LINDBERGHS IN WASTELANDS OF ARCTIC

AIR VACATIONING PAIR READY TO HOP OVER BARREN LANDS

(By Associated Press)

CHURCHILL, Man., Aug. 4.—From the isolated trading post of Baker Lake, northwest territory, where it was determined today that the Lindberghs arrived yesterday afternoon, they fly today over the bleakest country they have yet encountered on their vacation trip to the Orient.

When the wall of static which had cut them off from the world since shortly after they left here yesterday was finally broken to permit news of their arrival at Baker Lake to come through it was learned they planned taking off for Hunter Bay, 650 miles to the west, before noon.

The course from Baker Lake to Hunter Bay, which is just 20 miles from the Arctic circle, lies over a lake dotted area far less hospitable than any the Lindberghs have traversed as yet. It will take them over the bleak "height of land," a ridge stretching across their path about 200 miles west of Baker lake.

At the present season, however, the dangers of crossing the height of land are minimized. The whirling gales sweeping across the barrens in winter, which have set back ski-fitted planes in attempts to pierce through to the Arctic shore, will not have to be encountered. Reports from the territories indicate admirable weather prevails.

From Hunter Bay, Col. Lindbergh plans a short 275-mile flight over Lake Step to Fort Norman on the Mackenzie river, leaving only a 350-mile down-river flight before Aklavik, on the Mackenzie river delta at the Arctic shore, is reached. Once the Lindberghs make Hunter bay, it is possible they may decide to make the two hops to Aklavik—a total of 625 miles—in a single day.

BUS ACCIDENT KILLS SCORE

TWENTY NEGROES AND TWO WHITE PERSONS ARE VICTIMS

(By The Associated Press)

GEORGETOWN, S. C., Aug 4.—A bus loaded with picnickers returning from a beach outing plunged into an open drawbridge near here late last night and carried approximately 20 negroes and two white men to their death.

Only one person, a negro youth, was known to have escaped. He said he broke a window in the bus and jumped to safety as the vehicle hurtled into the 40-foot water of the Sampit river.

The two white men who drowned were Warren Newton, owner and driver of the bus, and Dan Newton, his son.

Wilkins Is Delayed In Arctic Getaway

BERGEN, Norway, Aug. 4 (AP)—Sir Hubert Wilkins, who wants to go to the north pole in the submarine Nautilus, was delayed in his getaway today when it became necessary to shift the fuel cargo, taking half of it off and loading it back again.

When that operation is completed the Nautilus will head into the arctic. She should reach the ice barrier ten days after leaving Bergen, including one day at Tromsoe and a stop for fuel at King's Bay.

President Hoover's Weakness Is Found; He Likes Gumdrops

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican national committee, caters to one of President Hoover's weaknesses.

Each time he comes to Washington from his Cleveland home he brings with him a small package.

Questioned today when he called on Mr. Hoover as to what the box contained Nutt said:

"It is something the president likes."

Finally, replying to another question, he said:

"They are gumdrops. The president likes them."

WADE TEACHES GRID POINTS

TECH COACHING SCHOOL IS WELL UNDER WAY TODAY; 275 HERE

Wallace Wade, guest instructor at Texas Tech this week, called his big class of nearly 275 pupils together in the Tech gymnasium this morning and conducted his second period of the coaching school with the aid of a blackboard and ever steady voice. The mentor of athletics at Duke University opened the two-weeks school yesterday on Matador field and again this afternoon will demonstrate his lecture of the morning.

Several arrivals last night increased the total enrollment so far to a few less than 275. Promoters Pete Cawthon, Dutchey Smith and Del Morgan, Tech coaches, still held out the hope that the number would reach 300 by the first of next week. Jimmy Phelan, Irish coach at the University of Washington, will take charge of football next Monday, following a week-end excursion to the Carlsbad caverns this week.

Kitts Teaches

Jimmie Kitts, coach of the famous Athens High school national basketball championship teams, opened the basketball phase of the school last night at the gymnasium, illustrating his talk with several of his former and present "All-Americans." He will have the floor this afternoon until 5 o'clock, after

Dallas Man Gets 25-Year Sentence

DALLAS, Aug. 4 (AP)—Charles H. Chandler today was under a 35-year sentence for the slaying of John G. Sperro, estranged husband of Mrs. Zlona Mary Cholvin, at a picnic ground near Dallas, June 26. Chandler pleaded guilty yesterday by agreement of counsel.

Mrs. Cholvin was given a ten-year sentence Saturday on the same charge.

Hurley Says He's For Curtis Again

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 4 (AP)—Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war favors the renomination of Charles Curtis as Republican candidate for vice president in 1932.

Here yesterday on an inspection tour of his department's projects, Secretary Hurley was asked whether he would consider the Republican nomination for the post.

"I am for Charlie Curtis," he said. "I was for him for vice president at the Cleveland convention in 1924 and I was for him for vice president in the convention here in 1928."

Arkansas People Aiding Oklahomans

ENGLAND, Ark., Aug. 4 (AP)—Last year's drouth sufferers of this section who pulled through a hard winter to a summer of plenty, today shared their good fortune with needy neighbors, the unemployed miners of Henryetta, Okla.

Farmers and merchants loaded fifteen trucks with vegetables and canned goods last night and sent them as a relief caravan to Oklahoma as a feature of Lonoke county's celebration of recovery from the drouth.

WAGSTAFF BILL TO BE VOTED ON TODAY

RATIO BETWEEN CRUDE PRICE AND REFINED PRODUCTS TALKED

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 4.—The house today refused to adopt an amendment to the Wagstaff oil conservation bill to give the conservation commission authority to set a ratio between the price of crude oil and refined products.

Opponents of the amendment claimed it was an attempt to fix the price to be received for refined products and tabled the amendment without record vote. Several amendments were hurled at the Wagstaff bill and a few minor changes were voted. A vote on the bill was expected late today.

Senate Takes No Action

The senate took no action on oil legislation and met for only a few minutes to dispose of routine matters before recessing to permit the senate chamber to be used for the conference between representatives of cotton producing states on the cotton overproduction problem.

The price ratio amendment was offered by Representative George B. Terrell of Alto who claimed it would not be price fixing and would protect the public against exhorbitant charges. Representative Wagstaff of Abilene, author of the administration sanctioned bill, asserted the price ratio was not feasible because of the different processes used in refining crude oil and in differences in transportation rates to various points.

An amendment to eliminate the oil and gas ratio feature of the Wagstaff bill was defeated, 75 to 28.

Wild Cats Not Affected

An amendment was adopted that provided the conservation commission should have no authority to prohibit the drilling of wild cat wells.

Another amendment providing the bill should not affect existing anti-trust laws was adopted without opposition.

The house, sitting as a committee of the whole, killed the market demand feature yesterday 90 to 28. The senate state affairs committee voted a favorable report on the administration-sanctioned Woodward bill, which does not refer to market demand.

YOUTH LOSES IN HIS PLEA

JUDGE REFUSES TO LET DELAY BE GIVEN IN MURDER HEARING

(By The Associated Press)

SINTON, Aug. 4—Newton Yarberry, 22, charged with murder for the strangling of his sweetheart, Miss Dorothy Symon, attractive choir singer of Aransas Pass, was loser today in the attempt of his attorneys to delay his preliminary trial here before Justice A. J. Custer.

The justice overruled a defense motion for postponement of the trial and also overruled a motion disputing jurisdiction of the court. The trial was ordered to proceed but was recessed until afternoon.

Miss Symon's body, clad in a bathing suit, was found Saturday night in a shallow grave strewn with seaweed, on a beach near Aransas Pass. She had been missing since she left home Thursday night, to go to choir practice.

Footprints in the sand about the grave were measured by officers, who declared they were similar to prints made by Yarberry's feet.

The youth denied knowledge of the slaying.

AVIATORS PLAN TO CONTINUE GLOBE HOP

TWO U. S. FLIERS STILL HAVE CHANCE TO BEAT MARK

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Aug. 4—In the face of unfavorable weather reports, Hugh Herndon, jr., and Clyde Pangborn, American aviators, had not been able tonight to set a definite time to take off from Khabarovsk, Siberia, for Nome, Alaska, in continuation of their attempt to beat the record of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty in flying around the world.

The fliers slept this forenoon in the Russian aviation society's building near the field at Khabarovsk where they landed at 3:50 p. m., (12:50 a. m., central standard time) yesterday from Chita.

Wing Is Damaged

The flight was delayed at Khabarvosk when a wing of the plane was damaged in landing. Herndon and Pangborn had intended to get away immediately after refueling, but decided to remain overnight in view of the damage to their plane. The wing was repaired.

The fliers received several messages urging that they come to Tokyo to start their non-stop flight across the Pacific, but despite ad-

LUBBOCK BOYS WIN MEET

LOCAL SCOUTS RETAIN CHAMPIONSHIP IN SWIMMING EVENTS

Lubbock Boy Scout troop No. 6 and its outstanding swimmer, Glynn Shook, retained team and individual championships at the annual Amarillo council swimming meet Monday at Canyon.

Qualifying in 17 of the 18 events, the Lubbock scouts captured 13 first, four second, and three third places for a total of 68 points. Shook was high-point performer of the meet and Ralph Brock, also of the Lubbock troop, was second individual in total scoring.

Amarillo's team was second with 23 points, 45 behind the Lubbock swimmers. Events and places won by Lubbock tankmen follow:

Fifty-foot speed race — Shook, first; 50-yard speed race—Shook, first; 100-yard speed race—C. H. Sumner, Lubbock, first; 50-foot fancy overhead crawl—Shook, first; 50-foot fancy overhead stroke—Shook, second; 50-foot fancy side-stroke—Shook, first; 50-foot fancy back-stroke—Shook, first.

Life saving: 40-foot 17-inch life buoy throw—M. K. Foster, Lubbock, first; floating—Ralph Brock, Lubbock, and Foster tied; surface dive—Brock, first; undressing race—Foster, third; life saving carry race—Brock, third. Lubbock did not qualify in artificial respiration.

Beginners: Swim across pool—

GOVERNOR MURRAY SAYS HE SEEKS POWER TO LIBERATE THE PEOPLE; SAYS STATE EXECUTIVESHIP MOST POWERFUL

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 4—Defending a series of drastic executive orders, Governor Murray said today "I am seeking for power—seeking it to liberate the people."

Since he took office last January Oklahoma's governor has used executive authority to force gas rate

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 4 (AP)—Preparing to enforce a promised executive order from Governor Murray shutting down prorated oil wells of Oklahoma, officers of the national guard in station here were being quietly mobilized this afternoon.

"The executive power of this state is the strongest in the union," he said. "We not only have the strongest provision on the initiative and referendum but we have the strongest executive power it is possible to have.

"The powers have always been there; they just haven't been exercised before.

"As long as the people back me, I know I won't be impeached for using the executive power."

Hundreds Die In Flood In Chinese Rice Region

FORTNIGHT OF RAINS RESULTS IN HEAVY FLOOD WATERS

(By The Associated Press)

HANKOW, China, Aug. 4.—Although flood waters were receding slightly today, Hankow's modern buildings still resembled brick and stone islands rising in a coffee colored sea which extended in all directions beyond the range of powerful binoculars.

The wide expanse of muddy, churning water was hardly broken by the thatched roofs of what had been villages after the raging Yangtze and Han rivers had overflowed as a result of a fortnight of continuous rains.

Accurate Toll Lacking

A trustworthy tally of the death toll still was lacking, although estimates ranged from 700 to 1,200 in the tri-cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang alone.

Tens of thousands of refugees presented Hankow the problem of feeding the homeless in addition to tending the city's dykes and finding rations for its own populace.

Hankow's disaster merely was the most spectacular of many of similar extent throughout central China. Death and destruction in southern Anhwei from the flood probably will be as great. Wuhu, like Hankow, was crowded with nearly starved refugees.

The flooded areas constitute the richest rice growing region of China.

Cuban Workmen Go On Strike Today

HAVANA, Aug. 4 (AP)—The heralded 24-hour strike, expected to involve 40,000 or more workmen affiliated with the Cuban National labor confederation, officially got under way at one minute past midnight today.

Labor leaders said about 30 unions would take part in the strike, called in support of striking street car men and to protest imprisonment of workmen and government restriction of meetings.

Trial Of Clark Is Begun In California

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4 (AP)—With exceptional speed being made in the selection of a jury, it was indicated taking of testimony may start late today in the trial of David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney, charged with the murder of Herbert F. Spencer, one time newspaperman and editor of a "crusading" magazine.

Questioning of prospective jurors indicated Clark, who made no statement following his surrender, will enter a plea of self-defense. The state indicated it would ask the death penalty.

GIRL'S DEATH IS LAID TO CIGARET

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 4. (AP)—Miss Marie Stahl is dead today because she smoked a cigaret.

While riding with friends Sunday night, she was offered a smoke and accepted. After several puffs she held her arm out of the car window to flick the ashes away. A truck was parked at the curb and as the car in which Miss Stahl was riding drove by too closely Miss Stahl's arm was caught in the uprights of the truck and severed.

She died last night from shock superimposed by loss of the arm.

Ollie Hansen, driver of the car in which she was riding, was held today on charges of negligent homicide.

"Improved Model" Of Ford Reported

DETROIT, Aug. 4 (AP)—The Detroit News, commenting on a recently-announced reduction of the employment roster of the Ford Motor company, says that an official of the company has reported that the reduction is temprary in preparation for an "improved model" in September, and that not less than 30,000 men will be continually employed during the current month.

The News says that the daily payroll of the Ford company during the current month will approximate $500,000, and that a September schedule calling for 100,000 units of the "improved model" has been issued. The paper says that no change is expected in the motor design of the automobile.

POLICE ARE KEPT JUST HERE DURING JULY; 16 BURGLARIES ARE REPORTED

Two violent deaths, a slaying, at least 16 burglaries, and a wholesale jail-break occurred in Lubbock in July, Police Chief John Lemond reported. Four persons were taken into custody for burglary, four for theft, and one for transporting liquor.

Police captured persons responsible for much of the undercover robbery, however, and a negro woman faces a murder charge in connection with the slaying.

Lubbock police made 111 arrests and issued 77 traffic summonses in July, Police Chief John Lemond reported. Four persons were taken into custody for burglary, four for theft, and one for transporting liquor.

28 "Drunks" Jailed

Drunkenness led to causes for arrest, 28 persons being booked on that charge in the 31 days. Twenty-five were arrested for creating disturbances, 17 for vagrancy, 12 for gambling, 11 for investigation, and one each for using profane language, for indecent exposure, window-peeping, carrying a pistol, and prowling, the police chief reported.

Two violent deaths were investigated by police. Bertie Robinson, a negro woman, was stabbed to death in an altercation at Merrill park the night of July 6. Betty Heron,

COMMISSIONER DAVILA OF PORTO RICO ASKS FOR PROHIBITION ABOLISHMENT

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Commissioner Davila of Porto Rico predicted today a vote on prohibition in the island would be overwhelmingly against that law and said he was going to seek authority from congress next winter for such a ballot.

Davila, who came here by plane last week, said prohibition had failed in Porto Rico. He said it was practically "impossible" to make the dry law effective in the island.

"We have islands of the West Indies close by, and it is very easy to smuggle in from those countries," he said. "There is no place approximate to it, its size where more liquor is sold. The result is that the bootleggers thrive, while the island is deprived of $4,000,000 it would get in revenue if prohibition were not in effect."

The commission said congressional appropriations "on account of the distressed condition of our people," would not be necessary if prohibition were abolished.

Davila said the first saloon was established in the island "only after the advent of the United States there."

"Prohibition is not necessary in Porto Rico," he insisted, "and it is a burden on the island."

OFFICIAL WILL TRY TO FORCE RATES DOWN

GAS SURVEY BEGUN AS ANSWER IS GIVEN TO PLAINVIEW QUERY

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 4.—Attorney General James V. Allred revealed today that his department had begun a survey of gas rates to Texas consumers with a view to forcing a reduction. The survey will include production and transportation costs, Allred said.

News of the survey was made public through a letter addressed to Grady Shipp, secretary of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce.

Shipp had asked whether the South Plains Pipe Line company could be classified as a common carrier so it could be required to deliver gas to the city.

Not Satisfied

"We can buy gas and put our own distributing system in here and sell it at much less if we could get it transported down here," Shipp wired. "We are not satisfied with our gas rates."

Attorney General Allred in answering, said the problem of attempts to reduce gas rates "confronts practically every city in the state."

"I have reached the conclusion," he went on, "that there should be a general reduction of rates throughout the entire state, in line with the reduced prices and values of other commodities and services. It seems to me that this is true of all public utilities services."

Have Shown No Disposition

"The gas and electric service companies have shown no disposition up to this time to pass on to the consuming public the savings they should be able to make as a result of cheaper materials and supplies and lower maintenance and operation costs."

"In view of my convictions in the matter," Allred said, "I have been making a study of the whole utility situation. This office is making a survey of rates which are being charged the consumer by the gas companies, as well as production and transportation costs. When this is completed I have determined to take appropriate action, in the courts if necessary, to prevent discrimination between

STERLING FOR COTTON AID

GOVERNOR SAYS SOME PLAN MUST BE MADE FOR RELIEF

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 4.—Governor Sterling today told a southwide cotton conference he hoped it could devise some method to eliminate the paradoxical situation of gigantic cotton stocks unsold while millions were poorly clothed.

"We don't have to have a surplus," the governor stated. "Millions of people are needing clothes. There must be something wrong with the distribution."

Governor Sterling told the conferees he was a "little doubtful whether legislation can be passed to benefit the farmer, and also somewhat doubtful whether legislation can be passed to benefit the oil man." He had called a special session of the legislature, meeting now, to deal with those two problems.

The conference today was considering recommendations drafted at a preliminary meeting yesterday. One of these asked the federal farm board to hold its cotton off the market until January 1, 1933, or to repurchase as much as should be sold.

Another approved cotton acreage reduction by law.

Another picnic was given for a visitor here Monday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tatum, 1720 Avenue N, took a party to County park in honor of Mrs. Tatum's sister, Mrs. Hugh Chism, and children, of Altus, Okla.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tatum of Lamesa, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tatum and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Tatum and baby, Mrs. J. R. Newman and three children and Paul Newman.

Camp Fire Outing Begins In Canyon

Camp Fire Girls left Lubbock early today for Ceta canyon near Happy, where they are to spend 10 days in annual summer encampment. An undetermined number attended, although it was thought yesterday that the enrollment would be about fifty.

Girls were to be in camp this morning from Lubbock and several other West Texas towns. As there is no means of communicating with the camp, the number will not be learned until this afternoon when adults return who took the Lubbock girls up this morning.

Miss Margie Taylor, city Camp Fire executive, and councilors for the encampment left Monday morning with baggage of the girls and other equipment. Camp was prepared yesterday in order that the daily routine program might be started this morning with the arrival of the girls.

Camp will be broken on August 14 with a sunrise council fire at which ranks will be awarded.

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

DR. MYERS

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D. Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

PERSONAL APPEARANCE

There was a time when we who are fathers suddenly took an interest in our personal appearance; and when we supposed that a particular damsel noticed us we scrubbed our hands and necks and fussed up our cravat more than usual.

In our earlier sweetheart days when we were not quite sure the young woman who is now our wife cared as much for us as we hoped she would, we took pains to make ourselves look as well as possible.

Some years have passed since then and life's sterner realities have crushed out much of the romance. Nevertheless we husbands who live in happy families still long to be loved by our wives (one apiece).

Scores of articles have been written to wives urging them to keep themselves attractive in order to nurture the love and affection of their husbands. The probability is that the average wife as just naturally manifested more interest in her appearance than her husband has in his. Why should we fathers not strive to keep ourselves neat and attractive, too? Does it make no difference to your wife or mine how we look? Of course, it does; and far more than we had ever dreamed. If we wish to cultivate richest companionship with our wife and children, we are going to be greatly interested in our personal appearance in their presence.

Some psychological factors are there which make us husbands less concerned about the way we look than we used to be. We are older now, less sensitive to urges to be attractive. Human nature is such as to induce one to sink to the level of the commonplace, taking our loved ones for granted, unless we are on our guard make efforts to hold ourselves to standards which reason and refined taste dictate.

Perhaps the greatest menace to marital happiness is the tendency for husbands and wives to take each other for granted. On its account we are tempted to neglect many of the nice amenities which once dignified and graced our relationships, tempted also to become obtuse even to the simple matters of good sportsmanship. We tend to let down on self-restraint we once observed, less thoughtful of our comrade's feelings. More neglectful are we, too, of those little things we used to do which added greatly to her joys and happiness. Ours is the loss as well; for "happiness was born a twin", the more things one does which annoy his wife, and the fewer one does which bring her substantial satisfactions, the less pleasure is reflected back to one.

We husbands who are seeking greater happiness for ourselves are going to discipline ourselves in some of these matters. And it is not just a matter of sentiment, but a matter of practical gains in substantial satisfactions. We are going to "spruce" up. The daily work at which we may be employed may not seem to make it necessary for us to keep ourselves always clean and neat in dress and person, and we cannot always do so at our work. But on returning home there is for every husband soap and water and a razor.

Cheerfully would any wife work at the washtub if necessary in order to make it easily possible for her husband to appear immaculate at the evening dinner table, or about the fireside. Hardly a family considers it undue sacrifice to pay the laundry bills adequate for necessary clean shirts and collars, or to pay for semi-monthly visits to the barber. An occasional father lets his whiskers grow for several days—much to the disgust of all his family and others who often see him—and he does so out of mere laziness, not thinking such matters of importance. A shave a day may keep divorce away.

Do Your Christmas Shopping Early—Start In August Or September

The request to do your Christmas shopping early has helped solve to a certain extent the problem of the last-minute rush. But here is a suggestion that will save considerable wear and tear on shoppers and clerks. Why not buy your gifts in summer when prices are down and clerks have plenty of leisure to attend to your needs? It's an excellent arrangement. Look over some of these articles, price them, and see what a saving in money you can make in buying them now. No 1 is a ducky little sculpture in unglazed terra cotta by one of the younger artists; 2 and 3 are white alabaster clocks with accents of black glass; 4 and 5 are service and dessert plates, the modern one, right, being glass backed with a design in oxidized silver, and the Victorian dessert plate, left, a creamy Minton with nosegay in shaded blacks and grays. Six is a group of individual salt dishes of Swedish Orrefors glass; 7, a silver tea set and two silver bowls; 8, is a molded cherry vase of thick, smoky glass; 9, a classic vase containing two white Venetian glass lilies, and 10, crystal handled butter spreader, dessert fork and spoon. The glass handles may be obtained in color.

LAMESA, Aug. 4—(Special)—As a compliment to Mrs. D. Burns, who is leaving shortly to make her home in Lubbock, Mrs. Truman Campbell is to be hostess with a reception in her home between 3:30 and 6 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Campbell is to be assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Tom Burnside.

Name Officers In Missionary Circle

Officers for the new church year were elected in Circle 7 of the First Baptist Women's Missionary society Monday afternoon in a meeting with Mrs. A. V. Weaver, 1901 Broadway.

Mrs. Maple Wilson was elected chairman to succeed Mrs. Weaver. Mrs. Fred Sparks was elected Bible teacher and Mrs. J. H. Hankins was elected mission study chairman. Others were elected as follows:

Benevolence chairman, Mrs. Weaver; periodical chairman, Mrs. A. M. Leftwich; educational chairman, Mrs. W. B. Atkins; social chairman, Mrs. R. C. Goodwin; stewardship, Mrs. J. P. Middleton; personal service, Mrs. John L. Vaughan; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. T. W. Sawyer; "Margaret Fund" mother, Mrs. C. W. Moses.

Time Turns Backward Three Quarters Of A Century In The World Of Style

BY ADELAIDE KERR

PARIS, Aug. 4 (AP)—Time rolled backward three quarters of a century in the style world today as one of the leading couturiers presented the 1932 mode frankly based on the frills and fripperies of the frivolous fifties and sophisticated sixties.

Romantic little hats with plumes sweeping to the shoulders, tippet capes and the flounced skirts of Queen Victoria's day were the latest contributions to the style battle raging between the old fashioned and modern mode protagonists.

Green, in all shades including grass, sage, billiard and bottle, was the outstanding color favorite.

Fabrics were matt surfaced velvet, plain and figured tweeds and chenille-embroidered crepes.

Black Marocain afternoon frocks designed with twelve inch flounces at the hip and hem lines and lower sleeves with dainty white chiffon frills were worn with tiny black hats no bigger than a pancake, ornamented with an uncurled ostrich feather swirling over the shoulders.

Gray wool street frocks with tunic blouses having tippet capes edged with gray were accompanied by barrel astrakhan muffs and tilted gray hats trimmed with green and red feathers pointing skyward.

Coats of dark green wool and beige and brown tweed, also displaying fur edged tippet collars, were worn over silk embroidered or chenille embroidered crepe frocks.

Evening gowns of flame or gentian blue chiffon were designed with fitted hips and flaring skirts, given a billowing fullness near the hem by means of crinoline stiffening.

Today's hats were notable for their uplift brims, many being ornamented with brightened sprey or quills standing six to eight inches above the brims.

Lois H. Vestal of Levelland, who is official scorer for the Wolfforth baseball tournament, was in Lubbock Monday and today. He spent Monday night as the guest of C. H. Quinby at 1316 Avenue O.

Know the truth
before accepting substitutes for Kotex

DON'T be confused by the careless expression, "just like Kotex." Perhaps the substitute looks the same. But demand to know more. Where was this substitute made? By whom? How? Who stands back of it? Is it hygienically safe . . . the kind of sanitary pad a hospital would select?

Last year more than 10,000,000 Kotex pads were used in hospitals. This is the pad that meets hospital requirements! You should be equally strict in selecting an accessory so definitely related to health.

Insist on Kotex. It's the world's standard. In addition, Kotex is supremely comfortable. Shaped to fit. Soft—and stays soft. Adjustable. Disposable. May be worn on either side with equal protection.

UNITED STATES NEGRO POPULATION INCREASES; WHITES DECLINE

CENSUS SHOWS MARKED GAIN IN BLACKS

MEXICAN POPULATION IS INCREASED BY 100 PER CENT

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Racial classification of the United States population was announced today by the census bureau, showing marked gain in negro growth rate and a slight loss in white growth rate.

During the last decade, the negroes increased by 13.6 per cent as compared with 6.5 per cent in the ten years previous. The white race increased by 14.8 per cent as compared with 16 per cent the decade before.

Comparative figures were given as follows:

Color or race	1930	1920	%Inc.
White	108,864,207	94,820,915	14.8
Negro	11,891,143	10,463,131	13.6
Mexican	1,422,533	700,541	102.1
Indian	332,397	244,437	36.0
Chinese	74,954	61,639	21.6
Japanese	138,834	111,010	25.1
Filipino	45,208	5,603	703.9
Hindu	2,507		24.9
Korean	1,860	1,224	52.0
All other	780	154	106.5

Even when adjustment was made for the approximately 700,000 Mexican population counted as "white" in 1920, the percentage of increase for the white population was but 13.7 per cent in 1930.

Causes Given

The census bureau said the white decline obviously was due to the falling of the birth rate and the restriction of immigration.

Nearly two-thirds of the entire negro increase took place in the north, and the census bureau assumed that large numbers of southern negroes migrated northward. However, the negroes in the southern states increased by five per cent.

Georgia, only state with more than a million negroes in 1930 decreased by 11.2 per cent, and Virginia and South Carolina also lost. Mississippi gained by 8 per cent and became second state with more than a million negro population—1,009,718.

New York Gains

New York state gained by 108 per cent, making the negro population 412,814; New Jersey by 78.3 per cent to 208,828; Pennsylvania by 51.5 per cent, to 431,257.

Highest in percentage of negro gain was Michigan, 182 per cent, with a present negro population of 169,843. Illinois, gaining 80 per cent, now has 328,972 negroes; Ohio, with 86.1 per cent has 309,304.

Because of the growing importance of the Mexican population, the census bureau said, it was given a separate classification for 1930, and by checking 1920 returns with country of birth the Mexican increase was shown to be more than 100 per cent.

MEXICANS SHOWN TO BE ALL OVER NATION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—The number of Mexicans resident in the United States was estimated today by the bureau of the census to have more than doubled in the last ten years. At present there is not one of the states of the country which does not have a Mexican inhabitant. Mexicans increased 103.1 per cent over the number estimated to have been in the country in 1920.

The total number of Mexicans enumerated at the last census, April 1, 1930, was 1,422,533. The largest number were in Texas where the census showed 683,681 Mexicans resided. The second largest number was in California, where 368,013 resided. In Arizona, the state having the third largest number of Mexicans, 114,173 were found to live.

Of the total population of the United States, Mexicans comprised 1.2 per cent in 1930 as compared with an estimated 0.7 per cent in 1920.

LAST OF LINE OF HATFIELDS AND McCOYS, FAMED FEUD PRINCIPALS OF GENERATION AGO, ARE NOW FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS; THEIR ONLY CLASH IS ABOUT PROHIBITION

BY STUART WHITEHOUSE
NEA Service Correspondent

MOSSY ROCK, Wash., Aug. 4—Here in this little valley, surrounded by cloud-capped peaks and far from the rumble of commerce, live the last survivors of the strange western migration of the fighting Hatfields and the battling McCoys.

Shortly after the turn of the present century, a group of the feudists, weary of the fighting that had kept West Virginia and Kentucky in a turmoil for several generations, quietly slipped away and found a new home in the west. Strangely enough, members of both families came here, but they never resumed their warfare.

Two men still live in the valley. Ben (Dan) Hatfield at one end and Bill McCoy at the other. They live in peace and plenty, but although they are on good terms there is no great depth of friendship between them. The men folks among the Hatfields and the McCoys are funny that way, even the descendants of the earlier generations.

Hatfield and McCoy agree on most things, but they split on the burning issue of the day—prohibition.

"I'm a Temperance Hatfield, and don't drink," Ben says.

McCoy admits to taking a little nip now and then to warm his bones and observes, out of his experience—"In the old days, they used to make moonshine out of corn. Nowadays, they make likker out of sugar, and it is not near so good."

Why did these members of the great fighting families move westward, just when the war between their clans was drawing to a close?

"The folks got tired of all the fighting and carrying on," says Ben Hatfield, known as Dan to many. "Out here we found a good living and not all that ruction. So here we came, and here we are."

But Bill McCoy, 20 years senior to Hatfield, disagrees.

"Hatfield is all wrong," he declares. "There was no McCoy or Hatfield ever came west looking for peace. The war was over back there and we wanted new land, that's all. My pappy had told me about Washington when I was a boy, and here I am. If they had needed me back there, I wouldn't have come. No, sir, no McCoy or Hatfield, either, ever ran from a fight!"

Bill McCoy's marriage was the talk of all Kentucky in 1895. For like a page from Shakespeare's tender "Romeo and Juliet," he took his bride, pretty Mary, from the Hatfields.

"A few years before that, when Jonse Hatfield ran off with a McCoy girl, there was the dickens to pay," Bill McCoy laughs.

"But that was when the feud was hot. When Mary and I slipped off and got married, everything was rosy. Nobody cared then."

Theirs has been a fruitful union. Five strong sons were born, now scattered throughout the west. Mary Hatfield-McCoy, a grandmother now, is visiting relatives this summer, and old Bill is lonesome.

"Is surely miss the old lady," he says. "A man couldn't have had a finer wife. Why not? The Hatfields and the McCoys both are the finest families in the south. I've told my boys, and I'll tell my grandson, Willie, when he grows up that he couldn't be luckier than to get him a Hatfield for a wife."

The start of the famous feud is another point of difference between these two men. Ben Hatfield holds to the classical, accepted theory that the great family conflict, which caused the deaths of more than 100 persons, was started in an argument over a hog.

"All Hatfield knows about it is what he read in books," McCoy laughs. "He was just a boy when he came west. I was a grown man. The real start of the whole trouble was over elections. What finally stopped it was the governors of the two states. It was mighty hot toward the end, too."

McCoy raises hogs. He is a grand-nephew of the great McCoy leader, Randall McCoy, a fierce daredevil who delighted in shooting as many Hatfields as he could.

Ben Hatfield is a great-grandnephew of the fiercest, "fightingest" Hatfield of them all, old "Devil Anse" Hatfield—a kindly, bearded patriarch, but a very devil when it came to warring on the McCoys. Ben has a garden, a pretty wife, two small sons, and some cattle.

Between the two, near the Mossy Rock postoffice, lives old Aunt Sarah Hatfield, 82 years old. Nearby, in a grassy country cemetery, sleeps her husband, Mitchell Hatfield, brother of "Devil Anse," surrounded by his three daughters, Nellie, Zee, and Laura. Mitchell died last year at the ripe old age of 83. He lived in Kentucky when the feud was at its height. Then all came out here when peace was declared and the families have numerous descendants scattered over this region.

"One thing is certain—no Hatfield ever took a McCoy for 'a ride,' nor did a McCoy ever take a Hatfield for one," says Hatfield. "The old folks don't fight that way, the Hatfield-McCoy feud was nothing like the dirty gang wars in Chicago.

"Back in Kentucky and in West Virginia some of the young ones still fight a little when they get likkered up—but out here, shucks, we've forgotten it all."

Though Ben Hatfield and Bill McCoy live in peace, stories of the famous fights of their relatives are highly interesting to Herman Hatfield, 11, and his 10-year-old brother, Harry.

Instead of playing "Cop and Robber," as city boys do, they have a game of their own called Hatfield and McCoy"—and you can be sure that the one who plays Hatfield always wins.

"I wish I'd lived when Hatfields really shot McCoys," Harry says wistfully.

"Shush now, son, quit talking that foolishness," gentle Ben, their father, remonstrates. "It's not nice."

DAIRY SITUATION STILL UNSETTLED

Unruffled waters often hide swift currents. The analogy appears to apply to Lubbock's milk-price war, despite a truce effected last Thursday night by the Lubbock Dairy association. Dairymen last night indicated as much.

Rumors that some dairies were supplying milk to the Lubbock trade at prices below the eight and ten-cent marks, which have been prevalent since Thursday, were afloat. Some of the dairymen have failed to raise their prices materially above the prices obtaining during the two days' milk war, it was said.

Another meeting of the dairy association will be held this week to further discuss the situation, Fred Austin, president, intimated. The meeting may be held tonight, he said.

During the two days' conflict last week, milk prices sank as low as three cents a quart wholesale and four cents retail.

Expansion Of South Plains Farmer To Sectional Paper Brings Widely Experienced Newspaperman To City

Auswering the demand being felt in Lubbock for a weekly publication to blanket not only Lubbock county but also the contributing territory, The Avalanche-Journal today is beginning a program of development for its weekly agricultural paper, The South Plains Farmer.

Neil C. Vanzant, who was born in Missouri but has been making his residence in Texas for the past several years, this morning is joining the staff of the South Plains Farmer in the capacity of business manager. Long experienced in newspaper work of all kinds, Mr. Vanzant will head the publication's expansion program.

A graduate of University of Missouri, the newcomer has been connected with national advertising agencies in Chicago and St. Louis, leaving the latter post to accept a position with the Japan Advertiser, of Tokyo, Japan. After four years among the Nipponese, he returned to the states, joining the Dallas Times-Herald. More recently he has been connected with the Canadian, Texas, Record.

Mr. Vanzant, who will be joined in making his home here by Mrs. Vanzant this week, expects to "put a South Plains Farmer in every South Plains home by mid-autumn."

The publication, with a circulation of 1967, has here-to-fore been circulated only in Lubbock county farm homes.

OBSERVING OF DAY OPPOSED

GEORGIANS AGAINST LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY AS STATE HOLIDAY

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 4.—Despite protests from Augusta patriotic organization officers, T. W. Mattox, a state representative, has introduced a resolution in the legislature asking that Lincoln's birthday, February 12, be made a legal holiday in Georgia.

The Mattox resolution said that as more than 60 years had passed since the war between the states, there was no reason why Georgians should not be "taught to revere the memory of this statesman (Lincoln) and to emulate his traits of character."

Mrs. W. W. Battey, president of the Augusta chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and Mrs. Ada Ramp Walden, also of Augusta, vice president of the Ladies Memorial association, telegraphed to the Richmond county delegation in the house of representatives to oppose the resolution.

The women contended the designation of Lincoln's birthday as a state holiday would "dishonor the memory of the gallant dead of our state and be a repudiation of the truth for which they made the supreme sacrifice."

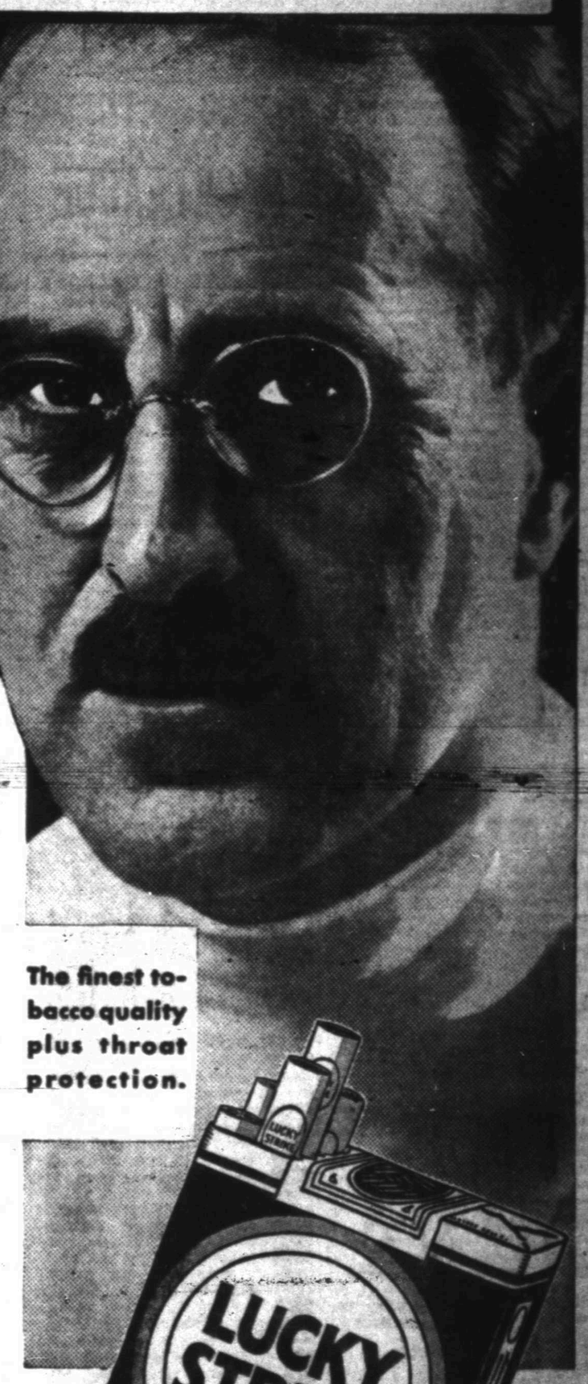

PROGRAM IS ARRANGED

EIGHT BASEBALL TEAMS IN RURAL TOURNAMENT WOLFFORTH

LUBBOCK NINE IS DEFEATED ON MONDAY

MORTON, LEVELLAND AND NEW HOME WIN OPENING GAMES

Wolfforth's semi-pro baseball tournament was off to a hot start yesterday, opening day being postponed because of rain Sunday, when six teams battled on the rural diamond over the seven-inning route to win and lose each game by a 4 to 3 count.

The schedule continues today with two of the losing teams meeting, one of them to be eliminated, in the middle game of todays card.

Levelland Whips Locals

In the first game yesterday, O. B. Conley's Legion-Lions, Lubbock City League team, lost a 4-3 decision to the Levelland Bearcats. The Lubbock representative was really a team made up of two City League clubs with a Hubber or two thrown in, but they were outhit and outran by a determined Levelland outfit, Willis Knight losing the mound game for Lubbock. A double steal manufactured by Red Gaither and Jones was a feature of the game and resulted in two runs in the sixth inning. Evans hurled for Levelland, letting Lubbock down with four hits. Two Lubbock errors helped the Bearcat cause.

In yesterday's second game, the Morton club defeated Smyer, 4 to 3, in a game besmirched with eleven errors, the winning club committing seven misplays but getting nine hits off Pitcher Scott, bunching some in the sixth for two runs to tie the score. The game went eleven innings, with Smyer scoring a run in the final and Morton running two across. Coffman was touched for eight hits by the losers.

New Home defeated Meadow in the final game of yesterday's program, 4 to 3.

Today's program calls for the opening game between Wolfforth and Brownfield, each entering the field for the first time in the tournament. One team will be eliminated in the second game when Smyer and Meadow clash. New Home and Morton, winning teams yesterday, will meet in the nightcap today.

The tournament will run every day this week, three games being played daily, each game to consist of seven innings until the semi-final round. It is thought that semi-final and final games will be played under the lights at Merrill Park here.

Court Refuses To Return Belongings

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4 (AP)—County officials today refused to return to Clara Bow several thousand dollars worth of clothing and jewels used as exhibits at the trial of Daisy DeBoe, the film star's former secretary.

Rex Bell, on whose ranch Miss Bow is recuperating from a nervous breakdown, sought a court order restoring the exhibits, including a number of coats, many gowns and a quantity of rings and bracelets.

Bell claimed Miss Bow feared the finery would be ruined in county lockers. The court clerk informed him the articles could not be returned until Miss DeBoe completed her appeal from a grand theft conviction.

THREE TEAMS AFTER NEW RECORDS

STRONGEST FIELD IN YEARS MENACES CHAMPIONS IN PUBLIC LINKS TOURNEY; PLAY BEGINS TODAY ON ST. PAUL COURSE

ST. PAUL, Aug. 4 (AP)—Butcher and baker and record shotmakers will match their golfing skill August 4 to 8 when about 150 amateurs begin their quest of the national public links championships at the Keller course here.

The defending champions, the Brooklyn-Long Island group, winner of the team title and Harding cup last year at Jacksonville, Fla., and Robert Wingate of Jacksonville, individual titleholder, will have their hands full repulsing a field expected to be one of the strongest in years.

Aspirants to the team title, however, will face a formidable obstacle in the Brooklyn-Long Island group, as the same four players who won that championship last year will defend their laurels.

Domeric Strafaci, Walter Thoren, Henry Fabrizio and Michael C. Mazza led the field by 16 strokes last year—the largest margin ever held in the tourney by a winning team.

Frank Martilotta, another member of the Brooklyn contingent, who drives a bakery truck when he isn't golfing, may provide a serious threat to Wingate's title. Bradley H. Burrows, 24-year-old Washington, D. C. poultry dealer, also may be a leading contender for individual honors.

Burrows is the oldest member of the Washington group, the youngest team ever to represent the capital in a public links competition. Two of the boys, Harlan Will and John J. Connelly, are only 16 years old. Burrows finished well up in the 1930 competition, and this may be his year.

Edgar Bolstad, younger brother of Lester Bolstad, will head the Minnesota group. He hopes to win the title his older brother copped in Buffalo, N. Y., in 1926. Edgar led qualifiers in this section and barely missed a chance to meet his brother in the finals for the Minnesota amateur championship.

HOUSTON IS SIX GAMES IN FRONT OF DALLAS; PAYNE WINS 19TH

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Houston and Dallas, first and second place holders in the second half Texas league flag marathon, continue to put daylight between themselves and the other six Texas league clubs. The Buffaloes, six games in front of Dallas, staged one of their well known early inning rallies yestarday at Wichita Falls for a 5 to 0 decision.

Payne Wins His 19th

George Washington Payne gave the Spudders five hits, and blanked them in all but the fifth when Wichita Falls scored a brace of runs. It was Payne's 19th victory. He has lost 9.

Grady Adkins, Dallas righthander, finally broke his string of consecutive defeats, beating Galveston 11 to 5.

Sam Still Hitting

Elton Langford, Dallas leftfielder, continued his consecutive game hitting when he secured three hits off Thormahlen to hit in 28 straight games.

The hardest fought game was unreeled in Fort Worth where the Cats handed Beaumont a 2 to 1 defeat. The Cats had to uncover a ninth inning rally that netted the winning run.

San Antonio and Shreveport had an off night.

SIX PLAYERS TO PLAY FOR NATION

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP)—The United States Lawn Tennis association has decided to pin its hopes for an American victory in the Wightman cup matches at Forest Hills Friday on six players, evenly split between the west and east.

Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman of Boston will lead the team, the other members of which will be Helen Wills Moody of San Francisco; Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal.; Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper of Oakland, Cal., Marjorie Morrill of Dedham, Mass., and Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, Del.

Through a strange combination of circumstances only two members of the team are represented on the national ranking list, prepared on the basis of play in 1930. Mrs. Harper is the No. 1 ranking player and Miss Morrill the No. 2 but none of the others appears on the list of the 32 leading women stars. The answer, of course, lies in the fact that Mrs. Moody and Miss Jacobs, the natural No. 1 and No. 2 players, were not ranked after the 1930 season because of "insufficient data."

EVEN "MR. UMPS" IS SUSPENDED

ZIGGY SEARS IS "LAID OFF" FOR FIVE DAYS FOR TALKING BACK TO GRANDSTAND "UMPS"

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Aug. 4.—Something new in baseball—an umpire suspended for talking back to stands.

Ziggy Sears, new member of the blue clad staff of Alvin J. Gardner, president of the Texas league, drew a five-day suspension after three written warnings, it was announced last night.

Sears' irnominy befell him in the city in which for ten years he was possibly the league's outstanding flying chaser and "money player." He was the Fort Worth sparkplug during the long stretch in which Fort Worth dominated southern baseball, helping win six league and several intersectional championships.

Combative to a marked degree, Sears' appointment aroused curiosity as to how one so prone to fight to the last ditch for every baseball advantage would stack up as an arbiter. He made good with a bang and it was said, attracted the attention of major league scouts. Nobody has questioned his ability as an umpire back of the plate or the baselines.

"I've written Sears three letters reprimanding him for talking back to the stands but received no results and was finally forced to take action against him for his marks at the stands and individuals here Sunday and the previous series at San Antonio," said President Gardner.

Ziggy is a member of the Glen Garden Golf club, a 70 shooter and the club tournament starts tomorrow. Ziggy got a nice practice round yesterday and he might be the club champion by the time his suspension ceases to coincide with the days of the tournament.

Ziggy is a lefthander.

Spying On Sports

BY COLLIER PARRIS, JOURNAL SPORTS EDITOR

The coaching school bell jingled and Professor Wallace Wade took up the pointer and opened the classes. The first was a laboratory period on Matador Field. The football professor who has been drafted from Duke University to co-conduct the two-weeks course had his first class room spasm this morning at the gymnasium.

Another of the visiting professors also opened his department yesterday with the calling together of the basketball element last night. Jimmie Kitts, the man who has piloted the famous Athens High school Hornets to two national championships and three state crowns was on hand with a number of his former and present pupils and if the start is an indication, Kitts' courses will be worth the time spent with them.

More than 200 coaches, many of them teachers in college and high school class rooms as well, turned student yesterday and filed by the registration tables where the work of enrollment was carried on as smoothly as you please. But a total enrollment cannot be checked until this week-end. There will be students coming in almost every day this week. Since Phelan's work does not begin until Monday, a number of particular admirers may not report until then. The Irish mentor of the University of Washingtoon gridders may arrive about the middle of this week.

It is pleasing to see a number of young coaches enrolling in the school. These ambitious lads, just out of college, embarking on the coaching highway, have flocked in from nearly every Texas point and many points outside the state. The enrolling of former Texas Tech athletes is a fine gesture. The school is the best represented of any, and it is a tribute to the inspiring work of Tech menters.

Baylor University has the second largest representation. Botchey Koch, all-American guard last year; Pete Jones, once a great baseballer and lineman and Weir Washam Spur coach, have been here more than a week. Sunday saw the arrival of Weldon Lucas, captain of the 1929 Bear team, and Rex (Kitty) Kathcart, who played as much and perhaps as steadily if not as good as Jake Wilson has for the past two years. Rollo Davis and Red Forhan came in yesterday. Forhan was recently named head coach at Temple High. Then Blackie (The Great) Reynolds, former all-state back at Beaumont, a scintillating member of the Baylor fish teams in 1928 and 1930, has arrived.

It is the latter in whom we are just a bit particularly interested at the moment, for he is a prospective Picador and Matador at Texas Tech. Blackie had a little trouble in remaining eligible at Baylor, striking out after a brilliant first year performance and failing to return the following year. Last fall he was back again, but had to do Fish work over. Now he is at Tech, er will be when school starts next month, and must again be a fish. But we can promise that he'll be a good one and when he graduates to the Matador ranks, which, he swears he'll do, he'll be hard to keep on the bench.

Yeah, we anticipated that crack, feller. You were about to say that they had to come somewhere to learn something about football, but we headed you off.

A treat awaits the visiting coaches and the men of Lubbock tonight at Merrill Park when the Tech athletic department stage one of their famous "fun and fite nites." Heavyweight boxing and wrestling bouts as exemplified by masters of the arts, special music and a feature "magic act" by Bob Clark, the Amarillo Houdini, will appear on the program under the floodlights.

What's in a name? More pop bottles and pillows are thrown at players and umpires in St. Louis than in another major league city. Yet the St. Louis plant is called Sportsman's Park.

A new chord is struck in the anvil chorus that has been trying to harmonize over the Walker-Sharkey fight the other night, or have we been sleeping again? Bill Braucher, sports editor for NEA, fails to agree with the majority of fans and scribes that the fight was a draw or that Walker showed marked superiority over the Boston tar. Bill draws attention to the rumor that Walker may be pitted against Schmeling in a title bout, but suggests that Walker is being tossed in away over his head.

"The fact is," says Bill, "that Walker lost to Sharkey but was handed a sentimental draw. He will not find Herr Maxie so lethargic as the strange Sharkey man. Old in fighting years, the Mick is being pitted against a bruiser who by next summer will be near the peak of his fighting form. He will take a terrific lacing from the schlager. I do not believe the Mick's punch could muss Schmeling's hair. If he packed any sort of a wallop at all, he would have shown it against Sharkey. I am going to feel sorry for the Mick if he is fed to the German. He may sustain injuries that will darken the rest of his life."

NEW MARKS IN PROSPECT IN MAJORS

PIRATES, CINCINNATI AND MACKS OUT TO MAKE HISTORY

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

They've declared a sort of open season on baseball records in the two major leagues. From now on, prospects are it will be a poor week that doesn't see a long-standing mark shot full of holes.

Three clubs stood on the threshold of new records today. The Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds, with forty scoreless innings to their credit and discredit, respectively, appeared set to shatter all long distance marks in that specialty, while the champion Philadelphia Athletics were on the verge of bettering the all-time mark for double victories.

Reds After Mark?

When they failed to score against the Chicago Cubs yesterday, the Reds ran their string of consecutive "goose eggs" to forty and at least tied one big league mark. Only two other clubs in history have been blanked four straight days, the Boston Nationals of 1906 and the Cincinnati Reds of 1908. There is no records of the number of scoreless innings run up by those clubs, but chances are they did not eclipse the current records of Col. Dan Howley's troops. In losing yesterday, 8 to 0, the Reds collected only five scattered hits off Bob Smith.

Pittsburgh, with four straight shutout victories to its credit, three of them over Cincinnati, had no opportunity to extend its string. Rain prevented the Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals from playing the only other game scheduled in the National league.

A's Whip Senators.

The Athletics approached the major league record for consecutive double wins when they stopped the second place Washington Senators twice, 3 to 2 and 6 to 5, squaring the series. The all-time mark is five straight double killings, made by the New York Americans of 1906. Yesterday's twin victory was the fourth straight for the Mackmen and their ninth of the season. The Athletics of 1911 were credited with twelve.

Lefty Grove's airtight pitching in the pinches enabled the Mackman ace to hang up his twenty-second victory of the year in the first tilt. Homeruns by Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx and Phil Todt, the latter's breaking a 5-5 tie in the eighth inning, featured the champions' second win of the day.

Sergeant George Wins

Sergeant George Connally, latest addition to Cleveland's mound staff, scored his initial triumph at the expense of the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 3.

Earl Whitehill held the Chicago White Sox scoreless in all but one inning to give Detroit a 7 to 3 victory in the third game of their "cellar series."

Although they were out hit by a wide margin, the New York Yankees staggered through to a 9 to 8 victory over Boston.

Sherman Youth Dies After An Operation

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 4 (AP)—George Mitchell, jr., 18, captain of the football and basketball teams of Sherman high school from which he graduated in June, died at a hospital here Monday after an emergency operation.

He was spending the summer here with uncles prior to entering Texas university. He was a three-letter man at Sherman high, in football, basketball, and track, and was prominent in other school activities.

Services will be held at Sherman Tuesday afternoon.

City League Games Given Postponement

With members of both teams playing together in the Wolfforth tournament yesterday, the Legion-Lions and Avalanche-Journal City League clubs did not carry out the league schedule yesterday and the game will be played as a postponed contest later. Today's schedule calls for a game at 6 o'clock on the Merrill Park field between the Texas Utilities and Wholesalers.

So far in the second half of the City League schedule, the Avalanche-Journal team is leading with three victories and one defeat. The Texas Utilities club is second with two defeats and the Wholesalers, a threat to the second half title hang midway with three victories and as many defeats.

Thought For Today

"The foolishness of man perverteth his ways: and his heart fretteth against the Lord.—Proverbs 19:3.

If you wish to avoid seeing a fool, you must first break your looking glass.—Rabelais.

Hokum And Hooey

One thing that does not always get the attention it deserves is the average man's unquenchable desire to believe in something that he knows impossible.

A short time ago—right in the middle of a spell of extremely hot weather, as it happened—people who live along the shore of Lake Erie near Sandusky, O., got all excited about a sea serpent which was supposed to be cavorting about in the neighborhood.

First one man reported seeing it, then another. From all accounts it was a veritable monster—long, scaly, horrendous, doing everything that traditional sea serpents do except breathe out fire and brimstone.

For about a week these tales kept bobbing up. People laughed, of course—but they enjoyed them, just the same. For no matter how sensible we try to be, we always get a secret kick out of letting a part of our minds believe in something we know isn't so.

Then, finally acme the climax. Two men went out in a boat — and came back with a veritable serpent, an 18-foot python, alive and authentic. They had captured it in the water, they said, stunning it with their oars before hauling it aboard.

Here was proof enough to satisfy anyone. Unfortunately, the climax was followed by an anti-climax. The men turned out to be carnival men, the snake turned out to be a side-show stake and the whole business turned out to be a hoax. The two men and the snake vanished, and northern Ohio resumed its usual calm.

But it was fun while it lasted. It was fun, first of all, to pretend that innocent Lake Erie really harbored a sea serpent. Then it was fun to pretend that an 18-foot python could somehow finds its way from India to make a home in a North American lake. Everybody knew, all along, that it wasn't really true—but that didn't matter. Why is it we get such a kick out of persuading ourselves to accept facts which we know to be false?

Prohibition Director Woodcock's promise that the government will demand rigorous prosecution of the Indiana bootlegger who shot and killed two federal dry agents will meet with sympathetic agreement in all parts of the country.

The complaints that have been made in times past about promiscuous shooting on the part of irresponsible dry agents have made many of us forget the fact that the dry agent also runs into irresponsible gun users occasionally.

The honest dry agent does not have a very easy time of it. He has to deal with the most dangerous group of criminals in the country. When he makes a mistake it is trumpeted across the land from ocean to ocean. When he runs into a crook who happens to be quick on the trigger his own life is a forfeit.

New Cruisers

Modern warships are delicate mechanisms, prone to develop peculiarities that cannot be foreseen in advance and that are expensive to remedy once they appear.

Naval authorities have discovered that eight of the new 10,000-ton cruisers which are the pride of the U. S. navy have a tendency to roll in a heavy sea to such an extent that their gun crews cannot perform properly.

Two cruisers—the Pensacola and Northampton—have already gone to dry-dock for alterations that are expected to stabilize them. The other six will probably follow, if these alterations prove effective. Meanwhile, the navy would like to know why five of these cruisers have already cracked their stern posts, and why they show excessive vibration aft at high rates of speed.

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says the minute some women marry self-made men they start making alterations.

Happiest way of committing suicide: "asphyxiating yourself with laughing gas, so you can die with a smile on your face."

Some things The Plainsman would like to see:

Improvement or elimination of the 'parkways' on Broadway, Texas avenue and Avenue Q. . . . A public figure who pitches hay or rides a tractor clad in work clothes, instead of ordinary street attire as the pictures generally show them. . . . A movie actress whose press agents do not insist that she pose for pictures while cooking in her tiny kitchen. . . . A City commission that doesn't shiver everytime a reporter asks questions concerning information which should be passed on to the peepul.

Some action on Lubbock's long pondered city plan. . . . A law against wearing pajamas in public places. . . . A professional evangelist of the sensational type whose actions emulate those of the Man of Galilee. . . . Fewer traffic lights. . . . Closer observance of traffic laws and 'Blue Book' signals. . . . An issue of The Journal that pleases every reader.

Carlsbad caverns. . . . Every state, federal and much used county highway on the South Plains paved with concrete. . . . Reconstruction of the Temple Ellis building. . . . An annual coaching school at Texas Tech. . . . Two-bit cotton. . . . Two dollar oil. . . . And Unprecedented Prosperity on a Sane Basis!

IN A month and a half or so Lubbock city schools will open their doors to several thousand youthful students, no small percentage of whom will be in the vicinity of 19th street and Avenue T. Youngsters pursuing the Three R's at Dupre ward school and others attending classes in the new Senior High school, with their parents and automobiles will help swell the already clogged traffic of that neighborhood.

* * *

Unless extreme—or almost super-human—care is exercized, there will be accidents in that neighborhood. Life and limb will be endangered several times daily and the condition presents a very definite problem to the people of Lubbock. What to do about it is of course to be considered.

SELECTION of 19th street, with its many passing motors and its jumbled appearance, as site of the new high school was unfortunate indeed. But it must be remembered that the land upon which the building stands was secured ahead of the day when 19th became such a busy artery of traffic.

Albeit, the school is on the busy street now and all that can be done is to institute measures seeking to make the thoroughfare safer for the hundreds of children who will traverse it several times a day.

One thing that could help would be the rerouting of the highways leading into the city from Brownfield and Roswell, and from Levelland and points west. Traffic signs should be placed at College avenue and 19th street, forcing traffic to and from the west and southwest away from 19th street. Another thing that will help will be the organization of safety patrols among the older children such as are so successful in the larger cities, and the placing of 'stop lines' on either side of 19th street and the schools.

IT MAY not seem so important now, to think of regulating traffic in the vicinity of Dupre ward school and the senior high building but it will seem important about the first time a child, or a group of frightened kiddies, are ground under the wheels of an automobile or a truck.

The problem as The Plainsman sees it, is crying for attention and demands the best thought with'n the city.

That Man on Avenue Q says many a husband has discovered that two makes a crowd.

* * *

A normal conscience is one that has sense enough to keep its mouth shut until after you've taken the profit.

SOME paragrapher, The Plainsman has forgotten whom, has recently commented that whenever a governor runs across a question of which he knows nothing, he calls a conference of governors who are in the same pickle. This column is inclined to agree with the thought.

* * *

If he ever had any faith in 'conferences', special legislative sessions and similar gatherings, The Plainsman lost it long ago. There used to be a saying that "two heads are better than one—except on the morning after." That should be amended to include "except when results are needed."

THE state legislature, operating on a deficit, has been wrangling and wrangling at the sickbed of the oil industry and the end of the rainbow has not yet been uncovered. Governor Sterling, anxious in his awkward way to do something about the cotton situation, has called in a flock of other governors—any one of whom would already be well on his way to the Presidency if he knew what to do to help the cotton farmer.

This column can't name the dates or the meeting places, but in the last five years or so there have been numerous such conferences indulged in by the wise of the land and from this viewpoint they havn't accomplished a great deal toward strengthening King Cotton's rickety throne. What the country needs is leaders, not conferences; action, not talk.

Take the dialect out of the average hay-fever joke and, as a rule, it doesn't amount to much.

"Without-Or-With, Offense To Friends Or Foes, We Sketch Your World Exactly As It Goes"—Byron

Signals In The State Department Appear Crossed Up With Stimson Gumming Up Castle's Hoover Publicity

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—Regardless of who may have conceived the latest plan for saving Germany and irrespective of whether the plan is anything to brag about, it is obvious that the astute Undersecretary of State William R. Castle attempted to put over some splendid publicity for the administration and that the attempt was gummed up by none other than Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson.

DUTCHER

Castle assiduity in obtaining the utmost credit for President Hoover has been noted before and so has Stimson's penchant for getting things gummed up. But this is the first time that the respective tendencies of these two distinguished statesmen have clashed on such a delicate matter as that of picturing Mr. Hoover as a world savior and that is why you now hear predictions here that Castle will be the next secretary and perhaps before very long.

Dividing the Honors

Castle was here working with Hoover throughout the save-Germany negotiations and handling the publicity. Stimson arrived to represent us at Paris and London after France, through haggling, had accepted the debt moratorium plan. After the statesmen had hashed things over and it seemed apparent that Germany couldn't get anything more than a prolongation of existing credits Castle suddenly announced a new "Hoover plan" providing for prolongation of existing credits and a committee of experts to study the Germany situation and the question of how best to turn short-term credits into long-term credits. Stimson promptly denied at London that there was any new plan, insisting later that the Castle-Hoover plan was old stuff already thoroughly discussed, referring to it as a British-American plan and giving much credit to Premier MacDonald. One also observes that credit for the extension of the $100,000,000 Reichsbank credit is given by the French to their own M. Moret, governor of the Bank of France.

But the point is that this government wanted that plan to be known as a "Hoover plan" pushed forward at a critical moment to save the situation. Stimson spoiled the effect and all good friends of Mr Hoover are pretty sore. It is impossible to say whether Stimson merely didn't get the point of the Castle announcement and didn't realize the importance of giving the president full credit or whether he was sincere in thinking that the credit should be divided.

His Other "Bulls"

Without choosing sides between Stimson and Castle, it must be admitted that the incident has recalled some of Stimson's previous "bulls" to the obstruction of his better achievements. There was the time at the London naval conference when Hoover was issuing a statement condemning the consultative pact idea while Stimson in London was explaining the kind of a consultative pact his country would accept. And his declaration of an embargo on arms to Brazil, designed to bolster a government which was promptly overthrown. And his sharp note to Russia after the Manchurian war scare was all over.

One of Stimson's strongest points has been considered his implicit obedience to Hoover, but Castle has been much more active in promoting the president's interests and advancing his own cause at the same time. Stimson is said to dislike Castle, but had to take him as undersecretary after the death of his good friend, Undersecretary Joe Cotton.

It was Castle who, when the story was widely current that Young, Morrow, Dawes and various New York bankers had sold the debt moratorium to Hoover after long and desperate pleading, issued a timetable to demonstrate how, day by day for many weeks, Hoover had worked out the moratorium idea all by himself.

All the nasty litte cynics here subscribe to the theory that Castle, in ballyhooing the "First Hoover Plan" and the "Second Hoover Plan" as such has been working gradually toward his reward. If so, Stimson may have made Castle's path to the secretaryship just so much easier.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 3 cents in coin for each article with a self-addressed stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1439 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Feminine Hygiene," "Indigestion and Constipation," "The Care of the Hair and Skin," "Infant Feeding," and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are: "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

PLAGUE

Plague is probably not considered by you to be a matter of personal danger. Yet we are living at the end of one of the great plague epidemics of history. Not since the eleventh century had a great pandemic of plague swept the world. It reached its height in the fourteenth century, was known as the Black Death. Then it gradually subsided. For over a hundred years it was not heard of. It was supposed to be a thing of the past like sweating sickness.

Dr. Clendening

Then in 1871 it broke out in China, thence traveled to India and by trade routes to the entire world. The pandemic was at its height in 1907, when every country in the world had a more or less serious experience with it. The reappearance of the plague was called by Dr. Osler "the most important single fact in the modern study of contagious diseases."

In 1903 the California ground squirrel became infected with the disease and since then a few cases have occurred in the United States every year. Modern preventive medicine has kept it within bounds and usually confined it to seaport towns.

Rats acquire the disease from fleas. Humans are infected by flea bites—from fleas that have been living on infected rats. Fleas can bite an infected human, sucking up his blood and then bite another human and inject the germ into the latter's blood with the bite.

Many other rodents can carry the disease—squirrels, woodchucks, prairie dogs, weasels, etc. The rat and the ground squirrel are probably the only ones dangerous to man.

The existence of rats and rat colonies is always a potential source of danger. A columnist recently described an enormous rat colony on Riker's Island, near New York. It was estimated that there were 15,000,000 rats on Manhattan Island most of them around the wharves.

Rats always will appear where pieces of food and scraps are thrown out, and left uncovered. This should be impressed on workmen who eat lunch where they are working on a house or building. Scraps of lunches lying about will attract rats who set up housekeeping in new building and infest them permanently.

There is, of course, no plague danger in rats unless they become infected with the disease. But since they are susceptible this may occur any time. They are fecund and it has been estimated that if 95 per cent of them did without breeding they could quadruple their numbers in a year. If there are 15,000,000 rats on Manhattan Island and they quadrupled their numbers in a year and each rat harbored 38 fleas (which is an actual count) and they got infected with plague, you can figure out the consequences for yourselves.

For most communities however, there is a safeguard in the fact that it is essentially a disease of hot climates. Outside of the immediate tropic this disease is rather definitely limited in the extent to which it will spread.

King George is reported to have worn a yellow vest at a garden party recently. And it was our impression all the time that his majesty was a meticulous egg eater.

Many jobless men in California have gone in for gold digging. But until they strike they'll still be on the rocks.

IN NEW YORK with Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—Whenever a question arises concerning the handicaps and opportunities of a great city, New York points proudly to the "Grand Street Boys."

Here, says Father Manhattan, is outstanding proof that lads of the sidewalks and tenements can rise to any position in life. And when some cynic comments that the world is changing and that gangsterism is abroad in the land and that things are harder now, the answer comes that the Grand Streeters continue to turn out a quota of successful men.

They point out, furthermore, that the organization began as a fortress against hoodlumism. Gangs and rackets may flourish in new forms, but the history of New York's East Side is filled with tales of mobs and gangsters. Years and years ago, when judges and financiers, statesmen and actors, musicians and merchants, were youngsters the Grand Street Boys came into existence for the purpose of saving lads from the streets, and turning them into healthy-minded citizens.

Al Smith was a Grand Street boy. So was Ben Bernie, the orchestra leader, who was born in Broome street and showed signs of considerable musical talent as a lad, but shifted to the study of engineering at Columbia. Finding himself weak in mathematics, he called it off and turned to peddling fiddles, graduating to vaudeville.

There are hundreds of prominent men scattered over greater Manhattan who graduated from the Grand Street club. Annually they have a get-together. Some come in limousines and some by subway, and the old-timers use themselves as examples for the younger generation.

Not all Grand Streeters have made good in a big way, to be sure; but few of them have ever "made bad."

Speaking of Ben Bernie reminds me that the accordion vogue promises to reach a peak in Manhattan sometime about autumn. Little shops have been cropping up all over town displaying piano accordions. And there are a couple of dozen schools for tyros. Most cafe bands and radio bands now have an accordion soloist and the uncertain, asthmatic puffings can be heard in any neighborhood. Almost all the young gents who failed to learn the saxophone are trying again.

Nor is the rage entirely local. From Diero, the accordion "wiz" who has turned teacher, I learn that gents come from as far away as Washington, D. C. to take lessons.

There is some indication that the appeals of musicians for the return of "flesh" music as against the canned variety, is getting results.

Pawnshops report that dozens of musical instruments have recently been taken from hock. Oh yes, things were that bad. And still are with hundreds of them.

The pawnbrokers also report that musicians hock practically every other form of valuable before failing back on their beloved fiddles.

Manhattan's most interesting theatrical experiment is under way.

The depression has hit the actors quite as hard as the musicians. And Heywood Broun, the columnist, got the bright idea of putting on a revue which would be casted by out-of-work players and chorines. The sketches, costumes, songs and all the rest have been contributed by prominent theater figures. Only the performers are paid and they will share co-operatively the box office rewards.

If it works, the idea may grow and something new happen to Broadway.

Governor Roosevelt of New York, it is said, occupies himself with miniature wooden boats as a hobby. As preparatory practice, many hopeful Democrats think, to guiding the Ship of State.

A moratorium for pugilism is needed, says a sports writer. With the stipulation, of course, that contestants lay down their arms.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Said Clowny, "It's a moonlight night and I think it would be all right to camp beneath this big flame tree. I'm sure we'd all sleep sound. If we each had a banket, we would be as comfy as could be. It's very seldom that a place as nice as this is found."

"That's not a bad idea, son, and I am sure it can be done," replied the kindly Travel Man. "You Tinymites wait here. I'll find the owner of this ground and I feel certain, when he's found, that he will gladly let us stay. Then there'll be naught to fear."

The owner was a friendly man. He promptly said, "You bet you can! And I will give you blankets so the Tinies won't get chilled." And so that night they all slept sound. At dawn they jumped up with a bound and, gazing at the sunrise, every single one was thrilled.

They walked back into town and then sat down to a fine meal again.

Right after they had finished Mister Travel Man said, "We are going to Guadalupe today and on that island we will stay just long enough to see some sights. It's wondrous as can be."

They sailed away that afternoon. Said Clowny, "Will we be there soon? And how big is the island? Gee! I'll bet we'll have some fun!" The Travel Man said, "Wait and see! With questions please don't pester me. As soon as we arrive there, on a long beach you can run."

At last they reached the island queer. The Tinymites let out a cheer. It didn't take them long to land and, as they looked around a rock wren swooped around a bit and then on Clowny's shoulder lit. Wee Clowny cried, "Gee! It is tame! A new friend I have found."

(The Tinymites see an elephant seal in the next story.)

Ready For Saturday Bath

The only connection which this imposing monster of the briny deep has with the proverbial Saturday bath is that it was launched on Saturday, July 18, at the Fore River shipyards, near Quincy, Mass., but it will continue to be bathed by the waters of the Pacific Ocean as it serves the Matson Lines under the name of "Mariposa."

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Stocks drifted lower in extremely dull trading today.

U. S. Steel and American Can sagged a couple of points, the latter making a new low. There were similar declines by Atchison, Eastman, Auburn and American Woolen preferred while Case Pennsylvania, New York Central, Union Pacific, Allied Chemical and American Telephone were off 1 to 1 1-2.

The turnover in the earlier hours was at the lowest level in recent years. Call money renewed at 1 1-2 per cent.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 2 points under overnight selling orders and some further selling on reports of continued favorable weather in the south. There was no particular incentive in the Liverpool cables and while the initial offerings were fairly well absorbed selling increased on slight bulges. October declined to 8.16 and January to 8.48, making new low ground for the season and the market was barely steady at the end of the first half hour with the active months showing net declines of 5 to 7 points. A private crop report placed the condition at 73.8 and the indicated yield at 14,150,000 bales. Liverpool cables said there had been hedging combined with continental and Bombay liquidation in that market. The continent was reported a seller here during the early trading and there was some selling for southern account.

The early decline extended to 8.11 for October and 8.45 for March contracts making net losses of about 8 to 13 points on the general list, but offerings tapered of fat these figures and the tone was steadier late in the morning on covering. At midday July was selling around 8.19 and January 8.50 making rallies of about 5 to 9 points from the lowest. Another private crop report was issued placing the condition at ... and the indicated yield at 14,218,000.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4 (AP)—The cotton had a quiet but steady opening. Liverpool came in about as due to a shade better than due and first trades here showed no change to one point advance. The market continued to improve slightly after the start in sympathy with New York October trading up to 8.25 and December to 8.45 or 3 to 4 points above yesterday's close. Later prices eased off 3 points on a rather bearish crop report showing condition 73.8 per cent of normal indicating a crop of 14,150,000 bales. Trading was very limited as operators were disposed to wait for the government report due Saturday.

The market eased off in the first half of the morning on large private crop estimates. The second estimate appearing made the figure 14,218,000 bales.

Under pressure of considerable selling, October dropped to 8.12 and December to 8.33, down 13 points from the early highs and 9 points under yesterdays close.

Later in the morning the market rallied 8 to 9 points said to be due to a report that the farm loan board would sell a large amount of its cotton to Germany on long credit, which caused shorts to cover. Some traders, however, considered this report a bearish influence.

At mid-session the market was quiet and about steady.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady. Oct. 8.21; Dec. 8.43; Jan. 8.51; Mar. 8.74-bid; May 8.89-bid.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady. Oct. 8.17; Dec. 8.40; Jan. 8.52; Mar. 8.76; May 8.92.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—Grain prices sagged early today, influenced by Liverpool wheat quotations which were lower than expected. Liverpool reported severe pressure of wheat offerings from southeastern Europe and that Germany had further restricted imports. Opening unchanged to 3-4 cents lower, wheat later showed an all around drop. Corn started 1-8 to 3-8 off and afterward underwent an additional setback.

QUOTATIONS

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—Wheat: No. 2 red 47 3-4-49; No. 2 hard 48 3-4-49; No. 2 yellow hard 46 1-2; No. 2 northern spring 49; No. 2 mixed 46-3-4.

COACHING SCHOOL

which the class will revert to Matador Field.

Coaching school classes and demonstrations will call a halt tonight with all visiting coaches and men of Lubbock invited to be guests of the Tech athletic department at Merrill Park where a program of boxing and wrestling, magic and music has been arranged. Heading the fight card will be a heavyweight between Sid Knowles, former captain of Tech's football team, now coach at Bowie High school, El Paso, and George Gilkerson, star football player at Davis-Elkins (West Virginia). Champions boxers and wrestlers of Tech will appear in preliminary and semi-final bouts and matches.

Clark To Perform

Bob Clark, the youthful magician from Amarillo who appeared in a "water Houdini" act at the local city swimming pool recently, will give his repertoire of magic tricks tonight under the floodlights. Music will be furnished by a colored orchestra from a local lunch stand.

RESOLUTION LAUDS COACHING SCHOOL

A resolution expressing appreciation of the first annual Texas Technological coaching school, which began Monday, and welcoming visitors to the school has been passed by the Lubbock Lions club.

The resolution, announced by a committee of which Dr. S. S. McKay, past president of the club, is chairman, follows:

"Whereas, The Coaching School sponsored by the Department of Athletics of Texas Technological college, and now in session has been recognized by the newspapers of the great cities of this country as the best and best attended of such coaching schools for the year in the entire United States, and

"Whereas, the Department has been able to bring to this city as faculty the outstanding football and basketball experts of the nation, who have attracted as their students for the session several hundred splendid young men from more than twenty states of the Union.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the Lubbock Lions club express its appreciation for the excellent advertising given our city and one of its institutions; that we extend our heartiest welcome to the visitors of the school; and that we commend our fellow-townsman, Pete Cawthon, for his superb work in organizing this school and making it a complete success."

An 8-year-old negro boy, Alfred Lewis, was killed instantly when struck by lightning as he sat at a window in a storm here July 18.

Nine Break Jail

Nine felony prisoners, all held for the county pending completion of the new county jail, escaped from city jail late the night of July 11. Bars in a window had been sawed out. Four of the fugitives have been captured elsewhere.

Overtime parking was the major offense against traffic laws. Fifty-five persons were summoned for exceeding the two-hour limit. Eleven were arrested for speeding, four for parking in restricted zones, two each for ignoring stop signs for double parking, and for left turns, and one for not obeying a stop-light.

Made 84 Calls

Lubbock police in July made 84 wagon-calls for prisoners, served 172 meals to prisoners, found 12 doors open on beats, made four emergency-car calls, received reports of four missing persons, and found three missing persons, the chief of police reported.

Ninety-eight persons were allowed to stay overnight at the police station. Seventy were Texans, nine Oklahomans, six New Mexicans, and the others were from Missouri, Georgia, Alabama, Iowa, Wyoming, Arkansas, California, Indiana, Arizona, and New York.

"Is Great Task"

"The task is a great one and requires concerted action on the part of all state and local authorities. It is my belief that if the local officials of all the cities served by each of the utilities will join hands and pool their resources in a unified effort to reduce rates, it can be accomplished. As attorney general of Texas, I stand ready to espouse your cause in accomplishing this object."

Shipp's inquiry as to whether the South Plains Pipe Line company could be classed as a common carrier was not specifically answered in the Allred letter.

Negro Charged In Whisky Case Here

A charge of possession of whisky for sale has been filed against James Wilcox, a negro, in Justice of the Peace H. K. Porter's court. Wilcox and two negro women were arrested by police late Sunday in the 1000-block of Avenue N. Police said they confiscated a case of whisky there.

Salvador Correa, a Mexican, was charged with possession of beer for sale in Peace Justice Porter's court. Bond for Correa, who was arrested by police Sunday in the Mexican quarter, was fixed at $400.

Cotton Marketing Is On In Capital

AUSTIN, Aug. 4 (AP)—Central Texas' cotton marketing season for 1931 opened here Monday.

The first bale was brought in by E. Ramirez, 51-year-old tenant farmer on the Roy D. Rivers farm, one and one-half miles south of Elgin in Bastrop county. The bale weighed 481 pounds and was purchased by M. H. Reed and company of Austin at a price of 10.60 cents a pound, 3.10 cents above the prevailing market price.

In bringing the first bale, Ramirez received $50 as the prize offered by Austin business men and merchants for the first bale.

"AS GOOD AS HIS BOND"

YOUR NAME, signed to a check, makes you personally responsible for the amount indicated. Your name, signed to a note, a deed, a charge account, is your word that you will live up to the agreements in the document.

"His word," people say of you, "is as good as his bond."

Exactly the same thing holds true with the manufacturers and retailers who advertise in the Avalanche and Journal. They are willing to sign their names to certain definite, printed facts about their products. In advertisements, they tell you about materials they use. They show you how to get the most for your money. They teach you how to choose among a multiplicity of products. And quite as important as all these, they acquaint you with new styles, new inventions, new manners and customs of living.

By reading Avalanche-Journal advertisements you know, even before you shop, precisely what you are getting. The manufacturer or retailer has signed his name.

You can trust the manufacturer and retailer who are willing to stake their names on what they say.

Painting Believed To Be In The U. S.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Elsie K. McNeill of New York, who arrived from Europe yesterday says she has been commissioned to find a $100,000 Spanish painting believed stolen from the burned Carmelite convent in Madrid during the rioting this summer.

She believes the painting, one of the masterpieces by Mariano Fortuny, was smuggled into the United States. The painting is known as "The Garden Of The Poets."

EAST TEXAS OIL PRODUCTION STILL SHOWS INCREASE

DALLAS, Aug. 4 (AP)—Production in the East Texas oil field continued to show an increase in figures released today for the week ending July 31. The figures, compiled by a major company, showed a daily average of 671,000 barrels.

Total production from the field since discovery was placed at 46,580,000 barrels. This was divided: Bateman area, 21,217,000; Joiner, 16,200,000; Longview, 9,163,000.

Total completions in the field for the week were listed as 80.

With production rapidly mounting, plans for a voluntary shutdown of wells by East Texas operators were going forward. A meeting to discuss this proposal was to be scheduled this week. Captain J. F. Lucey, Dallas, sponsored the plan late last week after communications with the shutdown committee in the Oklahoma field. Robert R. Penn, chairman of the Texas central proration committee, endorsed the plan Saturday.

SHORT COURSE IS LAUDED

PROGRAM AT A. & M. SAID TO BE GOOD; DELEGATION BACK

Members of Lubbock's delegation to the annual short course at Texas A. and M. college praised the program presented at College Station. The last of the 28 Lubbock county representatives returned Monday. Most of them returned Sunday by the Santa Fe railway. Others went to Galveston and Corpus Christi and arrived here later.

Event Praised

D. F. Eaton, Lubbock county farm agent, said the recent short course was one of the most instructive summer sessions ever held by Texas A. and M. college.

"The work seemed to be more practical and a greater interest was shown by the farmers and club members attending the session," he said.

Several Lubbock county persons distinguished themselves for work at the short course, the county agent said. James Potts, who was one of Texas' representatives at the national Four-H club congress held at Washington, D. C. recently, was elected president of the Texas organization of Four-H clubs for the ensuing year. Potts presided over the 4-H club division of the short course, which included about 1,200 farm boys and girls from all parts of the state. The youthful president also addressed a group of bankers, business men and farm leaders during the A. and M. conference, the county agent said.

Shortly after Mr. Eaton's return yesterday he received a letter from John W. Luker, extension dairy husbandman of the college, stating that the Lubbock demonstration on rations and production of milch cattle had been judged the best dairy number presented during the week.

The demonstration was given by Woodrow Sooter and Irene Brown, Lubbock county 4-H club members. By winning the short course award, the two club members won the honor of representing Texas on the program of the National Dairy show to be held at St. Louis, Mo., in October.

The Lubbock group was headed by Mr. Eaton and Miss Ruth Stockton, county home demonstration agent.

LUBBOCK'S "GANG" MAKE GOOD MARKS IN REFORM SCHOOL

Three members of Lubbock's juvenile Snow gang are making good records at the state training school for boys at Gatesville, County Judge E. L. Pitts was notified Monday in a letter from the reformatory superintendent. The boys were sent to Gatesville in early February.

The youthful gang members, Preston Carver, 16, Dick Owens, 16, and Willis Frost, 14, furnished Lubbock people with a great deal of amusement and interesting philosophy shortly before their confinement in the reform school through letters smuggled out of jail by their "molls." (gangdom's term for sweethearts).

Alternating between praises for the "Snow gang" and advice for those who were tempted to transgress the law, the leader of the gang daily supplied Lubbock newspapers with front page copy for several days.

The superintendent of the reformatory informed the county judge that he had experienced little trouble with the three "Snows."

They were sentenced to the school after being found guilty of a series of robberies and burglaries, officers said.

In the 10 years since Field Museum has been in its present location in Chicago, more than 8,500,000 persons have visited it.

Evict Your Man If You Can, Sheriff!

This war-like scene brings memories of France to mind, but the locale is in far-away Australia. Still, the sandbags and barbed wire entanglements indicate some sort of a war—and there is one in this particular sector of Sydney. The determined looking group of men, many of them ex-soldiers, is guarding the home of an unemployed worker of Sydney who has been threatened with eviction by the sheriff because his rent is in arrears. If the sheriff can go over the top of those solid-looking sandbags and untangle himself from that prickly looking wire he'll be going some!

And The Indian's Back In His Place At Cigar Store

PHILADELPHIA, Aug 4 (AP)—John Birch met an Indian last night and started a conversation. The Indian wouldn't have anything to do with him so John threw the Indian in the river. Police took John to jail on a charge of intoxication and put the Indian back in front of the cigar store.

Thousand Dollars An Acre Paid For East Texas Lease

DALLAS, Aug. 4. (AP)—Purchase of the 18-acre Lychliter-Kuykendall lease in the Meredith McCabe survey of the south Kilgore area for $18,000 by the Magnolia Petroleum company was made known here today.

Four additional producers in the East Texas field were announced by the Magnolia company.

The producers were: No. 5 Griffin Davis, estimated 13,728 barrels; No. 5 Howard Hampton, estimated 14,208 barrels; M. B. Hughey, estimated 20,160 barrels; No. 1 L. A. Griffin, estimated 13,440 barrels.

Marketing Group To Make Cotton Loans

DALLAS, Aug. 4 (AP)—Three fourths of the market value of cotton will be loaned for a year at six per cent interest with renewal privileges through arrangements of the Farmers Marketing Association of America, Inc., M. H. Wolfe, general manager, announced after the annual meeting of the board of directors here.

Arrangements have been closed with United States National bank at Galveston and other banks "for millions of dollars to loan."

OH, THESE RADIOS!

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—A roomer in a private home here had a radio and was enjoying some unusually good crooning when he heard the report of a shotgun. Then he heard several more shots. He stepped out in the hall to investigate and found the landlord prancing up and down the hall shooting a gun. He didn't like the radio music and was taking this opportunity to show it. When the host appeared in court it was found he had been drinking.

BABY DIES AFTER PENCIL IS DRIVEN DOWN ITS THROAT

SNYDER, Aug. 4 (Special)—A 16-months-old baby died here late Monday after her jugular vein had been pierced by a lead pencil driven down her throat when she fell from a rocking chair at her home.

The child was Doris Imogene Ware, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ware. The pencil protruded from the back of the baby's neck when she was found. She died in five minutes.

Many new homes are being built in Hawaii.

Russian Cathedral Is Destroyed For Soviets' Palace

MOSCOW, Aug. 4. (AP)—The destruction of the Cathedral of the Redeemer, one of Russia's largest and most imposing churches, has been begun to make way for the building of a great auditorium to be known as the palace of the Soviets.

One of the first portions of the structure to be attacked by the wrecking crews was the great central gilded dome which is surrounded by four smaller ones. Seventy pounds of gold, it is said, were used in finishing the dome and this seems to be borne out by the care exercised in peeling off part of the covering.

Estelle Says Fine Car Is Confiscated

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4. (AP)—Estelle Taylor, estranged movie actress wife of Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight boxing champion, said today that an expensive town automobile he gave her last Christmas had been seized by Joe Dempsey, brother of Jack and "another man."

She said she would "go to court if necessary" to get the car back and that she did not understand the taking of the car since her attorney and her husband have been negotiating for settlement of their property affairs incident to a divorce Dempsey has said he plans to seek at Reno.

Tennessee's State Treasury In "Red

NASHVILLE, Tenn. Aug. 4. (AP) Tennessee's treasury is bare.

For two days its condition was even more dire, for the coffers stood more than $136,000 "in the red," but an expected remittance of fees today pulled the treasury temporarily out of difficulties.

Meanwhile, hundreds of state employes, many of whom have taken salary cuts, face the possibility of a payless September 1. In the same status with them are the University of Tennessee faculty members.

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS GROUND FROM THE GRIST OF THE DAY'S HAPPENINGS

(By The Associated Press)

Good Solicitor

WASHINGTON.—Senator Moses of New Hampshire is a good solicitor. When he went to invite President Hoover to speak at the dedication of a memorial to Daniel Webster at Franklin, N. H., he added a request for a subscription to the fund. A check for $100 was forthcoming promptly. Then Senator Moses moved on to the navy department. He obtained another $100 from Secretary Adams.

On Way To Siam

SCARBOROUGH, N. Y.—Some things familiar to American households are on their way to Siam. The royal baggage which was loaded on the special train taking the king and queen to Quebec on the first stage of their journey home included several cameras, radio sets and puppies. Gifts of American admirers.

Needs Sea Horse

LONDON—Lady Diana Manners believes nature has omitted something. She says there should be some sort of a sea horse that could be hitched up or saddled for a ride from Dover across the channel to France.

Enjoins Vesuvius

ASBURY PARK, N. J.—Mt. Vesuvius has been enjoined from making so much noise while destroying Pompeii. Citizens of Interlaken, suffering from nerves frayed by the nightly explosion of aerial bombs in a pyrotechnic display depicting the last days of Pompeii, appealed to Vice-Chancellor Bigelow. He ordered that the bombs be omitted.

Not So Much

OAKLEY, Kans.—Edgar Smith's bride cost him her weight in wheat. After he had been married to Miss Cleo Wurst in a wheat field, the bridegroom paid the justice of the peace two bushels of wheat for his fee.

Just Like Women

SCARSDALE, N. Y.—Things have quited down around the railway station. Shopkeepers in the vicinity complained that wives driving to the station to meet their commuter-husbands raised a din honking auto horns. Chief William Short announced a "pleasant" little campaign. It wasn't necessary. The women stopped the honking of their own accord.

Building In Way

NEW YORK.—One long building stands in the way of the excavation for Radio City. The Metropolitan Square corporation, representing the Rockefeller interests, have appealed to municipal court to order it removed on the ground that the first floor is occupied by a speakeasy.

Needs A Plane

ST. JOHN, N. B.—Miss Greta Ferris, a nurse of the Grenfell Labrador mission, who was the first to greet the crew of the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen when it landed on Greenley island three years ago has decided she needs a plane in her work. She has gone to Boston to buy one and take flying lessons.

A New Arrival

NEW YORK—Jack and Jill who used to work in the mines in the Andes mountains have a daughter. Keeper James Hymes at the Central park zoo announced the birth of the baby Lima. She weighs 35 pounds.

Maybe He Didn't

PHILADELPHIA — Leo. G. Paisley, recently of Kentucky, was sitting in the woods with a shot gun across his knees. About 15 feet away prohibition agents said they found a still in operation. Leo told a federal commissioner it was merely a coincidence as he was watching ground-hog holes and didn't even know the still was there. He was released.

Helen Has Display

NEW YORK—A painting of a young woman playing tennis is on exhibition at the Grand Central art galleries. It is the first self-portrait of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody in oils.

Bee Breaks Nose

RADNOR, Pa.—Mrs. Richard L. Fox of Downingtown, is being treated for a broken nose because of a bee. It flew into her car and scared the chauffeur so badly he crashed through a fence and hit a tree.

Sword Wins Out

NEW YORK—A gangster of the deep has been put on the spot. Captain William Numson and a boatload of fishermen watched a 30-minute battle between a shark and sword fish which ended with the shark floating dead on his back.

LONE YOUNG MAN STARTS PROSPERITY IN CHICAGO; NOW THEY'RE AFTER HIM

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 4— For a time last night it looked as though a young man, without a coat or hat and with a novel under his arm, had started a prosperity wave in Chicago.

But today a group of cooks, head waiters, cab starters, bootblacks and others were asking the police to look around for him. Nobody seemed to know just what would or could be done with him if he is caught, but the complainants were hoping it would be plenty.

He ordered approximately 200 dinners, forty haircuts, forty shaves, forty shoe-shines and forty cabs and then disappeared without paying for the taxi he used to make his exit from Chicago.

He appeared at two hotels, at least. At the first he approached the catering manager, William Kiefer and said:

"Could you serve about 125 dinners an hour from now? It's a board of trade convention. How much will it cost?"

They argued about the price and finally reached an agreement.

"Now," he said, "I'll go out and get a deposit and the flowers."

Instead he went to the barber shop. It was time for the barbers to go home, but the prospect of forty shaves, kept them waiting. The bootblacks stayed for the same reason. Then the young man next appeared at another hotel, where he ordered more dinners, more shaves, more shoe shines. That done he rode by taxi to a depot and bid Chicago adieu.
