These boys and girls of the Wellington High School Band will be presented in a coronation concert Monday, December 18, at 8:00 p. m. in the school cafeteria. A highlight of the concert will be the crowning of the Band Queen, whose identity will not be known until the time of her coronation.

Under the direction of Tubal Cain, the band will give a program of light classical music, including well-loved Christmas tunes. This is one of three concerts the band will give during the year, Cain said.

Election Set for Two Water Board Directors

Voters will name two directors of the Collingsworth Water Control and Improvement District in an election to be held January 9.

Outgoing directors are Cortez Barnett of Dozier, secretary of the board, who is serving an unexpired term, and G. L. Roberts of Rolla.

Three men have filed for the two places, according to John Coleman, chairman. Roberts is seeking re-election and the others filing are Dan Henard, Wellington rancher, and Steve Owens, former Wellington city council member.

There will be two polling places: Wellington and Samnorwood. The reason for cutting down the voting boxes is an economy measure, Coleman explained.

Any legal voter may participate in the election.

1962 Farm Program Is Outlined for County

Collingsworth county will receive $72,548 under the Agricultural Conservation program in 1962, Millard Brown of the ASC office, announced this week.

The county committee has set up seven 2-months budget periods in distributing funds for the year. The first of these is now under way and the remainder will be for each 2-months period through 1962.

The committee also set $700 as the top money any individual producer can draw in ACP payments during the program year.

Approval of practices for the county was received recently from the State ASC office and are the same as those used in 1961, Brown said. These practices, with the payment limitation of each, are:

Seeding permanent grass on cropland—$400.
Deferred grazing—$400.
Brush control—$700.
Drilling well for livestock water—$450.
Constructing dams—$700.
Constructing cross fence on native pasture—$400.

Re-Schedule Meet on Cattle Problems

A meeting of area ranchers to consider the problems of brucellosis control and screw worm eradication has been rescheduled for Monday, Dec. 18 at 7 p.m., in the district court room.

This meeting was originally planned for this week, but neither the ranchers nor the speakers could reach here, due to the icy roads, County Agent Bob Lynch said.

Due to speak at the meeting Monday are Dr. Seymour J. Smith, state assistant director of the Texas Animal Health Commission and director of traffic and law enforcement for that body. He will explain the screw worm eradication program which has eliminated it from herds in Florida and Georgia.

Dr. Norman, district veterinarian for the Animal Health Commission, Lubbock, will explain the brucellosis control program. He is in charge of brucellosis blood testing in this area, and feels that this and adjoining counties are the key to the whole area in brucellosis control, Lynch said.

This is an area-wide meeting, Lynch emphasized, and ranchers from all surrounding counties are being invited to attend.

City State Announces Increase in Surplus

The City State Bank has increased its certified surplus by $25,000, giving it a total capital and certified surplus now of $150,000, bank officials announced this week.

This move is in keeping with the bank's continued growth, and an overall strengthening of the institution's already strong structure, Zook Thomas, vice president, pointed out.

The increase in surplus came out of the bank's earnings, which in turn was made possible by the support and patronage of its customers, Thomas added.

President of the City State Bank is James Doneghy, with Thomas as vice president, Joe Terry cashier, and Jack Aaron assistant cashier. Other employees are Miss Edyth Jackson, Mrs. Jimmy Wilson, and Billy Moseley.

Directors are Doneghy, Terry, Thomas, John Nash and Sandown Smith.

While the benefits of this increased surplus to the customers are numerous, the one that is most easily seen is the increase in the loan limit to larger borrowers of the bank.

Thomas explained that under the banking laws, a bank is limited in the amount of money it can loan to any one customer, no matter how much collateral he may have. The increase in surplus enables the bank to operate under a larger (Continued on back page)

Cotton Farmers Approve Quotas by 235-15 Vote

Collingsworth county cotton farmers approved marketing quotas 235 to 15 in Tuesday's referendum, with approval expected throughout the cotton producing part of the nation.

Three ballots were challenged, according to Millard Brown of the county ASC office.

Seven of the opposing votes were cast in the Wellington box, with 93 votes approving quotas. The other opposing votes were scattered through the county.

With two-thirds approval by cotton growers, the quotas will remain in effect and the price support will be available to complying farmers at a level within the range of 65 to 90 per cent of parity.

Church Sets Up Broadcast Facility Here

The Bowie Street Church of Christ has recently purchased a radio transmitter which has been installed in the church office. As soon as proper checks and adjustments have been completed, a regular daily schedule of broadcasting will be begun, featuring devotional programs, Bible readings, religious music, scripture studies and other items of general interest.

In addition, the Sunday worship services of the congregation will be broadcast each week.

The transmitter will operate on a frequency of 760 kilocycles, and several hours of programming are being planned for each day, according to Grandol Forehand, minister of the congregation.

Church services will be broadcast at 11:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 17 and a regular morning schedule will begin at 7:00 o'clock on Monday morning, Dec. 18.

It is hoped that this service will prove beneficial to the spiritual interests of the community, Minister Forehand said.

Paper Pick-up Day Friday

Friday, Dec. 15, is the date for the regular old newspaper pick-up, Mrs. Quenton Brawor reminded this week.

This will be the last pick-up until after Christmas, and those with old papers are urged to have them out and at the curb early Friday morning.

Kiwanis-Ritz Annual Christmas Show Dec. 22

The Wellington Kiwanis club and Ritz Theatre will give their annual Christmas Kiddie Show for boys and girls of Collingsworth county and the Wellington trade area on Friday morning, Dec. 22. Show time is 10 a.m.

This show is a highlight of the holiday season for hundreds of youngsters, and besides this, offers parents an opportunity to do late Christmas shopping, it was pointed out by L. B. Bratten, Kiwanis president.

Featured this year will be the color film "Freckles," based on the novel by Gene Stratton Porter which has delighted more than a generation of readers.

The story concerns a 20-year-old orphan, who singlehandedly protects a forest besieged by timber outlaws and of his love for Chris, according to Mr. Lydia McPherson, (Continued on back page)

City Merchants Sponsor Showing of Motion Picture

A group of Wellington merchants are sponsoring an outstanding motion picture, "The Trapp Family" at the Ritz Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 20 and 21.

Appreciation tickets are being given by each merchant taking part.

The picture tells the true-life story of the Trapp family, for nearly 20 years the single most heavily booked attraction on the trans-U.S. concert circuit, says Mrs. Lydia McPherson, Ritz manager.

The Baron and Baroness Trapp brought their family to the United States seeking refuge from the Nazis.

New directors installed were B. F. Chance, Sam Adams, C. F. Guley, Bobo Castleberry, Buster Hughs, George Shadid, Rufus Sweat and C. T. Hubbard.

Hubbard is the outgoing president of the club, while the Rev. Glenn Hickey was vice president and Dick Pendleton secretary.

Guests were welcomed and introduced by Mack Saied Jr., and the Rev. Glenn Hickey presented gifts to the club sweetheart, Vicki Glenn, and to Mrs. Calvin Aaron, Mrs. E. W. Carter, and Miss Dona Bishop, and Mrs. Lee Scarberry.

Coleman presented attendance pins to George Shadid for 13 years perfect attendance; Civero Guley, 12 years;

A musical program was presented by the Kiwanis Quartet, made up of Sullivan, L. B.

The identity of the Band Queen will not be known until she is called to receive the crown, and her selection is by secret ballot among the band members.

The program will be approximately an hour long, Band Director Tubal Cain said, and it will include both modern and 18th century compositions.

Two of the latter, from the early baroque period, will be "Air and March" and "Sara-bande and Gavotte" by Purcell. Among the modern selections to be played by the band are "First Swedish Rhapsody," an original composition for the band; "Brighton Beach March," "Burst of Flame March" and "Tango for Band" and others. "Christmas Fantasy" will include a group of Christmas carols.

Tickets for the concert are on sale by band members or may be bought at the door.

Police Chief Has Pneumonia

Police Chief Troy Marsh entered St. Joseph's Hospital Friday, Dec. 8, suffering from pneumonia.

Mrs. Marsh said Tuesday that his condition was improved, but it is not yet known when he will be able to leave the hospital.

He was ill two days before being hospitalized, but continued with his duties.

Snow Monday

County Gets First Real Winter Weather

Winter settled in on Collingsworth Sunday, Dec. 10 and temperatures dropped to seasonal lows of 9 degrees both Tuesday and Wednesday mornings.

The county also received its first snow of the winter, from three quarters to an inch which fell Monday afternoon.

Roads were icy and hazardous but the Highway Department salted down the hills, bridges and other dangerous points on all highways of the county, Ed Haynes reported.

No accidents occurred which were due to icy road conditions, Sheriff John Rainey said.

School was dismissed at Wellington, but classes were held as usual at Dodson, Samnorwood and Quail.

Methodist Children to Give Pageant

A pageant, "They Came Bearing Gifts" will be presented by the children of the First Methodist Church at the evening worship service Sunday, Dec. 17.

Carole Cochran will take the part of Mary in the Nativity scene, with Kirk Edens as Joseph. Boys of the first grade will be the shepherds and the girls will be angels. Kindergarten children will present gifts to the Christ Child and children of the Nursery will kneel at the altar.

The second grade boys will be wise men.

Other children and a number of adults will form the choir, singing Christmas carols.

The Rev. Davis Edens, pastor, will be the narrator.

Gin Accidents Injure Two

Two Wellington gin employees were injured in separate accidents late last week, and both were hospitalized at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Ralph Martin, employed at the Farmers Co-op Gin, caught his left hand and arm in the rollers Thursday, Dec. 7. His arm was mangled but no bones were broken, Mrs. Martin said, and while he is doing well, he will probably be hospitalized until Christmas.

Martin Garostia, employed at the Wellington Gin, had the middle finger of his left hand cut off at the knuckle when he caught it in a gin saw, according to Alonzo Cartwright, manager.

Two other fingers were so badly lacerated it was necessary to amputate them at the first joint, he added.

Receiving the crown that will officially make her queen of the high school will be Jerry Merle Whitfield, a senior and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Whitfield. She will be crowned by Glenn Hunt.

This event will open the program with "Winter Wonderland" as the coronation.

The queen's attendants will be Sandra Sexton and Thad Crosnoe from the first and second grades; Cindy Hightower and Bryce Whitfield, of the third and fourth grades; Ellene Lester and Mike Teutsch, fifth and sixth grades; Linda Sexton and John Hightower, seventh and eighth grades; and Carolyn Sexton and Larry Ellis, freshmen and sophomore classes.

A concert of Christmas songs will form the second part of the evening's program. Traditional American carols and holiday songs from many nations will be used.

"Birthday of the King," a Christmas pageant, will close the program. A pantomime of the Nativity by grade school children will be supplemented by narration and songs by the high school chorus.

Mrs. Howard Lester will be the accompanist and Mrs. Sherrill Beandland is in charge of staging. Ted Parker is directing the music.

The Farm Is on the Move

Exploding productivity!

That's a term currently being used by some economists to describe what is happening on the farm these days. Here's a sample why:

The average labor requirement to produce a bushel of corn is now only one-fifth of what it was 50 years ago. U. S. average corn yields have doubled the past 25 years. The labor requirement to produce a bushel of wheat has about halved each generation since the first grain binder was invented 125 years ago. The feed requirement-product conversion ration of every kind of livestock is being continually reduced. And so on.

Where will it all end? Makes one wonder, doesn't it? But there are those who maintain that the future holds more startling developments along the farm production line than does the past. They see us approaching the end of the farm technological revolution, during which machines and better methods have been brought to bear against production problems with startling results.

But, they warn, we haven't seen anything yet, for the coming chemical and scientific revolution will alter the entire picture and make even the recent past seem archaic by comparison.

No, the old farm isn't what it used to be. The old days are gone, and we need fleet feet to keep up with today, let alone the future. Boys these days who think they don't need to prepare themselves well for the farming challenges ahead probably are whistling in the dark. A look in the mirror might tell such boys whom they are kidding.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the Defense Department is working on a new type of mental calisthenics program for our military.

Seems our civilian soldiers have noticed some cases of victory virus in the armed forces, and this could undermine our firm Excuse-Us-for-Living foreign policy.

But my UN-fan neighbor says the most direct way to world buddieship is to just throw out all reactionary type officers who get caught brainwashing their troops with old corny doctrines like Hurrah for Our Side.

I see where Mr. Khrushchev has recently moved his old friend Stalin's carcass to a new and more private resting place.

My apathetic neighbor says this was pretty thoughtful of Nikita, even if he has been so busy he kept putting it off all these years.

But most likely it will take Somebody with the rank that Mr. Khrushchev thinks he has got, if the Stalin soul ever gets moved to a more comfortable roost.

Time was, before all this Progress set in, you could just go in a store and tell a clerk what you wanted, without having to guess which counter it was on this week.

But my shifty shopper neighbor says he likes the new self-serve stores, on account of when waiting on himself he has such an intelligent customer.

Says vending machines are even better, though; because if one of these is surly or uncooperative about giving service, you can slap it, shake it, or even kick it without taking the chance that it will hit back.

I hear tell a Law is being thought up to move some government agencies out of Washington into outlying cities that need to benefit in a cultural way from associating with agency employees.

My rusticated neighbor says he hadn't thought about it being possible to spread culture like measles, but anyhow he is in favor of this program.

On account of, besides helping us provincials to absorb a little more class, it would also be useful in keeping Washington from getting over-glutted with culture.

I see where a doctor says science will get it worked out soon that a man's old worn-out heart can be replaced with an electric pump.

My low-voltage neighbor says the idea does not appeal to him, as getting a change of heart like this could even make a Republican out of a good Democrat.

But he thinks science might be able to duplicate a man's old self all right if they make these replacement hearts available in different grades, such as cold, hard, soft, bleeding, and chicken.

I hear tell that when the hired help up in Washington hold a big dinner, they all insist on being seated at the table according to how rank they are.

My high clash neighbor says it must be bothersome, associating around among people you can't tell whether they are important or not without looking at where they sit.

Says he guesses if one of these people's common taxpayer bosses ever got in on a dinner like this, he would rate the No. 1 spot, in place of the turkey.

Vehicles Can Be Safety Inspected Now

Motorists can now have their vehicles safety inspected for the 1962 Inspection Sticker.

Capt. Alan Johnson of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Service, Texas Department of Public Safety, said today that over 5,000 inspection stations have started inspecting more than 4½ million vehicles coming under the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Act. All such vehicles must display the new safety sticker by April 16, 1962.

Johnson said "We feel that the vehicle inspection program in Texas has proved a deterrent to vehicle accidents on our streets and highways." He urged all motorists to get their vehicles inspected before the bad weather of winter begins, when it is so essential to have vehicles in safe operating condition.

"It takes just a few minutes to have a vehicle safety checked," Johnson stated, "yet those few minutes thus spent today could mean the saving of someone's life tomorrow."

Johnson noted that the percent of accidents in which vehicle defects were causative factors has been cut approximately in half since the program was started in Texas.

Law Enforcement Program Tightens

AMARILLO.—Capt. J. W. Blackwell, in command of the highway patrol, District 5-B, announced today a stepped up traffic law enforcement program will be launched in an all-out effort to stem the tide of traffic deaths during the remainder of the year.

"We find ourselves confronted with the fact that, unless we succeed in our stepped up enforcement program, we will experience an increase of about one per cent over last year," Capt. Blackwell said.

"But," he added, "we feel confident that with our accelerated enforcement program, and, most important, the active support and cooperation of the driving public—statistics can be made to lie. This is what we plan to do."

"We feel that the traffic death tragedy cannot be over-emphasized. When we know that during last year alone there were 2254 violent deaths on our streets and highways in our state caused by colliding motor vehicles, it should readily be seen that concerted action on the part of everyone concerned is in order."

The Highway Patrol Captain said further: "The new emphasis program on the part of the highway patrol is being geared to the idea that in almost every case, fatal motor vehicle accidents are caused by

Four-Year-Old Featured Player

A featured player in the Christmas Fantasy, "The Happiness Tree," given Dec. 2 by the Masque and Wig Players of Alexandria, La., was Zhan Couvillion, daughter of a former Wellington woman.

Zhan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Couvillion and her mother will be remembered here as Miss Mae Ople Harper. She made her home with a sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Worth McClaskey.

Four-year-old Zhan is the youngest member of the Masque and Wig Players, and co-starring with her was Mrs. Kimike Duggan, formerly of Tokyo and now the wife of Capt. Donald Duggan of England Air Force Base.

The performance of "The Happiness Tree" was a benefit event and featured 32 young thespians and 35 models for the special style show sequence. Mrs. Duggan also showed Japanese holiday decorations and special art work from Japan was exhibited.

the violation of at least one traffic law.

"Therefore," he continued, "these actions will comprise the program:

"1. Field personnel are being instructed to redouble their efforts to remove reckless and dangerous drivers from the highways.

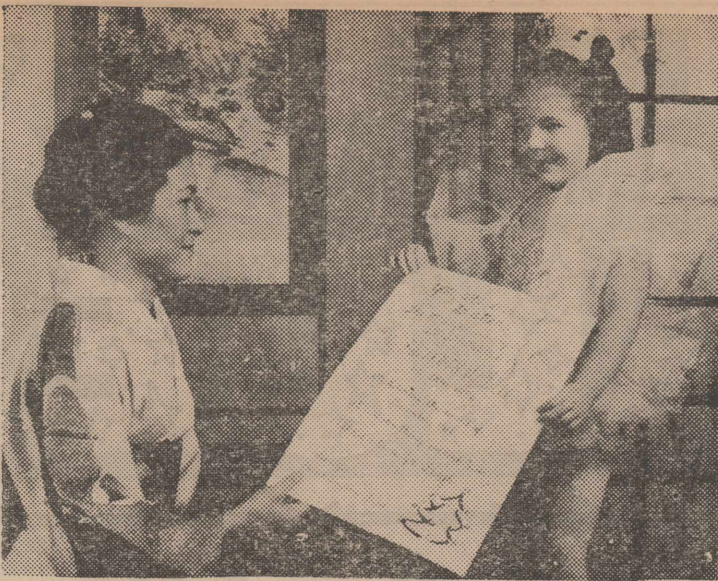

"2. Field personnel are being ordered to step up their program of stopping motorists to check their drivers license.

"3. The use of radar will be greatly increased throughout the district by the addition of several new units to those already in use."

The new radar units, one of which has been used very successfully, are much more efficient than the older type in that they are mounted on the patrol car and require only one operator. This also enables the operator to change position more often by driving down the highway to another location when it becomes apparent that his operation is becoming ineffective. And, since only one operator is needed, this means a number of officers will be released for other patrol activities, thereby broadening the total patrol coverage.

"These measures are being put to use as our part of what, we hope, will become an overall drive on the part of everyone to prove that something can be done to reduce the loss of life and property in traffic accidents," Blackwell said.

A guest of Mrs. J. C. Whisenant several days last week was her brother, D. R. Mansolo of Gainesville, Fla. He also visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Henard and family. From here he went to Austin where he met his wife and they were to continue on to North Carolina where they will visit a daughter at Chapel Hill.

The directors are Carl Wischkaemper and Travis McGuire of Quail, R. L. Mabery of Wellington, W. R. Breeding of Dozier and Howard Hunt of Dodson.

Farmers Can Get Social Security Though Farm Loses

"If you have gross income from your farm of $600 or more, you can get social security credits even if you have a loss in 1961," Hal Geldon, district manager of the Amarillo social security office said today. This means farmers can build up social security protection for themselves and their families.

Farm self-employed tax returns are due by Feb. 15 for those farmers whose tax year starts on Jan. 1. However, farm operators who file an estimate of their tax and pay that amount by Jan. 15 have until April 15 to file their returns and pay any balance due.

Keeping accurate and complete records of all income and expenses is just good business all the time, but it is particularly important when it is time to file income tax returns, Geldon said. Maintaining good records and filing tax returns on time means quicker processing of your claim when you become eligible for disability or retirement benefits or, in the event of your death, when your survivors apply for benefits. The amount of your benefit depends on the earnings you report. The tax on 1961 earnings is 4½% of your net earnings up to $4800.

All tax returns are filed with Internal Revenue Service.

Capping and Pinning Ceremony Honors Seven Junior Auxilians

Seven members of the Junior Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital received recognition in the capping and pinning ceremony at a tea Sunday, Dec. 10, at 1:30 p.m. in the staff room of the Hospital.

A round table covered with a white cloth was centered with a small Christmas tree. Caps and pins to be presented were placed in a semi-circle around the tree. Mrs. B. M. Sims opened the ceremony with the 23rd Psalm for Volunteers.

Mrs. L. C. Hill, president of the Hospital Auxiliary, welcomed the guests, and in her talk she explained the reason and need for the Junior Auxiliary, known as the Candy Strippers. She stated that they had a most successful year, unselfishly devoting much time and energy to work in the hospital.

As Mrs. Hill called each girl's name, Sister Perpetua, staff member of the hospital, capped or pinned the deserving girl.

Carol Blain and Frances Hill received the pins.

Rose Montgomery, to give to the parents of the late Linda Langford, who had completed her 25 hours of work.

Guests were served punch and cookies in one of the hospital dining rooms. The table was covered with a white cloth, centered with a red and gold arrangement made of magnolia leaves, pine cones and red candles.

Shown with Maria and the Governor is Rex Shields, a member of the Foundation's Board of Directors.

Law Extension Aids FBI Work

An important new weapon in the arsenal of the nation's law enforcement officers has been provided with the President's signing of Public Law 87-368. Welded correctly and vigorously, this new law—an extension of the Fugitive Felon Act—can result in making even more effective the stringent curtailment of far-ranging criminals who viciously strike in the heart of one community and then flee to what was, in the past, a far-off sanctuary.

Prior to the passage of the new legislation, the FBI, under the Fugitive Felon Act, could come to the aid of local law enforcement authorities only in the apprehension of fugitives who crossed State lines to avoid prosecution, custody, or confinement after conviction for a crime, or an attempt to commit a crime, punishable by death, or which is a felony under the laws of the place from which the fugitive flees.

The new law, as did the old, also covers flight across state lines to avoid giving testimony in connection with the additional crimes covered. The penalty for each of these violations is a $5,000 fine or 5 years' imprisonment or both.

HARD FACTS

If you have some gum stuck to your lawn furniture, and you have not been able to get it off, try this method: Place ice cubes on the gum. They will freeze the gum, which can then be chipped off.

Christians Will Pray for Unity

Christians in more than fifty countries around the world will offer prayers for an end to the divisions which separate them during the "Week of Prayer for Christian Unity," Jan. 18 to 25, 1962. The theme of this year's observance will be service: "I am in the midst of you as one who serves" (Luke 22:27). The World Christian Council's Faith and Order Commission sponsors this annual observance by Protestants. The same theme will also be used in material prepared for Roman Catholics participating in the "Week of Prayer" observances sponsored by the Association Unite Cretienne, in Lyon, France.

The percentage of Texans who hunt and fish is much higher than the national figure. In the U.S. survey released in September, it was shown that 23% of the population of 12 years old and over fished and/or hunted in 1960. This compares with the figure of 33.2% in Texas.

The average amount spent nationally by sports fishermen was $106.26, against a Texas expenditure of $130.39. Nationwide hunters spent $79.54 and Texas hunters spent $93.18. Nationally 36% of the household boasted members who either hunted or fished, whereas in Texas 47.1% of the households have hunters and/or fishermen.

"A study of these figures is very important in conservation work," according to Howard Dodge, of the Game and Fish Commission. "This survey was made by the U.S. Bureau of Census, with the same care of the workers making the regular 10-year population census. For that reason it is substantially accurate. It therefore furnishes us with definite information concerning the trend in the people who use the out-of-doors, their demands, expenditures and the time involved."

The seacoast town of Bridlington, England, issued a list of rescues made during the past summer which included freeing 77 fingers stuck in folding deck chairs.

WTU Ready With Attack Warning System

West Texas Utilities Company is ready to participate in a country-wide warning against enemy attack according to an announcement today by Cal Young, WTU president.

After an extensive study of NEAR (National Emergency Alarm Repeater) proposed by the Office of Civil Defense, the Edison Electric Institute of which WTU is a member, has recommended support and participation in the project. Young said that a study of NEAR shows "a warning system operating through transmission and distribution lines is a program which our Company and other investor-owned electric light and power companies can and should participate in the interest of national defense."

Young pointed out that the Institute in recommending participation characterized as a "very fair proposal" the statement made by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara last August before the Military Operations Subcommittee of the House Committee on Government Operations. Secretary McNamara said "If extensive system tests in Michigan prove successful, it is proposed to begin national installations of this warning system which operates on electric impulses imposed on regular power lines. Federal funds would be used to cover the cost of the signal generators. The receiver (signals) would be sold to the general public."

The basis of the NEAR project is a proposal of the government to install high frequency generators at strategic locations in the various electric companies' transmission and distribution system. Small alarm receivers which would be purchased by individuals would be plugged into any ordinary appliance outlet on the electric companies' premises. In case of atomic attack, the generators would send a high frequency impulse over the regular electric lines which would activate the alarm receiver in the customers' homes, offices, shops, etc. Young pointed out that this would in no way interfere with the usual electric service and that his Company would, under this proposal, offer use of their transmission and distribution facilities without charge. "I am sure that the na-

SALT FORK SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Elmer Hiett is constructing a system of level closed-end ridge-type terraces on his farm south of Wellington. He will contour farm the land parallel with the terraces for soil and water conservation.

L. A. Gilmore is constructing an erosion control dam on his farm north of the Rolla Gin site. This dam was designed, laid out and constructed with the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service technicians assisting the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District.

It is proposed that the dam will hold the excess water and spread it over about a 10-acre area of deep sand and soak it into the soil. A problem of water erosion will have been solved.

Mrs. O'Rear also recently has drilled a windmill well for livestock water.

John Brim sprigged a small acreage of coastal bermuda last July. The growth since July and now has been outstanding. Mr. Brim is planning on sprigging more this coming year. It will be under irrigation.

Memphis Home Tour Slated

It would not be Christmas in Memphis, Texas, were it not for the Tour of Homes decorated for Christmas, sponsored by the Delphian Club.

The time is Dec. 10, Sunday, from two until five, beginning at the home of Mrs. Mildred Stephens, 403 South 6th street, and she will be joined by the home of Mrs. Lee M. Thornton, Mrs. Carl Wood, Mrs. W. C. Dickey, Mrs. Olton Pate and Mrs. A. W. Howard. Tickets are $1 each.

The club has chosen the theme for this year's tour "The Spirit of Christmas" and it is believed every single home will have something depicting the birth of Christ.

Some of the things of interest to watch for are: a room decorated by an 11-year-old girl; a tall Madonna carpet cooperated and has a farm east of Rolla, plans to construct a diversion terrace on his cropland to carry the water to a waterway constructed on the north side of his farm.

PAROLE OFFICERS NAMED

AUSTIN.—Some real hope for helping the more than 2000 present parolees from state training schools at Gatesville, Gainesville and Crockett came from the announcement that four state juvenile parole officers have been employed.

Herbert K. Baldry will serve in Harris county; Jesus Chavez Bonilla, El Paso; Dallas W. Clerk, Bexar; and Elton D. Strother in Tarrant. A Dallas county officer hasn't been selected yet. A state director will probably be named after Dec. 14.

Texas Youth Council Director Dr. James A. Turman has expressed hope that the Legislature soon will appropriate more funds to expand the juvenile "prevention and parole" program throughout the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Jenkins of Stinnett were here over the week end visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hiett.

No Little Gullies

DIVERSION TERRACE BUILT TO SERVE A SPECIAL PURPOSE

By Doug Bartosh
Agricultural Engineer,
S.C.S., Pampa

Tired of plowing in those little gullies in your field after every rain? Why not do something about it? What you probably need is a diversion terrace.

A diversion is an individually designed terrace. It is constructed for the purpose of intercepting surface runoff and conducting it at a safe velocity to a protected outlet. Diversions have a number of uses. The most common being to protect cropland from runoff from adjoining land; divert water into or away from a pond; protect active gullies from excess water; and break up the concentration of water on long, gentle slopes, the slope being too flat for standard terracing.

A certain amount of planning should be done before constructing diversion terraces. The outlet of the diversion should be protected by a good grass sod. The outlet should also be at a stabilized grade so no head cutting will take place. The outlet should also be capable of carrying the additional water brought in by the diversion without damage. In many instances, outlets may not be available to take care of the excess water. They may first need to be established by shaping and planting to permanent grass. The diversion should not be constructed until the outlets are well established.

When diversions are put in to protect cropland from runoff from adjoining grassland, they should be constructed in the grassland. This will help eliminate the sediment from collecting in the channel. It will also allow the diversion to be utilized for grazing.

When diversions are put in on cropland they should be placed above any little gullies that may have formed. They should also be constructed with the side slopes fairly flat. This will allow them to be worked with farming equipment.

There are two types of diversions that are generally used today. They are the channel type and the slope type. The channel type being used for any slope and being constructed entirely from the upper side of the terrace. The ridge type is best suited for slopes of three per cent or less, and may be constructed from both sides of the terrace.

When laying out a diversion, consideration should be given to the location and the amount of fall needed in the channel. The location of the diversion may be governed by a gully, outlet or building. The diversion should be started at the place which will govern its location. It may then be extended in either or both directions.

The grade of the diversion channel will depend on the average rainfall, type of soil, and whether it is rangeland or cropland. In low rainfall belts, the grade may be practically level while in humid areas it may be as high as three-tenths in one hundred feet from cropland.

The height of the diversion will depend on a number of factors. Some of these factors being the acres of drainage, the type of soil, the cover, the slope of the land, and the grade of the channel of the diversion.

More and more diversions are being put in by farmers. Diversions give them more and better control over the rainfall. Diversions protect the land against erosion and permit more water to penetrate the soil where it will do the most good.

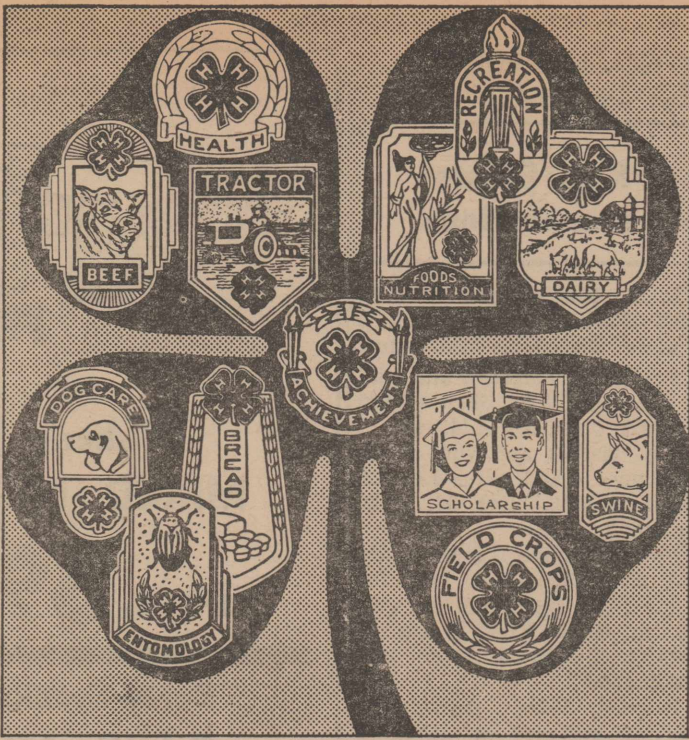

Former City Man Dies

Hints Given for Driving on Icy Slick Roads

Many of the traffic delays and accidents that have occurred in the state during past winters have resulted from cars being stuck on slippery roads and bridges.

Today, J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, explained why.

"We can't just blame the weather," he said. "Actually, our streets, bridges, and highways are maintained during winter in much safer condition than they were years ago—a fact which drivers with many years of experience will remember and affirm. Temporary warning signs go into use immediately when freezing rain or sleet and snow is imminent. Bridges are sanded for the motorists' protection, and if snow, snow plows start to work. It isn't possible for road crews to maintain all roads in bare and dry pavement condition all of the time; yet many drivers are able to drive all winter long, without undue delay or mishap.

"This points up that it is not just the road condition itself. It is also our own ability or inability to adjust our driving habits and utilize safety equipment to compensate for road conditions; yes, even not traveling if it gets bad enough. A simple thing like tire chains frequently makes the difference between getting stalled, having a skid-weak, or getting safely through."

To help drivers learn from experience, without themselves going through the experience of causing a traffic blockade or having an accident, Musick reviewed and re-emphasized some of the results of exhaustive winter driving tests conducted by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards.

During snow, reinforced tire chains provide 313% better traction than regular tires, and 409% more traction on ice.

Stopping ability is an extremely important factor in accident prevention. On dry pavement, a car equipped with regular tires and traveling at 20 miles per hour can be stopped in 21 feet. On loosely packed snow it takes 60 feet. In glare ice 200 feet. Reinforced tire chains cut the distance to 38 feet on snow and 77 feet on ice.

"These facts, proved by scientific tests, give a driver reliable information on equipping and handling his car during various winter conditions," Musick said. "They also illustrate that reduced speed and extra caution are still required in a freeze-up."

"The driver who comes safely through is the one who, in addition to equipping his car with recommended safety equipment, also adjusts his driving habits to fit the season and storm emergencies."

"He slows down on slippery streets and allows more distance between his car and the car ahead. He anticipates his stops, because he has a good idea of the distance he will require to stop safely. He also judges the snow depth, is familiar with the slippery hills and puts on chains ahead of need to avoid becoming stalled."

"Once a car is stuck, or skids out of control, it's often too late. The time to do some serious thinking about the inadequate traction problem is before something happens. Smart drivers carry reinforced tire chains in the trunk and use them when needed to avoid causing dangerous traffic blockades."

Diane Owens and Linda Kay Elbert, students at Parkland Hospital, Dallas, were home over the week end visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Owens, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elbert.

173 Deaths Due in Texas for Holiday Period

AUSTIN, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, estimated today that 173 persons will meet violent death in Texas during the long Christmas-New Year holiday season—with traffic crashes taking the lives of 88, other accidents 45, and suicides and homicides 40.

He designated the period from 12:01 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 23, through 11:59 p.m. Monday Jan. 1, as the official time for "Operation Deathwatch," a grim tabulation of fatalities designed to focus public attention upon the extra hazards of the holiday season.

Don't Hunt on Railroad Property Says Special Agent

With the hunting season at hand a reminder that railroads must prohibit trespassing on their property in the interest of safety is issued by R. W. Brewer, Chief Special Agent for the Fort Worth and Denver Railway Company.

Pointing out that hunting and fishing licenses do not convey the privilege of trespassing, Mr. Brewer said the ban is strictly enforced by all railroads in order to protect sportsmen and the public generally, and to prevent damage to railroad facilities from careless use of firearms.

Firing at game near telegraph, telephone and signal installations frequently results in gunshot damage to these facilities and could precipitate a major disaster on a busy rail system, since interruptions of signals and communications jeopardize the safety of train crews and passengers, Brewer stated.

He also warned that trespassers run the risk of being trapped on trestles, or caught between rails and ties in the path of high-speed trains.

For these reasons, he noted, it is important that the growing number of hunters and fishermen be cautioned that they are expected to observe the "no trespassing" signs along the railroads' right-of-way.

Mr. and Mrs. Faye Pinner of Dimmitt were here Sunday to visit relatives and attend the funeral of A. J. Fike. Mrs. Pinner will be remembered as Miss Jimmie Rachael Graham.

Wellington Day at Stock Show

FORT WORTH.—Wellington has received an invitation to have a special day at the 1962 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, scheduled here Jan. 26 through Feb. 4.

W. R. Watt, Stock Show president-manager, said by having a "special day" at the 66-year-old exposition, the city would receive special recognition both at the show itself and throughout a wide area of Texas.

The invitation provides a special block reservation of seats at the rodeo, with a spotlighted introduction to the rodeo crowd. The local band is invited to play a concert on the Stock Show grounds and be the show's guests at the rodeo.

The city also is invited to name a cowgirl sweetheart to ride in the rodeo grand entry on the special day, and be introduced to the audience. Riding clubs in the area also are invited to ride in the opening day parade, in the rodeo grand entry on the special day, or both.

County Cage Players Star for CJ College

The Clarendon Junior College Basketball Squad defeated Sayre Junior College Monday night at Clarendon by a score of 81-62. Max Courtney, the 6'8" Freshman, Wellington, broke into the lineup and helped the cause with 9 points and led the squad in rebounds.

Eight other players and Max helped in the scoring of the 81 points which is their high total for a game this season. Ray DeBord led the scoring with 18 points and was closely followed by Kenneth Martindale and Grady Jones with 16 each. Billy Wiggins had 10 points, Max Courtney 9, Eddie Hunt 5, Alvin Scott 4, R. F. Butler 2 and Bill Bentley 1. Jimmy Zaring and Joe Lennon played but did not score.

The Bulldogs played a spirited game from start to finish and earned their victory. Little Kenneth Martindale, 5'7" sophomore co-captain from Samnorwood, put on a dribbling show in the last half that brought the cheering fans to their feet.

DeBord sparked the offense with his outside shooting and Grady Jones played a great game on both offense and defense.

A bright spot of the game was the sparkling play and rebounding of Max Courtney. Alvin Scott also played well on defense and Billy Wiggins turned in his usual dependable game.

This game was a reversal of form from the results of the Odessa tournament last week end. The Bulldogs played three strong teams in the tournament and failed to nail down a win. They were defeated by the conference favorite, the Howard County Jayhawks, in the opener by a score of 81 to 55, then lost to Frank Phillips 87 to 65, and to Lubbock Christian College 72 to 57.

The next home game for the Bulldogs will be against Lubbock Christian College on Jan. 5.

LETTERS from the People

Dear Mr. Wells:

Sorry I have waited so long in answering your first notice as to my subscription expired Nov. 17, 1961.

I am enclosing $1.00 bill bearing "Geo. Washington's" picture No. B-29430410-A. This will pay up to Feb. 17, 1962. If I live until Feb. 13, 1962, I will reach my 76th birthday.

I am making my plans to retire from active work on or about that date. The first 23 years of my life was spent on the farm and on freight wagon between Memphis and Wellington back in 1904 to 1909 inclusive. Then almost 19 years as a "telegraph operator - agent" for MK&T Ry.

During the past 32½ years I have been Manager and General Manager for several cotton compresses. Every one has been awfully good to me. My health has been good all the days of my life. I have never had a serious sick spell. Never in my life have I had a "head-ache." In fact I do not know what a head ache feels like.

I greatly appreciate your paper. However, I take 2 or 3 magazines, the Dallas Morning News, plus our local daily paper. Have 3 radios, 2 TV sets and I must cut down somewhere on my expenses.

Thanks for your kindness. If I am ever visiting in Wellington will drop in to see you. Please take me off your mailing list on or about Feb. 13 on my 76th birthday.

Yours very truly,
E. P. Litchfield
P.O. Box 322

here. The Fasts are well-known in Wellington, having returned here several times to conduct music for revival meetings.

"We feel highly privileged to have this youth group in our town for this performance, and invite all to come and hear them," the church pastor, the Rev. Glenn E. Hickey, stated. The performance time is 7:30 p.m.

Quail School Entered

Burglars Return for Five Stop on US 83

Burglars re-traced their steps along Highway 83 in Wellington Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights, Dec. 8, 9 and 10, then added one new business firm in that vicinity and the school at Quail, according to Sheriff John Rainey.

The method of entry was described by the sheriff as "the same old way." Both Rainey and Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Hodge have been on night as well as day patrol duty, as was Police Chief Troy Marsh until he entered St. Joseph's Hospital with pneumonia.

Whiteway Cafe was hit Sunday night for the second time, with entry gained by the burglars breaking out the glass pane of the back door and crawling through. Again money was taken from the juke box and from the cigarette machine, according to Deputy Hodge. The amount of money taken could not be determined.

Quail school was entered on Saturday night when a window on the west side was pried up. Only $2.25 could be missed, Supt. Herman Moseley told the sheriff, but the burglars went through drawers and desks in the school office.

The juke box on the outside of Dixie Maid at Lucky Corner was broken into Saturday night, the sheriff said. The loss was reported by Mrs. Doc Turner, owner. Here again, the loss is not known. Rainey explained that these juke boxes do not register the number of records played and there is no way of knowing the amount of money removed.

On Friday night, for the third time this fall, Dairy Mart was entered, but as far as owner Jimmy Milner could determine, nothing was taken, according to Rainey. Entry was gained "the same way" by breaking a glass panel in the back door, reaching through and releasing the lock, he added.

Only two or three cartons of cigarettes were taken when Barton's Texaco Station on Ninth Street and Highway 83 was entered, the sheriff continued. This is the first time the business has been bothered.

The burglars met one decided failure. They were able to crack the glass panes out of the door to the wash and grease room of Steve's Truck Stop at Lucky Corner Saturday night, Sheriff Rainey said but they could neither crawl through nor open the door.

MARIAN AIRPARK Flight Notes

Marian Airpark is temporary home of a B-25 bomber, Clifton Hartman reports.

Dick Loudermilk of Amarillo, the owner, is having Hartman strip it out and convert it into a cargo plane, after which the latter will license it.

Loudermilk, owner of an aircraft sales company in Amarillo, will use the B-25 to haul frozen fish out of Central America to Miami, Fla., and Houston, Hartman said.

The plane was picked up at Army surplus in Wichita, Kan., and as a bomber carried a combat crew of 6. It made several trips around the world before it was retired to civilian life.

This was the type plane Gen. Jimmy Doolittle used to bomb Tokyo.

Loudermilk set it down on Marian Airpark runways with plenty of room to spare.

When the preliminary inspection is completed here, Hartman will fly the B-25 to Midland where it will be jacked up and a gear retraction check run.

Ninety students from the Junior High science classes visited Marian Airpark recently with their teacher, Mrs. Jack Davis, and Principal A. A. McQuay.

They were given a guided tour of the B-25 by Clifton Hartman and then shown the spraying apparatus used by spray planes.

Several planes have stopped off at Marian Airpark in the last few days.

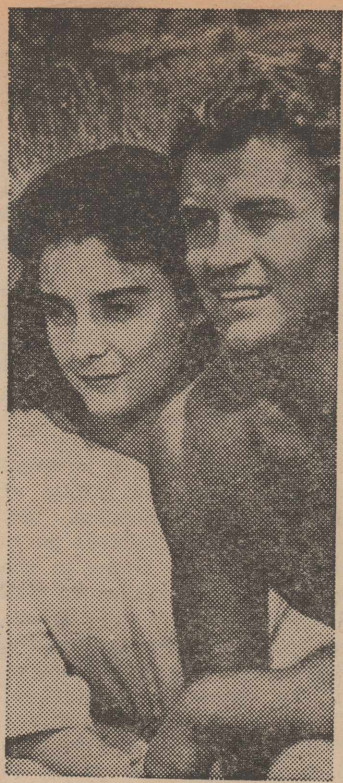

A new Snow spray plane, manufactured at Olney, was set down for gas by its owner, a Mr. Slaterstrom. He was en route to North Platte, Neb., his home.

A Shattuck, Okla., man landed here to conduct business with the Soil Conservation Service.

Fred Cary of Airspray, Inc., Hollis, flew in to pick up plane parts Hartman had repaired.

A representative of the FAA communications at Childress was here recently to take the numbers and other information on the planes based at Marian Airpark. This is for identification purposes principally.

Thirteen planes now have Marian Airpark as home base. Only two or three years ago there were only three, Hartman reported.

His injuries were reported as nine broken ribs, lacerations and bruises.

A complaint was filed by Sheriff Rainey against Garland Jackson of Wellington, charging driving while intoxicated, second offense. He was arraigned before Judge Raymond Horton, justice of the peace, and is out on $1,500 bond.

According to reports received in the sheriff's department, Kale was driving south while Jackson was traveling north on the wrong side of the road. The accident occurred while local officers were working at Quail, and the investigation was by the highway patrol from Shamrock.

Fire Damages 9 Bales Cotton

Fire destroyed or damaged nine bales of cotton on the dock of Traders Compress about midnight Wednesday, Dec. 6.

Pete Melton, manager, said one bale was completely destroyed, three more were damaged from 50 to 75 per cent and the remaining five had less damage.

The blaze was believed to have started as a "gin fire" within one of the bales, Melton said, adding that this type of fire occurs frequently from unknown causes.

Classing cards have not been received on the bales and the amount of loss is not yet determined.

The cotton was delivered on the dock between 6 and 7 p.m.

Melton praised the work of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department for its quick action in bringing the blaze under control with no more loss.

Firemen answered another call Sunday, when a gas hose came loose from a stove. Residents of the house cut off the gas and the blaze was out by the time the Fire Department truck could reach the scene.
