TV schedule becomes regular feature in this week's edition

CHASE END - Officers search the automobile of Jackie L. Ray, 3106 Iowa Park Road, Wichita Falls, after a chase that began on Beverly Drive and ended at Ruby and Wall shortly after lunch Wednesday. Wichita Falls police were attempting to stop Ray on an expired vehicle inspection sticker violation and Ray led the chase to Iowa Park. Turning off the expressway on FM 368, he drove at high speeds through Park West Shopping Center, crossed the railroad tracks on Yosemite, and was finally forced to halt on Ruby when he was overwhelmed by more than a dozen vehicles driven by lawmen from Iowa Park, Wichita County, Department of Public Safety, and some 10 Wichita Falls vehicles including motorcycles. His car was disabled when Iowa Park patrolman Kurt Cullum shot out a tire. Ray was returned to Wichita Falls for booking on numerous charges.

Band practice dates are told

Everyone is starting to gear up for the start of school, and the Hawk Band is no exception.

Director Greg Miller announced this week the Iowa Park High School band will hold two-day preparations for the coming season. The band will make its first public appearance Sept. 5 in the season opener for the football team at Breckenridge.

Starting Aug. 18, practice sessions will be held from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, and 7-9 p.m. The schedule will continue through Aug. 22.

Miller suggested bandsmen report in "clothes comfortable and able to march and play in them."

School instruments rented by musicians will be issued Aug. 18.

On the subject of uniforms, Miller said those who can wear the same uniforms they had last year will receive them the first day of the season. Seniors will be issued uniforms the second day, juniors the third, and so on, Miller said.

The junior high band will also begin practicing Aug. 11, but only from 9 a.m. until 12 noon, according to Mark Cartwright, director. The first part of the session will be concentrating on marching, he said. Students should bring their personal horns.

Those unable to attend should contact Cartwright at 592-2593, he said.

School registration, supplies announced

School officials this week announced registration times, kindergarten screenings and elementary student supplies for school's opening.

Any student new to the district should report as soon as possible to the high school if they are to attend classes at that campus, for enrollment.

Only students new to the district will register for the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Those registrations will be held Aug. 18-19 from 8 a.m. to noon and 1-4 p.m. at the junior high.

All students entering grades three through five are to pre-register at Bradford Elementary from 9 a.m. to noon and 1-3:30 p.m. Aug. 14-15. Up-to-date immunization records are necessary for students.

Kindergarten students who have not pre-registered and students in both grades one and two are to register at Kidwell Elementary from 9 a.m. to noon and 1-3:30 p.m. Aug.

14-15. Up-to-date immunization records are necessary for all students and birth certificates for kindergarten and first graders new to the district are required for admission.

Iowa Park schools will open their doors Aug. 25 for the fall semester. Teachers will begin in-service training Aug. 20.

Children who will be five years old by Sept. 1 and who were not screened for kindergarten last May will be screened prior to the beginning of the school year.

Those not screened should be at Kidwell Elementary at 8:30 a.m. Aug. 19, and parents are asked to remain with their children until the process is completed. It will also be necessary to have the child's birth certificate and immunization records.

A full year "Plan" kindergarten program for three and four year old children is available if they have a physical or learning deficiency, as determined by sight, hearing, speech, mental maturity or a physician's diagnosis.

Parents who feel their child is eligible for the program and who missed the screening in May should call 592-4322 and schedule an appointment during the week of Aug. 11-15.

Guyton, Kyle nuptials exchanged here Friday

Miss Angela Rae Guyton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Guyton, and Mark Alan Kyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kyle, were wed in impressive double-ring nuptials Friday evening in the Church of Christ. Mike Danchak was the officiating minister.

The ceremony was performed in a setting illuminated by the soft glow of an abundance of tall white metal tapers. Holders for these were arched candelabra flanked by spiral candelabra in the upper altar and pyramid candelabra in the outer altar, each candlestick artistically decorated with ornamental baby's breath. The decorative pattern was accentuated with Boston ferns uplifted by tall columns behind the candelabra in the upper altar, and the unity candelabrum dedicated to hold the candle that was lighted by the bride and groom to seal their vows which was a beautiful finale to the ceremony.

The pews on either side of the aisle that members of the wedding party walked to the nuptial space were marked with white votive candles in crystal cups nestled in lilies of the valley and lace bows and streamers centered with blue satin ribbon.

Taped music for the wedding was provided by the Abilene Christian University choir. Prelude selections included "Wedding Song", "We've Only Just Begun", "A Time for Us", "Let It Be Me," and "Speak Softly Love". Mothers were seated to the tune of "More" and following that number the choir sang "Sunrise, Sunset." Later when the bride and groom touched the flames to the unity candle, the group sang "The Lord Bless You and Keep You." The musicians included Wagner's "Lohengrin" for the processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march for the recessional in their offerings.

As the lovely bride entered the church with her father, who escorted her to the altar and gave her in marriage for both parents, wedding guests, getting their first glimpse of her, delighted in the beauty of her romantic summer gown fashioned of white organza and Venise lace. The gown was designed with an off-shoulder bodice covered with Venise lace appliques and fascinating shirring around the shoulders and waist. The charm of the gown was enhanced in the full skirt showered with the lace designs and an elegant draped hemline caught up with the appliques, and a chapel length train.

Her fingertip illusion veil that drifted from a Juliet cap of lace and pearls was highlighted with pencil edging and lace motifs. A perfect complement for the bride's gown was her cascade bouquet composed of blue daisies, white pixie carnations, yellow sweetheart roses and gypsophila.

The bride's jewelry included an heirloom pearl ring chosen for the "something old" tradition, and her mother's diamond drop worn for "something borrowed". A garter provided the blue addition to her costume which was "something new", and for good luck, she wore the sixpence in her shoe.

Observing a popular custom, which is fast becoming a tradition, the bride showed gratitude to the mothers of the couple with the presentation of red roses to them during the service.

The charming trio of bridal attendants wore identical blue organza gowns over satin styled with low round ruffled necklines, flounced skirts and waistlines encircled with white lace threaded with blue satin ribbon. They wore white lace hats trimmed with blue and white ribbons and carried nosegays of blue and white daisies and baby's breath with a lace background and streamers. A few yellow daisies were added to the matron of honor's nosegay and her hat was lightly touched with yellow to set her apart from the bridesmaids.

Mrs. Russell Yarbrough served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bob Hodges and Miss Julie Guyton, sister of the bride.

Participating in the wedding as flower girl was Miss Brandi Catlin, the diminutive niece of the groom. She also wore a blue organza pettily styled frock and carried blue and white daisies mixed with baby's breath in a white wicker basket. She wore a miniature white daisy touched with baby's breath in her hair.

Clay Williamson, the ring bearer, and male members of the wedding party were clad in white tuxedos trimmed with blue. The groom wore an all-white tuxedo, the only color contrast was in his boutonniere composed of a yellow rose, blue pixie carnation and white daisy.

Gene Kyle attended his son as best man. Bobby Moore and Randy Griest were groomsmen, and the ushers were Randy Catlin and Steve Kelly, the groom's brothers-in-law.

A reception honoring the couple was given by the bride's parents in the Fellowship Hall of First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Guyton, mother of the bride, who headed the receiving line, wore a violet blue sheer dress styled with a V neck bordered with a ruffle accented with shoulder ties that formed the sleeves, and a layered skirt conforming to the latest fashion. Mrs. Kyle, mother of the groom, wore a stylish apricot polyester knit dress featuring a crocheted bodice, scoop neck, split cape sleeves and an accordion pleated skirt. Both wore corsages of white daisies and yellow sweetheart roses.

Wedding guests had previously registered in the foyer of the Church of Christ at a table covered with white lace over blue holding a white basket filled with blue hibiscus and poppies and white daisies topped with white votive candles burning in crystal cups, the book and feather pen. Miss Tracy Hale directed the signatures.

At the reception, the bride's table, draped to the floor with a tiered white satin cloth, held irresistible charm in the setting, the adornments were a four-branched silver candelabrum holding blue candles and a bouquet of yellow, white and blue silk roses, hibiscus, daisies and poppies, the cake, bridal napkins bearing the names of the bride and groom and their wedding date, silver punch service and silver trays of blue mints.

The bride's cake was an exquisite four-tiered structure with a ruffled net base applied to create interest.

Two sets of Grecian pillars separated the layers that were delicately trimmed with cascades and clusters of yellow and blue flowers and white lilies of the valley in frosting designs. A beaded heart anchored on a lacy dais hidden by net puffs and lilies of the valley on the top tier held two white lovebirds, one at the top and the other at the base of the heart, both looking at simulated wedding rings as if singing out the happy news of the marriage.

The groom's table was covered with a beige satin cloth and centered with a chocolate cake covered with tan frosting decorated with dark chocolate frosting roses and names of the bride and groom and their wedding date. The extremities of the table held a three-branched silver votive candelabrum, silver coffee service and chocolate mints.

Guests sat at white-covered tables appointed with bouquets of daisies, carnations and phlox in shades of blue and yellow to eat refreshments.

Reception assistants were Miss Marla McCord, Miss Connie Fitzgerald and Miss Ann Kelly, who presided at the bride's table. Mrs. Randy Catlin and Mrs. Steve Kelly, sisters of the groom, who served at his table.

Miss Rozanna Eck handed out the blue net rice flowers with pale green leaves from a brown wicker basket at a table laid with white lace over blue.

Houseparty members were Mmes. Glenn Garrett, Ralph Wheeler, Danny Spain, Dwayne Davis, Don Hale, Mike Spillman and Miss Karyn Conner.

When the newlyweds departed for a wedding trip to Oklahoma City, the bride traveled in a printed voile dress with a pleated skirt. They will live in Iowa Park. Both were graduated from Iowa Park High School. She is a receptionist for Wichita Falls Magazine and he works for Gene's Paint and Dry Wall.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Thursday evening at K-Bob's Steak House.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Vora Harris of Kingsville, grandmother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Guyton of McLean, the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rick Patterson and Kyle of Morris, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Browning of Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Don Terry and Jeanne Young of Sacramento, Calif. and Rozanna Eck of McLean.

Thompson, Shrum wedding held recently

Miss Laurie Thompson, a former resident of Iowa Park and Jackey Shrum were married July 18 at the Bethel Baptist Church in Pittsburg, Tex. Rev. Lynn Thompson of Altoona Ala., uncle of the bride, performed the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James R. Thompson of Athens and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Paul Shrum of Pittsburg.

The ceremony was officiated at an altar centered with an arch of glowing tapers rising above a massive arrangement of white gladioli and blue carnations. On either side behind the choir rail were matching arrangements of the flowers. In front of the rail were seven-branched brass candelabra holding candles that were lighted by David Thompson and Jon Shrum, brothers of the bride and groom. Fresh foliage and plants were used at vantage points to complete the setting.

Family pews were designated with white satin bows.

Traditional wedding music was furnished by Mrs. Rosemary Deaton and Mrs. Patty Hood, the latter singing "Twelfth of Never", "You Light Up My Life" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage for both parents by her father, wore a gown of white taffeta with empire waistline overlaid with Venise lace and imbedded with pearls. It was designed with a Queen Anne neckline edged in lace, bishop Venise lace sleeves fully cut to the wrists with wide bands. The chiffon skirt over taffeta featured a bustle line of five tiers of lace extending into a chapel train.

Her chapel length veil bordered in lace was caught to a band of lace encrusted with pearls. For "something old", she carried a handkerchief made by her great-aunt and given to the bride's mother when she was a girl. "Something borrowed" was an opal and diamond necklace which was worn by her late great-grandmother on her 65th wedding anniversary. She wore the blue garter and the "something new" was her bridal costume.

The bride carried a cascade arrangement of white roses, white tulle puffs, gypsophila and blue seed pearls caught with white lace streamers.

Mrs. Julie Randall of Mt. Pleasant served as matron of honor and Miss Tina Green of Iowa Park was bridesmaid. They were attired in blue organza gowns over taffeta set apart with capelet collars. Each carried a single long stemmed blue carnation tied with a blue and white satin bow with streamers and wore a hairpiece of white daisies, gypsophila and blue satin leaves.

Miss Lori Henderson, the flower girl, wore a long white and blue flowered organza dress over white taffeta. She wore a matching bonnet and carried a white basket filled with blue and white flowers.

Kevin Gonzales of Wichita Falls, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer. He was dressed identically to the groom in an all-white tuxedo with ruffled shirt. The groom wore a white rose boutonniere. All other male participants and fathers were dressed in blue tuxedos with white ruffled shirts.

Monty Fuller was best man and Greg Eford was groomsman. Duties of ushering were assigned to Gary Shrum and Jimmy Thompson of San Angelo, brothers of the groom and bride.

Mothers of the couple wore orchids to harmonize with their gowns. Mrs.

Thompson was dressed in blue and green organza over blue taffeta and Mrs. Shrum wore a blue gown with a pleated capelet.

Immediately following the ceremony, a candlelight reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church and hosted by the bride's parents.

The bride's table was draped with a floor length white satin cloth overlaid with white lace and centered with a silver epergne candelabra holding a mass arrangement of blue and white flowers and blue tapers.

The three-tiered cake was attractively decorated with blue and white frosting flowers and topped with two white love birds. The blue napkins were inscribed with "Laurie and Jackey, July 18, 1980" and silver services completed the table decor. Refreshments were served by Misses Nancy Miner, Pam Hazlewood and Belinda Bostick, cousin of the groom.

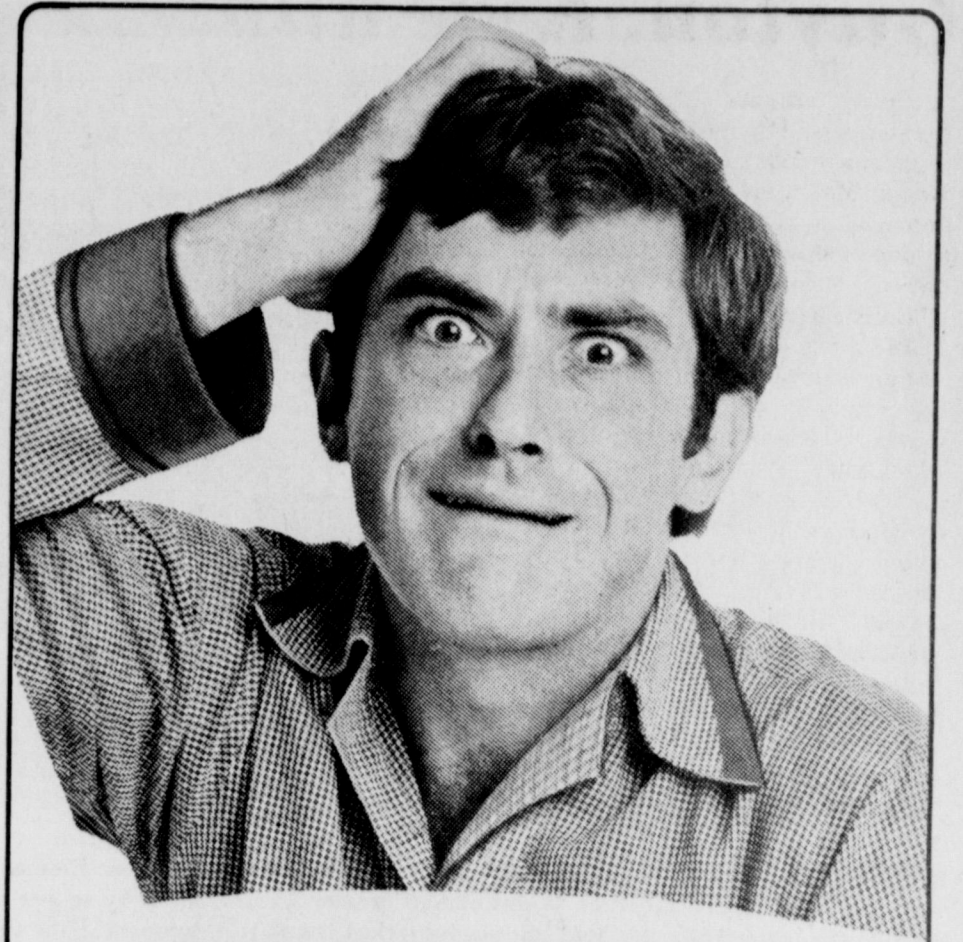

Miss Theresa Landers and Miss Turnette Smith presided at the groom's table laid with blue satin holding a heavy wooden candelabrum with white tapers, German chocolate cake and silver coffee service.

The registry table where Miss Donna Williams, cousin of the groom, registered wedding guests was laid identically to the bride's table. Blue net rice bags were passed out by Misses Amy and Julie Henderson.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at CJ's Barbecue.

After a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark., the couple are at home in Tatum where he is employed by Texas Utilities.

Attending from Wichita Falls were Mrs. Bobby Gonzales and Rusty, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Radford and Troy and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Murphy.

SENIOR CITIZENS, DO YOURSELVES A FAVOR

As statistics show senior citizens use Wichita General Hospital more than any other group, you have a vital interest in the quality of care the hospital offers.

To guarantee Wichita General will be able to care for you as well in the future as it has in the past, do yourselves a favor to last not only your lifetime but others.

VOTE AUG. 16 FOR

Wichita General Hospital District and $15 Million in capital improvement bonds

Financing the necessary improvements through a hospital district will cost you an average of 20¢ a day. This is less than revenue bonds, the only alternative means of financing these vitally needed improvements.

You, as a patient, would pay for revenue bonds with a room rate increase of $30 per day, which would be an even greater financial burden for persons living on fixed incomes.

HELP ON THE WAY? The Wichita Falls city council this week began giving consideration to allowing its firemen go outside the city limits to help the over-worked rural volunteer firemen fight the numerous grassfires brought about by severe drouth. We applaud the move with the comment, "It's about time, neighbor."

EDITORIAL

Why save ourselves broke?

Did you hear about the housewife who drove all the way to Dallas to save $25 on a $75 dress that she could have bought locally for $65?

Sounds silly, doesn't it? Well, that's about the story of the savings taxpayers in Wichita County will experience if the hospital district passes next week.

We are told one of the main purposes of the district is to save taxpayers interest on $15-million worth of bonds needed to put Wichita General Hospital into shape required for accreditation. Bonds repaid by tax money attract lower interest than do revenue bonds. And it's true.

But, no where has there been anything mentioned about how much money it will cost to operate a hospital district.

While we are told the tax-backed bonds will save us approximately $250,000 annually, over what the interest would be for revenue bonds, we estimate the cost of operating a hospital district will cost at least that much. And maybe more.

The district, if approved, would have to carry its share of the annual cost of the newly formed Wichita County Tax Appraisal District. It would have to maintain records, which require personnel. It would require mailing and receiving of tax money. It would require annual audits. And it certainly would require space in which to operate. It would have to pay taxes on its personnel, and very likely sometime in the future, a retirement program for those personnel.

Those supporting passage of the hospital district can make a very good case about need for remodeling the original wing of the hospital and building a new wing to house patients now in the old wing.

They can also make a very good case about problems caused by the federal government and its Medicare program, along with the responsibility of a public hospital to care for those who cannot pay for medical treatment. Medicare payments to the hospital covered only 73 percent of the charges for those patients last year, according to hospital personnel, and the balance must be borne by whatever means are possible.

But we feel that a facility which does $50,965,539 adjusted revenues. . . that's after Medicare and uncollectable deductions are taken out. . . and turns a net profit of $1,519,048 over the past five years should be able to finance its own program. Those figures come from the audits of Russell Altmiller, CPA, Olney.

Bethania Hospital floated the revenue bonds that facility needed for a major program recently. Why then, cannot a public hospital, which received $180,000 from the county and $90,000 from Wichita Falls, not adjust its rates enough to pay its own way? Wichita General received $2,413,202 in "non-operating revenues" over the past five years. The income was listed in the audits as "general contributions", "interest income" and "county, city revenue sharing."

At a time when taxes are a major concern to everyone, a time when inflating expenses are eating away at every paycheck, a time when people are "making do" rather than "getting ahead", we don't need a new tax, nor a new taxing agency.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Wasn't it nice outside Monday?

That was the first day since June 22 that the temperature had not risen above the 100 degree mark. Of course, it didn't last long, because Ma Nature's up to her old tricks again.

Have you noticed a lot more activity around town lately? Lot more cars in the business district, people you haven't seen all summer, just things in general starting to buzz.

If you don't know the reason, I'll tell you. School is getting close to opening again. Aug. 25, to be exact.

A community that is built around its school, like Iowa Park, is like that. During the summer and holidays, things just seem to drag.

Businessmen know that, during school, activity is usually pretty brisk until about 9:30 in the morning and picks up again around 2:30 in the afternoon. You can just about set your watch by the activity.

There are three types of persons who upset me the most: drunks, thieves and people who want to criticize someone or something but don't have the guts to let it be known who they are.

I get an unsigned letter about once every two weeks, and it usually is about something I've written or about some public official or body. When I do, I usually check to make sure it isn't signed anywhere, and then throw it in the trash where it belongs.

Like any other publisher, I'll sit and read or listen to whatever anyone has to say, regardless of the subject. But if I've got the nerve to put my name on something expressing my opinion, anything from someone else directed toward me should be no less identified.

I'm eating a "whole crow sandwich" with this issue of the Leader.

I've always said that I would start promoting the television stations when they started promoting my newspapers. By that, I meant I had no intention of ever running a list of television programs.

Well, it held until cable television. And even when that service came to town I didn't want to run the schedules because the company was providing the service for free. And printing television schedules is expensive, believe me.

But when the company decided it could no longer afford to provide the free listing, and an outfit offered the same service for $10.50 more than a year's subscription to the Leader, I had to eat crow.

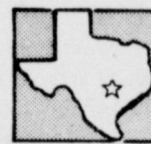

I could just not see any reason why our subscribers should have to spend $16.50 a year for something I could provide them for $6, and still give you more news about Iowa Park and Holliday than all the rest of the news medias in the world, put together.

Some comments from the readers would give me an idea about whether this "whole crow sandwich" tastes good or not.

How to keep this weather from blistering your electric bill:

Any Texan can tell you that summer's only half over when you get to August.

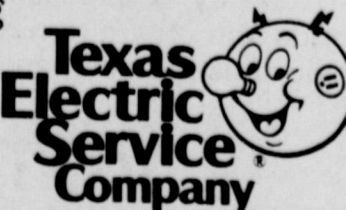

And staying comfortable in August and September means high electric bills.

But here are 10 things you can do to hold down your electric bill:

1. Keep the temperature inside at 78° or higher.
2. Use a portable fan to circulate the room air.
3. If you have central air, leave the unit's fan switch on "auto."
4. When you leave the house, turn the air conditioner off.
5. Trim back shrubbery or grass from around the outside unit. It needs air, too.

6. Close drapes, shades, and blinds to keep the sun out.
7. Change or clean your air conditioner's filter every month, if needed.
8. Make sure doors and windows are shut securely when using the air conditioner.
9. Cook with small appliances whenever possible. The heat from your oven makes your air conditioner work harder.
10. Open the refrigerator and freezer as seldom as possible.

At Texas Electric, we're trying to help you keep your electric bill from going out of sight this summer. For more energy-saving ideas, call for our free TIPS booklet.

Worth Quoting

Representative Guy Vander Jagt of Michigan delivered the keynote address during the Wednesday, July 16, session of the Republican National Convention in Detroit, Mich.

Vander Jagt, who at the time was reported to be among the candidates being considered as Ronald Reagan's vice-presidential running mate, had been tapped for the job of delivering the inspirational keynote to precede the presidential nomination roll call.

Indeed, he delivered an inspiring speech as he drew on the oratorical expertise he had polished from the pulpit and in the courtroom.

Vander Jagt said the things the Republicans wanted to hear. They listened to him categorize Jimmy Carter's shortcomings and Reagan's attributes. Among Vander Jagt's criticisms of Carter was the President's inability to reduce the nation's unemployment.

Unable to avoid plucking at the heart strings of his Michigan constituency, Vander Jagt made reference to a Detroit automobile industry worker who had been laid off of his job and was unable to buy his daughter a bicycle for her birthday.

The fact that many of this nation's industrial workers are not working these days says something about our changing work ethic as well as our economy.

Our workers are becoming too specialized.

Page after page of classified advertisements for job openings in metropolitan daily newspapers are testimony that there are plenty of jobs available.

But too many persons in our work force today are willing only to do that one, specialized job. They would rather mooch off of the taxpayers by going on welfare than do some other job for a lower wage.

Our colleges and vocational schools are partly to blame. A student gets swept into a specialized program, and when he graduates he leaves knowing how to do only one, specific job. Many times he can't do that job very well despite all of the specialized training.

The American farmer and rancher should serve as an inspiration to us all if we seek to re-establish our traditional work ethic. The producing food and fiber traditionally has been a jack-of-all-trades. He has to be a banker, electrician, welder and mechanic to survive.

If a farmer refused to do anything but plow, plant and harvest, he just couldn't make it.

And if that Detroit automobile worker isn't willing to take a lesson from the farmer and rancher...well, there won't be many bicycles for birthdays this year.

Letters to the Editor

To the Citizens of Iowa Park:

The increase in the number of trains passing through Iowa Park is causing some serious problems for our community. These problems will become more evident as the City grows and the railway traffic increases. The major cause of these problems is the absence of an overpass across the railroad tracks. An overpass would allow emergency vehicles and the general public to have access to the south half of Iowa Park when the trains are blocking all the intersections. We feel that the probability of loss of life and property increases as time goes on.

As members of the Citizens Traffic Safety Board, we are obligated to inform you of the potential danger that the City is facing and ask for your help. The City has already placed a speed limit on the train traffic and will be placing street lights at each railroad crossing. But it will take your help to have an overpass become a reality. Therefore, the Traffic Council and City asks that you please write or call your congressman, urging them to assist and support an overpass for Iowa Park. Contact city hall if you need the address of your congressman. Thank you for your cooperation.

Community Center needs listed for city council

A five-man committee, headed by alderman Fred Daume, was formed during Monday's city council meeting to coordinate upcoming efforts in the renovation of Holliday's Community Center.

The committee's purpose, according to councilmen, will be to set estimates on materials and labor needed to remodel the interior and exterior of the building.

Mayor Tom Hall is expected to sign a proclamation, during the council's next meeting, asking for a community-wide effort in the remodeling.

Aldermen were first approached about the center during their June meeting by members of the Ceramic Club, who in the past have used the center for their regular meetings.

Members of the club cited lack of air conditioning, plumbing, kitchen appliances and furniture as the major problems, plus lack of maintenance and upkeep as reasons for the building's general eroding condition.

Daume and fellow alderman Jimmy Willis were instructed at that time to meet with club members at the center to discuss what future actions could be taken, then report back to the council.

At that meeting, Daume reported that only one air conditioner was in use, serving only to circulate air in the building. Daume stated that a minimum of four air conditioners were needed to sufficiently cool the building.

In addition, Daume said, plumbing fixtures in the kitchen and bathroom were in need of repair, the interior and exterior walls needed painting, the roof repaired for leaks, and a refrigerator and stove were needed for the kitchen.

Councilmen then decided to solicit help from Holliday's citizens to aid in the renovation.

In other business, city engineer Ernest Andrews presented the council with grades and cost estimates for paving Siesta Lane.

Andrews reported that two feet of the existing grade would need to be excavated and removed, and new sewer and water lines installed. The costs, according to Andrews' estimates, would be $24,236 for the street work, $12,540 for utilities, and $17,203 for the curbs, gutters, and driveways.

Councilmen moved to present a copy of Andrews' report to residents of Siesta Lane and tabled further discussion until the next meeting.

In addition:

* councilmen moved to buy grass seed and fertilizer for the new sewer plant, with the stipulation that city workers do the labor;

* instructed Melvin Bills, civil defense coordinator, to draw up specifications for the erection of the three new civil defense sirens in order for bids to be advertised;

* changed meeting times to the first and third Monday of each month beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Cook of the Week

"It is the busy person who gets the job done". This has become a somewhat hackneyed expression, but the busy person seems to have extra bounce and vigor and always ready for what lies ahead. It is our observation that some of the busiest people are the ones who have the most enthusiasm about being our Cook of the Week. Lois (Mrs. Kame) Oshiro, who is featured today falls into that category.

She is indeed a very busy person but not too busy to realize that one of the most precious gifts that she can give her family is food that abundantly nourishes. In planning meals for them she remembers to include foods each day from the seven essential food groups: green and yellow vegetables; fruit; potatoes and other vegetables; milk and milk products; meat, poultry, fish and eggs; bread, flour and cereals; and butter and fortified margarine.

One of her recipes today "Sweet and Sour Pork with Mixed Vegetables" calls for ingredients from five of the food groups.

Lois Oshiro was graduated from Victory High School near Davidson, Okla. and Draughton's Business College in Wichita Falls. She has been in civil service since 1956 and is presently secretary of the 80th Flying Training Wing at Sheppard AFB. Kame, her husband, is retired from the Air Force and is in charge of the audio visual maintenance for the Wichita Falls Independent School District.

The Oshiros have a daughter Christi, who will be a junior at Iowa Park High School next year, and a son, Kame a fifth grade student. They are members of First Baptist Church. Lois enjoys square dancing and belongs to the Southwest Lioness Club in Wichita Falls.

Grease and flour bundt pan or a 10x4 tube pan. Combine nuts in bottom of pan. Place cake and pudding mix in large bowl; add rum, water, oil and eggs. Mix for 2 minutes with electric mixer. Pour batter into cake pan and bake at 325 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes. Remove cake from oven and immediately pour on hot rum glaze. Cool cake in pan 30 minutes and remove to serving plate.

HOT RUM GLAZE

1 large can whole tomatoes
1 large onion
1 tsp salt
1/4 tsp pepper
1/4 tsp garlic salt or season to taste.

Mix meat, seasoning and rice. Parboil cabbage (whole) in boiling water, peeling off leaves as they soften. Roll approximately 2 tsp meat mixture in each leaf (more or less mixture depending on the size of each leaf).

As you make the rolls, fold in each end of the roll so that they will stay in place. Keep all extra leaves to use for layering the rolls. In a large pan, put a layer of leaves on the bottom, then a layer of stuffed cabbage and so on. Add water to halfway cover the top layer. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer for 2 hours. Makes about 12 to 15.

1 bay leaf,
Cinnamon, oregano, basil and garlic salt between fingers

Simmer at least an hour; the longer it simmers, the better.

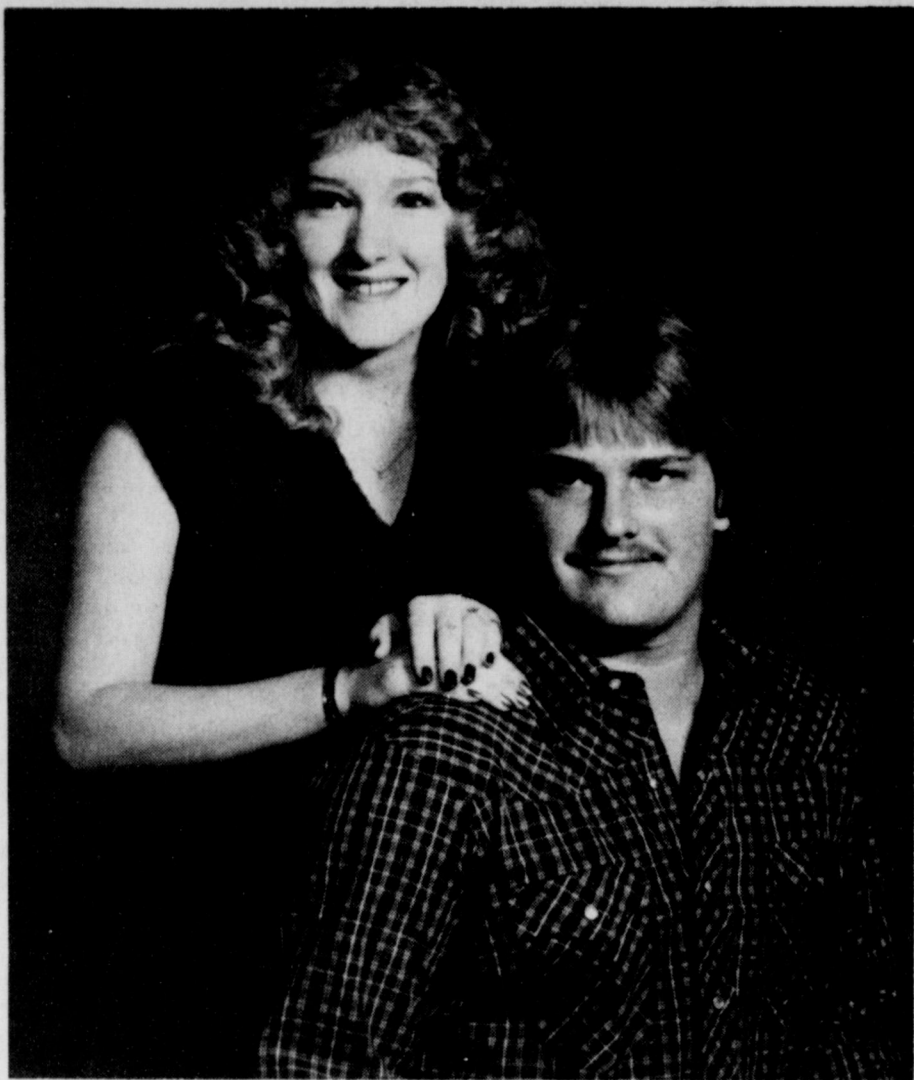

The Living Word

The book of Romans sets forth the wonderful contrast between grace and law. In the third chapter Paul tells the Jews that they are sinners. Even though they were possessors of the law, they could not be justified by the law; "Because by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified in his sight; for through the law cometh the knowledge of sin" Rom. 3:20. In the following verses, he leads them to a realization that justification is possible "apart from the law" through the blood of Christ. In verse 24 he declares that sinners can be "justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus." In this verse we find four wonderful words of salvation: (1) Justified, (2) Freely, (3) Grace (4) Redemption.

The word "justified" carries the idea of being completely absolved from guilt. It is the exact opposite of condemnation. Every soul who has been cleansed by the blood of Christ is clean and clear of all past sin!

The word "freely" means "without charge." Salvation is a gift of God! It cannot be earned, and no one is good enough to merit it. Christ died to bear the sins of many, and his death satisfied all that the justice of God required. This was the only possible way salvation could be provided for sinful men. "He that spared not his only Son, but delivered him up for us all how shall he not also with him freely give us all things?" Rom. 8:32.

The word "grace" is the opposite of meritorious works or reward for lawkeeping. Grace has been defined as "something needed but not deserved." If it were possible for man to keep God's laws perfectly, then salvation would be because of his worthiness. Grace would not enter the picture. Those who attempt justification on such a plan make void

Who shot tv's J.R.? Jaycees to make arrests

Warrants for the arrest of 12 leading Iowa Park citizens will be issued within two weeks in the shooting and attempted murder of J.R. Ewing.

No, the warrants aren't for real, but a part of a campaign drive for Muscular Dystrophy put on by the Jaycees across Texas.

Each suspected citizen in the shooting of the television series star will be given notice of such warrants in time to be able to post the bail bond, Mike Price said.

The Jaycees have set bond at $100 for each suspect. All bond money will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association on behalf of the Jaycees and each suspect may use friends, relatives and acquaintances to keep him out of the pokey, Price said.

Also on the recent Jaycees meeting program were Joe Singer and Dwight Hogan. Singer discussed the upcoming hospital district election and Hogan told of a "mini-Lots" class for Jaycee officers to be held at the Texas Electric downtown building at 12 noon Sunday.

The possibility of a street dance later this month in Iowa Park was also discussed by the members.

Decker says spring gardens should now be plowed under

It's time to plow under the old spring vegetables making room for a fall garden, says County Agent Don Decker. Most of the drouth stricken vegetables are finished and they can be turned under. Thomas Green of Iowa Park has already removed the old plants and has tilled his soil for a fall garden.

There are four vegetables worth carrying-over from the spring garden to the fall garden, says Decker. These include tomatoes, peppers, okra, and eggplant. Fall rains and cooler temperatures will revive their growth, and they will bear until frost.

Regardless of how "shabby" these plants might look now, keep them going by providing adequate water. They will recover from the drouth and provide a bountiful harvest in the fall.

Preparation of the soil for a fall garden involves turning under the old plants. A complete fertilizer and gypsum are sprinkled over the surface and retilled again. A complete fertilizer such as 13-13-13, 10-10-8, etc. is applied at the rate of one and one half pounds per 100 square feet while 5 - 8 pounds of gypsum is needed on 100 square feet. The gypsum is recommended only on the tight clay soils.

Practically all the vegetables grown in a spring garden can be grown in a fall garden. The quality of vegetables from a fall garden are superior to those from spring gardens.

August and early September is planting time for fall gardens, Decker said. Some of the cool season vegetables, such as radishes and spinach, are difficult to germinate during the hot weather.

Here is a trick, says Decker, for germinating seed of cool season vegetables in hot weather. The seed furrow is opened with the corner of a hoe. This seed furrow is thoroughly watered to a depth of 2-3 inches. The seeds are dropped into place. Potting soil is used for covering the seed rather than the usual garden soil. Daily sprinkling helps to keep the soil environment cool until the seed germinates.

A gardening bulletin available at Decker's office free of charge gives seeding details for vegetables in a fall garden.

Seminar makes better citizen

Wayne Watson says he thinks the citizenship seminar at Waco, sponsored annually by Texas Farm Bureau, is an outstanding project, it's just not on large enough scale.

Watson, speaking Tuesday before the Noon Lions Club, said he was very favorably impressed with the three-day program, but it needs to reach more people than attend it annually.

He said he was surprised about how little he knew concerning freedoms of Americans and the threats to those freedoms. He added that the seminar "has made me a better citizen."

Stockmen running out of grass

By Don D. Decker
County Agent

Stockmen are running out of grass rapidly as the drought conditions continue. Many are in the same boat as Ray Hicks of Iowa Park. He indicates he has enough dry grass to last about 45-60 days. He is feeding protein supplement which maintains the cow's intake of the dry grass. Rex Wells, a neighbor, is feeding both range cubes and hay in order to maintain his cows through the drought.

The hay crop is short due to premature harvest brought on by lack of rainfall in June. Sudan-sorghum hay was cut when waist high rather than the usual shoulder height. Time is running short on trying to make a full hay crop.

The amount of dry grass available determines the amount of supplemental feeding needed. When dry grass is still available, the dry cows need 3/4 to one pound while lactating cows require about two pounds of a high protein supplement. Cottonseed meal, protein blocks, or liquid supplements would be appropriate.

The cattle also need a good mineral supplement containing equal or slightly more phosphorous than calcium. If the drought continues, injecting vitamin A can be considered by the end of August.

If pastures are only slightly limited, the feeding of range cubes (20 percent protein) or mixtures of grain and cottonseed meal at rate of three to five pounds per cow daily will work for a while. Cubes with a large amount of natural protein and a low crude fiber (less than 10 percent) is preferred.

Salt can be used to limit the amount of intake. However, the use of salt may increase water intake 50 to 75 percent. Water cannot be limited in any way or salt toxicity can result.

When pastures become extremely short, the feeding of hay or other roughages must be considered. Selling off stock has to be considered too at this point.

In short pastures a 1,000 pound dry cow needs about 19 pounds of sudan-sorghum or coastal hay while the cow nursing a calf requires 22 pounds of hay, two pounds grain and 3/4 pound of cottonseed meal. A 1:1:2 salt:cottonseed meal:grain ration can be fed free choice in addition to hay.

A good set of records which reflects cost of production is important in modern day farming. Tom White has projected his cost of production this year which indicates his break even production will be approximately 200 pounds of lint cotton per acre. This is based on the loan price of cotton, and it includes a land use charge. Production above the break even yield will be his profit. This kind of information can help producers in making some important management decisions, especially during drought years.

His break even yield in 1979 was 150 pounds of lint per acre. It is taking 50 pounds more lint per acre in 1980 to cover his increased operating cost.

Roberts assumes TPA presidency

The Texas Press Association headed into its second year of service in the state following its annual summer convention in Houston recently.

Delegates from weekly and daily newspapers in Texas elevated James Roberts, publisher of the Andrews County News in Andrews, Texas, to serve as its 1980-81 president.

Roberts succeeds William E. (Bill) Dozier Jr., publisher of the Kerrville Daily Times, as head of the statewide organization.

The press association numbers 553 newspapers among its membership, making it the world's largest state press association. Roberts provides a solid link with the past as newspapers in the state ride the crest of burgeoning production technology into the second century of service.

The semi-weekly publisher spans an era that went from setting type in the manner of Benjamin Franklin to that of computerized typesetting that can turn out an entire page in matters of seconds.

As a 12-year-old, Roberts hand-spiked type alongside his mother, the late Lena Brownlee Roberts, in helping produce a family weekly founded in Andrews in 1934 by his father, Charles Roberts, Sr.

In Texas' centennial year of 1936, Roberts and his mother set a 36-page special edition entirely by hand and the family used the proceeds from the centennial edition to purchase its first Linotype.

Following a stint as a walking infantryman in the 45th Division and a prisoner of war of the Germans during World War II, Roberts became editor of the family newspaper in 1950 following graduation from Baylor University.

"A good aggressive bank and a strong, readable newspaper can lead a community into diversification and growth," Roberts believes.

And he has practiced what he preaches. He spearheaded a 12-year effort to build a 74-mile shortline railroad through Seagraves, Seminole and Andrews in West Texas to bridge the Santa Fe and Missouri-Pacific lines. The effort failed after winning eventual approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the courts over strong opposition from the major carriers.

As the only president of 12-year-old Andrews Industrial Foundation, Roberts had led his active group in diversifying the oil-based economy of his community.

Andrews landed a major manufacturing facility that makes Kirby vacuum cleaners for all outlets west of the Mississippi and Japan. The company employs over 500 workers in Andrews.

The community recently landed a Kansas firm that makes fiberglass storage tanks for the oil field industry.

A past deputy governor of Texas, a two-term president of the Andrews Chamber of Commerce, a lifelong Baptist, Roberts wears many hats. He currently is a member of the board of development of the University of Texas at the Permian Basin at Odessa and a member of the Governor's Committee on Aging.

Why does the head of 15 newspapers work into the wee hours on newspaper production? "It's not work if you love it," is Roberts' terse comment.

teenagers showed their love for Ronda in so many ways and we thank each and every one for caring so much. It makes our grief
