Klan Link Is Sought In Alabama Violence

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Justice Department continues today its efforts to link the Ku Klux Klan to mob violence against "Freedom Riders" in Aniston, Birmingham and Montgomery, Ala.

This is the third day since the government launched a hearing in federal court at Montgomery aimed at (1) making permanent an existing injunction against the KKK and (2) obtaining an order requiring Birmingham and Montgomery police to provide protection for future interstate passengers.

Amarillo Flooded By Rain Torrents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A cloudburst dumped up to 4.64 inches of rain on Amarillo Tuesday night.

Streets became raging torrents. Every underpass in the city was flooded. Motorists were trapped on tops of cars.

There were no reports of deaths or injuries, however.

In places, the torrential rains swept cars into yards and against houses. Motor boats of rescue workers bobbed out of control. Homes at low sections were flooded.

But like most flash floods in the Panhandle region, the waters quickly receded.

Two waves of thunderstorms roared through Amarillo. Rain fell intermittently for hours. Violent winds tore the roof of a gas station and smashed windows in houses and business places. Electric power was knocked out throughout the business district.

Much of the Texas Panhandle and the South Plains were under a severe thunderstorm alert at the time, but the cloudburst apparently centered on a limited area around Amarillo.

Light rain fell at Canyon, 13 miles south of Amarillo, where residents watched a billowing black cloud early in the evening.

The Weather Bureau said the cloudburst was touched off by a line of thunderstorms which faced eastward into a cold front hovering over the area.

Damage was reported at other points in the region.

At Hereford, 50 miles southwest of Amarillo, lightning set fire to a frame dormitory used to house farm workers from Mexico in a migrant labor camp.

Winds clocked up to 35 miles an hour shattered a plate glass window at Dumas, 44 miles north of Amarillo. Half a dozen large hen eggs covered the ground near Vega, west of Amarillo.

Smaller hail stones fell across the entire area.

There was some damage to the wheat crop but the extent of the loss wasn't determined.

In a few areas, motorists stood on top of their cars and shouted for help before being rescued at Amarillo.

Mr. Robert Carins said he saw a car carried away by the flood. "It started rocking and I headed east down the street. Then it stopped. The current washed it up into my front yard," he said. The occupants in the auto stayed inside.

Violent winds splintered trees and hail tore off their leaves.

Traffic Toll Is Worst In U. S. History

Observance of the four-day Memorial Day holiday cost the nation a toll of more than 450 lives in traffic accidents, the worst highway record for any Memorial holiday in history.

Late reports pushed the total of traffic fatalities far above the previous record of 413 for a 102-hour Memorial holiday. The former record was set in 1957.

Only three states—Maine, Delaware and Rhode Island and the District of Columbia went through the four-day period—Saturday through Tuesday—without a single traffic death.

California, Michigan and Illinois topped the list of states with each reporting more than 30 highway deaths.

The only extended spring or summer holiday traffic death toll to exceed the toll this Memorial Day was the 491 recorded during the 102-hour Fourth-of-July observance in 1950.

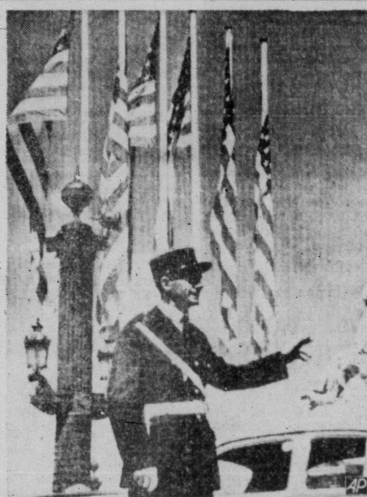

This year's heavy toll on the highways compared with 367 traffic deaths for last year's three-day Memorial Day weekend. Other violent fatalities during the four-day weekend included drownings not involving boats, from miscellaneous mishaps. The overall death toll compared to last year's 579.

In the 1957 Memorial Day weekend, there also were 134 drownings and 113 persons killed in miscellaneous accidents for a death toll of 660.

The National Safety Council, which joined with police agencies during the long weekend in urging motorists to drive with caution, underestimated the heavy traffic toll.

The council, in a pre-holiday statement, estimated 100 persons might be killed in the 30-hour period from 6 p.m. Monday to Tuesday midnight. The total was 113. The council did not make an estimate for the entire 102-hour period because Monday was generally observed as a work day. However, it said highway deaths for the period at this time of the year would total 365.

An Associated Press survey for a 102-hour non-holiday period, from 6 p.m. Friday, May 12, to midnight, Tuesday, May 16, showed 341 traffic fatalities. Other violent deaths included 14 in boating, 78 drownings and 106 in miscellaneous type accidents, a total of 539.

Rusk Makes Plea For Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the free world must arm to meet Communist aggression at every level from the thermoclear holocaust to assassination in the jungle.

Rusk opened the administration's argument for a $4-billion foreign aid program by telling the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, "We can afford to do what has to be done."

If the United States fails to undertake a sufficient effort, Rusk said, it must expect the failure of other nations to meet the demands of their people for a better life and from many of these nations an inevitable collapse.

In a letter to testify before the Senate group, Rusk delayed his departure for the French capital, Paris, where he will meet with French President Charles de Gaulle.

While the secretary put most of his emphasis on the economic aspects of the program he cautioned that the wider distribution of power increases the hazards of world affairs in a nuclear age.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said events of the past year have cast many doubts on administration of the military and economic assistance programs abroad. He said there have been too many examples of countries in which the programs have been corrupted or frustrated in their aim of promoting freedom.

Fulbright, committee chairman, made his observations in a statement prepared for reading at the opening of the morning session.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a member of Fulbright's committee, said Kennedy's request will be sharply trimmed by Congress.

"More money is not the crying need," Aiken said in his statement. "What the program needs is well-qualified, well-trained personnel to administer it without better administration, more money will only make its operation worse. I'm for giving whatever can be used effectively, and honestly."

Fulbright said he hoped the committee could complete hearings during the next two weeks in the Senate can complete action by the end of July.

"I expect constantly to turn to the subject of the quality of our administration," Fulbright said in his statement.

"Apparently we have trained military forces for the kinds of battles that are not fought," Fulbright said of the military assistance program. "We have trained individuals who have not had the will to protect their freedom."

Fulbright applauded the long-term approach advocated by the President and said he hoped by the time the Kennedy administration has served its first term, "we may be able to point to some states as irrefutable bastions of freedom in South Asia, the Middle East, Africa and Latin America."

In Accord On Berlin

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

PARIS (AP)—President Kennedy and President Charles de Gaulle reached "general agreement" today on the problem of West Berlin in the opening session of their Allied policy conference.

This result was announced by a U.S. spokesman. He said the agreement was achieved within the course of a 45-minute discussion when they first met.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen that during the day the two presidents "discussed Berlin, problems of Southeast Asia and the Geneva conference on Laos."

Kennedy began his first venture in summit diplomacy with de Gaulle after receiving a 10-gun salute and a warm welcome from the people of Paris.

The streets of the French capital, brilliant with red, white and blue flags against the soft green glow of spring, wore a gay and festive air. But the political atmosphere was grimmer. On Saturday, Kennedy will meet Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Vienna, Austria, under the threat of a new Berlin crisis later this year.

Kennedy and de Gaulle opened their talks at 45 minutes before lunch in Elysee Palace and were to continue this afternoon. Their concern with a new Berlin move by Khrushchev was a major subject for discussion.

Kennedy on his arrival publicly assured de Gaulle that their own talks in his view are as important as his meeting with the Soviet president.

The young American leader called on de Gaulle, senior statesman of the Western Bloc, just two hours after his jet arrived at Orly Airport. He had flown from New York in 6 hours and 31 minutes.

De Gaulle, 70, greeted Kennedy, 44, with obvious warmth in his handshakes, his warm, rolling French he told Kennedy, "You are most welcome to France."

He spoke of the "difficult circumstances in which the world finds itself and which weigh upon our two countries to concert their actions."

Speaking without notes, as did de Gaulle, Kennedy delivered in response a brief prepared statement calling for greater Western unity and strength.

After the colorful ceremony of the airport arrival with military band and honor guard, the two leaders headed for the Elysee Palace, through the spacious Place de la Concorde and back across the Seine River to the Quai d'Orsay, the Foreign Ministry building, where state visits are housed.

In the heart of the city Kennedy was given the traditional 10-gun salute for a visiting chief of state. As he drove through the avenues, de Gaulle he was cheered and applauded as was the First Lady.

"I have neither held nor planned any talks that are more important," said Kennedy in obvious answer to critics who felt he should have deferred his meeting with Khrushchev so as not to detract from the importance of his talks with the French president.

"Our common goals," said Kennedy in his brief arrival speech at Orly Airport, "are greater Western unity and strength—the preservation of freedom—and the day when France will never again be a beachhead for war but a fountainhead of peace."

"I come not merely because of the past but because of future associations in the defense of the West—in the defense of freedom everywhere," the President continued. "Once again France under a great captain is the central figure of the common effort."

Kennedy saluted France as "our oldest friend" and "since before my nation's birth the wellspring of Western philosophy and ideas."

"But I am here to pay tribute to France, not for her past glory but for her present greatness," Kennedy declared.

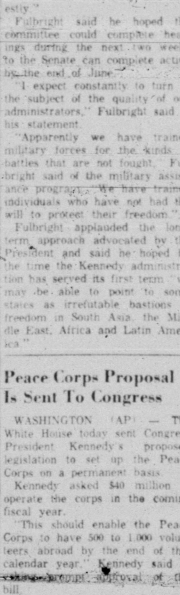

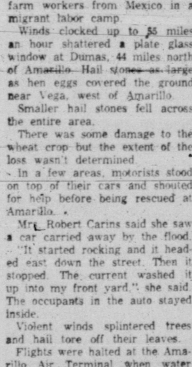

The 70-year-old French president shook his 44-year-old guest's hand with warm cordiality and said, "We have never known Americans other than as allies and friends."

De Gaulle's statement was translated into English and Kennedy's into French.

Mrs. Kennedy followed her husband from the giant jet airliner. She was welcomed by Mme. de Gaulle.

The presidential plane came down from a thick cloud sky, and a brisk damp wind rippled the flags at Orly Field, carrying a promise of rain later in the day. But the scene was resplendent, in the great tradition of this city.

Peace Corps Proposal Is Sent To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House today sent Congress President Kennedy's proposed legislation to set up the Peace Corps on a permanent basis.

Kennedy asked $40 million to operate the corps in the coming fiscal year.

This should enable the Peace Corps to have 500 to 1,000 volunteers abroad by the end of this calendar year, Kennedy said in a message to Congress.

The draft measure was sent along with letters to House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., and to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, as president of the Senate.

Both houses of Congress are in recess until Thursday.

Employment Hike Due To Continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department reported today that a gradual employment pickup began in March is expected to continue at least to mid-July.

The department's Bureau of Economic Analysis said its monthly survey of labor market trends shows that employers in about two-thirds of the nation's 150 major industrial centers expect further slight seasonal employment gains into mid-summer.

The May job totals were due to be released in mid-afternoon. A further rise in employment, and decline in unemployment, were expected. Farm employment, kept down by heavy spring rains, is due to show some increase. Unemployment normally drops by over 250,000 from April.

The Employment Security Board's report indicated that job recovery is moving along faster than it did in the first three months.

The bureau said unemployment has been declining in practically all major job areas, with the improvement in 10 of them sufficient to warrant promotion to more favorable ratings.

Five such areas have been shifted from the rating of "less than satisfactory" to "satisfactory" or "very satisfactory." These areas were San Francisco-Oakland, Calif.; New Haven, Conn.; Fort Wayne Ind.; Indianapolis Ind.; and St. Louis-Mo. St. Louis-Mo. was moved to the "very satisfactory" category.

Two steel centers—Lorain-Elyria and Youngstown-Warren, both in Ohio, also were promoted. Flint, Mich., and one heavy metal-working center, Erie, Pa., moved to the "satisfactory" category of 12 percent or more unemployment.

The Employment Security Board's report indicated that job recovery is moving along faster than it did in the first three months.

Contestants In Spelling Bee Fall

WASHINGTON (AP)—John W. M. Robert, 12, of Little, Pa., tripped on the word "correlated" and became the first contestant in the National Spelling Bee.

All the entire, survivors of preliminary rounds who had spelled more than five million letters, got out of the first round on such relatively simple words as "angel" and "bosquet."

In the second round John used only one "i" in "correlated."

All the others "a" find that started with 49 girls and 24 boys got through to the third round. The youngsters, competing for prizes totaling $1,000, are sponsored by newspapers in their home states.

Seven were spelled down in round 3.

Sharon Luvall, Abingrove, N.M., slipped on "meade" by using an "e."

Franklin Kozetz, Cincinnati, Ohio, stumbled on "chelicite" by using an extra "i."

Patricia Pumphreys, Edinburg, Pa., missed "pretectum" when she made the first "e" and "d."

Connie Cobb, Dora, W.Va., mis-spelled "quoniam" by making it "quoniam."

Eichmann Slaying Pondered In '44

By THOMAS A. REEDY
JERUSALEM (AP)—The Jews in Hungary decided against trying to kill Adolf Eichmann for fear that Nazi Germany had men in reserve who were even worse, a survivor of the World War II slaughter testified today.

Harold Brand told the Eichmann trial court the Jewish leaders in Budapest were so frantic in the summer of 1944 that they frequently discussed the possibility of assassinating the Gestapo chief who directed the extermination of Europe's Jews.

But "we were convinced that maybe someone else would come in his place and the death mills would continue maybe at an increased pace," Mrs. Brand said.

Eichmann, chief of the Gestapo's Jewish Affairs Office in Berlin, took to the field in Hungary to hasten deportations to the Auschwitz gas chambers. Evidence has been introduced that this pace reached as high as 12,000 a day.

Mrs. Brand and her husband, David, were cross-examined by the court and by Eichmann's defense counsel on their testimony of events in Budapest. They were also taken again over the ground of Joel Brand's mission to Turkey and Palestine with Eichmann's offer to trade one million Jewish lives for 10,000 trucks to be used on the Soviet front.

Both witnesses reiterated that the Eichmann proposal stemmed directly from Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler as early as April-May 1944.

Brand said it was in his opinion, a move by Himmler to use the remaining two million Jews in Europe as a wedge for broader negotiations with the Western allies.

Himmler's effort to salvage something out of the growing wreckage apparently infected all the SS officers in Budapest, Brand said.

The SS security police, the SS intelligence and even the Hungarian counter-intelligence, all of a sudden tried to carry out his plan, the witness said.

Only Eichmann seemed favorable to the atmosphere of that time, both of the Brand's said.

Ruling On Proration Reaffirmed

AUSTIN (AP)—The Supreme Court reaffirmed today its opinion that the Railroad Commission's long standing gas proration formula is based on acreage and wells is invalid.

A motion for rehearing in the case of the Atlantic Refining Co. against the commission was overruled. Justice Clyde Smith, joined by Justice Meade Griffin, dissented.

On March 8 the Supreme Court reversed a trial court decision upholding the order prorationing gas and condensate production from the Normanna Gas Field. The trial court had ruled that the gas allowable based on third on the number of wells and two thirds on a per acreage basis for the wells.

Bright and Schiff, a Dallas partnership, has a 10-acre tract in the field and Atlantic said such a formula would allow the firm to drain off gas from surrounding tracts which they were not entitled to.

The order allows a well on a 3-acre tract to produce gas at a rate many times greater than a well on a 20-acre tract is allowed to produce and we find no substantial evidence in the record justifying such a wide discrepancy in the rate of production," the court said in its opinion March 8.

The court said the one-third-two-thirds formula is unreasonable and called on the commission to devise something else.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson joined Bright and Schiff in its motion for rehearing in support of the commission's order.

Smith said there is no compulsory unitization in Texas and to grant the injunction in this case would practically require unitization.

Smith said the right of an owner to drill a well on his tract, regardless of its size, has always been upheld by the courts and that the formula would provide the partnership with a just share of the reservoir production. He also said Atlantic failed to prove the amount of drainage and that the company "should not be permitted to destroy the orders of the Railroad Commission merely because of an irrelevant finding by the trial court to the effect that gas from other leases will be drained to the Bright and Schiff tract."

Tower, Yarborough To Exchange Ideas

By RONNIE THOMPSON
DALLAS (AP)—John Tower, Texas' new Republican senator, pledged cooperation today on Texas legislation with Sen. Ralph Yarborough, a Democrat backed by the state's liberals.

"I have heard from Sen. Yarborough and he has heard from me," Tower said in a news conference shortly before he took a plane for Washington.

"We will cooperate on legislation affecting Texas and exchange ideas," said Tower.

Tower was elected Saturday by a 224-vote margin of about 800,000 cast. His opponent was Democrat William Blakley in the runoff to determine a successor to Lyndon Johnson, who surrendered the office in becoming vice president.

The Wichita Falls professor did not specify any legislation he did not advocate in Washington.

"I feel I must first get oriented, keep my ears open and my mouth shut," he said.

He was accompanied to Washington by Mrs. Tower.

Tower compared his "basic fundamental political beliefs" to that of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., leader of the conservative wing of the GOP.

Tower said he doesn't feel the United States should break off diplomatic relations with communist countries.

He said also, "It is imminent that the United States will at some time militarily occupy Cuba."

"I'm opposed to the tractors for prisoners war proposed by petty communist tyrants in Cuba," he said.

"As far as the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting this weekend is concerned, I am opposed to it," he declared.

"We never come away in good shape. The communists use what happens at such conferences as part of their propaganda platform. For anything useful to come from such conferences, Khrushchev must make concessions and he won't."

"I feel it is inappropriate for me to advocate legislation now until I get oriented in Washington," Tower commented.

Tower is scheduled to be sworn in by Vice President Johnson sometime after the official ceremony of June 13. He will spend three days in Washington this week.

He plans to attend the Republican Congress dinner Thursday night at the Dallas Convention Center.

New Drug Is Hailed As Cancer Cure

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Surgeon General Luther Terry said "We have experience with a drug which has almost certainly cured cancer in man."

He stressed, in an interview Tuesday night over radio station WDCB, that the drug cures only a type of cancer which affects pregnant women.

"This is a very exciting thing. Now this is a very specific type of cancer in which there are not a great number of cases but it's one of the widely growing cancers that happens to originate in the womb of a pregnant woman."

"And in the past when this cancer has arisen, it's been widely growing and fatal in every instance. We have just passed the stage now where, after treatment of a group of these cases over a long period of time, we feel hopeful, in fact, almost confident that we have gotten actual cures."

He did not mention the name of the drug.

The surgeon general said, however, there were many types of cancer, and added: "It's very likely that when we find a cure for one type of cancer it will not necessarily be applicable to any other type of cancer. In other words, something that a drug, that might cure cancer of the breast, might not cure cancer of the lung or cancer of the intestine."

A spokesman for the National Institutes of Health, a division of the U.S. Public Health Service, said about half of the 50 women cancer patients treated with the chemical over a period of years had survived.

Krush Reaches Prague Today

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev reached Czechoslovakia by train today en route to Vienna to meet President Kennedy.

The Soviet news agency Tass said he is visiting the country, it said at the invitation of the Czechoslovak government.

There is speculation Khrushchev may hold a Communist summit meeting in Czechoslovakia in the near future.

The Czechoslovak news agency CTI, disclosing this Tuesday night, said a Communist summit session is possible, but as far as we know, nothing is certain yet.

In Warsaw, the Polish Press Agency reported that Zemon Klavka, a member of the Polish Communist political and the closest aide to party chief Wladyslaw Gomułka, flew to Prague Tuesday.

Some foreign observers believed his trip was connected with Khrushchev's arrival in Czechoslovakia.

The Republican Guard was brilliant in their red-plumed gold helmets, blue jackets, and trousers and black boots. A French air force band played the Star-Spangled Banner and the Marseillaise.

Dmitri Vail, Famed Dallas Portraitist Has Many Unusual Arts For Man His Age

By CLAYTON HICKERSON

Associated Press Staff Writer DALLAS (AP)—"I can make a damn good cheesecake," the artist said, and he wasn't speaking of leggy girls.

But, just as he has painted the portrait of one of the world's most beautiful women, Anna Maria Albergotti, he can make good cheesecake, repair your fence, build a bird cage, put in a sprinkler system for your lawn or garden, make an electric lawn mower, grow the most flavorful squash or chives you ever ate, show you how to grow camellias, and tell you how to quit smoking.

He might even teach a native Texan how to ride a horse.

The slight, grey man with the close-cropped hair is Dmitri Vail, famed Dallas portraitist, a bundle of energy and short-fused dynamite who can water ski with men 40 years his junior, show them some devastating judo tricks, and explain Yoga, all in a short afternoon of conversation, and action.

Vail is no stereotypical artist. He's a man's man who is almost too much for the average man. He roller skates daily, practices his Yoga exercises, keeps up with world events and takes time out to invent a new-fangled putty knife that New England manufacturers are bidding for—like crazy.

But crazy is not the word for Vail. He's been in Dallas 30 years and his reputation as one of the nation's outstanding portrait painters has grown steadily.

"Come in," he booms when you ring the bell at his fashionable address. He may be dressed in rumpled slacks, a sweat shirt and soiled sneakers. Before you finish shaking hands, the exuberant artist is waving his expressive hands at a large, full-length portrait he has just finished. For a moment you forget that the twinkling blue eyes are done with brush, and you expect Sophie Tucker, the "last of the red-hot mamas," to break into song.

"Isn't she great?" booms the voice beside you, and you know he's speaking of the entertainer, not the picture.

Agreed that Sophie Tucker, especially his interpretation, is great, the voice keeps on coming. "Just about finished one in the studio, you want to see it?" Dee Vail knows you want to see it.

In the crowded studio over his garage there's a near-finished picture of comedians Rowan and Martin, recent guests of television's Ed Sullivan. And here in this studio, you see much of the character of the man who is recognized as one of America's greatest modern portrait artists.

But in just a few minutes you see that in all the apparent disarray is method. Vail is not only one of the best portraitists. He's also one of the fastest. Paints are here in solidly array, brushes there, pencils here, a large selection of books, a sketch of a prominent woman—first step toward a full color portrait, and the roller skates near the stairs.

Books on the shelves are revealing. There are workshop notes, the Decameron in two volumes, camellia yearbooks, other books on gardening, flowers, folk medicine, figure painting, judo secrets, H.G. Wells' works, telepathy experiments, a gun club yearbook, Petronius, a volume on Japanese art.

"You wonder at the versatility of the dynamic man beside you? I'm no genius," he says stoutly. "Everything I do comes hard for me. I have to work at everything."

He's Linda Darnell, Jack Benny, Jeanette McDonald, priests and sweeties, servants and savants, Kenneth Kelly, the famed circus clown, Symphony conductors Paul Kletzki and Donald Johans, Izuma Yakimura, Japan's great actress and star of "Holiday in Japan." Jim Ling, youthful Southwestern industrialist, and Ed Mayer, Sonora, Tex., rancher and former Republican candidate for Texas governor.

The list in entertainment and business goes on and on.

The old days, when a cigarette was hard to find, are gone for Dmitri Vail. A large gallery on Dallas' North Central Expressway testifies that he is poor no more. It's open to the public, and Vail likes to hear viewers' comments as he saunters unrecognized along the picture-decked hallway.

"It's not all money," he said earnestly. "I spend more time thinking about what I can do with a portrait than I do in painting it."

"My subjects, invariably, it seems, I come to regard as friends."

There is no such thing as a stranger to a portrait painter. After 30 minutes, you gaze into their soul.

Newspapers, he says, always have been close to his heart because of pleasant experiences with them. Once was back in the '30s when Bill Brown, circulation manager of the Oakland, Calif., Tribune, wanted sketches made of the newspaper's carrier boys. Said Brown to Vail:

"If you can do one in a minute, or less, I'll give you a dollar a piece."

"Boy, I really tried," said Vail. "I practiced a lot and when I went back to the Tribune I did 60 boys' pictures in 60 minutes."

He stayed on to sketch 1,500 carrier boys. "Nearly every one of those kids," he recalled, "autographed the sketch for their mother or father."

Vail also worked Army and Navy posts and for awhile conducted an art school at Mare Island Naval Base, near Vallejo, Calif. "They used to come in and say, 'I want you to paint my portrait,'" he said of the naval officers. "And that night their portrait was finished."

The Texas artist now does from 30 to 40 portraits a year. Many are of outstanding personalities in show business and industry. He has done portraits of a dozen or so executives of the Dallas Times Herald. He's put on canvas Maureen O'Hara, a picture of a picture.

ASPARAGUS WITH BROWN BUTTER SAUCE

2 pounds asparagus
1/4 cup butter

Prepare and cook the asparagus your favorite way, but have them in spears. A few minutes before the asparagus is ready, melt butter in a small skillet over low heat; allow to stand over the heat, swirling pan a few times, until it turns a light brown color. Pour over hot cooked drained asparagus. Makes 4 servings.

It's all right to arrange salad greens in a serving bowl, cover tightly and refrigerate until serving time. But don't add the dressing until you are ready to pass the salad.

LOW PRICE IS ONLY HALF THE STORY

(The other—and even more satisfying—half you'll discover the first time you drive a Corvaire!)

And when we say "low price," we mean more than merely the pint-sized figure on the window sticker of a new Corvaire. You're going to be saving like sixty on gas. And on the antifreeze you won't buy next winter, and the radiator repairs you'll never have to pay for. About the only things Corvaire doesn't skimp on are room, smoothness, style and pure driving joy. But that's the other half of the story. Talk to your Chevrolet dealer about it soon!

French Puzzled By Jackie's Appearance Without Jewelry

BY INEZ ROBB

PARIS — In view of the soaring national debt, and Pres. Kennedy's call to national greatness through the expenditure of additional billions, this is probably no time to suggest that the American taxpayer pay up enough money to supply the First Lady—any First Lady—with diamond tiaras and matching necklace, earrings and bracelets.

But among the burning questions attending the state visit of Pres. and Mrs. Kennedy, which begins today in this ravishing city, is whether Mrs. Kennedy will wear a tiara in the two great state social functions planned in their honor by Pres. and Mme. De Gaulle.

The betting in the American colony is a hundred to one, with no takers, against the tiara. If Mrs. Kennedy's private jewel case includes a diamond tiara and necklace, no one in Washington has ever seen her wear them.

It may be difficult for a European to comprehend, but the tiara is a false one as it turned out—that the First Lady will wear a diamond tiara at the inaugural ball aroused bitter antagonism and criticism even among Democrats and adherents. There was great general satisfaction when Mrs. Kennedy turned up at the ball with nothing more often given on her beautiful, dark hair than spray gel.

Washington society is accustomed to seeing Mrs. Kennedy in beautiful earrings and handsome pearl necklaces made by officers in the old-fashioned way. Her slim, youthful hands are often adorned by beautiful rings, including a large and handsome emerald.

But this is not a jewel collection to impress or dazzle Parisian society, accustomed to the state visits of European royals.

When Queen Elizabeth II of England or Queen Juliana of the Netherlands comes here on state visits, the luggage of each contains a half dozen magnificent tiaras with matching necklaces and bangles. On such occasions, French grande dames take their tiaras out of the safe box.

But today these self-same grande dames are nervously fingering their diadems, uncertain in whether to wear them if Jackie's head is bare of gems. Their great problem is whether it would be polite to the top of her tiara.

Says Church Pushed Aside

DALLAS (AP) — A Methodist leader says communism and the psychiatrist's couch are replacing the Christian cross as symbols of a life-changing force.

The statement came Tuesday night from Dr. Lawrence Lavour of Nashville, Tenn., in an address to the North Texas Methodist Conference.

Dr. Lavour said most persons identify the church with the status quo and are increasingly looking to communism or to psychiatry to bring radical social and personal changes.

The director of the denomination's department of evangelistic missions called on Methodists to be more sensitive to the needs of men if they hope to convince men that Jesus Christ is the answer to all their needs.

or tactful to out-bjewel the First Lady.

In a manner of speaking, Mrs. Kennedy has a tough act to follow. The state visit of Belgium's King Baudouin and his Spanish Queen, Fabiola, ended only last Saturday. Although Her Majesty was sick in bed throughout most of the royal visit, the diamond tiara and necklace she wore to a special performance of the Paris Opera were in the grand and royal tradition for state occasions. Fabiola, a pretty young woman with sweetness and charm, made a great impression on the French crowds in her few public appearances. She was every inch a queen, right to the top of her tiara.

But with or without tiara, Mrs. Kennedy is expected to move through the crowds with French crowds. The First Lady has two great factors going for her: youth and beauty. In addition, she looks French, as might be expected of one whose antecedents came from the Rhone Valley. Furthermore, she is chic, a quality the French consider to be above the price of rubies.

Still, the French are puzzled, first, that a lady whose family and whose husband are as wealthy as Mrs. Kennedy's has no "important" jewelry. And second, it is difficult for the French or any European to understand why the First Lady in so rich a land as the U. S. A. is not provided with "proper" gems for a state visit.

What the French have not stopped to ponder, as has this American, is how in the world a tiara could find anchorage on Mrs. Kennedy's current hair-do.

Open Letter To Visiting Europeans

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — An open letter to any visiting European:

Dear Sir:

Naturally, under President Kennedy's plan to increase foreign tourist travel to the United States every patriotic American welcomes you—and the funds you bring.

We all want you to have a fine time, whether you arrive loaded with pounds sterling, francs, marks or drachmas.

But, particularly if this is your first visit here, you may feel the need of a little briefing on how to make your stay more pleasant. Here are a few helpful hints.

First and foremost, don't buy the Brooklyn Bridge—even if the seller tinders you an apparently valid bill of sale. Local restrictions forbid the export of this particular bridge.

Remember, you are an unofficial ambassador of your own country and the people here will judge your country by how you behave. If you want to take a snapshot of a quaint American—and you will see many—politely ask his permission first.

Even if you know only a few halting American phrases, be sure to use them. The residents here always feel more warmly toward foreigners who make an effort, however limited, to speak to them in their own tongue.

Be sure to visit as many churches and museums as you can, as Americans are also very proud of their culture. You may find the new U.S. forms of architecture bewildering, but there is a quick way to tell the difference between a church, a supermarket, a bowling alley or a motel: You won't have to stand in line to get into the churches—and they don't give change.

You may feel that the shopkeepers are in a conspiracy to cheat you because you have a foreign accent. This is not generally true. They may be suspicious of you, however, if you tender cash in payment. Buy on the installment plan—or flash a credit card. Then they'll know you're big.

Do not show annoyance if you give a bus driver a dollar bill and he hands you back 20 nickels. This is an old custom here, and your driver is grateful this is an inalienable right by an unwritten clause in the U.S. Constitution.

The question of how to tip properly is a vexing problem in any country. There are some parts of America where, if you leave a nickel, the waiter will drop dead in sheer surprise. There are other parts where, if he may tell you to drop dead, here you'll have to feel your own way.

But everybody likes a good spender. Spend freely. The money the United States lends your own country later may be your own.

Have a wonderful stay, and come back often!

SOX, CATS SOCK FOES

Runaways Mark Colt, Pony Play

Booming bats and a sparkling mound performance on the part of righthander Leslie Brown were the highlights of last night's Sox and Pony League clashes here, as the Sox outlasted the Ponies 12-1 behind Brown and the Red Sox outlasted the Red Sox 13-1 in a Colt encounter.

Brown was practically untouchable in the hurling of his win, with the only hit as gained off him being a leadoff bunt single in the fourth by Marvin Mayfield, who eventually scored his team's only run on a Cat fielding bobbie.

Meanwhile, Brown kept things well under control by whiffing 12 Dodgers over his five-inning stint, and walked only one over that span.

His mates gave him adequate support by blasting losing Jerry Owens and Sandy Welborn for 15 hits, including a two-run homer in the fifth by John Flynn and a bases-emitted circuit smash in the sixth as landed by David Cadenia. Flynn drove in two more tallies in a four-run first frame, also.

Andrew Ramirez and Larry Jones each blasted doubles for the winners to add to the onslaught. In the 13-1 Red Sox win over the Phils Harley Bynum made the most noise at the plate for the victors by rapping out a pair of singles and a fourth-inning ground rules double that bounced over the outfield barricade. He drove in three runs ahead of him for the night to be tied in RBI's for the game.

Tommy Seelbuerger and Ed Carl Fox each blasted doubles for the Sox in rolling to the win, the first outing of the young season for both.

Gerald Bullard handcuffed the Phils on four singles in hurling the victory, two of which were lined by Jimmie Wilson.

LITTLE LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Ricky Hall must have been taking the Dale Carnegie course or something, for he very tactfully made some friends and influenced some people here last night. At least such is the case if you're a Little League Cub fan.

His seventh inning Frank Merriwell four-bagger to left with teammate O. L. Cooper aboard broke up the extra-inning contest between the Cubs and Braves, the Cubs winning out by 8-7 over their second place victims.

Previously, the Braves had edged out from in the top of the seventh with a go-ahead marker to tie the stage for Hall's game-ending smash.

Hall had also added a double and a single to his string earlier in the contest. He drove in a total of four runs for the course of the contest.

Mike Keimer, who came on in relief of starter Robert Jones, was the winning chunker.

In other action of the night the White Sox walked past the Yankees by 11-0 on a splendid two-hit mound effort by Johnny Gaona, with a pair of one-bash bloopers in the game being the only safeties as collected by the losing nine.

Robert Golden pined the Sox for the big hit of the night, while Kenney Haskell faced a pair of doubles and teammates Max Moreland and Gus Towar each accounted for one of same.

Butch Fletcher absorbed the loss for the Yankees.

Mike Todd, with a double and two singles, was the Athletic hitting star. Thomas Cain added a boost, with his pair of singles in a like number of appearances, also.

In the other game of the same evening the Yankees bushwhacked the Indians in a melee of scoring, 20-10.

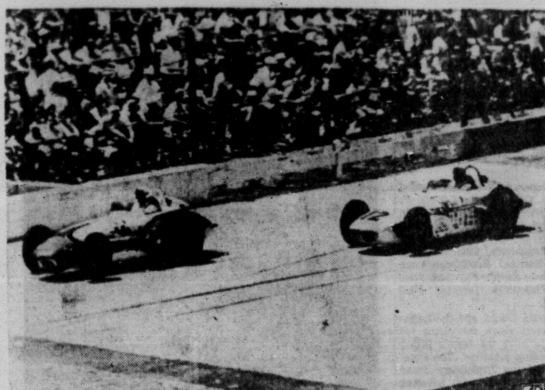

Wesley Bishop copped the victory, while Clay Landown was tagged with the loss.

The Yankees threw together a relentless attack in breezing to the triumph, scoring five runs in each of the first and fourth frames along with six in the second and four in the third.

DUEL FOR THE LEAD IN THE 500—The Bowes Seal Fast Special, left, with driver A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., driving and The Dean Von Lines Special with Eddie Sachs of Center Valley, Pa., are running a close race for the lead in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis Speedway. Flashing past the stands on straightaway, Foyt holds a slim lead at near-finish of the race. (AP Wirephoto)

Texan Spurts To First In Indianapolis '500'

Associated Press Sports Writer INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Texan A. J. Foyt, who sits mighty tall in a race car seat, won't know until tonight's victory dinner how much he won Tuesday by capturing the golden anniversary 500-mile auto race in a record 130.131 miles an hour.

What he does know is that the $100,000 or so almost slipped through his fingers in a ferocious by contested race that knocked out 21 of the 33 starting cars. And it wasn't until Tuesday night that he learned he had set a record in the time of a breakdown in the timing.

It was a three-car race in the last stages among Foyt, 26, Houston, Tex., Eddie Sachs, Center Valley, Pa., and 1960 winner Roger Ward. It finally was decided in the pits.

Foyt made his third and supposedly last pit stop for tires and fuel, but the connection on the pressure fueling system wouldn't work. His crew borrowed a refueling rig from Len Sutton's pit and called Foyt back in for an extra stop.

Meanwhile, Sachs was flying and looked like a sure winner after failing to finish in four previous starts. Then his right rear tire was ragged and he had to stop for a new one with only three laps—7½ miles—to go.

Foyt passed Sachs as the Pennsylvanian was gunning his car out of the pits. The handsome Texan beat Eddie to the finish line by 8½ seconds. With four pit stops apiece, Sachs spent 8.2 seconds longer off the track.

Foyt drove the Indianapolis Bowes Seal Fast Special, the Long Beach, Calif., Dean Special.

Ward, having handling trouble with a new type Watson car, was less than a lap behind in third place. He could sympathize with

Kennedy Must Wrestle With DeGaulle's Dreams In Talks

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy must wrestle with another man's dream in his conversations with President Charles de Gaulle in Paris today. It's de Gaulle's dream of a new, great and grand France.

The enormously dignified—some might say vain—Frenchman is 70 now. And for the rest of his life, even if he lives to 90, it's a dream not likely to be realized.

Although the United States and Russia are the only two great powers now, it's Red China, not France, which is moving up.

Except as De Gaulle sees it, there is no likely spot for France in the top echelon of world powers during the next quarter century. So the two presidents are not apt to settle much. At best they may understand each other more.

At worst De Gaulle may be hardened a little more in both his dreams and his destiny. Neither man can walk into the meeting room and lay a bowl of recent triumphs on the table to impress the other.

Fresh in De Gaulle's memory is Kennedy's disaster with the Cuban invasion, the erosion of American power and prestige in Laos, the Russian space flight which made the American space flight look secondary.

Kennedy, in turn, will be facing a man, 26 years his senior, whose own recent troubles may be the end of his own dream.

De Gaulle barely spoke through the general's revolt in Algeria where the possibility of a new, wider and bloodier revolt is still very real. After three years of talking, De Gaulle still has not brought peace there.

Because De Gaulle is 70 and the history of France since World War II has been a history of instability and unpredictability, Kennedy must feel as he talks to the French president.

What will any promises mean to him or from him to me? Will he disappear from the scene tomorrow? Will new generals take over? Will France even remain a democracy?

It's this very uncertainty and long instability which would make Congress reluctant to let France have American atomic weapons or a say on the use of those weapons, both of which De Gaulle would like.

Kennedy therefore can hardly soothe him by promising either. After the war, when America had both an economic and nuclear monopoly, it was convenient for De Gaulle and needy France to accept U. S. help and unquestioned leadership.

Now France is back on her feet and is developing her own nuclear power. American nuclear monopoly, broken by Russia, no longer exists.

Therefore, it is politically realistic for De Gaulle to assert French power and concern about American leadership since the United States no longer can guarantee France against Russian attack.

But De Gaulle puts himself in the position of a prima donna when he demands equal say-so with the United States in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—NATO—does not contribute the number of French divisions NATO needs, pulls his Navy out of NATO's Mediterranean fleet, and undermines the United Nations by refusing to contribute France's share of keeping peace in the Congo.

Kennedy cannot afford a split with the Frenchman for the sake of the NATO alliance and because he needs maximum Western unity when he talks this next weekend with Premier Khrushchev in Vienna.

Mrs. Wythe's victory was announced unofficially last night. She is a three-time winner of the event and defending champion.

Mrs. Wythe averaged 120 miles per hour on the 50-mile flight from Fort Myers, Fla., with a plus factor of 11.7 per cent over the plane's rating.

The Fort Worth woman, who holds 9 race trophies, flew a Cessna 150 with Martha Wright of Grapevine, Tex., as copilot.

Second place went to Mrs. Margaret Callaway of Wilmington, Ohio, with Paula Scholtz of Cincinnati as copilot. Their Cessna 140 averaged 121 miles per hour and had a plus 8 per cent rating.

Third was Margie Callaway, daughter of Margaret Callaway and a student at the University of Rochester. She was flying a Cessna 175 and had Ruth Wells of Columbus, Ohio, as copilot.

Fourth was Carol Welch of Fort Myers, Fla., in a Cessna 172B Skyhawk with Sylvia George of Fort Myers as copilot.

Fifth was Alice Plante of Des Moines, Iowa, with Marvin Williams of Des Moines as copilot.

Sixth was Frances Francis of Columbus, Ohio, with Marion Butler of Columbus as copilot.

Mrs. Wythe received the top prize of $1,000 and a trophy.

She also was named "Miss America" for 1961.

She will represent America at the World Air Race in London, England, in June.

GOP Lashes Gov. Daniel, Legislators

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas Republican leaders say the Texas Legislature is immature and that Gov. Price Daniel cannot escape responsibility for the legislators' failure to pass an adequate tax bill.

A prepared statement added Tuesday night that the Legislature lacks the maturity required to solve the state's financial crisis.

Joining in the statement were State Republican Chairman Tad Smith, National Republican Committeeman Albert Fay and state GOP Executive Director Paul Ledrick.

They said Daniel and the Legislature must share the blame for failure to solve the state's taxing and spending problems. The statement said the Legislature faced its responsibilities "with frivolous ineptness."

The Legislature, after months of hickering and petty maneuvering, has failed to face up to the responsibility to pass a tax bill to pay for the Daniel administration's operations," the statement said.

Members of the Legislature were not worried about time or lack of agreement when, in an incredible demonstration of immature irresponsibility, they recessed at noon last Wednesday with only five days remaining in the session.

Now that the Legislature is back in session, they must face a special session, perhaps it is not too much for the people to ask of the Daniel Administration and the Legislature that they quit petty hickering and exercise of responsibility and get down to the business for which they were elected.

Reprisal Threats Denied By USDA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department asserts it has investigated and found no basis for allegations that someone in the department had threatened reprisals against cotton interests if they opposed the administration farm bill.

"We are not interested in threatening people," Thomas Hughes, executive assistant to Secretary Orville Freeman said Tuesday. "We have investigated this and found absolutely nothing so far."

Hughes said he does not know if the Justice Department is investigating. He said that Justice Department officials discussed the matter with Agriculture Department officials.

But Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., said Congress cannot ignore the allegations.

"You can't ignore allegations such as this," Aiken said. "If there's pressure we want to know if it's from some misguided official of the department of agriculture or if it's policy."

Aiken is the ranking Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The issue arose when John Todd, vice president of the National Cotton Congress and Cotton Warehouse Association of Memphis, reported the alleged signatures on a letter to Horace Godfrey, head of the Commodity Stabilization Service.

Todd said he had received a telephone call from R. E. Evans, president of the Georgia Cotton Warehouse Association, who told him he had received a phone call from Royce Dyer in Atlanta, a marketing specialist in the Georgia Department of Agriculture.

Dyer was reported to have relayed to Evans a message from "someone in the U.S. Department of Agriculture" warning that the cotton warehousemen must prevent presentation of testimony from the National Cotton Council against the farm bill. If they didn't they would be denied any increase in storage rates for government-held cotton.

Todd wrote Godfrey that this information "indicates that denial of the requested rate increase is to be used as a weapon with which to punish cotton warehousemen for giving their view of legislation."

Jacqueline Gets A Warm Welcome

PARIS (AP)—The French today welcomed Jacqueline Kennedy as one of their own after seeing and hearing America's French-speaking First Lady on television.

Everything from what the Kennedys will eat to what they wear is interesting to the people of Paris.

One Paris newspaper has been running pictures of women who bear a striking resemblance to the First Lady.

The top couturiers have been busy getting gowns ready for France's first ladies to wear to the two gala formal dinners the Kennedys will attend.

With flags flying and pictures of the President and Mrs. Kennedy in store windows, the day today is expected to draw big crowds here.

Because of her French ancestry and fluency in French, Mrs. Kennedy may be the star attraction.

On the eve of their arrival, a half-hour filmed program on the government-operated television network Tuesday night showed the Kennedys at the White House.

showed the French she speaks their language with charm and fluency. She spent a year as a student at the Sorbonne in Paris and last visited here in 1959.

The TV show, made a few weeks ago in Washington, showed Mrs. Kennedy in a relaxed setting on the White House south lawn and the President in his office.

Mrs. Kennedy not only took the French on a picture tour of the White House but pointed out that many things there were bought in France or came as gifts from their country.

For France's first lady, Mrs. Charles de Gaulle, Mrs. Kennedy selected a watercolor of a French street scene by the American artist Maurice Prendergast, who studied and painted in Paris.

Prendergast is one of Mrs. Kennedy's favorite artists.

The Kennedys will occupy the royal apartments in the Quirinal Palace, which were used by King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola of Belgium during their state visit here last week.

Mrs. Kennedy brought an all-American wardrobe, most of it by her official designer, Oleg Cassini of New York.

Junior Editors Quiz on WORDS

QUESTION: How did the jackknife get its name?

ANSWER: The word "jack" has a great variety of meanings. When it is spelled with a capital J it is a nickname for John, and even as early as the 15th century "jack" was used as a general term to describe a man of the common people, an ordinary fellow. Another of the word's uses is to describe various mechanical devices. For example, a boot jack is a gadget a man uses to pull off his boots. A more common use of "jack" however, is to describe an object which is smaller than ordinary. A "jack rafter" is a rafter in a building which is shorter than a main rafter, and aboard ship a jack is a flag smaller than the main flag or ensign. It is this use of the word "jack" that gives the jackknife its name. A jackknife is a folding clep knife smaller than an ordinary hunting knife or kitchen knife—small enough, in fact, to carry in your pocket.

FOR YOU TO DO: See how many words you can think of with "jack" in them, such as jack-o-lantern and jackstraw. You can find many others in a dictionary.

Leisure Industry Hopes For Upturn

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK, AP—Recreation spending time is here—and leisure industry leaders are assuring each other that this summer there is bound to be better than last. They hope the weather will take a turn for the better. So far sales of outdoor recreational equipment and toys have been spotty, lagging in many sections where spring has been all but a delusion, but ahead in areas where the weather has been cooperative.

Last summer bad weather hurt the leisure industry. Just as bad perhaps was the recession which caused many families to trim their fun budgets. Sales of several types of equipment fell well behind early expectations.

This year the purveyors of goods and services for recreation are counting on renewed public confidence in the economy and on longer vacations and higher disposable incomes. In past years recreation spending is a new high. Some put this year's total for all kinds of recreation at $44 billion.

Two segments of the leisure market expected to show gains this year are equipment needed for outdoor activities aimed at family fun and physical fitness, and cultural pursuits that have commanded more of the spending of many families in recent years.

A third market aimed primarily at the younger generation is being pushed by toy manufacturers and retailers. Most outdoor toys are sold in the early part of June, and many manufacturers are stepping up promotion of this year's sales.

Looking further ahead, the Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A. Inc. plans to start a spring and summer toy market week in October to spur sales of outdoor items in the summer of 1962. These range from beach balls to wading pools.

Sales prospects for equipment aimed at the whole family or older segments have been mixed recently by the economic department of C.I.T. Financial Corp. Its interest is in providing installment financing for many of the larger items, ranging from boats, trailers, vacation cottages, and private aircraft to golf carts, backyard swimming pools and bowling alley pinsetters. The survey foresees sizable gains this year.

Los Angeles Riot Quelled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An angry throng of blacks, whites, and youths broke out among hooligans in Griffith Park Tuesday.

Authorities said the melee started when officers tried to arrest two youths for horseplay on the park's merry-go-round. Police said the offenders were part of a group of Negroes who had been jumping on, and off the platform.

Symbols in the crowd challenged the arrested and a mob of 200 persons was advancing on the officers. One of the hooligan officers fired a shot into the air, and the mob partly dispersed the crowd.

Of the 75 police called out to halt the disturbance, five were injured. Two civilians also were hurt.

Three men were arrested. Officials estimated that 2,000 persons were near the merry-go-round at the time the riot started and that as many as 1,000 probably took part. An unoccupied patrol car was overturned.

Although most of the participants were Negroes, police said there was no interracial fighting within the crowd.

The park—closed in the city—was closed to all visitors at 5 p.m.

Don't Bore, Ad Men Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The right to advertise doesn't include the right to bore to the masses out of 170 million Americans.

That is the advice given today to the Advertising Federation of America by its new board chairman, John P. Cunningham of New York.

Cunningham is chairman of Cunningham & Walsh, Inc.

"We must recognize that when we load the television screen with arrows running around people's stomachs and hammers hanging away inside their brains—we are boring the public," he said.

"We must recognize that when we plaster five different commercial messages right after one another at station break time—we are boring the public."

"We must recognize that there is something very boring about radio programming that alternates two minutes of music with one minute of commercial."

"It is not all broadcasting by any means. In the public print there are certain schools of advertising that are boring me a bit by their imitiveness. The vodka ads seem to run in schools all the cigarette that filter but the had but so sensitively let the flavor through."

Daniel Refuses To Keep His Hands Off Big Tax Bill Fight

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Price Daniel says he is not about to keep his hands off the big tax bill fight.

The governor, one hand clutching an "unlighted cigar," sounded the warning at a press conference late Tuesday when he called a special legislative session for July 10.

"I intend to get my hands on more of what happens than I have in the past," Daniel said. "I have tried to work out this tax question without a statewide fight but it won't work. I am convinced the only way is to get right into the fight and go to the grass roots and ask their help."

Earlier, E. R. Germany, head of Lone Star Steel, president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and a former associate of

Daniel in drawing up tax proposals, called on the governor to steer clear of lawmaking.

"It is my feeling that the governor's stubborn refusal to consider anything other than his own pet ideas of a solution to our tax problem is not in the interest of Texas progress," Germany said. "I think you can see I do not intend to leave hands off," Daniel commented.

Daniel limited the call for the July session to July 10 to enactment of a 1962-63 spending bill, public school improvements and taxes. In the regular session ended

Monday the House refused to accept the Senate version of a $342 million tax package HB334. The Senate approved all three issues but sent the spending bill and the $510 a year teachers pay bill to the House too late for final action.

Daniel said he might call still another session for consideration of an abandoned property seizure bill (seizure) and regulation of the small loan industry. Both also failed in the regular session.

The governor refused several times to answer or expand on what he called argumentative questions concerning his stand on sales taxes.

"I'll say what kind of tax bill I want the week before July 10," he said.

"I'm not going to say that I will veto anything but a bill similar to the Senate bill (HB 334)," he added.

"Let's cross one special session at a time," he said when asked if he would continue to veto a general sales tax in more than one special session.

"I don't believe I want to say right now what I would accept in a tax bill," was another reply.

Daniel did say he believes any tax bill approved must raise at least $300 million, which would include an $810 annual teacher pay raise.

He said he had not changed his mind about wanting a "limited" or "selective" sales tax in place of a general sales tax.

"Any such bill should exempt most of the necessities of life such as food, feed, fertilizer, farm machinery, and medicine," he said.

Daniel, who as chairman of the Southern Governors' Conference plans to attend a late June meeting in Hawaii, said he picked the July special session date because:

1. Legislators have worked hard and have naturally reached the point of weariness and short tempers.
2. By waiting until July there probably would be fewer special sessions necessary. "Two years ago — called the 'special session' almost immediately and we ended up with three special sessions."
3. Forty days with the home folks would take legislators away from the daily harassment of the lobbyists here in Austin.
4. The 40-day interim will give Daniel a chance to organize a citizens' group "in support of an affirmative program to retire the deficit, finance the full Hale-Akin School Program, increased salaries and other improvements for our colleges, the medical aid of the aged, and other needs of state government." He said the organization of about 50 persons would be modeled on previous appointments of a state finance advisory commission, the governor's traffic safety council, and the governor's statewide water planning committee to push administration legislative efforts.

Daniel said the citizens group would be named shortly with the first meeting scheduled for June 13.

We want to start from scratch, from where this Legislature left off, and come up with an acceptable compromise," Daniel said.

Tractor Donation Tax Plan Rapped

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Announcement of a controversial tax exemption for donations to the Tractors for Freedom Committee has been delayed because of congressional criticism.

Mortimer M. Caplin, commissioner of internal revenue, said today the IRS won't issue an opinion until its position has been studied by the Senate House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

Caplin, in an interview, would not say what sort of decision will be made. However, other sources gave strong indications that Caplin intends to grant the tax exemption.

The IRS chief is expected to act by the end of the week. His opinion will be in the form of a letter to the tractor committee and will state that an exemption will be granted if the group meets a number of legal conditions.

The committee was formed to try to win freedom for 1,300 Cuban invasion prisoners.

The committee would buy 500 tractors which would be delivered to Cuba in exchange for the prisoners.

President Kennedy has called for public support of the program which is privately sponsored.

Kennedy has said that "tax exemption is granted as a matter of course to any charitable" organization engaged in the rehabilitation and assistance of needy refugees.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., vice chairman of the Senate House committee, last week questioned the legality of granting the fund-raising organization a tax exemption.

"A ruling of this kind would be a distortion of existing regulations," Byrd said. "This is not charity. It is blackmail."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and most congressional Republicans have been sharply critical of the proposed tractor-for-prisoners trade. They also have called it blackmail by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Caplin said the request of the tractor committee for an exemption was handled in a routine way by the IRS staff. The request was filed a week ago.

Caplin conceded it was not routine to submit a proposed opinion to the Senate House committee. He said he did this because "I read the headlines and wanted to acquaint committee members with the reasoning behind the IRS opinion."

The congressional committee has been furnished with a lengthy opinion by the IRS acting chief.

Model Home In Frisco Is Sit-In Site

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negroes are applying to a San Francisco real estate development of 32,000 homes their sit-in technique of protesting segregation.

"Our people have been locked out when they attempt to look at the Forest Knolls model home," said Terry Francois, chapter president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

But the lockout keeps potential white home buyers away, too.

"So we'll have somebody here every working hour," Francois declared Tuesday when 15 whites joined about 30 Negroes in the sit-in protest on the slopes of Mt. Diablo.

The sit-in procedure started Sunday in support of Willie L. Brown, D-Calif., an attorney, who attempted to buy a home in the development of the Standard Building Co.

Brown, runner-up in the San Francisco County Chamber of Commerce distinguished service award competition last year, said he wanted to move nearer his law offices.

Brown said the salesmen refused to talk about selling a house and left the model home area.

Throughout Sunday and Memorial Day, normally busy days for house hunters, the model home remained locked and no salesmen were evident.

The Bay Area Catholic Interracial Council said in a statement that Carl and Fred Geller, who head the Standard Building Co., should "publicly declare that they welcome members of all races."

The Gellers and George G. Parsons, Standard Building's general manager, were unavailable for comment.

Governor's Report On Large Network

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Price Daniel's office said that perhaps the largest Texas television network ever assembled for a single program will carry the governor's tax "report" to the people Wednesday night.

Thirty-five of Texas' 40 television stations will carry the report at 7:30 p.m.

Following a 15-minute talk by the governor, he will be questioned for 15 minutes by three Austin newsmen Paul Bolton, news editor of KTCB-TV, Austin; Dave Cheavens, Associated Press capital correspondent, and Pat Conway, United Press International bureau chief.

500-Pound Cake To Be Eaten Today

BOSTON (AP) — President Kennedy's birthday cake, all 500 pounds of it, will be eaten today.

The huge cake, which went untouched at Monday night's 100-plate dinner, was moved intact to Nazareth Child Care Center after the big affair in Commonwealth Armory.

All day Tuesday the tempting mountain was on display at the center. The Catholic nuns in charge of the children said many of the children were away for Memorial Day and "we'll have an ice cream and cake party for everybody tomorrow."

Republicans Are Looking For Major Blast From Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are looking to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for a resounding attack on the Kennedy administration's domestic policies at a party rally here Thursday night.

The former president was represented by those who have talked to him recently as being in a mood to assail President Kennedy's New Frontiers program as one likely to call for a spending spree threatening the stability of the dollar.

With Kennedy scheduled to begin informal talks in Vienna Saturday with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Eisenhower is expected to refrain from any attacks on foreign policy at this time.

The presence of his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, on the Tractors for Freedom Committee is regarded as an indication that the former president will not join other Republicans in criticizing the proposed exchange with Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Eisenhower's speech at a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner will be his first since he left office last Jan. 20.

While Democrats don't think they will like what he says, they are cooperating with Republicans to cut the cost of staging the dinner. The GOP helped reduce the expenses of a similar 6,000-plate birthday affair for President Kennedy in the same armory last Saturday night.

While officials of the two national committees have gone about their usual business of exchanging political insults in private, they have collaborated privately to share the cost of building platforms, arranging bunting and transporting tables and chairs. Both committees thus saved several thousand dollars.

Eisenhower will have lunch at the Capitol Hill Club Thursday noon with Republican leaders.

The national committee will meet in the afternoon to conduct routine business and to get a report from State Chairman Ray Bliss of Ohio on the findings of a committee studying how Republicans can improve their voting strength in the big cities.

Bliss' action in bowing out as a possible successor to retiring National Chairman Thurston B. Morton appears to have left the field to Rep. William E. Miller of New York, a Roman Catholic who is generally regarded as a middle road Republican.

Airliner Limp To Smooth Landing

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — A crippled American airliner with 14 persons aboard—mostly women and children—today limped hundreds of miles over the Atlantic to a smooth landing here.

The Superconstellation ferrying U. S. military personnel and their families from Germany to McGuire Air Force Base, N. J., was forced to turn back two hours after leaving Shannon when one of its four propellers ran wild and the pilot could not feather it.

One of the aircraft—escorting President Kennedy to Europe of ferred assistance but was not needed. A Pan American airliner in the vicinity shepherded the crippled plane to safety.

Forty children were among the 14 passengers aboard the airliner. 20 of them babies in arms.

Sky Object Is Reported

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — East Texas reported seeing a long flaming object in the sky Tuesday night, and hearing an explosion shortly after it vanished.

The object was seen over Tyler, Longview, Sulphur Springs and Marshall.

Johnny R. Peavy, Tyler, said he "saw a long flaming object, bright yellow flames in the front part and orange flames in the back, falling in the sky. It was as fast as a bullet. It was visible for only a few seconds. About two or three minutes later I heard a blast."

Authorities had not discovered where the object fell.

Ned Aber, at the control tower at Tyler's Airport, said it looked like a meteorite but that it fell too slowly to be one.

Says School Needs Likely To Be Met

AUSTIN (AP) — The settlement of the state's tax issue probably will find the school needs met, the president of the Texas State Teachers Association predicts.

"We have been pleased with the general support for the Hale-Akin program over into the called session," Richard Bowles of Austin said Tuesday.

An $810 teacher pay raise is included in the Hale-Akin bill, which passed both houses but died without the passage of a tax bill to pay for it.

The United States ranks second only to the United Kingdom as the largest importer of agricultural products. One-sixth of the world's agricultural imports come to the U. S.

Acrobatic Auto Cuts Soule Capers

EMPHORIUM, Pa. (AP) — An auto left Route 129 near here Tuesday and, after a series of flips, 40 feet through the air, bounced once and landed on its roof 50 feet away.

The driver, John Guisto Jr., 23, of Emporium, crawled from the demolished auto with a cut lip and a few bruises. He told state police his car left the road when the sun blinded him.

Presbytery Invites Three Negro Churches

ATLANTA (AP) — Three Negro Presbyterian churches have been invited into full membership in the all-white Atlanta Presbytery.

The move received almost unanimous backing from ministers and elders representing the presbytery's 98 churches, during a voice vote.

The Rev. Cyrus Mallard said he understood the Negro churches would be admitted in the near future but may be necessary to wait until the Synod of Georgia meets next year and votes on the presbytery's decision.

Klan Link Is Sought In Alabama Violence

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Justice Department continues today its efforts to link the Ku Klux Klan to mob violence against "Freedom Riders" in Anniston, Birmingham and Montgomery, Ala.

This is the third day since the government launched a hearing in federal court at Montgomery aimed at (1) making permanent an existing injunction against the KKK and (2) obtaining an order requiring Birmingham and Montgomery police to provide protection for future interstate passengers.

Amarillo Flooded By Rain Torrents

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A cloudburst dumped up to 4.64 inches of rain on Amarillo Tuesday night.

Streets became raging torrents. Every underpass in the city was flooded. Motorists were trapped on tops of cars.

There were no reports of deaths or injuries, however.

In places, the torrential rains swept cars into yards and against houses. Motor boats of repair workers bobbed out of control. Homes in low sections were flooded.

But like most flash floods in the Panhandle region, the waters quickly receded.

Two waves of thunderstorms roared through Amarillo. Rain fell intermittently for hours. Violent winds tore the roof of a gas station and smashed windows in houses and business places. Electric power was knocked out throughout the business district.

Much of the Texas Panhandle and the South Plains were under a severe thunderstorm alert at the time, but the cloudburst apparently centered on a limited area around Amarillo.

Light rain fell at Canyon, 13 miles south of Amarillo, where residents watched a billowing black cloud early in the evening.

The Weather Bureau said the cloudburst was fueled off by a line of thunderstorms which raced eastward into a cold front hovering over the area.

Damage was reported at other points in the region.

At Hereford, 50 miles southwest of Amarillo, lightning set fire to a frame dormitory used to house farm workers from Mexico in a migrant labor camp.

Winds clocked up to 35 miles an hour, shattered a plate glass window at Dumas, 44 miles north of Amarillo. Hill stones as large as hen eggs covered the ground near Vega, west of Amarillo.

Smaller hail stones fell across the entire area.

There was some damage to the wheat crop but the extent of the loss wasn't determined.

In a few areas, motorists stood on top of their cars and shouted for help before being rescued at Amarillo.

Mrs. Robert Carins said she saw a car carried away by the flood.

"It started rocking and it headed east down the street. Then it stopped. The current washed it up into my front yard," she said.

The occupants in the auto stayed inside.

Violent winds splintered trees and hail tore off their leaves. Flights were halted at the Amarillo Air Terminal when water

Traffic Toll Is Worst In U. S. History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic toll
Boating 457
Drowning 62
Miscellaneous 116
Total 675

Observance of the four-day Memorial Day holiday cost the nation a toll of more than 450 lives in traffic accidents, the worst highway record for any Memorial holiday in history.

Late reports pushed the total of traffic fatalities far above the previous record of 413 for a 102-hour Memorial holiday. The former record was set in 1957.

Only three states, Hawaii, Delaware and Rhode Island and the District of Columbia went through the four-day period — Saturday through Tuesday — without a single traffic death.

California, Michigan and Illinois topped the list of states with each reporting more than 30 highway deaths.

The only extended spring or summer holiday traffic death toll to exceed the total this Memorial Day was the 491 recorded during the 102-hour Fourth-of-July observance in 1960.

This year's heavy toll on the highways compared with 367 traffic deaths for last year's three-day Memorial Day weekend. Other violent fatalities during the four-day period included drownings not involving boats; in boating accidents and from miscellaneous mishaps. The over-all death toll compared to last year's 579.

In the 1957 Memorial Day weekend, there also were 134 drownings and 113 persons killed in miscellaneous accidents for a death toll of 660.

The National Safety Council, which joined with police agencies during the long weekend in urging motorists to drive with caution, underestimated the heavy traffic toll.

The council, in a pre-holiday statement, estimated 100 persons might be killed in the 30-hour period from 6 p.m. Monday to Tuesday midnight. The total was 113.

The council did not make an estimate for the entire 102-hour period because Monday was generally observed as a work day.

However, it said highway deaths for the period at this time of the year would total 385.

An Associated Press survey for a 102-hour, non-holiday period from 6 p.m. Friday May 12 to midnight Tuesday, May 16, showed 341 traffic fatalities. Other violent deaths included 14 in boating, 78 drownings and 106 in miscellaneous type accidents, a total of 339.

Rusk Makes Plea For Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the free world must arm to meet Communist aggression at every level from the thermocatalytic holocaust to assassination in the jungle.

Rusk opened the administration's argument for a $4.2-billion foreign aid program by telling the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: "We can afford to do what has to be done."

If the United States fails to undertake a sufficient effort, Rusk said, it must expect the failure of other nations to meet the demands of their people for a better life and from many of these nations an inevitable collapse.

In order to testify before the Senate group, Rusk delayed his departure for Paris to join President Kennedy in conversations with French President Charles de Gaulle.

While the secretary put most of his emphasis on the economic aspects of the program he cautioned that the wider distribution of power increases the hazards of world affairs in a nuclear age.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said events of the past year have cast many doubts on administration of the military and economic assistance programs in which the programs have been corrupted or frustrated in their aim of promoting freedom.

Fulbright, committee chairman, made his observations in a statement prepared for reading at the opening of the morning session.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a member of Fulbright's committee, said Kennedy's request will be sharply trimmed by Congress.

"More money is not the crying need," Aiken said in an interview. "What the program needs is well-planned, well-trained personnel to administer it without better administration, more money will only make its operation worse. I'm for giving whatever can be used effectively and honestly."

Fulbright said he hoped the committee could complete hearings during the next two weeks to the Senate can complete action by June 1.

"I expect constantly to turn to the subject of the quality of our administration," Fulbright said in his statement.

"Aggravatingly, we have trained military forces for the kinds of battles that are not fought," Fulbright said in the military assistance program. "We have trained individuals who have not had the will to protect their freedom."

Fulbright applauded the long-term approach advocated by the President and said he hoped by the time the Kennedy administration has served its first term "it may be able to point to some states as irrefutable bastions of freedom in South Asia, the Middle East, Africa, and Latin America."

This should enable the Peace Corps to have 500 to 1,000 volunteers abroad by the end of the calendar year, Kennedy said in asking prompt approval of the bill.

The draft measure was sent along with letters to House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., and to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson as president of the Senate.

Both houses of Congress are in recess until Thursday.

In Accord On Berlin

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
PARIS (AP)—President Kennedy and President Charles de Gaulle reached "general agreement" today on the problem of West Berlin in the opening session of their Allied policy conferences.

This result was announced by a U.S. spokesman. He said the agreement was achieved within the course of a 45-minute discussion when they first met.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen that during the day the two presidents discussed Berlin, problems of Southeast Asia and the Geneva conference on Laos.

Kennedy began his first venture in summit diplomacy with de Gaulle after receiving a 101-gun salute and a warm welcome from the people of Paris.

The streets of the French capital, brilliant with red, white and blue flags against the soft green foliage of spring, wore a gay and festive air. But the political atmosphere was grimmer.

On Saturday, Kennedy will meet Soviet Premier Nikhushchev in Vienna, Austria, under the threat of a new Berlin crisis later this year.

Kennedy and de Gaulle opened their policy talks 45 minutes before lunch in Elysee Palace and were to continue this afternoon.

Their concern with a new Berlin move by Khrushchev was a major subject for discussion.

Kennedy on his arrival publicly assured de Gaulle that their own talks in his view are as important as his meeting with the Soviet premier.

A young American leader called on de Gaulle, senior statesman of the "Western Big Three," just two hours after his jet arrived in Paris. He had been in New York in 6 hours and 34 minutes.

De Gaulle, 70, greeted Kennedy, 44, with obvious warmth in his handshake. His resonant, rolling French voice said: "You are most welcome to France."

He spoke of the "difficult circumstances in which the world finds itself and which weigh upon our two countries to concert their actions."

Speaking without notes, as did de Gaulle, Kennedy delivered in response a brief prepared statement calling for greater Western unity and strength.

After the colorful ceremony of the airport arrival with military band and honor guard, the two chiefs headed a motorcade through the city, through the spacious Place de la Concorde and back across the Seine-River to the Quai d'Orsay, the Foreign Ministry building, where state visitors are housed.

In the heart of the city Kennedy visited the traditional 10-gun salute for a visiting chief of state. As he drove through the streets with de Gaulle, he was cheered and applauded—as was the First Lady.

"I have neither held nor planned any talks that are more important," said Kennedy in obvious answer to critics who felt he should have deferred his meeting with Khrushchev so as not to detract from the importance of his talks with the French president.

"Our common goals," said Kennedy in his brief arrival speech at Orly Airport, "are greater Western unity and strength—the preservation of freedom—and the day when France will never again be a beachhead for war but a fountainhead of peace."

"I come not merely because of the past but because of future associations in the defense of the West—in the defense of freedom everywhere," the President continued. "Once again France under a great captain is the central figure of the common effort."

Kennedy saluted France as "our oldest friend" and "since before my nation's birth the wellspring of Western philosophy and ideas."

"But I am here to pay tribute to France, not for her past glory but for her present greatness," Kennedy declared.

The 70-year-old French president shook his 44-year-old guest's hand with warm cordiality and said: "We have never known Americans other than as allies and friends."

De Gaulle's statement was translated into English and Kennedy's into French.

Mrs. Kennedy followed her husband in the gesture of welcome. She was welcomed by Mme. de Gaulle.

The presidential plane came down from a thin, overcast sky, and a link dump wailed, rippled the flags at Orly Field, carrying a promise of rain later in the day. But the scene was resplendent, in the great tradition of this city.

New Try To Halt Firing

GENEVA (AP)—The central commission of India, Canada and Poland notified the East-West fighting in Laos today that it is taking a new initiative to halt the fighting in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

The commission dispatched a report of plans to send troops to the border areas, including Pao Dong, where Mrs. Eisenhower paid to the pro-Western Vietnamese government are under attack from the artillery of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces.

The commission said it would also send troops to the areas of Tchepone and Phalanomang Phing Sepane.

The commission's report is based on the conference agreement about to resume after a week's recess to hear the United States demand and to Communist violations of the cease-fire.

Employment Hike Due To Continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department reported today that a gradual employment pickup begun in March is expected to continue at least to mid-July.

The department's Bureau of Economic Analysis said its May survey of labor market trends show that employers, in about two-thirds of the nation's 150 major industrial centers, expected further slight seasonal employment gains into mid-summer.

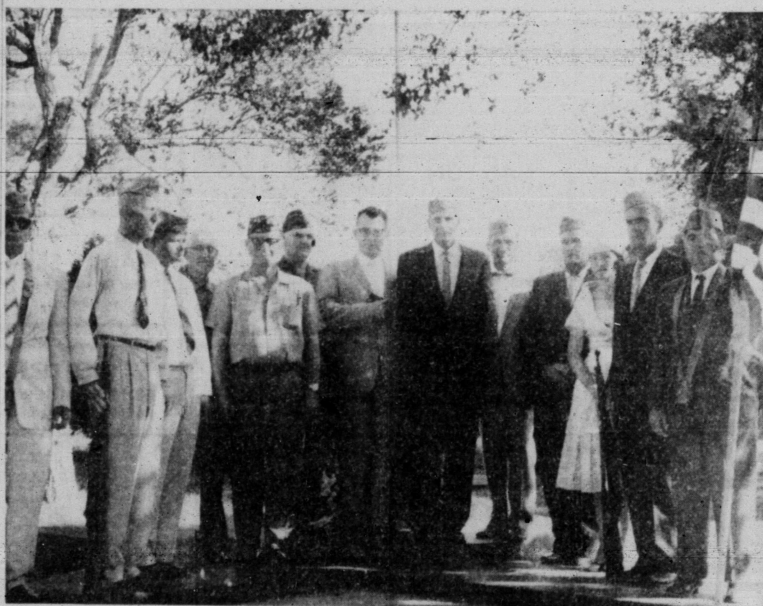

The May job totals were due to be released in mid-afternoon. A further rise in employment, and decline in unemployment, were expected. Farm employment, kept down by heavy spring rains, is due to show some increase. Unemployment normally drops by over 250,000 from April.

The Employment Security Bureau's report said that job recovery is moving along faster than it did after the 1958 recession.

The bureau said unemployment has been declining in practically all major job areas, with the increase in 10 of them sufficient to warrant promotion to more favorable ratings.

Dmitri Vail, Famed Dallas Portraitist Has Many Unusual Arts For Man His Age

By CLAYTON HICKERSON

Associated Press Staff Writer
DALLAS (AP)—"I can make a damn good cheesecake," the artist said, and he wasn't speaking of leesy girls.

But, just as he has painted the portrait of one of the world's most beautiful women, Anna Maria Albergotti, he can make good cheesecake, repair your fence, build a bird cage, put in a sprinkler system for your lawn or garden, make an electric lawn mower, grow the most flavorsome squash or chives you ever ate, show you how to grow camellias, and tell you how to quit smoking.

He might even teach a native Texan how to ride a horse.

The slight, grey man with the close-cropped hair is Dmitri Vail, famed Dallas portraitist, a bundle of energy and short-fused dynamism who can water ski with men 40 years his junior, show them some devastating judo tricks, and explain Yoga, all in a short afternoon of conversation, and action.

Vail is no storybook artist. He's a man's man who is almost too much for the average man. He roller skates daily, practices his judo exercises, keeps up with the world events and takes time out to invent a new-fangled putty knife that New England manufacturers are hiding for—like crazy.

But crazy is not the word for Vail. He's been in Dallas 20 years and his reputation as one of the nation's outstanding portrait painters has grown steadily.

"One in five," he booms when you ring the bell at his fashionable address. He may be dressed in rumpled slacks, a sweat shirt and soiled sneakers. Before you finish shaking hands, the exuberant artist is waving his expressive hands at a large, full-length portrait he has just finished. For a moment you forget that the twinkling blue eyes are done with brush, and you expect Sophie Tucker, the "last of the red-hot mamas," to break into song.

"Isn't she great?" booms the voice beside you, and you know he's speaking of the entertainer, not the picture.

Agreed that Sophie Tucker, especially his interpretation, is great, the voice keeps on coming. "Just about finished one in the studio, you want to see it?" Dee Vail knows you want to see it.

In the crowded studio over his garage there's a near-finished picture of comedian Rowan and Martin, recent guests of television's Ed Sullivan. And here in this studio, you see much of the character of the man who is recognized as one of America's greatest modern portrait artists.

But in just a few minutes you see that in all the apparent disarray is method. Vail is not only one of the best portraitists. He's also one of the fastest. Paints are here in soldierly array, brushes there, pencils here, a large selection of books, a sketch of a prominent woman—first step toward a full color portrait, and the roller skates near the stairs.

Books on the shelves are revealing. There are workshop tomes, the Decameron in two volumes, camellia yearbooks, other books on gardening, flowers, folk medicine, figure painting, judo secrets, H.G. Wells' works, telepathy experiments, a golf club yearbook, Petronius, a volume on Japanese art.

You wonder at the versatility of the dynamic man beside you. "I'm not genius," he says stoutly. "Everything I do comes hard for me. I have to work at everything."

Mrs. Vail, a native of Palestine, Tex., who has lived most of her life in Dallas, amiably disagrees here. She is the former Dorothy Wright whose grandfather founded Palestine's Royal National Bank in 1873.

"Whatever it is Dmitri starts," she said, "he almost always says, 'This is going to be a mess.' But he keeps right on, and he can do anything. But it's portrait painting he loves most."

Born in Columbus, Ohio, in 1903, Vail started to art school at the age of five because his father believed the child had ability. "He wanted me to be an artist," Vail said, "but he didn't have to push me. I never had to be coaxed." Vail studied under the famous Schiele, one of the country's outstanding water color artists, and under Julius Golz, teacher of famed artist George Bellows.

Vail left Ohio State University at the age of 17 and began to pursue an art career that took him over a great portion of the country, Chicago, various California cities, and finally to Texas, where he landed first at Corpus Christi, then San Antonio, and finally, Dallas.

"It wasn't all easy," he said. But now the man who gets up to $10,000 for a portrait still can talk about the old days. He doesn't smoke now, but he remembers when a cigarette was hard to come by.

Newspapers, he says, always have been close to his heart because of pleasant experiences with them. Once was back in the '30s when Bill Brown, circulation manager of the Oakland, Calif. Tribune, wanted sketches made of the newspaper's carrier boys. Said Brown to Vail:

"If you can do one in a minute, or less, I'll give you a dollar a piece."

"Boy, I really tried," said Vail. "I practiced a lot, and when I went back to the Tribune I did 60 boys' pictures in 60 minutes." He stayed on to sketch 1,500 carrier boys. "Nearly every one of those kids," he recalled, "auto-graphed the sketch for their mother or father."

Vail also worked Army and Navy posts and for awhile conducted an art school at Mare Island Naval Base, near Vallejo, Calif. "They used to come in and say, 'I want you to paint my portrait,'" he said of the naval officers. "And that night their portrait was finished."

The Texas artist now does from 30 to 40 portraits a year. Many are of outstanding personalities in show business and industry. He has done portraits of a dozen or so executives of the Dallas Times Herald. He's put on canvas Maureen O'Hara, Bette Davis, and

Linda Darnell, Jack Benny, Jeanette MacDonald, priests and wrestlers, servants and savants, Emmett Kelly, the famed circus clown; Symphony conductors Paul Kletzki and Donald Johanos; Isma Yukimura, Japan's great actress and star of "Hollywood in Japan"; Jim Ling, youthful Southwestern industrialist; and Ed Mayer, Sonora, Tex. rancher and former Republican candidate for Texas governor.

The list in entertainment and business goes on and on.

The old days, when a cigarette was hard to find, are gone for Dmitri Vail. A large gallery on Dallas' North Central Expressway testifies that he is poor no more. It's open to the public, and Vail likes to hear viewers' comments as he saunters unrecognized along the picture-decked hallway.

"It's not all money," he said earnestly. "I spend more time thinking about what I can do with a portrait than I do in painting it."

"My subjects, invariably it seems, I come to regard as friends."

"There is no such thing as a stranger to a portrait painter. After 30 minutes, you gaze into their soul."

ASPARAGUS WITH BROWN BUTTER SAUCE

2 pounds asparagus
1/4 cup butter

Prepare and cook the asparagus your favorite way, but have them in spears. A few minutes before the asparagus is ready, melt butter in a small skillet over low heat, allow to stand over the heat, swirling pan a few times, until it turns a light brown color. Pour over hot cooked drained asparagus. Makes 4 servings.

It's all right to arrange salad greens in a serving bowl, cover tightly and refrigerate until serving time. But don't add the dressing until you are ready to pass the salad.

But, with or without tiara, Mrs. Kennedy is expected to more than hold her own with French crowds. The First Lady has two great factors going for her: youth and beauty. She is 36, and she looks French as might be expected of one whose antecedents came from the Rhone Valley. Furthermore, she is chic, a quality the French consider to be the mark of a true aristocrat.

Still, the French are puzzled, first, that a lady whose family and whose husband are as wealthy as Mrs. Kennedy's has no "important" jewelry. And second, it is difficult for the French or any European to understand why the First Lady in so rich a land as the U. S. A. is not provided with "proper" clothing for a state visit.

What the French have not stopped to ponder as has this American is that the First Lady wears a tiara could anchor her in Mrs. Kennedy's current hair-do.

SOX, CATS SOCK FOES

Runaways Mark Colt, Pony Play

Booming bats and a sparkling mound performance on the part of right-hander Leslie Brown were the highlights of last night's Sox and Pony League clashes here, as the Pony Cats walloped the Dodgers 12-1 behind Brown and the Red Sox waylaid the Red Sox 13-1 in a cat encounter.

Brown was practically untouchable in the hurrying of his win, with the only hit as gained off him being a leadoff single in the fourth by Marvin Mayfield, who eventually scored. His team's only run on a Cat fielding bobbles.

Meantime, Brown kept things well under control by whiffing 12 Dodgers over his five-inning stint, and walked only one over that span.

His mates gave him adequate support by blasting loser Jerry Owens and Sandy Welborn for 15 hits, including a two-run homer in the fifth by John Flynn and a bases-empty circuit smash in the sixth as landed by David Cadena. Flynn drove in two more tallies in a four-run first frame, also.

Andrew Ramirez and Larry Jones each blasted doubles for the winners to add to the onslaught. In the 13-1 Red Sox win over the Phils Harley Byrnes made the most noise at the plate for the victors by rapping out a pair of singles and a fourth-inning ground rules double that bounced over the outfield barricade. He drove in three runs ahead of him for the night to be tops in RBI's for the game.

Tommy Shelburne and Ed Carl Force each blasted doubles for the Sox in rolling to the win, the first of the young season for both.

Gerald Bullard handuffed the Phils on four singles in hurrying the victory, two of which were lined by Jimmie Wilson.

Wilson was the losing chunker, as he was chased in the first inning after a pair of hit batsmen and as many walks had allowed the Sox to plateau three runs without the aid of a hit. Ronnie Bennett took over at that point and finished out the game, with Wilson shutting out to man Bennett's short-stop post.

Texan Spurs To First In Indianapolis '500'

By DALE BURGESS

Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Texan A. J. Foyt, who sits mighty tall in a race car seat, won't know until tonight's victory dinner how much he won Tuesday by capturing the golden anniversary 500-mile auto race in a record 138.131 miles an hour.

What he does know is that the $100,000 or so almost slipped through his fingers in a ferocious, contested race that knocked out 21 of the 33 starting cars. And it wasn't until Tuesday night that he learned he had set a record instead of an almost. This because of a breakdown in the timing.

It was a three-car race in the last stages among Foyt, 28, Houston, Tex., Eddie Sachs, Center Valley, Pa., and 1959 winner Roger Ward. It finally was decided in the pits.

Foyt made his third and supposedly last pit stop for tires and fuel, but the connection on the pressure fueling system wouldn't work. His crew borrowed a refueling rig from Len Sutton's pit and called Foyt back in for an extra stop.

Meanwhile, Sachs was flying and looked like a sure winner after failing to finish in four previous starts. Then his right rear tire wore ragged and he had to stop for a new one with only three laps—7 1/2 miles—to go.

Foyt passed Sachs as the Pennsylvania was running his car out of the pits. The handsome Texan beat Eddie to the finish line by 8 1/2 seconds. With four pit stops apiece, Sachs spent 8-2/3ths seconds longer off the track.

Foyt drove the Indianapolis Bowes Seal Fast, Sachs the Long Beach Special, Dean Special.

Ward, handling handling trouble with a new tire Watson car, was less than a lap behind in third place, but couldn't complete the race.

Ward, handling handling trouble with a new tire Watson car, was less than a lap behind in third place, but couldn't complete the race.

Sachs became a worn tire forced Ward to surrender the lead to winner Jim Rathmann late in last year's race.

Mechanical trouble sent Rathmann to the sidelines Tuesday after he had led part of the race. Other leaders at various times included 1952 winner Troy Ruttman, who became physically exhausted, rookie Parnelli Jones and second-time starter Jim Hurtubise.

Hurtubise and Jones both suffered facial cuts from small flying objects, and Jones' cut forced him into a four-minute pit stop.

Jack Brabham of Australia, the world road racing champion, drove a shrewd, smooth race to ninth place but he never was in contention. His little English Cooper simply didn't have enough oomph on the straightaways.

The race was run without death or serious injury to a driver, in spite of a series of spectacular wrecks on the west main straightaway. A speedway guard, John Massari, became the old racing plant's 34th fatality, however, when a fire truck backed over him after extinguishing a fire in Eddie Johnson's wrecked car.

Unofficially behind Ward at the finish were Sherry Tompkins, Seattle, fourth; Al Chalk, Green Acres, Fla.; fifth; Chuck Stevenson, Garden Grove, Calif.; sixth; rookie Bob Marshman, Pittsboro, Pa.; seventh; Lloyd Ruby, Houston, Tex.; eighth; Brabham, ninth, and rookie Noam Hall, Los Angeles, tenth.

Foyt spent several hours after the race thinking he'd turned in the second best time in the history of the race. The first posted time had Foyt finishing at 138.466, just a whisker behind Jim Rathmann's record 138.767 last year. During the evening, speedway officials disclosed timing equipment had gone bad on the 17th lap and had to be replaced by stop watches for two or three minutes. The corrected time, 138.131-mile Foyt, the fastest ever to finish the race.

The win assured them a share of the league leadership along with Von Roeder Seed Farms and Denon Gulf, all of whom are riding high with 5-1 records for the year.

Meet Creswell unloaded the big blow of the game, a third inning homer with one mate aboard. Other big hitters for Harlin included Max Laing, who collected a double and a single; Frank Foster, who added a triple; and Kenneth Crook and Ken Brisendine, each of whom powered out two-baggers.

Devers' sole run was scored in the fifth and was driven in on a double by Zelmer Glover.

Guy Sullivan chunked the win and Sallenger was nailed with the defeat.

Mixon Tires staved off a late rally by Greenhill Baptist to win 9-8 in other activity of the evening.

Greenhill chased over three runs in the bottom of the seventh to throw the late scare into the victors.

Harve Tatom, the winning hurler, was also the big man at the plate for the Mixon nine. D. Warner landed a triple and Roy Dunlap a two-bagger for the winners, also, as Mixon made the most of four run splurges in both the third and fifth frames to post the victory.

Bernie Hagins paced the Greenhill slugging attack with a double and three singles in four trips. Rinehart was close behind with a double and a single in three appearances.

Kokoma Lloyd tripled and Murray doubled for the only other big blows of the game. Losing moundman Bill Hallmark helped his own cause by lacing out a pair of singles, also.

Estes Sees An Opening

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., says the exterior conviction of Frankie Carbo has given Congress "an unparalleled opportunity to effect a final and conclusive cleanup job in professional boxing."

Carbo, long reputed to be boxing's secret boss, was convicted Tuesday in Los Angeles with four others on charges of trying to muscle in on the earnings of former welterweight champion Don Jordan.

Kennedy Must Wrestle With DeGaulle's Dreams In Talks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy must wrestle with another man's dream in his conversations with President Charles de Gaulle in Paris today. It is De Gaulle's dream of a new, great and grand France.

The enormously dignified-some might say vain—Frenchman is 70 now. And for the rest of his life, even if he lives to 90, it's a dream not likely to be realized.

Although the United States and Russia are the only two great powers now, it's Red China, not France, which is moving up.

Except as De Gaulle sees it, there is no likely spot for France in the top echelon of world powers during the next quarter century. So the two presidents are not apt to settle much at best they may understand each other more.

De Gaulle may be hardened a little more in both his dreams and his obstinacy. Neither man can walk into the meeting room and lay a bowl of recent triumphs on the table to impress the other.

Fresh in De Gaulle's memory is Kennedy's disaster with the Cuban invasion, the erosion of American power and prestige in Laos, the Russian space flight which made the American space flight look secondary.

Kennedy, in turn, will be facing a man 20 years his senior, whose own recent troubles may be in the end overwhelming him.

De Gaulle barely squeaked through the general's revolt in Algeria where the possibility of a new, wider and bloodier revolt is still very real. After three years of talking, De Gaulle still has not brought peace there.

Because De Gaulle is 70 and the history of France since World War II has been a history of instability and unpredictability, Kennedy must feel as he talks to the French president.

What will any promises mean to him or from him to me mean if he should disappear from the scene tomorrow? Will new generals take over? Will France, even remain a democracy?

It's this very uncertainty and

Texan Wins Air Race For Women

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—The winner of the All Woman's International Air Race is a veteran flier from Fort Worth, Mrs. Mary Gardner Wythe.

Mrs. Wythe's victory was announced unofficially last night. She is a three-time winner of the event and defending champion.

Mrs. Wythe averaged 120.7 miles per hour on the 565-mile flight from Fort Myers, Fla., with a plus factor of 11.7 per cent over the plane's rating.

The Fort Worth woman, who holds 9 race trophies, flew a Cessna 120 with Martha Wright of Grapevine, Tex., as co-pilot.

Second place went to Mrs. Margaret Callaway of Wilmington, Ohio, with Paula Schultz of Cincinnati as co-pilot. Their Cessna 140 averaged 121 miles per hour and had a plus per cent rating of 11.5.

Third was Margie Callaway, daughter of Margaret Callaway and a student at the University of Rochester. She was flying a Cessna 175 and had Ruth Wells of Columbus, Ohio, as co-pilot.

Fourth was Carol Welch of Fort Myers, Fla., in a Cessna 172B Skyhawk with Sylvia George of Fort Myers as co-pilot.

Jacqueline Gets A Warm Welcome

PARIS (AP)—The French today welcomed Jacqueline Kennedy as one of their own after seeing and hearing America's French-speaking first lady on television.

Everything from what the Kennedys will eat to what they wear is interesting to the people of Paris. One Paris newspaper has been running pictures of women who bear a striking resemblance to the first lady.

The top courtesiers have been busy getting gowns ready for France's first ladies to wear to the two gala formal dinners the Kennedys will attend.

With flags flying and pictures of the President and Mrs. Kennedy in store windows, the three-day visit is expected to draw big crowds here.

Because of her French ancestry and fluency in French, Mrs. Kennedy may be the star attraction.

On the eve of her arrival, a half-hour filmed program on the government-operated television network Tuesday night showed the Kennedys at the White House.

In a 15-minute interview, entirely in French, Mrs. Kennedy

GOP Lashes Gov. Daniel, Legislators

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas Republican leaders say the Texas Legislature is immature and that Gov. Price Daniel cannot escape responsibility for the legislators' failure to pass "an adequate tax bill."

A prepared statement added Tuesday night that the Legislature lacks the maturity required to solve the state's financial crisis.

Joining in the statement were State Republican Chairman Tad Smith, National Republican Committee member Albert Fay and state GOP Executive Director Paul Ledrick.

They said Daniel and the Legislature must share the blame for failure to solve the state's taxing and spending problems. The statement said the Legislature faced its responsibilities "with frivolous ineptness."

"The Legislature, after months of hickering and petty maneuvering, has failed to face up to the responsibility to pass a tax bill to pay for the Daniel administration's operations," the statement said.

Members of the Legislature were not worried about time or lack of agreement when, in an incredible demonstration of immature irresponsibility, they recessed at noon last Wednesday with only five days remaining in the session so that legislators might campaign the rest of the week for (Sen. William) Blakely, instead of tending to the crucial legislative problems of this state.

"With one ounce of firm leadership on his part, Texas would now have an adequate tax bill and the people would not be faced with having to pay for a special session. The governor, who also has spent much time lately campaigning for the unsuccessful senatorial candidate, has been indecisive and coy regarding the state's tax picture."

The Republicans said a special session is wasteful and unnecessary.

The Legislature has had four months to pass a tax bill," they said.

Now that we face a special session, perhaps it is not too much for the people to ask of the Daniel administration that the Legislature that they quit petty bickering and evasion of responsibility and get down to the business for which they were elected."

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP)—The prosecution continued Wednesday to present additional witnesses in the murder trial of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Otto Hagans.

They are charged with the beating deaths of Hagans' two aunts, Mrs. C. B. Hagans, 71, Nacogdoches, and Mrs. M. D. Gibson, 68, Houston.

Dist. Atty. Hulon Brown said the trial, which opened last week, may end this week.

Reprisal Threats Denied By USDA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department asserts it has investigated and found no basis for allegations that someone in the department had threatened reprisals against cotton interests if they opposed the administration farm bill.

"We are not interested in threatening people," Thomas Hughes, executive assistant to Secretary Orville Freeman, said Tuesday. "We have investigated this and found absolutely nothing so far."

Hughes said he does not know if the Justice Department is investigating. He did say that Justice Department officials discussed the matter with Agriculture Department officials.

But Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., said Congress cannot ignore the allegations.

"You can't ignore allegations such as this," Aiken said. "If there's pressure we want to know if it's from some misguided official of the department of agriculture or if it's policy."

Aiken is the ranking Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The issue arose when John Todd, vice president of the National Cotton Compress and Cotton Warehouse Association of Memphis, reported the alleged threats in a letter to Horace Godfrey, head of the Commodity Stabilization Service.

Todd said he had received a telephone call from R. E. Evans, president of the Georgia Cotton Warehouse Association, who told him he had received a phone call from Boyce Dyer in Atlanta, a marketing specialist in the Georgia Department of Agriculture.

Dyer was reported to have relayed to Evans a message from "someone in the U.S. Department of Agriculture" warning that the cotton warehousemen must prevent presentation of testimony from the National Cotton Council against the farm bill. If they didn't they would be denied any increase in storage rates for government held cotton.

Todd wrote Godfrey that this information indicates that denial of the requested rate increase is to be used as a weapon with which to punish cotton warehousemen for giving their view of legislation.

Judge Says Punch In Nose Justified

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Manuel Arias, 36, appeared in court Tuesday charged with simple assault.

He had punched an unidentified neighbor in the nose. Arias testified that his neighbor and a friend had been playing the guitar and singing for three days.

"I don't blame you," said Judge Lawrence Lang in finding Arias innocent. "I couldn't have put up with it that long myself."

Bride Dies Of Leukemia

REDLANDS, Calif. (AP)—Nancy Fortune, 17, a bride of 10 days, is dead. She never knew her marriage to her childhood sweetheart, Dwight Twomey, was doomed.

Their wedding was planned for years, as they grew up together in nearby Riverside. But Dwight was called for military service, and they decided to wait until he was free.

Twomey went to Okinawa for 13 months, with the Marines. In that time Nancy fell ill. She was brought to Community Hospital here, and Dwight, 19, came home.

They were married last week at the hospital's chapel, in the presence of the family and a few friends. Nancy went back to her hospital bed for more treatment, cheered by dreams of her life with Dwight.

Her husband and relatives knew she hoped in vain. But Nancy never learned that she had leukemia, which took her life Monday night.

Few TV Sets In Communist China

HONG KONG (AP)—Official Communist reports say Communist China has a total of only 20,000 television sets among its 650 million population.

More than 10,000 of the sets are within the vicinity of Peking, Red China's capital, and show window of its industrial and cultural progress.

Hong Kong's official Communist newspaper Ta Kung Pao quoted the price of television sets in Communist China at about $250 each. The monthly income of a city worker on the mainland, as far as it can be ascertained here, averages less than $15.

The paper said most of the sets were bought by collective bodies such as communes. Educational and political programs seem to take up much of the daily three-hour viewing time.

America Set To Build Moon Ship

PARIS (AP)—America is set to build a space vehicle to carry a man around the moon, George M. Bunker, president of the Martin Corp., said Tuesday.

Bunker told a news conference at the Paris International Air Show that preliminary studies for such a craft now are complete, and we are ready to start immediately on its construction.

The 15-year-old three-firm engaged in Project Apollo under the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to put a man around the moon. Bunker predicted that NASA will put a three-man reconnaissance team around the moon by 1963.

Junior Editors Quiz on WORDS

QUESTION: How did the jackknife get its name?

ANSWER: The word "jack" has a great variety of meanings. When it is spelled with a capital J it is a nickname for John, and even as early as the 15th century "Jack" was used as a general term to describe a man of the common people, an ordinary fellow. Another of the word's uses is to describe various mechanical devices. For example, a boot-jack is a gadget a man uses to pull off his boots. A more common use of "jack," however, is to describe an object which is smaller than ordinary. A "jack rafter" is a rafter in a building which is shorter than a main rafter, and aboard ship a jack is a flag smaller than the main flag or ensign. It is this use of the word "jack" that gives the jackknife its name. A jackknife is a folding clasp knife smaller than an ordinary hunting knife or kitchen knife—small enough, in fact, to carry in your pocket.

FOR YOU TO DO: See how many words you can think of with "jack" in them, such as jack-o-lantern and jackstraw. You can find many others in a dictionary.

Leisure Industry Hopes For Upturn

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Recreation spending time is here—and leisure industry leaders are assuring each other that this summer is bound to be better than last. They hope the weather will take a turn for the better. So far sales of outdoor recreational equipment and toys have been spotty, lagging in many sections where spring has been all but a delusion, but ahead in areas where the weather has been cooperative.
Last summer had weather hurt the leisure industry. Just as bad perhaps was the recession which caused many families to trim their fun budgets. Sales of several types of equipment fell well behind early expectations.
This year the purveyors of goods and services for recreation are counting on renewed public confidence in the economy and on longer vacations and higher disposable incomes to push recreation spending to a new high. Some put this year's total for all kinds of recreation at $44 billion.

Los Angeles Riot Quelled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An angry throng hurled rocks, bottles, cans, sticks and baseball bats at police when a riot broke out among holiday visitors in Griffith Park Tuesday.
Authorities said the melee started when officers tried to arrest two youths for horseplay on the park's merry-go-round. Police said the offenders were part of a group of Negroes who had been jumping on and off the platform. Sympathizers in the crowd challenged the arrests and soon a mob of 200 persons was advancing on the officers. One of the beleaguered officers fired a shot into an embankment. The shot partly dispersed the crowd.
Of the 75 police called out to halt the disturbance, five were injured. Two civilians also were hurt.
Three men were arrested. Officials estimated that 1,000 persons were near the merry-go-round at the time the riot started and that as many as 1,000 probably took part. An unoccupied patrol car was overturned.
Although most of the participants were Negroes, police said there was no later racial fighting within the crowd.
The park—largest in the city—was closed to all visitors at 5 p.m.

Don't Bore, Ad Men Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The right to advertise doesn't include the right to bore—to bore the masses out of 170 million Americans.
That's the advice given today to the Advertising Federation of America by its new board chairman, John P. Cunningham of New York.
Cunningham is chairman of Cunningham & Walsh, Inc.
"We must recognize that when armies running around people's stoves and hammers banging away inside their brains—we are boring the public," he said.
"We must recognize that when we plaster five different commercial messages right after one another at station break time—we are boring the public."
"We must recognize that there is something very boring about radio programming that alternates two minutes of music with one minute of commercial."
"It is not all broadcasting by any means. In the public print there are certain schools of advertising that are boring me a lot to their impatience. The radio ads seem to run in school all the cigarettes that filter out the tar and nicotine."

Daniel Refuses To Keep His Hands Off Big Tax Bill Fight

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Price Daniel says he is not about to keep his hands off the next big tax bill fight.

The governor, one hand clutching an unlighted cigar, sounded the warning at a press conference late Tuesday when he called a special legislative session for July 10.

"I intend to get my hands on more of what happens than I have in the past," Daniel said. "I have tried to work out the tax question without a statewide fight but it won't work. I am convinced the only way is to get right into the fight and go to the grass roots and ask their help."

Earlier, E. B. Germany, head of Lone Star Steel, president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and a former associate of

Daniel in drawing up tax proposals, called on the governor to steer clear of lawmaking.

"It is my feeling that the governor should not get involved in anything other than his own pet ideas of a solution to our tax problem is not in the interest of Texas' progress," Germany told a Chamber of Commerce group in Georgetown. He suggested that Daniel "completely remove himself from any further tax negotiations until they are formally laid upon his desk for veto or signature."

"I think you can see I do not intend to leave hands off," Daniel commented.

Daniel limited the call for the 30-day session in July to enactment of a 1962-63 spending bill, public school improvements and taxes. In the regular session ending Monday the House refused to accept the Senate version of a $342 million tax package (HB334). The Senate approved all three issues but sent the spending bill and the $810 a year teachers pay bill to the House too late for final action.

Daniel said he might call still another session for consideration of an abandoned property seizure bill (eschets) and regulation of the small loan industry. Both also failed in the regular session.

The governor refused several times to answer or expand on what he called argumentative questions concerning his stand on sales taxes.

"I'll say what kind of tax bill I want the week before July 10," he said.

"Let's cross one special session at a time," he said when asked if he would continue to veto a general sales tax in more than one special session.

"I don't believe I want to say right now what I would accept in a tax bill," was another reply.

Daniel did say he believes any tax bill approved must raise at least $350 million, which would include an $810 annual teacher pay raise.

He said he had not changed his mind about wanting a "limited" or "selective" sales tax in place of "a general sales tax."

"Any such bill should exempt most of the necessities of life such as food, feed, fertilizer, farm machinery and medicine," he said.

Daniel, who as chairman of the Southern Governors' Conference plans to attend a late June meeting in Hawaii, said he picked the July special session date because:

Tractor Donation Tax Plan Rapped

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Announcement of a controversial tax exemption for donations to the Tractors for Freedom Committee has been delayed because of congressional criticism.

Mortimer M. Caplin, commissioner of Internal Revenue, said today the IRS won't issue an opinion until its position has been studied by the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

Caplin, in an interview, would not say what sort of decision will be made. However, other sources gave strong indications that Caplin intends to grant the tax exemption.

The IRS chief is expected to act by the end of the week. His opinion will be in the form of a letter to the tractor committee and will state that an exemption will be granted if the group meets a number of legal conditions. The committee was formed to try to win freedom for 1,200 Cuban invasion prisoners.

The committee would buy 500 tractors which would be delivered to Cuba in exchange for the prisoners.

President Kennedy has called for public support of the program which is privately sponsored.

Kennedy has said that "tax exemption is granted as a matter of course to any charitable organization engaged in the rehabilitation and assistance of needy refugees."

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., vice chairman of the Senate-House committee, last week questioned the legality of granting the fund-raising organization a tax exemption.

"A ruling of this kind would be a distortion of existing regulations," he said.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and most congressional Republicans have been sharply critical of the proposed tractors-for-prisoners trade. They also have called it blackmail by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Caplin said the request of the tractor committee does not mean the IRS was handed in a routine way by the IRS staff. The request was filed a week ago.

Caplin conceded it was not routine to submit a proposed opinion in advance to the Senate-House committee. He said he did this because "I read the headlines" and wanted to acquaint committee members with the reasoning behind the IRS opinion.

The congressional committee has been furnished with a lengthy opinion by the IRS acting chief.

counsel, Rudolph Hertzog, that an exemption would be legal.

The tax agency could find no exact precedent for the case, although exemptions have been granted to a number of emergency committees which have aided refugees or disaster victims.

Model Home In Frisco Is Sit-In Site

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negroes are applying to a San Francisco real estate development of $32,000 homes their sit-in technique of protesting segregation.

"Our people have been locked out when they attempt to look at the Forest Knolls model home," said Terry Francois, chapter president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

But the lockout keeps potential white home buyers away, too.

"So we'll have somebody here every working hour," Francois declared Tuesday when 15 whites joined about 20 Negroes in the sit-in protest on the slopes of Mt. Diablo.

The sit-in procedure started Sunday in support of Willie L. Brown, Jr., 27, an attorney, who attempted to buy a home in the development of the Standard Building Co. Brown, runner-up in the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce distinguished service award competition last year, said he wanted to move nearer his law offices.

Brown said the salesmen refused to talk about selling a house and left the model home.

Throughout Sunday and Memorial Day, normally busy days for house hunters, the model home remained locked and no salesmen were evident.

The Bay Area Catholic Interracial Council said in a statement that Carl and Fred Gellert, who head the Standard Building Co., should "publicly declare that you welcome members of all races."

The Gellerts and George G. Parsons, Standard Building's general manager, were unavailable for comment.

Following a 15-minute talk by the governor, he will be questioned for 15 minutes by three Austin newsmen: Paul Bolton, news editor of KTRC-TV, Austin; Dave Cheavens, Associated Press capital correspondent; and Pat Conway, United Press International bureau chief.

Governor's Report On Large Network

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel's office said that perhaps the largest Texas television network ever assembled for a single program will carry the governor's tax "report to the people" Wednesday night.

Thirty-five of Texas' 40 television stations will carry the report at 7:30 p.m.

500-Pound Cake To Be Eaten Today

BOSTON (AP)—President Kennedy's birthday cake, all 500 pounds of it, will be eaten today.

The huge cake, which went untouched at Monday night's 100-plate dinner, was moved intact to Nazareth Child Care Center after the big affair in Commonwealth Armory.

All day Tuesday the tempting mountain was on display at the center. The Catholic nuns in charge of the children said many of the children were away for Memorial Day and "we'll have an ice cream and cake party for everybody tomorrow."

Republicans Are Looking For Major Blast From Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are looking to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for a resounding attack on the Kennedy administration's domestic policies at a party rally here Thursday night.

The former president was represented by those who have talked to him recently as being in a mood to assail President Kennedy in the same armory last Saturday night.

With Kennedy scheduled to begin informal talks in Vienna Saturday with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Eisenhower is expected to refrain from any attacks on foreign policy at this time.

The presence of his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, on the Tractors for Freedom Committee is regarded as an indication that the former president will not join other Republicans in criticizing the proposed exchange with Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Eisenhower's speech at a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner will be his first since he left office last Jan. 20.

While Democrats don't think they will like what he says, they are cooperating with Republicans to cut the cost of staging the dinner. The GOP helped reduce the expenses of a similar 6,000-plate birthday affair for President Kennedy in the same armory last Saturday night.

While officials of the two national committees have gone about their usual business of exchanging political insults in public, they have collaborated privately to share the cost of building platforms, arranging bunting and chairs. Both committees thus saved several thousand dollars.

Eisenhower will have lunch at the Capitol Hill Club Thursday noon with Republican leaders.

The national committee will meet in the afternoon to conduct routine business and to get a report from State Chairman Ray Bliss of Ohio on the findings of a committee studying how Republicans can improve their voting strength in the big cities.

Bliss' action in bowing out as a possible successor to retiring National Chairman Thurston B. Morton appears to have left the field to Rep. William E. Miller of New York, a Roman Catholic who is generally regarded as a middle road Republican.

Airliner Limp To Smooth Landing

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — A crippled American airliner with 104 persons aboard—mostly women and children—today limped hundreds of miles over the Atlantic to a smooth landing here.

The Superconstellation ferrying U. S. military personnel and their families from Germany to McGuire Air Force Base, N. J., was forced to turn back two hours after leaving Shannon when one of its four propellers ran wild and the pilot could not feather it.

One of the aircraft escorting President Kennedy to Europe offered assistance but was not needed. A Pan American airliner in the vicinity shepherded the crippled plane to safety.

Forty children were among the 95 passengers aboard the airliner, 20 of them babies in arms.

Sky Object Is Reported

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—East Texas reported seeing a long flaming object in the sky Tuesday night and hearing an explosion shortly after it vanished.

The object was seen over Tyler, Longview, Sulphur Springs and Marshall.

Johnny R. Peavy, Tyler, said he "saw a long flaming object, bright yellow flames in the front part and orange flames in the back, falling in the sky. It was east of Tyler. It was visible for only a few seconds. About two or three minutes later I heard a blast."

Authorities had not discovered where the object fell.

Ned Aber, at the control tower at Tyler's Airport, said it looked like a meteorite but that it fell too slowly to be one.

Says School Needs Likely To Be Met

AUSTIN (AP)—The settlement of the state's tax issue probably will find the school needs met, the president of the Texas State Teachers' Association predicts.

"We have been pleased with the general support for the Hale-Aikin program over into the called session," Richard Bowles of Austin said Tuesday.

An $18 teacher pay raise is included in the Hale-Aikin bill which passed both houses but did without the passage of a tax bill to pay for it.

Presbytery Invites Three Negro Churches

ATLANTA (AP) — Three Negro Presbyterian churches have been invited to full membership in the all-white Atlanta Presbytery.

The move received almost unanimous approval from ministers and elders, representing the presbytery's 98 churches, during a voice vote.

The Rev. Cyrus Mallard said he understood the Negro churches would be admitted in the near future but may be necessary to wait until the Synod of Georgia meets next year and votes on the presbytery's decision.
