China Breaks Cease-Fire, Resumes Shelling Of Isles

Balloon Experts

Commander Malcolm D. Ross, right, who will make history's first astronomical balloon trip to the stratosphere with a John Hopinks professor, Dr. John Strong, early in November, and Lt. Commander E. A. Basquin, office of Naval research science expert, check over a Mylar weather balloon at El Paso. Ross, who was a crew member on the first strato balloon ascent ever made, November 11, 1935, will pilot the trip to make spectrographs of Mars. Scientists hope to get pictures not suffering from interference of earth's atmosphere, which filters out many kinds of light rays. Altitude sought is about 80,000 feet in the "Strato-Lab."

BILLS GOING OUT

County Tax Roll Is $53.7 Million

Howard County property valuations for tax purposes total $53,737,312, Mrs. Viola Robinson, county tax assessor, told the county commissioners today.

This represents an increase of $5 million over the total valuation for 1957.

Commissioners expressed satisfaction at the report. It had been feared that the numerous adjustments made during the sessions of the equalization board would have pulled the valuation total sharply down.

In fact, the valuations as determined by the tax assessor from the tax rolls are more than $2 million less than the original estimate made by Pritchard & Abbott, tax engineers, who made a county wide revaluation survey for tax purposes this year.

A large percentage of this difference came from the compromise agreement reached by the county-school equalization boards with Cosden Petroleum Corp. and Cabot Carbon Co. These two industries had protested the formula used by the tax engineers in fixing the value on their property and an agreement was worked out which reduced the original valuations by a considerable sum.

Mrs. Robinson said that tax statements have been prepared and should go in the mails today. As soon as a taxpayer has his statement he can pay his taxes.

331st Welcome Slated Tonight

Big Springers will welcome the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron this evening with an informal "get-acquainted barbecue" at the Cosden Country Club.

All members of the squadron and their families are invited to the party. The barbecue is being financed by Big Spring business men and civic leaders as a good will gesture and as a means of helping the new residents get acquainted with the community.

The 331st was transferred to Webb AFB from Stewart AFB, N. Y., recently.

This evening's gathering will start at 5:30 p.m. at the Cosden club south of the city. There will be no formalities or program of any kind. The Air Force and civilian residents simply will assemble for a period of visitation and then the barbecue will be served, said Ike Robb, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Military Affairs Committee which is sponsoring the event. A crowd of 400 or more is expected.

SITUATION'S UPSIDE DOWN

Cease-Fire Catches Official Washington By Total Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Red China's order ending the two-week-old Quemoy cease-fire took official Washington by complete surprise today.

The announcement by Peiping radio turned upside down the situation which had caused Secretary of State Dulles to undertake a transpolar flight from Rome to Taipei this weekend to try to reach a better understanding with President Chiang Kai-shek on how to meet the Communist political offensive against Formosa.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said when told of the Peiping statement that the department would have no immediate comment.

Officials had not definitely figured out in two weeks what caused the Reds to call off their Quemoy shelling Oct. 5. The puzzlement over cancellation of the cease-fire seemed likely to be even greater.

Dulles decided last Tuesday to accept an invitation from President Chiang to fly to the capital of Nationalist China because, associates said, he thought it vital to reach a better understanding with Chiang so that the Reds could not succeed in driving a wedge between Formosa and the United States.

The desire to break the Chinese Nationalists away from the United States was believed by Dulles to be the major objective of the Reds in carrying out their cease-fire operation.

In first announcing the cease-fire, the Reds proposed direct talks with the Formosa government.

The United States followed up by meeting Red China's demands for a halt in convoying but the Chinese Nationalists rejected the Red bid for negotiations on the grounds the cease-fire itself was some kind of trick and that no agreement with the Communists could be trusted anyway.

Nevertheless, U. S. officials said both publicly and privately that the suspension of American warship escorts for Nationalist supply vessels would be continued so long as the Communists withheld their attacks.

One of the most puzzling elements in the Red reversal today was the charge that U. S. warships had resumed convoying. This was contrary to the stated Washington position and raised the suspicion here that the Communists might have concocted this claim as an excuse to start firing again.

In any case, the key to the new Communist tactic may lie in the references to Dulles' visit to Formosa and the charge that the Chinese Nationalists have rebuffed Red overtures for negotiations.

What this suggests is that the Communists may be trying to undermine the success of the Dulles-Chiang talks in advance by demonstrating their ability to blast Quemoy at will.

Regardless of the Red aim, it is believed here the termination of the cease-fire will react against the Communists throughout the free world. Dulles has said any resumption of shelling the Nationalist offshore islands would bring free world condemnation of Red China.

Whatever its real purpose, Red China's declared aim with respect to the United States has been to force American abandonment of Formosa. Since they could not expect to achieve that end by negotations—in the diplomatic talks at Warsaw, for example—the Reds may well be trying to create a situation in which the Nationalists would lose faith in the power of the United States to support them effectively.

They may feel one way to go about that would be to turn off and turn on the shelling of Quemoy at will and, in effect, to tell the Nationalists, as today's announcement did, that they are being punished because their own leaders in cooperation with the United States did not live up to the truce conditions which Peiping had dictated.

Largest Team In UF Drive Is Being Organized

United Fund leaders are completing the organization of what will be the largest team of workers to engage in this year's UF finance campaign.

It is the Metropolitan Division, with Bernie Coughlin as chairman. Three vice chairmen, each with a separate unit of workers, will assist Coughlin. They are Mrs. Jack Irons, Women's Subdivision; Jerry Mancill, Men's Subdivision; and R. V. Middleton, Area Subdivision.

A briefing for all workers in the Metropolitan phase of the annual campaign is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Settles Hotel. It is important that every worker attend, said Coughlin, in order that each will know which prospective donors he is to contact. Prospect cards will be distributed. They will cover small businesses, or those employing fewer than 10 persons, and a number of individuals.

Middleton plans to assign separate crews to each of the four quadrants of the county.

First report of the Employe Division is scheduled for 5 p.m. Tuesday. The first report of the Public Employe Division os slated Wednesday and Special Gifts Workers will turn in their fourth report Thursday.

Kickoff of the Metropolitan Division a week from tomorrow will put every segment of the campaign machinery into motion.

Divers Seek Missing Bodies

ARGENTIA, Nfld. (AP)—Seven U.S. Navy divers went down in Placentia Bay here today looking for the bodies of 10 men believed trapped in an American radar patrol plane.

One man was known to have been killed in Saturday's crash, 10 are missing and 18 were rescued.

A wing of the big Navy Super Constellation was found Sunday but there was no sign of the fuselage. Officials have expressed the opinion that wind-whipped waves may have broken it up.

The plane plunged into 30 feet of water about 1,000 feet from a runway of the U.S. Naval Base here during an instrument landing. It was raining and foggy at the time but a navy officer said the field was well lighted.

Winds whipped the bay into a fury Sunday and halted search operations for six hours.

Lt. John Koskey, the plane's copilot, said he surrendered the controls to the pilot seconds before the crash. Altitude then was 250 feet. The weather was bad. The pilot is among the missing.

Standard Cuts Gasoline Prices

CHICAGO (AP)—Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) cut gasoline prices between 3-10ths cent and 1 1-10ths cent in central and southern Illinois and central and eastern Missouri.

The price cuts follow reductions of one cent a gallon by Standard of Indiana in northern Illinois last week.

Water Consumption Averages 3.2 Million

Water consumption for the month has been slightly over the 3.2 million mark per day.

The city's usage for the first 19 days of the month amounted to 61,011,000 gallons for a daily average of 3,211,000 gallons the day.

Sunday's consumption was 2,328,000 gallons, and it hit 3,043,000 gallons Saturday.

Ike Instructs Dulles To Keep Formosa Date

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower today instructed Secretary of State Dulles to continue on his way to Formosa despite ending of the Chinese Communist cease fire.

Eisenhower held a pre-dawn telephone conference with Dulles, who called from Fairbanks, Alaska. Dulles had arrived there en route to Taipei for consultation with President Chiang Kai-Shek.

Eisenhower, making a political campaign tour, was awakened at 5:30 a.m. MST to take Dulles' call.

They consulted for about 10 minutes and then decided that Dulles should continue his trip.

The conference took place shortly after the Chinese Communists announced they were ending their 15-day cease-fire. The Reds previously had announced the cease-fire would continue at least through this week.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, called a special news conference to announce the Eisenhower-Dulles conference.

"Both the President and Chiang Kai-shek had been hopeful that the suspension of hostilities gave a good opportunity to advance the cause of peace in that area (Formosa)," Hagerty said.

"They had also both agreed that it would be useful for the secretary of state to continue this visit to Formosa on this peaceful mission.

"Despite the bombardment that the Chinese Communists opened this morning, the President and the secretary of state hope the bombardment will be of short duration and that peace will be restored to the area."

The bombardment in the Quemoy beach area lasted 2 hours and 45 minutes, then stopped, the Nationalist Defense Ministry reported.

Lamesa's Largest Restaurant Burns

LAMESA — Fire destroyed Lamesa's largest restaurant, the Green Hut Cafe, early today with damage loss estimated at $60,000 by Fire Marshall Luther Standifer.

The blaze broke out in the kitchen shortly before 1:45 a.m. and a little after 2 o'clock the roof of the building collapsed.

Jack Hamm, night clean-up man and watchman, said he was working in the restuarant's lounges, on the west side of the building, when he smelled smoke about 1:45 a.m. He ran down a corridor to the dining area and saw the kitchen ablaze.

Hamm and his young son, who was asleep in a booth at the front, broke out a window to escape. They were locked in the building.

Police discovered the fire about the same time and turned in the alarm.

Firemen battled to prevent the spread of the blaze to Perry Bros. Variety Store in the adjoining building on the east. Carl Schoenewolf, Perry Bros. manager, said his store received some smoke damage. The cafe building was flanked on the west by a vacant lot.

G. M. Lamphere, restaurant owner, said attic of the building was filled with paper products, including napkins, checks and similar supplies.

Standifer said loss of fixtures and stock amounted to about $40,000. He placed the building loss at $20,000. Dr. N. H. Price was owner of the structure.

Two service clubs have been holding meetings in the cafe — Lions on Thursday and Rotarians on Fridays. Neither has announced plans for future meeting sites.

Knifing Stirs Chain Gang Ire

McALESTER, Okla. (AP)—The weekend knifing of a 22-year-old woman has stirred strong feelings in the Weathers community south of here against prison work gangs.

A detachment of prison workers was returned to the state penitentiary here early Sunday after the convict camp at Boling Hollow was invaded by almost a score of area residents armed with shotguns.

The irate residents demanded that the camp be evacuated, and Asst. Warden Clint Gladden ordered the move.

Touching off the incident was an attack on Mrs. Arliss Clunn, mother of three children.

Mrs. Clunn was struck over the head, knifed and robbed at a store in the Weathers community Saturday afternoon.

Two prison trusties working on the Boling Hollow project were jailed at McAlester in connection with the attack.

They were identified as Sammy Crawford, 38, and Illendus Parks, 28, both of Oklahoma City. Crawford is serving a life sentence for burglary, second offense, while Parks is serving a four-year term for grand larceny. Both are Negroes.

Mrs. Clunn was taken to the Hartshorne Clinic, and attendants said she suffered severe abdominal wounds. She told officers a man entered the store and gave her a note demanding money.

"I gave him $10, which is all I had, and then ran out of the store

"The man chased me and I fell down. I felt a pop bottle hit me on the head and then felt the knife in my stomach. The man then ran away and I ran to a neighbor's house for help, taking the children with me."

The store was burned after the attack.

Officers said there had been earlier complaints about the trusties working in the area.

Trials In Stanton

Judge Charlie Sullivan, 118th District Court, is in Stanton trying two civil jury cases this week. One is a damage suit and the other a contested divorce action. No local court will probably be conducted until Friday.

Dulles Terms It A 'Tragedy'

By GENE KRAMER

TAIPEI (AP) — The Chinese Reds broke their cease-fire in Formosa Strait today, pounding Quemoy for nearly three hours and then turning their guns on Tatan islet off Amoy.

On his way here for important talks, Secretary of State Dulles said it was a tragedy the Communists had again displayed their "warlike disposition." He made the statement during a refueling stop for his jet tanker at Fairbanks, Alaska.

The Nationalists on Quemoy, amply supplied during the nearly 15-day cease-fire, returned the Red fire. The Communist artillery caught four Nationalist supply ships in the Quemoy beach area—three LSTs and one Navy transport. There was no word on whether any were hit.

The Red guns blazed at Quemoy for 2 hours and 45 minutes, then halted. Eighty minutes later, they opened up on Tatan, a 96-acre islet 2½ miles south of Amoy.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry here said the Red bombardment began at 4 p.m. and 11,520 rounds were counted before the shelling of Quemoy halted. The ministry classified it as intense but far from the heaviest since the Communists began shelling the offshore islands Aug. 23.

RED CLAIM

The Chinese Communists said they were suspending their cease-fire—scheduled to end next Sunday—because U.S. warships had convoyed Nationalist supply vessels to Quemoy. U.S. officials denied it.

The Nationalistt Defense Ministry said the Communists had resumed shelling at 4 p.m., 50 minutes after Peiping Radio had broadcast orders canceling the cease-fire. The Communists announced a week ago that their self-imposed hold-fire had been extended to midnight next Sunday.

The Nationalists said they had waited one hour after the Communists began shooting, then opened fire.

A Nationalist spokesman said the Red bombardment was not so heavy as on Aug. 23, when the offshore war began with an intense two-hour bombardment. During that initial attack 41,000 Communist rounds were fired, killing 11 civilians and wounding 18 on Quemoy and causing more than 200 military casualties.

NEW PROBLEMS

The abrupt development raised grave new problems for U.S. Secretary of State Dulles, flying by jet tanker over the North Polar route to Formosa. His mission was to clear up misunderstandings with Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek and lay the base for a more substantial cease-fire in Formosa Strait.

Red Chinese Defense Minister Peng Teh-huai gave as his reason for resuming the bombardement a charge that U.S. warships had encroached on Chinese territorial waters Sunday night in escorting Nationalist ships to Quemoy.

"Shelling must therefore be resumed as a measure of punishment," the Communist order said.

The U.S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command declared the charge was completely untrue.

Only Sunday U.S. Navy commanders had disclosed that additional warships rushed to bolster the U.S. 7th Fleet here after the Communists started massive artillery attacks on the off-shore islands had been withdrawn.

In escorting Nationalist supply ships to Quemoy, U.S. warships have stayed three miles or more off Quemoy, the limit of territorial waters recognized by the United States. However, Red China claims a 12-mile limit.

CONDITIONS GIVEN

In announcing the first cease-fire, effective at midnight on Sunday, Oct. 5, the Red Chinese said a condition was that the United States halt its escorts.

The United States refused to accede specifically to the Communist demand. But after several days of cease-fire, it withdrew the escorts and said they were no longer necessary.

The Nationalists viewed the on-again artillery war as a fulfillment of their predictions that the Reds would renew action when it suited them. They have claimed the Communists were only following accepted Red tactics of "fight and talk, talk and fight."

This was in conflict with Dulles' hopes. He has been working on the line that the Communists might institute a permanent cease-fire if the Nationalists would thin their large garrison on Quemoy down to a point where it could not be considered an invasion threat to the mainland.

The Communists, in announcing their original cease-fire and in extending it a week later, bid for direct peace negotiations with Chiang's government. The Nationalists brusquely rejected the overture.

In the order today Peiping said it appeared "the time is yet to come when the Taiwan (Nationalist) authorities will wake up . . . and accept a peaceful setlement."

An earlier Peiping broadcast claimed a U.S. LSD and three destroyers had "invaded" waters off Quemoy Sunday night and remained over five hours. Peiping said it was giving the United States a "36th serious warning" against trespassing.

The two-week interval since Oct. 6 has been used by the Nationalists for a massive replenishment of Quemoy. Heavier guns, including 8-inch howitzers and 155 mm. Long Tom artillery, have been sent in.

Strange, Deadly Impulse Drives Cop Into Berserk Killings Of 4

NEW YORK (AP)—What deadly impulse drove policeman James McDermott to the cold-blooded slaughter of four men in a Broadway restaurant?

Did injuries he suffered last year in a car acident twist his mind with destructive urges?

Did he bear a grudge against the victims? One was a convicted loan shark and two of the others also had police records.

Had he been drinking?

Police investigated these angles today to try to uncover some explanation for the 34-year-old patrolman's violent outburst in the Pic-a-Rib Restaurant.

McDermott himself could not supply the answers immediately.

He lay speechless in critical condition on a hospital bed. His body was riddled with five bullet wounds inflicted by other policemen, who waged a spectacular gun duel with him on midtown streets as he fled.

Two of the capturing policemen were from McDermott's home precinct.

McDermott, married and the father of four, was off duty when he entered the restaurant on Broadway near 53rd Street about 1:45 a. m. A few minutes later, without warning, he drew two guns and blazed away at helpless patrons. Four men fell mortally wounded.

McDermott crashed through the glass paneling of a door and fled.

Pursuing policemen opened fire, hitting him five times. He returned the fire, wounding one of the pursuers, before he collapsed, unconscious, about three blocks from the restaurant.

McDermott had a clean record, including one commendation, during his 10 years on the force. Neighbors described him as a conscientious father and churchgoer. Fellow policemen recalled he was a "nice, pleasant guy."

Officials said McDermott had been under medical treatment since December 1957, when he was injured in the collision of a radio car with a truck. Two weeks ago, he underwent X-ray examinations after complaining of persistant headaches.

His four victims all died in hospitals. They were:

Edmund Leahy, 53, of Manhattan, a stevedore who recently served a prison sentence for loan sharking. His record also shows fines for gambling and bookmaking convictions.

Thomas Joseph O'Hare, 55, of Manhattan, an usher at Madison Square Garden, once arrested for alleged burglary but released with the charge dismissed.

Lawrence Davion, Mount Vernon, N. Y., known as "Larry the Barber," who carried papers listing two other names—Larry Jenkins and Frank Anderson. Davion's police record, dating from 1933, includes a jail term for altering identification marks on an automobile, a bookmaking fine and two other arrests.

Eugene Cronin, 60, Jersey City, N. J.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm was asked if there was evidence that McDermott had been involved with a loan shark, and he replied: "We have nothing to go on, but we are investigating that angle as well as all other angles."

Neighbors said McDermott had given up drinking about five years ago. But police checked bars near the Pic-a-Rib as they sought to determine where McDermott had spent the 12 hours between the time he left his home in the Flushing section of Queens and the time of the shootings.

Patrolman Larry Roden, wounded while chasing McDermott, was listed in not serious condition in Roosevelt hospital.

McDermott was charged with homicide and suspended from the force.

Not Bitter At Anybody

George Buchanan White Jr., 36, smiles from a cell in Hunt County jail at Greenville, after he learned that an ex-convict confessed to the armed robbery for which White was sentenced to 15 years in prison. White has served 7 years of the sentence. He said he was not bitter at anyone including the hold-up victim who identified White as the bandit.

Little Rock Opens New School Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Little Rock today lays the cornerstone of a bold program to evade school integration with registration of students in a private, segregated school for white seniors.

Volunteer workers labored almost around the clock for the past three days, readying a 32-classroom building in which an estimated 500 students will realize their first opportunity to attend school this year. They will not have to pay tuition at this time.

Actual classroom work will begin Tuesday, just 39 days after Gov. Orval E. Faubus invoked a new state law to shut down public high schools in the face of an immediate integration order from the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Little Rock Private School Corp. will finance the new school with funds from public subscription.

The building, formerly occupied by a University of Arkansas graduate facility, was leased only Thursday. Desks, blackboards and other furniture were moved in over the weekend.

W. C. Brashears, school superintendent for the corporation, said classes will open for 10th and 11th graders.

"We felt we ought to take care of the seniors first because they've got to be ready for classes next fall," Brashears said. "But we haven't forgot the underclassmen. We're working toward a lease on a building for them, but I can't say now when we can take them."

Availability of qualified teachers continued as the main stumbling block. By scraping the barrel for retired educators and those who had voluntarily left the profession, Brashears found enough teachers to staff a faculty for seniors.

The entire faculties and administrative staffs of the closed high schools are prohibited from working for the private corporation by a federal court restraining order, the same order which forced the private school corporation to abandon its original plan of using the closed public school buildings for its classes.

Only basic courses for college entrance will be taught initially at the new school, which lacks the modern facilities and extensive equipment of the closed schools.

An estimated 3,600 high school students, white and Negro, were left without schools after the Faubus closing order. An estimated 900 pupils, including 200 Negroes, since have transferred to schools outside the Little Rock district.

No provision has been made for private schools for Negroes, but the Board of Trustees of Arkansas Baptist College for Negroes meets this afternoon to consider the possibility of operating a high school branch.

Two white Baptist colleges are registering students for high school academies.

Whitney Attends Managers Meeting

Herbert Whitney was in Dallas today attending the convention of the International City Managers' Assn. The convention will continue through Thursday, but Whitney plans to return Wednesday.

The city manager has taken the managership at Corpus Christi and he will be here only for about a month more. The City Commission is looking for a successor, and Whitney was authorized to talk to applicants while at the Dallas convention.

Whitney last week told the commission the convention would be an ideal place to talk to men who might be interested in the position here.

DWI, Weapons Charges Are Filed

Two men were arrested on charges of driving automobiles while under influence of intoxicating liquor over the weekend.

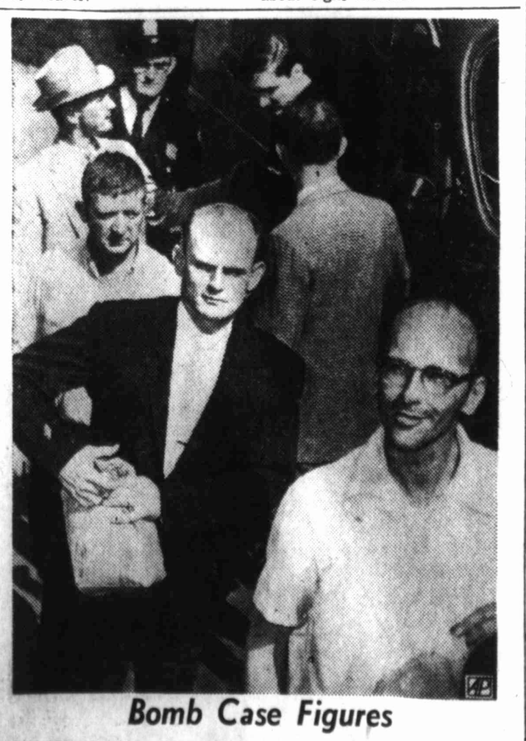

Carl Gean Watkins was being held in the county jail. Fred Lancaster had been released on $500 bail.

Three arrests were made for carrying concealed weapons. They were identified as Luz Quintina and Manuel Quintina and Lee Emmett Weaver.

City Hall Has New Receptionist Today

Mrs. Glenn Kingston went to work this morning as new receptionist and secretary of the city manager.

She replaces Dorothy Arnold who resigned to go to work for an oil company here. Miss Arnold had been working for the city about eight months.

Constable Now Is 'Deputy Sheriff'

Wes Patton, constable, became to all practical purposes a full-fledged deputy sheriff today but still continues as constable.

Sheriff Miller Harris, appearing before the county commissioners, told the board that the volume of work on his department is mounting and that he has to have extra help.

He said he had talked to Patton and that the constable, who in his official capacity is now receiving $3,600 a year, was willing to work full-time in the office of the sheriff, provided he was compensated on a parity with the other deputies on Harris' staff.

Harris suggested to the commissioners that Patton be paid $50 a month extra and that he would then be on a full time assignment to work under the sheriff in any capacity that arose.

Sometime ago, the commissioners had increased Patton's salary from $2,400 to $3,600 when it was agreed that he would act in a semi-official position as a deputy. Patton told the court this morning that he had endeavored to serve in any way he was asked in the sheriff's office under that agreement. Harris agreed this was true but pointed out that because of the difference in pay received by Patton and other deputies and because of his connection officially as a constable, he had felt a reluctance to saddle a full load of deputy work on him.

Harris called attention to the numerous burglaries and other cases his office is expected to investigate and said he found it impossible to get all of the work done with his present crew.

After reviewing the problem, the commissioners voted to grant the request with the admonition to Patton that at any time the agreement faltered, his salary would be reduced to the $3,600 level.

P. O. Hughes moved that the request be granted and the motion was seconded by Red Gilliam. It was passed without dissenting vote.

Report Urges Lead In Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States should take the lead in creation of an international body to supervise exploration of space, a congressional report says.

"A move now by the free nations to create this international space organization might prove to be the best approach in saving the world from a military race to dominate space," said a staff report of the House Astronautics and Space Committee.

The Soviet Union should be given a genuine invitation to join in, the report said, but "if the offer is not accepted the free world must still move ahead to create the partnership." The Soviet Union eventually would be forced to take note of the proposed agency, the report added.

It said the country's new civilian space agency, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, could take a number of steps along this line even before an international agency is created.

Among these the report suggested permanent liaison facilities to assist cooperative efforts among nations, a catalogue of space projects and scientific talent, exchange of scientific personnel among nations, and expansion of scientific training facilities.

Foreign scientists and nations are now willing to work with this country, the report said, but this disposition might be lessened if too much of the information is kept secret.

"United States insistence on watertight security in scientific matters, some of which may be only remotely concerned with the national military interest, has become an object of wide criticism. This criticism is nowhere stronger than among our allies," the report said.

GM Assembly Lines Roll Again

DETROIT (AP) — A big step toward full production of 1959 model cars came today as General Motors assembly lines began rolling for the first time since Oct. 2.

At the same time Chrysler reported all its plants were back in operation as workers returned at the last strikebound plant in Detroit.

Strikes over local issues remaining after national contract agreements at the big three have tied up new model output. Ford cleared up all its local grievances two weeks ago and has been producing cars.

Today is the deadline for United Auto Workers members to ratify terms of the new three-year national contracts. The UAW said approval is expected.

Tanker Blows Up, 20 Crewmen Killed

LONDON (AP)—The 17,409-ton tanker Stanvas Japan blew up in the Arabian Sea today, killing 20 of its crew.

The London owners of the vessel said the 17,735-ton Panamian tanker Patricia had messaged it has rescued 50 other members of the crew of 70.

The messages said the tanker's midship section and bridge had been blown away in the blast, 525 miles northwest of Bombay and 160 miles southeast of Karachi.

Plans are being made for a naval ship to try to tow the wreck to port.

Music Listeners To Meet Tuesday

Members of the Classical Music Listeners will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Summers, 1413 Sycamore. This is a change in the meeting date, due to the scheduled appearance of the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra on the regular evening for the session.

Insecticide Rings Fire Alarm Bell

The fire department's telephone was busy Sunday night on calls about a fire which wasn't a fire.

The managment at Furr Food Store on Eleventh had notified the fire department that it planned to fumigate the building and was using an insecticide which created a large amount of smoke.

The management failed to notify everyone in Big Spring, however, as the fire department learned. Five calls came to the department between 9 and 11 p.m. Sunday from persons reporting a "fire" at Furr's.

One woman even said she smelled smoke. As a precautionary measure, the fire department went to the store on one occasion just to be sure that it was the insecticide and not an actual fire which was causing all the disturbance.

Firemen did have one small fire Sunday. A car developed a fire among the wiring, but little damage was reported. The car was on the Gregg viaduct, and firemen from the sub station on the North Side answered the call.

Blanchard Child's Services Tuesday

Thieves Take Keys For Coke Vending Boxes

Burglars stole a stack of keys from the Big Spring Coca Cola Bottling Co. sometime Sunday night, Sheriff Miller Harris reported today.

The keys are the ones which truckers for the company use to unlock vending machines in stores, filling stations and office buildings.

The prowlers, according to Jack Roden, manager, broke open a rear window to gain entrance to the building. The trucks were stored in the building. The keys were in the trucks.

The thieves also jimmied open the vending machine in the plant and took what cash it contained. Roden estimated the amount at $5 or $10.

Nothing else was disturbed.

E. W. York, deputy sheriff, investigated the break-in. He said that he had some clues to the case and would continue his work on it today.

York also said that thieves broke into the National Guard Armory sometime last night. A futile attempt to break into the cigarette machine was made but the thieves gave up before they had opened the box. Nothing, apparently, was taken.

Also reported to the sheriff was burglary of the Cramer Grocery at Coahoma— a place which was raided less than a week ago.

Fire Victim Still Critical

Herman Dyer, a Lamesan burned in a fire near Vealmoor Friday, remained on the critical list at Cowper Hospital today.

His doctor said this morning that he had slightly improved but he was still in critical condition. Practically his entire body was covered with burns.

Dyer was involved in a flash fire at an oil well near Vealmoor Friday afternoon. He is from Lamesa and works for a well servicing firm there.

Opening Program Is Ticket Deadline For Concert Season

More memberships were being sold as the Big Spring Concert Assn. neared the deadline on Thursday—the date of the opening program of the year.

Word from San Antonio was that the famous San Antonio Symphony had scored heavily in its opening of the concert Saturday. The orchestra's program here Thursday evening will be the first of the season away from San Antonio.

Victor Allesandro, one of the outstanding conductors of the nation, will have 75 positions in his organization when it tunes up at the municipal auditorium Thursday.

Maj. Vincent Brophy, president, urged those who have not yet obtained their season memberships to it do so as promptly as possible. Any director of the association will be able to accommodate purchasers, or the season tickets can be had by writing to P. O. Box 87 or at Alexander's Jewelry.

Adults are $7.50 for the four programs, students $3.50. No single admission tickets are sold for any of the performances.

Second number on the current series is the record-smashing, Pulitizer - prize winning play, "Diary of Anne Frank," starring Frances Lederer.

The third is Ruth Page's colorful Chicago Opera Ballet, starring Marjorie Tallchief, George Skibine, and Veronika Mladka.

The fourth, and a change of pace, is the rising balladist, Dylan Todd. Of him, J. Dorsey Callaghan wrote in the Detroit Free Press that "To the select list of inspired singers of folk songs may now be added the name of Dylan Todd, the rangy ex-Marine . . . Todd limits himself to the music of people from which he stems. ". . . He sings "easy." Todd drapes his six-feet two inches over a high stool and sings as though he enjoyed it, which is another mark of the good folk singer. And as accompaniment he uses a guitar which came from the workshops of Simplicio in Barcelona (a sort of Stradivarias of the instrument). Some shyness still clings to him and adds considerably to his performances."

In Austin this summer Todd "captivated the capacity audience in the Recital Hall," according to a Daily Texan reviewer. His repertoire ran from "Black Is the Color of My True Love's Hair," to "Shenandoah," to "John Henry" and "Strawberry Roan." During his two-hour recital he was cheered all the way. The reviewer also praised Todd as a guitarist of no mean ability.

Little Things Can Lead To Disaster

DALLAS (AP) — A massive C133 military transport plane set down here yesterday and spectators swarmed around and through the ship.

A toddler saw a fluttering red ribbon and pulled.

It took perspiring crewmen of the world's largest cargo plane several minutes to find and replace the rod attached to the ribbon.

The rod? It fits into the landing gear to insure against collapse while the plane is on the ground.

Yarborough Urges Private Charity

OTTINE, Tex. (AP)—U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough said yesterday government aid can't possibly supplant private charities in meeting the needs of the unfortunate.

The Texas Democrat told 800 guests at the homecoming of the Elks' Crippled Children's Hospital "The federal or state government could never provide all the necessary funds for needy citizens, such as the crippled children here. Part of charity must always come from the individual heart and mind."

New Motor Fuel Studied

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A chemical substitute for motor fuel which could double the power output of automobiles and aircraft engines is under investigation here.

Decelopment of a successful fuel from these compounds could mean engines that would be less than half the size and weight of present engines but have as much power as present ones, said Ernest Starkman, who heads the testing project.

Starkman is a professor at the University of California. He told of the results of initial tests showing the energy output of the compounds compared with conventional gasolines.

The compounds are known chemically as nitro-paraffins. They are made by mixing methane, propane, butane and other petroleum products with nitric acid.

These compounds now are relatively expensive, Starkman said, but if produced in quantity could be made economically.

Whether the nitro-paraffins are explosive is a matter of varying opinion among authorities. Starkman said he did not consider them any more dangerous than gasoline. Hot-rodders sometimes mix them with gasoline to increase the power of their engines.

One of the problems, the engineer said, is pre-ignition—when an overheated engine causes premature explosion of the compressed fuel and air mixture. Starkman said, however, that present engines probably could be modified to use the compounds safely and without pre-ignition trouble.

The nitro-paraffins might be especially useful in Diesel engines, Starkman said, because pre-ignition there is an advantage. They also could help to reduce Diesel smoke, he added.

Main use for the fuels in ordinary automobiles, he said, probably would be as secondary fuels to provide sudden spurts of power where needed.

Success Story— Japanese Style

By KENNETH ISHII

TOKYO (AP)—Forty years ago Keita Goto was a faceless nobody in the army of Japanese government railroad officials.

Today he runs one of the nation's biggest commercial combines. It earns $500,000 a day—or 180 million a year. Most Japanese regard the stocky, silver-haired, 77-year-old Goto with unalloyed awe.

When a Japanese rides the famed Tokyu railway network covering the populous Tokyo-Yokohama area—and millions do daily—a slice of the fare goes to Goto.

When a Japanese rides a bus on Tokyo's silver bus fleet, Goto gets his share of the fare.

When a Japanese goes to a movie, the chances are Goto will pocket a percentage of the ticket. He owns a major movie studio and a chain of theaters.

When a Japanese makes a purchase in two of Tokyo's biggest department stores, Goto's there for his cut too.

Billionaire, transportation magnate, industrialist, oil man, movie mogul, owner of department stores—this is Keita Goto.

Goto shrugs off any suggestion that his phenomenal success is remarkable.

"The basis of my business philosophy," he remarked with customary brevity in an interview at his Tokyo home, "is that debts must be settled promptly."

"Never undertake a business venture in which you cannot expect to pay back all loans with interest in 15 to 20 years."

Goto planned, borrowed, invested, always remembering his cardinal rule.

"Finally," he said, "I was able to reach the point where having paid back all debts, everything I earned became clear profit."

Goto reached this point about 25 years ago.

As chairman of the board of the huge Tokyu interests, Goto each day issues "memorandums" to his subordinates from his home where he keeps an office with four liaison men.

"Mr. Goto's memorandums," observed one confidant, "are handled with as much reverence and dispatch as an imperial rescript from the Emperor."

Sometimes the memorandums are one-sentence orders to get working on a multimillion-dollar project Goto conceived in one of his predawn "think periods."

Goto's first love, however, is the privately owned Tokyu railway network built in 1923 and now operated by his son Noboru.

Goto has since established or bought control of 14 other railway and bus companies and one shipping line.

He has founded a bank, three real estate companies, gone in a big way into oil, movie-making, tourism, cement and tire manufacturing, and heavy industry.

EAT AND GROW YOUNGER—14

Oldtime Beverage Takes New Form

By LELORD KORDEL
Installment Fourteen

Milk, man's first and oldest beverage, has taken on a new form that puts it in the front ranks of concentrated protective foods. I refer to dry skim milk—the new process powdered milk—an inexpensive, readily digested, high-protein food that is handy to use and short on calories.

Liquid milk is dried by being sprayed into compressed air, and the milk solids come out with the fine, smooth texture of face powder. The color is beautifully white with a faint greenish cast caused by the high concentration of riboflavin. The flavor of the new dry skim milk is mild and delicate, and its faint smell resembles that of sweet dried coconut.

I must confess to taking a few liberties with history when I say that dried milk is "new." Actually, long before the birth of Christ the ancient Egyptians prepared a concentrated milk by drying it in the sun.

And the sturdy Mongol horsemen who made up the invading armies of the conquerer Genghis Kahn were supplied with sun-dried milk as a concentrated marching ration that would assure them full nourishment necessary for their strenuous campaigns. So we're a few centuries late in learning that dried milk is a wonderfully concentrated food. If everyone in this country were to use this economical food in their daily diet, it would overcome the widespread deficiencies of protein, calcium and riboflavin which afflict thousands upon thousands of persons, causing them to fall ready victims to aging diseases.

HELPS DIET PROGRAM

Did you know that the addition of even so little as a tablespoonful of powdered skim milk to your daily servings of food would be a worthwhile contribution to your Eat-and-Grow-Younger program?

Did you know that powdered skim milk is tolerated by persons who find whole fresh milk hard to digest?

Did you know that the highly concentrated amounts of protein, calcium and riboflavin in dry skim milk can help prolong your "prime of life" and aid you in retaining youthfulness?

A mistaken belief popularly held abo fresh milk is that the "richer the milk, the better." Nothing could be further from the truth. The protein, minerals and vitamin B-complex (riboflavin and thiamin mainly) are all contained in the skim milk, not in the cream.

If you want to gain weight, dry skim milk, used liberally, will provide extra amounts of the protein, minerals and vitamins, lack of which probably caused you to be underweight in the first place.

If, on the other hand, overweight is your problem, and yours should be a reducing diet, then dry skim milk is equally good. Liberal amounts of this powdered skim milk can be used without making your calorie count jump up like the thermometer on a hot day. This milk can be incorporated into your reducing menu in a number of flavorful and appetite-satisfying ways. Moreover, the highly concentrated protein in this type of milk is a valuable aid to a high-protein reducing diet, since the more protein you eat (without adding calories) the more quickly your sluggish thyroid gland can be prodded into taking over and bringing your body weight back to normal.

SKIM MILK CAN HELP

Then again you may not like the taste of either sweet milk or buttermilk well enough to drink it. If so, dry skim milk makes it possible for you to obtain all the health-protective values in this protein food without offending your sense of taste.

Incorporate at least one-half cup of the milk powder into your food each day, and you'll get all the benefits of a quart of fresh liquid milk.

REAL NUTRITION BARGAIN

Right now powdered skim milk is the biggest food bargain of all. You can slice your milk bill to a third with powdered skim milk as well as supplementing your diet with the valuable proteins and vitamins and minerals found in this wonderful food.

From the standpoint of economy and convenience alone, housewives tell me they would not be without skim milk powder after once using it. Yet economy and convenience are but two of the advantages gained by the advent of this new dry skim milk.

A teaspoonful of skim milk powder thoroughly mixed into the beaten egg makes wonderful scrambled eggs for breakfast, an excellent high-protein dish with which to start off the day. At lunch, dry skim milk can be added to soups. At dinner, the fruit pudding or egg custard served for dessert should contain a tablespoon or more of dry skim milk in addition to the liquid milk specified in the recipe.

EXTRA JUICE HAMBURGERS

If you want an extra-juicy, extra-plump and extra-rich broiled hamburger soon, just add a couple of tablespoons of skim milk powder to the mixture.

For about 30 cents a day you can furnish 60 per cent of your family's daily protein allowance. Compare this with getting an equivalent amount of complete protein from other sources. Your savings can be as high as $400 a year for a family of four.

Dry skim milk can help build strong and healthy bodies in childhood and adolescence. In adult life it will help maintain and sustain you. In old age, it can help you find the balanced level of nourishment that can ward off the illnesses associated with increased years.

Is there a real need for dried skim milk? With more than half of the American people losing their youth before they are 40, I should say there is.

Tomorrow: Honey, a natural sweet, provides fast energy at minimum cost.

First Victim Of Rio Flood

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The lower Rio Grande flood, falling at the upper end and rising at the lower, claimed its first victim Sunday.

Rene Ramirez, 35, drowned beside a flooded highway between Panitas and Lajoya, Tex., while trying to tie down butane gas tanks.

Estimates put the homeless on both sides of the river at about 12,000. Agriculture officials said the loss to crops and property would run into the millions.

The Weather Bureau said the river would continue a very slow fall in the upper reaches but slow rises were expected on the lower end. The flood extends from this area, almost on the Gulf, upstream about 150 miles to Falcon Dam.

An estimated 8,000 persons have been evacuated from Camargo, Mexico. The Rio San Juan, which flows into the Rio Grande, backed up into the town. Another estimated 1,000 were left homeless in Reynosa, Mexico, and the Reynosa Chamber of Commerce said about 2,000 more persons from small Mexican villages along the river are being housed and fed in Reynosa.

An undetermined number of families was evacuated to higher ground in parts of Matamoros, Mexico.

About 400 persons left their homes in small Texas towns along the river. Many were housed in a Red Cross center set up at Lajoya.

Bus Workers Stay Off Jobs

By The Associated Press

Striking employes of Continental Bus Systems, Inc., voted in Houston and Dallas Sunday to remain off their jobs until acceptable contract agreements are reached.

About 200 Dallas and Fort Worth employes of the company agreed at a Dallas meeting to ignore a company ultimatum to return to their jobs Monday.

The company had notified strikers to return to work with a cut in salary or be fired. It said the cut was necessary because of company financial losses during the walkout.

J. W. Connally of Washington, general executive of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Railway and Motor Coach Employes, said after the Dallas meeting the consensus of the strikers was they will not return to work until they win what they call a reasonable settlement.

The workers have been out 110 days in support of demands for disability and retirement plans, increased wages and better working conditions.

At Houston, Charles Hunter, business agent of Local 1142, said after a meeting: "We're all sold on not going back until we get a reasonable settlement of this issue."

About 100 employes of the bus company in Houston are affected.

The attorney for the Dallas local, L. N. Wells Jr., said as a result of the company ultimatum he was filing charges of unfair labor practices with the National Labor Relations Board Monday.

Youths Take Body From Mausoleum, Hang It To Pole

HOUSTON (AP)—A teen-ager is charged with taking a body from an elaborate mausoleum and hanging in to a flag pole in front of a school as a prank yesterday.

Police found the body yesterday hanging from the top of a 35-foot flag pole in front of James Hogg Junior High School.

They filed charges of interfering with a dead body against Edward Silvestain, 17, and turned two other youths, aged 16 and 15, over to juvenile authorities. A fourth was sought for questioning.

The body was that of Isaac Lewis, a Negro who operated a funeral home, restaurant and tavern here until his death on Dec. 24, 1938.

The body was embalmed by a special process and had been in the mausoleum for more than 19 years, Garland Butler, Oak Park Cemetery custodian, said. He said Lewis paid more than $7,000 for the tomb before his death.

Butler said vandals broke the lock on the door of the mausoleum, where the body had rested in a sealed gold-plated copper casket. The cemetery is located about eight miles from the school.

Police said all of the youths questioned made written statements.

Detectives J. O. Brannon and J. R. McCafferty said the boys said they thought it would be a "great prank" to place the body in front of the school, which one of them attends.

A Bible Thought For Today

"But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition."
(1 Timothy 6:9)

Opposing Something Yet Undefined

Long before the Legislature convenes and before the measure is actually presented, the battle lines are being drawn on a county home rule amendment proposal. Unfortunately they are being drawn on a historic but unreal line that is supposed to mark the urban from the rural.

The issue on this is not and should not be urban or rural but effective, economical government and how best to obtain it.

Opposition to the idea of home rule for counties is basically the opposition to change, per se. People are reluctant to give up the known for the unknown, though the known sometimes be less than good.

Still other opposition will come from those who have sacred cows which might be offered up on the altar as a sacrifice to progress.

There are some few who would oppose out of purely personal reasons such as the potential destruction of a needless or an under-loaded and over-paid position.

Notwithstanding, we cannot understand spontaneous opposition to something that has not even been defined. The goal of opposition per se is to prevent the issue ever coming to a clear definition on a local level in the hands of a commission of local citizens familiar with the local situation.

You Can't Play Footsie With Reds

Secretary of State Dulles has labored in season and out to remind the country that you can't play footsie with the Communists, Chinese or Russian, that the word of a Communist is no good, that if you give the Communist world conspiracy an inch here, it will take an ell somewhere else, that any weakening of our "posture of defense," diplomatic or military, is an invitation to disaster.

This administration has blown hot and cold on the subject of getting tough with the toughies. One week, we were going to send American troops into Indochina, "if necessary," to prevent the collapse of the French Empire there. The next week, when the country showed alarm at the prospect of war, we eased away from that particular brink.

More recently, when the Red Chinese started to shell Quemoy and Little Quemoy, and to make warlike motions at Formosa itself, the White House talked pretty tough, even hinted that we'd stop at nothing to defend those islands. Immediately, adverse reaction descended upon White House and State Department, and the original tough stand was modified. Chiang Kai-shek was slapped down by the President for being "silly" enough to keep so many troops on Quemoy out of his meager supply.

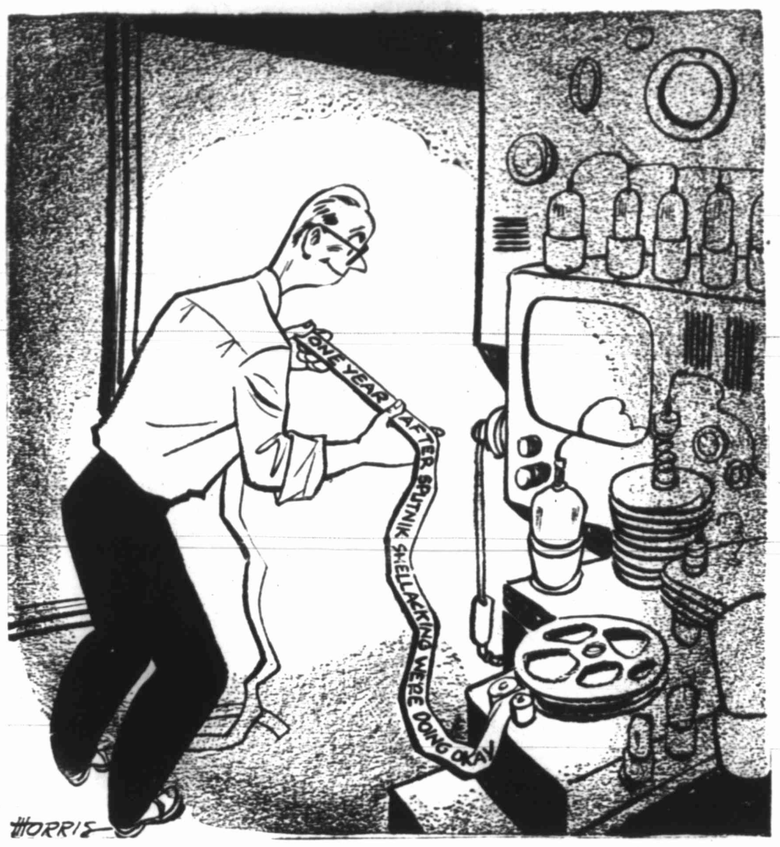

Then Chiang took alarm, and it became necessary to reassure him. After all, if Chiang decided to take out, blooie would go our position of strength in the Far East.

But no sooner had Chiang been partially soothed that Secretary of Defense McElroy shows up in Formosa and starts to lecture him about the size of his defense establishment. He must reduce. Very well, said Chiang, if he reduces will the U. S. use its own forces to keep the Reds out of the offshore islands? What! Certainly not.

So. We start singing low and sweet again. After all, there'll be an election next month and the slogan is officially "Peace and Prosperity."

Under Truman we cut back severely in the late 1940s—and reaped Korea. We went soft in Indochina under Eisenhower — and the Reds swallowed North Vietnam. We slapped down Britain and France in the Middle East—and later had to send in the Marines and paratroopers to pick up the pieces. Now they're coming out, and the Middle East may be lost to the West.

"Men cry peace, peace, when there is no peace." No peace, just an interval in the cold war which, every time we try to cool it off by retreat, becomes hotter and hotter.

Hands Tied On Prosecuting Communists

WASHINGTON—Bombings in the South and then in the Middle West—Peoria, Illinois—and now also in Boston are part of the nationwide activity of those who want to make it appear the United States is denying religious freedom. Not only Jewish places of worship but a religious center of a non-Jewish sect have been bombed.

On the authority of a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee which last year heard testimony about Communist connections with the bombing of a home in Louisville, Kentucky, it can be stated that the Communists are busily engaged in infiltrating the churches, the parent-teacher associations, the colleges and the high schools as well as labor organizations.

The report filed in the Senate just a few months ago says that the subcommittee as a whole concurs in the findings of the chairman and ranking minority member who conducted the hearings in Memphis last year. The report says:

"Communist activity in the Midsouth area is not a matter of the past. Such activity goes on today.

"The pattern of this present-day Communist activity in the midsouth is highly conspiratorial, deeply cloaked in secrecy. The Communist participants in the conspiracy have taken extraordinary security measures in order to protect their network from detection.

"Members of the Communist network in the Midsouth include men and women who are highly educated, efficient, and give every appearance of respectability.

"Members of the Communist network in the Midsouth apparently are able to transfer their employment from city to city and from state to state, with their transfers expedited by still other members of the network.

"The basic Communist operation in the Midsouth is directed against all generations; but there has emerged a pattern of a new and younger generation of Communist teachers who have been trained by older members of the Communist party, and are now carrying on the functions of the network."

The attorney general of the state of Kentucky, J. M. Ferguson, and A. Scott Hamilton, the prosecuting attorney at Louisville, testified before the Senate subcommittee about the bombings there and laid the blame on Communist activity. They pointed to recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United Staes which had weakened the power of a state to prosecute for seditious activity. Mr. Hamilton testified:

"Now, we wanted to prosecute one of the men at least, or two of them for blowing up this house in Louisville and the circuit court, after the Nelson case (decided by the Supreme Court), ruled that we could not show the Communist end of this thing as the motive. Well, any lawyer knows, I am sure you all know, if you can't show the motive for the crime, 99 times out of 100 you are not going to be able very well to prove a crime."

This correspondent on April 30, 1958, wrote a dispatch about the bombing of a church at Jacksonville, Florida, and drew attention then to what the grand jury of Jefferson County, Kentucky, formally said in its report about the bombing there. The report said:

"It is very significant to this grand jury that this case seems to follow the pattern used by the Communist party to create trouble between the respective races in this country, and that one of the specific methods of doing this is by the purchase of property for Negroes in areas which normally are occupied by white persons, and then causing incidents such as this. . .

"It is the opinion of this grand jury that it would have been impossible for the explosive to have been placed under the house as it was by anyone from the outside . . . In other words, it is our opinion that the charge was placed and was discharged by someone having ready access to the home."

The grand jury indicted five persons on charges of banding together "to commit, aid or counsel" the act of bombing. At the trial, two undercover agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation testified that Communist party members were taught to incite racial violence. The accused man denied he was or ever had been a member of the Communist party. A woman undercover agent for the FBI testified, however, that he was a member, that she attended a Communist party meeting at his home, that she had paid party dues to him and that his wife was also a member of the Communist party. The jury voted for convictions, sentencing the accused to 15 years in jail and a fine of $15,000.

But the Supreme Court of the United States, by its decision in the famous Nelson case, made it necessary for a state appeals court to turn the accused loose. The Supreme Court held that states couldn't enforce anti-sedition laws. Further trials were abandoned as useless.

A few persons involved in the bombing episodes now being reportd in the press may be caught some day but, when prosecuted, there will be no chance for any state to punish the conspirators behind it all who hide in other states. It isn't a federal crime to bomb a church, and there is no effective way to inquire into the motives of those who direct the bombing conspiracies. Congressional committees are restricted because any Communist can plead the Fifth Amendment and get away with it.

Nixon Takes A Long Chance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon has taken over direction of the Republican party's campaign and, one way or another, it should have a profound effect on his personal political future.

Nixon could have held aloof and quietly husbanded his strength for the presidential race in 1960. Instead, he chose to pitch in with exertions matching in frequency and vehemence his campaign efforts in 1954 when, as now, he was not a candidate.

The tide seems to be running against the Republicans. Democrats confidently predict big gains in both House and Senate and even control of California, second only to New York in political importance.

A Democratic landslide despite Nixon's efforts might tarnish his prospects in 1960. By closely identifying himself with the 1958 campaign, he has taken the risk of being so deeply snowed under that he might not be able to dig himself out in time for the Republican presidential nomination two years hence.

On the other hand, he might be better off if he can demonstrate enough political dynamism to narrow the margin of defeat if not stave it off entirely. In that case he might emerge as the rallying point for a revitalized GOP drive in 1960.

Nixon's determination to make a fight of it got him involved last week in a curious kind of public debate with the titular head of the party, President Eisenhower. In the upshot both Eisenhower and his chief Cabinet officer, Secretary of State Dulles, backtracked, and Nixon had his way.

Nixon's campaign oratory was stingingly sharp. He accused the Truman administration of being spendthrift and yet miserly with defense funds. He said it "spent more on peanuts than on missiles."

When the Democrats published a manifesto critical of Eisenhower foreign policy, Nixon fired back that "the Acheson foreign policy resulted in war and the Eisenhower-Dulles policy resulted in peace."

In the wake of this, Eisenhower and Dulles told their news conferences they hoped foreign policy would be kept out of the campaign. They appeared to frown on Nixon's slashing statements. But, after the vice president had a number of telephone conversations with Washington, they announced full support for him.

Eisenhower sent Nixon a telegram saying no one could outdo Nixon when it came to defending the administration against Democratic attacks on its foreign policy. Eisenhower generally has let Nixon do the campaign talking about domestic affairs, and the telegram seemed to give him a go-ahead in full.

The Uplifting Of The Sea

ABOARD THE S.S. BRASIL AT SEA (AP)—You don't have to ride a rocket into outer space today to "get away from it all."

You can do it more comfortably and successfully by taking a cruise.

The tensions of ordinary life ashore begin to disappear as soon as the ship pulls away from the pier. You fret briefly over whether you brought the right kind of clothes. You are a bit uneasy over whether you'll get a good seat in the dining room, or a deck chair in the right location.

But in another day all these minor doubts disappear. You find out that as long as you dress sensibly and don't try to storm the dining room in a Bikini, it makes little real difference what you wear or where you sit.

The sea breeze is like a benediction, cleansing your mind and soul of its accumulated landgrime and pettiness of thought and action.

The endless immensity of wave and sky has a curious double effect on you. It sobers you with a realization of how small a thing man is physically in comparison with the giant forces of nature. At the same time it lifts you spiritually, and you sense that in some wonderful way you are an eternal part of something larger than yourself. It is as if the sea had become a church.

The modern ocean-going liner is like a floating city deliberately designed to make everyone happy.

This new 25 million dollar Moore-McCormack vessel, the largest ever built for the South American trade, is a good example of why hundreds of thousands of travelers still prefer to sail the ocean rather than skip over it by plane. They cling to the theory that the real enjoyment of a journey lies in the going—not just the getting there.

So this two-block-long vessel was designed to wall out worries and wall in as many comforts as possible. The Brasil is a miniature metropolis, air-conditioned throughout—so you can pick your own climate.

It has all-outside cabins with piped in music. It has a library, a movie with the latest Hollywood films, a gymnasium, a card room, a night club, a beauty parlor, a barber shop, a hospital and rooms in which you can learn the cha-cha or study a foreign language. It carries two ministers.

There is something to appeal to all members of the family. There are two swimming pools, one for adults, one for children. The kids have a special playroom and a wired in play space on deck with a slide and sand box. The teenagers also have their own entertainment room, equipped with a juke box and a soda fountain.

A room that pleasantly surprised many of the grownup passengers is a bar lounge in which a rye and water costs 20 cents, bourbon on the rocks 25 cents, scotch and soda 30 cents. Imported beer costs 30 cents a bottle.

"Everybody is drinking as if he were afraid it would go out of style," said one wag, pointing out that it was inevitable since a chocolate nut sundae cost 35 cents —"and nobody can afford ice cream."

But after becoming convinced the ship wouldn't run dry, even the serious drinkers have settled down to their normal intake.

Southward we plough under serene skies by day, through tropical waters phosphorescent by night. Nobody troubles about the hydrogen bomb, there are no political speeches to listen to, and who misses television when he can look up at the stars?

There is a phone in the room, but it doesn't ring. There are no traffic jams, no parking problems, no trains to catch, and to the best of my knowledge no one aboard ship has been hit by a taxicab.

Peace in a wide, wide sea—it's wonderful. Sometimes I wonder how life is going with all the poor folks tied to the land.

But don't call to tell me. I'll call you.

Stick To Ice Cream

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Beer and ice cream don't mix. That's the word from Director of Public Safety Meredith B. Kerstetter.

Kerstetter told beach ice cream venders that they must maintain proper decorum if they wish to sell their products.

Consequently, he added, the custom of carrying beer with dry ice packs for the peddler's personal use, must cease.

Won't Talk

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—State fish experts here don't agree that fishermen brag too much.

Quite the opposite, they say. Because fishermen are reluctant to talk about their exploits, they pose a serious handicap to scientific fish management. Fishermen probably keep things to themselves, they add, because big stories draw competition.

The Insects Are Winning The War

An official of one of the Audubon societies wonders aloud if we're not making our insects tougher through the intensive use of chemical insecticides.

I can answer that without doing any research. If they're not more durable than they used to be, then they've taken a tip from the football people and learned to two-platoon you.

The multi-legged creatures, which come out at night and caress the back of your neck after making a couple of passes in your direction, regard the early DDT's as a sort of tonic. In short, they take a bath in the stuff and then set about to give you the DT's.

A commission of experts at the World Health Organization, in conclave at Geneva in April, 1956, reported that 10 species of disease-carrying insects have developed resistance to insecticides and that resistant tendencies have appeared in 27 other species.

Science holds the fear that insects may grow so strong that they may, in time, wipe out mankind. Such a fate would serve the insects right. They've been profiting from the fruits of man's toil long enough.

For the life of me, I can't understand why a mosquito relishes the idea of buzzing around inside a house at 2 a.m., when he would have the great outdoors all to himself.

Or why a wasp family decides it wants to build a nest on the light fixtures of my front porch when some tree would be much better.

Maybe we've gone at this thing the wrong way, and that by upsetting the delicate balance in nature, wherein the birds used to fight the good fight for us and give the insects a bad time.

I'm all for going out and making friends with a few bats and bringing them home and hanging them from my ceiling. They say the mosquitoes never did awe them.

Sparring with a mosquito at 2 a.m. can give you a strange complex. Makes you want to break up the furniture, sometimes. They'll never convince me the insects don't have a great sense of humor, as well as a sense of timing.

One gave me a particularly bad time not long ago. I fanned the air for 30 minutes before I decided to combat the threat by snapping on the light. He'd never buzz my ear until I'd gotten the idea he'd packed up and left. Then would come the infernal music.

I finally got up and looked for the insect 'bomb.' Not a one on the place. Back to bed. But he knew I couldn't keep my head under the covers for ever. He waited patiently until I got in his gun sights again. Then a low level attack with feathered prop.

That did it. I got up, dressed and went all over town until I found an insecticide. I came back, prepared to do battle to the death, but he had decided it was getting late and had retired for the night, apparently operating under the theory that "he who fights and runs away lives to fight another day."

Britain's Memorial To U.S. War Dead

From time to time we Americans absorb the idea that we are not the world's most-beloved people nor apt to win any international popularity contests.

Sometimes we feel so little appreciated that if there were a garden where we could go and eat no-cal worms, they might become a steady diet.

However, I found substantial proof in London that the British, although we tax their patience occasionally, are inclined to have a sneaking admiration and even affection for us.

There is touching and beautiful evidence of this in the American Memorial Chapel in St. Paul's Cathedral, one of the great churches of Christendom. More than two million Britons have contributed $240,000 to construct this chapel as Great Britain's memorial to 28,000 Americans, based in England, who died in World War II.

This simple but exquisite chapel, directly behind the great altar of St. Paul's, will be dedicated on Nov. 26, in the presence of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, Prince Philip, and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

At that time the Roll of Honor, a massive, illuminated book containing the names of the 28,000 American dead, will be moved from its position near the North transcept, where it has stood since the war, to a glass case opposite the chapel's altar.

Above the altar, enclosed within silver rails, are three handsome new stained-glass windows, depicting events in the life of Christ, and bordered by the great seals of each of the 48 states.

Suspended from the mosaic ceiling are two magnificient cut-glass chandeliers. The walls of the semi-circular apse are panelled in magnificent carved oak in all its natural, pale beauty.

In the black and white marble floor is embedded the legend: "To the American Dead of the Second World War from the People of Britain."

It is a handsome and loving memorial, indeed, and one that every American visitor will want to see.

The dreadful wounds inflicted upon St. Paul's, Sir Christopher Wren's proudest achievement, are slowly being erased. The high altar and choir stalls, so badly damaged in the bomb-and-fire blitz of 1940-41, have been entirely rebuilt from Sir Christopher's original plans, are are surpassingly handsome.

But the North transcept, so badly damaged by bombs, is still partitioned off from the rest of the cathedral. However, work is going forward there, particularly on the roof. And eventually, the great hole in the pavement of the transcept will be filled in and repaired, too.

St. Bride, another Christopher Wren Church just off Fleet Street and only a five-minute walk from St. Paul's, has finally been rebuilt with a graceful bow to the United States. The new carved oak reredos, a particularly beautiful example of the all-but-lost art of carving, is a Memorial to the Pilgrim Fathers.

One of the most famous of those Fathers, Edward Winslow, three times governor of Plymouth, was not only a member of the parish when he was an apprentice printer in Fleet Street, but his parents were married there on November 3, 1594.

Donner Carries On In GM Tradition

NEW YORK—Charles E. Wilson, who subsequently became Secretary of Defense, started it. Harlow H. Curtice embellished it. And now Frederic G. Donner, surprisingly but not unexpectedly (when you analyze him and his new job) is continuing it.

To open General Motors Corporation's lavish, new-model Motorama hoop-de-do at the Waldorf-Astoria, Donner did what he could readily had sloughed off—he held a press conference. It started out as an ordeal.

As the new chairman and chief executive officer of GM, he could have let John F. Gordon, president and chief operating officer, do it. Gordon, who'd climbed up the GM hierarchy via engineering and the general managership of Cadillac, had developed a knack for meeting people, for talking on his feet. When Curtice retired, the quick thinking was: Donner would be GM's back-of-the scenes planner; Gordon would be the public personality.

Donner had never made a public appearance he didn't have to. He hadn't spoken to Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs or Chambers of Commerce. As a financial expert, though, he had made presentations before the GM board and Congressional committees — appearances required by the job.

Before his press debut, Donner was tense, expectant, like a new man on a football squad suddenly rushed in to kick the game-winning field goal in the closing minutes. Once the session was five minutes under way, he was witty, whimsical and deft—not Wilson, not Curtice, but completely himself, yet characteristically General Motors.

A reporter asked: "In what way is the '59 car a better car than last year's?" Donner smiled his first comfortable smile: "Shall I ask each of the managers to talk individually?" Titters from the reporters. Cadillac, Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Chevrolet divisions compete within the GM family like, well, like brothers and sisters. "We'll start with Ed Cole," announced Donner.

E. N. Cole, vice president and general manager of Chevrolet, acting like an older brother who'd just been elected president of his senior class, declared that the public and the other executives haven't the slightest idea of what "new" means until they've seen the new Chevrolet.

"Would you like me to multiply that by five?" Donner asked the group. The question was rhetorical, the laughter genuine.

Asked if he agreed with Curtice's sales 1959, Donner avoided any suggestion of forecast of 5,500,000 domestic cars in disagreement: "Considering the present state of the economy, that would be a very good figure. And, compared to this year, a satisfactory figure."

The new GM chairman methodically repeated reporters' questions. This gave him time to consider his answers and made clear to everyone exactly what he was answering. His zest for precision came out when a reporter asked if the gas turbine engine will be used in cars "in the medium term."

"What's the medium term?" Donner demanded.

"That's for you to answer," was the rejoinder.

"No," said Donner, "I don't know your definition."

"Three to five years," said the reporter. The answer subsequently was, "Not in passenger cars."

Donner, though always in a hurry, has twice the average man's time. He wears a watch on his left wrist and carries a pocket watch in his vest. He is given to gray suits, dark ties, and his silvered silken hair brushes back from a high forehead and a florid face.

Donner isn't as blunt or homey as Wilson—full of country-boy allusions. He isn't as quick as Curtice. He is the same Fred Donner who majored in economics and accounting at the University of Michigan, won a Phi Beta Kappa key, and still has Emeritus Professor I. Leo Sharfman, former chairman of the department of economics, saying proudly: "I gave him an A. He was a good, thoughtful student." From Sharfman, that's the equivalent of the Nobel prize.

In its modern phase of development since 1923, GM has had four chief executives. First, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., the great organizer and integrator and consolidator through War II. Then, GM needed a production man to reconvert from war to peace—"Charlie" Wilson. Third, came "Red" Curtice, give-no-quarter sales executive and expansionist. And now Donner—planner, rationalizer, and accountant—as GM celebrates its 50th year.

Russian School System Isn't Tops, After All

Editor's Note — Roy Essoyan, an American who speaks Russian fluently, spent three years in the Soviet Union as a correspondent of The Associated Press. He was expelled last month on a charge that he had evaded censorship. This is the first four articles giving a keen insight into the Soviet Union of today.

By ROY ESSOYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Russians think the Soviet system of education isn't what it's cracked up to be, especially by the United States.

Probably nobody was more surprised than the Russians at the near-panic of American reaction to Sputnik.

After Sputnik went into orbit, American educators went into a tailspin of agonizing reappraisal. The Russians lost no time in gleefully picking up the American refrain and crowing to the world that communism had shown capitalism how to educate youth.

But Nikita Khrushchev himself pricked that illusion recently when he ordered the system of Soviet education changed. He admitted it was inefficient, discriminatory and top heavy.

It produced scientists fine, he said in effect, but it also produced an inordinate number of misfits.

Khrushchev's way of solving the problem hasn't made the Russians any happier but they haven't been happy with their educational system since the Revolution threw theory out the classroom window.

A PATCH WORK

The Soviet system has been a patchwork of experimentation.

After the Revolution everything that smacked of the old bourgeois ways was scrapped. This included religion, Latin and languages, science, physics, math and even discipline.

"Proletarianism" and Marxist "polytechnicism" took over. They condemned all theory divorced from practice.

Vocational training followed, and produced a generation of illiterate mechanics.

The light finally dawned in the early 30s and the pendulum swung back. Compulsory curricula were restored with physics, math, competitive exams, backbreaking homework and discipline.

After World War II this load was found too heavy. The Kremlin has been gradually reducing it.

But, as Khrushchev complained, the system now produces too many pampered intellectuals, boys and girls who have "lost their respect for manual labor." "Bourgious-minded" parents use influence to keep children out of the factory and collective farm.

The system, and Khrushchev's own short-lived campaign of destabilization and liberalization, also gave birth to widespread student discontent.

NIGHT SCHOOLS

So now Soviet universities and industries, breeding grounds of student unrest, will be turned in effect into night schools and correspondence schools. Most Soviet children will leave the classroom to learn "respect for manual labor" from the seventh grade up.

But only two years ago the government first decreed that basic education should be extended to 10 years. The 10-year school wasn't even going into effect throughout the country until 1960.

No wonder Soviet parents are unhappy.

The Soviet school system has been under attack from parents and in Teacher's Gazette. This newspaper of the Ministry of Education has carried complaints for years against the shortage of schools, classrooms and textbooks. Some textbooks haven't been brought up to date in 30 years. Others, particularly histories, are rewritten all the time.

The paper has also attacked absenteeism and juvenile delinquency, blaming parents and teachers alike. Teachers have often been accused of ignorance, poor training and slipshod habits. According to some complaints many teachers don't know their subjects and some of the language teachers don't even know Russian well, let alone the languages they teach.

HINTS APPEAR

Hints of the drastic new change in the Soviet education system started appearing in the Soviet press more than a year ago. I met no Russian parent who was pleased with the news.

The reason is not hard to find. Forty-one years have passed since the Revolution. The old revolutionaries are dying off. Except for a thin hard core, the revolutionary fervor is gone.

Many are unscrupulous about making sure their children don't have to go through the discomforts they did. And apparently those with money, influence or party connections have been surprisingly successful, despite the Kremlin's repeated protestations that discrimination does not exist.

The rewards of influence over ability are so well recognized that the Russians have a saying that covers the situation. Even Khrushchev couldn't resist mentioning it in announcing the latest change in Soviet education.

Referring to the stiff competitive exams which are supposed to determine who deserves a higher education, he quoted the saying:

"After the competition of examinations comes the competition of parents, and the competition of parents is often far more decisive."

Tomorrow: Life in Russia.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

WITH TOMMY HART

Eastern New Mexico University, where ex-Big Springers B. B. Lees coaches and Buddy Cosby plays, scored only one touchdown this season in its first three games. That came in the first five minutes of its opening game against Colorado Western.

In the Greyhounds' fourth outing, however, they counted 11 touchdowns and eight extra points in a 74-6 rout of Omaha University.

Despite the rout, Lees said he's more happier with a phase of the Hounds' defensive play than with his offense — that of guarding against enemy passing.

"The backs went to the ball instead of waiting," Lees was quoted as saying.

* * *

Bill Murray, Duke University's coach, says Dave Sime, star of the last ABC Relays here, could be the best punter on his team with a little practice.

* * *

Pat Studstill, a third string quarterback at the University of Houston, has twice lined up his offense incorrectly while in action.

On one of the foul-ups, however, Studestill threw a 26-yard touchdown pass against Texas A&M.

Coach Hal Lahar's analysis:

"He does the wrong thing better than any sophomore I've ever had."

* * *

James Blake, coach of the Forsan Buffaloes, says he and his players are tickled pink over getting the chance to play eight-man football and hope they never have to return to the six-man game.

"We think it's the coming thing for small schools in Texas," Blake said recently.

* * *

Harold Davis, the HCJC cage mentor, has to rub his eyes when he watches Delbert Shirey in practice.

Delbert underwent an operation on that game knee during the summer and the limb is apparently as good as it ever was. For that reason, he's a much improved player and is sure to be a big help to the Hawks, unless another injury should force him to the sidelines.

Delbert played his high school athletics at Lovington, N. M., but his family now resides in Midland, by the way.

Lance Alworth, the Mississippi boy who guided the Arkansas University freshman football team to that rather shocking 30-6 victory over the SMU first-year troops recently, is the sprinter Coach Johnny Vaught of Ole Miss insisted was "the best back in the entire south."

Against SMU, Alworth returned a kickoff 90 yards to a TD, set up a TD by catching a 44-yard pass, scored another six-pointer on a 73-yard pass-run play and quick-kicked to distances of 51 and 70 yards.

Vaught tried hard to sign Alworth to a scholarship but he slipped away to Fayetteville.

* * *

Darrell Froman, the Flower Grove product who was HCJC's No. 2 distance runner last year, is now at Austin College. He had another year of eligibility here but chose to transfer to the senior college.

The Eagles Lodge softball team of Midland, nemesis of the Cosden Oilers all the past season, won a total of 36 trophies during the 1958 campaign.

The Eagles won tournaments at Odessa (two), Wink and Midland and finished as runnersup in the State ISL meet. They finished with a 62-9 won-lost record and their mound ace, N. E. Stephens, hurled five no-hit games.

Enjoying Successful Season

The Garden City Bearcats (above) remained in contention for the District 8 eight-man football league championship by waylaying Sterling City, 18-8, last weekend. Left to right, front row, they are Richard Miller, Gary McDaniel, Doug Parker and David Harris. Middle row, Mark Schafer, Gerald Cypert, Sonny Holsenbeck, Jamie Pagan, and Ralph Schafer. Bow row, Coach Marlin Dodds, Don Plagens, Jimmy Childress, Dennis Schraeder, Bill Schraeder, Billy Fisher and Frank Murphy. Don Plagens scored two touchdowns and Fisher one against Sterling City.

Jayhawk Cagers Set To Open Workouts

Basketball workouts officially get under way at Howard County Junior College this afternoon.

The boys have been working out on their own twice a week since school began.

The Jayhawks, due to be stronger this year than they were in 1957-58, will play fewer games than they did last season. They'll compete in 17 games this school year, compared to 20 a season ago.

In addition, the Big Spring collegians will take part in tournaments at Temple, San Antonio and their own meet here.

The Hawks last won the West Zone championship in 1955. Since joining the Texas Junior College Conference, the locals have won four zone titles—in 1951, '52, '53 and '55. The Hawks also won the state title in 1951 and earned the Regional V crown in 1953 and '55.

Last year, they won 21 games and lost 11 under Coach Harold Davis, who is starting his 11th year at the helm of the local team.

A squad of about 25 boys is expected out today. Included are two starters from the 1957-58 quintet, Benny Carver, Bowie; and Tommy Zinn, Irving; along with three alternates and five other boys who played often enough to earn varsity letters.

The three alternates back include Gilbert Bell, Meadow; Ray Clay, Hobbs, N. M.; and Dale Woodruff, Handley.

Other lettermen back include Jesse McElreath, Big Spring; Delbert Shirey, Lovington, N. M.; Doug Burrage, Handley; Frank Hardesty, Big Spring; and Bobby Horton, Meadow.

New recruits include Jimmy Evans, 6-1 whiz from Big Spring, an all-District 2-AAAA section last year; Bobby Davis, 6-6 transfer from Kilgore, which won the National Juco championship last year; Tom Garrison, 6-8 Tulia lad; and Harold Henson, 6-4, Meadow.

Players lost from last season include Larry Glore, an all-state selection; Bill Borries, Alvin Cohorn, Mike Musgrove, Don Lovelady, Jerry McPeters and John Tindle.

Others who have indicated they will come out this season include Joe Cook, 5-11, Ackerly; Loie Badgett, 5-10, Stanton; Don Ritchey, 6-1, Loraine; Fred Thompson, 6-0, Stinnett; Raymond Coldeway, 6-1, Loraine; Jerry Epperson, 5-11, Sweetwater; Gene Smith, 6-3, Fluvanna; George Martin, 5-8, Loraine; Gerald Martin, 5-8, Loraine; John Matlock, 5-8, Westbrook; Billy Bluhm, 5-11, Big Spring; and Dennis Dunn, 6-2, Big Spring.

Any one of those boys may develop well enough to become a regular.

Coach Davis frankly says he has no idea who will start for him and admits to having more depth than at any time in recent years.

Thompson, who came here on a track scholarship, is a 175-pounder who could be outstanding. He lettered four years as a cager in high school and gained honorable mention all-state while at Stinnett.

Bell averaged ten points a game as an alternate starter last year. Burrage was one of the leading scorers on the junior varsity team in 1957-58.

Carver, who stands 5-feet-9, was a second team all-state selection here last year. In high school at Bowie, where he lettered four years, Benny was an all-state choice. He scored 460 points here last season for a 15-point average. He was named to the all-star team in every meet he attended.

The speedy Clay could be great this year. He played only half a season here in 1957-58, after transferring in from New Mexico A&M. He was all-district two years in high school and played in the all-star game at Albuquerque after graduation. He averaged ten points a game here.

Cook won three letters at Ackerly and averaged 19 points a game his senior year, high for the team. He was all-district three years.

Davis played his high schoolball at Sunset in Dallas and at Irving. He won a letter at Kilgore Junior College last year. Evans won three varsity letters at Big Spring High School.

Garrison, of course, will be the tallest player on the local team. He was all-district in high school. He averaged 14 points a game at Tulia.

Henson could be a real find. He averaged 21 points a game his senior year and was voted the best player in the Regional tournament by coaches and officials. He was team captain at Meadow two years, all-regional two years and honorable mention all-state.

Shirey, who underwent an operation on his knee during the summer, holds the all-time district scoring record at Lovington, having counted 35 points in one game. He lettered two years at Lovington and played in the all-star game at Albuquerque.

Smith won all-tournament honors three times while at Fluvanna High. He averaged 15 points a game last year.

Woodruff has shown much improvement since last year. He's a 6-5 boy from Handley and is an excellent rebounder. Zinn averaged 20 points a game in high school at Irving and was all-district two years in a row. He was a mainstay here in 1957-58 and received Honorable Mention All-Zone.

Rockets Open Cage Season

The Lakeview school Rockets of Big Spring open their basketball season here Wednesday night, meeting the Sweetwater Bulldogs in their own gym.

There'll be a boys' B team contest and a girls' game, in addition to the varsity engagement. Action starts at 7:30 p.m.

The Rockets won 21 and lost nine games last season and Coach Roosevelt Brown is hoping his club can improve upon that record. Lost from last year's team were Willie Miles, 6-4; and Robert Allen, 6-2½.

B. R. Newton, leading scorer of last year's club, is back, however, along with H. T. Baker and Luther Brown, both of whom were regulars.

Filling out the regular squad this year are Harvey Foster and Johnny B. Wright, none of whom played Junior High ball last year.

Erdelatz Assuming Blame For Navy Loss To Tulane

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Coach Eddie Erdelatz is taking the blame for Navy's 14-6 defeat by Tulane in the Oyster Bowl Saturday.

The setback knocked the Middies from the ranks of the unbeaten, and the victory was the first in five starts for Tulane this year.

"I have no alibis," Erdelatz said frankly. "The boys played a good game and I take full blame for the defeat. I made some bad calls. I was caught second guessing a couple of times in the first quarter and I think that's what beat us."

The burly Navy coach lauded the play of Tulane. He said he had looked for a tough game, but "I did expect Tulane to pass more."

Everyone else did too, and that's where the Greenies took the Middies by surprise. Tulane found it could run well against the Navy defense and didn't need to risk pass interceptions.

The key point in the game might have been in the first couple of minutes. Navy had recovered a Tulane fumble on the Tulane 21. Four plays later Tulane took the ball on downs on the 10. That early success could have inspired the Greenies to greater effort. Had Navy scored, it might have broken the game wide open.

Once aware of its ability to hold the Middies, and to run with the ball, Tulane took over and practically dominated the game except for the rousing Navy aerial touchdown drive, sparked by the passing of Joe Tranchini.

Tulane's Richie Petibon did everything a fine quarterback is supposed to do, and did it superbly. Running with the speed and power and elusiveness, he gained 88 yards in 18 carries. He completed two of four passes for 24 yards, and on defense he was just about perfect.

Abilene-Steer Game Is One Of State's Feature Bouts

By The Associated Press

The Class AAAA division of schoolboy football pushes pell-mell into the conference race this week with the two top-rated teams—Abilene and Highland Park—getting well-beaten outfits in their start toward district championships.

Abilene plays Big Spring in the beginning of the Dist. 2 title race. Highland Park engages Denton to open the Dist. 7 campaign.

Except that Abilene and Highland Park seem certain to meet again in the semi-finals, the Class AAAA race is a jumble. There are no standout teams in the southern bracket and there isn't an undefeated, untied outfit anywhere.

Tyler, Longview and Orange are unbeaten but have been tied. Tyler and Longview are in the same district so both can't be labeled favorites.

Orange may get its come-uppance this week although now favored to win its district title. Orange plays Port Arthur in the start of the Dist. 11 race.

Highland Park whipped Corpus Christi Miller, still one of the highest regarded teams of the south, 20-6 last week while Abilene was smashing Waco 36-0. Those results indicated that the Scots and Eagles again are the class of the field.

Texarkana went down to Port Arthur and won 38-8 to show that the latter has been highly overrated. Before the season started Port Arthur was the general choice to be the finalist from the south.

As the campaign plunges full tilt into the conference race, these look like the probable district winners:

1-Ysleta, 2-Abilene, 3-Borger, 4-Wichita Falls, 5-Fort Worth Carter-Riverside, 6-Dallas Jefferson, 7-Highland Park, 8-Longview, 9-Houston Milby, 10-Houston Lamar, 11-Orange, 12-Pasadena, 13-Austin, 14-Corpus Christi Miller, 15-San Antonio Jefferson, 16-San Antonio Edgewood.

Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio may be the best team in the south. Jefferson has lost only to Abilene and holds triumphs over such worthies as Austin and San Angelo. The San Antonio team clubbed San Angelo 33-6 last week.

Top games this week include Lubbock at Borger to decide an undisputed leader in Dist. 3 and Orange at Port Arthur in the game that may well decide the Dist. 11 title.

GEO. HALAS INSTILLS SPIRIT IN HIS BEARS

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Bears are fighting mad.

Favored to win the Western Conference title in the National Football League, the Chicagoans today are in sole possession of second place, only a game behind first-place Baltimore.

The Bears advanced by defeating Los Angeles 31-10 Sunday, but it was owner-coach George Halas, involved in one of the brawls that periodically broke out, who probably instilled the "get tough" attitude.

With the Rams leading 7-0 in the first quarter, Chicago's Ed Brown hit Harlon Hill with a sideline pass and the Ram defenders likewise hit Hill, shoving him out of bounds with authority.

Halas charged down the sidelines, protesting Hill's roughing up. The Rams' Don Burroughs shoved Halas nearly off his pins. Bear guard Abe Gibron pushed Burroughs.

The entire Bear squad rose en masse, but a few words from Halas quieted the situation. Apparently the incident incited the Bears to retaliate with the football.

Baltimore, meanwhile, retained the division lead, trampling defending champion Detroit 40-14. Cleveland defeated Pittsburgh 27-10 to remain at the head of the Eastern Conference.

In other games, Chicago's Cardinals downed New York 23-6, San Francisco edged Philadelphia 30-24, and Washington beat Green Bay 37-21.

Los Angeles (2-2) took its 7-0 lead on a 92-yard Billy Wade to Del Shofner pass, longest scoring aerial of the season. Rookie Erich Barnes tied it, blocking a field goal try and running 41 yards with the loose ball to score. Two TDs by Willie Galimore iced it for Chicago (3-1).

The Colts (4-0) won on the arm of Johnny Unitas, who pitched a touchdown to Jim Mutscheller in the fourth quarter. It was the 19th straight game in which Unitas had tossed a TD. In all, Unitas passed for more than 200 yards. The Lions (0-3-1) came within a touchdown of the Colts on Yale Lary's 71-yard punt return but wilted in the last period.

Cleveland (4-0) moved two games in front in the East on the running of Jimmy Brown and rookie Bob Mitchell.

Rice, Texas Meet In SWC Feature

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AP Sports Writer

Rice and Texas settle their football feud for another year Saturday in a game that could decide the undisputed lead in the Southwest Conference race.

If Rice, the defending champion, knocks over Texas it will reach the half-way mark with a 3-0 record and be technically in front of the field.

TCU, tied with Rice for the top, has an off week.

In other conference action Baylor, which, like Texas, has won its only start in the championship race, will take on Texas A&M at Waco, also in a night game.

The Aggies will be fighting to stay in the race. They lost their opening game last week to TCU 24-8 and must beat Baylor or be eliminated.

Texas licked Arkansas, the conference whipping boy, 24-6. It was Arkansas' fifth straight loss and its fourth straight conference defeat.

SMU, mortified over a 13-7 licking handed it by Rice last week, turns again to the intersectional wars. The Methodists, who have the next worst record to Arkansas., having won only one game in four tries, host Georgia Tech.

SMU might have been favored to beat Tech two weeks ago. Now the Methodists definitely will be underdogs. The Yellow Jackets last week played mighty Auburn to a 7-7 tie and appear on the way back from a poor start.

Arkansas can look with little relish on its assignment Saturday at Little Rock. The Razorbacks meet undefeated, untied Mississippi. Arkansas was the only team to beat Mississippi last season but chances appear pretty dim this time.

The Rice-Texas game, due to draw over 70,000 fans, is most important. Not only will it virtually eliminate one contender for the title but it will put the last undefeated, untied record in the conference on the line. Texas has won five straight games.

Baylor already is ahead of last season when it didn't win a single conference game but it needs a decision over the Aggies to really get into the championship race. The Golden Bears were impressive last week in a 26-7 triumph over Texas Tech, looking better than at any time this season. They seem to be clicking at last.

Cards Will Win In Japan: Hemus

TOKYO (AP) — The barnstorming St. Louis Cardinals flew into Tokyo today and their cigar-smoking new manager, Solly Hemus, said:

"We're going to win all 16 games during our Japan visit. We're going to be contenders for the 1959 National League pennant. My boys are going to hit at least 25 home runs in Japan."

Pro Football's 'Gas House Gang' Falls On Hard Times

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Professional football's gashouse gang may be out of gas.

In a four-week span, the Detroit Lions have gone from defending world champions to a team trying desperately to escape last place. They lost to the Baltimore Colts Sunday 40-14 and have only a tie to show in four games.

When the Lions' come-from-behind magicians rolled to the title last year in one of the wildest races in National Fooball League history, they drew acclaim as football's gashouse gang.

Coach George Wilson recalled after Sunday's defeat:

"Someone said we used up 10 years of luck last season. It looks like he was right. In a league as tough as this, a guy doesn't have much time to enjoy the championship."

Five times last season Detroit came from behind, twice snatching victory from almost certain defeat. This year, the Lions have been battling in each game until almost the very last minute of play.

Wilson refuses to count his club out of the Western Division race, despite the fact his Lions are tied with Green Bay for last place. And the team must play three straight road games against Los Angeles, San Francisco and Cleveland.

"I've learned not to count anybody out in this league until it's mathematically impossible," he said. "We can have a lot to say about who wins it."

Series Is Tied

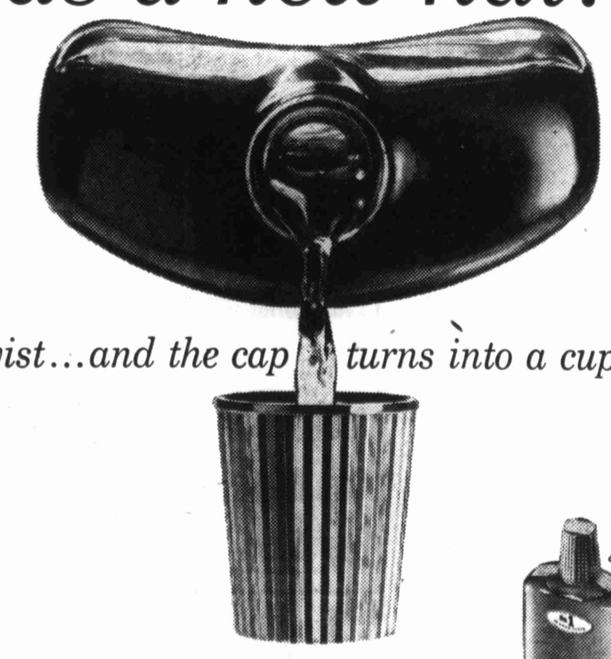

TOKYO (AP) — The defending champion Nishitetsu Lions continued their spectacular comeback in the Japan baseball World Series today, defeating the Yomiuri Giants 2-0 to tie the series at three games apiece.

President Eisenhower gestures as he talks over the fence to two of the contestants in the National Corn Picking Contest near Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Ike Flies To L.A. For Campaign Talk

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower flew to Los Angeles today for a campaign speech billed to bolster Republican candidates plagued by a party split.

Resuming a 5,300-mile cross-country tour after a quiet weekend, the President was pictured as ready to shift gears and do some plugging during a two-day visit in California. The state is one of the nation's major political battlegrounds this year.

Eisenhower's half-hour speech tonight at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles will be carried on television and radio over an 11-state Western network. Tuesday morning he will make two speeches in San Francisco before traveling on to Chicago.

If he does go to a scrapping role in California, it will be the first time since he left Washington last Friday on a six-day vote-hunting tour. In Iowa his speech was only indirectly political, and in Kansas and Colorado he made no talks whatever.

The GOP candidates in those two states had to be satisfied with not much more than photographs with the President. In Colorado, there was even a hassle over those that left the state Republican organization miffed.

On Eisenhower's arrival in Denver Saturday for a visit with his ailing mother-in-law Mrs. John S. Doud, the first to greet him at the airport was Colorado's Democratic Gov. Stephen McNichols, his wife and their five photogenic children. The GOP candidate for governor, Palmer Burch, was almost lost in the shuffle some distance back in the receiving line.

Then the Republican state chairman, Richard H. Shaw, got into an argument with White House press secretary James C. Hagerty over Shaw's insistence the President pose for pictures at the airport with several GOP candidates. The pictures weren't taken until later in the day—in private at Eisenhower's hotel.

In California, the President's work is cut out for him in the face of a party split over U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland, who is running a steep uphill race for the governorship against Democrat Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, the state's attorney general.

The split developed when Knowland announced his candidacy after Gov. Goodwin S. Knight already had said he would bid for re-election. Knight wound up a reluctant candidate for Knowland's Senate seat, and he said recently he may not vote for Knowland.

At a Washington news conference last week, Eisenhower made no direct reply when asked whether he would try in California to patch up differences between Knowland and Knight. The President said he was going into the state in the interest of good government through Republicanism, and that he was supporting both Knowland and Knight.

In Denver over the weekend, the President passed up golf and fishing in favor of two long automobile rides and inspection of a ballistic missile plant. It was his first visit to the Colorado capital since he suffered a heart attack there in September 1955.

Mrs. Eisenhower is remaining in Denver for a few days with her mother.

4 Persons Die In Road Mishap

VAN ALSTYNE, Tex. (AP)—Four persons were killed and two critically injured in a head-on collision near this North Texas town yesterday.

Dead were Mrs. Elouise Watson, 43, of Irving, Tex.; Mrs. Rilla Wilkinson, 47, of Dallas; her mother, Mrs. Lillie Brown, 73, and a daughter, Ruth Wilkinson, 7.

Jesse Wilkinson, 52, husband of the Dallas woman, and Thomas Watson, 17, son of the Irving woman, both were in critical condition in Sherman, Tex.

Highway Patrolman B. F. Wade said he was at loss to explain the accident. He said the two cars met about midway in a mile-long stretch of U.S. 75.

Ex-Governor's Son Killed In Accident

CORSICANA, Tex. (AP)—Services were to be held here this afternoon for Beauford Jester Jr., 9, who was killed Saturday night when struck by a car in Conway, Ark.

Jester, son of the late governor of Texas, was returning from a cafe with a friend to his dormitory at Hendrix College when he was hit by a car driven by Jackie Matthews, 16, of Enola, Ark. The friend was not injured. Matthews told police he did not see the two students.

Jester's father died of a heart attack in 1949 while serving his second term as governor.

Cardinals Begin Final Week Of Rites For Pope Election

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church today began the final week of preparations for election of a new pope.

The nine days of funeral services for Pope Pius XII ended Sunday in St. Peter's Basilica with a two-hour solemn Requiem Mass attended by U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and other diplomats and representatives of 50 non-Communist nations.

The arrival Sunday night of Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski from Poland brought to 47 the number of princes of the church assembled in Rome for the secret conclave which will convene next Saturday to elect a new ruler of the church.

By the weekend all but two of the 54 living cardinals are expected to be at the Vatican. The absentees will be Josef Mindszenty, a fugitive from Hungary's Communist government who has taken asylum in the U. S. legation in Budapest, and Alojzije Stepinac, confined to his native Yugoslav village by President Tito's government.

A thousand cheering people massed at the Rome railway station to greet 60-year-old Cardinal Wyszynski, who was kept under house arrest by the Communists for three years. The crowd included both exiles from Poland's Communist regime and representatives in Italy of that regime.

The welcome amazed the prelate, who exclaimed, "My God, I did not know I was so popular. Why? Why?" It took almost 10 minutes for police to clear a path for him to a waiting Vatican automobile.

Robed in purple, the cardinals sat in two long rows on each side of the apse area of St. Peter's for the final funeral Mass for the late Pope. Behind them were Roman and foreign nobility and representatives of the foreign governments.

President Sean O'Kelly of Ireland was the highest ranking mourner, the only chief of state present. Foreign Ministers Heinrich von Brentano of West Germany, Maurice de Murville of France and Pierre Wigny of Belgium attended for their governments. The Earl of Perth represented Queen Elizabeth II of Britain.

Dulles was accompanied by his wife and President Eisenhower's other two representatives, Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former U. S. ambassador to Italy, and chairman John A. McCone of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York was one of the four cardinals assisting Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, the French-born dean of the College of Cardinals, in celebration of the Mass.

The general public was not admitted, and the chanting of the Vatican choir rang through the vast emptiness of the cathedral beyond the apse.

Opposite the Altar of the Cathedral Throne was a huge four decked symbolic catafalque, surrounded by lighted candles and topped with a replica of the pontifical tiara, the three-tiered, beehive-shaped crown the Pope wore in triumphal processions.

The ceremony included a funeral eulogy in Latin, read by Msgr. Amleto Tondini, regent of the Apostolic Chancellery, and the individual blessing and absolution of the catafalque by the five celebrant cardinals — Cardinal Spellman, Joseph Frings of Cologne, Maurice Feltin of Paris, Giacomo Lercaro of Bologna and finally Cardinal Tisserant.

DEAR ABBY

A HINT FOR MOM

By ABIGAL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You are always telling teen-agers to bring their friends home. Well, that might be okay for some kids, but not me. I don't care to bring my friends home because my mother is so fat and sloppy I am ashamed of her. When I come home from school she still has her nightgown on or else she's wearing a dirty wrinkled dress. Ask other teen-agers to write in, Abby, and tell you why they don't bring their friends home. You might get some real good answers and maybe some parents would get some good hints. A TEEN-AGER

DEAR TEEN-AGER: Your reason for not bringing your friends home is legitimate and I don't blame you. Most adults are quick to blame teen-agers for situations that have resulted from their OWN delinquency. If other teen-agers feel they have good reasons for not bringing their friends home, I'd like to hear from them. No names or initials will be used.

DEAR ABBY: While on vacation, I met a local game warden quite by accident. He gave me a citation for fishing without a license when I really wasn't fishing. A few days later he came into my place of business and asked me for a date. I refused at first, but he kept after me until I accepted. He told me he was getting a divorce, and not living with his wife. Others have told me he is living with his wife, but steps out on her. Should I investigate these stories, or take him at his word? After all, he IS working for the government. PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: It doesn't matter for whom a man is working . . . investigate him throughly if there is any question about his character. This game warden is playing games for which he has no license.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of three children who ran up a dentist bill of $210 for fillings and they are all under twelve years of age? They had their teeth fixed for school and the dentist told them not to chew tough bubble gum but they went ahead and chewed it anyway and pulled their fillings out. Their mother didn't say one word to them. She sent them back to the dentist and told him his work was no good. Don't you think their mother should give them a good lecture? LIVE-IN GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: I think the children are like any other normal children. They will do as they please as long as they can get away with it. It's their MOTHER who needs the lecture.

DEAR ABBY: I met a West Point cadet and he seemed to like me a lot. We are corresponding. I have been signing my letters, "All my love" and he signs his, "Sincerely yours." My mother says he would probably sign his letters "With love" but there may be something in the rules at West Point that doesn't allow it. Can't you tell me if this is true? INQUIRING

DEAR INQUIRING: West Point cadets are free to sign their letters any way they wish. Have patience—a gentleman (by an act of Congress) can't be rushed.

One of the tricks used to tell safety message

AT HIGH SCHOOL

'Safety Magic' Show Is Slated

A "safety magic" program, featuring Sgt. Carl S. Pike of the Kent County Sheriff's Department, Grand Rapids, Mich., will be staged at Big Spring High School at 2 p.m. next Monday, James Eubanks of the Citizens Traffic Commission has announced.

Combining his talents and experiences in magic and safety, Sgt. Pike is making a tour of the United States under the national sponsorship of the American Trucking Assns. The local sponsors are the CTC, Texas Department of Public Safety and the Trucking Industry of Texas.

Prior to spending over 13 years as a police officer and a police safety officer in Jackson, Mich., Pike was a professional magician on the stage. During this time, he acquired many of the feats of magic and sleight-of-hand which he uses to illustrate the basic rules of safety.

With shouts of "safety first" from the audience, Sgt. Pike performs such stunts as pouring quarts of water from an empty jar, making flags spring from his sleeves, and other acts, each of which demonstrates a particular type of safety activity.

He begins the program with a short talk about several of the accident cases on which he worked and goes on to explain how the mishaps could have been avoided. The sergeant then performs a trick related to the situation.

Already he has appeared in 42 states before audiences totaling well over 2 million. His presentation has been endorsed by many colleges and organizations including the New York University Driver Education and Safety Institute and the Michigan Assn. of Insurance Agents.

Estranged Mate Wounds Wife

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (AP) — An estranged husband who followed his wife here from California wounded her with a shotgun blast Sunday, then fired into an occupied car in which she sought safety.

The assailant later walked into the police station and surrendered, asking officers how his wife and the children in the automobile were.

Leo Boese, 30, Ontario, Calif., was held here without charge.

His wife Bernice, 31, a former Grand Forks resident, was reported in critical cindition with lower back and arm wounds. She also had been living in Ontario.

Mrs. Boese, who returned for the funeral of her father, told police she had agreed to a rendezvous at a drive-in restaurant with her husband.

She said he grabbed a shotgun in the car and fired at her when she refused to go back to him. The couple has five children.

Mrs. Boese was picked up by Allan Mitchell of Fargo, N.D., who had just driven into the restaurant yard with his family to buy some pop.

"Get me away from here before he kills me," she screamed.

Boese fired another shot as the car pulled away. It tore out the rear window, scattering glass over Mrs. Boese, the Mitchells and their three young children. None of them were hurt by it.

Mitchell stopped at a gasoline station and called for an ambulance and the police.

Sneak Tornado Hits Florida Town

PAHOKEE, Fla. (AP)—A sneak tornado belted this tranquil farming town Sunday with fury that left one dead, 16 injured and $400,000 damage in splintered homes, equipment and communications.

The twister lashed first at the airport, a mile west of Pahokee. Nine crop-dusting planes were wrecked. One of them sailed 500 feet across a road.

"It rolled up my four planes like a ball," said Jack Phillips.

Two rows of migrant farm workers' homes collapsed.

One house was blown more than 400 feet. Its wreckage yielded the body of John Gray, 70-year-old Negro laborer.

Quads Born To Richmond Couple

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Quadruplets were born early today to the wife of a Richmond city employe. The hospital reported the children—two boys and two girls — are all alive and apparently well.

They were born to Mrs. Edward G. Englehart of nearby Sandston, in Johnston-Willis Hospital. The Engleharts have six other children, all girls.

The hospital said the first child, a girl, was born at 5:05 a.m. A boy was born at 5:15 a.m., the other girl at 5:25 and the other boy at 5:30 a.m.

Englehart works for the Richmond Department of Public Works.

Safeway Buys Hull & Phillips Lamesa Store

LAMESA — Hull and Phillips Supermarket here has been purchased by Safeway Stores, Pete Phillips of Hull & Phillips, Morris B. McCartt, zone manager of Safeway, and R. E. Templeton, division manager of Safeway, announced Sunday.

Safeway opened the store Sunday under the management of Luther Dutton. Dutton, moving here from Clovis, N. M., has been in the grocery business for 10 years, at one time owning a grocery in Fort Worth.

McCartt, who has spent several days in Lamesa, said that Safeway plans to retain most present employes. Additional employes will be secured.

The manager of the new store is a member of the Lions Club. He and his wife, son and daughter, are members of the Church of Christ.

Dope Seized

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP)—U.S. Customs agents and local officers seized 25 pounds of marijuana, valued at $25,000 on the underworld market, and arrested a Brooklyn, N.Y., man, 23, yesterday. The man, identified as a Puerto Rican, was taken to Eagle Pass to await charges.

Fort Worth Man Lost 18 Pounds with Barcentrate

Why starve to take off ugly fat? Many diets are harmful. If you want to reduce safely, easily and without starvation diet, why not try the Barcentrate way, just as Mr. Charles M. Kennedy, 4825 Miller, Fort Worth, Texas, did?

Mr. Kennedy wrote us as follows:

"I am a satisfied user of Barcentrate and am happy with its results. I got the idea of using Barcentrate from a friend who lost a tremendous amount of weight.

"I lost a total of 18 pounds taking Barcentrate."

Just ask any Texas druggist for Barcentrate. Costs just $1.69. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to take off ugly fat, quickly, easily and without starvation diet, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Over eight and a half million bottles sold in Texas in the past 15 years.

Graham To Get Lesser Reward

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham, who has preached to more than 350,000 people in the four weeks of his crusade here, says it likely will not be people like himself who will get the greatest rewards in the hereafter.

Graham told an audience of 13,200 Sunday that those rewards likely will go to "some pastor out in the mountains who has slaved all his years at some mission," or to a housewife who has shown her faithfulness to her husband, her children, her church and her Christ.

The Charlotte-born minister began the last week of his five-week crusade in the coliseum with a declaration that "the day of judgment is coming....it is more certain than the sun rising."

About 700 people made "decisions for Christ" at the end of the service. Total attendance for the crusade now is 356,390 and some 13,878 people have made "decisions."

Demos Revising Landslide Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—With two weeks of campaigning left, some Democrats are beginning to revise downward their earlier estimates of a landslide victory in the congressional election.

Former President Harry S. Truman preached caution to the Democrats in public and private appearances here during the weekend.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas is satisfied the Democrats are going to strengthen their hold on the Senate, where they now outnumber the Republicans 49-47 excluding a gain in Maine. But he apparently is taking with a grain of salt reports to the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee indicating a Democratic landslide.

Looking back at 1954, some Democrats concede that President Eisenhower was able to cut Republican losses, by last minute campaigning. These strategists credit Vice President Nixon with giving the Republicans new hope with his campaigning.

Eisenhower is now on a Western campaign swing, and Nixon has a full schedule ahead as well as behind him.

However, Chairman George A. Smathers (D-Fla) said field reports to the Democratic senatorial committee remain "good everywhere." He has been predicting a minimum gain of 10 seats and said he isn't lowering his sights.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler raised his estimates a bit. He has been predicting a gain of 8 to 12 Senate seats and 50 to 60 in the House. He said Sunday he thinks the Senate figure may be closer to 12, and the House gain possibly more than 60.

Nevertheless, some Democratic candidates apparently are having trouble financing their final campaign drives, despite a reported $200,000 raised and doled out by the Smathers committee.

In this connection, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has taken the lead in efforts to raise money for four senatorial candidates she and the Committee for an Effective Congress seem to feel need a little extra push.

In a form letter to prospective donors, Mrs. Roosevelt appealed for contributions for Democratic candidates Howard W. Cannon in Nevada, Rep. Clair Engle in California, Rep. Eugene J. McCarthy in Minnesota and Prof. Gale McGee in Wyoming.

Headed For Classroom

Construction paper, crayolas, paste, scissors and pencils in generous portions are being loaded into the car for delivery to Bauer Elementary School. They will be placed in the hands of the first graders who would otherwise have to do without supplies. This is a major project of the Junior Woman's Forum, whose projects committee is composed of Mrs. L. D. Grice, Mrs. E. C. Smith Jr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Witter, left to right.

Forum Unit's Project Ties In With Study

Members of the Junior Woman's Forum have this year launched a program of study interwoven with the theme "education". They are endeavoring to learn more about the local schools, the relationship of parent to teacher in an effort for closer cooperation, and the laws which govern the public schools of Texas.

Appropriately enough, they have selected, as a major project, the provision of school supplies to a number of children whose families are unable to provide them. The assistance is open to first graders at Bauer Elementary School, taught by Mrs. John Nobles.

Presently an associated member of the forum, Mrs. Nobles was one of the charter group. In previous years similar aid has been extended to pupils at Lakeview and Kate Morrison Schools.

Funds for the project are raised in a somewhat unique fashion. Each member pays her annual dues and is then responsible for ten dollars for the project fund. The individual exercises her initiative in raising the amount. Some are selling Christmas cards, others candy; bridge parties and the sale of homemade pastries loom as other money-making ventures within the group.

Mrs. Bruce Wright Jr. is president of the forum. Her projects committee includes Mrs. Melvin Witter, chairman, Mrs. E. C. Smith Jr. and Mrs. L. D. Grice.

Elizabeth Daniel and Ina Mae McCollom returned Sunday evening from Dallas where they attended the State Fair of Texas.

Preferential Tea Given BSP Rushees

The final affair in the rush season for Beta Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, the preferential tea, was given Sunday afternoon.

Setting was the home of Mrs. John Gary, who was joined by Mrs. Chub Jones, Mrs. Bill Postier and Mrs. Savoy Kay.

On a beige linen cloth, milkglass appointments were used for serving refreshments to the 25 guests —members and rushees of the sorority.

Fall flowers in various autumn shades made the centerpiece for the tea table.

The next meeting is planned for Oct. 27, with Mrs. Perry Chandler and Mrs. Kenneth Curry as hostesses. The place is to be announced later.

Coffee Break Seems Here To Stay; Problem Now Is Time For Work

By CYNTHIA LOWR Y
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The president of a large firm unexpectedly walked into one of the company offices recently and found, although it was shortly after 10 a.m., the place empty except for one stenographer .The staff happily wandered in a few minutes later—a few of the 28 million Americans who had enjoyed a new workaday custom, the coffee break.

Some employers take a dim view of morning and afternoon refresher periods for obvious reasons, but the custom is so popular that most of them have, perforce, given in. To avoid a sometimes empty office, many firms have installed coffee vending machines or permit a coffee and snack vendor to roll a cart through the premises twice a day.

One Eastern printer has been doing a brisk business selling cards which have been popping up in offices in the area. They say, in bold, black letters:

NEW POLICY

"To All Employes:

"Due to increased competition and the keen desire to remain in business, we find it necessary to institute a new policy.

"Effective immediately we are asking that somewhere between starting and quitting time and without infringing too much on the time devoted to lunch period, coffee breaks, rest periods, story telling, ticket-selling, golfing, auto racing, horse selections, window-gazing, vacation-planning and rehashing of yesterday's TV programs, that each employe try to find some time that can be set aside and be known hereafter as The Work Break."

There may be some employers who wish the morning and afternoon coffee break (it's called a coffee break even if you're a tea or soft drink imbiber) were outlawed, and there certainly are numbers of coffee-breakers who find that a couple of extra snack periods add to weight problems. But the custom has growing acceptance—particularly where it is organized—among some employers who find that refreshment picks up flagging workers and actually pays off in more work.

Regardless of its merits or demerits, the coffee break seems here to stay—and it is making such people as snack manufacturers and, above all, the coffee industry very, very happy.

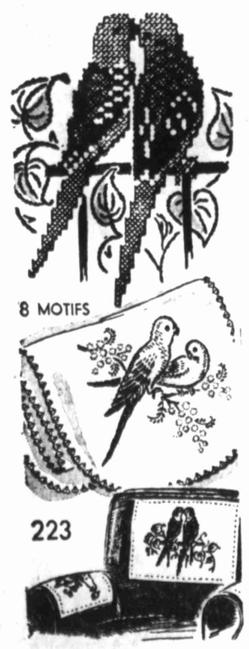

A recent survey indicated that currently 70 million cups of coffee are being consumed daily in coffee breaks. Drinkers include 42 per cent of all men with jobs, 44 per cent of women with jobs and 27 per cent of all housewives (who used to call their mid-morning coffee a kaffeeklatch, but no more).

MORNING MOST POPULAR

The morning coffee break remains the more popular of the two usual periods—51 per cent of the breakers participate in the morning session. Sixteen per cent go for an afternoon cup, and 39 per cent sip on both occasions. This activity adds up to about three cups a day—a cup and one-half on an average, morning and afternoon.

Apparently, there is still considerable organization work to be done in the break field: 30 per cent of the drinkers are still running out to restaurants and eating places. However, 43 per cent are buying beverages from carts and 17 per cent in company cafeterias.

And why does the coffee business love the coffee break? This year it accounts for almost 20 per cent of all the cups of coffee consumed in the nation.

Miss Lair Is Wed To Sgt. Jean

Single ring rites, read Saturday morning, united in marriage Neita Gwynn Lair and S.Sgt. George E. Jean at Webb Air Force Base Chapel.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Lair of Knott. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Jean of Nashua, N.H. Father Francis Beazley read the vows.

James D. Lair gave his sister in marriage. She was attired in a white taffeta frock fashioned with snug bodice and harem skirt. The scalloped neckline was embroidered with pearl and sequin roses, and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Clarence Fraticelli attended her sister as matron of honor. Her dress, of Chantilly lace, was worn over blue taffeta. She chose black accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations.

A.2.C. Tommy Ray was best man.

After the wedding, friends gathered for a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Here, a four-tiered cake was served with punch. Frosting roses and silver dragees decorated the cake, which was topped with a miniature bridal pair. It had been made and decorated by Mrs. Fraticelli.

Mrs. James Lair, sister-in-law of the bride, was at the register. Others in the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lair, the Fraticellis, James Lair and Mrs. J. R. Shelburne.

After a trip to Carlsbad Caverns and El Paso, the couple will make a home on the Lamesa Highway in Knott. For traveling, the bride wore a dress of pure silk in dark brown, with white accessories. She attached her wedding corsage to the jacket of the frock.

The new Mrs. Jean attended the Knott School, where she was a member of the FHA, pep squad and reporter for her class. She was Halloween princess in 1957.

The bridegroom attended Nashua High School and is now enrolled at Howard County Junior College, where is studying architectural drafting and engineering.

Luncheon was served, buffet style, at the Southeast Elementary School, where the meeting took place. Workshops were held in the afternoon.

The next meeting has been set for Nov. 22 and will also be in Sweetwater.

Wintry Days Call For Steaming Cocoa

Those first crisp days of autumn make one long for a steaming cup of cocoa, with a marshmallow floated on top. There is an art to making good cocoa. One rule is not to cook it too rapidly.

Here is a recipe:

GOOD COCOA

Ingredients:

2 to 3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons cocoa
¼ cup hot water
2½ cups milk
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Method:

Stir sugar, a dash of salt and cocoa together in a saucepan; stir in hot water. Place over low heat and continue to stir if sugar is not dissolved, then still stirring, boil 2 minutes.

Add milk; stir to combine; heat to boiling, but do not boil. Stir in vanilla. Pour into cups at once. Makes 3 servings.

Rice Measurement

A pound of rice equals 2¼ cups.

Test Your Perfume; Has It That 'Something'?

What makes a perfume truly "great?"

This is a question that has been asked many times, and one which probably never can be summed up with a simple answer.

One of America's perfumers, who is now introducing his newest fragrance, says that a perfume's measure of "greatness" is determined by a combination of many different elements.

"To create a perfume to the tastes of our modern century," he explains, "requires imagination, technique and skill; the art of delicate blending and fixation; choice of noble ingredients from nature's masterpiece aromas, and the compatible marriage of these natural aromas with the miraculous synthetic aromatics in concentrated form that have been originated by modern chemistry."

The animal fixative, he adds, is what provides the sex appeal. But what makes the complete scent outstanding, what makes it attract and gives it radiance and brillance, is a mystery.

The eventual acceptance and success of a fragrance, according to the expert, is largely due to the prestige which surrounds it. To achieve true greatness, it must have originality. "Much like song hits, though," he says, "perfumes tend to follow trends. The popular song writer and perfumer have one thing in common. Each borrows from himself, from others, and from the classics."

Emigre Russian Believed Kidnaped

LONDON (AP) — A young Red army tank driver who fled to the West is believed to have been secretly flown back to the Soviet Union from Britain.

The Soviet Embassy here assured the Foreign Office 22-year-old Sgt. Anatoli Ponomarenko went back voluntarily.

But Russian emigre sources are convinced he was kidnaped by Red agents under the noses of Scotland Yard men detailed to guard him. They believe he now has been executed.

Ponomarenko had 70 days of freedom in Britain after quitting his unit in East Germany and escaping to West Berlin last Dec. 31. After his escape, his commanding officer accused him of murdering a comrade and demanded his return.

British authorities replied that the soldier's pistol had not been fired since it was made. He was granted political asylum.

Shortly after coming to London, he helped write a pamphlet calling on other Soviet soldiers to desert. He spoke out on television and addressed an anti-Communist meeting.

Early in March he disappeared from his hideout in northwest London, leaving behind all his personal belongings.

Officials of the National Alliance of Russian Solidarists, an emigre movement dedicated to overthrowing Russia's Communist regime, told Scotland Yard that just before Ponomarenko vanished, he became friendly with a middle-aged Russian woman.

The sergeant never was seen again. The Soviet Embassy told the British Foreign Office he visited the embassy and asked to return to the Soviet Union. Friends in the emigre organization said the idea is preposterous, that he "was clearly dedicated to our mission."

Youth Arrested In Stolen Auto

A 1949 Packard was stolen here Saturday night and found a short time later occupied by a juvenile.

The youth was turned over to the juvenile officer, A. E. Long.

3 Accidents Occur In Big Spring Sunday

George Trueblood, 1006 W. 6th, and Clement Smith, 805 San Antonio, collided at 6th and San Antonio.

This morning, Wesley Hutchings, 505 E. 14th, and Billy Coplin, 1804 E. 15th, were in collision.

Two Men Arrested Following Fight

Two men were arrested Sunday in connection with a reported fight in a room at the Arrow Motel, 1001 E. 3rd sometime Saturday night.

Demo Gains Seen In Political Survey

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today a nationwide survey of political conditions by Times correspondents indicated Democratic gains in the House of Representatives in the Nov. 4 election.

The Times said the general impression, slightly more than two weeks before the election, was that the Democrats might gain from 15 to 40 House seats.

This would give them a comfortable majority in the next Congress. When the present House was at full strength, the Democrats held 235 seats and the Republicans 200.

The Times said the survey was not intended as a final forecast. It noted that many races were reported close and subject to change in the closing days.

Not included in the survey were Maine, which voted Sept. 8, and Alaska, where elections will be held Nov. 25.

The Times survey reported:

Democrats were confident—and many informed Republicans privately agreed with them — that they would add to their present House majority.

Correspondents of the Times reported that the Democrats had fair to excellent chances of adding one or more House seats in New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, California, West Virginia, Indiana, Michigan, Washington, Maryland, North Dakota, Kentucky and Ohio.

There seemed to be little chance that Vice President Nixon would get the nationwide vote of confidence in the Eisenhower administration for which he has asked. Nixon has urged campaign audiences to vote for Republican House and Senate candidates who would support President Eisenhower's program.

There were few signs of the landslide that some Democrats predicted when they said their party would gain 60 to 80 House seats.

Other samplings of political opinion reinforce the impression of The Times survey that the Democratic gains in the House proportionately would fall below the expected Democratic increases in Senate seats.

Recent surveys, including those by teams of New York Times correspondents, have shown that the Democrats might gain as many as 10 or 14 Republican-held Senate seats, while no Senate seat now held by a Democrat is in serious danger.

The last Senate was divided 49 Democrats to 47 Republicans.

BenJack Says He'll Come Back

DALLAS (AP) — BenJack Cage, convicted embezzler, is in Brazil and no one can make him leave. But the one-time boy wonder of the Texas insurance business says he'll come back to face a 10-year prison term and four other indictments.

Cage said in a telephone interview yesterday, "I have no plans not to return. I expect to be back in Texas in two or three weeks."

The former head of the defunct ICT Insurance Co. empire laughed when asked if he intended to use his permanent residence permit to avoid further punishment or prosecution.

Richard Butrick, American consul general at Sao Paulo, where Cage is staying, confirmed a story saying Cage's status put him out of reach of Texas officials.

Butrick said Cage may remain in Brazil the rest of his life. Culver Gidden, in charge of citizenship affairs at the Sao Paulo consulate, said Cage cannot be forced to return to the United States.

Cage first went to Brazil after the collapse of the multi-million dollar empire embracing 74 corporations over which he reigned. He said he was in Brazil on business.

After being indicted in Texas, Cage went to Mexico City and met Dallas officials. After three days of conferences he returned to Texas.

He invoked the Fifth Amendment before Texas investigating committees and did not take the stand at his own trial.

He was convicted of embezzling $100,000 in an involved deal from the insurance empire and sentenced to 10 years. The conviction was upheld in appeal, but Cage has been free on bond while the court considered a motion for rehearing.

Cage also has been indicted on two other embezzlement charges and faces two indictments accusing him of bribing former State Insurance Commissioners Byron Saunders and Garland Smith.

Services Held

BAIRD, Tex. (AP) — Funeral services were held here today for Charles Nordyke, father of Amarillo Newsman-Author Lewis Nordyke. The elder Nordyke, 87, died at the Callahan County Hospital here Saturday night after a long illness.

Mahon Joins Trips On New Jet Airliner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several Texas members of Congress will have first hand knowledge of world conditions next session.

Rep. George Mahon (D) of Lubbock is the latest to go overseas. He flew to Brussels last week on the inaugural flight of the big Pan American jet transport plane but plans to spend most of several weeks in the Middle East.

As chairman of the House Defense Appropriations Subcommittee, Mahon plans to check into expenditures of United States Armed Forces and to look closely into the foreign aid program.

"While in the Middle East I hope to determine with some accuracy the real conditions as to tensions," he said. "I'd like to know the facts and know what the various peoples think of our policies."

Many persons in his part of Texas, he said, strongly oppose continued foreign aid.

Rep. Jim Wright (D) of Fort Worth is scheduled to leave Thursday for Mexico City as a member of a House Public Works Subcommittee to attend a roads conference.

The group, headed by Rep. Bob Jones (D-Ala), will fly from Mexico City to Panama to inspect parts of the Inter-American Highway System through Central America. From Panama they will go to Venezuela.

Two Texas congressmen are expected to return here next week from a tour of South Africa where they were to check the effect on U.S. farmers of increasing wool and cotton production. They are Reps. W. R. Poage of Waco and Clark Fisher of San Angelo.

Rep. Albert Thomas (D) of Houston, as a member of the House Appropriations Committee, is touring military bases in Europe. His itinerary also called for a visit to Russia. He is expected back about the end of the month or early November.

Rep. J. T. Rutherford (D) of Odessa is a captain in the Marine Corps reserve and plans to take two-weeks active duty in late November. With other Capitol Hill reservists he is going to Europe. Rep. Jack Brooks (D), a major in the Marine Corps reserves, took an active duty tour recently in the Caribbean.

Recently returned from European tours were Reps. Wright Patman (D) of Texarkana, member of a joint Senate-House Economic Committee, and Rep. Olin Teague (D) of Bryan, Chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, Teague inspected European military bases at the request of Pentagon officials.

Police Push Bomb Probe

ATLANTA (AP)—Increased police activity was expected today in the continuing probe into the week-old bombing of the Jewish temple in Atlanta.

Police checked on several threatening telephone calls, including one to the Atlanta bureau of the Associated Press and another to a north Atlanta film company that processed television film showing blast damage.

The call to the AP warned that future attacks would be made on Jewish homes and clubs and on "those Jew-loving newspapers too."

Several of the men held in the temple bombing also were arrested while picketing the Atlanta Journal-Constitution building in July. They carried anti-Semitic signs. Some of the signs referred to a "Jewish controlled press."

The calls were written off by police as crackpots "trying to get in on the act." All were carefully checked, however.

Meanwhile, preparations were being made for a bond hearing Wednesday in Fulton Superior Court for five Atlanta area men indicted in connection with the dynamiting.

A grand jury indicted the five Friday under a felony section of the Georgia code. The jury recommended that no bond be granted.

Union Head Urges Defeat Of Sales Tax

HOUSTON (AP)—Jerry Holleman, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, called for all-out resistance today against passage of a state sales tax which he said would be proposed to the Legislature.

"The effort to pass a sales tax will be a major effort with millions of dollars spent in its behalf," Holleman said. "We must be prepared to fight at every turn."

He said a tax was favored by the Texas Manufacturers Assn. and the Farm Bureau Federation.

Holleman was keynote speaker at the opening session of the labor group's annual convention. The meeting runs through Thursday.

He said the best solution to the anticipated deficit in state operating funds probably would be in the form of a graduated general personal and corporate income tax.

But he added, "it appears that the people of Texas are not yet prepared to seriously consider this source."

Natural gas and oil production tax increases may be adequate to meet the state's deficit, he said.

The Austin labor leader also proposed a broad program of action in other fields.

He called for a closer alliance with farmers. "We propose that the necessary steps be taken to assure to the farmer his fair share of the national income."

Farmers, Holleman said, should be protected by unemployment compensation in the event of storms or floods. "Call it crop insurance or whatever you will."

Holleman said legislation should be passed to permit farmers to organize and bargain collectively for the disposal of their farm products.

"Perhaps most important of all we should demand further amendment to the so-called right-to-work law," Holleman said. "This law only protects employes against discrimination because of membership or non-membership in a labor union."

He said it should prohibit discrimination because of age, disability, religion, race or national origin.

Holleman said Texas ranks near the bottom in the amount it pays its unemployed and that "this winter promises to be the worst that Texas workers have suffered since the depth of the depression."

He asked that the Legislature remove maximum weekly benefits for the unemployed, raising the top to 50 per cent of a worker's average weekly wage, and that the eligibility period be extended to 39 weeks.

Holleman also called for a state employes civil service system, legislation against loan sharks, a permanent party registration law "in the belief this will help make Texas a true two-party state," support of urban renewal programs, and laws restoring "to Texas employers and employes the freedom to contract, the right to enter into a union shop contract if they so desire."

Norther Expected In Texas Today

By The Associated Press

A norther boomed toward Texas from the northeast Monday.

The front, expected into Texas Monday afternoon, threatened a touch of winter.

Increasing cloudiness was forecast for East and South Central Texas with scattered showers over all but West Texas until the front passes.

Cooler weather was forecast for all of Texas.

Predawn temperatures Monday varied from 55 degrees at Wink to 70 at Galveston. Skies were fair, except for some ground fog along the coast.

Highs Sunday ranged from 90 at Childress to 80 at Van Horn and El Paso.

Family Loses 4 Children In Week

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Carroll have lost all their four children in less than a week.

Mrs. Carroll gave birth to a stillborn baby last Wednesday. Her three other children were en route from their home in nearby Acme Sunday to take her home from a hospital here when their automobile collided with a passenger train at a grade crossing. The two boys, aged 5 and 16, and the girl, 12, were killed.

Univac-Sponsored Couple Married

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Shirley Saunders and Bob Kardell are honeymooning today — thanks to an electronic brain and television.

Their marriage last Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church was the result of a Cupid-playing Univac. The best man was Art Linkletter, whose TV show People Are Funny brought them together.

Twenty other couples also were paired by the machine as ideal mates, but no marriages resulted. Bob and Shirley, both 26, were chosen for their similarity in religion, politics, education and personality.

They won $20,000 on the show.

Newsmen Get Together For Bull Session On NBC News

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—NBC News corralled five of its wide-ranging correspondents Sunday for an hour-long informed, interesting bull session on television about the current sad state of the world.

The correspondents were David Brinkley, working out of Washington; Joseph C. Harsch, covering Western Europe; Irving R. Levine from Moscow; John Chancellor, who has been roving the Middle East; and Cecil Brown from the Far East. Frank McGee moderated the program.

As always has been the case with bull sessions, no unanimous opinions were arrived at. As always, the most dogmatically opinionated man held the floor longest and some of the most trenchant comments were made by those nipping at the heels of the charging bull.

To one viewer, who would not attempt to organize such an affair, the natural beginning of the hour-long discussion came at its very end. Brinkley, whose time was squeezed by much hubba-hubba from the Far East, finally had a chance at two minutes of saying what American viewers are most interested in hearing.

He raised the big question of what are we supposed to do about it and answered that nobody has yet told the individual American what to do in a variety of situations, that we suffer not from moral flabbiness but from a lack of positive leadership.

Chancellor gave a fine report on the situation in the Middle East. Brown defended Quemoy for 23 minutes over the protests of his colleagues. It was too long a defense.

NBC-TV now has the material for a grand hour-length regular television series. All it needs to do is repeat once a week the Fred Astaire show, as seen on Friday evening, from now until spring.

Astaire, the young man in his 60th year, with the aid of director Bud Yorkin and choreographer Hermos Pan, presented the finest review to grace the nation's TV sets in the memory of this viewer.

The passage of years has not changed the fact that the laconic, nimble Astaire holds the country's male dancing crown against all strenuous, muscular contenders.

In lithe, lovely Barrie Chase he has his best partner since his sister Adele foresook the stage for marriage in 1932.

Loraine Negro Dies Of Knifing

COLORADO CITY — Gus Carter, about 40, died in the Johnson Hospital Sunday morning as the result of a stabbing in a cafe north of the T&P tracks at Loraine.

According to Jack Brewer, Loraine night patrolman, A. D. Williams, 55, Negro cafe owner, is being held in the Mitchell County jail at Colorado City in connection with the stabbing.

Brewer said that apparently Williams had asked Carter, also a Negro, to leave the cafe. Carter was alleged to have threatened Williams with a knife, and in a scuffle which resulted, Carter received a knife wound under the heart. He died a few minutes later in the hospital.

Dist. Atty. Eldon Mahon, who returned from Austin Sunday night, said that no charges had been filed but that his office would investigate the affray Monday.

Oil Firefighters Closing In On Burning Gulf Wells

EMPIRE, La. (AP)—Firefighters and equipment are closing in on a flaming geyser of oil in the Gulf.

The 200-foot-high flames from five burning wells, about 60 miles south of New Orleans, are radiating heat felt as far away as five miles.

The wells, 10,000 feet deep and clustered in an area of about 500 square feet, have been flowing uncontrolled since Wednesday when explosion and fire wrecked the production platform, collapsed a drilling derrick and killed seven of the 29 crewmen. Only one body has been recovered.

Paul Afair, in charge of the firefighters, said the first task is to clear debris from the wreckage. Explosives or chemicals may be tried to curb the fire long enough to reach the twisted wreckage in 50-foot-deep water.

Another possibility, Adair said, was to drill straight down and block the flow of oil and gas in the holes, which were drilled at sharp angles. Casing was perforated in various sands, so that each well has several production levels. The fire wrecked the system of valves which controlled pressure and production.

The wells are owned by a group of oil companies known as the CATC. The cause of the blast has not been announced, nor has the loss.

Teacher, 2 Men River Victims

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A young schoolteacher and two male companions were swept to their death in the churning waters of the Mississippi when their light boat capsized beneath a power dam Sunday.

Another woman, also a teacher, struggled to shore.

"We must have got too close," said Claudia Peterson, 23, the lone survivor.

Drowned were Marlene Voronyak, 23, a teacher in suburban Roseville; Vaughan Uhr, 23, Swea City, Iowa, a student at Bethel College in St. Paul; and Keith Kelsey, 23, St. Paul.

Uhr and Kelsey were unable to keep the boat afloat with paddles after the motor apparently failed and the 17-foot craft began spinning in the eddy under the dam. The boat overturned and the four occupants were pitched into the water.

"I kept going down and down," Miss Peterson said. "I got to the surface a couple of times but the current kept sucking me to the bottom.

"After that I can't remember much. I must have been carried along by the current after I lost my breath. I came to in the middle of the river and was able to swim to shore."
