Rain Falls On Parched Ground

The sun made it up on Monday, August 28, but didn't get to perform its customary scorching on the dry earth of East Texas. Before noon, old sol found himself challenged by clouds, and by afternoon he was in full battle with them. For the first time in a long time, he lost. Cool breezes blew, lightning flashed, and the skies gave down the most precious commodity around lately—rain.

On Tuesday the 29th, the sun didn't appear at all. Clouds hung low, the air was cool, and scattered showers roamed the area.

Although the rain varied from as little as 15 hundredths of an inch to two inches, not a single drop fell unwanted.

Gardeners and farmers anxiously watched the skies, and for the first time in a long time folks scrambled to roll up car windows and bring in laundry.

Bogata's parched sand soaked up two inches over a short period of time. Deport, however, only received about fifteen hundredths of an inch. That vanished down the gigantic cracks that pattern the black dirt as if it had never existed.

Minter registered an inch and two tenths. Birdtown and Hoovortown, about one half an inch.

"Old timers" are usually quick to point out how much worse it was in '57, or '43, or some other by-gone day. This summer they have been largely silent, or admitted that they can't remember seeing the situation much worse.

Cotton, as usual, has suffered less than other crops. Insects are bad, but it is producing, and the rain will help to fill out bolls already there.

Maize was severely affected, with many fields producing nothing at all. Yields were down where it was harvested from one half to even less than is usual.

Soybeans have been the crop that farmers have been hoping to receive the moisture for lately. For those whose beans had already bloomed and thrown off their pods, the rain was too late. For others whose beans are still blooming, or bear tiny beans, the water will fill them out or allow them to develop to the bean stage.

Many farmers have already cut and baled their beans, fearing no production at all. Opinions on that vary widely, but one local farmer said that he figured that if he could produce five bushels to the acre he would come out better than baling. The big round bales only sell for $25 to $30 apiece, not much return for a big investment in seed and fertilizer.

There can be no doubt that the rains made the difference between complete economic disaster and survival for a lot of area farmers.

For cattlemen it means some relief from lack of pasture. If more moisture comes, then a short second cutting of hay may even be possible. That could help prevent hay from being one of the most scarce, highest priced items around this winter, since many cattlemen have already been feeding for several weeks.

Whether the rain just watered your yard, or saved your crop or pasture, it's a fair bet that everyone enjoyed the sight, sound and smell of good, clean rain over the area.

School Budget Approved At Public Hearing

The Board of Trustees of the Talco-Bogata Schools met in special session at Rivercrest on Tuesday, August 22, 1978 at 7:30 p.m. The major purpose of the meeting was to hold a public hearing on the adoption of the official school budget for the 1978-79 school year. The budget was approved calling for expenditures of $1,124,000 which is approximately $75,000 more than the previous year's budget. The major items in the budget contributing to the increase were: (1) Plant Maintenance and Operations, and (2) Instructional costs. While there are other increases in various phases of the budget due to inflation, the above mentioned items attributed to the greatest increase.

Total funds from local sources for the 1978-79 school year are estimated to be $553,000 and an estimated $572,000 to be received from State sources for total funds of $1,125,000 for the year. The budget is tabulated on a taxable value of $34,944,000 for the district based on an assessed value of 60 percent of actual value. A tax rate of $1.37 for maintenance and $.09 for debt service was approved by the Board for a total rate of $1.46 per $100 of values. Even though the 1978-79 budget expenditures are greater than the previous year's budget, the overall tax bills for the majority of tax payers in the district will be about the same as last year.

In matters related to personnel, Randal Clarkson was approved as a Vocational Agriculture teacher and Ann Sikes as a Social Science teacher at Rivercrest. Randi Haggard was approved as an Art teacher and Dorothy Morgan as a Title I Remedial Reading teacher on the Bogata campus.

Prices for the breakfast program were set at $.25 for grades K-8, $.35 for high school students, and $.50 for adults. The next regular meeting of the Board will be delayed one week until September 12.

Cancer Screening Clinic Deemed Success

The free screening clinic sponsored by the Red River County unit of the American Cancer Society Thursday, August 24, met with immeasurable success. Eighty patients were screened for four areas of cancer: Oral, breast, cervical, and rectal.

Mrs. Jennell Kocurek, chairman of the screening clinic, stated, "The success of this clinic depended on many people giving time and energy to the project. The hospital facilities, made available through the help of Harold Boyer, hospital administrator, were extremely comfortable and convenient for the screening. The dentists and doctors involved, who gave willingly of their free time, were Drs. Ragan, Scott, Trout, Wilson, Muthappa, Edwards, Reep and Brooks. The Pap test slides will be read by Dr. Daugherty, Paris. The volunteer nurses, headed by Pam Schuler, included Judy Moody, Hazel English, Jo Billy, Velma Booth, Gloria Jones, Margaret Holley, Mary Margaret Sturdivant, Ann Garrison, Sue Meador, Betty Jo Maroney, Lesa Risinger, and Leslie Kerr. Clerical help included American Cancer Society volunteers, hospital auxiliary volunteers, and volunteers from several local doctors offices."

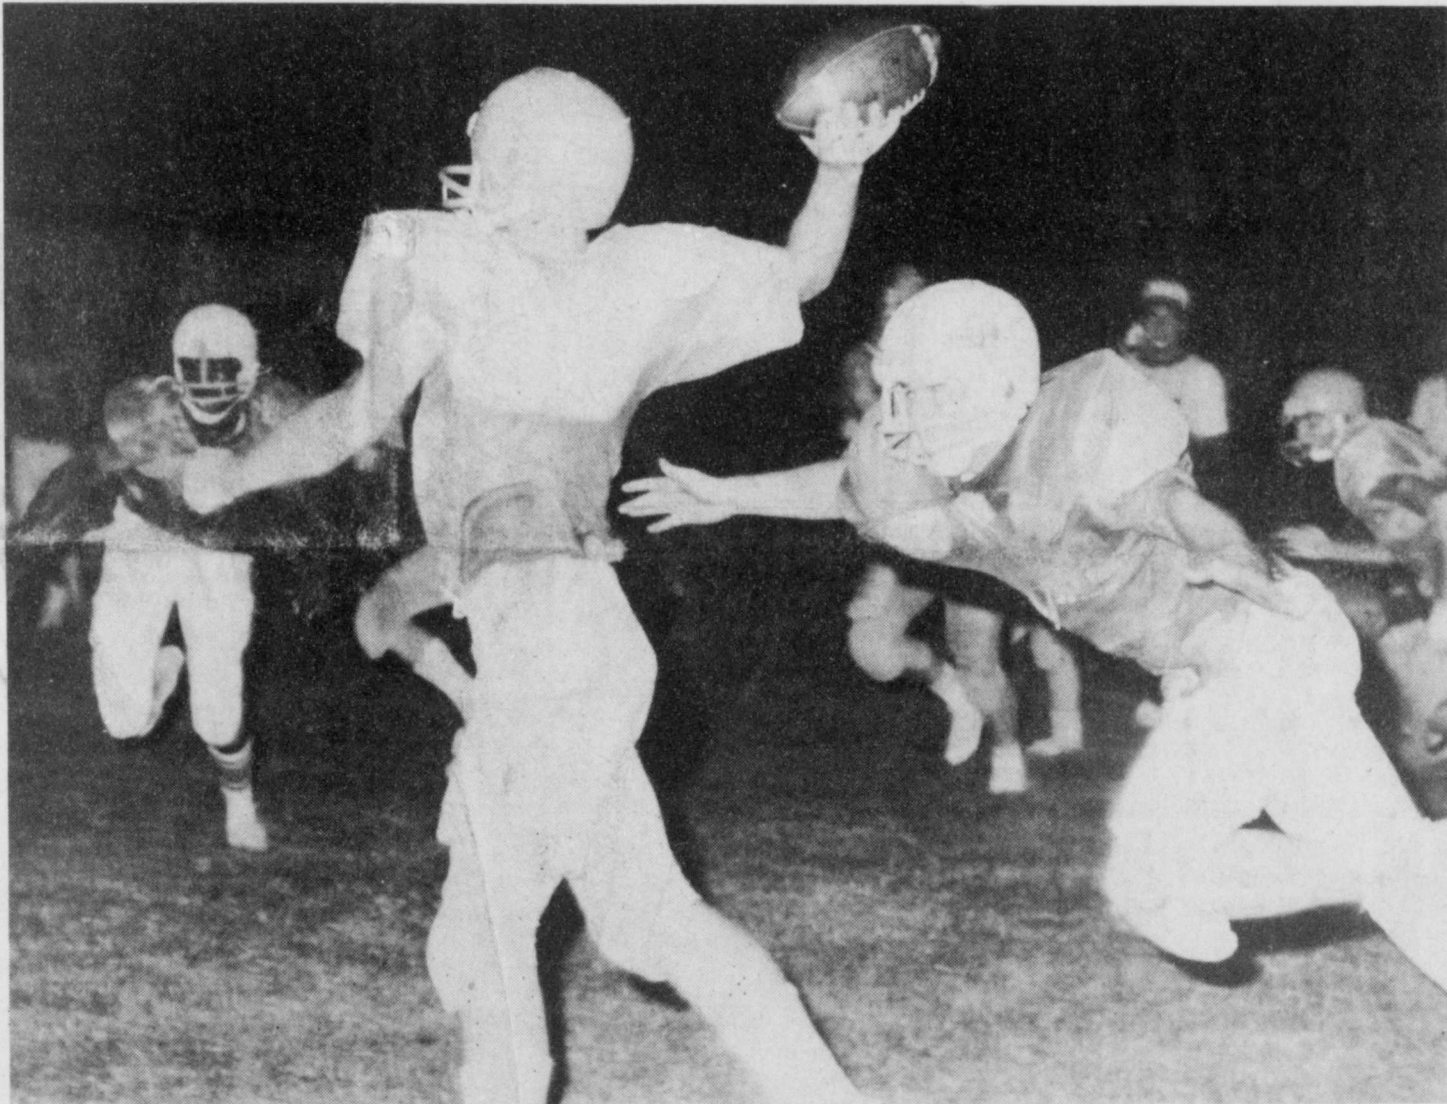

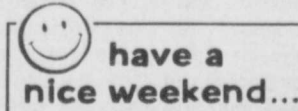

Since this was the first free screening clinic sponsored by the Red River County unit, the overwhelming response could not have been anticipated. The Committee in charge of the clinic regrets that many were unable to make appointments because the schedule filled up so fast, but certainly wants to thank those who took advantage of the service.

Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area.

Harris County, the state's most populous, recorded sales totaling $10.7 billion, up 13.8 percent over the first quarter of last year.

Franklin County reported gross sales for the first quarter of $2,513,828, with Lamar County showing gross sales of $72,036,903.

We Can Learn Much From The Wisdom Of Age

A man may grow old in body, but never in mind.
 —Marcus Tullius Cicero

In our youth-oriented culture, age seems to have acquired a stigma that makes itself evident in our very avoidance of the words "aged", "elderly", etc. and has forced us to adopt such euphemisms as "senior citizens", "golden age" and the like, to describe the older members of our society without seeming to insult them. The reason for this is that we have apparently lost respect for the vital contribution they can make in the form of wisdom, knowledge and colorful folklore based on their long years of experience. The Bible contains many passages concerning reverence for the aged, and through Church your children will learn that getting to know their grandparents better can be a rewarding project for young and old alike.

A WELCOME TO ALL!

You may be assured of a hearty welcome, if you attend Sunday School, Church Services or Social and Business Activities at the church of your choice. By finding a church home, you will make your life fuller, richer with increasing contentment. You and your family are urged to attend the church of your choice regularly.

WON'T YOU PLEASE HELP?

Our churches work constantly to make our area a better place in which to live and rear our children. Our ministers and the community-minded men and women represented on this page urge you to attend the church of your choice this week and to support its good works.

DO YOU HAVE A PERSONAL OR FAMILY REAL-LIFE PROBLEM?

Our pastors are trusted and confidential friends. Counsel with them about your problems. It is possible that their guidance can help lift some of your burdens. They stand ready to do what they can to show you the way out of your dilemma.

General Telephone Rate To Decrease

Most Texas customers of General Telephone Company of the Southwest will find decreases on their telephone bills beginning Oct. 1, according to F.E. Hightower, vice president-revenue requirements for the company.

Hightower said the Public Utilities Commission of Texas has approved the company's March request to lower extension telephone rates and to offset this revenue reduction by adopting a statewide multipart service connection charge.

The changes will result in an estimated $2,500 annual reduction in revenues.

"The changes basically mean extension rates, which in the past have subsidized other services, were lowered to 85 cents for both business and residence," Hightower said. "Charges for new installation or changes of service, which have been subsidized by other services, were made uniform across the state to a level more nearly reflecting actual costs for the services and to recover the dollars lost through the extension reductions."

The vice president pointed out the net results of the changes will mean existing customers with extension telephones will share in a $2,614,560 annual revenue reduction as the result of the reduced extension rates. In addition, customers who provide their own primary telephone will receive an 85 cent per month credit.

Hightower said the extension rate reduction will become effective Oct. 1.

Installation and change of service charges also will change Oct. 1. Installation of one residential telephone generally will range from a minimum of $35 to a maximum of $43. Likewise, installation of one business telephone would range from $48.65 to $59.15. For customers with existing service, changes in service charges generally will range from $7.50 to $22.75 for residence and from $7.50 to $34 for business, again depending upon the portions of the five-part service charge that are applicable to make the change or addition to the service.

However, Hightower added the new installation or change of service fees can be paid equally over a three-month period and customers will pay only for services required to establish or change service rather than paying a set fee regardless of the amount of work required.

Hightower said the PUC requested all telephone companies file plans on changes to bring tariffs in compliance with a recent Federal Communications Commission rules change. The rules changes make it possible for single line customers to purchase registered telephones from non-telephone company sources and to directly interconnect them to the phone company network.

"In addition to fulfilling the requirement of the PUC, we extended our filing to reflect a reevaluation of services and charges in light of the FCC rules change which requires competitive pricing," Hightower explained.

"To offset the revenue loss by making extension charges competitive, our proposal approved by the PUC was to bring installation or change of service charges more nearly in line with actual costs and place this cost on customers benefiting from the service rather than making up the revenues through higher basic monthly service rates for all customers," Hightower said.

The company's five-part installation or change of service charge includes separate fees for: (1) paperwork in establishing records for billing, etc., associated with the account; (2) work performed to connect the customer's service to the telephone network; (3) premise visit; (4) customer initiated premise wiring, and (5) instrument handling charge.

Post-Secondary

Program Approved

Congressman Sam B. Hall, Jr. announced today that the Office of Education has approved its Veterans' Cost-of-Instruction Program 1978-1979 Academic Year Awards for postsecondary institutions.

This program of institutional aid provides for a cost-of-instruction payment to post-secondary institutions based on their undergraduate veteran enrollment.

Sixty-one Texas colleges and universities will receive a total of $1,665,002 and four colleges in the First Congressional District will receive $60,195 as follows: Henderson County Junior College, $13,074; Paris Junior College, $14,632; Texarkana Community College, $29,452; and Wiley College, $3,037.

Computerized System Collects $180,000 In Two Months

Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday that a new computerized payee system in his office has collected $180,000 owed the state in its first two months of operation.

"Simply stated, our computer kicks out warrants written to people or businesses who owe the state money," Bullock said. "We then hold the warrant until the debt or delinquency is cleared up."

The Comptroller said, for example, that his office is now holding 1,253 warrants totaling $605,408. The payees appearing on the warrants are notified automatically.

"Most of them pay up quickly so they can get their paychecks," Bullock added.

The payee system, implemented June 1, provides strict enforcement of a new law prohibiting the Comptroller's Office from issuing a warrant (paycheck) to anyone owing the state money.

Made possible by a new statewide accounting system implemented by the Comptroller's Office recently, the new payee program will mean faster processing of warrants and more complete information available to decision makers. "For the first time, believe it or not, the Comptroller can tell the Legislature how many state employees there are," Bullock said.

State payees include employees, taxpayers due refunds, aid recipients and persons and businesses selling goods and services to the state.

In order to work properly, the payee system has required that a number be assigned to every payee. Nearly all of the numbers are based on taxpayer or Social Security numbers.

Bullock conceded there have been some kinks to be ironed out as the program was phased in, including delays in the issuance of some warrants because vouchers were submitted without identifying numbers.

"But with the help of other agencies we have things running smoothly now," he said. "This program is proving to be an invaluable tool in our efforts to collect money owed the state."

Bell Tariff Becomes Effective

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's tariff, filed in compliance with the Public Utilities Commission's final order issued on August 2nd granting SWB a $124.5 million increase, has become effective.

The tariff was filed with the Commission staff August 4th and approved on August 14th. This latest increase will not affect basic residential and basic business service rates. There will also be no increases in long distance rates, directory assistance charges, pay telephone or WATS service.

The increase will however affect customers' moves, connections and or changes in service. A new alternative rate system, referred to as Residential Measured Rate Service, will be offered in portions of 15 exchanges on an optional basis and will be available within six months.

It will be priced between 60 and 70 percent of single party flat rate in each exchange, with 25 free calls and a charge of eight cents per call for each call over the minimum.

The new residential service will be made available in portions of the following exchanges: Austin Metro Exchange, Amarillo, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Dallas Metro, Fort Worth Metro, Galveston, Harlingen, Houston Metro, Lubbock, Midland, San Antonio, San Benito, Tyler and Wichita Falls.

The new rates became effective August 14, 1978, with the exception of the residential measured rate service which will be implemented within six months, and any changes in billing will be reflected in customers' bills dated August 15th and mailed August 22, 1978.

Microwave Radio

It helps us give you a better bottom line on your phone bill.

Microwave radio systems are costly for a telephone company to buy and install. In certain areas, however, they help Continental do a better job for less money. And these savings are reflected in the rates you pay for telephone service.

These systems can transmit hundreds of phone conversations at the same time, relaying them instantly from one telephone exchange to another.

Special equipment scrambles your words into radio signals for the transmission, then re-scrambles the signals into words at the receiving exchange.

Conversations between the exchanges and your telephone set are carried by conventional lines, of course, and have the clarity of conversations carried all the way by wire.

By using microwave systems, we can provide good phone service to customers in remote rural areas where it would be much too expensive to install many miles of lines and poles.

Service rates throughout our system are based on our costs of doing business throughout our system. Microwave radio is one of the ways we're doing our best to do more for you.

USDA Authorizes School Meal Test

Schools were authorized today to voluntarily test new meal patterns for the school lunch program.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Carol Foreman, said, "The purpose of the interim meal patterns is to more accurately meet the nutritional requirements of children and to bring the lunch requirements into conformance with the 1974 revisions of the Recommended Dietary Allowances published by the National Academy of Science."

"The interim meal patterns reflect changes recommended in 2,000 public comments to our proposed regulations published Sept. 6, 1977, as well as testimony received in public hearings the Department held in eight major cities," she said.

The interim meal patterns announced today contain several major changes from the proposed meal patterns: They are:

The milk portion size has been increased from four to six ounces for one and two-year-old children (who may participate in the lunch program in residential child care institutions). The milk portions for children ages five, six, seven and eight has been increased from six to eight ounces so that there is one 8 oz. serving size for all children in elementary and senior high schools.

Five year olds will be served lunch in one sitting, while children ages 1 through 4 will be served at two sittings, as proposed.

Meat alternates such as dry beans, peas, eggs or peanut butter may be served alone, or in combination, to fulfill the meat-meat alternate requirement of lunches. The proposed meal patterns required that these alternates be served either in combination with one another or with meat, poultry, fish or cheese.

Schools wanting to participate in interim meal testing must first obtain approval from the state administering agency. States are responsible for overseeing the test and providing guidance to schools. The test will end Feb. 2, 1979. At that time, schools may choose to continue to use the interim lunch patterns or revert to the present meal pattern, until final regulations are developed, she said.

In addition to the field test, the Department plans a comprehensive evaluation which includes three demonstration projects to assess how the revised meal patterns affect student participation and acceptance of the program, as well as food costs and school administrative activities. This evaluation began last spring and covers the following subjects: involving students, faculty and parents in the school lunch program; controlling sugar, fat and salt in school lunches; and evaluating the use of second helpings to meet the high energy needs of certain children.

Comments are invited and should be sent by Feb. 15, 1979, to Margaret O'K Glavin, Director, School Programs Division, Food and Nutrition Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Those who comment should indicate if they are directly involved in the field testing.

Avoid Insect

Bites & Stings

Avoid insect bite or sting reactions by avoiding the bite or sting in the first place, advises a health education specialist.

To avoid or at least lessen the chances of getting stung, follow these suggestions:

1) When wasps or bees are nearby, do not make sudden movements. Move away from the area slowly.

2) Wear shoes and socks when outdoors to avoid stepping on bees or yellow jackets—which love ground clover—while barefoot.

3) Insects are often drawn to scents—so, avoid scented soaps, hair spray, perfumes and lotions.

4) Bright colors and floral prints can also attract insects, so avoid these.

5) Certain foods can attract insects. When eating outdoors, cover food until ready to eat and clean up the area when finished.

Insect stings and bites can cause serious problems, Carla Shearer explains.

Estimates indicate that one percent of the population is allergic to certain kinds of insect bites and stings.

About half of those allergic are severely so—that is, an insect bite can produce a life-threatening situation, the specialist points out.

Cattle Herds Continue To Drop

Cattlemen across the nation are continuing to reduce their herds, but some signs point toward a buildup by next year.

Dr. Edward Uvacek, Jr., livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, notes that recently reported lower cattle numbers mean producers are still in the liquidation phase of the cattle cycle.

Total cattle and calf inventories on July 1 were 7 percent below a year ago, while beef cows were down 9 percent. The specialist says beef cow replacement heifers were also down sharply, but nine states reported an increase in such heifers and one had no change from last year.

"This, in itself, might be signaling a somewhat different attitude among cattlemen and may point toward a buildup by next year," contends Uvacek. "Thus it appears cattle production is ending the old cycle which began in 1967. If this prediction is correct, cattle numbers should increase during the next few years."

"This new buildup, however, may be extremely rapid and somewhat shortened," believes the marketing expert. "I look for another peak in numbers by 1985 or 1986."

Uvacek says the calving rate is still extremely low. The 1978 calf crop is estimated to be four percent smaller and come from seven percent fewer beef cows. Of course, this calf crop number is only a preliminary figure and will be finalized at the end of the year.

Feeder cattle and calves available for feedlots in the second half of this year are also down compared with a year ago. The specialist points out that while the feedlot demand probably won't continue at its present rate, these reduced supplies should still keep feeder prices favorable.

NASA Space Rep To Visit Paris

A representative from the Goddard Space Flight Center's Sounding Rocket Division will be in Paris this week to discuss the National Aeronautics and Space Administration space shuttle program, according to E.C. Hancock, chairman of the Division of Sciences and Mathematics at Paris Junior College, PJC and Paris High School science departments have been given a space on a 1980 shuttle by Normant & Castleberry General Insurance, so the representative is coming to explain the program to faculty, students and community residents, Hancock said.

While in Paris Thursday and Friday, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, Ernest J. Ott will talk at Paris Junior College, Paris High School, the Paris Noon Lions Club and Paris Rotary Club meetings, North Lamar and Prairieville High Schools. Ott is the manager for operations and science for the Goddard rocket division based in Maryland.

The public is invited to talks scheduled at 9 a.m. Thursday in the PJC Theater for the Performing Arts or 1:45 p.m. that day in the PHS Auditorium. Ott is traveling around the United States to explain the space shuttle program in communities where shuttle spaces have been purchased.

Sometime after 1980, shuttles will be sent into space containing small payloads along with the regular highly sophisticated scientific experiments. After reading about the program, Edmond Castleberry, Bob Normant and Paul Landers decided to purchase a space for PJC and PHS to place a small scientific experiment aboard the space shuttle.

Between now and 1980, PJC and PHS science departments will formulate a plan and design an experiment for the shuttle—a re-usable spacecraft which is part airplane, part spacecraft. The payload number assigned to the Normant & Castleberry Space Research Grant is 185, and the flight date will be scheduled about a year before the take-off.

Ott, who became associated with the NASA Office of Space Science Headquarters in Washington, D.C., in 1960, assumed his present position at Goddard in 1975. He has been executive secretary of the ad hoc committee on scientific tasks and training for man-in-space and a member of various committees on aeronautics, science, engineering, mathematics and public administration.
