Plans Mapped By Dictators

Ribbentrop To Meet Mussolini

Spain's, Egypt's Positions May Be Talked By Heads

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Sept. 18.—All informed circles in Germany stressed tonight that Joachim von Ribbentrop's forthcoming conversations in Rome will result in Axis "action—not words," and it was hinted that Spain and Egypt are the primary subjects for consideration.

Foreign Minister Ribbentrop left today to consult Benito Mussolini and other leaders of Fascist Italy, and it was learned tonight that on his return he again will see Ramon Serrano Suner, Berlin's highly-placed Spanish visitor. This fact was taken in political circles as lending added significance to Spain's place in what Germans call the coming scheme of things.

May Talk Destroyers

Cautiously, some inspired commentators argued in talking with foreign correspondents that the Anglo-American trade of destroyers for defense bases will also be considered during the Rome talks. The German press, which at an obvious hint from above has consistently minimized the significance of this matter, made no direct reference to the United States, however.

Egypt now has been invaded by Italian armies in what the German press has been calling a battle for the liberation of the Egyptians from the British. It seems logical that German troops might be used to help Italy in this push.

Spain this week sent Ramon Serrano Suner, key minister and brother-in-law of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, to Berlin, and now, informed sources say, the problem is where to fit Spain into the Axis scheme of things. That Spain will want something in return for her cooperation is accepted, and most frequently mentioned is the great French island colony of Madagascar in the Indian ocean.

Blocks Leveled

One usually reliable source indicated the Rome conference might develop a secret treaty or even a public pronouncement of Spanish adherence to the Axis — although Spain is unable to do very much in a military or economic manner.

This diplomatic interlude had no effect, it seemed, on Germany's pursuit of her British enemy. The high command listed as targets of day and night bombardment the great Thames-side docks of London, its water and gas works, railway stations and airdromes, and Nazi airmen were quoted by other sources as declaring that entire blocks in eastern London had been leveled by bombs.

Husband Testifies In Murder Trial

FORT WORTH, Sept. 18. (AP) — Horton Allen, 24, Granview grocery clerk, described in criminal district court here today how he found his wife, an expectant mother, mortally wounded at their home near Grandview on August 8.

Allen was the fourth witness called today in the trial of Tommie Harris, 18, Grandview negro, on a charge of slaying Mrs. Edna Earl Allen, 19, who died in a Fort Worth hospital two days after she was beaten.

The voice of the witness broke when he described how he entered the bedroom at their home and lifted his wife in his arms.

"Her hair was matted with blood and there was a big gash across her forehead," Allen said. "Several of her teeth were knocked out and there was a wound on her chest."

Sheriff Oran Smith of Cleburne testified he took the defendant into custody after his capture near Grandview by a posse. The sheriff said he found tennis shoe tracks leading from the Allen home and that the defendant wore tennis shoes when he was arrested.

Physical evidence introduced by the prosecution included a seven pound, blood stained sash weight, the head of a hammer and an ice pick handle, weapons purportedly used by the attacker.

Bomber Crashes Onto Time's London Office

LONDON, Sept. 19 (Thursday)—(AP)—One of Germany's latest type bombers—a huge Junkers 88—was shot down by anti-aircraft guns early today during the overnight raid on London and fell on the house occupied by Walter Grabner, head of the London office of Time and Life magazines.

The anti-aircraft guns also were reported to have brought down another raider—its type not given—in Hyde Park.

Officer Wonders If They Were Deaf Or He Was Just Dumb

(By The Associated Press)

LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 18.—Traffic Patrolman Tobe Mercantel is still wondering who was deaf or who was "dumb."

When an automobile full of young people made a wrong turn, he whistled them to a stop, went over, and began his lecture. All in the car made signs that they were deaf and mute.

He waved them on but as they sped away the thought struck him: If they were deaf, how had they heard his whistle? It was too late then to find out. They were gone.

Cotton Quota For 1941 Set By Wickard

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard proclaimed a national marketing quota for cotton of 12,000,000 bales for 1941, subject to approval of growers voting in a referendum Dec. 7.

To become operative, the quotas must be approved by two thirds of the producers voting.

The quota is the same as that established, and approved, on the 1938, 1939 and 1940 crops.

Such a quota, Wickard said, would permit planting of about 27,900,000 acres to cotton. This acreage would be apportioned among individual growers on the basis of a formula set up in the 1938 Agricultural Adjustment act. Growers would be permitted to sell all they produced on the acreage allotments. Cotton grown on acreages in excess of the allotments would be subject to a penalty tax of 3 cents a pound. Likewise, growers overplanting allotments would be denied full government benefit payments and commodity loans on cotton.

Uses Increase

Under the 1938 AAA act, establishment of quotas is mandatory when the total cotton supply reaches 107 per cent of "normal." Wickard said that on Aug. 1 the total supply of cotton was 24,900,000 bales, or 137 per cent of the "normal" supply of 18,200,000 bales.

"Cotton farmers have need of marketing quotas for the 1941 marketing year more than ever before," Wickard said. "War conditions have decreased, rather than increased, our foreign markets for cotton. Although the position of cotton in world trade is difficult, we find satisfaction in the fact that we are increasing the use of cotton in our own country through such programs as mattress-making and other new uses."

Body Is Disinterred For Second Time

McKINNEY, Sept. 18. (AP)—Justice of the Peace Clyde Doyle of McKinney said today the body of William Edgar McGarrah, 39, had been disinterred for the second time at the request of J. H. Arnett, state chemist for the Department of Public Safety.

Justice Doyle said additional parts of the body had been sent to Austin for examination. McGarrah, a former Collin county resident, died in Van Zandt county March 13, and was buried in a cemetery near here.

His body was first ordered disinterred and an autopsy performed Sept. 5. Sheriff C. D. Johnson of Van Zandt county took the viscera to Austin then.

The justice of the peace said Sheriff Johnson, County Attorney Hubbard of Van Zandt county; Dr. P. D. Robason, Collin health physician, and Doyle were present at the second autopsy.

FBI Agent Talks To Officials Of Area

Approximately 125 law enforcement officers of 19 South Plains and West Texas counties heard E. E. Conroy, special agent in charge of the Dallas field office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, discuss measures to combat espionage and sabotage, Wednesday night in the federal courtroom.

"In order that information regarding efforts to undermine the American government may be available for study and coordination on a national basis, it is urged any information be given the FBI Dallas office," he told them.

Similar meetings will be conducted in other Texas cities.

Young Men Will Get Opportunity To Volunteer

Delay Of Month Necessary; Boys To Be Treated

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—Young men of 18 through 35 who want to volunteer for a year's army training without waiting to be drafted will have to be patient for a month or so.

War department officials said today that, regardless of the selective service act, no immediate change is planned in the policy of accepting only three-year enlistments for the regular army.

Recruiting officers are not authorized to take one-year volunteers, but the local selective service boards which will begin functioning after the draft registration on October 16 can accept them.

Provisions Made

The act provides that men of 18 through 35 may volunteer in the army and navy for the year's training and service prescribed in the act. It stipulates, however, that they cannot be accepted if they have been deferred by the local boards because of physical handicaps, dependents or essential jobs.

Since only the local boards are empowered to make deferment classifications, a selective service official explained, only they can accept such volunteers. While men from 18 to 21 will not be required to register for classification, those who wish may volunteer to do so, along with men from 21 through 35.

REMEDIES PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—A $25,000,000 program to remedy minor physical defects of prospective draftees, so that they will be able to enter the armed forces, was suggested today at a special meeting of state health officers.

Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the U. S. public health service, who presided at the meeting, said afterward that he had been authorized to recommend a $25,000,000 federal appropriation for the treatment of minor ailments revealed in the forthcoming conscription examinations.

Tests To Be Urged

The health officers pointed out, he said, that thousands of men will be found to have such defects as hernias, tonsilitis, trachoma and diseases due to malnutrition. These, it was declared, can be treated within a reasonable time to make an active soldier out of a person who would otherwise be a non-combattant.

Dr. Parran said it had been estimated that from 20,000 to 30,000 cases of tuberculosis would be discovered in the examination of

Mexican Rumors Of War Denied

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 18. — The war department tonight reported "all quiet" in Chihuahua state and said it had no confirmation whatever of rumors that Lt.-Col. Cruz Villalva had risen in arms in the mountains south of Chihuahua City.

A spokesman at the war department said military reports tonight told of "no news" in the state.

In Chihuahua City residents said the town was filled with rumors that Villalva, defeated candidate for governor on a ticket supporting General Juan Almazan, president claimant, had declared himself in rebellion and taken to the hills about 100 miles south. There were no first-hand reports that anyone had seen Villalva or the band he reportedly was leading.

The war office said there had been "no mobilization" of troops on account of the rumors, but Chihuahua residents said various detachments of soldiers had been seen leaving town during the day. Three of five army planes recently sent to Chihuahua made a long reconaissance flight during the morning, but the aviators reported they saw nothing of any band in the hills or anything else unusual.

Mexican Workers Get Too Many Holidays

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 18. (AP)—Too many holidays and not enough work for government employes was reported to be the opinion of a group of deputies who plan to petition President-Elect Manuel Avila Camacho to revise the nation's fiesta calendar after he takes office in December.

The large number of holidays now observed by public employes has impaired the efficiency of the government's services, the deputies were reported to believe.

The number of fiestas can be regulated by executive action, it was said.

Allowances For Dependents Of Draftees Okayed

Proposal Written Into Excess Tax Bill By Senate

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Seeking to ease the financial burdens of men drafted for military training, the Senate wrote into the excess tax bill today broad authority for the president to establish allowances for dependents.

He also would be empowered to establish an insurance system for the men and make modifications in the present social security regulations for their benefit.

Already In Motion

It acted while the war department, waiting for President Roosevelt to sign executive orders establishing the machinery, rules and regulations for conscription, reported that numerous states were announcing progress on preparations for their part in the draft.

Many governors, it was said, have been selecting men for the local draft boards and arranging for regular election officials to handle the gigantic task of registering 16,500,000 eligible young men on Oct 16.

The provisions adopted by the senate were purposely vague, so that Senate and House conferees may work out more explicit language later on. They were adopted as a substitute for an amendment by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) designed to continue old age pension and unemployment credits for draftees and national guardsmen called into active service.

Ready To Sign

The outlay for dependents is expected to be comparatively small at the start inasmuch as the general policy is not to draft men with dependent relatives at present, but to place them in a deferred classification. However, they may be drafted later.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt, just back from attending the funeral of Speaker Bankhead at Jasper, Ala., prepared to sign tomorrow the first of a series of executive orders governing the administration of the draft, and the enrollment, classification and selection of conscripts.

In addition, he is expected to appoint a director of the draft within a few days. Probabilities point toward Lieut. Col. Lewis B. Hershey for the job. At present he is executive officer of the joint army-navy committee which has spent 14 years perfecting plans for conscription.

Contract Awarded For Recycling Project

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 18. (AP)—The Shreveport Times says the contract has been let, for a recycling project in the Cotton Valley field of Webster parish, Louisiana, which is expected to be one of the most complete oil recovery projects in the United States.

Hudson Engineering company of Houston, has been awarded the contract, equipment has been ordered, and is expected to arrive within a few days, when ground will be broken for the project, the paper says.

"While the contract price was not learned, preliminary estimates were that the absorption and recycling plant, to recover natural gasoline from the gas as well as repressure the gas and force it down again to the deep horizons, would cost about $2,000,000.

More Aid To English Advocated By Admiral

CHICAGO, Sept. 18. (AP)—Admiral William H. Standley, United States navy, retired, advocated tonight that America "provide an adequate number" of "mosquito boats" to Great Britain to "forestall any menace the U-Boats of Germany may be in the Atlantic."

Admiral Standley, Dorothy Thompson, columnist; Douglas Fairbanks, jr., actor, and Maury Maverick, mayor of San Antonio, and former congressman, spoke before a meeting sponsored by the Chicago chapter of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

RUMORS UNCONFIRMED

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 18. (AP) — The war department said tonight it had heard rumors of an uprising in Chihuahua state, but had received no report from the military authorities there other than that federal troops were investigating.

British Attack German Points

Great Destruction In Slums Caused By Nazi Bombers

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 19. (Thursday)—Thundering tons of high explosives showered on battered London and suburbs last night and early today from a steadily increasing force of Nazi attackers who left heavy damage and a mounting list of casualties in the empire capital.

More planes took part in the raid—the 12th overnight attack since Germany began her "all out" assaults on London—than in the Tuesday-Wednesday overnight raid which caused heavy casualties.

RAF Stages Raids

But while the Germans dumped their bombs on London, British bombers were visiting destruction on German bases on the Nazi-held French and Belgian coasts in violent attacks against "invasion ports."

The German bombers caused great destruction in the slums of East London in the early phases of the raids. Now they have turned their attention to the fashionable sectors of the capital as well, subjecting them to heavy bombing.

In the latest punishing attack, coughing men and women stumbled from fashionable apartments after direct hits were scored by incendiary bombs in central London.

From All Directions

Big bombs were hurled at the metropolis from the north rim to the south, east and west.

The shopping area, long the home of many of the world's famous fashion stores, was hit again and again by high explosive projectiles.

The plate glass in the windows of one department store which was not touched heretofore was smashed by a bomb exploding in the street in front of the store.

London's anti-aircraft gun barrage brough down at least two of the raiders—one of them a Junker 88, Germany's lafest type of bombing plane.

Center Strafed

The raiders violently strafed the center of London, dropping fat, blazing oil bombs in an effort to set fires in the city to guide them to their targets.

Flame bombs showered over the central area of London.

A tremendous explosion jarred a building in central London; a row of houses in North London was demolished; and a heavy bomb fell

Hoover Says U. S. Entry Into War Would Kill Democracy

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18. —Former President Hoover declared tonight that entrance of the United States into the European war would put this nation under a "totalitarian dictatorship" and destroy hope of "maintained free economy in the world for a generation."

After any "so-called peace," he said in an address prepared for an economic symposium at the University of Pennsylvania's bicentennial celebration," the idea of the free states combining against the totalitarian nations in trade is nonsense. 'The world has to live."

Britain Will Win

Hoover predicted the British empire eventually will triumph "in its heroic defense" and asserted that it is time the United States begins to think about "economic defenses" against what is to come after the conflict ends.

His speech, which he termed non-political "despite the intellectural climate of a national campaign," was broadcast.

Declaring that "we cannot refuse to consider economic defense weapons any more than we can refuse to consider building airplanes," Hoover suggested these economic measures:

1. Increased "industrial efficiency," based on scientific research which would discover "new articles and services."

Must Be Independent

2. Self-government: "We may be forced either by economics or military necessities to free ourselves from dependence on oversea supplies."

3. Imposition of foreign trade quotas. "The quota is far more ironclad than tariffs, and the reciprocal quotas more potent than reciprocal tariffs against the economic dive-bombers of the new era."

"Certainly if the United States join in this war we would inevitably become a totalitarian dictatorship ourselves and any hope of maintained free economy in the world would be gone for a generation," Hoover said.

Despite Continued Raids Many Circumstances Are In Favor Of Great Britain

By KIRK L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

A DREADFUL moonlight sonata of German bomb attack battered Londoners as the fourth month of the battle of Britain opened. How many civilian lives were lost in that deluge of destruction, which descended on the great, sprawling city for nearly ten hours, can only be conjectured.

Yet there are circumstances surrounding the fight for air heartening for Britishers, whatever the London casualties. The prompt repulse by Royal Air mastery that are definitely force fighters of Nazi planes which sought to make a follow-up flight to London in the daytime emphasizes Prime Minister Winston Churchill's contention that daylight mastery of the air is the "crux" of the battle.

Without that, German invasion of England would be a desperate venture, even with assur-

Defense Group Says Delay Seen In Suits

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (AP) — The National Defense commission, in a report made public tonight, said that certain phases of the defense program would be delayed and complicated if the justice department went through with an anti-trust suit to force oil companies to relinquish control of transportation and marketing facilities.

The report was made public by Attorney General Jackson, who had asked the commisison for an opinion before proceeding with a suggested civil action against the American Petroleum institute, 22 major oil companies and about 300 subsidiaries and affiliates.

Jackson said tonight that he would announce his next step after studying the report.

Gandhi Again Leads Nation

(By The Associated Press)

BOMBAY, Sept. 18.—Monhandas K. Gandhi, once more undisputed leader of India's main nationalist movement, has taken over the delicate task of directing non-violent anti-war propaganda, but under a pledge that it shall not embarrass Britain.

This wisp of a man, to be 71 years old Oct. 2, left for Wardha today after issuing instructions for complete discipline among his millions of followers pending an interview with the British viceroy, Lord Linlithgow.

Permission Sought

Gandhi will seek permission to preach passive resistance to Britain and non-participation in the war.

The All-India Congress (Nationalist party) committee pledged that organization Monday not to embarrass Britain in her struggle with Germany, but at the same time to preach against war. The committee withdrew a conditional offer of cooperation with Britain and invited Gandhi, who had disagreed with the offer, to resume the leadership "in any action that should be taken."

Gandhi followed up this delegation of power with an interview in Bombay mansion of Rameshwar Das Birla, multi-millionaire Indian in-

Italians Gain In Desert War

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Sept. 18.—The fast-striking army of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani spread southward from its new Egyptian base at Sidi Barrani today in an effort to mop up strong armored forces which the British have planted in desert ravines to conduct a "guerilla warfare on wheels."

While the Italian blackshirts and native soldiers, attended by water carriers, headed on toward the Suez canal, the Fascist press extolled the "valor" of dusky Libyan warriors who, it was said, performed a march to capture Sidi Barrani in a surprise attack.

Interest Whetted

This taste of victory whetted interest in the expected arrival tomorrow of German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who, some quarters believed would seek to coordinate Italy's blows at the British water "lifeline" with Germany's hammering at London.

Il Giornale D'Italia declared still-neutral Egypt would have to accept a "new order" from Italy, similar to the German domination over east and central western Europe.

This is true, the paper said, regardless of the results of British pressure to get Egypt to declare war under their military alliance.

With her forces already 60 miles inside Egyptian territory at Sidi Barrani, heat, lack of water and

Actress, Once Hailed As Most Glamorous, Dies

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 18. — Jesse Reed, who once was hailed as the most glamorous girl in Florenz Ziegfeld's bevy of beauties, relinquished her role in life's drama today.

She died of bronchial pneumonia at the age of 43.

During the so-called "golden era"—the mad and merry epoch of Dempsey and Rickard, McGaw and Grange, speakeasies, silent films and model T's—she was known as one of the highest paid of Ziegfeld's show girls.

Miss Reed danced in the "follies" for the last time in 1924. Since then she slipped gradually into relative obscurity.

Her name bobbed back into print in 1935. Reporters found her in a north side rooming house. She was contemplating an application to the relief commission for aid. Published stories brought her engagements in a Loop theater and night clubs.

Last August she entered a hospital. Blood transfusions gave her a new lease on life. She had improved until she contracted pneumonia recently.

Miss Reed was married five times. Her husbands were Leonard M. Reno, World war flyer and advertising man; "Dashing Dan" Caswell; William T. Young, Indianapolis advertising executive; Ollie Debrow; and Lew Reed, an actor.

A woman friend reported that she would make arrangements for the funeral.

Hungary Nazi Party Clashes With Police

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 18. (AP)—Several persons were injured tonight in a clash between police and members of the Nazi Arrow Cross party celebrating the release of their leader, Major Ferenc Szalasi, so-called "Hitler of Hungary."

The demonstration occurred in front of the party's "Brown House." Many of the Arrow Cross men wore their green shirts, which are forbidden.

Szalasi was not present. He was reported to be planning to leave tomorrow for the estate of Andras Mecser, a close friend of Adolf Hitler.

The major was imprisoned July 6, 1938 on a charge of treason and conspiracy to set up a dictatorship. His party was dissolved after we went to prison.

Willkie Chooses Rehabilitating Domestic Economy Over National Defense

Choice Would Be Hard One, Says Republican Presidential Nominee

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 18. (U.P.)—Wendell L. Willkie said today that if he had to make the choice for the protection of the country between rehabilitating the domestic economy and building a bigger national defense "I think I wounld choose to revitalize and rehabilitate our domestic economy."

"We must build a national defense of arms so strong that no dictator will seek to strike," he said. "But if I had to make the choice for the protection of America between rehabilitating the domestic economy and building a bigger national defense, although it would be a hard choice to make, I think I would choose to revitalize and rehabilitate our domestic economy."

Must Be Prosperous

His comment was made in a further discussion of his previously expressed conviction that the very existence of democracy is dependent on domestic economy.

"Democracy," he said, "can only survive over a long period if it is prosperous. Supposing we build the strongest fortresses, the finest planes, the best guns, and supposing our domestic economy breaks down. We will lose our democracy."

Willkie, carrying his campaign into another normally Democratic state in his address to a statewide Republican rally here, said one way to help rehabilitate the country's domestic economy would be to "have the American navy but American instead of Argentine beef."

The nominee was speaking to a crowd of livestock raisers and near the stand from which he spoke were tethered two calves in a pen which was labeled "this is not Argentine beef."

Cheered By Stockmen

He was referring to the controversy over whether the navy should purchase beef supplies in South America or from domestic raisers.

He was speaking in a center of the Southwest's livestock industry, and he drew cheers with his comments regarding the Argentine beef. He referred again to the reported conferenc between President Roosevelt and Leopold Melo, Argentine diplomat interested in having restrictions against importation of Argentine beef and mutton removed.

"The president told Mr. Melo that he couldn't do anything about the Argentine beef situation until after election," Willkie said.

"That's one of the few times that he admitted that he knew there was an election going on."

Willkie was introduced by Clarence Budington Kelland, fiction writer and Republican national committeeman from Arizona.

The nominee said that he was "proud of the character of the men who are supporting me," and he named Kelland and former Budget Director Lewis Douglas, who was Arizona's congressman before being appointed budget director by President Roosevelt in 1933.

Italian Campaign

British resistance were the main concern of Italian strategists as they mapped the next advance toward Matruh, 78 miles eastward on the Mediterranean.

Reported Bombed

Italians said about two and a half gallons of water are allotted to each man daily for drinking, bathing and cooling of motors. (For the estimated 260,000 men in Graziani's army this would mean 650,000 gallons of water daily.)

This huge bulk is carried by a fleet of water trucks along the dusty desert trials from the wells and pipe lines painstakingly prepared at the rear.

These arrangements, Italians said, would circumvent the fact the British had salted and dynamited the dozen old Roman wells at Sidi Barrani before they retired.

A British communique said the Italians in and around Sidi Barrani had been "heavily and successfully bombed."

dustrialist and Congress sympathizer.

Must Be Non-Violent

Seated on the floor and surrounded by shorthand secretaries while a white-robed woman disciple fiddled with the curtains to keep the sun from his face, Gandhi answered questions.

"Because non-violence is a Congress creed involving Congress' hostility to all war," he said, "it is a vital necessity that Congress not identify itself with any war.

"Hence my desire not to embarrass Britain was necessarily limited and conditioned by the counter-necessity for continued Congress existence.

"Therefore I promised that civil disobedience would be definitely restricted to freedom of speech, provided it is absolutely non-violent."

draftees. All will be turned down for military service and problems will then arise concerning the care of these men in their home communities, in order to prevent spread of the infection.

All of the men who register on Oct. 16 will be urged to have a blood test made for syphilis, the surgeon general said, but will not be required to do so. The 2,600 veneral disease clinics of the country will be open and prepared to make such tests. The men called up for examination under the draft following registration will be required to submit to blood tests in the regular army physical examination.

Good Indications

ances of a prolonged spell of favorable weather for channel crossing. There can be no such assurances at this season of the year. The near-gale that swept the channel September 17 served notice of that.

Neutral eye witnesses in posts of vantage on Britain's channel coast reported that the Nazi follow-up daylight flight, estimated to include 300 or more planes, was more heavily escorted by German fighter ships than any previous thrust at England. Yet it was quickly turned back short of London. Whether its mission was bombing or observation of damage done in the prolonged night raids which preceded it, the British fighters retained day time air mastery.

Further Bombing Grasp

And if British figures on air loss ratios during the last three months are anywhere near accurate, daylight air mastery over England appears farther from Germany's grasp today than it was June 18, when the battle of Britain began with the surrender of France. Churchill has given the British public and the world his word that they are accurate. He has stated that German plane casualties during the three months have run three-to-one to British losses and German air personnel losses six-to-one.

To supplement this assertion, British Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair has issued specific figures on losses for the period from August 8 to September 18. Against 621 British planes of all types downed, he asserted that 1,867 Nazi aircraft had been destroyed. Against less than 600 Royal Air force flying personnel lost, he scored against Germany 4,000 airmen killed or captured.

Aggressor Pays

Those figures bear out the Churchill three-to-one and six-to-one loss ratios favoring Britain. If they are even reasonably correct, it follows that the flower of the Nazi air fighters has been expended, yet Britain's relative strength in air has increased instead of decreased since June 18. That is Churchill's boast.

The Sinclair figures presumably include British bombers and their crews brought down in counter raids over the channel and in Germany. If so, casualties among RAF fighter pilots, the vital personnel element, would be far less than the 600 fliers he mentioned. A substantial number of British figher pilots who are shot down bail out safely to fight again.

German casualties over England, however, like British cross-channel flight losses are not losses. All air men shot down over enemy territory are necessarily killed or captured. That accounts for the six-to-one air personnel loss ratio the British claim. It is the price paid by the aggressor in the air.

German Newspaper Attacks Bolshevism

BERLIN, Sept. 18. (U.P.) — Der Stuermer, Julius Streicher's anti-Semitic newspaper, published today the first attack on "Bolshevism" which has appeared in the German press in 13 months—or since the Berlin-Moscow pact.

The attack appeared as a cartoon showing a Jew about to flog a naked female figure representing "civilization" with a cat o' nine tails, the tails of which bear such inscriptions as "Bolshevism," "Socialism," "atheism" and "Revolution."

The hammer and sickle were branded on the Jew's back, together with the star of David.

The cartoon was reprinted approvingly from the French le Documentaire Illustre. It was captioned: "The Result of Tolerance."

Tech Freshmen Are Invited To Program

Freshmen of Texas Technological college are invited to attend a program to be sponsored by the YM-YWCA at 7:17 o'clock tonight at Seaman hall, said Miss Allene Atkinson, "Y" secretary.

A play, "Light," directed by Arthur Earl Gamble, will be presented by the Alpha Eta chapter of the Wesley Players.

The freshmen will be divided into four groups this year. Sponsors of the freshman YM-YWCA, all members of the upperclass group of the Christian organization, will be introduced tonight. They are Wilma Ruth Forbis, Martha Parnell, Earl Camp, Ruth Rogers, Wanda Kimbrell, Claudia Reinhold, Douglas Hardy and Tommie Rutledge.

The upperclass "Y" will attend a picnic the night of Sept. 26.

How Long It Takes To Hard Boil An Egg Is Basis For Determining Winner In Law Suit

HOUSTON, Sept. 18. (AP) — The question of how long it takes to hard boil an egg figured in a labor injunction suit decided in Judge Kenneth McCalla's 127th civil district court here today.

Proprietors of the Victoria cafe were granted an injunction restraining the Houston Culinary alliance, local 808, from picketing the restaurant. The union started picketing after Little White Feather, three-quarters Sioux Indian cook, had severed connections with the cafe. The union contended he was fired because he joined the union. Proprietors of the restaurant said they and Little White Feather discovered that he was no cook, that he quit.

"How long does it take to hard boil an egg?" Judge McCalla asked the Indian.

"About four minutes," Little White Feather replied.

"What?" asked the judge in consternation.

"Well, between 3½ and four minutes," the Indian amended.

The judge subsequently granted the injunction, holding in effect that Little White Feather's affiliation with the union had nothing to do with termination of his connection with the cafe.

Judge McCalla admitted privately that he is an expert on "four minute" eggs, his doctor having put him on such a diet, and that boiling an egg four minutes certainly does not make it hard.

"Build-Up" Good News For Suffering Women

Much of women's periodic distress may be unnecessary!

Many who suffer from headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain, other symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition are helped by CARDUI.

Main way it helps relieve periodic distress is by increasing appetite and flow of gastric juice. Thus it often aids digestion; helps build strength, energy, resistance to periodic disturbances.

Others find help for periodic discomfort this way: Start a few days before and take CARDUI until "the time" has passed. Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years. Adv.

London Bombed More Severely

near a shopping center, throwing debris high into the air.

Through a storm of steel thrown up by the anti-aircraft batteries, the attack was pressed home with increasing violence in the fifth hour of the raid. Explosive bombs fell steadily in the heart of the city.

London Is Pounded

As the raid wore on through the morning darkness, the Germans continued to pound central London with high explosive bombs. Three bombs also fell in a northwest London district, demolishing a house and shattering all windows in a large apartment block. Police rescued several injured persons.

Across the English channel, the British bombers beat furiously at the Nazi-held French and Belgian coasts in the heaviest of all their long series of assaults on German bases, and the red in London's skies was matched by the flames of bursting shells and explosives which leaped high in the air on the other side of the water.

46 Planes Downed

This latest attack on London began last night at 7:54 p. m., after seven daylight attacks on this endlessly harassed city—a city which military attaches agreed already had withstood in recent weeks a greater bombardment from the skies than ever was loosed before, from Warsaw to Rotterdam.

British reports at 10 o'clock last night indicated that at least 46 German aircraft had been destroyed up to that time.

Early this morning, the scene along the French and Belgian coastlines was one of scarlet fury—a leaping medley of light and fire from British bombs and parachute flares and Nazi ground guns. The long white beams of the searchlight stretched far out over the channel toward England.

Other Towns Strafed

The raid, intended to smash those Nazi facilities for invasion which are closest to England, began soon after 9 o'clock last night and hours later many miles of the French coast seemed ablaze.

Fresh squadrons of British bombers pounded first at the area of Boulogne and then widened their attack to a violent bombardment of the Calais region, where great fires sprang up into the night.

Early this morning not alone London was being raided: German planes likewise were over southeast, southwest and northeast England and Wales.

During yesterday's seven daylight attacks here, the air ministry said, not a bomb fell in the city itself, although explosives killed an undetermined number of persons along the Thames estuary.

Never Reaches City

The mightiest of all the almost endless flights of daylight raiders never reached the city at all. It was broken up in thunderous battle high over the Thames estuary by the coordinated counter-attack of British fighter pilots and the smoking anti-aircraft guns below.

Some 300 German planes were in this great wave and it was noted that the Nazi bombers were extraordinarily outnumbered by their protecting fighter carft.

Just as the invaders came in over the estuary, British fighter planes came down from above 15,000 feet, British interceptors rose angrily from below, and British guns bellowed in the crisp autumn air. At least ten Germans were reported shot down. Most of the rest, it was said, withdrew in disorder.

Hit Heaviest

But despite this success, one of the greatest single British air victories of the war, other German raiders broke through the outer defenses all during the day. Those reaching London were in small units; once three German bombers were noted above the city, flying along in single file like infantrymen on patrol.

Britain fought back with the old and tried means of defense—planes and anti-aircraft batteries — and likewise was disclosed to be experimenting with a mysterious new counter-weapon for stopping raiders. This was declared to have shown well already in the defense of certain vital areas. It was said to be neither a gun nor a ray; its nature was kept secret.

Whatever is to come, men with strong memories of the smashing of Warsaw, Barcelona, Madrid and Rotterdam agreed that they had not been hit as heavily as had London.

The use of the beam scale for weighing was known to the Egyptians 5,000 years before the Christian era.

Niagara Falls Still Puzzle Tourists

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 18. (U.P.)—What the average American tourist doesn't know about Niagara Falls causes frequent pained expressions on the faces of the young women at the information desk of the Chamber of Commerce here.

For at least 10 times a day someone wants to know "What time do they turn off the Falls?" And they're not kidding about it either.

Then there was the honeymoon couple who wanted to know if they could rent cabins with cooking privileges on the brink of the Falls. Then there was the young bride to be who wanted to spend her honeymoon in a tree house.

Many tourists write to ask if it is possible to see the Falls without going to Canada, and if they go in can they return to the United States without a passport. Still others want to know if it is possible to cross on the foot bridge to Goat Island without paying toll. The answers are "Yes."

The daily average of written inquiries exceeds 100, and they come from all over the world. Perhaps the classic is the inquiry of the English woman who wondered if they would still be frozen in July.

Prevention, Cure Of Diabetes Forecast

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 18. (U.P.)—Ultimate prevention and cure of diabetes was forecast today by Dr. Elliott P. Joslin of Harvard Medical school at the 6th annual clinical congress of the Connecticut Medical society.

A discovery, he said, has been found practical in treatment of dogs and cats afflicted with the disease. The medical profession "can look forward to the day when the same results can be achieved for human beings," he said.

The discovery was made in collaboration with Dr. Charles Best, Toronto, and his associates, Joslin said.

Dr. Nicholson J Eastman, Baltimore, told the clinic that a new substance, Vitamin K, had been successfully used in combatting the lack of prothrombin, which frequently caused the death of newborn babies.

Vitamin K, he said, now is given to mothers during prenatal care, supplying the important blood element and "saving many infant lives and other damages."

Man's Disappearance May Be Cleared Up

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 18. (U.P.) — The nine-year-old disappearance of Charles D. Brown, Brownsville man who vanished at San Antonio, may be solved by a letter received here today.

The letter was from Sergeant Charles D. Brown, U. S. army, and came from Manila, Philippine islands. It asked verification that the writer was the same Charles D. Brown who lived here prior to 1931.

What Sergeant Brown may not have known when he wrote was that the Charles D. Brown who disappeared was declared legally dead two years ago.

CASH, CHECKS STOLEN

Cash and checks amounting to $131 were stolen Wednesday night from R. W. Flanagan's car parked at his 1601 Avenue H business house, he told police. He said he had lost his billfold in the car and someone rifled its contents, $18 of which was cash. Two of the checks were for $42.56 and $28, the others of small denomination.

Prize Seamstress Likes Raising Pigs

LA UNION, N. M., Sept. 18. (U.P.)—"I'd rather raise Poland China pigs than sew!"

Young Miss Virginia Bogart spoke, and the statement might not have been so unusual had it not been for the fact that the farm girl had just been presented with first prize in an all-cotton dress making contest at the Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers Association.

Her sex makes no difference to her liking of animal husbandry.

In a further display of her versatality, she won second prize in the New Mexico State high school cooking contest last year.

New Attack On Cancer Aired

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18. — A new attack on cancer, trying vitamin K as a possible preventive, was announced to the bicentennial conference of the University of Pennsylvania here today.

K is the recently discovered vitamin which aids blood to clot. Alfalfa is rich in K. But an inexhaustible new source has been supplied by chemists who synthesized K in five forms.

The cancer prevention experiments are starting at Harvard university and were described by Dr. Louis F. Fieser, professor of chemistry.

The K will be tried on a common form of skin cancer caused by tarry substances.

In animals it is only necessary to rub some of the tarry hydrocarbon on the skin and lethal cancers develop. The vitamin will be injected to see whether its presence will prevent these cancers.

The experiment is exactly like a prize fight. K is the "second" at the ringside, and the real cancer fighter is prothrombin, the clotting substance in blood. K stimulates human and animals bodies to make prothrombin.

Experiments have shown also that bile acid and hormones, which humans possess in abundance, are able to break down into some of the tar chemicals which are most potent in causing cancer.

When these cancer chemicals were fed to rabbits, the animals' bodies changed them into harmless compounds. Whether this protector of the rabbits was prothrombin, or something still unknown, the harvard experiments promise important information.

London CBS Building Is Damaged By Bombs

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) — The London office of the Columbia Broadcasting system has been damaged badly by German bombs, Edward R. Murrow, chief of the CBS European staff, said in a broadcast from London heard here tonight.

Murrow said that the two top floors of the building were in the street but that a survey was necessary before the complete damage could be determined.

Columbia's London office at 14 Langham place, about 200 yards from Broadcasting house, headquarters of the British Broadcasting corporation.

Navy To Revamp Its Air And Shore Posts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (U.P.)—The navy prepared today to revamp its air and shore establishments in line with national defense needs and the acquisition of new bases from Great Britain.

A naval board of eight members was appointed by acting Navy Secretary James Forrestal to study and recommend a plan for various classes of shore establishments and, as far as practicable, to recommend a program or policy concerning commercial facilities.

The board is headed by Rear Admiral John W. Greenslade who also is chairman of the U. S. commission surveying sites acquired from the British government.

Luxembourg Duchess Protests To U.S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP) — The Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg protested to the United States and other nations today against the "wrongs which the (German) Reich is committing in regard to this peaceful little country."

The protest was filed with the state department and foreign missions here by the Luxembourg legation in behalf of the grand duchess, now exiled in Portugal.

South Americans Are Welcoming Friendship

DALLAS, Sept. 18. (U.P.) — South American countries are looking toward the United States with increasingly friendliness, H. A. Arnold of Santiago, Chile, said today.

Arnold, general manager of the telephone system of Chile, was in Dallas with his wife for a vacation. Formerly of Denver, Colo., he visited Kirby McDonough, Brazilian consul here.

"There is no question that the United States' good neighbor policy is winning friends in South America," he said in an interview.

Kai-Shek Promises To Save Manchuria

CHUNGKING, China, Sept. 18. (U.P.)—On the ninth anniversary of the Japanese invasion of Manchuria, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, in a radio broadcast today, promised to "deliver Manchuria from the Japanese yoke."

"The day of reckoning with Japan is near," Chiang said. "As soon as Japan exhausts her supplies of American gasoline and aircraft China will force the enemy to an accounting."

The Generalissimo, who said that the past nine years of fighting have cost the Japanese 1,000,000 men and the Chinese 1,500,000 men, said that almost daily Japanese air raids on Chungking had failed to make the Chinese cower.

Officers Elected By Lubbock FFA Chapter

Leroy Weems, member of the Lubbock Future Farmers of America state champion dairy cattle judging team, was named president of the Lubbock chapter at a meeting in Junior High school.

Other officers elected were: Phillip Perkins, vice president; James West, secretary; Robert Weems, treasurer; Sherman Cowan, reporter; Elton Ray Taylor, parliamentarian; Garland McGee, watchdog; Bobby Lowrey, songleader, and Henry Elder, vocational agriculture teacher, adviser. Perkins also is a member of the dairy cattle judging team.

Ocie Wadsworth's string band, composed of members and former members, played.

The group will meet twice each month during the school year.

Freedom From Wall Street Is Sought

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (U.P.) — Otis and company, Cleveland investment bankers, today proposed that business take steps to rid itself of "Wall street domination" as a matter of self defense.

In a letter to all senators, representatives and high government officials made public here, the Cleveland firm charged that a recent New York Herald Tribune editorial clearing Republican Presidential Nominee Wendell L. Willkie of any connection with Wall street, constitutes an admission that the nation resents Wall street's domination of the financial world.

"This heartfelt and emphatic disclaimer constitutes a severe indictment of the New York financial and business community known to the American people as 'Wall street,' an indictment which would be characterized as an outrageous attack had it come from administration sources. Coming from the Herald Tribune, it cannot be so angrily dismissed, nor can it be ignored."

Discontinuing Trains Discussed At Meet

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (AP)—The railroad commission today heard oral arguments by Plainview and Railroad Brotherhood spokesmen against discontinuance by the Panhandle and Santa Fe railroad of two passenger trains, one each direction daily, between Lubbock and Amarillo.

The arguments supplemented a hearing held in Amarillo recently.

Appearing for the protestants were Mayor John F. Dubose of Plainview, Dan M. Cook, city attorney of Plainview and W. Winchester and W. M. Conway, representing railroad brotherhoods. They contended discontinuance would deprive affected cities of service to which they were entitled.

PROJECTS ARE APPROVED

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 18. (AP) — Authorization was given WPA district managers to start work on projects in Lubbock and Hale counties, Stearns S. Tucker, deputy state administrator, announced today. Projects were: Lubbock, improve streets and alleys throughout Lubbock; WPA $138,275, city $167,278; workers 225. Hale—Improve U. S. highway 87 from Hale Center to Plainview.

SEYMOUR, Sept. 18. (AP) — Mrs. Tom Geostree, 55, was killed instantly at Bomarton today when she walked in front of a train which witnesses said she apparently did not see.

Native Ruler To Aid Children

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. (U.P.)—The Ranee of Sarawak said today that she is going to London to see if she can stop the "murder of children by muddle of red tape."

The difficulty, the British born ruler of 500,000 natives in northwest Borneo said in an interview, is the ruling that families taking in a child refugee must agree to adopt the child if the parents are killed in the war. Many who had hitherto promised to take care of children have now withdrawn their offers, particularly in the case of slum children from London's east end.

Tired Of Waiting

"Not that there aren't still enough homes for children if the British government would just get them over here," she said. "It makes me ill this muddle of red tape and lack of action in England. I have offered my services officially, but I was told I would be notified when I was needed. Well, I'm tired of sitting by, reading about how many children were killed."

The Ranee plans to sail from Montreal Sept. 26 "destination unknown."

She said that if "all private homes had been thrown open to the working people of London, hundreds of lives could have been saved."

"So many huge country houses standing empty," she exclaimed. "And so many people homeless. That's how revolutions are bred."

Foodstuffs Purchased For Finnish Needy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (U.P.) — The agriculture department, acting as agent for the Red Cross, today was purchasing thousands of pounds of American foodstuffs for shipment to Finish war and famine victims.

The commodities will be financed out of 50,000,000 allocated by Congress for war refugee relief. They include 250,000 bushels of wheat, 150,000 bushels of rye, 1,750,000 pounds of lard, 2,500,000 pounds of dried fruit, 500,000 pounds of dried beans, 10,000 cases of cane syrup, 12,500 cases of grapefruit juice, 250,000 pounds of raw cotton and 50,000 cotton blankets.

Case Is Passed In 99th District Court

The case of J. P. Bowen, charged on indictment with drunk driving, was passed Wednesday afternoon in 99th district court, on motion of the defense counsel.

Witnesses in that case and that of Dick Owens, charged with robbery by assault, had not appeared to testify.

The criminal jury will report to Judge E. L. Pitts, presiding in 99th court, this morning.

Sugar beets were planted in nearly 425,000 acres in Italy this year.

Injunction Obtained By Dr. W. J. Johnson Is Sustained By Supreme Court

Hospital Head Wins Ruling

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (U.P.)—By refusing a writ of error today the Texas Supreme court sustained an injunction obtained last year by Dr. W. J. Johnson, superintendent of San Antonio state hospital for insane patients, against the State Board of Control on the ground that the board had no power to remove him.

A companion application for writ of error by W. J. Lawson, secretary to Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, also was refused by the supreme court.

Decided On Authority

The injunction was issued by Dist. Judge J. D. Moore during conduct of a hearing opened by the board of control on complaints submitted by San Antonio ministers to Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel and the board of control.

When the injunction was issued the hearing was recessed and never resumed.

Dr. Johnson in his application to the district court had challenged the power of the board to remove him during his term of office and had assigned political motives for the movement to displace him.

The case was submitted to the court, however, on an agreement of counsel for both sides that it would be decided on the sole question of the board's authority to remove Dr. Johnson.

Of National Interest

The governor's secretary became a part to the procedure because of a claim of Dr. Johnson that the removal movement had been started because he had refused to permit Lawson, as emissary from the governor, to see the late Claude Teer, former chairman of the board of control, while Teer was under his personal professional care. Teer was killed a short time later under a train near the state hospital grounds in San Antonio.

The hearing which the injunction interrupted had attracted national interest as witnesses were brought before the board to accuse the 56-year-old psychiatrist with fondling and other advances in his office at the state institution.

Moody Was Lawyer

Dr. Johnson denied all such accusations and offered testimony to convince the committee some of the testimony was inspired by feeling because of discharge of employes or refusal to employ applicants.

The contention of his counsel, including former Gov. Dan Moody, was that as a state official appointed for a specified term, Dr. Johnson was not subject to removal by the board even if the members wished to remove him. They said he could be removed only by impeachment before the state Legislature.

A previous court order from which no appeal was made, had instructed the board to discharge no employees of the hospital without Dr. Johnson's consent.

Cast For Coronado Entrada Is Announced Wednesday

Names of 44 persons who will take the roles of principal characters in the big Coronado Entrada dramatic production to be staged nightly as a grandstand attraction at the Panhandle-South Plains fair, Sept. 30 to Oct. 5, were announced Wednesday by Miss Ruth Pirtle, head of the department of speech at Texas Technological college, casting director for the gigantic show who was aided in the selections by Larry Doyle, director from New York.

More than 500 local persons will take part in the $100,000 government-sponsored show and names of additional principal characters will be announced within the next few days. Rehearsals for the show are going on nightly at the Merchants building in the fairgrounds under the direction of Doyle.

Francisco Vasquez de Coronado is to be played by Joe Burson, senior at Tech from White Deer; Beatritz, his wife, by Kathleen Webb, also a senior at Tech and president of Doak hall women's group. Miss Webb is from Lamesa and is active in dramatics at Tech.

Faculty Members In It

Antonio de Mendoza, governor of new Spain, the man who sent Coronado out after gold, will be played by A. B. Strehli, French teacher at Tech. Pedro de Castaneda, chronicler, whom history can thank for what records there are of the Coronado expedition, will be taken by Dr. Marshall Harvey, president of the Lubbock workshop theater and active in dramatic work.

Bill Pearce history teacher at Tech won an important role, that of Captain Garcia Lopez de Cardenas, rough and tough captain who always wanted to fight on the Coronado expedition and who caused Coronado some anxious moments. Pearce will wear a flashy black and silver suit of armor in the Entrada.

Captain Hernando de Alvarado will be dramatized by John Harding, who teaches business administration at Tech. Alton Taylor, manager of the Motor Inn hotel has been selected to play Pedro de Tobar, one of Coronado's captains. Pablo de Melgosa will be Homer Hall, well known local car salesman and Pedro Mendez de Sotomayor will have the radio man, E. H. Dennison, playing the part.

Many In Theater

Juan Jaramillo, will be played by Jack Coats Tech freshman. Lope de Urrea who roamed about here 400 years ago will be dramatized by Dr. E. F. George head of the Physics department at Tech. Thomas Mitchell has been chosen to be Diego Lopez.

Old Tristan de Arellano will be played by Byron Gilbraith. Francisco Pobares will be Cecil Brinkley. Both of these boys are in Lubbock high and expected to add much to the Entrada.

Richard, will be L. E. White. Sanchez, Henry Kight; and Juan Galeras, Ralph Kight. Both the Kight boys are active in the workshop Theater and are giving up time devoted to advertising and filling station work to make the Entrada a success.

Want Sheep Killed

Villegas, has claimed Cassius Stanley, assistant professor in the textile department at Tech for the part. Butcher Perez, who in the show wants the boys to kill all the Indians sheep, is played by Herman Porter. During the day Porter is a carpenter but has no trouble being a butcher in the Entrada.

Bruce Patton, 10 has been given the role of Alonso Sanchez, bad boy who does not like to carry water for his mother. Bruce is the son of Dr. LeRoy T. Patton, head of the geology department at the college.

The role of Senora Sanchez is taken by Mrs. Wilda Harris Stewart, who was a member of the Texas cavalcade staff at Dallas in 1936.

In the scene with Mrs. Stewart is Mrs. Grace White, who plays the part of Senora Maldonado, one of the two women wh went on the famed Coronado expedition. Mrs. White is dramatic teacher in the Slaton schools and has her own dramatic studio in Lubbock.

Killed Every Nnight

Little Mariana, daughter of Coronado, will be taken by pretty Nina Kay Porter, 2314 Fifteenth street. Nina is 4-years old and in the opening scene waves good-by to Papa Coronado. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Porter.

Father Padilla, good priest who is killed each night during the show is the role awarded to John Watson, in charge of radio speech at Tech. Father Marcos de Niza is played by Hollis Cross, teacher in the physics department and an instructor in the C. A. A. program at the college.

Bigotes, good Indian chief of the Cicuye village has Charles Coats in the part. Juan Aleman, fighting Indian and who gives Coronado's outfit trouble, is played by Clifton Sprouts, Tech student.

Interpreter Present

The Turk, bad Indian, who tries to lead the Coronado forces to ruin, will be played by Eddie Havran, a freshman at Tech. Each night of the show the Turk will be killed to the delight of the audience. Sopete, friendly Indian guide, has W. T. Diviney, jr., in the role. He is 14 years old and said to be under contract to MGM pictures. He lives on route 4.

Of course Coronado had an interpreter so they have one in the Coronado Entrada. It is Jeff Pirtle, who will wave his hands during the show and try and keep Coronado and the Indians on speaking terms. The Indian runner will be played by Jim Bledsoe, a 16-year-old high school student.

Jack Dubberly, a pre-medical student at Tech, has been chosen to be the Hidalgo, wear a fancy red costume in the show, carry a long staff and cause the expedition, to almost never be sent on the hunt for gold. Another lawyer will be Leon Harris, senior at Tech. Sawyer number three will be Kenneth Duke, freshman at Tech.

Ladies' Chosen

Don Molando is the role for Arlen Wages who is a new student at Texas Tech. The court officers who wear a bib in the show of bright red velvet and a fancy black hats will be played by Roy Chambliss and Arnold Mathias, both Tech students.

The role of Victoria has been assigned to Dr. LeRoy T. Patton, head of the geology department at the college.

Miss Pirtle said Wednesday she had selected only seven of the ladies in waiting to Coronado's wife but others would be selected soon. Named were, Mrs. A. B. Strehli, 2712 Twenty-second street; Mrs. Marshall Harvey, 1902 Fourteenth street; Martha Fisk, student at Tech from Amarillo and talented dramatic student and director; Mrs. Weldon George, 1630 Tenth street; Mrs. George Walton, 2301 Sixteenth street; Mrs. Ray Mowery, 2416 Broadway; and Mrs. W. C. Holden, 3111 Twentieth street.

IN LEADING ROLE—Joe Burson, Texas Technological college senior from White Deer, needed no better background than the Spanish architecture of this Texas Tech building, when he threw that serape over his shoulder and posed as Francisco Vasquez de Coronado. Burson will depict that character in the Coronado Entrada production which will be staged nightly in front of the grandstand during the Panhandle-South Plains fair Sept. 30 - Oct. 5. Beatritz, his wife, will be played by Kathleen Webb, Texas Tech student from Lamesa.

Social Clubs Of Texas Tech Are Entertaining Rushees This Week

The Woman's Angle
by Margaret Turner

BOB Crosby says if you mean to walk the straight and narrow you'll have to stop making the rounds.

ME-OW!

When we hear some housewives complaining about not being able to keep help, we can't help but wonder how they ever keep husbands.

ANOTHER BLEACH

BECAUSE so many girls are striving to lose their dark complexions we are passing along another formula for bleaching the rays of that summer sun.

Take a glass of milk and mix it with a little lemon juice, a dessert spoon of alcohol and a little alum. Bring to a boil and skim.

This preparation is used by Carol Bruce, Broadway star in "Louisiana Purchase."

PROPOSAL HINT

THE boys, these days, are looking for girls who know how to look after them. At least that's the view of Margery Wilson, authority on charm and etiquette.

Glamour, says Miss Wilson, is a popular commodity. You can get three hours of it for 25 cents at the neighborhood movie theater. But for domestic purposes, a man wants a thoroughly feminine woman who will concern herself about him, his appearance especially.

Miss Wilson continuing. "Many a match has been made by catching the young man in the toils of domesticity—by getting him to contribute some effort to the household workings, or by taking an interest in his health and appearance. "Many a marriage has been pegged on a loose button. 'If you'll take that off, I'll sew it on for you', has a magic all its own."

JUST TEMPORARILY

We've giving up the spot at the radio, a first glance at the newspapers and the top of the milk to the youngest brother who threatens us with his absence in the near future due to conscription. However, should his name not be posted in the first draft, we'll take back steps.

* * *

THE secret of success is hard work. Maybe that is why it has remained a secret to so many.

HINT ON STORAGE

AS SUMMER comes to a close, homemakers while weeding out those summer garments that can give no further service, have the opportunity of saving other summer things that can be made useful for another season.

Two steps arre frequently necessary to get full usefulness from leftovers. The first is ripping; the second is washing. Children's clothes may have to be altered before they can be worn another summer, so it is usually a good idea at the end of this season to rip out the hems and other seams that may be involved in next year's remodeling. With women's skirt-lengths fluctuating as they now do from year to year, the same sometimes applies to the adult wardrobe, too. All articles that will definitely have to be remade before they can be worn should be ripped apart now before they are stored for the winter.

The value of this a whole year ahead of time, is that the folds left by seams and hems can more readily be eliminated. Furthermore, the prestorage washing that is desirable can be more thorough; and of course all summer garments, as well as summer household fabrics, should be thoroughly cleansed before being put away. As most of the materials used are washable, this cleansing is a simple matter of laundering. It is infinitely better to do it now than to wait till next season. Fabrics stored clean take less room and retain freshness and strength. However, neither starching nor ironing is necessary now. In fact, these are better done next summer when the articles go back again into use.

Ripping and washing are occupations for the fall; altering, starching and ironing will come next spring.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rice have gone to California where Mr. Rice will study at the Pacific Air school.

Game Parties And Dinners Are Held

This week is not only rush week for students of Texas Technological college but other organizations have resumed social activities as well. The rush parties always mark the beginning of a new social season at the college. Suppers preceding football games, dances and formal dinners will be given each week end.

Las Vivarachas club entertained Wednesday night from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock at Hilton hotel with a formal dinner for approximately 60 rushees.

The long table was centered with miniature football stadiums made of varied colors of chrysanthemums. Placecards were miniature teddy bears kicking footballs.

Members Are Hostesses

Members attending were Misses Betsy Dan Bihl, Christine Birdwell, Dan Long, Dorothy Lou Emmett, Waldeen Donnell, Beth Newton, Catherine Collier, Anna Katherine Davenport, Camille Graves, Dorothy Neeley, Martha Frank Plants, Louise Jones, Ann Jack Strother, Flora Lee Williams, Nancy Boggess, Shirley Reinhold, Winifred Woods, Sarabel Hall, Vada Belle Tomlinson, LaVerne Allen, Vivian Charlesworth and Jo Nelle Cox.

The Ko Shari club entertained with a "round-up" at Hilton hotel from 5 to 7 o'clock Wednesday night for approximately 76 rushees.

Jack York and his orchestra played cowboy songs. A "one-man melodrama" was given and folk dances were enjoyed.

Favors Are Given

Places of the rushees were marked with miniature leather chaps with bright colored napkins attached to the belt. Places of the members were marked with cards carrying out the ranch theme.

The horseshoe shaped table was centered with garlands of autumn leaves.

Guests and members were served at one end of the ballroom and then were seated at the table. On one serving table were tow models of salad in the shape of cowboy hats and on another table was a miniature camp fire with meat turning over it.

Members attending were Misses Winnie Jo Hooser, Pauline Barrier, Jeanne Draper, Mary Gaither, Vondee Lewis, Emily Ann Mack, Mildred Mitchell, Evelyn Patty, Merle Sellers, Mary Louise and Ruth Tinkler, Patsy, Vivian and Georgia Sue Wharton, Agnes Rowley, Marguerite Feineen, Jane Brownfield, Frances Gray, Milton Joyce, Virginia Kennedy, Virginia Pearson, Beverley Wade, Elizabeth Sears, Nettie Belle Batton, Doris Brotherson, Earline Jones, Frances Gordon, Ruth Loflin, Joanne Cox, Aurelia McDonald, Jerry McElheney, Helen Rosenquest.

Wendell Willkie Said "Unstable"

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. (AP) — Edward J. Flynn, chairman of the Democratic national committee, said today that Republican Presidential Candidate Wendell L. Willkie was "so emotionally unstable" that if he were elected president, "the head of some foreign state might say something Mr. Willkie didn't like and Mr. Willkie would declare war half an hour later—and that without consulting anybody."

"He doesn't consult anybody as it is," Flynn said at a press conference. "Then, after declaring war, half an hour later he would withdraw his declaration of war."

Flynn, asserting that Willkie never had outlined a plan for solution of the unemployment problem, said "what we want Mr. Willkie to do is to particularize."

"Anybody can deal in generalities," he said. "But Mr. Willkie ought to give us some definite idea of how he is going to solve the problem of unemployment. In other words, how does he expect to provide the jobs that he has so freely promised?"

MRS. BANKHEAD SUGGESTED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 18. (AP)—Nomination of Mrs. William B. Bankhead, widow of the late house speaker to fill her husband's unexpired term in Congress was urged today by Charles E. McCall, state treasurer.

WAKE UP YOUR OWN LAXATIVE FLUID

And Maybe You, Too, Will Feel Like "Happy Days Are Here Again"

Do you suffer from constipation? Do you suffer from fatty indigestion below the belt or sick headache or biliousness due to constipation? Do you feel ornery from being constipated? If so, you may need to look up the flow of your natural laxative fluid with Carter's Little Liver Pills. Try them according to directions. These pills, made of two simple vegetable medicines, have doubled the flow of this laxative juice in some people as proved by medical tests. When two pints of this laxative fluid flows through the bowels every day, the above misery of the fault due to constipation may go away. Then many of us may feel like "Happy Days Are Here Again." Ask your druggist now for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

Communique Is Calm, But Not The War Correspondent

Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 18. — "It is feared that casualties may be heavier than in recent nights," said the calm, prosaic official communique.

Not so calm, I saw rescue workers bring the still forms of a baby and five women from the basement of a flaming, bomb-shattered home in northeastern London—on just one ambulance ride to gather up the dead and injured from this moonlight raid.

Then I watched a woman ambulance driver pump faint signs of life into two of the women victims, while bombs still thundered around us and anti-aircraft guns hombled in answer.

Some Badly Hurt

A telephone call of a street address sent an ambulance to a three-story building, already in flames. The ambulance which reached the scene first was just leaving.

"Two—badly hurt," a policeman said. "One of those oil bombs."

Two men with a pick and spade dug frantically at the foundation, hacking through solid concrete.

"There's five down there," one of the workers said.

Then somewhere below a muffle said over and over:

"All dead. All dead."

The man came up the basement steps holding the body of a baby about six months old. The child's plump legs dangled limply.

Other men in blue uniforms were coming up from the basement. One of them said, "six altogether—and five. There's five adults and one child."

Hope With Blows

One by one, five women were brought up and stretched on blankets. Some bystanders turned away.

The woman ambulance driver and a fireman worked over the victims, trying artificial respiration. When doctors arrived they found the baby and two women dead, but detected life in the others and sent them away in the ambulance.

The woman driver told us:

"That's one bomb. We've had worse. We've had absolute hell!"

In the grey dawn we had tea and waited for an all clear signal. As it sounded, swelling to a din, the woman driver said simply:

"There's always hope with the dawn."

Funeral rites were read at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon for R. P. Moore, 71, Ropesville vicinity resident 18 years. Burial was in Ropesville cemetery.

Mr. Moore died early Wednesday morning at his residence six miles northeast of Ropesville.

Survivors are the widow; a son W. J. Moore of Fort Worth; two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Moore and Miss Jupaloe Moore, both of Ropesville; two brothers, W. J. Moore of Ropesville and E. A. Moore of Hattiesburg, Miss.; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Hall of Alabama and Mrs. Savannah Mitchell of Tennessee.

Regulations Made To Battle "Hot" Oil

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18. (U.P.)—State Conservation Commissioner R. A. Hardy today announced new regulations effective Oct. 1 to combat the running of "hot" oil in Louisiana. The mails will be used in registering all shipments.

The new order, directed at barges and boats carrying oil, is a modification of the tender system—requiring a tender from the state for purchase, sale or shipment of crude.

Don't Want It

"Beginning Oct. 1," he said at a hearing on nominations for production allowables during October and November, "every barrel of oil shipped by barge or boat in Louisiana—both in interstate and intrastate commerce—must be listed in a special form to be provided by the department and sent through the mails to the department."

Those forms, he said, will list by whom the consignments are purchased, how shipped, and to whom consigned.

"And those forms had better be right," he said with reference to possible mail fraud violations.

Major Hardy explained earlier that the state had a rather thorough check on the pipelines carrying oil.

"We don't want any hot oil in Louisiana, and we are not going to have any if it can be prevented," he warned.

The delta of the Mississippi is advancing into the Gulf of Mexico at the rate of 200 feet a year.

Suicide Squads Are Decorated

LONDON, Sept. 18. (U.P.)—The unsung heroes of the aerial siege of London—the unexploded bomb disposal squads of the Royal Engineers—won their first recognition today.

The official Gazette announced that four of them had been awarded the Order of the British Empire for Gallantry. Two were injured by the explosives they were trying to move. One lost five members of his crew while moving a delayed-action bomb.

Carried It Himself

The most spectacular job done by these suicide squads so far, the removal of a one-ton bomb from the vicinity of St. Paul's cathedral after four days and nights of constant digging, saving the edifice from certain destruction, was not mentioned in the citations. Cathedral authorities, however, have promised to give suitable recognition to the squad that performed the feat, and Canon F. A. Cockin said it had been suggested that the names of the whole squad be engraved on a plate and preserved among the Cathedral treasures.

The feats that won citations were performed by men earning as low as 58 cents a day for toiling hour after hour at the most hazardous of all war-time jobs, fully aware that they may be blown to pieces at any instant.

Second Lieut. Ellis Edward Talbot led an engineering section through 12 1-2 hours of steady digging to reach an unexploded bomb that he recognized as a new type of delayed-action weapon which he did not know how to handle. He ordered his men back a safe distance and carried the bomb 200 yards on his shoulders to a place where he could explode it harmlessly.

Crazy Water Company Named In Complaint

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (AP) — The Federal Trade commission announced today it had issued a complaint against Crazy Water company of Mineral Wells, Tex., and Carr P. Collins, H. H. Collins, W. W. Woodall and J. A. Pondrom, company officers, charging "misrepresentation" in the sale of "Crazy Mineral Water," "Crazy Water Crystals" and "Crazy Fiz."

The complaint said the despondent "falsely represented and implies" that use of the waters and derivatives would cure or be beneficial in the treatment of about 30 ailments.

The commission stated the company's products possessed "no therapeutic properties in excess of those of a cathartic or laxative."

WPA Official Confers With W. C. Holden

R. H. Lawrence of San Antonio, state supervisor of project services of the Works Projects administration, visited in Lubbock Wednesday.

The official conferred with Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of West Texas museum, regarding the Tech-WPA archaeological project in progress in Jones county under supervision of Joe Ben Wheat.

"When I eat the wrong kind of food, or when my stomach turns sour, I often have the worst colic pains. And do I yell! But my mama is a smart mama and she gives me Teethina, because Teethina is a mild, gentle laxative. It cleanses my tiny bowels of irritating waste. This relieves my pain and relaxes me too, and I'm all set to go back to sleep. Teethina tastes good and you get twelve powders for only 30c. All little babies like me also need Teethina for temporary constipation and for loose bowels caused by a faulty diet." Give Teethina according to the directions in each package.

A comfortable driver doesn't fret. Neither do comfortable passengers. Comfort means calmer driving—safer driving and more economical driving, too.

So let's stop for comfort. And from door-knob to drinking cup, every Conoco comfort facility shows fine regard for one's feelings. Or if it's only that tires are down a bit, let's stop anyway. Correct inflation not only helps to save tires, but gasoline, and why let soft tires toss away a single bit of the mileage to be had out of Conoco Bronz-z-z gasoline?

It gives you long jumps between pumps, but in between you might as well stop for Conoco comfort and things. Please accept this invitation from Your Mileage Merchant.

More Power and more miles per Gallon

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

YOU'LL like the size of this trim new Buick SPECIAL for '41—its room, its softer ride, its Permi-firm steering, its fresh smart style and all that.

But what you'll go for is what happens under that broad bonnet—the thrill and the thrift you get from that husky, big, 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL* Eight.

For in each flame-packed cylinder of that silk-smooth power plant a flaring ball of fire is set off with each spark-leap.

Packed to higher compression than ever before, fuel gives up more power and more mileage — power when you need it, economy throughout the whole driving range.

Indeed, so great is the power at your command that at 30 you use only one-eighth of the energy at your disposal. All the rest is there waiting for pick-up, hill-climb and sudden getaway.

Even at 50 you use less than one-quarter of your available power, and at 75 still have nearly half "on call" for emergency use.

More than that, to this engine you can likewise add Compound Carburetion—and step up both power output and your mileage. At 30 you'll get nearly one and one-half more miles per gallon, at 50 almost two, and at 70 an extra mile and one-fifth.

But that's just one side of the story—the facts side. Only one thing will give you the stirring feel of Buick's thrill-packed behavior on the road.

That's a demonstration — and it's yours for the asking. When will you be in to ask for it?

Airline Brief Is Prepared

Supporting applications proposing establishment of airline service through Lubbock, a 110-page compilation of facts and figures about Lubbock and its trade territory has been prepared by the chamber of commerce.

Officials of Braniff airways who examined it termed it the "most complete" and "most nearly perfect" document of its kind they have examined.

Supplies Are Available

Supplies of the bound volume have been made available to Braniff and Trans-Continental and Western airlines, both of which are applicants for permission to establish north-and-south airline service through Lubbock. Pre-hearings on their applications and others are set before the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington Friday.

Officials of both lines advised that the compilation will be included in their briefs supporting their applications.

Illustrated with large numbers of graphs, charts and maps, the document presents many thousands of facts relating to Lubbock and the territory bearing on the need for airline service and the support that might be expected for it.

Would Aid Defense

However, the first paragraph of the "formal request" comments that the "granting of such service will undeniably prove of material benefit to the national defense plans for this area."

That comment and supporting data, it was explained, takes cognizance of information that only those civil lines of value in the national defense structure are being considered by the federal authority at this time. In that connection, Lubbock's Municipal airport, its potentialities and the city's strategic location as a cross-roads in the national defense scheme are described extensively.

The bulk of the information contained in the 110 pages, however, supports the contention that airline service through Lubbock serving the South Plains should be a profitable venture. A typical comment reads:

Serves As Clearing Point

"Lubbock is the central drainage point for all business transacted in the South Plains area, and serves as a clearing point for a territory as large as the combined areas of the states of New Jersey and Delaware. For example, Lubbock county alone, with population of 51,490 had an annual volume of wholesale business totaling approximately $15,000,000 while Adams county, Penn., with a population of over 40,000, does an annual business totaling slightly more than $1,040,000."

The statistical and informative data concerning the city and area is enormous in volume. It relates to population, scholastic population, business volumes of various kinds, postal receipts, the racial composition of population, how the population is employed, express business, vital statistics, value of farm products, bank deposits, motor vehicle registrations, utilities, tax rates, paving, hotel facilities, churches, parks, federal agencies, climate, transportation facilities of all kinds, property valuations, payrolls, airmail tests, oil development and many others. In most instances, the statistical data covers periods of years in proof of the development that has continued steadily over a period of many years.

Boys To Get Part Of Funds From Tickets

Ten per cent of the proceeds of all strips of general admission tickets sold in Lubbock to the Panhandle-South Plains fair will go to Lubbock Boys Club, Inc., it was assured Wednesday by fair officials.

Some people seemed to have gained the impression that the club, which is sponsored by local civic luncheon clubs, will share only in those sold in a one-day campaign Friday. That impression was corrected by members of the general campaign committee of which S. E. Marbut is chairman and Dr. M. M. Ewing, Ray Farmer, Harry Morris and John Halsey are members. O. W. Ribble is general sales manager of Friday's drive.

Members of the committee emphasized, however, that attempt will be made to dispose of the bulk of the tickets in the one-day campaign, when the strips of four will be offered for $1—just one-half the amount to be charged at the gate during the fair. Participating in the campaign will be 15 or more representatives of the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, American Business and Optimist clubs.

After the campaign, according to the announced plan, tickets will be placed on sale in central locations in the city and will remain available until 6 p. m. on Sept. 28. The committee of which Marbut is head is to arrange for those places of sale.

Ribble reminded that Friday's campaign will start immediately after a 9 o'clock breakfast in Hilton hotel.

Funeral Rites Read For Mrs. Christopher

After brief funeral services Wednesday morning in Plains chapel, body of Mrs. Nancy O. Christopher, 83, of 2319 Ninth street was taken overland to Benjamin for burial.

The body was to be taken by train to Lone Wolf, Okla., from Benjamin. Interment will be in Lone Wolf cemetery.

Mrs. Christopher had been a resident of Lubbock for 10 years.

Survivors are three sons, Dan E. and Giles, both of Lubbock, and Lawrence of Roosevelt, Okla.

DEFENSE HURT

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 18. (AP)—Kentucky truck line officials today charged the state's 18,000 pound load limit was delaying vital defense supply shipments because of "weight traps" along routes through the state.

Credit Course To Be Offered

The extension division of Texas Technological college will offer a course in credit management open to credit and non-credit students, in cooperation with the Tri-State association of Credit Men, an affiliated branch of the National association of Credit Men. Credits may apply on awards of the National Institute of Credit.

The class for the course will be organized Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the ballroom of the Hilton hotel, with Prof. T. C. Root as instructor.

Others Eligible

Present and participating in the opening session of the class there will be the following representatives of the Tri-State association: George Boyd of Amarillo, secretary; M. A. Martin of El Paso, educational director; and R. C. Hewett, of Lubbock, member of the Board of governors.

Anyone with sufficient maturity and experience to profit by the work may enroll for the course. College credit will be open to those who qualify for credit. Certificate credit toward an award by the National Institute of Credit will be open to those who satisfactorily complete the course and pay the certificate fee of $2.000. Both of these groups will pay the credit enrollment fee of $15.00. The course may be audited for a fee of $5.00.

The course is for the business men and women of Lubbock and surrounding town, but teachers and others and other citizens, who are interested, are eligible to join the class.

Best, Burnett Tie For Medal Honors In Meadowbrook Open; Matches Begin

Five Flights To Tee Off Today

Melvin Best, Texas Tech star, and Lofton Burnett, Country club and Lubbock City Open champion, are co-medalists in the Meadowbrook Open golf tournament, match play in which begins today. They qualified with 69's, two under par figures.

Best collides with Weldon Counts, who qualified with a 76, while Burnett begins match competition against J. R. Farmer, also with a 76 in the medal round, today.

A total of 32 golfers qualified, enough for five full flights of 16 each, with one over, and the extra man drew a prize without playing a round.

All entries are urged to contact their opponents and establish a playing time. All first round matches are to be played today, all second round contests Friday, semi-finals Saturday and finals Sunday. The final round in the championship flight will be over the 36-hole route; all others are for 18 holes or less.

The tournament is the first on the new Meadowbrook grass greens, which are rapidly rounding into fine putting condition.

Elton Dozier, who qualified with a 77, won the long driving contest late yesterday and received the prize of a set of woods covers.

First round pairings:

Westerners To Leave Today

McMurry Plays Canyon Tonight

CANYON, Sept. 18. (Special) — West Texas State Teachers start marching on their 1940 touchdown trek Thursday night, entertaining the Indians of McMurry College, Abilene.

Game time will be 8 o'clock.

As a final tuneup for the opening contest, Coaches Jack Curtice and Leslie Van Meter sent their varsity men crashing into the bitterly contending freshmen for two hours under the lights Tuesday night. Freshman Coach Leo Cooper sent into the huge Buffalo line for more into the hugeBuffalo line for more than an hour, but the new men could never produce more than occasional forays, and no counters. The "frosh" made many stands against the regulars but were forced to yield seven or eight touchdowns during the evening.

Fans were impressed by the array of speedy backs Coach Curtice directed from his vantage point in the stadium. Although starting backs Thursday night tentatively are slated to be Cornell, McLaury, Price and Brock, the concensus was that these would not have title to starting berths. Price looked exceptionally good Tuesday night. Little Ben Collins continued to kick and run like the skilled field general he is.

McMurry college will be outweighed by the Buffs in the line but will have an equal advantage in the backfield. They will be led by tripple-threater Buck Mundy of Pampa.

The Buff mentors will make the widest possible use of the McMurry game in preparation for their battle with Arizona State Border conference champions, in Amarillo Sept. 27, a nocturnal tilt.

Buffs Drop Beaumont, 4-0; Need One Game

BEAUMONT, Sept. 18. (AP)—The Houston Buffs all but clinched the Texas league championship playoff here today by blanking Beaumont 4 to 0 behind the five-hit pitching of Ted Wilks.

Leading three games to one in the series, Houston needs but one more victory to win the 1940 title.

The exporters are now confronted with the task of taking three in a row—one here tomorrow and two in Houston, whence the series sifts Friday night unless the Buffs end it Thursday. Howard Krist for Houston and Charley Fuchs for Beaumont are scheduled to pitch tomorrow.

DODGER CAMP AT WACO

WACO, Sept. 18. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers will carry their search for baseball talent to this section with a try-out camp here Oct. 12 through 15. A similar school was conducted by the Dodgers here last year. Scouts of the Brooklyn club will be in charge.

In Main Event— Powell Drops Farmer Jones

Farmer Jones "lost" his main event match at the Sportarena last night.

And as a result, there were about 500 of the tug and slug enthusiasts whose fighting blood hit the boiling point.

Birmingham's Chuck Powell was the victor, two out of three falls, chocking his way to the decision while the fans screamed their protests. The final blow came in four brief minutes. When the two wrestlers entered the third fall, there was little doubt but that the Arkansas Farmer would win.

Choking Backfires

But—the "Big Mouth," Powell, soon started choking Jones while Referee "Silent" Sojovic, who is deaf and dumb or at least acted that way last night, more or less stood idly by. Jones came out of it long enough to do a little choking of his own, however. But "Silent" didn't understand and grabbed Jones by the whiskers, there's so many of them he couldn't miss, and was shoving him across the ring when Powell came to just in the nick of time, rushed across the ring and beat both the referee and Jones to the mat. Sojovic recovered sufficiently to count the Farmer out and award the match to Chuck.

The Farmer called for the manager, the referee and Chuck to continue the match, but it was all to no avail. So, with the characteristic "I wuz robbed," the Farmer, fans and Powell left, climaxing a better than average card witnessed by one of the largest houses of the season.

Scot Defeats Prince

Powell had taken the first fall from the colorful "scuffler" via the choking route, leaving the Farmer practically helpless then ramming him into a couple of ring posts and following up with the smother. He tried the same stunt in the second fall but just as he was ready to slam the Farmer into the ring post, Jones reversed the procedure and it was the pudgy, talkative Powell who went down for the count. Both first and second falls lasted eight minutes each.

Edgar Gideon, the "flying Scot" who wears the dress of his native Glasgow, won from Prince Omar of Persia in the 30-minute semi-final, punishing the Asiatic grappler with an arm hold that made him shout "uncle" in 24 minutes. A fast six minutes found the two still sparring and the Scot declared the victor.

Abilene's Ace Abbott and Joe Banaski toiled for 20-minutes and a draw in a mediocre curtain raiser.

Champs To Play Steers Friday

By JAY HARRIS

Bulldogging a Steer isn't a new experience for Lubbock High's Westerners, but knowing how and actually doing it will be something of a problem for Coaches "Goober" Keyes' and Walker Nichols' charges come Friday night in Fort Worth.

North Side's pounding recruits are the Steers in question.

The two elevens, who are meeting for the third consecutive season, will tangle at Fort Worth's Farrington field in one of the state's schoolboy features, this week-end.

Lubbock Holds Edge

In 1938, the Black and Gold machine eked out a close 7 to 6 decision in Cowtown. Last fall, the two machines battled to a scoreless draw in the season opener at Tech Stadium.

The Westerners, 26 strong, board a special bus at one o'clock today, traveling to Olney for an afternoon workout and overnight stay before proceeding to Fort Worth early Friday morning. Return will be made Saturday.

Steers Inexperienced

Observers still haven't committed themselves to any great degrees upon the potentialities of the Bronc Busters. Looking better than average in their opener against Odessa's Bronchos last week-end, the Westerners appear to have another "iron team" plus added reserve strength this season.

Especially was the backfield play praised by scouts and visiting coaches as well as the terminal and guard defense work at Odessa.

The Steers the Lubbocks meet tomorrow night won't be the same team by any means which invaded the city last fall about this time. There are only three lettermen from that strong '39 North Side team which went unbeaten in the district race but finished second, a few percentage points back of Masonic Home.

Sherrod Paces Line

Nucleus for the forward wall is Center Emmett Sherrod of the famous North Side family of athletes. Sherrod and Backfielders Edgar Boorman and Elmer Mosley are the lettermen.

And though the line is big, husky and willing, it is untried and may have a little trouble with Lubbock's more defensive - minded forward wall. However, it is the backfield which excites the most attention in District 7AA, home stomping grounds of the Steers. At present, the North Side ball toting department shapes up as about the classiest thing in the district race.

Backfield Plenty Dangerous

Fullback Boorman, Quarterback Mosely and fleet footed Dean Robertson are the leading men in what appears to be the best gackfield combination down "where the West begins."

Coach Herman Clark rates Mosely as one of the top notch passers he has ever instructed, and Coach Clark has had many successful athletes under his wing. Mosely shoots the oval with great precision, allegedly having accurate range up to 50 yards—all of which bodes no good for the Westerners, who had plenty trouble fathoming Odessa's unorthodox aerial attack which netted the Bronchos' only touchdown.

According to reports from Fort Worth, the Robertson youngster is built along the same pattern of T. C. U's Dean Bagley, perhaps a little

Nabors Shifted To Center; Aggies Rated Fifteenth

Another switch was made in the Texas Tech Red Raiders lineup Wednesday when Line Coach "Dutchy" Smith moved Rafe Nabors from left tackle back to center. Smith explained he was only experimenting and that he did not know definitely whether the shift would be permanent or not. Nabors played center during his sophomore year. He played tackle in his junior year and had started as a tackle this season.

This now gives the Red Raiders three centers in Nabors, Edwin Irons and Wayne "Red" Pipes, the last two being sophomores. Nabors pitched right in and contributed a commendable job at center during the fast workout in which Head Coach Pete Cawthon really sent the boys through stiff maneuvers.

Cawthon is leaving no stone unturned in order to have the Raiders primed for a whale of a game against the Oklahoma A. and M. Aggies at Oklahoma City on Friday night, September 27th. Coaches and players of the Tech team got a real surprise this week when a nationally known rating system placed the Aggies as the 15th best team in the nation. Previous to this, coaches and critics had selected the Aggies to breeze in with the Missouri Valley crown.

"I knew the Aggies boasted power and plenty of deception this season but I didn't know they had enough stuff to be rated as the 15th best in the United States. It looks like we are in for a licking if they are that good," commented Cawthon at Wednesday's practice.

However, the Raiders drew some satisfaction Wednesday when the Saturday Evening Post's "Pigskin Preview" praised Cawthon's tribe. Texas Tech was the only Southwest independent team mentioned in the article by Francis Wallace, noted football writer. Wallace singled out Prince Scott, Tech right end, as one of the real stars of the 1940 campaign and picked Storrs, Amonett and Webster to attract national attention by their playing.

Cincinnati Cops Second Straight National Flag

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—Cincinnati won its second straight National league championship today by coming from behind to beat the Phillies, 4 to 3, in a 13-inning battle.

The Reds with 13 games left to play, now hold a 12-game lead over the second place Brooklyn Dodgers, who lost to the St. Louis Cardinals. Cincinnati has won 93 games and lost 47. Brooklyn, with 10 games to play, has won 83 and lost 61.

Vander Meer Is Star

Southpaw Johnny Vander Meer, recently recalled from the American association, pitched and batted the Reds to victory although he did not hurl the final inning.

First up in the 13th, Vander Meer slammed one of High Mulcahy's offerings to left for a two-bagger. He went to third on Eddie Joost's sacrifice, held third while Mike McCormick beat out a hit to short, then scored on Ival Goodman's fly to deep left.

"Glad It's Over"

Joe Beggs replaced Vander Meer for the Phillips' 13th and retired the tallenders in one, two, three order.

"I'm glad it's all over," declared manager Bill McKechnie in the clubhouse after the game as his men slapped each other on the back and shouted in delight.

"We now can go ahead and prepare for the World Series, something we were unable to do last year. We'll take it easy for a day or two and then start getting ready."

Class A And B Gridders Busy—

O'Donnell, Levelland Tangle In District 5-A Engagement

By JOE PIERCE

A single conference game and more than a dozen inter-district engagements occupy the slate in the area's Class A games Friday.

Lamesa, contender for the 3-AA crown and victor over Slaton by 19 to 0 last Friday, battles an out-of-state foe, playing Roswell, N. M., in a night game.

O'Donnell and Levelland crack the District 5-A race at Levelland Friday night, with Coach Bill Stevens' Loboes heavy favorites after crushing Anton, 29 to 0, last week. O'Donnell is playing its first game of the season.

Olton Meets Matador

Other 5-A teams are busy in additional practice games. Brownfield, generally regarded as the favorite in the district, tries for a second successive victory against Crane at Brownfield. The Cubs smacked Kermit, 26 to 6, in their opener last week, strengthening their supporters' claims that they are the best in the league.

Olton battles a 4-A opponent again this week. Last Friday they downed Spur, 13 to 0. Tomorrow they engage Matador's Matadors, who struggled to a scoreless tie with Crowell. Slaton and Tahoka also tackle 4-A teams: the Tigers entertain Floydada in the opener for the Whirlwind; Tahoka plays host to Crosbyton, also playing their opening game. Both contests are at night.

Post Plays Morton

Morton and Post, both of 5-A, engage each other in non-conference play. Morton is in the northern division of the district, Post in the south half. Last week the Antelopes took Lubbock's Cowhands down 24 to 19 while Morton was stopping Plains, 13 to 0.

Muleshoe plays Class B Spring Lake at home, Sudan plays Whitharral, also a Class B team, at Sudan.

Floydada At Slaton

No conference games are scheduled in District 4-A as all teams head into another week of practice play. Coach Ab Pruitt's Paducah team, impressive in swatting Tulia 32 to 0 last week, hubs a stronger opponent, playing Crowell at home. Matador entertains Olton, Lockney plays at Canyon, Floydada at Slaton, Crosbyton at Tahoka, Ralls plays Plomot at home, Spur battles Haskell at home.

Other game: Anton at Amherst (4-B conference), Hereford at Littlefield, Southland at Prenship, Bowie (El Paso) at Plainview, Meadow at Seagraves, Petersburg at Abernathy (5-A conference), Ropesville at Stanton, and Seminole vs. Denver City.

Schoolboy League Lists 822 Grid Teams

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (AP)—Officials of the University of Texas Interscholastic league counted noses today, found 822 high school teams ready for the gridiron wars, and pronounced Texas the banner football state of the nation.

The roster—with 79 brand new teams—set an all-time record and increased 25 per cent over four years ago.

The teams lined up like this:

104 in Class AA, including four additions—Temple in District 10, Burkburnett in District 2, Arlington in District 6 and Beeville in District 16.

291 in Class A, with two new members—Hot Wells of San Antonio and Vidor.

276 in Class B, with 36 new members.

152 in the half-pint six-man football division, an increase of 41

Babe Hunt To Appear On Seagraves Fight Program Tonight

(Special To The Avalanche)

SEAGRAVES, Sept. 18—Approximately 1,800 fights fans are expected to jam Seagraves Thursday night for this section's biggest professional boxing program—highlighted by the Babe Hunt-Woody Linn heavyweight engagement.

The High school football field is the site of the big event.

Hunt, the battle-scarred Lubbock behemoth, is champion of Texas.

This fight will be Hunt's last appearance before Texas fans before he leaves soon for New York. Hunt will leave with Promoter L. D. "Pup" Thomas of Lubbock and Dick Griffin of Fort Worth for New York, where an attempt will be made to match the state champion with some outstanding heavyweight for a bout in Lubbock next month.

Smyer Meets Craves

Sonny Smyer, Lorenzo welterweight, will meet Kid Chavez of San Angelo in a six-round preliminary and Frisco Linda will take on San Angelo's addition to the flyweight ranks, Noah Valdez in another six-rounder.

For the semi-final on Thursday's show, Jelly Harry, local heavy, will meet Floydada's clever puncher, Abe Martin in a scheduled six-round affair. Following the main event will be a battle royal between five huge oil field negroes.

Lions Club Sponsor

Lions club members here, sponsors of the card, have predicted a sell-out crowd. Proceeds will be used to furnish the charity work of the Lions club for sick and indigent children of this area. Tickets are on sale in Seagraves by members of the Lions club. Ringsides are $1 while general admittance will be placed on sale at the football field for 75 cents.

Football Schedules Are Printed Today

Football fans' attention is directed to the full page college gridiron schedule appearing on Page 6 today. An Associated Press Feature Service feature, the schedule contains names, dates and places in condensed form. It may be clipped in entirety and saved by the fans. Extra copies are available for five cents each at the Avalanche-Journal office.

White Sox Split With Champions

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18 — Old Johnny Allen and youthful Bob Feller threw a spell over the Washington Senators today. The Cleveland Indians thus swept a double header and drove back into first place ahead of the Detroit Tigers.

Allen allowed the Senators six hits in the first game as he bested southpaw Kendall Chase for a 3 to 1 triumph, and Feller, jerked from the dugout with only two days rest, gave up only five bingles in the nightcap and beat Sid Hudson, 2 to 1, for his 26th victory of the year.

Feller Tiring?

In the last part of the contest Feller looked as tired as a tavern juke box on Sunday morning, but weathered an eighth-inning threat by Washington to put his club a half game ahead of the Tigers, who broke even in their twin bill with the Athletics.

Chase had only himself to blame for dropping the opener. The Indians filled the bases with one out in the second inning on singles by Beau Bell and Frankie Pytlak and a walk to Ray Mack. At that point, Chase virtually donned an Indian uniform and before the frame was over he had walked in Cleveland's three runs.

A's Continue To Deal Loop Leaders Trouble

DETROIT, Sept. 18 (AP)—For the second straight day the cellar-dwelling Philadelphia Athletics rose up to knock a team out of the American league lead.

The A's, who shoved Cleveland down to second place yesterday, exploded a nine-run rally in the final inning of the second game today to gain a 13 to 6 victory and a split with the Detroit Tigers in a double header played before 12,787 fans.

Lubbock Cowhands To Open Lubbock Grid Season Friday Night

First official football game of the season for Lubbock is scheduled for Friday night at Texas Tech Stadium when the Lubbock High Cowhands play the Turkey Turks, Class B aggregation from the North Plains.

Cy LaMaster, formerly of the Texas Tech athletic department, has inherited a squad of Cowhand ball players who played prominent roles in the undefeated run of the Lubbock Junior High Cowboys last year, and the coach anticipates an interesting, but not undefeated season.

Play Tough Teams

The Cowhands play a heavy schedule, mostly against Class A teams of the section and the better Class B teams, of which the Turkey Turks are certainly one, so it is always a rough row for the "B" squad of Lubbock High. The team opened its schedule at Post last Friday night, losing to the Antelopes 15 to 24.

"We'll lose lots of 'em, I suppose," says Coach LaMaster, "but we'd rather lose against tough competition than win against weak teams."

Probable starting lineup for the Cowhands tomorrow night in the season opener here: Ends, Hubert Bechtol and Ezell Wallace; tackles, Skeeter Brock and Kenneth Pharr; guards, Jim Butler and Bill Smith; center, Robert Reik; quarterback, Joe L. Thompson; halfbacks, Wayne Odam and Robert Brewer, and fullback, Douglas McCurry or Jack Pipes.

Westerners Leave

faster. Here's the way an observer described him:

"Robertson has the most beautiful change of pace we've ever witnessed. He'll be running at full speed, stop in a stride or two with magical suddenness, and then start sprinting again while tacklers fall all over themselves trying to tie on to him."

Boorman, weighing 175-pounds, is the same boy who was injured in the Lubbock-North Side game last year, seeing service only in the windup contest of the season, but he's ready this fall and should give the Keyesmen something to think about.

The other wingback post is being handled by James Weston, a newcomer. However, a slight injury may keep him out of the contest. Tommy Wilson taking over instead. Through the rest of the line, the Steers have a bunch of good looking gridders. What they can do under fire remains to be seen. And to Lubbock falls the burden of furnishing the fire—this being the Steers' first test.

Traveling Squad Listed

Following is a tentative traveling squad for this game as released by E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, athletic business manager of Lubbock High school:

Francis Bearden, J. A. Blackwell, Franklin Butler, Dan Gregory, Leroy Holly, Amos Howard, Joe Terry Jackson, Leete Jackson, Ernest Jarrett, Howard Lanford, Lyonel Lindsey, Marvin McBrayer, Robert McKinnon, Robert McKinley, DeWitt Moore, J. D. Milner, Roland Nabors, Dale Odom, John A. Raley, James Reese;

Carl Sanders, Carl Smith, Major Taylor, Milner Thorne, Max Walthall, Billy Wright, J. D. Wynn, and Troy Davidson and Ellison Hitt, student managers.

win over Washington, the nightcap loss dropped Detroit a half-game behind the Indians in the wild September pennant scramble.

The Tigers won the first game, 14 to 6, as Tommy Bridges and Tom Seats pitched shutout ball and Hank Greenberg belted two of the three homers he hit during the afternoon.

The Athletics' nine-run game-winning rally was started by pinch-hitter Chubby Dean with an infield single after one was out. Before the Tigers could retire two more men the Macks had rapped out nine more hits, including a homer by Bob Johnson with two teammates on bases.

Head Seemed Never To Cease Aching

His Work Was Almost Impossible Before Beginning Gly-Cas; Now Understands Why So Many Praise The Herbal Remedy

"Gly-Cas is one medicine of my experience that did not disappoint me," said Mr. W. E. Bell, 110 Fairmont St., Amarillo, Texas. "For the past five years I had been in a horrible condition from the effects of a stubborn case of constipation.

MR. W. E. BELL

Many times I was hardly able to work at all as my head seemed to never cease aching. My foods would not digest properly either and as sure as I ate, gas would form and crowd my heart until I could hardly get my breath. I tried my best to get relief from this miserable condition but met only with repeated failure . . . until I began Gly-Cas.

"I have taken only two boxes of this herbal Gly-Cas remedy and am feeling so much better," continued Mr. Bell. "I can now eat the foods I want and without fear of distressing effects following. I am not troubled with gas, bloating or heart palpitation now, am gaining in weight and strength and have had no more of those indescribable headaches. I really cannot praise Gly-Cas half enough for what it has done for me. I found it a deserving remedy and that is why I am so glad to recommend it to similar sufferers."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

Skeet Club Reopens Sunday Under New Management, Plan

Re-opening of the Lubbock Skeet and Gun Club traps, under new management and a new "system," is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, after which the shooting range will be open every day of the week in addition to Sundays.

Three young Texas Tech college students, Berry D. Brazile, Wayne Rash and Si Slaughter, have leased the skeet club grounds and traps from the former operator, J. E. Mann, jr., and have announced it will be open for shooters each week day afternoon and possibly all day on Saturdays and Sundays.

Several special events have been planned by the new managers, such as a "turkey shoot" sometime before Thanksgiving, and a "merchants day" shoot about the middle of October.

A price scale has been announced as follows: With the club operators furnishing the clay targets and the shells, the price per round of 25 shots will be $1.00; when shooters provide their own ammunition and guns, and the club provides the targets, trap operators, etc., the price will be 75 cents per round.

Peril Of The Monarchs

THE reported narrow escape of King George and Queen Elizabeth last week when German bombs damaged Buckingham palace causes speculation for apparent reasons concerning the probable reaction of the British people had their monarchs been less fortunate.

Without question, it would have been a terrific blow to morale. Masses of the people undoubtedly would have done thinking along the line: "If my country can't protect my king and queen, it certainly cannot protect me." Despite the mouthings of spread-eagle oration, a lot of them—probably nearly all of them—would prefer to be live slaves of German conquerors than dead Englishmen. The deaths in bombing raids of their monarchs might tend to persuade the isles they had to choose between being live slaves and dead Englishmen.

However, much as the Englishman of today reveres his monarchs, he knows that his king and queen are more ornamental than useful. They merely are symbols of all the fine qualities of the English people. The symbols can be destroyed and instantly replaced. The qualities of courage, determination, perseverance for which the symbols stand still remain.

Thus, it isn't likely that even the English would consider the tragic loss of their king and queen as catastrophic to their cause. They probably would recognize with stolid and characteristic British philosophy that insofar as the actual value of any particular king and queen to the nation's cause might be concerned, they would be just a couple of unfortunate people who happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time. Instead of being a crushing blow to morale, tragedy to the monarchs might have intensified British anger and their bull-dog determination to win.

So, if the time should come, as it may, that the king and queen may be numbered among the dead, it won't mean the end of the war. More British vengenace could be satisfied.

Need Of Super-Highways

IT IS a great idea of the governor's to build a "super-highway" from Texline to Fort Worth over which the heaviest motorized traffic could flow. He believes that permits for use of it would pay the cost while making it always available for national defense.

But it isn't the only highway of that kind which might be built to advantage in Texas. Probably it isn't the super-highway which should be built first, although there could be debate on that point.

Of the other highways which would seem logical projects, Lubbock is the perfect cross-roads of at least two. One of those would extend from the northern tip of Texas southward, to fork at some point to send one prong to the Gulf, another to the Mexican border.

The other highway would be an east-west road shooting straight across the heart of Texas. The north-south highway would be a logical connection for all the traffic which might move southward from all parts of the northwest United States and Canada. The east-west could logically form a link in a transcontinental route which would be open every day of the year and which would be relatively remote from attack even from Mexico.

Obviously, the governor's Texline-Fort Worth proposal is not much more than a dream at this time. It is a logical dream—but no more so than those which might be routed through Lubbock. The important point about the dreams as they concern Lubbock is to be prepared to make the most of them when they begin to take on solid reality—something which may not be far distant.

The One Minute Sermon

Many shall be purified, and made white, and tried; but the wicked shall do wickedly; and none of the wicked shall understand; but the wise shall understand.

And from the time that the daily sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abdomination that maketh desolate set up, there shall be a thousand two hundred and ninety days.

Blessed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days.

But go thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest, and stand in they lot at the end of the days.—Daniel 12; 10 through 13.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE FATHER OF LONG PANTS

The first English-speaking person to wear long pants instead of knee breeches was George IV of England. While he was still Regent (in the name of his disabled father George III) he made long pants fashionable by appearing in them in public. The reason for this innovation was that his legs were swollen with the gout and long pants concealed this humiliating condition. Society imitated the Prince, at first hesitatingly and then with increasing enthusiasm, until pants became a regular part of a gentleman's wardrobe.

Casual Slaughters

By VIRGINIA HANSON

YESTERDAY: Kay drives Jeff back to jail. She learns from Jeff that Sandra may have married him thinking his worthless property had silver on it. Back in her room Kay looks for the shorthand notebook. It has vanished again.

Chapter 39

What Safe Place?

I shuffled through the papers on top of the table. I opened the table drawer. I even delved into the wastebasket. But it wasn't there; it wasn't anywhere in the two rooms or in the small bathroom.

I gave up in the search, finally. Jeff must have taken it after all. I felt a flash of resentment. He hadn't trusted me, even though I knew what the notebook might contain.

But did I? Too late I realized that there might have been more that Sandra could have told, information more damaging than the bit of scandal about Mimi and Jeff.

Jeff needn't have told me anything he was afraid Sandra had put in that notebook!

I'd been a fool to believe him, to let it get out of my hands. What had he done with it—hidden it, destroyed it? There had been plenty of time to do either on his way to the garage. I felt sure he no longer had it when I delivered him at the hospital. It was too large to be concealed in a pocket, and he had not been carrying anything.

Was there any use trying to find it? Was there anyone to whom I could appeal for help? Gerald? I felt again that sinking of my heart, the unwilling frightening realization that Gerald was an imposter.

Felicia? The chaplain? But I would have to tell them that Jeff had been here, and I was reluctant to do that. Perhaps he had not destroyed the notebook; he might have hidden it in the car. The garage was locked and the key in my bag, but I shrank from going out there alone in the dark. If the notebook was there, it was safe until morning. Morning. I told myself, would be time enough.

I got my wardrobe suitcase from the closet and packed my things, putting my papers all together in a compartment which served very well for the purpose. The rejected manuscript, still unopened, went in with them. Then I emptied the closet and the drawers of the mahogany chest, took a look around the bathroom and sitting room for forgotten articles, closed my typewriter in its traveling case and prepared to leave. At the door, however, I turned back on an unexplained impulse and dragged the wardrobe suitcase as far as the sitting room. But it was too heavy for me, so I abandoned it there, locked both the suitcase and the typewriter and put the keys in my bag. Then I turned out the lights, went out and shut the door.

There was a light in Felicia's sitting room, but she was in bed, snoring a little. Remembering not to be too quiet, I prepared for bed, but she did not stir. And when, presently, I turned off the light and stretched out on the vacan bed her soft little snore was still at work.

Normally that snore would not have bothered me. But tonight I was overwrought. The instant I relaxed and was about to drift into sleep, unwelcome thoughts would swarm around me like mosquitoes, too, in the flesh—their own and mine. And there was that softly persistent snore that gradually became maddening.

Eventually I resigned myself to staying awake. I doubled my pillow against the head of the bed and sat up, staring at the gray shape of a window, wishing it would begin to grow lighter, wishing I had a cigarette but afraid to get one for fear the smell of the smoke would disturb Felicia. I thought once of going into the sitting room, closing the door between; but that reminded me too vividly of the night before—of Sandra meeting death, alone in my sitting room.

I felt the roots of hair tingle with elemental fear. For the first time I thought of that snore as a comforting reminder that I was not alone.

Then I began to hear little things, small sounds such as are always audible in a sleeping house, but which tonight my disordered imagination magnified into evidence that evil was creeping on stealthy feet through the corridors of the building.

Over the heavy thudding of my heart I heard boards creak under the slow weight of those feet, heard the little stirrings of secret errands, the whisper of pages as if someone were leafing rapidly through a magazine. My thoughts went back with mounting horror to the picture of Sandra, sitting dutifully quiet while I worked, turning the pages of a magazine until I was ready to scream at the relentless regularity of the repeated sound. My heart hammering painfully, I pictured her sitting there now, turning the pages, waiting—waiting for what? What had she left undone?

Then, so distinct that I knew I had not imagined it, loud in the quiet night, I heard the click of a door latch.

That sound woke me to a healthier fear. The click of the corridor door!

Almost relieved at the thought of a tangible menace, I crept out of bed and tiptoed to the open door of the sitting room, where I stopped for an instant to listen. There was no further sound. Presently, emboldened by the continued quiet, I reached a hand into the room and switched on the light.

There was no one there. I stod in the doorway for a moment, getting my nerve back and feeling foolish. Behind me Felicia still slept. Well, at least I could have a cigarette.

I crossed over and turned the key in the corridor door, reflecting that it was a little late for the precaution, found my pocketbook which contained the remains of a pack of cigarettes, and lit up. Then I pushed the door to the bedroom nearly shut, selected a magazine from a stack on the table, and settled down to read.

But not for long. I could not keep my mind on the words. Thoughts of my own kept nagging me—thoughts of Mimi and Colonel Pennant, of Julia and Jeff and Sandra. Sandra, who had "written down what she knew about several people and put it in a safe place." Not just what she knew about Mimi and Jeff. Several people.

Reducing it to simple terms, Sandra was a blackmailer. She had blackmailed Jeff into marrying her. She had tried to blackmail him into giving her the Ozark property, which she believed to be valuable. A logical questioned formed in my mind. Had she been blackmailing someone else?

The answer brought me to my feet. It was so obvious that I wondered why I had not seen it before.

She had been blackmailing the murderer!

Unbearable Excitement

It wasn't only to Jeff that she had thrown the taunt that it would do no good to kill her. She had recorded her knowledge and put it "in a safe place." And she had thought that made her safe, too.

What safe place?

It seemed to me suddenly that Sandra was in the room with me, trying to tell me something. I began to shake with a chill that was not so much fright as the unbearable excitement of knowing that I was on the verge of a revelation. This was something that concerned me. I was as sure of it as if I had seen her standing there, pointing at me. When there was no one else she had turned to me, even though she knew I was Julia's friend. Wasn't it plausible, then, that, surrounded by strangers, she had cached her secret with me? She had not trusted me with it—she could not do that—but she could leave me some clue to it. If I had the wit to recognize the clue——

I settled myself with another cigarette, let the magazine slip to the floor, and went over everything I could remember concerning Sandra since she had come to my room Sunday night.

There was the shorthand notebook, of course. That leaped to the attention. But in no sense could it be considered a safe place. Many people can read shorthand. Besides, it was too obvious. If it had been that important she would never have left it lying about.

A safe-deposit box?

Not here. I was fairly sure of that. And the record she had made must be a recent one. There was no bank nearer than the next town, and to the best of my belief she had not been off the post since Sunday except for the one time she had gone with me to the post office, and then she had not been out of my sight.

The post office. She had mailed two letters.

"To friends who knew Ivan," she had said.

I remembered those letters. Thin, one-page affairs. Still—they might have included the few words necessary to incriminate someone——

And then I thought of the manuscript.

Little things which had no meaning for me at the time they happened recurred to me now in a new light. Sandra asking to use my typewriter and staying alone in my room all that afternoon. Her determination that the manuscript should be finished and sent off that very day. The questions she had asked concerning its destination and the time of its probable return if rejected. And the strange intentness with which she had watched me seal and stamp the envelope and hand it through the window to the postmaster.

What had the editor said?

With feverish fingers I extracted the letter once more from my bag and read it with new comprehension.

"Sounds like two stories mixed up——"

My house coat was lying in the jumble of things in my overnight case. I crushed the letter back into my pocketbook, snatched up the robe and put it on. That manuscript, locked in my wardrobe case in the next room, would bear investigating.

A familiar chill gripped me as I turned the key to unlock the door to the corridor, but I gave myself no time to heed it. I clicked off the light in the sitting room, listened for a moment and gently, quietly turned the doorknob.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has become embroiled in a bitter controversy with the three radio chains as a result of his insistence that his inspection trips and speeches are entirely non-political. The radio people, despite the possibility of reprisal if Mr. Roosevelt is reelected, have decided that almost anything he says is a contribution to campaign oratory.

Before Mr. Roosevelt sallied into Tennessee for his two speeches, White House Secretary Early summoned representatives of the three radio chains to his office. He warned them in heated tones, that the President would be the sole judge as to whether his speeches were political or non-political. He insisted that if Mr. Roosevelt characterized a speech as non-political, they should not give Wendell Willkie free time for an answer. In short, according to the Early theory, F.D.R. would control the air.

The radio people revolted against this dictum. They agreed that both the Roosevelt speeches in Tennessee, which consumed forty-five minutes, were designed to aid his reelection campaign rather than to herald the Administration's accomplishments. So they have notified Mr. Willkie that they will give him forty-five minutes of free time to answer the President.

EXTRAS: When reporters asked Cordell Hull if the destroyers-bases deal pointed toward joint Anglo-American operation in the Western Hemisphere, he answered them with an indignant negative. But it appears that Mr. Hull was not informed by the White house of the naval and military details in this area.

Besides leasing bases and air fields in the British possessions, the United States plans to take over naval and military equipment, ramps and ammunition depots and administrative buildings which the British have constructed. England's fleet is now stationed in European waters, and they have no use for the naval and air stations in western waters. They have abdicated in favor of the United States. Uncle Sam will be in supreme control of these new bases, including John Bull's buildings.

This unpublicized scheme casts light on the discrepancy between F.D.R.'s formal message on the destroper deal and Attorney General Jackson's opinion. The President listed the fifty destroyers as the only consideration in the transaction. Mr. Jackson referred to "patrol boats, naval and military facilities" which F.D.R. apparently forgot to include in his catalogue.

SUPPORT: It is generally admitted that if Hiram Johnson of California will make two or three Willkie speeches in the Presidential campaign, the Republican nominee will carry the important coastal state. The only person who does not subscribe to this theory is Senator Johnson himself.

"Listen Hiram," said an anti-Roosevelt Democratic Senator at a recent dinner party, "you can ruin Roosevelt if you take the stump for Willkie. You beat Hughes in 1916, you carried the state for Roosevelt in 1932 and you can beat Roosevelt in 1940."

The old Senator's eyes welled with tears as he thought of those old days. But he did not agree with his eulogist. He said:

"I did not beat Hughes. I campaigned for him. But my people thought he had snubbed me, and they cut him. I did not carry California for Roosevelt in 1932; he would have carried it, anyway. And I cannot transfer my popularity to Mr. Willkie, even if I wanted to."

But Senator Johnson, when the moment is propitious, will declare and sound off for Mr. Willkie. And G.O.P. strategists count on his support to toss the state's electoral votes into the Republican column.

DOMINATION: It is not generally realized, but a reelected Roosevelt will have the appointment and reappointment of every member of the uncounted federal agencies, from the Supreme Court to the Federal Trade Commission. Not a single federal organization exercising control over labor, business, finance and agriculture will be manned by anybody except Roosevelt appointees.

Mr. Willkie has apparently neglected this issue so far. But members of Congress intend to highlight it. They plan to point out that if Mr. Roosevelt gets his third term, the federal departments will be staffed by liberals and radicals who have, until the European War transformed Mr. Roosevelt into a conservative, shown a hostile attitude toward business and industry. And in recent speeches, notably his address before the A. F. of L. Teamsters Union, the President revealed his determination to prosecute social and economic reforms despite the impact of the European War.

A reelection for Mr. Roosevelt means that his ideas and theories of government will, through his appointive power, dominate the federal structure for another generation.

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

THE latest draft of Wall Street talent into the Roosevelt official family takes one of the country's leading foreign banking sharks out of the financial area. Joe Rovensky, who was vice-president of the Chase National and who now joins young Nelson Rockefeller as assistant, finds himself working for the Standard Oil scion whom he coached for the job.

It's an administration homer all around. Nelson, now chief coordinator of commercial and cultural relations with South America, served his apprenticeship in the Chase foreign department. Besides the financial connection, there is a family relation between Winthrop Aldrich, Chase prexy, and John D. Rockefeller. Part of Nelson's education was a Latin-American survey with Rovensky as a cabin mate that included every important commercial center south of the Panama Canal.

It is no reflection on young Rockefeller for Wall Street to say that the brilliant assistant towers over his junior boss in his knowledge of Latin trade, politics, business and finance. Rovensky is one of those appointments the Republicans would have liked to make if F. D. hadn't thought of it first.

CYNICAL: Among the Latin-Americans who have dealt with us "Yanquis" through our changing administrations there is a deep-rooted skepticism concerning the stability of our policies, and even as to the sincerity of our promises. This was never more in evidence than at the present time, according to men who enjoy their confidence. Dr. Melo's public statement that he was being indiscreet when he quoted from a conversation with President Roosevelt, in which F.D.R. was alleged to have promised that Argentine beef would get a break in the U.S. after the election, has sharpened the point. F.D.R.'s firm denial clinched it.

The Havana conference gave front places on the stage to the politicos who, supporting United States policies at the gathering, drew applause at home. They swallowed the loose and vague promises made by the United States men, despite the scoffing of the realists who stand for the driving of hard bargains, signed on the dotted line. The latter were very impatient with those who thought that hope was enough.

It was with the purpose of convincing the hopers of their error that the cynics decided that a clear-cut case of promises repudiated should be brought out into the open. The Argentine beef matter proved to be just what was wanted, and Dr. Melo's group is well pleased with the results. The riposte from Washington appears to be the intimation that the five hundred million dollar cartel plan has been abandoned, and that it will be replaced by Export-Import Bank loans to the deserving. Nothing could sit less well with the majority of the twenty republics whose honeymoon with us was headlined so recently.

Among the many surprises dished up by the census is that many a large city had fewer people than the local political machine had votes.

An auto thief, using Adolf's tactics, almost got away with it when he told the judge he took a drunk's car into protective custody.

A college tennis star has studied four years for the diplomatic service. In deference to the anti-appeasement trend, he will avoid the word "Love."

In Britain, soups can no longer be put up in tin cans. It's a grim outlook for England's brides.

Side Glances---By Galbraith

"Doc is reading the only copy of that magazine we have—if you come back in a couple of hours I'll be able to sell it to you."

The PLAINSMAN Says:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (By Air Mail)—"What about Willkie?"

Well, maybe The Plainsman hasn't been talking to the right people, but he has yet to hear anyone say that the tousle-headed Indianan has much chance to be elected come November 7.

Even from this distance, we can hear the snorts of indignation on the part of both Republicans in Lubbock, and from the "economic royalists" and the "old line Democrats" who can't go for a third term or for the New Deal. But between Lubbock and Washington, and here in the capital, The Plainsman has talked to men and women from many places and in many walks of life and if present conditions continue until election day it'll be another four years for the gentleman from Hyde Park.

Don't misunderstand.

We have run into a number of people who are going to vote for Mr. Willkie and who hope he will win in November.

We have heard others say they don't know how they'll vote and that no matter which candidate is successful, the country will go right along, all right.

But the vast majority are for Franklin Roosevelt—and whether for him, or not, forecast his election and the smashing of the third term precedent.

MANY angles enter into any prognostication of a Roosevelt victory, not the least of which center around European conditions and the immediate, apparent future of the conflict overseas.

Much Roosevelt support comes from the feeling that "we'd better not change horses in the middle of a turbulent stream."

Mr. Willkie, in the face of world-shaking news from London and Berlin, can't get a good press; a second-ary headline on Page 1—even in the pro-Willkie papers—is the best his comments can draw. He definitely is "behind the 8 ball," through no fault of his own, when it comes to attracting attention. On the other hand, the Man in the White House is always top news, regardless of whom he may be.

Thus Mr. Willkie is under a terrific handicap with no indications of a let-up in conditions any time soon.

In order to keep in the papers and before the public, Mr. Willkie has been forced to make statements two or three times daily to the corps of correspondents who dog his every step.

Entertaining the press almost every hour of the day and night means many statements for publication—statements which must be changed from time to time as conditions change.

Thus Mr. Willkie frequently seems to be contradicting today what he said yesterday—a situation which makes the man in the street wonder if, after all, "the barefoot boy of Wall Street" really knows what the score is.

Willkie can't help all this—but it is hard on him, just the same.

THERE is no doubt that Mr. Willkie has slipped and slipped badly since his smashing, sensational kidnap of the GOP nomination in Philadelphia.

Some pundits, writing in the Washington papers, say that doesn't make any difference at the moment, because it still is too early for either candidate's campaign to strike a high pitch which would be difficult, or even impossible, to hold until election day.

But regardless of opinions, the edge—by a big margin—continues to be Mr. Roosevelt's and unless Britain collapses, or, again to coin the all but impossible, wins before election day, there's not much chance for a change of tenants in the $46,000,000 shanty at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue.

In addition to his other troubles, Mr. Willkie has aroused the ire—privately expressed, of course—of the Republican party's bigwigs in the Congress.

Whether purposely, or not, he has actively opposed, as the Republican presidential candidate, various pet policies of the GOPs on Capitol Hill, which makes for the party men supporting one thing and their candidate whooping it up for the opposite.

There is much grumbling among the Republicans in Congress and much cloak-room criticism of "that amateur who won't listen to anybody."

Consensus here is that Mr. Willkie would be much better off if he'd tie wise Joe Martin, of Massachusetts, the House Republican boss, to his arm and then do or say nothing not approved by Martin.

However, Mr. Willkie, like Andy Gump, says he wears no man's collar and he means it.

He's going to ride to victory—or to a fall—on his own hoss and nobody else's.

YESTERDAY, The Plainsman talked, off the record, to a Republican power in the House, and to a long-time GOP brass collar who was doing a little political conniving over here from nearby Maryland.

Neither was willing to say, even off the record, that Mr. Willkie is out of the running and that his defeat is a certainty.

Both, in fact, said the Indianan would run a good race—a much better one than Kansas' Landon in 1936—and would carry a good share of states.

But neither forecast his election and both gloomily wished the GOP standard-bearer would play a little more ball with the party.

On the train coming up here, The Plainsman talked with five different railroad men, all but one members of the brotherhood and the other a traffic executive of a major line.

All said Roosevelt would get the vast majority of railroad labor votes—perhaps as much as 80 per cent. They feel, too, that is an indication of labor's stand, in general.

Meeting in Washington at this time is the annual convention of the International Union of Teamsters, an AFL affiliate—not a CIO organization.

Every mention of the Roosevelt name has sent thunderous cheers ringing through Constitution Hall—which is a pretty good indication of the unlikelihood of any defection of labor at the polls.

Mr. Willkie has the overwhelming majority of the "economic royalists," but Mr. Roosevelt has the other folks—and they're in the majority!

MOST striking thing in connection with the presidential campaign is the evident fact that the scene has changed since the triumphant march of Willkie to the nomination in Philadelphia.

During and immediately after the convention, there was much discussion of Willkie, the man, his background, his talents and his abilities.

Then, his support seemed to be based upon Willkie as the man to bring order out of the economic chaos wrought by New Deal spending. A fine business man, an American of the old order, a fellow who had come up from nothing to a position of great power and trust, Willkie, according to his supporters, was the man to supplant the wild-eyed professors and parlor pinks with good, old Yankee business sense.

But the picture is different now. Those whom The Plainsman has found supporting Willkie are supporting him on the basis that:

1. No President should have a third term;

2. Roosevelt is driving us into a

The Plainsman Says . . .

morass of debt that we'll never creep out of until a change of political philosophy takes over;

3. Roosevelt is driving us into war because of his almost blind love for Britain, or,

4. Roosevelt has done away with many of the inherent rights of the American citizen and will seize more authority if re-elected.

In short, most Willkie support is based upon a feeling of opposition to Roosevelt and his political and economic philosophies, rather than because of a belief that Willkie, the man, is the best fitted for the job.

Pro-Willkieites to whom this writer has talked are first anti-Rooseveltians and would lend their support as quickly to one Roosevelt opponent as they would to another.

The railroad men, the waiters, the cab drivers, the politicians, the newspapermen, the members of Congress, the train passengers and the others to whom The Plainsman has talked seemed not one whit interested in party labels, indicating that party politics, as we've always known them, have all but disappeared in this campaign.

All four of the candidates, Willkie, Roosevelt, Wallace and McNary, have themselves crossed and re-crossed party lines and the rank and file don't seem to regret, or criticize the situation.

The campaign is pitched principally on New Deal and anti-New Deal and a wee bit upon Roosevelt, the humanitarian, or the national socialist who'd like to be dictator (depending upon the individual's view) and Willkie, the successful, hard-headed business man with the Horatio Alger background, or the fair-haired son of predatory corporations and giant utilities who would lead us back to the Harding-Coolidge era of might makes right.

IT'S nearly two months until election day and there are no accepted seers who can correctly forecast the future.

But if The Plainsman were a gambling man, he'd say it's Roosevelt, two-to-one at this writing.

And that's that.

AVERAGE PRICE
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths-inch cotton today at ten designated southern spot markets was unchanged at 9.42 cents a pound.

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—Expanded demand for textiles created brisk buying in cotton futures today. Hedging sales, however, kept check and the market closed 3 points higher to 2 lower.
Revival of activity in cloth markets was reflected in a pickup in buying from trade and mill accounts. Spot houses also supported quotations.
Southern hedge selling, especially on later deliveries, also increased and, although offerings were readily taken, considerable resistance developed when the list swung ahead.
A favorable weekly weather report was offset by the textile news.
An estimated 12,000,000 yards or more of print cloths and related items changed hands in Worth street. Mills asked advances of ¼ cent a yard on several of the more popular constructions and in many cases the higher prices were paid. In isolated instances business was written for delivery next year.
Exports Tuesday 14,516 bales; season so far 115,355. Port receipts 12,001; port stocks 2,708,688.

Republicans Score Decisive Win In Wisconsin

Rotary Official Speaks To Club

Frank S. Roberts of Breckenridge, district governor of Rotary International, addressed Lubbock Rotarians at a luncheon Wednesday in Lubbock hotel.

"Let's not forget what happened in Europe and what the situation is here," he warned.

"We are going to live in a changed world, and America should be prepared."

"Begin a school of instruction around your own fireside . . . Call to the attention of the youth of this land the ideology of a free nation and free men," Roberts said . . . "There is a challenge facing us to defend Americanism, to resell Americanism, to resell the Declaration of Independence, to preach the principles of Americanism if we are to preserve this land of liberty of ours that our forefathers gave to us.

"The only right course for us left is to select that course which is the least hazardous in order to protect and maintain our security."

Roberts pointed to Rotary International's objectives and its program of engaging in the bringing about of a closer relationship, understanding and good will with South America and the Latin-American nations.

He declared "the ideology of Rotary must be a vital factor in the world of tomorrow in order that hatred that will be left after chaos shall be dissipated and Rotary's objectives will survive for years and years after we are gone."

Roberts was introduced to the club by President Overton Ribble. W. P. Clement presented a past president's pin to past President Charles J. Wagner prior to Roberts' talk.

Out-of-town guests at the luncheon were: E. M. Ballingee, Plainview; Rev. O. W. Carter, Childress; Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum, Slaton; Floyd Bowles, Littlefield; Ed Hammell, Hutchinson, Kas., Dr. Felix Ballenger, Indianapolis; Bill Colvert, Albuquerque, N. M. and Capt. H. N. Smith of Fort Worth.

Jesse Jones To Take New Office Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (U.P.) — Jesse H. Jones, a leading figure in federal affairs for more than 10 years, will become secretary of commerce tomorrow at a White House ceremony.

Jones will continue his position as federal loan administrator, but will draw only one salary—$15,000 a year as a cabinet officer. It will be the first time that a cabinet member has held a second high administrative post. Special legislation was necessary to permit this.

Jones was brought to Washington by President Herbert Hoover to be a director of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Under the Roosevelt administration he became chairman of the RFC and then loan administrator heading the RFC, export and import bank and other federal money-lending agencies.

The Texan will become the fifth new cabinet member in recent months.

Lubbock Police To Aid Safety Lane

Lubbock police will cooperate with a contingent of the Texas Highway patrol in conducting a traffic safety lane here during the next week, Sgt. Lewis Kittrell of the traffic detail said.

The first of at least two lanes will be opened about 10 o'clock this morning on Avenue N between Broadway and Thirteenth street. Later this week or early next week equipment of the patrol will be moved to Seventeenth street between Avenue H and Texas avenue.

Capt. G. E. Schauer is in charge of the detail that will move here from Plainview. He arrived in Lubbock Wednesday to complete plans for the lane here.

Cars will be inspected from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily except Sunday. Captain Schauer said. With him here will be the following patrolmen: Truitt O. Dillard, R. E. Kocurek, D. R. Enochs, E. C. Hoppe, Ted Herring and E. E. Johnston.

Test of all cars will be made and recommendation on repairing defects will be given.

First Order Received For Tickets To Fair

First money order for a $1 bargain strip of tickets to the Panhandle-South Plains fair was received Wednesday from Clarence Hart of Post, officials said.

Four tickets on the strip are good for entrance into the grounds one time each. Regular admittance charge at the gate is 50 cents for each person.

An extensive campaign of a Boys Club, Inc., committee will not be launched until Friday when approximately 80 men will open a drive to sell 10,000 of the tickets. They are being sold until then only for mail orders.

Entry of 13 head of milking shorthorn was received Wednesday from the Clampitt farms at New Providence, Iowa.

Community exhibits were received from Idalou and New Deal. Coleman Cowan sent in the Idalou entry and Leo Meier that of New Deal. Both are vocational agriculture teachers.

TREATY SIGNED

MOSCOW, Sept. 18. (AP)—Soviet Russia and Denmark signed a trade treaty today, the provisions to be published later.

Mexico Hopes Service Law To Be In Force By Jan. 1

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 18. (U.P.) — The Mexican government hopes that Mexico's new military service law will be in full operation by Jan. 1, official circles indicated today.

It was emphasized that this could not be regarded as a "mobilization" in any sense, since the men called up under the new measure must be trained before they could be mobilized.

Estimates as to the number of men to be called up in the first group for intensive training differ but it was believed they might number 12,000 or possibly more.

Although the new law has been passed and signed, it was understood that President Lazero Cardenas, Secretary of National Defense Gen. Jesus Augustine Castro and several others still must hold a final conference to decide when the measure shall be put into effect and to fix the number to be called up in the first group.

Mexican military authorities today declined to estimate the potential number of reserves the law will give the army. At present the army has 52,000 regulars and probably could be increased to 60,000 on short notice.

New Dealers In New York Lead

(By The Associated Press)

Republicans polled more votes than the combined total of Progressive and Democratic candidates in Tuesday's gubernatorial primary in Wisconsin, while a New Deal faction of the American Labor party led so-called "left-wing" candidates in 53 of 94 legislative and congressional contests in New York.

In Massachusetts, a bitter Democratic fight for the governorship nomination ended in victory for Attorney General Paul A. Dever over Frances E. Kelly. Dever will oppose Gov. Leverett Slatonstall in the November general election.

Republicans Lead

Incomplete Wisconsin returns showed that the two Republican candidates for governor already had polled a total well in excess of the party's complete official count in the 1938 primary and far ahead of the primary vote in 1936, the last presidential election year. The Republican nominee—Gov. Julius P. Heil—probably will be opposed in November by Orland S. Loomis, Progressive, and Frances E. McGovern, Democrat. The latter two had comfortable leads with most of the precincts counted.

The New York voting not only brought a New Deal test of strength in the American Labor party, but it also saw an unsuccessful attempt of John J. O'Connor, anti-Roosevelt, to win nomination for Congress on both Republican and Democratic tickets. He was defeated in both contests.

Most For New Deal

In the Labor party voting, enough returns had been tabulated to decide 94 of the 131 contests. These returns gave candidates favorable to President Roosevelt 53 congressional and legislative offices to 40 for those opposing a third term for the president. One nomination went to an independent.

Connecticut Republicans, meeting in convention Wednesday, selected Paul L. Cornell, a preparatory school owner, as their candidate for the Senate. He will oppose Senator Francis T. Maloney, Democrat, in November. For governor, the Republicans named Raymond E. Baldwin, the incumbent.

Speaking Tour

Wisconsin Republicans nominated Fred H. Clausen, a farm machinery manufacturer, for senator, and the Democrats chose James E. Finnegan, anti-third termer and former attorney general. Senator Robert M. LaFollette was unopposed for renomination on the Progressive ticket.

In the Massachusetts senatorial election in November, the voters will choose between Senator David I. Walsh, who was renominated without opposition, and Henry Parkman, former corporation counsel of Boston.

Another political development Wednesday was an announcement by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, old age pension leader, that he would campaign actively for the Willkie-McNary ticket. He said at a press conference in New York that he would make a 6,000 mile trip in behalf of the Republican candidates. At the same time, he said, he would speak for his pension plan.
