

Gulf war, politics among summit topics

LONDON (AP) — Leaders of seven major industrialized nations gathered here today for a three-day economic summit where the issues of war in the Persian Gulf and international politics will vie with financial concerns.

President Reagan returned to London Wednesday from commemorations in France of the 40th anniversary of D-Day. Joining him at the summit are Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Britain and leaders of Japan, France, West Germany, Italy and Canada.

The summit formally starts with a reception in 16th-century St. James's Palace, hosted by Mrs. Thatcher and the Duke of Kent. The heads of state and government then go to a "working dinner" at Mrs. Thatcher's residence at No. 10 Downing St.

Foreign and finance ministers are also participants in the summit, but they were not invited to the dinner hosted by Mrs. Thatcher.

Although the first real business of the meeting begins Friday, with talks at Lancaster House, the working dinners today will set the tone for the 10th such summit. The first was in 1975.

Mrs. Thatcher, who has said she wants a "relaxed and informal" but still "workmanlike" summit, has decreed that political issues will be discussed over meals and economic concerns at formal sessions.

High U.S. interest rates, the woes of debtor nations, trade protectionism and strategies to nurture economic recovery without encouraging inflation will be high on the list of issues for discussion.

Among the subjects which will likely dominate the dinner sessions will be the 45-month-old war between Iraq and Iran, which in recent weeks has broadened to include attacks on oil tankers and other vessels in the Persian Gulf. About 20 percent of the non-Communist world's oil is transported through the gulf, and Japan gets two-thirds of its oil supplies from that region.

On Wednesday, leaders of seven Latin American debtor nations attempted to focus major attention at the summit on resolution of the global debt problem.

A letter calling for action by summit participants was sent to Mrs. Thatcher by leaders of Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador, Mexico, Peru and Venezuela, whose combined debt is more than $250 billion, mostly owed to U.S. banks.

In a policy statement to West Germany's Parliament on Wednesday, Chancellor Helmut Kohl said the U.S. budget deficit, running at about $200 billion annually, and accompanying high U.S. interest rates were harming other nations' economies and that Reagan's first attempts at remedies "are not enough."

Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone of Japan is expected to push for a new round of multinational trade talks to liberalize tariff and quota systems. Japan has a huge trade surplus and has been accused of protectionism.

Mrs. Thatcher has cautioned against expecting "dramatic new initiatives" to come from the summit.

Suggested immigration law changes filed

By KIM THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

In documents filed today in federal district court in Amarillo, the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) agreed to extensive restrictions on its authority to enforce immigration laws.

According to the local office of Texas Rural Legal Aid, the agreement is part of the settlement of a class-action law suit filed in 1979 on behalf of Pedro Cervantez and Juan Lozano. The men charged that they and the class they represent were improperly arrested on unlawful immigration charges.

Earlier in the week, Judge Mary Lou Robinson tentatively accepted an out-of-court settlement reached between TRLA lawyers and attorneys for Deaf Smith County, also named as a defendant in the suit. That agreement stipulated both injunctive and monetary relief be assessed against the county and former sheriff Travis McPherson.

"The federal immigration laws are quite complex," said Edward J. Tuddenham, attorney with TRLA who represented the plaintiffs. "The basic problem has been that state and local police simply do not have the training and expertise to accurately determine who is an undocumented alien and who is not.

"The result," Tuddenham said, "is that United States citizens of Hispanic descent are unlawfully arrested, detained and even jailed solely on the basis of their Hispanic appearance or their inability to speak English."

The settlement, submitted to Robinson for her approval, provides that state and local officers may not make arrests on immigration charges nor may they attempt to enforce the immigration laws by questioning anyone about his nationality, place of birth or right to be in the United States.

Exceptions to that injunction would be in the case of felony violations of the Immigration and Naturalization Service Act, which include smuggling and harboring illegal aliens. A DPS or local law enforcement officer would also be allowed to arrest someone he actually witnessed crossing the border, or a person he had reasonable cause to believe had already been deported but once again entered the country illegally.

In addition, the settlement requires DPS to pay $8,000 in damages to Cervantez, $2,000 to Lozano and $1,000 each to class members who claim they were subjected to improper immigration enforcement by DPS officers. There is a maximum amount of $40,000 that could be awarded to the class.

Randall Marshall of TRLA said attorney's fees are still being negotiated, but civil rights statutes carry with them provisions allowing the plaintiffs to collect attorneys fees from the defendants. The DPS was represented by the state attorney general's office.

According to TRLA, the family of Cervantez tried unsuccessfully to win his release during the four days he was held in the Deaf Smith County Jail.

The family is reported to have presented the sheriff's department with a baptismal certificate and a Family Bible, both of which are accepted by the INS as proof of citizenship. Marshall said local officers were apparently not aware that the documents were acceptable. County officials say they were simply administering a policy of the DPS and should not be held responsible. "We were a victim of circumstances," County Judge Glen Nelson said Wednesday.

Broken windows reported

Two windows - one part of a business and the other on a pickup - were broken Wednesday evening, Hereford police reported.

Remaldo's Club, 909 W. First St., had its front window shattered at approximately 11:55 p.m. There is one suspect in the $300 incident of vandalism.

Charles Erlandson, 241 Star St., was the victim of the windshield crime. His 1979 Chevrolet truck's window, valued at over $200, was destroyed at around 8:15 p.m.

Meanwhile, two arrests were made Wednesday, one for public intoxication and the other for the dual charge of drunk in residence not his own and assault on a police officer. There was also one minor, non-injury motor vehicle accident.

Possible source spotted

Hereford Grain Corporation has been named by the Texas Department of Water Resources as a possible source of pollutants found in the Tierra Blanca Creek that runs through town.

Don Manning, district representative of the DWR office in Amarillo, said results of soil samples taken from the creek bed indicated the presence of several herbicides. He said an investigation of possible sources of the contaminants revealed that a loading area at Hereford Grain is sloped to empty into a storm drain which eventually leads to the creek.

Manning said when he met with company officials last month, they had their attorneys present and indicated they would cooperate with the department.

A request for enforcement action submitted by Manning is now being evaluated at the head office in Austin, with that process expected to take about two weeks.

Roy Moeller, head of the wastewater compliance unit, said his department would then confer with legal counsel before determining what to do next. Manning said one possibility is that the company would be asked to "clean up" any contaminated soil.

The investigation began more than a month ago when an employee at the Hereford public golf course found an empty herbicide container near the creek.

Wheat picking should start

Wheat harvesting should begin as early as next week, according to John Fuston of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

He expects the wheat crop to be average this year, with irrigated wheat yielding 50 to 60 bushels per acre. Dryland wheat should yield the usual 15 to 20 bushels per acre, he said.

There is a possibility of above average yields from dryland wheat in the very westernmost part of the county. Fuston guessed, because of rains that fell there which the rest of the county did not receive.

Milo, cotton and corn are crops widely grown in the area and are looking good, according to Fuston. He said that as always, rains and a few days of cool weather would help protect young plants from the shriveling caused by hot, dry winds.

WEDNESDAY'S HIGH: 87 (normal high this date: 86 record: 101 (1964 and 1981))

OVERNIGHT LOW: 61 (normal: 59 record: 42 (1915))

OUTLOOK: Fair tonight with a low near 60. Winds are to be southerly 10 to 20 miles per hour. Friday is expected to be sunny though not as warm as today, with a high in the middle 90s predicted. Winds should be from the west at 15 to 20 miles per hour.

Alcohol sale permits total 12

By REED PARSELL Managing Editor

Twelve permits have so far been issued for local stores and other businesses wishing to sell beer, wine and/or liquor, with two more applications having been turned in this week.

Dry since 1901, Hereford and most of Deaf Smith County jumped off the wagon earlier this year when residents approved by 218 votes a liquor option election. Packaged booze is therefore allowed sold for off-premise consumption.

This added dimension to the area's industry has been profitable for all businesses contacted which are now selling alcohol. Manager Brenda Brooks said her Handy Hut Grocery has enjoyed weekend sales of beer and wine between $3,000 and $4,000 per day, with $1,600 to $2,000 collected weekdays.

Sales of other items, Brooks claimed, have risen thanks to the presence of alcoholic beverages at the 817 W. Park Ave. store. A primary example has been gasoline, she said, for which sales have increased approximately $300 each day.

"Yes, we are doing well," said owner Maya Parikh about alcohol sales at Holiday Motor Motel, 915 W. Highway 60. "We stay busy; it keeps us busy."

Dawn Oil and Grocery on Highway 60, according to co-owner Wanda Rowland, has had its beer and wine sales go as anticipated. "It's doing well," she said. No decline in the vending of alcoholic beverages has occurred since the products were first offered in mid-May, contended Sherry Green, manager of Wil-Mart Inc. convenience store, 401 E. First St. Sales, she said, are "doing fairly well."

New industry appears profitable

The other area firms which have been granted permits include, in order of their hearing dates, Estella's Beer and Wine on North Progressive Road, The Store at 400 N. 25 Mile Ave. and B&B Liquor Store, 350 N. 25 Mile Ave. Permits were also given to La Tiendita, 212 Archer; Pizza Hut, 1304 W. First St.; Allsup's, 316 N. 25 Mile Ave.; Mid Town Beverage Company, 149-C N. 25 Mile Ave.; and Casarez Groceries, 203 S. 25 Mile Ave.

On Tuesday, two other businesses on 25 Mile Avenue, which is Highway 385, applied for beer and wine sale permits. Tice Grocery and Pak-A-Sak were able to make such applications thanks to having their rezoning requests accepted Monday evening by Hereford City Commissioners.

In order to sell packaged alcoholic beverages, a firm must be zoned "E Central Business." Both Tice and Pak-A-Sak had been in "D Local Retail."

Hearings for Tice and Pak-A-Sak have been set Monday at 9 and 9:30 a.m., respectively.

Only one problem has arisen at any of the dozen hearings so far conducted, according to Glen Nelson, Deaf Smith County judge. Estella's Beer and Wine, he said, at first did not have its state sales tax number. That situation was quickly remedied, however.

Nelson said a complaint was received after La Tiendita had started selling alcoholic beverages. A lady claimed the business was placed too near a church, as state law requires at least 300 feet exist between entrances of two such facilities.

"Her main concern," the county judge said, "was that

Investment counselor nabbed

Jailed on $5 million bond

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Joel David Nelson, a flamboyant California investment counselor who disappeared with his secretary after allegedly bilking clients of $15 million, was jailed today in lieu of $5 million bond.

Nelson, 49, and Donna Santiago were taken into custody Wednesday without incident at the home they had been sharing for the last 10 months in a middle-class San Antonio neighborhood, FBI agents said.

Agents said that Nelson, using another name, had established a business providing maps and other services for tourists.

FBI Special Agent Patrick Cowley said Nelson was indicted Dec. 1, 1982, in Los Angeles on 35 counts in connection with a scheme that allegedly swindled numerous investors out of a total of $15 million.

Federal magistrate Robert B. O'Connor set Cowley's bond at $5 million during an initial appearance Wednesday afternoon. O'Connor also set a removal hearing for June 13.

Nelson was being held in the federal prison at Bastrop. Mrs. Santiago, who was held in the Bexar County Jail, was scheduled for a removal hearing today, Cowley said. Bond of $10,000 has been recommended for Mrs. Santiago, who was arrested on a warrant as a material witness, Cowley said.

FBI spokesman John Hoos in Los Angeles declined to discuss what finally led agents to the couple, who had been fugitives since disappearing after a party on New Year's Eve in 1981.

"There had been numerous reported sightings," Hoos said. "We continued to check them out."

The reported sightings ranged from the suburbs of Los Angeles to resort communities in the Caribbean, sources close to the investigation told the Los Angeles Times.

Four days after Nelson disappeared, his wife, Maray Ayres Nelson, received a letter that read, in part:

"The next few days will be a terrible time for you ... as you find out the news about me, none of it nice ... I have failed at everything I have done and have (sic) no way

Lobbyists fight to fend off taxes

AUSTIN (AP) — Representatives of industries being eyed for higher taxes lined up to tell a House committee to look elsewhere.

Officials from businesses ranging from steel to bowling told the Ways and Means Committee on Wednesday they cannot stand to pay taxes from which they are now exempt.

"We were recently brought to our knees by a flood of unfair imports," said Jim Knox, general counsel for Lone Star Steel, which laid off 4,000 of its 6,000 workers last year. "We're going to war and we just can't carry any extra weight."

Knox testified against forcing companies to pay sales tax on utilities used for industrial purposes. Lone Star, operating at only 20 percent of capacity, spent $30 million on utilities last year, Knox said.

Haitian smuggling ring broken

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — U.S. Border Patrol officials credit their infiltration of a Haitian smuggling ring to the indictments and arrests of 12 people.

In March, an El Paso federal grand jury returned sealed indictments, charging the defendants with conspiring to transport other Haitians. The indictments were unsealed Tuesday after the arrests were made.

The 12 defendants, mostly Haitians, will be returned from across the eastern United States and Canada to El Paso, where they will stand trial, authorities said.

Bill Harrington, assistant chief of the U.S. Border Patrol sector based in El Paso, said that at least 100 Haitians have slipped across the El Paso-Juarez border since that agency began investigating and infiltrating the operation in early 1983.

County judge indicted for bribery

COLDSPRING, Texas (AP) — A San Jacinto County judge indicted on bribery charges will plead innocent and will not resign his position, his attorney says.

Kent Morrison was indicted Wednesday on charges accusing him of taking an undisclosed amount of money to win dismissal of two drug charges against a defendant, District Attorney Joe Price said.

Price said Morrison, county judge since 1983, is accused of accepting an undisclosed sum of money from Phillip Craig Peterson, 22.

Morrison, 38, said his attorneys had directed him not to comment.

"He's going to plead not guilty and he's not going to resign the bench," said defense attorney William G. Rosch III of Houston.

Congress kills tax break

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new tax break for savers is about to be wiped off the books even before it goes into effect — a victim of the battle to reduce the federal deficit.

Negotiators from the House and Senate, who are fashioning the tax increase provisions of a package to cut the deficit by between $150 billion and $180 billion over the next three years, voted Wednesday to repeal a law that would allow savers to exempt up to $450 of interest from taxes each year.

Repeal of that provision, which was enacted in 1981 to encourage savings, would cut the deficit by about $6.9 billion over three years.

The House had voted for repeal while the Senate had agreed only to delay the savings incentive three years beyond the scheduled 1985 start.

House radiation causing cancer

BOSTON (AP) — Up to half of all lung cancer in non-smokers may be caused by low levels of natural radiation which is emitted by soil and construction materials and accumulates in homes, researchers reported today.

The study, one of two that looked at radiation effects on iron and uranium miners, estimated that several thousand people in the United States each year get lung cancer from radiation-emitting soil, rocks and construction materials.

Conducted in Sweden by Dr. Edward P. Radford, the study examined the long-term health effects of "radon daughters" — radioactive particles given off by the decay of uranium in the environment.

"A major proportion of the cases of lung cancer observed in non-smokers among the general population may be accounted for by exposure to radon daughters," said the report in today's New England Journal of Medicine.

Iraq hits Iranian towns

Iraq said its forces attacked three Iranian towns today to retaliate for Iran's shelling of the southern Iraqi port of Basra and three border towns a day earlier. Iran said 15 people were killed in one of the Iranian towns.

The Iraqi attacks came a day after a Tehran newspaper said Iran had imposed an "exclusion zone" in the Persian Gulf, within which commercial ships will be searched and Iraq-bound vessels seized.

Iraq has declared its own exclusion zone around Iran's main oil terminal on Kharg Island, and Iraqi warplanes have been attacking commercial ships in that zone.

Iraq — at war with Iran since September 1980 — has retaliated recently with air raids on vessels in neutral waters to the south.

Baghdad Radio quoted an Iraqi military spokesman as saying the strikes on the Iranian cities of Dezful, Masjed Suleiman and Nahavand were carried out shortly after midnight.

Germans also visit Normandy

LA CAMBE, France (AP) — For one group of D-Day veterans, there were no cheers this week. Four decades after the invasion that hastened the downfall of the Third Reich, the men of the Nazi Wehrmacht quietly visited the battlefields and the graves of their dead.

"My friends asked me, 'Why do you want to go to Normandy? It's a celebration for the victors, not for the losers,'" said a 58-year-old former German paratrooper from Bad Kreuznach.

"But we fought here as citizens, too, and I wanted to come back and see these places one more time," the one-time corporal said.

For many Germans, their destination was the tree-shaded war cemetery at La Cambe, between Omaha and Utah beaches, where 21,160 dead Nazi grenadiers, paratroopers, infantrymen, tankers and storm troopers lie.

Hart, Jackson won't give up

By CLIFF HAAS Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Party leaders are pressuring Gary Hart and the Rev. Jesse Jackson to give up the fight for the Democratic presidential nomination, a contest Walter F. Mondale says he already has won.

The issue now, the leaders say, is unifying the party to take on President Reagan in the fall campaign.

But Hart and Jackson say they have come too far to give up before the July nominating convention.

"It is not over," Hart says bluntly.

"The bottom line is my self-respect," Jackson declares.

"It is clear I am the winner," Mondale says.

The Associated Press delegate count shows Mondale with 1,976.05, just over the 1,967 required for the nomination. Hart has 1,221.75 and Jackson 372.2.

However, party rules that do not bind delegates to vote for the candidate they were elected to support have given Hart and Jackson the impetus to carry their campaigns forward.

All three were in Washington today.

While Mondale rested at his home, Jackson prepared to deliver an evening address to a convention of Operation PUSH, the Chicago-based self-help and civil rights group from which Jackson took a leave of absence last fall to campaign for president.

Hart, buoyed by his 3-1 margin of victory over Mondale among delegates in the California primary on Tuesday, the finale of the primary season, was making the rounds on Capitol Hill today. Aides indicated the Colorado senator would tell Democratic leaders in the House and Senate that he will press his campaign.

Party leaders, allied with Mondale, do not want to hear that.

"I think it's about time we stopped playing games out there," House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., said Wednesday. "It's been all over for some time, to be perfectly truthful. I think we ought to unite on one conviction, that's the defeat of Reagan, and stop attacking each other."

O'Neill made clear that he will emphasize party unity at a meeting with Hart today.

But Hart counters with a prediction that public opinion polls will show him to be a more popular candidate against Reagan in the fall.

"To win this election, there has to be someone at the top of the ticket who can beat Reagan," Hart said Wednesday.

Soviet regret?

About the summer Olympics, it's time for Americans to get off the self-pity-pot.

Our protestations of persecution sound almost sick.

Our hurt, disappointment, anger, have clouded our perspective.

Understand this:

However the Soviets feel about us and our President... Whatever they may remember about our boycott of their games...

Whatever the problems in Los Angeles of security, accommodations, drug tests... Whatever the whatever... Of this you may be certain:

If they were confident they could beat us...

If they thought they could dominate the games, humble our athletes, humiliate us... U.S....

They surely would.

So the champions of our Summer Olympics are entirely entitled to consider themselves Champions of the World.

Dr. Gregory Raiport was staff psychologist for the Soviet Olympic Committee before he quit them and came to the United States in 1977.

He says the present crop of Soviet athletes would be no match for ours — and Chernenko — his leadership not yet solidified — cannot afford embarrassment.

He says the Soviet will not participate in this Olympics — or in any Olympics — which it is unlikely to win.

They are not going to admit that.

At the recent face-to-face in Lausanne, Switzerland, Moscow's officials made much ado about "preserving, supporting, enhancing the Olympic movement in the future."

But the USSR will not compete this summer in Los Angeles nor will her puppets.

But when the roll is called in Los Angeles, the best of the best of a hundred other nations will be present.

This next relates to that: When you are giving a party it's always nice to decorate the place with as many "celebrities" as possible.

When one prominent one ends "regrets," inevitably it is a disappointment.

But the wise host or hostess then ignores the absentee — concentrates on making the other guests feel welcome — and frequently the extra effort makes for an even more memorable party.

Let's make Los Angeles such a happy experience for participants and spectators that the "regrets" will be all theirs.

Texas drought persists despite heavy rains

Weather experts say heavy thunderstorms that pounded parts of Texas this week will do little to break the drought that has plagued West and South Texas.

"We're talking about a drought that has been going on for six months and it takes more than a couple of rain-falls of two inches to cure that," said National Weather Service meteorologist Skip Ely of Fort Worth. "Some areas out there need a good 10 inches."

George Bomar, a meteorologist with the Texas Department of Water Resources in Austin, said rains this week were scattered but generally un-substantial.

"To break the drought we need rains over several days amounting to five to eight inches. And we've hardly begun to get that much," said George Bomar.

Corpus Christi, Alice and Grafard were under mandatory water rationing because of the drought, said Tom Milligan of the Texas Department of Water Resources. Another 10 cities had instituted voluntary rationing programs, Bomar said.

East Texas, which is not included in the drought area, has received substantial rainfall since Monday, Ely said.

Officials said that flash flooding, such as that in the San Angelo area, will not help the drought.

year, but showers didn't amount to as much in other areas of West Texas such as the Davis Mountains, the Pecos River and the Edwards Plateau, Bomar said.

The precipitation did little to ease parched conditions in the Big Bend and extreme South Texas from Corpus Christi to Laredo, areas which have been dry for more than a year.

About two-thirds of the state — 166 counties — has been declared eligible for federal disaster assistance because of the drought.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

I recently had the opportunity to read the article in your newspaper, which was written several months ago, whereby your reporter did an interview with Gene Reynolds and myself dealing with the subject of Safe Driving Practices for the Alcohol Related Offender classes that are offered by Amarillo College in Hereford. I would like to add a post-script to that article in the form of a "THANK YOU" to Judge W.J. Nelson of Deaf Smith County, who is a staunch supporter of our program and who sends us 99 percent of our clients in your area.

We in the field of problem drinkers would like to let the public know that Judge Nelson is dedicated to helping the problem drinker, and with his assistance we have been able to make more people aware of our program and to cut down on the fatalities on our Texas highways.

Again and always, thank you Judge Nelson, we appreciate you.

distribution of these Memorial poppies. You were kind and generous, for this we wish to say thanks.

We wish to send a special thanks to the Hereford Brand staff, the Hereford State Bank, KPAN and all of those places that allowed us to station workers.

The American Legion, assisted by the Auxiliary places small American flags on more than 500 veterans graves over the Memorial Day holidays. This serves as a reminder of the prices paid for our freedoms. Many of the flags are placed over memorial markers, the bodies were never found. Please say a prayer of thanksgiving for these veterans and to his family who lives on while he sleeps, in Flanders Field and other places over the world.

Thanks For a very successful Poppy Day in Hereford.

Pet Ott reports on poppy distribution

Poppy chairman Pet Ott reported a good response to the recent poppy distribution when the American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 192 met Tuesday evening in the Legion Hall. She noted that 10 auxiliary members and one American Legion member worked.

Finance officer Clara Trowbridge reported on the recent garage sale, and announced that she will sponsor another auxiliary sale at her home soon.

Plans were completed for the unit's participation in the Jubilee in August. Chili dogs are to be served in the park.

The Girl State citizens are scheduled to report on their trip on July 19 in the Legion Hall. Other members of the zone will be invited to attend.

Members will host a recreation party in the V.A. Medical Center June 11 and a bingo party in King's Manor June 14. Members are asked to assist with these activities.

Mary Williamson, program chairman, introduced Cindy Burnam and Kirk Merker who gave a program on child abuse. They showed a film on "The Battered Child" which stated, "Your role in fighting child abuse does not end with reporting a case."

"You should follow up and assist in any way you are able to bring the case to a right conclusion. There are two children who die each week in Texas from abuse administered from relatives, parents or friends. Be on the alert in reporting child abuse; be willing to become involved."

New officers were elected, to be installed in August after department convention.

Geneva B. Holden will serve as president; Betty Jo Carlson, first vice-president; Mary Williamson, second vice-president; Clara Trowbridge, secretary-treasurer.

Also, Carol Lohr, chaplain; Willie Vinton, assistant chaplain; Sue Blanton, sergeant-at-arms; Alice Gilleland, assistant sergeant-at-arms; Pet Ott and Troyce Hanna, members-at-large. The historian-reporter place will be filled in July.

Abundant Life

By Bob Wear

IN OUR ASSOCIATIONS with others there are two mistakes we must not make. Complete withdrawal is always a mistake. Becoming a "loner" is not the most effective manner of living. On the other hand, we must not drop all guards and defenses, and be found revealing too much about ourselves and our personal business. The effective manner of life is somewhere between these extremes.

WE MUST interact with others so that we are not hurt, and we do not hurt them. We must never reveal too much of ourselves, our business, our problems, our failures, our successes, our sorrow, our joy or our anything else. The more of this we do, beyond what may be necessary in special instances, the more walls we erect between us and others. If we confide too much in others, we have made ourselves vulnerable to all kinds of unpleasantness and opened the door for all kinds of problems, unnecessary problems.

IT IS BETTER to plot our course carefully which includes touching the lives of many other people, with a pleasant and cheerful casualness, but being sure that we keep our lives on course. To do this, we take care of our business; graciously accept our responsibilities, do our work skillfully; no whining, no complaining, and no criticisms. We will be remembering "who" we are, "what" we are, "where" we are going and "how" to get there. In this way, we are more interesting to others, more desirable as they see us and can more successfully maintain a continuing and desirable association with them.

REVEALING TOO MUCH about ourselves is the most certain way to alienate other people and bring about our personal defeat.

Speaking of Sports

There is no shortage of sporting events this weekend with regard to tennis, golf and rodeo. The Hereford Tennis Tournament got underway today at 8 a.m. with competitors in the junior division (18 and under). The advanced division will begin competition Saturday and Sunday.

Whiteface varsity tennis coach Ruben "Pudgy" Vargas reports that the tournament will have a good turnout. All the action takes place at the high school courts.

Three Hereford High School Rodeo Team members will be competing at the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association finals in Amarillo this weekend.

There will be three separate "go rounds" or performances tonight, Friday and Saturday beginning at 7:30 p.m.

In the boys division Shawn McConnell will participate in steer wrestling, Kevin Smith will ride in barebacks and Jana Johnson is scheduled to take part in four events at Bill Cody Arena in Amarillo's fairgrounds.

Competitors will be vying for cash paybacks, prizes, as well as individual and team points to decide the year's best high school rodeo athletes.

Miss Johnson, who will enter goat tying, breakaway roping, barrels and poles, won all-around cowgirl honors at recent TSHSRA rodeos. She should be a contender for cowgirl of the year depending on how well she fares this weekend.

The annual Hereford Partnership Golf Tournament gets underway here Saturday with approximately 100 teams competing.

The team of Kim Coulter and John Burnett are the defending champions.

The tourney will be a low-ball partnership. Entry fee is $85 and action begins with a shotgun start at 9 a.m. and 2:30 Saturday and Sunday.

Gift certificates will be awarded to top finishers in the 36-hole event.

More golf news: At Wednesday's golf scramble the team of Greg Robinson, Teresa Albracht, Lynn Cook and Leland Shelton scored 29 for first place. The players were each awarded $96.75 in gift certificates for their winning effort.

The scrambles are scheduled to take place each Wednesday throughout the summer at John Pittman Municipal Golf Course.

YOU AUTO KNOW

Don Henslee
Q. I've just started to change my own oil and oil filter as an economy move, but have been having quite a bit of trouble with oil leaks around the filter. Am I doing something wrong, or am I in store for big problems?
A. That depends on several things. First of all, make doubly sure that you have the correct size filter for your car. The slightest difference in size can make a big difference in fit. Try switching brands - particularly if your leaks are around a "bargain" filter. Second, most makes require a light coating of motor oil around the filter gasket. This insures a good seal. Third, make sure you are threading the filter on correctly. Finally, don't tighten the filter on the mounting stud with any more than hand pressure. Although it may require a filter wrench for removal, overtightening could damage the casing.

Series tied at two games

Celtics beat L.A. in overtime, 129-125

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — "It's turning into the series everyone said it was going to be," said Los Angeles Lakers Coach Pat Riley.

The National Basketball Association title showdown between historic rivals Los Angeles and Boston, which briefly appeared in danger of being dominated by the Lakers, is "turning out" to be well-played, spirited, aggressive — and close.

The Celtics, written off by some after a 33-point loss Sunday that gave Los Angeles a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven series, stormed back to tie the playoffs with a dramatic 129-125 overtime victory Wednesday night at the Lakers' Forum.

"I think it just shows the character of our team," said the Celtics' Larry Bird, whose 29 points included a 15-foot fallaway jumper that snapped a 123-123 tie with 16 seconds left in overtime.

"No matter how far down we are, until we lose that fourth game, we're still in it," said Bird, who also had a game-high 21 rebounds.

After Bird's basket, which he fired in over the Lakers' Magic Johnson, James Worthy of Los Angeles was fouled and made one of two free throws. The Celtics' Dennis Johnson retaliated by sinking two free throws to put Boston up 127-124 with 10 seconds remaining. M.L. Carr then clinched the victory, the Celtics' second overtime win of the series, by stealing Worthy's inbound pass and dunking the ball to make it 129-124 with seven seconds left.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led the Lakers with 32 points, but he fouled out with 16 seconds left in regulation. Despite the fact that Worthy pumped in 10 of his 30 points in the five-minute overtime, the absence of Abdul-Jabbar gave Boston an edge.

"It was a very happy time for me when Kareem fouled out," said Boston Coach K.C. Jones. "But then when I saw what Worthy was doing in overtime, I regretted that Kareem was out."

Five consecutive points by the Celtics in the final 39 seconds of regulation forced the overtime. A three-point play by Boston center Robert Parish, who had 25 points, and then two free throws by Bird with 16 seconds left knotted the game at 113.

Jones praised the play of Dennis Johnson, who was coming off two poor games. Johnson scored eight of his 22 points in overtime Wednesday.

"D.J. had a game that helped pull us out of this thing," said Jones, whose club faces the Lakers in Game 5 Friday night in Boston.

The Celtics appeared to lure the Lakers, who prefer to fast break and play finesse basketball, into their more physical style of play.

Heated words were exchanged on a couple of occasions, including once between the usually mild-mannered Abdul-Jabbar and Bird, and a scuffle broke out during the third quarter after Boston's Kevin McHale and Gerald Henderson both sailed into Los Angeles' Kurt Rambis as he was driving for a layin.

"We just came out more aggressive," said Bird.

French Open

Lendl wants Grand Slam

PARIS (AP) — Ivan Lendl, the stony-faced Czech with the powerful serve, is one step away from his fifth appearance in the final of a Grand Slam tennis tournament.

Yet, for all his success elsewhere on the worldwide circuit and the millions of dollars he's made, Lendl has been unable to collect any of the four major titles — making him one of the sport's biggest enigmas.

The tall, 24-year-old right-hander moved into the semifinals of the French Open championships Wednesday with a hard-fought victory over Andres Gomez of Ecuador.

The men took today off, and while Lendl contemplates his next opponent, Sweden's Mats Wilander, the women's semifinals were played at Roland Garros.

First up was defending champion Chris Evert Lloyd, who met the unseeded Camille Benjamin, the first black player to reach the women's semis since 1956.

Then came the eagerly-awaited confrontation between top-seeded Martina Navratilova and Hana Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia.

The Czechoslovakian-born Navratilova, now a U.S. citizen, was just two matches away from becoming the fifth player in history to capture the Grand Slam — consecutive victories at Wimbledon and the U.S., Australian and French Opens. But Mandlikova, the No. 3 seed, is the only player to have beaten her this year, and all tickets were sold days ago for the intriguing Center Court encounter.

The women's final is scheduled for Saturday and will be televised nationally on a tape-delay basis by NBC.

The men's semifinals will be played Friday. NBC will show the men's final live on Sunday.

In the other men's singles semifinal, John McEnroe, the No. 1 seed who has not lost a match this year, will meet No. 3 Jimmy Connors in a battle of American left-handers.

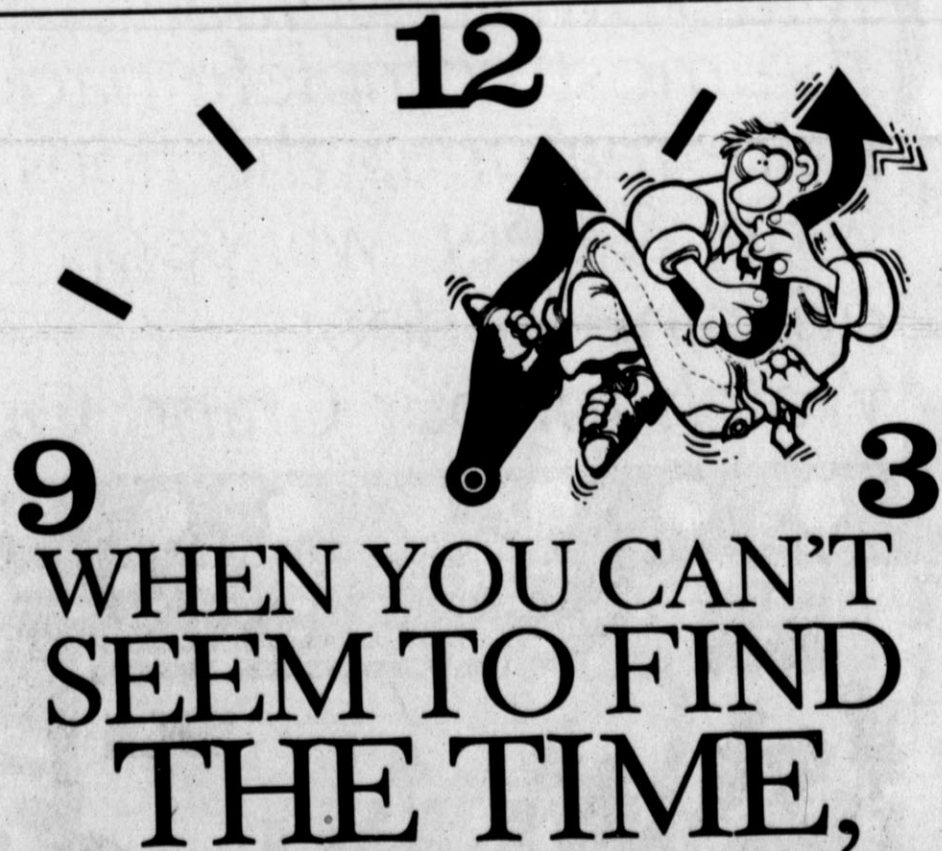

"We've beaten each other on everything in the past," Connors said of McEnroe.

Toronto closes gap in AL east, win 6-3

By BEN WALKER AP Sports Writer

The once high-flying Detroit Tigers are finally being brought back down to earth — just like many people said they would.

"It would be tough to keep playing at the pace they were," said Toronto's Willie Upshaw, who homered Wednesday night as the visiting Blue Jays again trimmed the Tigers 6-3.

"I don't know if they've been in a slump or just playing tough clubs, but they're still a good ballclub," he said. A few points about the Tigers:

— They started the season at a blistering 35-5, a streak mostly accomplished against the weak American League West.

— Starting June 1, they lost two-of-three at home against Baltimore and have now dropped two-of-three to Toronto.

— They still lead the American League East by 3½ games over Toronto and 8½ over Baltimore.

In other AL games Wednesday, Baltimore blanked Milwaukee 3-0, Chicago trimmed Milwaukee 4-0, Cleveland nipped Oakland 7-6, Boston beat New York

5-3, Kansas City downed Seattle 5-2 and Minnesota edged Texas 2-1.

"I think you're seeing a very normal thing," said Manager Sparky Anderson, whose Detroit team has lost eight of its last 12. "You can't change the game of baseball."

And, as the veteran Anderson knows, home runs and good pitching are certainly keys to winning baseball.

Upshaw's two-run homer in the third inning gave the Blue Jays a 3-0 lead against Dan Petry, 8-3. In the eighth, George Bell stroked a fly over the head of center fielder Ruppert Jones and the ball rolled to the fence for an inside-the-park home run.

The Blue Jays have now outscored the powerful Tigers 8-2 in first three games of their four-game series.

Luis Leal upped his record to 6-0 with seven strong innings. He tired in the eighth and left after giving up two runs. Reliever Dennis Lamp finished up and protected the lead.

"We've got a pretty good bunch of ballplayers," Upshaw said. "I think it's all coming together for us right now."

Anderson, who watched his Tigers strand 12 runners in an 8-4 loss to the Blue Jays Tuesday, saw Detroit leave 10 men on base Wednesday.

"We either get two early hits and can't score, or we get two hits with two outs and can't score," he said.

Orlitos 3, Brewers 0
Scott McGregor rebounded from a dismal outing on the road in Detroit last week with a sparkling effort back home in Baltimore.

The left-hander retired 16 of the first 17 Milwaukee batters and finished with a three-hitter. McGregor, now 7-4, had lasted just 1 2-3 innings Friday night in Detroit during a 14-2 pasting.

Jim Dwyer's sacrifice fly made it 1-0 in the third inning against Don Sutton, 3-5.

before Ken Singleton singled to open the fifth. Singleton, 15-for-33 in his last 10 games, later scored on a single by Al Bumbry, who has hit in 10 consecutive games.

New York had Bruce Hurst in trouble the entire night, out the Boston left-hander battled to victory and his AL-leading eighth complete game of the season.

White Sox 4, Angels 0
Tom Seaver, still strong at age 39, pitched a four-hitter and struck out a season-high eight in stopping California.

It was Seaver's 58th career shutout, tops among active major leaguers, and raised his record to 5-4 this year.

Seaver, who fanned Reggie Jackson three straight times, retired the first 11 Angel batters.

Scott Fletcher delivered a two-run single in the second inning and Carlton Fisk hit a solo homer, his sixth, in the fifth.

Red Sox 5, Yankees 3

Hurst, 8-4, allowed nine hits and the Yankees stranded 12 runners, including at least one every inning in New York. The Yankees loaded the bases in the bottom of the ninth with two outs before Lou Piniella flied out on a 3-0 pitch.

Mike Easler smacked a solo home run in the second inning — extending his hitting streak to 11 games — off loser Jose Rijo, 1-6. Jim Rice cracked a two-run double in the third.

The Yankees had left 15 men on base in a 5-4 loss to the Red Sox Tuesday night.

Indians 7, A's 6
Cleveland broke its six-game losing streak as Pat Tabler singled home the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning.

Jerry Willard, who had homered earlier during a five-run fourth inning, led off the seventh with a double. Pinch runner Otis Nixon stole third before Tabler grounded his single through the left side of a drawn-in infield.

Visiting Oakland scored four times in the fifth off Rick Sutcliffe, keyed by Dwayne Murphy's three-run double.

Royals 5, Mariners 2

Charlie Leibrandt, who started the season in Class AAA, won his second straight start since being recalled from the minors. He scattered six hits over eight innings before Dan Quisenberry pitched a scoreless ninth for his major league-leading 14th save.

Seattle starter Mike Moore, 2-4, walked the bases loaded with one out in the first. Darryl Motley, who later added an RBI double, lifted a sacrifice fly to make it 1-0 and Jorge Orta then belted a two-run double.

Willie Wilson went 3-for-3, stole two bases and scored twice for Kansas City while Dave Henderson hit an inside-the-park homer for the visiting Mariners. Twins 2, Rangers 1 the off-season, tossed a tidy five-hitter to beat his teammates.

Smithson, 7-6, threw just 90 pitches in allowing five singles and two walks. The Rangers managed runners only in the fourth, seventh and eighth innings.

Tim Teufel and Tom Brunansky rapped run-scoring singles for host Minnesota.

Texas starter Mike Mason, 2-4, pitched a complete game and gave up six hits.

Mets 2, Pirates 1

The game featured Dwight Gooden's standout pitching and Wally Backman's headsup baserunning, yet it is more than likely that participants and fans alike will remember something an umpire did.

"That's a call that if there's any doubt in the umpire's mind, he won't make it," Doug Harvey said of his controversial decision Wednesday night that cost the Pittsburgh Pirates a game with the New York Mets.

With the score tied 1-1 and Lee Mazzilli on third base in the ninth inning, Jason Thompson lofted a sacrifice fly for Pittsburgh's apparent winning run. But Harvey, the third base umpire, upheld a Met protest by ruling that Mazzilli left the bag too soon, and New York took advantage of the decision by later claiming a 2-1 victory in 13 innings.

"I'm not going to call something like that for the hell of it," Harvey said. "A call like that comes from heart and guts."

In other National League games, it was Atlanta 5, San Francisco 4 in 11 innings; Montreal 8, Chicago 1; St. Louis 4, Philadelphia 3; San Diego 4, Houston 3 in 10 innings, and Los Angeles 3, Cincinnati 2 in 14 innings.

Braves 5, Giants 4

Chris Chambliss' bases-loaded walk with two outs in the 11th inning lifted Atlanta over San Francisco, the Braves' eighth straight victory.

"We really like living in this community," smiled Libby Huffaker, whose husband, the Rev. Bob Huffaker, pastors First Church of the Nazarene.

"It has really thrilled us, for the size town Hereford is, for the church to grow as much as it has the last couple of years. We love our church. The people have been so good to us," she added.

During a special service held recently at the church, several members of the congregation presented the couple with a brand new car, an almost overwhelming gift to top off a day celebrating two years in the new church building, the 75th anniversary of the denomination, and record-breaking attendance and offerings.

Bob, a native of Grassland, a small town south of Lubbock, entered the ministry after receiving his degree in religion from Bethany Nazarene College in Bethany, Okla., where he and Libby met. She earned a degree in elementary education at BNC after attending Louisiana State University in her hometown of Baton Rouge.

The first church they pastored was in Clarendon. From there they went on to Denton, Petersburg, and then Little Rock, Ark., where they resided almost nine years before moving to Hereford seven years ago.

"Our children just went to school in Little Rock and here. We felt lucky that they didn't have to transfer from one school to another as often as many pastors' kids do," commented Libby.

Their oldest son, Terry, is married and owns the Rainbow Carpet franchise here. He and his wife, Lisa, have one daughter, Christen.

Connie and Kevin are both students at Bethany Nazarene College. She will be a senior next year and he will be a junior. Jessica, age 6, will be in the first grade at Aikman School.

This summer, Connie is touring with a college group, Parables, which presents drama, skits, puppet shows and children's plays to youth groups and children's camps. The team plans to come through Hereford Aug. 11, according to Libby.

Kevin is back in Hereford for the summer, doing roofing and carpentry work.

Jessica takes tumbling lessons, and brought home four blue ribbons from the Aikman track meet this year.

Libby, who taught school a year and a half in Petersburg, has been a fifth grade teacher at Bluebonnet School since she started working in Hereford. In the fall she plans to teach fourth grade at Bluebonnet. She is involved in several educational associations.

She is the children's ministries director at church, teaching Bible quizzing at the local level, as well as serving as Bible quiz director for the West Texas district. In the summer she helps at primary camps and district camp, and this year she will direct Vacation Bible School, which is scheduled in August.

Libby is a member of the adult choir, sings specials at church, plays volleyball and participates in exercise classes. She and Bob both enjoy walking, and he plays golf and is on a men's softball team.

He is a member and past president of the Hereford Ministerial Alliance, and he is serving his second year on the district advisory board of the Church of the Nazarene.

He was recently elected as a delegate to the General Assembly, to be held in Anaheim, Calif., next summer, and as Connie was elected delegate to the youth convention being held in conjunction with that event, the whole family is planning to attend, and they hope to make it a vacation, visiting Disneyland and other points of interest, said Libby.

The family enjoys going back to Arkansas to visit, where they spend time camping, going to the lakes, and just viewing the scenery. They are planning to go to the World's Fair in New Orleans this summer.

Libby and Bob both like to read, and she is interested in various types of crafts. She enjoys cooking, especially in the summer when she has more time.

Printed below are two of her favorite recipes. "I had been looking for a good dumpling recipe for a long time, and finally found this one," she said. Lemons are a favorite ingredient for summer dishes because they are so refreshing.

NEVER FAIL DUMPLINGS

1 1/2 c. flour
3 Tbsp. shortening
1 egg, well beaten
5 Tbsp. water
1/2 tsp. salt
Mix flour, salt and shortening. Add water and egg, making a soft dough. Divide into two parts. Roll out very thin sheets and let dry 15 minutes. Cut into small strips and drop into hot broth. Cook until tender.

LEMON BARS

2 c. flour
1 c. oleo
1/2 c. powdered sugar
Mix with fork; press into 9x13 inch pan. Bake 20 minutes in 350 degree oven.
2 c. sugar
4 Tbsp. flour
6 Tbsp. lemon juice
4 eggs
Beat until well mixed. Spread over baked layer and bake 25 minutes at 350 degrees. When done sprinkle with powdered sugar and cut into bars.

Gift Of Appreciation

The Rev. Bob Huffaker and his wife, Libby, admire their new 1984 Regency Oldsmobile, a gift from several members of their congregation at the Church of the Nazarene. The Huffakers have resided in Hereford seven years and say they're still impressed by the generous and caring people they've found in this community.

Fitzgerald conducts instruction school

District Deputy President Levita Fitzgerald conducted a school of instruction, with Anna Conklin, Susie Curtsinger, Roberta Combs, Peggy Lemons and Ada Hollabaugh exemplifying, when Hereford

Rebekah Lodge No. 228 met Tuesday evening. Noble Grand Anna Conklin presided at the business session as 34 visits and 13 cheer cards were reported.

Mary Belle Manning was presented a certificate of perfection, and the "Light of Faith" altar program was given by Verna Sowell, who read poems on friendship, love and truth.

It was announced that members will serve at the Odd Fellow Circle meeting supper on Monday, June 11.

Peggy Fitzgerald and Ms. Conklin provided refreshments. Attending were Ben Conklin, David Retman, Ruth Rogers, Leona Sowell, Lydia Hopson, Sadie Shaw, Irene Merritt, Edna Mathes, Verna Sowell, Faye Brownlow.

Also, Thama Pierson, Nellie Beauford, Billie Sims, Dorothy Landry, Elmer Combs, Kee Ruland, and Mmes. Combs, Lemons, Hollabaugh, Curtsinger, Fitzgerald and Manning.

The Association of Southeast Asian Nations was formed in 1967 to promote political and economic cooperation among non-communist nations in the area.

Ann Landers

Often interrupted

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I offer a compromise to those frustrated, guest-ridden victims with whom you are inclined to be unsympathetic?

I suffer from what my best friend describes as "terminal politeness." She insists I am so easygoing that I may die of good-naturedness.

I, too, am visited at inopportune moments. So what? I simply drag the guest around with me. "Follow me into the other room," I say, "while I iron, wash the dishes or make some stew. Sit on the edge of the bathtub while I shampoo my hair in the sink. Shout over the vacuum."

I have never had a complaint about the way I entertain company, nor have I ever hurt anyone's feelings. I recommend this high-yield, low-guilt solution. It works for me.—Traveling Circus

DEAR CIRCUS: People like you provide a healthy balance for people like me.

I no longer iron, wash dishes and run the vacuum, nor do I shampoo my hair in the sink. I did all those things once upon a time, but no more.

The major portion of every day and every evening when I am at home I'm on the phone with a consultant, knee-deep in reader mail, or sitting at the typewriter putting together a column. It is hard work and requires total concentration.

Uninterrupted time is not a luxury. It is essential. No way could I do my work with someone sitting at my elbow.

Many years ago a reader sent me a hand-lettered sign for my front door. It said, "If you were not invited you are not welcome." I have never posted the sign because I never needed to. My friends respect my privacy, and I respect theirs.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A recent TV special on teenage suicide really hit home because of my own suicidal tendencies. I am an adult now and fairly stable but I shudder to think of how close I came.

One young man recited a simple sentence that gave him control over his suicidal feelings. It was this: "Problems are given to us to overcome." That sentence could be a lifesaver for many.

We are taught to compete fiercely for grades, jobs and in sports. Why then do we give up so easily when it comes to competing with our weaker selves in handling our lives? Pass this on, Ann; it may give strength to others.—G.C. In N.J.

DEAR G.C.: I'm in favor of whatever works. But suicide is a complicated subject and there are many different reasons for it.

I believe the sharp rise in teenage suicide has a very real connection to the drug culture. Many teens behave recklessly when on a high or are depressed after they crash. A brain controlled by drugs is temporarily out of order.

Parents, teachers and friends of teenagers on drugs should inform themselves so they can help. It's in the phone book. And it's free. Look under Drug Abuse. You will find the numbers of government agencies, hotlines and self-help groups ready and eager to assist you. Use them!

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex - Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Military Muster

Navy Seaman Mike Martinez, son of Johnny J. and Ruby Martinez of 428 Jackson, Hereford, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in their studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in physical education and hygiene.

Airman 1st Class Kenneth

L. Davis Jr., son of Kenneth L. and Florence Davis of Widorado, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force electronic communications and cryptographic equipment systems repairman course at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Graduates of the course learned to operate and repair specialized communications equipment, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Ketogenic diet

DEAR DR. LAMB — What do you think of a ketogenic diet? Please explain the term ketosis. Is the claim that a 15-gram protein supplement burns off 450 calories true?

DEAR READER — Let me begin by saying that your body needs carbohydrates. Some vital cells of your body, the red blood cells and brain cells, use glucose from carbohydrate to function normally.

Your body will convert amino acids in proteins to glucose to meet that vital need if the carbohydrate is not supplied. Fat can't be converted to carbohydrate.

When your body doesn't have enough carbohydrate for energy requirements, it will use more fat. The excess use of fat overloads the liver's ability to completely metabolize it and you will end up with incompletely metabolized fat products called ketones.

This happens in the diabetic who is out of control and going into diabetic acidosis (coma). The ketones impart a distinct smell to the breath, like alcohol. These products are abnormal and increase the loss of minerals through the kidneys. People on very low carbohydrate diets develop this condition which can be measured by the ketones in their urine.

I don't think any of these diets are healthy. The claim that protein supplements burn off calories is completely untrue. A gram of protein contains four calories, the same number found in carbohydrates. If you consume more protein than your body needs, which you often do on such diets, the excess amino acids from protein are simply converted to glucose or fatty acids for fat.

I've discussed the pitfalls of fad diets in the Health Letter 16-2, Dangerous Dieting, which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Any diet that excessively restricts the calorie intake can be dangerous, regardless of how many vitamins, minerals and supplements are added.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm an 18-year-old college student and I love sports. I'm 5 feet 5 inches tall, weigh 145 pounds and in pretty good condition. I lift weights and exercise every night.

My problem is I have aortic stenosis, which limits my physical activities. I tend to get short of breath faster than normal guys. My heart doctor says playing college sports isn't a good idea. Right now my main interest is to play college baseball.

Can I make it in college sports? How can I keep my heart problem under control without any further damage?

DEAR READER — Listen to your doctor. As you probably know, aortic stenosis means you have an obstruction at the outlet of your heart. All the blood pumped to your body must pass through this obstructed area.

When a person exercises there's an increased need for oxygen and to deliver it to the working muscles the heart must be able to increase the amount of blood it pumps. How well your heart can do this depends on the degree of that obstruction.

Exceeding the capacity of your heart to pump increased amounts of blood past that obstruction could be dangerous. The key is the degree of obstruction you have, and there's nothing you can do about that. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Answer for the 'blues'

DEAR POLLY — Last fall a bunch of us sweet ol' grandmas were discussing the fun things we did as children. Someone mentioned rock gardens made with coal. All of us girls decided it was a divine thing to do for our grandchildren. But have you ever looked for good old-fashioned laundry bluing? We couldn't find it. Is there anything else that will work? Please let me know. I will then be Grandma of the Year! — CHARLOTTE

DEAR CHARLOTTE (and the others who wrote to say they were unable to find laundry bluing) — I'm afraid I haven't been able to discover if there is a substitute for laundry bluing in the crystal rock garden recipe, but I have located a source of bluing. My grocery store carries Bluette, manufactured by Walco-Linck Co., Clifton, NJ 07015. I suggest you write to the company asking where in your area their product is available. Also check your supermarket in the laundry products section, near bleaches, brighteners and additives.

Those who would still like the directions for growing a crystal rock garden will find them in "Kids' Crafts," available by sending $1 for each copy to POLLY'S POINTERS, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1216, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to include the title. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I make pillows and I've found an easy way to stuff them with foam. Cut both ends out of a can large enough for your hand to slip through (be sure there are no sharp edges that would cut your hand). Place the can in the opening left for the filling, bring the edges of the material up around the can and secure with a rubber band. Then just pour in the foam! — C.M.M.

DEAR POLLY — For fun and easy cookies, use a ready-to-spread chocolate frosting, your favorite peanut butter and buttery-style crackers. Using two crackers per cookie, spread one with chocolate frosting and the other with peanut butter. Put them together and you've got a delicious cracker cookie. No mess, no cooking and kids love 'em! — MARY

DEAR POLLY — Most bath brushes have plastic bristles and are scratchy when used. I purchased a sponge dish mop. This is a triangular sponge on a wooden handle. This works exceptionally well for washing my back. — ARA

DEAR POLLY — Here's a wonderful fertilizer for your house plants that really works. Mix one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon epsom salts, one-half teaspoon household ammonia and one gallon water. Shake well. Water plants at least once a month with this.

For canned butterbeans that really taste fresh, mix one can butterbeans and one can clear chicken broth and boil for five minutes. Simmer for a few

Jilted illegal alien loses 'dowry', now faces deportation to Salvador

HOUSTON (AP) — An illegal alien came to court seeking satisfaction from a U.S. citizen who she says reneged on his promise to marry her for $1,000, but found only immigration officers waiting for her.

Justice of the Peace Kenneth Pacetti said he felt sorry for Reina Canos, a Salvadoran refugee, but said he couldn't help her.

"It's kind of a shame," Pacetti said. "But she is an illegal alien."

As for the man she says was her reluctant fiancé, Pacetti said, "he's a bad guy and he wins."

Pacetti, reached at home Wednesday night, said he could not recall the name of the man Ms. Canos was suing in Tuesday's hearing.

Ms. Canos, who works as a maid on an office building cleaning crew, said she was trying to block the possibility of being deported by marrying her supervisor, who is a U.S. citizen.

The marriage would have given the woman resident alien status.

But she said the man refused to go through with the marriage and would not return the money.

Ms. Canos sued to get the money back, but, instead of a day in court, she was taken into custody on Tuesday by U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service officials.

In her brief court appearance, Pacetti asked Ms. Canos if she had given the money to the man. She said she had and that the man would not marry her.

The judge told her to sit. Moments later the INS agents entered the courtroom and led her away.

Ms. Canos initiated the legal action against the man with a May 22 letter to Pacetti. In the letter, she said she worked as a maid at an office building and that her intended husband was her supervisor.

"He offered to marry me for the fee of $1,000. In exchange for the money, I would be a resident alien, since he was a U.S. citizen," she said in the letter.
