National League Club Ruling As Bare Favorite

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 7—It's Dizzy against Goofy on the firing line today in baseball's fifth all-star classic.

Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean, No. 1 right hander of the National league, was paired in an opening pitcher's duel with Vernon (Goofy) Gomez, the American league's hottest southpaw, winner of two all-star conflicts.

Dizzy was the victor a year ago in the senior loop's only triumph of the midsummer feature.

* * *

The contest, conceived largely as a means of gathering major league aces on one diamond, had all the aspects of a World series battle. The game is scheduled for 1:30 p. m. (EST).

Bill Terry's Nationals, buoyed by their success last season, assembled the most powerful array ever to represent their league.

The Americans, with "clean up" hitters sprinkled through their batting order, were confident their big sticks would solve the puzzling deliveries of Dean, Carl Hubbell of the Giants and possibly Van Lingle Mungo of the Dodgers.

Sell-Out Crowd Expected

A sell-out crowd of about 32,000 in Griffith stadium expected to see President Roosevelt toss out the first ball.

While the crowd couldn't match Cleveland's record turnout of more than 80,000 two years ago, it probably was the most notable ever to attend. The house of representatives adjourned for the day, and the senate planned to cut short its business.

The spectators were particularly eager to see if Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees, "goat" of last year's game as a rookie performer, would redeem himself.

Seeks Jump On Americans

Terry decided to hold Hubbell for later duty and shoot Dean to get the jump on the Americans.

After previously balking and asserting he wouldn't play, old Dix flew here last night and announced the Americans wouldn't get any more hits off him than they did last year. They got none then.

Terry probably will use either Mungo or Cincinnati's Lee Grissom to mop up, although he also has Cy Blanton of the Pirates and Bucky Walters of the Phillies.

The batting order of the aggregation which Terry selected to start has a collective average of .366 against .331 for the Americans. It is the first time the older circuit has had a hitting edge.

Nationals Slight Favorites

This, combined with the fact that Dean and Hubbell generally are rated the top pitchers of the majors, established the Nationals as slight favorites.

Terry's infield had Johnny Mize of the Cardinals at first, Billy Herman of the Cubs at second, Dick

New Industry At O'Donnell

(By Staff Correspondent)

O'DONNELL, July 7 — This agricultural community is on edge over prospect of becoming an industrial town, with a substantial payroll of around $3,000 a week, following the signing of a contract for the leasing of 480 acres of land around Post lake, eight miles west of here.

The American Cyanamide Co., New York City, has leased the lake and plans erection of a plant to mine sodium sulphate. The lease was signed last week, said C. H. Doak, owner of the property, and a substantial royalty payment made.

Work Is Started

Preliminary work is now going on at the lake, with construction of buildings for the plant expected to begin by September 1. Operation is scheduled for January 1, 1938.

Contract calls for a minimum production of 80 tons per day, or 25,000 tons per year. This will require a movement of three or four cars daily from O'Donnell.

Details of the plant and operation are not fully worked out. It is expected the sulphate will be trucked into O'Donnell and loaded onto cars here.

Cost At $200,000

Cost of the plant is estimated to be around $200,000. There will be some 150 employes working on a 3-shift day. Just what system will be used to extract the crystals from the brine in the lake has not been explained.

Acreage includes about 92 acres in Lynn county and the remainder of the 480 in Dawson. The plant, in all probability, will be on the Lynn county side.

It is understood that the concern may purchase another quarter section.

W. L. Spaulding, chief chemist for the company, has made several trips here. He left recently for New York and said he would not return until after the plant construction had started.

E. L. Sturgess is the resident chemist. He has an office in town and a small laboratory and Mr. Doak is arranging a home for him. A. W. Reid is another chemist who has been here but who recently went to California.

TO REQUEST FUNDS

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) — Members of the senate civil liberties committee disclosed today they soon will ask for $50,000 to continue their investigation of strike breaking, labor espionage, and illegal interference with collective bargaining.

Loyal Troops Open Drive

(By The Associated Press)

Spanish government armies pushed a new offensive intended to break the long siege of Madrid today, striking heavily at the insurgent left flanks west of the capital.

Troops under General Jose Miaja, commander of Madrid's government defenders, reported seizure of Villanueva De La Canada, about three miles north of Brunete, due west of Madrid.

Government observers informed Valencia, temporary seat of the republican government, that large forces of insurgents and their Moorish allies were massing on the Teruel front, northwest of Valencia.

Troops Are Shifted

In northern Spain, insurgent headquarters announced cessation of the drive on Santander, 45 miles west of Bilbao, and the shifting of thousands of troops to a point to the southwest in an attempt to cut off government forces from Asturias province.

Separation of the Asturias and Santander provinces would clear the way for insurgents to circle Santander and trap its defenders.

In London, official spokesmen said they attached no "undue importance" to a demand from Insurgent General Francisco Franco that he be accorded belligerent rights. Some feared the demand, threatening a bar to Spanish markets in the event of refusal, might imperil a compromise on Spanish non-intervention.

Further Governmental Savings Next Year Asked By FDR

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) — President Roosevelt, whose department heads managed to stay about $95,000,000 under estimated expenditure the past three months, requested today a governmental saving of $400,000,000 during the next year.

He wants the departments to effect the economies, he said, by impounding 1 per cent of the funds which congress has appropriated.

SUPREME COURT FLAYED

Prairie Dog Is Nominated For Lubbock No. 1 Step-Papa

Nominated for Lubbock's No. 1 step-papa is a male prairie dog which has taken upon itself the task of mothering a pair of baby guinea pigs.

Someone gave the prairie dog to Luther A. Bundrant, caretaker at city hall, who has been experimenting with remarkable success for several months with the raising of guinea pigs to be used in the city laboratory.

Lacking a better place to confine the prairie dog, Bundrant put it with the guinea pigs. Dog and pigs ignored each other in complete harmony for several weeks. Then a pair of guinea pigs were born, and Papa Prairie Dog proceeded to adopt them, which apparently met with the complete approval of Mama Guinea Pig. The baby guinea pigs frolic about and over the prairie dog, and not infrequently, the prairie dog noses the infants in apparent affection. So impressed with the situation is Bundrant that he now is attempting to cross guinea pigs and prairie dogs to obtain a hybrid completely unknown to science.

Bundrant's success as keeper of the city's guinea pigs is credited with having already made possible substantial savings in laboratory costs. The pigs are required in certain of the laboratory tests, and until recently they were bought at a cost of 75 cents each after attempts to breed and raise them had been unsuccessful. The city hall caretaker then was assigned to the job, confined the pigs in an outdoor shelter, and of 25 guinea pigs since born, 24 still are alive.

U. S. Envoy Lashed For His Talk On Despots

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, July 7.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter intensified a bitter attack today on Robert W. Bingham, United States ambassador to London, for his Independence day speech on despots and dictatorships.

The diplomat's speech to the American society in London was characterized here as an "arrogant and ignorant" attempt to tell foreign nations how to manage their own affairs.

Other Attacks Made

The Hitler paper's attack came after a similar editorial in the government-controlled weekly Deutsche Allegmeine Zeitung had charged Bingham's speech "incited the so-called democracies against the so-called dictatorships in almost unbelievable fashion."

The Beobachter particularly assailed the U. S. envoy for his assertion:

"Britain and America tried to lead the peoples of the world into the paths of peace, but they would not follow!"

Hitler's mouthpiece recalled that both he and Premier Mussolini of Italy repeatedly had emphasized nazism and fascism were not for export.

Assertions Ridiculed

"If, therefore, there can be any talk of defending anything, then obviously it is only the defense of our ideals and conceptions against the shameless intellectual and political tutelage which the official and private guardians of the temple of western ideals are continually trying to exercise over us."

The paper ridiculed the ambassador's assertion that it was democracies which were happy and prosperous while dictatorships were unhappy and bankrupt.

It suggested that France, plagued by internal financial crisis, must be particularly happy now, and that "Mr. Bingham's homeland can feel equally happy and satisfied, notwithstanding its troops are principally occupied with holding down the working classes which for almost a year have been passing their time with an endless chain of strikes, some of which have been decidedly violent."

Nominees For Places On City Equalization Board Listed

Names of W. E. Baskin, Rufe Williams and W. E. Inmon were announced today as having been included in an ordinance to be submitted to the meeting of the city council next week, as nominees for places on the city board of equalization, according to announcement at City hall this morning.

All have agreed to accept appointments to ine of the more tedious tasks in connection with preparation of city tax rolls, the announcement said further.

Confirmation of appointments of board members will be followed by an examination of tax rolls, and the mailing of notices to owners of property upon which a revised valuation is placed.

CLAIMED BY DEATH

ALBANY, N. Y., July 7 (AP)—George D. Graves, 61, secretary to Alfred E. Smith when the latter was governor of New York and only man in the state history to bear the title "assistant to the governor," died today.

Path Of Death Now Charted

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, July 7—Small, swarthy Albert Dyer, accused of murdering and ravishing three little school girls, was well launched today on the legal path the state declares will end at the gallows.

"We're going to hang him," said District Attorney Buron Fitts after the county grand jury, meeting in special session last night, returned indictments charging the 32-year-old WPA school crossing guard with first degree murder.

Dyer is accused of having lured Madeline Everett, 7, her sister Melba, 9, and Jeanette Marjorie Stephens, 8, into the Baldwin hills a few miles from their Inglewood homes June 26, strangling them and violating their bodies.

"I Plead Guilty"

The haggard, tousle-haired prisoner shouted as the indictments were being read in court:

"I plead guilty!"

Dyer was the chief witness before the jury. Composed and speaking in a low voice, he recounted how he killed the children, Fitts said.

San Diego authorities were in town today to question Dyer about the death near there six years ago of Virginia Brooks, 10. Her body was found on a mesa in March, 1931. She had been strangled with her silk scarf.

Cotton Plants In Pink Boll Worm Area To Be Plowed

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP) — Cotton plants in the pink boll worm-infested area of the Rio Grande region will be plowed under in September in an effort to rid the section of the pest.

J. M. Del Curto, state entomologist, said the order would apply to Cameron, Hidalgo and Willacy counties where the worm was discovered some months ago.

Chief Justice Also Accused By Senator

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 7—Senator Guffey (D-Pa) carried on the administration's battle for its judiciary reorganization program today by charging that the supreme court "has been partisan, prejudiced, and biased in denying workingmen and farmers their fundamental legal rights."

His bluntly-worded speech opened the second day's debate on the compromise court bill, calling for the appointment of one new justice anhually to supplement those serving beyond the age of 75.

Hughes Is Charged

Guffey said reorganization of the supreme court was necessary "to outlaw economic wrongs and injustices that have been rankling and festering for generations."

He accused Chief Justice Hughes of "campaigning politically against the administration's reorganization program and termed the chief justice's appointment "a juicy political plum" awarded to "a Republican party leader."

Through earlier appointments by President Harding, Guffey contended, "the court was soundly and solidly packed . . . to such an extent that legislation to protect the farmer and workingman was doomed almost before it was passed."

"A majority of the aged justices who compose the court were intent upon thwarting the major purposes of the Roosevelt administration," he continued. "As a result, the people, the president, and congress were powerless to act."

Since the president proposed his reorganization program five months

More Cash To Schools Here

Increase of $17,112 in next year's apportionment for Lubbock Independent school district over that of last year, based on the number of scholastics shown in the March census, was provided when the board of education voted in Austin Tuesday to boost the per scholastic allotment from $19 to $22.

That figure was given this morning at the office of A. C. Jackson, schools business manager. Number of scholastics in March was 5,704. The actual increase in apportionment over last year would be $20,817, but of that amount $4,290 is the result of an increase in scholastics of 195 as well as the board of education vote.

Highest In History

The Associated Press reported that public schools of Texas will receive approximately $4,700,000 more from the state per capita apportionment during the year starting next Sept. 1 than ever before in history. The board of education voted, 6 to 2, to boost the allotment from $19 to $22 per scholastic. An effort to set it at $21 had failed on a tie vote. An estimate of the comptroller's department that the available school fund would have a balance of $3,117,899 Sept. 1 led to the large increase.

Total apportionment for Lubbock public schools next year will be $125,488, according to the new per capita allowance.

Mexican Ambassador Speaker At Public Affairs Meeting

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 7 (AP)—No continent can safely dream of living in peace if the rest of the world is at war, Dr. Francisco castillo Najera, ambassador of Mexico to the United States, told the Institute of Public Affairs today.

Outlining steps taken to bring peace to the Americas, Dr. Najera said it was not enough "to be at peace among ourselves, for when world peace is threatened anywhere, the peace of America is also being placed in jeopardy."

Freckles Champion

Just try counting your own freckles and you'll have an idea of the job the judges were up against when they tackled the 400 district champions in Atlantic City's annual contest. On Helen Milbouer, 8-year-old Brooklyn girl, they found 1,985—count 'em—and awarded her the freckles championship.

Relief Quotas To Be Pared

Belief that sharp reductions in WPA rolls which have been ordered into effect July 15 will have little actual effect in the Lubbock district of 24 counties was expressed by district officials this morning.

Effective that date, quota for Lubbock district must be reduced from 3,550 persons to 3,195, a cut of 355, officials here were advised. Reduction for the state will be approximately 15,000 to a total of 63,000.

District officials explained that others of the several reductions in workers during the last two years have taken care of themselves by removals from the rdistrict and by absorptions into private employment. Seldom, officials said further, has the full quota allotted the district been employed.

Same Conditions True

Indications are, they said, that the same condition will be true when the new reduction goes into effect, although there may be a surplus of workers to whom employment cannot be given between the seasonal farm rushes of cotton chopping and cotton picking. District officials added that if there should be more qualified persons seeking work than there are jobs, they will have no choice except to employ those who are most industrious and most efficient. At the present time, however, fewer persons are working than the lowered quota.

The approaching cut will reduce the district quota by more than 1,000 from the peak figure of approximately 4,200 established two years ago for Lubbock district when the area was comprised of only 15 counties. The district was enlarged several weeks ago by the addition of counties from eight districts which were abolished to reduce the number in the state to 12.

Patty Named Superintendent Of Schools At Lorenzo

W. E. Patty, 2411 Fifteenth street, a former school superintendent at New Home, Lynn county, and also at Plainview and Floydada, has been elected superintendent at Lorenzo, he said this morning. Election was Monday night by the board of trustees.

Patty came to the Plains in 1919. He was for seven years head of the Plainview schools.

Last year he was engaged in business at Wolfforth, selling out recently. He said he plans to move to Lorenzo the latter part of the month.

G. S. Dowell, his predecessor there, has accepted a place as vocational agriculture teacher at Quail. He also taught at Lorenzo in addition to being superintendent. Dowell went to Lorenzo from Dickens about five years ago. He had formerly been at O'Donnell.

Scene Is Shifted And New Region To Be Scoured

(By The Associated Press)

HONOLULU, July 7—Navy ships and planes, coordinating efforts in the vast hunt for Amelia Earhart, aimed today at a new region in the South Pacific wastes where growing belief and some facts indicated the missing aviatrix may be marooned.

Five discouraging days of scanning the immense area north north-east of bleak Howland island, which the aviatrix missed last Friday, turned the search to the corresponding area centered south southeast of Howland, where 280 miles away center the Phoenix islands.

The coast guard cutter Itasca and navy mine sweeper Swan have searched more than 104,000 square land miles north of Howland without sighting a trace of the missing plane.

The Itasca methodically scanned an area 300 nautical miles in each direction while the Swan covered a strip 15 miles wide by 240 miles long.

The battleship Colorado, speeding toward an early morning meeting with the coast guard cutter Itasca, planned to release its three deck planes late today for the first aerial search of the area which holds the fate of Miss Earhart and her navigator, Frederick J. Noonan.

Cutter To Refuel

The two vessels expected to meet around dawn (12:30 p. m. EST) within 100 miles of Howland to refuel the staunch cutter, which had carried on the search virtually alone since last Friday.

Reports early today indicated good weather would be experienced throughout the day in the Howland vicinity. The refuelling and replenishing of the Itasca's water supply were expected to start as soon as the cutter was contacted by the Colorado, and to be completed in about seven hours.

The ships will proceed into the area east and south of Howland, the Colorado preceded by her fast planes.

More Aid From Air

More aid from the air was expected over the week-end from the giant aircraft carrier Lexington, speeding from California toward a refueling at Lahaina Roads, Hawaii, where she was expected by 8 p. m. (EST) tomorrow.

Leaving San Diego Sunday with three destroyers, the $40,000,000 Lexington was slicing the Pacific at 33 knots yesterday, a knot and a half below top speed, but a full knot faster than the Atlantic record set by the palatial liner Normandie.

Another dash southward of more than 1,500 miles lay ahead of the Lexington before she could send her brood of 57 planes into a aerial search for the missing round-the-world fliers.

Shift Follows Suggestions

Shifting of the search to the south of Howland followed suggestions from coast guard officials in San Francisco, who conferred with Miss Earhart's husband, George Palmer Putnam; a growing belief among other searching agencies, and a recheck of the last available radio messages while the ill-fated plane was in the air.

Officials agreed that Miss Earhart, if she sent any of the maze of unexplained radio distress signals which have purred the search five days, must be marooned on land or on a reef above water, because her radio would not operate oth-

Union Delays Ford Visit

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, July 7—Members of the United Automobile Workers of America failed to appear at the gates of the Ford Motor company between 6 and 7 a. m., today to distribute union literature to workers changing shifts.

Frank Blake, UAWA organizer, said Richard T. Frankensteen, union organizational director, notified him the scheduled visit to the Dearborn plant had been called off and that a statement would be issued later.

Policemen Assembled

Several mounted policement and motorcycle officers were at the plant.

The Ford Brotherhood of America, an independent union, was denied permission today to intervent in the national labor relations board's hearing on a complaint charging the Ford company with unfair labor practices.

Representatives of the F. B. A. distributed literature without interference this morning at gates of the Ford plant. A handbill stated one of the union's purposes was "to stop outsiders from interfering with or dictating to us as to wages and working conditions."

Plans Are Changed

Several U. A. W. A. members who assembled at union headquarters about 5:30 a. m. dispersed upon receiving Frankensteen's telegram saying "have changed plans—will distribute papers but not at plant."

He asserted also he received an unsigned telegram about 3 a. m. reporting "inside information" that "Ford service men plan a riot at Ford gates to lay blame on United Automobile Workers."

Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director, termed the report "ridiculous" and "the silliest thing I ever heard of." Bennett was at the Ford gates at the hour scheduled for the union visit.

Steel Plants Under Guard At Opening

State Of Brutal Terrorism Is Charged By Strikers; Smoke Streams From Three Mills

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, July 7—Republic Steel Corp. plants here humming today under national guard bayonets as Lee Pressman, general counsel for CIO steel strikers, charged that "a state of brutal terrorism" prevails on the Ohio strike front.

"New steel by Friday," predicted Republic plant officials.

Smoke streamed from three Republic units after the last of a series of back-to-work thrusts in defiance of John L. Lewis' cohorts.

Another To Reopen

Republic's Steel & Tubes, Inc., is scheduled to reopen tomorrow.

Pickets were limited to 12 at each plant gate. Nearly 1,000 troops were here to preserve order.

"This is the beginning of the end of John L. Lewis," said H. G. Ellison, Upson superintendent. "They'll never get these men out on strike again."

Replied B. J. Bamich, field director of the CIO-affiliated Steel Workers' Organizing Committee:

"The attempt to reopen Republic was a complete failure. When the public realizes only the foremen and bosses are in the plants it will insist that the military be withdrawn."

Army Of Occupation

Pressman, at Canton, O., asserted in a formal statement that the Ohio national guard "has made itself a veritable army of occupation" in the Ohio sector of the seven state strike, launched May 26 for signed bargaining contracts.

"Men, women and children have been beaten, homes raided and searched," declared Pressman.

The situation was apparently in stalemate at Youngstown Sheet & Tube company's Indiana Harbor, Ind., plant. J. C. Argetsinger, company vice-president and general manager, emerged from a four hour conference with Gov. M. Clifford Townsend at Indianapolis and said: "Our position is unchanged."

Want Legal Protection

"Our plant at Indiana Harbor," said Argetsinger, "will be reopened at such time as our employes and their families are afforded adequate legal protection. We are not signing anything with anybody."

Deputy sheriffs at Youngstown, O., started service of warrants on 200 steel strikers and sympathiz-

Holiday Color Is Golden Mean

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

The vacationer who goes completely native, eschewing lipstick neat nails and a coiffure which stays in place, is guilty of almost as bad taste as one who wears mascara, eyeshadow and other evening makeup on the beach or a tennis court. As always, the middle course is the best bet. Smart women look well turned out in a healthy, out-of-doors kind of way—never using too much makeup or too little.

This is a year when exquisite little cosmetic kits that take up practically no space in luggage and which contain sunburn preventatives as well as all other items one needs to keep skin in an excellent condition during a summer holiday are available at reasonable prices.

One especially nice, cylinder-shaped vacation number is no larger than a bottle of lotion or astringent, yet it contains a rich cleansing cream, suntan cream, face powder and rouge. The boxes of various items fit together, one on top of the other and when taken apart look attractive on a dressing table.

The cleansing cream at the bottom of the kit is an adequate softener as well as cleanser for a fairly young skin. In addition to the four preparations, an older woman probably should take along a night cream and a powder base. Incidentally, the manufacturer of the cosmetic cylinder puts out an excellent bath powder in a regular talcum box with shaker top. It, too, is simple to pack and a pleasure to use.

Deep purplish red lipstick will be flattering once your skin is a golden brown. If you wear rouge then, see that it matches or at least harmonizes with lipstick. If your coat of tan is truly lovely, why bother with rouge at all?

By the way, fashionables will not go in for mahogany colored arms, necks, faces and backs this summer. They'll sit in the sun only until their skins are a warm shade of beige. Many won't get tanned at all, but will go on being creamy white and wearing the same makeup.

Bank Deposits Show Gains

Large gains in every item accepted as a barometer of economic conditions were reported by Lubbock banks Tuesday in statements of conditions as of June 30.

Total resources of the banks were $7,844,154.70, a million dollar increase over the same report of a year ago.

Cash resources were $5,614,502.82, a $751,468.27 increase over the year before report, while loans were $1,-982,326.29, an increase of $344,360.52.

Deposits were $7,236,144.70, or $893,707.18 over a year ago.

Increase in loans indicates a healthy condition and that the banks are now able to make more loans.

Wheat Has Been Factor

Wheat money that began coming in late in June has had an influence in the deposits of local banks. However, banks in the wheat counties should show considerable increase, proportionately larger than in Lubbock banks. Local banks report their chief gains from wheat harvest come from their correspondent banks.

Following is a complete statement of the banks:

Resources

Loans, discounts	$1,982,326.29
Banking houses	176,575.01
Furniture, etc.	51,512.70
Other real estate	4,209.88
Other assets	228.00
Federal Reserve	14,800.00
Cash, etc	5,614,502.82
Total	7,844,154.70

Liabilities:

Capital stock	$ 350,000.00

Other liabilities	36,789.05
Undivided profits	62,926.95
Deposits	7,236,144.70
Total	7,844,154.70

From the last year's statement, following totals were:

Loans, $1,637,965.87; cash, $4,863,-004.55; deposits, $6,303,377.52; total resources, $6,819,978.17.

Insured Fire Loss In June Reported

Insured fire loss in Lubbock for June totaled approximately $1,225, according to estimates reported Tuesday by Cecil Casey, assistant fire chief and fire marshal.

Other than the fire at the elevator, only two fires causing an insured fire loss were on the department's records last month. They were June 13 at a building at 1801 Avenue H occupied by the McIlhaney Creamery company, $775.70 and June 28 at servants' quarters at 2017 Main street, $350. The latter fire damaged property belonging to Mrs. C. C. Lindsey.

Made 14 Runs In June

Casey estimated the insured fire loss to the elevator to be between $300 and $350.

The department made 14 runs in June. There were no insured fire losses in May or June of 1936, Casey said.

June's mark, estimating the total at $1,225.75, boosted the total for the year to $89,365.57. May's figure was by far the largest for the year with a single loss of $71,685.58 when the Lubbock Sash and Door company warehouse burned.

Insured fire losses for the first five months of the year were as follows:

Month	Amount
January	$1,605.94
February	5,360.60
March	227.70
April	300.00
May	71,685.58
Total	$79,139.82

Girl Charged In Slaying

COUSHATTA, La., July 7 (AP) — A warrant charging R. Jessie Pepper, 17-year-old girl, with murdering her high school chum, May Elvin Allen, 17, in Monday's "gossip killing" at Crichton, near here, was sworn out last night by H. H. Allen, father of the dead girl.

Allen also swore out a warrant charging the girl's mother with "lying in wait to murder."

The girl told a coroner's jury that she had killed May Elvin only after being shot at, slapped and beaten with a stick. The story was corroborated in some details, denied in others, by additional witnesses and when she finished the jury of two men just out of their teens and three just into their fifties returned a verdict that Miss Allen "came to her death by gun wounds at the hands of R. Jessie Pepper."

Cause Brought Out

On the witness stand, preceding Miss Pepper, Mrs. Allen brought out the cause of the quarrel between the two girls who had lived their lives in homes only 200 yards apart, ridden the same school bus together, graduated from high school together and always been the best of pals.

Referring to Mrs. Pepper and Jessie, Mrs. Allen testified:

"They had been telling lies on Elvin. She spent a month with her Uncle Bill in Vivian. She (Jessie) told that Elvin had a baby while up there. She told Elvin's fellow, Percy Methvin."

Mr. Allen gave the same version of the inception of the quarrel, both he and Mrs. Allen vehemently denying the truth of reports allegedly spread concerning their daughter.

Why us Mileage Merchants get twice the average share of Oil Customers —

Out of all the people coming in, a Conoco Mileage Merchant like me will make twice as many regular oil customers as a station that cannot do Oil-Plating! You'll see a big reason why, when your Oil-Plated engine cuts out a lot of your stopping for oil. Besides rolling up mileage, Conoco Germ Processed oil puts a finish to all the worst wear from your fast Summer driving. That's not just talk—because Oil-Plating is a lot more than any so-called oil film. The patent Germ Process not only makes the strongest kind of regular oil film, but gives you Oil-Plating entirely extra . . . something no other oil does! Oil-Plating fastens direct to cylinders, bearings and shafts, like any real plating. Then there's sure to be good lubrication for every start you make—even a hundred times a day—because Oil-Plating simply can't run down while your car is stopped. And it can't scrape off, burn through, or get blasted out, no matter how far you speed on baking-hot days. I'll put in Conoco Germ Processed oil right now, and bet you'll be back here yourself, telling me all the mileage and fun you get from your Oil-Plated engine.

"MELLOW? Why this good Prince Albert whiffs over your tongue so cool and smooth that you can smoke it all day long without a hint of tongue-bite."

"PUT ME down as a 'makin's' rollup for 16 years—and believe me, I haven't found another tobacco that's a patch on P. A. for clean, rich taste and body. Yet there's not the least bit of harshness or rawness."

IF SIGNOR PILUSO keeps his word tonight, and if Referee Clements keeps to himself, there'll be exciting action in the Auditorium arena.

Signor Piluso is booked for main event duty against Buck Lipscomb, the madcap he-goon from the Hoosier state. Piluso does not like Lipscomb, and vice versa. They have had strong words. They have dared each other into the ring.

Piluso and Jack Hagen do like each other. They travel a bit together, and sometimes wrestle each other. They did that last Wednesday night, and those among the fans who liked good wrestling saw a half hour of it. Piluso rushed to Hagen's defense a couple of weeks ago when Lipscomb was dishing out extra-curricula stuff after winning the second fall from Hagen. Lipscomb, however, did not choose to play with Piluso that evening.

Hagen and Kopecky, Tarzan Krause and Sheik Mar Allah provide the other entertainment tonight.

It should not surprise us in the least to see Mr. Lipscomb take his leave right soon. In fact, tonight's appearance may be his farewell bow. Reason: Sailor Tex Watkins is back in the circuit!

We note by the Pampa press that Sir Tex is helping re-open wrestling in Pampa this week, which means that the "toughest man in the world" will be among us soon. Watkins fairly fixed Mr. Lipscomb up when they clashed here one time. It would be a "natural" should they clash again, but it is hardly likely.

THERE HAS BEEN a mix-up regarding the City Open golf tournament.

Originally set for Lubbock Country club's layout, tentatively for July 11-18, the tournament, in all probability, will not be held at the Country club, and is definitely off for next week there.

It seems that Pro-Manager Charles Akey of Lubbock Country club was ambling over his layout and decided that the greens needed a top dressing, that a lot of other work had to be done on fairways and roughs (the June rains brought a fine crop of weeds and an over abundance of wild grass) and that now is the logical time to be setting about the job.

The Women's Invitation tournament, going into its second year and designed as an annual attraction in Lubbock, is coming up in about two weeks, and Akey wants the course in good shape by then. He also has an eye on the annual men's invitation, coming up late in August.

And so, these things, combining with a shortage of interest among golfers, particularly those of Meadowbrook, will prevent the City Open from starting next Sunday at Country Club. Heretofore, the clubs have alternated during the City Open, qualifying at one course, playing first round matches at the other, shifting back and forth, but with installation of grass greens at Country club, this became inadvisable. Country club was to be the host this year. Meadowbrook next, and each was to take it on alternating years.

Akey said yesterday, however, that it was possible that Meadowbrook would serve as host to the City Open this year, perhaps beginning next Sunday. Meadowbrook officials are expected to make an indication today or tomorrow. If the sand greens club wants it, now is the time to say so. Country club, hating to give it up in the first place, might be ready to accommodate the City Open after July 25, but not before that time.

REMEMBER THE TIP-TOP baseball club of 1936? The one that won the Lubbock Invitation tournament, entering as the tournament "orphans" and expected to get no where?

Well, Jimmie Williams has been puttering around with the club this year, playing out of town exclusively, and he wants to enter the defending champions in this year's tournament. Before that, he wants to show them off before a local crowd. He announces that he has scheduled a game with the Phillips "66" Oilers of Hobbs, N. M., for Sunday, at the local park.

Watch the papers for definite announcement regarding this game, and if it's scheduled, it ought to be worth the money.

The Hubbers are playing at Hobbs Sunday, returning a game with the Amerada Oilers of Monument. They tell us the Phillips team over there is right tough.

Next appearance of the Hubbers will be in the tournament, which starts Sunday, July 18.

Rise Of Cubs Is 1937 Success Story

Tony Piluso To Tangle With Lipscomb Here

Tony Piluso and Buck Lipscomb are principals in the feature-length show at the Auditorium tonight. Short subjects will be provided by Joe Kopecky and Jack Hagen, Sheik Ben Ali Mar Allah and Tarzan Krause.

Promoter Sled Allen was listening the other night—last Wednesday night week, as a matter of fact—when Anthony spoke his mind about Lipscomb and expressed the desire to meet him in combat. It was shortly after Lipscomb had beaten Hagen up rather sadly in a riotous finish that saw Piluso rush to Hagen's side in the ring.

So Promoter Allen took Piluso at his word, got the two of them on dotted lines, and here they are. Piluso has promised to do things to Mr. Lipscomb that should change the latter's attitude toward wrestling in general and this section in particular.

"We'll see what you'll do to him" is the challenge flung down today by thousands—well, anyway, hundreds, of local and South Plains wrestling fans. Because Piluso gets his chance to murder Lipscomb in the main event of tonight's show at the Auditorium. They've been matched, and the fight should be intensely interesting.

Piluso had added a lot of weight and courage since he fought around here a couple of summers ago. He's big and broad-shouldered and nifty; a pleasing personality, always smiling, but always with a fist cocked in self defense. He'll need that fist tonight, and the paying guests will be disappointed if he doesn't cut loose with it.

To support this possible murder scene, Promoter Allen has lined up four nice fellows for a preliminary and a semi-final. Jack Hagen tangles with the veteran Joseph Kopecky in the latter, and it should be a real warm-up to the main event trouble. Kopecky, after two victories, was vanquished by Vic Weber in the main event last Wednesday. It was his second straight main event defeat here, after nearly two months of success. But tricky old Joe will be in there hustling tonight, wishing to earn another main event assignment.

Tarzan Krause and Sheik Mar Allah promise to do things in their curtain raiser. Krause disappointed the fans by not opening up his big guns against Lipscomb last week. He'll have opportunity to fight tonight against Mar Allah, who loves a good scrap.

Chicago Boys Are Heading For Pennant

BY DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Add success stories for 1937—the rise of the Chicago Cubs.

When the season started the Cubs could have stepped into the first chapter of an Alger book—just a bunch of honest hearts and willing hands. The applause went to the rich bullies in St. Louis, the genteel Giants and the roistering Pirates.

But what a difference a few months make. Today finds the Cubs in front as baseball attention swings to Washington and the all-star game. Players not in the game today enjoy a three day holiday. American league games scheduled yesterday between the Yanks and Red Sox and the A's and Senators were moved back.

Win 19 Of 27

Since June 5 the Cubs have been hot. They have won 19 out of 27 games and have been especially effective against those bad boys from St. Louis. Monday they made it nine straight against the gas housers with two victories over them. Previously the Cubs had won three out of four from Pittsburgh and three straight from the Cards. In those nine games they made 129 hits, scored 80 runs. The Cards have not beaten them since April 25.

However, the Cubs are vulnerable. They are not insensitive to the bright lights of road trips and overconfidence. But right now they are head men, and, as Messrs. Terry, Frisch, Traynor, et al, will tell you, very much the team to beat.

Boxing Will Make Comeback At Brownfield On Friday

BROWNFIELD, July 7 (Special)—Boxing comes back to Brownfield Friday night. Permits and licenses for professional fighting have been granted to Brownfield promoters, and the Venetian Auditorium is being groomed for the fireworks.

Jack Kirkland, popular middleweight from Waco, has been signed to meet Roy Beard in the main event. Woodie Windham, who also is helping in the promotional department, has transferred his activities from Plainview to Brownfield and will be seen in action in the semi-final against Johnny Long of Frederick, Oklahoma. Bert Tankersley, local scrapper, is to oppose James Cotton in the second preliminary. A. C. Pace and Johnny Bowlin do the curtain raiser honors.

Clifford Roberts of Clarksburg, W. Va., managed a filling station 12 years, worked two years in a factory making automobile headlight lenses and 8 years in a tire factory — and can't drive a motor car.

Indians Still Hold Top Ranking In Texas Loop

(By The Associated Press)

As traditional experting would have it, the rest of the Texas league might as well yield the bunting to Oklahoma City and fight it out among themselves for the lesser glories.

Fourth of July is three days gone and the Indians still hold their sizeable lead—and, except for two factors, that might indicate the Oklahomans were favorites for the pennant. The two factors, of course, are the Shaughnessy system which gives any first division team a chance at the flag and the fact the circuit is now embroiled in its most topsy-turvy battle in years.

Extremes The Rule

Extremes have been the rule rather than the exception this year. Fort Worth, for instance, shot up into strong contending position with 11 straight wins, while its North Texas rivals from Dallas have been industriously losing ten in a row.

The Cats couldn't go on forever, though, and last night Tulsa bowled them over 8 to 2. The Oilers climbed on Clyde Smoll, young southpaw, for seven runs in a wild fifth inning.

The troublous days that have pushed Dallas deep into seventh place showed no signs of abating. The Steers cancelled out their good pitching with four errors, three of which meant exactly eight runs for the Oklahoma City team, which ended with a 10 to 2 win. On earned runs alone Dallas would have won.

Possibly the only sweetness life yields the Steers these dark days is the reflection that Houston's Buffs have an edge on them as consistent losers. Now and then the downstaters win one but normally the chances have been they would be the losers. They followed that pattern last night against Beaumont, whose Quinn Lee let them have but three hits and shut them out 14 to 0.

The Buffs lost both the game and a manager, Johnny Watwood deciding to leave rather than guide a team seemingly bound for nowhere. He will be succeeded by Ira Smith of the Rochester club, who managed Houston last year.

San Antonio continued to lurk just inside the first division, winning against Galveston 7 to 5 to hold fourth place.

Diz Was Lucky When He Hitched His Star To Coat Tails Of Breadon And Rickey

BY PAUL MICKELSON

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—By far the luckiest thing that ever happened to the adventuresome Dizzy Dean is that he hitched his blinking baseball star to the coat tails of Sam Breadon and Branch Rickey.

Diz has called his tolerant benefactors almost everything from bum sports to tightwads. His rebellions, holdouts, antics, and pop-offs have given them a thousand headaches; but the St. Louis Cardinal bosses have steered him to prosperity shores.

Stand For Abuse

It is very doubtful if any other baseball magnates would have stood for one fraction of the abuse Rickey and Breadon have absorbed from the great Dean.

Except for Breadon—and possibly Rickey—the great Dean would have fallen into permanent baseball disgrace if he had stuck by his avowed intention and refused to play in the All-Star game. Many baseball leaders predicted he would have been boycotted every where the game is played because the contest here is for charity—broken down ball-players—and even Dean can't get gay with charity.

He Is Calmed Down

But Breadon calmed Diz down and got him to change his mind. And chances are that Diz will hurl a great game for the National Leaguers today. That's his way—and his luck.

Diz long has yelled about the "stinginess" of Breadon and Rickey; but his bosses' advice have made him, as much off as on the field. For instance. . .

After the 1934 World Series—the only one the Cardinals have been in since Diz joined them—Dizzy was ready to sign advertising endorsements and barnstorm for coffee and doughnuts. Rickey and Breadon stepped in to "wise him up." They got him five times as much money for his advertising plugs and they got Ray Doan, the barnstorming promoter, to pay him and Paul Dean $25,000 for a post-season tour instead of $1,800 which they were ready to take.

Today, Dean is worth more than $100,000 and has many years of baseball stardom ahead of him if he doesn't stop taking advice from his "tightwad" advisors.

Sport Gossip As Gathered In Texas

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, July 7 (AP) — Big Jim Kessey, Oklahoma City's player-manager, needn't worry about the official announcement of the northern division's roster in the Texas league's all-star game at Houston July 17. . . . Balloting closed at midnight and selections won't be announced for several days, but it's a cinch he'll be managing the northerners from first base. . . . His closest rival, Homer Peel of Fort Worth, paced the outfielders but lost out in the manager's race.

Back in Fort Worth after a brief stay in Chicago is L. D. Meyer, the Texas Christian baseballer. . . . Perhaps the best of the Southwest conference lot, "Little Dutch" was given his outright release by the Cubs because there were no farms available for further seasoning. . . . Johnny Rizzo, Houston's ball-blasting outfielder of '36, is still above .400 in the American association chase and just about to swat himself right into a St. Louis uniform.

Crownover Comes Back

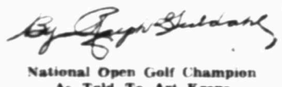

Ten years ago Russell Crownover of Abilene stepped out and equalled the course record in a tournament match with Dennis Lavender. . . . It wasn't good enough, for Lavender was busy smashing the mark by three strokes to bury Crownover, 3 and 1. . . . A few days ago Crownover, meeting Lavender for the first time since that date, batted around in 68 and sunk Lavender 5 and 4.

Car Wood, jr., son of the grey-thatched, world-famous speedboat racer, likely will enter the third annual Lake Brownwood regatta on July 25. . . . The son of the noted speedster is one of the game's best amateurs. . . . Also entered is Frank Vincent of Tulsa, internationally known racer.

Handsome Brooks Conover, former Texas Aggie athletic great, has been signed for double duty at Brownsville as coach of the high school and junior college grid teams. . . . His junior college eleven has taken on an ambitious schedule, including the University of Mexico. . . . Rufus King, Southern Methodist golfer and former Grand American national trapshooting champion, has been playing in links tournaments against doctor's orders but will have his ailing eyes treated soon. . . . Ray Fritz, Galveston's first sacker, will nurse that broken leg three more weeks before he can return to action. . . . Before he is graduated, Gillem Graham, sensational University of Texas freshman, should become one of the world's leading javelin chunkers, the experts say. . . . He won the national A. A. U. junior spear chunking event and has a toss of better than 212 feet on the books.

Golf Is Simple If You Learn Fundamentals Of Game, Guldahl Says

This is the last of a series of six autobiographical, instructive articles by Ralph Guldahl, National Open champion and U. S. Ryder Cup team member, written exclusively for the NEA Service and The Evening Journal.

National Open Golf Champion
As Told To Art Krenz

Golf is quite simple if the player will go at it the right way.

Most beginners make the mistake of trying to play without first learning the fundamentals.

Proper gripping is important. You cannot play properly when the club is handled as if it were a broomstick, nor can one get very far when it is grasped with a savage desire to knock the ball off the course.

I favor the overlapping grip which has the little finger of the right hand overlapping the index finger of the left. This allows but three fingers and the thumb of the right hand to grip the club and takes the right hand out of the swing, giving greater control and a more secure grip on the shaft.

In placing the hands on the club, I place the right hand over the shaft. This hand more or less controls the opening of the clubface in the backswing and the closing of it as the ball is reached.

Stance Varies Little

My stance varies little, if any, from my driver down to my pitching clubs. Because I am tall, I stand fairly close to the ball and employ the open stance throughout, except when playing a hook.

I find that the open stance, which has the left foot drawn away from the line of flight, is more comfortable and removes the tension from the left side when following through. The player will find it is a good cure for overswinging.

Of course, this is the slicing stance. But when I have to play an intentional slice I use a more upright swing, starting the arc on the outside of the line of flight and cut across the line of flight as the ball is struck. This puts clockwise spin to the ball.

Too wide a stance is a common cause for slicing.

No golfer is perfect and I, too, sometimes have trouble in lifting the club too soon. If a correct start is made in taking the club back there is little chance for error. Although some star players believe the first motion of the backswing should be made with the hands which results in the clubhead lagging behind, I try to make the clubhead and hands move together and start the club along the ground with both hands.

Good Backswing Needed

Golfers also differ on whether or not a pause should be made when the top of the swing is reached. I don't think it should. To me the swing has no terminating point. I consider it one continuous motion.

At the top of the swing many golfers loosen the grip on the shaft. I also have been accused of doing this but when I do it is done unintentionally.

As the club reaches the halfway position in the downswing, the greater portion of my weight has been shifted to the left leg, my hands are approaching the ball, and the right hand is about to whip the clubhead through. I attempt to make the clubhead follow the ball for a few inches after the ball is struck.

For the wood I use a full swing; for the iron a three-quarter swing and less as the shot becomes shorter. Also as the shot becomes shorter the hands go down the leather reaching the halfway mark in the half explosion. This shot I use in sand when around the greens. When playing it I lay the blade of my sand iron open and play the ball off center.

Before closing this series, a word on putting. I need not tell of the value of the putt, as you already know how I lost a National Open championship when I failed to drop one that measured only four feet. To write instructions for this game within a game is well-nigh impossible. It requires hours of practice, and stance and grip must be worked out to suit the individual.

However, this is how I do it and it may be of value to you.

I address the ball on a line halfway between the feet. I find it the best hitting point for my way of stroking. I switch to the reverse overlapping grip which has the index finger of the left hand overlapping the index finger of the right. My left hand may dominate the backstroke but when putting best I have a feeling that both hands are working together on the follow-through. As in other strokes, the clubhead is kept close to the ground at the start and after the ball is struck.

—The News Of The Day Through The Camera's Eye—

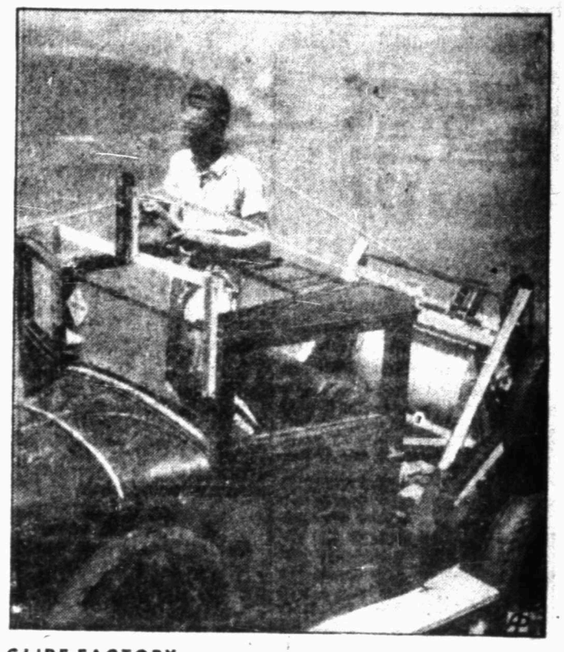

LITHUANIAN WINGERS. At Elmira, N. Y., gliders and pilots from over the world were gathered for the Soaring Society's eighth annual meet. Here are a couple of motorless plane experts from Lithuania—Bronius Oskirus (standing) and Jonas Pryagius—as they groomed their bird for the competition.

BIG BIRD FROM GERMANY. Seemingly always poised to flap aloft on its graceful wings, this eagle-like glider from Germany was brought to the Elmira soaring meet by Peter Reidel of Germany. Note the swastika on the tail of the craft. Reidel flew 103 miles from Harris Hill to Elizabethville, Pennsylvania, in five hours, two minutes.

CHAMP BIRDMAN. Chester Decker of Glen Rock, N. Y., pilot of the Albatross entry in the Elmira glider meet, was champion of the 1936 competition.

GLIDE FACTORY. This gadget puts the glide into gliders. It's the starter that powers the tow rope attached to the glider for the take-off. If the glider falls to cut loose, the rope automatically is cut. This starter, manned by Jack Wallace, came with the M. I. T. glider-men.

PEACE IN BILBAO. The city of Bilbao, capital of the Basques, was rapidly returning to normalcy after Franco's insurgents captured the loyalist stronghold. Here is a part of the triumphal entry of the victors. Excited townsfolk are shown giving the Fascist salute to insurgent officers as they drove into the city.

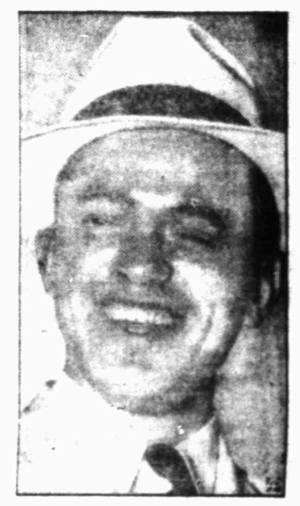

RACKET IN ENGLAND. America's Alice Marble, U. S. women's champion, was hard at work at the Wimbledon, England, tourney when this rapid action picture was snapped. She's a top-notch campaigner for this country abroad

SMILING SLAYER. Robert Irwin, 29, presented this gay appearance when facing officers after his arrest for the tripie slaying of a New York model, her mother and a roomer last Easter.

SPOTTED KILLER. It was Henrietta Kosciuszki, Cleveland hotel kitchen girl, who recognized a bar boy as Robert Irwin, sculptor sought for the Gedeon slayings in New York. She collected a reward.

NO FEARS. Although hinting at a plea of insanity, Irwin gaily announced he had no fear of "the chair" if convicted of the three Easter murders in the home of Veronica Gedeon, pretty model.

THIS IS LONDON. Al Smith, on his first European trip, was taking it easy in London after a series of tours and visits with notables in continental countries. Here he is in a moment of relaxation in his dressing gown at the Savoy hotel, just starting a quiet smoke.

MICKEY'S BACKSTOP. George Tebbetts was doing catcher duty for Detroit while Mickey Cochrane was convalescing from a skull fracture received when hit by a pitched ball.

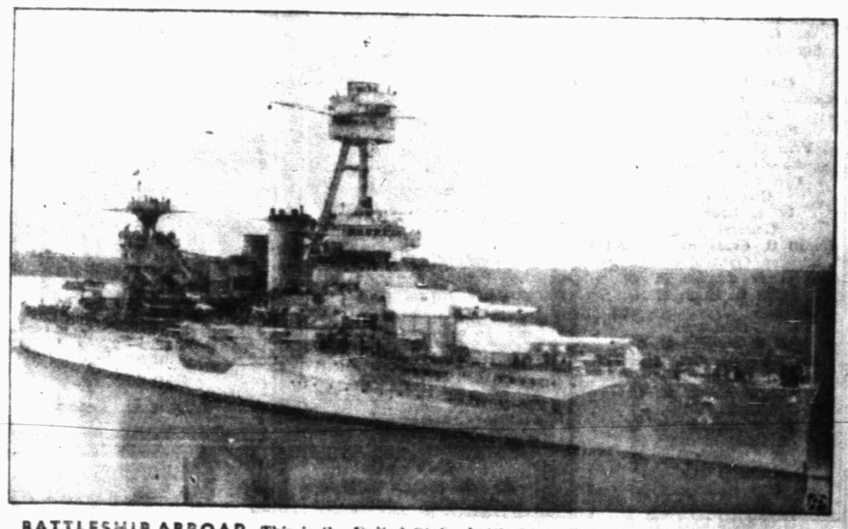

HERE'S TELEVISION. This is a picture of the "eyes" of television—the scanning apparatus which, it is predicted, will bring events of the world into homes. This apparatus was installed on the center court of the Wimbledon, England, tennis tournament, and actually operated.

CAMPBELL'S COMING AGAIN. Sir Malcolm Campbell, holder of the world's land speed record, apparently is ready to try for water speed marks in his new highspeed motorboat "Bluebird." Here it is being lowered into the waters of Scotland's picturesque Loch Lomond.

IT'S ON HIM. Frank Smith was one of the liquor law offenders who preferred to parade the streets of Bryte, Calif., every day for a week wearing this sign instead of going to jail for 60 days. Justice of Peace Frank Paris gives the choice to those convicted of drunkenness.

BATTLESHIP ABROAD. This is the United States battleship Arkansas shown passing through the Kaiser Wilhelm canal, during its visit to the German coast. The Arkansas, accompanied by the Wyoming and the New York, were all on European trips and touched port at Kiel in June.

Dutcher's News And Views Of Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent
Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

WASHINGTON, July 7. — While the C. I. O. certainly is functioning as a rival of the A. F. of L. technically it is little more than its name implies — a Committee for Industrial Organizations.

There is no constitution and there has been no national convention.

Dutcher

Future relationship of the international and local unions has not been settled — as the question has long been settled in the A. F. of L. The career of C. I. O. has been too turbulent and hectic, as well as too rapid in progress, to permit fussing over these details.

Nevertheless, C. I. O. already is definitely in a period of transition from an organizing committee to an actual national central organization of labor unions. There no longer seems the slightest chance of a reconciliation with the A. F. of L. The transition began last March when a full meeting of the C. I. O. authorized issuance of certificates of affiliation to national, international, state, regional, city central and other local groups.

• • •

Claims 3,000,000 Members

International unions affiliated have begun to pay per capita dues to C. I. O. in the same way they used to pay them to the A. F. of L. Some 227 local industrial unions chartered since March in various industries, which are not covered by the 26 national and international unions affiliated with C. I. O., are subject to definite regulations from the central C. I. O. and are also paying per capita dues to it. About 30 industrial union councils, corresponding to state federations of central labor unions in the A. F. of L., also have been chartered.

The C. I. O. unofficially claims about 3,000,000 members and says that's more than the A. F. of L. has. It began with eight affiliated international unions and now claims to be adding about one a week and about 10 local industrial unions every 10 days.

Some time during the late summer or fall C. I. O. is expected to call a national convention to organize a national labor federation on a permanent basis. Most decisions of the past year have been sudden, and quick shifts to meet changing conditions have been so common that labor leaders wouldn't be surprised to see the convention call issued without warning at any time.

Still Just A Committee

Except for its policy of taking in and chartering new unions as part of its organization, the basic nature of the committee formed in November of 1935 by John Lewis, Sidney Hillman and a few other labor leaders, remains unaltered. It was a voluntary, self-appointed committee of heads of international unions and other prominent labor leaders who banded together to promote industrial unionism to exploit opportunities for organizing which they believed the A. F. of L. had neglected.

In the days which followed, as their plans conflicted increasingly with those of the A. F. of L., this committee and most of the unions whose leadership it represented, split away from the federation. Hundreds of thousands of the unorganized joined, and dozens of organized unions affiliated with the C. I. O. But C. I. O. is still a committee, accepting new members as national and international unions and their leaders volunteer to join.

Relationship of the industrial union councils, formed to unite local unions thrown out of central labor unions by the A. F. of L., is still only vaguely defined. Many small local unions have affiliated with the C. I. O., but their relationship in voting strength, for instance, has yet to be settled. Even in the C. I. O. itself there are unions claiming the same field and the jurisdictional plague which has caused the A. F. of L. such infinite grief—or should have—lies potential in the C. I. O.

Too Busy For That

The relationship of such unions as the United Textile Workers and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers is somewhat complex. Each has delegated administrative powers to C. I. O. committees, the Steel and the Textile Workers Organizing Committees. Thus, as counsel for Inland Steel recently pointed out, the SWOC and TWOC are each a sort of "labor holding company." These are presumed to be temporary agreements and the organizing committees doubtless will disappear if and when the industries concerned are sufficiently organized. But all this is in the future. C. I. O. will not and can't continue as a mere committee.

The A. F. of L. has a complex constitution with a system of voting strength allotments to federal unions, city centrals and international unions which has been elaborately worked out over many years. This elaborate machinery the C. I. O. as yet lacks almost entirely. Its definite organization on fixed terms is yet to come. Not even a name for the new federation of labor has been chosen. John Lewis has been too busy lately for that.

on the mesa. "He got it by trickery, and if you won't take it away from him, I'm going to!"

"Wait a minute!" Ted seized both her hands in one of his, as he fumbled with the other for a paper in his pocket. "No need for you to rifle his pockets," he added, flourishing it triumphantly before her.

With amazement, Kay ran her eyes over the memorandum of Ted's transaction with Old Man Warren, with the prospector's name signed at the bottom.

"Ted! You mean you beat him to it?" Her eyes sparkled with excitement and the color flooded her cheeks at this further evidence of Ted's thought for her.

Silent Communion

In a few words, he told her about Seth and the boys chipping in to raise enough to bind the purchase, and about his visit to Old Man Warren.

"I don't know anything about beating this guy to it," he added, feasting his eyes on her happy excitement as she folded the precious paper and put it in her pocket. "You'll have to tell me that part of it! Come on!"

A swift, strong vibration ran all through him at the thought of holding Kay in his arms as they rode back to the ranch.

Mounting, he reached down his hand and she sprang lightly up before him, her own heightened color attesting to the fact that his emotion had communicated itself to her!

For a long time they rode in silence across the mesa that was beginning to take on the intenser colors and lengthened shadows of late afternoon.

Kay leaned confidingly against Ted, and his arm involuntarily tightened around her. Somehow there seemed to be no need for words, and sweet as the gay companionship of the morning's ride had been, this silent communion meant infinitely more.

The sunset colors were flooding the sky as they neared the ranch house gate.

Abruptly Ted reined in. "I'd like to say goodby to you here. I must be on my way."

He hardly recognized his low husky voice. A wild longing to kiss Kay before he released her swept over him, but even as he struggled with it, Kay slipped from his arm, and sprang lightly to the ground.

"When will you be back?" Kay's voice was as low and vibrant with suppressed feeling as his.

"Three days at the most," he answered. For a long moment he gazed at her. He started to say something, then changed his mind and picked up the reins.

"Goodby." He wheeled abruptly, and Kay watched him ride into the sunset. A strange premonition suddenly tightened her throat. Would he really be back in three days? Already, their whole tense and dramatic encounter seemed like a dream.

Turning swiftly, she walked past the charred ruins of the ranch house and down to her cabin, skirting the bunk house in a desire to be alone for a few minutes, before accounting for her absence to the boys.

Ready To Investigate

Absorbed in her thoughts, Kay walked with her eyes absent-mindedly fixed on the browning bunch grass at her feet.

"Hullo! There you are!"

A hearty voice startled her out of her reverie, and glancing up, she saw the tall figure of a man waiting for her on the cabin steps.

Reluctantly relinquishing her desire for solitude, she hurried forward, and recognized Tom Runyan as the waiting figure.

"Say! I couldn't wait any longer to come over and tell you how bad I feel about all this!" He waved toward the ruins of the ranch house as he came down the steps to meet her. His eyes, as they rested on her brilliant coloring, and the flush still in her cheeks from the ride with Ted, expressed the same admiration they had on the ridge.

"I had to stick around up yonder until I was relieved," he explained, "or I'd been over sooner."

"That's very good of you." Kay slipped her hand out of his grasp. "I certainly didn't think, when I talked to you last, that I'd find my own house burnt down!"

"I kind of thought I might be some help," Tom Runyan boomed pompously. "I've been talking with that foreman of yours up at the bunk house, and it looks mighty peculiar to me how this fire started."

Kay shot him a startled look. "You mean you think—"

"I'm not thinking anything," he hastened to say, with a cautious lowering of his voice. "I'm only saying that this and any other fire will bear investigating."

Kay parries with Tom Runyan and his suspicions of Ted, tomorrow.

SYNOPSIS: When Kay Crandon's Lazy Nine ranch house and barn burn, Josh Hastings, owner of the Flying Six, tries to buy her ranch and talks of marriage. But Kay hates him and is determined to keep her ranch and rebuild. It's a jolt that the insurance money has to go to the mortgage. Ted Gaynor, a puncher Kay hired impulsively, stirs the outfit to cut its own timber and rebuild without pay. Riding to buy the only available timber land, Kay is lassoed by Scrap Johnson, a Flying Six puncher. Ted gets the option for Kay and rescues her from Scrap's unwanted, brutal attentions.

Chapter 16
An Unexpected Visitor

Kay let out a long quivering breath as Ted stood panting for a moment. Then he walked over to her and took back the gun from her trembling hand.

"It'll be some time before he comes to." In spite of his effort to steady it, his voice showed the effect of the emotional and physical ordeal he had just been through. "The sooner we get off, the better. Unless I miss my guess, he'll vamoose from this range without too much boasting about this afternoon's doings."

He slipped the gun in his holster, and stepped over to Scrap Johnson's horse, that had been patiently waiting at some distance from the fray, his reins over his neck. Picking up the reins, Ted hung them over the pommel of the saddle. Then he gave the horse a sharp blow on the flank, sending him off across the mesa.

"That bird can walk. It will do him good and work out his stiffness," he observed grimly, glancing at the unconscious figure on the ground as he came back to Kay. "How about our getting under way?"

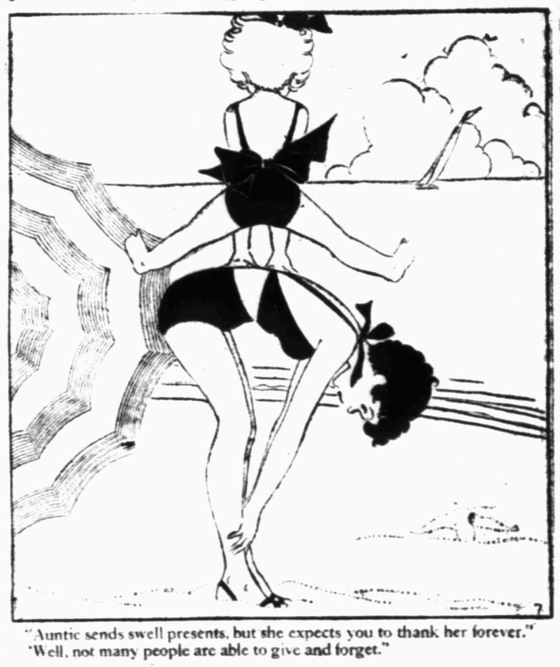

"Ted, wait!" Kay's eyes were enormous with the force of an idea that she was struggling with. "That man has the option on our timberland, right there in his pocket!"

Ted stared at her in bewilderment. Was her mind giving under the strain?

"No, he hasn't, Kay," he soothed as he led his horse over to her. "I'll tell you about that on the way home."

"But he has!" Kay declared passionately, gazing with fascinated horror at the inert figure stretched

DIPLOMACY'S PAPER PROFITS

American diplomacy in London seems to have scored a new triumph. It has succeeded in persuading British officialdom to allow 10 American women, instead of the customary eight, to be presented to and make their curtsies before King George and Queen Elizabeth at the spring courts.

Long negotiations, it is said, were necessary before this concession could be won. The question of the number of Americans to be presented at court has been a vexing one for many years—one that has furrowed the brows of American ambassadors for heaven knows how long.

Probably it is a great victory that has been won. We wouldn't know. But it does seem to us that this country could find more important work for its ambassador than this business of looking out for social climbers. Might not the republic get on just as well if—horrid thought!—no American women at all got the inestimable privilege of bowing and scraping to a foreign monarch?

A Thought . .

But go ye and learn what that meaneth, I will have mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.—Matthew 9:13.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 7.—All over the lot: The lavish musical sets which had fans and studio auditors gasping for breath during the past year are merely spangled patches on the profligacy of the flicker business in building sets for some of the newer spectacle films.

Most of the cost of "Hurricane" goes into the erection and destruction of South Seas islands and a village. That mythical town of Klausterberg in "The Road Back" was substantially made of semi-permanent buildings. The old city of Bagdad is under construction at Twentieth Century-Fox.

At Metro they've put up two whole blocks of a New York street for "Big City." But the biggest thing yet is the group of sets for "In Old Chicago," which Fox is filming.

To do the job right, they've added a cool half-million dollars to the previous budget of $1,000,000. For a section of the Chicago business district, there are 37 major structures complete in every exterior detail down to show-windows fully stocked with merchandise of the period.

The entire city of the Chicago of 1867 is to be built in miniature for long shots of the big fire. It won't be so small, at that, because the whole thing, together with a tank representing part of Lake Michigan, will occupy a couple of acres. They're planning a grandstand for 500 spectators to watch the city being burned. It will be Hollywood's costliest bonfire.

Mystery Unveiled

The bustle of new construction on the Fox lot has brought to view an amazing contraption which has been mysteriously canvas-covered for more than a year. It's a large wire-enclosed cage, perhaps 20 by 40 feet, and smack in the middle of the platform is a mechanical horse.

Here the studio's big little boss, Darryl Zanuck, used to practice polo.

Mallet in hand, he'd sit on the nag and swing at polo balls as they rolled around the floor of the enclosure. And the balls would roll because the entire cage is built on rockers.

• • •

Noiseless Coal Heaving

When there's coal to be shoveled for a movie scene, you'd think they would use the real thing. But they don't. They use hunks of black sponge rubber, which is cleaner, lighter in weight and — most important of all — noiseless.

In "Life Begins With Love" you'll see Douglas Montgomery shoveling Hollywood coal in a scene which requires dialog. The clattering of real coal would have ruined the sound track.

• • •

Driving Them "Bugs"

On a corner of the sound stage in which "Dead End" is nearing completion, a camera is trained for a closeup of—of all things—a garbage can. The performers in this scene are Wendy Barrie and some cockroaches.

Miss Barrie is standing there in an alley, a hand touching a damp wall. She glances down and sees the repulsive creatures, realizes her social proximity to them, gasps and flees.

It's one of those touches of unpleasant realism that make "Dead End" the kind of play it is.

She doesn't like the scene a bit. Neither do the property men and technicians who are making the brief shot. Several takes have been ruined, and the loathsome insects have to be handled each time.

Everyone's offering suggestions: "We could tie their legs; that'd keep 'em in camera range."

"Stick 'em down with a little piece of tape."

"A drop of collodion would keep 'em from running too fast."

But Director William Wyler is adamant. He says, "No, we've got to get it right. You can always tell when an animal is being held and is straining to get away, even a cockroach. Wouldn't look natural at all. We'll try it again until we get it."

So they try it again and again, and finally they do get it.

• • •

When the Sonja Henie - Tyrone Power company went into the mountains a couple of months ago to get snow scenes and skiing shots, only two hours of filming weather were encountered in a two-week stay. So now most of the scenes on skiis are being filmed within the studio.

Scenery is provided by a huge translucent screen on which mountain views are projected from behind. In front of the screen small snowflakes are created by a machine which grinds up and scatters hundreds of tons of ice.

It's a trying task, lighting the set properly and getting the shots to match up with scenes shot out-of-doors. But audiences will never know which scenes are real and which were shot during Hollywood's hot midsummer.

Kansas Wheat Is Being Stored

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, July 7—Storage of the huge Kansas wheat crop, valued at somewhere around $150,000,000, was an interesting movement watched today for its extent—and its obvious bid for higher prices.

Farmers, uncertain when seed is planted in the fall whether harvest days will bring failure or 40 bushels to the acre, are storing their grain hoping the market will go above the $1 to $1.10 now offered for wagon wheat.

Willing To Pay Storage

Grain brokers and elevator men said today that 75 to 80 per cent of the crop is being withheld from the market, the farmers being willing to pay for public bin space at the rate of one cent per bushel per month.

Farmers in the Salina area seeded thousands of acres last fall. The wheat looked fine April 1. Then came six weeks of dry weather. It did not grow and farmers counted the crop as lost. Belated rains fell late in May and June. With the moisture came what was described as "the greatest transformation ever seen in a wheat crop in this part of the country."

Today farmers who thought their crop lost are harvesting 15 to 40 bushels to the acre.

Supreme Court

ago, he said, the court "decided to yield as the safest way out" and reversed a number of its earlier decisions.

"When the highest tribunal in the land sees fit to overthrow its own decisions," he declared, "the evidence is convincing that those decisions were indefensible both in law and in common sense."

Before the second day of hard-hitting debate began, statements of support for the substitute court bill gave advocates of the measure the edge among publicly committed members for the first time.

Lineup Is Revealed

This lineup revealed:

38 senators openly favor the bill.

37 publicly oppose it.

21 still are non-committal.

The two acquisitions, bringing to five the number of converts since a compromise proposal was offered last week, heartened administration chieftains.

They asserted they had sufficient votes to pass the newly substituted bill. Taking the offensive, they called the senate into session at 10 a. m. (Eastern standard time) instead of the customary noon.

Three Hours Of Debate

The early convening time allowed three hours of debate before recessing for the all-star baseball game in the afternoon.

Sessions will be held as regularly as possible, leaders said, to prevent any dilatory tactics.

Opponents, who have talked openly of filibustering if they did not round up sufficient votes to defeat the bill said they were content to let the administration forces talk as long as they desire.

Opposition leaders express surprise at the vigor with which Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, and other spokesmen for the bill opened the fight in the senate yesterday. The foes had expected the burden of carrying on the debate would be turned over to them almost from the start.

Arguments Advanced

Instead, the heavy-set Robinson, mentioned as a possible nominee to the supreme court, advanced one argument after another for adopting the substitute bill. It would authorize appointment of additional supreme court justices at the rate of one a year for every member over 75 who remains on the bench.

The original Roosevelt bill, abandoned by administration forces, would have permitted appointment at once of an additional justice for every member over 70.

The substitute provides that the court shall return to nine justices when the older members retire or die.

Baseball

Bartell of the Giants at shortstop and Arky Vaughan of the Pirates at third, Frank Demaree of the Cubs, Joe Medwick of the Cardinals and Paul Waner of the Pirates formed the outfield, with Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs catching.

Skipper McCarthy countered with an inner group of Lou Gehrig and Red Rolfe of the Yankees at first and third, respectively, Charles Gehringer of the Tigers at second, with Buddy Myer of the Senators in reserve, and Joe Cronin of the Red Sox at shortstop.

The outer force consisted of DiMaggio, Roy Bell of the Browns and Earl Averill of the Indians. Big Bill Dickey of the Yankees was behind the bat.

McCarthy indicated he would send Tommy Bridges of the Tigers and Mel Harder of the Indians, both right-handers, to follow Gomez. If Goofy's portside slants prove particularly effective, Joe may give the second pitching assignment to veteran Bob Grove of the Red Sox.

Johnny Murphy, Yankee right-hander, was chosen last night to replace Chicago's Monty Stratton, who has an injured wrist. Clydell Castleman, Giant right hand tosser, was called for use if Mungo's sore back still troubles him.

More than 55,000 persons arrive and depart by train from the national capital in one day. Passenger trains arrive and depart on an average of one every 6 minutes.

Wide Advance Made In Stock Trading

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Stocks led by steel and related issues, bounded upward today in the widest advance Wall Street has witnessed since October, 1934, as bullish sentiment replaced gloom in the financial district.

Traders, returning after the three-day holiday period, brought with them hopes the long steel strike was nearly at an end. Prospect of bumper crops, increased rail net earnings, and reports of lessened tension in the Mediterranean trouble area all contributed to the better sentiment.

Transactions totaled 1,409,960 shares against 838,735 last Friday, making it the most active trading day since May 13. To Wall Street the heightened interest came as a pleasant break in one of the dullest trading seasons in two years.

The Associated Press average of 60 stock advanced $1.80 to $66.90, while 15 industrial shares gained $2.40 to $93.40. Not since Oct. 11, 1934, had a day's advance been so broad.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP) — Cotton futures opened steady, up 6 to 9 points on improved Liverpool cables and trade buying. July 12.06; Oct. 12.14; Dec. 12.10; Jan. 12.13; March 12.14; May 12.17.

Trade price fixing was influenced by continued activity in the cotton goods market. There was some foreign and commission house demand based on a tendency to modify ideas on the extent of acreage increases as a result of private estimates.

Firmness of the stock market helped the tone. Offerings were not plentiful.

October sold off from 12.17 to 12.13 but late in the first hour was 12.15 when prices generally were 5 to 10 points net higher.

Two additional private reports were issued, one pointing to an acreage of 35,168,000 and a crop of 14,725,000 bales on a condition of 79.1. Another placed the acreage increase at 9.5 per cent for a total of 33,891,000 acres.

Liverpool reported a small market with covering and a little speculative buying meeting local selling on favorable American weather reports.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 7 (AP)—Cotton opened moderately higher today on fears of too much rain in portions of the belt, better textile reports and rumor of a small private crop estimate.

First trades were 6 points up on all positions. Overnight reports said scattered showers continued to fall in the eastern belt which had received an abundance of moisture in recent days.

Oct. opened at 12.13, Dec. at 12.16, Jan. at 12.17, March at 12.21 and May at 12.21. Small buying orders continued after the start and July crossed the 12 cent line to 12.01, with active positions generally 8 to 11 points net higher, toward the end of the first half hour.

MEXICO CITY, July 7 (AP)—A railway workers' spokesman asserted today the government was considering expropriation and nationalization of two important foreign-controlled railways, but the statement met a denial from a government representative.

The spokesman of the railway workers syndicate (union) declared the two lines were the American-owned Southern Pacific of Mexico and the English-controlled Mexican railway. He said the change would come "as soon as the natural international obstacles are overcome."

New Tension Provoked Between Japan And Russia By Conflict

HSINKING, Manchoukuo, July 7 (AP)—New tension was provoked here tonight by reports of three Soviet incursions across the frontier between Siberia and northeast Manchoukuo.

Two Russian soliders were said to have been killed and a Japanese soldier wounded in a series of border clashes that approached the scope of a battle between sizeable armies.

Grave concern was expressed officially because the reported hostilities followed so soon after the strain on Russo-Japanese relations caused by the disputed sovereignty of two islands in the Amur river on the same border.

Tenancy Aid Bill Is Sent To Conference

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—The house sent farm tenancy legislation to a conference committee of senators and representatives today in an effort to iron out differences with the senate.

A bloc of Democratic and Republican members of the agriculture committee organized for an attempt to keep the house from accepting the senate-approved proposal for government purchase of farms to be re-sold to tenants.

The house rejected this method, approving instead liberal loans to tenants for farm purchases.

Representative Lucas (D-Ill) and Tobey (R-NH), leaders of the bloc, asserted the senate measure would lead to "socialization of the land."

Silent Treatment Is Given To Rep. Fish By Pres. Roosevelt

At a press conference, it was made plain that the chief executive does not intend to reply to Fish's repeated statements.

CCC Worker, With $30-A-Month Job, Has To Resign To Accept Legacy Of $40,000

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, July 7—N. Harold Barmon, 45, decided to resign today from a $30-a-month job in a CCC camp and take charge of a $40,000 inheritance—after a probate judge grew impatient at his delay in claiming the money.

Barmon inherited the estate from his mother last March. But he explained, he had obtained an accountant's job last fall in a CCC camp, when he needed a job badly, and was loathe to give it up.

When Barmon appeared today before Probate Judge Mitchell J. Henderson and still appeared reluctant to devote the necessary time to settling the estate, The judge took matters in his own hands and sent the following telegram to a CCC camp at Warrensburg, Mo.

"N. Harold Barmon of your camp is sole beneficiary in my court on an estate worth approximately $40,000. We can't get him to leave camp for sufficient time to care properly for his mother's estate. I think without doubt the United States government under such circumstances should accept the resignation of a man who has $40,000 at his command."

Later Barmon agreed to resign, instructing his attorney to petition for an allowance while the estate is being settled.

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP) — The city health director here today recorded two deaths from infantile paralysis and "four or five" other cases.

"You can't spot the disease and you can't tell where it is going to strike," he said. "I would urge parents to watch their children for any deviations from normal and see that they follow the usual rules of good health."

The young victims were Alfred Keith Hoppock, 12, and Edith Emily Hornburger, 14. The latter resided in Fiskville, near this city.

North of Howland, there is neither known land nor reef for hundreds of miles, but to the south and east is an area dotted with tiny islands and some reefs, beginning as close as 100 miles.

Bearings Are Obtained

The cutter Itasca reported a portable radio direction finder set up on Howland island had obtained bearings on final messages from the Earhart ship while it was in the air indicating it either was north northwest of Howland or south southeast.

Searchers recalled that the final decipherable report from the plane while it vainly sought Howland last Friday morning mentioned "we are on the line of position 157-337. We are now running north and south."

From this message, caught by the portable direction finder, the Itasca's officer figured the plane may be down south east of Howland, since search of the corresponding area to the north was fruitless.

In San Francisco, Coast Guard Communications Officer Frank Johnson said this bearing would correspond closely with the area scanned today by the Itasca and the positions nearer the Phoenix islands toward which the search now is heading.

As the search locale shifted, the navy took over its direction in order to keep all efforts coordinated.

Coordination of the search meant that the Itasca, Colorado, Lexington, three destroyers and the mine sweeper Swan would be under one command.

Advance Detachments Prepare Summer Training Camps

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP) — Advance detachments prepared Camp Wolters at Mineral Wells today for an influx of 1,100 officers and men of the 56th cavalry brigade, Texas national guard, whose annual training period begins July 10.

The federal government will spend approximately $390,000 for pay and subsistence of personnel at both camps.

Narcotic War To Be Staged

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP) — Texas' small but efficient band of peace officers, the historic rangers, will step into the field of anti-narcotics enforcement beginning Aug. 12 and the force may grow as a result.

Col. H. H. Carmichael, director of public safety department, said today a new drug act will take effect on that date and instead of creating a narcotics division rangers will be assigned to enforcement.

To Make Survey

He has detailed Capt. Jerome Wheatley, veteran officer, to a state-wide survey for determining the personnel and equipment necessary to carry out the new duties.

The dope control act, passed recently by the legislature and making convictions easier, embodied most principles of a uniform act adopted in many states.

The public safety department was given a $35,000 annual appropriation for the next two years for its enforcement.

Most of the 36 members of the force are experienced in all forms of anti-crime activity, but tracking of dope peddlers has not been a major part of their work.

Father Facing Assault Count

LAS CRUCES, N. M., July 7 (AP)—Jose Flores, Spanish-American farm worker, was held for trial on two counts of criminal assault today after his daughter and another young girl testified at preliminary hearing he seduced them through witchcraft and "love potions."

Concha, Flores' 13-year-old daughter by a common-law wife, and 15-year-old Manuela Cruz told Justice of the Peace Albert Brown that Flores took them to the homes of two women who practiced witchcraft and sought supernatural aid to make them "love him."

Despite Flores' denials and those of his wife, Brown ordered the laborer bound over to August term of district court under $5,000 bond. He pleaded innocent at arraignment.

Tells Of Attacks

Concha told the justice that her father attacked her on three occasions when she arose at 4 a. m. to build the fire and get breakfast in their little home at Anthony, a few miles south of here.

Manuela testified she was seduced when she came to Flores' home seeking her father. Flores, she said, persuaded her to stay and spend the night with him.

The girl said Flores took her and Concha to Juarez, just across the nearby border of Old Mexico, where a woman who practiced witchcraft sold Flores a "love potion" which he put in her hair.

The "love potion," she testified, appeared to have been a sort of perfume.

Both Flores and his common-law wife told Justice Brown they knew nothing of the attacks the girls described.

The additional 50 guards will be necessary in order to place in effect an eight hour day for guards. The guards heretofore have worked 12 hour shifts. The eight hour day will be started when the new appropriations go into effect in September.
