Controversy rocks this town's politics

LORAIN — The city of Loraine, located about 10 miles east of Colorado City on Interstate 20, has less than 1,000 people.

Like many small towns in Texas, residents here are hesitant to openly criticize their neighbors to outsiders.

But the controversy concerning Loraine city government has focused attention on this community. Friday, four top members of the city staff turned in their resignations.

Those resigning were Mayor Vance Dickenson, Mayor Pro-tem Claud Woods, City Secretary Brenda Lee and Water Supervisor D.C. Fowler.

Mrs. Lee talked to The Herald Tuesday about the situation, which she calls "a dreadful nightmare."

Mrs. Lee was secretary "for almost four years." It was a job she says she loved — but one she resigned because she was being blamed for using money which had been earmarked to purchase a camera for the police department.

Mrs. Lee said the check did go toward the purchase of the camera for the police department.

"It was clearly documented what that check was for. I had an invoice to prove what the check was for," she says.

Then, in August, "one of the city councilmen tried to get me fired."

Mrs. Lee said that councilman was Calvin Forbes. She says she wonders now if Forbes holds a personal grudge against her.

In August, "my assistant was fired by the council. They decided it didn't take two people to keep the office running."

At the same time, Forbes and Councilman Jack Brewer "voted to have me fired." But others on the

'I'm tired of accusations being pitched around wildly.'

"that was the best thing for me to do at the time."

Mrs. Lee outlined her reasons for resigning. She also gave her account of what has happened to her since May, "when the problems came up."

In May, her three-month-old baby daughter, Janessa, was diagnosed as having leukemia.

Mrs. Lee and Janessa spent all of May in San Antonio, seeking treatment. Since that time, the two have journeyed to Lubbock weekly, and to San Antonio once a month, for further treatments.

In June, she went back to work. She says that at that time, she encountered "a lot of rumors" — among them "that I had been using city money for my own personal use."

Mrs. Lee said that although she was never openly accused, she heard that council mixed the vote.

The issue surfaced again in November. Mrs. Lee says she was charged with not keeping city offices open five days a week.

Mrs. Lee says she was keeping offices open four days a week and on the fifth day, Wednesday, "a lady (Nell Doyle) kept it. She did it for free."

In November, councilmen Eddie Galvan, Forbes and Brewer voted to fire Mrs. Lee again. Two councilmen, Woods and Tommy Green, voted not to fire her. Mayor Dickenson vetoed the firing.

During the December council meeting, "I thought things were going pretty good," Mrs. Lee says. "The council voted to give me and other city employees a $50 Christmas bonus."

Shortly thereafter, Mrs. Lee said she received a letter which stated she was being charged with "not keeping the office open five days a week, for failure to prepare financial statements and vouchers, and for malfeasance for obtaining an advance on my salary without proper authorization."

A hearing was set for Dec. 22, and later postponed for Jan. 5.

Mrs. Lee requested that the hearing be open to the public because "I didn't have anything to hide."

She says that about two years ago, she accepted a $600 advance on her salary, a move which was approved by Dickenson.

Mrs. Lee said Forbes and others on the council questioned the advance. She adds that when questions about the advance were raised, she had already paid back the money.

Schools open; weather warmer

By BILLELDER

Area schools which closed yesterday after up to six inches of snow fell were back in operation today, although many opened late due to ice-slick roads.

A warming trend this afternoon in which 50-degree temperatures were expected to settle in West Texas made it seem likely that the ice would melt, roads would be much less hazardous and schools would be back to normal tomorrow.

Except for Big Spring schools, which are scheduled to be closed Thursday and Friday for staff development sessions, said Superintendent Lynn Hise.

Students scheduled to take exams yesterday will take them when they return Monday, Hise said, while students exempt from exams will not be required to attend classes Monday, he said.

Coahoma and Lamesa schools were open today after closing yesterday due to the weather, officials said, while Forsan and Garden City schools remained open for classes just as they were yesterday, according to district personnel.

Colorado City schools were closed for the fourth day today, a school spokeswoman said. Fuel curtailments were cited as the reason classes were suspended for the first three days, and today's slippery roads caused the school closure to remain in effect today, she said.

Stanton schools were closed for the second day in a row, said Superintendent Wayne Mitchell.

"It's slick as glass outside," Mitchell said this morning. "We're hoping it'll thaw out enough today to have classes tomorrow."

He said about five inches of snow fell in the Stanton area Tuesday night and Wednesday. About four inches were reported in south Howard County and in Glasscock County, and four to five were reported in Dawson County.

In the Big Spring area, the total was four to six inches, said Charles Yates of the U.S. Big Spring Field Station.

City and county roads were reported glazed over this morning and drivers were warned by authorities not to drive unless it was necessary. No major accidents were reported on either city or county thoroughfares, although Big Spring police Sgt. Ted Lancaster did note that "we're having accidents on I-20 all up and down the state like crazy."

Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard said about four truck accidents had been reported on the interstate inside Howard County this morning. The latest was being investigated by sheriff's deputies and highway patrolmen at 11 a.m. about 18 miles east of Big Spring in Rattlesnake Gap, Standard said.

An ambulance was dispatched to the scene and apparently two vehicles — a truck and an automobile — were involved, said Standard, adding that little other information was available until deputies returned from the scene.

"All in all, said Lancaster, "I think the public's done a good job of driving."

Temperatures today are expected to climb into the 50s and possibly the 60s tomorrow.

Found: 1 dog, 1 goat

LeRoy Tillery, executive director of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, is looking for the owner of a goat and a dog discovered sitting on the family's porch Saturday.

Tillery said his son left the family's home, No. 3 Highland Heather, about mid-morning Saturday, and saw the two animals sitting on the porch. Both were wearing leather collars but "had no tags."

The Tillerys took the goat to a friend in the country, and the dog has been staying in the garage.

"The dog must belong to someone. He's a very healthy, friendly dog, with copper-colored spots and white fur," Tillery said.

The goat is about a year old, Tillery guessed.

The animals "may have come off South Mountain," Tillery said. He has notified both the sheriff's department and the police that he has the animals.

75 dead after D.C. plane crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Divers in thermal suits plunged into the ice-crusted Potomac River today in a grim search for scores of bodies entombed in the fuselage of a crashed jetliner. A police official estimated "the slow, tedious task" of recovery may take three days.

The crash of a Florida-bound jet Wednesday killed 75 of the 80 people on the plane. District of Columbia police said said two other people were killed when the Air Florida plane broadsided cars as they inched across the 14th Street Bridge laden with rush-hour traffic. The impact sheared the tops off some of the cars.

"We expect the recovery to be a slow, tedious task, taking anywhere from one to two to three days perhaps," said James Shugart, a D.C. police inspector. "We want to make the recovery as quickly as possible, but you must keep in mind the fact that weather conditions are such that they are not conducive to rapid recovery."

Francis McAdams, head of the National Transportation Safety Board team of investigators assembling at the site, said:

"They may have to lift the wreckage before they get to the bodies, it's my understanding."

Divers hit the water not long after daybreak. A huge construction crane was being assembled on the bridge.

McAdams said when the wreckage is recovered, it will be put on a barge or towed to shore, whichever is easier.

"And if necessary, it will be brought down here to one of the hangars and perhaps a mockup might have to be made," he said. The NTSB "go team" of investigators set up shop at nearby

Action/reaction: Leaks policy

Q. Are city water leaks allowed to run overnight or on weekends because the city's single backhoe operator doesn't like to get out on nights and weekends? Is one backhoe operator all the city has?

A. Administrative Assistant Bill Hall, who is acting city utilities director, said if the supervisor feels a leak can be allowed to run without great loss of water, a leak could go unrepaired until the next morning. It's usually more economical to wait and use the full city crew rather than attempt repairs with the emergency crew, Hall said. Several qualified backhoe operators are available, according to a city policy to train workers in that capacity, he said.

SURVIVOR — Bert Hamilton of Maryland was one of the survivors of the Washington D.C. plane crash yesterday. He was photographed while talking to reporters this morning from his bed at an Arlington, Va., hospital.

Clark sees progress in '82

Sidney Clark, in-coming president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, told Downtown Lions that the outlook for 1982 is more economic progress.

He called for a continuation of the "Centennial spirit" engendered by the big birthday party in 1981. People demonstrated a new sacrificial and cooperative attitude then, he noted.

He spotted several indicators of progress, including a filled-to-capacity status for the former Webb Air Force Base buildings, the impending expansion of O.I.L. and other industries at the Big Spring Industrial Park, plus the availability of expansion through the industrial bond route.

"And while we are recruiting new industry," he said, "we won't forget to help existing ones which need help in their plans for development."

Clark also touched on the housing problem and said that quality of life would be a consideration in growth. He appealed for new blood and new hands, citing the threat of "burnout" if too few individuals are made to bear the load year after year.

Next week, said M.A. Barber, Lions program chairman, builder Richard Diaz will be the speaker.

Cotton committee job open

Howard County farmers still have time to nominate the cotton producer of their choice for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's upland cotton committee.

"Nominations must be received in our Washington office by Jan. 22 to be considered," local U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committeeman R.C. Thomas said.

The Agriculture and Food Act of 1981 requires that a committee be established to study alternative methods of setting premiums and discounts for upland cotton.

The committee will be responsible for recommending optional ways of setting premiums and discounts that will accurately reflect true relative market values and actual market demand for upland cotton, Thomas said.

The 10-member committee will include two cotton producers from each of the major upland cotton producing areas. One member will represent cotton merchants and one member will represent textile manufacturers. An alternate will be named for each committee member.

The ASCS official said that nominations should include a biographical sketch showing name, date and place of birth, residence address (include congressional district), employer (include sub-divisions and affiliates, business address and occupation), major source of income, membership and offices held, education and civic activities.

Nominations of those to serve on the upland cotton committee should be mailed to the Director, Analysis Division, USDA-ASCS, P.O. Box 2415, Washington D.C., 20013.

GTE service debated

LAMESA (SC) — A public hearing was held Wednesday at Lamesa City Hall concerning the service of General Telephone Co. in Lamesa.

Present at the meeting were GTE president E.L. Langley, and regional supervisor for GTE, O.D. Hearn of Brownfield.

During the three-hour session, Langley said he was aware of the problems that Lamesa and Dawson county residents have been experiencing with their phone service and he said steps are being taken to solve those problems.

He announced there will soon be an opening of a customer service office in Lamesa to help deal locally with problems as they arise.

General telephone has also replaced some lines in an attempt to upgrade service here, and Langley said there will be continuing efforts by the phone company to make capital improvements to upgrade the service.

Several concerning citizens spoke at the meeting about the local services. They said they were disappointed in equipment failure, but they had nothing to say against the employees of GTE.

HC Lamesa classes delayed

LAMESA (SC) — Classes which were slated to begin Wednesday for the spring semester at the Lamesa campus of Howard College will not start until Monday, Jan. 18, according to campus secretary Jodie Furlough.

Furlough said many people had inquired about signing up for classes — but had not done so in fear that the class would not have enough students to meet. Furlough said this is a mistake, since the money for registration will be returned if the class does not meet.

The registration will continue through next week at the campus. To date, only two classes, freshman English and history, has had enough sign-ups to meet, but there are 12 other class offerings.

HC students recognized

Thirty-two Howard County Junior College District students have been named in "Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges," announced Cheri Sparks, associate vice-president for student life of the Howard County Junior College District.

"These students have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders," said Sparks. "Students were nominated based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extra-curricular activities and future potential."

These students join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,300 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Students named this year from Howard College are: Victoria Berry, Nicholas Brown, Deborah Butler, Charles Carter, Marilyn Clark, Malinda Claxton, Tillie Flores, Charles Hamner, Jeri Hamner, and Mary Sue Harwell.

Others are: Joe Loyva, Cay Luedek, Melissa Luna, Carrie Lutrick, Marcie Lykken, Javier Martinez, Norma Molina, Rick Mound, Kellie Mull, and Frankie Novola. Also included are Robin Robinson, Jacqueline Simpson, Irene Smith, Ana Walls, Jan Whitehead, Peggy Williams, Tommy Williams, Greg Wright, and Vonda Wrye.

Three SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf students received the award. They are: Cliff Bodiford, Sherri Daniels and Jennifer Jeffers-Grant.

Bond issue studied

COAHOMA — The Coahoma City Council will discuss the possibility of a bond election for repair of city water lines at its meeting tonight. The council will also consider a "Susie Brown Day" for the city Jan. 31.

Mrs. Brown is a lifetime resident of Coahoma who has reached her 90th year.

Councilman Jim Rackley said the council was going to discuss what to do about numerous water line breaks and how to finance repairs.

Other items on the agenda for the council include the following: putting in sewer lines for resident Willis Bassham, discussion of the fire department and personnel, making arrangements for a new landfill site, and consideration of vacation for city employees.

Also scheduled is a meeting with Texas Electric Service Co. and the third reading of the Texas Municipal Retirement System ordinance.

Gilstrap arrested at wreck

Icy street conditions saw more than 20 accidents in the city since Wednesday morning, but Sgt. Ted Lancaster of the Big Spring Police Department said most drivers "have used really good sense" in maneuvering the slick roads.

Cecil Gilstrap, Box 2507, was arrested Wednesday following an accident at 10:02 a.m. at 4th and Goliad.

Gilstrap was involved in an accident with Juan Gaiton, 900 E. 12th. Gilstrap was charged with disorderly conduct, abusive language, having no driver's license on his person, having an expired motor vehicle inspection sticker, and for disobeying the order of a police officer.

Robert C. Jones, 1110 N. Aylford, told police at 6:20 p.m. Wednesday that his 1977 Chevrolet Camaro had been stolen from the back of his residence.

Jones said he was unloading some things from the car when he dropped the keys on the floorboard of the vehicle. When he returned, the car was gone.

The automobile was valued at $3,500.

A 7-Eleven employee from a store at Willa and W. Hwy. 80 told police a man entered the store about 7:40 p.m. Wednesday and stuffed a loaf of bread up his jacket, then left without paying.

Sammie Puckett, 1511A Wood, told police that while she was visiting a friend at 1501A Wood about 6:45 p.m., a subject known to her called her and threatened her with bodily harm.

Bob Johnson, manager of C.R. Anthony's, told police Wednesday that a check written out Dec. 31 in the name of a Midland Company was discovered to be a forgery. The check was for the amount of $360.27.

Among minor accidents reported was one between a vehicle driven by Reginal Shaw, 60, 600 W. 15th, and a fixed object at 21st and Lancaster about 12:30 a.m. Wednesday.

A vehicle driven by William Bedwell, Forsan, collided with two cars driven by two unknown persons about 8:03 a.m. Wednesday at the intersection of Randolph and Barksdale.

A car driven by Ricky Payne, 502 Goliad, collided with a parked car at 6th and Goliad about 9:18 a.m. Wednesday.

Cars driven by Ivar Williams, Lubbock, and Claude Morris, P.O. Box 391, collided at 600 N. Lamesa Dr. about noon Wednesday.

A car driven by William Braxdale, 2621 Fairchild, collided with a utility pole about 12:22 p.m. Wednesday in the 400 block of E. 4th.

Cars driven by Emilio Herrera, 1502A Wood and Ronald Baird, 1705 Purdue, collided at the intersection of Sunset and Birdwell about 12:43 p.m. Wednesday. Herrera was arrested for driving while intoxicated, failure to maintain financial responsibility, and for having no driver's license.

advance, Mrs. Lee says "I've never met anybody who's more honest than Mayor Dickenson. He did not know he couldn't advance it (the salary)." Advances had been approved within the city "for years and years," Mrs. Lee said.

During the actual hearing, "none of the three members (Forbes, Galvan and Brewer) had anything to say. Nothing was found indicating I was guilty of anything."

The councilmen voted "to publicly apologize" to Mrs. Lee and "I was cleared of all three charges."

During the public hearing, Mrs. Lee's Big Spring attorney, Guilford Jones III, "asked each of the three if they had any personal vendettas against me," Mrs. Lee says.

She said one councilman told her he overheard Forbes say "he would get even with me over some delinquent taxes he had to pay several years back."

Mrs. Lee says she feels Forbes may have had something against her because "I'm the one he had to pay the money back to."

After Mrs. Lee received the council's apology, she resigned.

"I have been under a lot of pressure. I was getting health problems from it. For me, resigning was the best thing I could do at the time. I still feel good about it."

"I feel very, very relieved, knowing I don't have to walk into that mess again."

Does she hold Forbes personally responsible for triggering her resignation?

"Yes, I do," she said.

Mrs. Lee says "I loved my work. I really like city business. But I just can't put up with the politicians."

When Mrs. Lee's three children, Zakaria, Jessica, 5, and Joshua, 3, that "I wasn't going to work, they were very glad. They've been through strains of their own, through all of this."

Forbes had no comment when The Herald contacted him.

Woods said Friday "I didn't think I could work" with the council any longer. "There had been suggestions that city employees had cheated and lied."

The atmosphere on the council is one in which it would be "impossible to serve," Woods says. "There is no spirit of cooperation. I'm tired of accusations being pitched around wildly."

Dickenson also said he had no comment on the situation when contacted by The Herald.

D.C. Fowler explained that he "resigned on account of my health. I had a stroke three months ago."

The situation between Mrs. Lee and the council "didn't have anything to do with me resigning. I wasn't able to do the work, so I resigned."

At a meeting Monday, Eddie Galvan was appointed mayor pro tem. In other business, the council "went over the procedures that we are allowed to follow now," said Green.

"I'd like to see us make a charter for the city, because I don't want to see what happened last Tuesday (Jan. 5, the public hearing) ever happen again," Green said.

"People have opinions about each other in this town that affect more than the issues. The opinions of other people affected the way they felt, whether they were on one side or another, more than the issue," Green said.

Several people on the streets of Lorraine Tuesday declined to comment when asked about the state of their city's politics.

One man, who asked not to be named, said "They (the councilmen) were making false accusations. That's obvious to the town. If they had produced evidence, it might have been something. But this is a little different. Anyone with any sense can see what's going on. This is a bad case of politics."

Of Mrs. Lee, the man said, "She got tired of the hassles. They voted to keep her on. She stayed until it was clear that she was not guilty, then she got out."

Ackerly resident files civil suit

An Ackerly resident has filed a civil suit in 118th District Court asking for more than $51,000 in damages from an Odessa man. Pedro I. Gonzales of Ackerly has filed suit against James Craddock of Odessa.

According to the suit, an accident occurred on June 17, 1981 in which a vehicle driven by Craddock allegedly was struck by a vehicle driven by Gonzales. Gonzales' suit claims Craddock was negligent in not maintaining a proper lookout and operating his vehicle without warning in front of Gonzales, causing the wreck.

The suit further claims negligence on the part of Craddock in that he allegedly was maintaining an excessive rate of speed, that he failed to yield the right-of-way and failed to avoid the collision.

Gonzales is asking $1,677.90 for repairs to his vehicle and for "injuries to his neck, back and shoulders in the nature of pulled ligaments and muscles and bruises (he) will, in all probability, continue to suffer for the balance of his natural life," $20,000 in damages and $30,000 for mental pain.

Howard County race widens

Two more people have indicated an intention to run for Howard County offices. Jane Gilmore and Linda Arslaga have filed designations of campaign treasurer with the county clerk's office.

Mrs. Gilmore, who is running for justice of the peace (precinct two) in Coahoma, has already paid her filing fee, according to county Democratic chairman M.H. "Slick" Boatler.

Mrs. Arslaga intends to run for justice of the peace (precinct one, place two) presently held by Lewis Helfin. Helfin has indicated he will run for re-election.

Constable Bob Smith also is a possible candidate for the position.

Board of directors picked

The Big Spring Industrial Foundation board of directors held their annual meeting to elect a new slate of officers and two directors. The board also heard in the annual report that the future of Big Spring has never looked better.

Clyde McMahon Sr. is the newly-elected president of the board with Granville Hahn vice president. Other officers include treasurer Sidney Clark and LeRoy Tillery, secretary.

Officers are selected by the directors while directors are elected by the various industries belonging to the foundation.

McMahon said the directors serve for two-year terms. The other board members include R.H. Weaver, Jim Bill Little and Hooper Sanders.

65-cent dividend declared

NEW YORK — The board of directors of W.R. Grace & Co., which has a plant in Big Spring, declared a quarterly cash dividend of 65 cents per share on its common stock. The dividend is payable March 10, 1982, to shareholders of record Feb. 4, 1982.

This is the 177th consecutive dividend paid by W.R. Grace & Co., an international corporation with balanced interests in chemicals, natural resources and consumer services.

The Grace board also declared dividends for the year 1981 of $6.00 per share on the Preferred Stock and $6.00 per share on each of the Class A Preferred and Class B Preferred stocks, which will be paid quarterly at the rates of $1.50 and $2.00, respectively.

The Big Spring plant is located on Interstate 20.

Man out on bond

Steven Lloyd Trapp, 23, is out on $5,000 bond after being charged with assault on a police officer according to the sheriff's office.

Trapp, who gave his address as Howard House, had his bond posted by Joe Jabors. Bond was set by Justice of the Peace Bobby West.

Trapp had been arrested by city police three previous occasions in November and October, 1981.

Also out on bail is Richard Ray Chambers, 30, Chambers, of 408 Douglas, is charged with felony DWI. His $2,500 bond was posted by B & M Bail Bond.

Weather

11 deaths blamed on cold

By The Associated Press

The second of two cold fronts dropped heavy snow across Texas — up to 18 inches in some areas — and stranded hundreds of motorists, forcing some to spend the night in emergency shelters set up by churches and other groups.

Eleven deaths were blamed on the two cold fronts.

By the time the snow and sleet were tapering off Wednesday night, up to 10 to 18 inches of snow was reported in Central Texas in Windchill and Valley Mills, the National Weather Service said. But most areas received 5 inches or less, the weather service said.

Snow drifts 3 feet deep were reported north of Waco in West, and a 15-mile stretch of Interstate 35 between West and Abbott became clogged with traffic trapped by snow and ice.

Between 600 and 700 cars and trucks were stranded in that strip, but all but about 200 had been towed or were driven out by Wednesday night after sanding crews and road graders went through, said a DPS spokeswoman who asked that her name not be used.

She said most of the stranded travelers were taken to shelters set up in West at churches and halls of organizations such as the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Private citizens in four-wheel-drive vehicles assisted the DPS and Highway Department in trans-sporting the stranded.

"It's really been a heart-moving thing," the DPS spokeswoman said. "Everyone's pitched in and helped. All of the women in West who are members of churches and organizations have fixed dinner and are feeding the people."

At the VFW shelter, two bakeries donated pastries and one provided five gallons of stew. Emil Hutyra, a past commander of VFW Post 4819, said more than 250 came to the shelter and about 40 were spending the night.

"The Red Cross left us some blankets," Hutyra said. "We don't have any beds, so they'll have to sleep on the couches or whatever wah they can manage."

Stranded motorists also were reported in the Austin area as the winter storm spread ice and snow from Midland east to Louisiana.

The 11 weather-related deaths include two fire deaths, three deaths from exposure to cold temperatures, a drowning, a heart attack, and four traffic accidents.

The body of David Suiters, 61, was found Wednesday morning in his unheated one-room house in Mart. Police said he died of exposure.

Travelers advisories were in effect overnight for Southeast Texas and most of Central Texas because of slippery roads.

The National Weather Service said highways Wednesday were icy or snow-covered as far west as Pecos and as far north as Lubbock.

Snow and sleet was reported in Tyler, Longview and along the state line from the Sam Rayburn Reservoir south of Texarkana to Port Arthur in extreme southeast Texas, and as far south as San Antonio and Corpus Christi.

Most of the half inch of snow that fell in San Antonio about noon had melted by mid-afternoon. The last time snow had covered the ground in San Antonio was when two inches of snow, covered the city Feb. 9-10, 1973, the National Weather Service said.

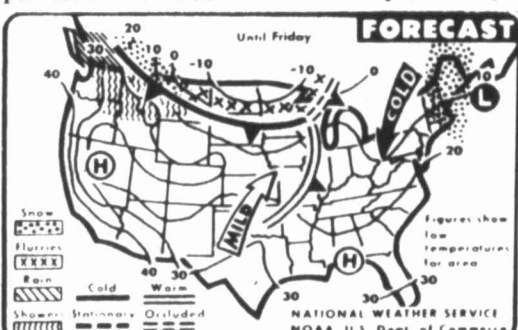

Lone Star Gas Co. resumed service Wednesday to schools and "higher-priority industrial" customers after a brief respite from bitterly cold temperatures, and some industries that had sent workers home Tuesday called them back to work Wednesday.

But schools remained closed Wednesday across much of North, Central and West Texas, and Houston school officials sent high school and junior high school students home early.

The fire deaths blamed on the weather were in Tatum and Austin. A 68-year-old Tatum man, Ernest Johnson, died Tuesday night when he used a metal barrel to burn wood and the fire spread from the rusted bottom of the barrel to the floor of his wood-frame house, authorities said. A 95-year-old Austin woman died Tuesday of burns suffered when she moved too close to a residential space heater, police said.

Teaching kids to protect themselves

NEW YORK (AP) — In a large, bright room in Greenwich Village, boys and girls romp through what appears to be a typical gym class — tumbling, lifting weights, attacking a punching bag and sparring with their teacher.

But these New York City children, aged 5 to 13, are doing more than exercise; they are participating in a novel, perhaps unique, program that teaches them "creative strategies" to protect themselves from harm.

For some, the class comes too late to be preventive. Five of the 10 attending a recent class have either been the victims or close friends of victims of a sexual assault.

All are the children either of parents driven to find rehabilitative help after their child was physically abused or of parents who realize the value of self-defense guidance before it's too late.

The answer for them has been Children's Creative Safety Program, one of several programs offered by the Safety and Fitness Exchange (SAFE), a shoestring operation started two years ago by three women trained in martial arts, education and psychology. Two are survivors of sexual assault.

"I had an incident when I was a kid," says Tamar Hosansky, 26, after directing the class at A Safe Space, the group's educational center. "That's why I'm most interested in working with kids." She holds a black belt in karate.

The program's concept, according to the co-founders, is to teach not only physical means of self-defense, but also to discuss assault in a non-alarmist way, teaching children assertiveness, what to watch out for and how to handle it.

"Most parents don't want to talk about this with their child because they don't want them not to trust and they really don't want to tell them what can happen" for fear they will become paranoid, according to Pam McDonnell, a SAFE co-founder.

"But while you're waiting to get ready to tell them, the attacker has no compunctions," she said. Also, children on their own develop fears from the media and their friends that are worse than reality.

The group attempts to dispel such common misconceptions as danger in the form of a stranger with candy, since statistics show most children are assaulted, harassed or molested by someone they know.

A SAFE booklet on teaching personal safety to children includes tips: children have the right to privacy; bad things can happen to good people; children have the right to say no, question authority, not answer questions, scream, yell, make a scene, bite, hit and run away.

Each week, the children come to A Safe Space for an hour of exercise and discussion led by Ms. Hosansky and Flora Colao, a rape counselor who used to head the Rape Crisis Center at St. Vincent's Hospital.

There is tumbling and boxing — with shouting at the top of the lungs encouraged — geared to sharpen response instincts.

And there is the "what if" game, in which answers to such scenarios as "what if the doorman wants you to do something you're uncomfortable with," are worked out by the children and Ms. Colao.

"Once we teach children the facts about dangerous situations, we must teach them that in order to prevent danger, they must trust themselves and their instincts," the SAFE booklet says.

Katherine Brady, author of "Fathers Days," a true story about incest, who travels, lectures and works with various social agencies dealing with adult rape and incest victims, says SAFE is "the only place I know of in the country that focuses on children."

She is also the mother of Andrea, 9, and Stephanie, 11, who go to the Saturday classes that cost $5 a week, but which are free to young victims of assault.

In addition to the Safe

Space classes, SAFE also conducts seminars and workshops at private schools, businesses and community organizations. It has just received grants to work with the Girls Clubs of New York and the Girl Scouts.

SAFE's affiliation with the New York Task Force on Rape has also given it the beginning of a relationship with the Board of Education.

One public school on Manhattan's Upper West Side has commissioned the group for a 10-week after-school program in self-defense "because seven of their students had been assaulted," Ms. Hosansky said.

"We hope in the future that our programs become more preventive," she added.

So does a quiet woman watching her 9-year-old daughter and 7-year-old son in the class.

The daughter was raped two months ago and the son developed "a guilt trip" because he was not there to stop it, said the woman who herself was raped at the age of 12.

"Had she known to stand there and scream, possibly he (the rapist) would have been scared off and this wouldn't have happened."

Junior livestock show set

GARDEN CITY — The 45th Annual Glasscock County Junior Livestock Show will be held Friday and Saturday inside the Glasscock County Independent School District bus barn in Garden City.

Steer judging will start at 9 a.m. Friday with Charlie Green, Midland County extension agent, judging the steers. At 1 p.m. Friday, the swine show will start with Jay Winters, swine breeder from Lubbock, judging swine.

Saturday morning at 8 a.m. the lamb show will be held with Fred Wilkinson, former county extension agent from Crane County, the judge. At noon Saturday, a barbecue meal will be served at the school cafeteria. The Glasscock County 4-H Club will have a concession stand open during the entire stock show.

A premium livestock auction sale will begin at approximately 1:30 Saturday following the barbecue.

For the second year there will be a PeeWee Showmanship contest for six-to-eight-year-old youths instantly following each division of the show. There will also be a pig scramble contest just prior to the auction.

For more information, call Travis Pate in Garden City at 354-2261.

Lamesa chamber meets

LAMESA (SC) — A general membership meeting is set for the Lamesa Area Chamber of Commerce tonight at the Forest Park community center, beginning at 7 p.m.

The executive vice president of the Lamesa chamber, Neil O'Brien, outlined some of the reasons why tonight's meeting is important.

O'Brien said this is an organizational meeting for 1982, and various committees will be required to review their plans, proposals and accomplishments of 1981 and to preview their goals for 1982.

Any plan of action that would be taken in tonight's session would require approval by the chamber's board of directors.

No point in financing Poland

Although neither Polish nor Russian officials will admit it, Moscow apparently has arranged for $350 million in interest due on Polish debts of $26.3 billion to Western banks and governments.

That's the way it should be. Polish officials have been putting out the line that unless Western institutions forgave the interest and loaned Poland still more money, the country would be "pushed" into greater economic reliance on the Soviet Bloc.

So what? Would the presence of even more Western money in Poland have stopped the Soviets from cracking down on Poland to prevent a public revolution there? Of course not.

Poland's economy is shattered. It was but a typical Communist form of central government mismanagement before the uprising of workers and the resultant loss of productivity.

THAT IN TURN is hard on the Polish people. Certainly it would be in the tradition of the U.S. and its Western allies to send help to them; and there is some help being offered through international emergency organizations.

But it is time the West, whose wealth is a demonstrable result of freedom and democratic institutions, quit supporting the bankrupt economies of Poland and other Soviet satellites.

If the Russians want to continue to dominate entire nations, let them suffer the consequences; let them bear the costs of unworkable economic systems.

There is nothing for the West to gain by the financial support of a political and economic system that is enforced on an unwilling people at the point of a gun, because it is obvious the gun is there to stay.

Around the Rim

By CAROL HART

Be prepared

I have just returned to the office after a harrowing attempt at driving through snowy streets with a bunch of West Texas drivers. That's really looking fear in the face.

It's not our fault that most of us don't know how to drive in ice and snow. It doesn't snow enough around here to warrant a course in defensive snow-driving.

I can imagine no scarier feeling than careening down Eighth Street, heading toward a stop sign that I know there's no way I'm going to be able to stop for. As I skid toward the intersection, I clutch the wheel, hoping the guy coming the other way is from Buffalo, N.Y., and very experienced in avoiding wrecks here on the slopes of Big Spring.

I don't know how people from colder climates do it. I guess snow tires and snow plows and snow chains and all those special winter-time aids help them get by.

IT'S ALWAYS a good idea to leave the house very early once you see it's going to be slick outside. In the first place, it takes quite a while just to dig your car out from under all that pretty white stuff.

One thing that always makes me angry is losing my ice scraper. The only time I can find that handy little item is in July. That's how much I use it. After running across it sometime in 110-degree weather, I toss it somewhere and when ice is glued to my windshield I can't remember where I tossed it.

So, I head for my frozen car armed with a broom and a J.C. Penney's credit card. Believe me, that's no way to prepare for a drive to work.

The broom is for knocking off the excess snow before getting down to the ice. And the credit card, while it may be great for charging things, is no help at all in chinking away an opening in hopes of seeing where I'm going.

THAT'S ANOTHER scary thing about West Texas drivers, because you see all these little armored tanks with tiny peep-holes driving around, all containing people just like me who believe credit cards will scrape ice.

Wednesday, though, I had a nice surprise. As I trudged to the car, armed with the broom and the J.C. Penney's credit card, I discovered my car sitting there, sans ice and snow. Someone had beaten me to it and cleared away all the mess from the windshield and windows.

Thanks to that very kind person, I drove to work in much better shape. After all, if you're going to go skiing on the slopes of Big Spring, it's good to head out prepared.

Billy Graham

Profanity is wrong

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you believe it is wrong to use God's name irreverently in ordinary speech? It seems so common anymore that no one seems to think about it. — M.C.

DEAR M.C.: Yes, it is wrong, no matter how common it may be. We should remember that those of us who are Christians and claim to follow Jesus Christ as our Lord must not do things just because they are common or popular, no matter what they may be. Instead, we are to obey God's will.

The use of God's name in a vain or irreverent way is clearly forbidden in the Ten Commandments: "You shall not misuse the name of the Lord your God, for the Lord will not hold anyone guiltless who misuses his name" (Exodus 20:7). It is interesting that when Peter turned his back on Jesus and denied that he was a disciple, he began "to curse and to swear, saying, I now not the man" (Matthew 26:74).

One reason why the Bible is so definite about this is that when we use God's name in a casual or irreverent way, we are in effect denying who he really is. We are acting as if God were unimportant and not worthy of our worship and praise, whereas the opposite is the case. When we see God as he really is — the Holy One who is all-powerful and all-loving — our response will be that of Thomas when he saw the risen Christ: "My Lord and my God!" (John 20:28). These are words of worship and praise, and have no place being used in a casual manner.

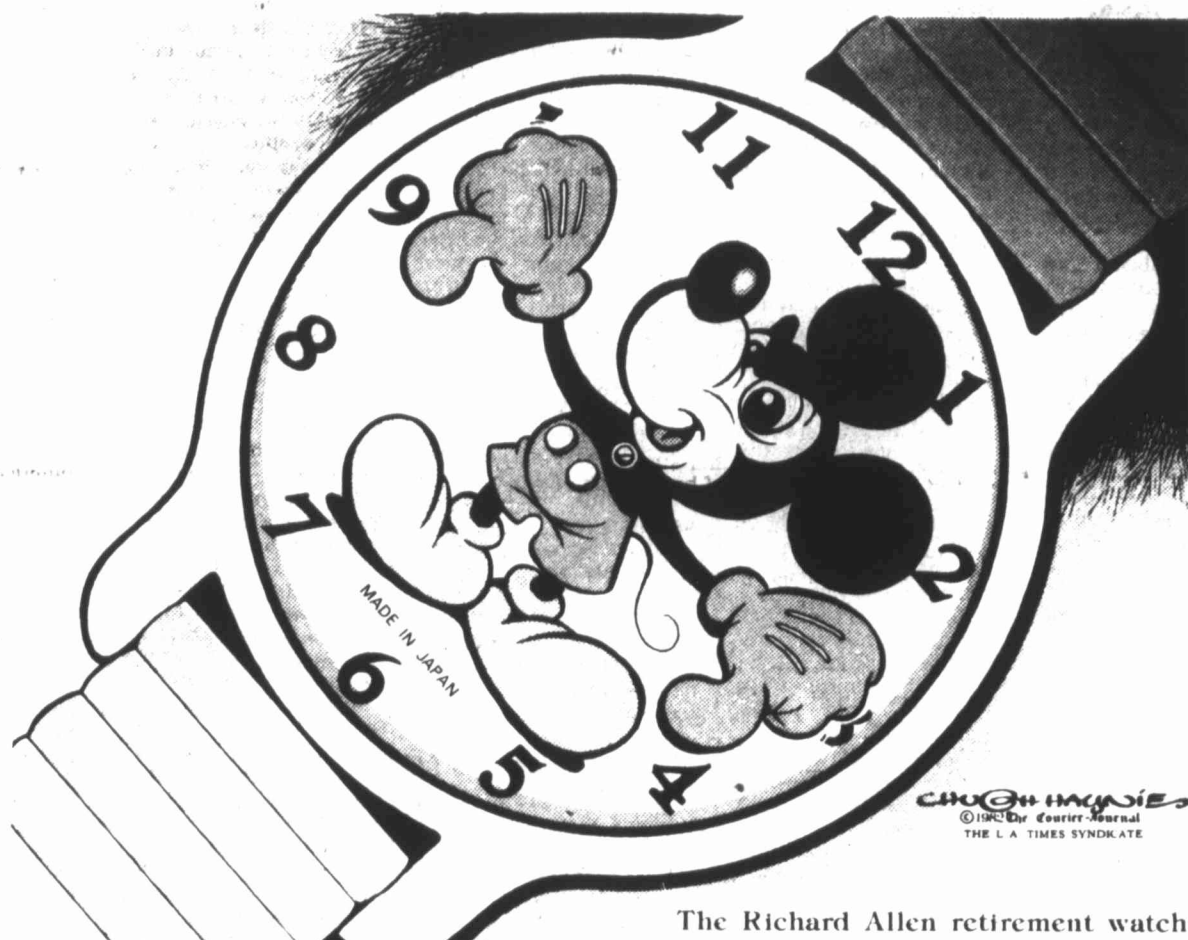

I want you to note, however, that the Bible also says we can profane God's name not just by what we say but by the way we live. If we claim to belong to Christ and in him, and yet our lives contradict him and do not honor him, then we are profaning his name. This was one of the sins for which ancient Israel was judged. (See Ezekiel 36:16-23). By our lives and our lips we are to honor Christ in all we do.

It's Haig sandbox now grumbled. A Pentagon official made the same point differently: "Reagan has lost control of the State Department."

If his new State Department selections seem curious, the explanation can be found in the narrow window through which President Reagan receives information. There is no sign that he encountered any criticism about the Stoenel-Eagleburger selections, widely voiced within his own White House staff, until his own decision had been made.

Oddly, Haig's horde of enemies had again been forecasting his doom with the transfer of old Reaganite Clark from deputy secretary of state to the upgraded national security adviser's post. One virulent Haig critic inside the administration predicted that the return of a separate advisory link to the president would mean a new secretary of state within nine months.

But Gen. Haig moved swiftly on the field of bureaucratic battle once Clark was gone with a flanking movement putting Stoenel and Eagleburger in place. With Congress in recess and senators scattered throughout the country, the appointments were hurried to prevent a backfire.

A backfire was expected, considering the break with precedent. Not since David Bruce in 1952 had a Foreign Service officer filled the department's No. 2 post. But while Bruce had spent only two youthful years as a vice consul in Rome and had then left the Service for business and farming interests, Stoenel's entire distinguished career has been as a diplomat.

Until Stoenel, the No. 2 position at State has been the president's rather than the secretary's choice, typified by Sumner Welles in the 1930s serving as President Franklin Roosevelt's eyes and ears in the State Department. A similar function was viewed when Reagan talked his ex-aid, Bill Clark, into leaving a comfortable seat on the California Supreme Court to become Haig's deputy.

CONSERVATIVES FEAR that Stoenel, at age 61, will be a passive figure as deputy secretary while the department will be run by the hard-charging Eagleburger, his successor as under secretary. That is why the new State Department team has aroused so much concern on the right.

As Haig's assistant secretary for European affairs, Eagleburger has clashed repeatedly with both National Security Council (NSC) staffers and Pentagon officials on a variety of issues. The complaint has been that he magnifies Haig's own Western European emphasis in seeking a NATO consensus for U.S. approaches to the Kremlin.

ing a NATO consensus for U.S. approaches to the Kremlin.

Thoughts

He who brings ridicule to bear against truth finds in his hand a blade without a hilt. The most sparkling and pointed flame of wit flickers and expires against the incombustible walls of her sanctuary.

Walter Savage Landor

Senseless rebellion against authority proves nothing except perhaps the poor judgment or immaturity of the rebel. This is particularly true when the rebellion is itself supposed to manifest some type of protest against restraints on civil liberties or civil rights. Two wrongs still do not make a right, and it is the height of asininity to suppose that the cause of civil rights is furthered by persons who engage in civil wrongs or criminal conduct.

Louis Crosby Wyman

We see how much a man has, and therefore we envy him; did we see how little he enjoys, we should rather pity him.

Jeremiah Seed

Staff members of the senators belonging to the Steering Committee, the informal group of conservative Republicans, tried to mobilize their bosses to head off Haig's selections.

Their real choice as deputy would have been Fred Ikle, a strategic arms expert who is under secretary of defense. But more realistically, they promoted former Sen. James Buckley, now under secretary of state for security assistance.

Several Republican members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, including North Carolina's Jesse Helms and Indiana's Richard Lugar, submitted such suggestions.

But the big three senior staffers at the White House had blessed the Stoenel-Eagleburger package, and Clark agreed. Although key Pentagon subordinates were appalled by the choices, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger did not use his considerable influence with Reagan to protest.

Hopes of playing for time to delay the appointment disappeared when Reagan telephoned protesting senators Friday morning to tell them it was too late, the decision had been made.

The critics of those who picks wonder whether the president really had any notion of what their objections were about.

Jack Anderson

NASA investigator punished

by the FBI, various congressional committees and the Office of Special Counsel. The latter has ordered a stay on Sharer's firing which was supposed to take effect on Jan. 4.

BUT FEDERAL OFFICIALS are efficient at burying scandals. They are now slyly trying to transfer the scandals to the Reagan administration, though they occurred before Ronald Reagan became responsible for federal misconduct.

The strategy is to stick the Reagan administration with the scandals until it feels politically threatened by them. Then the White House might be induced to defend, if not join in covering up, the improprieties.

I have warned the White House of these manipulations and have been assured that the Reagan administration will heed, not hinder, Sharer's whistleblowing.

Footnote: Much of Sharer's critique of the HUD I.G. whitewash has now been confirmed by James Phillips, a crack investigator for Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah. My own associate, Indy Badwar, has carefully double-checked Sharer's accusations. NASA Inspector General June Brown said she is "disturbed" by the developments.

B-1 BONANZA: The B-1 bomber will cost American taxpayers some $40 billion, and most of that will be poured into just three states, according to a Michigan research team.

The three lucky states are California, which will get $7,665 billion in B-1 contracts; Ohio, which will get $5,416 billion; and Washington, which will get $3,048 billion. Only 11 states in all will garner greater amounts in contracts than their citizens and corporations will pay in taxes as their share of the bomber program. The rest would suffer a net drain.

Michigan, for example, already suffering from high unemployment in the auto industry, would pay almost $1.5 billion more in taxes for the B-1 than it will take in in contracts.

Dr. James R. Anderson, who did the study with Employment Research Associates of Lansing, Mich., told my reporter Sharon Spivak that the interest alone on the money Michigan will contribute to the B-1 would solve the state's budget problems.

"The military budget acts as a gigantic siphon," he said, "drawing money out in large amounts from certain states and metropolitan areas, siphoning it into a relatively few locations where large aerospace contractors or large military bases are located."

Sharer's troubles at NASA weren't the first time he has rocked the bureaucratic boat and been tossed over the side. Back in 1979, as an investigator for the General Accounting Office, Sharer gave Comptroller General Elmer Staats a top-secret intelligence report with detailed evidence that the Soviet KGB had penetrated the GAO. Russian spies were being fed advance information on top-secret reports pertaining to national security and nuclear technology.

Sharer's bosses at GAO ordered him not to let the FBI — or congressional oversight committees — see his final report on the scandal. To his everlasting credit, he disobeyed these orders and gave the FBI a copy of his report. He was promptly assigned to study marine mammals.

IN ADDITION to the KGB expose, Sharer reported such security violations at GAO as briefcases with secret reports lost in the subway, CIA briefing materials left unattended overnight on desks in open areas, and microfilms of classified reports furnished to contractors without clearance.

These accusations are now being systematically leaked to the press. In one newspaper account, for example, an unnamed official was quoted as saying that Sharer saw communists "under the bed." What he actually saw — and documented — were Soviet agents in the records center of the General Accounting Office.

What is happening to Ralph Sharer has happened to every whistleblower before him. If the federal managers can't furtively suppress the lonely informer, they will publicly discredit him. Meanwhile, they will retaliate against him — an action intended to intimidate others from revealing official embarrassments.

Dr. Donohue

Candida has to be kept in place

Dear Dr. Donohue: I know this is an unusual question, but it is something I have been able to find little information about. Would you have any idea how an otherwise healthy 50-year-old man might get infant thrush? I have not handled any infants. — G.L.D.

First a word about thrush. It is a fungus infection in which the mucous membrane of the mouth is infected by the candida organism.

Now, to your situation. I can offer a few possibilities. The candida organism is often present in the mouths of normal persons. It causes no trouble so long as its growth is kept in check by other microbes in the mouth.

Now, say you have to take an antibiotic for an infection. The antibiotic kills off the infecting non-candida organism, but if in the process it also kills off the organisms keeping a rein on the candida, the result is predictable. The candida runs rampant, and the evidence appears — creamy white, curd-like patches on the mouth membrane. Fortunately, this happens infrequently.

I might mention that an often-unsuspected cause of this disruption of the candida-control mechanisms in the mouth flora can be poorly-fitted dentures. Nor should I neglect to mention that diabetics are more apt to develop such infection, and for reasons that are not clear. The candida fungus used to be called "monilia," and still may be called so.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have Hashimoto's thyroiditis and am on Synthroid for it. I have pain in my arm and legs. I need information and hope for the future. This has been going on for months now. — Mrs. W.D.

Baby Monteleone is expected in March.

mention from time to time, in which the body decides to attack some of its own tissues. In Hashimoto's thyroiditis the target is thyroid gland tissue that has been mistakenly perceived as an alien, prompting this biological red alert.

As the protective antibodies are produced, inflammation and swelling occur (goiter). About one person in four experiences muscle pain, too. The scarring often throws off the gland's hormone production, so thyroid supplement is used in treatment. That's the Synthroid you are taking. This puts the gland at rest and supplies vital thyroid hormones.

Hashimoto's does eventually calm down, but I cannot predict how long or to what degree this will happen for you. Patients often have to use thyroid hormones for life. See the booklet "Your Thyroid: How it Works for You." Others readers may order a copy by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents for mailing and handling.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Husband hates family gatherings

DEAR ABBY: We've been married for three years. Howard (not his real name) is a wonderful husband. He's kind, understanding, easygoing and a big help around the house. I know he loves me, and he would be perfect except for one fault, which is a big one. He absolutely hates to attend my family's get-togethers. I come from a big and very close family, and I've grown up enjoying family get-togethers for all the holidays. (His family is small and they live far away.)

Abby, getting Howard to go with me is like pulling teeth. And after he gets there, he sits in a corner and sulks or watches TV by himself. Whenever we try to get him involved by asking questions about his interests, he gives one-word answers, which give the impression that he's not interested in conversing. This also gives the impression that he's too good to associate with my family.

I've told him over and over how hurt and embarrassed I am when he acts this way, but it doesn't change things. Abby, I want my family to love him the way I do, but how can they when he's so anti-social? What should I do?

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Since you know that Howard

Family Protection Act is discussed

A bill entitled "Family Protection Act of 1981, H.R. 311" was discussed at the Daughters of the American Revolution, Captain Elisha Mack Chapter meeting Monday evening. The club met in the home of L.J. Jeter with Mrs. C.G. Barnett presiding.

The bill is now being considered in Congress and is misleading, according to Mrs. John Cobean. It concerns freedom of speech, freedom of religion and has hidden clauses which are against the constitution, she said. The members were asked to write for a copy of the bill, study it, and write their congressmen of their opinions about the bill.

An advertisement has been sent to the National DAR Magazine honoring Mrs. Curtis Driver of her 50-year membership in the organization.

The following officers were elected to serve a two year term: Mrs. Jack Alexander, regent; Mrs. John Damron, vice-regent; Helen Ewing, chaplain; Mrs. Mike Skalicky, recording secretary; Mrs. W.H. Kay, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L.J. Jeter, treasurer; Mrs. John Key, registrar; Mrs. Lola Killman, historian; and Mrs. June Reid librarian.

Mrs. Barnett and Mrs. Alexander were elected delegates to the State Conference held in Fort Worth, March 22-24 and also to the National Congress, Washington D.C. April 20-24.

The next meeting will be a George Washington celebration in the home of Mrs. Curtis Driver Feb. 21. Members are asked to bring family heirlooms and antiques to "show and tell."

hates family gatherings, don't subject him to so many. In fact, you'd be doing him (and yourself) a big favor if you went alone. A reluctant guest makes poor company.

DEAR ABBY: I'll bet this letter is only one of thousands. You advised "Fed Up" to have her boyfriend buy a Doberman pinscher or German shepherd and let it sit in the car so it wouldn't be stolen.

I can't believe you were serious, Abby, because you have often advised against leaving animals and children locked in a car — especially in summer with the windows rolled up. Please say you didn't mean it!

MADDER THAN A HOUND DOG

DEAR MADDER: Hold it! I did not recommend locking a dog in the car with all the windows rolled up! For the record, I have frequently warned my readers against locking children and pets in cars — especially in summer. I half-facetiously suggested that in order to discourage car thieves, a Doberman pinscher or a German shepherd could act as a guard dog. All the car windows could be rolled down enough for cross-ventilation, but not enough for the dog to escape.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Disturbed and Guilty," who is secretly in love with her brother-in-law, that she is not alone.

I'm a man who feels that way about a secretary in our office. Sooner or later she will marry (I hope), quit her job and move away.

Until then, the pain and temptation are a daily struggle. I have a great wife and a wonderful family, and nothing could ever come of it. Meanwhile, Lord give me strength!

Human odyssey: Whither the future

By MADELEINE JACOBS
Smithsonian News Service

Once upon a time in the steamy jungles of the central Amazon, a river teemed with turtles, otters, manatees and all manner of fish and wildlife. King of this domain was the cunning caiman, a close relation of the alligator. As plentiful as tadpoles in a summer's pond, the caiman feasted neither man nor beast. It feasted on fish in times of bounty; it fasted through the hard seasons.

But alas! Its tough exterior and brave demeanor were no match for the might of man, who hunted the creatures — first with bows and arrows, then with guns.

Soon after man came, the caimans virtually disappeared from the river. But the natives noticed something strange: The fish were also gone. Even the hated piranha was seldom seen prowling the muddy tributary.

How could this be so? they asked. Caimans eat fish; without the corcodilians, there should be more, not fewer, fish.

Eventually, a scientist came from far away, and, lo and behold, the mystery was solved. Though voracious predators of fish, the caimans, he found, actually gave more nutrients to the river from their metabolic processes than they took away in food. Without their contributions, the fragile food chain — on which the fish and other creatures depended — collapsed. The caimans gave the river its life.

And therein lies a parable for our times, a story with a message central to the very survival of mankind.

To scholars who heard this story related at a recent Smithsonian symposium on human adaptation, the tale was a dramatic illustration of how little we really understand about the fundamental processes of nature; how, despite our technological triumphs, our video recorders and our computer games, we have the capacity — some would say the inclination — to upset irrevocably the delicate balance of life.

By extension, the story was also a grim reminder that now, more than ever, we find ourselves part of a global community in which the actions of one society can and do have profound repercussions on other societies. The symposium offered an unusual opportunity for biologists, anthropologists, theologians, philosophers and political and social scientists to debate whether Homo sapiens, having come this far in his several-million-year-old biological and cultural odyssey, has learned anything at all that can help him survive in the present global village and adapt to the future.

To this question there were no answers — not even the sometimes simplistic ones frequently proffered at such gatherings. Perhaps the value of the four-day meeting, symposium chairman James V. Neel said, lay in the fact that so many people of diverse backgrounds "share this deep concern that the human odyssey has reached a critical juncture. We wanted to state these concerns in such a way that policy makers would be encouraged to do some planning for the future."

Looking at the past, Washington State University anthropologist Fekri A. Hassan said, we see a remarkably adept and adaptable creature, who, for all but the last 10,000 years, lived as a hunter-gatherer in harmony with his environment, sharing information and food. At the peak of this way of life, Hassan estimated, probably no more than 12 million people populated the Earth.

Then came the introduction of agriculture and stock-raising. "It was the beginning of man's mastery of his habitat," he said, "the beginning of law, order, organization and reshaping of the human spirit to yield to the force of social institutions and collective will."

Man multiplied across the expanses of the Earth, occupying formerly uninhabitable deserts and formidable ice-bound terrain, in a never ending tribute to his seemingly infinite capacity to adapt to new and foreign situations. The course of civilization, the very face of the Earth, was changed forever.

Success took its toll. Changed, too, was the spirit of cooperation and harmony with the environment that had been the hallmark of hunter-gatherer societies. The result disheartens many observers, including British philosopher and author Mary Midgley.

"On every side now," Midgley said, "we can see people busily engaged in sawing off the branches on which they, along with many others, are sitting, intent only on getting those branches to market before the price of timber falls."

In the view of Neel, a professor of genetics at the University of Michigan Medical School, "The human animal now finds himself in a world quite alien to that in which he evolved. By the year 2000, unless checked by unanticipated developments, there will be 6.4 million people on Spaceship Earth. Yet the challenges these people will face will have to be met by minds which are essentially those of our primitive ancestors."

The slow pace of changes in our genetic basis did not matter a lot to primitive man, for events also proceeded slowly, Neel emphasized. For example, in western Europe during the Stone Age, it required some 75,000 years for the rough, crude Chellean (or Abbevillian) hand ax to be replaced by the more even, symmetric Acheulean ax. "Contrast that with the recent pace of events," he said.

The sobering reality, Neel continued, "is that there is no magic genetic endowment (for man) waiting to be capitalized on as times get tougher. For the immediate future, we will make do with primate brains which have undergone some poorly understood modifications."

Add to the unprecedented rate and scale of change the threat of nuclear war, overpopulation, the failure of cities, deterioration of the environment and the massive underutilization of human potential throughout the world, Neel said, and the prospects for mankind's continuing odyssey look gloomy indeed.

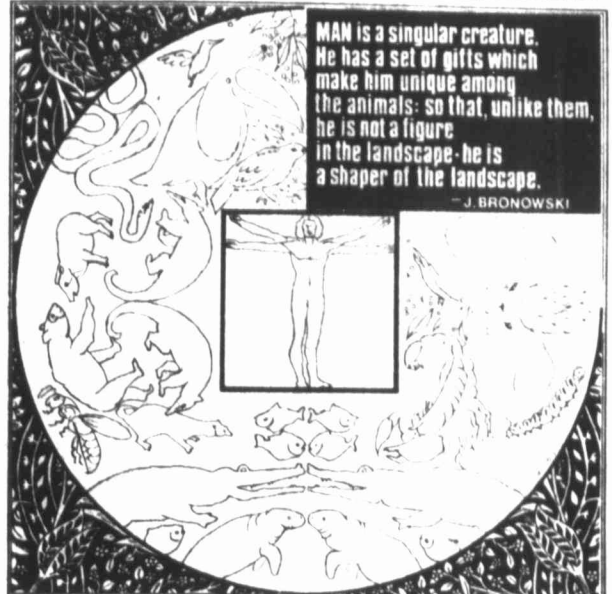

Individual societies are already beginning to seek solutions to some of these problems, suggested several people attending the symposium. But all solutions must recognize that "the world's countries are now interdependent as never before," Hassan said. "The solutions to such massive global problems probably lie in the transfer of capital, technology and rapid industrialization of underdeveloped countries to bring a balance between reproduction and production ... a spirit of cooperation is the only viable alternative to world unrest and the potential extinction of the human species."

But other symposium participants pointed out that success stories from the past, where they exist, do not seem to illuminate our future path because the future is likely to be so radically different. "Man's ability to control the course of human events is a delusion," one participant flatly stated.

Yet, if there are to be any solutions to man's seemingly overwhelming problems, they must surely lie with man himself. The most optimistic proponent of this sentiment at the meeting was Rene Dubos, professor emeritus at Rockefeller University.

"Human beings are rarely passive witnesses of threatening situations," Dubos said. For example, "the air of most cities was not really poisonous at the time steps were taken to decrease urban air pollution. Most lakes and rivers were far from being dead at the time control of water pollution was begun. Environmental protection policies were responses, not to actual emergencies, but rather to the anticipation of emergencies."

"In my opinion, our societies have a good chance of remaining prosperous because they are learning to anticipate, long in advance, the shortages and dangers they might experience in the future if they did not act preventively ... By cultivating the anticipation of consequences and thus adapting to the future, our societies can overcome the myth of inevitability."

Dubos, like the late scientist-philosopher Jacob Bronowski, places his faith for the survival of mankind in individual freedom and creativity.

"Man is a singular creature," Bronowski wrote in The Ascent of Man. "He has a set of gifts which make him unique among the animals: so that, unlike them, he is not a figure in the landscape — he is a shaper of the landscape. In body and in mind, he is the explorer of nature, the ubiquitous animals, who did not find but has made his home in every continent."

At the center of these gifts, Bronowski said, "lies the ability to draw conclusions from what we see to what we do not see, to move our minds through space and time and to recognize ourselves in the past on the steps to the present."

These are the selfsame gifts that enable a scientist to unravel the mystery of the caiman and the fish, that will, perhaps, help us to solve the pressing problems of food, energy, population, environmental deterioration and the crisis of the human spirit that makes it so difficult to tackle the other issues confronting us in our continuing human odyssey.

Texas Highway Commission opens bids on I-20 repairs

AUSTIN — An El Paso construction firm is the apparent low bidder for a Texas Highway Department project to revamp roads along portions of Interstate 20 in Martin County.

Borsberry Construction Co., Inc., submitted a $711,344 bid to the Texas Highway Commission Tuesday.

The project calls for extensive road repairs to I-20 between the Howard County line and U.S. Highway 80 east of Stanton.

Portions of the highway pavement are cracked with the project calling for the laying of a fabric underseal and 1½ inches of new pavement.

"Some of that highway in West Texas was up to standards 25 years ago when the highway system started," said highway department spokesman Hilton Hagen. "Twenty-five years is about as long as you can expect a highway to last, especially with the traffic volume."

The commission is scheduled to meet Jan. 27 to accept a bid.

Houston docs amputate reattached leg of boy

HOUSTON (AP) — Doctors at Hermann Hospital who reattached the severed leg of a 11-year-old boy said today efforts to save the limb failed and they had to amputate it.

"The extensive crushing saw tissue damage which occurred at the time of the injury that could not be surmounted. Therefore, it became necessary to remove the limb to keep the patient from becoming critically ill," said Dr. John Burns who performed the 19-hour surgery on Kirk Sapp of Hearne, Texas.

Sapp's condition had been worsening since the reattachment but he was listed in stable condition following the amputation, a hospital spokesman said.

Sapp was treated after his leg was severed by a train on Jan. 6. The youngster's foot was also cut off, but doctors said the limb was crushed too badly to reattach.

Winn-Dixie sales are up

JACKSONVILLE, Florida — Winn Dixie Stores Inc. reported sales of $503,117,000 during the four weeks which ended Dec. 9, 1981, compared with $476,799,000 for the similar period last year, an increase of 5.5 percent.

For the 24 weeks ended Dec. 9, 1981, the total was $2,944,860,000 compared with $2,748,528,000 a year ago, an increase of 7.1 percent.

The company opened 14 new stores and closed 12 since June 24, 1981, having 1,222 units in operation as of Dec. 9, 1981, compared with 1,216 last year.

ERA is dealt setbacks in Oklahoma, Illinois action

By The Associated Press
The proposed Equal Rights Amendment has been dealt major setbacks by lawmakers in Oklahoma and Illinois, and with just five months before the ratification deadline some opponents say the proposal is as good as dead in those states.

Despite support for the ERA from the governors of both states, the Oklahoma Senate refused to ratify the amendment Wednesday and Democratic leaders in Illinois couldn't find enough support for a rules change critical to passage.

"For all practical purposes, it is dead," said Glenda Mattoon, a member of Oklahoma Stop ERA. "I don't think that it's likely there are any more votes around after they've already gone on record."

Supporters of ERA, which would ban discrimination on the basis of sex, said they would try again in both legislatures.

Eleanor Smeal, national president of the National Organization for Women, said in Oklahoma City that failure of the measure in Oklahoma wouldn't end its chances for approval.

"This is a key state," she said, "but we've never said it's our best chance."

The setbacks were the first major tests of the amendment since U.S. District Judge Marion Callister in Idaho ruled in December that Congress lacked authority to extend the original ratification deadline of 1979, and that five states that rescinded ERA approval acted constitutionally. His ruling is being appealed.

The ERA has been approved by 35 states — including the five that rescinded. The measure would have to be approved by 38 states by June 30 for it to become part of the U.S. Constitution.

Food stamps

fraud static

WASHINGTON (AP) — The percentage of food stamp payments to people who should not have gotten them was about the same last year as it was the year before, figures show.

The department released a report Tuesday covering the period of October 1980 through March 1981. The food stamp program now serves about 22 million Americans at an annual cost of more than $11 billion.

The report showed that food stamps worth about $5.09 billion were issued during the six-month period, compared to $4.16 billion worth from October 1979 through March 1980.

Subway crash kills three

WASHINGTON (AP) — What started as a minor mishap turned into slow-motion terror when a subway operator backed a packed train that had started down the wrong track into a concrete divider, killing three people and injuring two dozen others.

The first fatal accident on the capital's showcase subway system occurred during the afternoon rush hour Wednesday, less than 30 minutes after an Air Florida jet crashed into a bridge in severe snowstorm and plunged into the Potomac River, killing 80 people.

Joe Sheard, director of rail operations for Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority — Metro — said it started when a switch being operated manually was set the wrong way and headed the train down the wrong track near the Smithsonian station.

When the operator slowly backed up the train, the lead car moved diagonally because its front wheels remained on the wrong track while its rear wheels were rolling down the other track.

That skewing movement caused the car to impale itself on a concrete divider separating the two rails, ripping open a 15-foot section of the car wall, buckling the roof and tearing up about eight sets of seats.

Cody Pfanstiehl, a Metro spokesman, said 155 people, including up to 80 standees, could have been crowded into the car. The train had six cars.

It took firemen using power tools a half hour to cut through the car's walls to free several pinned-in passengers and up to two hours to evacuate everyone through the tunnels.

Farah wins $18.9 million judgment in El Paso

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A split jury has awarded Farah Manufacturing Co. an $18.9 million judgment against State National Bank and three other lenders the company's chief executive officer accused of conspiring against him.

The jury ended the 11-week trial Wednesday with a 10-to-2 verdict in their eighth day of deliberations. Presiding State District Judge Edwin Berliner said a split verdict is acceptable in a civil case if no more than two jurors dissent.

State National Bank, a member of the PanNational Group, quickly issued a statement calling the verdict unjustified and assuring that the bank "intends to vigorously contest the decision through appeal."

Willie Farah, 62, the apparel manufacturer's chief executive, was emotional after the hearing the verdict. "I'm a little bit choked up," he said. "I think justice was accomplished."

Although State National was the only defendant identified in the suit, its liability is limited to about 5 percent of the costs and damages.

A contribution agreement among the lenders makes RepublicBank Dallas, Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust of Chicago, and Prudential Insurance Co. of America responsible for 95 percent of any court losses.

The 10 jurors determined that in 1977 State National Bank, acting alone or in conspiracy with the other lenders, committed acts of fraud, duress and interference that resulted in $18.9 million in actual damages to the company.

Farah resigned as the company's chief executive officer in 1976 after the company had sustained more than $37 million in losses during his management in the preceding four years.

The losses were partly caused by an employee walkout and national boycott of Farah products that began in 1972 and left the company reeling for several years.

Farah contended he was not to blame for the labor dispute and that other losses were the result of fast-changing trends in the apparel industry.

The company continued to lose money under Farah's successor, William Leone, prompting Farah to try to regain the position in 1977.

Although he was reinstated in the spring of 1978 after a series of legal battles, Farah's return was opposed by the lenders and a majority of the company directors, including his son, James.

Farah's ally, company director Richard Azar, testified that a lawyer for RepublicBank Dallas threatened to bankrupt the company and "padlock the doors" in March 1977 if Farah was reinstated as chief executive officer.

The $22 million loan agreement contained a provision allowing any two of the banks that disagreed with a major management change to declare the loan in immediate default.

During the trial, Farah's attorney, Tom Thomas of Dallas, sought to prove that the threat was made fraudulently because the lenders never intended to call the loan and would have had little reason to do so because the company got back on its feet.

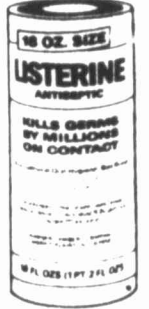

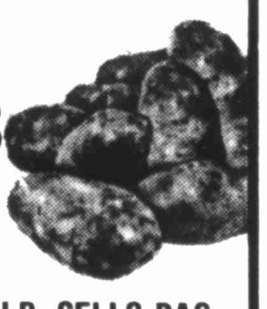

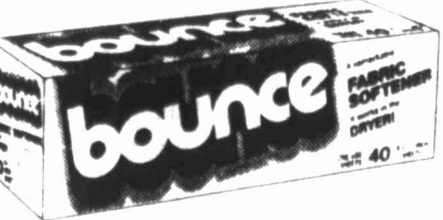

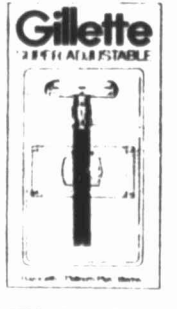

Jurors determined the lenders were responsible for $2.6 million in losses sustained between March of 1977 and 1978 while Farah fought to be reinstated. The jurors also determined the company lost $15.4 million in profits during that period because Farah was not the chief executive officer.

The jury also awarded $721,848 it saw was the difference between the actual value and the revenues the banks acquired by auctioning equipment while Farah was trying to be reinstated, and $75,000 which it determined was profits actually lost by the removal of the equipment.

Former policeman on trial

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Almost 4½ years after Rene Escamilla was arrested in McAllen on a drunkenness charge, former police sergeant Robert Ramos goes on trial charged with brutality in the arrest.

Testimony was scheduled to begin today before U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela in the first of three trials of former McAllen officers indicted in November.

Ramos faces up to one year in prison and a $1,000 fine if convicted of the misdemeanor charge of depriving Escamilla of his civil rights under color of law.

The former officer is accused of ordering other policemen to beat Escamilla on Sept. 24, 1977.

Federal prosecutors say they want to introduce at the trial three other alleged instances of misconduct by Ramos against prisoners.

Allegations of widespread brutality by McAllen police, particularly those on the late night shift, were aired during a series of civil rights suits filed by the American Civil Liberties Union.

Videotapes of some incidents were evidence in the civil suit and drew national attention to the McAllen department after being aired on network television.

The taping system was installed at the station booking desk to protect officers from later lawsuits.

U.S. District Judge James DeAnda, who presided at the civil hearings, ordered reforms in the department's training and review policies.

The U.S. Justice Department sent lawyers from Houston and Washington to present evidence to the federal grand jury here.

After eight months of investigation, the panel indicted five former officers for three separate instances.

The other four will be tried next month before a U.S. magistrate.

Reagan names

fewer women
to key posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is appointing fewer women to key government posts than did his predecessor, Jimmy Carter, and those he is selecting are being given lower-ranking jobs, says the National Women's Political Caucus.

Reagan put 30 women in top-level jobs during his first year in office, compared to 31 nominations by President Carter during 1977, an NWPC analysis showed.

Snow ends testimony on phone taps

HOUSTON (AP) — Snow forced a recess to the federal conspiracy and racketeering trial of a labor leader and a former Houston port commissioner, but not before a defense attorney questioned FBI agents extensively about phone taps used in the investigation.

Defense attorney Mike Ramsey asked detailed questions Wednesday of FBI agents Steve Holbrook and Colby Mosier about the taps, which were placed on one of union official L.G. Moore's home telephones and two office phones.

Moore and John Garrett are each charged with one count of conspiracy to commit bribery and two counts of making long distance telephone calls to aid in racketeering. Both have pleaded not guilty.

The taps, approved by U.S. District Judge Ross Sterling, produced several taped conversations which prosecutors said they will introduce at the racketeering trial.

The court was scheduled to hear further testimony on the taps from a telephone company official when the trial reconvened today.

U.S. District Judge Norman Black recessed the proceedings after Wednesday's lunch break to allow jurors to go home early and avoid Houston's sleet, snow and icy streets.

Prosecutors contend Moore, the regional director of the International Union of Operating Engineers, and Garrett conspired in late 1979 to use bribery to obtain a lucrative health insurance contract for Houston city employees.

The alleged scheme surfaced during the FBI's Briab investigation two years ago.

House Speaker Billy Clayton and two Austin attorneys, were accused of trying to influence the awarding of a state health insurance contract.

Clayton and attorneys Randall Wood and Donald Ray were acquitted in October 1980. Charges against Moore in that case were dropped last month.

Burning car linked to slaying of theater pro

HOUSTON (AP) — A car found burning in Houston's impoverished Fifth Ward belonged to the director of Houston's Alley Theater, who was found slain in her office, police said.

Firemen extinguished a blaze in the Lincoln Continental about 6 a.m. Wednesday, about two hours before Iris Siff was found strangled in her office, officials said.

The car was connected to the slaying about 7 p.m. when the person who reported the fire called police after hearing news reports of the slayings. It was towed to police headquarters, where detectives said it would be checked for fingerprints and other clues.

Detectives said they believe Mrs. Siff, 58, was killed between 10 p.m. Tuesday and 4 a.m. Wednesday, when a security guard noticed her car missing from the theater's drive. Co-workers said Mrs. Siff often worked into the morning.

Officers said there were apparently no witnesses. Homicide Detective R.D. Anderson said police believe "a burglar urprised her, as her TV, her fur coat, her purse and her Lincoln Continental Mark IV are missing."

Anderson said Mrs. Siff was killed sometime after 4 a.m.

"It is unknown at this time if she was sexually assaulted," he said.

Witnesses said she was wearing a dress and lying on her back when she was found at 8:15 a.m. by a cleaning lady in a fourth-floor conference room. Police said there were no signs of a struggle or forced entry.

The official cause of death was withheld pending an autopsy, but J.C. Thomason, an investigator for the Harris County medical examiner's office, said there were bruises on her neck indicating she had been strangled.

Nothing was found at the scene that might have been used in the attack, he said.

Bob Feingold, the theater's communications director, said, "She often came in late and worked through the evening. Sometimes when I'd arrive at work at 9:30 in the morning she would just be leaving."

The modern, four-story theater building, built in 1968, has an all-night security guard, and Feingold could not explain why the guard did not find the body.

Feingold said the last time he saw Mrs. Siff was about midnight Tuesday after a preview of "Elephant Man" which opens at the $5 million theater Thursday.

Mrs. Siff, who studied at the University of Mexico in Mexico City and the University of Texas, joined the Alley Theater as an actress in 1948 after working for the U.S. Department of State in South America.

She founded the theater's first training wing in 1951 and later started the Alley's Merry-Go-Round, a theater program for young people.

In 1968, she was appointed managing director, and in 1980 took over both management and artistic operations upon the death of founder Nina Vance.

Mrs. Siff's survivors include her husband, Al, a Houston businessman, and two sons, Joe and Ted.

Pat Brown, artistic director of the theater, said, "We are deeply shocked over the loss of Mrs. Siff. Her importance to the growth of Alley Theater and to the many projects she instituted cannot be measured."

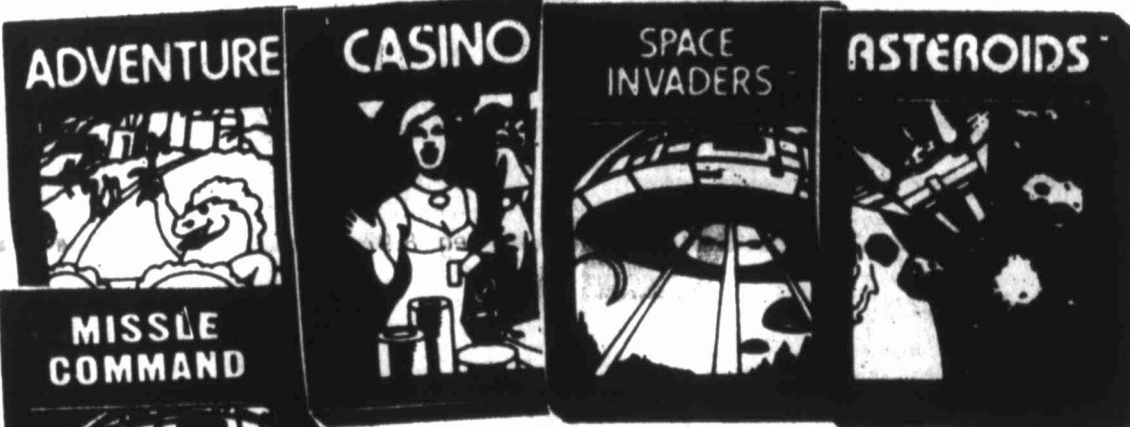

The Alley Theater, founded here in 1947, maintains a resident acting company and staff of about 100 people during a 40-week season. The building actually houses two theaters, one that seats 798 and an arena theater that has 296 seats.

Health care goal: Cut usage in United States

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — After trying and failing in a variety of sophisticated ways to slow the rise in the nation's huge health bill, a remedy old as man and simple as self-interest is likely to be tried soon.

Control through regulation hasn't lived up to promises, as attested to by a long list of attempts by every administration in the 1970s. In 1968 health care costs were $58 billion; in 1980, about $247 billion.

People utilized, the newest and oldest remedy seems bound to work. It usually has. "It" refers to economic incentives and penalties.

The irony, of course, is that economic incentives used to be in place, and individuals themselves had to foot their medical bills. Government, corporations, unions and insurers ended that, agreeing that individuals should be insulated from the bills through insurance programs, often paid for by the employer. Productivity increases was the rationale.

Now, after two decades in which various third parties took charge of payments, the entire economy seems threatened by big medical bills, and sentiment is growing for a return to greater personal accountability.

The form of incentives and penalties isn't fully determined yet, and the White House has yet to announce its initiatives, but co-payment plans and tax benefits or penalties are prominent in discussions.

Co-payments would require the user of services, such as those offered by a hospital, to pay part of the bill rather than relying solely on a health insurance plan. The tax device often mentioned is to limit the amount of personal health costs that can be deducted from tax bills.

"There comes a limit," said J. Alexander McMahon, president of the American Hospital Association, in reference to the health care bill, which rose faster last year than any other major inflation component.

"To slow increases," he said, "we must have economic motivation." Expenditures for health care accounted for 6.7 percent of gross national product in 1968. In 1980 they took 9.4 percent. In 1985, the U.S. Department of Health has projected, they might consume 10 percent.

Health officials such as McMahon say cutting costs should begin with reducing usage. "It has been demonstrated that where co-payment is involved usage drops," says McMahon. It suggests, he said, that health services are being overused for marginal ailments not requiring professional help.

Expenditures at Deere & Company indicate the concern. Between 1972 and 1977, it found, annual costs for health care for about 200,000 workers, retirees and dependents jumped 300 percent to $60 million.

By 1980 the annual total was nearly $100 million, compelling the company to institute a program of stressing quality rather than quantity in the delivery of services.

Union, Shell to tackle Midland books hot issues 'in depth'

HOUSTON (AP) — Union and company negotiators agreed to meet this morning and discuss "in depth" specific issues clogging the settling of a contract dispute between Shell Oil Co. and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, a Shell spokesman said.

"Maybe by tomorrow, we'll be further along, although it's hard to say at this time," Bill Gibson said Wednesday night.

He said union and company representatives met with a federal mediator several times Wednesday in attempts to determine course of action.

Still in dispute are a number of local issues — including pay for entry-level employees, grievance and arbitration procedure, pay for contract workers and seniority, Gibson said.

The union, which represents 2,100 workers at Shell's Deer Park refinery, Tuesday rejected an offer of a two-year contract modeled on an agreement announced in Denver Monday between workers and Gulf Oil Corp.

The rejected proposal called for a 9 percent wage increase this year — retroactive to Jan. 8 — a 90-cent-an-hour raise in 1983, and increased hospitalization benefits, Gibson said.

Texaco and American Petrofina workers walked picket lines in Port Arthur for the sixth day Thursday.

Ruling pending on motion to drop murder charge

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — A state district judge's ruling was pending today on a defense attorney's motion to dismiss a capital murder charge against his client, a state prison inmate accused of killing two prison officials.

Attorney Bill Habern asked Judge Henry Dalehite for the ruling Tuesday, saying that Eroy Edward Brown had been denied access to an attorney for four days after the April 4 double slaying and continually was barred from meeting privately with a lawyer.

Dalehite denied defense motions Wednesday to quash the jury panel in the case.

Attorney Craig Washington argued that because jury candidates are chosen from lists of registered voters, potential jurors did not accurately reflect the number of minority group members in Galveston County.

Dalehite also overruled Washington's motion to dismiss charges on grounds the state capital murder statute is unconstitutional.

Brown faces the charge in the drowning of Wallace Pack, warden of the maximum security Ellis Unit. Prosecutors have said they may later seek to try him in the shooting death of Billy Max Moore, a prison farm manager.

The first juror, a 63-year-old pipe fitter, was chosen Wednesday, but court officials declined to release his name.

Dave Rowland and Sugar

Dave Rowland and Sugar, with special guests Rusty Weir and Lodestone, will appear at Midland's Chaparral Center at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Reserved tickets are $8 and $9. Tickets may be obtained locally at KBYG radio. Tickets may also be obtained at Endless Horizon, the Music Hall, Flipside Records and the Chaparral Center in Midland.

Dave Rowland and Sugar was formed in 1975, and the group's had five number one country singles and five best-selling LPs.

The group's newest LP is "Pleasure."

Alleged oil can freed on bond

DALLAS (AP) — A man accused of defrauding an Ohio dentist out of $200,000 in an alleged oil fraud scheme has been freed on bond.

Joseph A. Timo, 35, was freed Friday after turning himself in and posting $100,000 bond set by U.S. Magistrate John Tolle. Tolle also set a preliminary hearing for Jan. 18.

According to a sworn statement by FBI special agent Eugene F. Gee Jr., Timo met with Dr. George Collins of Columbus, Ohio while the two were in the Cayman Islands last April.

The statement said Timo told Collins he was buying and selling Nigerian oil and that any investment would net a 33 percent profit.

Not much officials can do about it Oilfield thievery

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Thieves take an estimated $100 million a year in crude and equipment from the Texas oil patch and state officials say there is not much they can do about it.

"We are woefully understaffed to handle the problem with the remote location of our oil fields," Floyd Hacker, the Department of Public Safety chief of criminal law enforcement, told a legislative subcommittee Wednesday.

"We know we can't handle the problem. We want to admit that up front," said Hacker.

"We have no jurisdiction over any form of theft," added Bob Harris, the director of the Railroad Commission's oil and gas division.

The two state officials were among a dozen witnesses, including Attorney General Mark White, who appeared Wednesday during a day-long hearing by the Oilfield Theft Subcommittee of the House Intergovernmental Affairs Committee into possible legislation to head-off burgeoning thefts in the oil patch.

White told the legislators that public school children, university students and taxpayers of Texas all were losers in the increasing thefts in the state's far-flung oil industry.

He said one fourth of all state revenues come from oil and gas severance taxes and that one of every 16 Texans works in the industry.

"The fact is stealing is stealing. It's just as wrong for a man in a tan truck to steal $75 to $100 worth of oil as for a man to break into your home and steal your TV set," the attorney general said.

Rep. Tommy Adkisson, D-San Antonio, chaired the subcommittee hearing and said later legislation based on testimony could be introduced when the January 1983 Legislature convenes.

Hacker said the DPS and Texas Rangers had become more aware of stealing of oil and equipment over recent years, but lacked manpower and expertise to deal with it.

Harris said the Railroad Commission, with only 100 field investigators to handle all phases of booming oil industry, also was understaffed and — in addition to that — was not empowered to investigate thefts.

The best the Railroad Commission can do, he said, is lend expertise to law enforcement agencies.

Tom Haywood, executive vice president of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association, said county sheriffs and district attorneys also were overburdened and lacked time and expertise to spend on oilfield theft cases. That is why his organization is offering rewards and funding special prosecutors and investigators, Haywood said.

"Theft cases are not followed up with any vigor, either investigative or prosecutorial," Haywood said.

Haywood said an oilfield theft "hotline" opened at his organization's Wichita Falls office six months ago had revealed the enormity of the problem.

Robert Vinson, president of the Texas Independent Producers Legal Action Committee, announced at Wednesday's hearing that a $50,000 fund had been established to aid local sheriffs and district attorneys in investigating and prosecuting oilfield thieves.

Vinson said that Sen. Bob Glasgow, D-Weatherford, a member of the subcommittee panel, had agreed to screen applications from localities for assistance.

Wright said that more than 10 industry organizations in Texas already have pledged to support a separate statewide organization to deal solely with oilfield thefts in conjunction with law enforcement agencies. He said the unnamed organization would be finalized on Jan. 27.

"As a matter of fact, it has been noted that the average oilfield theft operation nets, the thief more than the average bank robbery," Wright told the legislators.

"The petroleum industry is willing to do its part in fighting the theft problem," Wright said. "We do not expect our representatives in Austin to solve the problem for us."

"But the oil and gas industry paid almost $2.2 billion in Texas severance taxes last fiscal year. These and other taxes paid by the petroleum industry account for over a third of the state's tax base. So we are not shy about asking for help when we need it."

He said specific measures TIPRO might suggest to the next Texas Legislature are tighter control of salt water haulers, authorizing police in inspect rollig equipment, better funding of anti-theft efforts, and improved monitoring to ensure that stolen crude oil does not reenter legitimate channels.

"There is just not a well-defined investigative agency available," White said.

He suggested that the Legislature might give the Railroad Commission more authority to deal with thefts, because its employees already have expertise in the area.

Florida citrus loss hits $200 million

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Florida citrus producers began raising the prices of the products making their way to America's breakfast tables as they slapped an embargo on the sale and shipping of the fresh fruit after this week's damaging freeze.

Two major producers of frozen juice concentrate, Ben Hill Griffin and Lykes-Pasco Packing Co., on Wednesday increased their wholesale prices by 30 cents to more than $4 for a six-pack of six-ounce cans.

Freezes often mean higher profits to growers. Last year, for instance, the Florida crop loss was estimated at about $200 million but growers actually made more money because they were able to sell their reduced crop at higher prices.

Most Florida citrus is processed into juice and the oranges and grapefruit attacked by ice this week can still be made into citrus products, though the "juice yield" from damaged fruit worries the industry.

The sale and shipping of fresh fruit itself was put under the 10-day embargo effective at 9 p.m. Friday by the Florida Citrus Commission, based in Lakeland, to guarantee the quality of the state's famous product, agriculture officials said.

But the fruit only makes up 10 percent of the state's orange crop and 25 percent to 35 percent of the grapefruit crop. The rest leaves the state as citrus products. Frozen fruit still on trees and destined for processing is not affected by the embargo.

Albanian ruler may have died in shootout

LONDON (AP) — Enver Hoxha, the ruler of Communist Albania, may have died of wounds sustained in a gunfight with Prime Minister Mehmet Shehu, the London Times reported today.

Albania's official Radio Tirana, in a report monitored here Dec. 19, said Shehu, 66, committed suicide in what the state radio called a nervous crisis. The report made no mention of Hoxha.

Since that report, the Times said today, there have been persistent rumors in Belgrade, the capital of neighboring Yugoslavia, that Shehu died in a gun battle with Hoxha, and that Hoxha now has died of wounds received in the alleged shootout.

Shehu had been Prime Minister of the Balkan nation since 1954. Strongman Hoxha, 73, the better known of the two outside Albania, and the country's effective ruler for the last 36 years, became Albanian Communist Party first secretary the same year that Shehu took up the premiership.

There was no indication who might have filled the presumed power vacuum left by the reported deaths.

For many years Albania's Communist rulers have kept the backward and largely agricultural country of 2.29 million inhabitants closed to Western visitors.

Robinson makes it too

Aaron now Hall of Famer

By The Associated Press

There was a rustle in the Imperial Ballroom of the Sheraton Centre when Commissioner Bowie Kuhn stepped to the rostrum to proclaim that home run king Hank Aaron and gifted Frank Robinson were the latest to be voted into baseball's Hall of Fame.

Aaron received 406 of a possible 415 votes for the highest percentage since Ty Cobb's 98.2 per cent in 1936, Kuhn intoned.

A newsmen in the second row was heard to growl: "How can nine guys not vote for Aaron? They're idiots."

"Schmoes," added another.

"If Aaron shouldn't be voted in unanimously, who the devil should?" complained another.

"We ought to see if these guys deserve to be in the Baseball Writers Association," came the gripe from another side of the aisle.

It has been suggested that the names of those who did not vote for Aaron be made public. There are those who want the culprits unmasked, exposed and hung up on the line for national ridicule.

That would be flagrant injustice.

What player, great or near great, holds the God-given right to be the unanimous choice. It hasn't been so in the past. It won't be so in the future, insists Joe Reichler, former Associated Press baseball writer, author, a member of the writers' section of the Hall of Fame and longtime aide to the commissioner.

"Someone wanted to bet me that Pete Rose would be a unanimous pick when he becomes eligible (five years after retirement)," Reichler said Wednesday at the ceremonies. "I quickly offered to take it. It'll never happen. There always will be some people down the line who, for perhaps a variety of personal reasons, will not go with the mob."

Why not? It's their privilege. It is also patently unfair for the baseball writers to reveal the identities and votes of its 400-plus members who annually cast ballots.

If it be true that there are giants — Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Willie Mays and Hank Aaron — whose deeds leave no question about their right to a niche in Cooperstown, N.Y., why hold an election?

Put them in automatically every year, hold a vote only for the fringe players.

If the BBWAA (writers) want this to be a democratic process — as it should be — then every member has the privilege to vote his conscience without fear of the retaliation.

There was no unanimity even for the original inductees in 1936 — Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Honus Wagner, Walter Johnson and Christy Mathewson — five all-time greats. Ty Cobb was best, getting all but four of 226 votes. Twenty-one people didn't vote for Ruth and Wagner.

Joe DiMaggio didn't make it until the third year of eligibility and even then was shunned by 28 voters.

The walls of Jericho didn't come tumbling down.

Right or wrong, some writers feel personality as well as performance should be taken into account. They vote peeves.

NBA shooting for cable tv contracts

By The Associated Press

The Sunday afternoons a basketball fan can spend for free with the likes of Larry Bird, Julius Erving and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar appear to be numbered.

The National Basketball Association has signed what is likely its last national network television contract. Looming large in the league's future is the multimillion-dollar potential of cable TV.

Rapidly expanding cable companies which rely on sports for a good deal of their programming are looking for major events to fill time.

And — as more communities are "wired" and more subscribers added — the cablecasters are nearing the point of competing financially for big-league events.

Taking an apparent first step in the direction of cable, the NBA last month signed a four-year, $88 million contract with CBS, starting with the 1982-83 season.

It provides for national network coverage of the midseason All-Star Game, a limited number of regular-season games (three the first year, seven in each of the next three years) and a big part of the playoffs, including prime-time telecasts of the championship series.

Since 1973, CBS has carried the NBA nationwide just about every Sunday between mid-January and late May. But by limiting the number of regular-season games CBS carries, the NBA feels it is giving each franchise a better chance to cut its own deal with local stations and cablecasters.

At the same time, it provides the league itself an opportunity to jump into cable TV in a big way.

David J. Stern, the NBA's executive vice president for business and legal affairs, said the league is negotiating with national cable companies — presumably USA and all-sports ESPN — for next season.

Announcement of a package of national cable contracts is expected within three weeks, Stern said, with a shorter term than the CBS pact "because of the advancements the cable companies are rapidly making."

USA already pays about $1 million annually to carry an NBA Game of the Week each Thursday night, and ESPN has a regularly scheduled NBA highlight show.

But the pending contracts, reportedly totaling about $5 million range, could also move cable in to the Sunday void created by CBS' decision to do fewer regular-season games — none at all until after the NCAA Final Four is through in late March — and cover parts of the playoffs as well.

Mississippi stuns Kentucky, 67-65

By The Associated Press

Kentucky basketball Coach Joe B. Hall had no excuses after his sixth-ranked Wildcats came up short in a 67-65 loss to Mississippi.

"We just didn't play hard enough early in the game. Ole Miss came out early and played aggressive, hard-nosed basketball," Hall said after Wednesday night's defeat. "They were intimidating and we just weren't ready to play. We just kind of wilted."

Mississippi Coach Bob Weltlich said he thought the Rebels "played awfully smart early in the game" as they rolled up a 34-23 halftime advantage and never trailed in the Southeastern Conference matchup.

Mississippi, led by Carlos Clark's 23 points, fought off one Kentucky rally to take a 13-point lead in the second half but eventually needed two free throws by Eric Laird in the final minute to sew up the victory. The loss left Kentucky at 9-2, while Mississippi improved its mark to 7-4.

"I thought our players just did a super job," said Weltlich. "Of course, we were very pleased to beat a nationally ranked team. But I told our players to celebrate tonight and be ready for business as usual tomorrow."

In other games involving the Associated Press' Top Twenty teams, top-ranked North Carolina beat No. 12 North Carolina State 61-41, No. 2 Missouri downed Oklahoma State 54-49, and fourth-ranked DePaul blasted South Carolina 92-59.

Asso., eighth-ranked Georgetown edged Seton Hall 62-60, No. 9 Arkansas got by Texas Christian 62-59, 13th-ranked Alabama beat Louisiana State 100-79, and No. 17 Louisville defeated South Alabama 76-68.

The Top Ten Freshman Michael Jordan scored 20 points and helped spark a second-half surge as North Carolina pulled away from North Carolina State. The Tar Heels, 13-0, broke the game open with a 12-point run after the Wolfpack fought to within a point at 33-32 midway through the second half.

"I was really concerned about this game, but our players rose to the occasion and played with great poise," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith.

Ricky Frazier scored 15 points including four layups late in the game as Missouri ran its record to 12-0. Oklahoma State's Matt Clark hit a three-point play to put the Cowboys within 52-49, but Marvin McCrary made two foul shots with a minute left to assure the victory.

Forwards Bernard Randolph and Terry Cummings scored 19 points apiece in a romp that lifted DePaul to 14-1.

Georgetown, 14-2, edged Seton Hall on a jump shot by Eric Floyd with 58 seconds to play.

Hawks and Hawk Queens travel to Odessa

The Howard College Hawks and Hawk Queens will be traveling to Odessa tonight to take on Odessa College in two Western Conference games.

The Hawks will be trying to bounce back after a disappointing loss to Midland College Monday night that dropped their league record to 3-2.

Hawk coach Harold Wilder is confident his team will respond to the challenge.

"If we can just cut down our turnovers and be patient with our offense and get the good shot then we should do well."

"Odessa has good size across the front line and they have a pretty good guard. They're 2-1 in league play and are a bit erratic sometimes. We look for the game to be physical, but we expect to be able to play right with them," Wilder said.

The Hawk Queens, who are idle on Monday, are coming off a successful stint at the Odessa Women's Tournament where they won all three games.

The Queens defeated Western Oklahoma, San Jacinto college and Hardin Simmons over the weekend and Coach Don Stevens believes his girls are ready for conference play.

Stevens said his team has improved offensively and several of his players have begun to find their playing potential.

6'6" Susan Cordell had an especially good game against Hardin Simmons, as it appears she may become a formidable opponent for future Western Conference foes.

The Hawk Queens will also be in action this Saturday against Schreiner College in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. The girls' record now stands at 11-6 for the year.

The Hawks next home appearance will be Jan. 18 as they face Clarendon College in another Western Conference game.

Forsan sweeps two from Stanton

The Forsan boys' and girls' varsity basketball teams swept a couple of games from Stanton Tuesday night as the boys won 44-37 and the girls triumphed 64-43.

The Forsan girls were led in scoring by Vicki Baggett with 14. Rhonda Gaskins and Deana Clark added 12 and 11 points, respectively in the Forsan victory.

Jennifer Young poured in 25 for the losing Stanton team.

The Forsan boys edged Stanton on an all around team effort with scoring being equally divided among all team members.

The boys are now 1-3 in District 5-AA play and 14-5 for the season. The Forsan girls are undefeated in district play with a 4-0 record and they are 16-3 on the year.

Forsan's next game is in Sterling City with only the varsity boys and girls playing.

Seminole cools Coahoma, 81-53

A red hot Seminole team cooled off the Coahoma Bulldogs 81-53 in a game held Tuesday night.

Coach Doug Harriman said the Bulldogs never found their shooting touch and were unable to defense the accurate Seminole shooters.

Scoring leaders for Coahoma were Brad Fryar and Bruce Walker with 13 and 11 points, respectively. Harriman said Fryar, Dee Cagle and Ricky Martin had good games for the Bulldogs.

The win put Coahoma at 0-1 in district and 5-11 for the year.

The Seminole JV also won beating Coahoma 65-42.

Coahoma's next game will be Friday in Coahoma against Denver City.

COAHOMA (53) — Bruce Walker 4-3-11; Robbie Pharrington 2-0-4; Brad Fryar 6-1-13; Ricky Martin 2-0-4; Bobby Joe Turcher 2-1-7; Jim Rindard 3-0-4; Dee Cagle 2-0-8. TOTALS 29-53.

Arkansas edges TCU

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton figures his team played poorly, but then he credits a fiery Texas Christian squad for the troubles his ninth-ranked Razorbacks endured en route to a narrow 62-59 win.

"We played like we got into town at 5 o'clock. That is what time our seniors made it to the hotel. We had all kinds of travel problems," said Sutton. "I'd like to blame our lay on that, but TCU deserves a lot of credit by the way it played."

It took a 23-point performance by Scott Hastings and some key free throws in the closing minutes to insure the Razorback win over a determined Texas Christian team that had led twice and tied the score eight times in the second half. "We made too many mistakes to win the ball game," said a disappointed TCU Coach Jim Killingsworth.

"Although I thought we could win it, they were too tough at the end and we didn't have the patience we had earlier in the game," he added.

TCU tied the score for the last time in the second half at 54-54 when Doug Arnold, who finished with 17 points, dunked the ball with 4:54 remaining.

But the Razorbacks countered with the first of four free throws by Hastings, a 10-footer by Tony Brown and a tip-in by Alvin Robertson to take a 59-54 advantage with 2:57 remaining.

"Our team could have figured it wasn't our night and given up. But we showed some character in hanging on for the victory. We're fortunate to have played poorly and still won. We had far too many turnovers," said Sutton.

TCU, which led 24-23 at one point in the first half, didn't make a field goal in the final 7:36 of the half and Arkansas took a 31-25 advantage at intermission.

TCU's last lead came at 47-45 with 7:33 remaining when center Brian Christensen hit two free throws.

Darrell Browder scored 14 points for TCU and Baker added 13.

Brad Friess was the only other Razorback in double figures with 11 points.

Howard County Boxing team captures first

The Howard County Boxing Team won first place in the Crane Optimist Club Junior Olympic Boxing Tournament held last weekend.

The tournament, which was sanctioned by the AAU, saw the Big Spring pugilists walk off as West Texas Regional Champions, and four members captured first place trophies.

In the 12-13-year-old division Juan Baldwin won first place by defeating Roy Calderon of Odessa.

Also in the 12-13-year-old division Juan's brother Jamie won his fight over Gilbert Juarez of Pecos.

Other fighters winning bouts were David Baldwin and Clay Atkins. Dean Baldwin won second place in the 10-11-year-old division with a decision over Augustin Hernandez of Midland.

Overall 12 teams competed in the meet. Howard County took the first place trophy away from the Andrews team who had held the regional title for the past three years.

The team has been working out in the Howard County Fair Barns for the past few months and according to coach Joe Martinez the boys are improving steadily.

Lendl, McEnroe move up in Volvo Masters tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — Top-seeded Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia and John McEnroe, the tournament's No. 2 seed, powered their way to opening-round victories in the $400,000 Volvo

Masters tennis championships.

Lendl defeated Vitas Gerulaitis 4-6, 7-5, 6-2, while McEnroe crushed Roscoe Tanner 6-3, 6-2.

In other matches, Guillermo Vilas upset his fellow Argentine Jose Luis Clerc 6-1, 7-5, and Jimmy Connors beat Eliot Teltscher 7-5, 6-1.

Austin wins AP athlete honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Tracy Austin, who came back from a debilitating back injury to capture her second U.S. Open women's singles title, today was named Female Athlete of the Year for 1981 by The Associated Press.

John McEnroe won Male Athlete of the Year honors, marking the first time that tennis players have captured the AP award in the same year.

Austin, a 19-year-old from Rolling Hills, Calif., sat out most of the first half of the year with a sciatic nerve injury after winning the Colgate Championships in January. But when she returned to the courts, she won four consecutive tournaments, including the Open, the country's premier event.

Her dramatic domination was rewarded by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters as she polled 99 votes to win the AP award for the second time in three years. Second was last year's winner, Chris Evert Lloyd, with 95 votes.

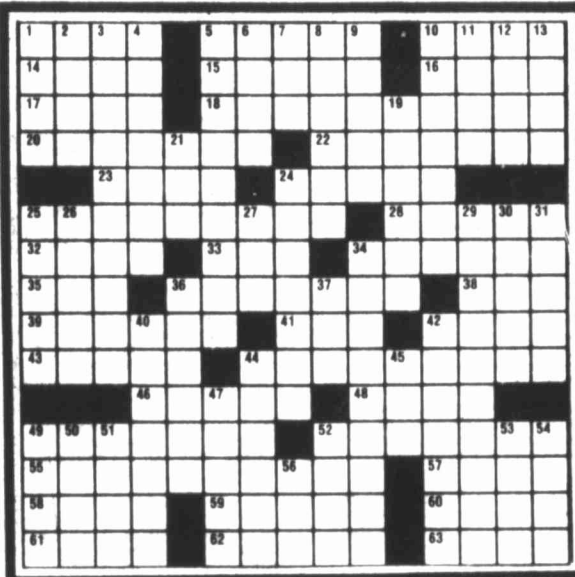

The two tennis stars, whose styles are almost identical, finished far

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JAN. 15, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: It's advisable that you attend to personal tasks despite the obstacles. Don't put yourself in a position in which delays occur. Unexpected benefits come your way later in the day.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Buckle down to the work that needs to be done and handle it efficiently. Be alert to a new opportunity at this time.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Don't expect much from friends who are busy with own affairs right now. Make plans to have more abundance in the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Show more courtesy and thoughtfulness to higher-ups who are under a heavy strain now. Don't neglect any payments.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Meet new and interesting persons who can help you in career matters. New situations should be studied with care.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Knowing what higher-ups expect of you makes the going easier and you stay on the right track. Think constructively.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Listen to views and complaints of associates and come to a better accord. Sidestep a foe who is jealous of you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Avoid a co-worker who is in a bad mood right now. Take more time for rest and build up your energies. Be logical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Not a good day to take any risks. You must use tact to gain acceptance of others at this time. Show others you have wisdom.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Make sure you choose your words well with others or there could be a gross misunderstanding. Be more optimistic.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Much care should be exercised in motion today to avoid possible accident. Try not to get drawn into arguments with others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Exercise extreme care where monetary affairs are concerned or you could find yourself in a financial bind.

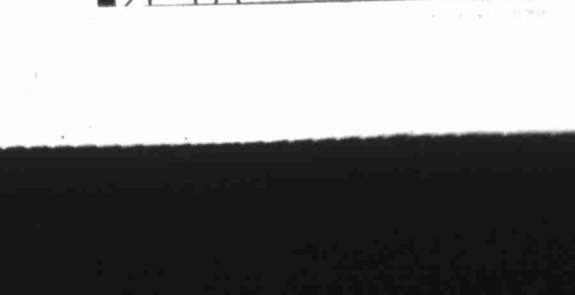

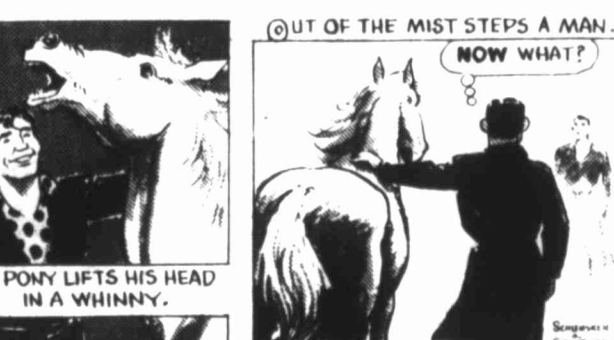

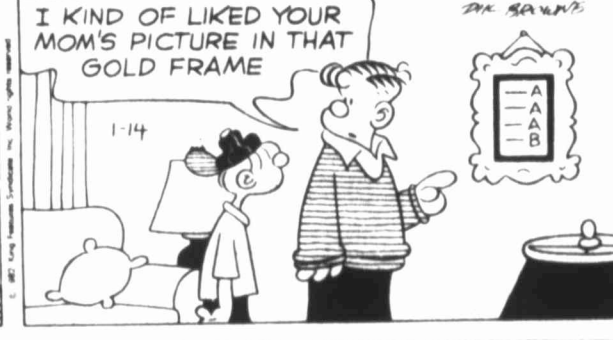

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Take care of a troublesome situation without delay. Make the effort to improve health and appearance.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will know what to do in difficult situations, so direct the education along troubleshooting lines for best results. A compassionate nature in this chart. Give ethical and spiritual training early in life. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you.

Weather death toll hits 177

Winter refused to release its grip on the South today, dumping new snow in the Gulf states, while the East dug out from a storm that roared up the Atlantic coast clogging highways and closing airports. Six days of cold and snow have killed at least 177 people.

NLT stock acquisition is denied

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee's insurance commissioner says he denied a bid by American General Corp. to obtain up to 25 percent of stock in NLT Corp. because the Texas firm's acquisition plan is so uncertain.

Commissioner John C. Neff, who signed a denial order Wednesday, said the Houston-based American General has until March 14 to file an appeal in Chancery Court at Nashville.

After four days of hearings in November and December, Neff said he found "that the uncertainty concerning the time at which the proposed acquisition will take place and the uncertainty of whether it will take place at all creates such adverse conditions that the plan must be abandoned."

NLT officials, who claim American General may try to take over the Nashville-based holding company, were delighted with Neff's decision.

"We shall continue our vigilance to protect the policyholders and shareholders of NLT Corp.," Walter Robinson Jr., NLT chairman and chief executive officer, said in a prepared statement.

A spokesman for American General declined comment.

The Red Cross opened 25 disaster shelters in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina.

Alabama imported 100 utility workers from Florida.

Investigators were trying to determine whether the weather was to blame for the crash of an Air Florida jet on the Potomac River in downtown Washington Wednesday, which killed 80 people. Rescue efforts were hampered by the snow, snarled traffic and the icy temperatures of the Potomac.

The snowfall Wednesday was a curiosity in the Gulf states, but it became a severe problem as icy power lines snapped, depriving nearly a million people of electrical power and sending thousands to shelters.

The storm dropped a half-foot of snow as it charged up the Atlantic coast, and left as much as 8 inches in Virginia. Schools and businesses were closed throughout the South and East, and University of Tennessee students were sledding on the streets of the Knoxville campus during the first cold-day closure of the university in 18 years.

With ice and snow everywhere, some people had very little water to drink as pipes froze and burst. Two Mississippi cities declared water emergencies and a water-main break in Illinois prompted officials to urge people to boil their water.

New snow fell early today from Shreveport to New Orleans as Louisiana Gov. Dave Treen advised state employees to report to work only "if roads permit."

Georgia Gov. George Busbee declared a state of emergency in Atlanta, which was immobilized by half a foot of snow, and ordered National Guardsmen to aid stranded motorists and help move abandoned cars.

The Red Cross opened 25 disaster shelters in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina.

Alabama imported 100 utility workers from Florida.

Investigators were trying to determine whether the weather was to blame for the crash of an Air Florida jet on the Potomac River in downtown Washington Wednesday, which killed 80 people. Rescue efforts were hampered by the snow, snarled traffic and the icy temperatures of the Potomac.

The snowfall Wednesday was a curiosity in the Gulf states, but it became a severe problem as icy power lines snapped, depriving nearly a million people of electrical power and sending thousands to shelters.

The storm dropped a half-foot of snow as it charged up the Atlantic coast, and left as much as 8 inches in Virginia. Schools and businesses were closed throughout the South and East, and University of Tennessee students were sledding on the streets of the Knoxville campus during the first cold-day closure of the university in 18 years.

With ice and snow everywhere, some people had very little water to drink as pipes froze and burst. Two Mississippi cities declared water emergencies and a water-main break in Illinois prompted officials to urge people to boil their water.

New snow fell early today from Shreveport to New Orleans as Louisiana Gov. Dave Treen advised state employees to report to work only "if roads permit."

Georgia Gov. George Busbee declared a state of emergency in Atlanta, which was immobilized by half a foot of snow, and ordered National Guardsmen to aid stranded motorists and help move abandoned cars.

Five inches of snow clogged afternoon traffic in the nation's capital, and cars were barely moving on the 14th Street Bridge when the Air Florida jet dove into the traffic and sank in the ice-covered river. Police spokesman Gary Hankins said officials assumed "most of the people are down there still in their seatbelts."

Survivors swimming in the icy water in their indoor clothes appeared nearly numb and had trouble clinging to rescue lines dropped from helicopters. Ambulances were hampered by paralyzed traffic.

Air traffic in and out of Baton Rouge, La., was halted Wednesday and New York's La Guardia Airport was closed to incoming flights for three hours in the afternoon.

At least 26 states have reported weather-related deaths since Saturday.

There were 23 deaths reported in Illinois; 16 in Pennsylvania and North Carolina; 13 in New York and Alabama; 11 in Texas; eight in Virginia; seven each in Iowa, West Virginia, Georgia and Michigan; six each in Ohio, Wisconsin and South Carolina; five each in Indiana, Louisiana and Mississippi; four in Minnesota; two each in Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri and Tennessee; one each in Connecticut, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Florida. Two others were missing and presumed dead in Virginia.

Up to 700 cars were stuck on a 15-mile stretch of Interstate 35 between West and Abbot, Texas, and stranded travelers were taken to temporary quarters.

Two hundred people came to a Veterans of Foreign Wars post that provided donated pastry and stew.

Cars were delayed up to four hours in New York as 6 inches of snow fell Wednesday evening. The rush hour in northern New Jersey lasted until 11 p.m.

Some buses in Baltimore were more than 90 minutes behind schedule as they inched through clogged streets.

Residents of the Chicago suburb of Elmwood Park, Ill., were asked to boil their water as officials worked to fix a water-main break. Three other suburbs lifted similar orders Wednesday after pipes were repaired.

Water emergencies were declared in Jackson and Natchez, Miss., and mayors called on citizens to conserve water depleted by burst pipes.

The Jackson, Miss., zoo closed and Gov. William Winter handed out hot chocolate to chilly late-night revelers Wednesday after they built a snow man in front of the governor's mansion in that city.

With a slackening confidence in 1982 sales and profit growth, American business managers are trimming their spending plans, according to a pair of new business reports.

A survey of business executives by Dun & Bradstreet, a business information firm, said confidence in the outlook for sales and profits had declined sharply.

In a separate report issued Wednesday, the Commerce Department said business executives "pooled late last year indicated they would reduce spending on new plant and equipment by an inflation-adjusted 0.5 percent this year. If capital spending actually declines this year it will be the first drop since 1974 when the economy suffered a severe recession.

By comparison, spending on plant and equipment, the backbone of the nation's industrial sector, rose 0.3 percent last year and 0.8 percent in 1980, after accounting for inflation. Such spending rose 7.2 percent in 1979.

As businesses lower their sights for 1982, consumers apparently are pulling back as well.

The Commerce Department said retail sales by U.S. merchants rose 0.4 percent in December after an increase of 0.7 percent in the previous month.

And in Detroit, the five major U.S. automakers said car sales fell 9.9 percent in the first 10 days of January.

Chrysler Corp. was the only domestic automaker delivering more cars, with sales up 4 percent.

The Commerce Department report on spending plans indicated that businessmen were not heeding the Reagan administration's call for greater investment.

Reagan officials have said repeatedly that incentives in the multiyear tax cut enacted in 1981 should spur investment this year and help pull the economy out of its second recession in two years.

Without adjusting for inflation, non-farm spending on new plants and equipment this year is now estimated to reach $346.4 billion by the executives who will be ordering — or have already ordered — such spending, the new report said.

LTV to expand Youngstown plant

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Youngstown metropolitan-area industry, once dominated by productive steel plants and decimated several years ago when many steel facilities closed, has had some rejuvenating news.

LTV Corp. said Wednesday in Dallas that it has started a $60 million program to expand production of seamless pipe products at its Campbell plant near Youngstown.

"The program will result in a 54 percent increase in the shipping capacity of the Campbell facility of our steelmaking subsidiary, Jones & Laughlin Steel, and strengthen our position as a leading supplier to U.S. oil and gas companies," said Raymond A. Hay, LTV's president and chief operating officer.

Thomas Graham, J&L's president and chief executive officer, said the large-diameter hot mill at the Campbell plant will get a new rotary hearth furnace, two types of hot rolling units and new length and weight control equipment.

The work is expected to be finished by December, except for the furnace installation which should be completed by a month later, LTV said.

Graham said the furnace will have a capacity of 150 tons per hour, and that the increased capacity will make the plant the nation's largest producer of 7- to 14-inch diameter seamless pipe.

J&L officials said the project will preserve the 2,000-plus jobs at the plant. Officials did not speculate on future increases in employment at the facility.

The pipe plant, built in the 1930s, was one of the former Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. plants acquired by J&L when LTV Corp. merged with Lykes Corp., then parent of Youngstown Sheet, a few years ago.

"We're putting capital money into what we see as a growing market opportunity," said R. Gordon Allen, president of J&L's central division based in Cleveland.

He said the energy industry, the basis of the pipe plant's business, is expected to grow the rest of this decade.

"It's a good facility now," Allen said. "We want to make it a world-class plant."

Training programs will help employees cope with the new technology to be used, Allen said.

In late 1981, J&L announced a plan to spend $150 million to rebuild two coke oven batteries at the Campbell Works, a plan which reportedly will save about 350 jobs.

J&L is one of the largest suppliers of oilfield tubular goods, with additional plants in Aliquippa, Pa., and Indiana Harbor, Ind.

ABA head says constitution in danger

HOUSTON (AP) — The U.S. Constitution may be reduced to a "scrap of paper" if efforts to limit federal jurisdiction in matters such as abortion, school prayer and busing are successful, the president of the American Bar Association says.

David R. Brink of Minneapolis told a Jewish group Tuesday he will ask the ABA at its mid-year meeting next week to mount a campaign opposing 32 bills in Congress aimed at restricting court powers.

"They challenge our very form of government by threatening elimination of the third branch of the federal government, the judicial," Brink told the National Jewish Community Relations Advisory Council.

Brink said the nation was founded on principles that the Constitution is "the fundamental law" and the courts are "the final arbiter" of conflicts between it and Congressional action.

"Those principals are now being challenged in America in potentially the most serious constitutional crisis since our great Civil War," Brink said.

"We didn't think these bills would be taken seriously."

Ol' Man Winter's back

Schools close as area roads ice over

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

Old Man Winter returned to Big Spring last night after a brief spell of warmer weather, dumping at least two inches of snow on Big Spring and causing school closings and natural gas curtailment.

For the third day Ennergas Co. has asked two large county industries — Cosden and Sid Richardson Co. — to reduce by about 50 percent the amount of natural gas they use as fuel.

City water crews battled leaks and breaks in water lines, while other lines froze and utility crews handled complaints from waterless customers.

"The cold weather is freezing some of the lines," said city utility lab technician Daniel Ryan this morning. "A lot of people are calling to say they have no water."

There were no reports of sewer line problems, he said. Drivers, meanwhile, battled icy county roads and some schools closed for the day because of hazardous road conditions.

The Texas Department of Public Safety issued a warning against driving unless it's an emergency, according to a DPS spokeswoman in the local DPS office.

She said three accidents had been investigated by DPS troopers in the county this morning, but none was serious.

All Big Spring Independent School District schools are closed, said Superintendent Lynn Hise, citing bad road conditions as the reason.

Coahoma school were closed as well, said district Superintendent

SLOW TRAVELING — People heading to work had to take it easy on the roads today, as the area was blanketed with snow. Snowfall began in the city about 10 p.m.

Richard Souter. Forsan schools, however, were open this morning.

"We've had breakfast and they're in the classes. Every bus was in by 8:30," said Superintendent J.F. Poyner. "There's snow on the roads, but it's just a matter of taking your time and being careful."

Garden City schools were open also, while in Martin County the Stanton school district had shut down this morning, said Stanton school Superintendent Wayne Mitchell.

Colorado City schools were closed for the third day in a row today, according to Superintendent Charles Uelton. Fuel curtailments from Lone Star Gas Co. were cited as the reason. Tuesday and has continued steadily since that time. This photo was shot looking toward the south on Gregg Street.

The low temperature in the last 24 hours was 17 degrees, reached at 8 a.m. today, said Charles Yates of the field station.

Yesterday's high was 58 degrees, reached just before noon, Yates said. Besides kids who got an unexpected vacation today, farmers may be the only other persons happy with the surge of winter weather.

"It'll make farmers so happy they won't know what to do," said Bill Fryrear, a researcher at the station.

"We need the moisture. It loosens up the soil. I suspect we'll see a lot of land worked and cultivated in the next few weeks."

CRMWD sets new record for municipal deliveries

The Colorado River Municipal Water District delivered 17.5 billion gallons of water during 1981 and set a new record for municipal deliveries. The actual figure was 17,465,864,180 gallons, or 4.37 percent more than in 1980.

While deliveries of 14,970,752,300 gallons was a peak for water to cities, the district total was considerably under the all-time record of 20.35 billion gallons in 1974 when oil companies took seven billion gallons. Last year the oil company deliveries amounted to 2.5 billion gallons.

Because the middle of the year was cooler and wetter than usual, municipal deliveries sagged until September, but from that point they were up by about 5 percent and finished the year .33 of one percent over 1980.

On the other hand the 2,515,111,880 gallons to oil companies was 37.20 percent more than the previous year. The reason for this sharp gain was that deliveries of surface water were restored for 1981. SACROC unit in Scurry County took 656 million gallons more surface water for the year.

The increase in municipal deliveries amounted to 50 million gallons, and while most cities showed slight declines, San Angelo took 226 million gallons where it had not taken any in 1980.

The deliveries by cities include: Big Spring 2,810,497,000 billion gallons, down 5.97 percent; Midland 3,936,530,500, down .33 of one percent; Odessa 6,819,377,000 gallons, up .83 of one percent; Robert Lee 15,786,300; San Angelo 226,282,500 (no deliveries in 1980) Snyder 1,051,284,000 gallons, down 3.41 percent; Stanton 110,995,000 gallons, down 9.39 percent.

Jail prisoner found hanged by socks in cell

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

A Howard County jail prisoner was found dead last night in his cell. Ronald Keith Jolley, 17, was discovered hanging in his shower stall by the jailer at about 9:14 p.m.

According to Sheriff A.N. Standard, Jolley had been checked by the jailer approximately ten minutes earlier during the jailer's regular rounds. When the deputy checked again at 9:14, he found Jolley hanging from his shower stall by socks and stockings he apparently had tied together.

Standard said attempts to revive Jolley were unsuccessful by the two men on duty who also called an ambulance for assistance. Jolley was declared dead by strangulation by Justice of the Peace Bobby West at approximately 9:30 p.m., Standard said.

Jolley was in county jail on charges of robbery and aggravated sexual abuse although Standard said he was unsure about the sexual abuse charge. The 17-year-old had been arrested by city police Sunday Dec. 27, 1981 and had been in jail since then.

Jolley had been arrested following a report to police of a nine-year-old girl who had been robbed and possibly raped in the 1700 block of Kentucky Way.

According to sheriff's office records, Jolley, of 1606 6th, was being held for the Texas Youth Council, a juvenile correctional facility.

Services are pending with Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

He was born Aug. 2, 1964 in San Antonio. He was a member of the Northwest Third Street Church of Christ.

He is survived by his parents, Jimmie and Bertha Jolley; one brother, Brian Douglas Jolley of Big Spring; a foster brother, Tommie Mithcel of Big Spring; three sisters Ms. Milinn Turner of Dallas, Paula NeCole Jolley of Big Spring and Ms. Valaree Johnson of Houston; his grandmothers, Ms. Bertha Hill of Waurika, Okla., and Ms. Brenda Mae Jackson of Dallas; four nieces.

Lamesa salutes public education Poster and essay contest

LAMESA (SC) — The Lamesa Education Association has announced a poster and essay contest in conjunction with the recognition of Jan. 17 as a national day of conscience for public education.

Students in grades three through high school may enter the essay contest in their appropriate grade level category. The theme for the essays will be "Liberty and Justice for All...Impossible Without Public Education."

Essays should be no longer than three hand-written pages or three type-written pages. Students should enter their essays by Jan. 20.

Essays may be turned in to Judy Couzzourt at North Elementary School, Knoxville Gore at the high school, Jarvis Brown at the Middle School and Peggy Breedlove at the V.Z. Rogers school.

Students at the South Elementary school should forward their essays to Mrs. Couzzourt at North Elementary.

The Lamesa Education Association is encouraging all students to enter the contest. The categories are divided into grades three through five, grades six through eight, and the high school division.

The local winner's poster will be displayed in Washington D.C., and will be eligible for the national contest.

A related poster contest also will be held and the poster contest theme will be "A Salute to the Public Schools." Posters may be in black and white or color, and may be no larger than 11 by 17 inches.

The poster contest is open to children in kindergarten through eighth grade.

The local winner's poster will be displayed in Washington D.C., and will be eligible for the national contest.

Fire hits

Watts home

The home of Nelda Watts in the Sand Springs community was hit by a fire yesterday and units from Big Spring and Coahoma responded to the blaze.

The Watts home is located at the end of Moore Road near the Collins Grocery. According to the sheriff's office, considerable damage was sustained by the home.

Lamesa ISD seeks work bids

LAMESA (SC) — The Lamesa Independent School District Board of Trustees met today in a special session to go over various aspects of proposed high school improvements with the district's architectural firm of Huckabee and Donham of Andrews.

Lamesa school district superintendent Neal Chastain says the meeting served mainly as a general work session between the board and the architect. A tentative date was set for the acceptance of bids for various remodeling jobs needing to be done at the high school.

Chastain emphasized that the date, March 25, was only a tentative date, and was subject to change. The board had agreed that Feb. 15 would be the date to attempt to sell the school bond.

Feb. 15 is a regular meeting date for the Lamesa school board.

Another decision made yesterday was to panel all the hallways at the high school, and to keep the bid specification basic while holding back on the inclusion of some alternate options which could push the bid price up and over the limit of $3 million.

Chastain said the bids will be kept basic, and if the board has money left over from the original bids, then some alternative options will be included.

The architects began yesterday the tedious task of preparing the specifications for the bid processes.

Yesterday's session lasted about two hours, and marked the first time since the passage of the bond that the school board and architects sat down to prepare for the construction and renovation.

Cosden sets safety record

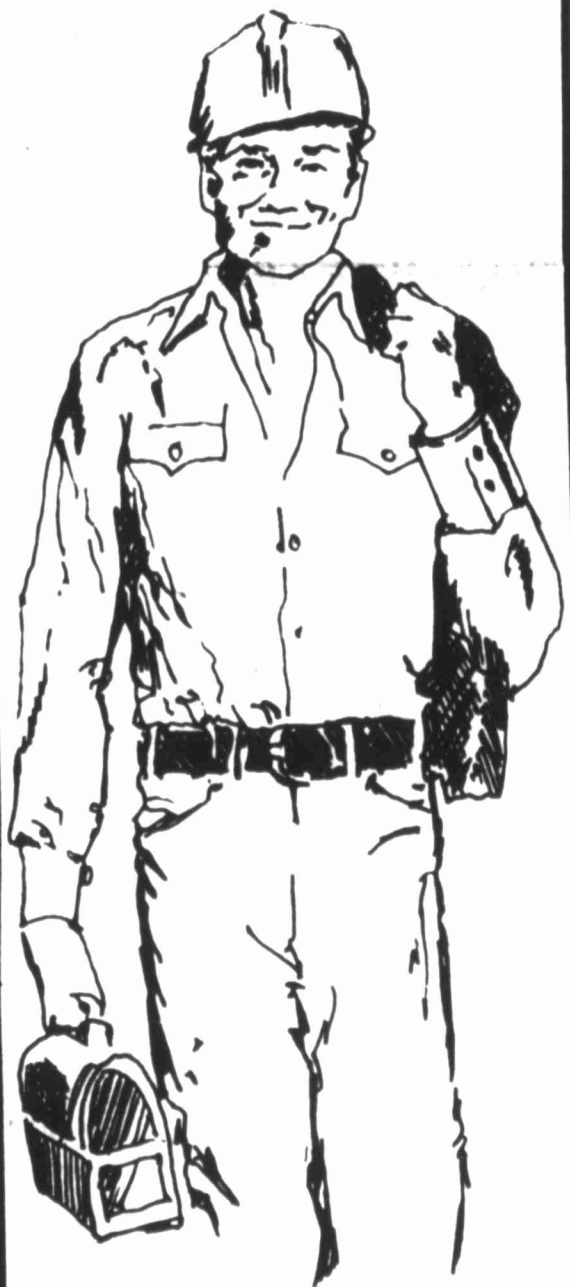

On Monday, employees of Cosden Oil and Chemical's Pipeline Department completed three years without suffering a lost-time accident, Cosden officials said.

In a telegram to all pipeline employees, Cosden President Ken Perry congratulated each one on this accomplishment and commended them for their attention to safety, team work and consideration for their fellow workers.

Perry advised that the pipeline employees efforts, along with others throughout the company enabled Cosden as well as American Petrofina Inc. to set a new all-time safety record in 1981.

Sam Hunnicutt, vice president of operations for Cosden Pipeline, expressed his appreciation to all the employees and advised that as a token of the company's appreciation, each employee will receive a $100 gift certificate redeemable at participating Big Spring merchants.

City suspends TESCO request

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

A revised fuel adjustment policy brought before the Big Spring City Council last night by Texas Electric Service Co. was suspended by the council pending further study of the electric company's request.

Local TESCO manager Hooper Sanders explained to the council that the policy change requested was prompted by a recent state court decision calling for the electric company to notify cities and the Texas Public Utilities Commission before it makes changes in billings due to fluctuations in fuel costs.

Prior approval has not been obtained by TESCO and two sister utilities affected by the court decision, Sanders said. The utilities are now asking that the cities and the PUC approve a schedule in which the utilities get approval of the fuel cost adjustment on billings 70 days before the adjustments actually show up on electric bills.

The council suspended the change for 120 days so that the matter could be studied and possibly undergo a public hearing.

In other action, the council in one vote approved five leases at the Big Spring Industrial Park.

Fiberflex Industries was given approval of a plan to rent six acres adjacent to space the company already rents at the park. The cost is $100 per month per acre for the unimproved acreage.

Waggoner Trucking Co. of Odessa received approval of a request to rent a building and an acre and a half of land at the park. Cost of the two-year contract is $500 a month.

The Big Spring Handgun Association got permission to rent the old Webb Air Force Base pistol range for $255 a year.

Bob's Custom Woodwork will move into a new building and pay the city $600 a month for the space utilized by the company. In vacating its present building, Bob's will open up a building within the O.I.L. expansion area.

In other matters, the council: • Denied a claim brought by Lana Coots on behalf of her son Todd who, according to city reports, was involved in an accident Dec. 31 in which a city repair barricade was alleged to be a contributing factor. Acting on the advice of City Attorney Elliott Mit-shell, the council denied the claim by a 4-0 vote. Larry Miller abstained because he felt both the claimant and the city should share liability.

• Approved the sale of some property to Joe Martinez, who lost the land to the city in a tax suit in the early 1970s. The price was set at $3,000, which includes the amount of back taxes the city paid when it acquired the property.

• Approved a bid from ENCO of Plainview to sell the city commercial trash containers for $225 per unit. Assistant City Manager Paul Feazelle told the council the containers would provide the city with $1,800 a month in revenue.

• Approved a bid from Bob Brock Ford to sell the city six police cars.

Glasscock library sought by citizens

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

GARDEN CITY — Plans are under way to bring a public library to Glasscock County with a three-member planning committee tentatively selected by the county commissioners.

The commissioners heard a presentation at their meeting Monday from Jim Scheppeke, coordinator for the West Texas Library System in Lubbock, who explained the benefits available with a public library.

"Glasscock County is one of 21 Texas counties without public library services. We try to get it off the ground and show people the different alternatives to look at with a library," Scheppeke said.

The coordinator said the library system offers consulting help and advice on how to proceed with establishing a public library. He added that the Texas State Library has a $20,000 grant available for new libraries meeting certain standards.

Scheppeke said everyone concerned with the proposed library is looking at all the possibilities.

"In a small community you have to look for something feasible in the long run. One possibility is a joint library between the county and the public school," he said.

The members of the planning committee are expected to be formally approved next month.

Contest deadline nears

Deadline for "Reflections," PTA's fine arts competition, is Monday, according to the Big Spring Council of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Theme of the contest sponsored by National PTA is "What Makes Me Smile."

Paintings, drawings, collages, photographs, prints, poetry, prose, drama and original music scores depicting this theme may be entered in the visual arts, literature and music divisions of the contest.

Judging will be based on evidence of creative ability and expression of the theme.

Students in the local schools having PTAs — College Heights, Kentwood, Marcy, Moss and Washington are eligible to enter. Entries should be turned in at the student's school.

Winners from the individual schools will be entered in the Big Spring Council of PTAs competition. Council winners will progress to the District 17 PTA competition.

Fifteen Texas entries will compete against other state winners in national competition. Many prizes await the top national entries, including gold and silver medals, encyclopedias and cash prizes.

Local cultural arts chairmen are: Madeline Schwarz, College Heights, 263-0797; Mary Margaret Sinclair, Kentwood, 263-3501; Lois Cave, Marcy, 267-6445; Linda Alexander, Moss, 263-0577; and Patricia Hogg, Washington, 263-1542.

For additional information on the contest, call these local chairmen or PTA Council cultural arts chairman Carole Owen, 263-3404.

NARFE plans Thursday meeting

The National Association of Retired Federal Employees, Chapter 1095, will meet at the Kentwood Older Adult Center Thursday at 9:30 a.m.

Ray Green of the Texas State Highway Department, Abilene, will speak and give a slide presentation on either "The Missions of Texas" or "The Scenic Beauty Along Texas Highways." The program will follow a fellowship time and short business meeting.

All retired federal employees, members or not, and their guests are invited to attend the meeting.

C-City council airs police problems

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Fire Chief Jerry Hammond informed the Colorado City Council in its regular Tuesday meeting that by 1985, the city will have to replace a 1955 model pumper truck.

According to Councilman Ray Mason, the Texas State Board of Insurance recognizes the "30-year factor" — meaning, after 30 years, the vehicle is no longer recognized as a usable fire-fighting vehicle.

Mason said, "We can either replace or rebuild the truck," Mason said. "Rebuilding probably would be impossible. One proposal would be adding a dollar a month to each water meter — that way, there would be no increase in taxes and we would tax property owners only."

Two council members, Jean Rowe and Nina Crout, suggested other ways might be found to raise money for the trucks, other than raising water rates.

The need for a new truck has been taken under advisement.

In other business, police chief Jimmy Roundtree said the city still has a manpower problem in his department.

"We are three men short in my department and we stand to lose another February 1," Roundtree said.

"We're getting some applications, but some applicants have been knocked out due to background information. Police salaries are our biggest problem — at least two of our men moved because of low salaries."

Chief Roundtree said, "I'm not sure what it's going to take to arrive at a stable figure, manpower-wise. Even though we have a light crime rate in Colorado City, this can get out of hand when you don't have the personnel to handle it."

A committee named by Mayor Elmer Martin to study police salaries is scheduled to meet next Monday.

Also, the council voted not to pay for half the cost of painting the flagpole in front of the Civic Center. Only councilman Ray Mason voted to pay half the $125 cost.

On another note, Texas Electric manager B.B. Hardee met with the council to ask its support in a procedural change for adjusting fuel costs.

The council agreed to abide by a decision that will ultimately be decided by the Public Utilities Commission.

Dawson blood drive set

LAMESA (SC) — South Plains Blood Service of Lubbock has announced that another blood drive will be held in Lamesa Jan. 19, at the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Co. on North First St.

The blood service has emphasized that January has been proclaimed blood donor month by both Gov. Bill Clements and President Ronald Reagan.

The drive will be held from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. The Dawson County chapter of the South Plains Blood Service is hoping a goal of 100 pints collected is reached.

Mitchell firemen's pay upped

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell County Commissioners took action on a variety of items, among them the reserve deputy program, requested by Sheriff Wendell Bryant. The program was unanimously approved.

In other action, commissioners approved the low bid of $9,835 by Bontky Brothers Construction Co. in Abilene for repairing the North Champion Creek low water crossing. They also okayed a rural fire fighting contract with the volunteer fire departments of Colorado City and Westbrook, with the pay going from $3 per fire per man to $5.

Additionally, three persons were named to the county's grievance committee: David Woods, C.E. Ranne and Mrs. Dale Dickard, with alternates being Wayne Pierce and Mrs. Billie Sweek.

On the subject of county holidays, approval on a 3-1 vote was given for employees to take as holidays Good Friday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Veteran's Day, Thanksgiving Day Nov. 25-26, Christmas Dec. 24-25 and New Year's.

In final action, Danny Sanchez was approved as custodian during the absence of Robert Bracy. Sanchez will be paid an hourly rate of $4.20 for four hours work daily.

Dear Abby

Post-marital surprise

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Waiting Patiently," who couldn't convince her fiancé to have sex with her before their marriage, reminded me of my first husband. He refused to have sex with me until our wedding night. Although I was not a virgin, I always believed that love and total commitment — not the marriage ceremony — should be the prerequisites for sex. But I did what you advised "Waiting Patiently" to do — I thanked my lucky stars that my fiancé respected me enough to wait for our wedding night.

Well, there was no sex on our wedding night either. That's when he broke down and admitted that he was gay. I never suspected it.

I am not saying that all men who want to wait until after marriage for sex are gay. I'm sure most of them are straight, but I think a woman (as well as a man) has the right to know all the facts about her intended's sexual preference.

I am not trying to sell premarital sex, Abby. I feel that sex should not take place until a sincere commitment has been made, and to me, an engagement with intentions to wed is the ultimate commitment. The wedding is the confirmation and celebration of that commitment.

PREFERS A PREVIEW

DEAR PREFERS: Well said. I agree. Sex is not for children or experimenters. It's for mature people who regard it as a commitment.

DEAR ABBY: I married a divorced man who has custody of his two sons. I also have two sons from a former marriage who live with us.

The problem is that my husband's ex-wife has been making a habit of sending lavish Christmas gifts to her sons and totally ignoring my sons. When my boys see the expensive gifts their stepbrothers get, they feel very hurt and left out. This woman was told last year how bad my

QUALITY BODY WORK OFFERED
... at Morris-Robertson

Morris Robertson, sons want to please public

With the possibility of ice on the roads this year, it's all too easy to put a nice big dent in your car or truck. If that has happened to you, or if you think you need a new paint job on that not-so-new automobile, Morris Robertson is the person you need to see.

Morris Robertson Body Shop has the experienced people to do the job you need. They are a family business and have been in Big Spring since 1946.

Morris and his sons take a great deal of pride in the professional work they do. The residents of Big Spring and the surrounding area know they can trust the Robertsons. They are not out to take the public, they are in the business to please the public. And they please the public by turning out the best work at the most reasonable prices. They are very open and honest with the way they deal with customers, and have no desire to make a little extra money by taking advantage of someone in need.

Morris Robertson Body Shop offers complete body work facilities. They can do radiator work, body work and can mend the broken glass and straighten the frame on your car. Morris Robertson and sons open their doors at 7:30 every Monday through Friday morning and close the doors at 5:30 p.m.

With all of this cold, wet weather we've been having, even the most cautious of drivers can make a big mess of his or her car. If you find yourself looking for quality body work, and want a business that takes pride in their work, look no further than Morris Robertson's Body Shop, located at 207 Goliad. They are here to stay, and they are here to please.
