ring on your finger—it's Alester's, isn't it? Give it back to him and let him keep it until he puts it on to confirm your engagement."

He stopped abruptly and for a few seconds a weighty silence hung between them. It was Jerry's voice—a queer sound, half laugh half sob—that broke it.

"Why are you so sure that he will want to marry me," she said "and that I will want to marry him?"

"Because that is what you both want," Alester may not have known it as soon as you did," he added "but when a man rushes all the way in from Lone Island to a Hundred and Fourth street just because he suspects that his girl is out with another man it proves that he is jealous. And when Alester is jealous he is jealous of something he wants for himself. That's why I'm warning you not to make it too hard for him when he goes to the mat with his family. You see, Jerry, I know it will come to that. At first I didn't think so, but I didn't know how much a man could love you."

"Alester doesn't," Jerry said. "Don't misjudge him," Dan retorted shortly. "Maybe no other girl could stir any real feeling in him, but no man could help loving you, Jerry."

"But what if—if I don't want him to love me?" Jerry asked moved by a reckless impulse that was urging her to delay their parting to hold Dan, to forget Alester and all her well-laid plans.

"Don't draw in his teeth sharply," Dan warned to marry him, don't you'll be regretting it."

"I don't know," Jerry cried. "I don't know what I want, I'm afraid... it would be terrible to be unhappy all my life."

"That phrasem," Dan volunteered suddenly, "is a marble hall."

"Don't be so cruel," Jerry sobbed. Then she held her shoulders, hunched too tightly. Her gasping cry reached the ears of the driver who

During winter, both Magnolia Gasoline and Magnolia ANTI-KNOCK Gasoline are specially reblended to give quicker acceleration than summer gasoline. It is still as clean, however, as suggested by motor manufacturers in their instruction books.

Have you changed to winter oil? Have the Magnolia Man drain your engine and refill with the correct grade of Magnolia Motor Oil, the Dependable Lubricant.

That inch by inch fight through traffic, that incessant shifting of gears, that slow grind at five miles an hour—are "fast going". Not for your car, but for your motor! Every shift to first and second gear ordinarily made necessary in slow-moving traffic represents high motor speed and low car speed—an uneconomical ratio that "eats up" the gas.

A motor made powerful and smooth by Magnolia ANTI-KNOCK Gasoline clears through traffic with less effort on your part and with fewer gear shifts. This means greater economy of operation.

A better fuel that gives you "stay-in-high" power, that's Magnolia ANTI-KNOCK Gasoline—have him kiss her. Why he despised her. They walked up the steps to the stoop of the old brownstone house in silence...

Dan stood in the deserted hall until he heard a door slam. Then he went hurriedly out to the waiting cab and drove off.

Upstairs Jerry was hating herself for her lapse from self-control. What could Dan think of her—except that she was cheap?

How could he know that if he'd kissed her in the cab she'd have been just like any other girl who had found her lover. He wouldn't even believe what she had said about Alester she thought with bitter self-contempt.

Her head ached as she thought of herself as a pendulum swinging between two men and not knowing where to stop. But that was over now.

When Myrtle came in she found Jerry with a towel wet with which she had laid across her eyes. "Well, your blowout did break up early," she remarked in surprise.

"I got a headache," Jerry replied and let it go at that. It was almost dawn before she fell asleep. Myrtle woke her at seven.

"Aren't you leaving early with Alester?" she asked. Jerry sat up with a start before she became conscious of the change in her plans.

"No, I'm going on the train," she said, and dropped back on her pillow. But at eight-thirty, while she still lay in bed, she heard the door-bell ring in the unmistakable fashion of messenger boys or special delivery postmen.

In a few minutes the landlady came trudging up the stairs and knocked at her door. She went to open it a crack without stopping to put on a kimono. Though the narrow opening she saw a square box with a familiar appearance in the landlady's arms.

She opened the door wider to take the package the landlady handed her. "You'd better get some clothes on, somebody would ever catch me in a nightgown like that."

Jerry ignored her remark. She was interested only in the box and its contents. Orchids, of course. Well, if she got roused for having to "train" down to Atlantic City at least she could flash 250 worth of flowers to make up for what she had lost.

No one could have sent them but Alester. She felt in the folds of the green paper for a card. There wasn't any. He hadn't meant them as a peace offering, Jerry concluded. They must have been ordered before their quarrel of last night.

Jerry took her time about dressing and packing. The train left in the early part of the afternoon. At 12:30 she was putting the last of her things into a black fibre dressing case she had purchased at a sale. At 12:35, as she put on her hat to go out to lunch, the door-bell rang again with that same "I bring news" assurance. This time Jerry was more concerned. It could be word... from Dan.

When the door opened she was vaguely peeping over the banister. Then she drew back quickly as the man who stood outside glanced toward the stairs.

It was Alester, and Jerry caught a glimpse of the black and yellow roadster at the curb before she ducked out of sight.

"Ask if Miss Ray is ready to start for Atlantic City," she heard him saying. "Well, if she isn't I guess it won't take her long to get ready," the landlady retorted. "The way girls dress nowadays..."

Jerry grinned though she was annoyed. Think of one of Alester's servants greeting a caller like that. She crept back into her room and closed the door softly while the landlady tramped half way up the stairs and stopped to call out the message in a loud voice.

Jerry threw open the door. "Yes, what is it?" she said in a high, gay voice. "Oh, Mr. Carstairs?"

She came to the top of the stairs. "Why, hello Alester," she said to him. "Nice of you to come for me, but I can't leave right now. I've an engagement to lunch at the Ritz."

It was Alester, and Jerry caught a glimpse of the black and yellow roadster at the curb before she ducked out of sight.

"I dub thee C.C.C."

"C. C. C? I suppose that's another mean remark about the coffee." "Not at all, you're the Countess of the Coffee Cup—a title of distinction." "Glad you like it, then add M-J-B to my title too."

Many people find that with M-J-B, the strong blend, they use slightly less coffee. But whether you make it strong or weak, M-J-B has a flavor that only the strong blend can give.

Now it comes to you in an improved friction-top key-can available only to M-J-B users, packed by our own vacuum process.

COOKING DEMONSTRATION AND EPISCOPAL BAZAR TODAY 3 P. M. TO 5 P. M.

We had planned to have this demonstration some two weeks ago. Our stoves were all sold by the time the demonstrator arrived.

Friday and Saturday we again invite your inspection of this marvelous new Buck's Stove.

We guarantee you a surprise. We guarantee for you a most beautiful gas range. We guarantee for you a stove with unequalled conveniences. We guarantee you the biggest value ever offered at any price.

1929 Car Licenses Can Be Bought Now

Automobile Owners Having 1928 Plates May Secure New Ones Now, Tax Assessor Declares

Any one owning an automobile on which the 1928 motor licenses has been paid may now secure their 1929 license several days before the county tax collector's office. There are certain regulations to the proceedings, however, which all motorists should become acquainted with before making application.

No 1929 license will be issued unless the automobile owner shows a receipt, not older than 30 days, for having his car lights tested.

Get New Car Licenses Later
Purchasers of new cars cannot get 1929 licenses until after January 1.

The 1929 license plates are of a much more appealing color combination than any ever issued in Texas, the letters and figures being orange, with the background of black. There are a sufficient number of license plates to take care of the rush for new cars, with a total of 9,200 of them on hand in the tax collector's office.

Friday's issuance of new car licenses is given below:
L. F. Swinney, Idalou, Pontiac coupe; Mrs. E. E. Needles, Lubbock, Oldsmobile coach; Joel P. Deak, Lubbock, Dodge sedan; D. B. Deak, Lubbock, Dodge sedan; Carl Wilson, Lubbock, Ford coupe.

Bond Election

order to vote.
The bond election heard for the $2,004,000 road bond issue, which is to be voted on today, was held at a meeting of Lubbock business men held in the chamber of commerce rooms at the city hall Friday night, when about 50 met to discuss the project and a campaign to get out the voters. The argument is:

Said one Lubbock county farmer to another:
"If I have good roads to travel over, I can go to town on the days that I can't work in my fields and take my surplus products, such as milk, butter, eggs, poultry and other cash-bringing articles, and set the cash for them. Without good roads, when bad weather comes I can't work the fields and can't get to town to sell my products. When the weather permits and my fields need water, the growth of winter wheat is retarded and I have to wait the time to take off my work to carry those things to town."

J. J. Clements presided at the meeting, at which a number of talks were given by those present. Mr. Clements called attention of the subject to the growth of Lubbock during the past five years, saying:

"Saturday has got to be a big day—a hard day. We must work to bring the Big thing, the Milk plant that is anxious to locate here, if we will vote this bond issue and have good roads, we will have the big cheese factory and milk plant that Wichita Falls secured last year, simply because Wichita Falls offered that company a territory served with good roads and Lubbock did not. The road bonds will enable us to extend our roads further."

All South Plains counties are looking for us to point the way to progress."

Charles F. O'Neal stated that he had been working hard among citizens in the business districts of town and among members of union labor organizations for the bond issue.

W. O. Stevens said he had talked to a large number of farmers during the past several days and that it was his belief that 75 per cent of them will vote for the bond issue.

W. C. Rylander, in telling of canvassing among the downtown residents of Lubbock, declared that he made a straw vote, resulting in finding 147 for and only 25 against it and that he believed the bonds would carry.

E. W. Provencher, of Texas Technological college, said: "If the road bonds fall to carry, it will lose Lubbock five years of progress."

Klett Explains Qualifications
E. L. Klett explained to the gathering who is eligible to vote today, stating that practically every body who had a poll tax this year could. "Any qualified voter who has, or had property on January 1, subject to taxation, either real or personal property, whether or not taxes were paid, or he has a tax receipt for paying them, can vote. Such things as a watch, jewelry, musical instruments, automobile, or real estate, are sufficient. And the amount is not stipulated in any law. If a husband and a wife own joint property, as named, then they both have votes coming to them."

Walter Myrick, Jr., said he had taken a straw vote in town, also, and had felt optimistic over that, but that he also realized it was up to local citizens favoring the bond issue to work hard in getting out every vote possible, as the opponents of the project had a great deal of strength.

J. H. Hankins said: "We don't want to kid ourselves by thinking we have the victory won. But every one who is for it should vote and get some one else to vote for it."

Sherrod Talks
B. Sherrod spoke of the farmers, as a rule, being willing to abide by the judgment of a friend, or friend and said if every man will influence some farmer, as well as his wife, by reasoning on the business side of the proposition, this sort of work would be effective.

Spencer Wells expressed belief that the battle would be won or lost here in Lubbock, as did W. W. Dix.

The gathering was told that the total amount of money spent by the Lubbock County Good Roads association, in carrying on this campaign, was only a little more than $1,250, and a plan of getting out the voters was discussed.

Doughboys Again Flood Theatre In Special Showing

The Lindsey theater was crowded again Friday night, as a result of strenuous efforts by members of the Allen Brothers Post of the American Legion in selling tickets for the big war picture which is on today for the last of a three-day run, "The Patent Leather Kid," starring Richard Barthelmess.

The Legionnaires sold approximately 600 or 700 tickets Friday to the show and will be seen about town all day today doing the same thing, manning their improvised dug-out at the corner of Broadway and Avenue J, in front of Bowen's Drug store.

Only tickets purchased from the Legionnaires help the building fund of the organization.

K. Foster, 6, cycling, painting; Mackey McFarland, 6, cooking; Alvin Blanton, 6, pathfinding; Charles Rice, 6, public health, firemanship, cooking.

Scoutmaster P. B. Williams, of troop 7, received a merit badge for electricity, being the only officer to receive one.

Star Scouts: Prentiss McClelland, 2; Charles Rice, 7.

Eagle Scout Palms: Tom Everhart, 4; Gary Thorp, 6.

In the inter-troop knot tying contest, under direction of Deputy Commissioner K. N. Clapp, first, second and third places were won by troops number 4, 5, 6, respectively.

Highway Plan

plives used for motor power, and a tax or charge on commercial vehicles engaged in transporting persons or property within the state.

It would be provided that one fourth of any revenue from a tax on gasoline be paid into the available school fund, as now provided for all counties in Texas.

Not To Exceed Gas Tax
It was agreed that bonds at no time should exceed an amount which a three cent tax on gasoline will redeem, principal and interest.

From any of the funds thus derived the legislature could make provision for refunds to counties and road districts to compensate them for expenditures which they had made through bond issues for the construction or improvement of roads forming a part of the state highway system.

The refund would authorize a referendum vote in the counties or road districts entitled to refunds, to determine whether the proceeds of the refunds be used for the improvement or construction of lateral roads, or be applied upon the principal and interest of any outstanding road bonds of the county or district.

To Be Ratified
The plan will be presented to the whole committee of 21 members for ratification when it meets in Austin on December 16.

John L. Darrouzet of Galveston, chairman of the sub-committee of the finance group to draft a plan, objected to two features of the proposal.

He said he was opposed to writing into the organic law the amount of a tax to be levied against any given industry or business and that he is against the indiscriminate seizure of bonds where the maximum amount is not designated in the organic law.

FINES TOTAL $2,369

Eighty-Seven Fined For Drunkenness

One fine of $15 assessed on a charge of drunkenness, closed November record of fines and assessments at the city police court, bringing the month's fines collected up to the grand total of $2,369. There were in all 188 fines collected.

Topping the list of fines were 67 for drunkenness, traffic violations and other offenses, or a total of $3 of these. There were 31 fines collected for disturbing the peace, 8 for gaming, 7 for fighting and two for thefts under $5.

precinct 24 copy from Antonio Garcia, brother of Alex Garcia, precinct judge and gave them to McCloskey. The latter said Newton gave him some papers but that he had never seen the copy in question. Newton said he thought Antonio was an election judge and asked for the return copy so McCloskey could "compare" the results with others.

Wurzbach Takes Stand
Wurzbach had been unofficially announced winner for his fifth term until the commissioners court canvass showed victory for McCloskey. Taking the stand himself, Wurzbach detailed several alleged discrepancies in return charging apparent use of ink eradicators and other methods of alteration. Wurzbach told how a re-check was demanded after unofficial returns showed him to be winner. Balliffs were unable to locate Fritz Russel, San Antonio independent school system attaché, to testify. Ed. Engleheart, precinct judge who works under Russel in the school system, said Russel came to him one night, told him he had to have Engleheart's copy of the precinct returns, took the copy and returned it some 24 hours later with McCloskey's vote of 298 changed to 328.

Denies Cross Examination
Denying the right of cross examination to McCloskey counsel, Chairman Lehibach explained that the committee is not a court and will not adjudicate the case. The record will be submitted to the national house for use in case of the expected contest before that body.

Wurzbach charged a statement filed with the committee today that some of the returns were altered. McCloskey, who was examined on the stand by Wurzbach told the committee he disqualified himself as head of the commissioners court a week before the election, and denied that he altered any returns or knew of any alterations being made.

L. Schwartz, one of the three judges reprimanded by Lehibach for showing up without their return copies, "with a grin on your face," said he mistakenly put his copy in the ballot box, but recalled that Wurzbach got 181 votes. Wurzbach declared the commissioners court canvass gave him only 180 votes in the precinct.

The committee expects to leave Saturday morning for Washington. Members would make no comment on developments of the inquiry.

Slaton

ty as a whole—the only chance we have to get the roads we need and that we are rightfully entitled to," this has apparently gripped the attention of every voter in this city and section. Slaton business men, leading taxpayers and virtually all voters alike agree that the proposed bond issue offers an equitable and reasonable plan of highly building for the county at large, all sections of the county being given roads to serve them in proportion to population and tax values.

Slaton citizens, scores of them, have expressed their firm belief that the citizens of other parts of Lubbock County will vote for the bond issue in sufficient numbers to carry it by a good margin. It is argued here that such an attitude of fairness will prevail among the voters all over the county, and that very few will vote against the bond issue by reason of a delusion that the proposed plan is unbalanced and unequal.

Proponents of the bond issue have pointed out that Slaton has always occupied a large place in Lubbock county's development, and that this city, with 6,000 people, surrounded by a highly productive and thickly populated agricultural territory, should have all the paved roads as proposed, and that the building of these roads will enable the city of Lubbock and other parts of the county to reap a part of the accruing benefits.

Spencer Wells expressed belief that the battle would be won or lost here in Lubbock, as did W. W. Dix.

The gathering was told that the total amount of money spent by the Lubbock County Good Roads association, in carrying on this campaign, was only a little more than $1,250, and a plan of getting out the voters was discussed.
