Public hearing on dress code set Oct. 25

A public meeting will be held Monday, Oct. 25, to hear concerns about the school district's dress code, according to Dennis Brooks, vice principal at Iowa Park High School.

To begin at 7:30 p.m., the meeting will be held in the high school library.

The district dress code committee, which is composed of faculty members from each campus, parents and students, will be on hand.

Individuals who wish to make recommendations can do so by submitting them in writing to Brooks, by 4 p.m. Friday, Oct. 22, at the high school.

"The committee will hear concerns concerning dress codes at each campus," Brooks said.

Presentations before the committee will be limited to five or 10 minutes.

SEASONAL WELCOME awaits visitors to the lobby of Bradford Elementary. The Halloween decorations have become a big hit with both students and visitors to the school.

Hawks going on hare hunt

The Hawks will be gunning for their second conference win Friday when they travel to Bowie for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

Now among the Dist. 4-AAA leaders with Breckenridge and Graham, all with 1-0 district records, Iowa Park has extra incentive to "take care of business," as Coach Robert Clensay says.

The Hawks haven't won any of their road games yet this season.

But, according to the way games have gone between Iowa Park and Bowie the past six years, this is the game the Hawks are supposed to win.

The two clubs have alternated victories since Iowa Park knocked off Bowie 66-0 back in 1987. The Jackrabbits won in '88 by a 26-21 margin.

That was followed by a 28-7 Iowa Park win, then a 9-7 victory by the Hares in 1990. That also was only the second time Bowie had ever beaten Iowa Park.

Bowie is still smarting from the 1991 loss on the Jackrabbits' home field. The game was called because of a threatening storm, and Iowa Park was declared the winner, 35-7.

But last year in Hawk Stadium, Bowie got its revenge with an emphatic 34-3 victory.

Iowa Park is 3-3 on the season, and Bowie is 2-4, and neither team has faced a common opponent.

Bowie has now given up 136 points while scoring only 74. Meanwhile, the Hawks have scored 109 and allowed 91.

The Jackrabbits posted their two victories early, opening the season with a 21-14 win over Trinity Christian of Addison, and then knocking off Decatur 7-0.

But the Hares then lost three straight to highly-rated AA teams: Holliday 28-14, Boyd 49-20 and Jacksboro 17-3.

In their district opener last week, Bowie fell victim 28-9 to Breckenridge.

Bowie has one of the more prolific runners and scorers in the district, in 163-pound junior Jered Clark. He gave the Hawk problems last year.

Clark gave Bowie possession of the ball to score the club's only touchdown, by intercepting a Breckenridge pass, returning it to his own 46.

That's when Bowie quarterback

Shae Garrett hit Jason Wade on a pass that covered 54 yards.

The distance was significant, because those 54 yards made up most of the 160 yards Bowie had with its nine receptions for the evening.

Clark led Bowie runners in the game, carrying 26 times for a net 75 yards.

The Jackrabbits are young, with only 11 seniors listed on their 37-man roster. Six players start both offensively and defensively.

Bowie has good size in its line, but the two largest players see very little action, according to the scouting report. Brothers Les and John McGregor tip the scales at 292 and 288.

Unlike most of seasons past, the Hawks remain in good physical condition, as none of the Mean Green players are sidelined with injuries.

Coach Clensay is emphasizing his point that his players "take care of business."

All season long he has preached to his players that they can beat anyone on their schedule if each player does his part and makes no mistakes. But, he also points out any opponent scheduled can beat Iowa Park if they don't "take care of business."

School board sets meeting

School trustees will hear reports of tests taken by first and second grade students, and also consider bids for computer hardware for the junior high, when they meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the junior high library.

Results of the Iowa Test of Basic Skills, taken by first and second grade students, will be presented.

Board members will be asked to approve nominations for district committees who will serve during this school year, and also act on a policy update and Chapter One evaluation.

Supt. Glen Mitchell is to make his monthly enrollment report, as well as report on a state meeting he attended.

A report on the cosmetology program is to be given by Cindy Hambright. Also on the agenda, the board will recognize patrons who wish to address the board.

The city council killed a project that could have led to development of a golf course here, and decided to take a second look at how to finance a water and sewer project, during Monday night's meeting.

With one council member absent, aldermen voted 3-2 to not enter into a contract to have a feasibility study made of the area that could have led to construction of an 18-hole golf course at Lake Iowa Park.

Voting against the contract were Aldermen Johnny Crawford and Virgil Woodfin and Mayor Wayne House. Aldermen Bob Hamilton and Mark Raby voted for the proposal. Bud Mercer was absent.

The $14,400 needed for the study was included in this year's budget.

The study was to have been in two parts. Phase one, which would have cost $5,400, was to determine how much play the course could expect by surveying area facilities and how many golfers that would be interested in playing here, as well as anticipated growth of population. The quality of the course and related facilities and equipment also were in the study.

When the results of the first phase was presented, the council was to determine the need of the second phase, which would have cost $9,000. That was for an engineer and course architect to draw the plans for the course.

Reasons expressed against building a course included existing courses in the immediate area, alleged lack of play on some of them, and a fear that ad valorem taxes would have to be increased to help pay for the facility.

The major reason given for building a course was continued improvement of quality of life for residents, as well as being an added incentive for future industry and business to locate here.

"I didn't want a hand full of people to decide" on whether a course should be built here, said Hamilton. "I believe the people should have been given the opportunity to decide by voting on a bond issue."

But, Hamilton added, this decision has been made without the information the survey would have provided.

Concerning the water and sewer project the council is planning, the council decided to seek legal advice on how to have its bond issue handled.

The council plans to sell a million dollars worth of general obligation bonds to build a new water tower north of US 287, and enlarge a main sewer line from West Highway to the treatment plant.

Administrator Mike Price told the council he had already learned from the state's Attorney General's office that the city cannot borrow that much money on a multi-year payback agreement, so the bond route was necessary.

The two avenues to sell the obligation bonds is either to enter into a contract with Southwest Securities, or turn the project over to Parker Square Bank to be handled.

Representatives of Parker Square, including Doug James, John Gavin and Bob Pace, attended Monday's meeting to explain their bank could handle the issuance of the bonds, which the bank would purchase, and provide a savings to the fees charged if the city went through Southwest Securities.

It was decided to seek legal advice to determine if the city would be violating any laws, should it allow the bank to handle the project.

The council went ahead and voted to authorize publication of the required legal notice of intent to issue certificates of obligation.

Aldermen approved resolutions authorizing 99-year lease agreements with X-Pert Weed Control and Bobby Ray Walker, concerning improvements on their properties that violate the Smith Road right of way.

"This is the easiest way out of this," said the mayor.

Two other resolutions approved were the acceptance of the 1993 city tax roll, and one endorsing efforts of the National League of Cities and the Texas Municipal League to educate citizens of the impact federal mandates have on city finances, which effect the taxpayers' pocketbooks.

Authorization also was approved to advertise for proposals for janitorial services at the Tom Burnett Memorial Library, Recreational Activities Center, police station and city hall.

No decision was reached on consideration of joining with two or three other cities to jointly purchase a large brush chipper which would cost $160,000.

Price explained the sharing cities could pay shares, on some undetermined basis, and have a piece of equipment that will do much more and better work than smaller chippers.

Two Employees of the Month were recognized, including Sue Manes for August and Archie Layfield for September.

Garden Club tours Stompin' Grounds

Sixteen members of the Iowa Park Garden Club met Friday morning at the City Cafe for coffee, compliments of Ray and Nell Copening, before they traveled to the Stompin' Grounds Gallery.

During a short business session Louise Clapp, flower show chairman, reported that the annual flower show held Oct. 2 at First Christian Church Fellowship Hall featured 38 entries. Approximately 100 people viewed the show.

Kim Cox was welcomed as a new member.

After arriving at the Stompin' Grounds Gallery, Jack Stevens showed club members around his studio and work area and explained the process that he goes through to produce a bronze sculpture.

Stevens' son, Jim, demonstrated the process of cleaning off the molding material from a piece and the process that is used to dress the bronze.

Stevens has been working on the "Wee-Chi-Tah" sculpture for almost two years.

This sculpture will be placed near the site of the original falls on the Wichita River. Walkways to the area will be paved with bricks purchased by the different Indian tribes that settled in the Wichita Falls area.

The sculpture is the scene of an Indian woman wading out into the river to check the depth before the men and horses cross.

Following the field trip club members returned to the City Cafe for lunch.

As I See It... ■ By Bob Hamilton

The decision of your city council Monday night to not allow you, the residents and taxpayers, to decide whether you wanted a golf course or not doesn't sit well with me.

As I told them, I don't think any small group of individuals here, or in Austin or anywhere else, should decide issues such as this.

What I'm talking about, in case you haven't read our story on the front page of this issue, is that the council voted to not contract with a firm to conduct a feasibility study that could have led to building an 18-hole golf course here.

Such a study, especially the first phase of it, was to gain information about the need, or lack of a need, of a golf course here.

The decision was based on personal opinions, and lacked information.

Obviously, my opinion is that our city needs such a facility. And I have a long list of reasons. But I also agreed to abide by their decision, if it were based on information gained from such a detailed study.

Everyone seems to know all there is about whether a golf course would go over here or not. They seem to know how much it would cost to build a course, as well as to operate it.

But what they know is not based on fact. Simply because the facts aren't known, and won't be, without such a study.

As I said in this space once before, I suggested to our city council back in 1970 that a golf course would be great, if built in the area, such as Lake Iowa Park.

And I haven't changed my mind. I don't keep count, but I see a lot of Iowa Parkans every time -- that is every time -- I go over to River Creek at Burk Burnett. And I hear from many others who play in Wichita Falls, and as far away, on a regular basis, as Nocona.

I have personal acquaintances with at least a couple of dozen golfers who live in Wichita Falls, who have told me they would like to play here on a regular basis, if we'd just build a course. And there's a couple dozen avid golfers in the Holliday area who have indicated the same interest.

How many communities, of 2,500, or 6,000 like Iowa Park, in Texas do you know that do not have a golf course? That'll make you scratch your head!

Such a facility, if it's a good one, could sway a lot of peoples' minds to move to our city, rather than another in the area.

All the years we've lived here, I've been told by newcomers that they decided to move here because they wanted their children to go to our schools.

I've never had a family without school-age children say they decided to move here just because we're Iowa Park.

Our Industrial Development Commission continues to work to attract more payroll employment here, not being satisfied with having attracted Cryovac.

The IDC people know full well that any major payroll operators are knowledgeable about the need for activities and facilities for their employees when they're not at work. An employee cannot be happy at work if he/she is not happy away from work.

Remember all those golfers I said I see at other courses? They represent local dollars being spent in those other communities.

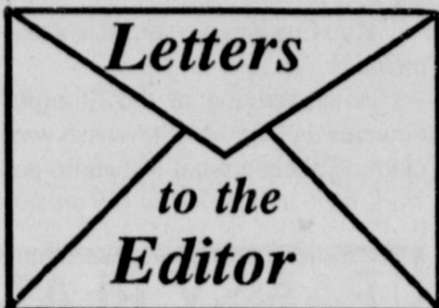

Those same dollars could be spent here. And golfers encouraged to come from elsewhere to play would be spending their money here.

Actually, we're talking about another industry with a payroll, that we're not going to have.

I believe the information gleaned by the proposed study should have been provided to you, the voters, along with all the facts about construction and operation costs, and then you should have been given the opportunity to decide what you wanted.

Not three men making that decision, as it happened.

Thanks for a great time!

Dear Editor,

During Homecoming 1993 the Class of 1978 celebrated their fifteen year reunion. This letter is to thank Darla Bradberry, Kim Miller and Brenda England for the wonderful time. A lot of hard work and planning went into this project and I know everyone who attended had a great weekend. And for those of you who didn't attend -- you missed out on a wonderful time of renewing old friendships and beginning new ones.

People say you can never go home but they did not graduate from Iowa Park!

Thanks Again,

Police workload reported light

The workload on local police was considerably less during the past week, than the week before, according to the police blotter.

Two theft complaints were filed, including a resident at Woodbriar Apartments who said a check book had been taken, and a resident of the 500 block of West Aldine who reported a man's wedding ring, valued at $250, was missing.

Investigation continues in both cases.

Two men were arrested on separate dates for public intoxication.

Officers took Jimmy Spikes, 17, into custody at 12:46 a.m. Friday on a public intoxication charge. He was later released after signing a personal recognizance bond.

Then at 9:11 p.m. Monday, police arrested Kenneth W. Berry, 37, on a similar charge, and he was released after signing a personal recognizance bond some five hours after the arrest.

A man filed a complaint at the police station at 2:43 a.m. Saturday, that his estranged wife had assaulted him when he attempted to get his belongings out of their home.

Two criminal mischief complaints were received at the department.

Police spoke with the parents of two young juveniles who were observed damaging a sign Saturday evening at the Farm Bureau office, and they reportedly agreed to make restitution.

A resident in the 700 block of West Clara told police someone egged his truck Sunday night while parked at the residence.

Worth Quoting

It scares me to death to think that Congress may soon be in charge of health care in this country.

What scares me even more is the number of people who think that would be an improvement.

I don't think I ever knew of any situation where a government controlled business operated as efficiently as it would under private control.

And I don't think I ever knew of an instance where prices didn't go up and service deteriorated under government control.

And the reasons are many.

For one thing, when you have a group of politicians in Congress setting rules to govern your business, you're bound to have problems.

The best way for government to reduce health care costs, in my opinion, would be for them to establish a greater number of good medical schools, and to lower the costs of tuition to a reasonable level, and to encourage a greater number of highly-qualified students to enter the field.

One way to do that would be to have strict entrance exams that would screen out all but the most competent applicants. Then encourage them by offering a subsidy of some sort.

I suppose you could call that discrimination. We'd be discriminating in favor of people with brains.

And I feel sure that must be against the law.

We should try to produce enough good doctors so that competition will take care of the rates.

If we could do something like this, we wouldn't have to hire five hundred thousand bureaucrats to administer the various programs the Clintons are talking about.

Health care costs don't mean just the money the hospitals and the doctors get. It also includes such things as taxes, and malpractice insurance that, as I understand it, costs doctors who deliver babies as much as a hundred thousand dollars a year, or more.

The doctors have only one place to get the money to pay these enormous insurance premiums to protect themselves from disastrous malpractice lawsuits.

And the place they get that money, of course, is from you and me.

Charlie Stenholm told me a while back that before we can do anything about health care costs, we have to do something about malpractice suits.

And I think he's right.

Mrs. George Clay and Elizabeth

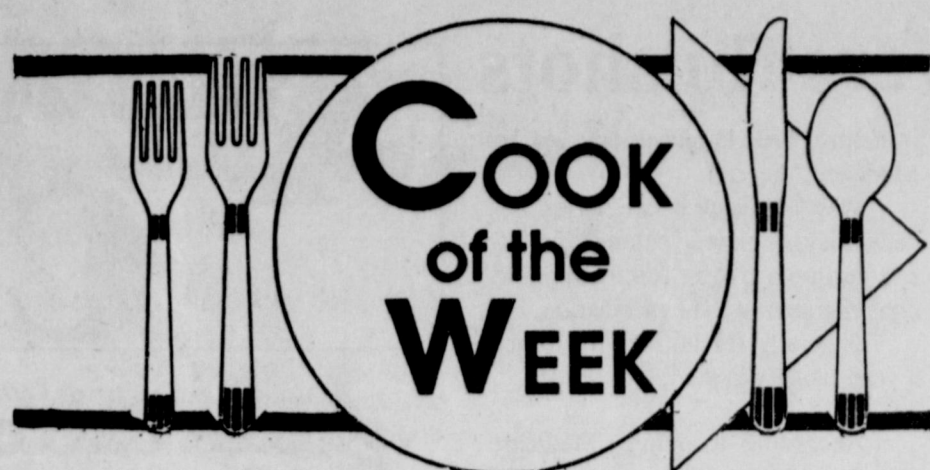

Dana (Mrs. George) Clay and her family moved to this area two years ago from Denver, Colo. The transition involved in the move from a large metropolitan area to their country home south of Iowa Park hasn't been difficult, according to Dana. "We don't have the scenery (of Colorado), but really enjoy the benefits of living in a smaller community," she said.

Dana grew up in Houston and is a graduate of Sharpstown High School. She received a degree in physical education at Fort Lewis College in Durango, Colo. Following graduation, she worked for an oil company in Denver and, back in Texas, taught history and coached one year at Clear Lake.

Dana and George met while they were both working in Denver. George is a health care provider for mentally retarded adults who reside in group homes.

They have three children, Elizabeth, nine, William, seven, and five-year-old Dale.

Elizabeth is an active young lady who plays softball, enjoys clogging, and is taking piano lessons. She is a member of the Explorers, a home school 4-H group. William is also a member of the Explorer's 4-H. He has played Little League baseball the last two years and is learning to play the piano. He likes to hunt and is getting ready to go on an elk hunt in Colorado with his dad. At the present time, little Dale just hangs out with his mom.

At this time, Dana said her family has priority in her life and she doesn't belong to any organizations or have time for hobbies. The children receive their schooling at home, and Dana said this takes a lot of time and planning.

The family likes to snow ski, go on camping trips, and they enjoyed swimming in their pool this summer. They are active members of First Baptist Church at Kamay where George teaches the fourth, fifth and sixth grade Sunday school class and Dana works in the nursery. Elizabeth is a member of the G.A.s, and William belongs to the R.A.s at the church.

Dana's recipes are ones that she has accumulated over the years, and she uses them often. Elizabeth likes to help her mom cook, and the recipe for "Tutti-Fruitti Fruit Salad" is one she entered in the 4-H Food Show last year.

Peanut Butter Candy Cups

- 1/3 lb. graham cracker crumbs (11 double graham crackers, crushed)
- 1/2 cup butter, melted
- 1/2 cup margarine, melted
- 1 cup peanut butter
- 1 lb. powdered sugar (4 cups)
- 1 - 12 oz. pkg. chocolate chips, melted over hot water

Combine first 5 ingredients until smooth. Press into a buttered 9x13 inch pan. Spread melted chocolate chips over mixture. Refrigerate until firm. Warm slightly at room temperature and cut into squares. (Chocolate will not crack when slightly warm.)

Note: You may make half a recipe using a 9x9 inch pan.

Elizabeth's Notes: This is my favorite and my dad's favorite dessert.

Wholesome Waffles

- 3 egg whites
- 2 cups buttermilk
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 cup whole wheat flour
- 1/4 cup wheat germ
- 2 tsps. baking powder
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 1 tsp. pure vanilla extract
- 1/3 cup safflower or corn oil

Spray waffle iron with vegetable cooking spray and heat on high. In large bowl, beat egg whites until frothy. Set aside. In separate large bowl, combine buttermilk, flours, wheat germ, baking powder, baking soda, vanilla and oil. Fold dry ingredients into egg whites until smooth. Pour batter onto center of hot waffle iron. Bake about 5 minutes or until steaming stops. Do not over-bake or waffles will be dry. 4-6 servings.

Elizabeth's Notes: We freeze these and pop 'em in the toaster. Also try cinnamon, raisins, or blueberries.

Tutti-Fruitti Fruit Salad

- 2 cans (17 oz.) fruit cocktail
- 1 can (20 oz.) pineapple chunks
- 1/2 large banana
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 cup miniature marshmallows
- 5 maraschino cherries

Drain fruit. Slice banana. Mix all ingredients together. Cover and chill.

Elizabeth's Notes: I entered this in the 4-H Food show last year. This is easy and delicious.

 - 3 large carrots, thinly sliced
 - 1 Tbsp. parsley flakes
 - Salt and pepper to taste
 - 3/4 cup uncooked rice (not instant) or macaroni

A Word For Parents—Vaccinate

There are eight vaccinations that can prevent childhood diseases:

- DTP to protect against diphtheria, tetanus (lockjaw) and pertussis (whooping cough)
- MMR to protect against measles, mumps and rubella
- Polio vaccine (OPV) to protect against polio
- Hib vaccine to protect against Haemophilus influenzae type b, a major cause of meningitis

Every state has laws requiring vaccinations against some or all of these diseases well before your child enters school.

It is recommended that vaccinations begin as early as two months old.

Vaccines can cause side effects such as a slight fever, a rash, or a sore arm. Most side effects are usually mild and do not last long.

The benefits of being vaccinated are far greater than the statistically small risk of possible side effects.

Call your doctor, clinic, or local Health Department to get your child vaccinated.

Public health clinics can offer vaccinations free or at a very low cost.

Vaccines work best when they are given at the recommended time and on a regular schedule.

Be sure to keep a record of your child's vaccinations.

For more information about vaccinations — Ask your pharmacist.

GARDENING HINTS

By MARK TERNING
County Agent - Horticulture

Beautiful spring color begins with bulb selection and planting in the fall.

Don't overlook this opportunity to include some hardy, easy-to-grow spring beauties in your garden this fall.

Bulbs are some of the easiest flowers to grow; they are easy to care for and affordable.

When properly planted in the fall, they will reward you with weeks of early spring color and beauty.

Success with spring bulbs depends on several factors. Purchasing quality bulbs is a must for dependable flowering in the spring.

Select large, firm bulbs that are not excessively dry or stressed. Local garden centers and nurseries have excellent selections of quality bulbs now.

Selecting bulbs now will insure a wide range of choices and fresh, healthy bulbs.

Some of our most popular bulbs will require a cool-treatment prior to planting in the flower bed.

Tulips, hyacinths, and crocus should be refrigerated in the crisper bin of your refrigerator for at least 45 days before planting. When the soil temperatures cool down to the mid 50s, then you can plant these refrigerated bulbs.

Plant spring flowering bulbs in an area which receives full sun for best performance. Soils amended with organic matter such as compost, peat moss etc. will be ideal.

Good drainage is a must for bulbs. Landscape timbers, rocks and railroad ties can be used to construct raised beds for bulb planting. Raised beds provide good drainage and are easily filled with soil amendments.

As a general rule, plant bulbs about two to three times as deep as the bulb is tall. Tulips should be planted about six to eight inches deep. Bone meal or similar types of fertilizer may be used according to label instructions.

Plant your bulbs at a spacing of around four to six inches apart or closer. Mass similar colors together for the maximum color effect next spring.

Plan on using at least 15 to 20 bulbs per color for best results.

Continuous color throughout the spring can be achieved by planting bulbs which bloom at different periods during the spring. Local nurseries and garden centers have many beautiful bulbs to choose from.

Your bulb planting efforts this fall will pay off with dazzling color next spring.

Medicare covers flu shots

"For beneficiaries enrolled in Medicare, there's good news," said Greg White, Social Security manager in Wichita Falls.

"Since May 1, 1993, the cost of getting a shot to protect you from the influenza virus has been covered by Medicare," he said.

Most Medicare beneficiaries, because they are elderly, belong to an "at-risk" group and are strongly urged to consider getting a flu vaccination.

Generally, flu shots are given once a year, usually in the fall or winter.

FRIDAY, Oct. 22

Breakfast--Donut, breakfast meat, fruit, milk.

Lunch--Bun day, potato chips, lettuce, tomatoes, pickles, beans, dessert, milk.

According to White, Medicare beneficiaries do not have to pay the usual Medicare coinsurance or deductible amounts, and, if the person giving the shot accepts the Medicare payment as payment in full, there will be no cost to the beneficiary.

Doctors who do not accept "assignment" of the Medicare payment may charge their patients more than the amount Medicare will pay for the shot. A doctor's prescription or supervision is not required to have the vaccination covered by Medicare.

People are encouraged to get a flu shot every year. Even if they have had the flu, they need to protect themselves against each year's new type of flu, and the best time to get the shot is in the fall.

Flu shots can be obtained at a doctor's office, local health department, or even while a patient in the hospital.

Lady Hawks 10th in golf tourney

The Lady Hawk golf team placed 10 among a field of 27 teams last Thursday at the Haltom High School Invitational Tournament, held at the Willow Springs Golf Course.

In Loving Memory of Emmett E. Wood

July 31, 1920 - October 16, 1992

One or the other must leave,
One or the other must stay,
One or the other must grieve,
That is forever the way.
That is the vow that was sworn,
Faithful 'til death do us part,
Braving what had to be borne,
Hiding the ache in the heart.
One, howsoever adored,
First must be summoned away.
That is the will of the Lord
One or the other must stay.

Pay For Short-Term Therapy With Medicare

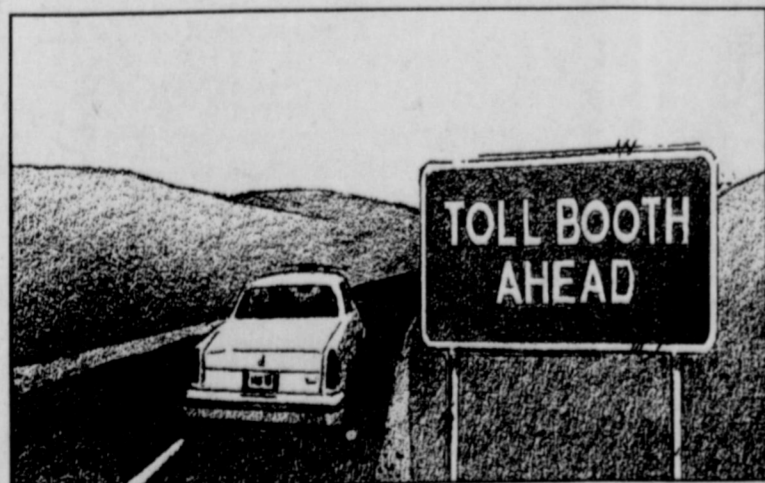

Most Costs Covered During First 20 Days

Your doctor has just announced that after you leave the hospital, you'll need therapy before going home. Not the best news, but we have some information that might help. All necessary services required during the first 20 days of a stay at a skilled nursing facility are 100 percent covered by Medicare. The only exceptions are special services such as a private room, a private telephone or television.

Coverage Continues, Days 21 To 100

From day 21 to day 100, you pay a daily coinsurance amount (which is established annually by Medicare) for covered services. During this period, Medicare will pay the difference if the cost of your covered services goes above your daily coinsurance payment.
