The Wellington Skyrockets and Rockettes will host the Paducah teams in the Wellington High School gym Friday night, Dec. 1.

Drive Begun to Finance Cemetery Work

The Wellington Cemetery Association has opened its annual fall drive for funds—and the need is more urgent than it has been at any time in recent years.

Approximately $4,000 will be needed to pay the expense of maintaining the Wellington cemeteries in 1968.

Zook Thomas, chairman of the Association, said that letters asking for funds are being mailed this week to persons owning lots in the Wellington cemeteries. It is only through contribution from these, along with donations from other interested persons, that money for maintaining the cemeteries is available.

"We have been lower on money this year than we have been for a long time, and it is real important we have a good drive," Mr. Thomas emphasized. "At one time it got to where we almost couldn't pay our bills."

The Cemetery Association has no source of income for maintenance of the cemeteries except through voluntary donations, it was pointed out.

Permanent improvements and acquisition of more land for the cemeteries does not come out of this maintenance fund, Mr. Thomas explained. These have been gifts from organizations or have been made possible by funds given for specific purposes.

Santa Claus Will Visit Wellington on Dec. 9

It's official!

Santa Claus will be in Wellington Saturday, Dec. 9, to greet his hundreds of young friends living in this area.

He will arrive on the courthouse square at 3 p.m., and distribute treats to the boys and girls and if it is possible, he will remain to visit with them so they can tell him what they want for Christmas.

This will be followed by the regular Wellington Good Will Trades Day drawing at 4 p.m.

First of the Trades Days will be held Saturday, Dec. 2 at 4 p.m. on the courthouse lawn, according to Mrs. Pat Phipps, acting Chamber of Commerce manager.

It will be followed by those on Saturday, Dec. 9; Saturday, Dec. 16; Friday, Dec. 22 and Saturday, Dec. 23.

In preparation for the Christmas season, and for the Trades Day series, Wellington merchants are putting out some of the most distinctive holiday merchandise ever featured here. In both variety of selection and in price range, the Wellington buyer's choice this year is unlimited.

Merchants began giving the Trades Day tickets Saturday, Nov. 25.

As a reminder, Mrs. Phipps said the same plan for the drawing will be followed as in past years.

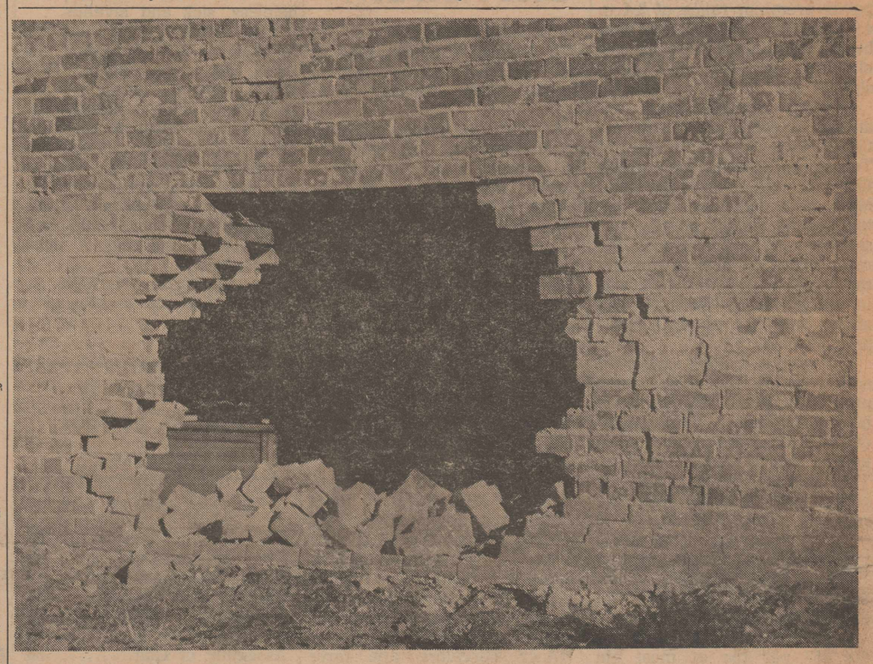

There will be two drawings on each of the five designated afternoons. The first drawing each day will be for $35 in script and a number will be drawn until money is claimed.

The second drawing is for $25 in script and if the first number holder is not present, the money will be held over until the next week, making the drawing worth $50.

Wet weather hampered workmen putting up the Christmas lights and street decorations. However, workmen under the direction of Jake Leach, City of Wellington employee, put up the corner decorations on the square and began stringing the lights around the courthouse on schedule. The work will be completed as soon as possible.

Working with the city are the West Texas Utilities Company and General Telephone Company.

Additional plans for Santa's visit will be announced next week.

ACCIDENT SCENE

This hole, approximately the size of the front end of a car, was knocked in the side of the Chamber of Commerce building Friday night when it was struck by the vehicle driven by G. D. Thomas, 79. He is in serious condition in an Amarillo hospital.

Write Yours Early

Wellington Leader to Print Letters to Santa

The cold wind that blew in early Tuesday brought word from the North Pole that Santa Claus is eagerly awaiting the letters from the boys and girls in Collingsworth County and those who formerly lived here.

Santa Claus also sent word that these are to be sent to him at The Wellington Leader.

He notified the newspaper that he expects them to be printed in the Christmas issue of The Wellington Leader.

All children are urged to write their letters to Santa Claus as early as possible and mail or bring them in.

Several letters have been received already.

The date of the Christmas issue of The Wellington Leader will be announced later, but the important thing is that a letter from every child be received.

FFA Makes Them New

Toy Drive to Benefit County's Needy Kiddies

Every needy child in Collingsworth County will have toys for Christmas!

That is the goal of three Wellington organizations, the Future Farmers chapter, the Jaycees, and the Rotary Club.

This is the traditional used toy drive, and toys are now being accepted at the new vocational ag building on the Wellington High School campus.

Each year the toys are repaired by the boys as part of their classroom work.

Jaycees will conduct a toy pick-up, with the date to be set.

Rotarians for many years have joined in various phases of the toy drive and distribution.

An estimated 100 children will be included in the distribution this year, according to Don Lacy, vocational ag instructor.

Toys in any condition are accepted, he said. Many of these can be repaired, and those that cannot be are used for parts, so toys in any condition are needed, it was pointed out.

"Through your giving of toys that are no longer used or needed in your home, you help our vocational ag department become the closest thing possible to Santa's Workshop," Mr. Lacy said.

Quail Pioneer Critically Ill

J. L. O'Hair, 89, pioneer Quail resident, suffered a slight stroke Thursday, Nov. 23 and is critically ill in St. Joseph's Hospital, his son, Pat O'Hair, said.

Other children were called to be with him, including Fred O'Hair of Farwell, Lee O'Hair of Amarillo, Mrs. Hal Brown of Pampa, Mrs. Cecil French of San Leandro, Calif., and Ross O'Hair of Wellington.

Mr. O'Hair drove his tractor until this summer, when he suffered an injury. He continued to make his home on his farm at Quail until about two months ago, when he entered Thomas Nursing Home. His health continued good until only last week, his son said.

Allotment Notices Mailed

Cotton Referendum Set December 4 through 8

Notices of individual farm acreage allotments and yields for the 1968 upland cotton crop are now being mailed to farmers in Collingsworth County, according to Tom Birchfield, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. He pointed out that any question about the allotments should be taken up immediately with the ASC County Committee.

Mr. Birchfield declared that the intention is to let farmers know how the allotment program will affect their farms before the referendum on marketing quotas for the 1968 upland crop. Balloting will be conducted by mail — or the ballots may be returned to the ASCS county office in person — during the period Dec. 4 through 8. The law requires a favorable vote by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in order to keep marketing quotas in effect.

Those eligible to vote are all producers who shared in the 1967 cotton crop or its proceeds and the owners and operators of allotment farms where no cotton was planted in 1967.

Questions about eligibility to vote should be referred to the ASCS county office.

If the vote is favorable, Mr. Birchfield explained, quotas will apply to the 1968 upland cotton crop, with penalties on any excess cotton produced; loans and price-support and diversion payments will be available to growers who divert their acreage at least 5% (up to a maximum of 35%) below the farm allotment, put the diverted acres into a conserving

East Panhandle Farmers, Ginners in Good Mood

With high yields, good quality, and top prices, farmers and ginners of the Eastern Panhandle are all smiles, according to K. E. Voelkel of the USDA's cotton classing office in Memphis.

Harvesting and ginning advanced rapidly under ideal weather conditions. Voelkel stated that the seven classing tables in operation processed 22,000 samples for the week ending Nov. 24. This brought the seasonal total to 44,000 samples compared with 28,000 as of the same date in 1966.

Based on 22,000 samples that were classed this week, grades changed very little from the previous week. White grades represented 21% of the classing, 72% were Light Spotted, and 7% were Spotted. Chief grades were: 14% Midling, 6% Strict Low Middling, 9% Strict Middling Light Spotted, 58% Middling Light Spotted, 5% Strict Low Middling Light Spotted. and Middling Spotted 3%.

The staple length of cotton classed this week varied little from last week with 15/16 again the predominant length, with 52%. Other lengths were distributed as follows: 29/32 in. 1%; 31/32 in. 35% 1 inch 8%; 1-1/32 in. 2%, and 1-1/16 in. and longer 2%.

Micronaire readings (fineness and maturity) were practically the same as last week, and continued reading in the 30 points premium range of 3.4 to 4.9 with 80%. Readings 3.4 and below represented 15% of the classing, and 5.0 and above showed 5%.

Pressley strength tests conducted in cooperation with the Cotton Research Committee of Texas, continued to show strong fiber for this area of the state. Mills have indicated that cotton testing 75,000 pounds per square inch and above is the most desirable. 71% of the cotton tested during the week was in the groupings 75,000 psi and above, with 29% showing 74,000 psi and below.

The cotton market continued active during the week, with prices received by farmers higher for some predominant qualities than most active markets in this section of the state. The average prices paid for cotton with 3.5 to 4.9 mike readings were: Middling 15/16 —20.00; Middling 31/32—23.65; Srict Middling Light Spotted 15/16—20.25; Middling Light Spotted 15/16—19.95; and Middling Light Spotted 31/32—22.15.

Cottonseed was bringing farmers $57 per ton at most gin points.

Texas production tax rate on oil is 4.5% of value at well; 7% on natural gas.

El Paso Family Here Thanksgiving

Mr. and Mrs. Don Wheeler and children, Laurie, 10, Carol, 8, and Johnny, 6, were here for Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler formerly worked for The Wellington Leader.

He now teaches a course in office duplicators in the occupational training program of the El Paso schools. This is a state program, available to all schools but now found generally in the city systems. El Paso has the largest occupational training program in Texas, Wheeler said. He has written the guidelines for the course in that school system and it may be used in others of the state.

He and another former Wellington resident, Mrs. Charles Wright (Theda Martin) are among the sponsors of the more than 350-member senior class of their high school.

Achievement Tests Given

Seniors Take College Entrance Exams Soon

Wellington High School seniors who plan to attend college will take the college entrance examinations on Dec. 2 or 9, according to Louis Graham, high school counselor.

This will be the American College Test, to be given Saturday, Dec. 2 at Shamrock, and on Saturday, Dec. 9 at Childress..

Approximately two-thirds of the senior class plan to take the tests, Mr. Graham said.

Mental ability and achievement tests were given seventh and ninth grade students of the Wellington schools just before Thanksgiving.

This is part of the regular testing program carried on by the school system.

Taking these tests were 72 seventh grade students and 76 freshmen.

The mental ability test is divided into several test factors, Mr. Graham explained. These are the verbal test to determine the child's ability to work with words; numerical factors, measuring the ability to work with numbers; and special relations and abstract reasoning, which deals with working with unknown factors, and which can act as a booster to either of the other two factors.

The achievement test is in seven areas, English, mathematics, and social studies, with sub-tests in each of these.

The tests are machine-scored and results should be returned in about four weeks, Mr. Graham said.

These tests can be interpreted to the parents of the child taking them, to the child, or to the teacher, Mr. Graham said.

They are not revealed to anyone else, he emphasized.

The tests are part of the state testing program.

Earlier this year, tenth grade students received the Kuder Vocational Preference Inventory, which measures interest in ten different areas.

"These interest areas are pretty well established by the time a student gets to the 8th grade," said Mr. Graham, "but with vocational training and educational training, they will change."

Texas Drivers Need Eye Tests

AUSTIN.—Drivers must see well enough to recognize danger in time to avoid accidents, and high speed driving makes the best of vision an absolute necessity.

These basic facts were emphasized recently in a news release by the Texas Safety Association and Texans for Traffic Safety when they pointed out that thousands of licensed drivers may well be driving in today's heavy traffic with defective vision.

"Each year in Texas more than two million drivers licenses are renewed without the benefit of an eye examination. Visual capabilities often change. And sometimes rapidly. Advancing age, diseases and eye injuries can adversely affect a person's vision," Dr. Otto Lippmann, Austin, chairman of Texans for Traffic Safety, said.

"It is not unusual for a 40- or 50-year-old driver who had good vision 20 years ago to have some visual problem now that calls for correction or treatment," he said.

"Some drivers with failing eyesight are aware of their problems, but many others are not. These drivers with unknown visual defects may endanger all other users of the streets and highways."

Both the Texas Safety Association and Texans for Traffic Safety strongly advocate vision re-examination at the time of driver license renewal. They also recommend all drivers, who think that their vision might be deteriorating, have competent eye examinations.

"They owe it to themselves, as well as others — for the unseen traffic hazard can kill or cripple," Dr. Lippman concluded.

Skrabanek, left, a Lone Star Gas Company executive, has been named vice president-Plant Modernization for that company and its subsidaries, Lone Star Producing Company and Lone Star Gathering Company. Harry H. Merritt, right, currently director of building management, has been placed in executive charge of the Transmission Division.

TREPIDATION

It's a big word for little girls, but that's what they're feeling as they stand in line for a tuberculin skin test to detect tuberculosis. The Trepidation is more painful than the reality, however, for the test feels little worse than a pin prick and is quickly over. Christmas Seals help fight against tuberculosis, emphysema, and air pollution.

Half Drill Period Set For Guard

Members of Battery A, National Guard, will have a one-half drill period this month, scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 16, according to 2nd Lt. Neal Gray, who recently became the commanding officer of the unit.

He succeeds Capt. Jim Chappell, who moved to Memphis and transferred to the 2nd Battalion headquarters at Wichita Falls.

Lt. Gray said that the last three drill periods have been at Fort Sill. Two were for training in riot control, and the last was for instruction in firing the new M108 self-propelled 105 howitzer. This new weapon allows more room for personnel and has a new diesel engine which enables the vehicle to travel a greater range, Lt. Gray explained.

The new commanding officer has had seven years in the National Guard, having enlisted in the Wellington unit as a private. He completed the Texas National Guard Officer Candidate School at Austin, which is attended by men from both the 36th and the 49th National Guard Divisions.

Water Pollution Cases Checked

AUSTIN. — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department investigated 21 water pollution complaints, issued nine notices of pollution, filed five court cases and had three previous oil and salt water court cases end in convictions, according to a report filed with the Water Pollution Control Board for June.

Eight fish kills were reported: ammonium nitrogen caused kills in Tierra Blanca creek in Deaf Smith County and Buffalo Lake in Randall County; oil field wastes caused a kill in a small unnamed creek in Brown County; industrial waste caused a kill in a small unnamed creek in McCulloch County; cotton poison caused a kill on Hackberry Creek in Hill County; and hot water killed fish in the Guadalupe River in Victoria County. Hot weather and deficient dissolved oxygen caused a kill at Tranquitas Lake and Little Falcon Lake, both in Kleburg County.

In the Galveston Bay area, 78 barges and eight ships were checked for loss of oil, chemicals, ballast and bilge. Routine checks were made of drainage systems to determine that no wastes went into unapproved areas.

On the lower coast, routine sampling trips were made to determine the concentaration of toxic components entering public waters. Garrison Drainage Ditch, Oso Creek, and Oso Bay, Nueces County, were sampled for oil and salt water contamination for a report to be submitted to the Railroad Commission.

Copano Bay and Chiltipin Creek, Aransas County, were sampled for oilfield waste in connection with a study being made to measure the effects of oilfield waste to Copano Bay.

GAMBLE

More than one-fourth (3,089) of Texas wells in 1966 were "wildcat" wells which seek new fields. Only 23% found oil or gas.

Texas has 5,000 oil producing firms.

Notes

from Your Home Demonstration Agent

By Leta Hill

Eggs — Eggs — Eggs

Did you eat 313 eggs last year? That was your share of the total egg consumption and includes the eggs you have for meals, in baked goods and in other combination food products. If you continue to eat eggs at the recent rate, you will eat 320 eggs in 1967!

Before World War II, a large share of your eggs were produced by "pin money" operations on thousands of family farms. Today, egg production is big business — a specialized type of farming with efficiencies the family farm could not afford.

For example, that evening chore of "gathering" the eggs now is handled by a conveyor belt on farms with 100,000 layers. The belt automatically "gathers" eggs from the nests and moves them to a central collection room where they are cooled to help maintain top quality in the eggs.

Automatic equipment packs graded eggs into cartons and moves them to retail stores. These fast, automated techniques, plus USDA grading, improved transportation and refrigeration provide top-quality eggs for you, the consumer.

Events for December

Here are some things you will want to do in December:

—Attend the 4-H Awards Program Supper, Saturday, Dec. 2, 7:30 p.m., in the County Building. Bring your covered dish.

—Also you will want to come to the Farm Bureau Building, Tuesday, Dec. 5 at 7:30 p.m. for a Christmas Demonstration given by Miss Pat Harrington, Home Economist from Vernon.

—On Wednesday, Dec. 6, beginning at 8 a.m., the Collingsworth County Home Demonstration Council's Annual Christmas Tea. All Home Demonstration women are urged to be present and all visitors are welcome. After the program cookies will be taken to the nursing home. —Wednesday, Dec. 13, look for Midway Home Demonstration Club's Annual Christmas Gift Bazaar on the square.

Instant Spice Tea

Several attended a Consumer Information Meeting in Amarillo recently. Mr. Charlie Sumners, gourmet specialist, and Mrs. Muriel Bridges, Home Service Director, were on the program. They gave a very interesting holiday foods program. One of the things mentioned was Instant Spiced Tea. Why don't you try some? Here is the recipe. It's as easy as 1-2-3.

1 c. lemon-flavored instant tea
2 c tang
3 c. sugar
1 tsp. cloves
1 tsp. cinnamon

Mix these dry ingredients together. Place in a covered container. Then when you want a cup of spiced tea place 2 teaspoons in a cup and add hot water. It's good iced, too!

An open house held in Bura Handley community building Thanksgiving afternoon, Thursday, Nov. 23, honored Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Goswick on their golden wedding anniversary.

Relatives hosted the entertainment.

Events honoring the couple had begun at noon, however, when 93 relatives had Thanksgiving dinner together.

Members of the family alternated in the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Goswick and the celebration was the occasion for much visiting and reminscing.

The refreshment table featured a gold decor with the wedding cake as the centerpiece. Other appointments were crystal. Guests were served by Mrs. Neilan French and Mrs. Thurman Emmert.

Karol Conrad of Odessa, a grand niece, and Mrs. Allen Pace of Oklahoma City, a niece, registered the guests.

Mrs. Pat Kimbro and Mrs. Herman Childress, nieces of Mrs. Goswick, showed the gifts.

One hundred and fifteen guests registered.

Mr. and Mrs. Goswick have lived in Wellington most of the time since childhood.

A native of Mangum, Okla., Mrs. Goswick is the former Margaret Ellen Emmert, the daughter of the late J. V. Emmert and Weltha Ann Emmert Golightly.

She came with her parents to Collingsworth County in 1912 and attended school at Cross Roads and Cottonwood.

Leborn Elmer Goswick, a long time paint contractor and floor finisher, was born at Barry. His mother, Mrs. Maude Poff, still lives in Wellington, at Thomas Nursing Home, but she was unable to attend her son's golden wedding. His father was the late Tom Goswick.

Mr. Goswick came to this county with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neese, in 1909 and attended the Wellington schools.

The couple was married Nov. 25, 1917, at the parsonage of First Methodist Church in Wellington by the Rev. M. E. Hawkins. Three of the wedding guests were also present for the golden wedding, her sister, Mrs. E. C. Hardeman and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lockhart.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Goswick are active in the Church of the Nazarene and she is a member of the church board and has taught Sunday School classes. Mrs. Goswick also has worked at Thomas Nursing Home and as a sales clerk.

Wellington has been the home of this couple most of their married life except for 10 years in California and three at Littlefield.

They have no children but there are a large number of nieces and nephews and now a new generation of grand nieces and nephews to fill their lives.

Noise Can Be Reduced

COLLEGE STATION.— Open planning, more glass, metal and plastics, and appliances with motors have made noise a major problem for many of today's homemakers.

You can make disturbing sounds more tolerable, though, even if you can't eliminate them completely, says Jane Berry, Extension housing and home funrishings specialist with Texas A&M University.

The ideal time to consider sound control is in planning and building a house, since the plan itself can determine whether areas are quiet or noisy.

Unwanted noises can be lessened if noisy areas such as the kitchen, playroom, family room or utility room, are separated from quiet areas by a buffer. A storage wall or hallway can serve as a buffer, Mrs. Berry notes. Then, too, there are construction methods and special ways to insulate parts of the house from unwanted sound. Heat insulators such as rock wool, fiber glass, and light weight aggregates are not effective as sound insulators. But brick, concrete or solid masonry are good noise insulation materials.

The home owner can add an extra measure of protection against unwanted noises by selection of quiet operating appliances and interior finishing materials that absorb rather than reflect sound. Many bothersome household noises can be eliminated by using rubber pads under vibrating appliances, oiling squeaky or noisy motors, and using mechanical door closers to prevent slamming.

Unwanted sounds that cannot be eliminated may be reduced to a low level by using sound absorptive materials such as acoustical tile, carpeting, draperies, and upholstered furniture in problem areas of the house. Exterior noises can be greatly reduced by the use of dense plantings of trees and shrubs between the house and the noise source.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Torres and children, Martha, Cressie, Davis, Julian, Jr., and Rolando, spent the week end in Camp Wood near Uvalde visiting his mother, Mrs. Allie Torres.

Credit Changes With the Times

COLLEGE STATION.—"Time was when Americans viewed personal debt — even a relatively small debt — as a mark of family distress," says Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension specialist in home management, Texas A&M University.

The grandparents of today's families usually didn't borrow for personal reasons unless stricken with a severe financial emergency.

Times and viewpoints have changed. The use of many types of credit is very much a way of life for the modern family. This is especially true of the younger families, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

Just putting together a household is expensive and while many new families finance their furniture from savings, they will often use an installment plan or some other form of credit to purchase large appliances, like refrigerators or washing machines. With the onset of children, many families find their need to buy additional furnishings often outweighs their ability to buy them from current income. This results in increasing use of credit.

According to the Federal Reserve Board, in a normal year nearly three out of four young breadwinners will be paying off one or more loans, other than mortgages. Today's young families no longer regard debt with the same fear as their grandparents. Many view it as a tool to cut through time to a family goal. But too much reliance on credit can put a severe strain on family finances.

To avoid difficulties, these simple rules should be considered:

1. Never borrow unless the purchase is necessary.
2. Always have a clear idea of just how much debt can be reasonably carried.
3. Maintain a reserve savings fund for emergencies to avoid

Snow Goads Bobs Comeback

WICHITA FALLS.—A repentant nature probably was the principal cause but sportsmen who rallied enmasse to feed blizzard-menaced quail last winter may take some credit for the high bobwhite population in the blitzed area.

At least, the hunters now are finding good hunting in the once congealed fields.

Biologists and sportsmen agree that the key to the amazing comeback is the characteristic tenacity of bobwhites to restore their own numbers. This popular game bird is the model Animal Kingdom member in overcoming adversity and in converting a minimum of cover and natural food plus favorable weather into a maximum of reproduction.

Here's a field report on this particular happy ending:

"Biologists explain that some bobwhites did perish during the winter storms last year in the eastern Panhandle and Lower Plains, but only in areas where sufficient winter cover and food were lacking. In contrast to these unfortunate isolated coveys, many quail in dense creek bottoms laced with grapevines, brush, and food plants survived the rigors of winter without difficulty."

Figuratively speaking, those quail fortunate (or intelligent) enough to occupy "houses made of bricks" emerged last spring with sufficient vigor to start the nesting season. Only those foolish birds in "houses of straw" succumbed to the winter storms.

Senses Needed During Tests

COLLEGE STATION.—In an and age of electronics — with its minutely accurate sensing equipment—the human senses still play an important role in research, says Frances Reasonover, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M University.

A panel of tasters is an important research tool used by Agricultural Research Service scientists. The tasters are used for such divers jobs as devising improved methods of preparing food, developing new processed foods, and producing better livestock.

No piece of equipment has yet been able to match completely the ability of human senses—taste, smell, feel and sight—in gauging the subtle differences in food flavors and textures.

Taste-panel scores for tenderness, juiciness and flavor, for example, show that today's young tender poultry requires less cooking time than poultry of past years. Panel scores also indicate which cooking procedures will put the most satisfying turkey on the table.

Our Merchants Have Made Wellington a Christmas Town

Wellington's Christmas season has officially opened with the court house square bright with the lights that have made the town individually ours for the holiday season.

But along with the Christmas spirit in the air and the preparations for a joyous holiday come the more practical part—selecting the gifts that do so much to make the holiday perfect for everyone from great grandparents to the tiniest tot.

Wellington merchants have anticipated these needs with some of the choiciest items. Much that is available here is identical to that to be found in city stores. But here you deal with friendly owners and salespeople who are interested that you get the things you want. This you do at leisure. An hour today and another tomorrow, perhaps, if a full day of shopping is not convenient.

Wellington is truly a Christmas town.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN.— Everybody's talking about the 1968 governor's race. As of this writing, however, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is the only one who has formally announced.

Secretary of State John L. Hill says he wants to run — and will, IF support "contines to crystallize." Adds Hill: "I know the political realities are such that if I am going to run, I ought to announce soon, but I don't want to speculate when."

Uvalde rancher-banker Dolph Briscoe says he definitely is interested but has reached no firm decision.

Although he hasn't announced, former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr made a candidate-like move in demanding that U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, another potential candidate, resign his office should he enter the governor's race.

Austin attorney and former Congressman Joe Kilgore, close friend of Gov. John Connally, says it is unlikely he will be a candidate but he did not close the door.

Other names have been mentioned but no statements have come from them, pro or con, as to their interest in the race.

Courts Speak

Millions of dollars may be added to the Texas Permanent School Fund pending outcome of suit by a San Patricio County man challenging private ownership of 12,068 acres of South Texas oil lands, says attorney general's department. Walter C. Atchley, in lawsuit, claims that the state never deeded away land to oil operators and is still owner.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld award of $117,456 to a six-year-old Austin boy whose leg was cut off by a power mower at a drivein theatre here.

State Supreme Court in a divided decision (five to four) held that a San Antonio detective investigator was dismissed on insufficient grounds, though he offered for sale a shot gun reported stolen.

High court rejected appeal of an Edinburg man for release from jail where he is held on order to pay $17,000 of his Mexican national lottery winnings to a woman who had purchased a half interest in one of his "lucky" tickets.

Supreme Court concluded that a Travis County district judge should not have ordered a new trial of case protesting denial of a new savings and loan association charter in Llano.

Court of Criminal Appeals held that conviction of a man imprisoned for 28 years on forgery and other felony charges cannot stand because he did not have counsel in his 1939 trial.

Smits Appoints

Lieutenant Governor Smith announced these appointments:

Sens. Charles Herring of Austin and Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells to Multi-state Tax Compact Advisory Committee.

Sens. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, Criss Cole of Houston, William T. Moore of Bryan, Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi and Ralph Hall of Rockwall to joint Interim Highway Safety Committee.

Sens. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, James S. Bates of Edinburg, Crieghton, H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock, and Murray Watson, Jr., of Waco to special Committee to Study Governmental Immunity with request to recommend whether principle should be continued or abolished.

Sens. William N. Patman of Ganado, Watson and Hazlewood to special Parking and Traffic Committee to study congestion in the State Capitol area.

City Sales Tax Succeeding

Five more Texas cities have given overwhelming approval to 1% city sales tax levies.

Huntsville, Uvalde, Seguin, Commerce and Llano voters asked for the tax by margins ranging from two-to-one to eight-to-one.

So far, 33 cities have approved the local revenue-raising method passed by the Legislature this year, although it was believed to be highly controversial. Only two, Lufkin and Electra, have turned it down.

Next two elections — Dec. 2 — are in Galveston and Kilgore. Fifty-six cities will vote on Dec. 5, including Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and Fort Worth.

Bond Programs

Two state agencies are busily planning how best to take advantage of $275,000,000 worth of authorization voted them by Texas citizens on Nov. 11.

One of the constitutional amendment revived the Veterans Land Program and authorized the issuace of $200,000,000 in bonds to finance it. Another set up the Park Development Fund and provided for the sale of $75,000,000 in bonds to finance it.

Veterans Land Board, administrator of the land program, should be ready to begin its operations soon after the votes are formally canvassed on Nov. 28. No friction is anticipated in this for two reasons.

First, the old Veterans Land Program expired only in 1965, so Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler is experienced in operating it. Second, there are few complications to work out—the state merely sells the bonds and acquires the money, then asks for applications from veterans. Sadler said veterans should locate tracts they want, then apply for loans after Jan. 15.

But Parks and Wildlife Department is facing a different situation. Bond experts met with department officials last week to give them a "short course" on securities.

Neither agency is planning to sell all the authorized bonds at once. Land Office is talking about $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 in the first issue, and though the Parks and Wildlife Commission will have final say-so, the most popular figure discussed at the meeting was $10,000,000.

Land bonds will be 40-year bonds. Parks bonds are limited to 10 years, and will be retired by revenues from entrance fees to state parks. Both have a 4½% constitutional limit on the interest the state may pay, which could complicate their sale.

Job Corps Placements

More than 14,000 Texas young men and women have been employed by the Job Corps.

Since the program began two years ago, about 13,000 male trainees from Gary Job Corps have accepted assignments. The McKinney Job Corps for girls, which began srceening applicants in April, already has placed 1,132 on jobs.

LB Agents Suspended

Coke Stevenson, Jr., administrator of Texas Liquor Control Board, suspended two Dallas agents for "remarks" about board operations, and ordered them to a Tuesday, Nov. 28 hearing here.

Action followed distribution of a circular in the capitol area and in Dallas criticizing Stevenson and James E. Dale, the Dallas LCB supervisor. Circular also repeated the Baptist General Convention demand for investigation of the Board. Stevenson called the circular "malicious slander".

Dallas State Sen. Oscar Mauzy said he is looking into LCB activities himself following rumors about alleged wrongdoings.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

Considerable praise has been heaped on Mr. Strange the Great McNamara for being the first Secretary of Defense to snatch defense out of the hands of professional military men.

This is called Progress by some, just like they say it's Progress for the Supreme Court to take us people's defense against criminals out of the hands of professional policemen.

Various other moves against professionalism and competence have taken farming out of the hands of farmers, and health decisions out of the hands of the doctors. But it don't seem promising that we will ever get government out of the hands of politicians.

Clubbs Attend Child's Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clubb were called to Broken Arrow, Okla., recently to attend the funeral of their great grandson, six-year-old Mark Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Ray Robertson.

The little boy died Monday, Nov. 20, in his sleep. Mrs. Clubb said he had been sick but seemingly was better. He had watched television and at 9 p.m. told his parents goodnight and went to bed. An hour later when his mother went to check on him he had stopped breathing. The family doctor who lived nearby gave mouth to mouth resuscitation and Mark was rushed to a Tulsa hospital.

Mrs. Clubb added that an autopsy showed the child had a rare virus pneumonia which caused both lungs to collapse. He had had an asthmatic condition several years.

Mark was born at El Paso May 9, 1961, and moved with the family to Broken Arrow, a Tulsa suburb, three years ago. Mr. Robertson is a department assistant manager with Sears, Roebuck.

Funeral services were conducted at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 22 in First Methodist Church at Broken Arrow. Burial was in Floral Haven Memorial Garden.

Survivors are the parents; a brother Michael Ray, 2; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Robertson of El Paso and Mr. and Mrs. Gall of Broken Arrow, and his great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clubb of Wellington and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Barnard of Broken Arrow.

Chisholm Trail Centennial Museum Making Appearance

The Chisholm Trail Centennial Museum will be making a scheduled appearance in the Panhandle. It will be at the Santa Fe Depot in Amarillo on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Dec. 2, 3 and 4, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Members of the Carson County Historical Survey Committee will serve as hosts.

The sleek, sand-beige Chisholm Train Museum, uniquely housed in a railway car, is sponsored by the Tri-State Chisholm Trail Centennial Commission in cooperation with the Santa Fe Railroad.

The tri-state commission is made up of Chisholm Trail Centennial Celebration Commissions from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. Governor Connally appointed the Texas State Historical Survey Committee to coordinate the activities of the Texas Commission.

Housed in the 60-foot car, are exhibits of selected items from private and museum collections which vividly interpret the story of the Chisholm Trail.

On entering the museum car, the visitor sees a map tracing the Chisholm Trail from its many points of origin in Texas across Indian Territory (now Oklahoma) to Abilene, Kansas, and the railroad.

This entry opens into a spacious compartment roughly one half the length of the rail car. Here display cases present the three main chapters of the trail story.

Exhibits near the entry depict the strong Spanish influence on the early Texas cattle industry and carries this theme over to "cowboy society"; the evolution of drovers' wearing apparel; and adaptations of special tools and equipment needed for the long cattle drives.

The next exhibits are about the actual drives. By the time herds had reached Red River Station on the Texas-Oklahoma border, the cattle were fairly well trail broken. The main hazards ahead lay in the rough and untamed terrain of Indian Territory.

Oklahoma during the time of the Chisholm Trail was occupied by eight tribes of Indians —Cheyenne, Arapahoe, Wichita, Caddo, Kiowa, Apache, Comanche and Chickasaw. Indians along with outlaws, storms, stampedes and prairie fires added to the difficulties encountered along the route.

The last section of exhibits is devoted to the conclusion of the drives. At the trail's end were the cowtowns with stockyards and loading pens. Also in abundance were the enticements designed to swiftly separate the cowboy from his money—and lawmen to maintain peace and order.

Two displays of special interest tell the Colt Revolver story and the barbed wire story. Included in the gun display are the Patterson Colt of 1838 and the Walker Colt of 1842.

The barbed wire display contains many early variations—homemade wire, square wire, ribbon wire, double wire, and forerunners of modern barbed wire. Old-fashioned staples used to secure wiring to posts is also on display.

White Due For Mission Work

Mr. and Mrs. Jim White and their two children of Hollis will leave this month for Niarobi Kenya Africa where he will serve as a missionary for the next four years.

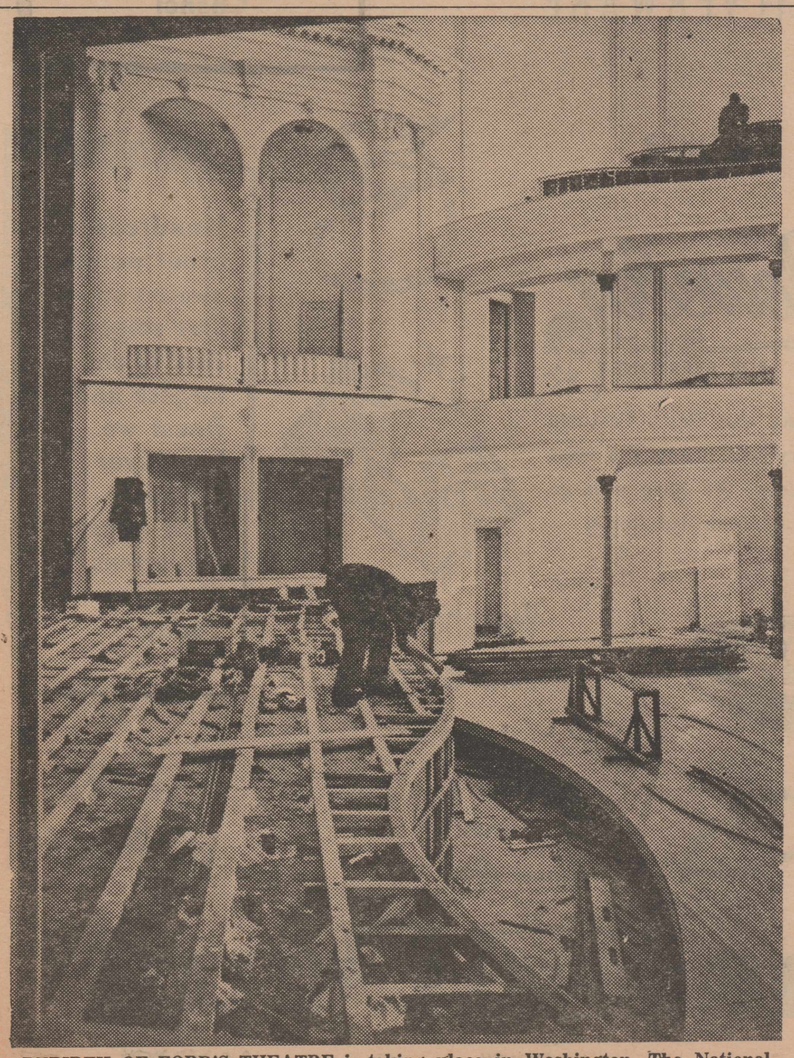

Mr. White is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon White and the grandson of Mrs. Jesse White of Wellington.

He was graduated from Hollis High School in 1952 and Baylor University in 1956.

He is a member of the Navigators, an interdenominational faith.

Grain Sorghum Yields Upped by Row Spacing

WASHINGTON, D.C.-- Grain sorghum yield increases ranging from 10 to 30 percent have resulted from narrow row and double row spacings in recent trials conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The project was described by M. J. Norris of the Livestock and Forage Research Center near McGregor, a speaker during the annual meetings of the American Society of Agronomy, Soil Science Society of America and the Crop Science Society of America, Nov. 5 to 10 in Washington, D.C.

Norris, an agronomist at the center, said there were no important differences in grain sorghum yields due to planting rates, but there were highly significant differences due to row spacing.

"Narrow rows and double rows resulted in grain yield increases ranging from 10 to 30 percent," he said.

Row spacings of 10, 20 and 40 inches at planting rates of 4, 6, 8 and 10 pounds per acre were used with grain sorghum during a three-year period. Other row spacing experiments were made using a uniform planting rate of 7 pounds per acre, including comparisons of single rows on lister beds 40 inches apart; double rows spaced 12 inches on lister beds spaced 40 inches apart; and grain sown on a flat seed bed with a grain drill spacing of 14 inches between drill openings.

Norris said the work was done on dryland, upland soils of the Grand Prairie near McGregor, Texas.

ODDITY

Waves move across the surface of a lake or sea, but the water itself merely rises and falls, with a given volume of water sinking back into almost the same place.

PALEFACE BRIDES may look like Minnehaha when they come down the aisle, thanks to this offbeat bridal gown designed in London, with all the trappings of a fashionable squaw.

Soil Testing Necessary if Top Yields Are Expected

The farmer who still figures he can walk across a field or pasture and determine its fertilizer needs cannot expect top yields. There are too many factors in determining soil fertility that cannot be detected by the eye, reminds County Agent Sammy Helmers. Therefore, a surer method must be used.

That is where the soil testing laboratory comes into the picture. Soil scientists have a knowledge of the amount of nutrients removed from the soil by a given yield on a crop. By making certain soil tests they can determine how much of the crop's need can be supplied from the soil and how much must be added through fertilizer application.

Alert farmers test their soil before planting to determine its ability to supply the necessary nutrients for top yields. If the soil test shows the soil is short on a certain nutrient, fertilizer of the recommended kind can be supplied before deficiencies show up in the growing crop and yields are reduced.

Low production means a higher per unit cost and less potential profit, while higher yields have the opposite effect upon crop production, Helmers says.

Soil testing, the county agent believes, is a necessary part of today's agriculture. Maximum yields produced at the lowest per unit cost are a must and the basis for both is fertile soil.

How to Dress a Deer Told

With the deer hunting season already underway in Collingsworth County, hunters may be interested in a leaflet, "Field Dressing a Deer," which is available at the county agent's office.

Since quality venison depends primarily on how the deer is handled from the time of the kill until it is placed in the freezer, field dressing is important, points out County Agent Sammy Helmers.

L-634 explains one method of field dressing and skinning a deer. However, any method resulting in a clean, well-bled carcass is satisfactory. Unpleasant experiences with venison usually result from the lack of care before the meat reaches the kitchen.

Information in the leaflet has been provided by Wallace Klussmann, Extension wildlife specialist, and the Texas Parks and Wildlife magazine.

Another publication that may be of interest to hunters and housewives during this hunting season is Extension Bulletin B-987, "Wild Game Care and Cooking." It offers many suggestions for preparing delicious dishes of venison as well as other wild game meats.

Both publications are available from the County Extension Service office on the second floor of the courthouse.

Dr. L. F. Sheffy Dies Thursday at Canyon

Dr. Lester Fields Sheffy, 80, a noted Panhandle author and for 39 years chairman of the history department at West Texas State University, died Thursday, Nov. 23, after a month-long illness.

Dr. Sheffy was superintendent of the Wellington schools for four years, 1914 to 1918, and upon leaving here, he joined the WTSU faculty. It was while he was here that the Wellington high school reecived its first accreditation on any subject.

Before coming to Wellington, Dr. Sheffy was superintendent of schools at Stratford and at Matador.

Since retiring from WTSU in 1957, Dr. Sheffy had published three historical novels and was working on the fourth novel when he died at Neblett Memorial Hospital.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday in LaGrone Funeral Chapel in Canyon. Burial was in the Plainview Cemetery. The Rev. Newton Starnes, pastor of First Methodist Church in Canyon, officiated. He was assisted by the Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Sheffy was born in Henrietta March 27, 1887, and was married to Miss Carrie Smith in Clarendon June 26, 1911.

In paying tribute, Dr. James P. Cornett, president of WTSU said of Dr. Sheffy:

"I don't know that there ever was a man that the expression 'a gentleman and a scholar' could be more appropriately applied than Professor Sheffy."

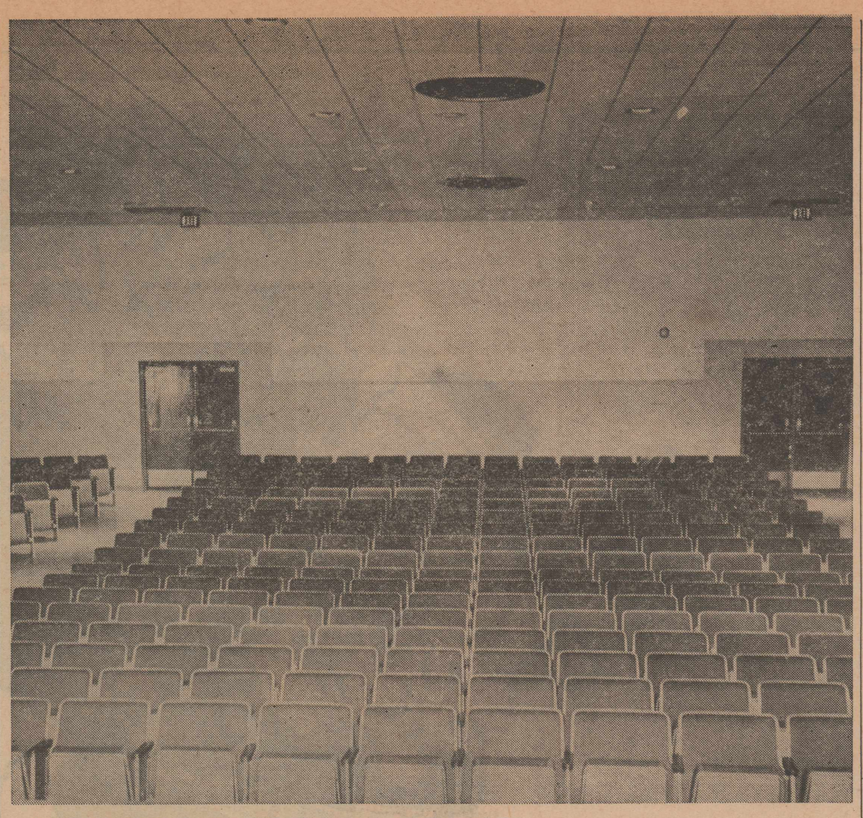

His life was steeped in the history of the Panhandle, which along with his other courses, he brought alive to students, year after year, for almost half his life.

Another enduring monument to his work is the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum, whose growth continues.

In 1962, in a Texas Heritage booklet, he was cited for this work:

"While there have been hundreds of people who have played important parts in bringing these two projects (the museum and the historical society) to functioning reality, there would be few to deny that the work of L. F. Sheffy had more to do with their ultimate success than that of any other one individual."

Dr. Sheffy is survived by his wife of 2008 6th Avenue, Canyon; two brothers and a sister.

LICK'EM, STICK,EM

And that's how you succeed in beating TB—if what you're licking and sticking is Christmas Seals. So says Movie Star Robert Morse, who is the 1967 National Honorary Christmas Seal Campaign Chairman. Morse, who rose to fame in both Broadway and film versions of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," is echoed in his sentiments by his two daughters, Robin, left, and Andrea, right. The girls' mother, the former Carole D'Andrea, came down with tuberculosis last year. She is well on the road to recovery now, but the whole Morse family knows the value of Christmas seals—they fight tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

1967 Christmas Seals Are a Matter of Life and Breath

No longer a major killer, tuberculosis is still the No. 1 contagious disease.

There are 100,000 known active cases of tuberculosis on health department records.

About 25 million Americans have TB germs in their bodies. Though they are not sick, they must be checked regularly to be sure they don't become ill and spread their germs unknowingly.

In Texas, 5520 new TB victims in the last 22 months, 238 former patients whose TB flared anew in the first six months of 1967, and 8990 patients requiring out-patient services in the hospitals.

Last year in Texas began the first big push to test all first and seventh grade pupils and all school personnel to find those with tuberculosis infection — and to bring under treatment those whose infection had become disease.

Today, local TB services are being brought to every area of Texas by the tax-supported agency, the Texas State Department of Health, and by the voluntary organization, the Texas Tuberculosis Association.

The Texas Tuberculosis Association also seeks to better citizens' efforts against air pollution and to continue its educational work on emphysema, asthma, bronchitis, and other respiratory disease.

of the cemeteries as its continuing project, and with money it raises from various sources has carried out the beautification of the plots.

The new brick and wrought iron entrance to Memorial Garden (North Wellington Cemetery) is an example of this.

The new North Fairview Cemetery also was made possible from private sources.

The $4,000 which is needed now will pay for a caretaker and for those expenses necessary to the actual maintenance of the cemeteries.

"Those of us who remember the deplorable condition of our cemeteries of some years ago before the association began its improvement and care of the plots, are aware of the work that has been done. Our cemeteries are now a source of pride to all Wellington, and we want to keep them this way.

"But to do this, we must have the funds necessary. That is why we are asking for donations. Whether you own lots in one of our cemeteries or not, we need your support in this fund drive," Mr. Thomas said.

He added that he will be in Dodson Tuesday, Dec. 5, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon to help anyone in that area needing his assistance.

Number of head of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market on Sept. 1 was estimated at 4,850,000 head in Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Nebraska, and Texas, reports the Crop Reporting Board. This is 3% above the figure for a year ago.

G. D. Thomas Injured Friday

G. D. Thomas, 79, is in serious condition in an Amarillo hospital due to injuries received when his car struck the side of the Chamber of Commerce building about 6 p.m. Friday, Nov. 24.

Members of the family said apparently Mr. Thomas, parked near the northwest corner of the square, started his car while it was in gear. It went across a 50-foot vacant lot and into the side of the building, knocking a hole through the solid brick wall.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for emergency treatment of nose and facial injuries, then transferred to Amarillo.

Since then, Mr. Thomas has suffered a heart attack, according to County Judge Zook Thomas, a nephew.

One son, Paul Thomas of Plainview, has been with his father since he was injured, and the other son, Joe Thomas of El Paso, has been called to his bedside.

crop, and meet other program provisions.

The loans will be based on a national average rate of 20.25¢ a pound for Middling 1-inch cotton at average location; price-support payments will be 12.24¢ a pound on the farm's projected yield for the acreage planted within the farm's domestic allotment; and diversion payments will be 10.76¢ a pound on the farm's projected yield for the basic acreage diversion (5% of the farm allotment), and 6¢ a pound for additional — voluntary — diversion of up to 30% of the farm allotment.

Special acreage-diversion exemptions apply to "small farms." Growers who elect not to participate in the diversion program will be able to apply for a share of an export market acreage reserve and to grow and export all their cotton without Government assistance and without marketing quota penalties.

If the vote is unfavorable, Mr. Birchfield continued, there will be no quotas or penalties for the 1968 upland cotton crop, no price-support or diversion payments, no export market acreage reserve, and price-support loans to growers who do not exceed their farm acreage allotment will be available at 50% of parity.

Applications for the sale or lease of 1968 upland cotton allotments may be filed on or before Jan. 2, 1968, regardless of the outcome of the marketing quota referendum.

Collingsworth County received an allotment of 63,247.0 acres for distribution to growers in producing their 1968 upland cotton crop. This represents the county's share of the national allotment of 16.2 million acres, including a national reserve of 200,000 acres to take care of minimum farm allotments.

Mr. Birchfield pointed out that, while the Secretary of Agriculture is directed by law to proclaim quotas for the next crop when the total upland cotton supply exceeds normal, the growers themselves decide whether or not quotas shall be used. Previous votes on the subject have been outstandingly favorable. Marketing quotas for the 1967 upland cotton crop were approved by 91.6% of the growers voting.

Cotton allotments and farm yields for individual farms have been made available to growers so they may have the information prior to voting time.
